WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter promised Wednesday to push for "substantial tax reductions" as soon as possible next year and said he might delay sending complicated tax reforms to Congress for fear that they might tie up the tax cuts. Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, welcomed the president's pledge. Sen. Russell Long, chairman of the Finance Committee, said he had "no comment."

Carter's go-slow attitude toward comprehensive tax reform means he might

"They contacted me about my interest in the job and said they have a great deal of interest in me." Sloan said. "I'm certainly considering the job, and I should make a decision in the next day or two Quick Decision Necessary

Sloan whose name has been mentioned in rumors regarding many coaching jobs since he came to Tech in January, 1975, said he needs to decide quickly T've reached the point in the last week or so that I have to make a decision - a commitment - one way or the other to clear the air soon. 'All the high school kids we talk to in recruiting ask if I'm leaving or not, and it's gotten worse this year. It's hard for me to deal with it every year, and we can't function properly in this type of atmosphere. Cooper, who was 19-25 in four years at Mississippi and 5-6 in 1977, had been under fire. He had two years left on his contract and had received a vote of confidence from school officials Nov. 20. However, in the face of further criticism from alumi and former players, he quit Wednesday

Signing Date Near

Ole Miss must find a replacement soon because the national signing date for Southeast Conference teams is Dec. 10. The Rebels' recruiting has already been hurt because of the uncertainty that has surrounded Cooper for some time, and to delay in hiring a new coach would cause further damage.

The names of no other coaches have surfaced in regard to the vacant position at Ole Miss. Asked what would the school do if Sloan turned the offer down. Rebel athletic director Johnny Vaught said only, "We have contacted Sloan and are seriously considering him. Obviously, we need to hire someone in a hurry Board Chairman George Meenaghan said he will meet with P&Z Chairman Jim Ratliff to explain the board's reasons for breaking the agreement.

"Economics really dictates" placement of the line, and the commission's flexibility on the policy guidelines will have to be tested, Meenaghan said.

The problem, he said, is that the transmission line will be strung overhead across land that could be developed residentially. And the policy requires that lines in new residential subdivisions be underground except for feeder or transmission lines on section or half-section

If a property owner wants to plat the land for residential use, he would be required to follow the policy on underground line placement. The overhead transmission line already would be there, however, and that "creates a real problem for the property owner," Meenaghan

After considering whether the trans mission line could be connected with section or half-section lines and rejecting that possibility because of increased costs, the board unanimously voted to approve the overhead route and ask for P &Z input.

The policy was drafted by representatives from the board, P&Z and electric companies after clashes between the latter and commissioners

The utility companies accused the commission of trying to broaden its informal policy of requesting underground lines in new residential developments to include commercial and industrial areas. And the commission contended it was trying to work for an aesthetically pleasing city.

The policy recommended by the representatives and approved Wednesday formalizes the P&Z's basic policy. The transmission line that will break the policy will extend from a Lubbock Power and Light substation at 26th Street and Globe Avenue eastward to Loop 289, then south to the Holly Avenue power plant on the Slaton Highway. The line will tie the two power plants

Hiked Natural Gas Price Pass-Through Given Council Okay

By PAULA TILKER Avalanche-Journal Staff

THE CITY council Wednesday approved a hefty natural gas price passthrough hike for December but warned Pioneer Natural Gas Company (PNG) that it will be financially liable if an overcharge is discovered.

After listening to a PNG official's breakdown of costs contributing to the 11.67 percent increase over November's rate, the council okayed the hike that will raise the "average" domestic consumer's bill by $1.38.

The average customer, whom the gas company says uses about 10,000 cubic feet of gas monthly, will pay $19.85 in December for the same amount of gas that cost $18.47 last month.

Amendment Supported

Council members also approved on first reading an ordinance amendment providing that PNG will refund with interest all "excessive" pass-through rates. If passed on second and final reading, the amendment would apply retroactively to December's 13.77-cent pass-through in-

City staffers would determine whether such excesses exist after studying audit reports and other financial data.

Ervin Looney, the city's part-time rate analyst, will closely review December's hike when he scrutinizes industrial rate data for February's rate-case hearing.

At that hearing, PNG will propose and justify industrial rates. Domestic and commercial pass-through rates also will be reviewed, a point Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan emphasized to gas company officials Wednesday Profit Study Provided

The February hearing was set last month by the council, which questioned whether the gas company is making too much profit from its industrial contract with Lubbock Power and Light. Similar council concern that the company may be making money from the domestic pass-through prompted the meeting Wednesday, which was the deadline for council protest of the December in-

PNG Vice-President David Culver, who handles the company's gas su contracts, told council members that it is 'just circumstances" that caused the December increase to be almost 11 cents more than the average.

But PNG can document and justify each action in October that will cause the December increase, he said. In justifying the hike, he explained that new contracts

Hurricane Season 'Mildest'

MIAMI (UPI) - The 1977 hurricane season went into the record books Wednesday as one of mildest in recent times, but forecasters don't know what tamed the giant storms, and they warn against future apathy.

"It was a lovely season," said forecaster Miles Lawrence at the National Hurricane Center. "The United States got off almost scott free, but we don't know way and we cannot make any predictions about the future."

The weather agency warned that residents of coastal states should not lower their guard when the 1978 season cranks up next June.

Of the six storms that developed during the 1977 season, only one - hurricane Babe — caused any serious damage to the United States. Babe made a landfall in Louisiana early in September as a minimal hurricane, causing an estimated $10 million damage in that state and in Texas.

The first storm of the 1977 season, Anita, did not form until Aug. 29, but it a quickly built into the fourth-most-severe storm ever recorded in the Gulf of Mexico, forecaster John Hope recalled.

"It would have been a billion dollar storm if it had hit Brownsville, or anywhere up the U. S. Gulf coast," Hope said.

Instead. Anita moved south of Brownsville into a sparsely populated region of the Mexican coast, causing "minimal" damage, Hope recalled. Babe was followed by Clara, Dorothy, Evelyn - all relatively weak storms which did not seriously affect any land areas.

The last storm of the season, and the only one of the six failing to reach hurricane force, was Frieda. It developed Oct. 16 in the northwest Caribbean and dissipated before reaching land.

Lawrence said there have been 59 "name" tropical storms from 1970 through 1977 from which a total of 36 hurricanes developed. Statistically, this translates into an average of 7.4 storms per year with an average of 45 hurricanes, he said. This is slightly downsfrom the average over the By comparison, this year's six storms and five hurricanes put 1977 below the previous seven-year storm "average" but marginally ahead of the previous seven-year hurricane average.

Lawrence said there have been distinct enanges in the geographical patterns of storms over the past four decades "but we don't understand why this is hap-

Texas, Oklahoma Study Regional Primary Plan

AUSTIN (UPI) - The chairman of the House Elections Committee said Wednesday a regional presidential primary involving Texas, Oklahoma and perhaps other Southwestern states could increase the region's political clout.

Rep. Herman Adams, D-Silsbee, said his committee is prepared to cooperate with the Oklahoma legislature in studying the feasibility of establishing a regional primary

Texas had its first presidential primary in 1976, but the law establishing that election automatically expired after the voting and the 1977 Legislature failed to agree on a permanent primary law.

An Oklahoma legislative committee contacted Adams about the prospect of a regional primary in 1980, and voted Tuesday to attempt to coordinate primary

"Our committee is interested, and we're going to look into it." Adams said Wednesday. "I wrote back to Oklahoma and told them we look forward to working with them to see if there is a possibility of getting a regional primary together.

I sort of like the idea myself. It might be the first in the nation, and it might give our area a little political clout by having the primaries all the same day. It would make the candidates get down here and take a look at us." Adams said he has not formally polled members of the Texas Legislature on the issue, but said conversations with individual members has indicated considerable support for the regional primary concept.

Members of the Oklahoma Elections and Privileges Committee were told Tuesday Texas was the only one of seven Southwestern states outside Oklahoma expressing interest in a regional primary.

Rep. David Craighead, D-Midwest City, Okla., said Oklahoma and Texas cooperation on a primary date could encourage other states to go along with the idea.

Texas is a good three times the size of Oklahoma." Craighead said. "It is the heavyweight of surrounding states, and if Texas and Oklahoma form an alliance, a few other states would likely come on in later years

The jury returned its verdict Tuesday gainst Freightliner Inc. of Portland, Ore., after 12 hours of deliberations.

The girls' lawyer, Windle Turley, said he had asked for "a minimum of $2.8 million" but was not surprised by the considerably higher figure.

"I would hope that this award would suggest to the truck manufacturers some alternatives to the side-mounted fuel tanks," said Turley. "Right now, federal law is very weak toward fuel systems on these trucks. Realistically, there are no federal standards but they (truck manufacturers) understand economic compensation. I think this award will get their at-

During his closing statement, Turley argued that the fuel system on Maxey's

Freightliner attorney Tom Nash told the jury his client should not be held responsible because Maxey purchased the tractor with a fuel tank on the left side only. Testimony showed Maxey added the fatal right tank himself.

Turley said Freightliner and other truck manufacturers know it is common practice for truckers to add a second tank for long-range hauling.

AN EDITORIAL:

Reaping The Political Hay

POLITICS ASIDE, Atty. Gen. John Hill is eminently correct in declaring unconstitutional a bill permitting farm and ranch lands to be taxed on their productive, instead of market, values.

The state Constitution clearly states that all property will be assessed equally, uniformly and in proportion to its value.

Politicians will be politicians, though, and it is difficult to determine who is playing the most politics with this issue, Hill or his crit-

Rather than face the issue squarely and let the chips fall where they may, both sides are attempting to make hay out of the farmlands issue or at least cut their voting crop losses.

IT ALL GOES back to a proposed constitutional amendment which would have legalized the assessment of farm taxes on the land's productive value.

In anticipation of submitting the proposed amendment to the voters-and in optimistic hope that they would approve it-the Legislature prepared the necessary enabling legislation that would put the amendment into practice.

But, alas, the best laid plans of mice and men and all that went astray. The constitutional amendment failed, by one vote, even to make it out of the Legislature.

Dismayed but undeterred, sponsors of the idea saw to it that the enabling legislation survived nonetheless.

Then, after the Legislature had gone home and Gov. Dolph Briscoe had signed the measure, House Speaker Bill Clayton-a prime force behind the move-and Comptroller Bob Bullock led the charge in proclaiming that the legislation was sufficient without changing the constitution.

Bullock, a longtime political foe of Hill's, no doubt considered with glee that any opinion the attorney general handed down on the case would alienate some voters in Hill's campaign to unseat Briscoe.

HILL, IN TURN, felt he could make the best of the situation this week by crying dirty politics in the same breath that he issued his opinion.

While the goals of the legislation are "laudable," the attorney general said, the constitution and legal precedent clearly make it unconstitutional.

An attorney general's opinion has the force of law unless successfully challenged in the courts, a move which most likely won't even be attempted because of the constitution's clear statement that "taxation shall be equal and uniform.'

We say it "most likely" won't be challenged for a very good reason. When politics is involved, anything can happen.

IAY HARRIS:

How Far

THE POINT may be debatable, but for our money, ever since Eve, what people have done has revealed much more about themselves than what they have said.

With that in mind, one is dorced to draw some conclusions about the recent National Women's Conference in Houston, which not only tells us how far the libbers have come, but how far out some of them have gone:

Perhaps you missed it, but in last Sunday's A-J. there were two interesting items. One took note of the just completed session and compared it to a circus, a celebrity fund-raiser, a revival, a political confab and a pep rally for the ERA. It was all of that and more Another told how feminist leaders made an unusual effort to discourage a group of predominately women reporters from taking note of the conflict among delegates.

NO ONE IS arguing but that the U.S. conference of the IWY was big news.

Any time 2,000 elected delegates from 50 states and six territories gather to write legislative guidelines for Congress, Junded and paid for by the taxpayers, then we need to know what's

The problem, it seems, is that the feminists, wanted only the most favorable side of the session projected. Unfortunately, some but not all, of those covering the confab "went along."

According to the UPI, there were some 1,700 persons admitted as reporters, to use the term loosely, most women. Some, from partisan publifations, reportedly wore T-Shirts expressing their pro-views and applauded at news conferences.

