U.S. May Ration East Consumption Of Gas

Ickes Declares Oil Shouldn't Be Sent From Atlantic Area

WASHINGTON.—Interior Secretary Ickes, defense petroleum coordinator, said Thursday a ration card system for use of gasoline in the East was "one of the things under consideration," if rigid restrictions on petroleum were made necessary by the expected oil shortage.

The coordinator declared also "I don't think a drop of oil should be shipped to any place, anywhere" from the Atlantic seaboard. He recently put an embargo on such exports, without prior government approval of each cargo.

Asked by reporters about priorities on materials for oil field operations, Ickes interposed a statement that "Illinois has been wasting its oil at a criminal rate."

"The question arises," the coordinator said, "whether we should not prefer (in the matter of material priorities) a field that practices conservation."

The coordinator announced that five regional offices, under the defense coordination program, would be established in oil producing states.

He was asked if he included Britain also, and replied that he meant all cargoes should first be examined by the government.

Asked how a ration card system would work, Ickes said: "I don't know myself yet."

Ickes, addressing an emergency conference of about 800 petroleum executives, said the immediate purpose was finding a way to ease the predicted oil scarcity in the popular East.

The oil men were challenged also to put forward plans "to further the effective utilization of our petroleum resources in the national emergency."

AUSTIN (AP)—House and Senate Thursday froze their opposing plans for ending the overtime general session of the legislature.

The House killed the Senate resolution for sine die adjournment at noon Saturday and the Senate retaliated by snubbing a House resolution for recess from June 20 to July 15 and sine die adjournment July 18.

Later, the House came back with a 74 to 49 vote on a resolution to recess from June 21 to July 14. The measure now goes to the Senate.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate showed distinct coolness Thursday toward the idea of arming merchant ships against submarines, several legislators declaring that such a move would invite Axis attacks.

The discussion was predicated on President Roosevelt's statement that the United States had plans in complete readiness for arming the merchant fleet.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), while saying he had not studied the entire situation, told reporters he questioned the effectiveness of arming merchant vessels.

Germany Closes U. S. Consulates

BERLIN (AP)—Germany Thursday night asked the United States to remove all consular and American Express Company employees from Germany, Holland, Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg, occupied France, Serbia and occupied Greece not later than July 15.

This was done in a note handed by the German foreign ministry to the United States Charge D'Affaires.

(This was retaliation in kind for a similar action against Germany ordered only last Monday by President Roosevelt.)

All American consulates in the places listed in the note must be closed by July 15, the note said.

The conduct of consular and travel agency employees for long has been highly objectionable, was the explanation of DNE, the official German news agency.

O'Daniel's three sound trucks will be set up on the west side of the courthouse, and Colorado Street will be roped off.

His broadcast is from 1 p. m. to 1:15.

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann's appearance at 2:15 p. m. will mark the second visit of a senatorial candidate within the afternoon.

Both are en route to Odesa for the Little International Oil Show.

Mann also will speak from the west side of the courthouse in behalf of his candidacy.

Supporters here are arranging details for his visit.

Plans for Bombardier Training Center Here Are Subject Of Talk

Jim Allison, president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, outlined to Rotarians at their meeting in Hotel Scharbauer Thursday plans for the $4,500,000 Advanced Twin-Engine and Bombardier Training Center which will be built here by the Army Air Corps.

"We are starting out on a big job—a patriotic job—one which will prove to our countrymen exactly how much we love our country and our flag," Allison publisher of The Reporter-Telegram said.

"It is a job for the America we all love so well and a job for its defense. Every citizen must shoulder his burden and do his part. 'A Big Job Ahead'."

"It is up to us to deliver for the United States of America and for its armed forces and make this training center the attractive and permanent military reservation the Army desires. Midland is out to prove to the United States it is deserving of the big responsibility placed on it by its government."

Drive For More Funds Is Off To Good Start

The big streamlined, all-out, one-day dues increase and membership campaign of the Midland Chamber of Commerce got underway early Thursday at a 7 o'clock breakfast at Hotel Scharbauer.

Although a complete report on the drive will not be available until late, Daniel H. Griffith, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce membership committee and director-general of the campaign, said workers were meeting with excellent response.

He stated indications are the campaign will be highly successful both from dues increase and new membership standpoints.

