Youths Uninjured As Plane Crashes On Highway

Luck was running high for two youths late Monday afternoon when they walked away from a Cessna 172 after it overshot the east-west runway on attempt landing, clipped a Piper Pacer, posts and telephone lines and crashed on Highway 70 just outside town.

Pilot and owner of the craft was Cary Jeffrey Hoffman, 23, Amarillo. With him was a passenger, Jerry Don Coulter, Amarillo, a former Muleshoe resident.

Hoffman said he had circled the airport and on the second approach, touched down and found his brakes gone, as the plane "ate up the runway" he added power in an attempt to pull off again. The attempt failed.

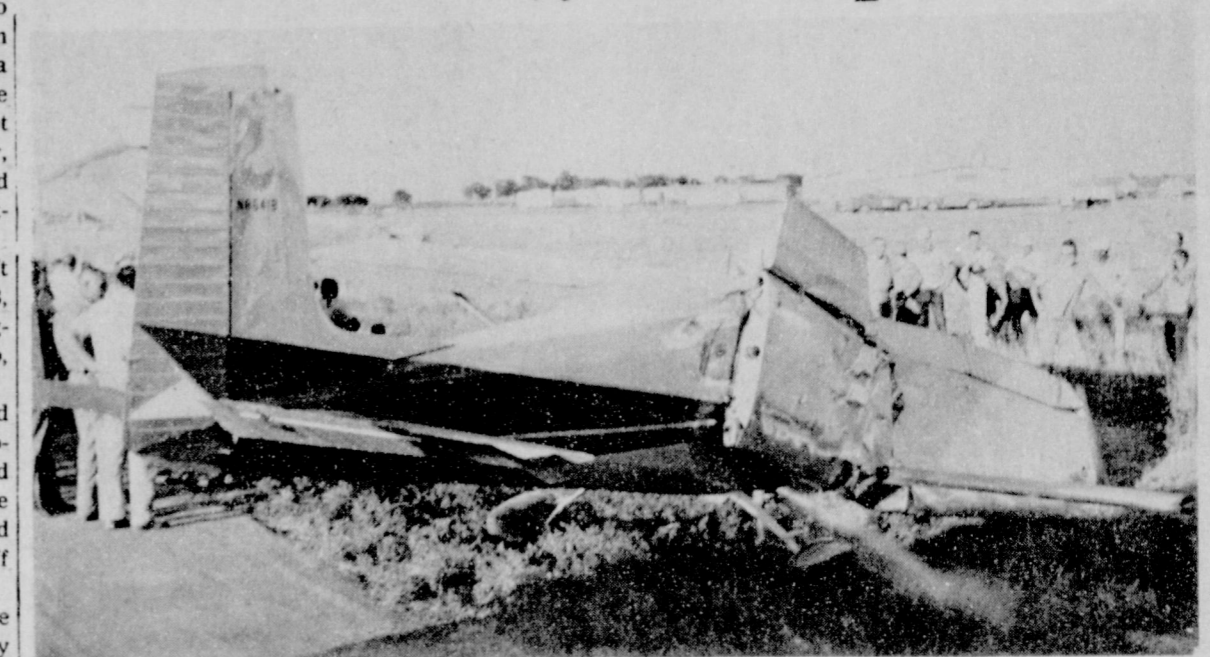

Eyewitnesses said they saw the craft coming down the runway at an estimated 30-40 mph and as he neared the end of the strip, they realized he was in trouble.

The Cessna began to drift to the right as it neared the office of Farmer's Aerial Spraying Service. As it passed, the wing shaved the top of the wing of the Pacer.

Damage to the Pacer was light. Jim Hays, pilot for Farmer's Aerial Spraying Service, said the plane continued on at a fast pace, narrowly missing gas pumps and a truck parked near the office.

At an estimated 1,000 feet away, Hoffman used full throttle and managed to get the craft to break ground slightly.

The right wing left the ground and struck a telephone line, while the left wing pivoted on the ground, before striking a telephone post.

OVER AND OUT — This is a Cessna which overshot the runway at Muleshoe Airport Monday afternoon and is out of commission due to extensive damage to the craft as it crashed on the highway. Pilot Cary Hoffman and a passenger, Jerry Don Coulter, were not injured.

