In a rapid-fire series of votes, the 1,517member Supreme Soviet approved the new constitution and echoed President Leonid Brezhnev's choice for vice president, First Deputy Foreign Minister Va-

Brezhnev, who spoke twice during the session, declared that Oct. 7 will be a national holiday — Constitution Day — and parliament then voted to make the new constitution effective immediately.

"From today the new constitution starts to live, work and operate," Brezhnev told the Supreme Soviet. "We made this constitution not as a stage prop but the everyday life of the Soviet people." Communist party theoretician Mikhail Suslov nominated the 76-year-old Kuznetsov for vice president, a post created by the new constitution, and Kuznetsov was quickly elected by acclamation.

Kuznetsov, a steel metallurgy expert who studied at Carnegie Tech in Pitts-burgh and worked at Ford Motor Co. in Detroit in the 1930s, has been a deputy foreign minister for more than 22 years.
Just last Monday he was named an alternate member of the all-powerful Communist Party Politburo. Western diplomats said Koznetsov's appointment as vice president -known in Russia as vice chairman of the Presidium - will have little effect on who will ultimately succeed Brezhnev.

After the adoption of the constitution and a five-minute standing ovation, Brezhnev took the floor a second time and called for revisions of Soviet laws and the constitutions of the Soviet republics to bring them in line with the new national constitution.

The four-day special session of the rubber stamp parliament closed with members standing as the new words of the Soviet national anthem were sung — only 70 minutes after today's session opened.

The new constitution formally outlines the paramount position the Communist Party has occupied in Russia since the many individual freedoms mentioned in the old constitution, it subordinates them for the first time to the rights of the state.

Brezhnev has hailed the document, which has been under preparation for nearly 20 years and will replace the 1936 Stalin constitution, as a reflection of Russia's arrival at "mature socialism."

But a Chinese broadcast beamed to Russia called it "a new proof of the final betrayal by Brezhnev and his company of the basic principles of Marxism-Leninism and is a retrograde movement.'

The Soviet people will one day "bury" Brezhnev and the "reactionary constitution will be swept onto the garbage pile of history," said the broadcast monitored in Hong Kong Thursday.

Panel Delays Decision On Zoning Dispute

Avalanche-Journal Staff After mediating a heated wrangle between Southwest Lubbock residents and commercial property owners for two hours Thursday night, the Planning and Zoning Commission postponed a decision in the case and appointed a committee to meet with representatives of both sides in hopes of reaching a compromise. At the Oct. 13 meeting, Don Workman and Bob Schmidt, named to the committee, will recommend restrictions on types of businesses that can be built on a tract of land zoned heavy commercial (C-4) north and south of 69th Street and east of Slide Road

Although it was to have expired Saturday, a city council-approved moratorium on building permits in the Fiesta Autoland Addition also will be continued until next week's decision, the commission decided.

Commissioners, who originated the zone case at the request of homeowners to provide restrictions on C-4 uses in the area, had expected Thursday to be presented an agreement acceptable to both homeowners and commercial property

Instead, about 35 adamant homeowners declared that all but "one or two" of the C-4 uses were unacceptable so close to the abutting residential zone and presented their own plan to provide a buffer

Panel Turns Down Request On Carts

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Consumer Product Safety Commission this week turned down a request that it impose safety standards on grocery store carts to protect children from injury.

Carts turning over and other problems causing injury result not from faulty design, but rather from consumer misuse, for home economics at Oklahomo State the commission said.

between the commercial and residential

Under the plan, two strips of land from the C-4 tract would be downgraded to general retail (C-3) and restricted local retail (C-2A). The homeowners said they want the buffer to protect their investment in their houses

Property owners vigorously protested the plan, claiming that they bought the land because of its C-4 uses, they have invested money in it, payed C-4 taxes on it and shouldn't be sacrificed for the sake of a buffer the developer should have

Attorney Jan Fouts, representing two of the affected property owners, warned the commission that to heed the homeowners requests "would create very dan-

In the future, he said, "no property owners would feel safe" because they couldn't rely on the "city's integrity" to keep zoning as it was. The real estate industry also would suffer, which would affect all of Lubbock.

Fouts added. Claiming that C-4 restrictions would "threaten" his rights as a businessman. Don Crow, an automobile dealership owner, told the homeowners, "You couldn't help but know there was commercial development there." His business was the first commercial venture in the area, Crow said, explaining that most of the residential development occurred only recently. Fouts said his clients had thought only restrictions would be placed on the tract and not new zoning. A buffer should have been provided, he said, "but it ought not to be now and from us." It was the developer's responsibility, Fouts added.

City Planning Director Jim Bertram told commis oners the situation was a result of mistakes by past commissions and zoning staffers. A buffer between the commercial and residential areas should have been provided with the original zoning 10 years ago, he said.

The error was repeated by the developer, he added.

Commissioners, assuring homeowners and property owners the problem would be corrected with the interests of both parties in mind, indicated compromise would be the only solution.

Otherwise, said Commission Chairman Jim Ratliff, "we could argue all night" about who should have provided the buffer and who should do so now.

Winford Bradley, representing the homeowners, claimed it isn't up to homebuyers to check for buffers. Most people don't consider it, he said, because they feel the city planning will take care of

And many were forced to buy homes in the area because of a recent influx of Texas Instruments workers and a shortage of housing, said Bob Townsend.

But because the C-4 tract was zoned a decade ago, Fouts said, the homeowners were "put on notice." And they had ample access to the information, he added. The area will develop commercially, he told commissioners.

Commissioners also: •Denied Bob Howerton's request for a zone change to allow a motel west of U.S. 87 and south of Chaparral Street. The commission recommended he refile his request with a complete site plan.

·Approved the request of Environmental Design Association to have a tract of land in the West Wind Addition zoned A-2 instead of C-3. A retirement village will be built on the site.

•Okayed Tommy Middleton's request for a zone change from R-1 to R-2 and A-1 for land north of 98th Street and west of

Reese Employe Files Suit

A civilian employe at Reese Air Force Base has sued the Department of the Air Force, claiming she was passed over for a key promotion because of her sex and

The suit was filed in U. S. Dist. Court here by Mrs. Mattie F. Bartlett, 54.

The plaintiff seeks a permanent injunc tion against the Air Force, asking U. S. Dist. Judge Halbert O. Woodward to order the government agency to grant her the desired promotion and pay her back wages, amounting to at least $10,000, to which she alleges she is entitled.

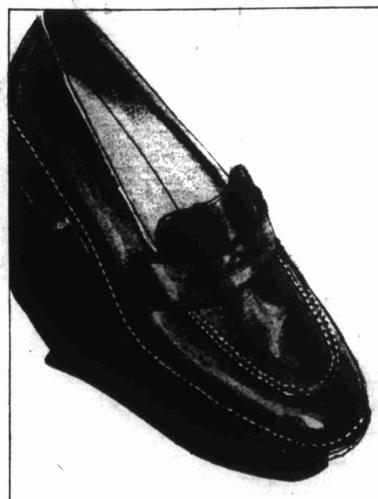

Eric D. F. Girchardt, who, according to the suit, is the officer who denied Mrs. Bartlett the promotion, is named as a defendant both individually and in his official capacity, along with the Air Force.

According to the suit filed by attorney Tom Purdom, Mrs. Bartlett was denied a promotion from Chief of the Supply Branch of the Procurement Division at the air base to Deputy Chief of the Procurement Divison.

The promotion would have meant a rise in civil service job status from GS-9 to GS-11, the suit says.

The suit says the plaintiff filed a complaint of discrimination with the Department of the Air Force on or about Oct. 25, 1976, and that hearings were held on the complaint.

The suit says that the Department of the Air Force informed Mrs. Bartlett in a letter dated Sept. 1 of this year that officials found no discrimination

Woman Reports Finding UFO 'Landing Pad'

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - A heavily used "landing pad" for unidentifed flying objects has been discovered in New Hampshire by Betty Hill, a much publicized UFO observer.

Her most recent sighting occurred this week, but she refuses to tell investigators where the spacecraft are landing.

"I don't want outside investigators tromping all over my landing pad," she said. "It took me a long time to pinpoint the exact location and I don't want those so-called official investigators scaring everything away.'

The 57-year-old woman and her late husband Barney attracted world-wide attention in the 1960s when newspapers across the country reported the couple's alleged experiences on a spaceship in northern New Hampshire.

A book on the Hill's adventure was used last year as the basis for a made for television movie called the "UFO Inci-

Mrs. Hill, who now earns her income by lecturing about UFOs, said she had worked for months searching for the exact landing site of the spacecraft. "I she said, "It was just a question of finding it."

During her search she said she had evaluated hundreds of UFO reports from New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts and had questioned dozens of other "serious" persons who had seen UFOs.

The former New Hampshire Department of Welfare employe refused to be too specific about the location of her landing site.

"It's a marshy area surrounded by tall trees near some corn fields," she said.

Credit Unions In U.S. Keep Eye On Canada

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) - American credit unions look to their Canadian counterparts for many new business ideas, an American credit union executive says.

Mike Welch, executive director of the Credit Union Executives Society (CUES) based in Madison, Wis., said in an interview this week that U.S. credit unions aim to become more involved in mortgage lending, an area of financing in which Canadian credit unions are much more active:

Welch is here for a conference on operational techniques sponsored by CUES, which is primarily an educational body for the credit union movement. The conference is being attended by 200 credit union managers and other personnel, mainly from the United States.

The approximately 23,000 credit unions in the United States have about 40 million members and combined assets exceeding $50 billion. Welch said they are aiming for $100 billion in assets within the next five years.

The biggest U.S. credit union is a Navy group based in Washington, D.C., which has $700 million in assets. Canada's largest is Vancouver City Savings, with assets for the credit union movement in the U.S.," Poiner said. "I have been telling people at this conference that they mustn't close their eyes to develop in the lending markets."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

When Up Becomes Down

Carter and his liberal allies failed to change a single vote in the U.S. Senate, which voted 50 to 46 this week to deregulate the price of new natural gas.

For Texans, the action provides some leverage in joint Senate-House conference ittee negotiations.

The House earlier had passed the President's bill keeping price controls on natural gas and giving federal bureaucrats power to transfer supplies out of Texas to energyshort states in the Northeast.

THIS NEGOTIATING leverage is especially important in view of the President's oftreiterated promise to veto any bill which ended federal price controls.

Although the administration and other supporters of a controlled price claim it is necessary to "protect consumers," producers counter with claims that deregulation actually will benefit consumers in the long run.

They allege that existing federal price controls are responsible for current gas shortages in the interstate market and say that producing states such as Texas have an adequate supply for their own use only because price has a way of becoming a floor price.

DESPITE A 13-DAY filibuster, President prices have gone up enough to make it eco-arter and his liberal allies failed to change nomically feasible to drill for and produce it.

POINTING OUT that President Carter had argued that a higher price would not result in additional gas and, secondly, that a higher price would create huge windfall profits for the companies, The Wall Street Journal said editorially:

"Since what's being debated is not the total deregulation of all natural gas but only the deregulation of newly discovered gas, we are left wondering how the President thinks the companies can make huge profits on gas they don't find."

SO NOW THE whole issue goes back to a conference committee.

If the price is deregulated, the companies will be "under the gun" not to let the price rise too high because to do so would be to invite the narrowly averted federal controls.

It might well be, therefore, that a deregulated price would wind up being lower than a "compromise" ceiling price established under federal controls-because a ceiling Kenneth May

In what was described as a fast shuffle, a hefty $3,426 per-year increase in pensions for some retiring Congressmen was approved.

Mahon says he knew nothing about it until the deed was done. He was especially upset because, since he will be retiring next year, it might appear that he would be a prime beneficiary.

When he checked further, however, he found that he would not be—thanks to an earlier raid on the treasury in 1956.

WHAT HAPPENED the other day, according to news reports, was that a bill was passed with-out being studied by a House committee, without debate, without explanation, without a record vote and without comment by the handful of members who were on the House floor at the

The bill, according to a UPI report, would "allow pensions for those (Congressmen) retiring next year to be figured from the present salary base rather than determining the base from the average of the three highest years' salaries."

The formula would revert back automatically on Jan. 3, 1979, but all a Congressman retiring

When Mahon checked deeper, though, he found that members like himself who have served 32 years or longer already will have their pensions based on their last year's salary alone.

which is over-generous."

THAT IT IS. In fact, I'd say pensions for retired members of Congress are shamelessly high, as are those for military retirees and, to a lesser extent, other federal employes.

Military pensions, which some "retirees" begin drawing for life as early as age 38, now cost American taxpayers $9 billion a year, plus the interest we have to pay on the money the treasury borrows to make those payments.

Despite the obvious fiscal irresponsibility inherent in this pension plan, Congress won't do any-thing about it because its members are on the same gravy train.

Mahon believes the latest attempt to pad the pensions of congressional "veterans" who haven't served as long as 32 years is "buried forever" deep in a Senate committee but he remains upset about the fast-shuffle way it was zipped

The provision basing new pensions on that salary increase was slipped into a bill designed to grant federal pensions to four or five men who have worked for several years as employes of

Rep. William David Ford, a liberal member from Michigan, was the man who brought it up.

NORMALLY, Mahon points out, the members know ahead of time what matters are to be brought up for action each day. Normally, too, legislation is studied by a com-

He refused to give up his place in line at the med school, and he carried his protests to the federal courts. Is it fair, Bakke asks, to be shouldered aside because I'm white, and to give my place to a non-white?

He is answered by his government: "Not fair to you as an individual, but fair in the big scheme of things to achieve equality among God's chillun." But, Bakke might ask, when did I ever volunteer to make this noble sacrifice? "Ah," he is told, "that's democracy at work.

It's like the draft."

Don't Bank On College Without A Bankroll

(First of six columns)

ITEM: At some colleges today, as many as 80 per cent of the enrolled students are getting a

ITEM: In 1977 alone, a record total of more than $9 billion will have been made available to meet the costs of education after high school-in grants of scholarships, loans and jobs.

ITEM: More and more families are learning how to apply for and are getting financial aid from government and private sources to help them pay college bills they otherwise could not

Despite the relentless upsurge in college costs in recent years, there is a way to manage when your children are ready to enroll. DO NOT rule out a school your child wants because of cost

But to get what you need, you must start planning right now-even if your child is only a sophomore or junior in high school. Also collect the most current and most reliable information possible on what college costs and the kinds of finan-

(1) BEGIN BY FINDING out what college really costs today. Forget costs two or three years back. If your child has already selected a college, see the catalog for exact charges, and count everything-tuition and fees, books and supplies, room and board, transportation and personal ex-

You will find reliable estimates of total and itemized costs at many colleges in the College Scholarship Service book, "Student Expenses at Postsecondary Institutions, 1977-1978." Ask your counselor or librarian for a copy, or send $4 to College Board Publication Orders, Box 2815, Princeton, N.J. 08540. It includes average costs at over 2,700 two-year and four-year colleges and proprietary schools, and is an excellent guide.

(2) WHILE YOU CAN regulate costs just by your choice of college, this is only one approach. Even though costs vary widely, most colleges use the same methods to determine your need for financial aid. So with financial aid, the amount you pay can be the same whether the college costs $2,400 or $6,000 a year.

(3) It may be that a low-cost college in your community has exactly the educational program you want. If so, grab it. If not, note that high-cost colleges often have more private financial aid funds to help you make up the difference between costs and what you can afford.

TO ILLUSTRATE WHAT you might face, it costs an average of $4,905 to attend a private four-year college as a resident student this year—and at some colleges total costs now top $7,000. But a public two-year college where you live at home would run about $2,314. In between these extremes, total costs for this academic year are:

* State college in your own state, averaging $2,500 to $3,000 depending on whether you live at home or away.

* State college out of your home state, costing from $100 to over $1,000 in additional tuition charges.

* Private two-year college where you live at home: $3,680. * Private four-year college where you live at

IF YOUR CHILD'S choice is a proprietary school (trade or vocational school), the cost could run between $3,900 and $4,500 for a nine-month

In these institutions, which prepare students for a particular business position, skilled trade, semiprofession, personal service, recreational activity, or some other occupational training, your child also may be able to get financial assistance

BUT I CANNOT overstress the need for EAR-LY planning, and for RELIABLE, current information about the whole financial aid process The three key months for action are:

October: Ask your counselor for a copy of "Meeting College Costs," start checking costs, the financial aid process, funds available and from where, eligibility, application deadlines. If your child wants to participate in a college's early decision program, he or she should contact that college at once for special aid application instructions-such as deadlines, forms, or other information the college requires.

DECEMBER: Have your child pick up a 1978-79 Financial Aid Form (FAF) from the school counselor. Check the financial aid application deadlines and forms required by the colleges your child favors.

January: As soon after the New Year as possible, send your completed Financial Aid Form to the College Scholarship Service. Any student applying for a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant must file the Financial Aid Form after Jan. 1, 1978, so you can supply financial information for the full 1977 calendar year.

John D. Lofton:

Turtles Are OK, But No Humans

WASHINGTON-As a former unborn child, my interest in the abortion question remains keen.

I am particularly intrigued, and puzzled, by those who value certain forms of animal life more than certain kinds of human life. Take, for example, the views of California Gov.

Jerry Brown.

A former Jesuit seminarian, Brown, calling the issue "a matter of conscience," has been an outspoken foe of capital punishment.

Despite his opposition, the California Assembly this past August overrode his veto and reinstated the death penalty by a margin of 64 to 28.

The law that now becomes effective provides about 15 specific types of murder, for which the courts may impose death by cyanide gas in the San Quentin death chamber.

Treason too is listed as a capital crime.

BUT WHEN IT COMES to the right of poor amen to impose capital punishment on their aborn children, Gov. Brown's conscience is dec-ting to a symposium of women public offi-it summer, he untranced that California continue to pay for abortions for low-in-continue over though the federal govern-ing out-off funds for such abortions, only, shout half of the 1-0,000 abortions and assembly in the Colden State ure paid Medi-Cal, which is bankrolled in part by at its part by federal funds. Says Gov.

THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF TH

SO, HERE IS BROWN'S position on the value of human life: guilty murderers of innocent vic-tims ought not, as "a matter of conscience," be made to forfeit their lives, whereas, the innocent lives of unborn children can be snuffed out if this is desired by poor women "after consultation with their doctors...

Now comes the weird part, as if the foregoing were not weird enough.

Although Brown attaches no value to the lives of unborn children, if they are being aborted by poor women, he does feel very strongly about the served coffee after the sermon.

The pastor asked a little boy if he knew why they served the coffee.

"I think," said the little boy, "it's to get the people wide awake before they drive home."

In a summit Elble school class the young miss and been saked to describe what a mother is and the knowingly wrote: "A mother is someone who tets sick esting spirach and cauliflower to show you how good R is."

Brown vetoed SB 49, a bill that would have extended unti 1980 those provisions of the Fish and Game Codes, which license and regulate the importation and sale of green sea turtles and their products. His veto message reads, in its entirety: "Green sea turtles make soup, steak, pretty shells and cosmetic oil. Once there were tens of millions; now there are only thousands making their mysterious voyage through the seas from nesting beaches to distant feeding grounds. "Some say farming green sea turtles in captiviwill bring them back. Others see such commer-al ventures as just expanding the appetite for is threatened creature. I incline to the latter and believe what turtles need is less people taking their eggs and depleting their species.

'Accordingly, I am returning Senate Bill No. 49

THERE ARE MANY positions on the abortion question generally, and there are many positions and rationales as regards the financing of abortions with public tast monies.

In my judgment however, none of the pro-abortion arguments are even semi-defensible, with the sole exception of when the life of the mother is at stake.

is at stake. But, I ant buffled by those who, like Brown, defend the sanctity of lesser animal life yet, at the same time, see nothing wrong with taking innocent, unborn human life. Such a position, it seems to me, files in the face of even Jesuitical

Heart Study Underway In Utah

By GEORGE TIBBITS

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A joint
U.S.-Soviet program to develop a design for an artificial human heart sounds similar to work being done in an abandoned hospital building in Salt Lake City, a Uni-versity of Utah researcher says.

