Harold Wilson plans to resign position

LONDON (AP) — In a surprise announcement that stunned Parliament and rocked the stock exchange, Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today he will resign as soon as Laborites in the House of Commons pick a new leader. Wilson, who turned 60 last Thursday, cited age as the reason. A special meeting of Labor lawmakers was called for tonight to begin preparations for electing a successor. Wilson's resignation does not necessarily mean a general election is imminent, but his successor may wish to seek a fresh mandate from British voters when he or she takes over. Wilson's five yearterm would have expired in October

Lawmakers at Parliament poured out of committee rooms into the corridors when news of Wilson's announcement reached them. The prime minister had given no public hint that he was about to resign, and many members of Parliament at first refused to believe the announcement.

On the stock exchange following Wilson's announcement, people were "dashing around all over the place," one dealer said. "It was chaos and confusion for 10 minutes." The pound opened at $1,920 and went down to $1.9160 after Wilson's announcement. The Bank of England intervened and the rate then improved slightly to Wilson's government suffered a stinging 28-vote defeat in the House of Commons last Wednesday on its plans to slash public spending by $6 billion. The defeat was caused by a revolt of 37 left-wing Laborites. The same day, the opposition Conservative party won two special parliamentary elections with increased majorities, cutting into Labor's slice of the vote. On Thursday, however, the govern-ment survived a vote of confidence in Parliament by a majority of 17.

Wilson's government has been under sharp attack from the Con-servative opposition led by 50-year-old Margaret Thatcher as well as the left-wing Laborites. Over the past 12 months, Britain's annual rate of inflation has hovered around 25 per cent, the highest in the industrialized world, and the pound sterling dropped below the psychologically important $2 floor for the first time in history March 5.

Wilson's official announcement said he told the cabinet of his decision this morning and then went to Buckingham Palace and informed Queen Elizabeth II.

He said in his statement: "In March 1974, I decided I would remain in office for no more than two years. I have not wavered in this decision and it is irrevocable. Indeed, I had originally intended that it should take effect last September, but decided to defer it because of the paramount importance of ensuring the national acceptance and success of the counterinflation policy the government announced last July."

Wilson pointed out in his statement that he had been Labor party leader for more than 13 "exciting and tur-bulent years — nearly eight of them in

"My period as prime minister has been longer than that of any of my peacetime predecessors in this century," Wilson said.

Suttle dismisses suit against three officials

Federal Judge D. W. Suttle, asserting that C. Dean Hubbard had lodged a $120,000 civil lawsuit as a means to vex and harass three public officials in Midland, dismissed the case in a court hearing this morning.

Hubbard, 41, now under state indictment for improper solicitation and sale of securities, had alleged in the petition that his constitutional and the petition that his constitutional and civil rights had been violated by State District Judge Perry D. Pickett, Sheriff Ed Darnell, and Justice of the Peace John Biggs.
The complaint filed by Hubbard,

Judge Suttle said in open court, was on "its face value" designed to bring "vexation and harassment" upon the three elected officials.

Hubbard, jailed for 15 days last June, had complained that he was denied his "liberty in an un-constitutional manner." However, eight days after he was jailed upon arrest after indictment, he was appointed counsel by Pickett. And on the 15th day of his incarceration, Hubbard was freed under a bail bond which Pickett had reduced the day before from $10,000 to $5,000.

But Hubbard complained that his rights were violated because, in part, he was denied a personal recognizance bond or an unsecured bond by Pickett. He was bailed out of jail under the $5,000 bond un-derwritten by bondsman Odell Walker and attorney Harold Jones.

At onset of today's hearing, Judge Suttle suggested that Hubbard retain an attorney rather than try to argue the case himself.

"But I would, in fairness and in candor, tell you that you should have judgment, professionally with them (attorneys for Pickett, Darnell, and

"It is my duty to dispense justice," Suttle said. And he had cautioned Hubbard "unless you are represented by competent and effective counsel" the meting of justice might be somewhat hampered.

Leslie Acker was attorney for Darnell and Biggs. Representing Pickett was attorney William L. Kerr. Each of the defendants in the case took the witness stand and testified that they had held no malice toward Mubbard, reportedly a master plumber who had tried to break into the manufacturing of plastic plumbing fixtures. Judge Suttle viewed Hubbard's suit as "simply something to harass these defendants in the performance" of their official duties.

MC professor aims for the sun

By ED TODD

It's in the cards, or in the sun's rays, if you like.

Outside of not too many more years, you'll likely pay homage to the sun and a bank of resourceful scientists and marketing people for your energy needs now largely fueled by oil, natural gas, gasoline and other petroleum products and byproducts.

"There's an infinite supply of solar energy," observed Midland College's Dr. Charles Wakefield, "but it doesn't create any environmental problems." Wakefield wasn't knocking - by any means — the oil and gas industry. Rather, he was plugging away at a sudding new energy craze that's sure to last once it catches on.

Wakefield, on the junior-college level, may well be in solar energy's yanguard in Texas.

Wakefield proposes to cast solarenergy theory among his students and then show them how to build the unit in cost-cutting ways.

He will hit upon the economics of conventional and solar-powered heating and cooling. "... As the costs of natural gas or fossil-fueled electricity increase," he said, "the economics of solar power become even more attractive."

Though obviously not widely in evidence, advances in solar power are coming right along in a time when the nation is becoming increasingly aware of the short life of petroleum.

"Technology is advancing so quickly in solar energy," Wakefield said, "that costs are dropping, and new hardware is coming onto the market almost daily."

Makers and marketeers of solarpowered contraptions of most every descriptions eventually will be competing for the dollar with the oil and gas industry. The condition, of course, is that petroleum resources endure to see solar's threatening

"The growth of Soviet economic and military power could not have been prevented," he said. "What can be prevented is the use of that power to upset the global balance. Without restraint there is no possibility of a meaningful relaxation of tensions."

Midland girl, 7, dies after truck hits her

A 7-year-old Midland girl, Gina Lorraine Barron, was killed Monday after being run over by a pickup truck while crossing the intersection of West Dakota and South Colorado streets, police said.

The accident occurred near South Elementary School, 200 W. Dakota St., where Gina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barron of 703 W. Pennsylvania St., was a first grader, Bill Sherman, principal, said.