This threw the plane into a 180 degree left turn and it crashed at the east edge of the highway headed back east.

Ray Daniel, a Muleshoe Flying Service representative said the pilot's landing was possibly aggravated by a 10 mph cross wind on the pilot was attempting a downwind landing.

Hoffman said he held a student's pilot license.

Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department, and a Singleton Ambulance were at the scene minutes after the crash occurred. Highway Patrolman James Freeman was assisted in directing traffic by local city and county officials until the wreckage was cleared from the highway.

The pair had taken off from Tradewinds Airport, Amarillo and were flying here to attend the wedding that night of Shirley Heney and Danny Gustream.

Somewhat shaken, they both attended the wedding on schedule.

Freeman Stationed in Muleshoe Area Since 1956

A familiar face around Bailey County is that of Highway Patrolman Jim Freeman who has been protecting and assisting citizens here since 1956. He is a native Texan, coming here from Floydada.

Their beautiful spacious home is of red brick and is surrounded by grounds being landscaped by Freeman himself. The yard is his hobby and his talent for the work is showing up in his artistic creation of a desert garden inside the fence all around from side to side separated from the lawn by a sidewalk.

Mrs. Freeman is a secretary to Superintendent of schools, Neal Dillman and has been serving in that capacity for the past four years.

Her hobby is antiquing old furniture and she has many beautiful pieces in her home which adds to the beauty of the interior decor.

The couple's children are Donna Baker, formerly employed by Muleshoe State Bank until she resigned and will marry Calvin Mason Sunday, August 9. Donna will be attending San Angelo College this fall where the couple will make their home; Kay, who is Mrs. Mack Allison, Denbigh, Va. and James Mitchell Freeman, Pampa, who is visiting here this summer with his father and family.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

ON THE WITNESS STAND
By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say.

Our courts need witnesses. A jury to find the facts. The judge to apply the law. The lawyer to tell his client's story.

Chances are you worry about stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court.

On some rare occasions you could be called upon to testify about something affecting our own standing in the community. As a witness you too may have the right, for example, not to testify against yourself in somebody else's lawsuit or crime trial.

If you are ever in such a bind, consult a lawyer of your own choice on what to do. The lawyer who called you to testify has a sworn duty to protect his client, not you. But your lawyer is sworn to keep what you tell him secret and to advise you in your own interests within the law.

Wise lawyers tell their witnesses to obey twelve rules:

1. Go to the place (say, the scene of an accident). Check your memory before you go to court. People forget and get caught up on details. But if you check what you saw and heard you are on solid ground.

2. Visit a court. Hear how other witnesses testify. It will help you see your role on the witness stand.

3. Wear clean, conservative clothes.

4. Don't memorize your story word for word. That is the surest way to sound bad. But think of what you saw and heard.
5. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.
6. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.
7. If you err - and people often do - correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail, say so. Don't bluff.
8. Tell the truth. Don't figure which side you may help. Don't identify yourself with either side.
9. Stop when the judge breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he can stop you. What you might say could end in a "mistrial."
10. Keep cool and don't sass back.
11. If they ask you: Certainly, you have talked to other people - the lawyer, for example, and yes, you may be reimbursed for certain of your expenses incurred in attending the trial.
12. Remember, without witnesses our law would fail to do justice. If you are called, be a good witness.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform - not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

AUSTIN — The "magical pill" can be both a bane and a boon. If we depend on our modern drugs to the extent that we neglect good hygiene and proper first aid, we are in effect making the pill - or wonder drugs - our bane.

There are several reasons why the prevention of infection, through good personal hygiene and proper first aid, is important. Many kinds of germs and most viruses are not controlled by chemical agents.

The germs of whooping cough, brucellosis, and certain other bacterial diseases respond rather unsatisfactorily to our weapons. Chemical agents other than antibiotics, which we had long ago do not neutralize the toxins or poisons produced by germs. Therefore, tetanus and botulism, which are associated with toxins, are still dread diseases.

