Ask Congressmen To Aid Pipeline Project

Midland Group Also Urges Cooperation From Oil Operators

Seven West Texas congressmen Tuesday had telegrams from Midland soliciting their support in getting Permian Basin petroleum to the Eastern coast for use in National Defense.

The cooperation of several oil operators' associations also was asked by the Midland group in its project to bypass the Gulf of Mexico bottleneck to get Permian Basin oil to refineries needing crude.

Telegrams, signed by P. F. Brown, chairman of the Midland group of operators, went to Congressman R. E. Thomason, Eugene Worley, George H. Mahon, Ed Gossett, Fritz G. Lanham, Sam M. Russell and Charles L. South.

Cooperation of the following associations also was asked as Midland operators believed all would be benefited by construction of a pipeline from Midland, center of the pipeline network of the basin, north to St. Louis and Chicago refineries and thence east to the New York-New Jersey area.

North Texas Oil & Gas Association, West-Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association, New Mexico Oil and Gas Association, and the Lea County Producers Association at Hobbs, N. M.

Meanwhile, headquarters of the Permian Basin Association here gathered information concerning the tremendous oil reserves of West Texas and prepared data on ability to tap this vast reserve without extensive cost of pumping, drilling and other equipment now needed elsewhere.

The proposal for a pipeline from this area to the Atlantic seaboard will be placed before the federal government in Washington within a few days.

Some producers hoped that private capital could be obtained to finance the line and a report from San Angelo said two purchasers with eastern outlets would take 25,000 barrels daily.

Diversion of oil tankers from Gulf ports to the relief of Great Britain has caused a transportation problem for the oil industry. Stocks at tidewater have swelled and eastern states are threatened with a shortage of gasoline and fuel oil.

Several oil men expressed the opinion that a pipeline can be laid quicker than tankers can be built and that a pipeline will be less vulnerable to attack.

State Oil Group Cuts Production In Texas Fields

July Statewide Order Sets Daily Allowables At 1,300,000 Barrels

By The Associated Press AUSTIN.—The Railroad Commission Tuesday announced a statewide oil production order for July permitting an average daily yield of 1,347,926 barrels, a reduction of 63,806 from the allowable of June 1 and 83,008 under that of June 21.

The order added two more general production shutdown days, bringing the total to 11, for all fields except the Panhandle area which remained unchanged at five.

Commission engineers, comparing the permissive yield to the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of market demand for Texas in July, asserted that subtracting assigned but unproduced allowables, statewide production would be 23,251 barrels a day under the bureau forecast.

All Commissioners Sign The federal bureau's July demand estimate was 1,324,000 barrels daily.

Exemptions from shutdowns by fields were unchanged from the June order and allowable assignments by pools were identical with the current order except for Talco pool in district 6 which was boosted from 24,073 barrels a day on June 21 to 27,638. The field produces an asphalt-yielding crude.

Engineers explained a number of small changes in fields were caused by underproduction or new wells. The method of prorating was unchanged from that used on the June order.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson and members Jerry Sadler and Olin Culberson of the commission all signed the order.

Statewide shutdown days except for the Panhandle field were listed as July 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, 16, 19, 20, 27, and 31. Panhandle area closures were ordered July 5, 12, 19, 26, and 31.

By districts, average net exempt daily allowable was listed as follows: District one 21,694, two 63,383, three 247,617, four 133,132, five 18,638, six outside East Texas fields 64,647, East Texas pool 334,261, seven 28,748, east-ent 18,073, eight 229,659, nine 111,675, ten 76,589.

By fields, allowable changes were as follows: Big Lake up 220 to 5,770.

RAF Hammers At Nazi Areas

LONDON (AP).—Heavy explosions, rolling across the misty channel, suggested that the RAF was blasting at the Nazi-occupied French coast again Tuesday after attacking industrial targets in western Germany for the 13th consecutive night.

The sounds first were heard shortly after 7 a. m., hours earlier than the British generally launch their daylight sallies across the channel.

The naval bases of Wilhelmshaven, Kiel and Emden, the industrial center of Hannover and places in Nazi-occupied territory were the targets of the RAF night raiders, an official announcement said.

Governor Plays Legislators In Senatorial Race

By The Associated Press. Texas Panhandle weather, as though influenced by an impish god, almost broiled one senatorial candidate and came close to drowning out another Monday.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, dripping slowly under a melting sun, appealed for votes to an audience gathered about his glistening sound truck in a hotel parking lot at Amarillo.

By nightfall Amarillo citizens were making their way through cloud-burst-flooded streets in rowboats and a scheduled open-air meeting for Congressman Lyndon Johnson had to be transferred to the city auditorium.

After making a brief appearance at Amarillo, the governor hurried on to Vernon in a rapid-fire campaign designed to muster as many votes as possible by next Saturday, when the special senatorial election will be held.

Asks Dry Votes. O'Daniel took his quarrel with an adamant legislature to a Vernon audience, declaring: "Did you know the legislature is still in session? Austin has turned out to be a health resort. All I can do is report to the people of Texas. I can do that because we have the first democratic government since Hogg was governor."

He injected a new note into the race with an appeal for prohibition votes, adding "everybody knows I am a prohibition leader."

After entertaining his Amarillo audience with a vaudeville show, Johnson said: "Texas is the first state to speak since November on whether we are going to continue what we declared then to be our policy."

"We blasted tradition and elected President Roosevelt the third time. We said then, in unmistakable terms, that we were all out for the president and his foreign policy to save America. We will endorse that decision next Saturday by sending to the Senate a man who's all out, without question, without reservation, for that policy."

At Houston, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, speaking at an outdoor meeting, asked that he be elected Senator as a means of repudiating what he described as a "threat to the independence of Texas."

He asserted that "every form of political pressure, supported by enormous expenditures of money, has been expending in an effort to dictate to you."

Congressman Martin Dies returned to his home at Orange and prepared to wind up his senatorial campaign after a radio speech at Beaumont in which he charged that Mann and Johnson had failed to attract large crowds to their rallies.

The headquarters' statement was issued in response to numerous inquiries by boards as to what course to pursue in views of the Senate-approved bill now before the House which would empower the president to give deferment from military training to all who have reached the age of 28 by July 1.