Investigating officer C. W. "Buzz" Cupp said the pickup truck was driven by Leroy Price Miller, 53, 1204 S. Moran St.

Miller told police he was going east on Dakota Street and was turning right on South Colorado Street. Police. said the truck ran over the girl.

Cupp said the father of the girl told him he was parked with a clear view of the accident. He told the officer an unidentified vehicle had pulled up into the crosswalk area and that his daughter had started to run across the street behind the vehicle, police said. Peace Justice John Biggs ronounced her dead on arrival at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Police said the accident occurred at 2:50 p.m., five minutes after school had let out.

There isn't a crosswalk guard at the intersection, Sherman said.

Services for Gina Barron are

Area employment dropped in January

Employment in both Midland and Ector counties dropped during January from the previous month but was still higher than January, 1975

A report from the Texas Employment Commission showed that Midland County had a total employment of 35,120 in January, compared to December's figure of 35,480 and January, 1975's figure of 33,720. The anticipated April, 1976 total is 35,330.

Employment in Ector County for January was 49,650. The December total was 50,310, January of last year had a total of 48,230, and the estimated April total is 49,900.

TEC figures showed the per cent unemployed in both counties was higher than the reporting periods of December and January of 1975. In Midland County, January had a 3.9 per cent unemployment rate, compared to December's rate of 2.6 per cent and January, 1975's rate of 3.6. The unemployment rate, however, is expected to remain at the same level by April.

In Ector County, a 4.2 per cent rate of unemployment was reported during January. Figures from December showed a 3.3 per cent rate of unemployment, the same as recorded during January a year ago. The rate is expected to drop, though, by April to 4.0 per cent. Employment trends in Midland

Planners reject zoning request for apartments

The Midland Planning and Zoning Commission, after hearing protests from about 30 persons, voted to recommend to City Council that a requested zoning change for an apartment complex at 3300 W. Wadley be denied.

The request, presented by E. G. McAlister of Landmark Properties, Inc., was for a zone change from LR-2, local retail, to MF-1, multiple family dwelling, to allow the con-struction of a 120-unit apartment McAlister spoke on behalf of Arthur Lish, applicant for the change, because Lish was having surgery.

The commission pointed out that apartments could be built without a zoning change, but they would have to constructed of different materials than the architect planned because the area has been taken out of the fire district.

Area residents were opposed to apartments because they feared a great increase in traffic in the area, declining value of their own homes and said they prefered to "take a gamble" with a retail business at the site as opposed to apartments...

Walt Temple called the proposal 'spot zoning" since it would be the only apartment complex in an area of single family residences. He asked the Planning and Zoning Commission to re-zone the area to 1F-1, single family residences.

The architect, James Parkey, vice president of Thomas Parkey Associates of Dallas, told the group the proposed Hyde Park Apartments would be a "family-oriented project," since most of the units would be two or three bedrooms. He said the . apartments would be constructed to fit in with the neighborhood and there would be a landscape buffer to partially shield the apartments from other homes in the area.

Commissioners voted to recommend to the City Council a propos zoning change in the 1400 block of Golf Course Road. The proposal presented by W. M. Hickey, would change the zoning from single-family residences to another classification of single-family residences to allow construction of four houses on three

The day of the party, six invited guests called to say that they had houseguests and to ask if say? So we had all these extra people in whom we had no interest whatsoever. They took up the space and ate and drank what could have gone to our own friends.

It seems to me that when people are invited to a party and they have houseguests, they should decline the invitation and not ask the hostess to entertain their houseguests, too.

How does one handle such rudeness?-BEEN

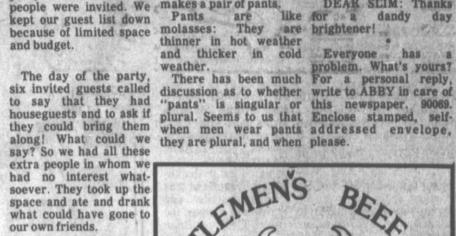

DEAR BEEN: Sorry but when you're stuck, you're stuck. When invited guests ask to bring their houseguests along there is no way to tell them they are not welcome.

I can see where unit vited guests might present a real problem at a sit-down dinner, which I would not hesitate to point out, but a cocktail buffet can usually be stretched to handle some additional guests.

Q. What types of sports and exercise are historial in improving posturel

A. Bicycling, walking, rowing and various sports like basketball are types of exercise which help to lay the foundation for good posture. In these spor-Ms, it is necessary to keep a straight back, with chest held high. Walking needs no equipment of any kind, but to get the most out of it, it is important to swing both arms-left leg with right arm and vice versa.

Breakfasts differ in D.C.

By WENDY LAW-YONE SEAGRAVE
The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — The trouble with a champion is

WASHINGTON — The trouble with a champion is that everyone wants to know the secret of your success. How's your love life? What kind of deodorant do you use? Is it working? Nothing is sacred. They even want to know what you eat for breakfast.

It isn't just idle curiosity. Breakfast is the one American meal most under fire from nutritionists. Doctors warn that to dunk a doughnut in coffee and call it breakfast is to get no vitamins — and, worse, to start the day off with a false caffein-and-sugar high.

BUT THIS IS THE AGE of alimentary enlightenment. In earlier times, the rich ate as they pleased, the poor as they could, and the quacks did not have so large and captive an audience.

Darius and Xerxes, the mighty kings of Persia, had breakfasts that would be the envy of the modern health food faddist: Yogurt, fresh melons, and marmalades made of thick honey, fruits, nuts, spices and herbs. When their days as rulers of the Orient world were numbered, their successors, the Tartars, brought radically different gustatory customs.

Kublai Khan's meals were prepared not in the kitchen, but under his saddle. A slab of raw meat was wedged under the mongol horsemen's saddles, and by the time they had galloped across the steppes, the meat had been "cooked" by friction. The great Khan also had milk for breakfast — fermented mare's milk, which the nomads of Mongolia still drink today.

Back in the Western world, the grand monarch, Louis XIV, breakfasted modestly. He rose at eight, and dined on bread, and wine diluted with ater. This was not so surprising in view of what the king ate later in the day. The Duchesse d'Orleans once said she ahd frequently seen His Majesty ingest four different soups, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a huge platter of salad, a hearty helping of mutton, two thick slices of ham, and lashings of sweetmeats, fruits and preserves.