Lee M. Smith, materials engineer for the university's organs division, said this week that work is continuing at the old St. Mark's Hospital to develop an artificial heart. The division took over part of the building after St. Mark's moved to new quarters.

Smith said researchers have implanted several experimental models in cattle with varying degrees of success.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the agreement to start work this year on the five-year heart design program was reached at a Moscow meeting between Prof. Valery Shumakov and Dr. Michael Shumakov heads a Moscow institute for organ and tissue transplants. DeBakey is

Smith said the Utah research is not connected with the American Soviet agreement. But be said Shumakov usually visits the Salt Lake research facility about once a year.

Smith said Utah researchers are working on electric powered mechanical hearts and pneumatic systems. He said they have developed a tiny electric motor that can fit inside a blood pump — eliminating the need for a separate motor and drive shaft used in earlier models.

The new device has not yet been tested in animals, but is scheduled to be implanted in a calf by early November,

Earlier this year, a calf with a pneu-natically powered mechanical heart was put to sleep at the Utah laboratory after living 184 days with the device — a world rchers said the animal was killed because it had outgrown the de-

Agency Disputes Energy Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) - There's an industry advertisement describing coal as America's ace in the hole, but now a government report suggests that it may be a hard card to play.

That assessment by the General Ac-counting Office is subject to debate, for the administration insists that coal production can be more than doubled by 1985, to help curb the demand for imported oil.

In asserting that the administration's target probably is beyond the nation's reach, the GAO study points to the fragile balance of programs, proposals and as-sumptions that make up President Carter's national energy plan, and concludes that the odds are against all of them working at once.

And that may be the most significant point in the watchdog agency's report to Congress on coal prospects. The administration's energy plan anticipates the production and use of 1.2 billion tons of coal a year by 1965, up from 665 million tons in 1976.

"So many interrelated elements would have to work to double coal production by 1985 that the GAO does not believe it could happen," the agency said, adding that it will be very difficult to push production to one billion tons by 1985. The difference is the equivalent of 2.2 million barrels of oil a day.

That's based entirely on the technical, industrial and environmental problems of producing and burning more coal as a substitute for oil and natural gas.

It doesn't take into account the political difficulties confronting President Carter as the Senate works over his energy bill.

The Senate already has watered down House-approved measures to require that most utilities and industrial users of natural gas and oil convert to coal.

There are signs of trouble ahead for another Carter proposal, to use tax penalties and incentives to prod industry to speed a shift to coal.

Carter is pressing for both, listing them among his "vital measures to conserve energy and to replace our precious oil and gas with more abundant fuels such as But whatever Congress decides, it can't make a law to erase the problems the GAO foresees. The study forecasts a substantial increase in U.S. coal production and consumption, but says that it will take time and a lot of money

For openers, the GAO says it will take between 400 and 825 new coal mines, and 288,000 to 532,000 new miners to sharply increase production levels. The hig figures are about what it would take to get to meet administration targets.

That would cost up to $45.5 billion in

The GAO said it checked with 11 major coal producers, all of whom said they thought the industry could double production by 1985 and triple it by 2000.

But the coal isn't where the consumers are. It would have to be hauled, primarily by rail, which means more money — $5.2 billion by GAO estimates to provide the cars, equipment and facilities to move

The railroads say they can handle the traffic, which leads into the next question: what about the environment?

"We cannot use one billion tons of coal in one year without harming our environment," the GAO concludes. "We're relinquishing some of our environmental quality to reduce our energy imports and extend the life of our dwindling oil and gas reserves."

That also will be expensive.

The devices that control air pollution from the burning of coal generate solid waste — sludge — in the process. According to the GAO, if coal consumption approaches the administration target by

Talent Evident In Production

A-J Fine Arts Editor
"The Bullad Of The Sad Cafe," the

opening production of the Texas Tech University Theater's 1977-78 season, is an excellent showcase for the talents of excellent showcase for the talents of three persons: novelist Carson McCull-ers, whose original work is still present in the narrator's rhetoric; Edward Albee, the playwright who saw the possibilities of Miss McCullers' work as a stage pres-entation and then proceeded to write the daptation 15 years ago; and Ronald chulz, the Tech theater director whom many consider one of the university's fin-

It took the talent of all three to make the opening a memorable one Thursday evening, but I daresay the play would have generated just as much heart-strick-en emotion had the playwright not been watching with the rest of the audience. As it was, Albee's appearance on the Tech campus only made the evening that

The play, despite humorous portions which struck the audience's fancy to the point of earning mid-play applause, lives up to its title. It is an emotionally overbearing work, one which rests heavily on both the mind and the soul.

Set in a town outside Society City, its residents are society's outcasts. Freaks by size or by nature, yet possessers of the same feelings of dread and loneliness, the same need for companionship as the rest of us. The story concentrates on three.

Miss Ameilia Evans is a large woman, proprietor of the town's only store and cafe. At an early age, she marries Marvin Macy, only to rebuff him and drive him back to his wild ways. Some time later, a hunchbacked dwarf named Lymon appears in town, claiming Amelia as kin. The relationships which entwine these three, the sharp-pointed love triangle, is the focal point of the action.

But the meaning, explained away in program notes as the futility of love, demands a deeper concentration on the manner in which action combines with the words of Miss McCullers herself, spoken in the play through the use of a nar-

Director Schulz has planned each step meticulously, all the way to lighting and sound. The stage only partially lighted, a somber mood intrudes upon the audience from the play's opening moments. No relief is offered through intermission, and the feeling of futility gradually seeps into the very bones of the viewer. There are no heroes, no one character on which to cast faith and hopes.

No one is even all that likeable. Ah, but they do demand attention. For if not en-dearing, they remain fascinating charac-

Mark Walters offers a dynamic per-formance as Marvin Macy well able to ex-pose both his love and his confusion, his desire and his need for revenge. Believa-ble as the courter spurned, he takes total command of his character when dictating hip and more specifically popularity in a hero's eyes, Durham cap-tures the sura of the hunchback both

His character also offers a better key to inderstanding that of Diantha Pennington Roberts as Miss Amelia, a woman willing to withstand the diminishing of pride if only to retain steady company. At least until she reaches her breaking point. Mrs. Roberts' performance, slow moving and close mouthed as the script demands, is extremely moody, perhaps too much so at times. But then, her characteristics with the strength of the script demands. acter is without a doubt the most confus-

And her comic timing was flawle Even this critic couldn't help but applaud her reaction to the marriage proposal, a scene which was so very simple in design and yet earned even more applause than the lovable mugging of Jim Toland as Crazy Merlie Ryan.

The set, designed by A. Norman Hamlin, offered a stationary storefront with movable parts which allowed us to see action on the inside. It and the music, so fitting that one hardly notices its presence, are both worthy of kudos.

But sticking out in the mind ever so much remains the performance — yes, it must be called a performance — by William Carter as the "narrator." A striking figure seated on a stool at stage right, Carter proved an admirable speaker and an even better guide.

Using the McCullers narrative which Albee retained in his adaptation, he genttook the audience's hand and led it through flashbacks and catastrophes. A simple inflection in his voice could pass a feeling of isolation.

Without him, the scene at that upstairs window would no doubt be only half effective. A talented translator, he leaves us with questions like "Who but God can be the judge of any love?" — and doubles the effect by withholding the answers.

Crystal City Eyes Change

CRYSTAL CITY (UPI) - City officials are considering changing this town's existing natural gas pipeline system to propane to ease some of the energy problems caused by the termination of gas

The city, whose natural gas supplies were shut off Sept. 23 by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., has received a $310,000 federal grant to help solve some of its energy

City Manager Ruul Plores Thursday said part of the grant might be used for converting the city's pipeline system to propane. He said the rest could be used for meeting "urgent needs" of impover-ished citizens who have been taking cold baths and cooking outdoors since Lo-Vaca discontinued its service to this city of Flores, however, said the propane would be "substantially higher" in price than natural gas. Lo-Vaca closed the valves shutting off the gas after it won a U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing the action in its efforts to collect $785,207 in overdue bills.

In January, 1975, the city council refused to pay more than 36 cents a thousand cubic feet for gas, the price specified in a 10-year contract with Lo-Vaca.

Police Believe End Of Bombings Near

PETALUMA, Calif. (UPI) - Police say they have developed new leads in their investigation of harassment bombings and shootings against this city's may or and other officials

He was referring to a string of violent incidents beginning with thre slashings on the cars of city officials in early August. On Thursday, additional investigators were assigned to the case and Murphy said, "We are building a very careful case and we're going to catch them."

Mayor Putnam, 68, told police she received a phone call shortly after the school bombing. She said it was from a man who told her:

"It's a price we have to pay. There's no way around it," said Steve Brennan, an Augusta, Maine, resident who was part of a UPI nationwide survey of consumer at-titudes toward the country's No. 1 prod-

"If clean air is important enough to us, then we have to pay for it," said Bren-

His attitude was shared by most of those queried about the need for regulations to tell automakers what safety and clean air devices inshould be on cars. Most felt regulations have not hurt either the national economy or the auto industry.

"I think the regulations are needed because I don't think anyone would do a damned thing about it otherwise," said freelance photographer Karin Epstein of New York City. "In fact, there may not be enough presently.

They say that living in New York City is like smoking a pack of cigarettes a day and I think they're right. Something really should be done about it."

After a decade-long battle over clean air standards originally set for 1975, Detroit automakers now have regulations that will reach the toughest point in 1981. Auto executives say there will be no more requests for further delays.

"We'd like to stay out of Washington forever," said Chrysler Executive Vice President R.K. Brown. "We don't want to keep this up.

"It's difficult for the industry and is confusing to our customers. What the industry needs for continued growth is consumer confidence."n

But that appears to be the one thing the industry does not have, due in part to its continuing battles with Washington. "Automakers have been dragging their feet on clean air standards, but we've just recently begun to realize the problem," Mike Basham, an assistant vice president at a Columbia, S.C., bank, told a UPI reporter. "The clean air standards for cars are needed, but they are also forcing up the price of cars

"I believe automakers first, environmentalists second and the government third in the clean air battle.

Despite that belief in the auto industry position, Basham is critical of his new 1977 Ford. He also owns a 1968 Ford.

Japanese Cars Dominate Sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Japanese heavily dominate the U.S. market for foreign-made cars, the government says.

Three out of five foreign cars sold in the United States last year were manufactured in Japan, a study shows.

"There are many reasons why Japa-nese car exports have been so successful - competitive prices, a reputation for quality, and efficient distribution and sales networks are those most commonly cited," the study noted.

Japan now supplies 62 per cent of the foreign-made cars sold in the United States compared with 42 per cent in 1974 and less than 5 per cent in 1963.

Japan was the world's largest exporter of cars for the second straight year, selling 33 per cent more vehicles than France, its closest competitor. The figures were included in a Commerce Department survey of the automobile industries of eight major nations.

Officials Seek Plane's Delay

Port Authority of New York and New Jersey today asked Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall to delay plans for the Concorde jet to land at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport.

The request seeks to postpone the ef-fect of a lower court's ruling which allows the Concorde to land as soon as British Airways and Air France officials are ready to offer flights to and from JFK.

Port Authority attorney Patrick Falvey, in a request delivered to the court Thursday night and placed on Marshall's desk this morning, said the ruling by the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Thursday should be stayed until he can file a formal appeal with the full Supreme Court.

"It is evident that the Port Authority will be irreparably injured if it does not obtain a stay and is therefore compelled to permit Concorde to conduct operations at JFK before the authority has determined that such flights will not result in successful noise suits," Falvey told

He described JFK as "one of the busiest international airports in the world situated in a noise-sensitive community of almost 500,000 homeowners."

The request said a postponement of Concorde landings would be in the public interest and "will not cause substantial harm" to the two airlines flying the British-French produced plane.

Marshall could rule on the request sometime today or could refer the matter to the full court, which is meeting in its

Nurse To Take Witness Stand

HOUSTON (AP) - A former nurse for the late Dr. John Hill was to return to the witness stand today after testifying she saw the plastic surgeon carry Marcia McKittrick to his car after performing after hours" eye surgery on her.

Hedy Pustejovsky testified Thursday that Miss McKittrick came in for cosmetic surgery the night of April 21, 1971. After the surgery, she testified, "Dr. Hill carried her out in his arms to his car."

Miss Pustejovsky testified in the $7.6 million wrongful death civil suit in which the Hill's family alleges his slaying was arranged by oil millionaire Ash Robinson, Hill's former father-in-law. Miss McKittrick is serving a 10-year prison sentence after being convicted as an accomplice in the Hill slaying. Twice during the current trial she has testified that Robinson supplied the money for the murder-for-pay slaying of Hill.

The Hill family alleges in the suit that Robinson sought Hill's death as revenge for the 1960 death of his daughter, Joan Robinson Hill, the plantic surgeon's first wife. When he was shot to death in 1972, Hill was awaiting trial on charges he killed his wife through medical neglect.

The appeals court in New York on Thursday rejected two requests by the Port Authority to overturn a Sept. 29 court order that allowed the Concorde to begin landing at Kennedy Oct. 20.

The appeals court took less than six hours to rule that the operators of the airplane, British Airways and Air France, could not only use the airport, but could begin to use it "forthwith."

After the ruling Thursday, British Airways said it would set a Concorde down on the Kennedy runways within "two or Late Thursday, Port Authority assistant general counsel Joseph Lesser said "key to keeping the Concorde out pending completion of new airport noise rules now under study, is the Supreme The politically sensitive bistate agency had banned the airplane for the past 18 months at the requests of environmental-ists and area residents who complained of excessive noise by the plane. The airlines claimed that the noise standards were applied in a discriminatory manner, and the ban was costing them $300,000 a week.

The decision to let the Concorde land led comunity groups around Kennedy to gird for new, massive demonstrations against the proposed landings. A "dry run" Thursday night caused no noticeable disruption of airport operations but arriving passengers appeared to be mystified by the motorcade.

In the past, the demonstrators have staged "drive-ins" and brought auto traffic at Kennedy to a virtual standstill. A spokesman said Thursday, "We'll be there if it lands."

Test landings of the Concorde have been under way at Dulles Airport outside Washington since last year.

Meanwhile, the Port Authority revealed Thursday that new "reasonable, non-arbitrary, non-discriminatory noise regulations" conforming to the court's demand would be ready next week. These, it said, would be studied, and hearings held to acquaint public officials, community groups, and industry and labor representatives with the new rules. Then the Port Authority's board of commissioners would vote on the proposed noise regulations, the agency said.

In the light of this timetable, the PA asked that the Oct. 30 deadline be postponed either for 30 days, or alternatively for at least 10 days to give the authority time to seek the longer stay in the Supreme Court.

Both the 30-day and the 10-day proposals were denied.

For their part, the British-Frennch op-erators of the Concorde asked for and were granted the right to begin flying into Kennedy "at the earliest practicable

Studies Show 'Pill' Users Face Hazard

LONDON (AP) - Women 35 years and older who have taken birth control pills are far more likely to die of circulatory disease than women who have not, according to two British studies published

The studies, reported by the medical journal Lancet, surveyed 63,000 British women over a nine-year period. Half in each study were current or former pill users; the other half had never taken oral contraceptives.

One survey of 46,000 women, conducted by the Royal College of General Practitioners, reported 24 deaths among women who had used the pill and five deaths among those who had not. The other study, involving 17,000 wornen, reported nine deaths among pill users and none by non-users. It was conducted by Prof. Martin Vessey of Oxford University's College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. The studies, both conducted under the auspices of Britain's Family Planning Association, said the death rate from circulatory diseases among pill users under 35 was 1 in 20,000. Both said the risk of circulatory-disease death among women 35 and older was greater among those who smoke or had taken the pills for five years or longer.

Dr. Ekje Kuenssberg and Dr. John De-hurst, presidents of the institutions that conducted the studies, issued a statement strongly urging women over 35 to reconsider using oral contraceptives.

But they said "there is no evidence to justify any changes in pill use" for wom-

They advised women between 30 and 34 to "think again" about taking the pill. They said women who smoke and who had taken the pill for more than five years could reduce the risk of circulatory death if they quit smoking.

The physicians said there was no advantage to suddenly stop using the pill.

The study found that it takes several years for oral contraceptives to affect the circulatory system.

"No one should stop taking the pill before they have found a satisfactory alternative," they said.

SST NOT SO SUPER TO THEM - Opponents of the SST Concorde applauded Thursday night as a speaker denounced proposals to permit the aircraft to land at Kennedy Airport. The rally was held in the Howard Beach section of New York, near the international airport. At the rally, plans also were made to hold a mass drive in at the airport this Sunday to emphasize opponents' displeasure with a recent court ruling that favored the SST. (AP Laserphoto)

Albee Says Few Care About Real Theater

By CANDY SAGON Avalanche-Journal Staff

It took him three weeks to write his first play at the age of 30, and in the ensuing 19 years Edward Albee's dramatic works garnered him two Pulitzer Prizes and a reputation for writing emotionally searing, contemporary drama.

Talking to Lubbock reporters Thursday, Albee showed both a sharp wit and a glimpse of the virulence so often magnified in his dramatic characters.

Why did he begin writing plays? "Because I was so bad at poems and novels," the playwright commented drily. His first play was a one act effort called "Zoo Stocompleted in three weeks in 1958. Other short plays followed and then in 1962 came his first three-act play —

'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?' Although Albee said he's "no good at writing popular plays," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf," was made into a movie starring Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor. Albee admits the movie was "not bad," but he adds that Elizabeth Taylor was too young for the part of the history professor's wife whose bitter quarrels with her husband provided a harsh and startling climax to the play. No idealist, Albee admits that only a fraction of the American population attends live theatre. And of that fraction, 'only five per cent really care about real

He said he would like to see more of a balance between "theatre of escape and theatre of engagement," but he admits that the only thing that might increase the popularity of theatre in this country would be "the banning of commercial

Albee is finishing up an original play which he says he has tentatively titled, "The Lady From Dubuque." He also is directing a Broadway revival of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf."

Strike Talks In Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chief federal mediator is trying to resume discussions to end a six-day-old dock strike that shows no sign of a quick settlement.

Wayne L. Horvitz, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said Thursday he recessed the talks after failing to win concessions from port associations and shipping firms.

A shipping industry source said the employers "were unable to get anywhere" and "it looks very bad."

Sources close to Thursday's meeting said it is likely that the dock strike will last a long time and be extensive now that Horvitz's immediate efforts to make some progress have failed.

MY ANSWER

By BILLY GRAHAM

is Jesus' own attitude toward the Bible Time and time again He quoted the Old Testament, and always identified it with the Word of God. We should follow His example and study the Bible as the Word of God. The Apostle Peter said, "We have not followed cunningly devised fables" and "holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (II Peter 1:16, 21). Remember, if God had not given us His Word, we would have no certain knowledge about Him. It would be a cold and bleak world. But God has spoken to us, and we can know His will through His Word, the Bible. Study it, know it, memorize it and obey it. As you do so, the conviction will grow within you that this is indeed God's Word considering further changes in the mini-mum wage law after voting to increase the present $2.30-an-hour floor by $1.10 over the next four years.

Senate Gives Labor Wage Law Victory

The vote Thursday for higher wages was the second congressional victory of the day for organized labor. Earlier, the House acted to make it easier to organize workers and to punish companies that break the law to keep unions out.

Senators voted 76-14 for a plan to increase the minimum wage to $2.65 an hour on Jan. 1, 1978, to $2.90 on Jan. 1, 1979, to $3.15 an hour on Jan. 1, 1980 and to $3.40 an hour on Jan. 1, 1981.

worker supporting a non-farm family of four through a fulltime minimum wage job in 1981 would fall 5 per cent under the federal poverty level.

