Big Parade Features Armistice Program

Midland Tuesday observed Armistice Day with one of the finest parades in its history. Streets along the line of march were crowded with spectators who came from all parts of the vast Permian Basin area.

All arrangements for the spectacle, which featured the Provisional Searchlight Battalion, were made by the Woods W. Lynch Post of the American Legion. It was one of the greatest patriotic demonstrations in Midland's history.

At the head of the parade marched Bob Preston, legion post commander, George Heath, Midland school superintendent, James Goodman, legion Armistice Day general chairman, and Captain W. E. Wallace, representing Spanish American War veterans.

Following them came the Midland High School Band with its colors.

Major Dance Leads Troops

At the head of the troops from Camp Hulen, here on maneuvers, marched their commander, Major Claude A. Dance. The soldiers carried arms and wore steel helmets. It was a military show for Midland.

Following the columns of the soldiers came motorized equipment of the battalion, command cars, small trucks, large searchlight trucks and an ambulance.

"A" Batteries of the 69th C. A., 197th C. A. and 204th C. A., all anti-aircraft units, marched in the parade.

Headed by their color guard, members of the Midland post of the American Legion also marched in the procession. Andrews legionnaires joined them in the parade.

The Andrews High School band was in the line of march and was followed by the Midland pep squad.

Mustang Club members with their signs and a scaffold from which Hitler hung in effigy provided one of the outstanding features. Brooms were carried by one Mustang and they displayed many patriotic banners.

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts also marched in the parade.

Decorated cars represented the Daughters of the American Revolution, Midland Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Lions Club and other organizations.

J. F. Friberg, parade marshal for the legion, was on a horse, and kept the column moving in a military manner.

Zero Hour Ceremony
Following the parade, zero hour Armistice Day ceremonies were held at 11 a. m. at the Midland High School flag pole. Men stood at attention, their hats in their hands, and women held their hands over their hearts for two minutes, of silence and during echoing taps.

Two aerial salutes were fired.

The Armistice Day program was concluded with the Lamesa-Midland high school football game at Lackey Field.

Stores and offices were closed for the day and flags were displayed by business establishments.

World War I American Hero Looks Back Over Years And States Cause Was Lost When Nations Made Peace

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Sergeant Alvin C. York, outstanding American hero of the 1914-18 World War, looked back over 23 years Tuesday and told an interviewer the war was lost "in the peace."

Famed for his single-handed capture of 132 Germans, York said that "we should have gone right through Germany and conquered her."

The 53 year old Tennessee mountain farmer, here to observe the 23rd anniversary of the Armistice that closed the World War, repeated "we should have gone right through Germany and conquered her," adding "and this war never would have happened."

This time, he said, "we are going to have to take Germany off the face of the earth and put all the other little warring nations under a protectorate of the democracies."

He expressed belief Germany's only hope for victory over Britain and Russia lay in her air power.

Behind The Headlines

By DeWitt MacKenzie
British Premier Churchill's announcement that if the United States and Japan go to war, England forthwith will declare hostilities against Nippon, is calculated to make Tokyo pause for further consideration before undertaking to swap shots with our Uncle Sam.

Mr. Churchill's statement isn't surprising but it comes at an opportune moment as a warning. The soft speaking Japanese diplomat Saburo Kurosu is flying the Pacific for a further parley with Washington and it is well that Tokyo be reminded of all the dangers in the situation.

The indications all along have been that while Japan has vast ambitions she is anxious to avoid conflict with America.

However, the Japanese military party certainly has been playing along the idea that Nippon might be able to carry out further expansion by force without drawing our fire. In particular there has been much speculation as to whether the United States might blink an attack on Russia.

By The Associated Press
The 9-to-1 recommendation of the National Defense Mediation Board against installation of the union shop in Captive Coal Mines posed a far-reaching decision Tuesday for the CIO United Mine Workers headed by militant John L. Lewis.

Lewis called the union's scale committee to meet in Washington Friday, apparently to decide whether to abide by the board's recommendation or to hold out unalterably for the union shop, under which employes of the steel company operated Captive Mines would be required to join the union after a specified period of employment.

On the other side of the continent, the San Diego, Calif., area which is vital to the functioning of the Pacific fleet was hit by an AFL building trades strike which a navy official called an "open revolt" against the United States government.

There were conflicting reports that the 3,500 strikers had been ordered back to work by the presidents of their international unions.

John L. Lewis made no immediate comment on the mediation board's recommendation in the Captive Mine dispute. Only the two CIO labor representatives on the board voted for the union shop.

The AFL-affiliated representatives, the four representatives of employers, and the three public representatives formed the majority.

CAIRO (AP)—RAF bombers hammered again at Sicily and Southern Italy Sunday night. They also attacked the Italian submarine base at Augusta.

Russia Claims Larger Nazi Forces Near Moscow Trapped

By The Associated Press
Official Soviet dispatches reported Tuesday large German forces had been trapped near Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of Moscow, and that Nazi prisoners captured in the 40-day-old battle on the Central Front now appeared exhausted.