Thomas Jefferson spent part of each morning making out menus for his evening dinner, after which he would go to the Georgetown market with his French cook, Lemaire, there to select for hismelf fresh vegetables, good meat and pefect fruit — spending about $50 a day for such provisions.

ON WEEKENDS at Monticello, Jefferson rose early, took care of his correspondence, and then took his morning constitutional. When breakfast was finally served, it was huge: Capitolade of fowl on toast, braised partridges with tartar sauce, tansy pudding, hot breads, cold meats, bacon, eggs, fried apples, and batter cakes.

That was the beginning of the end for breakfasts in America. Now, between cholesterol and carbohydrates, diet-conscious Americans are running scared.

But what about champions of Washington? Have they benefited from the advice of nutritionists or did they get to the top on an empty, ulcerated stomach? And if we do as they do, will we be as they are?

"WHAT DOES Elliot Richardson eat for breakfast? You can't be serious," said one of his close aides. "Let's see, the last time I had breakfast with him, he ate eggs, toast, black coffee with one sugar, juice, water — not in that order, of coruse. I guess you could call him a full breakfast eater; what else can I say? who cares about breakfast these days?"

One person who thinks people don't even eat breakfast is Alice Roosevelt Longworth. "Do people still eat breakfast?" she asked in thta dowager tremolo; "Surely no one eats breakfast. Doughnuts? Ugh, I'm afraid I've nothing to contribute."

Jack Valenti eats all-natural cereal with skim milk and a cup of coffee. He probably needs it, after 20 minutes of jogging, situps, and pushups. He rises at 6:45, and watches television (in the bathroom) as he

Of the early-morning joggers, the most recognizable is William proxmire, who has sardines for breakfast. Or tuna fish. Or salmon. It's all low fat protein, and tastes terrific, he insists. Some times he alternates the fish with bran cereals and tosses in grapefruit and milk. Never eggs or coffee ... though he'll occasionlly allow himself some bacon. He jogs all the way to work, never too breathless for a friendly wave, the wind ruffling his freshly-planted head of hair, and beating his baggy khaki pants. Ellen Proxmire, who runs her own career, planning weddings and handling conventions, has nothing to do for her husband's breakfast. The Senator runs on an empty stomach and eats at the office.

ANOTHER PHYSICAL FITNESS freak is Strom Thurmond who, at 73, recently added a fourth child to his brood. He has a glass of prune juice chased by a glass of hot water before runnign tow or three miles at the crack of dawn. Then 15 minutes of exercises. Breakfast follows: a glass of orange juice, another of grapefruit, topped off by milk, whole wheta toast, and the white only of two eggs — either poached or beaten in a glass of milk.

Averell Harriman is another one who leaves the yolks on his plate. This minor bit of information on his breakfast habits was gleaned from a member of the Harriman household staff before the elder statesman put oan end to it all. "Please tell the Post," said the 84-year-old Harriman, "I'd like to haev a little privacy in my life."

haev a little privacy in my life."

As for Ralph Nader, one might suppose that there is nothing in this world left that's safe for him to eat; but we'll never know. Insulated from such trite questions by a well-trained staff, Nader is as private and sober as ever. "It is our practice not to deal in personalities," came the stiff reply. "We do not feel that what he eats for breakfast is a pressing consumer interest."

Speaker of the House Carl Albert, who has frequently been seen doing his own grocery shopping, pepares his own breakfast; coffee, fruit juice, a boiled egg and, occasionally, cereal.

BARBARA JORDAN is on a diet, which doesn't call for a breakfast. And anyhow, added a member of the staff, "She's a very private person."

The most public person in the United States eats breakfast around 6:30 in the morning. After riding his exercise bike, President Ford eats fruit, toast or an English muffin, and tea. Coffee is taken around 10 a.m.

His opponent, Ronald Reagan has a different attitude about breakfast. He thinks you should sleep through it. "That's just one more reason I likehim," says his campaign director, John Sears, who is equally fed up with mornings and breakfast. "There's nothing funny about getting up in the morning and trying to eat." Occasionally, Reagan does manage to force down a little orange juice.

Over in the Democratic camp, there is Hubert Horatio Humphrey, running on self-generated steam. "He never goes to bed until2 or 3 a.m., gets up at 8 a.m." and subsists on Total and black coffee Acres of Parking and at 8 a.m., and subsists on Total and black coffee.

Fred and LaDonna Harris have been rattling around the country rustling on votes and camp followers in campers. Harris loves to cook and often prepares a mess of scrambled eggs, toast and sometimes Mexican refried beans. Both are tarying to diet, but Harris has difficulty remembering that

FBI's goals cited

The Federal Bureau of Investigation today means different things to different people, largely congressional inquiries which have tended to make people wonder in some instances.

And this brings us to the question, "What should the FBI do to acquit itself in its law enforcement function in our society," which was asked by Clarence Kelley, FBI director, in a recent address.

"In my estimation," Kelley said in answering his own question, "the greatest of the goals the FBI must constantly pursue is achieving a climate of tranquility for the American people. A free people should not fear violence. Yet many of us do. And those of us who fear cannot freely exercise those precious liberties that came to our generation through 200 years of democracy.

"Violence not only inhibits the exercise of rights guaranteed by our Constitution but also diminishes the legacy of freedoms we pass on to future generations of Americans.

The director then went on to explain that he is of the opinion that "the FBI has a vital role in assuring that future Americans inherit their full share of freedoms.'

"And let me emphasize that those freedoms include the First Amendment right of free speech," he continued.

"I can assure you that the FBI does not investigate individuals or groups simply because they hold unpopular or controversial political views."

He said that he holds that the right of all peaceful, nonviolent persons or groups to express their beliefs can be maintained only in the climate of tranquility the FBI diligently pursues. "It would be ridiculous to think that in that pursuit we hold as anything less than inviolate the rights and protections guaranteed Americans by their Constitution.

"Indeed, the whole spectrum of FBI activities contributes directly or indirectly to creating an environment in which Americans can enjoy their freedoms."

Kelley went on to say that the FBI has targeted the country's growing terrorist problem for priority attention. He said there is nothing more repressive of individual liberties than fear. And fear is the terrorist's stock in trade.