AS IF THAT weren't enough, the UPI then added this bit of information:

"Even facing a friendly audience, feminist leaders like Bella Abzug, Jill Rucklehaus and Liz Carpenter delivered lectures on how the meeting should be covered by the news media.

Mrs. Carpenter, reportedly opened one news conference by declaring that most of those in the room did not know how to cover the women's What the feminists objected to according to the UPT was any emphasis on such things as a lesbian motorcycle gang, fisticulfs among feminists and a group of male white supremacists, and a cameraman filming women who were entering and leaving a men's room. All of which not only is enough to make every self-respecting newsman of the past turn over in his or her grave, but give the present crop, of self-respecting ones, ulcers!

WE HAVE NO argument with the right of anyone to promote women's rights, tadpole days or

We do question that the mere presence of such luminaries as First Ladies Rosalyn Carter, Betty Ford and Lady Bird Johnson means we should accept any idea whole hog.

But, it is with those who apparently would manipulate the news that we most disagree. That, and with Liz Carpenter for having tunnel vision regarding the whole thing, and especially the ERA which she pushes.

It was Mrs. Carpenter, who not only was a confidant of the Lyndon Johnson White House but who wrote an excellent book on the experience. who took one of the lowest blows at ERA opponents after the Texas Legislature faced a move to rescind ERA.

After the heated committee showdown, in which Lubbock's own Rep. Joe Robbins was involved, Mrs. Carpenter penned a guest piece for The Dallas News. Maybe it wasn't "slanted," but it leaned so far it appeared horizontal to us

IN THE ITEM, Liz sought to belittle ERA opponents by categorizing them.

Under a heading: "There's A Word For ERA Foes: It Starts With 'B'." Liz wasted no time in identifying two of the types who appeared before Rep. Clay Smothers' committee hearing the rescinding effort.

There was, Mrs. Carpenter says, "Mrs. Tippy-Toes, who stood on her toes and in a breathless. pleading voice told legislators, 'I love my husband, I love our two children. If something happens to both of us, please don't leave our two children to be raised by a homosexual couple.

And, Liz went on, there was the fundamentalist minister, "the Rev. Fife and Brimstone, who said Solomon would never approve because equality for women would lead to a long list of crimes, including 'euthanasia."

But, Liz didn't stop there. She then labeled the fun and game" boys who would make the ERA into a political football.

IN THIS category, Mrs. Carpenter really outdid

There was: 1. Rep. Post Office, the fellow who weighs his mail or counts which side sends in the most letters without regard to who generated them; 2. Rep. Apron Strings, the fellow who voted no because "my wife is against it;" 3. Rep. Consensus, who suggests, "You girls get together:" 4. Rep. States Rights, the man who suffers appolexy every time he hears the word Federal or Congress; 5. Rep. Macho, who Liz described as a "dirty old man who grew up as a dirty little boy who enjoys sensational gossip fed him by fear and smear artists, and who says 'Play me that old pornograph again," as he rails against ERA, and 6. Rep. Master of the Castle, who Liz says "is a man who never associates with women except in bed or the kitchen..."

With due respect for Mrs. Carptenter's past career and that of others involved in the women's movement, we submit they have lost sight of what it is all about. Women are entitled to equality, fair play and equal pay and to be treated as persons in their own right. But, they are entitled to have it without the sort of fringe benefits the nation has witnessed in recent days and weeks...

HAULING ICEBERGS from Antarctica for use as a source of fresh water sounds like a preposterous idea, but the leaders of Saudi Arabia apparently don't think so. Although rich in oil, Saudi Arabia is one of the driest nations on earth.

Its determination to obtain a dependable supply of fresh water was underscored by the announcement earlier this year of plans to spend $15 billion on desalination of sea water by the 1980s.

AT A PRELIMINARY meeting in aris this summer, it was decided that the ideal iceberg (as far as the Saudis are concerned) would be roughly rectangular in shape to help prevent tipping, weigh about 100 million tons, and be about a mile long, 900 yards wide and 750 yards high. A giant plastic tarpaulin would protect the iceberg from evaporation during its eightmonth journey from the Antarctic to the Saudi Arabian coast. On arrival, the iceberg would be chopped up and melted on a converted offshore rig, and then piped to the mainland.

The estimated cost of iceberg water, $1 per cubic meter, compares with the 70 cents it now costs to produce the same amount of desalinated sea water.

THE SAUDI iceberg plan's progress will be watched no doubt with interest by residents of the western U.S., where water-diversion projects have a long and acrimonious history.

From time to time, the arid southwestern states have put forth proposals to obtain water from the Columbia and Snake Rivers, which flow through the Pacific Northwest.

Oregon, Washington and Idaho have consistently opposed such plans, and this yaar's drought probably has stiffened their resist-

AN EVEN more ambitious water-diversion scheme came to light a dozen years ago. As envisioned by the Ralph M. Parsons Co., one of the country's largest engineering and construction concerns, the plan would have captured surplus water in Alaska and north-ern Canada and distributed it in seven Canadian provinces and 33 American states.

But, alas, Canada made it clear that it wanted no part of any such raid on its water resources. The Saudis will face no problems of this sort.

With the possible exception of militant penguins, there is no one in Antarctica to complain about stolen icebergs...

All Red Poland Has Is Plenty Of Nothing

PRESIDENT CARTER'S postponement fo his trip to Poland is a blow to Polish intention for more American aid. Behind the scenes, and for grain alone, Poland wants to double the aid to about $600 million a year. Like Porgy, the Poles have "plenty of nothing."

Poland's Red government has one of the world's highest debt service ratios. It badly needs easy credit terms from the United States, unavailable from the U.S.S.R. or Soviet bloc satellite countries. Poland's national anthem is a mazurka. The

A grateful Congress honored him with the privilege of American citizenship. He returned to Po-land in his American uniform.

OUR WARSAW EMBASSY believes the crackdown is a cheap way to "show solidarity" with the U.S.S.R.; polishing the Kremlin's apples at slight cost to the Red Warsaw government.

Political strife has been evident since the shipvard riots in Gdynia on the Baltic. Fifty-four people were killed and 200 wounded-the worst since the Poznan riots in 1956.

Internally and externally, the riots repeat an ancient tragedy. Poland has always been in the untenable position of a land mass without natural borders. Al-ways vastly outnumbered by enemies, Poland has again and again been the victim of hungry py-

Now, he said, the U.S. has the opportunity to play the honest broker from a position of constructive neutrality." And that, he said, means that both sides must be assured that America will take an even-handed approach.

"AGAIN, THE THIN smile. "You know," he said, "we Arabs cannot be blamed if we feel that your country on occasion has been neutral on Israel's side. We don't ask for patronage from Washington, only the fairness and understanding

"We Arabs find some previous American positions incomprehensible," said the Egyptian. 'After all, it is in America's selfish interest to have peace in the Middle East. The United States is a sovereign nation; there is no law that says your country should assume the role of big brother to certain other nations.'

SO IT IS TIME to say the unsayable, to suggest that Washington reject the attitude assumed, since the last World War II shot was fired, that there are certain nations that are more equal than others.

This had led us into supporting governments solely on the grounds that they are anti-communist and thus pure.

It might be more accurate to pilfer from the late Tallulah Bankhead, a shrewd amateur politician, and describe the more dictatorial regimes we support as "pure as the driven slush." Israel, of course, has never been that kind of a country. Indeed, Israel merits our sympathy. Its neighborhoods of the Middle East.

Those neighborhoods should be told that, contrary to some of our political rhetoric, the U.S. is not interested in only one thing-the state of Israel and its security. Otherwise President Sadat's statesmanlike excursion to Israel will be futile.

INDISPUTABLY, Israel has suffered. Moreover, we all share the guilt for the suffering of Jews written in blood on the pages of history. It is proper that the U.S. regard Israel as a protege. But to support Israel unequivocally while seeming to ignore the interests of the Arab world and the Palestine refugees makes us suspect when striving for "constructive neutrality."

But Carter said he was convinced all of Israel's Arab neighbors - Syria, Jordan and Lebanon - want peace with the Jewish state even though they have not accepted Egytian President Anwar Sadat's invitation to participate in preliminary negotiations in mid-December.

"If at some later date it becomes obvious that Jordan does not want peace. that Syria does not want peace, or that Lebanon does not want peace and a setmight have to be pursued." Carter said

The obvious inference was that the United States then might support a separate settlement between Egypt and Israel, which some Arabs are convinced is already in the making.

"But." Carter went on, "we certainly have not reached that point yet. I think the other Arab leaders do want peace

His public support for the steps taken by Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin was tempered with the qualification that their "exploratory effort" should be related to an overall Middle East settlement. And at least indirectly Carter urged Israel not to lose sight of the Carter began the news conference with an announcement that Alfred L. Atherton Jr., the assistant-secretary of State for the Near East, will represent the United States at the Cairo talks. He also disclosed that they are set to begin around Dec. 13.

Other U.S. officials said the date was one of several mentioned in private exchanges between Washington and Cairo and that the startup time would be "in that neighborhood.

Sadat, in sending out invitations, had set Dec 3 as a deadline for responses This led to a general impression that the talks would start then.

Selection of Atherton, which followed by a day U.S. acceptance of Sadat's invitation, lends the prestige of the State Department's top Middle East expert to the Arab-Israeli negotiations But department officials said they were not certain about the role he would play and added that it will be left to the Egyptian and Israeli representatives to set the agenda. has not yet regained the use of its stolen airplane and according to R.E. McClure. executive vice president, the firm may have to wait awhile.

"The plane is in Lubbock now, undergoing assessment of the damage done by thieves It-looks as if the damage is pretty extensive, and I don't know how long it will take to repair," McClure said He cited damage such as holes punched in the body of the plane, seats removed. landing gear and propellor damaged, a paint job marred, equipment stripped and blocks ruined. "It's a mess," McClure said. "They really did a job on it."

The plane was stolen Sept. 16 from the Howard County Airport and apparently flown to Beaumont, where it refueled and headed eastward. The next words came two months later when the craft was recovered in Mississippi in a dawn raid by federal law officers.

It was turned over to the insurance company shortly after its recovery and sent to an aircraft mechanics company in Lubbock to determine extent of the dam-passenger aircraft and routes connecting Bryan-College Station with Dallas and Houston to Rio's existing service.

WANTS AN ABORTION — An unidentified 32-year-old Martin County, Fla., woman strokes her 10-month-old daughter's head as baby looks at mother during testimony on abortion Wednesday in Tallahassee. The young woman stated that she needed a state-funded abortion "because I have about as much as I can do to handle the one I have and don't feel I can handle another one emotionally." The testimony took place before an administrative hearing challenging the state HRS rule which cut off Medicaid funding of abortions on indigent women (AP I appropriet).

O'Neill Chides Senate Stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill blamed the Senate Wednesday for a four-month-long congressional stalemate over government abortion payments, saying it has been in-abortion payments, saying it has been inflexible.

"There has to be some give on the part of the Senate," he told reporters. "There hasn't been any give in the Senate."

O'Neill's criticisms came as a third selfimposed deadline for settling the dispute approached. The paychecks of about 240,-000 federal employees are tied to the disagreement.

An interim funding resolution, the second of its kind passed while the abortion debate continued, was due to expire at midnight Wednesday. The resolution insured regular pay periods for employees of the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, and about 10 smaller agencies.

HEW administers Medicaid and social services, two programs through which the federal government pays for poor women's abortions. Only procedures paid for through these programs would be affected. The funding measure was for fiscal year 1978 and thus would expire on Sept. 30, 1978.

The emotional abortion payments debate has strained relations between the House and Senate. The House has held out for a narrow, restrictive abortion clause which would authorize payments when a pregnancy threatened a woman's life.

The Senate, taking a more liberal stance, has insisted that the mental and physical health of the woman and of the fetus be taken into account and that rape and incest victims be covered.

on the issue occurred Tuesday when the Senate made a new offer of abortion language only to have it rejected by the House.

