

U. S. Sub With Thirty Men Sinks FDR Clamps Export Control On Petroleum

British Empire And Egypt Will Get East's Oil

White House Says Plan
Will Be Conceived For Effective Tanker Use

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON.—By direction of President Roosevelt, all petroleum products were subjected Friday to export control, and exports from the eastern seaboard may be made only to the British empire, Egypt, and the Western Hemisphere.

The White House disclosed that the President had directed the export control administration to place the restrictions on oil products.

A plan will be prepared, the White House said, for the most effective use of tanker facilities in supplying petroleum to the Eastern Seaboard and the other American republics.

Further restriction of shipments of petroleum from the Gulf or Pacific ports is not contemplated, the White House said.

The Chief Executive acted, apparently, because of a threatened shortage of oil and gasoline along the Eastern Seaboard. The shortage has become imminent because of lack of transportation facilities, resulting from the transfer of tankers to Britain.

U. S. And Axis Move Close To Breaking Point

WASHINGTON (AP)—A diplomatic war of nerves brought the United States and the Rome-Berlin Axis Friday perilously close to formal severance of relations.

The initiative for the moment appeared to rest with the United States, and informed sources predicted that President Roosevelt would act promptly by setting a deadline for all Italian consular officials to leave this country.

This would hit back at Italy for her part in the Axis double-play Thursday, directing the expulsion of all American consular officials from Germany, Italy and seven Axis conquered nations by July 15. Germany's action had virtually been taken for granted in view of the state department's order Monday, giving all German consular staffs and the employees of three German agencies until July 10 to quit the United States.

The order did not extend to Italian consulates, but some diplomatic sources believe Berlin was soirked that it had the Rome end of the Axis act simultaneously so as to make the retaliatory measures as impressive as possible.

Senate Refuses To Alter Stand

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate Friday refused to retreat from its stand against recessing the general session of the legislature until after the senatorial election June 28.

It rejected, as it had many such resolutions in the past, a House proposal to recess tomorrow until July 15 and then to adjourn sine die July 18.

The vote, however, was very close, 12 ayes to 11 noes with three pairs.

Senator A. M. Alkin, Jr., of Paris, chairman of the Senate finance committee, declared the legislature should go home and that 90 per cent of bills remaining unacted upought not to pass. The appropriation bills were out of the way, he added.

Randolph Field Lights 11 Candles But Other Posts Also Will Claim Spotlight

By J. B. Krueger.

SAN ANTONIO, (AP).—Mushrooming flying fields are springing up on all sides of it but Randolph Field, "The West Point of the Air." Friday lighted 11 candles on its birthday cake serenely certain it is still the most glamorous showplace of the Air Corps.

The army's 30,000-pilot-a-year program, just around the corner, may make it just another flying school but Randolph went into a day-long birthday celebration this morning knowing no other army field could approach it in prestige.

And Kelly Field, a few miles away across the city, felt just a little bit envious.

Here at the Gulf Coast Training Center a huge aviation production job is humming along—teaching men to fly and fight—and the feud between Randolph and Kelly is no little thing indeed.

FDR Says Hitler Is International Outlaw

Behind The Headlines

By Fred Vanderschmidt

The exciting sequence of military threats or bluffs which is going on along the German-Soviet border has a direct bearing on both the length and scope of the war.

Close students of the Nazi war plan believe Hitler not only wants to exploit Soviet economy to the limit but also to build a fluid reservoir for warraking which will stretch from the Baltic to Indo-China; to enslave Russia as well as Japan in a Eurasian bloc under complete German domination which not only will be able to feed and supply the European continent for a war of indefinite length against Britain, but will be able to take concerted military steps to destroy Britain's position in both Far and Near East.

That is what can happen if Stalin gives in and renders economic, political and military subservience to Hitler, abandoning or at least postponing for a generation or more all the Bolshevik aims for ultimate world revolution.

Victims May Be Shock Troops

But there is an alternative: Resistance by Russia and a slow, dog-

Kelly feels, in the words of one of its officers, just a little neglected when Randolph, romantically tagged "The West Point of the Air" gets a column in the newspapers while Kelly gets a paragraph.

The unofficial reply from a Randolph spokesman, bolled down:

Randolph can't help it if it has a glamorous reputation throughout the country; after all, Randolph is the finest, most beautiful of all army flying fields; it has one of the most talented photo sections in the Air Corps, and lots of its pictures get into the papers; Randolph is headquarters for the Gulf Coast Training Center, and last, Hollywood has dramatized it in several movies.