Continuing work on the bill today, the Senate scheduled votes on a controversial proposal for a lower minimum pay for teenagers and a plan to make bigger busi-nesses exempt from paying the minimum

be worked out in a House-Senate conference committee

Meanwhile, business lobbyists said they would try to force changes in the Senate in the House-passed labor law leg-islation they say will push American workers into unions against their will.

The House vote shows the country is heading toward a labor-controlled government similar to that of the United Kingdom," said Clarence B. Randall of the National Action Committee on Labor Law Reform.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill called the bill "labor's first victory in the labor relations area in 42 years," and business spokesmen conceded labor had won all it sought on the issue.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said

after the 257-163 vote that the Democratic leadership had prevailed in Congress 'in the face of the outrageous lies and distortions about the bill used by rightwing opponents ... who were backed by business interests.

Backers of the measure said it now is cheaper for anti-union companies to violate labor laws than to obey them, because there aren't penalties strong enough to outweigh the goal of keeping

The bill would call for financial penalties against labor law violators and grant reinstatement with double back pay to workers fired illegally during a union or ganizing effort.

The measure also calls for worker compensation in cases in which employes vote for union representation, but their company unlawfully refuses to negotiate. In addition, unions or businesses found guilty of repeated labor law violations could be barred from receiving federal contracts for up to three years.

Tower argued that the steeper increases in the Javits-Williams proposal will feed inflation and "cause layoffs, higher prices and a general reduction in services available to the public.

Sen. Dewey Bartlett, R-Okla., lost, 72-17, on an amendment proposing lesser increases to $2.50 an hour next January, $2.70 in 1979 and $2.90 in 1980.

The requests were repeated Thursday night, with an organization spokesman saying he hopes other community organizations will "follow to make the council realize that housing rehabilitation for the poor throughout the city is the number one priority.

The CD block grants are supposed to eliminate slums or blights and expand the housing stock, according to HUD guideline for CD objectives. Those guidelines recently were revised to ensure that money directly and primarily benefits low and moderate income families, an action some Arnett-Benson residents see as a positive step in their quest for reha-

Although many areas of East and North Lubbock suffer from rampant housing problems, Arnett-Benson has the most need for rehabilitation, according to the Urban Renewal Agency, which oversee housing fix-ups.

In its recent priority list to the Community Development Advisory Committee (CDAC), the Urban Renewal Board selected South Maddox, an Arnett-Benson section, as the most needy sector. Posey West follows, but Arnett-Benson sections are listed four times in the list of 15 main areas.

The problems in Posey, for one area, are acute, but they affect less people than those in Arnett-Benson, said Jim Storey, assistant executive director of the Urban Renewal Agency.

Storey told Arnett-Benson residents Thursday that the city council members 'have really tried" to meet their needs.

Disgruntled residents unhappy with the slow progress of rehabilitation may seem more vocal because those who have been helped don't bother to go to sector meetings to say so. Kitten added

"We had folks that expected it as their right to receive a handout as part of this money," he said of the Thursday's Sector 2 meeting. "We had folks that couldn't care less that we had spent a million dollars down the street. They wanted to know when they would get theirs."

All suggestions gathered at the sector meetings will be forwarded to the CDAC. as will city department requests and citizen responses to mailed questionnaires.

The committee, which probably will meet late this month, will cull the lists to what it believes are the top priorities for the $4.5 million. A program then will be sent to the city council, which will hold two public hearings before making a final decision on how to spend the money.

'Talkies' Celebrate 50th Anniversary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifty years ago, Al Joison muttered into a microphone, "You ain't heard nothin' yet!" and started a movie revolution. So the half-century anniversary of talking movies seemed like a good reason to revive some old-time Hollywood hoopla. Vintage stars paraded down Sunset Boulevard in 1920s cars. The postmaster general issued a commerorative stamp. And the birthplace of "talkies" — now Gene Autry's television station — was named Cultural Landmark No. 187 by the Los Angeles Cultural Heritage Board.

It's hard for today's generation to realize that movies were born speechless. It wasn't until Oct. 6, 1927 that Warner Bros. premiered "The Jazz Singer," with Jolson speaking and singing the first synchronized words ever heard in a feature film.

Thursday's ceremonies began at Stage 6 of KTLA, where Warners filmed "The Jazz Singer." Ernest Borgnine introduced May McAvoy, William Demarest and Bobby Gordon of the film's cast.

Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar issued the stamp in honor of talking pictures and remarked that the film world has had five other stamps — for Will Rogers, George Eastman, Walt Disney, D.W. Griffith and the movies' 50th anniversary in 1944.

Versary in 1944.

Earlier, Miss McAvoy, who started film acting in 1921 and starred in the silent, "Ben-Hur," recalled what it was like to pioneer sound:

"It was all done on records, enormous platters made of wax. The cameras were noisy in those days so the studio had to build soundproof booths with glass windows imported from Germany for their clarity.

"The biggest problem was where to put the microphones, They were placed under pillows and in flower pots, and we actors had to stay close to them so our dialogue could be heard.

dialogue could be heard.

"We had to make a lot of takes because of the problems, and because it was Joison's first picture and he was very broad in his gestures. We were all anxious to make a good picture, but frankly, I didn't think talkies would last."

A guest at the industry luncheon in the Hollywood Palladium was Anita Page, who starred in the first sound musical, "Broadway Melody," winner in 1929 of the first Oscar for a talkie. Now wife of a retired admiral in Coronado, she agreed that microaring was hard.

Comparing storm victims' dedication to the "feeling, compassion, understanding and willingness to serve" evidenced by volunteers in state health facilities, Granberry thanked the conference participants for "helping people meet their needs."

Ceremonies Scheduled At YMCA

Opening ceremonies for additions to the YMCA building were scheduled for 4:30 p.m. today with Mayor Roy Bass and County Judge Rod Shaw presiding Members of the YMCA Board of Directors will aid in tours of the new facilities at 1601 24th until 7 p.m.

"Everything we've added was included in the plans first drawn for the building back in 1970," said R.T. Schreiner, executive director of the YMCA. "However, when the bids came in higher than we had anticipated, we cut back our immediate plans. We have now completed the space which had been cut back," Schrei-

The additional space includes increasing the gymnasium to a full-sized gym, the addition of one more handball court, the construction of a new weight-lifting room and a new all-purpose room.

"This additional space should give us enough space to increase our participa-tion by about 50 per cent in the coming months," Byrnie Bass, YMCA board president said.

The funds, which were estimated at $192,000, for the additions, were a result of a campaign conducted last year under the leadership of Jack Kastman, general chairman; Carroll McDonald, advanced gifts; Owen Hamilton, major gifts; Evan Roberts, special gifts; and Derrell Jones, community gifts chairman.

"We have been especially short of handball courts and this (addition) will add 50 per cent to our court space," Schreiner said. The new weight room will allow us to utilize some free weights as well as make possible the use of all the stations on our weight machine. The gym addition will allow us to carry on two, and sometimes three, activities at one time—thus doubling and tripling the use," he continued.

Our new all-purpose room will make possible some group activities with our Tri-Hi-Y clubs and other programs that we couldn't handle at the building before. Also, we'll be able to carry out some programs in the all-purpose room that we have put in the gym in the past. This will free the gym for even more programs there," Schreiner said.

Man Tries To Attract Business To City

By WILLIAM P. MOORE

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Larger cities nee knew their size alone would attract aw business and industry, but recent remotional campaigns for suburban e forced the cities to think front selling themselves.

Pittsburgh City Development Director
2d de Luca has been charged with contincing company heads that cities remain he best location for development, despite their well-publicized problems.

"Years ago, because a business located in New York City it could attract anyone. Today that is seen as detrimental," de Luca explained.

"But the city is still the place where the action is, the hub of economic activity." He sees the tendency of businesses to move to suburban locations as under-

Three polar bears arrived at the zoo last Friday at 6 p.m. — a male and a female from the Seneca Park Zoo at Rochester, N.Y., and a female from the Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago. By early Saturday the female from Chicago and the male from Rochester were dead.

De Luca was recruited to Pittsburgh a little over six months ago from a similar job in Baltimore and is filling a position he said has been "needed for a long time."

In attracting business and industry, which means attracting more jobs and tax revenue, de Luca fights the image cities have developed as centers of crime, congestion and pollution.

In addition, he battles "executive whimsy": the tendency of some industry heads to locate in a certain suburb because it's close to their homes or their country clubs.

Briones Gets Prison Tern

Avalanche-Journal Staff
The fate of Max Stone remains a mystery to investigators.

Thursday, two men who evidence indicates may have had something to do with that still unsolved mystery, were handed differing fates of their own.

For Victor Briones — the man who remained silent throughout his trial — it will be 13 years behind prison walls.

For Felix Ybarra — the man who rated as the state's star witness but who admitted lying to both investigators and jurors

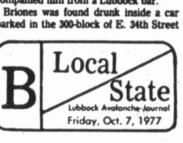

— it will be 10 years on probation. Briones, 26, of Floydada, was assessed the 13-year punishment Thursday by the same jury which had earlier convicted him of robbery.

It took the panel in Judge Thomas L. Clinton's 99th Dist. Court a little more than an hour to determine that Briones had robbed Stone, 42, a former medical technologist at a local hospital, in the early morning hours of Dec. 31, 1976.

The panel deliberated 40 minutes before returning the punishment verdict. The range of punishmant for robbery is from two to 20 years.

What made the case unusual is that Stone was last seen by acquaintances about 11 p.m. Dec. 30, a couple of hours before Briones and Ybarra apparently accompanied him from a Lubbock bar.

State Trio Criticized By Solons

AUSTIN (AP) - Three lawmakers have criticized Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Speaker Bill Clayton and Comptroller Bob Bullock for raising "false hopes" among farmers and ranchers regarding taxation of land based on productivity. Briscoe signed the bill that would have given rural Texans a tax break if a constitutional amendment also had passed, Reps. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso; John Bryant, D-Dallas, and Luther Jones, D-El Paso, said Thursday.

Despite the failure of the constitutional amendment by two votes in the House, Clayton and Bullock have said the enabling statute for assessing farm and ranch land on its productivity is still constitu tional.

"This is the worst kind of political hypocrisy and a clear sign of desperation by Clayton and Briscoe, who, having failed to deliver on their repeated promises to get a constitutional amendment allowing agricultural productivity taxation through the Legislature, are now trying to claim that no such amendment was ev er needed." the lawmakers said.

They asked why an amendment was introduced at the last session if one wasn't needed, and why Clayton recently appointed two of them to a special committee charged with writing another amendment for the next session

Statements that the law is constitutional without the amendment deceive farmers and ranchers, who will learn they have been misled when the law is tested in court, they said.

Women And Health

BY LOUIS LASAGNA, M.D.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. - (NEA) - Public attitudes toward medicines often resemble a roller-coaster. We careen wildly from premature peaks of overly optimistic expectations to the depths of despair over the potentially dangerous side ef-

Neither extreme is justified nor a healthy social attitude. Medicines cannot solve all our problems, but by the same token, they are not so dangerous as to justify public panic or widespread suspi-

It is indeed a shame when unjustified negative publicity or misunderstanding of possible side effects inhibits people from taking a medicine that might be very beneficial to them with, at most, minimal and controllable risks.

Women have their own special relationship to the use of medicines due to poularity of oral contraceptives, of drugs for the relief of menstrual discomfort and meopause problems, of drugs for dieting, as well as the fact that women generally supervise the taking of medicine by child-

Medicine usage is an important question. In 1975, it was estimated that Americans spent some $10 billion on drugs from the simplest preparations to the most potent prescriptions. Yet, the warchword for drugs is simple: use them as you would drive a car, carefully and

First and foremost, you must read the labels on medicines. The label whether for prescription or proprietary medicines — contains important information. It tells you the proper dosage, how often to take the drug, and sometimes health conditions for which a drug might produce a harmful effect. No matter how excellent. medicines cannot help you if you don't take them correctly. Too small a dose or too large a dose can make a safe drug ineffective or even dangerous.

Self-medication for minor problems such as a sore throat, sunburn or poison ivy is a necessary part of our health care system. If everyone with the smallest ailment consulted a physician, the entire system would collapse. But if the proper use of mild medication does not bring results fairly quickly, then by all means consult your physician. This is especially important with young children.

It may happen that your doctor has prescribed medication, but despite careful following of the directions the condition does not clear up, or other symptoms start to develop. In this case, call your doctor. Perhaps the medicine is not right for you, or the ailment has developed a new complication.

There is a trend toward viewing medical treatment as a cooperative effort between doctor and patient. Only if you let the physician know what is happening can he or she best assist you in a cure.

Medicines can be powerful, especially prescription medicines, and they do not always mix. Excellent and safe, individually, two or more drugs may be harmful if taken at the same time. If you are taking medicines, make certain that your physician knows about all the medicines you are taking, even if it's "only aspirin."

Sometimes nonmedical drugs like alcohol may also influence the effect of another drug. Discuss your eating and drinking habits with your doctor before embarking on a cure involving medicines to make certain that you avoid these complications as well.

Women should remember that the first few weeks of pregnancy are a cruicial time for the health of the developing child. As soon as you suspect you are pregnant, do not take any medication, no matter how minor until you have consulted your physican.

At home, especially if there are young children, you can help prevent accidenta poisonings and assure the safe use of medicines by keeping the contents of the family medicine cabinet neat and up-todate. Here are five steps to safety:

1. Empty the entire contents of the cabinet once or twice each year.

2. Carefully check all items and discard prescription drugs no longer being taken under a doctor's advice as well as any medication with a change in color or

3. Discard medicines no longer in their original containers, in containers without complete label directions and in containers with labels that cannot be fully and clearly read.

4. To do this safely, empty contents into sink or toilet and rise containers with water before placing in trash.

5. Check to be sure medicines are safely out of reach of small children. (If necessary, find a higher storage area or use a cabinet with a lock.) Ask your pharmacist for safety packaging, and be sure to replace "childproof" caps carefully.

Survey Shows Disposable Paper Items Save Money

NEW YORK (WNS) - Do you know that you save more than 2 cents every time you use a paper napkin? And that you save about the same amount whenever you mop up a spill with a paper towel instead of using a clean kitchen towel, then throwing it into the wash?

These are among the findings of a recent study by Arthur D. Little Inc., an independent research organization. Here are some details:

- Paper napkins cost about two-fifths of a cent each, as against more than 3 cents for the laundering of the cloth nap-

- Similarly, when a paper towel is used for what are called "single-use" tasks — like wiping up grease or mopping up fruit juices that stain - it costs threefifths of a cent. When a cloth towel is used for the same type of task and then laundered, again it costs more than 3

In a separate study, consumers noted that single-use situations comprise more than half the household task they tackle with paper towels. Even if they were to use a cloth towel for such a chore, it would have to be laundered before they could use the towel again, said the consumers interviewed.

The Arthur D. Little firm's research points out that at least six uses are needed from a cloth towel between launderings before it becomes economically comparable to a paper towel.

- Disposable diapers, which cost about 9.3 cents each, beat both home-laundered reusables at 12.3 cents apiece, and diaper service at 9.8 cents, in the economy study. Diaper cost comparisons were made on an "equivalent use" basis; according to the researchers, this reflects the total practice of double - and even triplecloth diapering of babies at certain times, to achieve a desired level of absorbency.

All the cost comparisons took into account the entire life-cycle of the singleuse and reusable products studied, including national average selling price, purchases prices, costs of laundering the reusbales, and cost of (or credit for) dis-

Laundering - and the fact that singleuse products don't require it — is the key to their economy, of course. As fuel supplies, and even water in some parts of the country, dwindle, the costs of these resources continue to rise. So saving on electricity gas and water, as well as on the detergents used in the laundering process, allow single-use products to rack up substantial budget savings.

Saved time also means saved money. When the federal hourly minimum wage was applied to the average time required for rinsing, washing, drying, sorting, and folding cloth diapers, the total cost came to more than $5 a week. The cost for an average supply of disposable diapers, on the other hand, worked out to just under $4 a week.

Separate research shows that by not having to rinse, wash, dry, sort, and fold these cloth diapers, mothers can save at least an hour and a half each week - especially important to the 32 per cent of mothers who have children under age 3 and who are employed outside the home.

In fact, saving time is one of the key reasons why more than 90 per cent of consumers questioned recently in still another study said they used paper towels and paper napkins daily. Of mothers interviewed, more than 80 per cent said they were using or planned to use disposable diapers. Many of the mothers noted that the time they saved by not having to launder cloth diapers was better spent with their children.

After one more year at the other end of the classroom, of going to lectures at night, of cramming for exams and fighting to get into over-registered courses, she will be a lawyer, duly graduated from New York Law School and ready to stand before the Bar.

"It's like being given the key to a secret club." Dr. Boniuk said in an interview. 'You learn the meanings of the words. You get to know the people. You don't feel intimidated by anything."

But, says the native Canadian, she has no intention of giving up her practice at Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals and New York Medical College. And she says she has no intention of quitting her job as associate professor of ophthalmology and pathology at the college, or her work with retarded children.

"I didn't begin with the idea of giving up medicine," she explained. "It simply was the largest gap in my knowledge. I began with the idea of expanding my own horizons and, so far, what I've learned

It was also the ubiquitous nature of law that attracted the 36-year-old optical sur-"It's difficult to open any medical journal, or any magazine at all, without hearing about the interface of law and medicine," she said. "There are an incredible number of people studying law, and not just people fresh out of college either."

New York Bar Association figures show there are some 500 Americans holding both the Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) and Juris Doctor (J.D.) degrees.

Alhough she doesn't plan a full-time legal practice, or any real practice at all, Dr. Boniuk says her studies are not just an intellectual exercise. There is enough in the large number of malpractice suits and the volume of legislation on medicine, drugs and related issues to occupy a part-time lawyer concerned with physicians' needs, she said.

Dr. Boniuk was a resident at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, an affiliate of Washington University Medical Center, at Baylor University Hospital and at Yale University Hospital. She is also a fellow of the Canadian Royal College of Surgeons. Dr. Boniuk is no stranger to prejudice against women. In San Francisco, she said, she was rejected for a residency because of her sex.

'They told me they were afraid I'd work for a couple of years, then get married and quit," she recalled with a trace of old anger. "I don't know what they thought I went through medical school

Dutch Pottery Factories Make Different Wares

Collectors searching for Dutch ceramics almost always want Delft, the blue and white pottery that was made popular in Holland. But earthenware factories in Holland made other types of wares that are now gaining in popularity. In 1885, a firm was established at the Hague for the manufacturing of earthenware and porcelain. The earthenware was very thin. The pieces were glazed, then decorated with birds, flowers and trees inspired by Japanese batic patterns. Mauve, yellow, orange and green on a white background were favored.

TULIA — He's just a normal kid who likes to play football with the other little boys on the vacant lot across the street, but the 7-year-old second grader already has had his first one-man art show.

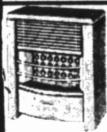

Carl-Van Vallier, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Vallier of Tulia, recently exhibited four of his oil paintings at First National Bank in Tulia. He started taking art lessons the last of May from Sam Brown of Tulia, who is a music instructor at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

"Every time he came home from school, he would sit down and draw and paint pictures so we decided to give him essons," said Jackie Vallier, his mother, a native of Vietnam. "He is crazy about

Inspections Of Club Called 'Superficial'

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Beverly Hills Supper Club had "very superficial" local fire inspections by a volunteer fireman, who says he did the best he could but probably was incompetent.

A state report released recently blames a May 28 fire at the club, which killed 164 persons, on a short circuit.

Southgate Fire Capt. John Braun told investigators he "couldn't read a blueprint" but did see "obvious wiring, you know, hanging all over the place" during an inspection prior to the fire.

Braun said other violations included lack of fire extinguishers, blocked exits, bad housekeeping and "kind of electrical shorts in the boiler room, things like

"My inspection, personal inspection, of Beverly Hills was very superficial, as all inspections were," Braun told investiga-

Braun, an eighth grade teacher who is a volunteer fireman, said he had taken a fire prevention course but knew nothing of state fire codes.

