Democrats ready to fight President over new budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford will send Congress a $394.2-billion budget Wednesday, but congressional Democrats are already attacking it and marshaling their strength for imminent veto battles to test their strength in the electionyear spending dispute.

The outlines of the budget Ford will submit Wednesday were made clear in his State of the Union message Monday night as he urged spending restraint and renewed his proposal for a balancing income tax cut.

In his address, Ford said the nation's condition was better now than it was a year ago but that it's still not good enough. He proposed cutting in-come taxes by $10 billion, raising Social Security levies $4.2 billion, adding catastrophic health insurance for Medicare recipients, encouraging business expansion by offering new tax incentives and providing housing assistance for 500,000 families.

A White House data sheet announcing the budget total for the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1 says the budget will be $43 billion in deficit. The deficit for the current fiscal year is estimated at $76 billion.

Democrats responded with a chorus of charges that Ford was putting what they called an arbitrary spending ceiling ahead of the needs of the unemployed in an economy just beginning to recover.

The Democrats also signaled that the forthcoming disputes over vetoes and the federal budget will bear the seeds for future political issues in this election year.

City's bond

Ford raised some political themes in his address, possibly trying out "new realism" as a campaign slogan and obliquely criticizing his Republican opponent, Ronald

The first veto dispute comes next Tuesday when the House will vote whether to override Ford's veto of a $45-billion labor-health, education and welfare appropriation heavy with funding for social programs. They would need a two-thirds vote to override. and the outcome is in doubt.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., DMass., said Ford's economic plan would throw an additional 200,000 persons out of work. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, DMinn., said Ford failed "to come to grips with the problem of unemployment and the sluggishness of our economy."

In another major squabble between the Democratic Congress and Ford, the House votes next Tuesday on a $112-billion defense appropriation that contains a ban on using U.S. funds to help any faction in the Angolan civil war. The Senate already has approved the ban.

"We must not face a future in which we can no longer help our friends, such as in Angola, even in limited and carefully controlled ways ...," Ford told Congress in the nationally broadcast address.

He said such actions as the Senate's vote for the Angola funds ban were 'very shortsighted.

Midland lawyer E. F. "Trey" Loh-mann, pledging to "restore con-fidence in the district attorney's of-fice," today announced his candidacy for district attorney in the May 1

Democratic primary election.

The incumbent, James A. Mashburn, 39, also a Democrat, has not yet announced if he intends to seek reelection. Mashburn has held the state prosecutor's post since 1965.

Lohmann, 31, said in bringing of current legal action.

House Speaker Carl Albert has said he cannot conceive of Congress approving Angola aid on the basis of arguments put forward by the ad-ministration. Albert called Ford's spending ceiling-tax reduction plan

Ford said his tax-cut and spendingceiling proposal, essentially the one Congress refused to vote last year, would provide a $10-billion tax reduction in addition to the compromise cut in effect until midyear. He said it would mean $227 a year in additional takehome pay for a family of four with $15,000 income. But Ford also proposed an increase in another tax, the payroll levy paid by employers and employes to support the Social Security system that has been running a deficit and dipping into its reserves.

Effective in 1977, the increase would raise the maximum tax paid by an employe to $1,014, up from $855 this year. All but $49 of this proposed hike might occur anyway under automatic provisions of present law.

Ford also proposed a revision in the Medicare health program for the aged. It would cost the over-65 patients more for shortterm illnesses, but set a $740-ayear ceiling on what they could be charged for covered services. The limit, he said, would protect them against catastrophic costs for serious

While Ford's message forshadowed clashes on a number of issues with the Democratic majority in Congress, it also staked out some positions that would set him apart from Reagan.

While Reagan has proposed largescale transfers of federal programs to the states. Ford came out for tightening rather than abolishing federal welfare programs.

Ford also called for what he described as "long overdue reform of the scandal-ridden food stamp pro-gram." A major change would limit benefits to those whose net income is below the poverty level, currently $5,050 for a family of four.

He said temporary extensions of special unemployment benefits will continue in 1976 and that he will ask for continued job training funds in

He renewed his call for a five-year extension of federal revenue-sharing with states and localities.

Ford advanced two plans he said would stimulate needed business in-

One would provide fast depreciation of productive facilities, aimed especially at areas of high unemployment - which under present circumstances would cover much of the

Another would be designed to encourage persons of moderate income to buy stock in U.S. firms. The purchase price for such long-term in-vestments could be deducted for tax purposes, with the proceeds to be subject to tax only if cashed in later.

To make it easier for heirs to retain family farms and businesses, Ford said the estate tax on such inheritances should be postponed and stretched out.

He also said he will propose prorating upped The City of Midland has been notified by Moody's bond rating company in New York City of its improved rating from A-1 to AA. Finance Director Robert Massengale said the improved rating "probably means a better interest rate on bonds and thus a savings of a substantial amount to the City over the life of the bonds."

Massengale and Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., City Manager James Brown and the City's fiscal agent Joe Smith of First Southwest Co. had made a trip to New York earlier this month to meet with representatives of Moody's and Standard and Poors, the country have been drawn into the suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C., in 1973 and transferred to Midland the following year. At stake in the litigation is up to $15 million per year over the next two or three decades in rate hikes in overriding royalties on natural gas

The plaintiff, El Paso Natural Gas Co., is involved in the production, purchase, transmission and sale in interstate commerce of natural gas to gas distribution companies, primarily along the West Coast.

The rate now allowed by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) is between 40 and 50 cents per mcf (thousand cubic feet) of natural gas. But El Paso contends that the escalating rates are "unjust and unreasonable and therefore unlawful" and "contrary to national public interest."

than 20 years ago when, in 1952 and 1953, El Paso entered into an Oil and Gas Lease Sale agreement with Sunray DX Oil Co. (Sunray and Sun Oil Co. merged in 1968.)

In the early 1950s, the overriding royalty rate fixed by the FPC was five cents per mcf, but was allowed to rise at pre-set intervals.

By September 1960, the FPC had fixed the rate at 13 cents per mcf and maintained that rate until July 1971 when the commission set a 24-cent mcf rate on natural gas produced from the San Juan Basin.

Four years passed before the appeals court acted. Having received more papers with statistical information from the Justice Departnent, as well as their motion to either vacate the stay or make a decision in the case, it overturned Guinn's decision.

But what does that really mean? School officials claim they really don't know. Last fall, they instructed their attorney to ask the appeals court for a clarification or rehearing, but both were denied.

