Tax Slashes Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) - Carter administration officials are considering tax reductions of $17 billion to $20 billion for 1979, with about one-third of the savings for business and two-thirds for individuals. administration sources said today.

One said reports that the reductions might be greater sounds "very odd." However the sources didn't rule out that the figures could be higher when final decisions are made

The New York Times said in a story today that the figures could reach $22 billion, with the additional money intended as a spur to lagging business investment.

President Carter planned to meet with his economic advisers later today to discuss the tax reductions and other changes that will be part of the tax reform package he will send to Congress in a few

However, sources cautioned that final decisions still aren't made, and probably won't be for several weeks vet.

It was previously known that the administration is thinking of total tax reductions in the $17 billion-$20 billion

About one-third of the reductions would be for business, through such measures as lower corporate taxes and partial elimination of the double tax on corporate dividends.

The other two-thirds would be for individuals through lower withholding taxes. Most taxpayers with incomes up to $100,-000 would receive some reduction.

One administration official pointed out that the tax reduction in the first year would grow in subsequent years because taxable income would also rise,

City council member Carolyn Jordan was grilled today by attorneys for city hall critic James G. Marshall concerning the failure of the city to build an electrical interconnect system.

Money for an interconnect was approved by voters in an $18.8 million bond election in 1973, but Mrs. Jordan said further study showed the plan was not feasi-

The questioning took place during a hearing in Judge Thomas L. Clinton's 99th District Court on a motion for a new trial made by plaintiff Marshall. Marshall is disputing a recent verdict rendered by Clinton declaring a May 21 $26.4 million bond election valid.

In bringing up the interconnect issue, Marshall is hoping to show the city in the past has not spent money for specific improvements detailed in publicity releases prior to bond elections

Mrs. Jordan said the intention was to carry out the interconnect idea only if it had been feasible, and that study subsequent to the 1973 election demonstrated the interconnect was not feasible at that

She said that the city then had contemplated interconnecting with Texas Electric, and that the cost would have been $10 million

State officials are requiring the proposed new Lubbock County jail to be built according to "hotel" standards and that stipulation probably will increase the cost of the facility.

Under the latest rules of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards (TCJS), a four-foot passage leading from each cell block to the facility's nearest open-space recreation area must be plugged into the proposed design of the new local jail, county architect Arnold Maeker said to-

The special passages through the new facility are required by the new National Life Safety Codes which the TCJS is enforcing in monitoring new jail construc-tion in the state, Macker said. The codes may necessitate further changes in the proposed design of the new Lubbock jail

Fort Davis Echoes With Sounds Of Activity

BY JEFF W. HENDERSON

A-J Correspondent
A soft, cool breeze swept down onto the grassy plain from across Sleeping Lion Mountain. The gentle wind rif-fled through our clothes, and it nudged the huge flag which was hanging limply from a pole to our right.

The loud, metallic sound of a bugle pierced the air, sounding "Assembly and Adjutant's Call."
With clanking gear, the troopers moved to their desinat-ed positions and came to attention.

"Guides, post," shoulted the Adjutant to the assembled men. "Bring your companies to parade rest." The sounds were there; yet, that was all. We were standing on the eastern edge of the parade ground of the Fort Davis National Historic Site out in West Texas. There had been no soldiers stationed at the fort since the post was officially abandoned in June 1891. But the sounds are still there, echoing off the cliffs of the rugged mountains which form the western boundary of the old post. The vision of the troopers standing "Retreat" jumped about in our minds' eyes. And, when the regimental band struck up "Hail Columbia" and began marching the full length of the assembled troops, the mental image settled in. It was hard not to imagine the soldiers out there. The simulated sounds came from a stereo system mounted in one of the houses of Officers Row. It was recorded by the National Park Service at Fort Sill, Okla., using the 77th and 97th Army Bands. And, the sound system was on hand in 1965 when Fort Davis was officially dedicated by Lady Bird Johnson — the former "first lady.

The taped program lasts 15 minutes. It is a replica of a retreat held the first week of August 1875 when word was received of the death of former President Andrew Johnson. The "Orders of Mourning" are read to imaginary troops today as they were to real ones over 100 years ago. Besides the sounds men, animals and equipment make Columbia," "The Young Recruit," "Garryowne" and "The Star Spangled Banner.

"The Young Recruit" and "Garryown" were both popular marching tunes in the late 1800s. On the tape, "The Young Recruit" is played at a march cadence of 110 beats per minutes, while "Garryowen" was played at double time — 165 beats per minute.

The arrangment of the national anthem was written by Francis Scala, the director of the Marine Corps Band from 1855-1871. What you hear there on the parade ground sounds quite a bit different from the anthem we hear to-

It is interesting to note here that "The Star Spangled Banner" did not become the official national anthem until March 3, 1931, by Act of Congress, even if it was originally written in 1814. Fort Davis was established in 1854 by Maj. Gen. Persifor F. Smith, commander of the U.S. Army's Department of Texas. He located the post in a box canyon near Limpia Creek in the Davis Mountains. This site was chosen over several under consideration on the Rio Grande because of the availability of wood, grass and water. The new post as well as the mountain range was named for Jefferson Davis, then U.S. Secretary of War (Davis later became president of the Confederate State of

Lt. Col. Washington Seawell was in charge of building and commanding Fort Davis. He had six companies of the 8th U.S. Infantry under his command.

The original site marked by Smith was found to be unsuitable, but with distances as they were to await a change in orders, Seawell built the post on the location anyway. It was built inside the canyon.

The original post included 60 pine-slab structures which were not built to last. Col. Seawell had planned to build a more permanent structure of stone out on the plains at the entrance to the canyon.

The only permanent structures Seawell managed in seven years of occupation were six stone barracks in a line near the mouth of the canyon. The buildings were for the

The U.S. abandoned the post in 1861, with the fort being occupied by Texas troops of the Confederate Army. When Sibley's Campaign in New Mexico failed in 1862, the fort was abandoned again. Apache Indians burned the wooden buildings and pulled down the stone structures.

In 1867, Lt. Col. Wesley Merritt, a brevet general during the Civil War who lead a massive raid through Mississippi and Louisiana in the early days of the war (John Wayne played the role in a movie), arrived at old Fort Davis with four troops of the 9th U.S. Cavalry.

The 9th Cavalry, along with the 10th which would occupy Fort Davis when the 9th was reassigned, was composed of all-black troopers. The companies were commanded by white officers. The Negro soldiers came to be known to the Comanches and Apaches as the "Buffalo Soldiers."

The Indians were finally defeated in West Texas in 1880. Col. Benjamin Grierson and elements of the 10th Cavalry defeated the Apaches under Chief Victorio in a battle near present-day Van Horn. The Apaches retreated into Mexico where they were finally captured or killed by Mexican sol-

When the Indian problems were over, the soldiers settled down to chasing Anglo and Mexican bandits back and forth across the Rio Grande.

Fort Davis was abandoned in 1891 after the railroad bypassed the post. The tracks were located through Alpine and Marfa, south of Fort Davis.

Now, during the summers at Fort Davis, the National Park Service features living demonstration exhibits. Of course, the historic site is open year round - demonstrations of a limited nature are scheduled on the weekends

During alternate summers, there will be a young man dressed in an 1875 trooper's uniform at the fort. He will have a saddled horse and the equipment a trooper had to carry. As he explains the use of the equipment, he the visitor on what a trooper's life was like at frontier Fort Davis.

In another part of the fort, one of the officer's kitchens has been rehabilitated, and there will be a young woman dressed in the clothes of yesteryear demonstrating the cooking and housekeeping techniques of 1875.

The post commissary-quartermaster store is open, and the visitor can visit with Ralph Russell (a local Fort Davis school teacher). He has refurbished the store with samples of the types of goods the soldiers could buy. Russell has worked at the fort for several summers.

Several of the old buildings have been reconstructed so the visitor can see what the old post looked like. When the fort was rebuilt originally back in 1867, it was discovered that adobe (dried mud and straw) made a good, cheap building material.

The National Park Service has rebuilt the barracks and the hospital, using adobe — a special kind. It has cement added to the mixture to make it last longer.

The old fort is located just to the north of present-day Fort Davis. Visitors from the south traveling U.S. 90 from San Antonio to El Paso can turn north at either Alpine or a Snyder construction firm said today he still hasn't determined what touched off a fire Saturday in a salt water storage tank in Kent County that left one man dead and two others severely burned.

Arrow Construction Company president Rod Waller said he believes the fire which erupted in the 16-by-16 tank was the result of gas igniting, but he indicated there is no way of knowing the exact

The fire, which broke out inside the tank about noon Saturday, killed Roger Biddle, 22, who had been with the firm about two years, according to Waller.

The tank is located in Kent County, about 15 miles west of Jayton, said chief deputy Olen Cheyne of the sheriff's department

Jerry Hill, 29, was in the tank with Biddle when the fire erupted. Hill was listed in critical condition today in the Burn Center at Dallas Parkland Hospital with burns over 93 per cent of his body.

Hermelondo Aguirre, 18, a helper who was standing in the entrance to the tank when the fire broke out, was listed in serious condition at the Dallas hospital.

Both Hill and Aguirre were rushed on a 55-mile emergency trip to Cogdell Memorial Hospital here in an employe's car following the fire. Both men later were transferred to Parkland Hospital.

Murder Defendant Expected To Testify In Own Defense

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Murder defendant Max Dunlap is expected to be one of about 30 witnesses testifying in his defense as the Don Bolles murder trial shifts into its second state.

Bruce Babbitt and former public relations man Al Lizanetz.

Adamson said Dunlap told him he was acting on behalf of Kemper Marley Sr., a wealthy liquor wholesaler. Marley has not been charged in the case.

Adamson told the 16-member jury he had received immunity from several crimes in return for his testimony in this case and others as part of a plea agreement he entered with the state, accepting a 20-year prison sentence.

According to calculations made by Robison's attorney, David Derickson, Adamson could have received 278 years in prison, three life sentences, one death penalty and $40,000 in fines for those crimes

Convicted swindler Howard Woodall testified that Robison told him about his participation in the murder while both men were incarcerated in the Maricopa County jail. Woodall, who currently is sentenced to 15 years in connection with fraudulent land and bank operations, entered an immunity agreement with the federal government and will not be prosecuted for incriminating testimony given in the Bolles case and other proceedings unless he commits perjury

Clifford Mattox, a former West Virginia coal miner, testified he passed the crime scene on June 2, 1976, the day of the bombing. Mattox said he saw a truck that resembled Robison's white pickup, but could not identify positively photographs of Robison's truck.

Patricia Lloyd, former secretary for Phoenix attorney Tom C. Foster, testified that Dunlap met with Adamson in a locked office in Foster's suite on June 10. 1976. Mrs. Lloyd said Adamson had inquired several times about a package between June 2 and June 10.

Adamson testified he made arrangements for Dunlap to deliver his payment to Foster's office, but accidentally met Dunlap in Foster's office on June 10 and received part of the money.

A 64-page transcript of a conversation between Dunlap and Phoenix police detectives was read to the jury. In that statement, Dunlap told police he delivered an envelope full of money to Foster's office following directions of an unidentified man who claimed he was a messenger from Phoenix attorney Neal Roberts. Dunlap said he saw Adamson in the office, but only spoke with him briefly.

Dunlap's attorney, Paul Smith, told the jury during opening arguments he would prove Roberts engineered Bolles' death and Adamson was working for Emprise Corp., a New York based sports conglomerate that partially owns all Arizona dog racing facilities. Babbitt spent almost a day on the stand and testified he filed an anti-trust suit against members of the liquor industry. Babbitt said Marley was not named specifically in the suit, but a company he heads was included as an unnamed coconspirator.

According to Adamson, Marley wanted Babbitt killed because of that suit.

Several witnesses who worked at or patronized the Ivanhoe Cocktail Lounge, a mid-town Phoenix bar Adamson frequented, said they saw Dunlap in the bar occassionally. No one supported Adamson's statement that he met Dunlap in the tavern the afternoon of the bombing.

Smith began his case late Friday. One of his first witnesses, a Phoenix policeman, testified that Adamson's former wife told him her husband worked for Emprise at the time of the bombing. Both Mary Adamson Adair and Adamson have denied that he worked for the firm.

Witnesses at the bornbing scene said the maimed Bolles uttered the words Emprise, Adamson and Mafia after the bomb exploded.

According to Adamson, he made up a story suggested by Dunlap to lure Bolles to his death with promises of information linking Emprise with land fraud and prominent Arizona politicians.

Roberts refused to answer any of the defense attorney's questions Friday, invoking his fifth amendment right against self-incrimination. He said he refused to answer questions on the advice of his attorney since he faces charges in connection with the attempted bombing of a federal building. Roberts was excused from the witness stand.

Crayon Popularity Growing In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Color the crayon picture bright.

According to the National Geographic Society, "crayons are as popular as ever. Twenty years ago, 44 crayons were sold for each child in the United States between the ages of 3 and 11. Last year, the $2 billion a year industry sold 62 crayons per youngster."

Federal, state and county authorities, leged unlawful carrying of a weapon by a acting on a search warrant, closed down a club east of the city late Saturday after seizing several cases of suspected illegally possessed alcoholic beverages and a small quantity of suspected drugs.

Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission inspectors, as well as Drug Enforcement Administration Task Force agents and Lubbock County Sheriff's Department deputies, entered the club on U.S. 62-82 about 10:15 p.m. after being authorized to search the building and all vehicles on the premises for suspected illegally possessed alcoholic beverages.

Lawmen reportedly seized five cases of beer, and made three arrests for suspected sale of alcoholic beverage without a permit and one for suspected possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of

A DEA agent, while searching a 32year-old Lubbock man, found a clip and seven live rounds of ammunition in the suspect's pants pocket. A search of the man's vehicle turned up a .25-caliber blue-steel revolver and a box of .25-caliber high-velocity cartridges under the driver's seat. The man was jailed for alconvicted felon.

An 18-year-old Lubbock man told police he was robbed at gunpoint Saturday night in the 2400-block of Broadway.

According to John Mauldin, he was walking through a parking lot about 9:15 p.m., when a man approached and asked if he could borrow a dollar. After Mauldin replied he did not have any money, the suspect reportedly grabbed him by the wrist, pointed a small gun at him and ordered him to lie on his stomach in the

Lewis Ray Adams of 2615 77th St. said someone entered his house through the garage late Sunday or early today and stole a cash box, containing $2,000, as well as $300 worth of albums, a $175 leather coat and assorted household goods. Reports indicated there was no sign of forced entry.

Ernesto Torres Garza of Wolfforth told deputies whoever got through his back and stereo. According to Lois Brown of 1606 Ave.

C. No. 43, someone opened a window at her apartment late Saturday or early Sunday and stole her television.

Damage in the thousands of dollars was inflicted on apartment dwellers in far West Lubbock, after vandals swept through at least one apartment complex early Sunday morning slashing at the tires of more than 60 vehicles.

Much of the damage was felt at the Frankford Square Apartments, 5802 24th St, where all but two cars in one parking lot were hit during the early morning raid.

Still other homeowners in various parts of the city reported substantial damage in reports too numerous to list.

Meanwhile, house and car burglars were disrupting the lives of citizens, while the break-in artists managed to cart away goods valued in tens of thousands of dollars.

At the largest such haul, burglars entered Tico Jean Lawrence's residence at 5431 Ave. H, sometime Saturday, making off with about $2,800 worth of goods.

Taken in the burglary were at least 15 turquoise rings, three other rings, including two with diamonds, a 35-mm camera, a television set and a coin collection. A one-gallon jar of pennies also was lifted by the thieves before the intruders made their getaway, reports indicated.

Rayford Nichols of 2907 E. Baylor St., said he was out nearly $1,600 after burglars made off with three citizen band radios, four 8-track tape players, an AM/FM stereo and a watch worth $190. Nichols told police he believed three named suspects entered his home through a northeast bedroom window sometime Saturday

In one of the strangest "armed" robberies of late, a 71-year-old Lubbock man told police he was robbed by a woman who bit his hand before fleeing with about $80 at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

The victim told police he had advised his maid that a shotgun was missing from his home and the woman told him she might be able to help him get it back for a price. He and the woman reportedly drove to cil Thursday will consider adopting a revised building code that would make smoke detectors mandatory in newly built hotels, motels, apartment houses and residential houses.

Building Code Study Committee, would require a smoke detector on a ceiling or wall at a point centrally located in the corridor or area giving access to bedrooms. Where bedrooms are on a second floor, a smoke detector would be required on the ceiling above the stairway. The fire department supports the provision, which would bring the city in line with FHA-loan rules, he said. "But we would like to see smoke or heat detectors in existing residences as well."

Of Lubbock's eight fire-related deaths last year, four were from smoke inhalation and two were from burns, he said. And 57 per cent of all residential fires occur at night, he added. According to a Tech study of fire detec-

TODAY'S EDITORIAL: 'Pros' Get Started Early

IT'S THE "intensive" hard-core profes-sional criminal, not the "intermittent" rank amateur that society should be more concerned about, if the results of a Rand Corp. case study of 49 convicted armed robbers in California can be universally applied to your average punk at-large.

The majority of habitual felons interviewed swore that nothing but nothing could have stopped them from taking up a life of crime-not the certainty of being caught, not longer sentences nor even harsher prison treatment.