Germany Claims Three Major Penetrations From 80 To 125 Miles In Russian Sectors But Soviet States Thrusts Were Repelled

By The Associated Press Sweeping drives of German columns into the Russian Ukraine and through Red army defenses to the north were indicated Tuesday by diverse reports which accompanied fresh manifestations of Axis sympathy in Japan and Spain.

Three major penetrations of Soviet territory were reported, ranging in depth from 80 to 125 miles, and DNB (official German news agency) declared hundreds of Russians had been killed and thousands taken prisoner in one sector alone.

A German-Rumanian force was said to have slashed 80 miles through Russian Bessarabia, heading for Odessa and other Black Sea ports.

Foreign military attaches in Ankara, Turkey, said they had advised that Nazi panzer units had driven 120 miles into the rich breadbasket of Southwest Russia in the first two days of invasion.

In the center of the 2,000-mile front, a spearhead has penetrated about 125 miles in a thrust through Brest-Litovsk toward Minsk, said Reuters (British news agency) in a dispatch from Vichy.

Russia's huge Red army, battling furiously against German mechanized columns on the far-flung Baltic-to-Black Sea front, claimed to have thrust two invading German forces back across the Soviet frontier, Moscow reports said.

"The thing now," said Pravda, the Communist party organ, "is to smash the vile fascist beast which dared to lay its blood-stained paw against our life."

In the first two days of fighting against its first really powerful opponent, the Red army claimed capture of 5,000 German prisoners, destruction of 300 German tanks and shooting down of 127 Nazi warplanes.

From Berlin came word that German assault troops had driven through a strong line of Soviet bunkers in the thrusts which the Red army acknowledged had taken three frontier towns.

The German high command spoke in a general way: "In the East, the operations of the German army are taking their planned course, with great success."

Indications developed that the exiled Polish government at Moscow were adjusting their differences. The British foreign minister, Anthony Eden, reiterated Britain's pledge of the redemption of Poland, which was occupied jointly by Germany and Russia in 1939.

Japanese Press Celar Attention was focussed on Japanese interest in the war by a Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Tokyo saying that Japanese women and children living in Moscow had been ordered home.

Likewise, Domei (Japanese news agency) broadcast that Tuesday's comments in the Japanese press are much clearer in their manifestations of sympathy for Germany and in indicating the future course of Japanese policy.

Although Russian advances indicated German penetration of 10 to 15 miles in places in Adolf Hitler's new drive to the East, the Soviet high command declared two Nazi columns had been repulsed with heavy losses.

It was admitted that Brest-Litovsk, scene of the Bolshevik signing of a World War peace with Germany, Kolna and Lomza had fallen. All are in Polish territory. In addition, Bucharest dispatches of Reuters said Rumanian troops, fighting as Allies of Germany, had occupied Ceranuti, in Northern Bucovina, which Russia wrested from Rumania by ultimatum a year ago.

Says Hess' Flight Caused By Dispute LONDON (AP).—Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia said in a broadcast to his people Tuesday night that Rudolf Hess' flight to Britain was the result of a six-month dispute among Nazi leaders over what they should do next since, he said, they knew they could not defeat Britain.

Benes pictured the one-time number 3 Nazi as believing that continuation of the war would lead to German defeat and said that his trip to Scotland May 10 was made with the belief that he could persuade the British to stop hostilities.

Behind The Headlines

By Fred Vanderschmidt. Required re-reading for this week in Moscow, Rome, Tokyo and elsewhere is Chapter XIV, Mein Kampf, by Adolf Hitler. One wonders, too, if Hitler is not re-reading it himself in some humiliation.

Contrary to some impressions, Mein Kampf has not turned out to be a precise chartbook for Hitler, for Hitler has betrayed himself, by reason of necessity or convenience, in various respects: For instance, in his expressed desire for an alliance with Britain as well as Italy.

The Russians, however, can now weigh the utter insincerity, from the beginning, of the treaty which Hitler made with them when he had to detour from his course. For Mein Kampf not only dismisses as worthless any treaty with Russia ("we must not forget that the international Jew, who today rules Russia absolutely, sees in Germany not an ally but a state marked for the same destiny... One does not conclude a treaty with someone whose sole interest is the destruction of his partner.")

After "Necessary Soil." The book also, by constant repetition, drives home this thought: "Neither western or eastern orientation should be the future goal of our foreign policy, but an eastern policy signifying the acquisition of the necessary soil for our German people."

Well, Hitler, having failed to knock out England, has gone back to the book and gone after the "necessary soil," and the danger for his foes on the west lies in the chance that he will be able to carve that soil out of the heart of the Russian richlands in six, or eight, or twelve weeks; encircle and destroy the Russian army and turn back again in the direction of England.

In this one military decision he has left his allies, Italy and Japan, dangling happily from the frayed threads of the tri-partite pact, and he has done so with cynicism and contempt, for as he wrote in Mein Kampf: "An alliance which does not comprise a plan for war is senseless and worthless. One makes alliances only for fighting."

Japan Thwarted. Hitler made the Italian alliance for fighting; Italy fought, but now Italy has expended her fighting strength, and is becoming what Hitler wanted to avoid: one of those allies "who suck like leeches on our own economy." (Again, Mein Kampf.)

As for Japan she was given to believe that by signing the tri-partite pact she would be able to complete her advance southward whenever the final assault on England took place. Then, she was told, Britain's eastern strength would be dispersed and weakened and the United States fleet would have gone on guard into the Atlantic.

Japan's unexpected withdrawal from her heavy pressure on the Dutch East Indies is evidence that she suspected some days ago that Germany was about to reverse herself. Now the German assault on Russia leaves British and American defenses unimpaired in the Pacific and its postpones, indefinitely, Japan's original plan of expansion there.

Spanish Official Declares Russia Must Be Defeated

MADRID (AP).—Uniformed Falangists paraded the streets of Madrid Tuesday, demonstrated in front of the German embassy with cries of "on to Moscow," and heard the Spanish foreign minister declare Russia must be "exterminated."

The demonstrations came as government leaders sought to decide Spain's course in the Axis struggle against the Soviet Union. The United States and Britain embassies were protected against incidents by heavy police guards.

Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner attacked Russia as "guilty of our civil war" in a brief speech to cheering demonstrators from the balcony of falange headquarters.

American Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell awaited an interview with the chief of government to talk over "the general situation," embassy sources said.

