Flatt Pleads Guilty, Draws Four-Year Term Suspended

Franklin Freed; Hartcraft Bond Is Forfeited

A plea of guilty, a forfeited bond and a not guilty decision by a jury marked a term of district court here Monday, presided over by District Judge Pat Boone.

E. A. Flatt, charged with false notary acknowledgement, pleaded guilty before Judge Boone and was given a four-year sentence. The sentence was suspended and Flatt, a former used car dealer here, was placed on probation. The case had hung fire for several months and had been filed after a five-count indictment was returned in 1963.

Only case which went before the jury was one involving Joe Franklin, a Negro, who was charged with removal or mortgaged property. A jury, made up of two women and 10 men, returned a not-guilty verdict after 15 minutes of deliberation.

The case had gone to the jury at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. Franklin had been charged (See FLATT Page 7)

Muleshoe Schools Plan Open House For Public School Week

Muleshoe schools will observe Texas Public School Week along with schools throughout the state next week with open house programs on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Superintendent Neal Dillman announced Wednesday.

In addition to the public night sessions, parents will be welcomed throughout all next week, Monday through Thursday. Schools will be closed Friday, March 5 for the district teachers' meeting in Lubbock.

Junior and Senior high schools will have open house from 7 until 9 p.m. Monday when parents will take the place of their children at abbreviated classroom sessions.

The following night, open house will be observed at Richland Hills, Mary DeShazo and Hilltop schools when similar programs will be staged, Dillman explained. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the open house program at each school.

Texas Public School week comes at a busy time for the Muleshoe system. This week marks the end of the fourth six-weeks' period, and on Thursday evening of next week, delegates to the district convention will meet in Lubbock in advance of the district teachers' meeting. The district session will be held March 5 in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Also meeting with the group was Dr. C. C. Colvert, junior college consultant for the University of Texas, who will come to Muleshoe next month to survey the junior college possibility. (See COLLEGE Page 8)

26 Volleyball Teams Entered In Jaycee Meet

Twenty-six teams are entered in the annual Muleshoe Jaycees' volleyball tournament, opening at 6 o'clock tonight in the senior high school gymnasium, Dr. Jerry Gleason chairman said Wednesday night.

Of this number, 16 teams are men's groups and 10 teams are made up of women.

Among the towns which are sending teams to Muleshoe for the meet are Bovis, Frisco, Lazbuddie, Plainview, Earth, Hart and Muleshoe. In fact, some communities have more than one team entered, including six teams from here.

This means more than 125 persons will be participating in the tournament, one of the biggest volleyball tournaments held in West Texas. Jayceettes will operate the concessions stand, offering sandwiches, candy, coffee, cookies and soft drinks. Admission to each session will be 25 cents to everyone, including those making up the (See VOLLEYBALL Page 7)

Parks Head List, Cards Reveal

When people attended last autumn's Muleshoe Area Improvement Forum sessions, they were handed smallcards on which they wrote what they believed to be Muleshoe's greatest needs. Parks topped the list as has been brought out in previous stories in The Journal.

Below are reproduced a number of the cards, picked at random, just as they were filled out by those attending. Names are withheld.

"A city park is needed badly."

"We need a larger park area so our children will stay in Muleshoe."

"Muleshoe needs a new park."

"Muleshoe needs a skating rink."

"We need to improve and expand a recreational park, including a community building to be available for use of clubs, groups, families, etc."

"We need better park facilities, possibly including tennis courts and could be an extension of golf course of swimming pool."

"Increase park facilities."

"Try to provide better recreational facilities for both youth and adults."

"Encourage diversified recreation for youth — skating rink, better parks, etc."

"We need more youth recreation and youth leadership."

"Encourage State Highway Dept. to build a nice roadside park."

"Establish some wholesome entertainment for our young people."

Kenneth Henry Named to Head Jaycees Here

Twenty-eight-year-old Kenneth Henry, an insurance man who has lived in Muleshoe since 1941, has been named president of Muleshoe Jaycees, and will be installed, along with other officers at a dinner April 3. He succeeds Elvon DeVaney who becomes interclub director.