THE DIFFERENCES between intensive and intermittent criminals show up in childhood, say the researchers, although both types tend to become less criminally active as they grow older.

Thus the study's suggestion that if we could identify intensive criminals early in life and lock them up during their most active years, it might do more to reduce crime than any so-called rehabilitation or prevenz Although the study used only a very tiny sampling of the nation's prison population. its authors believe their findings are significant and warrant further investigation.

That's sound thinking, especially since it's doubtful society is quite ready to adopt its major recommendation at this time.

FIRST, THERE is the problem of identifying the budding hard-core criminal.

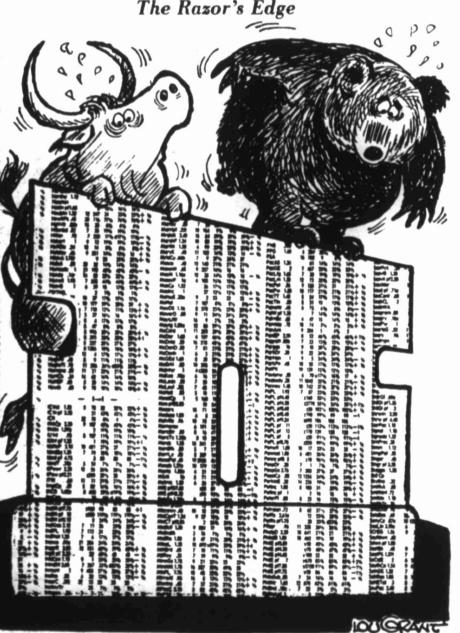

As the study itself points out, the professional is five times less likely than the amateur to be arrested and "a meager arrest record often disguises a very active and dangerous criminal."

So even if we could distinguish between the pros and the amateurs in youth or early childhood, the idea of meting out long sentences to young offenders not only flies in the face of the time-honored penal practice but also raises some serious constitutional ques-

THE STUDY on its face has drawn out one of the most apparently useful profiles of the criminal personality to come down the pike in some time.

Paradoxically, there's little chance this information can be put to constructive use.

Nevertheless, it is a provocative study and we need more like it. Indeed, the criminal justice system needs all the insight in can get as it struggles to cope with this phenomenon called crime.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

WHERE IS the responsible leadership in Lubbock's Mexican-American community?

Have the level-headed men and women who have been responsible for improved race relations in the last few years abdicated-or been shorn of-their leadership?

Or does the militancy that has been coming to the fore increasingly in the last couple of years actually represent the attitude of a sizable segment of the Mexican-American population here?

Does a majority of the minority really want to become wards of the government, with all of their needs-from free breakfasts for their children to free rehabilitation of their homes-being met by handouts?

THE CHILLING aspect of recent tirades against the City Council is that they demonstrate a hostility and a belief that "demands" are a way to get things done.

And if there are any quiet voices of reason at work in the minority community, they are quiet

Housing, job opportunities and other conditions for blacks and browns have improved markedly here in recent years.

The same should go for any heterosexual who make more progress impossible but destroy some of that already made.

> MORE HARMONY and understanding in race relations often are sidetracked by events, here and elsewhere, over which most of us have no > control. Over the week end, for example, a Houston mother complained bitterly over what she considered a light penalty assessed two policemen who were accused of causing the death of her son. Joe Campos Torres.

Meanwhile, I know of an Anglo mother who is distraught that a drunken Mexican-American driver who killed her son "got off" with what she considered a slap on the wrist.

IN THE HOUSTON case, a federal investigation is underway into whether the policemen also should be prosecuted under federal civil rights statutes. Angry Mexican-Americans are demanding action.

In the other case, the Anglo mother has no civil rights organizations behind her

Alas, in both cases, it should be remembered that individuals-not an entire race-were responsible for whatever injustices may have occurred, during or after the respective tragedies.

All of us should be concerned with justice, without regard to race.

If we are to solve our mutual problems, it will be by working together, not by bitterly confronting each other.

John D. Lofton:

It's Not Gonna Get Cheaper

WASHINGTON-It's been nearly two centuries since Benjamin Franklin wrote to a friend:

"Our Constitution is in actual operation; everything appears to promise that it will last; but in this world nothing is certain but death and tax-

Well, the Constitution still stands, death awaits us all, though it has been greatly delayed thanks to modern medicine, and taxes-oh, how certain

Since 1929, our population has increased 75 per cent; our taxes however, have increased 10,000

A Library of Congress study estimates that from 1975 to the year 2,000:

The total of major taxes paid directly by families as a percentage of their income is expected to rise from 18.1 per cent to 24.4 per cent; The federal individual income tax will increase from 10.9 per cent of income to 14.6 per cent; And state and local individual income taxes, as a per cent of median family income, will rise from 1.9 per cent to 4.4 per cent.

A NATIONAL SURVEY conducted by the Roper Organization for the H and R Block people has found that over half of all taxpayers say their own income taxes are "excessively high. Sixty-nine per cent of those polled say the middle class is paying too much tax. So how did we get on this tax treadmill and, more importantly, how do we get off? According to the National Tax-Limitation Committee (Box 1000, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y. 10510) we got on it because of a basic flaw in our political system, namely that special interests are permitted to gain private benefits at the expense of taxpayers.

As the NTLC explains it:

"IN ANY GOVERNMENT program that involves taking a little money from each taxpayer and giving a large benefit to a small group, the 'benefits' are higly visible, and who is to argue against them?

'But the real costs remain real even if they're invisible, and it's not easy to fight against the invisible, is it?

"The average taxpayer pays only a few pennies a day for the average 'special interest' program and has little incentive to fight against it.' In other words, the squeaky wheel gets the grease, and the more grease that's gotten means

Dad, You Got An Extra $25,000 For College?

(Second of six columns)

YOU DON'T HAVE to be poor to qualify for aid to attend college, but you do have to prove you need it. Need is the difference between the costs of school and what your family can contrib-

You and your child are expected to pay something toward college costs by almost all sources

The amount you pay depends on the results of 'need analysis' performed by national organizations, such as the College Scholarship Service (CSS) of the College Board.

These results may then be adjusted by the financial aid director at the college making the

Applying for financial aid should be much simpler this year because of new procedures.

Most of you can now use only one form (instead of two or three) to find out if you're eligible for money from the U.S. government or state governments, colleges, private funds.

No longer is a student required to fill out a separate form for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant, a major federal aid program.

A student can use the Financial Aid Form (FAF) of the College Scholarship Service for the BEOG program and other kinds of aid, too.

ALSO, IN ABOUT 30 states, the state scholarship agencies or financial aid adminstrators' associations have agreed to use the FAF, usually eliminating the need for an extra state form.

For a student not yet a high school senior. there is the Early Financial Aid Planning Service

It can give you an early estimate of your eligibility for aid from different sources, a comprehensive picture of your family's financial situation in relation to college costs and aid funds and steps you can take now to plan for paying college bills later.

See your high school counselor for more information on this early planning service

IF YOUR CHILD IS a high school senior, you can get an estimate of what you'll be asked to pay by using the worksheets and tables in the CSS booklet "Meeting College Costs." It's available from your high school guidance

Here's a table from the CSS giving you a rough estimate of what you might be expected to pay. It assumes a two-parent family with one parent working and one child in college. These are "ballpark" figures.

IF YOUR BEFORE-TAX income is about $8,-000, you would be expected to contribute $80 for one child. For an income of $10,000, your expected contribution for one child would be $410. For an income of $12,000, your contribution for one child would be $700. For an income of $14,000,

If your before-tax income is about $16,000, you would be expected to contribute $1,330. For an income of $18,000, your contribution for one child would be $1,740. For an income of $20,000, your contribution for one child would be $2,240.

If your before-tax income is about $25,000, you would be expected to contribute for one child about $3,740. For an income of about $30,000, your contribution for one child would be $5,150. For an income of about $35,000, your contribution for one child would be about $6,440.

INCOME IS NOT the only factor in calculating need. It also depends on assets, number of children in the family, debts, expenses, unusual circumstances and college costs.

Also your child is expected to contribute -usually 35 per cent of current savings for each year in college, about $500 from summer earnings, and something from special benefits (Social Security, say).

To estimate your need, subtract your total family contribution (parents' plus student's contribution) from the total annual cost of college.

If this need analysis shows that you and your child should be able to contribute $2,000, you wouldn't have need at a college with yearly costs of $1,900-but you would have considerable need at a college costing $4,500.

CSS DOESN'T EXPECT parents to wipe out their assets or savings to finance a college education. Another key point: the recommendation from CSS on need is calculated according to a national standard. but it does not take into account what money the college has to give. The final estimate of need is always made by the financial aid director at the college-who may adjust the CSS recommendation, upward or downward, especially if you offer new facts.

Then the aid director decides how much and in what form the aid will be awarded-usually a combination of grant, loan and work.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - No trace was ever found of the orange and white twin-engine plane that vanished in stormy skies over Alaska's craggy, forbidding Chugach Range five years ago. Two congressmen were aboard.

A ceremony here Sunday marked the naming of twin peaks in the mountain barrier for the men believed to have died there - Reps. Hale Boggs, D-La., and Nick Begich, D-Alaska.

The loss of the two men was accepted only after the most extensive air search in Alaska's history — 39 days over 300,000 square miles.

Friends, family and colleagues of both men crowded an Anchorage auditorium Sunday, including Boggs' widow, Rep. Lindy Boggs, D-La., who won her husband's seat in the U.S. House of Representatives; Begich's widow, Pegge Begich; Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, who initiated the naming of the mountains; Alaska Lt. Gov. Lowell Thomas Jr.: Rep. James Mann, D-Maine, a Boggs family friend, and former Alaska Gov. William

The peaks that bear their names embrace a bowl of rock and snow near the community of Whittier, about 60 miles southeast of Anchorage. The mountains tower over the surrounding portion of the range. Mt. Boggs rises 4,440 feet above sea level. Mt. Begich is 4,545 feet high.

"Only here in Alaska is there a monument to Hale's spirit, his love of adventure." said Mrs. Boggs.

House Majority Leader Boggs was in Alaska on Oct. 16, 1972, to support Begich in the upcoming election. The two men were en route to a Juneau fundraiser accompanied by Begich's aide Russell Brown and veteran Fairbanks pilot Don

They had planned to take a commercial flight. Heeding the advice of campaign workers, however, they opted for a few hours' more sleep and a charter plane.

Poet To Read Works At Tech

Miller Williams, poet and University of Arkansas professor, will read selections of his poetry at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Chemistry Building Auditorium at Texas Tech University.

The event is sponsored by the Texas Tech department of English.

Four well-known books of Williams' 16 volumes include "A Circle of Stone," "So Long at the Fair," "Halfway from Hoxie: New and Selected Poems," and "Why God Permits Evil."

Williams, born in Hoxie, Ark., writes of his life and the basic spirit and needs of humanity. His poems are about survival and its attractiveness.

Literary awards received by Williams include the Henry Bellaman Poetry Award, Bread Loaf Fellowship in Poetry, Amy Lowell Traveling Scholarship in Poetry, Fulbright Lecturer in U.S. Literature, National University of Mexico, and the Prix de Rome

The poetry reading program is open to the public at no charge.

Twin Peaks Early-Day Aviatrix Named For Dies In California

a flamboyant beauty who gained world fame 50 years ago after an unsuccessful attempt to become the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, is dead at 73.

Miss Elder died quietly in her sleep Sunday at the home she shared with her husband of 21 years, Ralph King.

In the half-century that followed the flight that began at Roosevelt Field in New York on Oct. 11, 1927, Miss Elder made movies, met a president, hobnobbed with royalty, married six times, made a lot of money - and spent it all. They called her the "Miss America of Aviation."

"She was a beautiful person, a real woman," said King, 79. "I tried to wake her, but she was dead.

King said his wife had suffered from emphysema for several years.

It was nearly five months after Charles Lindbergh made the first solo flight across the Atlantic that Miss Elder and copilot-navigator George Haldeman took off eastward in a single-engine Stinson aircraft dubbed "American Girl."

As the world waited, the frail aircraft droned on toward Paris. They had flown 2,625 miles in 36 hours when an oil line cracked near the Azores.

Information from King, a family friend and published news stories described events that followed.

The aircraft had been without oil pressure for several minutes when they spotted a ship on the sea beneath them.

Grabbing paper boxes, Miss Elder scribbled the same message on each one, asking the ship for assistance. One of the boxes landed on the ship's rolling deck. The captain pointed his ship toward nearest land, then had a message painted on

It said the nearest land was 350 miles away at Cape Finistere off the coast of Spain. It was too far; the pair ditched and was rescued by the ship.

For Miss Elder, it was instant stardom. She was graciously welcomed by European royalty. She went on tour and made two silent movies with Richard Dix and Hoot Gibson. She had lunch with President Calvin Coolidge. Her bank account in her flight suit over checked golf knick- stood at $250,000.

Pair Selects Wrong House For Break-In

Two would-be burglars picked the wrong house to hit this weekend when they tried to break into a Lubbock County Sheriff's Department deputy's South Lubbock home.

Deputy Jack Hill of 1624 58th St. said he and his family had just gone to bed about 1:30 a.m. Sunday when they heard glass breaking and a loud-noise coming from outside a bedroom window. After he heard what sounded like someone trying to remove a screen, Hill raised the window and saw that the screen had been pulled loose and was hanging to one side.

According to Hill, a blond man was hunched next to the window, and a dark-haired man was sitting at the steering wheel of a car parked by the curb in front of the house. After Hilling yelled that he was a police officer and ordered the pair to stop, the driver reportedly started the car and attempted to leave the scene.

At that point, reports indicated, Hilli fired at the car's right rear tire, caus ing it to go flat.

The deputy then went out to the ve hicle and ordered the duo to get out and lie face down on the lawn, which a one of the suspects grudgingly did. His companion, however, reportedly tried to strike Hill as he stepped from the car, and was met with a blow from the deputy's gun. Hill said the suspect then walked to the grass and lay face

After being handcuffed and arrested by Hill in his front yard, the suspects ages 17 and 16, were taken to county jail by a unit which arrived a short

MY ANSWER

By BILLY GRAHAM

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am heavily into drugs, and frankly I see nothing wrong with it. Drugs give me a good feeling, and most of all they make me feel like somebody. How can that be wrong? - S.D.

DEAR S.D.: The very fact that you have written to me makes me wonder if you are as convinced deep inside as you sound. I think you have probably seen what drugs have done to others. Very frankly, your pattern of living could eventually destroy you. I know you think drugs help you to escape from the world as it is now, but they are enslaving you in a prison far more horrible

The Bible talks about the deceitfulness of sin (Hebrews 3:13). Satan's oldest trick is to promise what he cannot deliver. He promises happiness and joy, but he ultimately delivers only grief and sorrow. The Bible also talks about the " of sin for a season" (Hebrews 11:25). A life lived in disobedience to God may seem profitable for a time, but the Bible also says that "the wages of sin is death" (Romans 6:23)

God loves you, and He would not want you to throw away your life. You may think drugs make you feel like "somebody," but this is nothing compared with the exhilarating knowledge of God's love for each of us. God loved you so much that He sent His only Son to die on the cross for your sins. I know it may be hard, but I urge you to turn from your sins in repentance and turn to Christ in faith and trust. God has promised that "if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold all things are become new" (II Corinthians 5:17). My prayer is that you will return to Christ before it is too late. Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

Farm Group Critical Of Way Workers Counted

WASHINGTON (AP) - A rural activist group has said government methods of counting seasonal and migrant farm workers are slipshod and often in conflict, depending upon the agency which gathers them.

Rural America, Inc., recommended that the Carter administration establish a special interagency task force to produce a single definition of farm workers and to include information on farm workers'

The group's 88-page report said that the federal government "is facing an information crisis" on counting farm workers and that "the absence of accurate data" helps distort the amount of federal money available to help improve the lot of farm worker families.

For example, Rural America said its own studies show there are at least 1.6 million seasonal and migrant farm workers while counts by various federal agencies put the population much lower.

The Statistical Research Service in the Agriculture Department lists about 255,-400 workers in the seasonal and migrant category while the Economic Research Service, another USDA agency, reports them at 1,063,000 persons, the report

Further, Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration says there are 727,922 seasonal and migrant farm workers.

Clay Cochran, executive director of Rural America, which describes itself as a nonprofit rural advocacy group, said that President Carter is being asked "to take the steps necessary" to force federal agencies to agree on definitions and counts of farm workers.

"It is hard to understand how the federal government can allocate millions of dollars each year for farm worker programs and know so little and be so confused about the group they are serving,' Cochran said in a statement.

Another problem that the administration is asked to solve involves a recent de-

The groups said that one of the weaknesses in the government's farm worker statistics is that the information is obtained from employers.

'This data deals only with those workers who were hired at a given time," Rural America said. "All those who could not get a job or who worked at some other time are ignored.'

The report was primarily the work of Karen Spellman, research director for Rural America. Copies of the full report are available for $5 from the group's office, 1346 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, or an 18-page summary is available at 75 cents a copy.

The first newsletters are going to about 1,000 randomly selected farmers in Kansas and 1,000 in Oklahoma. Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., supported a $1 million USDA appropriations for the project.

Officials said that the first newsletter, called "Commodity Outlook for Farmers - Wheat," is being sent to farmers so that their reactions can be determined before expanding the mailing lists or adding other commodities.