Small Business Must Not Be Sacrificed

There are warning signals flying in Washington that "little business," which has for several years been tossed in heavy seas, is approaching real hurricane weather.

The depression years have been tough on "little business" in general, though some of it has shown itself more adaptable to new conditions than larger businesses and industries. The defense crisis has brought further difficulties to "little business," and may, perhaps, confront it with a fight for existence.

When the defense effort began, a little more than a year ago, it was natural that most of the contracts went to big industrial establishments. They were the ones who could turn out the stuff, and turn it out quickly. Only a few months ago did we come around to a concerted effort to spread the defense work so that smaller concerns might have a share and add their power to the productive facilities so urgently needed for defense. That is being pushed strongly today, according to R. L. Mehornay, chief of contracts division, OPM.

Now we find ourselves short of materials. Aluminum, rubber, copper, zinc, and many similar materials must be rationed. This might easily reach a point, fears Peter R. Nehemkis of the OPM's defense contract service, where a third of American industry will be "faced with the grim reality of guns versus butter." Not less than ten entire industries whose supplies are being either curtailed or shut off entirely may be faced with the stark prospect of either finding something else to do or shutting down entirely. For a time, in other words, there may even be more, not fewer unemployed, with windows in small plants making unessentials going dark that lights may blaze brighter in the windows of vital arms and defense plants.

In a word, there is a tendency, under pressure of the defense effort, to eliminate the small enterprise entirely. Nehemkis is properly concerned about this prospect; he is right in suggesting that "if we permit a total blackout of small business . . . we shall have richly cultivated the soil for a fascist dictatorship." He might have added "or a Communist dictatorship," for the two are alike in that neither offers a place for the small enterpriser.

The defense boards in Washington are aware of this danger, Nehemkis avers, and are trying to be ready with plans either to incorporate such endangered small businesses into prime contract-sub-contractor relationships, find ways for them to make defense goods, or means of tiding them over so they can resume production after the emergency.

This is a serious situation, full of the gravest possibilities for the future. It is reassuring to know that there are those who are already trying to find a solution.

More Records Broken

The story of industrial America for an indefinite time to come must be nothing but a succession of broken records.

Thus it is a pleasure to record that two more went glimmering this past month. The highest amount of electric power ever generated in this country was chalked up this past month, and at the same time machine-tool builders reported a new all-time monthly peak of $60,000,000 for May, just about double the record of May, 1940.

That is the way it must be, breaking all past records month after month until the world is free once more to relax. In one way, that's what this is all about, isn't it? The world hasn't relaxed in 20 years. It wants to. But first the tension must be broken, and to break that, all the records must be broken first.

They Found Out--And How!

The German people weren't told by their Goebbled-up press about their consuls being kicked out of the United States. The papers said nothing, or almost nothing, about it until Germany retaliated by kicking American consuls out of most of Europe, which they occupy. Then it was all announced, with the result that the average German probably thinks Germany acted first, and that her people are coming home only as a desperate and baseless reprisal by the United States.

Thus a whole people receives a distorted idea of an event that vitally concerns it. That is what it means to have a state-controlled press. Nothing can ever be expected of public opinion in a country in which people are not given the information on which to form opinion.

Oil Operators In Louisiana Study Critical Problem

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Oil men Tuesday drew a paradoxical picture of unremoved oil accumulating near the rich Gulf Coast fields while gasoline rationing is being discussed in the East.

The accumulating stocks, they said, explain an order cutting the amount of oil Louisiana wells will be allowed to produce in July although civilian and military demand apparently is increasing.

John J. Metzger, Jr., chief engineer of the Louisiana department of minerals, declared that the removal of 50 tankers by government order from the Gulf-Atlantic coast runs was responsible for the situation.

"Our department ordered the reduction on the recommendation of the U. S. Bureau of Mines," Metzger said. "Oil stocks are piling up on our Gulf Coast and I am sure the same situation exists in Texas. There just isn't any way of moving it."

The Louisiana daily allowable production for July was fixed at 303,397 barrels, a reduction of 16,003 barrels from the daily June allowable of 319,500 barrels.

Governor Sam Jones Monday bound Louisiana to a two-year extension of the Interstate Oil Compact for voluntary conservation measures.

Aircraft Basis For Deferment

Declaring the production, operation and maintenance of aircraft and the training of men necessary for those activities are vital to the success of the National Defense program, General J. Walt Page, state selective service director, called upon the Midland County draft board to give serious consideration to the deferment of registrants in those civilian occupations.

General Page announced national headquarters of the Selective Service System, cooperating with the United States Departments of War, Navy, and Commerce to prevent serious interruption or delay in the aviation phase of the National Defense program, has listed the following as important in that connection:

1. Persons necessary to the operation of primary and basic civilian flying schools under contract to the Army.
2. Civilians necessary to the operation of naval training stations, and Naval Reserve bases.
3. Men receiving training in accredited civilian flying schools.
4. Men receiving training in accredited trade schools where instructions essential to the aircraft production industry are given.
5. Students in college courses in aeronautical engineering, airplane designing and kindred courses.
6. Necessary men in the operation of the air transport industry.

Eden Welcomes Russia As Ally To Beat Hitler

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden formally welcomed Soviet Russia as an ally "in our common task, the defeat of Germany," in a speech in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Eden urged the British nation to forego political considerations in facing the situation raised by Germany's drive into Russia.

Communism is not the issue, he said, adding, "we have always hated the creed."

But, he went on, what counts is that the Russians "are fighting the man who seeks to dominate the world."

"That also is our sole task." In a review of British-Russian relations before Adolf Hitler's armies crossed the Russian frontier Sunday, the foreign secretary reiterated Britain's pledge of the redemption of Poland.

"That remains our pledge," he said of the nation jointly occupied by Germany and Russia at the opening of the war in 1939.

The foreign secretary announced that Russia had formally accepted an offer of British military and economic missions "to coordinate the common task of the defeat of the enemy."

Hitler Boasts Big Successes

BERLIN (AP)—A communique dated "the Fuehrer's headquarters" declared Tuesday that "in the East operations of the German army take their planned course with great successes."

That opening sentence was the only reference in the communique to operations against Russia, but DNB, German official news agency, reported Nazi forces had broken through a strong line of Soviet bunkers in the middle of the Eastern front after hard fighting.