Opening Of New Reef Lime Pool In Ward Assured As Stanolind Test On DeVito Block Makes Oil At 2,990

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor

New reef lime pool for Southeast Ward County two and one-quarter miles west of the Estes sand field appeared assured as Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Spencer-Evans flowed oil and mud on drilling test.

Mann is on a tour of the Little International Oil Show at Odessa. He will speak there Saturday night.

Right on the heels of Governor O'Daniel, also campaigning in West Texas, Mann was scheduled to appear in Sweetwater at 9 a. m. Saturday with stops at Colorado City at 10:15, Big Spring at 11:30 a. m. and Stanton at 1:15 p. m.

He will go from here to Monahans for a talk at 4 p. m. and Pecos at 5:15 p. m. before his night program at Odessa.

Friday Mann spoke in Floydada, Ralls, Spur, Stamford, Haskell, and Abilene. At Spur he rode in the city's annual rodeo parade.

Mann told an Amarillo audience he would demand control of the oil industry be returned to the states as soon as a full-scale offensive against Britain starts.

For four successive days, the RAF has carried out strong daylight attacks on Nazi-held channel harbors, camps and airfields that would be broken for invasion, as was said. Cologne and Dusseldorf, frequent RAF targets, were the objects of last night's latest raids.

How quickly Adolf Hitler would settle affairs with Russia remained to be seen. Dispatches from Moscow said there was no indication that the U.S.S.R. expected an invasion, although Europe's capitals for days have echoed with rumors that Germany was massing troops on her eastern frontier for a possible drive into the Soviet Union.

Wants U. S. Understanding.

In London, minister of state Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper, the Evening Standard, urged British aid for Russia in the event Hitler should send his war machine rolling into the U.S.S.R.

"If Germany goes to war with Russia, we should recognize our interest in sustaining Russia's resistance—and we should attempt to make our friends, the Americans, understand, too," the newspaper said.

Meanwhile, the Trans-Atlantic "war of nerves" brought the United States and the Rome-Berlin Axis perilously close to a formal severance of relations.

No longer, a Berlin spokesman said, would Germany "continue our magnanimous attitude toward American machinations" in the Reich.

On the Middle East war front, see-saw fighting raged toward a climax in the siege of Damascus.

Vichy French defenders declared they had repulsed all attacks in the direction of the city, but the British asserted that the fall or surrender of the ancient Syrian capital was only "a matter of hours."

Fought amid the broiling heat of the desert—described in dispatches as "terrible"—the battle saw British, Indian and Free French troops attacking from three sides.

The Pinch Is Coming

The crack salesman shrugged ruefully. "Yep! It's going to be a little tough. You see, I'm in the butter business!"

Knowing that he was in the electrical equipment business, his hearers all pricked up their ears. Then it dawned. "Guns or butter?"

And we all remembered that his branch of the business was household appliances. Butter! Now the guns come first.

We are rapidly approaching the point where the shoe is going to pinch a little. It worries a few people. Not others. So many of the others have been learning for 10 years to get along without things.

A friend bought an electric refrigerator the other day. With it came a most polite and apologetic explanation of the lack of aluminum trays. The substitute trays were really quite satisfactory, it assured. They seemed to be, too. So what? It's possible that if necessary one could even get along without any ice cubes at all.

Suppose it should be true that in certain parts of the east it should be necessary to cut down a little on gasoline consumption? Probably some sort of rationing system would cause less hardship than cutting off all traffic on Sunday. But suppose that came? Europe, all of it, has had gasoline rationing for years. How long since you've walked a mile, anyway?

Suppose the old car must be driven a year longer, or the washing machine made to do for another year? Suppose cigarettes cost a few cents more and the price of whisky rises steeply. Suppose shaving cream comes in a glass jar instead of a tin tube, and anchovy paste can scarcely be had at all? Suppose taxes rise, and one is asked to give to the United Service Organizations and to buy Defense Bonds?

Technically, some of these things may be called a reduction in the standard of living. Compare it with what is going on in Europe according to a private letter from the U. S. diplomat there: "In Europe one cannot speak of reduction in the standard of living. There is no standard of living. One gets what one can, and makes it do."

