Order For "Civilian Defense" Awaits FDR

Agency Will Deal With Changes In Life Of Americans

By Irving Perimeter. WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Officials said today an executive order establishing a "civilian defense" agency in the White House was ready for President Roosevelt's signature.

It is expected to look after such things as air raid precautions, civilian morale, recreational facilities in the vicinity of military camps, and to coordinate efforts of states and municipalities in connection with the defense program.

The armament effort already has made its impact felt in the daily lives of almost all Americans. Here are some of the things that have happened to change the way of living:

1. About 1,000,000 men have left their homes to go to army camps under selective service or national guard mobilization.

2. About 2,000,000 persons have gotten new jobs on account of defense industry. Many of these left their home communities for other localities where their skills were needed.

3. Last summer, federal taxes were hiked about 10 per cent. In the next year, the treasury wants another 33 per cent increase.

4. Priorities for defense industries have taken such things as aluminum, nickel and zinc out of many everyday gadgets that people buy.

5. The government is actively controlling prices, notably of steel and coal.

6. On May 1, the treasury will launch an intensive campaign to get everyone to buy at least a large part of his savings in the new "defense savings bonds."

7. The army is recruiting 500,000 civilian to spot invading airplanes, if and when they come over.

8. Newspapers and the radio omit some customary details about the army, navy and British ships, airplanes and other military developments at the request of the president.

9. Transportation habits are being altered, as ships are diverted to the defense program and British aid. Defense materials crowd railroad space.

10. Passport and other regulations restrict foreign travel.

11. Business with foreigners is regulated through monetary and other factors.

Officials have in mind many other things that may have to be done, especially if the United States should go to war.

Among such "if and when" proposals are "forced savings," which means getting a part of your wages in government bonds instead of general central of all prices; strict regulation of all industry, and regulation of wages.

Dr. Sadler Named President Of TCU

FORT WORTH, April 19—(AP)—Dr. M. E. Sadler, pastor of the Central Christian Church at Austin, for the past five years, was named today as president of Texas Christian University.

The 44-year old former chairman of the Texas Public Welfare Board succeeds Dr. E. M. Waits, who retired recently as Texas Christian president but will continue as president emeritus.

On his way to Enid, Okla., to fill a speaking engagement at Phillips University, Dr. Sadler stopped here long enough for a conference with trustees and to formally accept the presidency after he was confirmed by the board.

He was enthusiastic about the university's expansion plans, announced today by the trustees, with immediate improvements costing $635,000 planned, including a girls' dormitory, field house, power plant and modernization of present buildings. Other structures planned will send the cost up to $1,500,000.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Emery said R. V. Fuqua, Big Spring state hospital employee, was charged with driving while intoxicated and was held in the Sterling County jail.

Searchlight Unit Ready For Record Practice Monday

The Provisional Searchlight Battalion on maneuvers here prepared today for a 360-degree "Defense of Midland"—one of the most complete practice defenses in American military history.

Equipment was made ready for tomorrow night's "all-out" defense tactics. The complete circle of 31 lights will pierce the darkness officers said. The practice, they said, will be the most extensive of the maneuvers.

Practice For Record

Major W. H. Papefoth, commander of the anti-aircraft battalion, said the practice Monday night would be for record. Every facility of the unit's equipment and manpower will be used for best results.

Arrival of "A" batteries of the 203rd Coast Artillery, commanded by Capt. C. A. Stuckey, formed the last unit of the 360-degree defense.

A sandstorm Friday night stopped practice but not until technicians found the light beams could pierce the swirling dust clouds. The practice was stopped for safety of the "flying target" pilots.

Two bombers will be used in tomorrow night's practice, as complete maneuvers get underway. Heretofore "A" batteries of the 211 C. A. and 197th practiced with one plane.

The 203rd laid more communication lines Thursday and Friday to complete the system for the record practice.

Bomber Pilots Leave

Capt. William Amarous, bomber pilot, who has been flying a target ship in the practices, left Saturday for Fort Benning, Ga. Capt. Thomas J. Shields, pilot of the other bomber, is still on duty here. A new pilot is expected today.

The soldiers danced last night at an entertainment sponsored by women's organizations of the city. Officers also were guests of the Shell Club at its spring dance at Hotel Schubarber.

Most of the soldiers had passes to town yesterday and only the required number remained in camp. Men on passes attended movies, and engaged in varied recreational activities.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
IF WE WORK IN HARMONY WITH GOD'S LOVE AND WILL NOTHING CAN STOP US. ALONE WE ARE POWERLESS. LEARN TO USE INFINITE DYNAMIC POWER: I am the vine, ye are the branches; He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing.—John 15:5.

An Era Comes To An End

An era of some of the vastest subsidies ever offered by a government to private industry is coming to an end. Ninety years ago a developing America wanted railroads, and wanted them badly. So it offered land grants to those who would build them. More than 158,000,000 acres of land were given to railroad companies—an area almost equivalent to the whole Atlantic seaboard from Canada to the Gulf. Usually they received great tracts alternating on either side of their right-of-way. This subsidy didn't cost the taxpayer anything directly. Land was what the United States had the most of, and giving it away to railroad builders by the millions of acres did not seem extravagant so long as the needed railroads got built. But it was a subsidy—and a subsidy so generous that those who received it couldn't even use it all.

In 1940 a new transportation act was passed, providing for the return to federal ownership of millions of acres of this land. The whole system had become antiquated. For many years much of the time of the General Land Office and the Interior Department was spent in adjusting claims concerning it. The government had retained for itself certain privileges for transport of its property and employes at reduced rates. The tax situation changed. Now the whole venture is in process of being liquidated once and for all.

The interesting part of it is the relationship of these vast subsidies to the "free enterprise system." It is just one more evidence that we have never had a completely "laissez-faire" policy of non-interference of government in business.

The government has always "meddled" with business. One of the first acts of the new government after the Constitution was first adopted was to set up a protective tariff, which is a restriction of free competitive selling. We have in our day had mail subsidies for shipping lines and airplane lines whose development was nationally desirable. None was anything like as huge as the land subsidies granted at a period which began 90 years ago, and are only now being liquidated.

There is not, and never has been, an economic system which flourished entirely without direction, restriction, encouragement, or "meddling" in one manner or another, by government.

When people talk of a "free enterprise system," they are talking of something that is always a matter of degree.

All Quiet Along The Seine?

We can only guess at what goes on in the countries which lie beneath the German yoke; we are not allowed to find out the whole truth. Little scraps of information must be pieced together to form the best picture we can draw.

Here is such a scrap: From Vichy comes word that Paris police have issued warrants against 6200 house owners, business men, and janitors because the walls of their buildings have been placarded with anti-German and pro-French slogans and propaganda.

First, note the severity of the measures. If you have anything to do with control of a house, you are held responsible for what somebody comes and paints on it in the night. Second, 6200 houses is a lot of houses. Somebody, a lot of somebodies, must still be active in Paris for the cause of Free France.

Strange Hostility

The Italian newspapers are simply incredible. The French, complains the Giornale d'Italia, "persist in their hostile attitude toward Italy in flaunting their non-chalance and their jealousy. They lost a good opportunity to rehabilitate themselves. We will keep it in mind."

What, in the name of Mars, do the Italians expect from the French except a hostile attitude? Do they expect love? Respect? Admiration? Subservience? Cordiality? Reverence? Brotherhood?

On June 10, Mussolini declared war on a France already prostrate before the German juggernaut, just one week before France's final collapse. He never even gave a reason, never cited any provocation, beyond a jackal desire to be in at the kill.

That the French should "persist in a hostile attitude" is not strange. The French, too, have a few things which they undoubtedly will keep in mind.

You're likely to get shocked when you step on anybody who is a live wire.

You'll soon be hearing about another boy wonder—"How long before school is out?"

The best way to get rid of your duties is to discharge them.

People who know it all are the ones who know so many things about which they are mistaken.

New England Soldiers Celebrate Patriots Day At Army Camp Here

Soldiers here from northern states brought home the glorious history that is theirs and ours Saturday by observing Patriots Day—commemorating the historic Battle of Lexington.

It took the serious men of the 211th CA's full dress parade in honor of the event to show Texans how our own San Jacinto Day may well be a beloved counterpart of American history.

Signs on company streets at the camp yesterday read "Boylston Street and Tremont Street." The northern lads take this day that seriously. The sun baked West Texas soil literally was paved cobles of Boston, Lexington, and Concord for a day. And the 211th paraded in full dress for the occasion.