In a side phase of the bloody Russo-German struggle, the Norwegian telegraph agency reported from London that hundreds of German soldiers were blown to pieces when Nazi torpedo boats, hunting down a submarine which had sunk two German transports off the coast of Norway, dropped depth charges among troops in the water.

The agency said fewer than 200 of 3,000 Germans aboard the torpedoed liners were rescued by a Norwegian ship which reached the scene shortly after the torpedo attack.

German torpedo boats which were conveying the transport ships dashed full speed among the drowning soldiers, dropping depth charges on the attacking submarine. Hundreds of German soldiers were literally blown to pieces, the agency said.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Churchill shied at new demands raised in the House of Commons for the RAF to bomb Rome.

"Do you really think it wise to provide a hideout for that rat Mussolini?" asked Commander Sir Archibald Soubhy.

But Churchill declined to go beyond his previous statement that the RAF would bomb Rome "if the course of the war should render such an action convenient and helpful."

In the Crimea, a bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters said German and Rumanian troops were continuing to advance against the great Black Sea naval base of Sevastopol and the port of Kerch, gateway to the Caucasus.

Details of the new gains were not given. Previous reports had placed the Germans about 20 miles from Sevastopol and slightly farther away from Kerch, with the Russians fiercely defending both points.

Nations In Europe Regard Holiday As Another Work Day

By The Associated Press
Armistice Day was just another day of work Tuesday for Britain and most of German-dominated Europe, where once the powers victorious in the World War observed the occasion with great pomp and solemnity.

It was business as usual, too, for part of official Washington. The Office of Production Management, directing center of the vast effort to fill the supply chests of Britain and Russia with American war material, asked its staff to appear voluntarily at their desks.

President Roosevelt led the nation in observing the day with a short message from the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington Cemetery (11 a. m. EST), where annual ceremonies were arranged.

The British, anxious not to lose a single day in the production of vital war material, observed the 23rd anniversary of the armistice in unobtrusive fashion Sunday.

Nazis Forbid Celebration
The anonymous "Colonel Britton," leader of the British "V" campaign, broadcast from London Monday night, however, an appeal to the peoples of German-occupied countries to make the anniversary "dead march day" and thus slow down Nazi war industries.

The Germans themselves, who regard November 11 as the "day of degradation," forbade under pain of punishment any demonstrations in areas under their control.

Memorial services for the dead of all wars were arranged in Vichy, seat of the government in unoccupied France.

Pierre Pucheu, French interior minister, said in a communique that "by silence, the mediation and dignity the French people must commemorate their war dead."

Italy celebrated on November 4 the anniversary of the end of fighting against Austria-Hungary in 1918. Tuesday is the 72nd birthday anniversary of King Vittorio Emanuele, who remained quietly with his family at his country home on the Riviera.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERS FDR TAX REQUEST
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House ways and means committee Tuesday weighed a request from President Roosevelt for immediate action on a big anti-inflation tax program, but members seemed disposed to defer the problem until after the House acts on pending price control legislation.

Roosevelt Says Citizens Must Discharge Duty

Nation's Leader Heard At Services Conducted In Arlington Cemetery

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt said in an Armistice Day address Tuesday we have a duty to ourselves and to those who died to gain our freedom "to make the world a place where freedom can live and grow into the ages."

The American people believe liberty is worth fighting for, he added, "and if they are obliged to fight they will fight eternally to hold it."

The Chief Executive spoke from the circular marble amphitheater in Arlington National Cemetery at services conducted by the American Legion. A few moments before he had stood solemnly at attention while an aide placed a wreath against the tomb of the unknown soldier of the last World War.

This year's observance of Armistice Day, Mr. Roosevelt declared, has a particular significance because in the past we were not always able to measure our indebtedness to those who gave their lives in the first World War.

If the armies of 1917 and 1918 had lost, not a man or woman in America would have wondered why the war was fought, the President said.

"We would have known why liberty is worth defending," he explained, "as those alone whose liberty is lost can know it. We would have known why tyranny is worth defeating as only those whom tyrants rule can know."

Those who gave up their lives in 1917 and 1918 literally did so to make the world safe for democracy, to make it habitable, the President said, "for decent and self-respecting men."

Recalls York's Remark
"They died to prevent them," he asserted, "the very thing that now, a quarter century later, has happened from one end of Europe to the other. Now that it has happened we know in full the reason why they died."

"We know also what obligation and duty their sacrifice imposes upon us. They did not die to make the world safe for decency and self-respect for five years or ten or maybe twenty. They died to make it safe."

"And if, by some fault of ours who lived beyond the war, its safety has again been threatened then the obligation and the duty are ours."

As it was after the Civil War, so it is our charge now, the President said, drawing on the words of Abraham Lincoln, to see to it "that these men shall not have died in vain."

The Chief Executive recalled that Sergeant Alvin York, Tennessee's renowned hero of the World War, had said recently to "cynics and doubters":

"The thing they forget is that liberty and freedom and democracy are so precious that you do not fight to win them once and stop. Liberty and freedom and democracy are prizes awarded only to those people who fight to win them and then keep fighting eternally to hold them."

