

But Have You Tried Soybeans? They're Gaining!

Nobody knows exactly how many acres of soybeans will be planted in the Muleshoe area this year, but the crop is growing favor, farm experts say adding soybeans may just offer that "extra crop" needed here.

One Bailey county farmer here put it like this: "I have been looking for another crop—something besides cotton, grain sorghum or even vegetables—and my experience with soybeans the last two years has been good."

The same thing is true throughout the Plains. Many area farmers were watching with interest the development of soybeans as that additional crop that can be grown on the Plains of Texas.

So far, soybeans as a crop are not setting the Plains on fire. In fact, Texas stands 23 in the nation in areas devoted to soybeans production.

However, the state of Texas leads the nation in average bushel yield with 28 bushels of beans per acre in 1964. About two-thirds of the total world production of soybeans is right here in the U. S. A.

During the crop year of 1964, Texas had only 63,000 acres planted to soybeans. Most of the available land is planted with either cotton or grain sorghum, but each year, soybeans gain some in popularity. So say the experts, and that same trend is noted in the Muleshoe area. Of course 1964 was a "bad" soybean year due to the dry weather, and yield on all varieties was down. In most years, there is some supplemental rainfall to help in crop production.

This year will see an increase for the nation of more than two million acres in soybeans that have been planted in some other crop in years past. This demand for soybeans is brought about by the large percentage of the U. S. beans being exported to other countries. 82 percent of Japan's total soybean imports came from the U. S. A. This ever increasing market is demanding not only more soybeans, but also a product of better quality. At this time, soybeans are the leading agricultural export, bringing into the U.

S. more export money than any other agricultural commodity.

The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Texas, has been carrying on an accelerated breeding program on soybeans. This first new variety released by the Foundation and given the name of HINN has proven to be a good producing and high yielding soybean.

Some of the characteristics for which the HINN was developed are: higher yielding ability than the other varieties being grown in the area; shatter resistance; fruiting higher from the ground for better harvesting and reduction of loss at harvest; will not lodge or fall down. One important characteristic of the HINN soybean is its ability to produce heavy branches which help compensate for skips and will also help in shading for weed control.

Reports from some of the growers who planted part of the 6,000 bushels of the HINN soybean during 1964 indicated that an average yield of 33.66 bushels per acre was obtained. This is a composite of all the yields that were reported to the Foundation.

Danny Bainum of Friona says of the HINN soybean, "It's an easy crop to grow. One of the things that I noticed more than anything else was that the pods set high off the ground for easy harvesting."

Schools' Construction Program on Schedule

Despite three weeks of cold weather which delayed pouring of concrete, Muleshoe's $850,000 school building program was "on schedule" and pointing toward the August 15 deadline, Superintendent of Schools Neal Dillman said Wednesday.

With the arrival of warmer weather late Monday, everything was "go" for the five-pronged project, and from the looks of progress now, the buildings will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1, the opening day of school next autumn, Dillman said.

Fastest progress is being made at DeShazo elementary school where brick work on the walls was nearing completion on the east section — the primary part of the tereza floors in the halls. Most of the brick work also has been done in the western elementary wing and floors are being poured in that part of the structure. Since putting up of steel work has been started, the DeShazo project appears to be farther along than any of the five building programs.

"That building will soon be closed in so workmen can go ahead with the interior," Dillman said.

The DeShazo building replaces the present two buildings now serving DeShazo. Only the cafeteria and the gymnasium will be salvaged from the present DeShazo plant, Dillman said.

However, the gymnasium will be remodeled completely and "tied into" the new structure. After the entire plant is completed, both the present DeShazo buildings will be razed.

The entire building program is to cost $855,880, plus an additional $30,000 for remodeling and equipment. "We are fortunate," said Dillman, "in that most of the present furniture in DeShazo, for example, can be

Election Days Here Saturday, Tuesday

Muleshoe school district patrons trek to the polls to name two trustees Saturday, and then next Tuesday, Muleshoe voters return to the polls to pick two city councilmen.

Saturday also, county school board members are to be named.

Absentee voting in the school board races ended at 5 o'clock Tuesday, and late in the day, only two persons had cast their ballots in advance.

However, absentee business was even slower at city hall; until late Tuesday, not a single absentee ballot had been cast for city councilmen. However, voters have until Friday at 5 p. m. in which to vote absentee for city posts.

Candidates for school board posts here are John Smith and Ralph Douglass, incumbents; and R. A. Bradley and Vic Benedict.

In the council race, Matt Dudley is unopposed, and incumbent Rudolph Wiedebush faces Royce Garth in next Tuesday's election.

Bess Edwards Is Wesleyan Guild President-Elect

New officers were elected Monday, March 22, when the Wesleyan Service Guild met with Mrs. W. H. Laney. Bess Edwards was elected president for the coming year; Dena LaRue will be retiring president.

Other officers elected are Evelyn Johnson and Virginia Gholson, vice presidents; Ruth McCarty, recording secretary; and Hazel Gilbreath treasurer. Committee heads elected include Margaret Slemmons and Jackie McAlpin, membership cultivation; Annita Elrod, secretary of Missionary Education. Erald Gross, Christian Social Relations; Betty Burkhead, supply work; Lo'a Bray and Maurine Ivy, local church activity; Elizabeth Hardin, publicity; Thelma Powell, coordinator; Hazel Gilbreath, literature and publications; Dena LaRue, promotion secretary; Barbara Burton, youth secretary; Dena LaRue, nominating committee, with Hazel Gilbreath and Margaret Slemmons members of the committee.

Mrs. Gholson presented the program for the evening, which was entitled "Hearing God Speak Through the Bible". Mrs. LaRue, presided over the business meeting following the opening prayer given by Mrs. Johnson.

The annual shower for mission home in San Antonio was postponed until June. Bess Edwards, who attended a district meeting recently, reported that suggestions were made that a cash offering be sent instead of the usual gifts. The club voted to table the matter for further discussion. The meeting was dismissed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie".