Two hundred and eighty they marched in observance of the historic Battle of Lexington and Concord. Texans, Saturday, saw the real McCoy—our national history honored, as real and genuine, year before, as our own San Jacinto Day.

Secretary Perkins' Request Refused By Miners And Operators

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Secretary Perkins, making an appeal in the name of national defense, asked today that soft coal production in northern mines be resumed Tuesday, but her request was turned down by both the CIO United Mine Workers and northern operators.

In a telegram to the UMW and the northern operators, who reached an agreement on wages several days ago, Miss Perkins said that "in the public interest as well as in the public safety" the northern mines should be reopened despite failure of the UMW to reach an agreement with southern operators.

Congressman Dies Opens Campaign For Senate Seat

Demands That Agents For Dictators Be Expelled From Defense Industries

By Dave Cheavens
GREENVILLE, April 19—(AP)—Rep. Martin Dies (D-Tex) plunged today into his senatorial campaign with the demand that the "agents of the dictators" be expelled from national defense industries.

Dies spent the day here making political hay on the town square of the blackland city where he once sold baled Johnson grass and butter milk as a farm boy.

Opening his campaign for the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Morris Sheppard, Dies told a crowd made up mostly of cotton farmers that "the dictators have a secret and un-uniformed army in greater numbers than our own army."

These soldiers, the chairman of the House committee investigating un-Americanism charged, are "entrenched in key positions in defense industries."

"Their purpose," he said, "is to sabotage through strikes, sit downs, slowdowns and acts of destruction the defense program that is vital to preservation of free institutions."

"Chief Problem."
"Our chief problem today is to save our institutions and the democratic processes from enemies from within and from without. All other problems will be beyond hope of solution in our country if this problem is not solved."

Dies said the committee of which he is chairman is in possession of evidence "which will be made public in hearings starting in a few days that will prove that many of the strikes in defense industries have been instigated from abroad."

"No measures will be adequate unless we expell from defense industries these agents of the dictators," he asserted.

"That must be our first step. If I am elected to the Senate I will construe that election as a mandate to carry out a program calling for the expulsion of undesirable aliens and the detention and outlawry of all foreign-controlled political organizations."

If he is elected to the Senate, Dies said, he would immediately introduce legislation to augment and carry on the work now being done by the House committee. He said he believed a permanent committee should be authorized to carry on investigations tending to preserve democratic institutions.

The special Senate election will be held June 28.

Church Janitor Is Arrested For Death Of Pretty Brunette

AKRON, O., April 19—(AP)—Police tonight pressed a 58-year-old church janitor for details of a scuffle which preceded incineration of pretty Ruth Zwickler's body, meantime linking him with a second woman's death and with the investigation into the killing of still another.

Detective Inspector Verne Cross announced that janitor Albert B. Lukens had confessed stuffing the body of the 23-year-old brunette into a roaring furnace at North Hill Methodist Church Easter morning after she refused him a kiss. Cross said he was not satisfied fully with Lukens' story and would continue questioning him over the week-end.

Lukens admitted, Cross added, that he was the same Albert B. Lukens who 44 years ago, as a Cincinnati grocery boy, beat to death Mrs. Julia Stigler. Sent to Mansfield reformatory, Lukens was paroled in 1907.

He went back there as a parole violator in 1908 after Canton police charged him in the hammer-killing of Elizabeth Brown. Two Canton grand juries refused to indict the Brown case and Lukens was freed from the reformatory in 1913.

Blushing Tommy Is Replaced By Woman

LONDON—(UP)—A British soldier who blushed so much that his red face looked sunburned, has lost his job and he's glad about it.

His job was to hand out to newly joined members of the Auxiliary Transport Service their army kit-coats, skirts, stockings, and the more intimate articles of woman's clothing.

He has now been replaced by a woman, who is more likely to understand the whims and fancies of women so far as clothes are concerned, but his greatest relief is to be spared the blushes that came to his face when young A.T.S. criticized their clothing, as well as the chaffing of his mates.

Grandma Can Learn New Methods Too

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—Classes for expectant mothers are old stuff in this modern age and classes for expectant fathers are now more or less common. But classes for expectant grandmothers—never.

That's what you'd expect most grandmothers would say—who ever heard grandma acknowledge she didn't know all there was to know about babies?—But it's already happened.

The first such class heard of hereabouts opened at the Maternity Center Association today from 25 women, most of them mothers of daughters expecting babies, attended.

"Some grandmothers," said Association Director Hazel Corbin, "are very set in their ways and think what was good for their babies still holds true. Well, it doesn't."

The idea of the class, she added, was to train the grandmothers in the modern way of baby-tending—such as applying the up-to-date square diaper instead of the old-fashioned three-cornered one—and to help adjust the point of view of families for baby's arrival.

Spring Floods And Windstorms Cause Deaths 8 Persons

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 19—(AP)—Spring turned violent today over a wide plains state area and eight persons were dead and two missing in floods and windstorms in Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Four were injured in Illinois tornadoes. Kansas and Nebraska had snow.

Hundreds of normally peaceful streams of the Ozark Mountain area swept out of their banks, disrupting highway and railroad traffic and crippling communications. Water supplies were threatened in two communities, one of them Joplin, Mo., a city of 37,000.

Flood gates of the area's two biggest man-made lakes—the Grand River dam lake in northeastern Oklahoma and the Lake of the Ozarks in central Missouri—were opened wide. Thousands of gallons a second were spilled into already bankful streams.

Thousands of acres of farm land were inundated. Some of the 500 residents of Bagnell, a resort town below the Lake of the Ozarks, were evacuated over a railroad trestle, but most of them remained. The town was isolated from highway traffic. Partial evacuations were ordered in other Missouri communities.

Tornadoes or violent windstorms struck Cache, Dox and Frederick in southwest Oklahoma. Rose in northeast Oklahoma, Clearwater in Kansas and a Missouri farm section.

The eight dead were in Missouri, the missing two in Oklahoma.

Complete Plans For West Texas C. Of C. Annual Convention

MINERAL WELLS, April 19—The twenty-third annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is actively in the making. Direction of the big show—dates: Thursday-Friday, May 15-16—henceforth will be from Mineral Wells, host city, with arrival here of Max Bentley, WTCC activities and convention manager, and his assistant Miss Clara Lively.

General convention chairman, elected by the steering committee, is Lonnie C. Taylor, cater operator. He is one of Mineral Wells' most aggressive civic workers, active in both senior and junior chambers of commerce and one of the promoters of the stock show and rodeo held here each year.

This year's convention is bearing down on the business of West Texas and the section's part in all-out preparedness and an invincible defense built by the American democracy against the dictators all and sundry. Important assemblies are being arranged. The first, set for Friday morning, May 16th, will be a taxpayers' assembly devoted to discussion of legislative accomplishments and needs, the West Texas chamber of commerce government program, the place of freight rates in Southwest development, and kindred subjects.

Second assembly, 2:30 p. m. Friday the 16th, is styled, "West Texas in the National Defense." Governor W. Lee O'Daniel is being asked to preside at this important session and to speak on Texas industry in the defense picture.

Twenty-Eight Nazi Air Raiders Escape From Prison Camp

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 19—(AP)—Soldiers, mounties and the hazy fogs of the Lake Superior bush country hunted tonight for the remainder of 28 Nazi air raiders who tunneled out of their internment camp last midnight in a break believed timed to coincide with the Hitler birthday week-end.

Eleven of the prisoners, most of them non-commissioned air officers captured during raids on London, were rounded up today amid the tangle of evergreens and rocks about the Northwestern Ontario camp.

Col. H. E. Stethem, director of internment operations, authorized the hunters to "use any force necessary" to capture the rest.

The Canadian Pacific Railway line, the only route of the country to the international boundary and the United States, was guarded.

The break was discovered at 1 a. m. today. This was a few hours before a special guard was to have been put on duty at all internment camps in Canada to prevent any trouble in token of Adolf Hitler's 52nd birthday Sunday.

Consequently officials expressed the belief that the break had been long planned for just that purpose.

Although the capture brought to 61 the number of attempts to break away from Canadian internment authorities since the first German prisoners-of-war were brought here, only one of the previous escapees is at large. He is Baron Franz von Werra, who dropped from a prison train and made his way to the United States, where he now is free on bail on a charge of illegal entry.

