Flier Demands Secretary Take Back Statement Secretary States Lone Eagle Should Forward Decoration To Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Ickes declared Thursday he believed that if Charles A. Lindbergh "were an upstanding American," he would have turned back his German decoration "long ago, regardless of how, when or where he got it."

The interior department chief made his statement at a press conference after being informed that Lindbergh had written President Roosevelt suggesting an apology by Ickes for his criticism of Lindbergh's position in the present international situation.

"I've never said at any time that he is connected with the interests of a foreign government," Ickes said. "I have said, however, that he has gone about the country preaching appeasement and disunity which is in the interest of a foreign government—namely Germany."

When handed a paper quoting from Lindbergh's letter to the president, Ickes read it aloud in a plaintive voice, and then commented, "This doesn't sound like an expression from a knight of the German Eagle."

Asked if he would apologize to the flier, in event he returned the German decoration, the secretary replied: "I would think a lot more of him."

A White House secretary said the flier's protest to the White House was intended more for the newspapers than for the president.

Lindbergh offered to open his files and testify before any committee appointed by the president to answer any charges that may be made against him.

He declared, however, that unless charges were made and proved, he felt he had the right to "expect truth and justice from the members of your cabinet."

Ickes in a radio address here Monday night asserted that Lindbergh's "passionate words are to encourage Hitler and to break down the will of his own fellow citizens to resist Hitler and Nazism."

He criticized the flier's attitude toward the Nazi invasion of Soviet Russia and referred to Lindbergh as "the Knight of the German Eagle."

Officers Will Finish Lottery In Two Hours

WASHINGTON (AP)—Within the space of approximately two hours the government will determine by lot Thursday night the order in which it will call up for military service the second group of Selective Service registrants.

After brief preliminaries beginning at 6 p. m. (C.S.T.) in the departmental auditorium, Navy Secretary Knox, blindfolded, will dip his hand into an historic glass jar used on similar fateful occasions of the past, and the second national selective service lottery will be off.

The lottery, on a much smaller scale than that of October 29, 1940, when 9,000 numbers were drawn, will determine priorities of service for approximately 750,000 young men registered July 1 who had become 21 years old after the first draft registration last year.

Secretary of War Stimson had been scheduled to take the first capsule number from the 800 in the big jar, but selective service officials said he would be unable to attend and the honor passed to Secretary Knox.

The total of numbers in the jar was determined on the basis of the highest number of registrants in any one of the nation's 6,500 selective service districts. The record, 661, was set in the Sparrows Point district near Baltimore, Md.

In addition to the 661 officials decided 139 "safety numbers" should be drawn to take care of those 21 year olds who were out of the country on July 1 or who for some other reason may register late.

Nine Million Men Fight As Nazis Declare Big Decision Approaches

By the Associated Press A "tremendous struggle for a decision" between 9,000,000 German and Russian troops was reported by Adolf Hitler's high command Thursday, and Nazi dispatches claimed what appeared to be a complete 90-mile break through the center of the Stalin line.

Justly hinting at a climactic turn in the 26-day-old campaign, the German high command asserted that the Russians now were throwing their last reserves into the conflict in a desperate attempt to stem the Nazi blitzkrieg.

DNB, the official German news agency, said Hitler's invasion columns, storming through the vital central point guarding Moscow, had captured Smolensk, 230 miles west of the Soviet capital.

DNB also reported that Polatsk, detoured by onrushing panzer spearheads, had been taken later by enveloping tactics.

A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Moscow late today said Smolensk was still in Russian hands this morning. The German claim of its capture was made at that time.

Men Will Go To Work On Office Building First

Project Will Be Fully In Stride Next Week; Spur Track Is Planned

Construction on the $5,000,000 Advanced Twin-Engine and Bombardier Training Center will start Thursday afternoon, U. S. Army engineers said.

Instructions to proceed with the big program were received by both the engineers and executives of the general contracting firm which will do the work.

Lumber for office buildings for both contractors and the Army probably will be taken to the Military Reservation and work started in the structures immediately. Plans have been perfected and mechanics obtained for the first work.

Next week, work will get fully underway, executives indicated. Meanwhile, engineers were completing field work.

Open Headquarters Cage Brothers and F. M. Reeves and Sons Inc., are general contractors for the development. They have opened headquarters in Hotel Scharbauer and a number of their executives including F. M. Reeves, O. C. Hallmark and Felix Reeves are here.

Representatives of the Texas & Pacific Railway were here completing arrangements for construction of a spur track from the railroad's main line to the Military Reservation. Indications were this job would be completed without delay.

Working out final details with a corps of engineers are Captain R. J. Harrison of the U. S. Army Engineering Corps, engineer in charge; R. H. McCulloch, chief engineer, and executives of the construction firm.

Will Push Work Once the job is started, no delay is anticipated and every precaution has been taken to push the work on schedule.

Approximately 200 buildings will be erected on the Military Reservation just west of Midland's airport, leased to the Army for the air training center. It will be a city complete with its own utilities.

Meanwhile, city officials and executives of the Midland Chamber of Commerce continued work on the housing problem, arranging to take care of persons who will be employed on the project.

Texas Oil Industry Studies Giving Day's Flow To British

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas oil men Thursday pondered a proposal to donate one day's flow of crude from Texas wells—in excess of 1,000,000 barrels—to Great Britain.

Presented at a statewide oil proration hearing Wednesday, the plan, originated by John F. Camp, San Antonio operator, was assured sympathetic cooperation of the Texas Railroad Commission provided it was approved by Federal Oil Coordinator Harold Ickes and the British government.

At the hearing members Jerry Sadler and Olin Culberson of the commission, bitterly condemned "selfish interests in the oil industry, which, they asserted, were interfering with efforts at cooperation in national emergency.

Sinclair-Prarie Oil Company representatives requested greater allowable production in the North, West-Central and Panhandle Texas areas and, with others, pleaded with the commission not to shut down the East Texas field because of a recent material decline in bottomhole pressure.

Would Eliminate Day Representing camp, R. H. Cuyler of Austin told the commission and assembled oil industry representatives that the oil for Britain plan would have a tremendous moral effect in Britain and Germany, showing the nations Texas could produce as much oil, under proration restrictions, in three and a half days as Germany could in a year.