Dr. Jerry Gleason was named first vice-president and Curtis Walker second vice-president. Jimmy Lane was elected (See HENRY Page 7)

Iwo Jima's 'Luckiest' Man—He's Chief Jones

"This crater is not a very safe place," Chief Jones told his companion, Lt. Jack Sevensy that day in 1945, "so I'm going to move farther down the hill and get myself into a foxhole. Those Japs could bomb this crater again." That was the last time he ever saw Sevensy alive.

Thirty seconds later, Jones, snug in the foxhole, saw a bomb heading straight for the old crater.

That's just one of the many narrow escapes that Chief Jones of Muleshoe had during those long war years in the South Pacific with 13 months on the firing line.

This is February. The Iwo Jima engagement, one of the turning points of the war with Japan, took place in February 20 years ago. Tuesday Jones got out his old pictures, the map of Iwo Jima he was supplied before the invasion started, and a Japanese sword, and recalled those days in World War II.

Jones figures he is "just about the luckiest man who ever went to war". Not only did the ex-Marine lieutenant come through the Iwo Jima experience without a scratch, but he walked out of three other such amphibious engagements without a scratch.

"With thousands dying all around me in each of those landings, I don't see how I escaped without even being wounded," he sums up.

First there was Rio Namir, a short engagement, but it also required a landing on the bloody shores by boat.

And then there was the 25-day Saipan landing. Again men died like flies and again Jones came through unscathed. After that was Tinian, a week-long battle, and then the roughest of all, Iwo Jima.

Jones, whose full name is Forrest W. Jones, was born at Bochita, Okla., east of Durant, but he moved with his parents to Lubbock when only a small boy. After he finished college, he got a job in Muleshoe teaching vocational agriculture.

Then came Pearl Harbor and almost immediately Jones joined the Marines with a 30-day deferment so he could com- (See JONES Page 6)

Gov. Connally's Education Program Passes First Hurdle in House Test

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally passed the first legislative test of his program for improving higher education.

House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved the bill to name an 18 member commission to decide which colleges and universities shall teach what, to assign funds of teaching and to take over state supervision of academic work in the 32 junior colleges.

There were many amendments to the bill by Reps. Dick Cory of Victoria and Charles Wilson of Lufkin. But none converted the bill from its original purpose as laid out by the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

Shoals lie ahead, because some strong senators are opposed to such a delegation of powers, or oppose some phases of the bill as passed by the House. Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan will handle the measure in the Senate. He expects to move on it within the next week or so.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman is opposed to some of Connally's programs. This has led to talk of pressure tactics. Forces of Speaker Ben Barne, who supports Connally, may hold up action on Hardeman's bill to transfer San Angelo College to state supported status on September 1.

Hardeman, long a power in the Senate, heads the Senate Finance Committee which will make the fiscal decisions on many programs. This key position makes it vital to Connally that he have acquiescence, if not support, from Hardeman.

The San Angelo senator, who represents a West Texas region as big as some states, demonstrated his power twice recently. He blocked, at least temporarily, a rule change designed to delay or defeat the $55 a month teachers pay raise proposed by the Texas State Teachers Association. He also amended the "equal right for women" bill to make the measure inapplicable to present statutes. Amended bill passed with Lieut. Gov. Preston Smith breaking the 15 - 15 tie. Sponsor Senator Moore said this amendment ruined the legislation.

REDISTRICTING — All bills to reapportion congressional state senatorial or legislative districts will go to standing subcommittee in both the House and the Senate.

Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham decided to try for objectivity. He picked chairman from opposite sections of the State from the section subcommittee will be studying.

He named Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine to the Area I subcommittee handling redistricting of East Texas; Rep. Menton J. Murray of Harlingen to the Area II subcommittee on North Texas; Rep. Red Simpson of Amarillo to the Area III subcommittee on South Texas; and Rep. James Slider of Naples to the Area IV subcommittee on West Texas.

Senate subcommittee on State Senate redistricting measures is heavy with representation from the western part of the State and the lower Gulf Coast. At the insistence of the committee at large, Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba, chairman of the Senate Redistricting Committee, appointed himself chairman of the study subcommittee.