Winter Takes Another Toot On Cold Whistle

By The Associated Press
Winter blew a farewell toot on its silvery whistle in far Northwest Texas Saturday night with the weather bureau predicting freezing weather in the upper Panhandle and possibly a few local snow flurries.

Dropping from snowy Western Kansas and tornado Oklahoma, a cold ball hemstitched the Northern Panhandle and brought late afternoon temperatures below 40.

Elsewhere in Texas, however, the bureau predicted on particularly unusual seasonal departures. A torrid touch along the border Saturday was provided by Laredo's 101.

Weather forecast for Midland Sunday and Monday was fair with little change in temperature, the Midland Municipal Airport said.

The temperature here dropped to 48 degrees yesterday. It climbed steadily during the day.

Boston Radio Station Irks The Dictators

BOSTON—(UP)—A powerful Boston shortwave station is annoying the dictators these days.

The Italian government, through the official Stefani news agency, has protested the activities of this station. This pleased the WRUL management which is dedicated to a policy of annoying the totalitarian governments.

Nor is Nazi Germany at all happy about it. During the tense weeks before the Balkan explosion a Yugoslav announcer bombarded Germany with news reports and exhortations to resist Nazi pressure.

All day long foreign-language newscasts are channeled across the Atlantic and to South America in Spanish, German, French, Norwegian, Czech, Greek, Croatian, Serbian, and Albanian.

Communist Newspaper Says Soviet-Jap Pact Instrument Of Peace

MOSCOW, April 19—(AP)—The Soviet Union through the newspaper Pravda, official mouthpiece of the Communist party, bluntly described the new Soviet-Japanese neutrality pact today as a bewildering blow at the plans of United States and British interests whom it accused of conspiring to draw Russia into a war against Japan or Germany.

Declaring that the pact had been under consideration for 10 years, Pravda said it was not directed against Germany and at the same time disclosed, without elaboration, that the Kremlin last November refused a bid to become an Axis partner.

Calling the Japanese - Russian agreement an instrument of peace which "creates a solid foundation for development of friendly relations between the two states," the Communist organ added:

"This obvious fact did not suit the taste of those foreign political circles which are striving not to limit but to extend the atmosphere of war and, above all, to draw the Soviet Union into the orbit of war."

Austin high of El Paso was third with 19 1/2 points; Monahans, fourth, 17 1/2 points; Bowie high (El Paso), fifth, 16 points; and Iraan, sixth, 12 1/4 points.

Hines also capped the 220-yard dash and anchored the winning 440-yard relay team. Windell Williams, big sprinter and shot putter, won second places in the 100 and 220 yard events. He tossed the 12-pound shot over 43 feet for a second in that event. Williams is also a member of the sprint relay quartet.

May Run At Austin. Ivan Hall and J. M. White completed Midland's team. They ran laps in the sprint event.

Coach L. M. Freels telephoned from Marfa that a determined effort would be made to send the track team to Austin for the state meet next week-end. The 44.9 relay time posted at Marfa is one of the state's lowest records for the new 440-yard event.

Midland high won the District 31 track and field meet here. They won second in the San Angelo invitation meet, a first and two seconds in practice meets. The relay team is undefeated. It won the Angelo event in 45.2 seconds and the district (against the wind) in 45.4.

Connie Mack Tells His 1941 Problems

By Judson Bailey
NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—One paragraph interview with Connie Mack—"Dick Siebert is my most consistent player... I figured on Hayes, Johnson and Sam Chapman as power hitters, but Siebert has surprised me pleasantly... Eddie Collins is coming along fine, he will be a great player... a really great player... Brancato and Crash Davis will be good men and Suder already is... Pitching is our problem... Johnny Babich has a sore arm. He hurt it on the coast... I don't know if it is the same trouble he had before or not... Do we need him? Boy, how we need him!"

Story in figures—Jersey City sold 61,000 tickets to its opening day ball game through the sponsoring of Mayor You Know Who... The second day the club had 718 admissions... Phil Rizzuto's pals still are kidding him about the baby buggy that Norfolk admirers gave him opening day at Washington... They gave one to Jerry Priddy, too, but he is married... The carriages were loaded with enough gifts to fill out this space if all were enumerated... King Carl Hubbell is the Giants' 20th sore throat victim of the spring.

The St. Louis Browns were beaten in their efforts to get 14 night games this season, but the American League took care of them in its schedule by putting them in Detroit on both Memorial Day and Labor Day and in Cleveland on July Fourth.

Washington writers, back from Boston, say Manager Joe Cronin is sitting on a hot seat at Boston, but the way he has started off the season both at bat and in the field ought to cool it off.

The Cleveland Indians are working up a dislike for the big municipal stadium because they figure to have a hitting advantage in League Park.

New York Yankees Beat Senators 5-2

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The New York Yankees clipped Dutch Leonard for four hits and three runs in the tenth inning today to whip the Senators, 5 to 2. The score: New York...010 000 3-5 11 3 Washington...110 000 00-2 7 1 Bonham and Dickey; Leonard and Early.

Feller Wins First Game Of 1941 Season

DETROIT, April 19—(AP)—Fireballer Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians won his first game of the season today, beating Detroit, 2 to 1, in a duel with Johnny Gorschica. Gerry Walker tripled home both Cleveland's runs in the eighth while Tucker Stainback homered in the Tiger half. Top Tennis Matches Postponed By Rain

HOUSTON, April 19—(AP)—Rain flooded the River Oaks tennis courts today and caused a postponement of the semi-finals singles clash between Frank Kovacs and Jack Kramer in the 11th annual invitation tournament. Kovacs, third ranking player nationally, and Kramer, ranked sixth, square off tomorrow with the winner to play Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta for the championship Monday.

Texas And Indiana Athletes Garb Major Honors At Annual University Of Kansas Relays On Heavy Track

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 19—(AP)—A chilling wind and a track as heavy as a bride's first cake called a halt to all the athletes except those from Indiana and Texas today at the nineteenth annual University of Kansas relays.

Two records were improved upon, both by wearers of the scarlet from Hoosierland.

A spectacular half mile by Campbell Kane, national champion, brought Indiana a time of 3:25.2 in the sprint medley and Archie Harris, their negro football star, tossed the discus between gusts for a mark of 171 feet, 6 3/4 inches.

Sports add 2 col TEXANS... Kane was timed at 1:51.1 for his anchor lap. He took the baton 20 yards behind Mac Umstadt, Texas sophomore, and finished a stride and a half in front.

Their duel down the straightway into the stiff breeze cut one-tenth of a second from the mark set by Oklahoma last year but was one and two-tenths second slower than the world mark the same Texans created only two weeks ago.

Other than those instances, the elements protected the record book. The track was heavy from an early morning rain and the infield was greasy with the south wind so strong it was necessary to hold the pole vault cross bar on its pegs while the athletes leaped.

Only other approach to a record was the .094 Carlton Terry, Texas sprinter, accomplished in the 100-yard dash. He was pushed all the way by the wind and crossed the finish in exactly the same time as Leland, Texas Christian, did in 1930.

Homer (Bill) Harris, coach of the Kansas team, said he believed Terry's effort would not be recognized because of the assistance from the wind.

Harris, en-cased in a sweat suit to ward off the cold, made his record toss on the final heave, sailing the pole almost across the football field and on to the track on the far side.

He eclipsed the former record of 154 feet on an earlier attempt, getting inches better than 164 feet that time in his personal duel with Jack Hughes of Texas, twice winner of the title here.

Last June Harris edged out the Texan for the National Collegiate crown at Minneapolis. Texans Like Cold

On the whole, the wind and cold seemed to trouble the athletes from the state of Texas less than any one else.

The Longhorn squad won the 440-yard and half mile relays in addition to their second behind the record breaking Hoosiers in the sprint medley. North Texas State gobbled up the blue ribbons in the college division with wins in the half and two mile relays.

They also stepped up into the university class for a second in the 440-yard four man contest.

Howard Payne College captured the one-mile college relay and their ace hurdler, Pete Owens, splashed to victory in :14.4 over the high barriers.

For one school, however, Indiana did best with triumphs in the distance medley and the mile relay in addition to the records.

Drake's victory over Oklahoma in the two mile relay and Howard Payne's triumph in the one-mile jerked the 6,000 spectators out of their seats.

GALVESTON, April 19—(AP)—Stocky Kay Pearson of Houston, who has solved the intricacies of two major sports, won the Texas Women's Golf Association championship today, smothering Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth 8 and 7.

With almost monotonous precision she blew around the Country Club course, while Mrs. Goldthwaite, defending champion, found a bushel of trouble from tee to green.