It is to prevent such a situation that we are asked to make little sacrifices now. Except for the men called for army service, real sacrifice has as yet been asked of nobody.

We should be ashamed to speak of the little changes and small inconveniences proposed thus far as "sacrifices."

Texas Senatorial Race Gets Hot As Dies Pokes Criticism At Mann And Johnson In Address Made At Conroe

By The Associated Press

Out of the sound and fury of the Texas senatorial campaign emerges indications that tempers are wearing thin and personalities becoming a trifle more acrid.

At Conroe Thursday night Congressman Martin Dies told an audience that Congressman Lyndon Johnson, a rival senatorial aspirant, was "duped by a Nazi agent into obtaining information from the state department."

Dies quoted from a letter which he said Johnson had written a newspaper editor who went to Germany at Nazi expense and who returned to this country "with glowing accounts" of the Nazi government.

Quickly adding that he knew Johnson "despised Hitler and Mussolini," Dies declared he read the letter "to show you how people not acquainted with this subject and ignorant of the methods of technique of foreign agents are duped into furnishing them with information."

Strikes "Simply Stupid"

Dies accused Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, another candidate, with being "so uninformed" that he ruled the Communist party "has a right to appear on the ballot in Texas."

Johnson asserted in an address at Marshall that strikes in defense work were "simply stupid" and that "we have no time to waste battling disputes of any kind if everything must stop while we're settling them."

At Lubbock Mann denounced "vacillating shifty politicians" who took recourse in words rather than acts. He declared the race was between him and Governor O'Daniel, but that he would win.

O'Daniel repeated an attack against the legislature in a talk in Dallas, deriding legislators because they appeared to think Austin was a "summer resort" and upgrading them for "dilly-dallying."

Radio Manager Pays Scharbauer Tribute; Discusses Project

Bill McCumber, manager of station KRLH, paid a tribute to Clarence Scharbauer for far-sighted interest in radio in West Texas in a talk to the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday.

He discussed the new improvement project of the Midland station and said a 436-foot tower, the third largest in Texas, probably would go up next week.

Bill Collins, secretary, described the U. S. Army Air Corps Advanced Twin-Engine and Bomber Training Center here.

Jaycees will conduct a "Get Out The Vote" campaign for the U. S. Senate election June 28. Delbert Downing is director for the campaign.

Curt Inman said a concerted drive for Midland's quota for the United Service Organization would begin next week.

Program committee men for the next meeting are R. O. Smith and Dr. Seth Kellam. A picnic in connection with a membership drive will be held at Cloverdale Park.

E. R. (Mule) Rutherford and Dr. Kellam are new members. Visitors at the luncheon included "Red" Hunt of Odessa, and Ford Kennedy of Fort Worth.