Farmers who want to have their names added to the free wheat letter can write to the Economic Research Service, Publications, Room 0054, South Building, USDA, Washingon, D.C. 20250.

The first wheat letter discusses the new

It also describes why there is a current large glut of wheat in the world and what USDA experts see as the outlook for exports. But the letter says that "another rough year" is expected because of the huge U.S. wheat supply. However, it provided a ray of optimism.

"Gloomy as the outlook generally sounds, there is a point to bear in mind," the letter said. "In the event of any unexpected increase in world wheat demands in 1977-78, the United States would probably be called upon to fill the bill, as other exporters are already heavily commit-

"For example, Soviet grain buying could continue to pick up if their harvest deteriorates further. Such a pickup in demand would be translated into higher U.S. wheat prices."

In the first 11 months of the fiscal year through Aug. 31, more than $99.2 million was loaned by the department's Commodity Credit Corporation for storage and drying facilities, compared with $42.9 million in the same period of last year, officials said last week. REFORMA, Mexico (AP) - Life goes on as it always has in this little village lear the base of the Yucatan Peninsula in southeastern Mexico - even though it is sitting on a sea of oil.

Few residents seem aware of what the future may bring to this area of Mexico where banana and cacao plantations sprawl across the countryside.

"It's all temporary," a local salesman said. "It's not for real. When the drilling is all done, there won't be anything to show for it."

But a few miles from Reforma, a petrochemical plant is being built by Petroleos Mexicanos, the government-owned oil monopoly known as Pernex. Soon it will be sending natural gas to the United

The plant has 350 employes. More than 5,000 construction workers for 24 private companies are working around the clock to expand the facilities over 568 acres of what used to be fertile cacao and banana plantations. Puig said the number of construction workers will reach 10,000 by the end of this year.

The district headquarters of Pemex is in Villahermosa, the state capital of Tabasco, a few miles northeast of Reforma. The city has grown in five years from 150,000 inhabitants to 200,000 Pemex and a consortium of six U.S. interestate pipeline companies have agreed on the sale of Mexican gas to be delivered by an 821-mile pipeline stretching from the Cactus plant to McAllen, Tex.

Pernex intends to start construction at the end of this year. The first natural gas is expected to reach Texas in 1979 with full-scale transmission from the newly discovered fields by 1980. An estimated two billion cubic feet a day of gas about 3 per cent of what the United States needs from all sources - will flow through the line. Pemex already is negotiating rights-ofway and surveyors are in the field preparing for the start of construction of the 48-

Mexcico estimates its total proven reserves of petroleum at 14 billion barrels, but independent oil researchers put the figure at closer to 100 billion barrels.

Jorge Diaz Serrano, head of Pernex, said recently Mexico's daily production is expected to double by 1982 to 2.2 million barrels of oil and 4 billion cubic feet of

"With this amount, we will be able to reach a production equal to what Venezuela is now producing," he said. Venezuela is Latin America's largest oil-producing nation.

The oil search is countrywide. Besides this area's development, which accounts for 70 per cent of Mexico's production now, Pemex is drilling and finding oil in a 2,238-square-mile area offshore from Campeche along the southern Gulf Coast. Mexican engineers have predicted the region will be as important as Europe's North Sea deposits.

In addition, Mexico is developing fields in the northern states of Coahuila and Chihuahua, the central plateau and the mountains of Chiapas State south of Ref-

Pernex has budgeted $39.6 billion for oil projects between 1977 and 1982, including $13.6 billion for exploration.

The tropical countryside surrounding Reforma is dotted with drilling towers. Huge flames of burning gas send black clouds into the sky.

Local residents, farmers and merchants say the rapid growth has brought its share of problems. One is inflation as a result of high wages. Pemex employes average $264 to $308 a month, which is double the local minimum wage.

Farmers say the fallout from the constant burning of natural gas near the separation plants has damaged their crops. A common complaint is that Pemex negotiated road rights-of-way and the purchase of land for drilling sites with contracts which cannot be eashed in

Pemex engineers at district headquarters dismiss most of the complaints. They point to company schools and housing projects as examples of how the boom is

Cable's Contents Stir New Treaty Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) - For people pledged by their boss to openness and candor in foreign policy, President Carter's team put on an odd performance in the case of the cable from Panama.

In the process, the State Department inadvertently gave opponents of the Panama Canal treaty a handy new issue to use in the battle over ratification.

That's the last thing the administration needed in its campaign to shift public opinion and gain Senate support for the treaty to yield U.S. control of the canal in the year 2000.

The issue arose over a confidential cable from the U.S. Embassy in Panama, reporting that the government there does not accept any U.S. right to intervene to guarantee the neutrality and security of the canal after it is turned over to Pana-

That was hardly a secret, since Panama's top negotiator on the canal treaty had said the same thing to his National Assembly and on Panamanian television.

But the cable was classified.

When Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., got a copy and made it public, the State Department protested bitterly, saying the leak was more regrettable than the substance of the cable.

"... It-represents a total breach of a process which is intended to be confidential," said Hodding Carter III, the department's spokesman.

He also said Dole, as a former Republican vice-presidential nominee, should know that it is harmful to impair the confidentiality of communications between an embassy and Washington.

Diplomatically, that may be correct. But the administration's problem right now is not diplomatic, it is political. And the refort was bad politics, made worse when another State Department official called the Senate ethics committee to ask whether there were any rules against the release of classified information.

Dole, no mean infighter himself, said he wasn't going to fly blind on the treaty, which he wants the Senate to change so it makes explicit the right of the United States to intervene militarily in defense of the canal.

Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, who is uncommitted on the treaty, came to Dole's defense.

Baker already has asked the State Department for embassy cables, notes, and any other documents that will help explain and reconcile differing U.S. and Panamanian interpretations of the treat-

Now he says it is "imperative in the face of this new information that the administration give us access to all source

By making an issue of secrecy, the administration has given treaty opponents an opening for the suggestion that there are other potentially damaging documents hidden away in the files. Campaigning for the White House. President Carter denounced a Republican foreign policy he said was based on and criticized the administration call to the ethics panel. The State Department, meanwhile, was saying that the call was made to ask for information, not action.

'If that's the way they're going to play, all their treaties are going to have a tough time," said Baker, a pivotal man in the administration's effort to gain the twothirds Senate vote it will take to approve

Baker, who will be running for re-election next year, is under pressure at home and from conservative GOP senators to oppose ratification. If he does, it will be a severe setback for the administration

$6,000 In Cash To Be Awarded

AUSTIN (AP) — More than $6,000 in cash awards will be made to top Texas daily newspaper reporters, editors and photographers for their work the past year, Headliners Club officials say.

Ernest Stromberger, contest committee chairman, said the winners in the 1977 Charles E. Green Journalism Awards contest will be recognized at the annual Headliners awards party on Feb.

Stromberger said the contest was expanded by the club this year to include editorial, headline and column writing categories, as well as a separate category for sports photography. Top prizes of the three main categories, for general assignment reporting, investigative reporting and spot news reporting were increased to $750 each.

The competition is open to Texas daily newspapers, Texas-based news services and Texas bureaus of national news servtration would found its policies on open discussion with Congress and the nation. That certainly doesn't mean publication of all the diplomatic cable traffic. But neither does it seem to fit the administration's handling of the Dole episode. Carter said as he began the quest for approval of the treaty that there are "no constraints on the actions that we can take as a nation to guarantee" the permanent neutrality of the waterway.

And according to the administration. that includes a right to intervene militarily if necessary to keep the canal open after the year 2000.

That is not spelled out specifically in the treaty, Panamanian negotiators don't buy it, and they have said they accept no such U.S. right.

In the cable, Ray Gonzalez, No. 2 man in the U.S. Embassy, reported to Washington that still another Panamanian official had disputed any claim of a U.S. right to intervene.

Gonzalez added his own comments:

"As we talk with other negotiators and officials who are campaigning for the treaty here, we will urge caution on any statement concerning U.S. rights under the neutrality treaty. But we are likely to be faced with increasing irritation over and perhaps public disavowals of - our interpretations. Any assertion which deems to claim a right to intervene in Panama's domestic affairs is almost sure to be challenged here." But such tactics won't paper over the real question, which is whether the treaty really means what the administration says it means about U.S. authority to keep the canal neutral and open.

Uranium Issue Sparks Violence

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser has been spat upon, stoned and bombed with flower pots. Police and protesters have brawled. And police have had to stop police from punching newsmen.

The issue that touched off these violent confrontations was the decision by the politically conservative liberal government to go ahead with the mining and export of uranium.

Within hours of Fraser's announce ment in August, demonstrators took to the streets claiming the move increased the risk of nuclear war and threatened future generations with death or deformity.

"Export Fraser, Not Uranium," their placards read.

So many clashes have broken out since then that concern for law and order is beginning to outweigh the uranium question in the public mind.

Fights between police and protesters in many case brought back memories and seemed to surpass in ferocity - the Vietnam demonstrations of the late

Following a battle outside Sydney's University of New South Wales where Fraser was attending a dinner, a police spokesman issued a request - unprecedented in his jurisdiction - for riot gear. Another fight broke out between police and demonstrators at docks where longshoremen were loading containers of uranium outde on a ship bound for London.

"There is already blood on the wharves of Sydney, and more blood will be spilled on the streets unless Prime Minister Fraser calls for a referendum," said BobHawke, leader of the 1.5 million-member Australian Council of Trade Unions.
But Fraser ruled out such a vote and told the House of Representatives the government would not waver in its policy. He later accused Hawke and others of

cy. He later accused Hawke and others of trying to create a confrontation between the government and the unions.

One reason he is so unswerving in his determination to mine uranium is the enormous economic boost exports could give the sagging Australian economy.

Industry sources say overseas sales of the radioactive element could bring in $22 billion over the next 25 years.

In Dark On Air Bags DETROIT (AP) — Congress was kept in the dark earlier this year about test results which indicated seat belts were more effective auto restraint devices than air bags, the Detroit News reported In a dispatch from Washington, congressional investigators found that National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) officials withdrew the test results Aug. 26, shortly after they had been placed on the public docket. The test results were returned to the docket a week later after reported arm-twisting by Michigan Rep. John Dingell a vigorous foe of mandatory air bags. An NHTSA staff evaluation of the test results was withheld from Congress until Sept. 26, the News reported. This delay reportedly made it too late for both House and Senate hearings on resolutions to overturn a federal order requiring air bags and other passive restraints on some new cars in 1982 and all new cars by 1984.

Paper Says Congress

Both houses must reject the order by Friday if they wish to keep it from going into effect.

The suppressed tests, conducted for NHTSA by Calspan, a private research firm in Buffalo, N.Y., compared the effectiveness of air bags to safety belts in four "offset" collisions of cars traveling

In offset tests, cars are lined up so drivers are opposite each other. By contrast, tests of restraint systems generally center the cars headlight to headlight or else simply crash the cars into a wall.

Thomas Glenn, who conducted the tests, said cadavers and dummies were placed in the front seats of the test cars and wired to record the force of the crash impacts. Out of four tests, two of the cadavers and one of the dummies in the air bag cars received impacts far exceeding the injury limit set by the passive restraint standard, Glenn said. In the seat belt cars, however, all of the test subjects were within the limits.

"The Calspan tests clearly show that air bags are not as effective as safety belts," Dingell was quoted as saying. "Without having that information readily available, Congress now may be tempted to approve mandatory air bags, which would amount to ripping off American consumers since they cost an estimated $200 to install and $600 to replace once they deploy. Officials for NHTSA have maintained that mandatory air bags are needed to save lives because only about 20 per cent of the nation's 131 million motorists regularly buckle their seat belts.

Lawyers To Hear Tapes Before Yarbrough Trial

AUSTIN (AP) - Former Supreme / The defense previously has been fur-Court Justice Don Yarbrough's forgery and perjury trial was "passed by agreeement" today until Oct. 31 to allow both the prosecution and defense to listen to secret tape recordings.

The recordings were made by a former business associate of Yarbrough, Bill Rothkopf, who was rigged with the recording device by Harris County law enforcement officers.

Yarbrough's attorneys contend this constituted entrapment.

61 Persons Killed In

Train Crash NEW DELHI, India (UPI) - Sixty-one persons were killed and 150 others injured early today when a passenger express train from Calcutta to New Delhi crashed into a standing freight train at Naini rail station 350 miles southeast of

New Delhi, officials said. The officials said 81 of the 150 injured were reported in serious condition and the death toll is likely rise.

Reports from the scene — about seven miles from Allahabad city - said the engine and two cars behind it were telescoped in the crash which happened shortly after midnight. Four sleeping cars were badly damaged.

Mrs. Aziza Imam, a former member of parliament, who was aboard the train and escaped unhurt, told newsmen at the accident site, "We were thrown off our berths while asleep. It was dark and we heard groaning and desperate cries of help, help!"

Railway officials, rescue workers and doctors from as far away as New Delhi rushed to the scene of the accident. The train had left from the Howrah station in suburban Calcutta about 800 miles southeast of New Delhi.

Indian Railway Minister Madhu Dandavate cancelled his engagements and flew back from Pune, near Bombay, to New Delhi to proceed to Naini. Dandavate said he was shocked by the accident and issued a message of condolence.

Rescue workers using heavy cranes. picks and shovels struggled to clear the twisted wreckage of the coaches and dug into the debris to pull out bodies trapped

One Juror Still Needed

An 11th juror was selected this morning to hear evidence in the David Mabra capital murder trial. Jury selection was to continue this afternoon.

Mabra, 20, of Amarillo, is accused of the Oct. 21, 1975, shotgun slaying of convenience store clerk Edith Whitfield. The site of the alleged crime is Amarillo, but Mabra's trial was moved to Judge John McFall's 237th District Court here after a co-defendant received the death penalty from an Amarillo jury.

If Mabra is convicted of the capital charge, jurors will assess either the death penalty or life imprisonment, the only punishment options for capital

Each side is allowed 15 peremptory challenges, or strikes of perspective jurors for no stated reasons. Through Saturday, the defense had used 10 such strikes and the state had used 7.

Program Directed At Fast Starters

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - "Featherfoot" is a program sponsored by a manufacturer here to remind the drivers of its 500 company vehicles to avoid jackrabbit starts, to reduce time spent with auto engines idling, to drive at steady speeds and to keep the engine tuned.

These suggestions have saved $724,000worth of gasoline for Honeywell in the past year and increased the fleet's average mileage by 2.5 miles per gallon for a 20 per cent improvement.

nished copies of the recordings, but it insisted on comparing those with the original recordings.

The orginal recordings were not made available until today.

Former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Yarbrough's chief counsel, said no decision had been made on whether to seek a change of venue, but he said a decision on that would have to be made soon.

The question is whether prospective jurors in Travis County have been prejudiced against Yarbrough by extensive news converage of the case. Carr said. "It does not look good to me. I think we are leaning to that (a change of venue), but no decision has been made." Carr Asked if there had been any attempts at plea bargaining, Carr said: "Judge Yarbrough has not given authority to me or anyone for plea bargaining. Assistant Dist. Atty. Steve Brittain said prosecutors had been too busy with a trial moved to Fredericksburg to work on the Yarbrough case. In his tape-recorded talk with Rothkopf, Yarbrough allegedly said he wanted former Victoria banker Bill Kemp "wiped away."

Tech To Open New Center For Elderly

The Texas Tech Program for Older Texans (T-POT) will formally open its seventh facility during cermonies Thurs17-02

Dr. Mike Mezack, head of Texas Tech's Continuing Education Division, will be guest speaker at the event, set to begin with a 10 a.m. open house at the new center at Redeemer Church, at 2221 Ave. W. The open house will continue until 3

Activities for the Thursday opening will include a luncheon, entertainment provided by a quartet from Lubbock Christian College A Cappella Chorus, an arts and crafts display of work by senior citizens and a pool tournament.

Founded in 1975, T-POT is a federally funded program sponsored in Lubbock by the Governor's Committee on Aging and by the Continuing Education Division at Tech.

The T-POT program provides five noon meals each week to many Lubbock County residents 60 years of age and older at each of seven community centers. T-POT also offers various "supportive services," including shopping assistance, transportation, nutrition education and health

T-POT meals routinely are available to persons over 60 years of age who may offer donations. Persons younger than 60 pay $1.35 per meal. That policy is in effect for the Thursday luncheon.

Officer Testifies At Davis Trial

AMARILLO (AP) - A Fort Worth policeman told the jury today how a large contingent of officers quietly took Cullen Davis into custody some four hours after a shooting spree last year at the Davis mansion.

Officer Sam Van Vleck, 25, said he was among the first to arrive in the early morning hours of Aug. 3, 1976, at the Edgecliff Village home of the defendant's girlfriend Karen Master.

Van Vleck, leadoff witness in the eighth week of testimony of Davis' capital murder trial, said a police sound system was used to summon Davis, 44, from the house.

"The defendant Cullen Davis walked very calmly out the front door and up the sidewalk to the street," Van Vleck recalled.

He said the defendant was "frisked," led to a patrol car and taken to police headquarters. The officer was not permitted to recount what, if anything, Davis told arresting officers.

Davis is charged with the slaying of his 12-year-old stepdaughter Andrea.