Will Resume Negotiations.
 The southern operators said they would resume negotiations. John L. Lewis, president, said the miners would re-enter negotiations, but the meeting must be at New York where details still were being dis-cussed with northern operators.

Lewis turned down the Perkins proposal for separate operation of northern mines. Both the northern operators and Lewis expressed the view that the government could help matters by assisting in a resumption of negotiations.

Roosevelt and Secretary Perkins Intervene In Labor Problems Of Shipbuilding And Mine Industries

By The Associated Press
 President Roosevelt and his sec-etary of labor intervened respec-tively yesterday in labor relations problems of the shipbuilding and coal mining industries, both vital to national defense.

Miss Perkins was rebuffed in a request for resumption of soft coal production from northern mines next Tuesday. There was no im-mediate reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's move.

The chief executive, at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, urged Pacific coast shipyard managers and work-ers to ratify a coastwide master contract for wages. Such an agree-ment would be effective for the duration of the national emer-gency.

Through a secretary, Roosevelt said that adoption of the plan—a proposal of the office of production management—would result in speed-ing up the whole shipbuilding pro-gram and set a precedent for East-ern yards.

The secretary, William D. Has-sett, said a tentative agreement had been reached, but that "a minority group in Seattle is attempting to block ratification."

Miss Perkins appealed in the name of national defense for an end to the situation which has kept 400,000 soft coal miners idle while stocks of coal needed for de-fense industries are dwindling.

She asked northern operators and the CIO United Mine Workers of America—the two had come to a wage understanding in New York conferences—to resume production

State Senate Debate On $23,661,000 General Tax Bill Promises To Hold Top Legislative Interest Next Week

By The Associated Press
 AUSTIN, April 19.—Senate debate on the $23,661,000 general tax bill, starting Tuesday, wins top billing in the Legislature next week although it is but one of several elements which will shape the final record of the 47th session.

Disposal of the revenue raising bill bears importantly on Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's future plans—whether or not he will run for the United States Senate—and the speed with which it is handled should be something of a gauge to the length of the session, less than a month removed from the 120-day mark.

Senate action of the tax bill should have great import on the governor's five-point program, the success of which he recently advised would help him reach a decision about the Senate race.

He has not said publicly wheth-er the finance committee approved bill, nearly $2,000,000 weaker in es-timated revenue producing power than the House version, meets his favor.

May Revamp It
 The upper chamber is at liberty to revamp it and in fact there is much talk about new and substitute provisions, including a state income tax.

Another key point in the gov-ernor's program, abolition of the death penalty, is due for a possible House showdown. A bill accomplishing this objective and substituting an ir-revocable life sentence reached the House calendar on a minority re-port and proponents may move to take it up next week.

O'Daniel also asked the lawmak-ers to end deficit financing of government, abolish the poll tax, a prerequisite to voting in primary elections, and approve a state au-ditor-budget director plan.

The House last week sent the Senate a joint resolution submit-ting a constitutional amendment which was designed to begin cash operation for the state government beginning in 1945 and this might draw Senate attention when the tax debate is concluded.

Ignore Poll Tax Issue
 The poll tax proposal apparently is dead for the session because the House refused to let it take its place on the calendar by refusing to print a minority report.

The House has approved, with amendments, a bill giving a joint legislative committee instead of the governor the authority to name the state auditor. Like the Senate, it refused to go along with the ex-ecutive on his suggestion that he name a state budget director re-

Dallas Viaduct Needs Repair; Fallen Arches

DALLAS, April 19—(UP)—This city's aging Houston street viaduct, "longest viaduct of its kind in the world" when it was built 29 years ago, has a bad case of falling arches.

All concerned agree that the mile-long four-lane concrete motorway, first of five to span the narrow Trinity river and its wide bottom-lands, needs repairing. But the city of Dallas, the county of Dallas and the state of Texas through its highway department are squabbling as to which should do the job. Cost would be $30,000.

The state highway department has profited by more than $700,000 in gasoline taxes on fuel used by vehicles in traversing this struc-ture," said County Commissioner Buck Frank. "And still they balk at spending $30,000 to repair it.

The first story is "The Mad Doc-tor", co-starring Basil Rathbone, Ellen Drew, and John Howard, and the second is "The Monster and the Girl", played by Miss Drew, Robert Paige, Paul Lukas, Joseph Calleia and Onslow Stevens. Both are ex-celent horror stories, warranted to send chills and thrills up and down the toughest of spinal cords.

"The Mad Doctor" is a study in abnormal psychology which dips in-to psycho-analysis and hypnotism. In order to avenge himself on all womenkind because of an unfaithful wife, a doctor, played by Rathbone, marries a number of wealthy women and disposes of them. The last is a lovely heiress played by Miss Drew. Rathbone starts to undermine her mind and then discovers that he is in love with her. His efforts to undo his evil work, which occur in the last few minutes of the pic-ture, give the picture its tremen-dous emotional impact.

"The Monster and the Girl" is the story of a man, executed in the electric chair for a murder he did not commit, whose brain is implanted in the skull of a huge ape by a doc-tor experimenting in psychology. The monster which results breaks away from the laboratory and starts to wreak vengeance on the men responsible for the execution. In the process he paralyzes and terror-izes a city.

Pretty Odessa Aviatrix Instructs The Men Folks How To Fly; Classes Contain Students Of Varied Lives

By The Associated Press
Pretty Florine Miller is doing her share in the United States defense program by teaching the men folks how to fly at Odessa. The 20-year-old former Baylor University student is ground instructor here in the CAA-approved advanced flying school where her students are engineers, physicians, drilling contractors, geologists, a lawyer, her parents and a brother. She started her flying course July 1, 1940 and soloed 13 days later after eight hours of dual instruction. After completing her private's course and given an instructor's rating for ground school instruction, Don Teel, former operator of the school, placed her in charge of ground instruction. Ninety per cent of nearly 100 students are men and much older than the instructor. Her mother, Mrs. T. L. Miller, had completed her ground course under Teel but she liked aviation so well that she enrolled again to take the course under her daughter. Miss Miller, who was formerly secretary to a district attorney and transcribes sermons once a week for her Baptist preacher, teaches three flying classes daily, from nine until eleven in the morning, from three to five in the afternoon and from seven to eleven at night. "I'm as tired as some of my business men students. I enjoy secretarial work very much but I have never found anything that fascinates me as much as flying. I devote all of my time to it now and I had rather fly aerobically than any other way," Miss Miller said. Her father, who operates a string of West Texas jewelry stores said, "a lot of us may have to learn to fly some day. We're building the ships for defense but haven't enough capable fliers to man them, so I started taking lessons. After I began the kids decided they needed them too. We found out that by the time we paid for four sets of lessons purchasing a family plane would be cheaper, so here we are." Another brother of Miss Miller had to stop his flying classes when he was drafted. "And my men folks—they're doing better now," she said. "I give them a written test every day to keep their minds on flying."

Miss Florine Miller.

Boy Saves Father's Life, Quick Action

AMARILLO — (UP) — Thirteen-year-old Edmon Bentley is a real hero in the eyes of his friends. Edmon rescued his father after the two had gone to a gravel pit near the city to obtain a small quantity of gravel. When he started to dig, the bank caved in and covered Jeff Bentley, the father. The youngster grabbed a shovel, and digging furiously, uncovered his father's head. Then he ran for help. The father suffered no serious injuries—thanks to the quick thinking of his son.

WEST COAST GIVES US SMART TOGS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Somewhat in the Oriental mood so prominent in recent showings of spring styles is this dinner costume, worn by Film Star Mary Astor. Orry-Kelly designed it in heavy sheer crepe, in a soft, stone blue.

These are palmy days on California's beaches, judging by Screen Star Rita Hayworth's new one-piece bathing suit, designed by Mabs. Of gleaming gold and brown elastic satin, it is decorated with palm tree pattern.

Edith Head designed this trim dressmaker suit, worn by Hollywood's Mary Martin. It's of soft, light wool, in honey beige, with wrist-length, button-front jacket showing interestingly detailed patch pockets.

Ford's Plant Rushes Plane Motor Output

DETROIT—(UP)—Henry Ford's airplane engine, an advance into new fields of power and performance, will be ready for production in June, officials disclose.

Tests on a two-cylinder segment of the motor have been completed and only a few details of the super-charger system must be worked out before actual production orders are placed.