The agency declared that weak forces of the Russian air raiders had attempted to fly into East Prussia Tuesday morning but had been driven off by anti-aircraft fire and forced to drop their bomb cargoes in open fields.

Senate Shows Will To Aid Russia But Clark Blasts Idea

WASHINGTON, (AP.) — The idea of aiding Russia in her fight against Germany gained substantial backing in the Senate Tuesday but not without a sharp counterblast of opposition from Senator Clark (D-Mo) who declared "Stalin's hand is just as bloody as Hitler's, the Communist system is just as bad as Nazism."

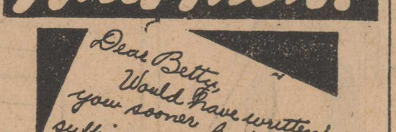

The general trend of initial opinion in the Senate appeared to endorse the official state department declaration that "any defense against Hitlerism" redounded to the benefit of the defense and security of the United States.

The state department pronouncement Monday was regarded as tantamount to formal notice that the reoriented American policy toward the Soviet would parallel Britain's. In brief, the United States and Britain, while yielding no ground in their ideological antagonism to Communism, would support Russia as a fighter against the common menace.

The United States, it was said, is in a position to grant the Soviet a certain measure of economic cooperation almost at once, if requested.

And Then!

Dear Betty, I would have written you sooner but I was suffering from eye strain! How do you do?

Mrs. S. H. Martin has as her guests Mrs. R. T. McBride and daughter, Billie Jean, of Fort Worth. They visited Carlsbad Cavern over the weekend.

Mrs. R. V. Fitting and son were dismissed from Western Clinic Hospital.

First Garden Pilgrimage To Be Held Here Will Include Tour Wednesday Of The Beauty Spots In Fifteen Gardens

Flowers, flowers, flowers—big ones, little ones, gay-colored ones, demure ones, fragrant ones and ones that aren't perfumed—will gladden the sight of the Garden Club members and their friends who make the Garden Pilgrimage planned for Wednesday. But flowers are not the only attractions to be viewed in the fifteen gardens on the route of the Pilgrimage. There will be ponds, and barbecue pits, and outdoor living arrangements, and even an old-fashioned water well.

As a suggestion of what is in store for pilgrims, the following are highlights of the various stopping places: Mrs. Frank Aldrich has in her walled garden water lilies of which she is proud, especially a large yellow one, and also an especially large Burbank daisy.

Mrs. George Abell's garden boasts a swimming pool and garden house which houses a barbecue pit. There's a handsome gardenia plant, too, and gladioli.

Water Well
The old-fashioned water well with a weather vane atop is sure to bring exclamations from visitors to Mrs. J. D. Bodkins' garden. There's even a willow tree beside the well, in the style of oldtime illustrations.

Mrs. I. E. Daniel has a variety of pretty flowers in her garden but doesn't play favorites in describing them.

Mrs. B. C. Girdley's garden, with its selection of blossoms, is shut off from the street by a wall in which the picturesque little gate tempts the traveler to peek inside.

Mrs. J. E. Hill, long a garden enthusiast, has a garden of mixed blossoms whose variety of color and type provide attractions for various tastes.

There's a pink perennial phlox at the home of Mrs. L. C. Link of which she is proud—especially as she's had to coax it along for several years. A lily pool is another feature of her garden.

Variety is the word for describing Mrs. J. O. Nobles' garden with its attractive beds of bloom.

For Outdoor Living
Mrs. E. R. Osburn has planned her garden for outdoor living and it is equipped as a living room and a play yard.

Cannas are a high point in the garden of Mrs. Geo. Phillips, who also has an array of other blossoms to be enjoyed by visitors.

Mrs. W. E. Ryan is another who has what may be termed a general garden because the flowers are varied in color and type and represent their owner's likes in the West Texas floral world.

Mrs. J. W. Thomas is proud of a cactus that grows in her garden. And there's a fish pond to add a note unusual in this part of Texas.

The outdoor fireplace at the home of Mrs. Addison Wadley is outstanding in the sights of her garden, but there are flowers to lend the conventional note of color and fragrance.

Attractive Alley
Mrs. Fred Turner's garden is carefully planned and presents to the visitor attractive groupings of summer bloom.

Mrs. N. A. Lancaster likes her garden—but she is especially proud of the alley back of her home which she has transformed into a beauty asset instead of the liability which alleys often are. Pampas grass and tritoma, a red oleander, and a petunia bed edged with marguerites are among the treats for the garden-minded at her home.

The gardens designated for the Pilgrimage will be open Wednesday morning from 9 o'clock until noon and Wednesday evening from five o'clock until 8. The Pilgrimage is for members of the Garden Club or visitors who are accompanied by a Garden Club member.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PREVENT TROUBLE

all through the long, hot miles of summer driving

THIS is a timely suggestion to Texas motorists; you can prevent irritating delays on your vacation trip, you can eliminate many later bills for minor repairs, if you will permit a Humble Station to check your car for summer driving, now.

Your motor oil: now is the time to drain the crankcase and refill with the proper weight of Balanced 997 for summer driving.

Gear lubricants: most car manufacturers urge you to drain and refill as the seasons change.

Chassis lubrication: eliminate squeaks, prevent undue wear on bearings, spindles, etc.

Clean radiator: have it drained and flushed for efficient summer service. Check sparkplugs, fan belt, air filter, battery, lamps.

Wash and polish to protect against dust of traffic and hot summer sun. Your car will look better, run better all summer long if you have it Humble-checked for summer driving now. Why not stop at the nearest Humble sign one day this week?

Last year the American Contract Bridge League established the Southern Appalachian Tournament at Asheville, N. C., as one of its sectional championships. The tournament will be held this year August 22, 23 and 24.

At the present Sam D. Holt, is confined to the Veterans Hospital at Oteen, N. C., but he may be able to participate in the team-of-four championship, in which he and his teammates tied for first place last year. In the play-off our team was fortunate enough to win the championship and we expect to be on hand to defend the title this year.