Increasing controversy has been generated in recent weeks over apparent differences between U.S. and Panamanian views of the pact - specifically whether it would allow the United States the right to use military forces to defend the canPanama in the year 2000.

Taylor told the committee that as he understood the treaty, "We shall have the right to make our own unilateral judgment on matters of compliance with these criteria of neutrality and may act independintly if necessary to enforce them.'

Zumwalt agreed, saying the treaty is an 'important step" toward assuring that the United States will have the use of the canal in a crisis.

But retired Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, an outspoken opponent of the treaty, cited statements by Panamanian officials to the effect that the United States, under the treaty, would not have a right to intervene militarily to protect the canal after 2000.

Administration spokesmen have claimed the opposite, saying the treaty in no way limits U.S. freedom of action to protect the waterway

Moorer, who also is a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs, said the conflicts in U.S. and Panamanian interpretations of the treaty "should be cleared up without

Meanwhile, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he believes the United States should reopen negotiations with Panama to clarify the U.S. defense rights, and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, suggested that members of the Senate panel visit Panama themselves before making a decision on the pact.

"I think we should sit down and reneconservative on military questions, Goldwater until now has been among senators tending to favor the treaty.

Administration spokesmen have said the treaty does not limit any U.S. action, but Panamanian officials insist the treaty does not provide for intervention by the United States

Jail Standards

(From Page One) TCJS currently is reviewing the 1976 life safety codes to determine whether some parts might be changed as they are ap-

"No sooner will we get that thing (the new jail) built than they'll have a new set of codes and we'll be out of date again," Lancaster said.

Lancaster and Commissioner Coy Biggs still are pushing for renovation of the existing jail as an alternative to some of the proposed new construction. However, they said they still cannot determine whether the old jail can be upgraded to meet the life safety codes.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Congress is running pretty much like the old-time railroads - late and behind schedule.

No one is certain when the first session of the 95th Congress will close up shop. Its leaders originally hoped to be gone by now, but the most optimistic current predictions are for a Nov. 1 adjournment, and there is talk of the session running to Thanksgiving or even later. The key is final disposition of President Carter's omnibus energy program. How fast Congress can reach that point - if ever — is anybody's guess.

There are at least two other potential roadblocks:

-A continuing Senate-House dispute over the use of federal funds for abortions, which is blocking $60 million in appropriations for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Labor Department. The House will vote on a new formula this week in hopes a strong showing will convince the Senate to go along.

-The need to pass before the end of the year a method to put more money into the Social Security trust fund. The House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill last week and the Senate Finance Committee is working on one. The energy bill remains the biggest and most time-consuming problem.

The House has passed one version containing all five major parts of Carter's program. It's not identical, but fairly close to what the administration wants.

The Senate instead approved four sepa rate bills with a fifth -energy taxes still to be acted on. The Senate Finance Committee hopes to vote on the tax bill by Friday, but it could take longer.

Although Senate-House negotiators plan to start meeting this week on energy bills and clear away some of the less troublesome parts, bruising fights to come will center on two areas:

- The Senate's vote to deregulate the price of natural gas against a House bill which only allows a higher price. Speaker Thomas O'Neill has said the House will not accept deregulation and Carter said he would veto a deregulation bill.

-Sen. Russell Long's idea of passing an energy tax bill with no new taxes and then trying to combine the House's taxes with the Senate's ideas on how to spend

Meanwhile, the Senate and House can act on other legislation.

The House, which is taking Columbus Day off today, comes back Tuesday to consider a bill to charge barge operators for operating on inland waterways to help pay for construction projects. The House also plans to act on a $6.8

billion supplemental Defense appropriation, with an effort scheduled to kill $1.3 billion which a House committee voted to build four B1 bombers that Carter does not want. Carter's first reorganization action, which wipes out some independent agencies and cuts the White House staff by 25 per cent, also is on the docket.

The Senate schedule is in a state of more uncertainty. But legal services legislation and a bill to cut down on child pornography are scheduled.

West To Get Best Views Of Eclipse

NEW YORK (AP) - A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible from the United States on Wednesday afternoon, but people farthest west will get the best view.

The moon will begin to cross the sun's disc at 3:14 p.m. CDT. It will reach midpoint at 4:19 p.m. and the eclipse will end at 4:52 p.m., astronomers at the Hayden Planetarium said.

Weather permitting, Honolulu will see a 70 per cent eclipse, Los Angeles 47 per cent. San Francisco 44 per cent, Flagstaff, Ariz., and Tampa, Fla., 38 per cent. Atlanta 26 per cent, Denver 24 per cent, Chicago, Columbus, Ohio, and New York

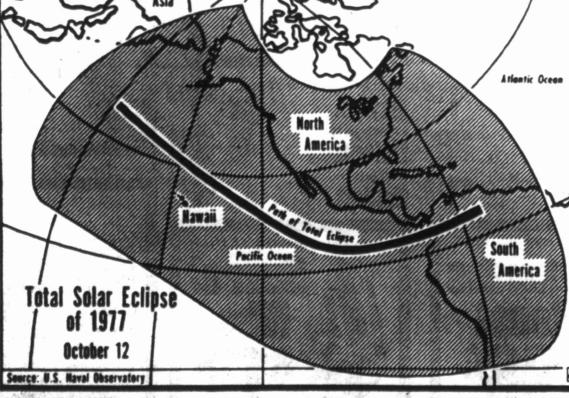

13 per cent, and Minneapolis 10 per cent. The eclipse will be total in a path across the Pacific Ocean, west of Mexico, reaching the coast of Colombia shortly before sunset.

Many Answers Offered On Market's Woes

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - Is the stock market depressed because of fears of higher interest rates, the imbalance of trade, worry about upcoming income tax proposals, or concern that Congress will overreact to the slowdown?

Or perhaps because it is feared a recession is just over the horizon, that the Carter administration's programs are slow to develop, that government is antibusiness, that the Fed is confused, that U.S. productivity is slowing?

Still searching? Try these: a belief that consumer confidence is slipping, that capital investment by industry isn't taking up the slack, that we are headed into

Phosphate Detergents Phased Out

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Michigan lowed to sell out our stock and replace it stores are phasing out phosphate-based detergents in line with a new state law, but soap makers are continuing their court battle to stop the ban.

Retailers with high-phospate degergents still on the shelf have been told they may sell the rest of their inventory, but that new stock must contain no more than 0.5 per cent phosphorus.

A spot check of Detroit-area supermarket chains last week showed none of them expected any problems phasing in the nonphosphate detergents as required by the law which took effect Oct. 1.

"It would be chaotic if we had to withdraw all the phosphate detergents immediately," a spokesman for Detroit-area A &P markets said. "But since we're alwith the low-phosphate products, there shouldn't be any problem.

Another chain said it stopped ordering high-phosphate products about two

By JEFF SOUTH Avalanche-Journal Staff Acting on complaints by parents, Lubbock school officials have banned the showing of one "educational" film in louse of two other movies. Removed from circulation among the city's public schools was "The Merry-Go-Round Horse," the story of a small boy who steals a horse. Parents had charged this film seems to suggest stealing is justified if a child wants something badly enough.

Also, school administrators placed restrictions on two other movies, "The Lottery" and "VD, The Hidden Epidemic." Those films now may be shown only to certain classes at specific grade levels.

School officials rejected parents' protest of three films in the "Guidance of the 70s" series. However, they said teachers will be urged to involve counselors in explaining and discussing the guidance films with students.

Some parents had complained that without adequate follow-up discussion, the guidance movies might encourage students to be responsible only to themselves, with disregard for their church and family values.

An ad hoc committee of parents, chaired by John Q. Warnick, judge of Lubbock County Court-at-law No. 2, viewed the films in question in April and eventually filed objections to the movies with school officials.

The films are available to schools in Lubbock and the surrounding South Plains area through the Region XVII Education Service Center media library

Dr. E.C. Leslie, assistant superintendent for administration of Lubbock public schools, wrote Warnick a letter recently explaining the disposition of the movie protests.

"A committee of teachers, consultants and administrators were appointed to review each of the films which you asked to be removed from Lubbock Independent School District use in the classroom or that parental consent be given before they are shown to a child," Leslie told

These reviews took place during the first part of August, and recommendations were made to the Administrative Council (composed of Supt. Ed Irons and

Union Leader Defends Bill

Avalanche-Journal Staff There's nothing new about Labor Reform Act of 1977, an AFL-CIO regional director said here Sunday. Nick Kurko, AFL-CIO Region 4 direc tor, said the new legislation "is essentially a bill to give workers the rights given to them under the National Labor Relations Act passed in 1935."

Speaking to a meeting of the Hub Area Local of the American Postal Workers Union, Kurko said the bill is being billed as Big Labor seeking more power. Nothing could be further from the truth," he said.

Forty-two years ago workers were guaranteed the right to join a union and form a union through the National Labor Relations Act, and employers were instructed they must bargain in good faith,

However, "after 40 years there are no remedies for those who broke the law,' he said. Kurko quoted a federal judge as saying "there is no remedy to the courts to make the employer observe the law." "After 40 years we've got some reform pose," he said. The Labor Reform Act would essentially put teeth into labor laws by making it unprofitable for an employer to violate to give meaning to the act's original pur-

the law, Kurko said. For example, employers could lose federal contracts for three years if they were found to have willfully violated a final orin its original form.

Employes attempting to organize a union who are fired in violation of the law would be reimbursed at double their wage rate with no deduction for income received while off the job.

If an employer is found to have discharged an employe illegally for union See UNION Page 5

I wanted to throw away my report cards from the first eight grades-I really did-but I rationalized if they ever fell into the wrong hands, I'd be ruined.

I toyed with the idea of discarding three maternity skirts with the cut-out fronts and the drawstrings, but the way my body was going, I figured it was only a matter of months before I could turn them around and wear them backwards.

I wavered over whether or not to toss out a signature of Imogene Coca on a cocktail napkin, a kitchen linen calendar from 1969, and a French fry basket that needed a handle

On some things, there was no decision to be made...the melted candles, the rain-soaked Halloween masks, a single boot, and 35 used adhesive bows from Christmas packages...all would be saved. Other things I wasn't so decisive about...the pre-hips bikini suit that would make wonderful coasters. The 15 navel bands (still in pre-soak) that would come in handy if one of the kids suffered from an umbilical hernia.

But I was ruthless. At the end of the day I was proud as I stood beside four neatly stacked boxes of junk! My husband's eyes glistened when he

If you're a calorie-counter, one of the most convenient gadgets in your kitchen drawer is an angelfood cake cutter. Not to cut angelfood cake (although angelfood is less fattening than other types of cake) but to tenderize those lean, lowfat cuts of meat.

Tenderize meat? n angelfood cake cutter you'll recall, looks somewhat like an elongated styling comb for Afro hair-do's .. a handle on one end and long, sharp pointed "teeth." It's mainly used to break up angelcakes or English muffins. But you can use those sharp points to break up the tough fibers of very lean meats ... and to puncture the surface when adding seasonings, marinades or meat tenderizer. One handy way to use it is in making homemade "minute steaks" from a large boneless beef roast: MINUTE STEAKS OR SANDWICH STEAKS Boneless bottom round of beef

Meat tenderizer, plain or seasoned

Anglefood cake cutter Using a very sharp knife, cut sandwich size slices (about four ounces each) against the grain.

Lay the steaks flat on a cutting board Sprinkle liberally with meat tenderizer. Puncture repeatedly with the needlesharp tips of an angelfood cake cutter. Turn over and add more meat tenderizer Puncture again. Each four ounce steak, 155 calories.

To Freeze - Wrap steaks individually in plastic wrap and lay flat in freezer. Or, line a cookie tin with foil. Arrange steaks in a single layer and cover completely with another sheet of foil. To make a second layer of steaks, put a sheet of paper toweling on top of first layer, then add another sheet of foil, a layer of steaks and a final layer of foil. (The paper towel between layers of foil will keep the layers from freezing together.)

To Cook - Steaks should be removed from the refrigerator or freezer and allowed to reach room temperature before cooking, so that the tenderizer can do its work. Spray a non-stick skillet with cooking spray for no-fat frying. Preheat over high flame before adding steak (skillet must be hot.) Add steaks, one or two at a time. Don't crowd. Season with garlic or onion powder, if desired, but add no salt. Sear over high heat until underside is well-browned and blood rises to the surface of the steak, 30 seconds or less. Turn and brown other side 15 or 20 seconds, no more. Steak should be rare.

Serve on crisp French or Italian rolls, from which the bready center has been pulled out. (Rolls without centers, about 125 calories each.) Top with thin slices of onion, pickle and tomato; add salt and pepper to taste. (Onion, pickle and tomato combination about 10 calories per serving.) Or spread lightly with catsup, steak sauce, low-fat Russian dressing or horseradish mixed equally with low-fat mayonnaise. (About 20 calories per tablespoon for the mixture.)

MARINATED MINUTE STEAKS

Slices of lean beef round (about 4 oz. each)

Marinade (see below

Cut thin slice from beef roast. Spread wih your choice of marinating liquid listed below, and puncture both sides with angelfood cake-cutter. Marinate 30 minutes at room temperature, or longer in refrigerator.

Polynesian - Use equal parts of soy sauce and defrosted pineapple juice concentrate ... not canned pineapple juice. Fresh or frozen pineapple juice has an enzyme that breaks up meat fibers, but the enzyme is destroyed when pineapple juice is cooked or canned. About 80 calories per quarter-cup.

Italian I - Use one tablespoon lemon juice per steak. Sprinkle with oregano, garlic powder to taste. 4 calories per tablespoon. Italian II - Substitute commercial lowfat Italian salad dressing for the lemon juice and seasonings. 8 calories per table-

Italian III - Cover the steaks with tomato juice, sprinkle with oregano and garlic powder. Drain well before adding steaks to the skillet. If you wish, after steaks are cooked and removed from skillet, put the reserved juice in the skillet and cook down over high heat to make a sauce. Sprinkle with grated cheese, if desired. Tomato juice is 12 calories per quarter-cup, grated Italian cheese 30 calories per tablespoon.

Barbecue - Cover steaks with seasoned tomato juice ("Bloody Mary mix." 15 calories per quarter-cup). Drain steaks and pan-fry. Remove steaks. Put juice in skillet and cook over high heat until reduced. Pour over steaks.

French I - Marinate steaks in dry red wine. Sprinkle with poultry seasoning, onion powder. After cooking, wine adds less than 20 calories per quarter-cup.

I really wasn't in favor of it, but since Virgil didn't object, I didn't.

She ordered him to undress and lie face down on the bed with only a sheet over him. Then she massaged his neck and shoulders, and worked her way down his back. When she got to his lower back she removed the sheet and started kneading his bare backside! That's when I left.

She yelled, "You can stay. Nothing is showing," but I didn't return until I knew the massage was over. When she asked why I left, I told her I didn't think it was proper to watch while a 60-year-old woman gave her 40-year-old son a massage with no sheet on him. She insisted there was nothing wrong with it. Meanwhile Virgil didn't open his mouth, but after she left he said maybe he should have

It's A Total Approach to Figure Perfection

Orta Dickerson was a "Yo-Yo" Dieter, Until Pat Walker's Took Those Ups & Downs out of Her Life

As everyone who has ever falled for a quickloss diet fad knows, the loss may be quick, but regaining that weight can be even quicker. Orla Dickerson knew all ablout the problem.

Before Pat Walker's Orla was tied to twenty pounds she couldn't diet off and keep off.

"I was tired of being a yo-yo" she says. "Tired of starving the weight off. and then gaining it all too much non-professional advice on how to lose." Unhappy with her size 14 clothes, and aware that she weighed twenty pounds more than she should, Mrs. Dickerson was ready to try the weight reduction program she'd read about in a newspaper ad for Pat Walker's. If she could only get lasting results, she'd be convinced.

Before long, she realized that joining Pat Walker's program was the best investment she'd ever made. Already she was feeling and looking better. With three treatments a week on the passive exercise unit, and with the careful attention and guidance of her salon counselors, she was able to take her weight down and keep it there.

Now, a year later, her weight has been stabilized at 120 pounds for several months. She's lost a total of 35 inches, and she can count on being able to wear her size 8 clothes for as long as she likes.

"I don't look tired or drawn the way people do who've been on crash diets," she marvels. "At Pat Walker's your weight loss is steady and gradual, so you get back in shape as you go. It's wonderful!"

BY LOUISE B. TYRER, M.D.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Good health care starts long before pregnancy begins. Essential preparations include learning about the body and how it works, learning good nutrition and getting birth planning information. With this knowledge, you can have a child safety and comfortably, and at the right time, when both of you, mother and father, want the baby and feel you can care for it.

When contemplating a pregnancy it is a good idea for a women to have a health examination, particularly a pelvic check-up. Once pregnant, the mother-to-be should contact her physician or chosen prenatal clinic right away in order to begin pregnancy care as soon as possible.

At this time the doctor may determine that special treatment is needed due to a particular physical state or health background. Other factors such as childhood problems, personal illness or medical conditions in the immediate family must be considered as well. Special attention to health is particularly important now because there are two lives, not just one, to be concerned about.

Here are several cautions for the pregnant woman: First, it is advisable to take no medications, even those normally taken, until they have been discussed with your physicain, since certain medications may be harmful to a developing baby. Second, if possible, smoking should be second, it possible, smoking should be stopped as it may increase the chance of having a premature or underweight baby. Heavy drinking also is inadvisable as it may result in fetal deformities.