Army officials, anxious to get the powerful new motor into fighting planes, have closely watched tests through all states and are exerting pressure on Ford engineers to rush final details, an official said.

The Ford engine, 12-cylinder, V-type, will be the third liquid-cooled job to be used in American warplanes. The Allison, of slightly more than 1,000 horsepower, currently is powering Bell, Curtiss and Lockheed pursuit ships, while the Rolls-Royce Merlin, a British engine, soon will be turned out for the same jobs by the Packard Motor Car company.

War Gas Danger Is Scaled Down

FORT BLISS, Tex.—(UP)—The terror of poison gas has been greatly exaggerated in the public mind, according to Major C. S. Shadle, head of the chemical warfare service detachment at Fort Bliss.

Major Shadle, former private who fought in seven major engagements in which the A.E.F. participated during the World War, has been gassed and wounded. He recovered from the gas without ill effect.

"Troops need not fear any of the known gasses so long as they use the protection afforded them," he said. "Our army has the finest protection in the world against gas—but there's not much you can do if you are hit by a projectile."

The gas masks provided for troops are adequate protection against war gases, he said.

Major Shadle's detachment conducts continuous schools at which soldiers are schooled in gas protection measures.

The chemical warfare detachment instructs soldiers in the wearing of gas masks, and how to put masks on horses. Also, it gives instruction in decontamination—the neutralization of gassed areas.

A good sense of smell is an asset to a soldier in war, and all troops are taught to recognize the different gases by their odors. The minute they get a whiff of gas they are taught to don their gas masks.

Major Shadle said that chlorine, first used by the Germans in 1915, has a lime odor. Phosgene, another World War gas, smells like new-mown hay. Mustard gas, a burning, blistering gas, smells like garlic. Lewisite, an unused gas developed by the army, has an odor like geraniums.

Tear gas (chloroacetophenone) is used in the army only for training. It has no toxic effect.

Texan Manages Lease-Lend Act Food Purchases

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Embattled England looks to America for food and clothing as well as armaments, and on the shoulders of a Texan will rest the responsibility of seeing that our surplus farm goods are rounded up for delivery.

He is Milo Perkins, 41-year-old Houston business man who was invited here six years ago with the understanding his position as assistant to the secretary of agriculture was to be more or less temporary, and who stayed to rise to the ranks of the administration's inner council.

As head of the surplus marketing administration, Perkins is scheduled to be assigned the task of purchasing agricultural products for Great Britain under the lease-lend program. His will be the duty of seeing that farm products are bought up for England in quantities that, while aiding that nation, will not cause a shortage and prohibitive prices to American consumers.

He is the father of the food stamp plan, the most popular method yet put into effect by the administration for distributing foods to needy persons. It was drafted after lengthy conferences with growers, retailers, wholesalers and bankers to avoid procedure that might work a hardship on any one group.

Under the food stamp plan, certified needy persons buy $1 in orange stamps and receive 50 cents in blue stamps free. The blue stamps are used only for purchasing surplus farm products. Merchants may redeem the stamps at their face value.

Surplus farm goods have been spotted throughout the country, by areas and seasons when emergencies arise, and gathered up for distribution through the food stamp program. Similarly, surpluses are expected to be removed from gutted markets and shipped to England.

EAST-WEST PAR: Make the contract. 19

By Wm. E. McKenney
 America's Card Authority.
 This is Hand No. 2 of the 16 World Bridge Olympic hands played throughout the world April 17. Below we give you the committee's par. The bidding and opening lead on this hand were pre-directed by the committee.
 East plays the king of clubs, South wins with the ace and continues the suit. West ruffs the third round.
 Declarer counts that he may still lose a spade and a diamond. Unless he drops the queen-jack doubleton in one of the two suits, he must pick up the adverse spade honors by a cross-ruff. Even then he must make some of his trumps separately in order to win enough tricks.
 The first move is to cash the two top hearts and lead third heart for dummy to ruff. North discards on this round. Next the king and ace of diamonds are cashed—in that order so as to leave West in the lead. As declarer finds that he must lose a diamond trick, he now has to concentrate on avoiding a trump loss.
 West leads a third diamond and North wins with the jack. Several variations are possible in the end-play, but declarer can make game if he plays on the assumption that the spade honors are divided.
 On any trump lead or ruff with an honor, he must kill that honor and then finesse against the other defender for the remaining honor. A trump lead by North will end the cross-ruff, but will permit declarer to take out trumps and cash the ten of diamonds.

Small Home Builders Want Attractiveness

The careful buyer of today is insisting that the small house be as attractive, efficient, livable, and durable as more expensive homes. Many and sometimes all of these factors have been neglected in the building of small homes in the past. The modern type of small home is far better than that of 10 years ago, it is admitted by all persons connected with the building industry. Today's small home is as complete a dwelling unit as its more elaborate counterpart, and considering the type and quality of standard equipment that now comes with the small home—automatic heating plants, modern cooking ranges, mechanical refrigerators, etc.—it represents a great advance over the small house of even a few years ago.

Announces Peanut Referendum Vote

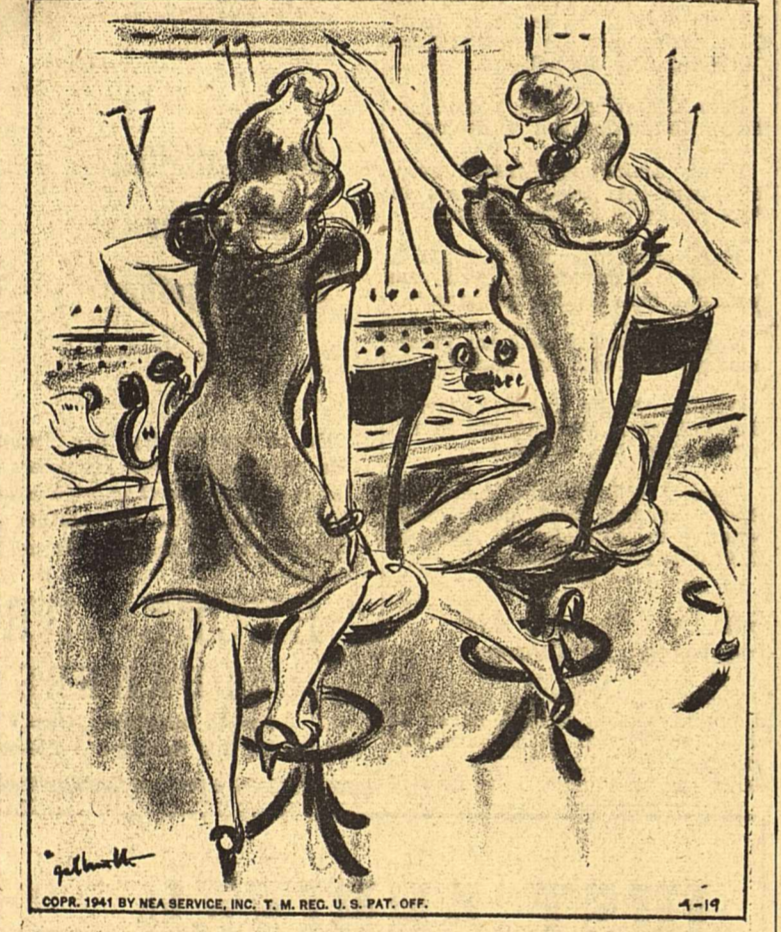

Farmers of the nation and Midland County will vote on a peanut marketing quota referendum April 26, the county agent's office was notified. Producers who raised peanuts in 1940 that were picked and thrashed by mechanical means are eligible to vote. Although Midland County producers do not normally raise peanuts, it was pointed out that producers from other areas may have moved here since 1940 and thus are eligible to vote in the quota referendum. The election will be conducted in the courthouse April 26.

SERIAL STORY

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Spud Delaney, driver of the truck carrying Hale's precious cargo, stops for a beer. Then, curious to know more about his unusual load, he opens the box as a lookoutkeeper watches. A bit of hot clear ash falls. Carolyn, at home, suddenly hears a terrifying roar.

X-999 ON A RAMPAGE

CHAPTER VI
FEAR seized Carolyn, held her motionless.

"Carolyn," her mother called again. "Did you hear that?"

"Yes, mother!" It was a raspy sort of assent.

Her mother came in, clad in nightgown. Together they went to a window, but even after snapping off their light they could see nothing. This city was large, and, while exceedingly loud, the explosion might have been far away.

"I've got to go see what happened!" Carolyn breathed, tense.