"The plan calls for the elimination of one of the regular shut-down days," Cuyler explained. "It is not impractical. It has the approval of President Roosevelt, Lord Halifax, Governor O'Daniel and many Texas operators.

"The federal treasury department, at the suggestion of the President, has volunteered to collect the oil and British officials have assured us they want it and will pick it up at designated coastal points."

The More Horrible Thing

It is almost 80 years, now, since American homes have crumbled beneath the juggernaut of war, since American blood shed in battle has stained American soil.

True, since 1864 the United States has had two wars, one fought in Cuba and at sea, the other in France and on the sea. Those who fought in them can testify to their horrors.

Yet war in the midst of one's homeland and in the peaceful streets and lanes of daily life is more horrible still. The tumbling flood of European dispatches for the past two years—nay, for the past 10 years, has numbed our consciousness of what war means today.

There has been no lack of accurate and flavorful reporting of today's war. Yet sometimes a more personal word comes that lights up a little sector of the vast war scene vividly.

Here is one, just received from a young Englishman. Too young for the World War, he was mild and idealistic, and felt that even Munich was justified in the hope of avoiding the holocaust that brooded over Europe and in his own gentle soul. But in the hour of peril at Dunkirk, he volunteered just the same, and was doing patrol work in a small craft in English waters. "We've had our share of mining, bombing and machine gunning," he writes, "and we've answered back as best we could. . . . Last August I was glad to be actively hitting back because a random bomb ripped my lovely mother to shreds. My father was hurt, and I was recalled from sea to cope with the situation (in 72 hours).

"I found her hand, and some pieces, and these we buried in a sack. I was glad to get back to sea. Perhaps it was merciful; it was quick, and she sorrowed too deeply with the sorrowful. Another year of anxiety (to be followed, probably, by another similar year) would have broken her. . . .

"I do not believe that, even granted successful initial invasion, Hitler could ever conquer this country. He cannot win without invading and conquering this country. If he cannot thus win, then he must lose and be finally washed up, for we shall never let up."

How many millions of people, gentle people without hate in their hearts, have been thus converted into people who will never let up?

Enough, one trusts. For in Warsaw, Rotterdam, Coventry, Athens and Minsk, millions have seen and felt what the writer of that letter has seen and felt. Yet they know that there is a thing more horrible even than those they have seen—the prospect of living on their knees to the most ruthless, brutal regime ever to menace the modern world.

They, like the man who can never forget what he buried in a sack in England, will never give up.

Helping Hand And Mailed Fist

Priorities needed for the building of a $45,000,000 steel mill for Brazil are going to be provided.

That underlines deeply the contrast between United States and Nazi policies. The United States is going to some pains to help build up a new industry in Neighbor Brazil, an industry that may even eliminate some of our own present exports of steel products to Brazil. The Nazi plan is to de-industrialize conquered countries, making them mere hewers of wood and drawers of water for a European industry completely centralized in Germany.

Is the U. S. policy foolish? We don't think so, in the long run. We believe we have the most to gain from the development of neighbor countries, in the making of them independent of Europe as well as ourselves. We believe that all of the American countries should go forward together; that all will be better off so that if one prospers at the expense of all the others. On that line, contrasting so strongly with the Nazi "new order," we place the American chips.

Commons Debate May Distribute Churchill Power

By Drew Middleton
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's decision to have the House of Commons debate anew Great Britain's war production may lead to a division of his powers, informed political observers said Thursday.

Statements criticizing British war production have caused serious harm abroad, Churchill said in his Tuesday address before the House, but he promised another day of discussion soon at which the government would be prepared to answer its critics. The House debated the matter two days last week following reports of chaos in airplane production, especially the servicing of American-built planes shipped to England for assembly.

The new debate was expected to bring into the open some of the underground criticism of Churchill heard in London and occasionally voiced in the press. The principal charge made against Churchill is that he has taken so much power to himself that no single program receives his full attention.

There are many signs interpreted as indicating that Churchill and the government may be approaching a parliamentary crisis.

Beaverbrook is regarded as the most powerful minister in the government next to Churchill.

Cavalry Division On Demonstration

FORT BLISS, Tex. (AP)—Horsepower under steel hoods and on four legs—a full cavalry division partially mechanized for modern war—struck out into the desert of Texas and New Mexico Thursday to demonstrate its usefulness in situations that other arms might not be able to meet.

For most of the 20 years the cavalry has been here within sight of the Mexican border, sabre-carrying men on horseback have been the impressive force. Now tanks, armored cars, midget automobile and even motorcycles strike out into the desert first. Then the troops—really mounted infantry now—come up for the fight where only horses can go.

In the World War the cavalry had a machine-gun platoon. "The modern cavalry division now has as much firepower (the ability to throw bullets and projectiles from a variety of weapons) as an infantry division and it can move three times as fast over terrain where trucks can't go," Major General Innis P. Swift, commander of the First Division, said.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Lieutenant Rollins resolves to get better acquainted with the pretty nurse, learns her name is Joan Davian. He becomes her partner in a bridge tournament aboard ship. Later they take a stroll around the deck, meet Rollins' friend, Captain Tees, who is introduced to Joan. Rollins is attracted later by an orderly, told to report to the colonel's quarters at once. There he is told that Captain Tees has just been murdered.

LIEUTENANT ROLLINS LIES

CHAPTER V

THE Court of Investigation got underway in "B" lounge at 9 o'clock the morning of Captain Tees' murder.

Colonel Stephenson himself presided and, upon his invitation, the tribunal was completed with Captain Vincent Murdoch, a former senior crown prosecutor of Toronto, and Lieutenant Harry Miley, who had also been a lawyer.

Captain de Watt, medical officer, testified that he had been summoned to "A" deck about 3 o'clock that morning.

"I found Captain Tees lying just inside a door under a corridor light. I was informed by the orderly officer then on duty, Lieutenant Timmins, that he had found the captain on the deck. It was pitch black and due to black-out regulations he could not use his torch. They carried the captain inside and summoned me."

"It was almost immediately evident that Captain Tees was dead. "The Neceaded had been stabbed in the throat. It was a strong plunge and . . ."

Captain Murdoch interjected a query: "How did you establish the time of death?"

"Oh, pardon me." The M. O. lapsed from his dull professional monotone and displayed enthusiasm for the first time. "I had reported verbally to the colonel shortly after the body was discovered and found that you were not aware of the details. I arrived at the conclusion from two findings. In the first place there was an absence of post-mortem lividity . . ."