Then he picked Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo; Sen. Criss Cole of Houston; Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi; and Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan to serve with him.

Senator Crump also will head subcommittee composed of Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall; Sen. Abraham Kazen of Lardoe; Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin; and Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas.

heard convincing arguments that tuberculosis can be eradicated in Texas within a decade through new drugs and treatment methods and an intensive program of care, case-finding and follow - up. Senate Public Health Committee immediately approved setting the program in motion in a group of south-central Texas counties around San Antonio and Mexican border counties from El Paso to Brownsville. House committee placed the bill in a friendly subcommittee for a week's study. Plan would call for State Department of Health to take over all hospitals and consolidate the entire program in a special division. In simple terms, the bill would allow landowners or leaseholders who do not have enough and to obtain a drilling permit from the Railroad Commission to get the Commission to order adjoining operators to bring the small tract into a pool. ed a giant buffalo barbecue under the ancient trees at the ranch when old - timers from throughout the southwest were guests. He lamented the passing of the old - time cattleman and the ranch, and in his own story he summed up the change like this: "Cattle raising is no longer the major industry. Grain sorghum, cotton, alfalfa, Irish potatoes and other vegetable crops grown under irrigation and canning factories, elevators, warehouses, sorting sheds and dehydrating plants have added to the already growing city. Large herds of cattle are becoming rare, remuda of good, well - trained horses, the howl of the lobo wolf, the camp fire and the sour - dough biscuit are memories onl y; a few of us are still raising cattle, ing better cattle on fewer acres. Doubtless the advancing years will drive away all call for men of our class."

plete the school semester.

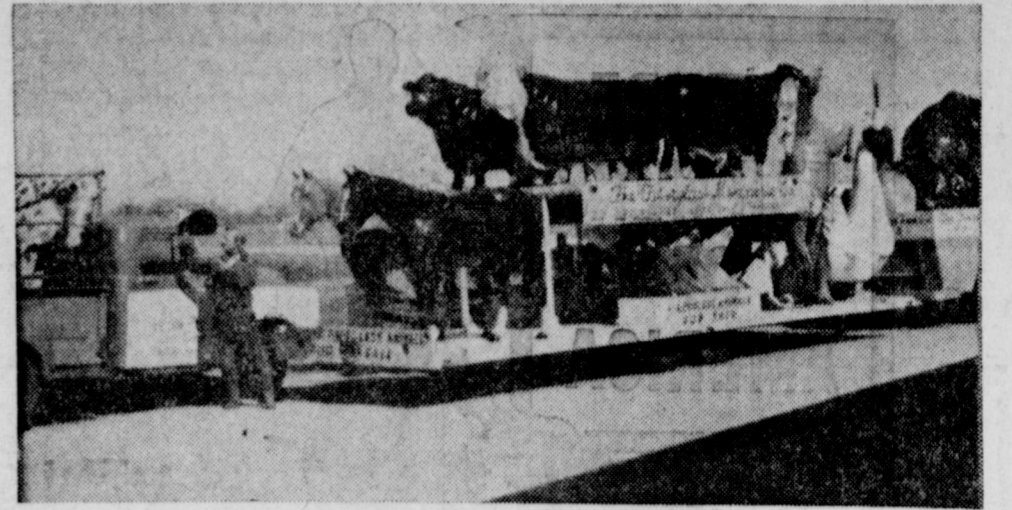

After that, it was war for Jones for the next four years—"plenty of war and stinch and blood."

Today the thing he remembers most about those awful experiences on the islands in the South Pacific are the stinches.

"There were two kinds of stinches," he recalls. "My own because I didn't even have my clothes off for 25 days and nights and the stinch of dead people around me, especially Japanese. Seems to me that the dead Japs were the most horrible odors I can recall. It's a stinch I can never forget."

There's a little side-bar which Jones relates: "When the Japanese finally surrendered, a Japanese General and General MacArthur met on the Battleship Missouri. The Jap signed first and handed the pen to General MacArthur. And the pen used was the same one which had belonged to my friend, Lieut. Seveny who had been killed that day in the bomb crater on Iwo Jima. How the Japanese general came into possession of that particular pen I'll never know."