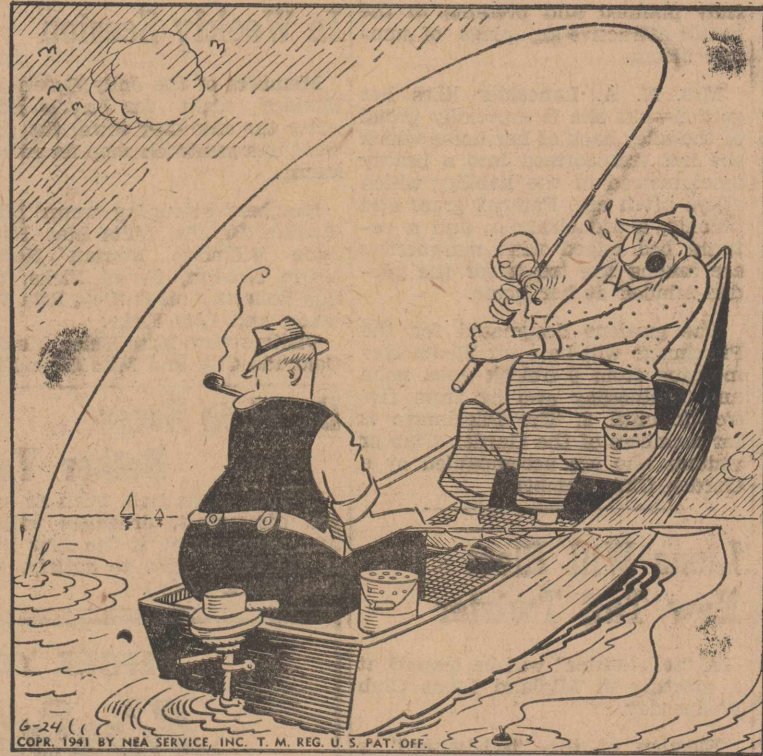

Here is one of the hands that my partner, Waldemar von Zedtwitz, played for a win in last year's tournament.

North won the opening lead and led a spade, the queen falling to the ace. Von Zedtwitz (West) returned a spade which was won in dummy with the king. Now the declarer adopted a faulty plan. He cashed dummy's king of diamonds, ruffed dummy's last spade, and ruffed his own last diamond.

A low trump lead from dummy was won by the king, and on a second lead the ten finesse forced the ace.

Declarer had hoped to induce a club lead, but Von Zedtwitz led his diamond, allowing North to ruff and dummy to discard. Now we were bound to win either a club trick or the jack of trumps or a long spade at the end.

HOT WEATHER BRINGS SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

SAN ANTONIO, (AP)—Hot weather with its attendant hazards for outdoor workmen, brought forth Tuesday the annual list of summer safety precautions issued to WPA workers by Felix Tapp, state safety consultant for the federal agency.

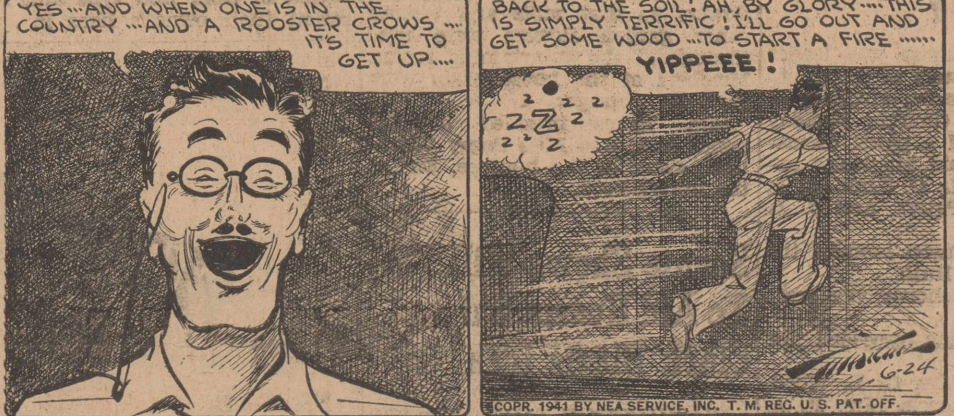

Salt tablets to replenish natural salts lost through excessive perspiration by manual laborers in hot weather already have become a standard part of the project water boys' stock. A small quantity of salt placed in drinking water is tasteless but acts to forestall the danger of heat exhaustion, Tapp says.

Chinese Pilots Are Superior To Enemies

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—"Chinese pilots are superior to Japanese pilots in a dogfight," said Miss Lee La Ching, Chinese aviatrix.

Miss Ching, first woman to obtain a pilot's license in China, said that the Chinese strategy is to force single airplane duels. "We don't think much of the Japanese pilots," she said. "Of course, in formation and precision flying, he is good; but once we get him in a position where he is unable to operate directly on orders, his weakness becomes evident."

The Chinese are using American planes, Miss Ching said, and find them superior to those manufactured and flown by the Japanese. Although normally outnumbered in a fight at least five to one, according to Miss Ching, the Chinese seldom fail to inflict heavier losses upon the Japanese than they suffer themselves.

Britain Sounds Out Japan On Situation

LONDON (AP)—Britain was reportedly Tuesday night to be sounding out Japan on her reaction to the Russian-German hostilities.

Officials declined to comment, but reliable unofficial sources said requests for information would avoid pressing Japan because "Japanese themselves are probably badly confused by the quick about face" of Germany.

Phoenix Pilot Program Expands

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Endowed with year-round perfect flying weather, the Phoenix area has begun a rapid development into a leading center of the nation's expanded pilot training program.

Army air corps experts predict the continued development of Phoenix bases soon will make them rivals to Kelly and Randolph fields in Texas for the title of "West Point of the air."

The city has a major cadet training base, Thunderbird Field, a new $2,000,000 base for training students in the use of single-engine bombers, Luke Field, and a large municipal airport.

Construction of a twin-engine plane base and other airports in the vicinity are under construction. 3,000 to Luke Field.

Luke Field, recently completed, soon will hold a contingent of 3,000 officers and men and at least 200 advanced training planes, under command of Col. Ennis C. Whitehead.

Thunderbird Field, new $200,000 privately-owned center organized to train cadets in the rudiments of flying preliminary to entering advanced army courses, recently was dedicated at graduation exercises for a class of 42 cadets.

The Anacortes Johnson will move into the house vacated by his successor in Seattle. The Seattle Johnson will move in his predecessor's home in Anacortes.