The next meeting will be April 12 at the home of Evelyn Johnson.

Attending the Monday meeting were Mrs. Kieth Bray, a visitor, and Bess Edwards, Betty Burkhead, Evelyn Johnson, Margaret Slemmons, Elizabeth Harden, Lola Bray, Virginia Gholson, Dena LaRue, Hazel Gilbreath and the hostess, Alpha Laney.

Bailev County Courthouse Tour Reported by Local Girl Scout

(Editor's Note: The Kittie Hawk Patrol, one of the three patrols in Girl Scout Troop 80 and 214, visited the Bailey County Court House recently in preparation for work on the Girl Scout Community Badge. The patrol leader selected the following report of Mitzi Bass, daughter, of E. A. Bass, Jr. for special publication award. Other members of the patrol are Sharon Bevers, Judy Calvert, Martha Jane Chapman, Monica Griffiths, Becky Milner, Twani Pierce, Barbara Harper, and Karen Locker.)

MY TRIP TO THE COURT HOUSE

By MITZI BASS
All of the Girl Scouts in Mrs. Harper's Patrol took a trip to the Court House. We were to have a guide to show us around the rooms. We found Don Cihak who said he would show us around. The first office we went to was Jack D. Young's office. There was a bunch of books which were about Texas and what has happened in Texas. The next room we took us to was the Court Room up stairs. He sat down in the chair on the Witness stand and then he showed us where the Jury sits. Karen Locker asked him a few questions. He answered them and then he started showing us a big map. Someone asked if we could find Muleshoe; we looked and found Progress, so we kept looking, then Twani Pierce found Muleshoe. He showed us where the Judge sits. There was a picture of a Judge on the wall. Somebody asked if he is the judge; we have now. Mr. Cihak said it wasn't. He said Judge Williams is the Judge of Bailey County, and Judge Boone is the District Judge. (The picture is of the former Judge "Bills"). We changed guides. We had Deputy Sheriff John W. Moore as our guide. Next, he took us up to the jail. There was a Mexican woman in there and Mr. Moore said she signed a check with somebody else's name. He opened another door and then another, there was a boy in there. Mr. Moore said he did something and wouldn't pay his fine. Then we went back down and went into the Sheriff's office. There was a woman in there (Irene Splawn, office deputy) that showed us how the radio worked. She called one of the sheriff cars and talked to the officer. Mr. Moore showed us some posters of people who had been wanted for murder, bank robbery, and kidnaping other people. Then Irene Splawn showed us some people that had been seen by other people, with only their description drawn by some artist. If they were known criminals they also had their fingerprints. The next room we went in was the County Clerk's office. A woman showed us some books. They had the Birth Certificates of the children that were born in Muleshoe and Bailey Co. Some more books showed the people that have died here. The next room we went in was the Justice of the Peace Joe Vaughn's office. He told us that he could marry, but he couldn't divorce. After that Mrs. Harper bought us a coke and that was the end of our trip at the Court House.

"We believe that music is a source of personal enrichment to the child, and that it can increase his awareness of beauty, refine his taste, and heighten his emotional and spiritual responsiveness," Miss Sistrunk further remarked. "If music is to be of value to the maturing child, we must expand his capacity for making and responding to music through broader and deeper experiences and through growth in music making skills," Miss Sistrunk concluded.

Registration began at 8:30 a.m. and the concluding luncheon was at 12:30.

Susan Birdsong Talks of Europe

The Muleshoe Study Club met Thursday, March 25, in the home of Mrs. J. Frank Peery with Miss Susan Birdsong, a Muleshoe High School Senior, guest speaker.

Susan told of her "Awards" trip to Europe last summer and showed slides of many places the group visited. She was introduced by Mrs. Thurman White, program director, following the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and County which open the program.

Mel Evans, manager of the Muleshoe Refuge, and president of the Friends of the Library organization, told of some of the needs of the Muleshoe Area Library.

A note of thanks was read from Mrs. Ann Camp, librarian, informing the club that the furniture donated by the study club for the library had arrived.

Another letter of thanks from Mrs. Charles Grow, a club member, was read for the rosebud and vase sent her while in the hospital.

Mrs. Gilbreath appointed a committee. Mrs. Ray Martin and Mrs. W. H. Elrod, to inquire what the Study Club could do to assist in the needs of the library.

Refreshments were served by Patsy and Stephanie Peery to Mrs. J. G. Arnn, Mrs. Effie Bray, Mrs. Horace Blackburn, Mrs. Cecil Cole, Mrs. W. H. Elrod, Mrs. John Farley, Mrs. Rufus Gilbreath, Mrs. O. N. Sen. Tower Talks About Asia, Discusses Services Need for '70

By SEN. JOHN TOWER
In recent days we have been hearing a great deal about the strikes made by American attack bombers in Southeast Asia.

We did not expect a few months ago that we would be using these bombers in this way and in this place, but suddenly, we needed them. And luckily, we had them.

Now, the Armed Services Committee is faced with being sure that we will have in the 1970's the strategic bombers we might need then.

As you probably have heard, the present plans of the Department of Defense provide for the phasing out by the 1970's of the strategic bombers we now have. That's the B-47's and B-52's and B-58's. The Department of Defense has no new bomber planned to replace present planes when they become obsolete.

As you also know, a new bomber just cannot be provided overnight. New strategic bombers are complex, multi-million-dollar machines. They take years to develop and to build in any quantity. In fact, we must start right now if we are to have a new bomber ready by the time our present ones are gone.

Many civilian strategists in the Department of Defense insist that we cannot be sure there will be a need for a bomber in the 1970's. Therefore, they say, let us delay in preparation of one.

To those strategists I can only say that we were not sure years ago that we would need bombers in Southeast Asia in 1945. But we did not take a chance. We provided the attack planes. And it turned out that we needed them.

I think we must make exactly the same decision now for the security of the future.