Her mother turned to her. "Where, dear? What is it?"

"Here, indeed! She didn't answer. She just stared into the night. She could almost hear her own heart now, she suddenly realized. Where could she go?"

She was thinking back frantically, trying to remember some phrase through the fatigue of the past day and night's work at the laboratory that might help. If Robert had only been more specific! Or even if she were sure the explosion was due to what she feared!

She ran to their living room and lighted it, then opened the telephone directory. H—Ha—Ha—Hal—Hale—Hale—Hale—it offered three inches of Hales including R. J., Robert W., and plain Robert. The addresses didn't help.

She had no idea where her employer resided, or even if he had a home telephone. But he signed all his letters plain Robert Hale, so maybe—

She called the Robert Hale number and almost at once hung up again. Dr. Hale wouldn't be there! Of course he wouldn't, she reminded herself; he had left her to go to the farmhouse and receive the shipment of X-999. And of course she must not talk about it at all to his servants or even his family.

She was suddenly frantic again with indecision and inaction.

"Did you learn anything, honey?"

"No. No, mother. Please go on to bed. I'm sure it's nothing—nothing so important." Her voice lacked conviction and she knew it. "I'm going out again. Just to see. You go to bed."

"But Carolyn, it's dreadfully late!"

"Just a little past midnight. Bob said—"

"Bob who?"

"Dr. Hale. My boss. I—well, frankly, mother, I am anxious to learn what happened. I am sure—I mean I hope he isn't—Look, I'll telephone you the moment I know anything! You go to bed now, there's a dear."

CAROLYN talked jerkily as she literally snatched off pajamas and dressed again, gently commanding her mother as if she herself were the older of the two. She paused only to telephone for a taxi and was on the sidewalk when it came.

"The explosion—to the Schoenfeld Laboratory, driver. Please rush! I am so—"

"That's east, miss. The explosion was south-west. You know what it was? Gee, it knocked me out!"

"Was it? Oh! Oh dear! . . . I—look, driver, do you know a farmhouse out 30 miles? A—deserted—a place with land around—"

She stopped, realizing how inadequate that was, how silly really. Distress in her voice made him stare at her.

"Then let's go there!" she suddenly ordered. "Southwest, I mean. Until we learn—"

"Okay!" murmured the driver, roaring off.

Two minutes later the taxicab was positively crawling; but she glanced over at the speedometer—hardly crawling, at 48. The streets weren't crowded. The man screeched and skidded his tires on sudden turns.

"Thisway, I'm positive!" he shouted back to her. Then because he was highly interested himself, he added, "Don't you worry about the fare, miss."

She hadn't even thought of that, but she felt a flash of gratitude. He was a gentlemanly driver, and skilled.

They passed several other taxicabs going southwest, and then a police car with siren shrilling passed them. They had to pull over to let fire trucks go by. They knew now they had the right direction. If fire trucks were coming from this distance, and this long after the explosion, it must mean a second or even general alarm fire somewhere, the driver said. But no blaze was visible. Ambulances streaked by them twice.

"Oh-h-h!" That was involuntary, from Carolyn. "What was that, miss? What busted?"

"I—I don't know!"

He let it go at that. And 20 minutes later they had the answer before them.

THEY had left the main business district, passed miles of outlying groceries, small firms and dwellings and were in the suburban industrial area when the matter became more plain.

"Gee!" murmured the driver, appalled. He slowed down because he had to, now. In a moment the traffic stopped him entirely. "Come on, miss! On foot, eh?" He was excited.

Efficiently he escorted her up a railroad embankment. He asked questions of everybody. He climbed part way up a power pole ladder the better to see, then boosted Carolyn up. He learned what they wanted to know.

"—all the big furniture factory, a forist's greenhouse covering two acres, an old warehouse four stories high, a half mile of railroad track—!" Thus the awed driver summarized what he had learned from looking and listening. "Spies, huh? You think spies, miss? They oughta—"

"Oh-o-h!"

Carolyn was inarticulate now. Devastation before them was overwhelming. From her point six feet up the power pole she could see limitless wreckage. Twisted girders. Piles of brick and stone. Flames. Smoke. Every kind of debris.

It was as if the whole area had been blown through a grinder; so small were the pieces. She wasn't familiar with this section of town and so couldn't tell what structures had actually gone down, but the whole lurid landscape here was a scene from Europe's hell.

She looked around to sides and rear. She couldn't even pick out her taxi now in the sea of cars that had crowded up behind. Honking and shouting, police whistles, wailing, sirens, all added to the general hysteria.

She felt more and more impelled to do something. But what?

Nothing before had ever struck her city like this. People and vehicles were packed around by the thousands and doubtless were still coming. Whatever could she do?

"I've got to!" she whispered desperately to herself. "I've got to find him!"

Here, as in more than 140 cities and towns in the state, such a home will be exhibited to prospective home buyers and will be purchasable under the Federal Housing Administration's system, McHargue said.

Other "Texas Home" will be of modern design and will be typical of the community and this particular section of the state. The Federal Housing Administration already has issued a commitment to insure the mortgage upon completion and FHA inspectors will be on hand to inspect construction as it proceeds.

The "Texas" will be located at 1411 W. College Street.

"This community," McHargue said, "long has demonstrated its interest in home building and home owning and it is our desire to produce the type of home which there is the greatest need here. It will be the type of home which most of our citizens can well afford."

Speaker Here Will Relate Why America Should Aid England

Unless the United States is willing to be reduced to a third power, there is no alternative for her but to go into the war, according to H. R. Knickerbocker, war correspondent and roving European reporter for the International News Service.

Knickerbocker, who will speak in Midland next Sunday under auspices of Bundles For Britain, will explain how in his opinion the United States own interests makes it necessary for her to go to Britain's aid.

The lecturer and journalist has just returned to the United States from England via Lisbon, Portugal. He was in France during the Nazi invasion.

Texas Home Building Week To Be Observed In Midland In June

Observance of Texas Home Building Week June 1 to 7 was assured here this week as Paul McHargue of the AEL Housing and Lumber Company announced construction of a "Texan" home already is under way.

The "Texan—The Home Built for Texans" is the typical home which builders all over the state are building in time for formal showing beginning June 1 as a part of the activities during Texas Home Building Week.

Here, as in more than 140 cities and towns in the state, such a home will be exhibited to prospective home buyers and will be purchasable under the Federal Housing Administration's system, McHargue said.

Other "Texas Home" will be of modern design and will be typical of the community and this particular section of the state. Addresses Medical Association Here

Dr. F. M. Riehmond of San Angelo addressed members of the Six-County Medical association in a meeting here Friday night.

Riehmond described functions of the San Angelo Mother's Health Club.

A like organization may be formed here, it was announced.

Crane Citizen Makes Unusual Discovery

CRANE, April 19—(Special)—As a school boy, R. E. Wesley Jr., used to mentally explore pyramids, and ancient interests of history, and to study pictures of uncommon animals, such as the Columbian elephant in his books. His yen has grown into a hobby with his latest discovery a few days ago of the remains of an elephant 20 miles northwest of Crane in the shifting sand dunes.

The mammal was identified by the University of Texas, which probably will excavate it, when a molar approximately eight inches in width, was sent to the school.

A tusk 11 feet long, and 18 inches at its base was most prominent part of the animal unearthed.

Outdoor Meals Are Popular In Summer

The custom of serving meals out of doors in the Summer has increased considerably in popularity during the past few years.

Many small homes now have porches or terraces located convenient to the kitchen. Dining under the star or on an attractive porch is as convenient as dining inside, and much more pleasant.