Jones also recalls the famous planting of the American flag on top of a knoll at the OLD PETE'S "FRIENDS" — Old Pete who is to be reproduced in fibreglass as a statue to commemorate his tribe, is being constructed in California. This last week some of his "friends" of the fibreglass world — horses, bulls, chickens, lions and bears — were displayed here by the company making the statue of Mr. Pete. Here are the artificial animals with Victor Cox and his very much alive Appaloosa stallion.

south tip of the island of Iwo Jima by a group of Marines. "It was the highest spot on the island," he explained, "and that's why they wanted to put the flag in that particular spot, even though they had to withstand heavy fire in order to do the job. I was some distance away, but I can remember yet the thrill it gave me to see Old Glory flying from that hill."

The planting of the flag has since been immortalized in bronze in a statue in New York which is one of the "must see" attractions of the land.

Many stories have been written about the rugged island campaigns, and there's not a word of exaggeration in any of them," Jones sums up. "I was there and in four of those landings, and I just want the world to know that the battles were just as tough as they were reported to be. I know."

community park is desperately needed in Muleshoe. A project to plan, promote, and provide such a service to the community would be welcome." "I am in favor of any project that would provide wholesome recreation for young people." "Improve parks. Make them interesting to adults — not just kids." "Furnish adult entertainment for whole area occasionally."

"I would like to see our city park improved. It needs to be kept clean and be fixed up for a respectable community. Another thing is recreation for young people. True, we have dances, but many kids can't dance and it is against their religion. I think that a skating rink or some other thing would be sufficient. A downtown theatre or a golf course." "There is absolutely nothing to do in this town, either on a date or just for fun."

"Perhaps we need more parks. Many areas lack one at all." "We definitely need more good clean recreation to keep the teenagers off the streets."

"Although we do have recreational facilities, a more varied teenage program is needed. In the winter when the show closes, we're what you might call 'lost'. After football & basketball games, there's nothing to do but ride up and down the streets."

"We also need some form of recreation opened during the day. Because on Sundays you can go downtown and see people standing on the street. This is another thing that out-of-town people see & think badly about Muleshoe. People have asked me several times, 'Is this always how our town looks on Sunday?'"

"We need an organized race track or drag strip in order to keep hot rodding off of the streets."

All were elected at the Jaycees luncheon Monday. Henry, whose wife is the former Darlene Black, was graduated from Texas Tech with a bachelor's degree in agriculture in 1961. They have two daughters, Sharla 3, and Sherri 1.

He says the insurance business is both his hobby and his vocation, and that his biggest work for the next year will be helping the Jaycee carry out the program of the Jaycees. A survey conducted by the club showed that more people in Muleshoe want a community building and parks, "and that's what I hope to help the Jaycees accomplish," he says.

Henry, who teaches a class of boys at the First Baptist Church, spent 1961 - 63 in the

On the jury were Roland Big-ham, Weldon Tims, Ralph Hall, Jessie Gray, Mrs. R. C. Gaede, Earl A. Bowers, Cruz DeHoyas, L. H. Davenport, Elmer Downing, Mrs. Cecil Cole, Doyle Green and Don Seales. Also slated for trial was Paul Hartercraft Jr., Austin who was alleged to have given a worthless check in Bailey county, drawn on the Bank of Austin.

However, Hartercraft failed to appear when his case was called Tuesday morning by Judge Boone. After he failed to appear, Judge Boone ordered his bond forfeited. One witness who was scheduled to have appeared in the case, had flown from Austin to testify. He returned to his home Tuesday night.

Bondsmen for Hartercraft were a father and son, Tom Attal and Tom M. Attal, both of Austin.

It was one of the first bond-forfeiture cases recalled here in some time.

Sixty persons had been called for possible service on the jury.

In the men's series, Muleshoe Independents meet Shirey Anderson of Lazbuddie. Farwell Jaycees meet the Rebels, and Friona Boosters play Rufus Team No. 1. Muleshoe Farm & Ranch Wranglers tangle with Rufus No. 2, and take on Rufus No. 2, and Quarter-Way Chemical meets White's Auto.