The story is told about a mother of several children who thought she was "building up" her children's resistance against winter colds and infections by giving them regular doses of antibiotics. How mistaken she was.

The increasing resistance of many germs to antibiotics is causing more and more concern. Accordingly, it is advisable to prevent infection and to obtain proper care early, if infection appears.

In case of wounds and burns, however minor they may seem, make sure of proper first aid preliminary to medical care. Wounds and burns usually require sterile dressings after application of other indicated first aid.

If infection develops in a wound evidenced by local redness, swelling, and tenderness, obtain immediate medical care.

GIVE THE WORLD A NUDGE

It's been a long time ago but I remember very well reading a sentence that came from Socrates as he was teaching Plato. The world, he must first move himself. Little does it matter what you think about the ancient intellects, Socrates and Plato. "If a man would move the world, he first move himself" makes top drawer material and top-notch sense. Remember the old dog that howled into the night? No noise, no moon, no trouble about; the lazy critter just wouldn't get up off the cactus. Nobody could get him to mope himself.

As Bible instructor for several years in care of the Amarillo high schools, I had any number of students with good minds, but they would not use them. The right kind of kindle had not been discovered to spark the flare within the students. I dare say the world is full of people who have sound minds and first-rate talents they are not using. Nothing has set them on fire.

Albert Einstein was a simple clerk in an office until he got an idea of what he really wanted to do. Then he came to a bright flame in the world of mathematics and equations.

Thomas Edison was literally a schoolboy failure. An idea captured his mind. He gave himself to the idea with full explosion of mind and talent. The world is indebted to him.

Indo Socrates was right, "If a man would move the world, he must first move himself." The Chinese have another way of saying it, "The journey of a thousand miles starts with the first step."

Follow hygienic habits to prevent respiratory infection. The Pneumonia caused by a resistant germ is the dread disease it always was.

Adhere to an immunization schedule advised by your physician.

Secure medical care early for infections, but do not insist that our doctor prescribe an antibiotic, because promiscuous use of antibiotics favors development of germs resistant to them. Modern medical drugs may save your life someday, but why not postpone that day as long as you can by practicing good hygiene and proper first aid.

Fireman J. W. (Shorty) Holmes Sponsored by Farm Bureau

Bailey Co.'s Farm Bureau's president Ed Little presented a check to J. W. (Shorty) Holmes of the local volunteer fire department as reimbursement of expenses incurred in participating in a fire control training program recently held on the Campus of A&M University.

Holmes, local representative, was one of some 150 volunteer firemen sponsored by Farm Bureau who attended the 35th Annual Texas Fireman Training School July 19-25, which is conducted by the Engineering extension service in cooperation with the Texas Agency to provide instructions on fire protection and prevention as well as fire fighting techniques.

Little stated, "this is part of a state wide program coordinated by the organization aimed at reducing fire hazards and losses in rural areas."

Funeral Rites Held for Dillard

Funeral services for R. L. Dillard, 60, 802 Idalou Road, Lubbock were held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Muleshoe Church of Christ, with Ed Randol, Farwell minister, officiating.

Burial was in Bailey County Memorial Park under direction of Sanders Funeral Home.

Dillard, a former Muleshoe resident, died late Monday at Lubbock Osteopathic Hospital. He had owned and operated Del Hi Lodge for the past two and one-half years.

Survivors are his wife, Minta, and son, Clinton, both of the home.

Pallbearers were June Wagnon, Bud Gilliland, Neal Eubanks, Shorty Thomas, Spencer Beavers and J. Lewis Morris.

VIEWES and REVIEWS

Lyndon B. Johnson, President: "American citizens have a right to protection of life and limb - whether driving along a highway in Georgia, a road in Mississippi, or a street in New York City."

Philip Hauser, a Universit of Chicago sociologist: "Cities will continue to generate slums as long as there are profits made from slum property."

Charles de Gaulle, President of France: "The division of the world between two camps led by Washington and Moscow no longer corresponds to the new world situation."

Marvin Griffin, former Governor of Georgia: "I have not left the Democratic party, they have left me."

Nelson A. Rockefeller, Governor of New York: "To extol extremism, whether 'in pursuit of justice,' is dangerous, irresponsible and frightening."