"Please explain," interrupted Lieutenant Miley.

"By post-mortem lividity I mean the ashen hue of death which would normally be evident in such a cold temperature with- in approximately four hours after death at Miley who nodded.

"The absence of that lividity indicated that the deceased had died some time less than four hours before. My second finding was made after the orderly officer described the position of the body as he found it. The deceased was lying face down on the deck with his arms beneath him.

The stern was damp with spray, and it dipped and rose with even measure.

"I tested the armpits and found definite traces of warmth although the rest of the body was cold, quite cold. The armpit warmth, in view of the body's general coldness, told me the deceased had been dead quite some time less than four hours. The total absence of post-mortem lividity made the opinion definite. The stiffening would indicate about two hours. So, putting everything together, I can positively state that the murder must have occurred at or close to 1 o'clock—or two hours previous to my being summoned."

"Captain de Watt paused and looked at the three officers with a tinge of professional pride.

"Your conclusion seems entirely logical," commented the colonel. "Now did you, by any chance, think of testing the victim to determine whether he had been drinking?"

"Yes, Sir, I conducted a test shortly afterwards in the surgery of the ship's hospital . . ."

"Please describe that test, Doctor."

Captain de Watt shifted his position and began to describe in minute detail the pathological tests he conducted to ascertain whether the victim had been drinking. Even some of the more seasoned officers in the room were forced to wince occasionally.

When he had finished his vivid description, the colonel inquired, "As a result of these tests, were you able to arrive at any definite conclusion?"

"Yes, Sir."

"What was that conclusion?"

"The deceased had positively not been intoxicated nor was there any evidence of his having taken any alcoholic drink for several hours previously."

Lance Corporal Slater, owner of the bayonet that had figured in the killing, told his story in forthright fashion. He had been on sentry duty on "A" deck until midnight. About 11:20 the ship's roll was sickening him, and he had taken off his overcoat, hanging his belt with scabbard and bayonet attached over the deck railing. In plain battle dress, he had walked to the fore end where the lashing spray seemed to help him. He stood there for about 30 minutes before returning to where he had left his equipment.

Then he noticed the bayonet was missing. Thinking it had slid across the deck into the trough by the rail he went to look then noticed, for the first time, a man's figure in the shadow of a lifeboat. The wind was howling loudly and apparently the man—seemed to be an officer—hadn't noticed the sentry. Slater, on the other hand, figured he might have to explain the lost bayonet by admitting he hadn't been doing his full "rounds" and decided to let the bayonet go until first thing next morning.

LIEUTENANT GREGORY ROLLINS was haggard—his usual zip seemed to have gone from his step as he marched into the lounge and saluted the court.

"You were speaking to the late Captain Tees about 11:30 o'clock last night, right?" the tough colonel spoke with astonishing gentleness.

"Yes, Sir. I was getting a breath of air at the stern after playing in the bridge tournament and Captain Tees came along, jokingly asking whether I had ever heard of 'Lights Out.' We walked together to the nearest door and stood inside chatting for a couple of minutes before I left him . . ."

"Pardon me, Mr. Rollins," Murdoch interrupted, "but were you standing in the shadow of a lifeboat?"

"No, Captain, I walked directly from the door to the open space of 'A' deck at the stern. And Captain Tees and I walked directly from the stern to the door."

Miley dropped a question. "You were alone at the time Captain Tees found you?"

Rollins paused for a split second. "I was alone," he lied.

S. L. Moore, who lives on the farm five miles northeast of here, said he saw the children, Jackie Lucile, 2, and Wanda Jean, 10 months, in the back of the car tearing up paper five minutes before he noticed the fire.

Wheeler And Truman Suggest Compromise For Draft Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Wheeler (D-Mont) and Truman (D-Mo) Thursday suggested compromise draft legislation which would permit selections now in service to leave the army after one year but require those inducted in future to serve for a longer period.

The proposal was advanced by the two senators separately as the Senate military committee called General George C. Marshall, arm chief of staff, to discuss an administration bill which would remove entirely the present one-year limit on the service of the selectees, members of the national guard and reserves on active duty.

Truman, chairman of the Senate defense committee, expressed belief that the highly controversial legislation could be passed in the form sought by the administration but only after lengthy and bitter debate.

As a compromise in this situation he said he believed "it would work if legislation was enacted to require continued service by national guardsmen and reserves and by all selectees inducted in the future."

Coupled with enactment of this requirement, he continued, should be an appeal to the patriotism of selectees already in service for as many as possible to remain there throughout the emergency.

Gives President Aluminum Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A four-point CIO program for increasing aluminum production by 1,000,000,000 pounds a year was before President Roosevelt Thursday.

Submitted by Philip Murray, CIO president, the plan prepared by the CIO Aluminum Workers of America called for creation of a joint management-labor council for the aluminum industry to supervise:

- 1—Construction of aluminum plants with a 1,000,000,000 pound capacity.
- 2—Increase production of Arkansas bauxite mines and accumulate stock piles of South American bauxite.
- 3—Train under union auspices the labor force to operate the new plants.
- 4—Ration non-defense users of electric power and put up steam generating facilities to supply power for the proposed new aluminum plants.

Behind The Headlines

By DeWitt MacKenzie

The German thrust through the heart of the main Russian line to the strategic railway center of Smolensk, Napoleonic route to Moscow and the logical gateway to that city, has created a grave threat not only to the capital but to the structure of the Stalin defense.

From the Bolshevik standpoint the saving grace of the position lay in their continued power of resistance and their claim to have flung the Hitlerian invaders back in a thirty-mile retreat in the Bzestok sector to the south of the Smolensk battle.

There is no indication, however, whether the Reds have the strength to exploit this Nazi set-back.

The situation, so far as can be judged from incomplete reports, is that the Germans have driven a deep and apparently rather narrow salient into the Russian front, enveloping the city of Smolensk which the Nazis Thursday morning claim to have occupied. A spearhead of mechanized units also is said to have raced farther on to within 110 miles of Moscow.

South And North Fights Heavy

Unless the Russian forces on either side of that salient are disorganized and lacking in striking power, the Germans are taking a chance on having this salient pinched off, thereby leaving their forces in the Smolensk zone surrounded.

