WIDENING STARTS — Bailey county line marks the beginning (or the end) of a 10-mile widening project for Killer 84-70. Parmer county has started actual construction on its part of the four-laning program, but Bailey county hasn't yet received all the appraisals for land to be covered. The two pictures above show the county line, tractor marks indicating the beginning of the Parmer construction. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

Ray's 'Ritin'

By RAY MARTIN

The new television season started Sunday, and the re-runs of the re-runs of the re-runs went back into their cans, not to be pulled out again until next summer when they will be re-runs of re-runs of re-runs.

They tell us it's going to be a much more cultural brand of television that we will be leaving the dirty dishes on the table to watch this winter than the kind of TV we've had in the past.

For instance the 1962 villain said, "I'm going to kill you," while the villain of the new 1963 series will say, "I beg your pardon, but I'm going to kill you, sir." Much more cultured, as you can see. And the old-time villains who have held their jobs through thick and thin in the old weekly western shows now have junior villains. Wagon Train, for instance, has a number of new characters. They have taken a lot of good singers and have given them talking parts instead and vice-versa. That's nothing new; television and the movies have always done it that way. If a guy was a pretty good western actor, for instance, they turned him into a barroom bass, or if he could sing up a storm, they made him a barroom keeper, or something. Like Fabian, for example. He's letting his tonsils go to heck while he gets knocked off a horse three different ways each week now in a western. Even Pallidin who could swing a mean gun without even cracking a smile, is going civilized in the new TV roundup and has three different suits of clothes instead of the black uniform he wore all through the traveling gun series.

And speaking of culture, what about the new Sunday evening reviews, like the one that started Sunday night. Now there was culture with a capital C! In case you didn't see it, I'll tell you about it. There was this lass who sang a very sad song about something or other. I never could quite get the words because she and a flute were staging a duel to see which could outreach the other. The girl did pretty good, however, but you knew from the start that the flute, which is made for that purpose while human beings are not, won the duel; it finished three notes higher than the big lassie with 74 teeth, all of which she exposed every time she opened her mouth wide, which she did constantly. And then they're putting ballet on TV this season as a cultural boon. Seems that the ballet union was not getting equal time on TV, so they are to come in for more time before the camera this season.

They started right off with it. There was this ballet made up of pretty men and women who danced up a storm. Everything in ballet, in case you didn't know it, is symbolic. For instance they danced up considerably over the death of the prize Hereford bull that got into the cottonseed meal and ate himself to death. You could just see that poor

Deadline Passes, but Appraisals For Road Tracts Not Received

Widening of killer 84-70 from Muleshoe to the Parmer county line is still status quo, and appraisals, due September 15 at the latest, still are missing on most of the tracts.

This was the report of County Judge Glen Williams Wednesday.

Calvert Brings First '63 Cotton To Purdy's Gin

The first 1963 bale of cotton to roll into Muleshoe, it is believed, was brought in this week by J. L. Calvert, a farmer living seven miles northwest of Muleshoe where he has been farming for the last nine years.

The cotton was ginned by John Purdy's gin which has ginned Calvert's cotton for several years. Calvert said the bale was produced from Gregg seed and was planted April 29 at the rate of 35 pounds of seed to the acre. He irrigated the crop three times, and he estimates he will produce 1 1/2 bales per acre.

The bale weighed 480 pounds and brought a premium price of 50 cents per pound. The 2,000 pounds of cotton and seed yielded 800 pounds of seed.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert, who came to Muleshoe from Lubbock, have two children, Larry and Judy Calvert.

Only 33 appraisals out of 73 due, have been received by the county commissioners here, Judge Williams said. The tracts are being appraised by Dan MacNaughton, Plainview, a professional land appraiser, who was engaged early in the summer by the commissioners. He was given until September 15 in which to complete his work under terms of his contract.

"He told us recently that he had actually finished his notebook work on all 73 of the tracts except two, and that he should have these ready soon," Judge Williams said. One of the tracts yet to be appraised, he said, is the Progress Baptist Church which lies just off the tract to be secured for the four-laning project.

Thus, except for the two tracts, actual appraisals have been completed, although MacNaughton has not drawn up formal reports on 40 of the parcels of land to be covered in the widening program.

Williams said MacNaughton's work had been slowed when he had to spend a week in another section of the state as a witness in a legal case.

"We are certain that the additional reports will be received soon," Judge Williams said, "and as soon as they have been approved by the State Highway Department, we will be ready to start work on the four-laning project."

Mules Concentrate on Passes For Friday's Game in Clovis

Muleshoe Mules, down three and with seven to go, have been brushing up on many rough spots this week as Head Coach Bill Taylor and his assistants put their boys through a thorough training stint, in preparation for Friday night's game at Clovis.

Clovis, incidentally, is equivalent to a 4-A team in Texas ranking.

Especially have the lads been brushing up on offensive passes and pass reception, a weak spot

Crap Shooters Land in Court

On the docket in Justice of the Peace Joe Vaughn's court is formally put down as "gaming," which is against the law in Texas. But Sheriff Dee Clements said it was just plain "shooting craps."

Six persons are charged in the "gaming" complaint. Sheriff Clements said they were engaged in a friendly game in a small restaurant in the Negro section of the city when a raid was staged.

The six men landed in jail. "It wasn't a very big game and there wasn't much money involved," Sheriff Clements said. But still it's against the law.

Couple Pay Liquor Fine

Sheriff Dee Clements and his officers raided a home three and a half miles west of Muleshoe during the weekend, and wound up with a supply of wine, whisky, vodka and beer.

And Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moore wound up in court. They pleaded guilty to illegal sale of liquor and were fined $200 and costs by County Judge Glen Williams.

Grand Jury Returns 11 Indictments; 10 Charged

A Bailey county grand jury after a two-day session, returned 11 indictments against 10 persons, the charges ranging all the way from forgery to murder.

It was the second grand jury called here by District Judge Pat Boone since coming into office early this year.

In addition to the 11 indictments, three no-bills were returned, Jack D. Young, district attorney, said Tuesday.

Indictments returned were as follows:

Curtis M. McMellon was charged in two indictments with illegal sale of unregistered securities. One indictment charged him with selling "an interest of ownership of one-sixteenth of one percent ownership in Continental Development Limited of Lubbock, a limited partnership" without a permit. That indictment charged he sold the stock to Mrs. Howard Elliott.

In another indictment, McMellon was charged with selling one percent of ownership in the same company to Stanford Barrett.

Ambrosio Rojas, who was arrested July 21 after a downtown Sunday shooting in a Mexican store, was charged in two indictments. One indictment charged him with assault with intent to kill Brigida Salinas, and the other indictment charged him with killing Pedro Mendoza by "shooting him with a pistol."

The Salinas girl was shot in the neck when Rojas allegedly turned the gun on the crowd in the store after shooting Rojas. She was paralyzed from the bullet for a time, but surgery a few days later relieved the paralysis.

Claudio C. Ortega was indicted on a charge of removing mortgaged property. In indictment charged that he removed a $120.40 stove from the county which he had bought from Sam's Auto Store December 24, 1962. The indictment charged he took the mortgaged property out of the county on April 20 of this year.

Pedro Moreno Guzman was indicted on a charge of burglary. He is alleged to have burglarized the home of Billy J. Darnell June 8 of this year.