Twenty-four volunteer workers who previously had agreed to give one day of their time to the Chamber of Commerce for its whirlwind campaign assembled for the kick-off breakfast. Chairman Griffith presided at the session, outlining the purpose and plan of the drive.

He requested the workers to report back to the Chamber of Commerce office by 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Wilburn Page, executive secretary of the Permian Basin Association, gave a brief "pep talk" in which he stressed the importance of the campaign to Midland and its Chamber of Commerce.

Prospect cards were distributed, workers teamed up and the drive was underway.

Carnations were presented to the volunteer workers by Fred Fromhold, Receiver Favorable Response.

Workers reporting back before noon stated that never before had they met with such favorable response in a membership drive here.

Volunteer workers attending this morning's breakfast were: Chairman Griffith, O. W. Stice, Fred Fromhold, J. C. Ruckman, R. C. Conkling, Tom Hurt, W. B. Simpson, J. P. Butler, John B. Mills, T. Paul Barron, Clint Lackey, R. D. Scruggs, Claude O. Crane, Dr. John B. Thomas, M. H. Crawford, Dan Hudson, John Casselman, Clint Dunagan, W. B. Hardrider, Harry Gossett, Ray Upham and E. W. Hester.

Griffith urged citizens not contacted at today's drive to leave their memberships or dues increases at the Chamber of Commerce office. Follow-up work in the campaign will be handled by the membership committee within a few days.

O'Daniel Will Speak From Sound Truck In Midland Saturday

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will make his regular broadcast over a state network from Midland and will speak to its citizens at 1 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

Federal Agencies Request Surveys For Transporting Oil To Upper Ohio River And Relieving East Shortage

CINCINNATI.—A veritable parade of powerful, snub-nosed towboats pushing tank barges the 2,000 miles of the Louisiana oil fields to the Upper Ohio River may be created to help relieve the threatened oil and gasoline pinch on the Atlantic Coast resulting from a shortage of seagoing tankers.

From some points just this side of the Allegheny Mountains the oil would be trans-shipped by rail, truck, and pipeline.

As part of a program now in its formative stage, well-posted river men disclosed Thursday the Office of Production Management and the Defense Emergency Council have asked river carriers' organizations in the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys to make a voluntary survey of all available floating equipment.

"The proposition is on the fire," was the comment of Capt. O'Slack Barrett, president of the Mississippi River System Carriers' Association.

"The only question is availability of floating plant. If the towboats can get priority on steel and other materials, they will build more barges and towboats as long as there's need."

Yards all along the Ohio are building tank barges as fast as they can get material, and terminal facilities are being expanded at some points, Barrett said.

As outlined at present, the program would call into being a vast fleet of oil tows, some operating through the intercoastal canal from the Texas oil ports and more from the refineries at Baton Rouge, La., up the Mississippi and Ohio to some point in the Pittsburgh area.

Behind The Headlines

Hitler has calculated and timed the German-Turkish treaty of "friendship" so that it will add the greatest possible weight to his military pressure on Russia.

The treaty closes the last effective route by which Western aid might conceivably reach Russia, at a time when Germany seems to be telling the Soviets that they must either enter into a state of economic, political and military subjugation or fight the enormous concentration of Nazi troops from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

It shuts off the air bases from which British planes might attack German troops in Russia. The Black Sea already is so fringed with German air power that it would be a trap for the British fleet, although Turkey might, under previous obligations, be required to let that fleet get through the Dardanelles to go to Russia's aid.

No British Illusions. The Turkish pact permits Germany to begin the familiar process of infiltration and domination of Turkey; to weaken Turkish resistance in preparation for the day when the Reich may find it convenient to use Asia Minor as a military road to Syria and Suez.

Britain is not surprised, nor are there any illusions in London about the treaty's escape clause which on paper permits the continuation of the Turkish-British alliance.

This treaty, negotiated almost exactly two years ago, pledged France, Britain and Turkey to help each other in case of an act of aggression in the Mediterranean region.

But the pact went into a state of coma with the fall of France, which was to have supplied and equipped Turkey, and very shortly thereafter Turkey made it plain she would not fight unless attacked.

Turkey, forced into the position of a little Russia, unwilling to take the risk of military destruction at a time when she could get little help, signed the pact in the hope of gaining time, praying that something may happen to upset the German war wagon before Hitler finds the time appropriate to ask or take something else from the Turkish.