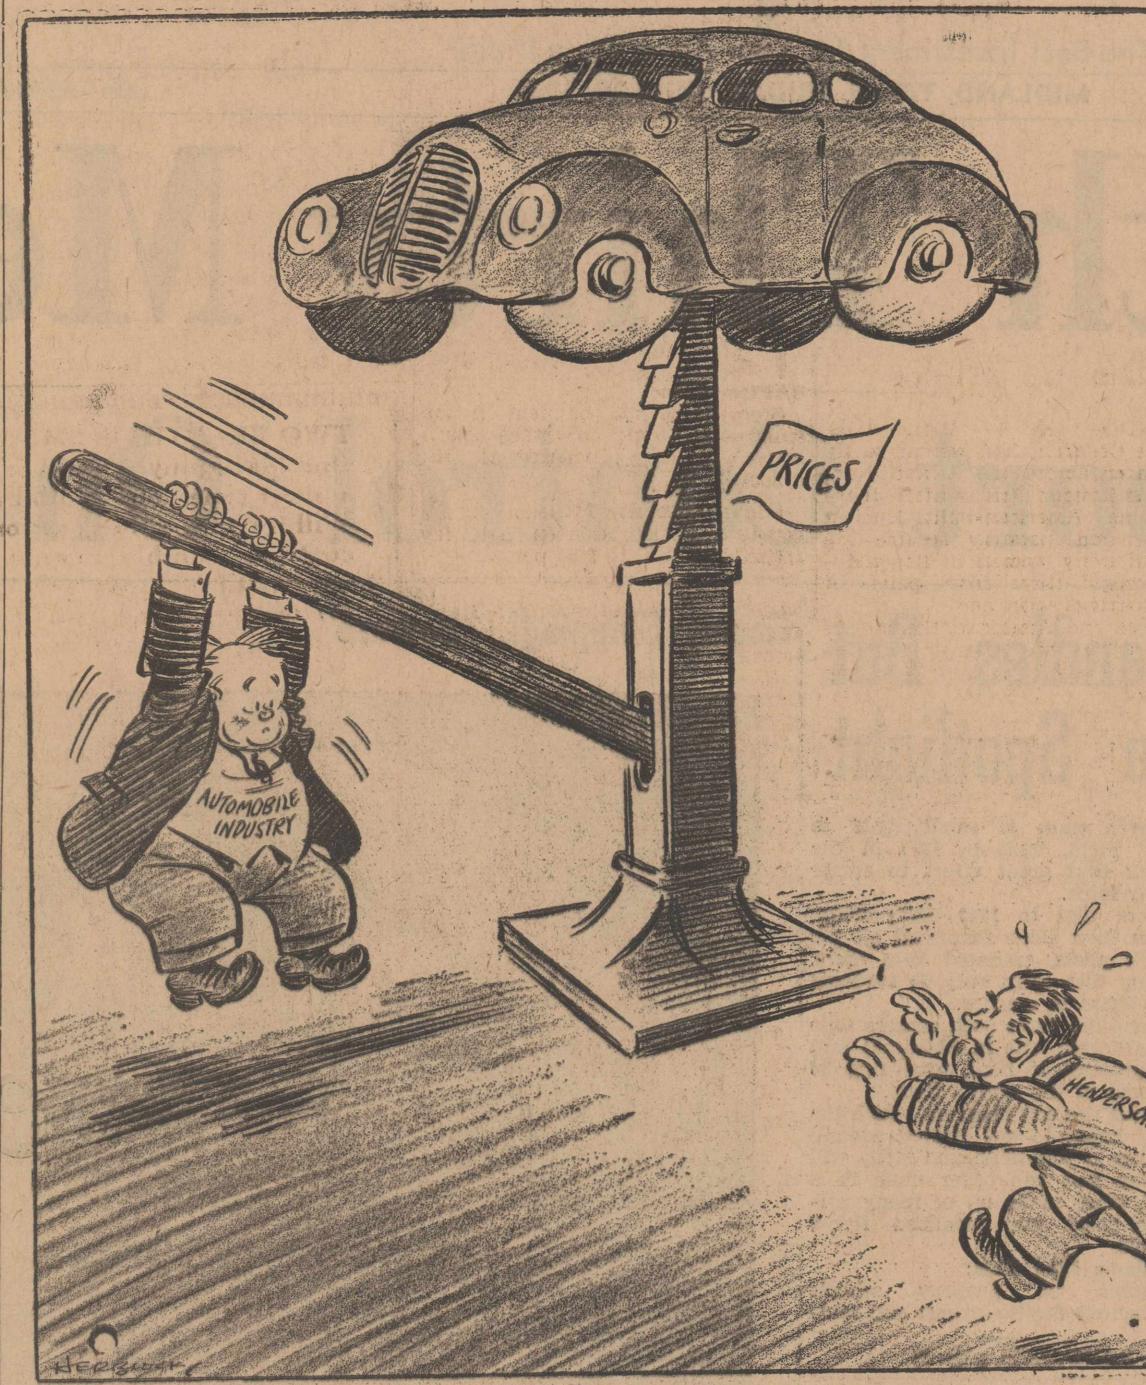

Gribble To Speak At Presbyterian Church

Dr. Robert F. Gribble, professor of Greek in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Austin, will preach at the First Presbyterian Church here Sunday.

Old-time residents of Midland will remember Dr. Gribble as having been supply minister here two summers, about 20 years ago, before he finished school. Because of this former association and his friends here, he will speak as a courtesy to the church.

Dr. Gribble is expected to speak at both the 11 o'clock morning hour and the 8 o'clock evening service.

Getting Air-Minded In The Wrong Way

Demands Of Over A Million Railway Employees May Cost Large Sum Before Mediation Board Starts Work In Case

By Peter Edson

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—One million, one hundred and fifty-three thousand five hundred railway employees having presented demands for wage increases and change of working conditions which may cost the roads as much as $750 million a year, you may be interested in taking a look at the government machinery set up to avert a strike—the threat employees hold over employers and the traveling and shipping public to gain their desired ends. It's all particularly interesting just now because it is strike—averting machinery of this kind which is being mentioned by many congressmen as a device to prevent labor troubles in the defense industries.