According to Hardie, returning to district court could mean a modification of Plan A-2 involving from one to five schools or devising a 'whole new plan.'

should be granted the writ. In one of the reasons, the MISD contends the case should be returned to the appellate court so that court will clarify its instructions and require the Justice Department to "make its position clear." The document states the MISD "cannot proceed until the United States of America (Justice Department) makes up its mind.

"In one breath, Plaintiff-Respondent (Justice Department) says, Pease, Crockett and Milam are in compliance; that no dual system exists there; that only De Zavala remains a vestige of the dual system.

"In the next breath, they indicate that their position is that Washington Elementary, the only school complained about, other than De Zavala, has been corrected, but now, what about Pease, Crockett, Milam and De Zavala?"

The statement further notes that due to the stay on the desegregation proposal, "Plan A-2 was never given a chance to be put into effect, and that plan seems to be overlooked by the court below.

The petition also claims that contrary to the historic Swann vs. Charlotte-Mecklenburg integration case as well as others, the appellate court "required the petitioners to cure the ills of resegregation" which would be the case with Crockett Pease, Milan and De Zavala.

It further objects to the manner in which the appeals court reached its decision, pointing up the "post hearing submission of the United States" after the Justice Department attorneys agreed that Crockett and Pease are not U results of de jure segregation.

In addition, the MISD objects that the Justice Department reached back to the 1912 school board meeting minutes in which reference was made to a Mexican school. The MISD charges that those minutes are the sole basis for the accusation that "the Midland district, contrary to what the record shows, has a deliberate intention to segregate those children (at De Zavala).

Finally, the school representatives contend the appellate court overstepped its authority when it "apparently abandoned trial and appellate practices and substituted itself for the trial judge in rendering its decision concerning De Zavala Elementary" based largely on the 'post hearing submissions.'

What the chances of being heard by the Supreme Court are, school officials can't say. And it's difficult, they point out, to formulate contingency plans when the MISD does not know which, of many directions, the winds will blow.

It now rests in the hands of the U.S. Supreme Court. (NEXT: Why the fight over De

Variation presented on 'objectionable' word list

By ERMA BOMBECK

Comedian George Carlin once made public the five words that you cannot say on television due to censorship.

Although they are rarely spoken of, there are also five ordinary words and phrases which are considered obscene to small children. Because the reaction to them is violent, many parents have stricken them from their vocabulary.

I respectfully suggest that if there are any readers of this column today under the age of 16 who are not accompanied by a parent, the following language could be rated "Ob-

WORK. Although this is the ultimate word in obscenity to youngsters, some of them use it for the shock effect. Occasionally, you'll see a small child whisper to another kid in a lunch line, "I worked today," just to see him suck in his breath and look around to see if anyone else heard him. Another child was isolated by the entire third grade when it was discovered that he engaged in it after after they are married. GO TO BED!" If you want the respect of a small child, never, but never, resort to this suggestive bit of obscenity. Once when I was babysitting a neighbor child, I said in anger, "Go to B - -!" Today, that child is 17 years old and still remembers

BROCCOLI. This is the word that children, when they want to be really naughty, will write in public places. I've seen it on grade school restroom walls and on construction sites. Once when my daughter saw it on the school menu blackboard, she threw her body across it in a fit of decency. It was used one evening on television during the family hour and drew 3,000 protests, saying they could have used 'squash' or 'asparagus' and still maintained the integrity of the plot.

"YOUR MOTHER WEARS WHITE SOCKS!" I've been around some pretty tough kids in my time who used language that would make your hair curl, but this is one phrase youngsters won't tolerate.

I would think you would need a small desk and desk chair for the room and also a comfortable lounge chair with perhaps an ottoman. Builtin bookshelves or a pair of freestanding etageres might house your television and books. Plan for reading light both at your desk and at your lounge chair. Choose a color scheme that is especially pleasing to you. You might establish the color scheme in a gay wallpaper for one wall. Take colors out of the wallpaper for a solid fabric for your lounge chair and for the upholstery on your desk chair. Many things cause cancer

The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — What causes cancer? From recent headlines it sometimes appears that everything does: jobs, food, worry, smoking, air pollution, fami-ly background, chemicals, viruses, alcohol, sex.

A study released by the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society shows that all those factors and others play a part in causing different forms of cancer — the most feared illness and the second leading killer of Americans. Besides identifying risk factors, the study looks forward to better ways of finding cancer earlier, with a better chance of treating it successfully.

THIS PLAN, called "preventive oncology," focuses on identifying people who run the greatest risk of getting cancer — either because of their family backgrounds, their jobs, drugs they have taken or their lifestyle.

The problem, said Dr. Joseph F. Faumeni Jr. of the National Cancer Institute is that the risk factors for cancer "are badly defined."

"We really need to know a more precise measure of risk factors. But even in the present state of knowledge we have enough information so that we can apply some preventive measures and zero in on certain high risk groups to find cancer at the earliest possible stage," added Fraumeni, editor of the study "Persons at High Risk of Cancer," which came from a high-level conference a year ago.

For example, scientists know that women with a history of breast cancer run six to nine times the risk of developing the disease as other women. Moreover, women who gave birth late in life or whose menstrual cycle started early also seem to run an increased risk of breast cancer.

DIFFERENT RISK factors can be developed for other cancers. Prostitutes, who have frequent sex with many partners, run a greater risk of cervical cancer than less sexually active women.

And smoking, said Dr. Brian MacMahon of the Harvard University School of Public Health, increases the risk of lung cancer by at least tenfold. "No single known measure would lengthen the life or improve the health of the American population more than eliminating cigarette smoking," he said.

Not only does smoking increase the risk of cancer by itself, but when combined with other factors such as asbestos dust or excessive use of alcohol the risks get even greater, the study shows.

Finding the risk factors, however, is not enough, MacMahon said in the study. For there is often little that can be done in some cancers - especially cancer of the lung, even if the disease is detected ear-

"The yield of screening groups may be small and the cost substantial. The financial, personal and psychological costs must be weighted against the possible benefits." MacMahon said.
Nonetheless, Dr. Micahel Shimkin, of the University of California School of Medicine at San Diego pro-posed a program of "preventive oncology," which involves selective screening programs for people who run the greatest risks.

COMBINING selective screening with such preventive measures as cutting down on the use of cigarettes could cut the country's cancer death rate by about one-third — saving about 100,000 lives a year, added Dr. Marvin A. Schneiderman of the National Cancer Institute.