Asks Safe Conduct For German Consuls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has requested Great Britain to assure "safe conduct" through the blockade for all German consular officials in this country, it was learned authoritatively Thursday, as the first move in carrying out President Roosevelt's order that they depart by July 10 because of acts "inimical to the welfare of this country."

The obligations, as well as the interests, of the United States are that the German officials be safely transported to their homes, it was explained, and not be permitted to transfer their operations to Latin American republics where Axis-inspired activities already exist.

Calls Reserves In Preparation Of Nazi Stroke

Reports Of German And Soviet Clashes Remain Unconfirmed In Europe

By The Associated Press. Europe rang with new war alarms Thursday.

Little Finland, defeated by Russia's Red armies a year ago, suddenly called up reserves at midnight and sped other military preparations, and simultaneously travelers reported that Russia was carrying out "frantic mobilization" across the border from Finland.

The Finnish government, placing the nation on a virtual war footing, sharply curtailed civilian train traffic to facilitate military transport.

Finnish army and navy cadets are to be graduated immediately, it was announced, to become lieutenants in the nation's fighting forces.

By Presidential decree, all Finnish officers were made regular army officers.

It appeared evident that Finland, dominated by Germany and army foe of Soviet Russia, was making last-minute preparations for a new conflict.

Dispatches from Helsinki, the Finnish capital, said the populace calmly and quietly was obeying measures to safeguard their independence as they did in 1939 when the war with Russia broke out.

Only a few days ago, Helsinki reports said Russia was withdrawing troops from the Soviet military base at Hanko, Finland, on which Russia had a 30-year lease.

A British exchange telegraph dispatch from Sweden quoted Stockholm dispatches as saying travelers from Russia to Finland had observed a "frantic mobilization" in Russia, along the railway line from Moscow to Leningrad.

The Clara, the commission said, will be taken to Newport News, Va. for drydocking before being placed in service.

Double-Ring Ceremony Is Read For Miss Mittie Lee Allen Of Midland, Wellman Buck Thursday Morning

Wedding Is First To Be Held In New Methodist Church

First wedding to be solemnized in the new Methodist Church here was that in which Miss Mittie Lee Allen, daughter of Mrs. M. J. Allen, became the bride of Wellman Buck of Fresno, California, at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

The Rev. John E. Pickering, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

White floor baskets of gladiolas, carnations and other blossoms, and vases of purple thistles, daisies, peonies, zinnias and baby's breath decorated the altar.

Allen Lawrence of Phoenix, Arizona, nephew of the bride, was at the piano for the nuptial music, playing Schubert's "Serenade" for the entrance of the couple and Beethoven's "Sonata in F. Sharp Minor" during the ceremony.

The bride and groom entered together, unattended.

The bride's wedding dress was of sea-green alpaca crepe with yoke of self-color lace. Her accessories were white, her hat being a pokebonnet model of white straw with ribbon banding around the brim. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Only members of the bride's family and a few friends were present for the wedding.

Reception Follows.

An informal reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. S. L. Alexander, 202 South A street, followed the service.

Centering the refreshment table was a large white wedding cake, decorated with pastel tints of pink and green, and topped by the figures of a bride and groom within an archway of white flowers.

First slice of cake was cut by Mrs. Buck.

Miss Maud Shaw of San Angelo presided at the coffee service.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Buck left for a brief trip. They will return here before traveling to California.

For her going away costume, the bride wore a blue-and-white print jacket dress with white trim. Her accessories were navy.

Member Of Pioneer Family.

Mrs. Buck is a member of a pioneer family of this area and has spent much of her life in Midland. She is a graduate of Midland High School and holds a Bachelor of Science degree from West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon. She has taught in the Midland schools for the past few years.

Miss Jordan And T. A. Parker, Jr., Are Wed At Brady

The First Christian Church at Brady was the scene on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock of a twilight double ring ceremony, impressive in its simplicity, when Miss Pauline Jordan became the bride of T. A. Parker, Jr.

The Rev. Hugh B. Warner, pastor of the church, read the ceremony before an altar arrangement of white tapers in candelabra, baskets of white peonies and palms.

Mrs. L. M. Peters, cousin of the bride, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. T. Carlson of Brownwood, aunt of the bride, who sang, "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony, Mrs. Peters played "Liebestraum."