Braun said his department relied on the Kentucky fire marshal's office for enforcement of fire codes, since the department had given the operators written permission to operate.

"It boils down to the simple fact that I was probably the most incompetent fire inspector out of ignorance, but I don't see how I could have learned any more. I believed I was doing the best job I could. I believe I was fulfilling my moral obliga-tions," Braun told the state police.

In another statement, Fort Thomas, Ky., patrolman Gary McMullin denied a University Rejecting Fat People

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) - Oral Roberts University has to enroll physically handi-capped students because it's the law, but the school says this doesn't mean it has to enroll fat students.

To Shirley Barry, executive director of the Oklahoma Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, this policy is dis-crimination. To Dr. Carl Hamilton, acad-emic dean at ORU, it is not.

Hamilton said he regrets the weight is-sue has overshadowed the other parts of ORU's physical fitness program. He said it is all part of a "life style" encouraged

"We are a whole person university," Hamilton said. "We are just as serious about our physical growth as our intellectual and spiritual growth."

In addition to overweight students, he said, those who fail to attend the twice-weekly chapel sessions also can be sus-

Those students are told to lose weight or leave the university. That, he said, is not

Mrs. Barry disagrees, and she is looking into whether to file a class-action lawsuit against the school.

"We think it's discriminating against individuals with minor health problems, disabilities and imperfections," Mrs. Barry said.

But Hamilton said the school's weight requirements take such special cases into consideration, that students with medical or physical problems leading to over-weight are enrolled in special programs.

"The goals of the physical education course have very generous limits in terms of a person's weight," he said.

ORU has a mandatory four-year physical education program, and Hamilton said students like it. He said he had talked earlier in the week to a girl who had lost 30 pounds as a result of the program and she felt better, was more self-confident and had more energy now than she had had at any other time in her life.

The state police report, quotes McMullin as saying he was upset about a news story several days after the fire that "a man in a uniform" had shut the fire exit on the south side of the Cabaret room where most of the victims died.

McMullen said he followed the fire trucks to the Southgate, Ky., club and spotted people jamming down the stairs to the exit.

"It appeared to me that those people were squashing each other on the stair-case," McMullen said, adding that he broke a wooden banister to allow some to ump from the steps.
"I caught numerous women who umped from the stairs and and put them on the ground." Suddenly, the door slammed shut, he said, and he used the broken banister to pry the door open again. A club employe then wired it open.

Lawyer Thinks Zamora Case Blazed Frontier

MIAMI (AP) — Ronny Zamora faces at least 25 years in prison for killing an 83year-old woman. But the 15-year-old boy's attorney still contends his defense "television insanity" blazed a frontier in American law.

The jury of nine men and three women returned to the courtroom and to the glare of television lights just before 11 p.m. (CDT) Thursday to pronounce Zamora guilty of first-degree murder.

A minimum sentence of 25 years in jail was established at the outset when the prosecution said it would not seek the death penalty.

"It's very unfortunate that the jury is sending this very young boy to a state penitentary where he will become a target of horrible offenses," said defense attorney Ellis Rubin.

"The appellate court should hear and consider this case because I think the issue presented will forge a new frontier in American jurisprudence," Rubin said in announcing that he will appeal the ver-

His comments were recorded by television and still cameras under a one-year camera-in-the-courtroom experim

Rubin later said he would base his appeal on Baker's insistence that the issue of television violence be restricted to its immediate impact on Zamora.

"The fact I couldn't ask the potential jurors what they thought of television, what habits of their children were about television viewing, is an area for the courts to consider," said Rubin.

Ast. State Atty. Tom Headley, the chief prosecutor in the case, dismissed the premise of Zamora's defense.

The prosecution said Zamora executed the woman with her own gun when she insisted on going to the police.

"I don't think there was any doubt from the first witness on that the defendant was guilty of the charges and sane when he committed them," he said.

"I don't feel it was a terribly important question of law raised by the defense," said Headley. He said the verdict "certainly establishes, at least in this community, that people won't allow crime to be excused by television violence."

Yet television permeated the case to the very end

Scenes of the trial were carried on network and local news shows. When the ju-ry's final decision was announced, the camera panned over to Zamora and held

Rubin said she was prepared to testify to a positive connection between viewing of violence and aggressive behavior. Bu Dr. Thomas was not able to convince the judge that her testimony would tie t sion to a single, specific crime.

Suit Names Kissinger, 10 Others

WASHINGTON (AP) - Henry Kissinger and 10 others are being sued for $4.5 million by the widow and parents of an American executed during the 1973 coup in Chile

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court Thursday, charges that the former secretary of state and the other defendants encouraged, suggested, or actually requested Charles Horman's arrest and death.

Horman, a Harvard honors graduate, was a writer active in the civil rights and anti-Vietnam war movements in the United States, the suit said. He and his wife moved to Chile in June, 1972.

In addition to Kissinger, the defendants include Nathaniel Davis, who was then U.S. ambassador to Chile and is now ambassador to Switzerland; Frederick D. Purdy, the American consul when the government was overthrown; and lowerlevel embassy employes and military attaches.

The suit charged that "on information and belief, Kissinger was involved in planning the 1973 coup d'etat." It said Kissinger knew about Horman's arrest and execution and "either instructed the defendants and other U.S. officials not to seek Horman's release and-or to adopt a passive attitude which resulted in

The Florida Supreme Court ordered camera access to all state and local courts beginning July 5, but this was the first major test of whether intensive media coverage would disturb the judicial calm.

It didn't, said the judge.

He said success was "in large part due to the self-policing of the press. I would hope it would continue in all future trials that are televised.'

Under rules of the Florida experiment one camera of each type serves as a "pool" to distribute still photos and video feeds to other organizations. Once set up in the courtroom, the photographers are not allowed to change position while the court is in session

The television camera was operated by public television station WPBT, which carried two to three hours of trial coverage nightly. The station asked its viewers for opinions of the coverage and got about 1,000 responses — 97 per cent "extremely favorable," said John Felton, programming vice president.

"The opportunity to elect a Republican to each vacancy has never been greater. But haven't we already seen one candidate in the Congressional race with strong and well-known conservative views choose to run as a Democrat?" he

He referred to Lubbock's Trinity Church pastor Morris Sheats, who is running for the 19th District seat which ! . S. Rep. George Mahon will vacate upon retirement in 1978.

"If I had been the county chairman I would never have made some of the statements he did," Krueger said.

Other committee members reminded Krueger he had been absent at the Septmember meeting and that county chairman Mike Stevens had told news media what went on at that session at the executive committee's specific direction.

County Judge Rod Shaw told the area officials, "Not only would you use this regional facility, but you really don't have any appealing alternative." He said state and federal authorities have been coming down hard on local counties for keeping juveniles in their jails. Counties could risk legal problems by continuing that practice, Shaw said.

At the same time, he added, none of the SPAG counties is big enough to operate a separate juvenile detention facility alone.

'We mutually do need a facility of this nature," Shaw said. He said there exists both a "spirit of cooperation" and a "spirit of necessity" for the project.

The proposed facility would be the first of its kind in the state. Earlier in the day, the Lubbock County Juvenile Board, composed of Shaw and the county's five district judges, en-and the county's two district judges, endorsed the county's proposed grant application of $40,000 to develop architectural designs for the planned facility.

That application, also endorsed by the SPAG criminal justice advisory committee, is scheduled to come before state officials for review in December.

ATLANTA (UPI) - An escaped prison was arrested Thursday while com-laining by telephone to a local radio sta-on that his escape wasn't getting nough publicity, police said.

artment spokesmen said Chuck s, 28, of Atlanta was arrested at a nta restaurant on a tip on personnel. He was still ence to back it up. Prosecutors could offer no corroborative testimony concerning the alleged knifing, the allegation elevating the charge from robbery to aggravated rob-

Among corroborative evidence in the case, Darnell introduced Stone's wallet which was found Dec. 31 near a U. S. 87 access road. A pedestrian who found the wallet said he also saw a smock such as is worn by hospital personnel, but that the smock had disappeared when he returned to the scene with investigators.

The state also had testimony from Briones' father-in-law that Briones had given him a gold watch, and officers traced the watch to Altus, Okla.

Clinton accepted the plea bargaining arrangement which had been struck between Ybarra and the state. Ybarra received the 10-year probation after pleading guilty to aggravated robbery.

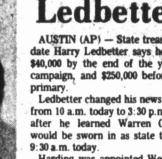

Ybarra was preparing to plead guilty in the same courtroom where he had testified when a knock on the door announced that jurors had decided the punishment for Briones. Ybarra was hustled out. After the jury announced its verdict, Ybarra returned to plead guilty.

Draws Visitors By JULES LOH

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (AP) - America's oldest inn is just where it deserves to be, in the lush lap of the Hudson Valley.

Anyone who has seen the Hudson Valley knows it was designed by poets: mountain slopes easing a burden of foliage down to the wet lips of the river. Anyone who has seen the valley in October knows it is what God had in mind when he decided upon autumn.

The inn, the Beekman Arms, sits in the middle of this antique town, presiding over it like a grandame, which is fitting since it was the inn that gave birth to the

With autumn's golden glory all around, and inside the sturdy old inn great oak beams and wide plank floors and stone walls a yard thick and fireplaces everywhere, the traveler feels that here, at last, is not only the oldest inn in the land but surely the most comfortable.

"No, it isn't," said the innkeeper, Earl The beds are either too hard or too soft. The rooms are not large. The temperature is either too hot or too cold. Most of the furniture is Early Attic, few genuine antiques.

'No, it isn't the most comfortable place to stay, but if you want a room you had better give us at least seven weeks

Such is the appeal of the Beekman

Arms, est. 1700. "There's something about this place, a warmth, a benevolence, that has nothing to do with us," Bebo said. "Our bartenders and waitresses and chambermaids are not polished professignals. Service isn't always the best. But in our dining room and tap room there is an atmosphere of friendliness you just don't find in others. I can't explain it.

I can. It's all those ghosts. When you stand under those low ceilings in the Beekman Arms, you're standing where George Washington stood, and Aaron Burr and Lafayette and Benedict Arnold and Alexander Hamilton, and where, even before those old heroes and devils were born, post riders between New York and Albany stopped to warm their bones and rinse their throats with concoctions such as Whistle Belly Vengeance, which was a mixture of bitter beer, molasses and bread crumbs heated with a fireplace poker.

You're standing where somebo named Charles back in 1894 signed the guest register on behalf of himself "and eight Indians."

You're standing where William Jennings Bryan used to hold forth from an upstairs window, where Horace Greely put up on weekends in the country, where Franklin D. Roosevelt wound up every political campaign with an election

Those kind of ghosts don't frequent the Earl Bebo knows that. He was a Marriott executive in Boston before he decided, last February, that moving from a 433-room hotel to an 18-room inn was a step up.

"The systems are the same, how to or der efficiently, deal with suppliers. But I have a special obligation to this place, and not just to its architecture. So there are differences in running it.

"For instance, a corporate hotelman would find our dining room turnover appalling. People tend to linger over dinner here, two hours, three, four. Well, that's what makes this place this place. I'm not just the custodian of an inn, but of a tra-

Claiming to be the nation's oldest inn is easier than proving it and Earl Bebo acknowledges that an inn in Sudbury, Mass., makes the same claim. But he says the rival claim is flawed by the fact that the inn once burned down and was

"What you see here, encompassed by those four fireplaces - the lobby, dining room, tap room - that structure was here from the beginning, from 1700. I hope it always stays just like it is."

Move To Small Cars May Aid Steel Firms

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The trend to-ward smaller, lighter cars should not hurt the American steel industry because steelmen say auto production will increase and cars of the future will be built primarily of "high-strength, low-alloy"

Much of the steel produced in America goes into autos and with the federal govfuel-efficient cars, steelmakers are placing their hopes on high-strength, low-alloy (HSLA) steel which, pound for pound, is stronger than regular carbon steel.

"By the 1980s, you're going to find that practically everything made of steel in a car will be replaced by HSLA steel," said Stan Lore, coordinator of high strength steels for United States Steel Corp. "We're anticipating a near tripling in HSLA steels in cars between now and 1980 or 1981, representing an increase of up to 300-350 pounds per car," added John Thornton, U.S. Steel's transporta-

FDA Recalls Diet Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) - More than 14,000 bottles of predigested liquid protein have been ordered recalled by the Food and Drug Administration because of possible contamination. The government said the brand, Hudson Liquid Predigested Protein, was dis-tributed nationwide in 16-and 32-ounce bottles by the Hudson Pharmaceutical Corp., of Hackensack, N.J.

The FDA said the diet aid was packaged in swollen bottles which may indicate "microbiological contamination." A similar recall was announced two weeks

Actual danger to health was considered remote, the FDA said. The recall, issued nder the lowest priority the FDA can order, does not ask consumers to return the bottles to distributors.

The current recall involves wild cherry avor, with the code numbers 12355 and 12321 printed on the label; wild cherry flavor, number 12352; and sunshine or-ange flavor, No. 12360. All the recalled sizes are $2 ounces. tion industries coordinator in Detroit.

Technological advantages and safety factors, the steelmakers say, will enable them to compete successfully with HSLA steel against materials such as aluminum and plastic.

Patrick J. Coletta, vice president of GM's manufacturing staff, said HSLA steel's "manufacturing technology is similar to that of conventional steels and this machinery can be used with very little modification.

"HSLA steel competes mainly with plastics in load-bearing automotive structures where strength must be combined with weight-saving," Coletta said.
"We're presently testing wheels made from this material. They reduce total car weight significantly and the results are encouraging.'

Discussing safety, Thornton said, "HSLA steel provides better a way of protecting the individual." Regular steel has a 30,000 pounds per square inch yield point; HSLA steel, 50,000-100,000 pounds per square inch; aluminum, 10,000-15,000 pounds per square inch; and reinforced plastics, 5,000-20,000 pounds per square inch, he said.

Nevertheless, plastic, aluminum and fiberglass now are offering stiff competition to steel.

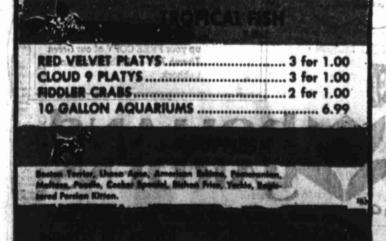

In 1965, the average car contained 39 pounds of plastic. That climbed to 185 pounds in today's average car and should increase to between 350 and 500 pounds by 1985, Coletta said.

Lore and Thornton said a main reason more HSLA steel is not being used now is that the auto industry is not yet designing up to HSLA steel's full capacity because of inexperience.

"The auto industry has only just begun to use HSLA steels," Thornton said.

Industry and financial analysts look for the auto industry to have its best year ever in 1977 with the sale of almost 15 million cars and trucks, including imports.

According to Thornton, "until 1982, experts say, the amount of steel lost because of the downgrading of vehicle sizes will be offset by an increase in production. So the steel content industry-wide ably is going to remain pretty sta-

Proper Preparation Necessary When Planting Winter Trees

By EARL ABONSON mediated Press Wither

Associated Press Weiter Should you plant trees and shrubs in sheathin't if you propare them properly for the winter. And that includes feeding their well so that they will grow strong.

If the winter is severely cold and windy, from, including everyream, will suffer

Advantages to fall planting over spring planting are that you may have more time because there are fewer gardening

An expert advises that woody plants put in the ground in the fall face no temperature stress on the top, since leafless tress are busy developing roots. The plant's food reserves are described as at their peak in the fall.

Freed trees with a general fertilizer with high nitrogen content, such as 10-6-4 or 15-16-16. The rate should be about one pound of fertilizer for each inch of trunk diameter at waist height. Spread it over the tree feeding area and water well. ...

Take care now of last year's Christmas oinsettia if you kept it alive outdoors

You must begin forcing the plant now. Before heavy frost, take the plant indoors and put it in a sunny window. Until mid-December keep the plant in complete darkness from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily. Even avoid lamps, street lights and head-lights. Along about mid-December the petal-like leaves we regard as flowers hould begin to show color.

The poinsettia should be kept in a temperature range of 60 to 70 degrees. When the soil feels dry — and only then — wet it completely but don't drown the plant.

Steel Industry Problems To Be Studied By Group

By United Press International

Steel industry and union leaders will meet next week with top Carter administration officials — perhaps even President Carter himself — to discuss possible solutions to the problems plaguing domestic steel producers.

The situation has become so bad that United States Steel Corp. plans to lay off hundreds of white-collar workers by the end of the first quarter of 1978 in a companywide retrenchment.

Special U.S. trade representative Robert Strauss, who will preside at Thursday's meeting, said in Washington this week that those invited include U.S. Steel chairman Edgar Speer, United Steelworkers President Lloyd McBride and House trade subcommittee chairman Charles Vanik, D-Ohio.

Strauss said Carter also hopes to at-

In Pittsburgh, meanwhile, U.S. Steel President David Roderick said his company employs 6,000 persons at its Pittsburgh headquarters, where from 300 to 600 jobs would be cut. But he said the company plans no reductions in total steel producing capacity. He said the outlook also is "dismal" for the firm's plant in the Youngstown, Ohio, where the company has about 6,000 workers.

"When business is bad, we always tighten up our belts," Roderick said. He said earnings for the year will be below those recorded in 1976, and that demand for the firm's products were on a "very low plateau."

A meeting Thursday in Washington between five administration officials and some members of the Congressional Steel Caucus was postponed because of new developments, Rep. Joseph M. Gaydos, D-Pa.

Gaydos, chairman of the executive committee of the House Steel Caucus, said one important development is Japan's setting conditions the United States must meet before Japan agrees to negotiate voluntary steel export restraints.

He said the conditions include: - Assurances that Japanese steel producers, by agreeing to voluntary restraints, will not make themselves subject to anti-trust suits in the United States

- Assurances by the Carter Administration that it will induce U.S. Steel to drop its dumping suit against Japanese steelmakers.

- And a promise that any restraints would apply to members of the European Economic Community as well as Ja-

The proposals, which range from immediate mulinational steel talks on import quotas to tax breaks to help the nation's steelmakers, were sent to the White House this week.

Gaydos' office said caucus members al so want to analyze indications that the European Common Market is moving from a free trade posture to one advocating protection of their own markets.

Luck, Energy Crisis !! Save Nuclear Power

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) - The nuclear energy industry has done well, but luck and the energy crisis saved it from poor planning, according to the Rand Corp. think tank.

The early management of the industry was so poor that the United States might have given up on the nuclear power program, but it was saved by the oil shortage, OPEC, the Arab oil embargo and other unforeseen boosts, said a Rand study released this week.

'That nuclear power is competitive at all is due less to foresightful management than to a series of unanticipated events, like the OPEC price agreements, that increased the cost of fossil fuel," said Robert Perry, the study's chief investigator. Safety and environmental problems that emerged in the last decade, along with unexpectedly high costs, might have brought construction of nuclear power plants to a halt without these unforeseen

Much of the basic decision making in the 1950s was based on political desires, unfounded optimism, "informed intuition" - hunches - and erroneous assumptions, the report said.

Nevertheless, it said, the 65 nuclear electricity generating plants have served the United States well.

'Despite technical and institutional problems, the operational history of the large nuclear plants (has been) as good or better than large modern fossil fuel plants.

The two-year study, made for the National Science Foundation as a guide for industry and government, estimated the expected problems cost the two giants of the nuclear industry - Westinghou General Electric - $875 million to $1 bil-

The study predicted a healthy future for the industry, saying nuclear energy will be needed as a new supplier of energy as other sources vanish.

The decision to establish the task force came this week as about 40 officials concluded a two-day meeting on the long-delayed project.

The task force, as outlined by Adlene Harrison, the Environmental Protection Agency's Region VI director in Dallas, will include state, federal and private Lockridge said. "These funds were appropriated by Congress on a project that has been tested in federal court five times. Can there be any doubt of where I

What authority do I have to say that Mr. So-'n-so doesn't like this project so we will have to delay it," he said.