The study shows clearly that there is probably no single cause nor single cure for cancer. Rather the disease is caused by two, three or even more factors working together.

"We live with thousands of things that have the potential of causing cancer, either alone or in com-bination," said Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr., director of the National Cancer Institute.

Among them, said Dr. David. E. Anderson of the

M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic in Houston are genetic factors. "the question is no longer whether cancer susceptibility in man can be inherited, but rather how do susceptibility genes act and interact with environmental influences," said

Skating keeps Grandma Gae fit

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - At age 71 Grandma Gae rides her bicycle to work, gets there early and roller-skates around the block to warm up for her school crossing guard duties.

"Jogging and tennis are just a passing fad," says Gae Schiffman, a crossing guard for the past seven years who maintains "you will always remain young

She started roller skating and ice skating in Bar Harbor, Maine, when she was 12. Her own children were taught to skate when they were 2 years old.

With her four grandchildren living some distance away, Gae has "adopted" the school children in Beverly Hills. Her love for the children is reciprocal. At the end of the last term fourth grader Charles Levy looked at his report card and decided to make his own for Grandma Gae.

In carefully made block latters it said.

In carefully made block letters it said: "Crossing the kids: A "Crossing me: A "Crossing my friends: A "Being nice: A-plus."

On special occasions, such as the first and last days of school, Grandma Gae passes out raisins, ap-ple juice or health food cookies to the children who regularly cross at her corner.

"I tell them they will have sore teeth if they eat candy." she said.

Besides her duties as a crossing guard, she conducts private lessons in roller skating, ice skating and bicycle riding for the children.

"But no skateboards," she said. "They're a menace. I once saw a skateboard fly out from underneath a youngster and puncture the gas tank of a car."

For their mothers, Grandma Gae tried to start a bicycle club in Beverly Hills, a bastion of the wealthy and social consicious. "It was for their figures, but they prefer the reducing salons," she said.

Her curly, natural brown hair has not turned gray because she uses only soap and water on it and is outdoors a lot, she said.

"I think sitting under hair dryers damages the hair," she said. "Women worry about their looks too much. I ride by at 5:30 in the morning, and most of cream on their faces.

"Their wrinkles — that's their only interest. My wrinkles don't bother me at all."

the women I see have their hair up in curiers and

Her day begins at 5 a.m.

"I'm out on my bicycle as soon as I can," she said. "But don't think I'm not a meticulous housekeeper. I always get my housework done. I don't go to bed until one or two in the morning. Older people don't need as much sleep, I guess."

The occasion will be a public forum featuring top officials of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA), who will be in Midland to participate in this significant, meaningful event. It will be held in the Westwood Cinema, beginning at 9 a.m.

The FEA panel members include John Hill, deputy administrator; Bob Reisner. associate deputy administrator; Mestapha Soloman, Office of Regulatory Programs; Edward Marsiglia, attorney, Office of FEA General Counsel, and Jimmy Mayberry, Midland area manager, FEA.

If these FEA officials don't have the answers to any and all questions regarding the new law. then who does?

The visiting group, it is said, also will entertain suggestions relating to the probable rules which will govern crude oil pricing for at least the next 40 months.

Thus, representatives of the Permian Basin petroleum industry will have the rare opportunity of hearing the bill explained and of discussing the new law with the FEA officials. This very well could be one of the most important oil and gas meetings ever held in the Tall City. It undoubtedly will attract a capacity crowd. The Energy Act, of course, is the controversial bill signed by President Ford recently. It has caused widespread conversation, consternation, frustration and cries of anguish both within and outside the industry.

Yet, a comparatively few persons in the oil patch have had the opportunity of reading and studying the lengthy, complex bill. They are not familiar with all of its far-reaching aspects. And these are the people who directly will have to live with and operate regard at the public forum here. This is what makes the Midland meeting so very important for one and all. Many questions of vital significance to petroleum operators can and will be answered at the forum. It also is significant that the Midland forum precedes by one day the public hearings on domestic crude oil price regulation beginning Thursday in Washington.

Sincere appreciation and a vote of thanks are due members of the FEA party for taking time out from their busy schedules to come to Midland to explain the new Energy Act to the very persons who search for and produce the oil and gas which are needed so vitally in America today. A most cordial welcome to Midland is directed to the distinguished visitors. It is hoped their stay here will be pleasant and profitable from every standpoint.

For John Hill, of course, it will be a homecoming, since he is a former Midlander and a graduate of Midland High School. Welcome

WASHINGTON - Under President Ford's new edict, every government department must have a consumer affairs adviser. It is not generally known, but the CIA has had a consumer affairs adviser for years, but she has never granted an interview

"I wouldn't if I were you." She reached into a soup kettle and gave a teaspoon of it to a white rat who staggered for a few moments and then keeled over.

'That's fantastic,' I said. "I think it needs more salt." she said. Then she took me over to a counter. "Here's something I think you might be interested in. It's a fortified breakfast cereal with vitamins, minerals, dried fruit and a special powder that will make your stuff." "My job is to see that the CIA doesn't get cheated when we buy something. For example the other day we ordered frozen pizza that was supposed to be sprinkled with lead. We discovered that instead of lead the food processor was using an inferior brand of arsenic.

"We got a consent decree from them saying that they would list the amount of lead on the package so every secret service organization would know the exact contents of the pizza. Ms. Mataharry said the consumer affairs adviser at the CIA was not just concerned with food. "We also police drugs very closely. For example, the drug people were putting a top on their bottles of LSD so children couldn't open them. The problem was our people in the field couldn't open them, either. So we have a law passed that bottle tops on any drugs offered for sale to the CIA had to have tops on them that a 3-year-old could open.' "You do good work," I said. "This is interesting," she said, taking me into a room where eight people were scratching themselves.

We're testing a new itching powder that will drive people crazy. "Didn't you have an itching powder you were going to plant on Castro?" "Yes, but it didn't do the job. We had to recall a million cans of it. The company that made it was forced by the court to pay for full-page advertisements saying its product could not guarantee the fantastic itch it promised. If there is one thing the CIA insists on, it's truth in advertising.'