SERIAL STORY

CALIBAN FROM CALEB

BY NORMAN KAHL

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: On the way out to a place in New Jersey where Spike Mudge and his henchmen intend to kill Angus, the broccoli racket is explained to Angus, who learns for the first time that he has been in a crooked business. When they reach the spot where the killing is to take place, Angus beats up Spike and two of "the boys." The third gets away in the car and Angus hauls a truck and knocks out the driver. He puts Spike and Butch and Tim in the truck and starts back for Manhattan.

FITZWATER UNMASKED

HOIMON the Hoist doesn't look back after he shoots away from the grove in Spike's car. He doesn't even take a deep breath until he reaches the main highway back to Manhattan. He feels like a man who has just seen a tidal wave.

If this guy Angus MacPhillips is dumb, then he, Hoimon the Hoist, once known as the best second-story man in the business, is a country parson. Hoimon doesn't know how Luigi Castaloni is going to take this, but it isn't going to be sweet. He waits until he is safely back in New York before he pulls up in front of a drug store and dashes for the telephone booth. He dials a number and waits.

"Hello, Boss," he says between his teeth. "This is Hoimon—no, Hoimon the Hoist. Yeah, I got something to tell ya. . . Well, that's what I want to tell you about. Ya see, we takes this mug MacPhillips out in the country like you said and. . . No, Boss, wait a minute. When we get there everything goes haywire. . . Yeah, that's right. We didn't get him."

"I still don't believe it, but if my eyes wasn't deceivin' me, MacPhillips has laid out Spike, Butch and Trigger Tim. . . Now don't be sore. I tell you, ya never saw anything like it. I thought I might get back and warn you. Ya see, on the way out, we spilled everything. We didn't figger he'd be coming back so we couldn't see no harm in tellin' him the facts of life. And now he is coming back, and I got a notion it won't be healthy for us—not for awhile at least. If you ask me. . . Boss, wait a minute. Are you still there?"

Hoimon clicks the receiver a couple of times and then hangs up. He goes over in his mind all the hideouts he can think of in the city and then he goes back to the car and drives away.

LUIGI CASTALONI is the least bit irritated. He should have known better than to trust Spike and his gorillas. Up to now, life has been pretty smooth. There have been practically no hitches, but this is a tough baby. He supposes he'll have to clear out for awhile—at least until this thing blows over.

Maybe the cops won't believe MacPhillips. But if they get Spike and Butch and Tim, one of them will talk. And then there is MacPhillips himself. MacPhillips knows about the racket and he knows now that it is Castaloni alias Fitzwater who has stolen his girl.

Maybe that is the answer. Adoreen is a cute little dicken—a little on the Sunday School side, perhaps, but a pretty swell piece of furniture. He can take a powder out to that place up on Long Island that nobody knows about. It will be nice having Adoreen around while he waits for things to simmer down a little.

THE sun is going down when Castaloni pulls up in front of Adoreen's apartment. He walks swiftly through the lobby and into the elevator. When he gets to Adoreen's door, he is shaking a little and feels ashamed of himself for getting the jitters just because of a dumb lug like MacPhillips.

Adoreen isn't expecting Mr. Fitzwater tonight, so she is a little surprised when she sees him at the door. She is even more surprised to see that he isn't smiling and that his face is kind of white, except where there are dark pockets under his eyes that she has never noticed before.

"Why, Mr. Fitzwater, come on in," she says. She is figuring on eating dinner at home and going to the club later for her shows, so she is dressed in a cute little ginghams house dress and low-heeled shoes that make her look like a high school sophomore.

"I came to take you for a drive, my dear," says Castaloni-alias-Fitzwater. "Hurry and throw a coat on. It's so nice out now."

"How lovely. I'd like that. But I just put some pork chops on and I'm not dressed. Stay here for dinner, Mr. Fitzwater, and after we've eaten my clothes and we can drive for awhile before my first show."

"No, no. Right away. Please hurry."

Adoreen doesn't know whether to be shocked or hurt. "Why, Mr. Fitzwater," she says. "What's the matter? There's no hurry."

"That's what you think."

"Have a drink. You'll feel better."

Castaloni comes toward her, and his face looks hard and wolfish.

"I feel fine. I never felt better in my life. I said for you to put on a wrap and come with me. Now quit stalling and let's get out of here."

Adoreen backs up against the wall. Her lips are quivering, and the red spots are gone out of her cheeks. "I'm not going with you," she says. "I don't know what's the matter with you, but I'm not leaving this apartment."

"Okay," says Castaloni, still walking toward her. "Then never mind the coat. It's warm out and there's a blanket in the car." He lunges at her and clamps one hand over her mouth. He sweeps her into his arms and heads for the door.

He looks carefully down the hallway before he steps out. Adoreen is kicking and struggling to break away, but it takes a strong man to get places in the broccoli racket, and Mr. Castaloni is the Broccoli King of all Manhattan.

HE goes down the back stairs, and when he gets into the arway, he sets her down. "There is a handy little gadget known as a gun in my pocket, Kitten," he says. "My trigger finger has no conscience, so I'd advise you to walk quietly from here to my car. Savvy?"

There are tears of terror in Adoreen's eyes, but she nods.

Castaloni's face is hard and decidedly unpleasant. "Grab my arm, Kitten, just as if I were the only man in the world you could ever love. Then let's move. Just walk and listen to me as if you enjoyed every word. That's it. You and I are gonna be together a lot for the next few weeks, so you'd better get used to it."

When they reach the sidewalk, Adoreen glances pleadingly at a young couple who are passing. But the couple pay no attention to her and Castaloni. It is just after she gets in the car and Castaloni is starting the engine, that she takes a deep breath and screams—screams through the open window of the car so that it seems like everybody from Harlem to the Bowery can hear it.

Castaloni's hand shoots out and slaps her across the face. "Shut up! Try that again and I'll put you to sleep for good."

He runs up the open window and spurs away from the curb. Some people are staring after the car, and Adoreen can see faces at some of the windows. Maybe they heard her scream. Maybe they will call the police. It is her only hope. . . a slim hope. . . one hope.

Army Chief Reveals Plans To Coordinate All Fighting Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—New steps to weld American land, sea and air forces into a closely coordinated fighting team were disclosed Tuesday by General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

Lifting partially the secrecy surrounding some important defense preparations, he reported that navy dive bombers would be teamed with ground troops for the first time in late summer maneuvers.