The Red attack south of the salient likely represents an effort to capitalize this position, but the German command must feel fairly sure of its ground in making such a spectacular thrust.

Heavy fighting also continued at the northern end of the Stalin line in the German-Finnish drive on Leningrad, and on the extreme north in the Kiev sector, where the Nazis are reaching for the golden wheat and other resources of the Ukraine.

The Russians have made a startling move in the re-introduction of political commissars into the army, to share responsibility with the military commands. This system was discarded at the time of the Russo-Finnish war, supposedly because it had proved cumbersome and inefficient.

German Advance Costly

Any political intrusion on military affairs is, of course, a matter of horror for the general run of army commanders. This system was discarded at the time of the Russo-Finnish war, supposedly because it had proved cumbersome and inefficient.

The army's inability thus far to obtain the right to manufacture the reported secret weapon was said to have been described to the Senate military committee as a pressing reason for quick approval of the property seizure legislation.

Some committee members said they were informed the war department was experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining detailed plans for the weapon, described as a type of gun.

O'Daniel To Visit Camps And Fields

AUSTIN (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel does not plan an immediate departure for Washington.

The United States senator-elect revealed he would make a tour of army camps and flying fields beginning Thursday and continuing into next week.

His initial stop, he said, would be Hicks Field, Fort Worth.

Friday he planned to visit Camp Walters at Mineral Wells and Shepard Field at Wichita Falls.

The governor added he would spend Saturday at Camp Barkley viewing troop maneuvers.

New Secret Weapon Reports To Surface

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of a new secret weapon for the nation's land forces cropped up Thursday in connection with the administration's property seizure bill as Congress pressed ahead of two other pieces of emergency legislation—the new $3,504,400,000 tax measure and a sweeping price stabilization proposal.

The army's inability thus far to obtain the right to manufacture the reported secret weapon was said to have been described to the Senate military committee as a pressing reason for quick approval of the property seizure legislation.

Some committee members said they were informed the war department was experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining detailed plans for the weapon, described as a type of gun.

Visiting Moundmen Hurl Well; Midland Late Scoring Fails

By Tanner Laine
Fast pitching and the Monahans' Gulf softball team subdued the All-Stars, 8-5, here Wednesday night after a sharp Midland ninth-inning rally fell short.

The biggest crowd of the season watched the Gulfers serve some of the hottest pitching seen in several softball moons. Three Monahans twirlers—Whitley, R. Weeks, and Goodwin—took turns at fireballing Midland hitters.

Trailing 3-8 at their turn in the last half of the ninth, the All-Stars staged a spirited rally that tallied two runs after two were out. Two runners died on base when Dalberry flew out. Warren started with a single after Hensley and Hart had made outs. He scored on Walker's "stretched" homerun. Truelove poked a two-bagger and Pace walked but Dalberry's Texas Leaguer was gobbled up by L. Weeks, retiring the side.

The salty Monahans pitching that blanked 10 Midland batters was the difference. Two hits, one a homer by Goodwin, paved the way for Gulf's three runs in the first inning. Cochran, first up, walked, stole second, and scored on Hensley's bunted infield hit. L. Weeks flew out to Brady and then Goodwin scored Frye with a prodigious homer that sailed far into left field.

Midland countered one in the first by Brady. Dalberry grounded out. Brady walked. Willis beat out a hit advancing Brady. Brady stole home and Hardin slapped out a two-bagger. Hensley struck out and so did Hart.

Monahans accounted for two more in the fourth. L. Week's two-bagger figuring. They added two in the fifth on hits by Cochran, Frye, L. Weeks, and Goodwin. Cochran's smash was a double. Bierman doubled and scored in the sixth for the final Gulf tally. He had advanced when Raley got a base on an error.

Midland earned one run in the fourth with Willis getting a two-bagger and Hardin smacking out a bingle. Willis was caught at third but Hardin came tearing in on Hensley's hit by fielder's choice followed by Hart's double. Both Hensley and Hart were caught advancing. In the sixth Brady hit again. He advanced on Hardin's breaking hit and slid safely in at home.

After the shaky start, Big Jim Adamson pitched it out with the Monahans aces. He scattered the hits and turned in a good tilt. Pace took over in the eighth and blanked the visitors. He struck out one.

Whitley toiled for Monahans the first four frames. He gave way to R. Weeks in the fifth just for fun. Goodwin worked the last two innings. One was as effective as the other. It was the snappiest pitching seen here since E. L. Straughan tossed two-hit ball in a city league game early in the season.

South Beats North 2 To 1 In Texas League All-Star
BEAUMONT (AP)—Murrel Jones, Shreveport's first baseman who had been on the verge of greatness but never quite up to it since coming into the Texas League, picked an important spot to blossom forth.

It was the annual all-star game played here Wednesday.

Jones was the show as the South trimmed the North 2-0 to make the standing in this class: South four victories, North two.

The 6-foot, 2-inch young 200-pounder turned in a fielding exhibition the likes of which Stuart field has seldom seen.

It was a day of vengeance for Eddie Dyer, skipper of Houston's dauntless Buffs. The only all-star manager ever to be named twice, Dyer's South team had lost last season.

But thanks to Jones and some fine pitching by that sterling trio—Lefty Howard Pollet and Freddy Martin of Houston and Les Mueller of Beaumont—Dyer got the last laugh.

Glen (Rip) Russell, brilliant third baseman from Tulsa, was the goat. He fielded Willis Norman's grounder neatly but his throw was high over first in that second frame when the South cashed in for victory. Jones stepped up and lined a single to left field. Nick Gregory of Dallas held the Buff outfielder, Norman, at third with a fine throw-in. But Jones wasn't stopped. He galloped to second. Hal Epps of Houston then slashed a single to score Norman. Jones came in while the North was working a double play on a grounder by Sam Narmon of Houston.

The North outlast the South with six blows to three but couldn't bunch them properly. Only in one inning did they get as many as two hits.

Pollet got credit for the victory, allowing but one hit in his three-inning stint. Old Ed (Bear) tracks Greer, Fort Worth's ancient mound ace of big feet fame, was the losing hurler.

Light rain and heavy clouds cut the crowd but at that 4:57 a paid their way into the park.