Chou En-lai, Chiang and China

WASHINGTON - No one would listen to Chou En-lai 30 years ago. This was a tragic mistake, which cost the U.S. billions of dollars and

In those critical days following World War II, most Americans were listening to Chiang Kai-shek. The U.S. embassy in Chungking saw him as China's man of the future. The correspondents thronged to his press conferences' But because I was the lowliest of the correspondents in postwar China, I was assigned to cover Chou En-lai. I found him at the end of a slimecovered, cobblestone alley. He occupied the lower floor of a dingy house, which served both as headquarters and living quarters for the Chinese Communist mission in Chungking. The windows were covered with greasy brown paper, which trapped stale cooking odors inside. To gain admittance, I would identify myself through a speakeasy-style peephole a useless conspiratorial ritual, since Chiang's secret police occupied the room overhead.

I dropped by regularly in search of news. I visited with Chou in the privacy of his living quarters. I talked with him over egg rolls and moo goo days that the Russian and Chinese communists were inseparable. But Chou insisted that Russia, because of its proximity, was a menace to China. He kept repeating that China, if it should come under communist rule, would want to cultivate friendship with America. Chou also contended that it was American support alone that kept Chiang in power. There was evidence of this in Chungking, evidence also that Chiang's regime was thoroughly

Its inevitable collapse was less apparent to me at the time, I must admit, than it now appears in retrospect. But there were unsung diplomats in the U.S. embassy who foresaw what was coming. In their diplomatic dispatches, they disputed the myth that the Red Chinese were controlled by the Kremlin, and they warned that Chiang would not be able to defeat the communists in a civil war. But Chiang exerted an inordinate influence over the foreign policy of the United States. With one hand, he grabbed up billions worth of U.S. aid; with the other, he passed back millions to U.S. politicians. businessmen and hirelings.

They formed a pressure group that came to be known as the China Lobby. This gaggle of Chiang supporters succeeded in creating a climate in Washington that equated criticism of Chiang with treason against the U.S.

The China Lobby, for example, got behind the witch hunts of the late Sen.

Joseph McCarthy. He zeroed in on the diplomats who had warned Chiang would lose China and accused them of being communist sympathizers. One by one, they were cashiered out of the Foreign Service.

Chiang, meanwhile, obtained some $2 billion in grants and credits between the end of World War II and his defeat on the Chinese mainland, plus another $1 billion in arms and ammunition.

The more he was able to drain from the U.S. Treasury, the more he would slip to the politicians and businessmen of the China Lobby to help him get ever bigger U.S. grants. And each time the corruption went the full circle, the pockets of the taxpayers were a little thinner.

While the U.S. poured money into China to bolster Chiang, significantly, the Soviets were stripping Manchuria and carting off supplies that could have strengthened Mao Tse-tung. Yet despite the formidable U.S. support, Chiang's hold on China steadily deteriorated. It was April, 1949, when Mao's angry army swarmed across the Yangtze River and sent Chiang scurrying to the safety of Taiwan. The China Lobby set up a howl that the U.S. had lost China by not providing sufficient aid. The truth is that Chiang lost China, and more than $3 billion worth of U.S. aid disappeared down

It has been wisely said that those who ignore the lessons of history are doomed to repeat them. Thus, two decades later, the U.S. once again tried to bolster with its billions a corrupt dictatorship that was unable to defend itself.

Taking the lowest estimates, the U.S. pumped $140.3 billion into the tangle of jungle called Vietnam. The Russians and Chinese shipped $5.3 billion in economic aid to the rival communists. Another $3.95 billion was contributed in military assistance.

In other words the U.S. outspent Russia and China in Vietnam by 15 times. But the most dramatic measure was in blood, not cash. Not a single Russian or Chinese soldier, so far as we could learn, fought in the field for the North Vietnamese. But 56,226 Americans died and 153,654 Americans were wounded fighting for the South Vietnamese.

Still, the U.S. clients lost the war. And once again, billions worth of U.S. supplies went down the drain.

The cost of the Korean and Vietnam wars has been stupendous. The terrible loss could have been averted if Washington had listened to Chou En-lai. Now he is dead, and Washington belatedly is listening.

Trenton prison uprising ends peacefully at dawn

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) - An uprising in a maximum security wing at Trenton State Prison ended peacefully at dawn today, 10 hours after a potout that left one inmate dead and several other persons injured.

Prison officials said they removed the last of more than 100 inmates from the eighth tier of No. 7 Wing, a "segregation section" for troublesome prisoners. blesome prisoners.

The inmates, although locked in their cells, had controlled the tier durauthorities at bay by firing sporadically through the cell bars.

Before dawn, officials began opening the cells individually by remote control and ordered the prisoners to strip and march out. By 6:45 a.m., the evacuation was completed.

One handgun believed smuggled into the prison was confiscated when the shootout began, but two others were not immediately recovered. Officials began a search of the eighth tier cells in hopes of finding the missing weapons.

Earlier, officials had tried to negotiate with the inmates but were held at bay by gunfire.

"You can't negotiate," said Mitch Leon, a spokesman for the state Department of Institutions and Agencies. "You try to talk and the guys shoot down the tier.

First reports said three inmates had been killed, but the figure was later downgraded after two of those thought to be dead were found to have been only wounded.

The dead inmate was identified as John Clark, 30, of Newark, jailed in 1974 for killing a policeman. Officers said he had five bullet wounds in his was shot in the chest. He managed, however, to return the fire.

Reinforcements were sent to the wing and fired at the inmates, driving them into cells along the tier, Leon said. The cells were then locked by an electric mechanism. Leon said.

Macaluso underwent surgery early today at St. Francis Hospital for removal of a bullet from his abdomen. A hospital spokesman said he and Simmons were in guarded condition, the latter with a bullet still lodged in his chest.

A third guard, Leonard Camiso, was struck in the chest and burned by a pipe bomb about 90 minutes after Macaluso and Simmons were shot. His condition was fair, the hospital spokesman said.

The hospital refused to give information on the conditions of the wounded prisoners

Moslems extending conquests

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Leftist Moslem militias appear to have taken control of Lebanon's northern, eastern and southern regions, a police spokesman reported today.

"We lost contact with all our posts in these regions," the spokesman said. "The last messages we had reported scores of tiny Christian villages besieged by Moslem tribal warriors in the north and east. Hundreds of Christian families there have already fled to neighboring Syria.

The Moslems and their Palestinian allies already controlled southern Lebanon. The Christians hold part of Beirut, an area to the north and northeast of the capital and scattered enclaves in the northern, eastern and central part of the country.