Wars and limited military confrontations have a historic habit of never happening in the way we expect them. We did not expect Pearl Harbor. We did not expect Red Chinese intervention in Korea. We must now plan our future defenses with a margin of error to allow for tomorrow's unexpected aggressions.

May I point out that there are available to us today several alternatives by which we can provide the bomber of the future. We can start an entirely new airplane that would take a great many years to build. Or, we can modify an existing plane so that it will provide interim coverage until an entirely new aircraft is ready.

Such an interim bomber might very well be produced by Texans. I speak of the new F-111 being built in Fort Worth. This F-111 is a fighter aircraft. But a larger, longer-range, strategic version of this plane could be produced to fill the impending bomber gap. Such a plane might be called a B-111.

And, if a decision were made now to start on development of a B-111, we could have available an interim bomber BEFORE all our present bombers are gone. In addition, if a B-111 were utilized to fill the bomber gap in the early 1970's, then we could safely undertake a careful, long-range development program on an entirely new bomber to defend us in the later 1970's and beyond.

I hope the Congress will insist that work is started this year on the new bomber we need. I will do everything I can to see that this happens. I believe the security of our nation demands it.

There are many good reasons why we need to maintain bombers in our defense forces. Preparation for the unexpected is one.

In addition, there are many tasks our strategic missiles can not perform. For instance, missiles in concrete silos, buried beneath the earth, cannot carry the American flag into foreign areas where American influence is needed and where a show of American force could prevent war.

Our strategic bomber fleet enjoys many of the same advantages of our naval fleet — and that's another fleet I think we should be improving. Both fleets can operate in obvious and observable fashion so that potential aggressors can be convinced not only of the extent of American defense power — but also of our willingness to use it to defend free men.

I have been impressed by the observation of missile experts that the enemy has no way of knowing whether the launch officer in a buried silo is anxiously at the alert or is relaxing. Our enemies cannot see into missile silos. They often can see, or detect on radar, our bombers and ships.

And, many times, as in the case to let the enemy see our Cuban crisis, it is to our advantage. It is vital for us to convey to him the urgency of our resolve.

Commentator Eric Sevareid has said: "Goodness without power is impotent, and power itself is impotent without the will to use it if necessary." To this I would only add that any potential enemy must believe not only in our power but in our will.

For these reasons, I think America must maintain a bomber force. And I think we ought to plan now for utilization of the B-111 as an interim aircraft and for development of an

Successful Irrigation Farming Pegged on Efficient Water Use

HALFWAY — Efficiency of operation in modern farming is a must if today's irrigation farmer is going to realize the net returns necessary from his investment. Efficiency in the use of the available irrigation water is at the top of the list for net returns.

Research personnel at the High Plains Research Foundation in Halfway, Texas, have come up with this formula toward getting the maximum effectiveness from irrigation wells. A farmer with a small pumping 200 gallons per minute can put five acres-inches of water on two acres every twenty-four hours. This amount of water will saturate most of the soil types found in the Plains of Texas three to four feet deep. A 400 gallon per minute well would apply this amount of water on 4 acres every 24 hours; a 600 gallon per minute well will cover 6 acres each 24 hours, and so on for the different pumping capacities.

This formula should be utilized especially by farmers who are in the weak water areas and also by the farmers who are trying to cover too much land with too few wells. This information will be valuable to farmers so that they can more effectively plan the proper length of run, head of irrigation water, and time when irrigation must be started for maximum efficiency.

The proper timing of irrigation along with the proper balance of fertilizer can make the difference of a profit or loss in today's highly specialized farming. One example of the value of the proper planning of irrigation as well as the proper length of run was shown in the 1964 report from the Foundation on sugar beet production.

Field averages, using standard irrigation methods, yielded 28.13 tons of sugar beets per acre. This yield represented a net income of $148.00 per acre. Yield and net income were increased by the proper length of run of the irrigation water. Yield increased to 33.05 tons per acre and net return jumped to $208.00. This increase of $60.00 higher net return per acre was due to the length of run. The same amount of water was applied on all plots.

Higher yields and higher net returns can be obtained by using the same amounts of irrigation water if it is applied properly. This, along with the proper planning of an irrigation program to fit the farm, can cut the cost of farming.

Research at the Foundation has shown that the most important single irrigation is preplant. For agricultural areas mentioned earlier, either weak water or too few wells for the number of acres, adequate amounts of preplant irrigation water can be applied by starting early in the season, possibly in January.