An indictment was returned charging Roberto Cante Cruz, charging him with failure to stop and render aid after an automobile crash July 14 of this year. The indictment said Cruz's automobile crashed into the rear of a boat being trailed by an automobile which was parked in front of a drive-in grocery on American Blvd. The crash pinned Ricky Hardage between the boat and the automobile pulling the boat trailer.

Sidney T. Slinger, Jr., was charged in an indictment with breaking and entering the home of Carl Thomas June 14 of this year. In another indictment Richard Dewayne Rush was charged with burglary in the same incident.

Muleshoe Man Beaten, Robbed

CLOVIS — Clovis Police said a Muleshoe, Tex. man suffered a severe beating when three young men attacked and robbed him near Grand and Mitchell Streets early Sunday morning.

A. H. Herman refused to be hospitalized although police said he suffered "severe injuries about the face and head and a possible fractured nose" in the attack.

Herman told police he had gone to the west side of town late Sunday to look for a man to hire.

A young man agreed to take him "where a man wanted work."

Herman followed the young man to an alley at the rear of 114 Rencher St.

Two men allegedly leaped at him out of the darkness and knocked him to the ground. Herman alleged they kicked him in the face, then took his wallet containing $15, and the keys to his pickup truck.

Officers took the Texan back to the scene where they found his keys, blood, and signs of a scuffle.

Herman told police he didn't recognize any of the trio.

Check Complaints Top Court Cases

This has been another active week in county court for County Attorney Roger Gorrell and County Judge Glen Williams. Several cases were filed and others cleared off the docket with dismissals or with pleas of guilty, a check of the docket revealed Wednesday.

Included were:

Macey B. Fuque, pleaded guilty to a worthless check charge. He was fined $16 and costs. O. C. Hall pleaded guilty to a worthless check charge and was fined $29 and costs. Maria A. Lumbra pleaded guilty to a check charge and was fined $10 and costs.

A case against William Thomas, charged with giving a worthless check, was dismissed for insufficient evidence.

Charges were filed against Albert Moore for possession of liquor for sale in dry area. He pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs. David King pleaded guilty to a worthless check charge and was fined $15 and costs.

Johnny Fried pleaded guilty to a worthless check charge and was fined $7 and costs.

Worthless check charges were filed against these in separate cases: Granville Lasser, A. D. Kelley, G. N. Wynn and Jack Nixon.

The contest continues this week. Only the official form, which appears on page B-5 of this edition, can be used; it was pointed out. The form must be returned to the Journal not later than 5 p.m. Friday or it must bear a postmark of 5 p.m. or earlier in order to be considered in the contest.

Several persons who sent in their guesses last week failed to pick one or more teams in the list, and thus could not be considered even if they had all the other winners correct. Entrants were urged by the Journal this week to guess the results of ALL games on the sheet, and to estimate the score of the Clovis-Muleshoe high school game.

Prizes are $5 and $2 for first and second places respectively. Grand prize winner to be determined at the end of the season will win free two tickets to the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl game at Dallas and also will get $50 in prize money.

Roddam was last year's winner of the grand prize.

Roddam Repeats, Gets Grid Prize

For the second week in a row, L. C. Roddam, Muleshoe, emerged as champion guesser in the Journal's weekly football series. He picked seven of eight games right and came within two points of guessing the tie-breaker — Muleshoe-Tulia.

Winding up in second place was Travis Bessire, 22 West 11th, who also picked seven correct out of eight. However, he predicted the score of the Muleshoe game would be 14-28 in favor of Tulia, while Roddam said it would end as 7-27 in favor of Tulia. The actual score was 6-25.

Self Help, Not Dole. Aim of Tour Backers

Sixty of Texas' neighbors to the south came to town this past week, ate lunch with Muleshoe folk, sang native songs and visited agricultural projects near Muleshoe.

It was all a part of a Good Neighbor program, sponsored by the Mexico Good Neighbor program at Lubbock of which Dr. Walter O. Parr is executive director. The group, all peasant farmers from Mexico, were on the homeward portion of their two-weeks' tour.

Their visit in Muleshoe was sponsored by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees, and tab for the luncheon was picked up by Muleshoe State Bank, The First National Bank, Texas Sesame Growers, Muleshoe Elevator and Muleshoe Co-Op gin.

Elvon DeVaney headed the committee sponsoring the local visit, and Dr. Ray Santos was emcee at the luncheon. The tour is the first of a series of its kind which Dr. Parr hopes to launch this year and next. He told the luncheon guests that the trip is "strictly privately financed to show the people of Mexico how a democracy works."

He said the tour included the Muleshoe area for a specific purpose: "To show these peasant farmers of Mexico what can be done with a semi-arid region to turn it into a garden spot. Their climate, their soil and their rainfall are similar to this area's, so we wanted to show them first hand what they could do to help themselves to the same kind of agricultural prosperity which West Texas enjoys."

He pointed out that Communism is making inroads into the western hemisphere. "If communism comes to the United States, it will come through the countries

Farmers Feted With C-C Dinner

Farmers of the Pleasant Valley community were honored with a dinner Tuesday night in the community center there. The annual affair is sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and is planned by the relations committee of the Chamber.

John West, Pleasant Valley farmer, served as master of ceremonies. Kirk Pitts gave the welcome address, and Jerry Sanders, Littlefield Chamber of Commerce vice-president, was guest speaker.

The dinner was served by the Pleasant Valley Social Club with Mrs. C. E. Wells as club president.

These farm dinners and meetings are to further improve relations between the farmer and businessman.

A large crowd of business men and farmers attended.

Mrs. Leslie Bruns Was Selected For Who's Who Of American Women

Mrs. Leslie Bruns, Muleshoe, has received the distinction of being named in the 1963-64 edition of Who's Who of American Women, a Biographical dictionary of notable living American women. The volume, the third to be published contains the names of 20,000 American women who have been selected for being outstanding in various fields of endeavor. Mrs. Bruns was designated as an educator.

The mother of seven children, she has continued to educate herself through various courses, some she has attended during afternoon sessions—and some she attended at nights while her husband could stay with their children. She completed her third year of college before she married and has taught school one year, at the old Stegall school.

"One thing for which I have been extremely thankful, is the fact that I have never had to work and leave the children. You might say I have always taught my own private kindergarten, too," she said.

Mrs. Bruns does not know for sure who submitted her name for this honor, however she feels that it came about as a result of one of two sources: her continued studies—or her efforts—with the Republican Party of which she is vice-chairman of the Parmer County group.

The Bruns family maintains two homes in the area, one near Hub where they have farmed for many years and another at 402 West Eighth Street. Their children are: Morris, an English teacher at Texas Tech; Mrs. Howard Watson, Muleshoe; Mrs. Joe Pattie, Amarillo; Jerry Jane, Bruce and Mark, living at home.

Of the many educational courses Mrs. Bruns has taken in the past few years are Bible, English, Algebra, and Sociology and is preparing to take a Science course.

The high standards and uniqueness of "Who's Who of American Women" have made it indispensable to many kinds of libraries—educational institutions, to newspapers, radio and television stations—to numerous women's organizations and groups involved in research.

Two broad aims have characterized the third edition of the publication as they did in prior editions.

These aims were:

1. To present women outstanding as women, without regard to their accomplishments or positions in relation to men; in other words, to stress the woman who stands out from her sisters.
2. To use achievement or occupational position rather than wealth or social position as the criteria for eligibility.