The bride wore a navy and white dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias and blue cornflowers. Her something old was a bar pin nearly a century old in the Jordan household, and her something borrowed was a handkerchief brought to this country from Jerusalem.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jordan, a ranch family, McCulloch County. She received her B.A. degree from Howard Payne College, Brownwood, and has been doing master's work at the University of Texas. She taught in the Brady schools for several years and the past year taught in Midland.

Mr. Parker is the son of Supt. and Mrs. T. A. Parker, Sr., of Menard. He is the former FFA adviser in Brady, and is now assistant supervisor in the Farm Security Administration office at San Angelo, where the couple will be at home. He received his B.S. degree from Texas A&M college and taught vocational agriculture a year at Antlers, Oklahoma before coming to Brady.

The ceremony was read before a few friends and the following out-of-town guests: Messrs. and Mmes. T. Carlson of Brownwood, Carol White of Eldorado, Cleg Gassiot of Lohn, and T. A. Parker, Sr., of Menard.

At the close of the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip.

SERIAL STORY CALIBAN FROM CALEB

BY NORMAN KAHL COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Angus wakes up in a jail cell and is taken before New York Police Inspector Callahan, who tells his story to newspaper reporters. Next morning, he is called back to the inspector's office. Adoreen is there, fuming because of publicity involving her. Downcast, he returns to his cell until the following day, when his father tells him a mysterious Miss Margate is waiting to see him in the inspector's office.

PAY DAY FOR ANGUS CHAPTER V

THE minute Angus steps into Inspector Callahan's office for the third time in three days to meet the mysterious Miss Margate, he knows there is something haywire. The girl he finds there with the inspector is wearing a green dress, cut low in front and higher from the floor than Angus considers respectable. But she is smiling and looking as if she is glad to see him, which is very strange, because the girl's name is Adoreen Mickle- twidge and not Miss Margate.

Angus pulls at his ear-lobe and frowns. "What's the matter with Mickle-twidge. It's a good name. You shouldn't oughta go around changing your name, Addie. It ain't decent, exactly."

Adoreen's eyes twinkle like neon lights. "I didn't change it, Angus. Mr. Fitzwater did. He said there wasn't any glamor in Mickle-twidge."

"Who's Mr. Fitzwater?" Angus asks, belligerently. "Now Angus, don't be mad. I'm not mad at you anymore. Mr. Fitzwater read about me in the paper and he gave me a job singing in his night club. He owns a big night club called the Purple Pelican where all sorts of actors and actresses go, and he has taken an interest in my career."

INSPECTOR CALLAHAN clears his throat and it sounds like the whistle on the Staten Island ferry. "This is against my better judgment, MacPhillips," he says, "but it's a toss-up whether you'll be more of a menace to society in or out of jail. Miss Mickle—er—Miss Margate has been in touch with your former boss, a Mr. Wittenbaum, and the gentleman agrees to drop charges if you will pay him $650 cash for the butter you smeared over seven states, and if the truck is returned."

"I do not vouch for the personal feelings of the state trooper you attempted to fricassee on the highways of our dearly beloved neighbors, but his superiors are willing to forget the whole incident if you will pay a $50 fine and solemnly promise never to set foot within the sacred precincts of that commonwealth again." Angus' face is not exactly a picture of sunny radiance. "My goodness, that's a lot of money." "Wait," says the inspector. "I'm not finished. Now we come to the city of New York. No amount of money could settle for the loss of dignity suffered by this department on that black day when you arrived. However, for a $100 fine to cover just a small portion of the offenses, I think we can get the others dismissed by the court. For another $50, you can hire someone to take Mr. Wittenbaum's truck back to Caleb, since that intelligent gentleman specified you were not to set foot anywhere on his property again. That would come to $850. Can you swing it?"

Angus is suffering acutely. "I've got $875 in the bank at Caleb and $3.50 which they took away when I came in here."

It is three days later before everybody in three states is satisfied. Angus has $28.50 to his name when he steps out on New York's sidewalks. He calls Adoreen from a drug store and she tells him she is sorry, but Mr. Fitzwater is going to take her to lunch on a matter of business and that he will do the same every day for a week or so.