Billy Graham, evangelist: "From now until November, I plan to make no remarks that could be interpreted as political."

Robert F. Wagner, Jr., Mayor of New York City: "I say once again I have deep faith in Commissioner Murphy and the ability of the Police Department to contain the situation."

I'm convinced that anybody who isn't really using his talents and powers will be bored by what he has to do. There is no real fun or satisfaction in the task until we catch on fire for what it is. If one hasn't been able to move himself, maybe, it is because he hasn't given himself to anything. Anything bigger or better than himself. The students, the salesman, the artist, the musician, and the truck-driver must remember God. God makes one happy and pleased in the heart in these areas of life that tend to be helpful, wholesome, and needed in daily living.

Frankly Speaking - A whole collection of God-given talents and powers are locked in you, but they can't get out until you give yourself to your tasks with real devotion. "If a man would move the world, he must first move himself." Give it a try!!

up and spread of the weevils into the Plains. This is an important part of the overall weevil control program. Farmers below the Caprock should begin control when infestations reach the 10-15 per cent level. Infestations of 50-60 per cent which are present in some fields below the Cap will be much more difficult and expensive to control.

BOLLWORMS. Bollworm populations are still light over most of the area, however increased egg-laying has been noted during the past week. Light infestations have been reported from areas of Deaf Smith, Mitchell, Lubbock, Gaines, Garza, Crosby, Floyd, Borden, Dawson, Motley, Dickens, Jones, Knox, Childress counties. Moderate to heavy infestations are reported in Reeves and Midland counties.

Producers should be making regular inspections of their fields for bollworm. Where control is necessary, insecticides should be applied as soon as possible after egg hatch. Timming of application can be determined only by regular field inspections.

FLEAHOPPERS. Very light to light fleahopper populations are reported from Deaf Smith, Mitchell, Bailey, Lubbock, Yoakum, Gaines, Garza, Crosby, Floyd, Borden, Dawson, Motley, Dickens, Cottle, Hardeman, Nolan, and Childress counties. Moderate infestations are present in the areas of Reeves, Jones, and Wilbarger counties.

Overall fleahopper populations have been light, although hot spots have developed in some Rolling Plains counties. Late cotton should still be checked closely for fleahopper infestations.

OTHER INSECTS. Light populations of Beet Armyworms and Present in Reeves County. Scattered populations of Careless weed worms have damaged late cotton in several Rolling Plains counties.

Lighten Up—Anywhere

In summertime, we all head outdoors—the country—the beach—or just the patio or back porch. Modern convenience foods really come in handy at this time.

One product that is especially good for fishing, motoring or camping trips, where no refrigeration is available, is Cremora. This powdered non-dairy product can be used just as it comes from the jar to lighten coffee, tea or cocoa.

It is a blend of corn syrup solids, vegetable fats and preservatives. The lightener is just as handy a product to keep on your pantry shelf as it is for away-from-home use.

For hot beverages, sprinkle the desired amount on your coffee or tea and stir. If you are serving iced coffee, blend Cremora with the hot brew before pouring over the ice cubes. Or, if you prefer, reconstitute the powdered product by mixing two parts of hot water with one part of the new convenience product and chill. Then serve it with iced coffee.

When reconstituted, it has the consistency and flavor of light cream and can be used on fresh fruit or cereal if desired.

One level teaspoonful of this lightener, which is the average serving, contains only 11 calories. Therefore, coffee lovers can enjoy their extra cups during the day without loading up on extra calories.

Rotation Grazing

By THERBERT ASBILL

Within the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District there are 11,000 acres of improved pasture land. Proper use of this pasture is one of the problems facing the operators. Rotation grazing is one method used in properly managing improved pasture.

Rotation grazing is defined as grazing in two or more tame pastures in the same year with definite recovery intervals between grazing periods. Other forage resources may be used to facilitate the rotation grazing.