O'Neill said a third interim funding measure, formally known as a continuing

If Congress fails to act, employees of the affected agencies won't feel the impact until at least next week. The treasury needs some kind of congressional authorization by Dec. 8 in order to process the checks for the affected employees.

"I would have to say that some of them see down the road a viciousness in the next election they would like to avoid," he said in response to a question.

Meanwhile, other House members were echoing O'Neill's sentiments.

Rep. Elford Cederberg, R-Mich., suggested in a floor speech that the House pass a continuing resolution butil some time in January.

"If the Senate wants to take the responsibility for the employees' not being paid, let them take it," he said, amid applause from some of his colleagues.

Minority Leader John Rhodes proposed that Democratic leaders encourage the Judiciary Committee to take action on a constitutional amendment restricting abortions as a way of preventing future stalemates.

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — An Air France supersonic Concorde jet bound from New York to Paris made a safe emergency landing Wednesday night at Shannon Airport when one of its four engines failed. A subsonic plane flew in to take the 50 passengers from the Irish airport to Paris. Economists Rap Unemployment Index

By PAUL ROSENTIEL
Pacific News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Carter's recently announced aim of reducing unemployment to four percent by 1983 may prove embarrassingly timid.

Before that date, the government may adopt a new way to measure unemployment that reflects a growing criticism by economists: that the current unemployment index drastically under-reports the true number of the jobless.

president Carter has appointed Sar A. Levitan, a leading critic of the index, as head of the new National Commission on Employment and Unemployment Statistics. The commission was created by Congress last year, in response to growing criticism from economists, to recommend changes in the way the government measures and reports employment and unemployment.

If Levitan's thinking becomes the basis for a new official unemployment index, that new measure will show that unemployment and the hardship it creates is much more severe than the current index reflects — especially in inner cities and rural poverty areas.

Massive Redistribution

The result could be massive redistribution to those areas and away from suburbs of the annual $16 billion in federal subsidies for community development, job creation, job training, revenue sharing and other programs. The money is currently distributed on the basis of formulas that include the unemployment rate.

Levitan, director of the Center for Social Policy Studies at George Washington University, is a close associate of Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, who must advise Congress on whether to implement what the commission recommends. The recommendations are expected by early 1979.

According to Levitan, our manner of measuring unemployment is obsolete. When it was developed in the late 1930s, he says, it was accurate to equate joblessness with hardship. But today, unemployment insurance and other public subsidies soften the hardship for some of the unemployment and, according to some economists, defer job hunting. Meanwhile, many people are forced to take jobs that still leave them below the poverty level.

"What we need is an index that will more realistically reflect today's needs in today's economy," Levitan says.

Earning Index
Levitan and economist Robert Taggart,

a Labor Department official, believe they have developed one. Their Employment and Earnings Inadequacy (EEI) index measures the inability of people "to attain an adequate standard of living through work."

In March 1974, when official unemployment was 5.3 percent, EEI was 10.5 percent. Even in 1969, when the unemployment rate was only 3.5 percent, EEI was 9.8 percent.

EEI shows unemployment for some segments of the population to be particularly severe. Black EEI in 1974 was 23 percent, and among black women heading families it was 56 percent.

Levitan and Taggart are not along in computing alternative unemployment statistics. The AFL-CIO, for example, contends unemployment in September was really 9.8 percent instead of the official 6.9 percent. The National Urban League's own measure for the last three months of 1976 was 13.7 percent for the whole economy (compared to the official 7.3) and 23.8 percent for blacks and a disturbing 58.3 percent for black teenagers.

One Hour Employment

Most alternative statistics build on the way the government now computes unemployment. Based on 47,000 monthly interviews, the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) classifies people as employed if they work as little as one hour a week at a paying job, and as unemployed if they don't work but have searched for work in the past month. These two groups comprise the labor force, and the unemployment rate is the percentage of the labor force that is unemployed.

Critics claim this method undercounts the unemployed in two important ways. First, people working part-time but wanting full-time work should be considered unemployed — or underemployed — instead of fully employed, they maintain. Second, at least some of those not in the labor force who want to work should be counted — especially those not seeking jobs because they don't believe any are available.

The AFL-CIO and the National Urban League compute their rates by adding, in different ways, these two groups. Levitan and Taggart include a third group as

U.S. Workers Salaries

Up 1 Percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wages and salaries paid American workers showed an average increase of 1.8 percent for the three month period ending September, down 0.1 percent from the rise during the previous quarter, the Labor Department said on Wednesday.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the biggest average increase came in the manufacturing industry, where the jump was 2.2 percent, compared with 1.8 percent for the three months ending in June.

The slowest rise was recorded for the wholesale and retail trades, where pay rose by only 0.9 percent.

Consumer prices for the quarter ending September were higher by 1 percent after seasonal adjustments.

Overall, the Employment Cost Index showed that wages and salaries for non-farm employees rose by more than 7 percent for the year ending September, leaving the nation's workers slightly ahead of inflation.

well: full-time workers who fail to earn an adequate income.

Economist David Gordon of New York's New School for Social Research, using different standards than Levitan's and Taggart's, computed 1975 overall unemployment at 32.7 percent (compared to an official rate of 8.5) and black unemployment at 50.9 percent.

Severe Problems Ignored Gordon charges that current statistics are inadequate because "the government often tries to ignore many of these especially severe employment problems."

In contrast, Jack Carlson, chief economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, contends that we currently overestimate hardship from unemployment. Government programs such as unemployment insurance cushion in impact. In the case of some low-wage workers, he adds, "The wife works, too, and both of them together are middle income.

Urban and minority leaders argue that current statistics shortchange them of federal dollars. Although the Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes 4,300 state and local unemployment figures, most represent large metropolitan areas or whole counties that reflect suburban economic health as much as inner city economic decay. And, because of poor statistical methods that rely on computer-model estimates instead of direct interviews, the BLS admits their economic figures may be inaccurate.

Robert B. Hill, director of research for the National Urban League, charges that one reason black unemployment has remained persistently high is that "we don't have the adequate measures and indicators to target in on those groups." He says that may explain why so few of this year's government-funded summer youth projects went to blacks.

Inner-city unemployment may also be understated, according to Joan Miller of the National League of Cities, because "a lot of people aren't counted." These are people, she maintains, who have either dropped from the job market out of discouragement or are never located by census surveys that form the basis of the unemployment counts.

Small cities suffer as well. "Sometimes smaller communities are completely excluded from federal programs because they have to receive a low county rate assigned to them, even though they may have very high unemployment," argues Don Slater of the National League of Cit-

These problems will be considered by Levitan's commission. Although the other eight members probably will not be appointed until early January, the law requires that they represent diverse groups such as labors, business and state and local governments.

Then the real debate will probably take place in Congress, which must decide whether to begin using any new measure of unemployment as the basis for distributing federal money and formulating economic policy.

A decision to do so could have a significant effect on the share of federal dollars many communities receive. For example, if the commission makes the seemingly harmless recommendation that military personnel be included in the labor force (they're currently excluded). Levitan predicts that lawmakers from districts v ith military installations will be up in arms. As he explains, "If you include the military in a Navy-oriented eplace like San Diego, you increase the number of employed, decrease their unemployment and San Diego loses millions.

"The trouble with these numbers is that each one of them has a political implication," Levitan says.

FDA Counsel Quits Saccharin Ban Case

WASHINGTON (AP) - The new chief counsel of the Food and Drug Administration has disqualified himself from working on the FDA's most controversial case - the proposed saccharin ban - for the next year to avoid a possible conflict

But since Congress has barred the agency from imposing its planned ban of he suspected cancer-causing sweetener for 18 months, Richard M. Cooper could be back on the case before any final action occurs.

Cooper, a former junior law partner of Health, Education and Welfare Secrétary Joseph A. Califano Jr., also promised not to take part in any matters involving three major corporations that have dealings with FDA and which have been represented by his previous law firm, although Cooper himself never represented

The three corporations are Coca Cola Co., the country's largest producer of saccharin-sweetened diet soft drinks; Pfizer

Inc., the world's eighth largest drug manufacturer; and Michigan Chemical Corp., the company that accidentally contaminated cattle feed with the potent chemical PBB suspected of indirectly causing widespread illness among Michigan farm

Cooper's actions were disclosed in a memorandum written to his boss, HEW general counsel Peter Libassi, following a reporter's inquiry about the new FDA lawyer's possible conflicts of interest.

Cooper actually is not required under federal law to remove himself from the deliberations over saccharin since his former law firm, Williams and Connolly, represented Coca Cola only in certain cases .Coca Cola's defense against the FDA's attempt to ban saccharin has been carried on publicly by an industry representative, the Calorie Control Council.

However, Libassi, when asked about Cooper's possible indirect conflict of interest in handling the saccharin case, indicated he might ask Cooper to go further than the law requires. In his memo, Cooper did that.

Although he never personally represented Coca Cola and although the company is not a party in the saccharin proceedings, Cooper said, "I shall neverthe less disqualify myself from participation in any particular matter involving saccharin for a period of one year....

Cooper, 35, also pledged that he would not participate in any matter in which any of his former law firm colleagues were involved "in order to avoid any conflict of interest and the appearance of any conflict of interest.'

Federal law requires government attorneys to disqualify themselves for one year from participating in any matter that involves a party represented by their former law firm while they were with the

FDA currently is prohibited from banning saccharin from foods, soft drinks, cosmetics and drugs for 18 months, but the agency's involvement in the issue is continuing.

FDA commissioner Donald Kennedy recently predicted the ban will be carried out when the moratorium expires. Cooper, who graduated at the head of his Harvard Law School class and served as a law clerk for Supreme court Justice William J. Brennan Jr., succeeds Ri-chard A. Merrill, who returned to his post on the University of Virginia law fac-ulty last summer.

Asked whether anyone at the White House suggested to the State Department that Lance might represent the President overseas, Granum said: "I know about no one here who might have made that statement.'

Granum said that about 300 persons outside of government service hold diplomatic passports issued by the State Department, along with those people in government diplomatic jobs.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said that it was not a "particularly uncommon thing" for someone in Lance's postion to hold such a passport.

"I don't see a thing wrong with it." Powell said, but he acknowledged that 'we don't have anything particular contemplated" in way of a Lance diplomatic

Refrigerator Yields Body Of Woman

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Police hunted for clues Wednesday to identify the slayer of a 53-year-old San Antonio woman whose bullet-riddled body was found neatly stuffed into the refrigerator at her apartment home.

The victim was identified as Nancy Ferry Schofield, a former local radio personality.

Neighbors told police she had not been seen since the day after Thanksgiving. David S. Schofield, the victim's husband, has not been seen for several days either, police said.

Homicide Detective Bob Fleming said Mrs. Schofield had been shot several times in the head, but police were unable to count just how many times.

"A patrolman went to the house at the request of a neighbor and found the body in the refrigerator," Fleming said after the grim Tuesday discovery. "A black plastic bag was wrapped around her head.

Investigators said a trail of blood in the Southside apartment led from the bedroom, down a hallway and into the kitchen. The woman's body had been placed upside down in the refrigerator. Police said they had no suspects in the

Court Reduces Murder Suspect's Bail

AUSTIN (UPI) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, contending the power to set bail should not be used to oppress persons accused of crimes, Wednesday reduced by $80,000 the bail of a San Antonio man indicted for capital murder.

The 227th District Court in Bexar County had set bail at $100,000 for Gilbert Vasquez. Vasquez and Magdalino Rodriguez were indicted this year in the shooting death of Maria Guajardo during the robbery of a grocery store where she worked.

Vasquez testified he was indigent and unable to make the bond. He also testified he did not participate in the robbery-shooting and only gave Rodriquez a ride from the grocery store.

The Criminal Appeals® Court said Vasquez' poverty should have been consi dered when bond was set, although it should not be the sole criterion in determining the amount of bail. The court also said the "meager" evidence showed Vasquez did not have a criminal record or past history of failing to appear while on bond, that he lived in Sun Antonio and that he could work construction with an uncle if he was released on bail.

"The primary object or purpose of an appearance bond is to secure the presence of the defendant in court upon the trial of the accusation against him," the appeals court said.