"Threats to bloody up our Bicentennial celebrations have ranged from bombing the Liberty Bell to perpetrating a massacre in Washington, D.C.," Kelley said.

"We in the FBI certainly would be derelict if we were to timidly retire from attempts to identify and monitor terrorist groups because our past domestic security efforts have been criticized.'

'The fact is," he continued, "that we engage in domestic security activities not from choice but because of duty.

'The nature of our responsibilities is such that we shall never receive universal approval. All we can hope to achieve is an acceptable balance within the 'line' drawn by today's Americans."

Diminishing the ravaging effect on freedom that crime has achieved in the nation's society is a goal of the FBI.

"The FBI," he said, "is specifically charged with investigating violations of certain federal statutes; but if we were to stop there, we could offer no assistance to local police agencies in providing more security to citizens in their homes and on the street. So, we have joined with local law enforcement agencies in cooperative, mutually helpful efforts.

"The FBI is neither the evil, threatening Gestapo some of our critics claim we are, nor are we infallible."

"You can expect from the FBI," Kelley concluded, "that we will endeavor to fulfill our mission of tranquility with as little abrasiveness as possible in the lawful techniques we use, but with continued vigor and enthusiasm."

Americans should be grateful for those words of assurance.

But Mindermann has to answer the mail

WASHINGTON - The House Judiciary Committee in its infinite wisdom sent the latest handgun control bill back to a subcommittee for further "revision," thus probably killing it for another year. After i committee vote of 18 to 14 to send it to the floor, the National Rifle Assn. put on so much pressure that three congressmen reversed their previous positions and that was the end of this year's hope for a safer and saner America.

When my friend Mindermann heard the news on the radio he called me. "You owe me $5. I told you Congress was too yellow to pass a gun control "That is not nice to say. The committee probably voted their consciences," I said.

"Yeh, right after they got the mailgrams from the NRA. Listen, you're living in a dream world if you think Congress is ever going to pass any kind of a handgun control law."

"I can always hope," I said.
"The trouble with you bleeding hearts is that you're going about it the wrong way. You're trying to outlaw weapons that are as sacred to an American as underarm deodorants: You have to figure out some way of letting the people keep their guns, but at the same time do no harm to anyone.

What do you suggest, wise guy?" I asked Mindermann "Well, you're going to think I'm crazy, but I have an idea. You cut off everybody's trigger finger at birth.":

"You are crazy."
"Hear me out. We can't do anything with the present generation, but we can save future generations from killing each other through accidents and anger and despair.

'But you can't cut off someone's trigger finger at birth," I protested. Why not? The Constitution gives everyone the right to bear arms, which is the main argument the NRA, throws at us all the time. But there is nothing in the Constitution that says, an American has to have 10 fingers. "But, Mindermann," I said, "it sounds so gory.

"It's a simple operation. Any doctor can perform it. The baby would never know it. When he got old enough the parents could explain to him or her that since Congress would never pass a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of guns, the only road open to them was to pass one forbidding any American to have a trigger finger." "But the gun manufacturers and the NRA would be up in arms if you tried something like that." "Why would they? We're not saying they can't sell guns or ammunition. They can do anything they damn

"But what good would a gun or ammunition be if no one has a finger to squeeze the trigger?"

Mindermann said, "Now you're getting the point. Listen, I've researched this thing. I took a poll of the House Judiciary Committee and the Senate, and not one of them had any strong feeling about fingers. There is no finger lobby to speak of. In fact, everyone I talked to said they couldn't see any reason for their constituents to object to having one! finger removed providing the government paid for it under

"I'll have to admit it sounds simpler. than trying to get a handgun control bill through Congress."

"It's the only answer to the problem," Mindermann said. "The slogan for the bill would be, 'If you can't take the trigger out of the gun, take the trigger finger out of the boy.

"I'll make a deal with you, Mindermans. I'll suggest it in my column, but you have to answer the mail." "Deal. And don't forget to send the

Frank Church the candidate

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON - On a dismal day in 1949, a 23-year-old Stanford law student, named Frank Church, was told by his doctors that his backaches came from terminal cancer.

He refused to accept the verdict. He underwent massive surgery, then Xray treatments. By the time he recovered from the ordeal, the sixfoot Frank Church weighed barely 90 ounds. But the cancer was gone, and t has never returned. It's hard to imagine that the charismatic, huskily healthy Senator of today almost left his mark as a cancer fatality statistic. His round blue eyes are clear behind his glasses; his tan skin is stretched tight on a cherubic face; his graying hair flops out of place with a boyish rascality. After that experience," the Senator reflects, "I decided that life itself was the major risk. It could be snatched away at any moment. It has to be lived to the fullest. I had to take big chances. Win or lose, I had to play for high stakes."

The high-stake game he chose was politics. In the solid Republican state of Idaho, he ran for the Senate in 1956 on the Democratic ticket. He not only triumphed but he has been re-elected

In 1964, he went against the overhwelming public opinion in his state and challenged America's entanglement in the jungles of Vietnam. He not only survived at the polls but is now honored for his political courage. Later this week, he'll take another big gamble. With little money and no organization, he'll plunge into the presidential race at a time when others are dropping out. The political odds against him are enormous, but Frank Church is still determined to take all he can get out of life.

Those who know him stress one characteristic. "He's a thoroughly decent person," they agree. He has character and integrity, they add. They all speak, too, of his courage. "He has always had the guts to stick out his neck when he has had to," said a Senate colleague.

Frank Church is an ambitious politican who carefully scheduled time for his family when his public career threatened to absorb his life. He is a serious, almost solemn officeholder who uses cold precision to dissect and discredit an opponent's logic. Yet at the same time, Church has a bubbling, boyish enthusiasm and a subtle, warm wit.

He confounds the pundits with his political philosophy, which can be labeled roughly as liberal. Yet it rests on conservative foundations, He traces his philosophy back to his father, a conservative who always thought the bottom was going to fall out, a man who felt he couldn't afford to take risks."