The book, of course, does in-

District 9 WMU Workshop Held In Plainview First Baptist Church

The District 9 WMU Workshop was held last Wednesday from 9:30 to 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Plainview. Five Muleshoe women were among the 1615 women attending the meeting. Mrs. Verney Torres, Muleshoe, District WMU President presided over the workshop.

The theme of the meeting was "Faith Without Work is Dead." Purpose was to help the various committee chairmen to know more about their duties and to help them carry on their work through the year.

Mrs. Bert Black, Crosbyton, State WMU president and Ess Eula Mae Henderson, brought the opening devotional entitled "Sailing From the Orient." They each related some of their experiences and shared their knowledge gain on a tour of the Orient during this session.

The group then divided into their respective places for conferences directed by prominent women of the Texas WMU. These conference sessions were designed to help each worker in their division of the WMU work.

Conference leaders were: Mrs. Black and Miss Henderson, presidents; Mrs. Tom Drewett, secretary-treasurer; Miss Joy Phillips, Girls Auxiliary; Miss Mary Hane Nethery, YWA; Miss Roy Gill, Sunbeam Band; Mrs. Cooper, Community Missions; Mrs. H. C. Hunt, Mission Study; Mrs. Ernest Pierce, prayer; Mrs. Howard Scott, Stewardship; Mrs. W. B. Allen, enlistment; Mrs. Otto Dukes, circle chairman; Miss Martha Ellis, WMS in Spanish, and Miss Noemi Cuevas, Youth work in Spanish.

Attending from Muleshoe other than Mrs. Torres were: Mrs. Vernon Jamison, Mrs. Elbert Hamilton, Mrs. Dalton Harris and Mrs. Creston Favor.

Mrs. Smallwood Hosts LCC Chapter

A meeting of the Muleshoe Chapter of the Lubbock Christian College Associates was held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Joe Smallwood. Thirty-five were present for the salad supper and program.

After a short business session conducted by Mrs. Gene Lowe, president, the guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Paul Scott. She was Mrs. E. R. Higgins, Head of the Testing Department of LCC, who gave an interesting talk entitled "A Frame Work for the Mature Woman."

The highlight of her speech included the physical and mental health, outlook on life, and to gain confidence in oneself and to conquer fear by doing what you fear most.

Mrs. Smallwood was assisted with hostess duties by Mrs. Clyde Monk, Mrs. Paul Scott and Mrs. Gene Lowe.

Church Observes 17th Anniversary

The 17th anniversary of the Calvary Baptist Church was observed by its members during services Sunday.

The church founder, Rev. E. L. Merriott, Lubbock, was guest speaker for the service. Special music was supplied by the choir and soloist was Lonnie Merriott, grandson of the founder. The church was first organized at Lazbuddie and was the Lazbuddie Independent Baptist Church. It was later moved to Muleshoe and located for a time on South Main. It is now in the process of improving the original structure in the Richland Hills addition.

The Rev. E. L. Merriott expressed pleasure of having four generations of his family present for the service. They were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Merriott, himself and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Merriott and their two sons, Gary and Mickey.

Outdoor living, the ring of a good axe and woodsmoke will serve to lure volunteer Scouters to Camp Post, Post, Texas September 28, to participate in the Scout Plains Council's SHOWANDO, a ten hour session of events designed to bring the program of Scouting to boys of their areas. Muleshoe Scouts will participate.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. and the session will be closed with a campfire at 8 p.m.

Martin Cannon, Lubbock, chairman of this year's SHOWANDO, stated at the final planning meeting of the event. "We are expecting a large number of Scouters to participate in this year's event."

The SHOWANDO, a training course designed to give instruction and practice in Scouting skills, will offer such things as teamwork as a patrol from a Troop, a competitive interpatrol rally, a cookout prepared to Scouting standards by Scouting methods, viewing and participation in the best program aids and gimmicks available to the Council.

"The day of activity will be closed with a campfire program to send Scouters home pledged to give more and better Scouting to the boys enrolled in their Troops," Cannon continued.

In addition to offering Scouting skills and practices, the SHOWANDO will provide a chance for Scoutmasters from different parts of the South Plains Council to work together and exchange ideas for furthering the interest of Scouts on the South Plains.

Cannon has urged local Troop Committees to have especially their Scoutmasters participate in this year's SHOWANDO, and any other adult interested in Scouting. "The more people we have trained and interested in Scouting, the more boys will be able to reach with the Boy Scout Program."

TO MARRY — Mrs. Mozelle Rippee, 108 East Sixth Street, Portales, N. M. announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Ronnie Zell, to Ronald Eugene (Ronnie) Spies, son of Mrs. Joe Carroll. The ceremony is to be read this evening at 7:30 at the Portales First Baptist Church. The pastor, the Rev. Carter will read the double ring ceremony. The bride-elect is a 1963 graduate of Clovis High School. The future bridegroom was graduated from Springlake High School in 1960 and is presently employed by Wrinkle Welding. The couple will make their home here.

Women Are Sharp

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (AP) — Women are far more practical than men when it comes to buying a house, says Mrs. Shirley Brunke, chairman of the women's division of the Toronto Real Estate Board.

"That would be a lovely house if we didn't have to live every day" is a comment made by women to Mrs. Brunke.

The everyday little things that influence a woman's choice of a home are such things as a door directly from the garage into the house for bringing in groceries, an entrance through which service people can go into the basement without passing through other parts of the house and, especially if she has children, a main floor washroom.

Women consider whether the furniture they already have will be appropriate for their new house. "If they have been accustomed to modern design and fun-ture, they are hesitant about older and colonial styled homes.

"Women are also tired of being chauffeurs and want to live near libraries, schools, shopping centers."

The kitchen is one of the most important factors in a woman's choice of a home, says Mrs. Brunke. "If a woman likes two houses that are about the same price, she will probably choose the one with the nicer kitchen."

Although women are practical, they usually ask for houses that are "different" or "sneaky." They also look for charm in a house, says Mrs. Brunke.

"When you walk into some houses, you don't feel anything. When you walk into others, you feel as though you would like to get to know the people that live there or did live there. Women notice this difference right away."

Sandhill Crane Season to Open

Hunters in eastern New Mexico and western Texas will again have a chance at the big drum sticks, according to the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. November 2 is the opening day of the season on lesser sandhill cranes.

Hunters will be allowed to take two birds per day for the thirty day season which closes December 1, according to the Bureau. Biologists warn that the crane is an alert, wary quarry, and is not easy to shoot as might be imagined. Hunting hours are from sunrise to sunset.

Sandhill cranes are hunted in this one part of the continent,

Church in America.

"The church and culture peacefully coexist," he said. "The presence of the church is no source of embarrassment or irritation to the culture. . . . The church has coexisted with racial injustice for decades, and let others be its prophets, and only of late has jumped on the bandwagon."

because it is the only place on the annual migration route of the sandhills where there are concentrations large enough to make hunting worthwhile—without endangering the larger and more rare whooping crane. Careful study by biologists of the Department of the Interior agency and of the state departments of Texas and New Mexico have shown that the open area is far removed from the migration path of the whooping crane, which is staging a dramatic fight for survival.