When Angus gets back on the street, he has a strange and uncomfortable feeling. For the first time in his life, he has a thirst for something stronger than pure grapefruit. He turns into a doorway and enters a smoke-filled room with a bar stretched from the curtained window about halfway along one wall.

"Cider," says Angus. A scraggly looking guy near the end of the bar gets a coughing fit and blows beer foam all over his vest. The bartender is thinking how he could have learned the plumber's trade 30 years ago if he'd used his head. "Look," says he, "are you tryin' t'be funny? We don't sell no cider here."

"All right," says Angus. "Ginger ale." The bartender squints at Angus another full minute before he purses something out of a tall bottle under the bar and slides the glass to Angus.

It is some time before Angus notices the rat-face little man who has left the table in the dark corner and is standing next to him. Three big fellows are standing behind the little guy.

"Have one on me," says the little guy, whose gray hat is pulled down halfway over his eyes. Angus is glad to be neighborly. He drinks up his ginger ale and pushes his glass toward the bartender. "Spike Mudge is the name," says the stranger. "You look like somebody's been kicking you in the teeth." "I don't feel so good," says Angus. "I ain't got a job, and I'm broke and I guess I lost my girl and I just got outa jail." "Whew!" says Spike, respectfully. "Maybe you wanta talk it over with us. Maybe we kin help you. These is my buddies. I didn't get the name."

"Angus MacPhillips." "Glad to know ya, Angus. This is Butch McGillicuddy and Holmon the Hoist and Trigger Tim—friends of mine." Angus shakes hands all around.

SPIKE says, "A husky guy like you don't needa worry about a job. How'd'ja like to work for me?" Angus looks suspicious. "A job, you mean?"

"Sure. Easy work, good pay. It isn't every day I can find a guy who's built like a battleship." Angus brightens up. "What do I do, Spike?" Spike looks at the dead-pan faces of the other drunks who are examining their mugs, who are examining their drunks, "I'll explain," says Spike. "This burg is filled with lots of people who ain't got no scruples. They ain't got no respect for the law."

"Now there are a lot of commission merchants in the city who sell thousands of dollars worth of broccoli every day. Sometimes these broccoli dealers get slugged or their commission houses are wrecked or someone pours kerosene over their broccoli. So the Big Boss, Luigi Castaloni, forms an association and the dealers pay us to protect them. Get it?"

Angus' spirits have soared. "I'll feel kinda good doing some honest work again. What are you paying?" "One hundred smackers." Angus frowns. "Gosh, Spike, I was getting hundred and a quarter back in Caleb."

"Okay. No arguments. One and a quarter it is. Find a place to stay and meet me back here same time tomorrow. I'll give you a week's pay in advance so you can find a bunk somewhere." Spike passes over five bills—two fifties, two tens and a five. Angus counts them three times before he says, "What did you say you were payin' me?" "One hundred and twenty-five berries a week. Don't tell me you're still not satisfied." Angus is too weak to speak. What he got in Caleb for driving Mr. Wittenbaum's truck was $125 a month. (To Be Continued)

Answers To Cranium Crackers

Questions On Page Two.

- The term "fifth column" originated during the civil war in Spain. Franco had four columns of troops at the gates of Madrid, and boasted a "fifth column" inside ready to attack from within.
- The term "Trojan horse" is used now to denote treachery, dating back to the Greek attack on Troy in the 12th century. B. C. when a wooden horse full of troops was used to trick the Trojans into opening the city's gates.
- The term "Quisling" came into use after the fall of Norway to the Nazis, in April, 1940. Major Vidkun Quisling was the Norwegian Nazi who led fifth column work against Norway.
- Sabotage is traced to old European days when peasants used their wooden shoes, known as "sabots", to tread on machinery, and wreck it. Saboteur is its noun form.
- Spy is from the old English and French term espion, thought to be of Teutonic origin, meaning "to see." Full form today is espionage.

Edson Pauses To Take Stock—Finds Joe Public Still Has Two Freedoms But Want And Fear Are Creeping Up

WASHINGTON, Mr. Joseph Public, Midland, Texas, DEAR JOE:

Things happen in Washington so fast these days that if you have a chronic left-at-the-post feeling, it is quite understandable and no form of aspirin or sulphamidate has yet been found to cure you of this particularly malignant form of "where was I yesterday?" hang-over.