The objectives of rotation grazing are to maintain adequate cover for soil protection; to maintain good vigor, growth and production of desired forage; and to obtain uniform grazing distribution of vegetation. Plants must have an opportunity to produce leaves and strengthen their root systems. Overgrazing will cause a reduction in the plants subsequent growth. For example, Blue grama, when properly grazed, will obtain a good root system reaching to the depth of 3½ to 4 feet, and when it is overgrazed, the roots only penetrate to less than one foot. New grass should be given ample time to establish itself and then should be given definite periods of rest to recover to the height at which grazing was begun.

Overgrazing is our most important problem on improved pasture; however, undergrazing may also have adverse effects on a pasture. This may occur when animals are fed heavily with supplemental feeds and hence do not have to depend greatly on the pasture for feed. As a result, the animals graze selectively, avoiding the plant that have become mature. This allows the less desirable plants to grow and crowd out the more palatable and closely grazed plants.

It has been shown that cattle tend to select plants which contain relatively high percentage of minerals. The palatability of most grasses is greatly reduced by seedhead formation. Hence, mowing or close grazing at heading time helps to keep the forage palatable.

Cattle alone graze more uniformly and will keep a pasture in better condition than horses or sheep alone, but mixed grazing generally results in the most uniform utilization of the forage. On most farms, greatest returns will be obtained from the pasture and it will be kept most productive if two or more kinds of livestock are grazed at the same time or different times during the season. To increase utilization, rotation grazing should be used. Under certain conditions, rotation grazing of permanent pastures may increase production from 10-15 percent over continuous grazing.

Good stands of grass and legumes growing vigorously from ¼ to 1-3 inches of water per day. Without rainfall, about 4½ to 5 inches should be applied every two weeks. The pasture should be watered as soon as the cattle are removed and gain a few days before the cattle are returned to the pasture. This fits in with the recommended rest period for each pasture which is between 15 to 20 days.

Rotation grazing, if managed correctly, should improve the condition of the land and produce more pounds per animal unit.

Cross Fence on Bermuda Grass to fence plot in to 4 fields. Cycle is 5 days of grazing and 15 days of rest.

Junior Leaders Promote 4-H in Town and County

The national leadership program for 4-H youth development which began primarily in rural areas now reports a majority of its members live in urban or suburban neighborhoods. According to the National 4-H Service Committee, 52 percent of 4-H members are from non-farm locations.

Aiding in the spread of 4-H from farm to city have been junior leaders, experienced 4-H'ers who assume responsibilities for helping others. The program, sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, is an activity easily adapted to either city or rural living.

Recognition awards for superior achievement will be claimed this year by scores of 4-H'ers throughout the state. They consist of gold-filled medals, and all expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, and an opportunity to compete for one of 12 national leadership scholarships of $500 each.

Participants make definite plans to help others in choosing and completing records. This results in growth and development of the teen-age leaders as well as expansion of the club program.

Junior leaders find the "must continually be alert and ready to go with new ideas," as one state award winner put it. Working with those who are learning by example provides a challenge to set an acceptable pattern.

Moving into urban areas has caused new projects and activities to be developed. Junior leaders were able to voice their needs so that new programs could be more easily tailored to their situations.

And leaders find it's fun to help, too. "Ever since I can remember," says another state winner, "it has been my ambition to be above average in helping other."

County extension agents and local 4-H leaders can provide more information about the program.

AUSTIN — Those golden years have the possibility of taking on more of a healthier hue now than ever before.

About 20 years ago the average American could expect to die when he reached the retirement age of 65. But today, 17,500,000 Americans are over 65, and the generation being born today may well be the one that can expect to live to be 100 years old.

But just living longer isn't enough. Extra years mean little unless they are healthy, active years. You can enjoy all the added years modern medicine has given you - you can keep young in spirit, body and mind - by practicing a little moderation and following some simple rules.

First, see your family physician regularly for a physical checkup. Today he can diagnose and treat successfully almost any disease or ailment, if he finds it early enough. He can also prevent many of the illnesses that may otherwise come your way.

As the years pass, you usually need less food, and there is some shift in nutritional requirements. You will need more protein, vitamins and fluids, but fewer fats and calories. No one can feel young and peppy when he's carrying extra weight.

Adequate rest is essential as both your mind and body need peace and quiet to recoup from the rigors of the day.