While bail should be sufficiently high to give reasonable assurance that the undertaking will be complied with, the power to require bail is not to be used so as to make it an instrument of oppression," the court said.

Assassin To Get Increased Term

WARTBURG, Tenn. (AP) .- A judge on Tuesday denied James Earl Ray's motion for a new trial on his conviction for escaping from Brushy Mountain Penitentiary last June.

Judge Lee Asbury dismissed the motion in Morgan County Criminal Court after hearing argument from Ray's lawyer, Kenneth Krushenski, and District Attorney Gen. Arzo Carson. Sentencing was set for 1 p.m. Wednesday. Ray, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Martin Luther King Jr. but later recanted, is currently serving a 99-year prison sentence. Ray, who has told interviewers he masterminded the June 10 breakout with six other prisoners, was convicted of the escape by a jury last month. The six co-defendants pleaded guilty in September and received one additional year in prison.

Ray did not attend Tuesday's hearing at the Morgan County Vocational School but he will appear to hear Asbury sentence him Wednesday to another 1 year to 2 years in prison.

"I expressly approve the verdict of the jury and the motion for a new trial is .

overruled," the judge said. Asbury gave Ray's lawyer 90 days to appeal to the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals in Knoxville. Krushenski said he and chief defense lawyer Mark Lane will meet with Ray Friday at Brushy Mountain to decide whether to appeal "It's pretty much his decision how he wants to do it," he said. 'The last time I met with him was just before Thanksgiving and he indicated then he wanted to wait after the motions for a new trial were heard before taking a look at what's ahead.

First Lady Attends Sen. McClellan's Funeral Services

LITTLE ROCK (UPI) - First Lady Rosalynn Carter, Vice President Walter Mondale and 34 U.S. senators flew to rainy Arkansas Wednesday to attend a typical Southern Baptist funeral for Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., one of the last of the powerful seniority system senators.

The eulogy for the 81-year-old McClellan was based in part on yellowed, handwritten notes of a Sunday School lesson on faith he once taught. One note McClellan had scribbled with emphasis read: "Faith is a higher faculty than

The 54-minute funeral at Immanuel Baptist Church and subsequent burial at Roselawn Memorial Cemetery were conducted in a steady rain.

The 1,700-seat church sanctuary overflowed with family, friends and dignitaries. A 117member choir sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "How Great Thou Art" and a few members of the congregation added "amens" to the words of the pastors who conducted the service.

D. W. O. Vaught, pastor of the church, characterized McClellan as a man who overcame tragedy — the loss of a wife and three sons — to live a life of triumph. "This is not a service of sadness and tears," Vaught said. "This is a service of victory. Sen. McClellan will never stand at The Judgment. When you believe in Jesus Christ, your judgment is over." Methodist Bishop Paul Galloway, a personal friend of McClellan, said the senator "came out of common humanity" to become one of the most powerful men in Washington "He was devoted to law, but first he was committed to the law of God," Galloway said. He said the proposed criminal code reform act sponsored by McClellan and Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., could prove to be McClellan's crowning achievement Mrs. Carter and Mondale sat with Gov. and Mrs. David Pryor and Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark. on the second row. Behind them sat Energy Secretary James

Schlesinger, Air Force General William McBride and several legislators, including Kennedy, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W. Va. For two hours before the funeral, McClellan's body lay in state in the rotunda of the Arkansas Capitol as hundreds of Arkansans solemnly filed past the flag-draped bronze casket with flags of the 50 states serving as a backdrop. The conservative Dixie Democrat, who had had a heart pacemaker implanted earlier this year, died in his sleep early Monday. He was 81. Death came seven days after the announcement he would retire Jan. 3, 1979 at the end of his current term. Had McClellan completed the term, he would have served 50 years in elective office, nearly 35 of them in the Senate.

President Carter opened his Washington-news conference Wednesday in praise of the "man of supreme integrity.

"I want publicly to express on behalf of the American people my admiration for what he has done," the President said. "And my appreciation for his tremendous contribution to our country. The U.S. Senate recessed in honor of McClellen. The flag at the nation's capitol was also flown at half staff. Although the crowd at the Arkansas capital was predominantly white, a fairly large number of blacks arrived to pay their respects. Those interviewed said McClellan's strong segregationist views in the 1950s and 1960s could not detract from his overall record "It was the least I could do to show appreciation for what he did for our state," said B.D. Beverly of Little Rock. McClellan's rise to power was marked by great personal tragedy - the loss of a wife to spinal meningitis and the death of his three sons. During World War II, son Max also died of spinal meningitis. Two nights before Max's funeral, John Jr. was involved in an auto accident. He died the next day. Then in 1958, McClellan's third and last son, Jimmy, was killed in an airplane crash McClellan started his political career as a country prosecuting attorney and ended it by being ranked second in Senate seniority behind only Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss. He used his prosecutor's style of crossexamination to gain a reputation as an investigator of organized crime and organized labor.

Along the way, he emerged as a national figure in the televised Army-McCarthy hearings of 1954. He led a walkout of the Republican-dominated subcommittee because he objected to the witch-hunting conduct of Wisconsin Sen. Joseph McCarthy. The next year, McClellan took over as chairman, fired McCarthy's top aides and hired as his chief counsel a young lawyer named Robert F. Kennedy His raspy voice was heard over the nation's airwaves again in the late 1950s when he was chairman of the Senate committee investigating labor rackets. He often exploded with anger at racketeers testifying before the committee, occasionally calling them "scum" to their faces. Disclosures of widespread corruption, graft, bribery, embezzlement and violence reskited in laws regulating labor unions. McClellan's investigation also helped send Teamsters bosses Jimmy Hoffa and Deve Beck to prison. Other famous McClellan investigations were of Texas financier Billie Sol

Estes, the Chicago gang called The Blackstone Rangers and F-111 contracts. He reached the pinnacle of power in 1972 when he became chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He was wooed by congressmen, special interests and even presidents who needed his support to push through key legisla-spice of life," Lubbock criminals went to work en masse late Tuesday and early Wednesday to test the theory.

Crime reports detailed such disparate incidents as the theft of 30 uncooked hams and eight turkeys, a pair of pilfered Coke machines, a foiled robbery attempt and a case in which the customer most definitely was not (always) right.

A ski-masked bandit tried, but failed Wednesday morning to get-eash from two registers at the Brooks Super Market, 1807 Parkway Drive Though one of the store's clerks said she thought it was a joke, the bandit clearly was not being humorous when he brandished a butcher knife and said 'Give me what you've got. A pair of mortified clerks fled in opposite directions and the bandit reportedly headed for a check-cashing booth and a second attempt. After turning up emptyhanded there, the robber fled on foot as employees began screaming. Police Wednesday had no one in custody in connection with the incident Meanwhile, the owner of a North Lubbock club was shot in the back about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday after a disgruntled cusside when he was shot.

In less violent activity burglars struck a business at 3006 34th St. earlier this week and made off with 30 uncooked hams and eight uncooked turkeys. Tom Clanton of §710 Geneva Ave. said someone pried a ock off the door leading to the cold storage area to gain access to the meats.

Elsewhere, burglars aiming to "wet their whistles" decided to pick up - literally - on some available soft drinks. John Hartsfield of 2815 Slide Rd. said someone stole a drink box from the service station at 5501 Brownfield Rd. Tuesday or Wednesday.

Hartsfield theorized that the thieves dragged the machine a short distance, then pushed it over into the rear of a at $1.300.

The second verse to the same song occurred at the Handy Hut, 7006 S. Univer ity Ave. Store manager Jo Williams said someone swiped the soft drink machine there also. She estimated the total loss, including change in the machine, at $1,-

Six blocks north, hurglars reportedly pried in to a soft drink machine at the L &H Drug Store, 6401 S. University.

Owner Lonnie Hollingsworth said the thieves took about $75 in change from a machine there and caused about $85 damage. Hollingsworth told police it was the third time in a month his box had been hit by thieves.

T. V. Biscoe of 2708 E. 10th St. said two pool tables and a juke box were stolen from the Texan Hotel, 703 1/2 Broadway, during the past two weeks. Biscoe said the items were valued at $3,000.

Owner Edward James Held of Houston told police someone stole 49 boxes of meat valued at $1,350 earlier this month from a steak house at 103 E. Broadway.

Tommy Thompson of Levelland said someone took his citizen's band radio valued at $250 while he was at the South Plains Mall recently, while Roy Hendrick told police someone took a $175 radio from a car on a used car lot at 7007 S.

John Bustamante of 2912 E. Bates St. reported the theft of his bike worth $73. Bustamante said the theft occurred Tuesday or Wednesday.

In a recently reported heavy haul, thieves made off with 250 feet of sprocket chain from a local business, as complainants from all over the city told police of missing property.

Tom McKinnley, manager of Jiffy Car
Wash at 2601 34th St., said the chain, valued at $1,250, had been around a 55-gallon barrel at the rear of the business when it was hauled away sometime Monday or Tuesday

According to Durane Castleberry, who lives on the Texas Tech University campus, someone got inside his car parked in the 2700-block of 3rd Street Monday night and got away with almost $1,000 worth of Wanda Berry of 5202 Bangor Ave., No. 302-F, told police her $600 television set was stolen from her apartment Tuesday. Reports indicated no point of entry was determined.

Neither was there a sign of forced entry into the 2001 9th St. apartment occupied by Jeffery Vance Johnson and Randy Wayne Fry on Tuesday. The burglary victims told officers a stereo and television were taken during the incident.

Nora Wong, owner of Wong's Imports in South Plains Mall, said a bank bag containing $200 cash and $186.55 in checks was stolen from a desk drawer at the; business sometime Monday or Tuesday.

Prosecution Ends Case In 'Busnap' Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - The prosecution rested its case in the Chowchilla kidnapping trial Wednesday, and the defense immediately launched its effort to prove that no harm came to 27 kidnap

Defense attorney Herbert Yanowitz introduced as his first piece of evidence television film of the Chowchilla school children and their bus driver the night they returned from an ordeal of underground burial in a van

The film showed bus driver Ed Ray walking off the bus that returned him to Chowchilla and subsequently addressing a news conference. He appeared dirty with a stubble of beard

Other scenes showed the 26 children walking, jumping and sitting at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Facility where they. were taken immediately after their escape from entombment under a rock quarry

The defense apparently intended to show that the children and Ray evidenced no visible signs of injury or heat

The film was shown after the last of the prosecution's 19 witnesses testified that heat exhaustion suffered by the kidnap victims was a more serious bodily injury than a broken leg

Dr Delmer Pascoe, a pediatrics professor and expert in heat illness, ended two days on the witness stand during which he provided the most crucial support for the state's case against James Schoenfeld. 26. Richard Schoenfeld, 23, and Fred Woods, 26

The defendants are charged with kidnap with bodily harm, an offense which carries a maximum sentence of life imprisonment with no possibility of parole upon conviction. The trio has admitted they were reponsible for the kidnapping but contend they caused no harm to the

Pascoe reiterated Wednesday that he believes the kidnap victims - 26 children and a school bus driver - suffered "serious bodily injury" as a result of heat stress during their 1612 hours of imprisonment in an old moving van buried in a remote rock quarry in July 1976

Colleges Pay For Indecision Of Legislature

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Since July, Pennsylvania's three largest state-aided schools have paid out almost $1 million in interest on bank loans, secured because of the legislature's inability to agree on a funding package for higher education.

Every day the lawmakers don't come up with a way to raise the $300 million appropriation promised the schools last summer. Penn State, Pitt and Temple pay out a combined $13,100 in interest on loans that now total $77 million.

Collectively, they've paid out $952,361 That's enough money to pay full, fouryear tuitions at Temple for 98 students at Penn State for 64 students, and at Pitt for 13 students

'It's ludicrous," a Pitt spokesman said Wednesday "There is a general feeling of unrest and frustration among the students. Individually, people are expressing

There is a feeling of helplessness, of what can we do? Thousands of people have written letters. Hundreds of students have gone to Harrisburg, and none of it seems to be bringing results.