The people of America, their President declared, agree with that.

Two Paving Mixers Used On Big Apron Job At Sloan Field

Two large paving mixers were at work on the new apron at Sloan Field Tuesday as work pressed toward completion of the Army Air Corps Advanced Flying School.

Armistice Day was just another work day for employes of the general contractors, Cagle Brothers and F. M. Reeves and Sons, as they continued their assignments uninterrupted in an effort to give the Army the large school at the earliest possible date.

No Time For Laggards

On this day, 23 years ago, the booming of cannon, the rattle of machine guns, the killing of men ceased. Americans with all their hearts hoped that a war to end all wars had come to a sudden and dramatic stop. The German military machine waved the white flag, and the time for peace was at hand.

It was only later that people began to count the full costs of victory. So it is that each Armistice Day since the first has been for thoughtful men and women a grave one when they felt more like praying than cheering. It was a prayer that peace might continue to bless this nation, that never again would it have to drink of the foul and bitter cup of war.

Hence, Armistice Day, 1941, has more than its usual tragic overtones. Once more the world blazes. Once more freedom trembles. Once more the German military machine overruns defeated states. Once more even the most determined pacifist feels danger drawing ever closer.

It is, therefore, fitting that President Roosevelt has designated this armistice week as civilian defense week and has indicated the theme should be that the only effective answer to total war is total defense. It is not enough to build a Navy and an air armada and train an Army.

The following week is to be devoted to arousing all to a sense of the pressing need for civilian defense, and the specific ways in which each may participate. England's experience has taught that civilian defense fights fires, clears up the wreckage left by bombs, takes care of the wounded and dying, and aids in the shelter of those who take refuge below ground. This kind of work cannot be improvised. It requires patient training. Only thus can effectiveness be secured, so that, if war comes, order may be maintained, panic avoided, damage minimized and suffering eased.

Everybody is called upon to take a share in this task. There is no time or place for laggards or shirkers. The citizenry owes this debt to itself and to those who made the armistice of 1918 possible.

Today there should be a rededication to demonstrate we are not fair-weather Americans. On this day of remembrance, when the shadows are lengthening and the storm seems ominously close, each of us should say:

"I am ready. Tell me my duty and I will do it. This is my high resolve. I can do nothing less."

Dark Age Threatened

Perhaps one of the most serious consequences of the Nazis' rule of Germany and of their military victories in most of Europe is that they threaten to bring back to the Old World a recurrence of the Dark Ages when civilization was at one of its lowest ebbs and when learning was almost blotted out.

Fear of just exactly that was voiced recently by Dr. E. A. Graham of St. Louis, president of the American College of Surgeons. He said if the Nazis dominated the world after the present war, the atmosphere necessary for the growth of science and the spread of education would not exist. Speaking of his own sphere, he added that German surgery since Hitler came to power had been practically sterile.

What he said of surgery is true of the condition of all the arts and sciences. The Nazi bonfires of books they did not like were highly symbolical of the Hitler "New Order." Men's minds in Germany are no longer free. Their study is fettered. Their teaching is shackled. Professors must talk the kind of fake science that Nazi racial rubbish demands. Their art must be the kind that a one-time expert house painter can appreciate. The blight has fallen everywhere.

The German press is today nothing but a set of Goebels-edited handbills. There was a time when the Berliner Tageblatt and the Frankfurter Zeitung ranked among the great papers of the world. German science and research were once at the top. Today many of its best men are in exile. Those who remain must servilely twist facts to suit Nazi theories.

Once the German theater taught the world. Today it only holds up the mirror to Nazidom. There was a time when German literature, even in translations, loaded the bookshelves. "Verboten" today are men like Erich Remarque of "All Quiet on the Western Front," Arnold Zweig of that war masterpiece, "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," and the great brothers, Thomas and Heinrich Mann, with their masterly novels.

The Nazi regime has found none among its followers worthy to untie the shoelace of the authors who made 20th century German literature world famous. Those authors are no longer considered German. They have given a great legacy to the world, but they are disinherited by the land of their birth. It is a sad and sorry tale. It has its moral as all tales have.

Science and the arts—fine flowers of real civilization—flourish best in the warming sunshine of freedom. They wither in the dark cellar of tyranny.

dary incident on the Texas-Mexican border half a century ago.

Not more than three dozen of those early-day fighters, probably called upon to endure hardships and privations as severe as those suffered by soldiers in the European war today, are now alive according to estimates of E. E. Townsend of Alpine and others—who were there.

The storied Lower Rio Grande country nearly three-quarters of a century ago gave birth to a revolution which deposited in the presidency of Mexico no less an historical personage than Porfirio Diaz, generation-long strong man and political power.

But the same Texas soil, spawn-where in Montana, J. A. Brooks of ing ground of countless politico-military plots, also cradled innumerable ill-recorded adventures which, despite high-flown objectives culminated only in failure and bloodshed.

Such an escapade was the Garza revolution, promulgated by a fire-eating visionary, whose activities are scatteredly chronicled in the brittle pages of newspapers of the early 1890's.