At an early stage of pregnancy, obtain information from the doctor on the amount you should increase calories, protein, vitamins and minerals in your diet. You may and should continue to exercise, and your doctor can advise you on the best program.

As parents you should discuss with your physician the method of childbirth you might like to have. There is a trend to involve fathers more than in the past. In the case of natural childbirth, husband and wife participate together in a weekly class during the last seven weeks of pregnancy. Together they learn the biology of birth, as well as the techniques of natural childbirth in which the husband assists the wife through labor and through birth itself. This can be an exhilarating and unforgettable experience for both.

In cases where a couple prefers a more standard procedure, there are other important questions to be discussed with your doctor, such as the kind of medication and anesthesia to be used.

No matter what the decision, the nine months of pregnancy give couples a wonderful opportunity to develop a deeper relationship, and to understand their new role as parents while preparing a welcome place for the newcomer to their family

A number of new techniques may be necessary to determine the well-being of the baby prior to birth. One of these is fetal heart monitoring before labor. This is known as "stress" test, where a few mild labor contractions are brought about by medication so that the doctor can see how your baby may respond to the stress of labor.

Other tests of fetal health include measurement of hormones such as estrogens in the blood or urine, and measurement of fetal growth by "ultrasound." (Like sonar in ships, harmless sound waves bounce off the baby and indicate the baby's head size on a special screen.)

More rarely, there is a test called amniocentesis, where a small sample is taken from the fluid surrounding the baby. Various chemical tests can be done on this fluid. It also contains cells that can be studied to determine whether any inher-

These tests are only

These tests are only used in about 10 per cent of pregnant women where there is some concern about the well being and age of the baby.

One thing that often concerns women and men as they start their first pregnancy is: Will pregnancy, or having a third person in the house, affect sexual or emotional feelings between a woman and her man? In the event of a normal pregnancy your usual sex relations do not pose any hazard until the onset of labor. However, if there is any fluid leakage from the vagina, consult your doctor right away.

Finally, remember that you will want to offer your new baby all the good things in life, in a personal world where you all have room and feel there is space to breathe. So love and plan carefully.

Pregnancy is the best time to consider how many children you desire and the contraceptive method you wish to use to space your babies, or to conclude your reproduction.

Sparks-Porch Plan Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sparks announce the engagement of a daughter, Sharon Elaine, to Robert Lee Porch, son of Mrs. Louise Porch of Fort Worth.

The bride-elect is a student at Texas Tech University. The future bridegroom was graduated from Lubbock Christian College.

The couple plans to be married Nov. 12 in Mt. Vernon United Methodist Church.

Colonel Gives Others Chance To Achieve

Avalanche-Journal Staff

People want to do their own job and feel good about it and proud of them-

It takes a lot of delegation in a $141 million facility like Reese Air Force Base with 2,800 employes and an annual production cost of $48 million.

Col. Charles E. Bishop, "a firm be-liever in the managerial philosophy of delegation," gives that opportunity to the "excellent supervisors" in every support arm of the 64th Flying Training Wing.

That is the way he gets the responsibility of the base from the Air Training Command: with freedom to do his thing and take the glory or the consequences.

"It's all in how you treat people," the Reese wing commander said. "Treated fairly and squarely, people will retain their self respect - their self worth. Give that to people and you get it back."

He gets it back in the satisfaction of a job well done, a pride in letting others achieve and time for the specific duties of a wing commander.

Bishop keeps abreast of how things go with the mission, but allows others the "chance to make decisions and feel good about it, produce and per-

His major task, as he sees it, is to "create an atmosphere, an environment that people want to work in, put out their best effort and achieve, be happy in that achievement, but always looking for other ways to do the job better.

That isn't always easy for a man, particularly a man at the top of the military business pinnacle, because the waves caused by problems dash first at the home front, often long before the effect is felt in the mission.

Bishop has help calming those waves while they still are ripples. It makes the rewards of command, for him, a much better thing, because they are shared.

In Washington, she was the only woman in the DIA, a "small arm of the CIA," and her fellow workers dubbed her "the lady spy."

Her work, analyzing aerial photo-graphs, went on behind many security checks, including one door lock to which she alone had the combination.

At Reese, she listened to worries about base programs, which were sadly lacking in volunteers, and put her own beliefs to work - getting others to accept responsibilities by accepting them herself, first.

With a background as a symphony violinist, Mrs. Bishop spends time helping Lubbock Symphony Orchestra efforts, but no more than any of the many Reese civic responsibilities, from issuing dishes to newcomers until baggage catches up or crocheting in a group to get a craft circle going.

With all efforts, combined and alone, the Bishops already have made a place for themselves in the Reese and Lubbock communities, where they find the reception "super" and activity, the NLRB can seek a court in junction preventing the company from discharging anyone else. "If they violate that, they can go to jail," Kurko said, noting no one has been sent to jail in the past

For years, the way to discourage union activity has been to fire the people involved, Kurko said. "Up to 15 years later many of those people have not been paid back pay after the NLRB found they had been fired illegally.

Kurko said, "There has been no inhibiting force in the law which stops companies from firing union organizers.

Under present law, one company has refused to grant a union contract after 10 years of negotiations and two fovorable union elections, he said.

However, under the proposed legislation if the NLRB finds the company has bargained in bad faith, the employer can be fined damages which will have to be paid as back wages to employes, Kurko

"I think this will have an impact on getting them to bargain in good faith."

The proposal also provides for an increase in membership from five to seven on the NLRB board, a measure aimed at speeding up the time required to get a decision from the board.

If a company does not appeal an NLRB decision within 30 days, the board will get court enforcement of its order under the 1977 act.

The new legislation, recently passed by the U.S. House, is expected to be taken up by the Senate in January or February.

City's Bonds Jeopardized By Losses

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - Ann Arbor's near-loss of $1.05 million because of bad investment advice and a low-level employe's speculation with city funds may have jeopardized the tax-exempt status of the city's bonds, according to state

City Administrator Sylvestor Murray nearly two weeks ago estimated the losses — which have been repaid by the city's brokerage firm - at between $800,000 and $1 million. Officials now says the loss was more than $1.05 million.

Donald Fichter, director of the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, said last week that Ann Arbor violated state law by borrowing $90 million in securities from the brokerage firm Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, without first getting state approval.

The commission must approve all municipal borrowing of more than $250,000. "The city borrowed without commission approval," Fichter told city officials, adding that by borrowing money and reinvesting it to seek higher yield "you may jeopordize the tax-exempt status of Murray said in a report that the city's

The securities Levin borrowed went down and the borrowed ones he sold went up, officials said.

A Merrill Lynch broker involved in the transactions, Michael Carroll, has since been fired by the firm, which also agreed to make good the city's losses and pay the interest the city's money would have earned under normal investment practices. That is estimated at $4 million.

Man Trying To Bring Wine To Southerners

By THOMAS C. COTHRAN LAKE CITY, S.C. (AP) - The flat, tobacco-growing countryside around Lake City bears no resemblance to the rolling hills of Burgundy. It doesn't look like Napa Valley in California either.

But there's a man there who aspires to make wine, despite the humidity and the soaring temperatures in summer.

"Nobody has ever produced a good tablewine in our area to know what they compare to," says Dr. James P. Truluck Jr., a dentist and part-time vintner. "The people we have been reaching in our sales are proud to drink a wine that is produced in South Carolina."

Truluck says he never drank wine before he served a two-year tour at Chateauroux Air Force Base in central France. Born and bred in Lake City, he had never spent much time anywhere

Truluck dreamed about the winery for several years after returning from France. He bought his 165-acre tract near Lake City, population 6,500, in the late 1960s, planted the first vines in 1972 and harvested the first grapes in 1974.

The first commercial bottling was in 1976, when he produced 1,400 gallons of wine. This year 4,000 gallons were produced, to be marketed only in South Car-

Small local vintners can't hope to match the California winemakers, whose sales account for 80 per cent of the wine sold in the South, Truluck says. "We're just trying to bring a common tablewine which is produced within 200 to 300 miles of every Southerner," he said.

Truluck concedes the sultry climate of the area may not be the best environment for vinifera - or winemaking -

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The number of "repeaters" among white-collar criminals is far less than the prison population as a whole, and the nation's chief penal officer thinks jail is more of a punishmittee he considers "the certainty of ment" to be the most important element in reducing crime. Subcommittee chairman Joseph Biden,

D-Del., raised the question of why there are so few repeating offenders among the middle-class white-collar criminals. Carlson speculated they suffer more "deprivation" when they are forced, for example, to leave a $75,000 house and comfortable life for a prison cell. Biden said a prisoner who comes from a poorer economic background, leaving perhaps a tenement for a prison cell, suf-fers a "distinct loss of freedom" in jail, but otherwise "there's not that much dif-

The prison official said that in recent years people have been "afraid to talk about punishment," feeling it is "somehow foreign to our way of life." But he said punishment figures in virtually every aspect of life and should be applied to the penal system as well,

"A criminal offender clearly does play the odds," Carlson said, knowing his chance of apprehension is low, the rate of conviction lower and the chance of incarceration even lower than that.

Besides, Carlson said, some poor criminals believe "having been convicted, having served time, is not bad and in fact is something to be proud of." Society's attitude toward an ex-convict is also a factor. Carlson said what happens in the first 90 days of an ex-con's freedom is more important than experiences in jail in determining whether he will go straight. Often, he said, ex-cons have no choice but to get a new job in a different profes-sion than when they entered prison. And same community where their troubles Carlson said no matter how enlightened the prison system or how many ave-nues of training, education and rehabili-tation are available, if society shuns ex-cons, they again may turn to crime.

He said denying felons the right to vote and refusing to allow ex-cons who previously held jobs requiring state licenses to resume their work are "symbolic" of an immate's readjustment problems.

Carlson said it makes no difference to him whether his barber has served time, but the current practice is to block excons in licensed trades such as barbers, taxi drivers, bartenders "and a host of other jobs.

Survey Shows Public Wants Say On Bans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An industry-sponsored survey has found half the American, public supports bans on the sale of products containing known cancer-causing substances.

But despite support for such limitations, two out of three persons felt they — not government — should decide whether saccharin or other suspected cancer causing chemicals should be allowed on the market

The results of the June survey of 1,500 persons were released by Cambridge Repersons were reseased by Cambridge Re-ports, which conducted the study at the request of Union Carbide.

The survey cited the case of the saccharin ban and mentioned tobacco, asking, "would you favor allowing individu-als to make their own risk-benefit decisions or do you favor bans at the federal

Sixty-six per cent of those responding favored individual risk, 22 per cent sup-ported federal bans and 12 per cent were undecided.

But 40 per cent agreed "no substance or chemical should be permitted to be sold if it is found to induce cancer" — as mandated for food additives by the Delaney amendment — while 34 per cent disagreed and 18 per cent didn't know.

The survey concluded that "if regulatory agencies feel they have enough data to support a bas, they ought to be able to make that information available to the public and let the public decide. This is precisely what is done in the case of cigarettes. Americans are aware of the risks of cancer and feel it is increasing; however they are not willing to support federal bans on substances they want to use."

Prison Adopts Wild Horses

wild horses that faced a firing squad if they weren't adopted have been given a reprieve - life on prison grounds.

Warden Richard Anderson of the Idaho State Penitentiary near Boise said the prison had asked for a dozen of the mustangs for use at the prison.

'Some of them will be used by guards when inmates are outside the compound on work details." Anderson said.

He said the horses also will be used in handling the 300 animals in the prison's beef and dairy herds.

"Generally, we're trying to cut down the use of vehicles. Some inmate laborers will ride horses instead of driving a truck to move irrigation pipes and similar duties," Anderson said. The prison is in the desert 12 miles south of Boise.

Patterns/Needlework ILO Fears Soviet Takeover

GENEVA (UPI) - Top officials at the International Labor Organization fear a Soviet drive to dominate the U.N. agency if the United States makes good its threat to pull out in November.

This fear is less widespread among the rank and file who are more concerned that they will be among the 300 to 500 employees losing their jobs because of massive economies.

Influential members of the ILO management, however, believe there is little doubt that Moscow will push to take over key posts, a development which would jeopardize the ILO's activities in upholding human and workers rights.

The political disequilibrium will be as important and possibly more important than the financial disequilibrium," one official said.

"It appears obvious that the Soviet Union will make every effort to fill the vacuum if the U.S. leaves.'

Financially, U.S. withdrawal will bring the ILO, oldest of the U.N. specialized agencies, to the brink of disaster. Some veteran officials think the organization will no longer be a viable institution.

Washington pays one quarter of the working budget, set at $169 million for the two years 1978 and 1979.

It is estimated that 300 and 500 persons will lose their jobs, while technical aid programs, travel and conferences will be slashed. Department spending cuts will range from 25 to 55 per cent.

The real damage will be political, however, according to top officials who prefer to remain anonymous

"While non-political activities would continue such as technical assistance in the field, there could very well be a cutback on such sensitive work as monitoring ILO standards for workers around the world, especially trade union rights and the freedom of association." one administrator said.

Former Secretary of state Henry A. Kissinger served the mandatory two-year notice of withdrawal in November, 1975, CIO that the ILO was anti-western and too involved in politics.

ILO officials point out that the automatic majority of Communist and third world states exists in all other agencies and in the United Nations itself.

They further emphasize that over the past two years, under the threat of U.S. withdrawal, the ILO general assembly has avoided any resolutions condemning Israel - which in the past infuriated Washington - and that its standards monitoring division has issued two lengthy reports strongly criticizing totalitarian nations, including the Soviet Union, for violating workers rights.

'Gin Game' Gets Good Review

By WILLIAM GLOVER NEW YORK (AP) - "The Gin Game" is a small, funny play with a sharp finale

Two ranking Broadway performers, Hume Cronyn and his wife Jessica Tandy, are the whole cast of the seemingly innocuous trifle that premiered last Thursday at the Golden Theater.

The production originated at the Long Wharp company in New Haven, Conn., which is becoming a regular contributor to Main Stem well-being, though the script also has been tested by several oth-

It was written by D.L. Coburn, a native of Baltimore now residing in Dallas, and is reportedly his first excursion into dramaturgy. Besides having a keen ear for dialogue, Coburn shows rewarding compassion and understanding for the way in which the minor irritations of every day life can become time bombs that destroy a person

Through three scenes, Tandy and Cronyn sustain a level of surface amity, two crotchety elders in mutual flight from the petty, patronizing aggravations of institutional existence. Once in a while a fragment of detail about the lives they have left behind is dropped, hurriedly covered while another rummy hand plays out.

Coburn's dramatic device, a bit too pat, is to have the woman win constantly as the man grows increasingly wrathful. In scene four bitterness reaches violent peak, and as she wins - if anyone has been counting - the 13th hand, the last shreds of Cronyn's pride rip apart. He totters off designer David Mitchell's tattered grey veranda, leaving her to ponder the moral of this excursion into solitary

Until the ultimate grimness develops, Nichols and his stellar players keep "The Gin Game" lightly diverting, and make the comments about geriatric life more amusing than they really are. Cronyn is a fidgety marvel. Miss Tandy a wonder of grandmotherly aplomb.

"The Gin Game" is miniature drama, presented with superbly professional art-

Owners Keep Pets Even in Cemetery

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) - The Pines Pet Cemetery is for pets, of course, but some pet owners develop an attachment that they're unwilling to give up after death.

So the cremated remains of three humans are buried at The Pines as well, next to the graves of the animals they loved, says Bea Biederman, who operates the cemetery near here. Eventually there will be a fourth, because one man who is buried next to his dog reserved another plot on the other side for his wife.

Handicapped Children's Book Describes Epileptics' Lives

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — To a child, an epileptic seizure is "like I'm all alone in a big dark forest. Like my body is coming apart. As though time is all mixed up."

The comment was contained in a book written by nine handicapped children, aged 9 to 13, whose special education class at the Wadewitz School is called The Light and Bright Writers Club.

Though the book, their second, gives touching, even hard-breaking insights into the afflictions of a child, teacher Jan Damaschke asked her class to maintain a sense of humor as the best way to cope. And she found that they were able to do just that:

When is a bad time to have a seizure. "When I'm crossing the street. It's a good way to get that run-down feeling," wrote

A good time, wrote his classmate, is just before a big test.

'These kids are born with their handicaps and to them the handicaps are normal, but they know something is wrong,' said Mrs. Damaschke. "We try to get them and others to accept it, and one way is to make things light sometimes instead of heavy and serious all the time. That's our job.

The student's first book written last year was "One Hand Power," when Mrs. Damaschke's class had three children with only one hand each.

The second book lists the authors, last spring's class, as Debbie, Elsa, Jim, John, Keith, Pat, Rose, Tim and Tracy, with special credits to teachers and parwho helped produce several hundred copies of the 42-page book. Mrs. Damaschke hopes to copyright and sell it.

The book, titled "Gripping Tales," and subtitled "Living with Seizures," contains the children's personal observations mixed in with history, statistics, the legal rights of epileptics and facts such as how to help someone having a seizure.

It describes the four common types of seizures and lists famous people who were epileptics, including Charles Dickens, Napoleon, Julius Caesar, Socrates, Alfred Nobel and Alexander the Great.