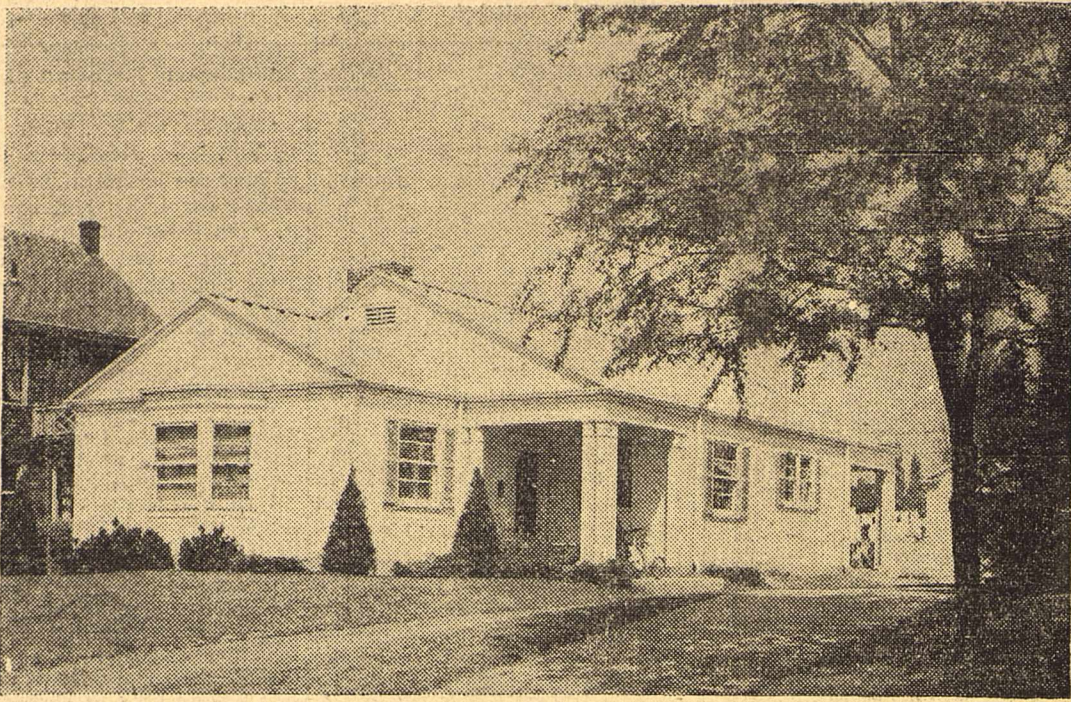

Older homes which unfortunately do not have outdoor dining space may be provided with a terrace or porch wherever there is open space accessible from the kitchen.

In planning outdoor dining space one of the essentials is privacy. Offer a stockade fence or vines or shrubbery can provide sufficient screen. Trees are not essential but they will add beauty and make noonday luncheons more pleasant.

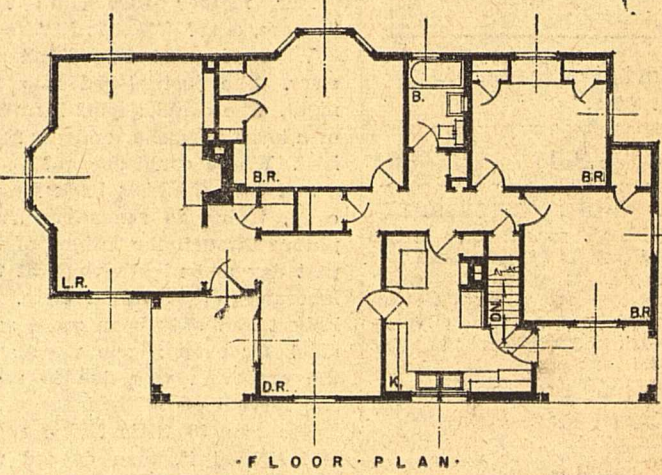

French doors make a gracious entrance to the house and add to the attractiveness of the setting. Provision should also be made for providing the terrace with an electric outlet so that lamps may be connected after dark. The electric outlet will also be found convenient for attaching heating appliances, such as grills and coffee makers, and at night for lamps which attract and kill bugs.

Awnings, pergolas, or trellises may be added if the owner desires. It is generally felt, however, that for the small home a simple dining terrace is preferable.

Many Attractive Features Make This Home Desirable For Families Needing 3 Bedrooms

The family which requires three bedrooms may find this plan one which will meet all needs. The living room is large and well lighted and constitutes one entire wing of the building. The fireplace is located directly opposite the bay window. A series of hallways connects all rooms and the bath. The house is generously provided with closets not only in bedrooms, for many open on to the hallway to serve special requirements.

FLOOR PLAN

Modernization Boom To Supply Of Good Homes

Modernization of existing structures will greatly increase the Nation's supply of decent habitable homes, according to Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers Trust Company, New York City.

"One of the greatest needs of the present moment," Mr. Gibson said in a recent statement, "is that of providing adequate housing for workers in defense industries. An important part in meeting this need can and should be played by repair and modernization of existing residential property as well as new construction."

Old Home Conversion.
The conversion of old homes, which though structurally sound are too large for single-family occupancy under modern living conditions, into attractive and desirable small apartments for two or more families, was suggested by Mrs. Gibson. Money spent for such purposes, he said, would not only provide additional housing units in the present emergency but would prove to be an excellent investment for the property owners.

"Millions of dollars have been lent for modernization under Title I of the Federal Housing Administration's program," he said. "Our bank has done its share in this lending, and in doing so, I feel we have made a real contribution to the welfare of the country, for these loans have served to protect property values."

Credit Necessary.
The use of credit for modernization is absolutely necessary, according to Mr. Gibson, since many home and property owners cannot afford the cost of the necessary work on an all-cash basis.

"I predict," he said, "that full cooperation between financial interests, the building industry, and the Federal Housing Administration

Personal Taste Aids Lot Choice

Once the basic neighborhood requirements have been determined by a family selecting a neighborhood for a new home, the personal element comes in, FHA officials say.

When two or three neighborhoods are satisfactory from the standpoint of basic plan, design, stability, tax rates, etc., the final choice can be made on a basis of personal preference and family convenience.

One neighborhood may be more conveniently located than another to the place of employment, shopping centers, schools, and recreational centers. Transportation facilities may be cheaper and more rapid or the schools preferable in another.

FHA officials suggest, however, that perhaps the most important factor will be the appearance of the neighborhood and the facilities offered for social life.

There may be one neighborhood among those selected where friends of the family live—friends with children of the same age and whose income, tastes, occupation, and avocation correspond.

If this neighborhood offers the same or nearly the same advantages as the others under consideration, it would probably be worth while to select it in preference to one which may have been rated slightly higher.

Municipal Projects Will Be Speeded Up

Two extensive projects in Midland—the $150,000 airport improvement and a $70,000 waterworks supplement—will undergo acceleration Monday.

Giant trusses, weighing 14,000 pounds each will be lifted and set at the airport project. They are for the new hangar. Bases of runways are ready for final topping, engineers said.

Ditching and the laying of mains will begin on the waterworks improvement project. A ditching machine has arrived and will be set to use. Construction is also scheduled to begin on the reservoir at the Meissner source. A new pump was installed there Friday last. Another will be installed to complete the two-pump system at Meissner.

A third well is being tested at the Meissner Farm. Two other tests returned satisfactory reports on two wells.

Southeast New Mexico Wildcatting Activity Surges As Two Important Tests Are Located In Lea County

HOBBS, N. M., April 19. — The wildcatting activity in Southeast New Mexico gained impetus today with the staking of two important tests in Lea County.

Richmond Drilling Company of Midland, Tex. located No. 1 State 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east line of section 22-17s-33e. The wildcat lies between production in the Vacuum and Maljamar pools; it is four and one-half miles west of the Vacuum and about the same distance east of Maljamar.

The Richmond test is in an area which underwent extensive coring-drilling by Phillips Petroleum Company. Shell Oil Company farmed out to Richmond the southeast 160 acres of section 22 on a sliding-scale override basis. Phillips, with a large block surrounding the wellsite, contributed $15,000 bottom-hole money and also gave Richmond the east half of the northeast quarter of section 22. The Lake Shore Corporation of Midland assumed obligation to purchase from Richmond the 80-acre tract and also has an option to acquire a one-half interest in the well and in the 160-acre well-site.

Richmond will drill the test with rotary to 4,800-foot contract depth unless commercial production of sulphur water in the line is encountered at a shallower point.

Maljamar Extended
Fullerton Oil Company of California has staked location for a 5,300-foot wildcat test seven miles north and slightly east of the Maljamar pool in Western Lea. It is the No. 1 State, 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east line of section 18-16s-33e. Suppes & Suppes of Artesia, contractors, will drill the test with big spudder.

Extending the Maljamar pool a short distance northeast, Barney Cockburn No. 2-B Miller flowed 81 barrels of oil in two hours through open 2-inch tubing set at 3,255 feet. It topped pay at 3,744 feet and was shot with 200 quarts of nitro from 3,700 to 3,800 feet, the total depth. Location is 1,980 feet from the north, 660 feet from the west line of section 23-17s-32e.