A high-ranking army officer said the pattern of fighting indicated the warring sides were trying to wipe out pockets of resistance in areas they controlled, bringing "the country closer to de facto partition."
Interior Minister Camille

Chamoun, a right-wing Christian leader under siege in his seaside mansion 14 miles south of Beirut, charged Monday night that heavily armed troops of the Syrian army had crossed Lebanon's northern and eastern borders, and Palestinian guerrilla sources charged that Israel was massing troops and tanks along Lebanon's southern border. But a Lebanese army spokesman said there was no invasion or invasion threat

Another cease-fire was announced Monday in Beirut, but a police spokesman said "fighting did not cease for a single minute." The police reported 154 persons killed during the night, most of them in Beirut, raising the official toll in the two weeks of fighting since a Christmas-New Year cease-fire to 2,007 killed and 2,917 wounded. Casualties during the eight previous months of the civil war are estimated at 8,000 killed and 25,000 government seriously undervalued large quantities of weapons supplied to anti-Soviet factions in Angola, according to authoritative sources. The committee was to meet today to begin considering the draft report. which said the system of accounting enabled the CIA to transfer much larger quantities of weapons than would seem possible under the $25 million price tag which has been publicly attached to the Angolan operation, the sources said.

The draft cites as examples a .45 caliber pistol valued at $5 and a .30 caliber carbine valued at $7.50, according to the sources.

One source, who confirmed the accuracy of the figures, said the draft report makes no mention of a provision in law which allows surplus weapons to be transferred to foreign countries at one-third their original

"When you read it, the impression that you get is that it was an underhanded method," when in fact the procedure could be in compliance with the law, the source said.

ahead with them anyway," Fea's Deputy Administrator Johnb A. Hill said in an interrview. "We hope to have our first notice out by June and then stagger the rest until we have all of them out by September.'

FEA to test new

order authority

Hill said it will take that long to identify precisely the power plants the FEA feels have no grounds to oppose a switch to coal and for the Environmental Protection Agency : make its recommendations on each one of the moves.

The 81 plants the FEA said last year could switch to8 coal include power plants in about 20 states, most in the North-east and Midwest. Most of the plants in the northeast burn oil and most in the midwest burn natural gas.

The purpose of the FEA changeover scheme is to cut consumption of oil and natural gas, the nation's two scarcest fuels, and to promote the use of coal, the United States' most abundant fuel.

The FEA has said that if all 81 plants were switched to coal that it would save 163 million barrels of oil and 160 billion cubic feet of natural gas every year.

It would also require the production of 48 million tons of coal every year that is not now being mined.

Hill said the FEA recognizes that not all 81 plants can make the conversions, either because it would cost too much or produce too much air pollution in or near some of the nation's largest cities.

For instance, two plants that could convert to coal are in the New York City boroughs of Queens and Staten Island but probably will never be asked to switch from low sulfur oil because of the city's rigid rules on air

There are other plants that might have to spend large sums of money on equipment to trap coal ash and to scrub the sulfur oxides out of the Hill did not identify these plants but suggested there were as many as 20 that would be exempt from FEA actions because a change would involve too much financial hardship for many as 30 plants could be ordered to The authority for the FEA to force the changes is clearly spelled out in teh omnibus energy bill that became law just before Christmas.

The Treasury setimates of oil producer revenues and spending contains the first country-by-country break-down of expected oil revenues, the OPEC countries likely expenditures for imports, and the remaining sums which canthen be invested abroad.

Parsky said that sparsely populated Saudi Arabia, for example, will have surplus revenues of nearly $24.3 billion to invest this year, on total revenues of $30 billion.

By contrast, Iran a heavily populated country with an extensive list of social programs, and military projects, will have excess revenues of only $2.7 billion on total oil income of $22.4 billion.

All of the total revenue estimates assume there will be no oil price increase next June, when OPEC ministers meet to abroad this year. Parsky said that through November, almost exclusively in long-term holdings.

The ability of OPEC countries to spend money into government on imports is growing substantially. Parksy will be able to import $67.3 billion in goods this year as the needs of their populations increase.

Parksy said Treasury experts estimate that OPEC importing capacity will increase about 10 per cent a year for the next 10 years. By 1985, OPEC countries will buy $133 billion of goods from other countries, from $5.9 billion last Parsky said.

All very reasonable, but dummy's ten of spades is just a wasted fish hook. Why shouldn't you try to catch something with it?

Win the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and lead the ten of spades from dummy. This play costs nothing. If East follows with a low trump you plan to take the ace of trumps.

The point is that East may cover with the jack of spades. He might well do so with Q-J-9-5- or with K-J-9-5.

FOOLISH PLAY

Let's suppose that East foolishly plays the jack of spades at the second trick. You win with the ace of spades, dropping West's king.

Don't snicker. Look sympathetic and say that you'd have done the same dumb thing. Then cash the king of hearts, ruff a heart in dummy and return a trump.

East can get only two trump tricks instead of three. You will keep plugging away at trumps to capture East's low trump, and this assures the contract.

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. Raise partner's suit first to show that you have a poor hand with trump support. If he can then try for game you will accept his invitation. If you show the spades first and raise hearts later you promise about 11 points, and your hand isn't that good.

Twelve Year Effort EndsWith Unprecedented FlavorIn Low Tar Smoke.

New Enriched Flavor discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT achieves taste of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The greatest challenge to cigarette-makers in recent years has been how to make a low tar cigarette that wasn't "low"

Now after twelve long, hard years, researchers at Philip Morris have developed the way to do it.

The cigarette is called MERIT.

It delivers only 9 mg. of tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Lower than five current low tar leaders. And the taste? If you enjoy smoking-you'll be interested.

Filter

LOW TAR - ENRICHED FLAVOR

Smoke Cracked: 'Enriched Flavor' Achieved

Others have tried to design a special filter or filtering system that would somehow filter out tar but not taste. We tried too. Our results were almost predictable: the more tar we took out, the less taste we got. So for flavor, we concentrated on the business end of smoking. The tobacco end.

By using an instrument called an analytical fractometer, we began "cracking" cigarette smoke down into its various ingredients.

Some 2000-plus ingredients were isolated, one by one.

What we discovered was startling. There are ingredients in tobacco-basic flavor unitsthat deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

By selecting only those units that proved themselves to be high flavor yet low tar producers, what we call Enriched Flavor' was developed and then added to the tobacco to make MERIT.

A flavor concentrate for tobacco. To give it extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that couldn't burn out, couldn't drop out, couldn't do anything but come through for you.

We packed 'Enriched Flavor' into MERIT.