Miss one day's developments down here, and you have to run like Whirlaway to catch up with the procession. That being the case, it isn't a bad idea now and then to take stock and see just what this defense effort has done to you, Joe, and where you are going to get off if things keep on going in the direction they're headed now.

Edson

Speaking in abstract terms this business started out to preserve your Four Freedoms—freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom from want and freedom from fear. The first two are still in the bag, Joe, but it isn't going to be very long before you're going to want a lot of things you can't get, and as for being scared—they're draping ghosts on every lamppost in town and putting "wow!" on all the doormats in place of "welcome!" You've Already Been Hurt, Joe

A lot of these scares have a certain value in waking you up in the middle of the day to make you realize this situation is serious. In that category put all the buzzing around and biting that Horse Fly LaGuardia is doing, getting civilian defense organized, telling everybody that the fire departments should be enlarged five times to be able to put out fires like London has had from incendiary bombs.

In the same basket are the Ickes ickies that we'll have to go on national daylight saving time, go without gasoline on Sunday and live in a cold house next winter if you heat with oil, all because of regional power and petroleum shortages. The War Department's original request for a bill giving the President the right to seize all kinds of property is another thing of the same kind.

There is a certain amount of hysteria in all this propagandizing for home consumption, Joe. Let a rumor get started about a shortage of steel or oil or sugar and everyone will rush in to buy and stock up.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

thereby making the threatened shortage more acute.

Everything that has been done to you isn't just to scare you. Whether you know it or not, you have already been hurt and your aches now are nothing in comparison to what they will be.

You will probably be making more money before the year is out, if you're not already, but more money will be taken away from you in taxes and things, so where does it leave you? Next year's tax bill is still being written, but such hints as have been passed out indicate that perhaps eight million people who haven't paid income taxes before will be nicked now.

Six per cent of the national income went for defense in 1940, 17 per cent will go in 1941, and the talk is that it will have to be 40 per cent before this is all over. If that doesn't put the pins on you, a lot of other things will. There are some real shortages that get to the supply of things you use every day. The number of new cars to be made next year has already been cut 20 per cent and may be cut more.

You still have your right to strike, Joe, but if you don't behave, even that may be taken away. Congress is legislating on all sorts of things these days, limiting your right to leave or enter the country, your right to import or export, by indirect means putting their okay on another A. E. F., changing the age limits of men for the draft.

This is not to alarm you unduly, but to make sure you know what's up. Your liberties are slipping Joe. Maybe it's all for the best and maybe, before too long, you may get some of them back.

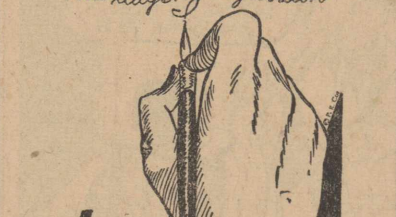

Your correspondent,
PETER EDSON.

WADE LASSITER GIVES LITTLE TOE FOR NAVY

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Wade Lassiter would have given his little toe to be admitted into the navy. He did just that when he learned that his left little toe was out of alignment. Young Lassiter on his 17th birthday went to the hospital, had the toe amputated and will take another examination soon.

Opening—J. 19

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority.

Alvin Landy of Cleveland was the tournament director who had to handle the peculiar situation that arose on today's hand. The hand turned up in a duplicate game at the Cleveland Whist Club.

The opening lead was the king of hearts, which South won with the ace. North failed to play any card and none of the players noticed the omission.

Declarer took two rounds of trumps, cashed the diamond ace, came back with another trump, then ruffed out his small diamond. Dummy led his last trump, South overtook and led his last trump. On the trump leads, East was careful to discard all his hearts, to give West a count of the suit.

West, assuming that the three of hearts had been played from dummy on the first trick, read South as having no more. West saw that the only hope was to win two club tricks. He therefore saved all four clubs, discarding all his hearts.

When South bobbed up with the three of hearts, winning not only the ten but the seven as well, to make a grand slam, West gave a loud squawk. A record of the hand brought to light the extra card in dummy. As tournament directors, Landy was called to rule whether South was entitled to his seven-odd.

The book says there is no penalty for revoke by dummy. Presumably there is no penalty for failure to play a card. True, the four of hearts should be turned down and counted as part of the first trick; but nothing in the laws entitled West to change his discards. Landy was compelled to allow South to score his seven.