The arrangement for use of navy dive bombers was made with Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations. War games employing more than 350,000 men are to be held in Louisiana in August and the army's field training is to be topped off in November with other maneuvers in the Carolinas.

Termining the use of the navy bombers "logical," Marshall said that in the event of war "conceivably carrier-based planes would have to be used with troops."

Southern Fans Run Into Trouble Picking All-Stars With Capable Beaumont Hurler Short In Records

DALLAS (AP)—In choosing the pitching staff for the Texas League's sixth annual all-star game at Beaumont on the afternoon of Wednesday July 16, a much more difficult task confronts the southern fans than those of the north.

Southern teams have a greater wealth of talent from which to choose and complications are raised by such a point as the fact that Leslie Mueller of Beaumont, one of the best flingers in the loop, has won but three games and lost 9 while leading in strikeouts and flashing one of the best earned run averages of the season.

As in the North, picking a staff out of a limit of five men from any one club to the whole selection must make the fans team their hair. Mueller's season record is included here for comparison with that of the most successful South wing winning pitchers of the year:

Pitcher	G	W	L	Av.
Brillheart St.	12	7	3	2.20
Gann Bt.	18	9	6	2.93
Croye St.	11	5	3	1.55
Hammer St.	17	7	5	2.77
Horton, D. Bt.	11	5	3	3.46
Martin H.	15	13	1	1.35
Mueller Bt.	18	3	9	2.03
Pintar HN.	14	8	5	3.24
Pollet H.	14	10	2	1.22
Wilks H.	18	8	4	2.70

Postpones Golf Tourney To July

Officials of the Midland Country Club have postponed the annual city golf tournament to July 11-12-13. It has been postponed twice.

A blind bogey Dunlop tourney for members will be held Sunday. Prizes will be awarded low score winners in men's and women's divisions.

A barbecue, sponsored by the women's golf association, will be held the night of July 11 and a Calcutta pool also conducted that night.

Midlands annual invitation tournament is scheduled Aug. 1-2-3.

Novikoff Heads For Minors But Grimm Predicts Trip Back

CHICAGO (AP)—The sad Russian has gone away—but a lot of Chicago Cub fans hope he'll be back another day.

Lou Novikoff, who came to the Cubs last Spring as the most highly publicized rookie in National League history, will be a member of the Milwaukee Brewers. He failed to meet major league standards so was sent to the American Association for seasoning. His new boss will be general Charlie Grimm, who still believes Lou some day will develop into a great hitter.

"I'm going to give Lou the microphone in Milwaukee and let him rip," said Grimm in discussing the strategy by which he, as the Brewers' new manager, hopes to get Novikoff back into the happy mood which had him singing into loud speakers and clouting prodigious home runs last season in the Pacific Coast League.

"He's been trying too hard," Grimm said "I think he still will develop."

Pollet's Hurling Gives Buffs Win

By The Associated Press.

The thrifty hurling of portside Howard Pollet gave him his eleventh victory of the season last night and the Houston Buffs their third straight win over the luckless Dallas Rebels, who have been among the stragglers in the Texas League race since the season opened. The game was played at Dallas.

Pollet permitted six hits, which the Rebels managed to convert into only one run while the Buffs were getting five tallies. Pollet struck out eight and walked two, Joe DeMora, who twirled on even terms with Pollet for six innings, was charged with the loss.

The Indians gave Homer Peel, their new manager, an 8-4 win over Shreveport at Oklahoma City. The San Antonio Missions succumbed 7-1 to the Cats at Fort Worth, and the Oilers posted a 7-2 defeat on Beaumont at Tulsa.

Ruth And Cobb Will Play Charity Match

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—He's older, he's grayer and a good 30 pounds fatter in 1937, the year he highlighted one of the greatest careers in baseball by hitting an all-time high of 60-homers, but he's the same George Herman (Babe) Ruth with new competitive zest.

And that is to take Tyrus Raymond (The Peach) Cobb, one of the few other baseball immortals who can be mentioned in the same breath over the hurdles Wednesday in their 18-hole charity soupbowl golf exhibition here on the revamped and greatly stiffened Commonwealth Course.

Wonder Veteran Of Brooklyn Is Producing Again

By The Associated Press.

What might prove one of the most significant victories of the National League race was scored by Fred Getz Fittsimmons of the Dodgers Monday when he licked Pittsburgh, 9 to 4, in one of the day's two big-league games.

The win did more than just boost Brooklyn within a half-game of the St. Louis Cardinals. It afforded almost positive proof that Fittsimmons, the wonder veteran who won 16 and lost only two last year, is at last ready to begin taking a weekly turn for a team that has pennant fever.

This means that the Cardinals from now on have even a more desperate job on their hands trying to fight off the MacPhails.

Fitz, who will turn 40 about a month from now, showed no sign Monday of the sprained back that kept him from starting a game until May 26. The Pirates nipped him for seven hits in as many innings before he yielded to a pinch-hitter in the eighth, but he was steady as a rock in the right spots and would have held the Pirates to a single run if second baseman Pete Coscarart had not fumbled a grounder in the sixth and opened the way for three scores.

The victory was Fitz third straight and his 13th in a row over the Pirates. It gave him the astonishing record of 19 wins against two losses, counting last year.

Meanwhile, at Chicago, Claude Passeau of the Cubs and Hal Schumacher of the Giants hooked up in one of the league's most brilliant duels, with Passeau the eventual victor, 1 to 0.

The American League, after a day's rest, swung back into action today with opportunity starting a hole in the second-place Yankees. In the midst of a tremendous hitting streak, Joe DiMaggio and company opened a series against the wobbly Browns at Yankee Stadium, while the league-leading Cleveland Indians faced the thunder club of the third-place Boston Red Sox.

Four Billion For British War

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons Tuesday voted to place one billion pounds (about $4,000,000) at the disposal of the government for war purposes.

In moving the credit vote, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Kingsley Wood, told the House that this amount would last about three months at the present rate of expenditure, about $33,000,000 ($1,333,000,000) a month.

He said it would be necessary for him to come before parliament in the autumn to ask for more war funds. The last such credit was voted in parliament in February.

Baptists Will Raise Funds For Army Camps

DALLAS (AP)—Baptist headquarters Tuesday announced appointment of a committee to raise $35,000, Texas' share of a Southern Baptist fund to finance religious work at army training camps.