And began the series of taste tests that were to prove we had real news for smokers.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar. Thousands of smokers were involved, smokers of filter cigarettes like yourself-all tested at home*

The results were conclusive:

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much - or more - taste than the higher tar brands tested. You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

> MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

ATLANTA (AP) — Ilie Nastase, the Jekyll and Hyde of the WCT tennis circuit, switched from his temper tantrums of an earlier match to a perfect gentleman Monday night after capturing the Phoenix Cup tennis tournament title.

Nastase, the 29-year-old temeramental Romanian, had hreatened not to play in the final in a dispute with an umpire. He changed his mind and went out and overpowered unseeded Jeff Borowiak 6-2, 6-4 to take the $17,000 first prize.

Two other conference games -Texas Tech at Baylor and Arkansas at Texas-also are on tap tonight while Southern Methodist, unbeaten at home this season, hosts North Texas in a commuter battle.

TCU started the week's action with a victory Monday night as Randy Boyts and Thomas Bledsoe combined for 47 points in a 103-87 triumph over Boyts had 24 points and Bledsoe 23, and four other Horned Frogs joined them in double figures as TCU evened its league record at 3-3. The Owls, who got 29 points from Frank Jackson, are winless in six SWC outings, while Texas is 0-5.

A&M is 3-0 in the league, topping Texas Tech at 4-1 and SMU at 4-2. Baylor, Arkansas and Houston are in the middle of the pack at 3-2.

Despite his team's easy victory, TCU Coach Johnny Swaim wasn't happy with the Horned Frogs' 51-47 rebounding advantage. "Rebounding has been a problem for us all year. We can't seem to get the second shot," he said. Coach Bob Polk said, "I think we've improved a lot. This thing could have been tight as a tick if we hadn't made so many mistakes. We started to throw the ball away.

Eagles, Cats scrap for 1st

BY BOB DILLON

Midland Lee and Midland High will have to take a back seat tonight to the Abilene Eagles and San Angelo Bobcats who tangle for the leadership in the torrid District 5-4A basketball race in Abilene.

While the Bulldogs and Odessa Bronchos battle in the MHS Gymnasium to see who gets out of the 5-4A cellar, Lee and Permian square off in the Permian Fieldhouse, but the spotlight will be in Abilene.

Both the Warbirds and Bobcats sport perfect 4-0 records and tonight's winner will have the inside . track to the first half championship.

Lee and Permian are a step behind the co-leaders with 3-1 marks and the winner between the Rebels and Panthers will move into a two-way tie with the loser of the BobcatsEagle battle for second place.

Coach Paul Stueckler's Rebs really have their work cut out, meeting Permian tonight in Odessa and Abilene on the road Friday. But then so do the Bobcats who face the Eagles tonight and Permian in Odessa

In the other league contest, Abilene Cooper and Big Spring meet in Big Coach James Cagle's Purple Pack and OHS' Bronchos have 0-4 loop records and the winner will move out of the cellar with a victory tonight. Midland already owns one victory over the 4-19 Odessans Bronchos with a 69-57 win over the in the Hobbs Holiday Tournament.

Midland has an 11-13 season mark compared to OHS' 4-19 record nine straight since beating Class AAA Monahans, 58-56.

Probable starters for Midland tonight will be Craig Dunn, 6-3 junior; Billy Shock, 6-0 senior; Jeff Gotcher, 6-3 senior; Phillip Ward, 6-1 junior and either James Hicks, 6-3 junior or Mike Wiley, a 6-3 senior.

Odessa does have a prolific scorer in 6-1 Rick Boren who tallied 26 points last Friday in the 91-64 loss to Abllene. Boren is the No. 6 scorer in the league with 59 points in four games. Robert Lane, a 6-2 senior, also is in the double figures for the Red Hosses while Dunn has been the most consistant scorer for the Pack with around a 14.6 average per loop outing.

In Odessa, Lee's Junior Miller, who poured in 29 points against Big Spring Friday, squares off with Permian's James Hunter who tallied 26 against Abilene Cooper

Permian sports an 18-5 record and Lee is 14-7 on the year and it shapes up as a great game.

Joining Miller in the Lee lineup will be Steve Reiter, Robin Todd, Roy Lee Smith and Brent Huckabay.

Hunter, a 6-4 senior, is joined by 6-8 Monte Malone; Stan Strifler, 6-1; Mark Berryhill, 6-0 and either Craig Johnson, 6-1 or John Dawson who also

There will be three games both in the Tall City and essa with sophomore games starting at 4:30 p.m. followed by the junior varsity games at 6:15 p.m. and the varsity contests at 8 p.m.

Shipman resigns job at Abilene

ABILENE — Bill Shipman has resigned his post as head football coach at Abilene High School and taken a similar position at Denton High School.

Shipman was at Abilene two years and had a 9-11 record, including a 5-5 mark this past season which included a 28-21 victory over San Angelo.

The 50-year-old coach has 26 years experience in the business and coached only a few miles away from Denton at Lewisville for six years. He signed as head athletic coach and director on a one-year contract with a continuing contract to follow, according to principal Alvin Whaley. Shipman replaces Billy Ryan who will become an assistant principal at

MIAMI (AP) - The Associated Press incorrectly reported early Monday that the father of Dallas safety Cliff Harris suffered a heart attack during the Cowboys' 21-17 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers in Super

It was the father of Cowboys' safety Radio, TV sports Charlie Waters who suffered the heart attack while watching his son play in attack while watching his son play in Sunday's game.

A spokeswoman for Jackson Memorial Hospital said Marshall Waters, 70, of Dallas was resting comfortably, "but his condition is still

This time South Plains College wore the black hats, winning 92-91 in overtime, a game in which Midland College led all the way in regulation play except for one brief moment six minutes into the second half

Chaparrals foiled again, 92-91

A couple of free throws by 6-4 Henry Taylor of Hobbs, N.M., with 35 sent the game into overtime. It was only the fifth time that the Texans had even managed a tie. The others came at 2, 52, 54 and 56.

TAYLOR THEN scored eight of SPC's nine overtime points to spark the Texans to their fifth WJAC win in seven starts while leaving Midland 3-

Just as important in the game's late stages was Taylor's rebounding. As MC assistant Ron Mayberry put it, 'Every time they needed the big rebound, he came down with it."

Taylor's 19 points, however, played second fiddle to the 21 poured in by Leroy Hood, a 6-0 guard from Albuquerque, N.M.