Though the railway labor representatives have asked that their demands be met by July 10, the case has not yet come to the National Mediation Board, the three-man body set up under the Railway Labor Act of 1934 to handle these matters.

And the interesting thing to observe here is that the case won't be placed before the National Mediation Board until efforts have completely broken down to settle by direct negotiation between the 14 unions involved and the employers.

Sit Down And Talk It Over

That's the first rule of successful mediation, always. Let the two sides to the controversy sit down by themselves and try to iron out their difficulties without government interference. The status of the case at present, therefore, is that the unions have presented their demands to their employers who are now holding conferences among themselves to decide what they can do. Then both sides will get together and try to reach an agreement.

If direct negotiations should fail and if the case follows the regular channels, the next step would be the calling in of a Mediation Board mediator. The mediators in these cases work just like mediators always have to, informally and off the record. First they talk to one side, then to the other, acting as messengers between the big men who aren't speaking to each other any more. Finally, the mediator may be able to find a formula to bring the two together again, and eventually they reach a settlement. Ninety per cent of the board's cases are settled by this mediation.

That doesn't work, the next step is for the Mediation Board to suggest arbitration, under which each side names one arbitrator, and these two name a third. This arbitration board holds hearings, studies the case and makes its findings which are then put in effect through U. S. federal courts. Since 1934, 11 cases have been settled by arbitration following this pattern.

If the two sides won't arbitrate, or if the arbitration award is unsatisfactory to both sides and it looks as though the issue is going to bring on a strike which will cripple transportation, the National Mediation Board then puts the matter right up to the White House. Under the railway labor law, the President is empowered to name an emergency board to investigate and report on the trouble.

The so-called and much discussed

"cooling off" periods of the Railway Labor Act came through board orders and legal provisions freezing the situation pending mediation, arbitration and settlement. Employers and employers are required to file demands for changes in existing labor relations 30 days in advance. If arbitration is invoked, existing working conditions must remain in force without a stoppage of work for another 30 days.

Employment Office Reports Shortages

Leland F. Parker, manager of the Midland and Odessa offices of the Texas State Employment Service reported he is unable to fill all requests for machinists and machine tool operators.

Other openings for all-around machinists and operators of turret lathes, milling machines, boring mills, welders, sheet metal workers, and riveters, are reported by the service.

Parker is in Midland for conference each Thursday at the I. O. O. F. Hall. Inquiries may be mailed to the Odessa office.

Promises Of Christ Remain Steadfast To Bless The World

By R. A. Weaver

Brethren, ye know that a good while ago God made choice among you, that by mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel, and believe.

8 And God, who knoweth the heart, bare them witness, giving them the Holy Spirit, even as he did unto us;

9 and he made no distinction between us and them, cleansing their hearts by faith.

10 Now therefore why make ye trial of God, that ye should put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear?

11 But we believe that we shall be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, in like manner as ye. —Acts 15.

To him who in the love of Christ holds communion with His spirit, He speaks a wondrous language. For his darker hours He has a message of comforting assurance; and in his sombre musings, there is strength and hope that comes with the words of life. Jesus never spoke in parable to His own. He always spoke clearly and to the point. So strange and wonderful are His promises that we often fail to acquaint ourselves with their reality, or accept them literally. It is to rob God of His omnipotence to say that these promises are not in effect today; and it is to become shorn of all the blessed prerogatives of the Christian life to relegate to the dim and distant past, the things that God has prepared for them who love Him. Verily, faith makes vital and living the promises of Christ in this present age. Christ meant exactly what He said, and His words are easily understood. Pure, simple words they are. These words stand out clear-cut and dazzling among the words of time and eternity. For they are words of Life.

Christ Speaks Today.

When in the throes of indecision, or torn between two alternatives He says unto you and me: "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." How tenderly put, and how gentle is the personal application. Unto the father whose child had died, He spoke with the same assurance—"Fear not, only believe."