Frank Church, the big political roller, grew up accepting his father's philosophy. But his experience with cancer altered some of his boyhood concepts. And his wife, Bethine, but not good enough to get him some delegates from New York, where his and has played an active role in her husband's career. She is his sounding board and devil's advocate, a partner beyond the normal candidate-andwife relationship

The revelations from Church's committees on multinational corporations and intelligence agencies which have startled the country helped solidify many of his attitudes. He uses his debater's skills to build an extensive case when he talks of his

"All this isn't going to be stopped by cosmetic action in Congress. It will-take a President to bring government back inside the law and restore the sense of legitimacy in government to the people.
"Without that," he notes, "just wait for the demagogue, the man who claims to have all the answers. It COULD happen here. Frank Church walks around his orderly office as he thinks and talks about the state of the world. "There has been a tremendous concentration of power in Washington," notes the rural Idaho man beneath the urbane Senator. "The country has been made into a pyramid by big government, big business, big labor, with all of it centered here.

sameness to the harangue. Moreover, Wallace is weak in discussing foreign Wallace is a pursuer, but not a President. He has done the country a great service in talking about social issues that conventional politicians avoided in cowardice. He is more honest than most liberals, and that's why even some blacks prefer him. He will be remembered as a valuable and stimulating force in American politics of the '60s and '70s, but he will never leave his wheelchair for the large leather one in the Oval Office.

the small society

thus making it the closest in our history.

A lot of liberal sorghum has flowed since then. Without using Wallace's trenchant language, many Democrats came around to addressing the social issues that he harped on for years. Consequently, Wallace doesn't sound as fresh and revealing as he once did.

Busing is an unpleasant reality in Florida. So Wallace shouted about it in 1976, but evoked only hard-core response. And a sweet-talking, anti-Washington Southerner was on the ballot alongside Wallace, namely

Gov. Jimmy Carter. How these jackals could establish Wallace as the favorite only speaks of the nonsense flowing from our dear political process. The Florida primary promised to be no more than a toss-up between Wallace and

Carter. The final total showed Carter getting 34 per cent of the vote, Wallace 31 per cent and Sen. Henry Jackson 24 per cent. This is a nice, deserved win for Carter, who has been more successful than Wallace in addre year and certainly those in Florida: Credibility of and honesty in govern-

Still, at this point, Carter, the leading winner, has 70 delegates committed to him, and Wallace, the loser, is second with 58. Jackson follows with 55. Rep. Morris Udall, the pacesetting liberal, has 23.

It is dismaying to realize that the health issue is being hung round Wallace's neck. Whatever your feelings about the man, he has courage, and has endured enormous physical and mental suffering. He is a paraplegic who nearly died. He welcomes the rough and tumble of national campaigning. He is handicap-ped by a serious hearing loss — one due to damage done to his hearing mechanism by the engine roar of World War II B-29 bombers on which he served as engineer.

Wallace's campaign strategists thought they had put the health ques-tion to rest after various public testimonials to his fitness and by the very fact that the governor had toured Europe and the United States before the primary season began.

But we of the pecksniff press keep probing him about the state of his being, and after he "lost" in Florida, a gang of surveyors checked voters to ind out if the health issue affected their vote. It turned out that about 40 per cent of the voters did not think Gov. Wallace was physically capable of being President.

So now we can expect this issue to get bigger, and Wallace will be plagued with it as he was with genuine

It must be said that the 1976 Wallace campaign is improved, but that's only an improvement over the flying ten shows of 1972 and 1968. Instead of chugging piston-engine planes, Wallace jets about in a BAC-111, comfortably laid out for 21 passengers other BAC-111 follows with 65 seats

This source, who did not wish to be identified, was cautious about whether Adornetto can be believed.

"There is speculation as to his (Adornetto's) credibility," said the official. "We don't know what is fact and what is fiction. Some of what he says is obviously credible."

The official's statements confirmed for the first time previous rumors that Adornetto has been talking to the FBI since he and five others were arrested in a predawn raid on a house in Richmond, Calif., on Feb. 21. Confiscated at the house were 150 pounds of explosives, 85 blasting caps, an assembled bomb and timing devices. The FBI said documents were found

Adornetto was arraigned with the other five on charges of possessing unregistered destructive devices, but his handling since that arraignment Feb. 23 has fueled suspicion that he will testify against the others. He has been kept in separate custody from them and at his attorney's request, a federal magistrate sent him to an undisclosed federal hospital for psychiatric examination Meanwhile, the other five have all been indicted on new charges conpected to bomb-making and face trial May 3. The request to have Adornetto was seen as a delaying tactic by the prosecution to prevent him from coming to trial until after his possible testimony against the others.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley confirmed in Washington Monday that his agency has information alleging that "a member of a terrorist group" was planning to assassinate the President and his GOP challenger, Reagan. The assassination was supposedly to take place at the GOP convention in Kansas City next August. Kelley said the claim is so far unsubstantiated but that it is under intensive investigation by the FBI and the U.S. Secret Service.

rate at the end of 1977 that is sixtenths of 1 per cent higher - an increase of 500,000 unemployed - than would exist under a "current policy"

The "current policy" budget, used by the Congressional Budget Office as a base from which to judge alternative budgets, continues current federal programs with adjustments for projected inflation and population

Under that budget, the office estimated, spending would be bet-ween $419 billion to $425 billion and the deficit would range between $55

'llion to $65 billion, depending on the trength of recovery. Ford's budget proposes $394 billion in spending and a $43-billion deficit.

Under Ford's budget, the Gross National Product by late 1977 would be under the "current policy" budget, the report said. The GNP roughly measures the value of all goods and services produced in the country.

The office said further that Ford's budget "would probably have little short-run effect on inflation," but after two or three years might yield an inflation rate three-tenths of 1 per cent lower than current policies would

Dr. Rivlin, briefing reporters on the study, said her staff economists are optimistic about the course of the economy. "Clearly, a quite strong recovery is in progress," she said.

The report estimated unemployment, which was 8.5 per cent in the last quarter of 1975, would range between 7 and 7,5 per cent by the end of 1976 and between 6.4 to 6.9 per cent by the end of 1977 if the "current policy" budget were law.

The consumer price index, a measure of inflation, under the "current policy" budget could go from 166 at the end of 1975 to from 174 to 177 a year later and to 183 to 188 by the end of 1977. On this scale, the 1967 consumer price level is 100.