The Cache River and its main tributary, Bayou DeView, stretches 160 miles from the Arkansas-Missouri border above Knobel, Ark., to Clarendon, Ark.

Since 1938, the Corps has held eight public meetings on the channelization project, been involved in five court hearings and looked at 24 alternatives. The project has been reviewed by Congress three times. To date, less than six miles of channels have been constructed. The only channe-lization now in progress is a 3.1 mile seg-ment north of Clarendon in the lower

The task force will include representa-tives of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Serv-ice, the EPA, Arkansas State Game and Fish Commission, state Department of Pollution Control and Ecology, and the

"This task force will seek testimonial support from all concerned groups," Mrs. Harrison said. "A report on the findings and recommendations will be submitted to the Corps of Engineers on or before Feb. 1, 1976." or before Feb. 1, 1976.

Announcement of the task force came at the end of a two-day hearing called by the Corps to present revised plans for flood control work in the Cache River

Lockridge said the revised plans call for up to 70,000 acres of flood plain wood-lands to be preserved. In addition, chan-nel alignments have been revised to by-pass the edge of wildlife areas on the low-er reaches of the Cache River-Bayou De-

"The Corps' revised plan seems to accept the importance of natural streams, wetlands, bottomlands and hardwood habitats," said James Tripp, an Environmental Defense Fund attorney and a member of the task force. "The original Corps' plan for the Cache River Basin was purely and simply a ditch project, a channelization program.

But Tripp said he still disagreed with parts of the Corps' new plan.

"It does not protect enough of the 10-year flood plain in the middle of the lower basin for conservation purposes," he

Ex-Panther Opposes Guns, Favors Books

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - Former tion, Inc., to try and curb the criminal Black Panther Bobby Seale is 40 now, leery of guns and interested in politics.

Seale no longer wears a beret or gives the raised, clenched fist salute he helped make famous during his militant days in the 60s. He is out of the Black Panther Party he helped organize.

"These are just mellower times," he said before a speech this week at the University of Misosuri-Kansas City. "All I was doing then was talking to the power structure, and they weren't being polite they were bashing black folks' heads.'

Seale was in town to kickoff the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Symposium on justice and law at UMKC.

"If you had visited me at my place when the Panthers were at their peak you would have found a lot of rhetoric," he said... "And shotguns in the corner and pistols on the end tables."

The ex-militant now believes a change ald come with books not guns. "T'd like to see, right now, two million blacks enroll in college and just demand that they be admitted," Seale said. The man who once advocated blacks hould arm themselves with guns as levers of political power now is starting an organization called Homicide Preven-

"Not that I feel guilty - I just feel responsible for some people having bought guns," Seale said. "Now, three or four or five years later, the political reason is gone and some of those guns have been used against loved ones and friends in moments of rage."

In 1969, Seale was accused in the abduction and slaying of a former Panther member believed to have been a police informer. The case was so controversial. it took four months to screen 1,500 prospective jurors. The case was later dropped after the jury could not agree on Seale also was accused of having crossed state lines to incite a riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago. He repeatedly broke gags and ripped tape from his mouth to shout obscenities at the judge — actions that sent him to jail for 21 months on contempt of court charges.

But Seale's headlining acts have changed. In 1973, he ran for mayor of Oakland. He lost the election, but re-ceived the highest number of votes for a black candidate in the history of Oakland.

Solons Move To Revise Filibuster Rules and Republican Senate leaders, in the aftermath of a 14-day battle over natural gas pricing, are making the first moves toward a rules change to deal with future

Baker appointed four GOP senators rlier this week to recommend cha study.

The atmosphere in the Senate was anything but calm and deliberate two days ago when cries of dictatorship, steamroller tactics and abuse of authority rang out in protest against tactics used by Byrd and Vice President Walter F. Mondale to crush a filibuster against a bill to phase out prices controls on natural gas.

Byrd, in an emotional defense that aroused many of his colleagues to a

Byrd, in an emotional defense that aroused many of his colleagues to a standing ovation, said the time had come to stop the filibuster, "to stop the abuse of the Senate and its rules."

The filibuster brought on by the natural gas bill was only the latest demonstration of the ineffectiveness of Senate Rule 22, the debate-limiting cloture rule, in forcing a speedy showdown vote on a controversial measure.

Once the rule has been put into effect, nator is allowed one more hour to amendments to it. In practice, few sena-senator under cloture. tors use their allotted hour.

But senators determined to carry on the fillbuster have other ways to stave off a decisive vote. They can force quorum calls, roll call votes, call up amendments and resort to a variety of other time-consuming tactics that don't count against

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., gave a masterful demonstration of this last year in leading a filibuster against an antitrust bill. The fight was carried on nearly a week after cloture was voted but he used up only about 7 minutes of his hour.

Soviet Troubles Seen In Speech

By CHARLES M. MADIGAN MOSCOW (UPI) — There are problems in the socialist workers paradise, according to one of the most authoritative ources in the land.

Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev gave the West an unobstructed look at the headaches he faces in a 90-minute speech earlier this week on the new Soviet constitution under consideration by the nation's parliament.

The length of his comments and their directness led Western observers to believe he was sending a serious message to the Soviet Union's slackers and trouble-

Breshney said the constitutional committee received thousands of letters decrying problems ranging from drun-kards at work to the destruction of state-owned property.

"Thousands of proposals have been received suggesting that the constitution state any dodging of socially useful work is incompatible with the principles of sociality." cialist society," Brezhnev said. "Our peo-ple want stricter penalties for absenteeism and for those who seek unearned income. One must support these just observations.

It already is illegal to dodge "socially useful work" in the Soviet Union, and the charge is often used as a hammer against dissident writers and artists to prevent the sale of their works in the West.

Breshnev also talked about drinking and poor work attitudes — which apparently plague wide sectors of Soviet industry, judging from newspaper complaints.
"Many letters call for a stronger drive against parasitism, deliberate breaches of labor discipline, drunkenness and oth-er anti-social phenomena which cut across the very substance of our socialist way of life," he said.

One survey last summer showed a large percentage of shopkeepers were drinking, or drunk, at work. And newspapers also have reported on reported that a factory made pantyhose with one foot pointing toward the back and the other toward the front.

The fact that Brezhnev devoted so much attention to these problems in his address to the Supreme Soviet indicates that the Soviet leadership is intensifying its battle against the problems.

One of the more practical difficulties the state faces is the destruction of its

"Very many comrades have written to say that the constitution should lay special emphasis on the duty of citizens to display a proper concern for the peoples' wealth," he said.

There have been repeated reports of the destruction of state property. In some cases, the reports tell of vandalism on the part of nationalists who object to Russian influence in their republics.

Brezhnev said the problem goes right into the state-owned apartments, and he called for approval of an article stating, "It shall be the duty of citizens to take proper care of housing allocated to

He also talked about some deeper problems and resentment on the part of the Soviet people as reflected in their call for better health care, wages and pensions. "Some proposals have clearly run ahead of our time, failing to take account of the fact that the new constitution is the fundamental law of a state of developed socialism and not of communism," Brezhnev said.

DR. BILLY GRAHAM

Billy Graham Looks Forward To Death, Maybe In 10 Years

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says he doubts he'll ever retire but that age probably will force him to give up his massive crusades in five or six years. He says his family history indicates he'll die in the next 10 years but that he looks forward to it.

"I'll be glad to get away from the pressures under which I live every day and get in the presence of Christ," he says. "And I hope He lets me rest a while and then gives me another job somewhere else because I really believe that I'm going to a literal heaven."

Graham, 58, made his remarks in a three-hour, taped interview at his mountaintop home near Montreat, N.C., with David Lawrence, editor of the Charlotte Observer. Following are question and answer excerpts: Q. "You must get physically and mentally exhausted. How do you keep up with this sort of pace?"

A. "This may sound strange in a way, but I can only explain it through prayer. I believe because my work is known in many parts of the world that people pray for us every day. And I just feel sustained supernaturally. I'm not a strong person. I never have been a very strong person.' Q. "Physically?" A. "That's right. I do a lot of exercising and I have to work hard to keep my-self physically up. I've had all kinds of little problems. I've had pneumonia four times since 1960, and I've had just little things like even my salivary gland re-moved on the right side due to stones. I've had two prostate operations. From phlebitis, I had a blood clot in the inner vein of the leg. Q. "Will you ever retire?"

A "I don't think that I can retire as long as there is a spiritual need, and there'll always be one. (I'll continue) as long as the Lord has given me the strength to communicate the Gospel. Then if I do retire from these big massive crusades — which I'm sure I will in the next five or six years because I won't have the physical strength to do them — I'll probably write. I love to write..."

(Graham told of his beginnings in mass evangelism in 1949 at a time when he says it was in the "Elmer Gantry period" and associated with emotional, anti-

A. "Big love offerings. Every evangelist I ever heard of when I started, at the end of their meetings which might last a month or six weeks as ours did and Billy Sunday's did and (Dwight) Moody's did, the collection the last four or five nights would go to the evangelist. Well, there would be huge collections...

"...I went to Los Angeles to start this crusade... We didn't call it a crusade.

They were called campaigns and it was in a tent. But nobody had ever heard of me; there wasn't even a line in the paper except a small ad ... and we went for

"The Friday a few days before we were to close the place was crawling with reporters. And I said, 'What has happened?' And they said, 'You've just been kissed by William Randolph Hearst," and the next day it was headlines in all his

Q. "Did you ever meet Hearst?" A. "I've never met him in my life. I didn't know what had happened until Bill Hearst, his son, later told me what he thought happened. He said he thought that his father was very interested in religion and that his father had come to the tent and had listened to me preach ... that he and Marion Davies (the actress who was Hearst's long-time mistress) came."

(By 1952, worried about the money-reaping image of mass evangelism, Graham said he consulted leaders of the then Federal Council of Churches about

"...And I said, "I'll never hold another meeting where love offerings are tak-en. I want you and your staff to draw up a plan where an evangelist like myself can operate and have financial integrity and not take love offerings and not have this emphasis on money.

"They drew up a plan that we would incorporate and that each of us be paid a salary and that salary would be published. And that the corporation would pay our expenses in addition to our salary. That's how we started the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association."

Evangelistic Association."

Q. "It seems to me that there's a danger that Billy Graham would not be aceing enough ordinary people."

A. "There is definitely that danger and I have to work at it. I was talking to Johnny Cash about it ... and he said, "Billy I always feel that I have to get with the ordinary common people two or three times a week or that I have to get with the ordinary common people two or three times a year so that I don't lose that louch." And I feel the same way, except I am with ordinary people more than people think because a great part of my life is spent counseling people with their problems. ..

"But here's a problem, if I meet a president or if I meet an Arnold Palmer, or play golf with Jack Nicklaus, that gets in the newspaper and people say well, he's hobnobbing with presidents and famous people, when 90 per cent of the people I see are not famous at all..."
Q."Did you know (Elvis) Presley?"

A. "No, I never met him. But I believe I will see him in heaven because Elvis

A. "No, I never met him. But I believe I will see him in heaven because Elvis Presley was very deeply religious, especially the last two or three years ... he, even when he was a boy, always wanted to be a preacher. That was a side of Elvis Presley, I think, people didn't know."

(Graham said he sees an "evangelical awakening" in the country.)

"I think a lot of young people today are searching for a purpose and a meaning and they want the sense of security that faith in Christ can bring. I mean if I know if I die today that I am going to heaven immediately, then this affects my life here. And I'm pretty sure in the next 10 years I'll die because of the history of my family, my father, his two brothers..."

"...I look forward to it. I mean death to me offers no fear at all — it only has anticipation."

NEW YORK — Catholic Relief Services in the last year provided $349.3 million worth of aid, rehabilitation and development assistance benefiting 18 million persons in 85 countries.

The figures were contained in the agency's 1977 operational report, detailing aid projects in Africa, Latin America, the Middle East, Asia and the eastern Pacific islands.

BELFAST, Ireland — Furmer U.S. President Gerald R. Ford, an Episcopalian, has been named one of the judges in the annual $66,000 Templeton prize for contributing to progress in religion.

He will serve on a nine-member, international panel of judges. Ford succeeds the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, who retires as a judge under a rotation system after having served for three years.

The prize, seeking to do for religion what other major prizes have done in the fields of science and culture, aims to honor those whose ideas and actions have been instrumental in expanding humanity's spiritual knowledge and love of God.

DENVER - The lack of cross-racial pastoral appointments is a major block to further progress in eliminating racism in the United Methodist Church, the denomination's chief officer on race relations, the Rev. Woodle W. White of Washington, D.C., told a meeting of the Church's Commission on Religion and

Tiny College Fields Team For Christ

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Tiny Evangel College's Crusaders have decidnd kick for Je

ed to punt, pass and kick for Jesus.

Their football team specalizes in prayer. Prayer when a player is doubled over with a knee injury. Prayer before and during the game. Soothing prayers afterward in the locker room.

Some would even say the team owes its very existence to prayer. Last year Evan-gel, which is affiliated with the Assembly of God Church, didn't have a footbell team. But then someone stepped forward with a sizable donation.

That was the first "miracle." The second miracle occurred when Denny Duron vounteered to 24-year-old son of a Shreveport, La., pas-Denny Duron volunteered to coach. The tor earned a reputation as a hard-nos prayful player, first at Louisiana Tech and later at Birmingham of the now defunct World Football League.

As a college freshman, Duron was up As a college freshman, Duron was up-set by some of his teammates' locker room language. He wanted to leave school. But first, he prayed. "I didn't feel I could complain to the coach," he said. "So I went over his head. I prayed."

It must have worked, for Duron said that 12 of his teammates later knelt and "accepted Christ as their personal sa-viour." At the end of his senior year, the number of faithful had risen to 45.

The third miracle occurred when 25 athletes from other colleges transferred to Evangel when the school announced it was fielding a football team last December.

When the call went out, several of Duron's acquaintances who are National Football League players lent assistance during spring practice. The list included the Pittsburgh Steelers' Terry Bradshaw, the Baltimore Colts' Roger Carr and the Chicago Bears' Johnny Musso.

Duron and assistant conch Paul Costa, a former all-pro with the Buffalo Bills, are firm believers in prayer healing on the gridiron.

"Since I've been here, it's happened a number of times," Costa said. "Cameron Spradling (a linebacker from Springfield) had a real bad knee. He was on the ground and couldn't move it. We all prayed over him and he jumped right up. I mean it was a bad knee, too. He couldn't move it."

couldn't move it."

Evangel has pushed the art of prayer to the point where even some of their opponents fall on their knees. "When we pray after our games, a lot of the players from the other team join in," Costa said.

Evangel College was founded 20 years ago. It has an enrollment today of about 1,200. All that prayer hasn't made Evangel a football powerhouse, however. Their record is 0-4.

Costa still believes. "It's amazing how more and more kide are turning to Christ," he said. "And if they're athletic and if they want to play on a Christian team, then this is the place to come."

RELIGION

Dr. Walter Martin, professor of Comparative Religion at Melodyland School of Theology at Anaheim, Calif., will be lecturer for a four-day series here Sunday through Wednesday, sponsored by Lubbock's Trinity Church. There will be no admission charge for any of the lectures. Everyone is welcome, including adults of all ages, a church spokesman said.

'Satan On The Move?" is the subject for the series of lectures.

Subject for the first lecture at 5 p.m. Sunday in the Trinity Church auditorium at 7002 Canton Ave., near South Loop 289, will be "The Cults and Occults On The March!

The next three lectures will be in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium on the campus of Texas Tech. Time will be 7:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Subject Monday will be "Seven Campus Curses." Tuesday's will be "Homosexual Freedom?" and Wednesday's will be "Charisma...Cultic, Occultic Or Christian?

Dr. Martin is author of a dozen books, jects he will cover here.

He has served as associate professor of King's College in New York and has worked as editorial research associate of 'Action Magazine." He is considered a pioneer in the field of "teaching by tape." The guest lecturer here still is a pulpit minister and teaches Sunday at Melodyland School School of the Bible at the Melodyland Christian Center. Also, he is a professor at the Melodyland School of Theology.

CLIFF CUSTER

Charismatic Will Hold Seminar

Cliff Custer, one of the first denominational ministers to become involved in the charismatic movement in 1953, will lead a seminar this weekend in Lubbock at the Hilton Inn. Registration begins at 7:30 p.m. today, with worship meetings at 9:30 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday. An early morning communion service will be held Sunday morning. While minister of a Presbyterian church at Tracy, Calif., Custer began a prayer group which grew to include members from every church denomination in the city. This led to a ministry that has carried him around the globe. He is a much-traveled conference speaker and university

He also has worked with alcoholics, drug addicts and prison inmates.

to help ease crowded conditions and at the same time provide an opportunity for continued growth.

The new dual system allows a choice as to time to attend Sunday School and church. The new plan became effective October 2.

Rev. H.F. "Hank" Scott, pastor, said: Because we are completely out of space, and because we really are serious about reaching people and teaching people and winning people, the time of day we do it becomes less and less impor-

"At the present time, it would be impossible to continue our growth and remain with just one Sunday School and one worship service without more buildings. So, the church committed itself to the program of a multi-service schedule or dual program.

"By using all of our space two times on Sunday morning, we can, with our present facilities, easily care for 700 to 800 persons in Sunday School."

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM

I Pet. 5:12B-14, II Pet. 1:1-9

What I have told you here should help you to stand firmly in His love. 13 The church here in Rome1-she is your sister in the Lord-sends you her greetings; so does my son Mark. 14 Give each other the handshake of Christian love. Peace be to all of you who are in Christ. II PETER CHAPTER 1

1 From: Simon Peter, a servant and missionary of Jesus Christ. To: All of you who have our kind of faith. The faith I speak of is the kind that Jesus Christ our God and Savior gives to us. How precious it is, and how just and good He is to give this same faith to each of us. 2 Do you want more and more of God's kindness and peace? Then learn to know Him better and

3 For as you know Him better, He will give you, through His great power, everything you need for living a truly good life: He even shares His own glory and His own goodness with us!

4 And by that same nighty power.

He has given us all the other rich and wonderful blessings He promised; for instance, the promise to save us from the lust and rottenness all around us, and to give us His own character.

5 But to obtain these gifts, you need more than faith; you must also work hard to be good, and even that is not enough. For then you must learn to know God better and discover what He wants you to

6 Next, learn to put aside your own desires so that you will become patient and godly, gladly letting God have His way with you. 7 This will make possible the next step, which is for you to enjoy other people and to like them, and finally you will grow to love them

8 The more you go on in this way, the more you will grow strong spiritually and become fruitful and useful to our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 But anyone who fails to go after these additions to faith is blind indeed, or at least very shortsighted, and has forgotten that God delivered him from the old life of sin so that now he can live a strong, good life for the Lord.

Firms To Build Storm Tunnels

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A joint venture ponsored by Morrison-Knudsen Co., Soise, has received a $86.5 million contract to construct more than three miles of underground storm water storage tun-nels in Chicago.

President W.H. McMurren said the 18, President W.H. McMurren said the 18,-804-foot tunnel will be bored to a 35-loot diameter by a specially built rock-boring machine nearly 300 feet underground be-tween 50th Street and Central Ave. The contract is with the Metropolitan Sani-tary Sewer District of Greater Chicago. The project includes lining the tunnel with concrete to a finished diameter of 33 feet, excavation of a 280-foot deep con-struction shaft and eight drop shafts vary-ing from four to 17 feet in diameter.

Left off the "Top 16" list, and the tax roll altogether, is South Plains Mall, whose city-school tax invents is punding. The mall, by city figures, would be ranked about the middle of the list.

Also excluded are some private con-cerns — the Furr's food enterprises, for example — whose holdings are divided among separate tax-paying corporations, thus splitting the total bill.

The biggest surprise about the 1977 list was Texas Instruments' jump from fourth place last year to the second-larg-est local taxpayer.