Populations of sandhills in excess of 150,000 are usually found in the open area during the time of the open season, with no whoopers ever being reported. The cranes are increasing in numbers, and even showed an increase during the three years of open seasons in this area. Hunting of cranes is consistent with the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife's objective of allowing the sportsman as much hunting opportunity as possible without endangering the species. Local depredation upon crops by sandhill cranes is heavy in many parts of the open area. Hunting pressure serves to scatter the larger flocks and help protect crops by moving the birds from agricultural areas to be hunted.

Notice is hereby given that original letters testamentary upon the estate of Forrest I. Cox were issued to me, the undertural fields.

The sandhill crane, also called "little brown" crane, stands as much as four feet tall, and large individuals weigh as much as 7-1/2 pounds. They are an overall grey in color and are identified by black wing tips and a bald, red forehead. They fly with their necks straight out in front of them, and with their long legs extended.

They may be taken with a shotgun, and experienced hunters of the last few seasons recommend shotgun loads similar to those used on geese. Texas and New Mexico hunters found that the crane is excellent table fare, as good as a Canada goose. But they are not easy to cook, because the recipe starts out with "first shoot a lesser sandhill crane" and that hasn't been easy. The highest kill in the previous seasons has been less than 3,000 birds out of the 150,000 moving the birds from agricultural areas to be hunted.

But there was one scene which they evidently decided nobody could understand unless they explained it first, so this pretty young man walked up in front of the camera and explained that the toe dancers were going to play like they were musical instruments. And he said he and his partner, a skinny young lass who had danced on her toes for so many years that the calves of her legs had disappeared entirely -- they were going to be the piano. Obviously since a piano is a rather large instrument it took him and his girl friend both to portray a piano.

So then they started out imitating this eight or 10-man orchestra. As they got going, one of the other of the various ballet girls would quiver and shake and go through agonizing movements, imitating various and sundry musical instruments. I had never realized before that instruments suffered so badly while being played until these young people imitated the instruments.

And finally they came to the piano part and so this young man who had explained the whole interpretation in advance, took hold of his girl friend and they went through their routine. As is always the case in a ballet number, it consisted largely of him standing behind her and hoisting her in the air while she beat her feet together in a wordless plea that said, "put me down, you goof, before you drop me." So he put her down but a minute or so later the piano part came in again so again he hoisted her to the ceiling, while she again beat her feet together.

But any goone could tell that they were a piano. I never could quite decide whether it was a spinet or a grand that they were portraying, but it was easy to tell that they were portraying a piano. They looked just like a piano. Even I could tell that and I know practically nothing about ballet. I've seen quite a few pianos, however.

Yeah, as I said, the new tv season is off to a good start. In case you liked the old system better, you had better get used to this new system. And before the season is over, who knows?

You may even be able to depict exactly what the dancers are portraying on their toes. You can tell the difference between (for example) the death of a wasp and the death of a lizard just by watching your television screen regularly this winter.

Tour--

(Continued from page 1) to the south," he said, "and the first people to accept its deceiving philosophy will be people such as these lowly farmers from Mexico. We have much more to offer to them than communism can ever offer them, if we can but get the story across."

He said he hopes the next group which his organization can sponsor will include at least 500 persons -- "peasant farmers just like these who are here today." The program is being financed by donations from many individuals and organizations, he said, and the present tour has been paid for entirely by such help and not by a cent of money from Mexico or the United States governments."

He said his organizations plans to "help the people help themselves with such programs as 4-H clubs and FFA." A calf program is one of the projects being sponsored. A registered heifer is given to a Mexican 4H youth, for example, and the first increase is returned in payment of the calf.

"We are not giving these people a dime. Such a plan won't work," he said, "but if we permit them to help themselves such as with the calf program, then we have made a friend; we have helped them maintain their self respect and we have given them an opportunity to improve their own status."

Dr. Parr said his organization is planning many such help programs, including farm machinery, livestock and poultry. "If we can get these people to see first hand how successful Democracy is working in this country, they will not accept the hollow promises of communism."

The women on the tour were guests of Mrs. Santos at a coffee following the luncheon.

Meantime on the other side of the line in Parmer county, construction is well under way for widening of the dangerous highway in that county. Much of the grading and fill work has been completed all the way from Farwell to the Bailey County line. In fact, the entire project is underway, and surfacing of the road probably will get under way before the end of the year.

(Continued from page 1) against Ira Chester, charging him with forgery and passing. The indictment said he forged a check for $48, signing the check as R. W. Shelton. The check was cashed by Lela Allison, July 26, and was made payable to R. G. Williams.

Brothers were charged in another forgery and passing case. James L. Brown and Cecil Brown were indicted on a charge of giving a check to Jessie Stovall, under the signature of Bill Copley, for $28. The check was passed, the indictment said, May 22 of this year.

CC Officers Election Set

Ballots for the annual election of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce have been mailed to all members, Bobby Airhart, president, said Wednesday.

The membership will elect a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and four board members, Airhart said, for 1964. Two nominees appear on the ballot for each position to be filled. The ballots must be returned to the chamber office by September 30. A special committee will canvass the ballots October 1.

Airhart urged that all members "vote in this important election."

They will be officially installed at the annual banquet in January.

Girls Prepare Unique Meal

By MRS. C. A. WATSON LAZBUDDIE -- The Lazbuddie FHA girls met in front of the school at a recent meeting and then traveled 50 miles for their course in progressive meals.

Their hosts were at the Tuman Gleason home where their main dish was served. At the Kick Steinbock place the beverage was served. Served at the Calvin Embry's home was the appetizer and at the Wesley Barnes the group was served the dessert. The last stop was at the Dee Chitwoods where they received their salad. They met back at the school to carry on their chapter meeting.

A revival is being held at the First Baptist Church this week. The Rev. Carlos Gruber is the speaker for the morning services. The pastor, the Rev. Calvin Beach, will speak each evening. After the evening services Mr. Gruber shows films of his mission in Japan. The meeting will continue through Sunday, and the public is invited to attend.

A pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Harvey Blackstone was given in the home of Mrs. Joe Briggs Tuesday afternoon of last week. About 25 were present. Individual gifts were given. Many sent gifts who were unable to attend. Hostess were Mrs. Joe Briggs, Mrs. Roy Miller, Mrs. Gerald Ramage, Mrs. Dean Powell, Mrs. Everett McBroom and Mrs. C. A. Weir. Punch and cookies were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith Sr. and David were in Troup, last week visiting his parents, the Dee Smiths. David fished most of the time while there and caught a large number of fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wallace from Okmulgee, Okla. visited the Raymond Treider Jr. family during the weekend. They, with the Raymond Treiders, visited R. G. Treider in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Sunday.

Mrs. R. G. Treider was in Lubbock from Friday through Sunday to be with her husband in the hospital. Mr. Treider was able to spend about two hours in the Mackenzie Park Sunday. He is reported to be much improved and will soon be able to return to his home in Lazbuddie.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Byrd and children, Carl and Mabelle, Clovis, spent Sunday with his parents

GOT THAT BEAR — Robert Hunt has returned from a successful bear hunt near Chama, N.M. where he killed his first bear. After four days of hugging in the high country, Hunt downed this brown bear. He attempted to bring the bear out of the mountains with the help of his guides, but the horses they were riding were to skittish to bring out the kill. They skinned it and now Mrs. Hunt has a real bear rug. It was estimated that the bear weighed 250 pounds. The guides made movies of the trailing and the shooting of the animal. (Journal Eng)

Rites Conducted For Ed Myers

AUSTIN—Are cataracts catching? Is it safe to look directly at the sun while wearing dark sunglasses? Will a child eventually outgrow crossed-eyes?