Townsend says Garza's efforts still live in the memories of the following rangers, if they are still alive: Luke Dewe of Del Rio, J. P. Perkins of Aransas Pass, Charles Fremont of Frenont, Sam A. Quinn of Pasadena, J. D. Walton of some-

Gunshed Crew Meets Test Before General

MARFA (AP)—When Major Gen. George V. Strong, commanding general, Eighth Army Corps, inspected units at Fort D. A. Russell recently he asked a lieutenant how long it would take to get motor vehicles out of a gunshed if one should catch fire.

noticed, were kept on a key board in a room that could be locked.

The officer replied that three or four minutes would be required. The General asked that a test be made.

The lieutenant raced the 100 yards to the gunshed, yelled "fire" and drivers ran to their vehicles. Motors of heavy vehicles roared and in three minutes the gunshed was cleared.

The General smiled and remarked that he had a battery one time that tried the same thing and found that it couldn't do the job in that time.

The Four Aces are employing some tactics in bidding other than those published in their book. I have conferred with the boys about them, and this is the first of a series of five articles dealing with The Four Aces' new theories.

Today we will discuss their new method of handling the jump overall of an opponent's bid.

When an opponent opens the bidding a jump overall may be used either with a weak hand, to break up the reverse bidding, or with a strong hand, to invite a light raise by your partner. In their book The Four Aces advocate the weak jump, but they are now experimenting with the strong type.

This strong jump overall is most useful when you have a two-suiter, since it lets you show strength and one of your suits at the same time. In today's hand, for example, West shows his spades first and then gets a chance to show his diamonds. Thus he arrives at the easy game in diamonds without any trouble.

You will note that if West uses a takeout double instead of the jump overall, he is likely to get into trouble. North, over the double, would jump to three or four hearts; and West would have a very hard time showing both of his suits after that. The chances are strong that West would have to stab at the game in spades—which cannot be made.

Smart Accessories

Here are two practical suggestions for re-awakening a suit of last season or a favorite skirt. Either of these two smart toppers can be made from a yard or so of fabric—so, look through your remnants for a suitable material. You'll want both the jerkin and the clever vestee for your sports wardrobe—make them in felt, suede, corduroy, any bright woolen or plaid material.

Pattern No. 8037 includes both jerkin and vestee in sizes 12 to 20. Size 14 jerkin requires 3/4 yard 54-inch material; 1 1/3 yards of 35-inch. Vestee 7/8 yard 54-inch material; 1 3/8 yards 35-inch.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to The Reporter-Telegram Today's Pattern Service, 211 W Wacker Drive, Chicago.

Dunagan Bowlers Make High Score

Dunagan Sales Company's women bowlers ranked high in the recent Texas Women Bowling Association tourney in Fort Worth.

Mrs. E. B. Dozier placed in all events standing. Members of the team with Mrs. Dozier were Mrs. Gordon Bird, Mrs. A. R. Beals, Mrs. R. C. Crabb, and Mrs. Carroll Mitchell.

Teams from Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth won the Class A, B, C, and D divisions, respectively, of the ninth annual event. More than 1,000 women competed.

The 1942 event will be in Houston.

New Mexico Eleven To Play Marquette

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A squad of 30 New Mexico University gridders will leave on a streamliner Wednesday for a 1,433-mile jaunt to Milwaukee and Saturday's game with Marquette University.

Coach Ted Shipkey said many of his players would be making their first trip from New Mexico's mountains and mesas and the Texas plains. He planned only limbering up exercises along the way.

New Mexico, third place in the Border Conference, has won four lost two and tied one.

Last Year Champs Due To Repeat In Half Of Districts

DALLAS (AP)—More than half of last year's district champions appear likely to repeat as the Texas school football campaign enters its final month.

Here's the way they lined up last fall for the bi-district round: Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Big Spring, El Paso High, Paris, Greenville, Sunset (Dallas), Masonic Home (Fort Worth), Stephenville, Temple, Longview, Lufkin, Jeff Davis (Houston), Braconridge (San Antonio), Port Arthur and Corpus Christi.

At this time Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Paris, Temple, Masonic Home, Sunset, Lufkin, Jeff Davis and Corpus Christi look capable of coming through again although several of them have nery rights on their hands before they can think of moving into state play.

Sweetwater the top favorite in District 3, plays Odessa, the team now offering the greatest opposition, on Armistice Day. A victory by Odessa would throw the race into a big jumble.

Nine teams entered the final round of play with unbeaten, untied records. They are Amarillo, Sunset, Paris, Masonic Home, Sweetwater, Temple, Waco, Conroe and Goose Creek.

Fordham May Be Sugar Bowl Club

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A note of cheer for Fordham football followers, who have (or had) hopes of celebrating New Year's eve in New Orleans, was sounded Tuesday night from Sugar Bowl headquarters.

Asked what effect Fordham's loss to Pittsburgh Saturday would have on Sugar Bowl plans, President A. N. Goldberg of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association declared:

"Every team with an outstanding record has a chance to be invited to the Sugar Bowl. We choose teams only on the strength of their records. Naturally, as the season goes along more and more teams are defeated."