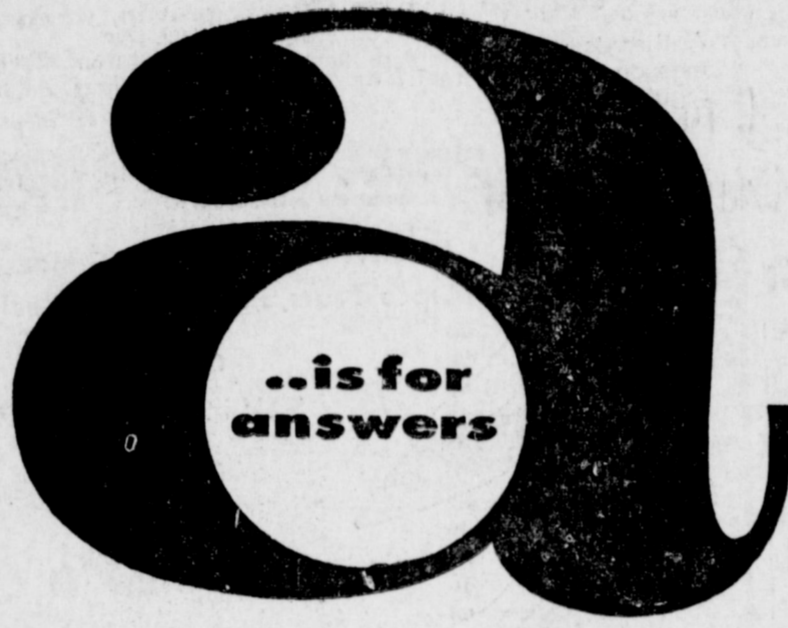

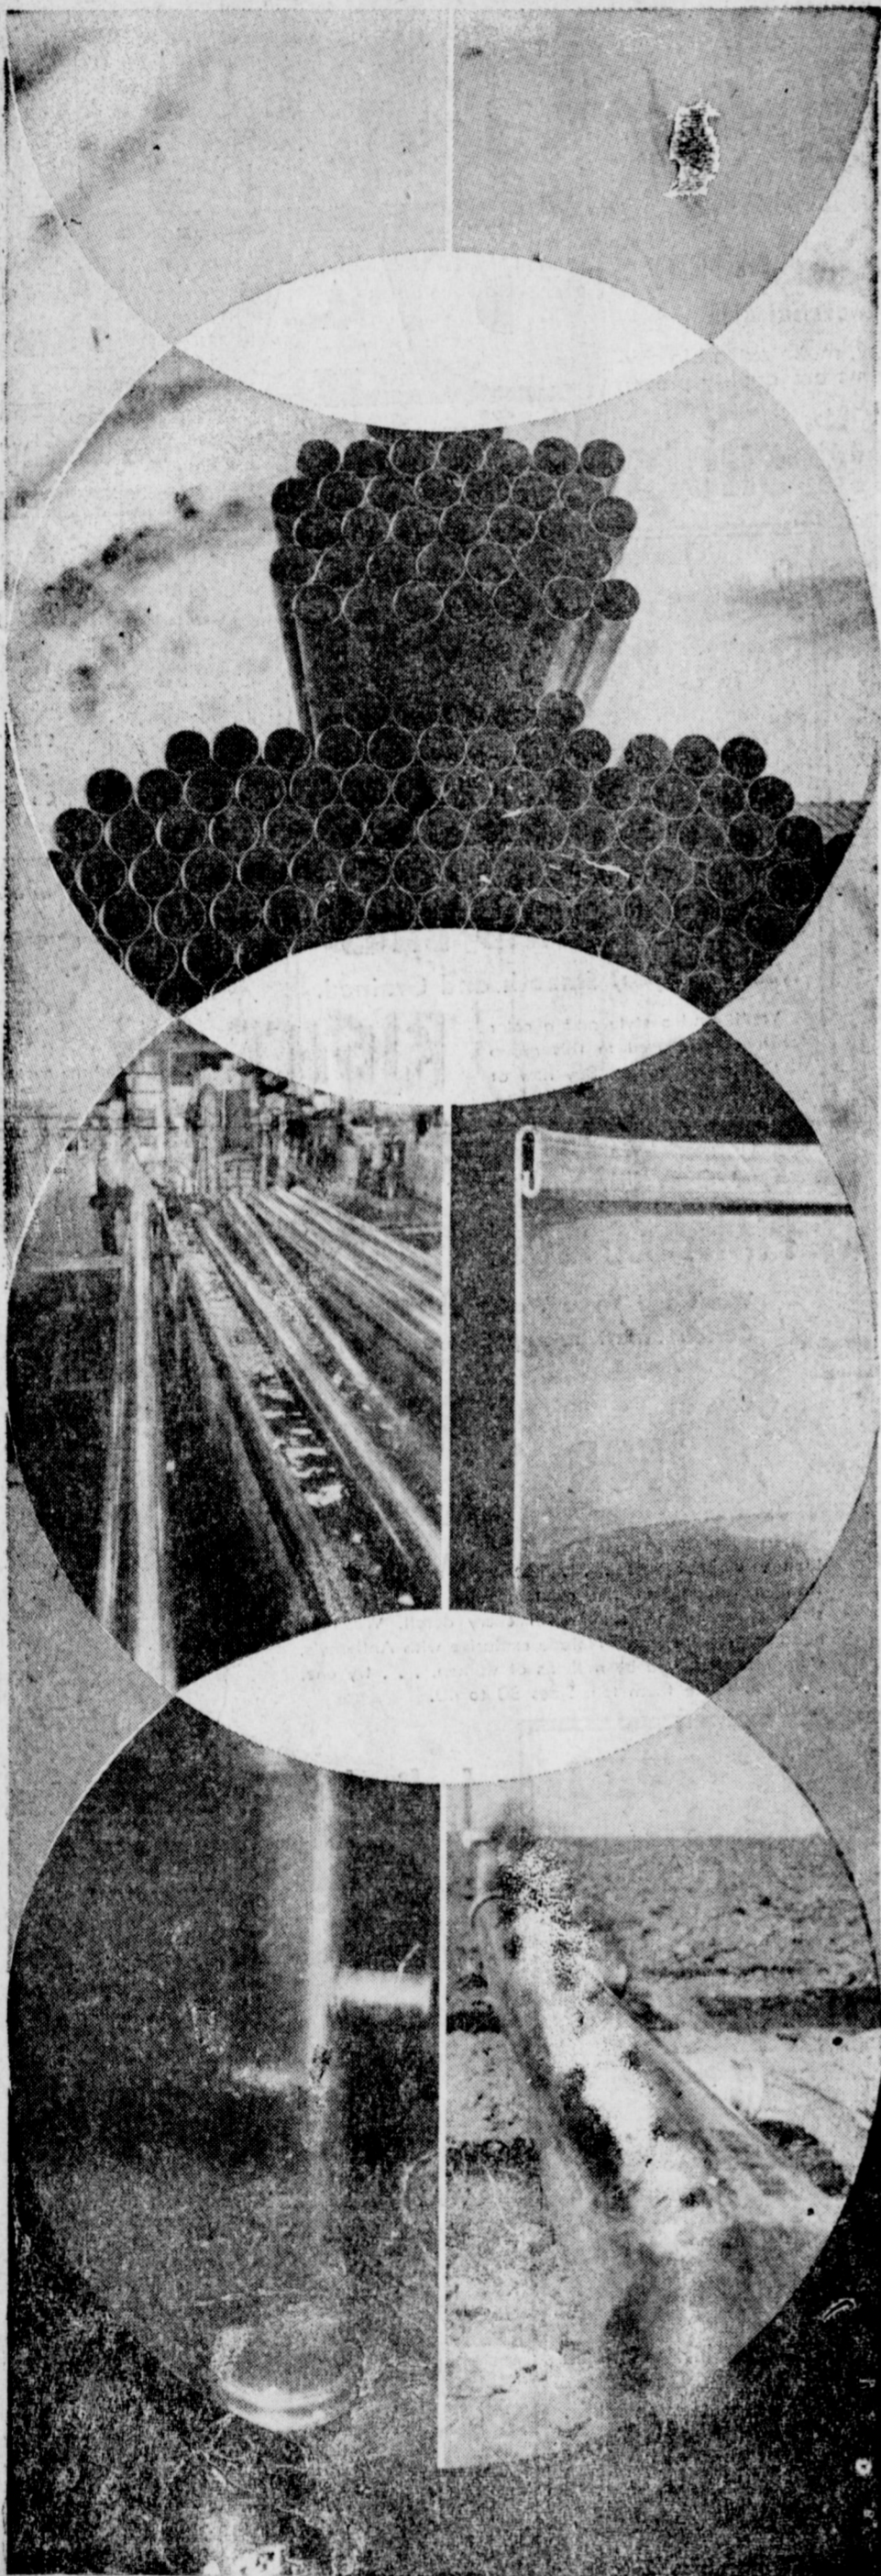

Early planning of an irrigation program can help to insure that adequate moisture is available for the crop.

For more information on irrigation farming and production of sugar beets, write the High Plains Research Foundation, P. O. Drawer 2200, Plainview.

FROM YOUR LIBRARIAN

By ANN CAMP

Another report comes from your librarian, Ann Camp, concerning new books, donations, circulation and new readership.

New books are "My Shadow Ran Fast" by Bill Sands; and "Barn, Kitten, Barn" by Paul Crump; "Job's Niece" by Grace Livingston Hill; "The Checkerboard Flag" by Wm. Galt; and "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" by Seuss, Jr.

Also "Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell, "Celen Wells," "Cherry Ames" books "Hardy Boys Mysteries," by Thomas Dixon and "Nancy Drew Mysteries" by Carolyn Keene.

Three new books by donation this week: "Black like Me" by John Howard Griffin. This book is a best-seller about a white man who learns the hard way what it is like to live the life of a negro - by becoming one; "From Here to Eternity" - by James Jones; and "John F. Kennedy and P. T. - 109" by Richard Tregaskis. We have had many calls for this last book, so I'm sure those who have called for it, will be glad to know we have another copy of it.