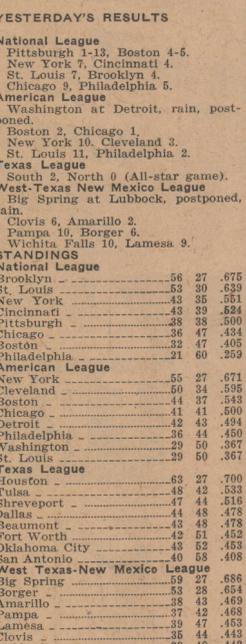

No games were played in the regular Texas League race Wednesday.

Yankees Leave Little Doubt Which Is Best American League Club With 10-3 Victory Over Erratic Indians

By Judson Bailey
Associated Press Sports Writer
The latest report on the major league races is that they probably are going to follow the same pattern that everybody was accustomed to before last year.

The powerful New York Yankees are right on the verge of running away from the rest of the American League while the National League is in the throes of another one of those push-and-pull struggle that very likely may last right down to the finish in September.

The Bombers from the Bronx blasted out a 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians Wednesday in the first tussle of their three game clash and cleared up most of the doubt about their being the best club in the league.

With Joe DiMaggio hitting a double and two singles to stretch his hitting streak to 56 consecutive games, and Charley Keller smashing out a triple and his 20th home run of the year, the Yankees read rough odds to their eighth triumph in 11 games against the Indians this season and increased their first place margin to six full games.

On the other hand the Dodgers, who had a chance to bottle up the senior circuit just as completely, were raided 7-4 by the St. Louis Cardinals and had their lead cut to three games.

The New York Giants staved off the Cincinnati Reds' threat at third place in the senior loop by whipping Bucky Walters 7-4.

Pittsburgh and Boston divided a doubleheader, Jim Tobin pitching the Braves to a 4-1 triumph in the first game and then the Pirates rallying with seven runs in the seventh inning of the nightcap to win 13-5.

The Chicago Cubs captured a 9-5 decision over the hapless Phillies in their great game, Charley Root gathering in the 198th triumph of his career although needing help. He also contributed a home run to his own cause.

In the other American League games the Boston Red Sox edged out the Chicago White Sox, 2-1 and the St. Louis Browns overpowered the Philadelphia Athletics, 11-2.

Harmon Runs Second In Football Poll To Name All-Star Team
CHICAGO (AP)—The big news of the all-star football poll is that Michigan's famed Tommy Harmon is not the leading vote-getter at this early date.

Fans throughout the country are selecting an all-star squad of 1940 college seniors to play the Chicago Bears, pro champions, in Soldier Field August 28.

Merchants Club Defeats Howe's By 16-15 Score

The John P. Howe team was just about as "blue" as the suits its players wear when Merchants Girls of Odessa beat them 16-15 in a wild and woolly city league game Wednesday night.

Howe's matched the visitors hit for hit as the game progressed but lost the tilt when two runs were garnered by Merchants in the last inning. Going into the last frame the "girls in blue" were ahead 15-14.

Mc Wheat led off for Merchants in the seventh and hit. She scored on Burk's hit. J. Rogers struck out but Gray scored Burks with the winning run. Midland retired one, two, and three in the last of the seventh.

Both clubs racked up heavy-run second innings. Merchants got 9 runs and Howe's got 3 tallies. Reeves, Howe catcher, was injured in the game. Wanda Brown, who also was injured, took Reeve's position and played a fine ball game.

Merchants Club Defeats Howe's By 16-15 Score
The John P. Howe team was just about as "blue" as the suits its players wear when Merchants Girls of Odessa beat them 16-15 in a wild and woolly city league game Wednesday night.

Howe's matched the visitors hit for hit as the game progressed but lost the tilt when two runs were garnered by Merchants in the last inning. Going into the last frame the "girls in blue" were ahead 15-14.

Mc Wheat led off for Merchants in the seventh and hit. She scored on Burk's hit. J. Rogers struck out but Gray scored Burks with the winning run. Midland retired one, two, and three in the last of the seventh.

Both clubs racked up heavy-run second innings. Merchants got 9 runs and Howe's got 3 tallies. Reeves, Howe catcher, was injured in the game. Wanda Brown, who also was injured, took Reeve's position and played a fine ball game.

Boys From Camp Will Appreciate Chocolate Cake

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

When the boys come home from training camp, make their brief holiday a feast of chocolate cake. It's almost every boy's favorite. Have plenty of thick chocolate frosting—that's the way they like it.

FOUR-LAYER CAKE

Two cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons combination baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten; 3/4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 2 tablespoons boiling water. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Combine chocolate, sugar, salt, butter, soda, and water; stir until blended and thick. Cool slightly.

Turn a generous one-half of batter into greased 8-inch layer pan. Add chocolate mixture to remaining batter, stirring until thoroughly blended; turn into greased 8-inch layer pan. Bake in moderate oven

(350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Cool. Split layers in half to make four tiers. Spread rich chocolate frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake, arranging light layers on dark layers.

RICH CHOCOLATE FROSTING

Four tablespoons butter, 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten; 1 tablespoon milk (about) dash of salt, 2 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter; add 1 cup sugar and beat well. Add egg and blend. Add remaining sugar, alternately with milk, beating well. Add salt, chocolate, and vanilla, and beat until smooth.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Canned tomato and grapefruit juice, scrambled eggs, wholewheat toast, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Toasted cheese sandwiches, shredded cabbage and apple salad, frosted cup cakes, tea, milk.
DINNER: Fried fish filets, tartar sauce, parsley potatoes, green peas, lettuce and radish salad, raspberries and cream, four-layer cake, coffee, milk.

West Texans Take Off At Capital To Hobnob

WASHINGTON (AP)—The weight of the world may be on the shoulders of officials here, but occasionally in the midst of the present tension private hotel suites in the capital are the scenes of good old "bull sessions."

A group of West Texans, including Representatives Ewing Thomson of El Paso and South of Coleman, enjoyed such relaxation recently after a day of conferences and committee hearings. They were up in the rooms of C. B. (Dutch) Wardlaw of Del Rio; Price Maddox of Sweetwater; J. T. Davis of Sterling City and other wool men.

Prices on wool, progress of the war and other such topics were temporarily put aside to recall the taste of food around a campfire and the worries of a motorist over Texas highways twenty years ago.