Airports in Small Towns Boost Business, Bring New Industry

Most companies which are considering plant locations require an airport nearby before they will locate in an area, says Texas Aeronautics Commission. Forty-five percent request that an airport be located within 20 miles of the plant, the commission says, and only 9.8 percent make no airport demands, at all, thus pointing to the need for a good airport in considering locations.

The report continues: "Over 80 percent of the industries interviewed require an airport with facilities that will accommodate their fleets of executive aircraft and will not select a plant location without them."

An interesting sidenote, says TAC is the fact that 57.1 percent of the companies require "heavy twin engine aircraft" landing strips. It adds that only 3 percent of the companies interviewed will settle for strip which will accommodate only single engine aircraft.

Importance of small-city airports to business and industrial development is the subject of an article in the January issue of the Texas State Aeronautics Commission is quoted in the article as saying:

"We continued to hear that a community managed to gain a new industry because of the community's fine airport or because of the community's promise to provide one. Conversely, we heard that other communities lost another industry because airport facilities were inadequate or not available at all."

Of particular interest were the answers to the question, "Has Your community lost a good prospective business or plant because your community has no airport...?"

In answer, Comanche Chamber of Commerce replied: "We know we lost a peanut butter plant because of an inadequate airport; this would have meant a payroll of at least $120,000 per year and 30 employees."

The Angleton Chamber of commerce reports its community has lost several prospective businesses with over $500,000 in annual payroll because of inadequate airport facilities.

Beville replied that it has had reason to believe that "several oil service companies have not located in our area because of

Landers Attends Math Teachers' Area Meeting

The Texas Council of Teachers of Mathematics Regional Conference for the Improvement of Mathematics Teaching in the Elementary School was held at Odessa College, Saturday, February 13.

Kenneth Landers, 7th grade Math teacher in Muleshoe Junior High School attended this conference.

This regional conference was planned to assist administrators and elementary teachers to more adequately analyze the modern mathematics content of the various textbooks for grades K-6 that were recently placed on the state adoption list for use beginning in September. The discussion did not center on any particular textbook or series of textbooks on the list, but (See LANDERS Page 4)

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health
 Texas public school teachers are facing more teaching problems today than ever before. High on the list of reasons for this situation are the difficulties involved in presenting instruction on whole subjects or portions of subject which cannot be properly taught business-normal classroom methods. Many teachers in the State - Particularly counsellors and health and physical education teachers - have found a solution to this problem through the film library of the Texas State Department of Health in Austin. The library offers the largest selection of films in the Southwest and makes the films available in an easy, effective manner. Any teacher, or any interested person, for that matter, may request and use a film on tating the Health Department. A catalogue listing 611 titles was recently published and is available on request from the Film Library, 410 East 5th Street, Austin.

A part of the Health Department's Division of Public Health, and Education holds shelves 2015 films for 611 titles. It contains films with viewing times ranging from four to 57 minutes, covering practically all phases of personal and community health.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Most of the films were produced commercially, but many of them were written and produced for specific Texas application. A1 films are aimed at a single purpose: teaching good health practices. Last year library personnel booked 5,429 showings for a total of 1,534,942 viewings, representing more than one-tenth of the entire Texas population. In addition to providing Texas school teachers with films for classroom aids, the library makes films available to religious and fraternal organizations and to civic groups. Practically any club or organization may book films for a general interest or educational viewing, but they are limited to use within the State. If you happen to be this month's program chairman for a neighborhood ladies' club, perhaps you'd like to show club members an approved, story-by-step method of making a b-b-y's formula. There is no sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that. Or perhaps your civic club is studying use of narcotics. "Monkey on the Back" may be of help to you. All films are shipped parcel post, with the borrower paying return postage. (A weekly feature from the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health).

Sen. Tower Introduces 2 Measures Which Would Revamp Housing Rules

Senator John Tower Thursday introduced two measures amending present housing laws.

One bill would amend the Housing Act of 1937, allowing tenants of low-rent public housing to purchase their home through an accumulation of monthly rentals over a three-year period. This accumulation could be used as down payment. The tenant could purchase his own dwelling, or another suitable unit in any project of the public housing agency, subject to terms of the bill.