At Penn State, there's talk of another tuition hike. It was just raised 9.9 percent. from $1.149 to $1,263 for an in-state student at the central campus. The main library is closing early to cushion manpower expenses Since July, internal budget cuts have reached $4.6 million Before the week is out, the school will borrow another $9 million; raising its total loan to $45 million. Beginning today, interest will jump from $4,000 a day to 5,000 a day.

At Pitt, janitorial and maintenance ervices have been trimmed. In addition to the $2,500 in daily interest, the school figures it's losing another $2,500 in state aid it's not receiving Temple, which is paying daily interest of $6,600, still has August bills outstanding. It was only this week that the banks agreed to extend credit to meet future payrolls and debts, at least until mid-Jan-

On Monday, the legislature was nearly empty. The lawmakers had gone deer hunting. So the universities paid the banks another $13,100.

Smaller counties reported math failure rates ranging from 25 percent to 36 percent, which was about what state education officials who designed the test had expected choosing electives instead. "I'm not a traditionalist, but I've recommended that we return to a more trad:tional curriculum," he said

Fisher said early results substantiated his prediction that the failure rate for blacks would run 2 times to 212 times the rate for whites. At Miami's predominantly black Jackson High School, 74 percent failed math and 31 percent failed communications skills. Some blacks have charged that the test is culturally biased. Turlington said the remedial program should cut the failure rate to less than 10 percent. "I think we can make some good progress as far as those students are concerned," he said. "You can get rusty in

Baby Boom Delights

Businessmen

NEW YORK (AP) - Businessmen are delighted that the nation's birth rate is climbing for the first time in two decades, because "from babies come business," an economist for one of the nation's largest banks said Wednesday.

"It's not going to affect the Gross National Product next year. but eventually it will affect all segments of the American economy," said Irwin Kellner, an economist and vice president for Manufacturers Hanover Trust.

"The baby business is big business. We have customers who sell to the baby market - baby clothes, foods, carriages and so forth," he said. "We also have people who work in local governments who will be alerted by this to anticipate the need for more nurseries and public schools, and eventually all industry will feel the impact of this as these kids grow up and become consumers.

Kellner said statistics indicate that 3.4 million babies will be born this year, the most since 1971. He said the number of births this year has increased 7 percent over 1976.

The number of babies born is in creasing each month, he said, adding that there may be even more births in 1978 than this year.

Kellner, who has studied the rend because banks need to know how many consumers there will be in the future, noted that "what I call the baby boomlet has longrange and short-range economic implications.

More babies mean expanding markets for sellers of baby clothes, toys, foods. Small though it may seem, this development will be enough to provide some frosting for retailers' holiday cakes," he said.

The post-World War II baby boom peaked in 1957, and "thereafter the number of babies born each year dropped, not in a straight line but in a fairly noticeable trend downward until the summer of '76," he said.

"I think the reason for this is a sociological one," he said. "We've come full circle. Many women who did not have kids in their teens or 20s are deciding in their 30s it's not such a bad idea to have a kid after all.'

Economy Index Continues Gradual Rise

ment's economic barometer rose in Oc tober for the fourth straight month, indicating a gradually improving economy, Commerce Department said Wednesday.

The index of leading indicators rose 0.7 percent for the month, close to the average increase in the past three years.

Commerce Department economist Theodore Torda said the index's performance in the past few months "is consistent with above average growth. The index increased an average of 0.9 percent in August, September and October after showing virtually no change in the previous three months, he said.

The indicators have gone up 0.8 percent per month since February 1975 while the economy has been growing about 5.5 percent per year. It normally takes a growth rate of about 4 percent a year to reduce unemployment.

The October increase in the indicators followed rises of 0.1 percent in July, 1.7 percent in August and 0.4 percent in eptember. The index in October was at 133.8, which is 33.8 percent above the 1967 base level.

Although most of the indicators inreased in October, contracts and orders for plants and equipment declined by 0.5 percent, a disappointment to economists. They figure consumer spending already has reached its peak and that further growth must come from business investments.

Economists indicated they were worried about a sudden increase in a separate measure called the index of lagging indicators. Torda said the 2.3 percent rise, the largest since May 1974, could mean that the economy is growing unevenly, interfering with the economic recovery. Much of the recent growth has come from government spending rather than increased consumer spending.

Contributing to the October increase in the leading index were a longer average work week, smaller layoff rate, an increase in sensitive prices, a bigger money supply, more factory orders, more building permits and increased liq-uid assets. Declining were plant and equipment orders and stock prices Sales by vendors were unchanged.

Economic Adviser Urges Tax Cuts

NEW YORK (AP) - President Cart- should be cut to give individuals greater er's top economic advisor said Wednesday that the nation's economic propects are good but that cuts in both personal income taxes and levies on business are needed.

"The basic elements are present for a bright economic future," Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, told a group of insurance executives.

But Schultzer cautioned that continued economic health is dependent on approval by Congress of a national energy plan that will encourage conservation and development of new sources of petroleum. He also said personal income taxes

In a speech at a meeting of the American Council of Life Insurance, Schultze also said the Carter administration's economic plan includes restraints in federal spending so that federal outlays amount to 21 percent of the Gross National Product-the total value of all goods and services. He said that in the fiscal year just ended federal expenditures were 22 percent of esti-

Schultze said the Council of Economic Advisors estimates that without a reduc-

"In the past, Congress has typically reduced individual income taxes when they have risen much above 11 percent of personal income," Schultze said. "Continuation of a policy of that kind will provide the wherewithal for consumers to increase their living standards."

He added that cutting business and income taxes "will steadily enlarge the markets for the products of our businesses, enlarge business confidence and help to increase the pace of business invest-praising the results of a month-old curfew they say has put youngsters in their homes late at night instead of hot-rodding up and down streets or gathering in parking lots.

City officials report fewer police problems - the original curfew's original intent - plus some surprising side benefits of requiring youngsters to be home early.

Besides giving police a tool to stop and question suspicious teenagers roaming through the city as late as 3 a.m., the ordinance has reintroduced some parents to their children and has acquainted police with a few situations in which youngsters were either afraid to go home or were left alone at night.

The ordinance requires children up to 12 years of age to be off the streets by 9 p.m. Sunday through-Thursday and by 10:30 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. Children 12 through 17 must be home by 10:30 p.m. nights prior to school days and 1 a.m. on the weekends.

In its first month, police have not filed one complaint under the curfew, opting instead to turn the offenders over to their parents. If such a complaint were filed, a parent or guardian could be subject to a fine for allowing a child to violate the curfew.

They're complying with it. People's perception may be off, but I get all kinds of reports that there hasn't been the hotrodding up and down the streets," said City Manager T.H. Caffall. "They're just giving credit for all kinds of good things to the curfew. In general, I'd say we are getting outstanding cooperation from the public on it."

Uvalde's curfew was patterned almost exactly after one that has worked successfully for more than two decades at the Texas border city of Del Rio. A similar ordi-- nance - not strictly enforced has been on the books in Corpus Christi for years.

'The curfew we adopted doesn't put any burden on the kids," Caffall said. "It very clearly affixes the responsibility for the child on

Edwards said that beyond police problems, the curfew has established better relationships between parents and siblings, and shown social agencies where their efforts are needed.

"Now they're going to bed where they belong, watching television or being with their parents more." Edwards said. "A lot of parents said their kids are having friends over to the house and get-togethers in the home instead of somewhere on a parking lot."

with a "take or pay" clause combined with low consumption created almost half of the 13.77 cent increase

The gas bought under the new contracts was "relatively high priced", he explained. But because the "anticipated market" for October didn't develop it had to be pumped into the system or else the company would have been financially penalized.

Bass asked Culver whether the highpriced gas was used in other municipalities, and the PNG official assured him it was sent to the company's entire West Texas system.

Other Price Factors Culver also ticked off other factors that contributed to the December increase, including price increases in newly negoti-

"It all washed out at 13.77 cents," he said, noting that it was "just circumstances" that the new contracts and lower consumption happened in October.

But, he noted, PNG still will meet its anticipated pass-through increases for the year even after the December hike is In January, PNG estimated that the must commit itself to "take or pay" contracts and must match prices set by competing companies. Continued Boosts Seen

The pass-throughs "will continue to be up" because "the only way we can continue to supply customers is to continue to buy new supplies," Culver added. And, he told council members, PNG has done a "heck of a job" in supplying customers and keeping prices down. The company matches other bids competitively but never sets the high price, he

"It seems this kind of increase at this time raises some questions" such as why now, Mrs. Jordan said, evidently referring to the council's recent interest in natural gas rates and pass-throughs.

"I assure you, Mrs. Jordan, that doesn't have anything to do with this,' Culver said.

Profits Less Rosy

And, he said in response to Bass' question about PNG's corporation profits this year, they are "not as rosy as last year." The profits are projected to be up "nominally," he said, pegging them at between 10 percent and 15 percent.

Council members had little else to say after Culver's presentation except to ask for more detailed information on passthrough hike reasons and for consideration of a more gradual monthly increases. In adopting the ordinance amendment, however, the council allowed itself leeway in control of the pass-throughs.

"We have to insure that if there is a mistake (in the pass-through rate), then we have to allow for redress, " explained Mrs. Jordan. Looney agreed that the account and refund clause will protect the public as well as the company. It also will give him adequate time to review passthrough justification, something that the city currently must do within 10 days of

Retirement Income Ceiling Wins Test

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House signaled a willingness to compromise Wednesday on allowing retired Social Security recipients to earn any amount of money without having their pensions re-

The test vote came a day before House and Senate conferees were to begin reconciling the different bills the two chambers passed to keep the deficitplagued Social Security system affoat.

The House bill would drop all restrictions on earnings of persons 65 or older by 1982. The Senate version would increase the earnings limit from $3,000 this year to $6,000 in 1979, with automatic increases thereafter. But it would retain the principle of a limit beyond which a retiree's benefits would be reduced $1 for each $2 earned.

Steep Tax Hikes

Both the House and Senate bills call for steep increases in Social Security taxes to keep the trust funds guaranteeing benefit payments from being depleted. Without action, the disability fund could run dry late next year and the old age fund by

The Senate bill would put a greater share of the increased tax burden on employers than on employees. The House bill would continue taxing both equally.

As the House named its conferees Wednesday, Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex., moved that they be instructed to insist on the House version of dropping the retirement earnings limit.

Motion Loses After extensive debate, the motion lost,

The outcome was a victory for President Carter, whose emissaries had worked hard to get members who originally voted for an end to the earnings limit to change. The House had adopted the provision by 268-149 vote.

Abolition of the earnings limit was estimated to cost the Social Security system more than $3 billion annually.

While instructions to conferees are not binding, they place strong pressure on the negotiators not to compromise. Ullman Opposes

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., the Ways and Means Committee chairman who heads the House conferees, asked for defeat of the Archer motion as "a vote of confidence that they (conferees) will live up to their responsibility to bring back the best bill they can get.

He said various parts of the complex Social Security legislation are interrelated and conferees would be seriously hampered by instructions not to deal

Archer argued that until the so-called earnings limit is abolished, "we will continue to lose the services of wise and skilled workers." The limitation, he said, forces some workers to cut back employment they are willing and able to perform and tempts them to circumvent the law by taking pay in cash and not reporting it. He said removing the limit would stimulate economic activity, thereby offsetting the extra cost.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., chairman of the Social Security subcommittee, said the proposal to abolish the earnings limit amounted to a tax of more than $3 billion on businesses from which the additional cost would have to come. He off debate.

U.S. Heart Attack Toll Diminishing

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) - The death their blood pressure under control has rate from the nation's greatest killer, heart disease, has been dropping in re-cent-years and doctors told the American Heart Association Wednesday that an improved American lifestyle may be re-

"The American people are exercising more. There is a 25 percent decline in adult smoking. People are consuming less cholesterol," said Dr. Robert Levy of the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md.

"We have striking evidence of changes in many factors, he said. "The question is which ones are more important."

"We think we're doing something right, but we don't know what it is," said Richard Remington, dean of the School of Public Health at the University of Michi-

The new bill passed by the House of Representatives that will sharply increase Social Security taxes over the next 10 years divides the American people down the middle, with 43 percent favoring the House measure and an equal 43 3 percent opposed to it.