Marilyn Sidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sidwell, who is attending Virginia Intermont College in Virginia, is taking an active part in college organizations. She is a member of Boots and Saddles riding club, of the Dolphin Club (swimming), and of the glee club, has gained a place on the fencing team.

Until that amazing Pittsburgh affair Fordham was generally considered almost certain to be on the Sugar Bowl field, January 1.

Goldberg said he had visited authorities of Fordham and Temple on recent trips to New York, but added:

"It just amounted to a personal visit. I would have been foolish if I hadn't seen them."

"We are not committed to any team in the country and never have been."

Marriage Permits To Year High

Cupid is busting in Midland in the winter time than in the summer. Seven licenses to wed already have been issued in November. Last month 17 licenses were issued by the county clerk's office and in September, 19 were issued, the highest number of the year.

September and October figures both surpassed a previous high of 16 for June.

Receiving licenses in November were: Eugene Sulton and Agnes Nolan; V. L. Parker and Belah Toots; Francisco Gutierrez and Maria Pinales; Roy Vernon Hall and Elwanda Tabor; Elton Dozier and Lois Laws; C. B. Yarbrough and Katherine Young; and LeRoy Williams and Elena Loyd Thompson.

Marketing Service Reports 1941 Crop At 2,771,000 Bales

AUSTIN (AP)—The U. S. Agricultural Marketing service Tuesday forecast a cotton crop of 2,771,000 bales for Texas as based on Nov. 1 conditions.

This forecast is only 29,000 bales below the forecast of October, and compares with 3,234,000 bales produced last year, and 3,766,000 bales the average production in Texas during the 10-year period (1930-39).

The estimated lint yield per acre at 168 pounds compares with 184 pounds in 1940, and a 10-year (1930-39) average yield of 154 pounds.

While the acreage of cotton remaining for harvest in 1941 at 7,922,000 acres is the smallest during any of the past 35 years, and is only 45 per cent of the peak acreage of 17,749,000 acres harvested in 1926, the prospective yield at 168 pounds is well above the average recorded during the 10-year period (1930-39) and 150 pound average recorded for the 35 year period (1906-1940).

The 1941 cotton crop has been produced under very unfavorable weather conditions. It was planted and replanted between rains, and harvest is progressing in like manner. "Request extension of my A. W. O. L."

SERIAL STORY

FOR THE LOVE OF PETE!

BY BURTON BENJAMIN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Pete Laird's classmates as well as his teammates at State University have about decided that star footballer Pete, hailed as the gridiron sensation of the season, has gone Hollywood. Coach Dixie Dugan, captain George Landers—once Pete's best friend—and Pete's college sweetheart, Anne Humphreys, are convinced. Pete, his head turned by the compliments and attention that have come his way, little realizes she is using him for his publicity value. He stands up Anne twice to meet actresses. Newspaper stories link him with her, and Pete gets cocky. But the ever-true George confesses to Anne the love he has kept secret for several years. No longer popular with the team, Pete is still stellar football material, as the next big game proves.

FISTS START FLYING

THAT took the wind out of Northwestern. The team fought hard, but the rapidity of State's attack had taken everyone by surprise. Before the half ended Pete Laird faded and tossed a 30-yard strike to Socko Wonsoki, who caught the ball in the clear on the 10-yard line and loped over.

Half time found Dinty Dugan still undemonstrative. "Don't let up," he cautioned. "Two touchdowns don't mean a thing against this outfit."

State iced the game in the third period, and it was Laird who did it. With the ball at mid-field he took it on a reverse, cut through a yawning gap, tackle and moved into the open. Landers was ahead, and the two co-operated perfectly.

Dugan substituted freely in the final quarter, and Northwestern marched the length of the field for a touchdown. It was 21-6 at the finish, and the crowd fled out singing rave notices.

"Fine going, men," congratulated Dugan in the locker room. It was hot and sticky and he was perspiring. "You looked like a real team out there today."

None of the ebullient enthusiasm of the California game pervaded the room. The men dressed quietly and fled out. Laird, a fowl wrapped around his middle, was surrounded by reporters.

"Pete, do you turn professional next year, Laird?" asked Harry Grant, New York syndicate writer.

"Well . . ." Pete was about to reply in the negative. "Well, I don't know. All depends on what happens between now and graduation and how much they offer."

Pete caught Landers' sneer as he said it. "They'll like that back home, Doc," it taunted.

Pete ducked out of a side entrance, evaded the crowd and went back to the apartment. A wire lay on his desk. He opened it and read:

"STILL SORRY YOU MISSED PRACTICE? YOU WERE COLOSSAL. ALL LOVE."
STEPHANIE

"That's what I told those birds in the huddle," he muttered to himself. Practice—what a joke! He knew what to do. Why rehearse?

A note lay by the phone. "Mr. Landers—call Anne Humphreys at Delt house."
"Maid must have made an error," thought Laird. "Probably wants me to call and wrote Landers' name by mistake. What would Anne want with George, anyhow?"