CHINTZ IS VERSATILE

Chintz is one of the most versatile of summer fabrics. The woman who is clever with a needle will find innumerable uses for it. Draperies and slipcovers, of course, and afternoon porch frocks, play suits, clever aprons, house coats, glamorous evening gowns, as well as children's dresses and pinafores. Be sure, however, that the chintz you purchase is the type with a permanent glazed finish and will launder perfectly.

A DOUCHE POWDER

That is Refreshingly Cleansing!

Worry-And-Whine Girl Puts Damper On Any Gathering

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Staff Writer

During summer holidays and long weekends it's the truly bright girl who knows when to relax and stop worrying about not being able to have her hair done, whether a chip in her nail polish can be covered, or the fact that the hot water isn't exactly hot.

Being perfectly groomed is the ideal state, of course. But there's one thing worse than being haphazardly groomed. And that is being a wet blanket on any party simply because the bathroom in the summer hotel or tourist lodge is a makeshift affair or the laundry facilities at a summer resort or camp aren't like they are back home.

It's better to wear a wrinkled blouse with your slacks than to be peevish about the fact that no iron or ironing board was available for pressing. It's better to let your hair be stringy or to cover it up with a scarf than to complain about looking a fright during a picnic.

If fishing and helping with the dishes around camp ruins your nail polish, remove all of it and give your nails a rest for a couple of weeks. Don't refuse to apply an insect-repellent unless you are one who can let mosquitoes chew at you without complaining. Better use an insect-repellent than to be swatting at your arms and stewing about the primitive life for hours on end.

DON'T BE TOO FUSSY

No woman is more irritating than the one who agrees to take a long drive on the chance that it will be possible to find a place to sleep at the other end and then complaining because the accommodations are a bit just so-so. The beds may be hard, the bathroom old-fashioned, but the good sport grin and makes the most of it rather than complain and make everyone else miserable. She knows that it won't kill her to sleep badly for a night or two or even to go without a bath in a tub for a day.

RUFFLED ACCENTS

Deft accents, such as ruffling, add importance to the plainest of clothes. So, if you're out to keep the budget well balanced and, at the same time, make the most of your clothes, get hold of some modern sewing equipment and do a bit of ruffling. The fabric need not be expensive and an hour or two of leisurely stitching will turn out flattering results. If you never used the ruffler attachment, your local sewing center can instruct you. For a basic black sheer, try a three-tiered ruffled jabot of sheer cotton tricked out with velvet streamers; or doll up last year's print with a ruffled or pleated peplum, using either matching or contrasting fabric. The same attachment makes pleats and ruffles. Even the plainest of collar and cuff sets can be dressed up with wide or narrow pleated edgings.

LAUNDRY-SAVING IDEAS

For breakfast, luncheon or dining in the garden, gay place mats make charming table settings and cut the laundry bill. Mats and matching napkins can be quickly and easily made from any bright-hued cotton material that will fringe easily. Or, if you prefer, houseware departments show wide varieties in design and material of place mats that require only wiping off with a damp cloth to keep clean.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

The week-end host, as much as the bridegroom is the Forgotten Man.

Every person who goes visiting has a pretty good idea—whether he follows it or not—of how to act in order to charm his hostess, and win himself a return engagement.

He knows because he has been told over and over what kind of gift to take a hostess, how to respond to "Wouldn't you like your breakfast in bed?", and how soon to write a bread-and-butter letter. He knows all that and a lot besides about pleasing the lady of the house.

But nobody has ever thought it important to tell a guest how to make his host happy. Apparently it has never seemed to matter to anyone whether the host was happy or not.

Perhaps there would be fewer men who groan, "Do we HAVE to have guests for the week-end?" if somebody had thought up—and preached—a few ways of making life more pleasant for the long-suffering host. So here goes.

Take HIM a present, too. It may be revolutionary, but he would get just as much pleasure out of a half a dozen golf balls as his wife would get out of the most modernistic flower container.

How to Make the Host Happy. Don't make cracks about his carving. In fact, don't pay any attention to his carving at all. Seem entirely oblivious to the fact that he is struggling with a bird or roast and he'll be eternally grateful.

Be just as admiring over the neat way he has arranged his basement or converted his closet into a photographer's darkroom as you are over the way his wife has coaxed her flowers to bloom or planned a pleasant living room.

Find out what radio programs he listens to regularly, and see that he gets to listen to them—company or no.

Don't monopolize his favorite chair all week-end, or leave his evening paper in a mess.

Don't use the phrase "your house" only when talking to your hostess. Use it sometimes when you're talking to him.

When you are saying good-bye and praising the good meals you had, mention something HE did for you—even if it is only what good drinks he mixed.

Lift him out of the Forgotten Man class—and your host won't kick so hard next time when he hears guests are coming.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

The national men's pair championship is held each year at the summer session of the national tournament at Ashbury Park, N. J. The 18th annual contest will be held the week beginning Aug. 4.

Today's hand, played in the men's pair championship last year, is still remembered for the odd "fixing" it gave one pair. The usual result on the board was a four-spade contract by North. East opened the singleton heart. Declarer at once led trumps, and the defense could make only its two aces.

At the table where the hand was bid as shown, with North making the jump two-spade bid to show a very strong suit and South making a cue bid in diamonds. East decided it would be useless to try for a heart ruff. He took the diamond bid to show a real suit, probably headed by ace-queen, so he decided to open diamonds in order to force the guess of the finesse on declarer at once.

Declarer saw no reason to risk the diamond finesse when he could take the ace, cash the ace and king of hearts, and discard his other diamond. But East ruffed the king of hearts, cashed the ace of clubs and led a second club, which West ruffed. East still had the ace of trumps for the setting trick.

Thus the North-South pair was "fixed" by the fact that the only East player who did not hope for a heart ruff was the only one who actually got it!

Old Divinity School Offer Of New Quarters

HALIFAX, N. S. (UP)—Temporary conversion from one of the oldest divinity schools in Canada to become a "training ship" for Royal Canadian naval officers has been the surprising experience of King's College, Halifax, during the past few weeks.

Where once black-gowned undergraduates hurried to classrooms, now blue-suited second-lieutenants parade. Brogues and "sneakers" have given way to plain-toed sea boots. White-topped, peaked caps have replaced battered collegiate headgear.

The front porch of the college is the "quarter deck," the college kitchens are the "galley." The men don't go to bed in the dormitories; they "bunk in the sleeping quarters." And the "ship's" library upstairs is located on the "top deck."