The overriding reason for public support for the Social Security bill is not hard to find: by 89-7 percent, the vast majority of Americans firmly believes that "Social Security provides minimum basic security for older people and it cannot be allowed to go broke." Over the past few years, because of the rise in inflation and the way the original system was set up, it has become evident that Social Security is in trouble and would need further financing.

The House passed a bill that raises the Social Security tax on an equal basis among employees and employers. The Senate has a bill that will put a heavier tax burden on employers than employees. The argument against the Senate version is that added employer contributions will be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

In this recent Harris Survey of 1,495 adults nationwide, Americans show a deep commitment to the Social Security system and an aversion to making a radical change in it. By 49-28 percent, they reject the argument that "since most people need more money in retirement than Social Security provides it would he better to go over to a totally private system of pensions and abolish Social Security, since it has not been on a sound basis.

Moreover, Americans are willing to pay more to keep the system intact. Indeed, a 55-31 percent majority feels that "Congress is showing real courage in asking that taxes for Social Security be raised sharply to save the system." It is a rare moment when a constituency finds itself praising a legislative body for rais-

But there is also a deep strain of bitterness about the way Social Security has developed. Most people expected that there would be no problems in finding the money to pay people their Social Security when they reached eligibility age. Now, by 75-14 percent, a majority feels that "it is a prime example of irresponsibility by the federal government that Social Security was not funded properly in the first place." In a word, most people feel they have been shortchanged.

The 43-43 percent dead heat between those who favor and those who oppose raising the taxes on Social Security sharply over the next decade masks dramatic differences among key groups in the population:

-Among young people under 30, the new tax is rejected by 53-33 percent. The young hold the view that they are going to have to pay a much higher tax now in order to make up for deficiencies in payments by the past two generations. By contrast, people 50 years of age and over are in favor of the new taxes by 57-25 percent. They are worried about their own upcoming retirement and feel they will be the first to suffer if Social Security is unable to fund their own benefits.

There are also sharp differences by income levels. People who earn less than $5,000 a year favor the new tax by 46-36 percent, as do those making be tween $5,000 and $10,000, by 48-38 percent. But as income rises, so does opposition to the new tax. Among those with incomes of $10,000 to $15,000, a narrow 44-41 percent plurality is opposed to the higher tax. In the bracket between $15,-000 and $25,000, opposition runs 49-40 percent. And among those with incomes of $25,000 and over, a 53-38 percent majority is against the tax hike.

In recent years, on many issues, the people opting for radical change fre-quently have been those who are better educated and in the higher income brackets. But on this proposed major increase in Social Security taxes, the patterns are a direct reflection of economic self-interest. Those who stand to be taxed the most are most opposed to the measure. Those who would benefit most from receiving Social Security are most in favor of it. If the income distribution pattern had remained the same as it was back in the 1930s, when Social Security began, then an overwhelming majority of Americans would probably have favored this increase in taxes. But affluence has grown dramatically, resulting in the 43-43 percent standoff on the social security issue. However, given the basic desire of people not to see the Social Security system go under, it is likely that the new tax will pass and be signed by the President into law.

Emcee Signs TV Show Off Air After Counting Viewers' Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - When the Henry Eckhart family didn't like the rock show they were watching on television recently, they pushed a button attached to a computer in their living room. So many other viewers did the same that the emcee signed the program off the air.

Starting Thursday, cable television subscribers all over Columbus will be able to talk back to their TV sets - voting shows off the air, answering quiz questions, bidding in auctions, and even second-guessing coaches in sporting events.

The Eckharts were among 200 families who tested the computer device called QUBE, which was designed by Warner Communications Corp., whose largest cable outlet is the 100,000-home Columbus market. For a $19.95 installation fee and $10.95 a month, subscribers can get cable service plus the black computer box attached to an 18-button console. The buttons let viewers choose channels and make responses to the shows.

Officials will not discuss subscriber numbers, but before the advent of QUBE, Warner Cable claimed 26,500 sub-

They asked the audience whether they should continue the show or cut it off. she said. "We didn't like it and voted 'no.' The emcee said, 'The majority rules. Thank you and good night.' And the show signed off. Our vote counted."

Susie Russell, who took part in the test with her husband John, said they especially enjoyed the quiz shows and would compete to see who got the most questions right."

"One night he would have the console. the next night I would get it. One night, he was out and I took a sports quiz. I didn't get one right," she said.

Mrs. Russell said she also took part in an auction, "but I only bid once before I chickened out.

They would show an article and ask how many people would bid $5 for it. Then the bidding agent went up until there was only one person left." she said.

Like other cable systems, QUBE's 30 channels include some that offer nothing but stock market listings, consumer in formation or programs for pre-school children. Others - which cost from $1 to $3.50 per program extra - offer movies. sports events and college courses for "Television was the very first step in home viewing and QUBE is the next step - the giant step in television's sophisticated evolution." says QUBE President Lawrence B. Hilford.

Hilford said the name QUBE doesn't stand for anything but was chosen because it rhymes with "tube" and because it suggests "something that is distinctive and futuristic without being scary.

Dear Ann: I'm a physician who reads your column regularly. I was surprised to discover that many other physicians read Ann Landers. This letter is for them. The topic: compulsive gambling. Generally speaking, the compulsive gambler or the spouse is not likely to present the problem to a physician. However, if a patient speaks of a disturbed family life, financial irresponsibility and psychosomatic symptoms, the question of gambling behavior should be raised. A simple test can assist the physician in making a diagnosis. If a gambler answers yes to one of these two questions, he or she is likely to be a compulsive gambler: (1) Is gambling making your home life unhappy? (2) Do you ever borrow to finance your gambling? I am not suggesting that the physician treat the compulsive gambler, but he should direct him to the most effective organization for the treatment of the problem. That organization is Gamblers Anonymous. The spouse should also attend GamAnon, a group for the families of compulsive gamblers. Please print this letter for those who need it - and millions do. - Robert L. Custer, M.D.

Dear Dr. Custer: Thank you for your letter. I am well acquainted with G.A. and can vouch for the terrific job they do. The emotional support offered by individuals who share the same problem is unbeatable. It is the best therapy going.

doubt what you eat at breakfast would, of itself, cause a watery stool 15 minutes later. I suspect you have an irritable colon. You don't mention pain or looseness the rest of the day. Stress can cause this, especially if you are one to get up tight anticipating problems of the day. It would be interesting to know just which days of the week you have the symptoms and if that's related to tension.

I said I doubted your breakfast is a direct cause, but remember that stomach and bowel action is initiated by the chewing and swallowing reflexes. If you are a c ack-of-dawn worrier you might try delaying breakfast until you've simmered down a bit.

If what I've said doesn't apply to you, it is possible there is something else going on in your gut and a stool examination would be in order - for blood parasites. Other husbands have told me they feel the same way after their wives had the surgery, that it damaged their sex life, but not that of their wives.

One thing is certain. There's no way I can put back the missing parts. Can you advise me on how to think about this shattering put-down which I have caused my husband? I don't want a divorce. -Empty Shell

No way would I call you an "empty shell." You are unjustly assuming responsibility for your husband's sexual letdown. The woman's sexual responsiveness does not decline after this surgery. There are several reasons for a man's impotence, most of them psychological. The loss of the uterus did not undo you to that extent. By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY The game was match-point duplicate. The late Charles Lochridge, one of the great dummy players, whose bidding was on the sensational side elected to open five notrump and wound up at six after getting a chance to show his spades.

West opened the four of spades. Charley won, played his ace of clubs, stopped for a second to note that West had discarded the deuce of hearts and continued by leading his deuce of clubs to dummy's 10. East played low to keep Charley from taking four club tricks.

Charley might have tried a red-suit finesse at this point, but he had a better idea. He simply ran off the last five spades to come down to a five-card ending. East came down to two clubs, a heart and two diamonds, West to three hearts and two diamonds.

Now Charley led his queen of clubs. West let another heart go. Then Charley played his ace-queen of hearts. West was in with the king and had to lead away from his king of diamonds.

"Cinch hand," remarked Charley. "I was sure that West led into my spades because he held both red kings.

Farming Important To Big City Congressman

By MIKE FEINSILBER WASHINGTON (UPI) - Mulitmillion-

aire congressman Fred Richmond represents one of the most densely populated places in America - 467,735 people crowded into nine square miles of Brook-

So why is he always talking farm, farm, farm?

Why did he fight for a seat on the House Agriculture Committee? A few years ago a fellow Brooklyn Democrat Shirley Chisholm called her assignment to Agriculture an insult and fought to get on another committee:

Why does Richmond go to rural states. to be a farmer-for-a-day — hauling man-ure in Iowa, baling hay in Kansas, picking corn in Indiana, watching the "gasification" of chicken droppings and working on a cannery production line in Minneso-

Because, he says, the people in his district - with an average family income of $6,874 - spend 44 per cent of their budget on food (the average American family spends only 18 per cent).

So anything I can do to get them better food, cheaper food, more nutritious food, anything I can tech them abot nutrition, anything I can do to get them off junk food, is going to save them money and make them healthier," he says. Richmond wants to know agriculture from the ground up.

His driving idea is to bring back the small, family-run farm. Ring the cities with farms, he says. Let farmers truck their vegetables and fruits into urban markets and sell fresh food fresh. Reduce the role of the processor, the shipper, the middleman, he says. Let California sell its lettuce to Japan it can be shipped as quickly to Tokyo as to Manhattan). Let Ohio feed Cleveland and let New Jersey feed New York. He is convinced that fruit, vegetable and dairy farming will come to that (or return to that) as the energy pinch is felt. He points out that farming today uses

At 53, Richmond is a frenetic man with a rapid-fire style of speaking and a blue. typewritten index card to tell him where to be every minute of the working day.

Intending to run for mayor of New York City, he ran first for Congress to educate himself about federal programs for cities. He found he liked it here. His net worth is $12.5 million. He is the founder, majority stockholder and board chairman of Walco National Corp., maker of engines and machine tools with sales last year of $130 million.

He dismisses his wealth as an easy achievement. "I can sell anything," he

An aide says Richmond spends $100,000 of his own money, above his salary of $97,500, to hire extra staff workers to service his Brooklyn constituents. (And everyone who works for him seems to call him "Freddie").

Richmond comes to Congress by way of a Boston boyhood. His father was a catcher for a Boston Braves farm club.

"He would have made it into the ma-jors, but he met my mother," Richmond says. "In those days you didn't marry a ballplayer. She made him go to law

When I was born, he wanted me to become å left-handed pitcher. He made me lefthanded. And he worked like the devil making me a pitcher. The harder he worked, the worse I got. I never did become a lefthanded pitcher. But I'm certainly left-handed."

Richmond lacks coordination for sports. But he made over 1,000 jumps in six years as a skydiver. "until I got my social conscious" and had more no time to leap out of airplanes.

Now - driven either by his social conscious or the desire to continue to be reelected in a district which is largely black and Hispanic - Richmond, a Jew. spends his Sundays preaching in black churches in his district.

"He's a bit eccentric," says Lou Gordon. Richmond's press secretary. "He's not your classic intellectual. On an issue, he won't sit down and ponder it for an hour. He'll say. 'This is what should be done, let's do it.' I can make a commitment for him. He has full confidence in his staff.

Richmond, who is divorced, uses his large apartment in Brooklyn for fundraising functions for causes: one weekend for a home for the aged, another for a politico friend

In Washington, he lives in a large rented house in the embassy district. A 71year-old cook-housekeeper whips up meals for a constant round of eat-work evenings.

One night it's a party for visiting Cuban officials and guests from the State. Commerce and Agriculture Departments; another night, other Brookyn coungressmen dine with the Democratic county chairman from back home; another night, a picnic for all who helped steer a food stamp bill through the House. It made stamps free and available to millions more needy people. Richmond, the only big city congressman on the Agriculture Committee, has forged an urban-farm coalition in the

"If you can get Richmond to endorse a farm bill on the floor, he brings over the votes of 30 or 40 urban members who say, I don't understand it, but if Fred is for it. it can't be bad," says Rep. Floyd Fithian, D-Ind.