Medical scientists know the answers to these questions. Do you know them? September, Sight-Saving Month, serves as an annual reminder to check your eyesight and your eye I. Q.

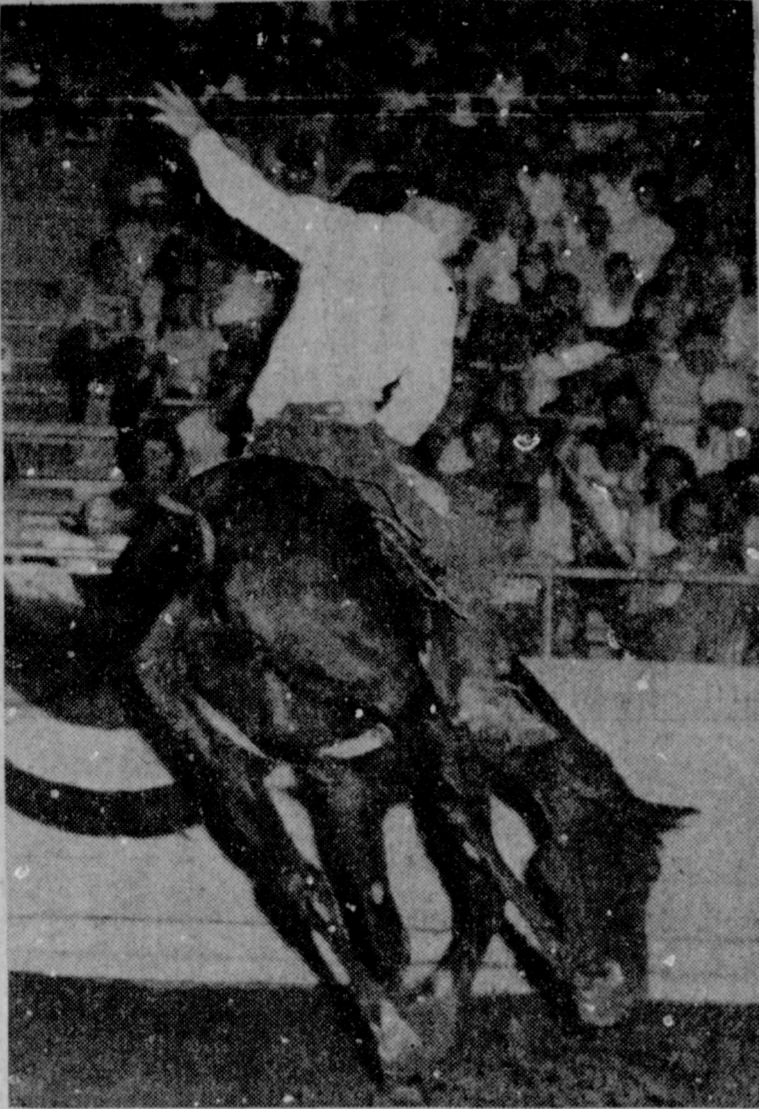

You may be going blind and not realize it. Chronic glaucoma, often called the "sneak thief of sight," may cause permanent loss of sight very slowly and without symptoms noticeable to the patient, especially those over 40 years of age. The best defense against glaucoma is a medical eye examination at least every two years.

Are cataracts catching? Cataract, the clouding of the lens within the eye, cannot spread from one eye to the other. It is not contagious. It may, however, develop independently in each eye. Surgery is the only known effective treatment for cataract at present. Claims that magic salves or drops will dissolve the cataract are false.

Is it safe to look directly at the sun while wearing dark sunglasses? No, never look directly at the sun while wearing sunglasses. Tinted lenses will provide relief from the sun's glare but not from the harmful infrared rays that can penetrate the dark glasses and damage the delicate retina of the eye.

Is blindness preventable? One of every two cases of blindness could be avoided, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, by diligent use of sight-saving knowledge.

Can glaucoma be cured? Glaucoma, or hardening of the eyeball, can usually be controlled if discovered in time. Increased pressure causes the eyeball to harden. The eye doctor — ophthalmologist — can usually control the pressure so that vision

LOCAL YOUTH WINS — Tony Haberer, Pleasant Valley walked off with three prizes at the 1963 American Junior Rodeo national finals in Odessa recently. is preserved. Since glaucoma symptoms may be absent while the disease is present, health authorities advise a periodic eye examination.

Can eyes indicate bodily disease? Sometimes the eyes act as a barometer and foretell the coming of bodily ailments. Such conditions as hardening of the arteries may first be detected in this way. Periodic examinations enable your physician to detect the signs.

Will a child eventually outgrow crossed-eyes? Children do not outgrow crossed-eyes. Visual defects such as crossed-eyes and amblyopia—dimness of vision—can lead to permanent loss of vision in the affected eye. Treatment should be initiated at least by six years of age. Eye exercises, glasses or surgery may be required.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

Recently, the House Ways and Means Committee approved the Administration's $11 billion tax cut bill by a vote of 17 to 8. The Speaker of the House, Mr. McCormack, presently plans 2 days of debate on the House Floor on the bill, beginning the week of September 25.

If this bill is approved, it would reduce personal income taxes by an average of 20 per cent, corporate rates from 52 to 48 per cent over a two year period. The new minimum standard deduction for low income groups would take about 1 1/2 million tax payers off the tax rolls. This is the way the bill stands now, and if it passes the House in that shape, that is the way it will come to the Senate for action. In committee there was a Republican motion to write a mandatory spending limit into the cut, but it failed by a vote of 12 to 11. Two of the members of the committee voted present. This amendment would have made a second installment of the tax cut conditional. It would be conditioned on the national debt being reduced, with the debt, minus cash on hand on June 30, 1964, not to exceed $303 billion.

Congressman Byrnes of Wisconsin, who introduced the amendment in committee, said it would require that the deficit for the present government bookkeeping year be held to $8 billion or less. A further condition was that the budget submitted by the President next year would not call for spending more than $98 billion. The budget this year contemplates somewhat more than that.

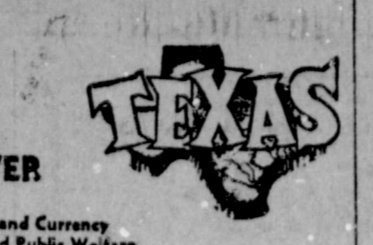

I personally would subscribe to some sort of condition that the budget be brought into as near balance as possible and deficit spending be limited. The Democrats on the committee secured the passage of their own economy amendment by straight party line vote of 15 to 10. Their amendment excerpts as follows:

It's the sense of the Congress that ultimate increases in tax reductions should be first used to eliminate Federal deficits and then to reduce the national debt. They further asserted that Congress recognizes the importance of taking all these means to restrain government spending and urging the President to declare his accord with this objective. That sounds pretty good, but to me it is a little weak. We need more rigid curbs on spending.

Apparently many, many, competent witnesses will want to make requests to appear before the Committee, but they won't make these requests until after they have had a chance to analyze and study the House passed version of the Tax Bill. There may be as many as 150 to 200 witnesses appearing before the Finance Committee and it will take a long time to conclude hearings involving that many people. The hearing should go on for some time.