MUSTANG BOYS' CLUB COLUMN

Some more questions about ships. Answers tomorrow.

1. What is the admiral's special motor boat call? Captains?
2. What is a sailor's favorite food when he goes ashore?
3. What is the farthest any ship can get away from New York?
4. What are considered the most hospitable foreign ports in the world to American sailors?
5. Where in the world is the "Graveyard of Ships"?

Although losing, the Mustang Boys held the Independents in softball to a close score, 5 to 4, Wednesday on the Mustang diamond. Some of the Independents' crack players could not play. The Mustangs on the job were: E. G. Foster, James Williams, Paul Smyers, Otis Kelly, Ivan Hall, Tom Tisdale, Bill Wells, Jimmy Watson, Red Roy, R. E. Roach, Smoky Woods, Gordon Watson, and Cecil Smith. There will be a game Monday at 5:45 with a happy-go-lucky team assembled at random from the various official softball teams plus a few outsiders. We appreciate the fact these teams show up when they say they will. We are hoping to get a game next week with a group of Odessa boys.

Various boys report lots of fun and some interesting instruction about bicycle traffic from Chief of Police L. P. McCasland at the ball park Tuesday afternoon. This was only a sample. We know he has some snappy things up his sleeve to sprin glater. You be the judge but don't fail to get in on the fireworks.

Malcolm Bridges, recreation superintendent, presented some features at the meeting Wednesday night. The boys look forward to these innovations.

jected a British ultimatum for surrender of the 4,000-year-old capital of Syria as Allied siege forces threatened the city from three sides.

Authoritative quarters in London said it was probable that on the expiration of the deadline—5:30 a. m. Thursday (10:30 p. m., EST Wednesday)—British and Free French troops had opened a final assault on the capital.

At the closest point, Allied forces were said to have occupied Mezze, a western suburb, three and one-half miles from the city, while other troops attacked southeast of the capital at Jebel El Kelb, the hill of the dog.

Nazi Ultimatum Rumored

Meanwhile, in lack of the slightest confirmation, attention dwinded on wildcat reports from Turkey that Adolf Hitler's war machine had started an invasion of Russia, attacking the Soviet border at 15 points, after a German diplomatic stroke had neutralized Turkey and virtually isolated the U. S. S. R.

Among the flood of rumor and report, circulated by Reuters, the British news agency, was an assertion that Germany had already served an ultimatum on Soviet Premier Joseph V. Stalin, making these demands:

1. Return of Rumania's lost provinces of Bessarabia and Northern

Post Registration Day Proclamation

A proclamation by President Roosevelt for a second selective service registration day was posted in Midland Thursday.

Signed by the president, it calls for registration young men who reached the age of 21 years subsequent to October 16, 1940 and prior to July 1, 1941.

Midland County registered 1830 men on the first registration day. The board expects about eight per cent of that number to register the second.

Two to three hundred questionnaires will be mailed to Midland County registrants as soon as materials have been received. This will complete the 1,830 of the first registration day.

The Midland board will have full charge of the second registration. It may select its helpers and designate a registration place.

Challenger Carries Fight To Champion; Return Date Certain

By Gayle Talbot. NEW YORK. (AP)—For fleeting, golden moments Wednesday night, Billy Conn of Pittsburgh held the heavyweight championship of the world within his grasp.

When Billy gambled, tried to match punches with Joe Louis, and the big negro snapped out of his strange lethargy and knocked Conn kicking in the 13th round before a thrilled crowd at the Polo Grounds, Conn, the 174-pound gamester, was well in front when the end came, suddenly and unexpectedly.

In the twelfth round, the slim handsome challenger sent Louis reeling against the ropes with a vicious two-fisted attack. Louis looked slow, unable to take advantage of the targets offered him.

A left hook caught Billy alongside the head and staggered him. He fell into a clinch. Louis, finally aroused, poured everything he had into the boy from Pittsburgh. Five consecutive rights landed flush on Conn's jaw before the finally crumpled to the canvas.

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Brietz. NEW YORK.—By this time all of you know that Billy Conn lost his chance to win the world's heavyweight title by getting a little fresh with Mr. Big in the 13th round Wednesday night.

Unhappy guy in the line was Lou Nova. He was in the house for a September title shot, with either Louis or Conn, but things being what they are, he'll have to postpone his chance for at least a year.