Along with agriculture, Richmond's other big interest is culture. He seeks ways to aid artists and the arts.

When he was in college, he formed the Freddie Richmond Swing Band and played the piano and accordion to help

You should have seen those plots in Brooklyn!" exults Glenn Van Bramer, a Richmond aide who shares Richmond's enthusiasms (and who commutes weekends to his own farm near Poughkeepsie,

Last summer. Richmond and his staff, using composted sludge obtained from a government experiment, raised tomatoes, peppers, squash, radishes and zuccini in wooden boxes on a roof outside his congressional office.

'All I needed for lunch was my garden and a salt shaker." he says. Now a fall garden of root vegetables has been planted.

Richmond thinks the government does a horse-and-buggy job of advising people on nutrition and getting them to give up sugary, chemical-filled food.

'It's the government's obligation to educate the public." he says. "If the Agriculture Department would put out decent nutrition pamphlets, any newspaper would be happy to distribute them as Sunday supplements.

The congressman is the moving spirit behind the "Big Apple Farm and Food Conference." an annual event he started sponsoring three years ago and which brings cows, ducks, chickens, sheep and bees to downtown Brooklyn.

Van Bramer and his boss share the concept of the produce farm of the future as a few, intensely worked acres with solar heat or energy from recycled wastes used to grow crops year-round. Food is grown that way around the cities of China all year long, they say.

"Sure it's Utopian," Van Bramer says. But using cheap federal water on desert land in California to produce fresh food for the 100 million people of the Northeast is a policy of madness."

Richmond asks. "Why does the average farm in this country have to be 400 acres? It doesn't. With the unemployment we have and the need for fresh produce, we need small truck farmers."

"If they leave the land, who takes it? Agribusiness does. What happens? Prices go up, quality goes down.

"You've seen what happened with your automobile. If you had 15 motor car companies in the U.S., you wouldn't be driving around in the junk you drive now.

"The American people don't want those cars — that's why they're buying Japanese and European cars. The analogy holds for agriculture. If agribusiness takes over, the vagetables you get, which you think aren't very good now, will be 10 times worse.'

Few Peers Found On Jury Panels

Two young men get into an argument at a party. One reaches into his hip pocket. The other attacks immediately, and is subsequently arrested and charged with assault.

At his trail, he pleads self-defense, claiming that the first man was reaching for a knife. Unless there are members of his peer group on the jury - in this case low-income blacks — it is unlikely that his story will be understood.

gays noted San Francisco criminal attorney Charles Garry. "It's assumed he's going for a knife. People from the silk-stocking district wouldn't understand

A Yale law student working in a New Haven court made a similar observation. "The problem." he said. "is the most defendants come from the inner city, while most jurors come from the suburbs. They can't understand what the defendant has been through. It's a culture shock."

Composition Crucial Indeed, juror backgrounds are often crucial. "The composition of a jury." contends University of Chicago law professor and jury expert Hans Zeisel. "has as much to do with the outcome of a trial as does the evidence itself.

Yet despite Supreme Court decisions mandating that juries be drawn from broad, representative cross-section of the community, most juries are still predominantly white, middle-aged and middle-class.

On the other hand, a high percentage of criminal defendants are poor and come from minority groups. They seldom find their "peers" on juries, because minorities and the poor are underrepresented in jury pools.

This is because of the way jurors are chosen - primarily from voter registration lists. That system is now under attack from lawyers and legal experts who contend jurors must be selected from other lists as well.

Voter List Unfair Jon Van Dyke, a professor at Hastings College of Law in San Francisco, has just completed a national study on jury selection procedures. "It can be demonstrated unequivocally," the study concludes, "that the exclusive use of the voter list skews the jury toward some sectors of society.

Philadelphia attorney and jury expert David Kairys, writing in the California Law Journal, maintains that the "race and class" bias of jury pools in large urban areas could be eliminated by simply drawing from four lists: voter registration, licensed drivers, welfare recipients and the unemployed

Kairys and two statisticians at Carnegie-Mellon University have developed a method that would eliminate name duplications on the multiple source lists at a cost of only $30.

Voter registration lists. Kairys pointed out, are no longer representative of a cross-section of the community because large segments of the population do not bother to-register or vote anymore.

Census Bureau studies show that approximately 40 percent of the population is not represented on voter registration lists in New York, California, Texas, Florida, North Carolina and Virginia.

Non-Voters Increasing

Other studies show that the number of non-voters has been increasing steadily since 1960, and that the use of voter lists alone discriminates against the poor. the young, minorities and women,

Although the 1963 Federal Jury Selection Act requires that other sources be used, when necessary, to insure representative jury pools, only two out of the 94 federal court districts now use alternative sources to supplement voter lists. Five states - Colorado, Idaho, Indiana, Mississippi and North Dakota - have adopted the Uniform Jury Selection and Service Act, which makes the use of multiple lists mandatory. Scattered through the remaining 45 states, only 15 counties now use multiple hists, while hundreds of counties continue to rely on the voter registration rolls Practice Continues

This practice has continued despite several Census Bureau studies which have repeatedly concluded that higher levels of registration and voting are associated with white males, aged 35-64, who work as white-collar professionals and earn more than $10,000 a year.

Conversely, the Census Bureau has found that women, blacks, people of Spanish origin, young people (18-34, old people (over 65), those with incomes below $5,000 and people in unskilled occupations were less likely to vote.

Beth Bonora of the California-based National Jury Protect believes the use of multiple source lists will bring more diverse attitudes, values and social experiences into the jury box, and will permit evidence to be analyzed from several

People who don't vote are more alienated," she said. "They don't think voting will make a whole lot of difference. They might be the same people who would be skeptical about police testimony, or about the criminal justice sys-

Disregard Presumed Innocence

The National Jury Project has also concluded that many jurors disregard the judicial instruction on the "presumption of innocence" - that a defendant is presumed innoncent until proven guilty.

In the average case, surveys show, about 60 percent of potential jurors say they would ignore such instructions from the judge. In highly publicized cases, about 80 percent replied they would ignore the instruction.

This gives the prosecution a heavy built-in advantage, and often requires that defendants prove their innocence, something that by law they are not obligated

Advocates of a change in the jury selection system claim that, by drawing from several different lists, there will be fewer jurors in the pool with this builtn bias against defendants

Old Process Comfortable

The strongest opposition to changing the jury selection system has come mainly from county clerks and jury commissioners who feel comfortable with the old process. They argue that the voter lists are still representative, and take addition of other lists would be "too costly" and " a waste of the taxpayers'

But their position may be eroding under an avalanche of court suits, challenging the appropriateness of the voter lists as the sole source of jurors.

This year, the California Supreme Court ruled that "official compilers of jury lists may drift into discrimination by not taking affirmative action to prevent-it, implying that the voter lists may no longer represent a community cross-sec-

And in a recent decision that startled many, the U.S. Supreme Court reversed the conviction of a Louisiana man-because there were no women on the jury which convicted him.

Ruling that Billy J. Taylor did not receive a fair trail, the high court said that the purpose of the jury is to guard against the exercise of arbitrary power — to make available the common sense judgment of the community

A jury can't fulfill that role, the court said, if it is selected from a pool containing only certain segments of the population.

TV-Inspired Battered Wives Gain New Weapon Drink Rite AUSTIN (AP) - Battered wives gained a new weapon against violent husbands Kills Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) Fifteen-yearold Stephen O'Donnell wanted to join two friends in the cameraderie of a makeshift fort but he balked at the initiation rites they had proposed. It was a fatal decision.

For instance, Stephen didn't like their idea of standing on a log over a pool of water while the other two 15-year-olds shook it. And he didn't want to drink a shot of beer every three seconds for one minute - a rite portrayed on the TV show "Happy Days."

Instead, he volunteered to drink vodka for his initiation. After downing nearly a quart in a short period of time. Stephen fell unconscious.

That was last Friday. On Tuesday, Stephen's body was found under a bush. This is how police reconstructed the

The boys, who live in the Virginia suburbs of Washington, went to one of their homes and the 13-year-old brother of one poured vodka in 8-ounce glasses for Stephen to down. One of the 15-yearolds, becoming scared, left before Stephen lost consciousness

The other atwo tried to revive him. They took off his shirt and undershirt and put him under the shower. It didn't

Finally, they wrapped a blanket around the him and put Stephen in a wooden shed behind their home. They checked on him Friday night several times and said he was alive.

But on Saturday morning, the 13-yearold found Stephen dead. The brothers telephoned the other 15-year-old and told him. Later that morning, while the brothers were shopping with their father, the friend looked into the shed and, like the brothers, was convinced Stephen was dead.

He went home and told his 11-year-old sister what happened. The girl also looked into the shed but none of the four youngsters told anyone else.

The O'Donnell boy's parents went to county juvenile authorities to report their son missing. He had run away in the past, so the parents didn't notify pol-

On Monday the brothers put Stephen's body in a wheelbarrow, took it down the street to neighbor's house, and placed it under seme shrubbery.

Meanwhile, the friend - unaware the body had been moved - told a classmate about the weekend's activities. The classmate telephoned police, anonymously, and told them about the body in

The report was registered as "unfounded" after a police officer looked in the shed.

On Tuesday the friend told a school counselor. Homicide detectives interviewed the boy, checked his story with his sister, but still found no body.

Then the youngsters told about the two brothers who were involved. They led police to the body

So far, none of the boys is being held and no charges have been placed.

In those days, for instance, a married woman had no right to sue anyone without her husband's consent and had no control over her separate property. That has changed.

"We recognize fully the importance of the family unit in our society and that peace and tranquility in the home are endowed and inspired by higher authority than statutory enactments and court decisions," Barrow wrote.

"However, we do not believe that suits

The peace and harmony of a ome nich has already been strained to the point where an intentional physical attack could take place will not be further impaired by allowing a suit to be brought to recover damages for the attack," his opinion said

The case arose from the shooting death of Robbie Bounds, whose husband, Dr. L.D. Bounds, was convicted of negligent homicide. The two were alone in their bedroom when Mrs. Bounds was shot. Her husband said she pointed a pistol at him and it fired while they wrestled for control of it their stepfather, winning the right to all their mothers' estate and life insurance. They also obtained wrongful death-damages from Bounds

But the Corpus Christi Court of Civil Appeals threw out the wrongful death damages on the ground that Mrs. Bounds, had she lived, could not have sued because of her injuries. It cited the Nickerson doctrine

The high court sent the case back to Corpus Christi for retrial, however, because the trial judge had refused to submit a self-defense issue to the jury. Bounds' testimony had raised the issue. the court said, and he had a right to have it considered by the jury in determining if he had intentionally caused the death of his wife.

Wide Range Of Entertainment Events To Be Offered Locally

By WILLIAM D. KERNS A-J Fine Arts Editor

The next week or so offers a slew of entertainment events, many of them major annual occurences, for Lubbockites to choose from. With the December Christmas season upon us, and so much on everyone's minds, more than one person has requested a day by day wrapup of the offerings as a reminder. With the quality of the upcoming events so high, it is impossible to say no to such a request.

So take notes, and try to miss as few of the following as possible.

The fun begins tonight when Texas Tech University presents its annual "Evening Of Percussion And Dance," a usually delightful array of visual splendors and melodic entertainment. The event combines the talents of the Tech Dance Division, Tech Percussion Ensemble and Lubbock Civic Ballet. Diana Moore, Mannie Rowe, Kristina Gintautiene and Luke Kahlich have all choreographed works for the evening.

Everyone involved in the production has been rehearsing for quite a long while. No doubt another sellout is expected, and deservedly so, but tickets remain on sale this morning at the University Center ticket booth. The "Evening Of Percussion And Dance" begins at 8:15 p.m. today in the University Center theater.

Those seeking big name music entertainment may choose to opt for Cold Water Country this evening, where big B. W. Stevenson is slated to take the stage at 9 p.m. Tickets are available at the door. And just to make the decision making process even more difficult, today also sees the American College Theater Festival continuing at Tech's University Theater. The representative play from Vernon Regional Junior College, "Everyman," will be presented at 1:15 p.m. today. And Tech's extremely original look at "Elizabeth 1" will once again be performed for the public and bestival judges at 8:15 p.m. today.