BUT were there ifs? Of course not. You don't doubt girls like Stephanie. You're sure—either way.

Pete slipped into the Delt house unannounced. Suddenly a red-haired freshman shrieked too loudly: "Why, there's Pete Laird!"

Pete fingered his hat nervously as the guests whispered and gesticulated. A freshly scrubbed little shaver, probably the brother of a Delt, didn't help by pushing an autograph book in his face, and a fat old alum insisted upon gabbing about how old "82" worked against Illinois in 1910. Pete sighed relief as Anne walked up. "Can't we get out of this?" he pleaded.

"I suppose so." She nodded coldly and they escaped.

"Anne," he ventured as they walked slowly up the street, "I've got a lot to say to you."

"Why bother?"
"That's funny, coming from you," he said with surprise. "You called me today, didn't you?"

"Called you?" She laughed harshly. "I most certainly did not!"

"You didn't?" He was puzzled. "Why, there was a note saying you had called and wanted Landers to phone. I knew that wasn't right. What would you want with George, anyhow? I figured the maid had made a mistake."

"You—what?" She stopped and put her hands on her hips. Her face was crimson. "You thought there was a mistake? There was. But the maid didn't make it. I did!"

"I made it three years ago," she went on bitterly, "when I thought there was something fine and real about you. Fine and real—that's a laugh! You're nothing but a cheap, inflated football hero! You're not fit to clean George Landers' boots!"

ANNE choked with sobs as she turned and, walked back to the house. Incredulously Pete watched her disappear into the shadows. So that was it. George and Anne—together. No wonder George avoided him. He felt a slow rage mounting as he walked swiftly back to the apartment.

Landers was propped up in bed reading a magazine when he entered. He looked up, saw Pete standing there and resumed his reading without a word. Pete walked over to the bed, tore the magazine out of Landers' hand, and took off his coat.

"Get out of that bed, chum," he hissed. "You and I are going to have a little talk."

"What's the matter, sonny?" drawled Landers, sitting up and stretching. "I didn't throw away any of your clippings by mistake, did I?"

"No," growled Pete, "but you threw a pretty mean knife in my back."

"I don't get it."

"I mean Anne," snapped Pete. "You get that, don't you?"

"Are you serious?" asked Landers. He threw back his head and roared.

"Well, if this isn't the cake! What do you want, egg in your beer?"

"Now wait a minute . . ."

"No, you wait a minute." Landers wasn't laughing any more. He was livid. "I'm going to give it to you short and sweet. I've been in love with Anne for three years. But Pete Laird was in the driver's seat, and I stood by. When Pete Laird tossed away a girl like Anne for some Hollywood tramp . . ."

Pete cut Landers short with a hard right aimed at his chin, and the two flew at each other. Landers fought the same way he played football. He was wide open, his powerful, short arms waiting for Laird to come to him. Pete slapped his left in George's unguarded face—once, twice, a third time—but Landers just blinked and stood his ground. Laird tried to get in close, and Landers clouted him with a stinging right under the eye.

They slugged at close quarters. Suddenly, Pete feinted and brought up a right from the floor. It caught Landers flush on the chin. The husky captain reeled backwards, smashed into the wall behind him and lay groaning.

"Had enough?" gasped Laird. "My shoulder," panted Landers, his face twisted with pain, "can't move it. Cracked against the wall! Better call a doc."

Passing Brings Higher Scoring

SEATTLE (AP)—After a painstaking pursuit through a maze of digits and decimals, the American Football Statistical Bureau disclosed Tuesday that:

1.—Intercollegiate football among the "majors" is showing more points scored per team per game than during the last decade.

2.—The scoring increase results from an increased forward pass completion percentage rather than from the minute increase in total offensive yardage, most of which is attributable to rushing rather than passing.

The Bureau based its conclusions on perusal of figures on 1,170 games involving major teams up to Nov. 1.

It found that the average team per game is scoring 13.8 points, compared to 13.3 for last year, which in itself was a high mark for a decade. Thus, for every 100 games played, more points have been scored than was the case in 1940. Or put it this way—both teams combined in the average 1941 game will compile 27.6 points, compared to 26.6 last year.

Completion To 387
Total offense—gains rushing and passing—only shows about a yard increase per team, most of it found in the rushing column. The composite yardstick discloses that fewer passes being thrown and fewer yards are being gained in the air.

But—the forward pass completion percentage has climbed to a modern high of 387, and this, the Bureau believes, is the "steady and constant perfection of the use of the forward pass is responsible for the scoring increase."

The pass completion percentage has increased each year since the bureau starting keeping records in 1937, when the figure was 363. Last year it was 386.

On the foot side of football, the percentage of successful conversion attempts soared to a new high of 635, compared to 607 last year, while there has been a sharp decrease in the number of field goals.

Teams Punt Less
Offhand it might appear the increased success in converting extra points could account for that scoring increase, but then the shrinkage in field goals tends to indicate teams are going for six and trying to pass their way to touchdowns, rather than settle for three points.