Not much to do there—one only to do, and one thing not to do. The one is as important as the other. First, it is to believe; second, it is not to fear. These two great principles embody the success of Christian living. For the hour of disappointment, He says: "Ask and ye shall receive, and ye shall have abundance." Just to ask in faith, just to unbend the heart. That is what Christ is for, to us. Christ never recognized the impossible. This non-recognition of obstacles is the secret of all the great leaders who have overcome in the world. Christ never acknowledged any impossibilities for His disciples. When they failed in their tasks, He was ashamed, and said unto them: "Oh, thou of little faith, how long must I be with you?"

The Need Of Today.

Must He not have that same feeling toward us as we doubt and fear and stumble along at this age? Did He not say that greater works we should do than the work He did? And are we able to do these works which have been set before us? We cannot do the work of God if there is an abandonment of the living water and the bread of life. One cannot carry out the program of Christ without the assurance and realization, "That for us to live is for Christ to live."

Without the conviction that speaks out boldly "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me," there is no power to fulfill the mission of life.

MOTH-FLAME LURE USED TO TRAP CYCLE VIOLATORS

DENVER, (UPI). — In their effort to locate boys who do not have proper night equipment on their bicycles police are resorting to the "moth-flame" trick.

"We found the quickest way to capture the violators was to draw up somewhere at night, touch the siren a couple of times and turn on the red lights. Those we were seeking came pedaling almost into our arms," one officer explained.

Jacqueline Cochran First Woman To Fly Bomber To Britain

LONDON, (AP). — Blonde Jacqueline Cochran, first woman to fly a bomber across the Atlantic, arrived in London Friday after delivering an American-built Hudson bomber and instantly became the envy of every woman in England—she brought three dozen pairs of silk stockings with her.

It was the American flier's first flight across the Atlantic but she said she was "at the controls all the way and had a wonderful trip completely without incident."

She said her plans were not complete but added that she "probably" would fly back to the United States and "hoped" to fly more bombers across.

"My only companion was Captain Grafe Carlisle, who captained the craft and did the navigating," said Miss Cochran, who in private life is Mrs. Floyd Odium.

There's nothing mysterious about the way newspaper advertising works.

It's like the salesmen who go from house to house looking for customers.

Advertising does the same job on a larger scale.

It's quicker—reaches more people—at a lower cost per call.

In other words, Reporter-Telegram advertising is a time saver, which means it's a money saver as well.

America's Card Authority.

In drafting the rules of tournament bridge, every effort is made to protect the field. Here is a decision that Frank K. Perkins, England tournament director, encountered recently.

West was the dealer, but South opened the bidding with one club, which, of course, was a bid out of turn. Perkins explained the bid as void, that North was barred and that it was West's turn to bid. West properly passed, North could bid, and East, deciding he would try to trip South, also passed. South, who was now free to make any bid he desired, again bid one club.

West passed and East doubled, to give South another chance to put his neck in the noose. South, deceived by East's and West's passing, thought his partner must have a big hand and plunged into three trump, which East gleefully clubbed. He thought his tactics had quite successful.

It opened his shortest suit, to find his partner long of spades. But dummy's queen was on the jack, killing East's hand. South won with the ace, the declarer had two spade entries. These were used to take two club finesses, and thus were made three no trump clubs.

Again the tournament director was dead, but Perkins had to rule that the hand stood as played.

CALIBAN FROM CALEB

BY NORMAN KAHL

YESTERDAY: Miss Margate turns out to be Adoreen Micklebridge, who has changed her name after getting a job as night club singer. She has softened toward Angus, because the publicity of his arrest has been responsible for his getting a job. She gets him out of jail but is too busy to see him because of dates with her new boss, Garvin Fitzwater. And she doesn't want to drink ginger ale, where Spike Mudge offers him a job "protecting" brocolli dealers. Angus is dumbfounded to learn the salary is $125 a week. * * *

ADDIE MUST BE SAVED

CHAPTER VI

BY the time Angus buys a shirt, a tie and a new suit for $18.75, and finds himself a room on West 23rd street for $4.50 a week, it is after dark and he decides the best way to tell Adoreen about his job is to go to the place where she works and surprise her.

Angus doesn't exactly like to admit it, but he is a little curious about this place where Adoreen works—curious about Adoreen's singing and this Mr. Garvin Fitzwater, who has got so much business to talk over with Adoreen at lunch every day.

It is 7:30 on the dot when Angus reaches the Purple Pelican.

He is surprised to find the place practically deserted. A dimpled hat-check blond, wearing something that looks like a bathing suit with red ruffles, steps toward Angus with a store-bought smile. She takes one look at the cap in his hand, drops the smile and says, "Peddlers around the kitchen entrance."