Last year's list, in order, included Southwestern Bell, Southwestern Public Service, First National Bank, Texas In-struments, Lubbock National Bank, American State Bank, Clark Equipment, Plains Co-op Oil Mill, Pioneer Natural Gas and Texas Commerce Bank.

Posing Pay Threat

Avaianche-Journal Staff

Some Lubbock federal employes, accustomed to bringing home the bacon twice each month, may have to acquire a taste for a vegetarian diet instead when they receive their next checks.

About 60 employes of the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare may be victims of a Congressional stalemate — now in its third month — over Medicald abortions.

stalemate — now in its third month — over Medicaid abortions.

The disagreement between the House of Representatives and Senate over the issue is holding up approval of the $60.3 billion budget for the operation of the two departments during the fiscal year which began Saturday.

Indications are the pay checks due on Oct. 18 for the last week of September and the first week of October will probably be only for one week unless Congress does something, and quickly.

Although one would expect mass panic among the local employes who may be direly affected by the Congressional feet dragging, most of them feel it just can't Cordero, 53, frail from a bout with cancer, arrived here late Thursday after being released from the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners in Springfield, Mo. He was scheduled to fly to Puerto Rico

President Carter reduced Cordero's sentence to 23 years Thursday to allow him to return home before his death. Originally sentenced to 25 to 75 years on charges of assault and conspiring to overthrow the government, Cordero would not have been eligible for parole until

The move was supported by the present and four past Puerto Rican gover-

Arriving at O'Hare International Airport on the first leg of his journey home, Cordero was carried off the planelin a wheelchair. A small knot of supporters draped a red, white and blue Puerto Rican nationalist flag over his shoulders as Grinning broadly, Cordero raised a fist no larger than a child's and pledged his support for his still-jailed companions.

Nelson W. Canals of San Juan, president of the Committee to Free Nationalist Prisoners, translated Cordero's brief remarks from Spanish. Canals said Cordero felt his release was a victory for the people of Puerto Rico, the people of North America ... and oppressed peoples èverywhere."

Canals said Cordero was very tired from the cancer and could not answer questions, shunting aside queries about the 1954 shooting.

Cordero's cancer was diagnosed in 1972 and he underwent several operations, but hé never agreed to request a pardon or commutation of sentence. He maintained that to do so would recognize the sovereignty of the United States over Puerto Rico.

On March 1, 1954, Cordero and his three companions shouted "Freedom for Puerto Rico" and opened fire from the House visitors' gallery with four pistols. Twenty to 25 shots were fired before guards could subdue the nationalists.

U.S. Carrier Not Damaged In Collision

MESSINA, Sicily (AP) - The U.S. aircraft carrier Saratoga and an Austrian container ship collided in the Straits of Messina late Thursday. It was the second collision involving a U.S. 6th Fleet carrier there this year.

No serious injury was reported aboard the 60,000-ton Saratoga or the 2,929-ton Ville d'Orient. The Austrian vessel sustained a large gash at the bow above the water line, and the Saratoga had "no significant damage," a U.S. Navy spokesman said. Col. Franco Mormando of Messina's Port Authority said the vessels collided in good weather on a nearly flat sea 11/2 mile west of Reggio Calabria on the opposite side of the strait. The Austrain ship was heading south from Marseilles without cargo. The Saraloga was returning from NATO exercises in the eastern Mediterranean and heading north.

Mormando said the German skipper of the Austrian vessel claimed both vessels tried to get out of each others way but naneuvered in the same direction.

The U.S. Navy spokesman declined to comment, saying the collision was under

Plans To Save Oil Win Okay

PARIS (UPI) — It is a grim specter: Western industrial nations run short of oil, setting off massive unemployment, rampant inflation and riots in the

The United States and 18 other non-communist industrial countries Thursday approved drastic oil-saving plans to avert this energy doomsday, which they say could happen in about seven years.

The two-day cabinet-level meeting of the U.S.-led International Energy Agency agreed that all analyses point up a grim fact — a dramatic shortage of oil by 1985 with dire economic and political consequences.

The ministers pledged their group's oil imports, now running at 22 million barrels a day, must not exceed 26 million in 1985.

The reason, they said, is simple. At the present rate, the group's consumption would be up to 52 million barrels a day, while the oil exporting nations would be probably unwilling to sell that much, unleashing a grave economic crisis in the consuming countries. We cannot afford to fail," Energy Secretary James Schlesinger said. "What is at stake is the survival of free democratic systems."

The group's ministers also endorsed "Twelve Commandments" aimed at energy conservation, developing old-fashioned energy sources like coal and gas and harnessing new power supplies such as solar and geothermal energy.

ply must develop nuclear power as the only significant substitute for oil.

The main concern of the ministers was not whether the transition from oil to other sources of energy was feasible. Their worry was whether the necessary saving measures would be accepted by public opinion and above all, the Ameri-

U.S. failure so far to curb oil imports has raised doubts about whether the Carter Administration has the political clout to make its energy program come

Schlesinger appeared to allay the concerns, pledging that the administration would go back to the Congress again with any legislation Congress may reject.

The pipe-smoking, silver-haired secretary posed the rhetorical question: If the Americans, who consume the bulk of the world's oil imports failed to cut them back, how could they expect their smaller allies to enforce energy conser-

Court To Hear Challenge Of Freeing Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - The Delhi High Court agreed today to hear a government petition challenging the unconditional release of Indira Gandhi after a night in jail.

But it did not set a date for a hearing of the petition, and court sources said it might be weeks before one is held.

Delhi Magistrate Ripsudan Dayal ordered the 59-year-old Mrs. Gandhi freed Tuesday, saying prosecutors had failed to show sufficient grounds for detaining her. She was arrested the night before on charges of official corruption during her rule as prime minister.

Solicitor General S.N. Kacker told the High Court today that Dayal overstepped his authority by exploring the weight of evidence against Mrs. Gandhi prior to

Tito's Wife Drops Out Of Sight

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) - President Josip Broz Tito's wife Jovanka, his longtime confidante and traveling companion, has dropped out of sight in recent weeks, spawning a flood of speculation about her whereabouts and health.

The 54-year-old Comrade Broz, as she known, has not appeared in public since taking part in a televised ceremony with Tito Aug. 13. Three days later he left without her on a trip to China, North Korea and the Soviet Union, and there was no official press mention of her among the thousands who greeted his return,

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices were mixed today, caught up in conflicting forces in the eco-

Late Thursday the Federal Reserve reported the second consecutive weekly decline in the basic measure of the money supply. Analysts noted that the news was taken as a signal of some progress in the Federal Reserve's effort to curb inflationary pressures by restraining monetary growth. But the market was also hit by an increase in the prime lending rate to 71/2. The increase was initiated by the San Francisco-based Wells Fargo Bank earlier in the week. Other major banks had been slow to follow Wells Fargo's lead until today. But once New York's Citibank raised its rate this morning, leading banks across the country quickly joined in. Alcon Laboratories climbed 1% to 27. The company said it had received several inquiries about

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .04 to 52.57. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .13 to 118.59.

Volume on the Big Board was a sluggish 7.45 million shares by noon against 7.65 million at the same point Thursday.

Citibank of New York, the nation's second-largest bank, announced the increase at 10 a.m. EDT. Within minutes, other commercial banks made the same announcement. The closely watched prime interest rate is the rate a bank charges its largest and most credit-worthy customers. Changes in the prime rate often influence similar changes in other interest rates, and one of the first effects of a higher prime rate often is increased housing costs.

The current round of increases actually began Tuesday with an anouncement by Wells Fargo Bank of San Francisco, the nation's 11th largest bank. Thursday, the small-er United Jersey Bank of Hacken-

Board Votes To Allow Spook House

The Parks Board Thursday voted to recommend to the Lubbock City Council that a "spook house" be allowed in Joyland Amusement Park.

The recommendation will be subject to board approval of the site plan. Jimmy Dean, amusement park owner, requested the addition. Board and council approval are necessary because the park is in the Canyon Lakes policy zone. A lease with the Texas Department of Public Safety for property on which to build a 300-foot radio tower in Yellowhouse Canyon Park also was okayed by the board. The tower would be built in an area designated as a "herd pasture" on the Yellowhouse Canyon Park master plan and would not adversely affect recreation in the area, said Parks Director John Al-The proposed site is in the southwest

group and told them of the committee's latest actions. The group, comprised of minority members anxious to establish a city park dedicated to minorities, has divided into six subcommittees, he said. The subcommittees include organizational, historical research, genealogical research, recreational land research, fiscal and artistic. Roots Committee last month received board sanction of its proposal for an artistic tribute to minorities in Lubbock. A preliminary plat for land south of

Five Jurors Needed Here

Jurors already chosen have been sequestered, and 237th District Court Judge John R. McFall has been conducting late-night sessions in efforts to complete the 12-member panel.

The seventh juror, a woman, was selected late Thursday. So far, the panel has five women and two men. Mabra, 20, of Amarillo is standing trial for the alleged Oct. 21, 1975, shotgun slaying of convenience store clerk Edith Whitfield. The incident occurred in Amarillo, but

Mabra's trial was moved here on a change of venue after a co-defendant received the death penalty from an Amaril-Each side is allowed 15 peremptory

Maid Of Cotton To Be Picked

Selection of a 1978 South Plains Maid of Cotton will begin at 9 p.m. Saturday in a telecast at KMCC-TV. The 21 contestants for the title in one of.

Texas' most prolific cotton-producing; areas - the South Plains of Texas were special guests of honor at a luncheon today at the Lubbock Country Club. Tonight, the Presentation Ball will be at Lubbock Country Club from 8 p.m. to midnight. Allison Mynatt, a 19-year-old Wayland College coed when she won the 1977 Maid of Cotton title here, will crown the new titleholder.

The South Plains Maid will continue in competition at the national level in Memphis, Tenn., later this year.

Firm Offers Reward For Clerk's Killer

SEATTLE (AP) - Southland Corp. of Dallas has offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person who killed grocery store clerk Charles W. Paterson Jr. Southland operates the 7-Eleven chain.

The 22-year-old clerk was working his last night at a 7-Eleven store Wednesday when he was shot and killed. King County police say they have no clues.

Singer Rents Out Presley's Auto

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) - Elvis Presley fans can ride in the Continental Mark IV the late superstar once owned.

Earlier this year, Presley gave the car to gospel singer J. D. Sumner, whose Stamps quartet provided backup singing for the entertainer.

Summer now rents the car as a promotion gimmick to shopping centers and car dealers. He charges $2,000.

For another $1,500, Sumner will make a personal appearance with the car. He doesn't sing, but he does sign autographs and personally show the long white limousine that Elvis drove.

"I see nothing wrong with it," Sumner says. "Elvis' friends aren't paying a penny to see him. The other people are - those who rent it." Sumner says he was offered $1 million for the car, but won't take it.

Being the lead-in show for "All In The Family" won't hurt. The new show, which premieres on CBS Sunday at 7:30 p.m. CDT, centers on a pair of working girls, but there its re-semblance to "Laverne & Shirley" ends. These girls speak quietly.

They are Julie Peters, played by Bess Armstrong as a sweet but softly willful girl who looks like Julie Andrews, and Maria Teresa Bonino (Lynnie Greene), who is dark, attractive, but six-foot-one and 127 pour The girls work for a New York advertising agency. Their boss, played by Gretch-en Wyler as a fast-talking agency head who adores her Yorkshire terrier (he's cuter than Nancy Marchand's dog on "Lou Grant"), leaves them to cast their

ness and ferocity by Mitchell Ryan, who headed the big corporation of the late CBS series "Executive Suite."

Ryan as Ambler Bowman wants to humiliate his wife, and also keep her from testifying against him to Henry Gibson, an investigator for the state attorney general's office. Bowman is aided by his colleagues in corruption, Pat Hingle, Philip Abbott, and John Quade as the sloppiest sheriff that side of the Pecos.

On the good guy side is Michael Parks as a Texas Ranger who tries to help the damsel in distress. Parks has a nice manner in throwing sway lines — or may he is embarrassed by having to say them.

'Envy' Game's Rules Change For Elderly

By LOU COTTIN

Old folks will remember. Back in our school days, so long ago, we had one hour of music once a week, Just before the last hour on Fridays, grades 3A to 4B would be assembled in a large room. We didn't have music books. The words and tunes were taught to us line by line, phrase by phrase. We got mixed up often, as in the case of "Ye Braids of Bonnie Doon" and "Maxwelton's Braids," which also were bonnie In fast most of the brice were confined. which also were bonnie. In fact, most of the lyrics were confus

Most bewildering to me was "The Lord's Prayer." We Jewish kids were ex-

Most Dewildering to me was "The Lord's Prayer." We Jewish kids were excused from this recitation. There was one kid in my class named Harold Horowitz who insisted that when the Christian kids said, "who art in Heaven, Harold be thy name," they were taling about him and Artie Goldberg.

My own amazement came from the statement that "Surely good Mrs. Murphy would follow me all the days of my life." There was a Mrs. Murphy on our block. She never followed me anywhere. I figured maybe she followed Art or Harold, who were mentioned in the prayer.

One come however was a real forestic with all of me It was about "The Miller."

One song, however, was a real favorite with all of us. It was about "The Miller of the Dee." The refrain of that song went "I envy nobody, no not I — and nobody envies me." We didn't know what a "Dee" was, but the refrain could be bellowed out bravely, 28 treble voices squeaking as one.

The message in that song didn't become clear until I was much older. That jolly miller lived without envy. He seemed glad that nobody was jealous of his success. He was a happy man.

Many years later my wife Nikka, who was a teacher, brought home a song-book for children used by the school in which she taught. Leafing through it, I found the song "Jolly Miller." I hummed the verse and sang the refrain aloud

Then horrors! That "nobody envies me" was a lie. It seems that the king of the country was very envious of the miller's happiness. Doubts assailed me. Was the miller happy because he envied nobody? Or was he happy because he was envied by the king?

Oh. well. childhood fantasies about non-envious millers don't play much part in adult life. Nevertheless, the song brought back a remembered feeling. To live without envy of others is to be beautiful. To make others envy you is to be continuously "on the make." The men or women who glout "Eat your heart out, you so and so" enjoy success comparatively. Only when others are jealous is the

Our generation, now seniors, grew up to measure our successes not by what we did, but by what we had. We called it the "rat race." And for many of us there was no way to get out of the pushing and showing for more, more. The collection of material things had to be our aim in life. But no matter how much we made, there was always someone richer than we were. The game of envy was one nobody could really win. We felt that in some way, people who had more than we did were somehow better than we were. Therefore we had to believe that those who had less than we lacked some of the splendid qualities about which we ourselves could boast.

For us now in the old age bracket the whole structure built on envy falls apart. No one judges us any longer by the state of our bank accounts. Whatever money we have — well, that's it. There won't be any more produced by our own effort. If our Social Security goes up, so does everyone else's. If our expens effort. If our Social Security goes up, so does everyone else's. If our expenses, our medical costs, or taxes go up, so do the expenses of our contemporaries. We no longer can be envied for our possessions or our finances.

The rules of the "envy" game are changed for the elderly. What we hope for now is admiration and respect. We need to be accepted as valid people by our children and grandchildren; by our friends and our associates. The rat race is for younger people. We will be judged by what we do for others rather than what we do increase our wellthe. Except for a very few of us, there's nothing we senior citizens can do to become wealthier.

Admittedly, the adifficult quanties. Here we are the conditions the conditions are the conditions.

Admittedly, it's a difficult question. Here we are. We spent our younger years trying to make a buck so that we could "keep up with the Jonses." What's left for us to strive for now?

Older persons will need to answer that question for themselves. Let me, therefore, speak for Nikka and myself. We are not more than 10 years into senior citizenhood. We have won respect as senior activists. To us, improving life for ourselves and other older Americans is a cause, not a hobby. In close harmony, each of us chants with the Jolly Miller of Dee.

"I envy nobody, not I;

Navy Names Ship After Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Navy's third nuclear-powered aircraft carrier is being named after a former Army man.

The Dwight D. Eisenhower will be formally commissioned Oct. 18 in Norfolk, Va., in a ceremony attended by the late president's wife, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhow-

The Pentagon said Defense Secretary Harold Brown will be guest speaker at the commissioning of the 1,092-foot Eisenhower. The vessel took seven years to build. Mrs. Eisenhower christened the ship when it was launched in 1975.

A fourth nuclear carrier, the USS Carl Vinson, still is under construction. It will be the last large-deck supercarrier built by the Navy, which is planning to convert to smaller carriers and vertical takeoff combat aircraft in the 1990s.

Dick Gibson Gets Credit For Making Jazz Popular In Colorado

By JOANNE D'ALCOMO
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) —
Dick Gibson had just left the skyscrapers of New York for a rambling home in Denver when he turned to his wife and asked, "Maddie, what are we missing?" The answer, Gibson discovered, was the seashore and the music he had loved since his boyhood in the South - jazz. "I couldn't do anything about the ocean," Gibson recalls, "but I could a lot about jazz,' Gibson asked 10 East Coast jazz musicians to fly nearly 2,000 miles to Aspen for a weekend of jam sessions so he could hear his favorite music. The musicians were astonished — Colorado had never been a hotbed for their music and they wondered who would foot the bill. But Gibson, a businessman who had made some money with a new tooth cleaning device, had thought of a way to finance his fantasy. He spread word of his jazz weekend to Denver and the wealthy mountain resort area, persuading people to attend and share the expen-

wave of interest in jazz.

Those asked to play include many of the country's mainstream musicians: saxophonist Zoot Sims, pianist-composer Eubie Blake, violinist Joe Venuti and honist Benny Carter.

Although many regulars in the audience consider the event the highlight of their year, Gibson maintains the party is for the musicians, "The guests are there to pay for them, to serve as a warming mirror for the musicians," he says. The choice of artists reflects Gibson's taste, his preference for conventional jazz. He labels music produced by the popular avante-garde movement "gibber-

He personally supervises the entire affair. which means he has little time to relax and enjoy the more than 30 hours of music he has programmed. Instead, he derives his greatest pleasure from arranging the groups in which the musicians will play. He devotes each night in August to the task and takes pride in the results.

"The weekend is like a tapestry," he says, and during the weekend musicians are woven in and out of jam sessions. One combination Gibson engineered a few years ago turned out so well the par-Gibson's fancies, however, have not al-ways been so successful. This year's par-ty, which costs guests $130 each, may net about $1,000 when all the expenses are in. But one year Gibson lost $10,000. "I don't want to make money out of

Sloan Hopes To Change Arizona Memories

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff TUCSON, Ariz. — Steve Sloan probably doesn't have many fond memories of Arizona. For sure, he has two unpleasant

The first is from 1971 when Florida State, of which Sloan was offensive coordinator, lost to Arizona State 45-38 in the initial Fiesta Bowl.

The second stems from two seasons ago. Sloan's first Texas Teeh team traveled to this desert city to play Arizona with a 2-3 record and mired in a three-game losing streak.

The Raiders took charge of the game from the outset and led Arizona 21-6 at halftime, only to lose 32-28 on Lee Pistor's field goal with six seconds remaining.

"That was probably the lowest point for our program since our staff has been here," Sloan said earlier this week, as his team prepared for another journey westward and Saturday's 9:30 p.m. (CDT) contest against the Wildcats. "Things looked bad then.

"Those were tough times. We had our backs to the wall. We really needed to win badly, and we should have won, so that made it that much tougher to lose."

This, too, is an important game for the Red Raiders. Rodney Allison's injury has been discussed often, but his importance can't be stressed too much. Tech must find a way to win until he returns, which is expected to be for the Texas game Oct. 29.

"I felt like the North Carolina game was a critical one for us, and I feel the same way about this one," Sloan said. "We need to win these three (UNC, Arizona and Rice) and then get to that open date (Oct. 22) and, hopefully, get some of our injured people back."