A southeast extension well, Johnny Cockburn No. 2-A Miller, 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 26-17s-32e, was completed at 4,170 feet for 24-hour flow of 326 barrels through open 2-inch tubing set at 3,534 feet. The well was shot with 300 quarts from 4,020 feet to total depth. Main pay was topped at 4,084 feet.

Barney Cockburn No. 8-A Pearl-sall, south-edge Maljamar well 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 33-17s-32e, was shot with 320 quarts from 3,850 to bottom at 4,010 feet in lime and flowed 83 barrels in two and one-half hours through open 2-inch tubing set at 3,565 feet. Pay zone was entered at 3,905 feet.

Brown To Rig Up
New location for Maljamar is Barney Cockburn No. 8-A Miller, 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 23-17-32e.

J. W. Brown, Inc., No. 1 State, scheduled 5,300-foot wildcat in Lea six miles west of the town of Lovington and eight miles northeast of nearest production in the Vacuum pool, has derrick erected and is preparing to rig up rotary. Richmond Drilling Company is contractor. The test is 4,820 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west line of section 4-16s-35e, in the center of lot 11.

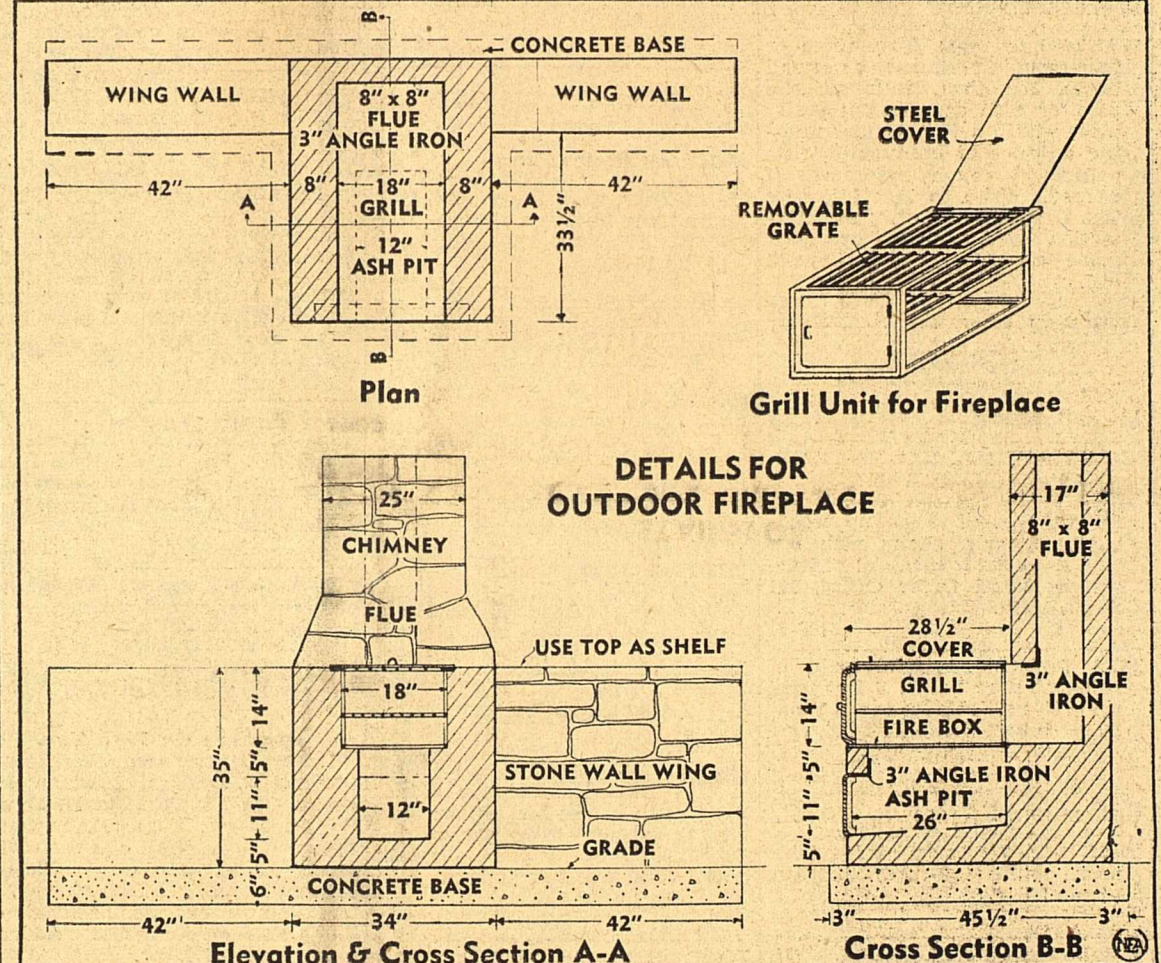

Fred Turner Jr. of Midland No. 1 Webb-Government, in the South Lovington pool of Lea, is drilling past 3,275 feet in anhydrite and gypsum. It is 2,310 feet from the north, 1,299 feet from the west line of section 31-16s-37e.

Shows Dead
A wildcat one and one-half miles west of the south end of Lake McMillan in Eddy County, Basin Oil Company No. 1 Kimmell, is drilling below 1,400 feet in lime, carrying an estimated one and one-half barrels of oil per day. It logged showing of oil in white sand at 1,047 feet, increase in oil in lime from 1,235 to 1,248 feet and another showing of oil in lime from 1,265 to 1,270 feet. Location is 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 5-20s-29e.

Jones & Yates and associates No. 1 Pickrell, Eddy wildcat southwest of the Dayton area, logged showing of dead oil in lime from 712 to 720 feet. It last was reported running casing, bottomed at 766 feet in lime.

W. A. Suddeth and others No. 1 Nell H. Wills, Eddy gasser six miles west of the Getty pool, had drilled out part of cement plug inside 8-inch casing set at 738 feet when water broke in and has been re-

You Don't Need Fat Purse, Large Yard To Have Outdoor Fireplace

By Henry Pree
Landscape Consultant

The outdoor fireplace has become increasingly popular in the past few years. A simple lunch prepared outdoors tastes better than an elaborate luncheon inside the home. Children especially enjoy having a picnic in the garden.

The yard doesn't need to be large nor the pocketbook fat to have an outdoor fireplace. It can be built as elaborately as you like, but just as much fun can be had with an inexpensive rustic grille.

Selecting the right type for your garden is a matter of choosing one to fit the size of the yard and your picnic requirements.

Study the location and design for the fireplace just as you would for a pool or garden house. It is best to select a secluded spot or to develop one. A few shrubs, a hedge, or a trellis will screen the outdoor dining room from passers-by and neighbors. If you expect to use wood for fuel, the fireplace will not draw properly should it be located directly beneath a tree, and the smoke and heat will damage the foliage. If charcoal is used, the fireplace can be set almost anywhere. In an area with tall trees and heavy shrubs, a fireplace with a tall chimney enhances the picture. In a more open space, a fireplace constructed along the lines of a rustic grille, with a low chimney or low spreading walls on either side, is more in keeping with the surroundings.

In southern localities where frost doesn't penetrate the ground, a deep foundation is not needed. Tamped ground, cinders, gravel or flat stones set in mortar is all that is necessary. In the north, however, deep freezing must be considered. Frost swells the ground, and when the earth settles again in the spring, the movement is likely to crack the walls of the fireplace and chimney.

A concrete foundation should be built as deep in the ground as the frost penetrates. A fireplace can also be built, provided it is not too large, on a large piece of sawed sand or flagstone laid on cinders. The action of the frost then moves the whole as one piece and no cracking results. The small additional expense for a foundation will be made up by permanence and freedom from repairs.

Fireplaces that draw best are built on a slight rise of ground. Another way to insure a good draft is to arrange to have the fire several inches off the ground.

The fireplace itself, no matter what type, should be lined with firebrick so that regardless of how hot the fire becomes, the fireplace will not be damaged. The same is true for the flue and flue-lining. To be really successful, a fireplace must have a chimney to carry off smoke and to complete draft circulation.

For most purposes the chimney need be only four or five feet high. The firebox should go back far enough to meet the flue opening or, about the grille, a hole can be made which will carry the smoke and draft into the flue. A high chimney should be capped to prevent down drafts; this, however, is not usually necessary with a low one. Metal, tile or cement is usually used for chimney caps.

Iron firebox units, ovens, tops, doors and other accessories, which can insure a foolproof outdoor fireplace, are manufactured especially for this purpose. Even the general appearance of this type of fireplace, however, can be improved by enclosing it with a veneer of stone or brick.