The book is dedicated to Pat Lacanne and Keith Bretl, the two members of the class who have seizures, and includes frank but touching little essays by their mothers on what it is like to have a child with epilepsy Other parts of the book feature a variety of Pat and Mike's comments, including what a seizure feels like. For example, a comment on what brings on seizures "Eating too fast. Doing the dance, the hokey pokey. Drinking beer; the foam causes seizures. The best thing for bystanders to do during a seizure, the book advises, is to clear away the spectators: "This is not an Academy Award performance.

DR. LAMB

Exercise, Fat Linked

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I have been unable to find the proper value for triglycerides anywhere. What is the normal amount?

DEAR READER - It depends upon the method and the state of the patient when studied. In general, if the patient is in the fasting state without eating for at least 12 hours the level should be below 150 milligrams in 100 milliliters of blood.

Remember that tryglycerides are simply fats. The amount of fat in the blood varies greatly with what you have recently eaten. Fat is slowly absorbed and slowly cleared from the blood stream compared to sugar. It is much more affected by a recent meal than your cholesterol level. One reason you are having trouble finding normal values is because of its varia-

The triglyceride level will also fall if you exercise vigorously. The amount of exercise in the preceding 48 hours may affect your triglyceride level.

The triglyceride level alone has not been found to be as useful as the cholesterol level in predicting the risk of heart attacks. When the size of the particles formed by the triglyceridecholesterol combination is considered, the risk calculation for people over 50 can be improved. In that age group the amounts of particles of different sizes become more important than the cholesterol level alone. Those who want more information about triglycerides can send for The Health Letter number 1-2. Cholesterol, Triglycerides, Blood Fats, Atherosclerosis. Send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper,

New York, N.Y., 10019. DEAR DR. LAMB - As a young child I acquired a habit of putting my forefinger in my navel and digging as a way of going to sleep at night. When I was about 10 and in the hospital with pneumonia a young nurse told me if I didn't stop doing that I would get cancer. This has plagued me day and night. I might add that I didn't stop doing this. I am now a mature woman of 57 and the mother of 10 healthy children. I am so worried because I have strange feelings and shooting sensations around my navel and the lower part of my body. My doctor says you can't get cancer of the navel. Could you give me your views on this? I'm frightened of the disease, but I don't understand cancer at all.

DEAR READER - Your letter is a good example of why people should never try to change a child's habits by frightening them of some dire consequence, other than a good paddling if warranted. That young nurse unwittingly planted the seed for you to use in responding to your anxiety reactions.

No, no, no, fingering your navel will not cause cancer. Cancer is simply cell growth that has gone berserk allowing uncontrolled abnormal growth. For example, liver cancer is a rapid disorganized growth of liver cells. Many factors can stimulate the wild growth.

Why don't you ask you doctor to have you see a psychiatrist for some professional counseling. If you can get at the root of your real anxiety then its manifestation, excessive fear of cancer, may be controlled.

Being the paramour of movie stars, however, wasn't all that satisfying a station in life for Michelle, who, at 32, is beautiful, talented and ambitious.

Four years ago she costarred with Warren Oates in "Dillinger" and wasn't asked to work in movies again. A couple of TV films failed to project Michelle as a candidate to replace, say, Streisand.

Now, thanks to a costarring role with Rudolf Nureyev in "Valentino," Michelle is on the very threshold of a super career.

Even before "Valentino's" release, the film has led to her first solo album -'Victim of Romance" for A & M records - and a top role in the new TV mini-series, "Aspen."

Michelle's fortunes did an about-face almost two years ago when she visited director Ken Russell who was interviewing actresses to play the role of Janis Joplin in a projected film titled "Pearl." Michelle sought the interview knowing she couldn't portray Joplin. But Russell was an important director, and it never hurts to know the right people. "I really wanted to impress Ken with the fact that I was the archtypical American girl," Michelle said. "I bounded into

"At the time I didn't have the faintest idea that he was planning 'Valentino' and was looking for an actress to play opposite Nureyev. Ken and I got along very well and I thought that was the end of it.

"Two months later he sent me the 'Valentino' script and asked me to fly to London to read for the part of Natasha Rambova, Valentino's wife. Before I could get to England, Ken flew to Hollywood and over a bottle of chablis he told me I had the part. I didn't even read for it.

"So on the faith of one director I wound up with one of the best feminine roles in movies in a long, long time.

"I was scared to death when we began the picture. I asked myself if I could really bring it off. But once we'd done the first scene I really got into the part and enjoyed what I was doing."

Michelle spent six months in England working with the bombastic Nureyev. It is an understatement to say the American actress was not as enamored of the Russian toe dancer as she was of the aforementioned Beatty and Nicholson.

Soon both performers were quoted as saying theirs was not a mutual admiration society. Nureyev called Michelle unprofessional. Michelle confided that Nureyev was a pain in the posterior.

At one juncture the temperamental Russian slapped Michelle on the hand.

Bill Will Aid Family-Owned Newspapers

WASHINGTON (AP) - A bill designed to preserve family ownership of newspapers by making it easier to pay inheritance taxes has been introduced by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.

Т

The measure would authorize setting up trusts to finance future tax liabilities and also provide for extension of time to pay estate taxes

"Almost two-thirds of the daily newspapers in the United States are owned by chains." Udall said in a statement. "One of the major reasons for the decline in the number of independent local newspapers is the devastating effect of estate

"More and more newspaper owners, in contemplation of the fact that their estates will not be able to both pay the estate taxes and maintain their newspapers, have opted to sell their newspapers in tax free exchanges for the stock of chains and other publicly traded corporations," Udall added.

The bill would allow owners of an independent local newspaper to establish an advance estate tax payment trust during their lifetimes. Up to 50 per cent of the newspaper's pre-tax income could be placed in such a trust, which would have to be invested in government obligations.

The funds could be used only to pay the estate taxes. If the owners sold the newspaper after establishing the trust, there would be a penalty of 118 per cent of the funds in the trust

This advance estate tax payment trust offers major tax benefits to owners of independent local newspapers," Udall said. The funding is with pre-tax income of the newspaper and the sums in the trust are not a part of the owner's estate for

thanked her parents for their support and the judges for awarding her the 1978 South Plains Maid of Cotton title Saturday night, one never would have suspected that this poised Texas Tech University coed almost didn't make it into the

"I wasn't planning to enter because I didn't think I had a chance," Miss Bailey said. "But my dear, sweet grandmother called the Chamber of Commerce and told them about me and had them send me an application.

But even after she received the application, Miss Bailey encountered another obstacle on her road to the crown. "I didn't turn in the application until the last day,' Miss Bailey said with a laugh "And then when I went to the office the next day for the preliminaries, they had lost my application. I had to run home and fill out anoth-

In the end, however, the annual contest went her way. And Mrs. Grace Anderson's confidence in her granddaughter was shared by the judges as they chose Miss Bailey to represent the South Plains in the National Maid of Cotton Con-

In less than 24 hours after receiving the title, Miss Bailey had already begun the multitude of preparation for the national contest held the last week in December in Memphis, Tenn.

She must be fitted with her allcotton wardrobe which she will meet with beauty and fashion consultants and be tutored in the many facets of the cotton industry by Terry Stark, manager of the agricultural division of the Chamber of Commerce.

And this pretty, brown-eyed brunette with her bubbly, infectious laugh seems up to the job.

"I'm so excited about it all." Miss Bailey said. "I'm going to learn every phase of the cotton industry, from the seed to the finished products."

Miss Bailey feels this new information will make it easier for her to relate to the residents of the South Plains since everyone's life is affected by cotton.

"My father owns a bookstore," Miss Bailey said, "and he buys all his books on the basis of the coming cotton crop. If it's going to be a bumper crop, then he buys more books. So my clothes and everything depend on cotton.

"I hope I can help in making people realize just how important it is to support cotton production here. If people will buy 100 per cent cotton clothes and other cotton related products then the cotton producers will be more prosperous and that will be reflected in other areas. It's a endless cycle.'

Miss Bailey attributes her knowledge about the cotton industry to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bailey of 3712 64th Drive. And she says she owes her winning the title to her parents and brother Roger, 16, and sister, Bonnie, 12.

"My family is really close," Miss Bailey said, "and they gave me so much support throughout the pageant. Bonnie even gave me a pep talk and Roger told me he was proud of me and that meant so much. My parents have high aspirations for me but they don't push Whatever I want to do is fine and they give me all the help they

Miss Bailey's family will be out in full force at the national contest. Her grandmother already has called all the relatives living in nearby states and plane reservations are being made.

Miss Bailey said she will approach the national pageant in the same way she did the local one; she will be totally natural. "I was worried at first. I had only been in one other similar contest and I wondered if I should try to be the 'more sophisticated type,' she said, laughing. "But we (she and her mother) decided that just wasn't me so I just tried to take things as they came.

Miss Bailey said she considered memorizing her one-minute speech on "Cotton for All Reasons and Seasons" that was required of the top five finalists, but she was afraid if she missed one word she would forget the entire speech.

"I talked with several cotton farmers and the Dean of Agriculture at Tech and they helped me so much," she said. "I got so many facts and statistics. But when it came to the speech I just went on feelings and emotions.

The testers are "extremely accurate," says Mike Rovech, president of Vita-Stat Northwest, the distributor

'The testers are being readily accepted by the public because they provide a service that's so darn valuable." Rovech said, adding that he has never known of any machine malfunctioning.

But a Vancouver cardiologist, Dr. James Woolery, said he would be "very skeptical" of such a testing method with out the aid of a trained professional, calling it "almost a gimmick."

Illegitimate Birth Rate

Increases

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Health officials report one out of every three children born in Philadelphia last year was illegitimate - double the rate of pregnancies among unmarried mothers 10 years

There is an epidemic of teen-age pregnancies and it is a mammoth problem,' said Dr. Francis Hutchins, director of Temple University Hospital's Family Planning Center.

Dr. Kristin Knicely, head of the city's maternal and infant care department, said "It breeds a cycle of poverty and the impossibility of getting out...The girls really don't know if they want their ba-

A Health Department report, scheduled for formal release later this month, said that since 1967 the percentage of illegitimate births in the city has more than doubled

Statistics reveal that of 2,046 children born out of wedlock in 1976 to mothers under 18, about 92 per cent were nonwhite. Two years ago the illegitimacy rate for all nowhite children was five out of every 10, and today it is six of 10.

Among whites, one out of every 10 children are born illegitimate, up slightly from 1974.

There were 567 children born in the city to mothers between 10 and 15 years old in 1975, the last year such statistics were compiled.

Hutchins said most unwed mothers are trapped in poverty and there are dim prospects for the futures of their child-

"We are seeing a problem that is locking these teenager mothers and their children in poverty for another generation," he said.

Berlin Drug Traffic Increases

BERLIN (AP) - West Berlin, the shopworn capitalist showplace 130 miles inside East Germany, has become one of Europe's cheapest and deadliest heroin

Traffic that once passed through West Germany to the United States now stops here. Police estimate that 5,000 of the 2 million West Berliners - one in every 400 - is a heroin addict.

The total population is declining. The junkie population is growing

This year's drug death toll is now at 64. 10 more than in all of last year. The 54 dead in 1976 matched the toll in all of France that year and was nearly a fifth of the 283 dead in the other 10 West German

East-West politics keeps heroin channels open through the Berlin Wall.

Western Europe is thought to get much of its heroin from Southeast Asia's "Golden Triangle," the poppy-growing area where the borders of Burma, Laos and Thailand meet. Berlin's supply is thought to come through the Near East. Police say much of it is brought in by foreign couriers flying Interflug, the East German airline, from Istanbul to East Berlin. Three fourths of the foreign deliv-

Vermont Official Predicts Moves

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) - Vermont's economic development chief predicts several Canadian businesses will decide this year to open branch operations in northern Vermont, creating up to 700

"What is going to happen within the next 60 days will be the greatest thing that ever happened to northern Ver-" says Elbert Moulton, state economic development commissioner.

Moulton spent last week in Quebec meeting with business leaders interested in moving their operations to Vermont

Once in East Berlin, the capital of what diplomats say is a virtually drug-free country, couriers have their choice of low-risk routes into West Berlin - the various crossings through the Wall or the S-Bahn elevated railroad into the heart of downtown West Berlin. East Germany, although it contends West Berlin is a separate political entity alongside its own capital city, checks the borders primarily for escaping East Germans, money and consumer goods.

Western officials leave the entrances to the city virtually uncontrolled, supporting the Western politicial theory that East and West Berlin are one city.

West Berlin police have had little success in pinning down the suppliers inside the city

"We were pulling in little people on the theory that as you pulled on the rope you'd get bigger and bigger people," says Criminal Director Heinz Oemke. "But at the middle level, we stop getting any sig-

"The frightening thing about it is how narcotics officials watching the Berlin situation. "This is a city where no one died

"You're talking about people now coming from Munich, Aachen and Cologne to Berlin, where they previously went to Amsterdam," says another expert. Police say heroin here costs 200 to 250 marks (about $87 to $108) a gram, only a third or a fourth of the price in West Germany. A gram is about .03 of an ounce.

Bottom-level dealers buy basic stockpiles of three grams, keep half for themselves and sell the rest in one-twelfth gram street cuts of half heroin, half sugar. for 40 marks (about $15).

"We're trying to drive up the price through enforcement," Oemke said. "But the more you increase the price, the more you increase the risk of crime committed for money

At least three fairly open trading places have developed around downtown West Berlin. One of the most notorious is a subway station directly beneath the tourist cafes and sex movies of the Kurfuer"We make periodic raids just to let them know the police are still around," said Oemke, "but things have a way of falling to the ground when the police ap-pear and you're left with food and

Narcotics experts say they are concerned about the ready availability of heroin in Berlin, the speed with which the market has developed and the reappearance of Turks in the business.

Much Turkish heroin found its way to the United States before poppy crops were banned in 1973. Experts say the predominance of Turkish couriers doesn't necessarily mean the heroin they carry is produced in Turkey. But they say the pattern is "interesting.

The West Berlin governments is trying to pull together a major anti-heroin program of law enforcement, methadone clinics, education and other social aids. Much of the effort is still untested, but the city so far is getting high marks for

"Berlin is the first major city to face up to the problem," says one foreign expert.

Thinking about a career in management? We can offer you excellent opportunities for personal advancement in our aggressive, expanding company. If you have drive and enthusiasm, if you are willing to learn, you'll find success with us in the dynamic food service industry. Te qualify for the training program, you should have a high school diploma or G.E.D. equivalent. College or vocational school background will be a plus. Leadership ability is a must, since a self-starter can motivate others. A neet, well-groomed appearance is essential. Experience in food service is preferable, but not necessary due to our extensive training program. Experience in other professions should prove helpful to you. We seek individuals who require the minimum of supervision to get the job done right the first time.

right the first time. Our manager trainees receive in-depth, on-the-job training in all phases of catetoria operations. The management training program leads to appointment as an assistant manager and then catetoria manager based on the quelity of your overall performance. Top performers can quickly move into key management positions. New management positions are not a hollow promise -our growth ensures these opportunities. We expanded from 33 catetories in 1970 to 64 in 1976. By 1982 we otan to have over 100 units! As you progress into management you may have the chance to relocate to some of the fine cities where we have cafeterito relocate to some of the fine cities where we have cafeteri-as. You should be willing to accept these opportunities.

The starting salary for Manager Trainees will be based on your background and experience. The minimum starting sal-ary is $175 a week. As your career progresses and your re-sponsibilities grow, you can expect a rapid growth in earn-ings. Assistant managers earn from $11,400 to $18,000 per year. Cafeteria managers earn from $22,000 to $45,000 per year.

"BENEFITS with your employment include group health in-surance, retirement plan, special manager's life insurance program and manager and assistant manager receive free meals while on duty. NO NEED TO EVER WAX YOUR CAR AGAN!

Polyglycoat is a paint and chrom's seatent finish — guaranteed to protect your car against fading, corrogion, oxydation, and loss of gloss for three yelers. Comprised of Dow 500, paraffin, silicone, with a kerosene base. Polyglycoat breaks through the tiny paint pores in the surface and penetrates 2-3 layers into the paint-sealing it and shielding it against the foreign elements that cause corposion, russ, and loss of gloss.

Not only will Polyglycoat aliminate the need for avaxing, but it will sirtually maintain your car's shownoon finish, thereby enhancing resale potential. It should be applied to sil new cars and properly prepared used cars. KEEPS YOUR PAINT AND CHROME LIKE NEW! For More Information Call

In short, the Rabbit won for just about every last thing you'd want a car to do: to hold lots of people and things, to go quietly like the wind, to handle superbly and to not need ask of a car that the Rabbit can't deliver proving what we suspected all along.

icly that our car is better than their car.

RABBIT BEST OF FIVE

39 47, 50° 46

When General Motors comes right out here and says the Volkwagen Rabbit is the best car they tested, it must be true.

They're the biggest car company in the world, so they ought to know. Of the 5 cars GM tested, the Rabbit got the highest possible scores in all of these important catego

2)Biggest trunk capacity 3)Least interior noise 4)Fewest needed maintenance stops 5)Best acceleration

And we want to take this opportunity to thank them publicly for saying so 6)Best hill climbing power 7)Best steering quickness

CHICAGO (UPI) - Vice President Walter F. Mondale told Chicagoans Sunday their mayor - no matter who he is remains a highly regarded political leader among higher-level Democrats.