Flashes Of Life

By The Associated Press

RESCUE
LOUISVILLE — Two-year-old Charlotte Vaughn gave her two-month-old puppy, Perky, a swim in a rain-filled wash boiler, walked away and forgot him.

Later, Charlotte's mother discovered the pup apparently lifeless in the water. Adapting a leaf from first aid manuals intended for humans, Mrs. Vaughn revived Perky by rolling him, tummy down, over a fruit jar instead of the customary barrel.

DEFENSE DRIVE
BEDFORD, Ind. — Gamblers in this Southern Indiana City will do their bit for national defense.

Justice of the Peace J. C. Stapp today instructed authorities to destroy 19 slot machines and put any aluminum found in the devices into the city's pool of the defense metal.

MEDICS AT TEXAS U. TO STUDY YEAR AROUND

AUSTIN (UP)—Twelve months a year study is the answer of the University of Texas to the demand that physicians be turned out in greater numbers without reduced efficiency.

The order which will reduce the university's medical college course from four years to three years was made by the board of regents.

The medical school of the University of Texas is situated on Galveston Island, where many people go to spend summer vacations, so the summer study will be no hardship to the students.

Indian Tribe Lives In Arizona Hideout

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (UP)—An actual "Shangri-La" is located in a remote and inaccessible branch of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

According to J. W. Hoover, professor at the Arizona State Teachers' College at Tempe, more than 200 members of the Supai Indian tribe of Arizona live in this hideaway, and their only contact with the outside world is by the postman's weekly trip over the 30-mile trail.

Penitentiary Will Relieve Sing Sing

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—The state's second largest prison, Green Haven, will be ready for occupancy this fall to take convicts from century-old cells in the "big house" at Sing Sing.

Ironically, the structure is only a few miles from the summer home of New York's District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. It is even closer to the estate of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and only a half hour drive from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park home. Poughkeepsie is the nearest large city.

The buildings cover 50 acres and are on the site of old Camp Whitman, where thousands of infantrymen were trained during the World War.

To Have 2,000 Cells

"This new prison will do much to relieve congestion in our prisons, especially in Sing Sing, where it has been necessary to use a more than century-old cell block," Correction Commissioner John A. Lyons said.

Boosts East Texas Field At Conclave

WASHINGTON, (AP)—State Senator Joe Hill of Henderson seized the opportunity and put in a big plug for the East Texas oil field before a group of 800 petroleum leaders in conference here recently.

Petroleum co-ordinator Harold Ickes had addressed the group asking for their support in mapping out a program for the oil industry in the national defense program. Following several addresses the conference was thrown open to a general discussion, with suggestions popping up right and left as to means of coping with a threatened shortage of fuels on the east coast.

When he got a turn at the microphone to speak over the auditorium's public address system, Senator Hill shouted over the constant rattle of group conversations:

NEW YORK (AP)—There is hardly an amateur athlete in the United States who hasn't strained muscles in the hope of winning a spot on an American Olympics squad but curiously enough, if the International athletic carnival should ever be resumed, one competitive sport—figure skating—would suffer from a shortage of entrants.

Virtually all of the figure skating competitors in the last Olympics have turned professional—and youngsters who had high hopes of representing their various countries in winter sports have currently put dollars above medals.

Since Sonja Henie turned professional and put figure skating carnivals in the big money bracket, most of the former Olympic candidates work for her.

Medical Association Asks University To Retain School Head

FORT WORTH, (AP)—A resolution urging University of Texas regents to retain Dr. John W. Spies as dean of the University's medical branch at Galveston was dropped Wednesday by the executive council of the Texas State Medical Association.

The council said it believed that retention of Dr. Spies, slated for removal from the deanship shortly, "essential to the proper development of the medical branch of the university and the performance of its functions in connection with national defense, the public health, and the welfare of the public."

The council also applauded the decision of the regents to adopt a four quarter system of instruction at the branch to help the supply of medical officers for defense needs.

Proposed a liaison committee be set up to extend counsel and advice in University of Texas matters concerning the medical profession.

New Government Palace In Capital Has 'War Department' Over Portal But It Houses Only Part Of Offices

By Peter Edson Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Your government is now moving into another new white limestone palace building in Washington—a little $10 million job that is naturally the last word in office buildings.

When functioning normally and without benefit of war hysteria, your Uncle Sam doesn't build things on any other basis than the last word and it is the aggregate of all these fast word buildings which makes Washington the city it is and gives you the pride you have in your nation's capital whenever you visit it.

This new building has "War Department" over the door but don't let that deceive you. It won't even begin to house the Army's office here and it is really only a third of a building. The War Department originally asked for $26 million to complete the job, but having filed the request in one of those psychological moments when congressmen were feeling a little economical, the good solons said, no, they couldn't have the whole $26 millions, but here were $10 millions to build one wing, and we'll see about the rest later.

Consequently, it's this one wing—this mere shack, this lean-to, this dinky little H-shaped seven-story, air-conditioned quarter-million square foot addition, capable of holding only 2500 employees—that is nearing completion. The government has title to two city blocks back of this wing where the other two-thirds of the building will go eventually.

This new wing will be the roof over the heads of only two or three departments of the War Department, and maybe they won't be able to get all of them into it. Tentatively, Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and his staff will occupy two floors, and the chief of engineers, Major-General Schley, and his staff will occupy three, leaving two floors unassigned.

All Is Confusion
Right now the building is in that mad state of confusion that characterizes moving day wherever you find it. The building isn't completed but such is the demand for office space in Washington that they're moving in anyhow. That happens regularly in Washington.

Under these happy conditions, building engineers and construction men roam the halls, telephone men squat in every other office, push-button cords are strung up to wherever it is push-button cords go, sounds of pounding echo down the long corridors, and practically every sentence spoken begins with the two most forlorn words in the English language, "Where is—" When uttered in Washington they have a particular significance. Half the resident population dealing with matters governmental goes around asking the other half, "Where is—?" Sometimes they trade sides and the game goes on as before.

One ingenious feature is the system of private hallways so they can run into each others' offices for conferences.

This new War Department wing is just around the corner from the old Munitions building where Secretary Stimson will continue to hang his hat, and is right next door to the apartment house which was taken over as headquarters for Selective Service.