Dr. Rivlin noted that the projections generally are the same as those Ford's advisers contend would result from his more restrictive budget, saying administration economists evidently are more optimistic about recovery than her staff experts.

U.S. rests rebuttal case against Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The government, depicting Patricia Hearst as a restless rebel seeking a cause, has rested its rebuttal case in her trial for bank robbery by once again using her own words against U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. disclosed Monday that a stone necklace discovered in her purse the day of Miss Hearst's arrest matched one found under the charred body of a terrorist she has bitterly denounced during the trial.

He then played a tape from the underground in which Miss Hearst mentioned the necklace as a sentimental link with the slain Symbionese Liberation Army member. After playing the tape, Browning rested the second phase of his case.

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey was poised to begin surrebuttal testimony

Bailey strenuously objected when Browning asked U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter if he could play a brief portion of a tape the jury heard

Bailey argued that Miss Hearst's trial for bank robbery, now in its eighth week, is long overdue for conclusion. But Browning insisted that the jurors hear her mention the necklace on her last tape from the

In the June 1974 recording, Miss Hearst eulogized six SLA soldiers who had died in a gun battle with Los Angeles police three weeks earlier. Among them was Willie Wolfe, called in the underground. Miss Hearst said on the tape that Wolfe had been her lover. In court, she said he raped her and that she despised him.

"The pigs probably have the little Olmec monkey that Cujo wore around his neck," said the voice on the tape. 'He gave me the little stone face one

Miss Hearst, 22, testified that SLA member Emily Harris wrote the script for the tape and that she was forced to read it.

Browning, however, called three quick witnesses Monday who said that a matching necklace was found in her purse when she was captured last Sept. 18.
All of Miss Hearst's seven tapes sent from the underground have been played in court and some of her writings, replete with revolutionary rhetoric, have been read.

Browning's final major witness was Dr. Harry L. Kozol, a Boston psychiatrist who examined Miss Hearst five times in January.

He described the newspaper heiress as a bored, rebellious teen-ager searching for an outlet to her frustrations. "The cause found her," he said of her kidnaping by the SLA on Kozol said Miss Hearst was an win radicalism prior to her abduction.

Big Spring residents support application

AUSTIN (AP) - Big Spring residents testified Monday in support of an application by Trans Regional Airlines, which is competing with Chaparral Airlines, Inc., for permission to provide roundtrip service from Abilene to five cities.

Adolph Schwartz, a businessman who has lived in Big Spring 43 years, and others said they wanted to do what they could to make Trans Regional-which operates out of Big Spring-stronger financially.

Schwartz said Trans Regional had not asked the Big Spring delegation to appear at the hearing before examiner John Soule of the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

Soule said he would conclude his hearing today on whether Trans Regional or Chapparal should be allowed to connect Abilene with Austin, Houston, Lubbock and Midland-Odessa.

His recommendation will go to the full commission. Both airlines propose to use twin-engine eight-passenger planes to serve Abilene. "When Texas International said it

with tiny country

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States suspended diplomatic relations with Equatorial Guinea because the small African nation violated "accepted norms of international diplomacy" by barring two American diplomats, the State Department says.

U.S. officials also said Monday the suspension came after an official of Equatorial Guinea sent an "insulting" letter to the two Americans as they concluded a visit there earlier this month. The letter was followed by a telegram last week declaring the two officials persona non grata, thus barring them from the country.

The two Americans were Ambassador Herbert J.
Spiro and Consul William C. Mithoefer Jr., who serve in neighboring Cameroon but are also accredited diplomats to Equatorial Guinea.

THE MANUFACTURE and labeling of vitamins are now regulated by the Food and Drug Administration, but Sen. ## Bruins in playoffs despite harsh critics

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Gene Bartow's UCLA basketball team has drawn perhaps an inordinate amount of criticism this season — the defending national champions did, after all, lose four of 27 games during the regular season.

But even the harshest critics of Bartow, who's trying to fill the shoes of the retired, and legendary, John Wooden, will have to note that the Bruins are where they usually are this time of the year, alive and well in the NCAA playoffs.

UCLA, ranked fifth in the final poll of the season, whipped San Diego State 74-64 Saturday in Eugene to move into the West regional finals. The Bruins will meet surprising, but probably outmanned, Pepperdine on Thursday in the first game on UCLA's court in Pauley Pavilion.

Also vying in the West Regionals and gunning for a spot in the NCAA finals March 27-29 in Philadelphia are Arizona and third-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas. They, too, play Thursday night in Pauley, with the winner advancing to Saturday's West finale against the UCLAPepperdine winner. En route to Thursday's date in Pauley, the Bruins have done business pretty much as usual.

They lost their first outing of the rear, falling to first-ranked Indiana 84-64. They split two games with Notre Dame, winning the first meeting 86-70, then losing 95-85 in for granted — like Pepperdine.

"I have great respect for Pepperdine and I hope we can play well because the Waves have beaten Las Vegas and a good Memphis State team. And this will be the game of their lives."

While Bartow has at times been sensitive to the frequent criticism of his Bruin team, he indicated he won't be dissatisfied if the Bruins don't play perfect basketball — just good enough to win — during the NCAA tour-

Lamesa wins against Eagles

The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes swept a doubleheader from the Odessa Ector Eagles Monday by scores of 6-3 and 6-1.

Keith Lee picked up the victory in the first game while Albert Martinez was the winner in the second contest which was called after five innings due to darkness.

Lamesa is now 4-3 on the season and Ector stands 4-7 with the two losses. In other action in the area, Big Spring dumped Snyder, 14-6, to bring its record to 7-3 on the season.

"There is no doubt Indiana is a great team," said John Wooden, who coached UCLA to the NCAA title 10 of the past 12 years before retiring after last season. "They have it inside and they have it outside. They have balance and an an an arrangement of the past in a past i the best in the country. They're strong—extremely physical."

But Wooden took didn't think the Hoosiers, 28-0, belong in the same class with the championship UCLA squads.

"Before you compare them to any of the other great teams, they've first. said Wooden; who served as a television commentator for Indiana's triumph over St. John's Saturday. We (UCLA) won 10 of 12 championships, seven of them in a row."

Nevertheless, Wooden likes In-diana—especially the clawing manto-man defense which is the trademark of teams coached by Bobby Knight.