Teams are punting fewer times per game and getting fewer yards on their spirals, while there are one-fifth more blocked punts than last year. Punting average this year is 35.90, lowest since 1937. It was 36.59 last year.

Roughly speaking, your average team in an average game this year will complete 5.64 out of 14.6 passes for 77.9 yards, and will add 141.3 yards from 41.9 rushes for a total offensive figure of 219 yards in 56.5 plays.

Daily Oil Production Rises 25,000 Barrels

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Daily crude oil production in the United States increased 25,105 barrels to 4,009,405 for the week ended Nov. 8, the Oil and Gas Journal said Tuesday.

California production was up 24,555 to 654,805; Louisiana, 6,145 to 348,295; Michigan, 4,910 to 62,840; Texas, 4,050 to 1,473,000; the Rocky Mountain states, 2,630 to 110,310, and Kansas, 1,600 to 238,950.

Oklahoma production declined 14,750 to 421,750; Illinois, 3,220 to 415,755.

Tornadoes And White Will Tackle Bulldogs

Texas Aggies To Be Handicapped For Rice Battle

By The Associated Press
Injuries to three key men was the cost of Texas A&M's football victory over Southern Methodist last Saturday.

Backs Derace Moser and Willie Zapalac and End Jim Sterling did not participate in Monday's drill, and may not be in top condition for the Rice game Saturday, coaches announced.

At Texas Christian, the situation was a little brighter with the return of Gus Bierman, back who has been out of the grid wars with a leg injury.

Kyle Gillespie also drilled with the Horned Frogs, but it seemed unlikely he would be ready to play Saturday. His leg, broken in the Aggie game, was still bothersome.

The Arkansas Razorbacks have lost End Virgil (Red) Johnson as far as Saturday's game with Southern Methodist is concerned. He suffered an ankle injury in the Rice game last week.

Maley Hurts Knee
The Baylor Bears had a long list of casualties after last week's tie with Texas. Among those ailing were Jack Wilson, Odell Griffin, Jack Russell, Jack Jeffrey, Wenzell Gandy, Ed Hickman and Weldon Bigony. The Bruins play Tulsa this week.

SMU prepared to do without Howard Maley, ace passer, in their game with Arkansas Saturday. Maley suffered a knee hurt in the Texas game.

The Rice Owls were in good condition with the exception of Bob Brunley, who missed last week's Arkansas game. He hoped to play Saturday against the Aggies.

Fullback Pete Layden, End Malhorn Kuttner and Tackle Julian Garrett were on the University of Texas doubtful list. Coach D. X. Bible of the Longhorns said their ailments were improving and he hoped they would be ready for the Texas Christian tilt.

Hundreds of South Plains and Permian Basin football fans will look on Tuesday afternoon as two hard luck District 3-AA teams, the Midland Bulldogs and Lamesa Tornadoes, clash on Lackey Field to salvage what they can of fleeting grid glory. The contest will start at 2:30 p. m.

The game is Midland's opportunity to see Gus White, Jr., the galloping gazelle of the plains country. Fast, shifty, and crafty, White is "the" Lamesa offensive. He is the third leading scorer in the conference and has run riot most of the season.

Lamesa, because of its season record, is favored over Midland, which yet has to win a ball game. The Tornadoes have won two and lost three in the district, but one of the wins was over Odessa. Also the visitors held Sweetwater to the Mustangs' lowest score this season. Lamesa, bred by Big Spring, completely swamped the Bulldogs.

A comparison of the two elevens does not indicate the tide of the fracas but shows that Abilene beat Lamesa, 6-0, and conquered Midland, 19-0. San Angelo had a hard time beating Midland 13-6 but stopped Gus White and took the Lamesans, 12-0. Sweetwater pounded over Midland 45-0 but found Lamesa a Tartar and won only by 27-14.

To Have Make-Shift Lineup
The two teams battled to a 6-6 deadlock in the mud last year at Lamesa. The Tornadoes claimed a moral victory in that tilt as Midland lost a chance at the co-crown of the district.

Lamesa newspapers say the Tornadoes will have a revamped lineup against Midland with Beck and Aslin taking over for Morgan and Carmichael, regular tackle and center, respectively.

Midland has Buddy Davidson, regular end, out with injuries and as late as Monday night, Ivan Hall, Robert Wheeler, and others were having scholastic trouble.

The Bulldogs tapered Monday with a lengthy drill. Pass! Pass! Pass! were the coach's orders. And backs, Hall, Whitmore, Wheeler, Foster and Richards, with the ends, Bird, Lester and Watson remained overtime to work on secret tactics. Center-quarterback Jack Noyes was included in the group.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.
NEW YORK (The Special News Service)—Tuesday's most thorough job of ignoring the Armistice will be carried out at Berkeley, Calif., where the Moffett Field Flyers bump into Lieut. Harry Hardwick's Tars in a renewal of the West Coast Army - Navy game. They're expecting 60,000 fans. . . . George Freedom Abrams, the middleweight fighter, got his middle name because he was an Armistice Day baby. He was born while bells were ringing, and if he doesn't exercise due caution when he fights Tony Zale here November 28, he may hear them ringing again. . . . Bill Singen, Colorado College full-back, is due to play against Greeley State in the Rocky Mountain Conference's deciding game Tuesday and then hop a plane for Kelly Field, Texas, to report to the army air service. . . . Jimmy Crawley's explanation of what happened to Fordham: "We just couldn't keep up with Jones. He's the best back I've seen this year."