Then, of course, the bill will be considered by the Finance Committee in Executive Session. They hold what is called "mark-up" where the Senators go through the bill and hammer it into its final shape. Then it will come out of committee and get to the Floor. There will be lengthy consideration of the bill on the Floor of the Senate.

Tetanus Deaths Unnecessary Says AMA Health Official

Despite the outpouring of new "wonder" drugs, man's ancient enemy, tetanus, has not yet succumbed to a cure.

Even so, death from tetanus, or "lockjaw" as it is commonly called, is "almost entirely unnecessary," says Raymond L. White, M.D., Director of Environmental Medicine for the American Medical Association.

"As a disease, tetanus is completely preventable," Dr. White noted. "The only reason it persists is that people fail to get immunized, or fail to maintain their immunity. Out of sheer neglect, three-fourths of the people don't have the protection they need."

"If it weren't for medicine's continual concern over the possibility of tetanus—if practically every time a physician saw a wound he didn't take precautions against tetanus—the disease would rank much higher among human killers."

Tetanus is caused by a deadly poison emitted by certain bacteria which contaminate certain types of wounds—especially puncture wounds, or wounds with imbedded dirt.

The bacteria itself cannot survive long enough in the open air to infect wounds. But its seeds or spores can.

Tetanus spores are usually produced by bacteria growing within the air-free intestinal tracts of mammals, including man, and reach the ground in animal manure. Within the intestines, bacteria cause no harm to their host, other than to serve as factories for the production of spores.

Once on the ground the spores, which are unaffected by air, and are borne great distances on the wind, can survive for as long as 11 years. Besides cultivated land, they are commonly found in household dust and the grime of city streets. Some have even been detected in hospital operating rooms—tracked in on street shoes.

Puncture wounds are a common cause of tetanus.

The spores in some sections of the country are nearly as common as dirt, and await only the right kind of wound to start their chain of infection.

Because of its peculiar nature, tetanus has never been a mass killer like some infectious diseases. It is, however, a vicious enemy, killing 60 per cent of those it strikes.

Development of immunity against tetanus, says Dr. White, requires a series of inoculations —three injections four weeks apart, followed within six to twelve months by a booster dose. To maintain this protection, additional booster shots are necessary every four years.

"Protection," he said, "should begin early in life—one to two months after birth—for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities."

"But adults need protection too. With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spore of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make better use of our good sense, get immunized and keep immunized."

Velvet's Legal

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was once illegal for anyone but the regal or at the very least very well-born to wear velvet chapeaux. But that was centuries ago in the status-conscious Old World.

Today in the new world the Velvet hat is democratic, as pleasant for us peasants as for Pecunious, and as available.

It was once impractical for ladies to cover their curls with velvet, except on Sundays and for very special occasions like weddings, and in good weather.

Oldtime velvet was no cinch to clean when soiled. Furthermore, such hats became matted, spotted, limp, miserable wrecks in rain or snow.

But modern-time velvet is a different hat story altogether, for it is often chemically treated to be practically impervious to elements, or soiling, or careless treatment.

Consequently, velvet is often the choice for the hat that wraps around a bad hairdo, turban-style; or the giant-sized tam, or the sack that rolls into a ball or folds flat into the tote bags of the women on the go.

Nevertheless, velvet is still just about the only fabric that is strictly feminine in a fashion heyday of menswear fabrics for ladies as well as gentlemen.

For that reason the lush, deeppled material is very often the choice for bowlers and fedoras. While the coquetry is there in the stolen mannish styles, the velvet preserves the hats' femininity.

Moreover, velvet hats have not lost their opulence, even though they have come to rest on the closet shelves of any — income bracket homes.

The '64s from Ford are here: The Year of the Test Drive starts today!

Ford cars have changed. Only a test drive can tell you how much. Races and rallies, economy runs, braking and acceleration tests have bred into our 1964 models the kind of total performance you just can't create on the test track alone. They are hard-muscled, fast-moving, sure-footed. Open competition helped make them that way. They offer you substantially more car than anything at their price. You don't have to take our word for it. We're willing to rest our case on our cars.

1964 SUPER TORQUE FORD
Strongest, smoothest, steadiest car in its field—by hundreds of pounds... More steel in frame and suspensions... Unique suspension lets wheels move backward as well as up and down to flatten bumps... Distinctive new rooflines.

1964 FAIRLANE
Unique combination of family-size room, sports car feel and modest price... Optional 289-cubic-inch V-8 so lively it was adapted for famous Cobra sports car... Five engine choices, six transmission choices, eight different models.

1964 FALCON
All new except the economy that made Falcon famous... Falcon Six still holds all-time Mobil Economy Run record for Sixes or Eights... Plushest ride ever built into a compact car... 14 models—plus 3 extra-duty wagons.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Finance companies which hope to operate in the State under the new Texas Regulatory Loan Act must be licensed by November 21.

The so-called "Loan-Shark" law, passed by the 58th Legislature, allows a much higher rate of interest for lenders. But it saddles them with stiff licensing requirements.

Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell predicted that 2,000 loan offices would come under the act. Already he has received more than 2,000 letters of intention to file application for a license. And letters still are flowing in at the rate of 30 or more a day.

One reason for the big response is that many automobile financing companies want to up their interest rates, too. Question of whether they are eligible to operate under the act has not been settled. But they are signing up just in case.

NURSING HOME INVESTIGATION

20 years, Democratic or Republican, who hasn't asked Congress to raise the debt ceiling.

If Secretary Freeman stops by this Johnson grass farm, I can tell him straight out the kind of farm program I want is one that guarantees me high prices, low costs, and 100 per cent freedom. If he asks me how we can write a bill that'll do this, I'll have to leave at once to plow, whether my tractor will start or not.

As I've said before, the last thing us farmers want is a farm program written by farmers. It won't work, and if you're going to have a farm program that won't work, it's a lot more comfortable to have one thought up by somebody else.

The Secretary of Agriculture's job is to think up a farm program. The farmer's job is to tear it apart.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

— House General Investigating Committee will explore possible scandals in nursing home construction according to its chairman, Rep. Bob Fairchild of Center.

Investigation was requested by Speaker Byron Tunnell after a series of stories on sub-standard nursing homes for old people appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

A separate check by the State Department of Public Safety has been ordered by Gov. John Connally.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr also has promised support.

TEC ATTORNEY QUILTS — C. W. Turlington, long-time Marshall attorney, resigned as general counsel of the Texas Employment Commission.

Turlington complained that he was not consulted by commissioners before they hired a new attorney for his staff.

"In order to render the best possible service to the State it is necessary for the general counsel to have a voice in the selection of his staff, regardless of the prospective employee's race or color of his skin," said Turlington.

Hamah King of Houston, the new attorney, is scheduled to start work in October. King, a Negro, is a former vice president of United Political Organizations.

Turlington, who has served five years on the commission, says he has no immediate plans for the future.

RAINMAKING AGENCY PROPOSED — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler thinks the State should have an official rainmaking agency. He says he has discussed the subject with the Governor and hopes to soon have a "concrete proposal to offer."

The Land Commissioner feels that his success with several cloud-seeding experiments warrants serious consideration of a rainmaking agency.

DROUGHT PROBLEMS — Texas, with 53 reservoirs completed since 1950 and 12 more under construction, needs a stronger water development program says Governor Connally.