We also received 39 magazines donated by Mrs. Willard Tibbets of Rt. 2, Muleshoe; and approximately 250 magazines donated by Mrs. O. N. Jennings of Muleshoe. The next day a woman was looking for an article on the subject of "Prayer in the Public Schools" or "Separation of Church and State" and I'm sure Mrs. Jennings would be delighted that we found just the article, with a full discussion of the subject in a Life magazine she donated. Perhaps you may have some such article you need. We now have Readers Digests and Lifes back to the year 1951.

Mrs. Camp states that the Library was open 24 days in the month of February. Total check-outs were 976. The January report shows 4,658 with a total of 5,634. The Bookmobile checked out 33 books in Muleshoe in February.

New readers for February totaled 131 and from the January report 1,348 are shown for a total of 1,279.

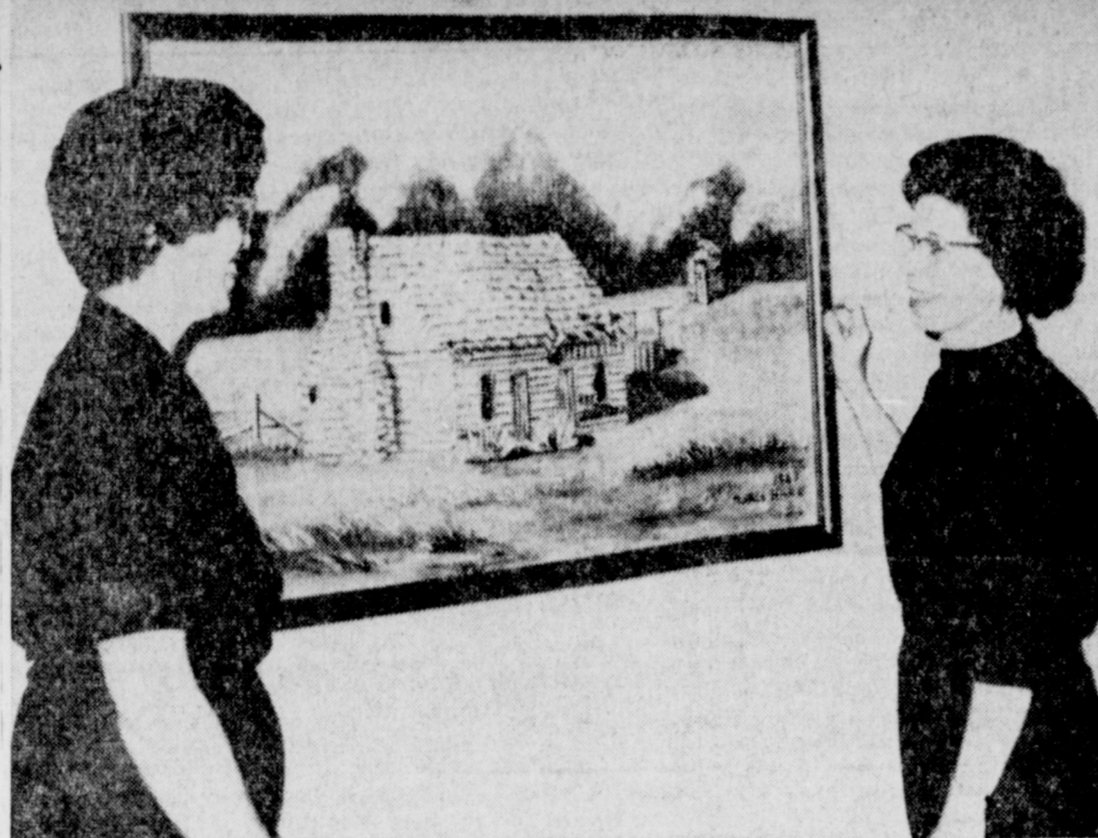

"Circulation continues to rise from month to month an interest shown by the public is very good," Mrs. Camp said.