The mark of an "old" person is creaking joints, aching back and myriad other complaints. Keep all your body parts in good working order by using them.

Fill your days with productivity. The quickest way to "old age" is through boredom. So keep up your interest in your work and your surroundings.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

CIVIL OR CRIMINAL

Court actions fall into two classes - civil and criminal. In the civil case which takes up most of our court time, a person or a business, for example, may seek damages or "relief".

A car accident may give rise to damages claiming that the driver of the other car is to blame for the harm you suffer. The same accident could become a criminal action if an officer picked up the driver, for example, for driving while intoxicated. The civil suit covers private offenses or "torts" the criminal action, public offenses or crimes.

Centuries ago the courts sought to limit court actions. If the facts failed to fit exactly into well-worn pigeon holes, the courts could do nothing for the party who was wronged, no matter how much he suffered or how much property he lost.

As against this old common law system, a new system - equity - came about a few centuries later. "Equity" gave a remedy where the "law" gave none. Under the law generally you could not sue to prevent somebody from continuing to harm you; equity gave you the right to an "injunction" - a court order, halting the wrong on penalty of court punishment. It could prevent someone from trespassing fairly rather than fussing and fretting about yourself at home. If you want to be among the happiest people - the doers - share your time and talents with such things as raising funds for charity, getting out the vote and participation in other civic programs. Another shortcut to "old age" is worry - and worry, besides putting you in an unpleasant frame of mind, can sometimes lead to illness. Many worries about tomorrow can be avoided if you plan, and act, today.

Farm Bureau Head Opposes Supreme Court Decision

Texas Farm Bureau President C. H. DeVaney is urging Farm Bureau members to contact their congressmen in support of legislation to reverse or nullify the recent U. S. Supreme Court decision on apportionment of state legislature.

The Court ruled June 15 that

As a basic Constitutional standard, the Equal Protection Clause requires that the seats in both houses of a bicameral state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis.

In a message to count Farm Bureau presidents and policy pointed out that the ruling is contrary to state and national Farm Bureau policies.

"It violates our state policy on said. "It sets a precedent to authorize judicial action to apportion our county boards of supervisors, city councils, and all other elected officials of political subdivision. It will seriously reduce our rural representation."

The TFB leader said the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment was intended to secure the equal status of all citizens with respect to access to the courts and equal protection under existing laws.

"The Supreme Court has clearly over-stepped its authority in handing down this ruling," DeVaney said.

He noted that some 75 bills have been introduced in the House and several in the Senate designed to reverse or nullify their decision. Major approaches outlined in these bills include a Constitutional amendment reserving to each state the exclusive power to apportion membership in its legislature and a Constitutional amendment authorizing a state with a bicameral legislature to apportion the membership of one house on factors other than population.

Another approach, he said, is a proposal to limit the jurisdiction of the federal courts as provided in Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution.

on your property.

Under the "law" you could not compel a person to carry out exact terms of his contract. You could merely sue him for the money it cost you. But under "equity you can get "specific performance", that is, the court can order a contractor, for example, to sell you the exact piece of land you contracted for, master painting you paid for - and not something "just as good".

And so now private court actions are civil suits - which came under the law or under equity or criminal actions which the public, through the district attorney, is a main party.

Centuries ago two kinds of courts heard law and equity cases respectively, but in Texas today our District Courts can try both kinds. In fact they many also felony criminal cases. By cutting down on the number of different kinds of courts hearing different kinds of cases, our system of justice has simplified court machinery and made it that much more useful to the people.

The State Bar of Texas, is written to inform - not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Almost any politician can explain to you, in great detail, why he is just the man the people need.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Dear editor:
Trying to get my mind off of hot weather, politics and riots, I was scanning the inside or riot-free pages of a newspaper last night and ran across an item that has so many possibilities it should have made the front page.

According to it, there's a show at the New York World's Fair which is about busted financially despite the fact it's supposed to be very good, so the owners tried a new gimmick. Instead of selling tickets before the show, they waited till afterwards. They just threw open the doors and invited the tourists in, with the understanding if they liked the they liked the show they could pay as they went out. If they didn't like it, they didn't have to pay. The first trial was a success.