"The best new mayor in the country today" is what Mondale called Mayor Michael Bilandic, successor to the late Democratic powerhouse Richard J. Dal-Bilandic, who took over when Daley died last December, met Mondale at O'Hare International Airport on the final leg of Mondale's three-day crossing of the nation. Mondale's trip, which began in California and was filled with ceremonies and fellow Democrats, included leading the Columbus Day parade down State Street today. The vice president also had praise for some other Democrats. He said he wished Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota had won the presidential election in 1968. Mondale won heavy applause with the remark at the Polish-American Congress Illinois Division dinner, at which Polish-American Muskie received its 1977 heritage award At a brief news conference at the airport, Mondale said the Carter administration is moving boldly toward helping aging urban areas with federal funds; is firmly committed to a permanent Jewish

Asked about former Budget Director Bert Lance, who withdrew after widespread criticism of his personal finances, Mondale said he did not know much about the matter. He assured reporters. there would be no cover-up.

"We want to know exactly what's going on," he said.

Earlier Sunday, Mondale departed from a standard political campaign visit to meet with members of the National League of Families to discuss administration policies on reclassifying servicemen missing in action in Southeast Asia. Mondale, in Topeka, Kan., at a fund-raising barbeque for the re-election bid of Rep. Martha Keys, spoke with the wives at: Rep. Keys' urging.

Dolly Parton Favored To Win Top Award

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Dolly Parton, who broadened her music this year to a more pop-flavored sound, is favored to be chosen entertainer of the year tonight in the Country Music Association

Entertainer of the year is the top award among 10 to be presented at the Grand Ole Opry House on CBS television from 8:30 until 10 o'clock CDT.

Miss Parton also is nominated for another top award, top female vocalist, which she has won two straight years. Other nominees for entertainer of the year are Merle Haggard, Waylon Jennings, Ronnic Milsap and Kenny Rogers.

If Haggard is selected, he would become the first person in the 11-year history of

Chill In Air Signals Approach Of Flu Season

Associated Press Writer
The chill creeping into the air brings the approach of the flu season, and it's time to start thinking about protection and treatment.

The widely predicted swine flu epidemic of 1975-76 never materialized. But new strains of influenza A virus, the kind that causes pandemics or world-wide outbreaks, usually appear every 10 years and the last major problem was in 1968, with the Hong Kong flu.

Experts meeting in Maryland recently said a wide variety of flu viruses were circulating in the world this year. They said they still expected a relatively mild flu season in the United States, but declined to make firm predictions in the aftermath of the swine flu incident.

Influenza is an acute respiratory illness. whose symptoms include fever, headache, coughing, sore throat, runny nose lower back and eyes.

The disease is caused by one of three types of virus - A, B or C. Both type A and type B can result in epidemics, but the latter is usually much milder.

Flu outbreaks often occur suddenly The disease spreads through areas, peaking in about three weeks and subsiding after another three to four weeks. From 20 to 50 per cent of the susceptible population may be affected, with the highest incidence among children aged 5 to 14.

Most patients recover from the flu within a week, although they may feel tired or run down for some time. In the aged or chronically ill, the disease is more serious and, together with pneumonia, influenza is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States.

Vaccines have been developed to help guard against influenza. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says

70 to 90 per cent effective when matched to the current virus. The problem is that the viruses change their genetic makeup slightly every year, so annual revaccination is recommended

Even an annual vaccination will not protect against a completely new virus, and generally in the past there has not been enough time between the appearance of a new disease and its spread to develop and produce the quantities of vaccine needed to prevent an epidemic.

Once you've got the flu, there is not much to do except go to bed, drink plenty of liquids and take aspirin to relieve some of the symptoms.

Attempts are being made, according to HEW, to develop anti-influenza drugs to treat as well as prevent the disease. Several inducers of interferon — a protective substance which appears naturally in the body — have been promising initially.

MIAMI (UPI) - Attorney Ellis Rubin says he plans to appeal the murder conviction of 15-year-old Ronny Zamora and launch a nationwide crusade against television violence, which he says caused the youngster to kill.

Rubin says he has the approval of Zamora's parents to file the appeal this week. He said he found 17 possible grounds for reversing the conviction.

The Yankees, who beat the Royals with a ninth-inning home run in last year's fifth game and went on to lose four straight to Cincinnati in the World Series, will meet a new foe, the Los Angeles Dodgers, beginning Tuesday night in

"This shows the character of our club," said slugger Reggie Jackson, the $2.9 million free agent who was benched Sunday night in the latest swirl of controversy in the Yankees' soap opera season.

Benched with a 1-for-14 playoff slump, Jackson came through with a pinch-hit single and RBI in the eighth inning to lift the Yankees to within 3-2.

Then Paul Blair, the defensive specialist who replaced Jackson in right field, played his part in the drama by slapping a leadoff single off Dennis Leonard in the ninth and coming around to score the tying run on Mickey Rivers' single.

'I'm glad he stayed with me," said Blair in the joyous Yankee dressing room. "Thank God I came through for him. That's the greatest hit I ever had in my life.

The eighth and ninth innings came down to a game of managerial chess moves between Martin and Kansas City's Whitey Herzog.

Paul Splittorff, the winner in Kansas City's 7-2 victory Wednesday in New York, checked the Yankees on one run through seven innings but ran into difficulty in the eighth when Willie Randolph singled leading off. With righthander Thurman Munson at the plate, Herzog pulled the lefthanded Splittorff for righthanded Doug Bird. who struck out Munson but surrendered singles to Lou Piniella and Jackson. Frank White, Royals' second baseman, then ended the inning with a spectacular grab of Chris Chambliss' hot smash, forcing Jackson at second Larry Gura, the loser in Saturday's contest, was brought in to deal with the pesky Rivers in the ninth, and gave up the tving single. Mike Torrez, who hurled 5 1/3 innings of shutout ball in relief of Ron Guidry got in trouble in the Royals' eighth by issuing two-out walks to Amos Otis and Pete LaCock, and Martin called upon Sparky Lyle, his lefty bullpen ace who had shut out the Royals in five-plus innings to notch the New York victory Sat-

Lyle met the challenge, striking out Cookie Rojas to end the eighth and finishing the Royals in the ninth by getting Darrell Porter on a pop fly and Fred Patek on a double play grounder. 'I went in there and cried," Martin said gesturing to the manager's office. "A manager is human. But it's worth it, though. If this is the result, then I'll accept all of it.

With Rivers on first and Roy White, who had walked, on third, Herzog brought in righthander Mark Littell, who watched Willie Randolph send Amos Otis to the warning track in centerfield with a sacrifice fly that scored White with what proved the winning run. One out later, George Brett fielded Piniella's grounder, but threw wildly past first, sending Rivers across the plate with an insurance

"It seemed like we just went to pieces after they had two runners on base and nobody out," said Brett, whose scuffle with Yankee third baseman Graig Nettles triggered a near brawl in the first inning. "We just couldn't get right."

Optimistic Jones Keys Colt Explosion

By The Associated Press Bert Jones doesn't know when to give

Midway through the second quarter the Baltimore Colts trailed the Miami Dolphins 28-10. The Dolphins had exploded a 90-vard kickoff return by Freddie Solomon and touchdown runs of 52 and 66 yards by Benny Malone against the Colts.

But Jones, Baltimore's brilliant young quarterback, was not the least bit discouraged.

"I'm an optimist," he explained. "I have the feeling we can do just about anything we want, if we put our minds to it. I knew that there were many things we could still do to score."

So Jones went to work. Touchdown passes of three yards to Glenn Doughty and 19 yards to Raymond Chester cut the deficit to 28-24 by halftime, then a 34yard pass to Don McCauley in the third quarter put the Colts in front to stay. A five-yard scoring pass to Doughty later in the period was icing on the cake as the Colts beat the Dolphins 45-28 in a battle of previously unbeaten National Football League powers.

It was a magnificent display by Jones. who completed 18 of 30 passes for 205 yards and four touchdowns, including seven completions in a row on the three scoring drives that put the Colts in front.

Dallas, Oakland and Denver also remained unbeaten after the fourth NFL Sunday, although the Cowboys received a big scare from the St. Louis Cardinals, who led 24-16 before succumbing before a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns as Dallas pulled out a 30-24 victory.

Oakland and Denver coasted towards their American Conference West showdown next Sunday as the Raiders beat the Cleveland Browns 26-10 and the sistant Tom Moore while at Minnesota, said Moore was trying to explain the Steeler offense to him in terms of Minnesota's offensive alignment. Something was lost in the translation

Dungy fumbled twice and threw two interceptions in the Steelers' final four possessions and leaves Pittsburgh's quarterback situation in turmoil. "They (doctors) say I'll be out two weeks," Bradshaw said. "I'm going to try to talk them into next week. They are afraid it won't heal. But I'm going to do some heavy praying and convincing." Despite Pastorini's heavily wrapped ankle, Oiler coach O.A. "Burn" Phillips said he's not counting Pastorini out for Sunday's key game against the Cleveland Browns in the Astrodome. "I have all the confidence in the world in John Hadl, but don't count Dan out yet," Phillips said. "He's hard to keep

Houston trailed 10-7 at the half but tied it on the first drive of the third quarter with Toni Ftirsch's 27-yard field goal. A 51-vard touchdown bomb from Pastorini to Billy Johnson, who snagged the ball behind Steeler cornerback Mel Blount.

That gave the Oilers a 17-10 lead but they added 10 more points on an 18-vard field goal by Fritsch and a five yard fumble return by Greg Stemrick on a one-yard dive by Rocky Bleier and Roy Gerela's 27-yard field goal. Houston scored in the first quarter on a 44-yard halfback pass from Ronnie Coleman to Ken Burrough.

Almost lost in the drama of fallen quarterbacks was the performance of the Oiler defense, which kept Houston in the game until its offense could put points on the board. Bradshaw was intercepted four times in the first half, including two in the Houston end zone.

"I hope no one takes away from our victory because they got their quarterbacks hurt." Phillips said. "We intercepted their best quarterback four times in the first half.

Broncos defeated the Kansas City Chiefs they turned out to be the biggest."

The Pittsburgh Steelers, however, lost more than a football game in bowing to Houston 27-10. Starting quarterback Terry Bradshaw went out with a fractured left wrist in the second period, then reserve Mike Kruczek suffered a shoulder separation on the first play of the fourth period. Rookie Tony Dungy, a reserve safety, was at the helm for the Steelers the rest of the final period.

Baltimore and Miami combined to gain 792 yards - 397 by the Colts, 395 by the Dolphins - the most ever by two NFL teams. The pro record of 871 was set by Boston and San Diego of the American Football League.

It was an emotional showdown, and the Colts had problems getting their emotions under control. "Sometimes you can get too hyped up," said end Fred Cook of the Baltimore defense which shut down Miami in the second half. "I was so hyper in the first quarter, I was making myself tired. I had to stop that very quickly.

It was Jones, Baltimore's poised young signal-caller, who finally got the Colts on an even keel, and they controled play through the last 21/2 periods.

Miami coach Don Shula put the game in perspective. "We had a lot of big plays in the first half," he said, "but they had all the big plays in the second half. And

Longhorns Face Ozarks Shootout

By The Associated Press You can put a period on the question mark behind the Texas Longhorns.

Not only are they very real but they are good enough to beat the nation's secondranked team with their third string quarterback which brings us to the next dramatic chapter in a wild Southwest Conference football chase.

How about another high noon shootout in the Ozarks? You got it. Just like in the good ole days back in 1969 Texas and Arkansas will collide Saturday in a nationally televised meeting of two highly ranked and unbeaten teams.

This certainly wasn't on the cue cards in August as most "experts" were picking Texas and Arkansas for possible second division status

Fifth-ranked Texas, with unheralded third-string quarterback Randy McEachern at the controls, chilled No. 2 ranked Oklahoma 13-6 Saturday in the annual Red River war in the Cotton Bowl. Until then Texas was something of a mystery team although the Longhorns led the nation in offense and defense. This record was compiled at the expense of such weak victims as Boston College, Virginia

Texas' new coach Fred Akers admitted before the Oklahoma game "Obviously we are going to have to prove some things - not just to the rest of our schedule but to ourselves. There's a good opportunity to do that coming up.

After the Oklahoma game, Akers was saying such things as "I couldn't be more proud and happy

Arkansas, seventh ranked and enjoying a week off, will be a severe test for Texas as always in Favetteville. The last time the teams met there with spotless records the Longhorns won 15-14 and later claimed the national championship

We will look to McEachern and some backup against Arkansas" said Akers moaning the losses of No. 1 and No. 2 quarterbacks Mark McBath and Jon Aune, respectively. "Aune looks like he may be out for the year. McBath's ankle may be just a sprain.

Arkansas, Texas, Texas A&M and Houston are tied for the lead with 1-0 records in SWC play. However, Houston is

In other games this week, Texas A&M is at Baylor, SMU is at Houston, and Rice is at Texas Tech.

Texas Christian ended its 15 game losing streak with a 35-15 victory over Rice Saturday while Baylor nicked SMU 9-6 in a field goal duel and Texas Tech outlasted Arizona 32-26. The celebration in the TCU dressing room rivaled the one in the Texas locker room after its game. Receiver Mike Renfro said "It's been a long time since we've won. Coach (F.A.) Dry and his staff kept our spirits up. It's a new era around here with them." It was TCU's first victory since the final game of 1975 when it beat Rice 28-21. Renfro caught four passes to become the SWC record holder for career receiving yards at 2,323 yards which comes out to more than a mile and a half.

TCU was hit with an NCAA record of 22 penalties for 174 yards. Rice was flagged 12 times for 145 yards. The 34 penalties also set an NCAA single game record. SMU coach Ron Meyer said "Baylor's secondary led by Ron Burns and Tony Green is better than Ohio State's. " Baylor coach Grant Teaff said it was doubtful if quarterback Sammy Bickham would play agaianst A&M because of a knee strain. "A&M has handled us four years in a row and it'll be a tussle if we can make it," said Teaff. "They're leading the league. It looks as if we'll be playing a first place team practically every the rest of the year.

TOMMY WATKINS, Andrews: Coach Watkins probably had the right idea. When he was contacted, his wife report ed the coach was out on the lake doing some serious fishing. Chances are he would cast a vote for his

By CARTER CROMWELL

Tech dressing room at Arizona Stadium late Saturday night, wiped perspiration from his face and remarked with a hollow laugh, "I don't want to have to come back to Tucson again."

He was only half kidding.

His team had just survived a typically wild game with Arizona and prevailed 32-26, but the contest had taken many turns and hadn't been decided until Raider linebacker Mike Mock intercepted a Marc Lunsford pass in the end zone with 37 seconds remaining, stifling a late Wildcat drive that had reached the Tech 11-yard contest followed the pattern that recent Tech-Arizona games have set. Five of the last six games between the two have been high-scoring affairs. Tech won 35-10 in 1972, 31-17 in 1973 and 52-27 last year. Arizona took a 32-28 victory in the final seconds in 1975, the last game played in Tucson.

Saturday's game was very similar to the 1975 tilt, see-sawing constantly, but Arizona's late rally failed this time.

The game featured 11 fumbles - seven of them lost — two pass interceptions, a blocked field-goal attempt, three partial-ly blocked punts, assorted mistakes and assorted fine plays.

Tucson had received nearly three inches of rain Thursday and Friday. Saturday's weather was fine, but the field hadn't had time to dry, so the players slipped often.

Offensively, the Raiders weren't always consistent, but Sloan was pleased with the performance of quarterbacks Tres Adami and Mark Johnson.

"I think both improved," he said.
"They've gotten to play a little more, and experience is a real good teacher, of 'Adami threw better all last week, and he threw pretty well in the game. So did

Johnson. Of course, they still need more experience, and they made some plays against Arizona that they wouldn't have if they'd had more playing time." Adami, who started for the second week in a row, rushed 17 times for 64 yards and completed 10 of 17 passes for 151 yards. A screen pass to Mark Julian was converted into a 38-yard scoring play in the second half. Johnson, who received a bruised thigh in the game, completed four of seven throws for 52 yards. "Mark was on crutches after the game," Sloan said. "We'll just have to wait and see if he'll be able to play against Rice (this Saturday). Tech netted 171 yards rushing, and Miss Alcott, a 21-year-old three-year pro from Santa Monica, Calif., won the $50,000 Houston Exchange Clubs Classic Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament, breaking par for the third straight day to finish at eight-under 208. She fought off strong challenges Sunday first from veteran Carol Mann of Towson, Md., and then her playing partner, rookie Donna White of West Palm Beach,

Those two finished in second place at 209 along with Kathy Postlewait of Sylacauga, Ala.

"I was awfully nervous last night," said Miss Alcott, who led the tournament from the opening day Friday. "I felt a great deal of anxiety. I wanted to win, but I knew I was going to have to go out and play 18 holes Sunday against the greatest women golfers in the world."

She began the final round with a one stroke lead over veteran Jo Ann Prentice, but Miss Prentice suffered bogies on three of the first five holes to quickly fall out of contention. But Miss Mann birdied three of the first four holes, briefly grabbing the lead early in the round, and Mrs. White was knocking in a birdie putt on the third hole to come within a stroke of

The Raiders got inside the Arizona 20 five times — four times to the 10 or closer - without pushing in for a touchdown. Bill Adams tied a school record with four field goals in the contest, and the visitors were once held on a fourth-and-goal try from the 2-yard line.