Ninety-eight books were received by donations this month plus approximately 500 magazines. Forty-seven other material articles were checked out during February. The State continues to add books to the shelves, giving the public an even better selection.

A check-out desk for the library arrived this week. This desk and stand for a dictionary were especially designed for library purposes and were donated by the Muleshoe Study Club.

If you have the urge to work in the yard or garden either now or later you might like to "read up" on the subject. We have several really good books: One that particularly attracts me is "Gardening Without Work"; another is "Gardening in the South and West"; while still another is "The Green Thumb Garden Handbook".

Even though you don't have a green thumb, I think you would enjoy the Better Homes & Gardens book: "America's Gardens." This is a beautiful book with photographs in color. All these books are State Library books, available at your Muleshoe Area Public Library. . . . P. S. I counted 125 more books of this nature on the shelf. . . . includes everything from "Forage for crops" to "How to grow roses" and then too, many books on floral arrangements. Since I just dearly love to sit and watch things grow, I think I'll just check out "How to have a Green thumb without an aching back". . . .

The only thing that has slackened, is volunteer help. I only had 6 hrs. put in by individuals, which points up the need of a paid helper, and janitor service. I put in all the hours overtime I can in doing these things, but the Library would be run much more efficiently if we had the help we need. I would be glad to have you come and visit any time.

Kenneth Hison, three miles northwest of Springlake, had this comment to make, "Soybeans make the soil very mellow to follow other crops, particularly with cotton. Soybean is a mistreated crop and will do well if treated as cotton is treated. I like the way the HINN soybean fruits up off the ground for combining. I like the HINN over the Lee because of this. I harvested 35 bushels per acre with HINN and 25 bushels per acre with Lee."

Some of the growers reported high yields of over 50 bushels per acre and the yields ranged down to 16 bushels grown on dryland. In general the HINN out produced all the standard varieties by from 3 to 8 bushels per acre. During harvest time, most receiving points were paying around $2.50 per bushel. At an increase of 3 bushels, this would mean $7.50 per acre extra income to the farmer.

At this time, the High Plains Research Foundation has a good supply of Foundation quality HINN soybeans on hand for any of the farmers wishing to plant some for the coming crop year.

When the cafeteria is completed, the present cafeteria will be remodeled into the homemaking department. Also to be located in the present cafeteria will be the art department and distributive education classrooms.

In the vocational agriculture building, all foundations and floors have been completed, and brick work was getting under way at mid-week.

This department, in addition to housing the vocational agriculture department, also will have a complete wood-working department and an auto mechanics department. This will be the first time Muleshoe high school has offered the two latter departments. The structure will be 186 by 50 feet and is located south of the present high school and just west of the swimming pool.

The present homemaking department will be converted into conventional classrooms when the new cafeteria is completed, Dillman said.

Junior high is being extended to the east and to the west. On the East end, eight classrooms are being constructed. Foundations have been poured for that portion of the building program, and floors were being poured Wednesday.

At the other end of the junior high building, most of the foundation has been poured for the gymnasium, and workmen at mid-week were preparing to

Methodists to Hold Pre-Easter Series

First Methodist Church is planning an unusual pre-Easter series, "Christian Encounter Week," starting Sunday, the Rev. J. Frank Peery, the pastor, has announced.

Doing the preaching for the April 4 - 9 services will be Dr. Howard W. Ellis, artist - lecturer, Nashville, Tenn., and singing will be led by Bill Kennedy, director of music at the Geyer Springs Methodist Church in Little Rock, Ark.

Dr. Ellis uses charcoal drawings which he sketches while he talks.

The series will open at 10:50 Sunday when Dr. Ellis will speak on "The Face of Christ." That evening he will talk on "The Steadfast Peery."

Evening series will start Monday when an "encounter" workshop will be held from 7 until 7:45 p.m. followed by a coffee break and evening services at 8 o'clock. His theme on Monday night will be "He Went Away." Monday also will be youth night at the series.

Tuesday night's sermon topic will be "How Often," and

Methodists to Hold Pre-Easter Series

on Wednesday night, Dr. Ellis will speak on "The Temptation." Workshop on Monday will be devoted to God - Man, on Tuesday night to Man-Man, and on Wednesday night to Christ-Man.

As a feature of the Wednesday night service, Methodist Churches from Dimmitt, Olivia, Hart, Cotton Center, Olton, Earth, Sudan, YL, Lazbudie, Farwell, and Oklahoma Lane will be special guests.

For his Thursday night theme, Dr. Ellis will speak on "He Took the Cup," and the workshop theme will be Church-Man.

Friday's program will be in the nature of a religious song service featuring Bill Kennedy.

In addition to the evening services and the workshop, prayer groups will meet in the chapel each day at 10 a.m.

Dr. Ellis is a protégé of Warner Sallman and an author of interpretations of the Sallman paintings. He is on the staff of the General Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church, and serves as director of the Department of Unconventional Evangelism.

Inventors Set State Meeting, C-C Announces

As part of the industrial development effort of the Chamber of Commerce, Chamber President Dr. Charles Lewis is urging all inventors and manufacturers in the area to attend the first Texas Inventors Congress to be held in Galveston on April 1 through April 4, 1965.

"Governor Connally has named the Texas Industrial Commission to sponsor the Inventors Congress," President Lewis said, "in order to help in the creation of home - grown industry and to encourage the expansion of existing manufacturers."

"There is a possibility that new firms created as a result of this Congress could be in our area," he said. "This project is definitely in line with our present program of industrial development."