Tommy Parks and Sim Nickerson shared scoring honors for MC with 22. Parks held to four points in the first half, sank nine of his first 10 second

Midland broke to an early 14-2 lead and held sway 33-21 when SPC rallied for 10 straight points.

Midland College widened halftime lead to 52-41 with 6-8 Dan Vanderzee pouring in three baskets. The Hereford freshman fouled out as South Plains reeled off 13 straight points to take its only lead, 54-52, before the five minute overtime.

"Dan was scoring, even though he had four fouls," Coach Chester Story said, "I told him to be careful. If they're going good, I like to leave Vanderzee's loss and the departure by fouls of 6-5 Jackson Pace after a 16point night with 5:24 to go hurt the Chaps in the decisive stages on the boards where no one was left to challenge Taylor.

AFTER SPC took its lead, Midland went into a zone and opened up a 72-61 lead with 9:05 left in the game, but then the aggressive, pressuring Texans began to whittle away.

'We played so well for so long on defense we might have worn ourselves down," Story theorized later. Taylor hit a basket and two free throws to launch the overtime session basket was to give MC a tie at 89 with 1:02 left, Taylor struck again seven seconds later and Frank Stimac's free throw with six seconds to go put it out The loss left MC 0-4 at home in league play with New Mexico Military

NEW YORK (AP) — New York forward Julius Erving, the league's scoring leader, and Kentucky center Artis Gilmore, the top rebounder, were unanimous choices for the American Basketball Association All-Star team which will face the Denver Nuggets Jan. 27 at Denver, it was announced today.

Erving and Gilmore will be joined in the starting lineup by forward Billy Knight of Indiana and guards James Silas of San Antonio and Brian Taylor of New York.

The starting lineup and four other players—forward Marvin Barnes of St. Louis, center Billy Paultz of San Antonio and guards Ron Boone of St. Louis and George Gervin of San Antonio—were selected to the team by sports writers and broadcasters in each of the league's seven franchise

The other three spots on the 12-man team originally were awarded to David Thompson, Bobby Jones and Ralph Simpson of the first-place

Rice picks Homer Rice

HOUSTON (AP) -Rice University President Dr. Norman Hackerman today named Homer Rice, athletic director at North Carolina University for the past seven years, as head football coach at Rice, the school's third head coach in six years.

Hackerman said athletic director A.M. "Red" Bale will continue in his present position at the Southwest Conference school. Bale did not attend the news conference at which Rice was named.

Coach Rice said he has had a long interest in Rice University.

"I think it's a great honor to be named coach at such an institution as Rice," he said. "I've been interested in Rice and what it stands for since meeting Jess Neely (former Rice coach)."

Hackerman started coaching hunt Jan. 2 when Al Conover resigned to go into private business. Homer Rice was offered the job in 1972 but turned it down prior to Conover's appointment as head coach.

Homer Rice compiled an 8-10 record during two seasons as head coach at Cincinnati, his only experience as a head coach. Rice left Cincinnati in 1968 to become

Midland begins hunt for coach

Athletic Director Thurman "Tugboat" Jones wasn't prepared to say in which direction the hunt for a successor to John Reddell as Midland High School football coach might lead, whether it might be from within the system or beyond.

"We will take all applications and study them." said Tugboat, "and we'll come up with the best possible man for Dr. (James) Mailey, superintendent of schools, and the school trustees to consider.

"I do know it will be hard to follow John Reddell, because there's not another like him.

In regard to a successor to Reddell, Jones said, "I do feel it won't be as hard to get a top coach to come here

"Our salaries now are up where we pay more than anyone else in the district. Then, too, the school is better known around the state," Tug added.

The reference was to the fact that Midland High not only has had winning seasons under Reddell the last four years, but also has a state baseball title, three district basketball championships and two trips to state in recent years.

Reddell resigned as MHS coach to become football coach at Trinity High School in the Hurst-Bedford-Euless School district, a three-city area. Reddell's pact was for three years and although no salary terms were disclosed, it was believed to be for about the same money he was receiving at MHS, $19,500. Reddell cited the fact that Trinity was a growing high school in a growing area as the reason for his leaving. Jones also disclosed that the Midland Schools system was moving closer to a decision on his own successor as athletic director. Jones will retire at the end of the school year.

"I would like to have a successor named by the time I go to the state athletic directors meeting March 7-8-9 in Corpus Christi. I'd like to introduce him to all the athletic directors with whom I've been acquainted for years. Knowing them on a personal basis would make his job easier.'

Reddell leaves MHS for Trinity

BY TED BATTLES

A lot of people were surprised when John Reddell resigned as Midland High football coach over the weekend to accept a similar post at Trinity High School in Euless.

The surprise should have been that a coach of John's caliber and background came to Midland in the first place. That isn't meant to cast aspersions on Midland High, but facts

John left Arlington where he had won two straight district titles to become head coach at a school that had gained the reputation as the Columbia, Indiana, Kansas State and Washington State of District 5-4A.

"Money and a challenge," John responded when questioned about it. "This district had the reputation of being the toughest in the state, so we talked it over and said let's have a While Trinity's football program is on its heels compared to Midland's, it's a relatively new school and in a rapid growth area that holds bright oromise for the future.

JOHN WAS asked what prompted him to step into the Midland High job in the first place, if a dearth of competitive numbers was his reason for leaving.

"IT WASN'T like that before I came," he pointed out. "If you'll recall, Midland High had good material. It just hadn't won. I was assured after a year, I would be consulted in regard to any necessary adjustments for MHS to remain competitive. At the end of a year, I gave my views, but since we had had a winning year, no one took them seriously.

Last year, some boundary adjustments were made between the Midland and Lee school districts, but any immediate value for Midland apparently were negated by a liberal transfer rule. John feels it will be several years before MHS realizes the benefits of the boundary changes.

Midland Lee, if there is an avoidable imabalance, began long before John arrived in Midland or, for that matter, before Jim Acree became football coach at Midland Lee.

It was apparent to any one close to the junior high situation in the late 1960's that Lee would be the strong school in the early 1970's. The trend was mentioned, but some of those most upset by what they believe is an unfair distribution today were the least disturbed then.

The year before Reddell arrived, Edison (Midland's ninth grade feeder) had two teams, neither of which could muster 22 able bodies, and Austin (Lee's feeder) had three teams. Edison won just one game in the 12 that were played between the two schools. Since Austin is the larger junior high, it can be expected to have more students and more athletes.