New Invention May Help Wear Of Tires

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Two Kansas City mechanics believe they can increase the wearing qualities of airplane tires by at least 10 times with a simple invention.

With their device, which they have used in extensive tests, they simply start the wheels of an airplane spinning while the ship is preparing to land. The spinning reduces friction, minimizes the danger of blowouts and increases the life of the tire.

The inventors, P. E. Wolverton and C. R. Hughes, thought of the idea two years ago, but it seemed so obvious that they didn't apply for a patent until the extensive research convinced them that it actually was practical.

The device transmits power to the wheels through a flexible cable, either from the plane engine or from auxiliary electric or hydraulic motors in the plane. According to Wolverton each type of power has proved satisfactory.

Counsel Informs Italian Seamen Seek New Trial

HOUSTON, (AP)—Twenty-three Italian seamen, convicted on a federal charge that they disabled their vessel, the freighter Mongolia, will seek a new trial, defense counsel said.

Homer L. Loomis of New York, attorney for Capt. Ernesto Ranise and the crew of 22, gave notice after the jury verdict Wednesday that he would file a motion for a new trial when sentence is passed.

Federal Judge James V. Alfred will sentence the men Saturday.

The conviction was on a four-count indictment charging the 23 with conspiracy to injure their vessel and with damaging the ship's motive power.

Government testimony asserted $180,000 damage was done to the Mongolia's machinery before the ship was seized March 30, as it lay in the Houston turning basin.

The defense, attempting to draw a distinction between damaging the ship and damaging its safety, argued the seamen made no attempt to imperil the safety of navigation in Houston waters or to cause damage to the ship itself, but sought to immobilize it.

DENVER AMPHITHEATER READY AFTER FIVE YEARS

DENVER—(UP)—Denver's great open-air amphitheater at the foot of the Rockies—the immense theater of the Red Rocks—is complete after nearly five years of work. The project cost approximately $2,500,000, and the sloping, rock-surrounded seating area has facilities for 10,000 persons.

PENSIONERS ASK RETURN TO OLD FOLK'S HOME

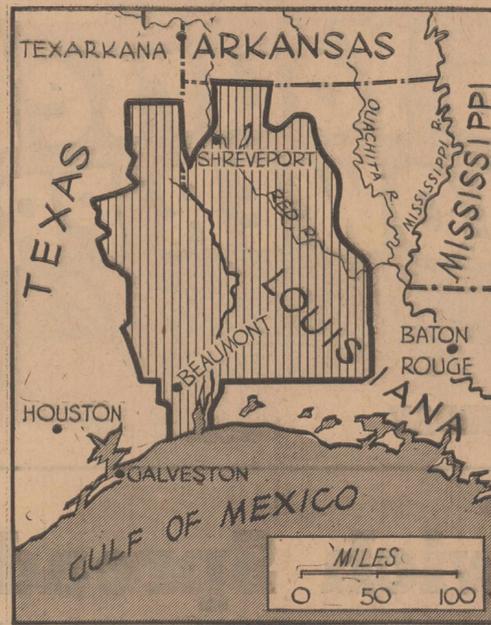

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—"Be it ever so humble," even though it is the Jackson County Home for the Aged—"there is no place like home" to some of the folk who once made the county institution their abode.

Judge Fred W. Klaber, of the western district of the county court, said he had received letters from several former inmates who had asked that they be allowed to return from homes made possible upon acceptance of old age pensions.

Will Wage Great Mimic War

By NEA Service
The greatest military maneuvers in history will be held in September in the areas of Louisiana and eastern Texas mapped above.

Nearly one-third of the U. S. land forces—472,000 men, 60,000 trucks—will take part in war games covering 15,000,000 acres of ground and costing close to $1,000,000.

Opponents in this tremendous make-believe battle will be the Seventh Corps of the Second Army and the Fourth, Fifth and Eighth Corps of the Third Army. Headquarters of the Second Army will be at Shreveport, La., of the Third Army at Lake Charles, La.

The "exercises" will be directed by the Army's G. H. Q., assisted by the headquarters staffs of the First and Fourth Armies. The maneuvers will show the degree of efficiency attained by the regulars, National Guard and trainees.

Divisions of the Second Army which will take part include: the 5th, 6th, 27th, 33rd, 35th—all infantry—and the 2nd Cavalry Division. Third Army divisions taking part are: the 2nd, 4th, 31st, 32nd, 34th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 43rd, 45th—all infantry—and the 1st Cavalry Division.

In addition, the following will take part and will be assigned to the conflicting armies by G. H. Q.: the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions, the 1st Tank Group, the 191st, 192nd and 193rd Tank Battalions, one squadron each of the 3rd Bomber Group, 22nd Bomber Group, 8th Pursuit Group, 31st Pursuit Group, and the 501st Parachute Battalion.

Colorado Gold Camp To Recapture Glory

CENTRAL CITY, Colo. (UP)—This old time Colorado gold camp, once known as "the richest square mile on earth," will recapture a bit of its past glory this month.

Roulette wheels and faro games that once were played with gold dust will be revived with vacationers taking the place of grizzled miners. Stars of the Metropolitan Opera will walk the boards that once were trod by Edwin Booth and Sarah Bernhardt. The occasion will be the Central City Play Festival.

More than half a billion dollars in gold was taken from the fabulously rich mines near Central City in the little kingdom of Gilpin in the 1850s and '60s and the men who struck it rich wanted the best in entertainment.

They could afford to pay for it so they built the Central City Opera House and to it brought the greatest actors and actresses of the day.

Objectors Find Camp Work Hard

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—Pacifism means hard work for the six young men spending a year at the American Society of Friends camp as conscientious objectors to the draft.

They hack at tough brush with a heavy knife eight hours a day, do kitchen police, wash their own clothes—and pay the government $35 a month.

They are "dog-tired" at the end of the day and go to bed soon after dinner at 8:15 in the evening.

The "camp" itself is an estate building lent to the Quakers and occupied also by members of their society. It is a large house surrounded by trees, flowers and shrubs. The director is Melvin Palmer, a biology professor on leave from Butler University.

The objectors arise at 5:45 a. m. for breakfast at 6. Then they make up their bunks and meditate on religious subjects. At 7:30 they pack a lunch and ride 17 miles to the state conservation and reforestation projects. There they clear brush from roads.