"But I'm not a peddler, M'am," says Angus, blushing furiously and refusing to look at the wide expanses of powdered flesh which the girl makes no attempt to conceal. "I'm a customer. I make good money and I came to enjoy myself."

The girl sniffs. Then, sensing trouble, she puts two dainty fingers between her teeth and whistles.

A gent who is busting out of a monkey suit comes running.

"All right," says the bouncer to Angus. "Just go quietly and there won't be no trouble."

"I don't want to go. I came here to see things, and I'm staying. Where's everybody? Don't look like much business."

The bouncer is patient. A little diversion is always welcome. "Things don't start around here until 11. And anyway, you can't come in with those clothes. You gotta be dressed."

Angus bristles. "I don't like you to talk that way about me. This is a new suit. I wanna go in and wait until 11, if that's when things begin, although it seems pretty late to me. Seems most de-

Champ's Managers And Jacobs Decide To Card Nova Next

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK. (AP)—Barring the unforeseen, Joe Louis will make his next defense of his heavyweight championship here in September against Lou Nova, the California husky who recently forced Max Baer to quit for the second time.

They wrangled about it all day Thursday in Promoter Mike Jacob's office, with Mike trying to talk Nova into fighting Abe Simon first, but Nova's manager, Ray Carlen, was obdurate.

One thing is certain: Louis intends to loaf with all his might during the next two months. His 13th round victory over Billy Conn Wednesday night left him worn out and tired of fighting. The champ has been in almost constant training for the past seven months.

Louis Admires Conn

"Joe admits he made an almost fatal mistake in not laying off training for a couple of days last week like his trainer wanted him to," said Julian Black, a co-manager. "Joe says Julian knows how he'll feel when he loses the title. He still can't quite talking about how a little fellow like Conn can take punishment."

Joe's admiration for Conn is sincere. The big negro was over in Billy's corner to congratulate the game little man almost before they had finished bringing Billy around with smelling salts. Billy's manager, Johnny Ray, though near to crying, told Louis: "I can't think you could do it, Joe. You're a great fighter." Joe said: "Thanks, Johnny. Billy is a great fighter, too."

AMARILLO (AP)—A large field of Texas' crack linksmen, their games sharpened by pro-amateur competition Thursday, lined up Friday for the Texas PGA and Open Golf Tournament.

First and second prize money was split by teams captained by Henry Ransom, Fort Worth Glen Garden pro, and Todd Menefee, San Antonio pro, with best-ball cards of 60.

On Ransom's team were John Oliver, Amarillo club champion, and R. C. McFarland, Amarillo amateur. Menefee's team included two Amarillo Municipal players, M. H. Loewenstein and Harrison Garrett. Oliver was the only one of the amateurs without a handicap.

A threesome composed of Tony Butler, San Angelo pro, Buddy Short and Gene Klein of Amarillo took third place.

The five professionals with the lowest 36-hole score Friday will qualify for the National PGA Tournament at Denver.

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Briez

NEW YORK.—Leftover bits of cauliflower: Billy Conn's been offered $25,000 to make the movie of Octavus Roy Cohen's fight story, "Kid Tinsel"...

Incidentally, the movies of the fight show Billy wasn't hit with a single right-hand punch through the 13 rounds so long as he kept his left hand high. Louis dealt it off the arm only when the glamor boy forgot and dropped his port paw.

Louis' ring earnings to the penny are $1,987,663.96 in 54 fights in seven years—not counting the fun he's had knocking guys' ears off. And in case you've forgotten, Conn turned down $200,000 just a year ago to tangle with Louis, for which he got $77,000 night before last.

Ben Jones figures on shipping Hawley to Arlington Monday or Tuesday . . . To get ready for the classic, naturally . . . Mike Jacobs had Ancil Hoffman on the phone Thursday night, trying to line up an Abe Simon-Buddy Baer brawl for Los Angeles in August . . . Now that the door's closed for either of 'em to take on Mr. Big . . . Larry MacPhail spent $22.50 to call up Tom Sheehan, the Minneapolis manager, to find out how his Brooklyn elbowers should pitch to Coaker Triplett, the Cards' cloutier from Columbus . . . Chances are Conn'll get the call over Nova for Louis' September outing because of the gate Billy'll draw.