The Inventors Congress is open to inventors and manufacturers with patents or patent pending. Manufacturers interested in new product lines for plant expansion are especially invited to attend. Technical sessions will be held during the Congress on all phases of setting up a business and marketing a product. Full details are available from the Texas Industrial Commission, Box JJ, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas, 78711.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Of Law and Love

"WHY PICK ON ME?" You are driving along the street about 15 miles an hour faster than you should. But your conscience is eased by the fact that several other motorists are doing exactly the same thing.

Unhappily, when a motorcycle officer takes up the chase, he singles you out as his target. Result: a ticket for speeding.

"Why pick on me?" you may well ask in injured innocence. "I'm no more guilty than those other drivers, who are all getting off scot-free. The United States Constitution must have something to say about this."

If the officer singled you out because of some personal animosity, there may indeed be a constitutional issue. Laws should not be enforced, the Supreme Court has warned, "with an evil eye and an unequal hand."

But if the discrimination was not intentional, you have no grounds for complaint. Your offense is not excused by the fact that other offenders are going unpunished.

Isn't that unfair? Certainly the law should be enforced alike against everyone — theoretically. But there are practical difficulties that must be faced.

Consider the findings of a traffic study made in a city of about 100,000 population. Based on surveillance of a typical intersection, the study indicated that there were no fewer than 3,000,000 traffic violations in the city every day.

Citing each violator would have required some 14,000 policemen — almost half of the male population of the city. And all 14,000 would be occupied with traffic full time, leaving no policemen to chase burglars, lead funerals, comfort lost children, or remove drunks from the city hall steps.

In short, a rule of "all or none" in law enforcement could mean that none — not all — would be punished. We forego what is perfect to achieve what is possible.

It is true that, with less-than-perfect enforcement, you run the risk of getting more traffic tickets than your precise mathematical share. But take heart. A veteran judge estimates that, for every offense you are caught at, you commit a hundred.

Committee Balks at Governor Connally's 4-Year Proposal

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally's push for four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials who now are limited to two years between elections is being bottled up in a balky House committee.

While the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee advanced the proposal with minimum dissent, its House counterpart has postponed action until March 30. Rep. John Allen of Longview is chairman of this House Committee.

Opponents, led by Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, made no secret of the fact they hope to block it indefinitely. The resolution has tremendous political impact, agrees House sponsor Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine.

If Connally runs for re-election, as many feel he will, a four-year term would place him only at the mid-point of his third term when the national elections roll around in 1968. He thus would be free to concentrate his efforts on helping old friend President Lyndon B. Johnson in his expected bid for another four years in the White House.

Opponents offer a variety of reasons for their stand. Some say they don't want the governor in a position to take a "hat off" year. Others claim they have no objection to the governor's having a four-year term, but don't want to extend the benefit to other statewide officials now limited to two years. Still others believe officials should be answerable to the voters often.

Proponents argue just as convincingly that most states already allow four-year terms to their chief executives, and that longer terms would give officials more time to concentrate on their duties without campaigns.

Odds are that the governor eventually will find a way to get a floor vote on the proposed amendment to the constitution before session's end. Then, assuming the necessary two-thirds of lawmakers approve, it will be up to the voters to judge the issues raised.

WATER BILL — Most important piece of water legislation to come before the current session was introduced in the dead-line rush.

Bill by Rep. Raleigh Brown of Abilene lays out a way for Texas to find out how much water it has in its streams and who can use it.

Water belongs to the state, of course, and can be used only by those to whom the state permits its use. Establishing the right to water, however, can be a long and complicated procedure.

Procedure could tie into other bills which would give the present Texas Water Commission the authority to adjudicate water rights. It would not disturb present rights and would permit cancellation of the many permits which have been issued by the Commission, but never have been used.

BIGGER SENATE? — Many state senators, looking for a painless way out of legislative redistricting, may have found it in the proposed constitutional amendment to increase their membership.

Senate Constitutional unanimously approved a resolution to add eight new senatorial districts to the present 31. It also calls for six-year terms for senators, who now serve four-year terms.

Some senators think an early called on the and a39 - disre called on the measure and a 39 district reapportionment bill passed in advance to meet the August deadline for redrawing lines on an equal - population basis.

Ranking House members have indicated they have no objection. Big-city legislators would insure metropolitan areas with multiple representation in the upper chamber. It also would give incumbent senators from sparsely-populated districts a fighting chance to hold on to their seats.

CONFEREES NAMED — Joint Conference Committee which will write the final version of the 1966-67 state spending bill already is at work.

Senate conferees are Sens. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, A. M. Aikin of Paris, Bill Moore of Bryan, Martin Dies Jr. of Lubbock and J. P. Word of Meridian.

House conferees are Reps. W. S. Heatly of Paducah, Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville, Gus Mutscher of Brenham, Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Richard Slack of Pecos.

FARMER SELF — ASSESSMENT — A bill by Rep. Felix McDonald of Edinburg to authorize agricultural producers to assess themselves up to one percent the value of their produce for advertising, research and marketing funds was assigned to study by a subcommittee of the House Constitutional Amendments Committee.

Bill provides that if voters authorize the amendment in 1966, farmers within specified areas still would have to vote the assessment on themselves by at least a 2-to-1 vote. Amendment could be canceled by a simple majority vote later.

Proponents say if assessments would be much less than authorized and that any farmer who requested refund of his assessment would get it back.

Opponents believe the assessment would be a tax authorized by the Legislature, but imposed by a non-governmental body and that the money, as the bill is written, could be used to the detriment of farmers who contributed it.

LIQUOR BILL KILLED — Senate Jurisprudence Committee unceremoniously killed the bill to permit restaurant sale of liquor in small bottles with meals.

Unexpectedly firm action of the committee assured no liquor by-the-drink or open-saloon bill will be passed this session.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg sponsored the unsuccessful small-bottle bill which met opposition from liquor stores as well as dries. Bill was backed by the Texas Restaurant Association.

Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio says he will continue to push for hearing of his open-saloon bills but admits it has little chance.

APPOINTMENT — Governor Connally has completed a long list of appointments. He re-assigned Chester C. Wine of Corpus Christi and Claude W. Brown of McCamey to Texas Industrial Commission and named L. F. Bay of Brown-

Highlights

wood to replace E. B. Germany of Dallas.

Reappointed to state Seed and Plant Board were Garwood Geddes of Giddings, Heino Staffel Jr. of Austin, C. E. Godbey of College Station and Dr. A. W. Young of Lubbock. New appointments went to B. Raymond Evans of Tulsa and Grady C. Clark Jr. of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Nancy Lee Bass of Fort Worth was named to the State Board of Mansion Supervisors.

Mrs. Joyce Herd of Dallas was reappointed to the State Board of Tuberculosis Nurse Examiners.

Reappointed to the Advisory Council were James P. McCracken of Cisco and F. S. Walters Jr. of Amarillo. New appointees are Jack E. Price of Dallas and Vernon W. Forsman of Temple.

Connally's reappointments as presiding judges of administrative judicial districts include Judges Max Rogers of Huntsville, D. B. Wood of Georgetown, Solomon Casseb Jr. of San Antonio, Fidecio M. Guerra of McAllen, Roger Thurmond of Del Rio, Louis T. Holland of Montague, and Victor H. Lindsey of Lubbock.

Judge Owen Thomas of Abilene is a new appointee to the 104th district post.

Governor designated William D. Noel as State Liquor Control Board chairman.

Howard Rose of Midland was named to represent oil industry on Texas Water Pollution Board.

"OPEN MEETINGS" - Legislation to restrict secret sessions of government agencies again is in trouble.

Bill received a familiar cold reception in the Senate State Affairs Committee. Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas suggested it should be killed on the spot. Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells offered an amendment to force newsmen to disclose their sources of information when questioned in court.

House State Affairs committee offered a more sympathetic ear.

Bill was sent to sub-committees in both panels. House may pass it, but chances in the Senate appear dim indeed.

WOMEN WIN, LOSE - Texas ladies have won a round and lost one in legislative skirmishes.

Senate tentatively approved the controversial "equal legal rights for women" constitutional amendment, then sent it back to committee in hope of "purging" it of an amendment sponsors consider crippling.

Senate Military Affairs Committee approved a bill to strictly limit admission of women students to once-all-male Texas A&M University.

Sen. Bill Moore threatened to quit as chairman of the upper house Education Committee because the bill was yanked from his panel and re-referred to the more sympathetic committee. Moore also is sponsor of the equal rights proposal.

NO CITY SALES TAX - There will be no permissive city sales tax approved this session.

House killed the proposition 56-84. Bill was sponsored by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin.

Governor Connally made defeated city officials feel somewhat better by agreeing to ask for a Texas Research League and state responsibilities, looking toward a new definition of duties.

SHORT SNORTS

Bill to create a new State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to take over the job of the present Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools cleared both Houses after hard work by its authors, Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and Rep. Wallace Miller of Houston.

Sen. Tom Crighton of Mineral Wells, president pro tempore of the Senate, will become "governor for a day" on April 20. . . Tuberculosis eradication bill has been passed and sent to the governor. . . House passed the bill to authorize eight new schools for the mentally retarded, four on either side of the 99th meridian, near center of state. . . "Double contracting" bill providing criminal penalties for signing false contracts or signing false statements to get bigger housing loans has cleared the House. . . Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur and a group of representatives have introduced a concurrent resolution calling for a special interim committee study of feasibility of creating a Big Thicket

State Park within the State Parks System. . . Proposed constitutional amendment to repeal the property tax for state revenue purposes in seven years (by stages) has been heard in House and Senate committees.

Licensing of water well drillers received House approval. . . Bill to require farm land on fringes of cities be assessed for taxation only at its agricultural value has been heard in House Revenue and Tax Committee and referred to sub-committee. . . Texas traffic fatalities claimed 3,066 lives last year - a 10 per cent increase over 1963 - and auto accidents caused an economic loss of $487,000,000, reports Department of Public Safety. . . Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr called on members of National Association of District Attorneys to initiate youth conferences in local areas patterned after the Texas Attorney General's Youth Conference as a deterrent to juvenile crime. . . American Angora Goat Breeders Association of Rocksprings staged a mohair products style show for wives of top state officials in the governor's office and presented Mrs. John Connally, Mrs. Preston Smith and Mrs. Ben Barnes with hand-knitted mohair sweaters.

Texas Railroad Commission ordered a slight decrease in oil production during April - 28.5 per cent of potential for 2,919,335 - barrel daily allowable. . . Texas Employment Commission reports show an estimated 69,300 seasonal employees with farm employment down during January, mostly from cutbacks in the number of seasonal hands in cotton activities.

And a logical starting point for an effective seedling control program, point out the plant pathologists, is the planting of only high quality cotton seed. High quality seed will give a better stand because of their ability to escape seed rots and seedling disease. Such seed may be planted earlier, their germination and growth rate will be faster, and the seedlings will be less susceptible to soil-borne fungi than low quality seed. Planting seed should be treated with a recommended seed protectant, say the pathologists.

They recommend that planting of high quality seed be delayed until morning soil temperature, at planting depth, holds above 60 F. for three days. If low quality is planted, then wait until soil temperatures are higher.

If it becomes necessary to plant during periods of expected high rainfall or in fields where seedling disease has consistently been a problem in covering soils, fungicides may be used as an aid to get and keep a stand, say Horne and Berry.

They emphasize the importance of using a combination of chemicals selected for specific conditions and organisms occurring within a given area. Effective control can be obtained by applying the fungicides in the furrow as dusts or sprays. Hopper box application is not recommended in Texas.

And finally, they say, care must be taken to see that the fungicide is properly mixed with the covering soil if it is to do its job.

The pathologists suggest that cotton growers interested in a seedling disease control program contact their local county agent for details, including the chemicals to use.