He proposes that the State harness surplus flood water for the protection of persons and property in areas which have too much water, then transport it to areas which have too little.

"We have the water resources to meet future demands. But only if they are properly developed," Governor stated.

According to the Texas Water Commission, reservoirs in the state stand at 65 per cent of capacity. That's nine per cent less than last year at this time. As of the end of August (before Hurricane Cindy) streamflow was deficient for the entire state.

OPPOSES POLL TAX REPEAL — Rep. George Hinson of Mineola has come out swinging against repeal of the poll tax. Furthermore, he has volunteered to join any statewide organization which might develop to retain it.

Hinson said his district — Wood, Upshur and Camp Counties — is two-to-one against repeal. He charged that voter registration laws are not strong enough at this time to justify dumping the poll tax.

Republicans, fearful that repeal might help the voter registration drive of the Democrats, dodged the issue at their recent meeting and left the decision "up to the individual voter."

VOTER EDUCATION — A new statewide political organization, stressing the need for voter education in the interest of land and mineral owners, has been formed here.

The name: Texas Land and Mineral Owners Political Education Committee.

John J. Shaw of Lovelady is temporary chairman. C. Y. Jacobs of Yoakum is co-chairman.

Group will pinpoint issues concerning members, study voting records and size up decisions of legislators and judicial office holders.

LAW ENFORCERS MEET — District and county attorneys, sheriffs, judges and other law enforcement officers from over the state are meeting in Austin this week.

Occasion is the 13th annual attorney general's law enforcement conference. Attorney General Carr is in charge.

PAY RAISE VOIDED — A pay raise for county officials in Crane County was declared unconstitutional by the attorney general.

The Stock Market High

The stock market recently moved through the all-time high in another optimistic buying session. This raised both enthusiasm and fear in some segments of the economy. On the one hand, the bulls saw it as a sign the future was good for another two years. The bears saw it as a warning, and looked back over their shoulders to 1929.

There are several interesting factors concerning the stock market at the present time. First, the experts do not think the present high level of prices is being caused by speculative buying. Rather, they see the rise as a result of steady, institutional, fund and planned investment.

Secondly, the recent rise seems to have resulted from confidence that business prospects in the next year or two are good.

and that a tax-cut is very likely, a cut which will help corporations and increase business profits.

Money is worth more than three per cent on today's market, so that means the investor buying stocks today is buying because of the appreciation prospect. He is buying because he thinks business will be good, taxes reduced, and business profits will improve as a result, in a growing country.

The market, then, has moved up on optimism, on forecasts and prospects for the future, not because of a good price to earnings ratio. That makes it the more important — indeed imperative — the Administration do everything possible to create a good business climate and economic progress and expansion.

Hope and Reason

The Air Force Association recently issued a policy statement which expressed concern over what it termed the Administration's military planning.

In effect, the statement charged the Administration and the State Department with a "paralyzing fear" of nuclear war. This is leading to a preoccupation with the dismantling of the very strategic tools which "have served us—and mankind on both sides of the Iron Curtain — so well thus far."

The AFA said there was now an atmosphere similar to that which prevailed at the time of the Munich capitulation of the democracies in 1938, an atmosphere of relief, relaxation and false security. Such an atmosphere invites aggression, the AFA believes.

Unquestionably the AFA warning comes at an appropriate time and the nation should take it to heart. The greatest negotiating Secretary of State in the United States' post-World War II history, Dean Rusk, has often expressed the fear of, or impossibility of, successfully engaging in nuclear warfare.

The AFA does not want fear to paralyze the military planning of the nation, or hamper it, to an extent that will result in a nuclear stalemate that could be turned into a beneficial opportunity for an aggressor who took advantage of both the military lull and the relaxed atmosphere which will result.

That this is a danger is admitted by many who favored ratification of the nuclear test-ban treaty; it is a limited danger which is worth accepting in the opinion of the Administration.

Dos and Don'ts For Brunch Givers

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

IT APPEALS to Americans, and it's easy to understand why. We're talking about a brunch. Webster calls it "a meal serving as both breakfast and lunch," its use colloquial.

With our interest in short cuts and efficiency, where else but in this country would brunch be so cherished?

Some food snobs have forewarned the use of this word, but in spite of these would-be taster-makers, the word—and the meal—are here to stay. Brunch describes perfectly the way Americans like to have their first meal on Sundays.

What may be offered at brunch?

NOT the foods served at a large and heavy mid-day Sunday dinner—not roast meat, with the exception of ham. If baked ham is served, its partner may be spoon bread or hominy grits. Do not add a green or yellow vegetable with, again, the exception of tomatoes. Fried tomatoes accompanied by bacon and eggs, have been a Southern specialty for years; they're excellent with baked ham at brunch and may be served baked or broiled instead of fried.

Eggs, in almost any form, are of course a mainstay for brunch. So is fish—creamed finnan haddie or smoked cod, grilled trout or kippers, or golden-brown filets.

Cereal may or may not be offered after a first course of fruit or fruit juice. But a special bread is almost a "must," especially if there are guests. For a new hot bread for this meal, you might like to try these muffins made with a new product—packaged toasted coconut.

COCONUT MUFFINS
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1-3 cups packaged moist toasted coconut
1 egg
1 cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in coconut. Beat egg until thick and pale colored; add milk and beat to combine; add to sifted dry ingredients with melted butter. Stir just enough to moisten dry ingredients; do not beat out lumps. Fill greased muffin pans about two-thirds full. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Remove at once and serve piping hot. Makes 12 large muffins.

The Hardin-Simmons University football team has won only one game over the past three seasons. Losses total 29.

The New York Yankees of 1941 set a major league baseball record by hitting home runs in 25 consecutive games.

Muleshoe Youths Go Beatnik - Beards, Colored Glasses and the Works - for a Dance

TYPICAL PAIR — Here are two of the Beatniks, caught as they did a streamlined version of the twist. Note girl's long, black leotards, short white skirt and ill-fitting sweater.

Muleshoe Youth went Beatnik last Saturday night, and the affair was a huge success.

Beatniks they were from cigarettes (unlit) dangling from footlong holders to dark glasses, black stockings and sloppy sweat shirts. It was one of the most successful costume parties the youth center has staged, and was literally attended by scores of teen-agers who danced up a storm to the music of Ray Ruff and his Checkmates, Amarillo.

The pictures on this page show some of the dance scenes — and some of the Greenwich Village type of clothes which the youth bedecked themselves in for the party.

Many of the girls came rigged out in the typical short skirts and leotards typical of the Beatnik girl, while the boys wore sloppy sweat shirts and jeans. And many of the boys "grew" wierd beards for the party, some of them going in for fancy shades including pink.

As is typical of all Beatnik devotees, informality was the word for it, even to sitting on the floor for informal discussions smack in middle of the dance area. The youth are planning other events for the fall and winter months.

BEST BEATNIKS — Here are the boys and girls who were "way out" at Saturday night's party — farthest out, in fact. They are the ones the judges picked for prizes. Left to right are Charles King, Jan McVicker, Jane Bruns, Larry Nigh, Terry Hutton and Ricky Camp. The judges said they had a difficult time picking out the "most" out of the many at the party. (All Photos and Engravings by the Journal)

BEATNIK ON THE ROAM — Beatniks are supposed to be restless, so wandering around the room is just part of it. Notice youth at far right with the words, "Have another Bomb" on the back of his sweat shirt.