HAVERTFORD, Pa. (AP)—Three "dark horse" players from the East, South and Pacific Coast were rated dangerous contenders for the National Intercollegiate Tennis Championship Tuesday.

The trio of unseeded performers, Marvin Kent of Lehigh, Joe Davis of Vanderbilt and David Freeman of Pomona, all caused a buzz of excitement in the first day's competition Monday by upsetting favorites.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees are going to do things up right July 4, when they'll unveil the Lou Gehrig Memorial. Special souvenir tickets are being printed and the fans will get a likeness on Lou on their rain checks. . . Lou Nova is going up to the Maine woods to toughen up for the Louis fight, which probably will be judged treason to California's famous climate.

One-Eyed Connolly, the gate crusher, has been named as custodian of the gate for the American League Baseball championships in Kansas. . . Washington's oarsmen filled out their "athertons"—questionnaires of their eligibility—without a qualm. Not one is receiving any financial aid.

Come Out To Jersey And See Us, Boys

Don McKenzie of the Crookston (Minn) Daily Times, relays this yarn sent home by some Crookston boys training at Camp Claiborne, La.: Two mosquitoes zoomed into an army tent where a big soldier was sleeping. "Shall we eat him here, or take him along?" One mosquito asked. "We'd better eat him here," replied the second "if we take him down to the swamp the big mosquitoes will take him away from us."

Whadda Ya Know?

Ed Mitchell, sports editor of the Durham (N. C.) Herald, is asking his readers when and how the seventh-inning stretch originated in baseball. . . What's your explanation, boys? . . . Peter T. Farley of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times sports staff and author of that piece about Hugh Mulcahy in "The Baseball Beat" is only 19 years old and William Whelton wants to know if that doesn't give him a record for youthful sports writing. . . And our own Gayle Talbot asks how come the Yankees are up there fighting for the lead without one pitcher who can show an outstanding record.

On The Nose

The day before the Conn-Louis fight, Jersey Jones, drum-beater at the Louis camp, told reporters to pick Joe in the 13th. "He considers 13 his lucky number," explained Jersey. "He trained here 13 days and was born on the 13th day."

Men's Team Beats Wilson And Odessa Club Defeats Icers

By Tanner Laine

Readers, those men were here again—Mackey Motors who Monday night toyed with Wilson Dry Goods for a 21-6 softball win and snuggled firmly on top of the heap in the city softball league.

The Sewell Motors team was at it again, too, and it smothered Southern Ice 24-7 in women's play.

The Mackeys pitched everybody but the scorekeeper and batters debated whether to hit lefthanded before it was over. Hardin, Brady, Willis, Hagerman, Hensley and Truelove led the hitting attack. Hardin hit for the circuit and Hagerman tripled.

Wilson's hold the big guns of Mackey until the third when the swatters got 11 runs. After that it was a slaughter. Wilson's amassed three runs in the fourth on O'Shea's homer and Hicks' triple. They got two in the fifth on Riley's hit and Smith's double. Crump and Hicks singled in the sixth and Gregory hit to provide another tally.

Mackey's big inning, the third, was the decider. They bunched seven hits and utilized five errors for the counters.

Southern Ice led Sewell for two innings but relaxed in the third to allow eight counters for the Motorists. The Icers started great guns and scored five runs in the first. Sewell duplicated. In the second the Southern girls got two more but Sewell went ahead with three. Then came the third and the Icers never scored thereafter. Sewell got eight in the third, three in the fifth, and five in the sixth.

Morren hit a homer for Southern Ice and Robinson poled one for Sewell. Walton, Sewell outfielder hit five for five including a homer.

The scores by innings:
Sewell Motors . . . 538 035—24
Southern Ice . . . 520 000—7

WARFARE . . .

thony Eden formally welcomed Russia as an ally "in our common task, the defeat of Germany," in a House of Commons speech.

This ordination is in addition to the stepped-up pace of Britain's aerial offensive against the Reich. Informed London sources said the manufacturing centers of Coteigne and Duesseldorf and the naval base of Kiel were targets of the 13th consecutive RAF night attack upon Germany Tuesday night.

The German high command reported the British bombers killed and wounded several civilians and hit apartment houses.

Soviet war correspondents described the Russian frontier guards, forming the outposts of a nation two and a half times as large as the United States, as "fighting like lions."

Hall Reports Fireworks Is Cause Of 4000 Deaths

AUSTIN (AP)—Fireworks were blamed by Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, for "the destruction of 4,000 lives and more than 96,000 maimed, crippled and blinded since the war for American independence."

Hall, urging parents not to let children use fireworks on July 4, said the deaths and injuries were "too high a price to pay for the celebration of American liberty."

The commissioner declared Monday that fireworks "waste lots of money that could be used to better advantage in view of the national emergency now existing."

Youthful Georgian Has Stuff To Burn, League Umps State

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor

CINCINNATI.—When a Riddle is the answer to a problem, it's news, and in Cincinnati there's a Kiddle who appears to have put an end to what pitching worries William Boyd McKeechne had.

Eimer Ray Riddle is a 24-year-old Georgian who came to the Reds winter before last.

Umpires with emphasis and gestures, agree with the batters. They say the boy has more stuff than any pitcher, old or young they've seen this year.

Riddle came along almost unobserved, but stepped to full stature when he rushed to the rescue of Bucky Walters on Decoration Day and held the Cardinals to a single in 4 2/3 innings to emerge the victor in the 13-inning struggle which broke the St. Louis winning streak of 11.

Ray Average 1.85

The Reds started to rise with that performance.

Riddle was a Rhinelander all last season, but broke into only 15 games. His earned run average of 1.85 was spectacular, but his innings total indicated lowly status on Deacon McKeechne's list of precedence.

After all, there were William Walters, Paul Derringer, Gene Thompson and elderly milkman, Jim Turner.

This season, back of Walters and Derringer, the Redlegs have mainly depended on Johnny Vander Meer, double no-hit hero of 1938, back in strikeout stride after a pair of years in eclipse.

But today, on the strength of very neat relief jobs, Riddle looms as the right-hander to take the No. 4 place in the Reds' front-line of starting pitchers. . . ahead of Junior Thompson, Turner and Monte Pearson.