"We have to do better on our goal-line offense," Sloan said. "We've got kind of an inexperienced offensive team right now, and that makes a difference."

In addition to its inexperience at quarterback, the Raiders have a sophomore at quick tackle (Ken Walter), a soph squadman at quick guard (Larry Martin) and a junior at strong guard (Greg Mahoney) who wasn't a guard last season. All have moved in because of injuries to the original starters at their positions.

Tech got the ball at the Arizona 19 in the first quarter and eventually got a first-and-goal situation at the eight, but that was the time the Raiders were unable to get the ball in from the two.

'Normally, I would have kicked the field goal in that situation," Sloan said,

This proved to be correct. Arizona punted after four downs, punter Mark Engle booted a 34-yarder, and Tech's

BASEBALL
PHILADELPHIA — Dusty Baker's two-run sec-

"This is the greatest thrill of my life." But the effervencent manager said he wasn't going to lean too heavily on the Big Dodger in the Sky when the World Series opens Tuesday. "I asked God for all the help he could give me in this one. I'm not going to ask for any help against the other league,"

Lasorda said. The Dodgers, powered by Dusty Bak-er's productive bat and Tommy John's now supple left arm, won three straight games after dropping the series opener at

While the Dodgers swigged champagne, the Phillies gagged on the bitter ashes of defeat once more, a victim of their vanishing bats. Philadelphia hit a lusty 279 as a team in the regular season, then slipped to a paltry .225 with the title on the line.

After winning 60 of 81 games at home, the Phillies imitated a wounded elephant coming home to die. They lost two at home, the last one before raucous record crowd of 64,924 die-hards who goaded and baited the Dodgers until the bitter

"I'm more hurt by this loss than than any other in my baseball career. I was very optimistic," said a sorrowful Ozark, whose troops were dealt another slap in the face by fate.

Though the Phillies agonized over what could have been, the Dodgers rejoiced. Baker, the series' most valuable player with two homers and a National League record eight RBI, said it best:

"Did you ever see 'Love, American Style' where everything just explodes?' grinned the Dodger centerfielder.

"I think the Phillies relied too much on the home field advantage," said Davey Lopes. "They said they just wanted a split in Los Angeles. They felt there was no way we could win two here. That's not the way to think.

The Phillies squandered their home advantage with a crushing defeat in Game Three. Holding the Dodgers by the throat, the Phillies had a two-run lead with two out and nobody on before Los Angeles made a miracle rally.

"It's simple. Baker had a big series and John pitched us tough. We just never hit, even when we won," said Luzinski, the only Phillie to get a hit in each of the four

Having to play for the prestigious National League title in a driving downpour was a nagging irritant to both sides.

"It was a very, very difficult night to play baseball," said Dodger third baseman Ron Cey. "It was impossible to get good footing in the batter's box. They tried to spread more dirt there in the late innings, but that only made things worse.

"The mud would cake in your spikes and make the bottom of your shoe perfectly flat. When you'd stride, your feet would slip. You couldn't dig in," he add-

"I don't think the rain affected play at all. If it did, we would have called it," said league president Charles Feeney, who made the decision to start and continue play from a box seat along the first base line. Feeney insisted that NBC's cameras carrying the game on national television had nothing to do with the de cision to start and continue the game.

But players from both sides disagreed 'Baseball is not like football. They should have waited. They have old movies they could show at that hour," said Mike Schmidt, the Philadelphia slugger

John, the 34-year-old medical marvel who had his left arm surgically rebuilt, also called the conditions deplorable while he stymied the Phillies with a seven-hit, seven-strikeout masterpiece.

"The weather was really, really tough. The mound just got real slick and gummy. When I got that hit in the seventh inning, I almost broke my neck running down the first base line," John said. 'The combination of the mud in my shoes and the slick field, I was skating every step of the way.

"But I hope we don't overdo it. We ought to be too professional to take any lustre away from the Dodgers. And I'm not trying to be valiant, because I'm shattered by this," he said.

Was Yankee Rally Miracle?

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Los Angeles Manager Tommy Lasorda may have his Dodger in the Sky, but Billy Martin is not without his own celestial contacts.

"I went to church this morning, I'm not kidding," said the fiery manager of the New York Yankees. "I went down to the cathedral by the Muehlbach (a hotel in downtown Kansas City)."

And if Martin was not quite ready to claim sole supernatural support for his Yankees, there was no denying that their 5-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals Sunday night for the American League pennant bordered on a miracle.

And it was just as obvious that the Yankees were sky high afterward in celebrating their second straight trip to the World

"We're a team of professionals," said Lou Piniella, as his teammates hugged each other and performed the ritual champagne dousings. "We don't beat ourselves. The other team has to go out and beat us. There have been times our team has looked flat. Sometimes we just wait for things to happen, but we're never flat." As in 1976, it took a dramatic ninth inning for the controversial Yanks to eliminate the Royals.

But this time, instead of waiting for the big blow by Chris Chambliss, New York overcame a 3-2 deficit with a run-scoring single by Mickey Rivers, a sacrifice fly by Willie Randolph and a throwing error by George Brett.

Then the Yankees turned to their cureall, reliever Sparky Lyle, who, after surrending a one-out single to Frank White, locked up the victory by coaxing a double-play grounder from Freddie Patek.

The triumph capped a fractious American League campaign for the Yankees, who even in the moments before Sunday night's contest were creating crises. "It's the way the (Oakland) A's won it," said slugger Reggie Jackson, who expressed disappointment after Martin benched him in favor of Paul Blair before the game. "I said before the season that we'd win it because this team has character.

As it developed, it was Jackson who started the New York comeback, delivering a pinch-hit, run-scoring single that closed the Kansas City lead to 3-2 in the

But it was Blair who kept it going, leading off the ninth with a single off reliever Dennis Leonard, the complete-game winner Friday night.

"He stayed with me," sighed Blair, a slick-fielding veteran of post-season play from his years with the Baltimore Orioles. "I'm so glad I was able to come

"I never thought I'd be able to top the home run in the third game of the (1966) World Series, but that was the biggest one of all.'

The Yanks were generous in victory, praising the Royals as rugged, tenacious opponents.

'The Dodgers can't be much tougher than that team out there," conceded Blair. "But we just refused to die." Piniella, a former Kansas City player, said he was getting accustomed to heated, hard-fought duels between the Royals and Yankees.

"I'll tell you one thing, the biggest rivalry since I've got here has been with Boston," Piniella said. "But Kansas City is getting close. You enjoy playing against a good team." Then the Yankees' designated hitterleft fielder turned his thoughts to the World Series and the Los Angeles Dodg-

"I'd rather be in Philadelphia, because of the cross-country travel and all," he admitted. "But the Dodgers have a certain glamour about them.

"You know, it goes back to spring training. We were playing the Dodgers at Vero Beach and Tommy Lasorda came up to me and said, 'It's going to be the Dodgers and Yankees in the World Series.' And here we are.'

The tools at Woolco include such famous brands as K & S. This department also has a good selection of brackets, hooks, shelving and standards for the do-it-yourself builder. Woolco's Christmas Shop will provide the holiday shopper with a wide selection of artifical Christmas trees, live trees, decorations, ornaments and light sets. The Christmas Shop is located at the east end of the big store (where the Garden Shop formerly was located). The Christmas Shop will display nativity sets, garlands and icicles, together with light sets from GE - both indoor and outdoor.

The live trees should arrive by Dec. 1,

FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP DISTRICT OFFICE

Farmers Insurance Group Serving In City With Multiple Agents, Offices

"Homeowners insurance with 20 per cent discount for most homes!'

"Savings on auto insurance if you don't smoke! "Excellent savings opportunities through IRA." These are among the reasons for knowing and utilizing the services of a Farmer Insurance Group independent agent in Lubbock

"Anything in insurance" is the correct image of Farmers Insurance Group, Los Angeles based organization celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1978 and one that has been represented in Lubbock for over a quarter century

Seven office locations are now utilized in Lubbock, with another under construction. These are located at 3323 83nd St. (the district office); 2221 34th St., 5106 Slide Road, 5602 Slide Road, 3534 34th St., 3409 50th St. and 4417 50th St.

Among the local Farmers Insurance

Group agents are Jerry Rose, Jim White, Don Busby, Rick Dyer, Tom Malone. Gene Cribbs, Gary Jeter, Dick Heath, Alline Baxter:

Joe Schoenig, John Hatchett, Howard Havery, Lee Robertson, Lanny Harris, Don Freeman, Jere Smith, Presley Shofner and Philip Wilbanks. Bill Hatchett is district manager

Each is thoroughly versed in the full spectrum of insurance services — auto. fire, life, truck, boat, commercial, liability and all.

IRA Outlined Special attention is directed to the IRA-Plus savings including such features as: Allowable savings contributions are 100 per cent tax sheltered.

Payments, less an expense charge, earn a high prevailing interest rate (currently 8 per cent) with 4 per cent guaranteed.

The proceeds guarantee a life income from the date one elects to retire. anytime between 59 1/2 and 70 1/2 years of age.

Funds continue to grow even when payments are suspended Payments can vary each year.

No current tax on the interest on your capital accumulation

Systematic methods of savings;

Freedom from investment decisions; Your own personal money management plan backed by a large insurance company

Get full details from a Farmers Insurance Group agent; he is a man worth knowing!

And a further word to the wise:

"Don't renew your Homeowner's Insurance until you get all the facts about Farmer's Homeowners Package Policy; Farmer's designed it with you in mind to give you all the coverage you need, and at substantial savings.

'Better Hearing Aid Center' Holding One-Week Open House

Need hearing help, or suspect that you Then, there is good news:

Open House is being conducted throughout this week, Oct. 10-15, at the Better Hearing Aid Center, No. 30, Redbud Square in Lubbock.

During this event, a full $50 deducation is arranged on custom all-in-the-ear aids. . . 10 per cent off is posted on all over-the-ear units and all accessories.

James O. Davidson, certified hearing aid audiologist, will be in the office throughout the week and invites all to come in for evaluation and to see the latest model aids available

Davidson now has a most helpful program to assist one "after" purchase of the hearing aid, too. This C.A.R.E. program includes a video unit with a series of tapes that explains graphically how to enjoy and use one's aid to the fullest. It helps, among other things, in "learning how to listen," in adjustment of the aid. and even helpful hints on "attitudes." Area Service

Other benefits also are provided at Better Hearing Aid Center. Davidson makes scheduled trips throughout the area, and those desiring service or consultation 'near to home" are invited to check his ads appearing each Monday on these pages to learn of his current schedule. Multi-Line Dealer The Better Hearing Aid Center is a multi-line dealer, specializing in all-inthe-ear models, remember. Service and repairs on any make of hearing aid is expertly given, too.

Davidson, a Lubbock resident since 1948 and an area native, is most sincere and qualified - in his invitation to call 792-0507 or come by the center for professional assistance. He is most enthused, and rightly so, about the two custom-made, all-in-the-ear aids (1) the Miracle Ear and (2) the Contour all-in-the-ear model, both from Dahlberg. Davidson and customers alike express enthusiasm for the related "Dahlberg consumer Protection Plan" in which a 30-day money-back privilege is afforded (with exception of custom made earmolds and dispensing fee).

Young Esquire 9th Anniversary Marked By Week-Long Specials

50th Street at Memphis Avenue, is celebrating its 9th Anniversary!

These nine years, which have passed so fast, have been marked with mutual benefit to customer and ownership at Young Esquire, and "Marge" Helm, founder and still owner, is indeed appreciative of the friendships and trade that have made for the success story of Young Esquire.

Together with a most, most sincere thank you", Young Esquire throughout this week is marking all fall merchanidse at a full 25 per cent off in its Anniversary Event.

no only is father-son shopping for smart wearing apparel for each made easy at this beautiful, fully stocked store, but throughout this week, Oct. 10-15, a special price advantage prevails.

History Unique

History of Young Esquire is quite an engaging success story, unique and interesting:

Young Esquire was established Oct. 2, 1968 as a result of affection for a young grandson and the frustrating attempts to help his mother with shopping for his wardrobe

Mike Gilmore at age 4 was unwittingly the real drive behind establishment of

At that time he couldn't have cared less about the clothes he wore to Sunday School, nursery or to neighborhood birthday parties. The matter of being "in style" probably ran a poor second to the games, fun and ice cream when "dressup" time came.

The responsibility for his appearance was taken more seriously by his mother, Mrs. Larry Gilmore, and his doting grandmother, "Marge" Helm, who became the owner and active manager of Young Esquire. The wife of a successful Lubbock busitionately known by many, says the going into business was the farthest thing from her mind until shortly before establishing the highly successful Young Esquire.

'The repeated, frustrating shopping trips with Mrs. Glmore for Mike and sister, Debbie, pointed up a glaring weakness in the Lubbock shopping scene," she recalls

For Debbie, the situation was not bad. Many stores had considered the needs of the younger misses, and it is no big problem shopping for them, Mrs. Helm points

"Shopping for Mike was an appalling situation," she relates. "We went from store to store trying to find a selection of styles and sizes - to no avail. I finally said I guess I would just have to open up my own shop - and that's exactly what I

Layaway purchases are invited, as are Master Charge and Visa transactions.

The Young Esquire is open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Satur-

So - small wonder mothers depend on Young Esquire for school and other youth wear, always in a wide size range of youthful fashions. And don't forget that men's sizes are stocked, also.

"Come on out - see that modern Young Esquire, and profit from special savings during our Anniversary recogninessman, "Aunt Margie," as she is affec-

Quaker Manor Residents Take Many Honors In South Plains Fair Exhibits

Spic & Span Cleaners Explains How Today's Clothing Needs Care By Pros

Here are some most helpful observations from Spic & Span Cleaners (with two Lubbock locations, at 50th Street and Avenue U and at 70th Street at Indiana Avenue):

Luxurious clothing needs professional

Fall is here and with it comes many exiting activities, all requiring a new and beautiful fall wardrobe.

This year there is a new surge in natural fibers.

Since the early 1970's when polyester and other easy-care products became popular, the natural fabrics have taken a back seat. But . . . garments in the natural fiber fabrics are back on the market in increasing numbers at this time.
Professionalism Important

These natural fiber garments are more expensive, and they will by all means need to be cared for by a professional drycleaner!

'When we speak of the natural fiber fabrics, we are refering to wool, silk, mere, angora, vicuna and many, many more. Some of these natual fibers are blended with each other or with some of the man-made fibers. All these must (and we stress the point) have professionHints In Buying:

When purchasing a new garment, do not buy in haste; check it carefully for fiber content, construction of workmanship, linings, color fastness, trims and care label. Beware of fabrics that look and feel like natural fibers but are not. Some will tend to be soft, lush to the touch and will resemble the real thing. Wools are showing in gabardine light crepe knits and in all manner of men's wear. The silk look is back; however some that look and feel like silk are often synthetic.

Along with these fabrics comes a more soft and feminine style . . . lots of gathers, ruffles and fuller skirts are in fashion, with a tendency to hang uneven at the hemline. Some have been sized heavily and after wearing or cleaning them a few times, the sizing will break down and the garment will lose its crispness and get out of shape.

Always buy from a reputable store and then have them cared for by a profession-

Two Plants

They have expanded their business by opening the new plant on 70th Street and Indiana Avenue which is very convenient to all you people who have migrated on south and west! They would like to say "thanks" to you who already have made their new plant a success, and they invite you who have not visited it to come by, look and give the new location a try.

"The original plant, at 2109 50th St., is going strong, so all you people who haved this vicinity, we invite you to patronize this plant.

Lubbock Steel & Supply Considers Farmer With Quality-Economy Combo

"Don't wait a day longer!"
"That is, if you have no cotton trailers ready, Mr. Farmer. Or if you need more units than those you already have for the cotton harvest season that's here!' So . . . check the advantages of the pre-cut cotton trailer kits, some partially ore-fab, at Lubbock Steel and Supply Co., 62nd Street at Quirt Avenue And cotton trailer wire at way below

Prices from 10 cents per pound up on random length tubing and pipe, angles, rounds, flats, etc., in both new and used

With an exceptionally large steel inventory, special prices are continued at Lubbock Steel and Supply to "move out" random lengths and even prime stock length material at this big, modern Lub-bock firm.

"Serving the man on the land", Lub-bock Steel and Supply was opened in January as a division of Lubbock American Iron and Metal, Inc. Facilities have been constructed on a spacious 27-acre site (one-half mile from front to rear fence), with everything material possibly might not be in stock, the firm usually has its own truck in Houston three times a week, and overnight delivery can be given on special Stocked are new prime stock lengths, angles, beams, flats, channels, rounds, floor plate, smooth plates, sheets, pipe, expanded metal, bar channels, square bars, etc.

For rebar, meshwire, square and rectangular tubing, the cotton trailer wire in 8 ft. and 9 ft. rolls, and for the cottontrailer kits, Lubbock Steel & Supply comes through handsomely.

AID TO FARMER — Trailer wire and trailer kits — now when they are most needed for the cotton harvest — are priced at a figure to save the farmer who trades at Lub-bock Steel & Supply, as hinted here by an exhibit at the just-concluded Fair.