If the Raiders can win their next two games, they will be 5-1 going into the game against Texas, which will begin the season's final stretch. That includes games against UT, Arkansas and Houston, currently three of the principal contenders for the SWC charmionship.

contenders for the SWC championship.

On the injured list besides Allison are strongside guard Greg Wessels (back), strong safety Alan Emerson (dislocated kneecap), defensive end Andy Thomas (knee) and flanker Godfrey Turner (bruised thigh). All except Turner are regulars, and Turner alternates with Brian Nelson in each game. The Raiders must do something to get their offense going. They gained only 187 yards against Texas A&M—less than 100 after Allison was injured—and 263 against North Caroli.

100 after Allison was injured—and 263 against North Caroli-na. Sophomore Mark Johnson came in late in the second quarter against UNC and gave Tech a lift offensively, but improvement is still needed.

Adami will start against Arizona, but both quarterbacks

Defense has made a lot of difference for Tech this season. The Raiders rank third in the SWC in total defense with a 236-yard allowable, just a yard behind second-place Astan-sas. They are fourth in rushing defense and second in pass-

"I've got to be happy about our defense," defensive coordinator Bill Parcells said. "We've still got room for improvement, but we've done well.

"I think the players are confident that they can play good defense, and that's half the battle. And knowing that takes pressure off the coaches—it makes them more confident that they can do different things, It makes defense-calling easier."

Arizona, 1-3, is a young team. Offensively, the Wildcats have nine freshmen and sophomores on their two-deep list. On defense, the count is 11 frosh and sophs.

"We're basically a young team, and that's what's causing the problems," first-year Arizona coach Tony Mason said. "The other people didn't leave too many players here. We got a good freshman group, but you don't win with freshmen; you do it with juniors and seniors."

The Wildcats haven't been blown out in any of their three losses, falling to Auburn 21-10, San Diego State 21-14 and Wyoming last weekend 13-12. In all three games, UA had chances, but didn't take advantage of them.

Against Wyoming, the Wildcats had fourth down and six inches to for a touchdown near the end of the half and didn't make it. Pistor missed a field goal near the end and also an played in a strong wind.

"We've steadily progressed, but so have our opposed.
That's the problem," Mason said. "The question is—will use catch up with our opponents?

"Right now, we have too many freshmen, and they have the breakdowns that you expect from freshmen. When we put it altogether, we can win, like we did against fown." An zona ripped the then-undefeated Hawkeyes 41-7 on the road. The Wildcats principal anset is speed.

"They've got a bunch of fast guys," Parcells said. "The run the 'I' in a similar fashion to North Carolina, but the have more option and outside plays and they throw the halbetter than North Carolina. It's the kind of team that can have a second-and-10 and make 25 yards."

Quarterback Mare Lunaford and tailback Derriak Anderson are Arizona's biggest offensive threats.

Defensively, UA has several players back that player against Tech last year, including noseguard Jon Abbott, fackle last year and the man Tech offensive coordinator Red Dockery considers to be the 'Cata' best defender.

"He's quick, smart, tough and he can run," Dockery said.

The Wildcats have good team speed defensively, Dock added. A problem is that they are very young at lineback

Bits And Pieces

BAYLOR'S TRAINERS HAVE been working overtime this season because of injuries to Bear football players, but the Baptists came out of last weekend's Houston game with no new injuries. Trainer Skip Cox remarked, "I was lonesome." . . . Texas Tech has had its share of injuries, too, the most noticeable one being to quarterback Rodney Allison. Quarterbacks have been getting hurt with great regularity last year and this year, but that didn't bother Allison

worried when Allison first came off the field with his injury during the first quarter versus the Aggies. "He came up to me and said, 'Rodney, when you go back in there. I want you to relax on your passes. You've been guiding the ball too much.' It was kind of funny in a way because I knew I was hurt. I didn't know how bad it was, though. I thought it was maybe a real bad sprain.' Oklahoma State had played Florida State just once before last Saturday's contest, that in the ill-fated Blue Grass Bowl in Louisville, Ky., years ago. Guidry, forced into the Yankees' starting rotation because of injuries to veter-ans Catfish Hunter, Don Gullett and Ed Figueroa, was coveted by the Royals, and two years ago he was all but on his way to Kansas City.

But Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog said that Birdie Tebbetts, the Yankees' chief scout, vetoed the deal.

Herzog would have loved to have Guidry wearing Kansas City blue rather than the Yankee pinstripes Thursday night.
"He pitched a great ballgame. He had great stuff, a great breaking ball," said Herzog, whose club was limited to Frank, White's single in the third, Freddie Patek's double in the sixth and George Brett's single in the minth. "He's a really good pitcher."

Although the Royals never went after the 6-foot-4, 225-pound Johnson, they would have preferred if he played for somebody besides the Yankees.

Called "The Monster" by Martin, Johnson creates excitement at the plate, swinging from the heels on every pitch. The only thing that keeps his body from toppling over is the contact of bat and ball.

Talbot's Westerners, 0-4-1, try again for that elusive first win tonight in Lowrey Field against Amarillo Caprock at 7:30 p.m. Other city games feature unbeaten Monterey at winless Pampa, Coronado at El Paso Parkland and Plains at Lubbock Christian High.

Talbot remembered an old Spencer Tracy movie, "Bad Day at Black Rock," when he recalled the second half of last Saturday's 21-7 loss at Odessa Ector. His Westerners led 7-0 at halftime.

'They had three long runs that broke it open for them. The defense played well but two major penalties really hurt us," said the second-year coach. Misfortune mounted as quarterback Ricky Moreno bruised a shoulder late in the third quarter and missed the rest of the game. Lubbock also missed its offense from that point as it rushed for only 14 yards during the final 15 minutes. But the LHS coach indicates Moreno will re-

The Lubbock coach's main concern centers around the containment of Caprock's wing-T offense. The Longhorns (2-3) employ fullback Larry Craven for several trap plays and halfback Bobby Short shows his 4.7 speed on the wide pitch

MHS-PAMPA If seventh-ranked Monterey thinks this game is a "laugher' then the Plainsmen haven't listened to coach James Odom

"Pampa looks and plays better than its record (0-4). They've been erratic but they're capable of making the big play on offense. Their quarterback, Steve Young, throws the ball well and their wingback, Ricky Bunton, is an excellent receiver. They gave Perryton and Borger all they wanted," Odom said. Odom was pleased to dodge the Hobbs game (a 54-6 Monterey win) without playing some of his many injured players. Odom doubts that his wide receivers Dudley McMinn and Eric Voyles, will play tonight but replacement Chuck Per-ry caught four passes for 107 yards against Hobbs. The lopsided victory afforded the coach a chance to use his younger reserves.

Coronado tried "something we haven't done in a while," according to coach Don King, who praised his passing attack in last week's 25-14 win over Palo Duro.

"Buck Williams did a good job of throwing the ball and we got more offense than we've been getting from our quarterback," King added.

Parkland (3-2 overall) rates even with Coronado in size, says the Mustang mentor. But King worries about the threats in the Parkland backfield.

"They're blessed with three outstanding, big, fast backs. Mark Williams, their fullback, does a good job," he said. One Mustang lineup change shows Ri-

LV-Speck 19 run (Speck kick)

It proved to be the only serious threat as the Matadors would make, as the Lake View defense stiffened in the second half and held the potent Matador offense to a mere 6 vards total

"Our defense just played super," Hale said. "Just super.

"If we could have scored then, we could have gotten momentum for the second half and taken the game to them."
Kelley said. 'but we didn't, and you saw what happened.

What happened was the Chiefs' defense never allowed Estacado any closer than its 32 in the remaining 24 minutes.

Scatback Kenzie Burrell, who rushed for 103 yards in the game, was limited to a mere 11 in the second half.

The Chiefs used 10 plays and 2:28 to score its second TD of the night. This time Speck hit end Dwain Clemons with an 19 yard scoring toss for the score.

After the Chiefs were unable to move the ball and were forced to punt, Burrell fumbled the kick on the Matador 38 and the bobble was recovered by Mark McDonald.

From there it was only a matter of time before Speck was able to lead his team into the end zone. On third and 7 from the 19, Speck dropped straight back, spotted Clemons on the 3 and fired a perfect strike. All Clemons had to do was fall into paydirt, which he did.

Cornerback Perry Curnett stepped in front of a Henderson pass attempt on the 15 to set up the final Chief score.

The Matador defense, led by Kenneth. Taylor, appeared as though it were about to jell and keep the Chiefs out of the end zone. But it just wasn't possible as Lake View used only seven plays before Speck cracked over from the 1 with 6:21 remaining in the game. maining in the game.

Sammy Williams Hopes Future Brings More Passes His Way

By CARTER CROMWELL sche-Journal Sports Staff Sammy Williams has been Texas Tech's leading receiver the previous two sea-sons, but he hasn't had as many passes di-rected toward him in the first four games of 1977 as one might expect. Still, he ex-pects the situation to change soon. "I think they're probably throwing to me a little bit less than they did last year," said Williams, who has caught six

Adami Gets Starting Call

Texas Tech head football coach Steve Sloan said Thursday that Tres Adami will "probably" be the team's starter at quarterback Saturday night against Arizona.

"We'll use both Tres and Mark Johnson in the game," Sloan said, "and we don't have any particular plan as to who will play how much. It will just depend on how we're Sloan said the quarterback who does the best against Arizona will most likely be the starter against Rice Oct. 15.

Dunbar, MHS JVs Chalk Up Victories

Nelson threw four touchdown three to Larry Isaac, to lead Dunr's junior varsity to a 32-14 win over countield at the Dunbar field Thursday. The pair clicked to give Dunbar a 12-0 ith a 50-yard scoring play in the irst quarter and a 60-yarder in the sec-nd period.

Recognised then rallied with an 8-yard coring run by Vincent Sims to make the core 12-6. The Cub JV then went ahead third period when Sims ran 40 in the third period when Sims ran 40 yards for a touchdown and then ran for two extra points.

at Dunbar came back in the third arter on a 50-yard scoring pass from to Steve Marsh and on a fourth-40-yard scoring strike to Isaacbar's final TD came in the fourth ter when Bobby Neals ran 40 yards.

Dunbar is now 3-1.

Quarterback Jeff Thompson ran for the touchdown and passed for three more to lead the Monterey sophomores 27-0 victory over the Tahoka junior ity at the Monterey Field.

Mike Patterson (177) hompson ran 4 yards for a toudchdeep of the first quarter. In the second ceriod, he threw a 43-yard scoring pass to ack Purkeypile and a 12-yarder to end the Carter. Greg Rogers kicked the extra points after the latter two scores to use the winners a 20-0 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Thompson threw a 34-yard pass to Joe Cockrell, and Rogers booted the PAT to complete the game's SAN REMO, Italy (AP) - Italy's Maurizio Verini, in a Fiat Abarth 131, took the lead at the end of the second leg of the San Remo auto rally Thursday after an eventful night in which leading drivers dropped out.

The stoning incident led organizers to cancel three tests. This caused some confusion including the later corrected announcement that France's Jean Claude Andruet, also in a Fiat Abarth, had won. He held on to the lead through several tests but lost it to Verini in the end. Two leading drivers, Italy's Sandro Munari in a Lancia Stratos, and Finland's Ari Vatanen, in a Ford Escort, withdrew from the rally when their cars developed mechanical troubles.

Sweden's Bjorn Waldegaard, in a Ford Escort, placed fifth. Waldegaard is in second place, three points behind Munari's nts in the World Drivers Cup stand-passes for 112 yards this season. "With niques this season. Rodney (Allison) hurt, we've got some inexperienced quarterbacks in there, and it's just a matter of us getting our timing

"We've been working on this a lot in practice this week, and I look for an improved performance by our passing game against Arizona this Saturday."

The Tech passing game, effective the past two seasons, has nevertheless begun slowly each year, as it has in 1977. Part of the reason is that the Raiders do a lot of things with their passing attack, and it takes a while for everything to mesh pro-

"I guess it's kind of normal for us to start slowly," Williams said. "We don't seem to have a lot of confidence in ourselves at the start, but we gain confidence as the season goes along.

"At first, and this year is no different, we just seem to have letdowns in various phases of the passing game-blocking. throwing, receiving or something-that messes us up. It's just a matter of us getting it all together.

Williams entered the 1977 campaign with 73 career receptions, 35 short of breaking the Tech record of 107 held by Donny Anderson. He is currently fourth on the list with 79, one short of thirdplace Dave Parks' total of 80. The record. naturally, is on his mind.

"It's in the back of my mind, of course," Williams said. "I'd be very proud and happy to break it, but it's secondary to helping the team win

Williams hasn't added any new tech-

"I'm just trying to improve on the things I do now," he said. "The main thing I'm trying to do is improve my concentration in all areas, particularly in watching the ball all the way into my hands.

The Raiders currently have a 3-1 record, and, with a 1-1 SWC mark, aren't out of the league race, although the loss to A&M was a setback. Tech would have to win the rest of its conference games. and the Aggies would have to lose twice for the Raiders to get the Cotton Bowl

"I still think it's possible," Williams said. "We have a chance to win the rest. and I think the Aggies could lose two.

'This game Saturday (against Arizona) is important for the team's confidence and for our overall record. After tving for the championship last season, our goal this year has been the Cotton Bowl, and we haven't lost sight of that.

NOTES: The Red Raiders drilled for an hour and 15 minutes Thursday. They will travel to Tucson today and have a light, loosening-up drill this afternoon. Sloan said that strong safety Alan Emerson, who suffered what was thought to be a dislocated kneecap in the season opener against Baylor, has a torn cartilage and will miss more action. "He fell in practice Wednesday, and we had an arthogram performed that indicated the torn cartilage." Sloan said. "If we're lucky, we might get him back for the last two games of the year." Emerson had been a starter before his injury.

players went up the ramp at halftime. Two seasons ago, much of the same behavior was evident, and someone threw a nearly full can of beer at a Tech player, barely missing him.

Kenan Stadium, on the North Carolina campus, is one of the more quaint ones. It's a good stadium, but there are no lights, and school policy says the be higher than the many trees that surround it. When inside the place, one can't see much in the distance, except for a belltower that is a couple of blocks away. One can hardly see the stadium from a block away. For most of us, it was a rare experience to have to walk through woods to get to the stadium

The Southwest Conference has come up with a good punting effort, as a league, so far this season. Four SWC punters are in the nation's top 17-SMU's Ken Rosenthal (sixth, 44.0), Arkansas' Steve Little (eighth, 43.5) and A&M's David Appleby and Baylor's Luke Prestridge (tied for 14th with 42.8 marks). Six of the nine SWC clubs have punting averages of more than 40 yards. . . A measure of Texas' ease at moving the football thus far this season (albeit against weak teams) is that the Longhorns have punted just nine times in three games. Arkansas has punted the next-fewest times-19.

"When I left the on-deck circle and got to the batter's box, my eyes started watering and they wouldn't stop," said Johnson, who smashed 12 homers in 56 games with the Yankees this season. "Just because I hit the home run, it doesn't mean they didn't water."

Johnson, acquired from Houston on June 15 for minor league pitcher Randy Stein and lots of cash, also laced a tiebreaking double in the sixth inning, prompting a standing ovation from the crowd of 56,230 — largest in Yankee Stadium this year - when he went to bat in the eighth inning.

It was a warm feeling," said Johnson.
"These people in New York are about to spoil me.

The sixth inning was crucial for the Yankees. It took a controversial play in the top of the sixth to really snap the Yankees alive in the bottom of the sixth.

With the Yankees ahead 2-1, Kansas City's Freddie Patek led off the sixth with a double off the wall in right-center field. Designated hitter Hal McRae followed with a walk. Then Brett, hitless in seven previous at-bats, grounded a ball to third baseman Graig Nettles, who fired to second baseman Willie Randolph for a forceout. But McRae's rolling tackle knocked Randolph to the ground. While the two players were entangled, Patek raced home with the tying run.

"That was no slide, it was a clip," said Martin, who protested unsuccessfully to second base umpire Marty Sprinstead that McRae's action should be ruled interference. "I didn't think it was very professional. Second basemen can get their careers ruined that way.

Oh, well. A 2-2 record, after a murderous four weeks like that is nothing to be ashamed of.

What we're saying, in other words, is that the Raiders will win.

We're also saying Baltimore will knock Miami from the National Football League's unbeaten ranks, that the New York Jets, Atlanta Falcons and Philadelphia Eagles will pull off mild upsets and that Joe Namath will finally win a Monday night game.

Last week's 10-4 mark put the season record at 28-14, (.667). This week's picks

Colts 28, Dolphins 14: Baltimore has looked strangely unimpressive thus far while Miami has built its record with victories over nobodies. Both teams will be high for this meeting, but the Colts have the manpower to get highter.

Jets 23, Bills 13: New York's young defense is beginning to put things together. The only think the Bills have been able to put together is the league's longest current losing streak.

Falcons 20, 49ers 12: The 49ers have shown virtually nothing up to now. Atlanta will show them the same sound defense they showed the equally inept Giants, with the same results.

Eagles 17, Giants 10: All a team has to do to beat the Giants is rush the quarterback. Philadelphia will take the cue from Rams 31, Bears 16: Namath was 0-7 under ABC's lights. He may not be as electrifying with Los Angeles as he was with New York, but at least he's a winner again. Chicago's going nowhere against the Battering Rams.

Bengals 24, Packers 10: Cincinnati, which thought it had a breather and got strangled last Sunday by San Diego, finally will get its act together. Green Bay can stop the other guys only for a while.

Steelers 27, Oilers 6: Playing the Steelers is like walking down a dark street with $20 bills hanging out of your pockets. It's an invitation to a mugging. The Oilers will RSVP.

Vikings 26, Lions 14: Minnesota may never look back the rest of the season after this game-unless the Lions or Bears can put hot streaks and upsets on the board. And Detroit simply doesn't win the big ones.

Chargers 17, Saints 16: Or it could be the other way around. We happen to think the defense San Diego showed last Sunday is a touch more real than the offense New Orleans showed.

Cowboys 34, Cardinals 17: Before the season began, we'd have guessed this

ble the old Friday Night Fights, but there should be plenty of action when the Kansas City Royals and the New York Yankees tangle in round three - make that game three - of the American League playoffs tonight.

Ringside shifts to Royals Stadium in Kansas City following New York's nine-inning 6-2 knockout Thursday night in Yankee Stadium, evening the best-of-five series at one game apiece.

While Ron Guidry fired a classy threehitter. Cliff Johnson slammed a gametying homer in the fifth inning and a tiebreaking double in the sixth and Thurman Munson collected three singles, the Yankees claimed that a couple of hard slides into second base by Kansas City's Hal McRae had just as much to do with the outcome - if not more

'Bad blood?" said Manager Billy Martin, a scrapper of note in his own right. "I don't think there's any good blood after tonight's game.'

The Yankees were seething, quietly and otherwise, after McRae knocked the ball out of shortstop Bucky Dent's glove on an attempted steal in the first inning and threw a body block at second baseman Willie Randolph in the sixth, allowing Fred Patek to score all the way from second with the run that tied the score 2-

Dent said McRae wacked him across the forearm with a two-handed karate chop while Randolph threatened to 'throw the ball right between his eyes" the next time McRae comes barreling in-

At any rate, Munson singled with one out it the bottom of the sixth and, one out later, Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog began managing in earnest, only to see his strategy blow up in his face.

With two righthanded batters next in the order, Herzog replaced lefthanded starter Andy Hassler with righthander Mark Littell. But Lou Piniella singled, Johnson doubled to make it 3-2 New York and, after an intentional walk to Chris Chambliss, Randolph's smash skipped through third baseman George Brett for a two-run error. Randolph, who singled in the fifth and scored on a single by Dent, then singled home an insurance run in the eighth.

"I was just happy McRae woke every-body up for us," said pitcher Mike Torrez, who will oppose Kansas City's Dennis Leonard in tonight's game.