EVERYBODY FOR HIMSELF — Modern the rugged individuals who go for this dancing is pretty much of an everyman-for-himself affair, and that's especially true of Beatnik stuff, man! The scene above is typical.

DISCUSSION TIME — When Beatniks feel a discussion coming on, they sit smack down in the middle of the floor and have a discussion. Here's one of those informal discussions under way squarely in the middle of the dance floor.

Your STUDEBAKER will give you better service with AMALIE 100% Pure Pennsylvania Motor Oil

Why? Today's high compression engines running at high or low speeds; running in grueling stop and go traffic require the superior oiliness, the heat resistance found only in AMALIE Pennsylvania Oil. AMALIE is the oilier oil refined from the world's finest crude by special low-heat process. AMALIE stands up under engine heat long after conventional oils break down, thin out, drain off. Cuts wear, insures long miles of smooth engine performance...

Your service station man will stock AMALIE for you... Just ask him. Wiedebush & Childers

Expect great things from Chevrolet again—for '64

Today... Jet-smooth Luxury '64 CHEVROLET

Chevrolet was luxurious before, but you should see it now. With smart new styling, the '64 Chevrolet looks even longer (but isn't). There's even a whole new series this year—the Impala Super Sports—with front bucket seats as standard equipment. (The new Impalas and Bel Airs are more luxurious, too. Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted.) Of course, you expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet. A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). And quieter transmissions. Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension. Flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delcotron generator, self-adjusting brakes and other low-keep features. If you've ever wondered how luxurious Chevrolet could get—with all the extra-cost options there are to choose from—that seems to be entirely up to you Take your first look at the first CHEVELLE!

CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

You've never seen anything like this totally new line of cars before. Chevelle is new in everything but Chevrolet quality. Chevelle is a good foot shorter than the big cars, so it parks easily. Yet the interior dimensions of its body by Fisher provide a generous amount of head, leg and shoulder room. (Chevelle's trunk is big and roomy, too.) The ride is surprisingly smooth with a rugged coil spring at all four wheels. And not so surprisingly for Chevrolet, the new Chevelle offers a choice of engines ranging from an economical 120-hp 6 to a 220-hp V8 (optional at extra cost.) Choose the Chevelle you like best from the three series—the Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300 Series, eleven models in all—at your Chevrolet dealer's. (Like this good-looking Malibu Super Sport, maybe?)

The Empty Pew

By W. JENE MILLER

Back in my college days I used to get behind on my studying and occasionally I would have to sit up all night reading a book to prepare for tests. But I had not done that since then until recently. I stayed up to read PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE THIRD REICH. It was an excellent, graphic presentation of the methods and achievements of Adolph Hitler, one of them being the utter destruction of Germany.

But the thing about it that intrigued me and terrified me was the similarity between the Nazi philosophy and much that parades as "Americanism" in politics today.

For instance, one of Hitler's great appeals was to those who were so far driven that they were full of hate. It was easy to turn them into a screaming mob of fanatics who would either stand by and shout approval or actually participate in the stoning of businesses, and eventually in the torture and killing of minority factions, religious groups and racial elements.

Another instance was his appeal to the envy of the wealthy by the poor. His harangues were filled with such questions and declarations as, "Why should they have that much money?"; and "They are making too much money"; and he promised more equitable distribution of the country's wealth. This is why I always wince when some member of a church board tries to prevent a preacher's pay raise, "because he's making enough now." Any limit to a man's income by "need" rather than "ability" is communistic.

It is disconcerting to anyone who loves freedom that both of these appeals are used in contemporary American politics. Some opportunists declare that they want any votes they can get, and they appeal to the psychopathic fringe. Others declare that the problems of our nation are economic, and they are going to pass economic laws and spread the wealth more evenly. But perhaps the worst of the lot are those who think they can pass laws and make evil good. They can legalize whiskey and gambling and that will make them good and justify all the hungry children, beaten wives, murdered victims of those whose personalities are destroyed by these evils. Hitler had the "majority" on his side all along!

I believe that God has decreed that there will never be another Germany. Even if the "wall" is removed, envy will deny unity. But will there be a United States?

Yarborough in Washington

The foundation of our legislative effort to combat unemployment, strengthen our national economy and help the over-burdened American taxpayer is the proposed $11 Billion tax cut. The tax cut bill which came out of the House of Representatives committee and the one proposed by the Administration are slightly different, but in essence each of them would mean that virtually every American taxpayer, single or married, executive or wage earner, would get a tax cut.

The largest share of the individual tax cut would go to those in the lower income bracket. For example, those with incomes of $3,000 or less would get a tax cut of almost 40 per cent when the program is fully in effect. The tax cut would be partially in effect in 1964, fully in effect in 1965.

There are some special considerations in the bill for taxpayers over 65 years of age with low incomes. The bill also has proposals for a liberalized deduction for child care, care of disabled dependents, and a deduction for moving expenses of employees who must move to take a new job. Almost 20 per cent of the United States population moves each year.

Under this bill a single person with an income of only $900 a year would pay no tax; a married couple with an income of not over $1600 would pay no tax. A married couple where both husband and wife are over 65 with an income of not over $3,000 would pay no tax, and a blind person with an income of not more than $3,000 would pay no tax. These provisions are important because they apply to hard-shoe cases.

For years I have advocated raising the personal exemption from $600 to $800 a year. The bill proposed in the House effects virtually the same thing. While the present income tax bill may undergo further changes before it reaches the Senate floor for a vote, I am in agreement with the need for a tax cut, and find many good points in this bill. Some tax reduction goes to everyone.

By cutting taxes on a broad scale with special emphasis on the lower wage bracket, we would assure feed-back of this money into the market place with an increase of purchasing power for medicine, groceries and clothing. It would result in business growth, new jobs, new payrolls to take up some of the unemployment slack.

IN NEW MEXICO

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Robertson spent several days recently vacationing in parts of New Mexico. They spent some time in Truth or Consequences then went to Alamogordo where they visited with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fyfe.

They returned the latter part of last week.

FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shanks have had as their guests next sister and children, Mrs. Juanita Aiman, Doug and Larry, Bloomington, Calif.

Their visit was quite a surprise to the Shanks. It had been 12 years since Mrs. Aiman has visited here.

The Aiman's went to Happy Sunday afternoon to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Vaughn.

IN WICHITA FALLS

Mr. T. R. White and Mrs. J. Pat Wagon left Sunday afternoon for Wichita Falls to be with Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. Bob Smith who underwent surgery Monday morning.

Mrs. Smith also underwent surgery last Tuesday.

The Smiths are former Muleshoe residents.

A DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mackey are parents of a daughter, Melody, weighing 7 pounds, 5 ounces. The Mackeys are parents of three sons and are former Muleshoe residents. They are now living in Mince, Okla.

FAIR TIME NEAR — When pretty girls start posing with lambs in Ellis County, The State Fair of Texas Junior Livestock Shows are almost ready to open in Dallas.

Miss Polly Pollan, 18, Future Farmer Sweetheart at Ferris, shows a Hampshire that the FFA chapter will exhibit in Dallas. More than 2,000 Texas farm boys and girls have entered approximately 2,500 animals for the junior shows. (AP Photo)