"That's the mark of any great team," he said. "No matter what the sport, you've got to have a great defense. If they lose, it won't be to an inferior team having a great game. Indiana's defense won't let that happen. It's going to take an excellent team to beat them."

Alabama just might be that team. The Crimson Tide, 23-4 and ranked sixth in the latest Associated Press poll, won the Southeastern Conference title and are coming off an impressive 79-64 triumph over North Carolina. They play a tight man-to-man defense which is similar to Indiana's and they have one of the nation's finest big men in Leon

"I'm looking forward to Indiana," said Douglas, a 6-foot10 senior who scored 35 points and grabbed 17 rebounds against North Carolina and will be matched up against Indiana All-American Kent Benson. "I think our team is good enough to go all the other Alabama players also are confident.

"Indiana is very physical," said T.R. Dunn, "but they can be hurt by quickness. We were a lot quicker than North Carolina was."

Rickey Brown added, "I'm glad we're: playing Indiana. They're supposed to be the best and it's a privilege to play the No. I team. We know we can play. We're not saying we're the best, but we rank among the best."

after the 1976-77 seasons.

ST. PETERSBURG. Fla. (AP) — Key proposals made Monday by the major league club owners to the players' association for a new labor agreement.

One-Year Option

Any player whose major league 1975 contract was renewed for 1976 may play out his option in 1976 and become a free agent.

Any player who signs a 1976 contract may play out his option in 1977 and become a free agent.

Any player who signed a long-term contract may play out his option in 1977 and become a free agent.

Any player who signs a contract after the date of ratification of the expiration of the contract and become a free agent.

Any player who signs a contract after the date of ratification of the proposed new agreement shall be bound by the new reserve system.

Draft Rights

A free agent shall only be eligible to negotiste with a maximum of eight clubs that have acquired the right to negotiate with him. The club selection will be on an inverse order of standings of the preceding season. Atso, the player's previous club may be one of the eight eligible to negotiate. If a player is not selected by any club, he is free to negotiate with any club.

Number of players club may sign: If there are 16 or less free agents in the selection pool, no club may sign more than one. If there are from 12 to 40, no club may sign more than two. If there are from 41 to 64, no club may sign more than three. Any club may be eligible to sign as many players as it may have lost.

Repeater rights: A player who has become a free agent shall be eligible to ask for a trade after be completes an additional three years of major league service or for free agency after be completes an additional option year. The player will not be eligible as a repeater unless he also is eligible for a trade or free agency under the future reserve system.

"I figure he might be calling," said Osmond Monday night. He said only two clubs have shown an interest so far, the California Angels and Braves.

Messersmith did not sign his contract with the Dodgers last year, because he insisted on a no-trade clause. He went to court to become a free agent and won a ruling from arbitrator Peter Seitz. That decision was later upheld by two other courts when baseball appealed.

The Messersmith case is the main reason why spring training has been closed down for nearly three weeks with both players and owners squabbling over the reserve clause issue.

Osmond said no price tag has been set on Messersmith, who has had two 20-game winning seasons in eight years in the major leagues. "Everything is wide open. Right now we're just ready to listen to some offers," Osmond said. Jim "Catfish" Hunter won a similar case last year and the former Oakland Athletics pitcher bargained a long-term $3.75million contract with the New York Yankees. Messersmith reportedly earned $150,000 last season with Los Angeles. "I may not get Andy Messersmith, but I'm going to give it a helluva try,' Turner reportedly told friends.

"Brad Corbett of the Texas Rangers," Miller responded. "He had about 25 players at a meeting in Pompano. Miller then took apart the owners' key proposal, their recognition of the one-and-one option decision decreed by an arbitrator and subsequently upheld by two federal courts. The one-and-one ruling was handed down in the cases of Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally. Both were made free agents as a result of playing one year with a contract and then a second year without signing.

"Under the owners' proposal, Miller said, "the players will not be free agents in the Messersmith sense. Nor has the issue of liability been settled. It has been reduced."

talk merger TORONTO (AP) - Owners of ### Indiana named top cage team

By The Associated Press

Indiana is No. 1 in the final Associated Press college basketball poll of the 1975-76 season, a position the Hoosiers' fans have been claimin all along. St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca agrees.

"They deserve all the accolade they received this year," Carneseccusaid after the burly Hoosiers maule Carnesecca's Redmen 90-70 Saturda in the opening round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association postseason tournament. "They just mangled us like no other team... IT WAS the first time since 1953 that Indiana captured the top spot in The AP poll. Then, the Hoosiers were led by Don Schlundt and Bobby Leonard. It also was the last time Indiana captured the NCAA title.

Paced by All-Americans Scott May and Kent Benson, the Hoosiers stillare looking for another national court crown, a title that eluded them last year when May was injured late in the regular season and saw only limited action in the playoffs before the Hoosiers were upset by neighboring Kentucky.

CARNESECCA called Indiana "one

Records indicate that the order marks the first time the Texas oil and gas regulatory agency has directed another state unit to plug an oil well under the Railroad Commission's Statewide Rule 14 which requires plugging of oil and gas wells to prevent waste of hydrocarbons and/or to

RRC adopts restrictive sulfide rule

AUSTIN, (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission claims that it has adopted a more restrictive rule on the handling of deadly hydrogen sulfide in oil and gas production. The amended rule goes into effect

The new rule covers production and drilling operations where the presence of hydrogen sulfide concentration in excess of 100 parts per million may be a public hazard. It also requirss that: -Operators of potentially hazardous operations develop written plans for protecting the public if hydrogen sulfide is released.

-Personnel be trained to respond to the release of the gas in a manner that will protect the public.

The new rule, the statement added. "requires that unattended fixed surface facilities shall be protected from public access when located within onefourth mile of a dwelling, place of business, hospital, school church, government building, school bus stop, public park, town, city or

Such protection could include fencing and locking or the plugging of valve openings. Well sites within a city or townsite must be fenced. Drilling materials must be resistan

By RICHARD M. WEINTRAUB

The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — In what appars to be the first practical effect of a broad reassessment of Soviet-American relations. Washington has abruptly canceled a meeting of the Soviet-American Joint Commission on Energy Cooperation.