"I think we were fired up," said Mar-tin, "but that just added a liotle wood to

And another Yankee, who asked not to be identified, charged the umpires "almost let the game get out of hand. That was about as close as you can come to a fight out there." tanks of sideral t around the league for his hard slides,

"I've got three feet on each side of the base when I slide if he's close to the base. If you're going to knock him down, you've got to step up into him. If you slide, he just jumps over you.

"I'm not trying to hurt him but I'm not trying to make it easy for him. I'm competitive. I used to do this in the National League when I played there. I want to win and that's all there is to it.'

"I had him take me out like that when I was with the White Sox in 1975," Dent recalled. "He tried to get me the same way he went at Willie but I went over the top of him and caught him with my knee and broke his ribs. I think we had momentum this time, but he just added a little While most of the Yankees stopped just short of accusing McRae of a deliberate attempt at injury, untility infielder Fred Stanley was more outspoken.

"Nobody minds a good hard slide, but he tried to hurt you," he said. "I've seen him bust up Jack Heidemann and Eddie Leon like that

Randolph didn't get busted up but that didn't mean he was happy slide

"I took the throw from Nettles (third baseman Graig Nettles) and jumped back from the bag," he said. "That next thing I knew I was on the ground and the ball was loose and when I tried to get the ball

I was restricted from moving. "I'm not accusing him of trying to hurt me but the play was over and he was out. It wasn't even a rolling body block, just a low block. You see hard slides and uncalled-for slides and that wasn't called for. He did it to me early last year and I hurt my wrist. I definitely would have said something to him but he was gone. I've got to protect myself and next time

I'll throw it right between his eyes." And so it went, the Royals taking round one 7-2 amd the Yankees grabbing round two 6-2.

"I'm beginning to think these clubs don't like each other," said New York's Lou Piniella. "It's starting to get like our rivalry with Boston. We're playing harder against each other, really going after each other, but that's good. McRae likes to play the game rough and tough and that's all right, too."

And what about heading for Kansas Ci-ty and what now boils down to a best-ofthree series?

"Well," said Herzog, "if we'd lost yes-terday and won today I'd feel good. But I guess I'd have to say I'm satisfied."

"We just tied the series, we really haven't done anything yet," said Martin. "We have to go someplace to play and Kansas City's as good a place as any."

Battle Of Big D' No Different This Year

By The Associated Press
It's getting to be old hat.
Every time Texas plays Oklahoma, it seems that both teams are undefeated, ranked high in the national poll and ready to tear each other's throats out.

"Battle of Big D" will be no different this Saturday, en the Longhorns meet the Sooners in a showdown of col-

'They have more talent than they've ever had," says Oklaoma coach Barry Switzer, talking about the fifth-ranked Longhorns. "They have a big-play offense. They have more speed than any Texas team - or for that matter - any team we've played. Despite a high-powered Texas offense that has produced the biggest point production in the country, Oklahoma is a three-point favorite in the traditional game at Dallas. But obviously the Sooners will have to corral that blazing Longhorn speed if they hope to wear the bronze Cowboy Hat trophy that annually goes to the winner.

"Texas really throws you off balance," said Switzer, whose team is ranked No. 2 in the country. "They have a lot of dif-

The Oklahoma-Texas rivalry, which started in 1900, has been a series of dramatic power changes. Texas took charge at the start, then Oklahoma took command under the brilliant administration of Bud Wilkinson in the 1950s before Darrell Royal, a Wilkinson pupil, turned the series around again in Texas' favor in the 1960s.

This is the 20th time in the distinguished series that both teams have gone into the game unbeaten. The Longhorns spoiled the Sooners' undefeated season 17 times in the past, while Oklahoma has turned the trick on Texas seven times.

Royal retired last season after posting a 12-7-1 record against the Sooners. Now, as athletic director at Texas, he'll be watching Saturday's game from the press box instead of worrying on the field. In Royal's place will be Fred Akers, an old acquaintance of Switzer's.

"I've always respected Fred and the kind of job he does, and I hope nothing comes between us," said Switzer, who played football with Akers at Arkansas. "I will work at keep-

Switzer has belped improve Oklahoma's record against Texas with three victories and last year's 6-6 tie. The series now stands at 42-26-3 in the Longhorns' favor

In another big game involving two of the nation's Top Ten teams, top-ranked Southern Cal entertains No. 7 Alabama in the Los Angeles Coliseum and neither coach knows what to

"One of the problems of a young team like ours is you can be great one week and lousy the next," said Southern Cal coach John Robinson, whose team is 4-0 this season and has won its last 15 games. "But it's exciting as heck for us to play

"Maybe we can do it, maybe we can't do it and maybe even we'll be terrible," says Alabama's Bear Bryant. "But I'm glad we're going to play them."

Alabama, a 31-24 loser to Nebraska three weeks ago, brings a 3-1 record into the nationally-televised game. Michigan, the nation's No. 3 team, plays a traditional game with Michigan State, although the fierce rivalry has been more competitive in past years. The Wolverines are coming off an impressive 41-3 victory over Southwest Conference power Texas A&M while Michigan State is on a downcurve as the result of NCAA probationary measures.

Purdue coach Jim Young says he will live or die with the pass when his team meets No. 4 Ohio State.

"You have to go with your strength," says Young, meeting his old college tutor, Woody Hayes, for the first time.

Young was a defensive back on Hayes' first national championship team at Ohio State in 1954.

In other games involving Top Ten teams, Oklahoma State will play No. 6 Colorado; No. 9 Nebraska meets Kansas State and Utah State visits No. 10 Penn State.

Elsewhere, it's No. 13 Brigham Young at Oregon State; No. 14 California at Washington; No. 15 Pitt at No. 20 Flori-da; Mississippi State at No. 16 Kentucky; No. 17 Texas Tech at Arizona; No. 18 LSU at Vanderbilt and Illinois at No. 19

Eunice coach Tommy Gruber wouldn't mind a replay of the 1976 season. The Cardinals are certainly in a position to pull it off, too.

Going into tonight's conference opener against eighth-ranked Dexter, the Cardinals have yet to scratch in the victory column. They're 0-5, but Gruber says he has seen some encouraging signs in some of those recent setbacks.

"We have improved some in the last few weeks," Gruber said. "Our kids have matured a great deal. All we have to do is play like we're capable, against Dexter and Fort Sumner, and I think we have a chance in district."

The biggest hurdle at the moment may be injuries which have taken 210-pound tackle Steve Jeter, linebacker Sammy Angulano and halfback Ricky Ziegler out of the lineup.

Gruber isn't the only coach in New Mexico worried about injuries as conference play approaches. Clovis' Dunny Goode probably has his fingers crossed about his quarterback situation.

Goode, whose Wildcats are favored to take it all in District 4-AAAA, saw his two

COTTON IN CORN COUNTRY - Marvin Payne, manager of the Hereford Farmers ciation, recently inspected a field of cotton turning white under abnormally m fall temperatures. Deaf Smith Cotton Lush In Anti Corn Weather

A-J Correspondent HEREFORD — While corn is king in the northern Panhandle, a number of area farmers are contemplating what may be their best cotton crop ever in the Deaf Smith County area.

Unusually hot, dry conditions that severely crippled the corn crop in mid-July proved to be just what the county's cotton acreage needed.

Now, cotton fields are turning snowy white at a time when farmers normally would be wondering if the bolls would even open in time before the first frost.

Marvin Payne, manager of the Here-ford Farmers Gin Association, noted that 1977 has been an unusual year for cotton production in Deaf Smith County.

'We're almost too far north to have much luck growing cotton, but this has been a cotton year and I think we'll average a bale to the acre," he comment-

Early frosts have virtually eliminated cotton production in this area of the state in recent years. The first frost of the season usually has caught cotton plants loaded with green bolls.

The tall, leafy plants produced little cotton, and the fiber that was harvested was usually of poor quality. But a strong upturn in the cotton market in 1976 renewed grower interest and several farmers decided to take a chance on the crop this year. They'll be reaping the fruits of a risk that paid off in short order.

said Payne. "The cotton is already about 80 per cent open and we're still looking for the first frost "I don't think an early frost is going to hurt us much at all this year, in the event that one comes," he added.

The gin manager reported that a few growers are defoliating their cotton, rather than waiting for an unpredictable frost to do the job.

"Some of the cotton in the area may be ready to strip soon, and we'll be ginning our first bale in Hereford well over a month in advance of what we normally do," Payne pointed out.

The Hereford gin has contracted ap proximately 2,000 acres of cotton this season and Payne reports that 5,000 to 6,000 acres of cotton is being grown in the gin's service territory, which includes the northern portion of neighboring Castro County "We may be ginning 5,000 to 6,000 bales this year in Hereford if nothing drastic happens, and that is a big increase over what we've handled in past

"I've heard several customers say this is the best cotton crop they've ever had in this country, and this is about as early as I can remember seeing a crop come off," the gin manager said.

Payne noted that the cotton market has fallen off from the highs of several

Russians Silent To U.S. Offer Of Increased Grain Allotment

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP) - With huge stockpiles of wheat and corn on hand, the United States has informed the Soviet Union it may buy up to 15 million metric tons of grain in the coming year, a senior Agriculture Department official said Thursday.

But Assistant Secretary Dale E. Hathaway said the Soviets did not indicate whether they would buy more than six million tons, the minimum annual purchase specified in a five-year grain agreement between the two countries.

Hathaway commented to reporters following a meeting here with a Soviet delegation headed by B.S. Gordeev, Soviet deputy minister of foreign trade. The semi-annual meeting is required under the grain agreement.

The agreement commits Russia to buy at least six million tons of wheat and corn combined each year. About that much was bought in the first year of the pact, which began with deliveries to Russia on Oct. 1, 1976, and ended this Sept. 30. So far in the second year, Russia has bought about 2.3 million tons

Under the agreement the Soviet Union may increase its purchases to eight million tons annually without further con-sultation with the United States. If the U.S. grain supply is large enough, the agreement allows the Soviet Union with U.S. approval - to buy more than eight million tons in a year.

Hathaway said the United States, "officially informed the Soviet Union that we would be able to sell more wheat and corn than the eight million tons specified in the agreement."

The Russians wanted to know what kind of figures were in mind. Hathaway

He said that although there are areas of relative strength such as dairying, livestock and cotton to partially offset the pressure on wheat and grain farming, "we anticipate increased competition in our industry for farm equipment sales in the coming year.'

John E. Mitchell, executive vice president Americas, Massey-Ferguson, Inc., said total unit sales of farm machinery in North America are expected to decline five to 10 per cent in 1978. But he said in dollar terms this decrease will be offset by the continuing trends towards larger, more efficient machinery to minimize farmers production costs and handle larger acreages.

J.H. Grommersch, assistant general manager of Ford Tractor Operations, also said the need to maintain income margins through increased efficiency will provide a continuing incentive for farmers in the marketplace. But, he said, on balance "we forecast that 1978 farm tractor sales will be four percent below 1977.

Roy W. Uelner, executive vice president of Allis Chalmers Corp., said that the agricultural equipment market for the remainder of 1977 and through 1978 is likely to be below the long-term trends since excessive grain stocks have resulted in reduced commodity, prices and acreage set asides for 1978 crops.

New Allotment System Differences Stressed

The farm program for cotton, wheat ad feed grains has an allotment system ifferent from anything farmers have en before, says Donald Johnson, exective vice president of the Plains Cotton Frowers, Inc., (PCG) at Lubbock.

"And it's going to be important that the new system before making final plans for 1978 crops," he added. Acreage allotments for the major have been based on historical plantings since farm programs began. But under the new law each year's allotnent will be determined by that year's planted acreage, independent of pre-prospects for cotton appear to be below the target price, the secretary of agriculture, no later than Dec. 15 each year will announce how many acres can be expected to produce the needed U.S. cotton supply. That will be known as the "National Program Acreage."

The National Program Acreage figure then will be divided by the estimated U.S. cotton acreage for harvest that year to determine an allotment "allocation factor." And that factor will be applied to each farm's planted acreage to arrive at the farm allotment.

As an example, assume that the secretary says 11.1 million acres are needed

Johnson explained that when price acreage planted to cotton in the U.S. totals 12 million The National Program Acreage (11.1 million) divided by planted acreage (12 million) gives a 92.5 per cent allocation factor, and each farm's cotton allotment would be 92.5 per cent of its planted acreage. A farm having 100 acres planted would have an allotment and target price coverage on 92.5 acres.

Farmers can, however, assure themselves of target price coverage on all planted acreage, said Johnson. The sec-retary also will announce for each year the desired reduction from the previous year's plantings, called the "national reduction percentage.'

Farmers who reduce their prior year's plantings by that percentage or more will not be subject to application of the allotment allocation factor.

The target price for cotton in 1978 will be 52 cents per pound. If the average price paid to all U.S. farmers for all cotton during the calendar year falls below 52 cents, each farmer will be entitled to the per-pound difference, multiplied by the total payment yield on his allotted acres, the PCG official explained.

Farm payment yields will be based on the three-year average of actual produc-tion, adjusted for abnormal weather.

The secretary has authority to declare a set-aside for any crop, as has already been done for wheat in 1978. For cotton the statutory maximum set-aside is 28 per cent of planted acreage.

It is articipated that the Agriculture

Department will establish for each farm a normal cropland base or normal cropland acreage figure.

When a set-aside requirement is in effect for any program, eligibility for loans and payments will be conditioned on producers planting within their cropland base minus set-aside acreage, said John-

Cropland bases are expected to include all acreage planted to "designated crops" in 1977.

No firm regulations for the operation of set-aside programs have been issued, but it appears the cropland base will be the key.

BROWNFIELD — The Brownfield cotton classing office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) opened this

It will serve approximately 54 gins in three Texas counties and one in New Mexico, according to Donald W. Bratton, regional director of the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service Cotton Division in El Paso.

The Brownfield office serves Gaines, Terry and the southern half of Yoakum counties in Texas and Lea County in New Mexico.

James E. Mabry is head of the seasonal office which classed 274,000 samples last year. Mabry has been in charge of the office for two years.

This year's early harvest brought about the office's first October opening since Oct. 1, 1963. Last year's classing operations started Nov. 1.

Producers may request reviews of classification reports from the Brownfield office, 501 North Fifth Street, phone (806)637-4246.

There also was further profit-taking after the recent upswing with the decrease in the open interest at negative

Wholesale beef was unchanged to off one cent at 65 1/2 to 66 1/2 cents per pound. Cash cattle were steady to off 50 cents with a top of $44 per hundred-

600 head to arrive today.

Live hog futures swung 40 points higher to an equal number lower before ending off 30 to 17 higher. Volume was esti-mated at 4,909 exchanges in a mostly local trade.

Selling carried over from Wednesday despite reduced runs. Scale-down buying was prompted by a light kill and sharp discount of futures to cash coupled with an upsurge in feed grains.

Wholesale hams were up one-half cent to off one cent at 76 cents asked to 79 1/4 cents, f.o.b. river points. Cash hogs were off 25 cents to $1 and saw a top of $2 per hundredwieght.

The six major terminals expect receipts of about 21,700 head today. Thursday's kill was reported at 312,000 head. Pork belly (bacon) futures finished 27-77 points higher on a volume of 4,949 contracts. May was up most after gaining 82 points early in the trade. February broke 42 points early to a new two-month low in erratic, local action. Late support followed strength in grains and firmer cash bellies after initial selling on lower cash hogs and slippage in other meat pits.

Wholesale bacon was unchanged to up one cent at 44 1/2 to 48 cents per pound.

Commodities

"IN SPECULATION, OUR EMOTIONS are constantly setting traps for our reasoning powers. It is far more difficult, for example, to know when to sell than when to buy. Men find it equally hard to take either a profit or a loss," so says Bernard Baruch in his book, My Own Story.

Let's follow Baruch's thoughts on this subject a bit further. "If the market has gone up, a man wants to hold on to his holdings in anticipation of a further rise. If a stock has gone down, he tends to hold on to it until an upward tread comes along so he will at least be seen.

along so he will at least be even.

"The sensible course is to sell while the market still is rising, or, if you have made a mistake, to admit it immediately and take your loss.

"Some people, after selling, bedevil themselves with thoughts of, "If only I had done this." To do this is both silly and demoralizing. No speculator (and in Baruch's thinking an investor and speculator were nearly synonymous) can be right all the time. In fact, if a speculator is correct half of the time he is hitting a good average. Even being right three or four times out of 10 could yield a purson a fortune, if he has the sense to cut his losses quickly on the ventures where he has been wrong.

"I have found it wise, in fact, to periodically turn into cash most of my hold-ings and virtually retire from the market. No general keeps his troops fighting all the time; nor does he go into battle without some part of his forces held back in reserve," says Baruch.

Since April, give or take a month, it has been a bit difficult to make a buck on the long side of most commodities. That does not mean that one couldn't have made a few bucks on the short side. It is just that most people enjoy buying and holding things where the price is going up more than they tend to sell something they don't own and expect to buy in their short position at a lower price later.

Good weather, and the prospects of very big harvests, have been putting pressure on the grains and cotton all during the growing period. Pinally, everyone knew that we would be up to our eyeballs in grain stacked on the ground and the prices reflected that attitude.

Then in late August we began to get the idea that harvest weather might not be perfect in this country. And maybe the glowing prospects for grains around the world were a bit optimistic. And with prices so low, we might be able to sell a bit more that we had been counting on. Prices oult going down-at least for

THE AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE HAS ANNOUNCED it plans to launch next spring the AMEX Commodities Exchange, Inc. to trade initially in spot gold and silver bullion, subject to Commodity Futures Trading Commis-

The Board of Governors approved formation of the exchange as a separate corporate entity to trade in a special section to be constructed on the AMEX

The new commodities arm of the AMEX also intends to trade at a later date in future contracts, primarily in financial instruments such as Government National Mortgage Association paper (Ginnie Maes).

Newspaper Chain President Cuts Council Contact

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The president of Panax Newspapers says he will have nothing more to do with the National News Council because of its "lynch-law justice" in a dispute involving his publications.

John P. McGoff, president of the East Lansing-based chain, said this week he is cutting contact with the council because of a Sept. 26 letter from its chairman, Norman Isaacs.

The letter invited Panax to a hearing Oct. 19 on McGoff's dispute with the council over its ruling earlier this year in an incident involving two editors leaving their posts at two Panax newspapers in northern Michigan.

In New York, the council's executive director, William Arthur, said the group had received no reply to the Sept. 26 letter to McGoff, but planned to go ahead with the Oct. 19 public hearing regardless of whether McGoff or any other parties showed up.

He said McGoff had asked for the hearing. Among those invited were citizens' groups supporting the two editors.

Arthur said McGoff apparently decided not to take part in the hearing because the council refused to meet his stipulations that Isaacs disqualify himself and that the council withdraw its original statement criticizing Panax.

The editors of the Marquette Mining Journal and Escanaba Daily Press left their jobs — one by resigning and one by being fired — after a dispute with Pan-ax management over their refusal to publish two stories by the head of the chain's Washington bureau.

Panax contended the editors did not lose their jobs because of failure to publish the stories.

"The man who was fired was fired because he flat-out refused to accept the principle that the chain of command ... ends at the fop in editorial matters just as it does in other matters," McGoff said.

In its original hearing, the council chastised Panax for the way it handled the incident, and McGoff for allegedly trying to exercise too much control over editorial policy at the group's newspapers.

Panax had demanded a second hearing so it could present its side of the issue.

McGoff said his firm would have welcomed "a full and fair airing of the facts by an impartial panel." But he charged that the council "disregarded its own rules" by polling its members via telephone on the Panax issue instead of convening to hear the dispute.

"That, pure and simple, is lynch-law justice," McGoff said. "We will not submit our reputation ... to that brand of character assassination."

However, Arthur said the council members backed up Isaacs' refusal to disqualify himself with a "unanimous vote of confidence" at a regular council...

He said the issue is "the policy of a news organization dictating or ordering local editors to publish news stories when the organization is not located in the city or town where the newspaper is published.'