MIDLAND AND Lee both have been competitive in all sports over the last few years, which is unusual. In most two-high school cities, one high school seems to predominate whether planned or otherwise and it is usually the older high school that suffers.

Reddell is the first to admit if Midland High were at full student capacity, it would be the smaller school, but he feels that Midland not only is less than capacity but the advertised 1,600 total is misleading.

"Many of those are bus student who hold down jobs after school an therefore are not potential athletes." Last fall Odessa High Coach Du Farris probably expressed it bes when he commented, "The Little Four (Odessa, Midland, Big Spring and Abilene) may come up and win big one now and then, but they jus don't have the numbers to do it con sistently.

From that it's obvious tha Midland's plight isn't unique.

LEE PEOPLE on the other hand aren't willing to admit that there's any inequity and can point to three Midland district basketball titles, state baseball championship and four winning football seasons in support of their arguments. Rebel fans have had it good, but not that good.

The result has been a polarizing o the adult followers of the two schools people who should know better, which is the most disturbing aspect of the boundary fuss.

The distrust, suspicion, jealousy and hatred that exists between the two sides of Midland makes the old Midland-Odessa rivalry back in the one high school days seem like torrid teenage romance.

Midland needs a strong, mature figure to emerge to bind the wounds and bring the city back together Sadly, there is no one in sight who commands the communitywide trust or respect to do it.

Ashe captures WCT title win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Arthur Ashe, defending champion in World Championship Tennis, is 2-0 for the current campaign.

He defeated Vitas Gerulaitis 6-2, 6-7, 6-4 Monday night to capture a second $17,000 top prize in a week. Ashe, top seed here, won the WCT opening meet a week earlier at Columbus.

Stan Smith and Bob Lutz won the doubles title in the $64,000 tournament, taking Gerulaitis and Tom Gorman in straight sets 6-2, 6-4. The winners collected $4,000, the losers $2,000

Thus Gerulaitis, 21, of New York, and seeded No. 4 in the singles competition, took home $8,000 ($7,000 from his singles work) "Not bad for a substitute," he said, noting that at the last minute he had replaced Jaime Fillol when the Chilean was injured. The 32-year-old Ashe jumped on Gerulaitis from the start of the first set. He had won the toss but elected to receive rather than serve. The strategy paid off, and Ashe engineered the first service break with double-fault help from Gerulaitis on the fifth point.

That part of Alvarez' confession tended to explain why he was carrying a pistol on the night of Molinar's death.

In commenting on Judge Pickett's caution to the prosecutor, the Court of Criminal Appeals said: "Apparently, the court was aware of the fundamental rule of law that one accused of a crime is to be tried for the offense charged and none other.'

hearing what people have to say," said the governor when asked why he spent so much time at Uvalde. He said he needed imput from the grassroots. Briscoe added that spending time at Uvalde gives him such grassroots imput. An Associated Press story last month said that Briscoe spent 39 working days at his ranch during the first 10 months of 1975. The story said also that Briscoe was highly inaccessible to the media. The governor said no news conferences at the Capitol have been required "I'll call one when I need one. We haven't needed one."

The governor said also that he was the best judge of when newsmen needed to question him.

Profit taking makes mart performance mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market was mixed today, running up against profit taking pressures in an extremely busy session on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 2.13 at 941.59, while gainers maintained a moderate overall lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the nearrecord pace of activity resulted from heavy profit taking piled on top of con-tinued buying prompted by signs of an improving economy and the recent decline in interest rates. There appeared to be no decisive reaction int he market either way to President Ford's State of the

U.S. certain to veto U.N. Mideast action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) -After a week of dispute, the Arabs have agreed on new guidelines they want the Security Council to lay down for an Arab-Israeli peace settlement. The United States appears certain to

Arab sources said the delegates from Arab nations and from the Palestine Liberation Organization agreed that any resolution voted at the end of the current council debate on the Arab-Israeli dispute must call

-Exercise by the Palestinian people of their inalienable national rights, including repatriation, selfdetermination and the right to establish an independent state.

-Withdrawal of Israel from all occupied Arab territories. —Appropriate guarantees for a just and lasting peace. -These points to be the basis for all international efforts and conferences organized within the framework of the United Nations. The Arab statement appeared to be a compromise between earlier Syrian and Egyptian positions. Syria's call for a timetable on Israeli withdrawal was abandoned, and Egypt appeared to have won an indirect endorsement of the Geneva peace conference. But Ambassador Daniel Patrick Moynihan, speaking in the council debate Monday, affirmed U.S. adherence to council resolutions 242 and 338, the present foundation for Arab-Israeli negotiations. He warned

20-cent pay phones stick

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas pay phone customers must continue to dig in their pockets for two dimes instead of one, despite a city councilman's complaint that no other major city in the country has a similar charge.

An attempt by Councilman Bill Nicol to return pay phone charges to a dime instead of 20 cents was thwarted Monday when only Mayor Wes Wise and Mayor Pro Tem Adlene Harrison supported his resolution to review the Council members voted down Nicol's resolution after Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. division manager LaRue Robinson warned that the firm would have to make up the lost revenues through other charges. Nicol said the higher charges here are a hardship on low income families and added that the 20-cent phones create a "bad impression" on travelers visiting Dallas. 'They land at the airport and see pay phones that cost a quarter." Nicol said. "Then they come to Dallas and the pay phones cost 20 cents. It makes them think this is an expensive place Robinson said, "It's not really accurate to say it costs less to make a phone call in New York than in Dallas." He said the metropolitan system here allows an individual to call over a 1,000-square mile area. You can't call nearly that large an area in the New York coin-operated system," Robinson said.

that they could not be without Israel's agreement.

We cannot escape the reality of the situation that when all parties have agreed to a framework, all of them must agree to changes in that framework," he said. "Changes im-posed on the parties and unacceptable to any one of them, however great the good will, will not work.

The earlier resolutions make no mention of Palestinian rights, calling instead for a "just settlement of the refugee problem." Moynihan conceded that a peace agreement must take into account "the legitimate interests of all the peoples in the area, including the Palestinian people." his use of the word "interests" was a clear indication that the United States would not agree to a resolution expressing support for Palestinian rights.

An earthquake measuring 3.7 on the Richter scale rocked the Kentucky-Tennessee border region north of Cumberland Gap near Harlan, Ky., and also was felt in North Carolina. The quake area was located about 500 miles from Wilmington.