Since I don't have time to keep up with the 132 nations on earth and two national political conventions and still keep up with the entertainment world I don't know how this working out, but that's beside the point, it's the opens up that counts.

For example, take taxes. Why can't the governments, from local through state to Washington, use this system? At the end of the year they could all say, well, how much government you figure you've gotten this year? And if you find everything has been satisfactory and agreeable, you write out a check for what you think it's worth.

Any unit of government that failed to put on a good show, well I guess it'd just have to close.

It might even work with newspapers, however that's a matter I'll leave entirely to you.

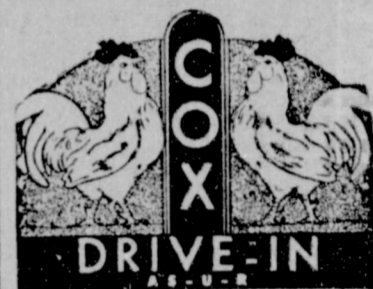

I'm prepared to say positively though that I would not be interested in extending this idea to this grass farm. It's not that I don't trust people, but, well, anything that comes off this farm that's ready to sell, I prefer cash on the barrel head.

Yours faithfully,

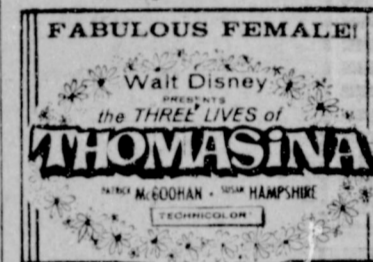

J. A.

Will you lose one out of five pounds to midge? Not this year. Not with Diazinon.

Midge damage can cost you 900-1600 pounds per acre in sorghum planted to yield 4500 pounds. That's like losing one pound or more out of every five pounds you counted on at harvest. This year, you don't have to pay that price. This year, you can use Diazinon® insecticide.

Texas college test results:

Two Texas colleges tested Diazinon for midge control in 1963. Results? Effective control. An 80% increase in yield. Now, USDA acceptance of Diazinon for control of sorghum midge means you can expect a similar yield increase.

Spray Diazinon after 90% of the heads have emerged from the boots. Then, four days later, spray again. You'll knock out the second wave of larvae and complete the control job.

Extra advantages of Diazinon

You can harvest or feed your sorghum to livestock 14 days after spraying with Diazinon. Diazinon is easy to work with—you don't need any special clothing or equipment. And, accidental spray drift to nearby forage causes no milk or meat residue problems.

Ask your supplier for Diazinon... the newest and best in midge control.

Boll Weevils Now Heavy in Floyd County

Insect populations have been fairly low in dryland cotton areas during the recent hot dry weather. Irrigated cotton is showing an increase in insect activity.

BOLL WEEVILS. Although slowed somewhat by hot dry weather, weevil populations continue a slow increase in fields below the Caprock. Infestation counts range from very light in late planted cotton to very heavy in some early planted fields. Heaviest infestations are still in the Afton East Afton area of Dickens County with the average infestation count around 35 per cent. In the Dickens area the average infestation count was 29.3 per cent. The average infestation of all fields checked in Dickens County was 15.4 per cent.

The average infestation count in fields checked in other nearby counties was Kent 17.4 per cent, Mitley 10.1 per cent, and Garza 32 per cent. Wilbarger, Harde-man, Hall, Fisher, and Collingsworth counties report light weevil populations.

Several spotted weevil infestations have been reported in the area of the Allmon and McCoy communities in Floyd County. These infestations are several miles west of the last point where migratory weevils were found last October.

It is very important that these infestations be knocked out before they spread. Farmers in Crosby County have been doing a good job of spot-spraying weevil infestation which have developed in their fields.

BOLLWORMS. Moderate to heavy bollworm infestations are reported from Pecos, El Paso, Hudspeth, and Martin counties. Infestations are generally light in other counties reporting although some hot spots have appeared in fields of irrigated cotton in Collingsworth and other Rolling Plains counties. Gaines, Dawson, Howard, Floyd, Graza Hale, Lubbock, Wilbarger, Harde-man, Dickens and Fisher count-