The meeting, postponed on a week's notice, was to have opened Monday in Moscow with Federal energy Administrator Frank Zarb heading the U.S. delegaton. The gruop was set up in 1974 under agreements reached in Moscow in 1972 at the first Nixon-

When President Ford dropped the word "detente" in referring to U.S. relations with the Soviet Union in a campaign statement two weeks ago, high administration officials played it down as having no practical impact.

Yet a White House official said Monday that the general reassess-ment of the relationality was started by Secretary of State Henry A. Kiss-inger, soon after the full extent of Soviet Involvement in Angola was

A U.S. diplomat said that the steps are part of a move to reduce "low-substance, high-visibility" U.S. official contacts with the Soviet Union.

"We are not prepared to conduct all aspects of our relations on a business-as-usual basis," the "We want more time to assess the trend in U.S. Soviet relations," said another U.S. diplomat.

The Soviets have expressed "sura State Department official familiar with the discussions. "They are not entirely pleased with the decision," to meet if Washington in April. In all, there are nine such Cabinetlevel commissoins which carry out 11 cooperalive agreements negotiated in the early part of this decade as part of the developing policy of detente.

While State Department officials negotiated with the Soviets on strategic arms and other military issues, the dozens of sub-commissions connected with the other cooperative greements discussed programs in such diverse areas as trade, highenergy transmission, and application of computer technology to manage-

slight technical gain

New York (AP) — The stock market showed a slight gain today in a mild technical rebound after two sessions of sharp decline.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 2.67 at 977.17 following a decline of 28.81 points in the past two trading days. Gainers led losers by about a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange listed issues.

Analysts generally weren't very impressed by the advance. The Dow began to slip back after peaking at plus-4 late in the morning, and trading remained sluggish.

Lebanese army fires at presidential palace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army forces opposed to President Suleiman Franjieh said they fired a warning artillery shot at the hilltop presidential palace today as the Christian president tried to negotiate a face-saving way of meeting demands that he resign.

"We only fired one round of ar-tillery at his palace this morning," said Lt. Ahmed AlKhatib, whose force of Moslem deserters from the regular army has taken over army garrisons in many parts of Lebanon. "It was just a warning, just to make his knees quiver."

Khatib did not say whether the shot hit the palace, and there was no confirmation of his claim from the palace or the office of Brig. Aziz Ahdab, the commander of the Beirut garrison who proclaimed himself provisional military governor of

Group elects new president

Teresa Marmolejo was initiated as president of the Midland Association for Bilingual Education Monday night when the local group was officially authorized by the state association.

Roger de los Santos, staff consultant for the Texas Association for Bilingual Education, installed the new officers and spoke to the new organization about the values of the bilingual education program.

Other officers are Roy Fuentes, vice president; Maria Jimenez, secretary; Berta Garcia, treasurer, and Marsha Samponara, parliamentarian.

The organization's purpose is to assist children not fluent in the English language, to make school most effective for all children, to educate all citizens — particularly parents — in aspects of the bilingual program and to assist educators involved with bilingual children in the pursuit of the best possible education.

Lebanon last Thursday and demanded Franjieh's resignation.

Khatib and Col. Raouf Samad, the commander of the Mt. Lebanon area, joined forces with Ahdab Monday for a three-prong advance toward the presidential palace four miles east of Beirut. But Palestinian guerrillas of the pro-Syrian Saiqa organization blocked part of the advance amid reports that President Hafez Assad of Syria was backing efforts to arrange a peaceful exit for Francisch. a peaceful exit for Franjieh.

Boardings up and down

Boardings at Midland Regional Air Terminal were down for Continental Airlines and up for Texas International last month from figures; for the same month last year.

The city progress report showed. Continental had 13,672 boardings last month, compared to 16,011 boardings. during February, 1975. Continental's total boardings for the year were down, too, from 83,187 last year to date to 77,805 this year to date.

Last month, Texas International had 3,179 boardings, compared to the zero boardings during February of last year. At that time, TI was still on Boardings at TI for this year were up from last year's figures, at 15,295 this year to date and 6,243 last year to tower were slightly down last month, from 9,687 during February, 1975 to 9,597 last month.

Revenue from the parking lot at Terminal was $14,576 last month, up from the $11,226 for February a year ago. Revenue for the year to date is $69,649, compared to last year to date's figure of $56,443.

South ruffed the opening lead and drew trumps with the ace and king. Then he looked for a way to win a trick with one of dummy's side cards. If South leads toward dummy's queens he winds up losing two diamonds and two clubs. This is predictable since East surely has both missing kings for his opening bid.

Declarer had to duck three times to bring about the right position. South led a low club after drawing two rounds of trumps.

West's seven of clubs held the trick. West shifted to the jack of diamonds, and dummy ducked again. West led the ten of diamonds, and dummy ducked for the third time. GIVES UP DIAMOND

Declarer won the second diamone with the ace and returned a diamond forcing East to capture dummy's queen. (The position would have been similar if West had switched back to clubs after winning a diamend trick, except that East would be put in with a club.)

Now if East led a club, dummy's queen would win a trick. If East led the ace of hearts, South would ruff and get to dummy with the jack of spades to cash the king of hearts.

Richmond Research leam 1) ISCOWETS Hnriched Hawor

MERIT taste secret found by isolating key flavor ingredients in cigarette smoke, then adding them to tobacco.

In Richmond, Virginia, there's an eight-scory building that houses the main Research Facility for Philip Morris.

Around the company they call it the Tower. It's here that pure research in tobacco yielded what might be the most significant smoking advance since the filter.

It's called 'Enriched Flavor.' It comes in the tobacco of a new kind of low tar cigarette. MERIT.

Only 9 mg. of tar. Yet with astonishing flavor.

If you enjoy a full-flavor cigarette nowbut would like to find a low tar smoke with a taste you can switch to and stick withyou'll be interested.

Key Flavor Ingredients Of Tobacco Isolated

'Enriched Flavor' was developed by "cracking" cigarette smoke down into its basic ingredients, and isolating special key units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

'Enriched Flavor' is extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't fade out, can't do anything but come through for you.

We packed MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor and began a series of taste tests.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

Thousands of filter cigarette smokers tested 9 mg. tar MERIT against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar."

> Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much-or more - taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.