Brass Ring Dept.
First report of a Pitt-over-Fordham selection comes from Durham, N. C., where sportswriter Ed Edward V. Mitchell of the Herald went overboard on the Panthers. He had watched Fordham have a bad day against North Carolina and Pitt against Duke and figured out that Fordham had a weak defense.

Today's Guest Star
Monroe McConnell, San Diego (Calif) Union: "Pepper Martin, the fiery manager of the Sacramento Solons, insists that he likes the peace and quiet of the Pacific Coast League. The funny part of it is that there is no peace and quiet for anyone when Pepper is cutting circles around the base paths."

Hot Stove Warmup
The Reds plan to send a delegation of 21 to the minor league meetings at Jacksonville, Fla., next month. . . . They have so much business pending that they'll hold a press conference before they leave Cincinnati to straighten out assignments. Rumor of uncertain origin has the Dodgers ready to give Lavagetto, Coscrant, Hamlin and some dough for the Phils' Danny Litwhiler. . . . As for rumors, Lefty O'Doul says he talked to Horace Stoneham about player business and Alva Bradley about a farm arrangement for his San Francisco Seals and before he got out of town he was listed as a candidate for two managers' jobs. . . . Pitchers with the most victories for 1941 was John Grodzicki—10 in the Canal Zone Winter League, two for the Cards and 25 for Columbus.

Junior High Coaches Practice Eleven In Defense Maneuvers

Coach Earl Killough's and Dewey Johnson's Bullpups got a thorough drilling on defense Monday as they started practice for a game here Friday with the Odessa junior Bronchos.

The first string backfield of Bobby Norris, Wilbur Yeager, Bobby Boothie, and M. L. Alexander worked behind the second string line against the first string line of Jimmy Edwards, Corbie D. Friday, J. E. Binyon, Marvin Hoekendorf, George Woody, and Ula Tisdale.

Ends Friday and Edwards got special work on defensive play as the coaches sent the regular backs circling them.

The Monday workout was long and Killough said workouts the rest of the week would be similar.

Odessa beat the Pups 13-6 last week on a last minute run.

Stunning Football Upsets In Texas And Fordham Games Shake Up Honor List And Minnesota Regains First

By Bill Boni
NEW YORK (AP)—Fordham's defeat by Pittsburgh and the 7-7 tie to which Texas was held by Baylor had their aftermaths Tuesday in the fifth of the weekly football ranking polls conducted by the Associated Press.

The Rams' first loss of the season dropped them right out of the first ten; Texas, though still undefeated, was shoved down to second place, and a full tide of favor swept the Golden Gophers of Minnesota back into the No. 1 position which was awarded them at the beginning of the campaign.

Ballots were received this week from 122 football experts all over the country, and 99 of them made Minnesota their first choice. Thus the Gophers, winners of 15 straight games, were returned to the spot they held for the first two weeks of the season and shared with Texas two weeks ago. With improving but three-times-beaten Iowa and high-scoring but four-times-beaten Wisconsin left on the schedule, Minnesota now appears a good bet to finish its second straight season without defeat and also repeat as No. 1 team in the final national ranking.

Duke In Third Place
With such a strong proportion of first-place votes, the Gophers had the most decisive margin of any poll this fall. Getting 10 points for first place, nine for second and so on, they drew 1,187 points, to only 881 for Texas, still first pick of four experts.

Besides Minnesota, only three other major elevens are undefeated and untied, and all of them made the first ten. Duke, with 11 first-place votes and 844 points, got third place; fourth went to Texas A. and M., with six and 794, and Duquesne, which ends its season Saturday against undefeated, once-tied Mississippi State, broke into the select group for the first time at tenth place.

Notre Dame, unbeaten but tied by Army, Stanford, and West Coast, stands out, which recovered handsomely from its single loss to Oregon State; Michigan, beaten only by Minnesota; Northwestern, nosed out both by the Gophers and Michigan, and Alabama, its record marred only by an early-season loss to Mississippi State, won the other berths.

Irish Play Northwestern
The Irish, impressive in handling Navy's initial defeat, were made ed up from seventh to fifth; Stanford, from two games to go for another Rose Bowl trip, from ninth to sixth; Michigan from eighth to seventh, Northwestern from 10th to eighth, and Alabama from 13th to ninth.

Standout game of the week will send Notre Dame and its star sophomore, Angelo Bertelli, who has passed for more than 700 yards, against Northwestern and its more versatile soph ace, Otto Graham. Texas will play Texas Christian. Duke will meet North Carolina, Texas A&M will tackle Rice, Stanford will meet Washington State, Michigan shouldn't have it too tough against Columbia, and Alabama will go against Georgia Tech.