The other measure would amend the Housing Act of 1949 to provide for partial repayment to the federal government, of the cost of urban renewal projects. This repayment would be made from increased tax revenues derived by the local political subdivision. The bill calls for a payment of 10 percent of the amount of increased revenue growing out of urban renewal projects.

Speaking of his proposal to allow tenants in low-rent housing projects to purchase their homes, Tower said:

"Aside from the million public housing is costing and will cost far into the future, the existing practices in public housing tend to destroy the desire or interest of hundreds of thousands of families to participate in that great American privilege of property ownership, and property ownership is the greatest of all deterrents to Communism."

Relative to the measure providing for partial repayment of federal costs involved in urban renewal projects, Tower told the Senate:

"It has been shown that some cities will, or plan to, relieve their respective tax burdens through the use of these additional taxes (increased revenue from urban renewal projects) which, of course, have been made possible through taxes paid by all of our taxpayers. The Urban Renewal Administration has been using, as one of its primary selling points to prospective urban renewal recipients, the fact that he recipients can actually make money by participating in the program."

Of Law and Love

"NO, MR. PRESIDENT"

It seems reasonable enough, Congress, debating a proposed new law, has doubts about its constitutionality. Why not simply ask the Supreme Court for an advisory opinion? Sooner or later, the Court (sitting only a block away) will have to decide the question anyhow. Why wait for a long, drawn-out test case? Why put a law on the books, and enforce it, only to find out years later that it was unconstitutional all the time?

But the Court would refuse to give Congress an advisory opinion. It would also refuse to advise the President, if he wanted to know — for instance — whether he had the power to issue a sweeping new executive order. Both Congress and the President would have to take their chances, without any guidance from the Supreme Court.

The Court's hands-off policy dates back to a famous exchange of letters in the summer of 1793, between the nation's first President and the nation's first Chief Justice, George Washington, trying to stay neutral between warring France and England, wanted an advisory opinion on 20 points of international law. But John Jay, speaking for the Court, sent a polite reply that amounted to "No, Mr. President." And ever since, the Court has insisted that its job is to decide cases, not to give advice.

This reluctance has been criticized. No doubt it would be useful now, but away, if a proposed law would be unconstitutional. Delay in finding out can cause major complications. Thus, by the time the Court threw out the National Industri-emphasized the content, sequence, and development of mathematical concepts that, in the opinion of the speakers, were most desirable.

It was stated by Dr. W. T. Guy, Jr., Mathematics teacher at University of Texas that the modern approach to Mathematics was through better understanding of the structure of Mathematics and a more interesting Mathematics. He also made the point that practice of the type used in the past is still very much a part of Mathematics and can not be left out if the student is to succeed in Mathematics. Dr. Guy also felt that homework was essential and that parents could help if they were given the complete assignment.

al development is the subject of than 1,000 government agencies were already set up and hard at work.

But the advisory opinion has perils. It would put the Court too close to the legislative or executive process, too close to politics. It could blur the line of separation between the three branches of government.

Perhaps more important, an advisory opinion is only a theoretical answer to a theoretical question. It is formed without the clash or argument between parties having a personal stake in the outcome. It is not the law's way of reaching a decision.

In a few states, the courts give advisory opinions to the local legislature or governor. But even there they do it sparingly, in only a few special situations. Most legal authorities feel that, as a matter of general policy, John Jay's "No, Mr. President" was the wisest answer.

Meet the MULESHOE STATE BANK CUSTOMER of the Week

O. N. JENNINGS

This customer of the week is O. N. Jennings. He is a farmer and rancher. The Jennings live at the edge of town on Highway 70. Jennings and his wife Ruby have two children: J. B. Jennings, Lazbuddie, and Mrs. J. A. Nickels, Muleshoe. They attend the Methodist Church. Jennings said he had banked with the Muleshoe State Bank 25 years or more and "I couldn't ask for any better treatment. Anybody new in this territory should come and check with the Muleshoe State Bank." We are proud to recognize this customer of the week.