Tickets for each production are very moderately priced and are available at the University Theater box office.

The Theater Festival continues Friday with a 1:15 p.m. performance of South Plains College's "Noah" and an 8:15 p.m. performance of Odessa College's "Dark Of The Moon."

Friday, of course, offers another annual event in Lubbock known as The Carol Of Lights.

Afterwards, at approximately 8:15 p.m., the Tech University Choir will offer a concert of Christmas music in the campus Recital Hall. There is no admission charge.

Saturday will see the American College Theater Festival conclude with performances of Sul Ross State University's "Antigone" at 1:15 p.m. and Angelo State University's musical called "Sideshow" at 8:15 p.m. Again, tickets are still available at low prices at the University Theater box office.

Yet another major event is planned for Sunday afternoon. For the 17th straight year, the Texas Tech University department of music will stage its annual Children's Christmas Concert. The show is slated for 3 p.m. Sunday in the University Center theater, with ticket information now available by calling the University Center ticket booth. The concert, keeping a Christmas flair, features the Tech Symphony Orchestra and dancers from Suzanne Aker's School of Ballet.

The week wraps up Tuesday with the always excellent Texas Tech Marching Band scholarship concert (a real treat) at 8:15 p.m. in the Lubbock Coliseum. Ticket information can be gathered by calling the Tech music department. A bit later Tuesday, around 9 p.m., show band Balcones Fault will perform at Cold Water Country.

Tech's music department will also stage its first annual Madrigal Dinner at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 9.

Candidate Urges Repeal Of Utility Sales Tax

BROWNFIELD (Special) - Jesse T. George, candidate for the 28th State Senatorial District, has called for repeal of the state sales tax on utility bills and also came out against institution of any state income tax.

George took the stands Tuesday night at a reception here that veteran political observers said was the largest gathering for a political candidate in Terry County in many years.

"We must do everything in our power to make sure that the oil and gas industry that makes up a substantial part of our West Texas economy is not made the sacrificial lamb in any program instituted by the federal government," George said.

He also pressed for implementation of a water program for West Texas.

This committee will have to decide what school buildings are needed, where any new facilities should be located and how such a program would be financed," Lowrance said.

gree in 1975 from Baylor University at PLAINVIEW - Employees at Central-Waco and was commissioned through the Plains General Hospital here will receive a 35 cent per hour raise after Jan. 1978, as a result of the Minimum Wage Law and action by the hospital board of trustees Monday night. Recently graduated from the Navy's Aviation Indoctrination Course was Navy

The across-the-board raise will bring the lowest-paid employees from $2.30 per hour, the current minimum wage, to $2.65. the minimum wage after Jan. 1.

The 35 cent raise will give all hospital employees an additional $14 weekly for a 40-hour week, but is below a raise recommended by the board's personnel committee of 45 cents per hour for those on the lower end of the pay scale and 10 per cent for higher-paid employees.

That committee had recommended that base pay at the hospital be increased to $2.75 per hour in an attempt to slow turnover in lower-paid areas and prepare for additional increases in the minimum wage that will bring it to $3.35

Trustees, in a 4-to-3 vote, rejected that recommendation after learning that such a raise would require an $8 per day room rate increase

Instead, according to hospital officials, the 35 cent raise will cause room rates to increase not more than $7 per day.

Daily room rates now are $61 per day for semi-private rooms and $65 per day for private rooms

School board president Charles Waters says the business community is complaining that the Lubbock Independent School District has failed to teach children enough about the principles of free

Frequently I get complaints from business people that our kids aren't learning about free enterprise and the other things that made this country great," Waters said.

"Whether those complaints are entirely justified, I don't know. Maybe we could be putting a greater emphasis on the teaching of free enterprise in the public

"I want people who feel strongly about a certain issue to have a chance to do something. That's why I suggested that more businessmen be added to the textbook advisory committee," Waters said.

Lubbock and other Texas school systems choose their textbooks from a list adopted by the state.

Lubbock has an "official" textbook committee, composed of key school administrators and teachers, which submits recommendations to the school board.

In addition, the official committee gets input from two sources - an advisory panel of teachers and an advisory group of parents.

On Tuesday, Supt. Ed Irons presented to the school board a proposed list of parents "to serve as lay readers of the textbooks" up for adoption in five subject areas for the 1978-79 school year.

About a dozen parents were designated as advisers in each academic area - biology II, fundamentals of free enterprise, Texas history and geography, and litera-ture for levels seven and eight.

Such appointments are usually routine, but Waters balked at the free enterprise advisory panel, proposed to include six women and three husband-wife teams recommended by local school principals. Waters said the nominees are "no doubt fine, qualified people.

Jay Gordon, assistant superintendent for instruction, was surprised that Waters has received complaints about the district's teaching of free enterprise.

"We're doing a lot of things in that regard," Gordon said. "I certainly wasn't aware of any criticism from business peo-

Gordon said the district's social studies department, under consultant Leota Matthews, has done a "tremendous amount of work" in teaching the fundamentals of free enterprise.

Gordon said the district has held economics seminars and training sessions for teachers, strongly endorsed classroom instruction and activities in free enterprise, invited businessmen as guest speakers in local schools, and implemented various other efforts to explain the nation's economic system to students.

Army Studies Tanks Of Soviet Forces

the U.S. Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground are studying Soviet tanks in order to give U.S. forces more confidence in their weapons.

A number of the Soviet T-62 tanks under study at Aberdeen are part of the hundreds of Russian tanks and other weapons Israeli forces captured from the Arabs during the so-called Yom Kippur War in October 1973.

In September 1969, a unit of Israeli paratroopers ventured across the Suez Canal and plucked two newly-arrived T-62s from the Egyptian Army.

The tanks were taken to a secret site for comparison tests with British-made Centurion tanks, the backbone of the Israeli armored corps.

Military analysts creditied the Israeli tanks' success in 1973 to their knowledge that, while the Arab tanks were, more ni merous, they were inferior to the Centu-

The U.S. Army is studying and repairing Soviet tanks at Aberdeen to help instill in American forces an Israeli-style confidence in the superiority of their own arms, officials say. Although the Soviets have recently unveiled their newest tank, the T-72, the T-62 remains standard in "all Warsaw Pact nations," according to U.S. Army Maj. Delton Morris.

Morris commands the 519th Military Intelligence Battalion, which repairs the Soviet equipment and trains other technicians to handle it.

"The idea is to show American troops the vulnerabilities and capabilities of the Soviet weapons," Morris says, "to teach them recognition and to show them how to use them if necessary."

Morris says, "In a one-on-one situation, the U.S. or British tanks are vastly superior to the T-62."

However, Lt. Frederick M. Evans, Morris' deputy, does admit the T-62 has extremely reliable weapons systems. But officials say the drawbacks outweigh the weapons' reliability. For example, Evans says the T-62's heavy machine gun "is the responsibility of the loader. But to fire it, he's got to open his hatch and get waist-high out of the turret. When he's doing that, of course, he can't load." U.S. tank designs, Evans says, allow tank commanders to operate any of the three weapons-the cannon or either of two machine guns. But the Soviet tank commander can only traverse the turret. Also, Evans says, "Our tanks have ar on-board computer to compute ranges. But in Russian tanks that has to be done manually." Morris adds that the Soviet tanks are so cramped that crews can become fatigued easily, especially in hot weather. "And then there's noise fatigue," says Evans pointing out that the Russian tanks have no insulation against engine

"For a training film we made," Evans says, "the crew came out in half an hour complaining that they couldn't even hear the orders of the tank commander.

The Soviet tanks are also vulnerable to detection when operating over dry ter-

"It has an air suction system to cool the engine lubricants," Evans says.

EIGHTH BODY FOUND - The body of Laureen Wagner is examined after its discovery in the Mt. Washington area near Los

Police Set Up Special Task Force To Solve Stranglings

LOS ANGELES (UP!) - A special police task force Wednesday pressed its search for one or two men in the strangling deaths of a dozen women.

Glendale police said they have received numerous calls from women expressing fear of walking in the area, on being out alone at night.

"Ever since November 6th when the whole thing started," a Glendale officer said, "there have been a lot of calls. Women are afraid to go out at night."

The latest victim was 18-yearold Lauren Raye Wagner of Sepulveda. Witnesses said the petite redhaired business school student was pulled from her car late Monday near her home by two men. Her nude body was found the next morning in a residential area 12 miles from her

It was not immediately known if she had been sexually assaulted. Many of the other victims had been raped.

Police have refused to disclose the actual method of strangulation, saying it might provide a key to finding the killer or killers.

Police were reluctant to tie all the homicides together but said the Wagner case "bears a number of similarities with the others and will be part of the task five-mile radius of the city of Glendale, but Glendale police who were working with the Los Angeles Police Department and county officers, said only one of the victims was actually a Glendale resident. Lubbock Man Convicted In Slaying

Avalanche-Journal Staff Juan Manuel Luna was found guilty of murder by a jury here Wednesday in connection with an early morning shooting which claimed the life of a Lubbock

The nine-woman, three-man panel in Judge Thomas L. Clinton's 99th Dist. Court deliberated three hours and 10 minutes before returning the murder ver-

Luna. 22. was convicted of murdering 59-year-old Antonio Moreno, who died from a shotgun blast about 5 a.m. May 29 at a small frame house at 4417 Ave. H.

The punishment phase of the trial was to begin at 9 a.m. today. The jury which convicted Luna will assess his punishment. The penalty range for murder is 5 to 99 years, or life imprisonment.

Four options were presented jurors Wednesday. They could have acquitted Luna, or found him guilty of murder, voluntary manslaughter or involuntary man-Prosecutors Bob Jones and Jim Darnell asked in final argument for the murder conviction, while court-appointed detense attorney Tommy Turner argued that his client had acted in self-defense.

Turner urged jurors to acquit Luna, but which the maximum punishment is 10

The case hinged on whether the jury believed Luna had been in fear of his life when, according to testimony, he fired one or two shotgun blasts toward the residence.

Moreno was killed, and two other men. Cruz Campos and Andrew Rosales, were wounded.

Testimony indicated that Luna and some companions had gone to the residence in the early morning hours to drink beer. Witnesses said there was some bickering, and that Luna and his friends were ushered out the door.

According to the main state witness, Leonardo Moreno (no relation to the victim), Luna fired two shotgun blasts after Campos emerged from the house carrying what later proved to be a toy rifle. Turner argued Luna had feared for his

But Jones and Darnell countered that evidence indicated Luna's actions were the result of cool deliberation.

"All the testimony shows that he (Luna) walked to his car, a distance of some 60 feet," Jones argued. "He did not run. as any resonable person might have if he was in fear of imminent bodily danger.' Jones also stressed testimony which indicated the .12-gauge shotgun purportedof involuntary manslaughter, a crime for ed.

"He took the gun and got shells out of the glove box. He shot twice. He shot once and then loaded the gun again,"

Darnell also argued it was unlikely Luna would have stood manually loading a weapon if he felt he were in danger of being shot by a man holding a gun 60 feet

The prosecutors argued the self-defense plea was negated by a statement introduced into evidence in which Luna indicated he had been intoxicated on the morning in question and remembered nothing of the alleged events.

'How can you wash it - a statement saying he didn't remember anything at all, with the assertion that he acted in self-defense because of fear for his life?" Darnell queried

Turner asked jurors to place themselves in Luna's position.

We've been hearing a lot about a toy rifle." he said. "Put yourself in the defendant's position. Here he is, he's been drinking, just thrown out of a place and a man comes out carrying a gun. It's dark and a distance of some 60 feet away. What would you have done?" the attornev asked.

Turner also pointed out that Leonardo Moreno had stated that he thought the toy rifle was a real weapon

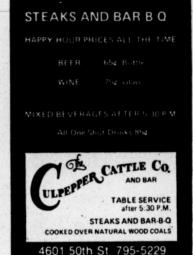

Both sides stressed Moreno's testimony, saying it represented possibly the most accurate recollection of events.

Moreno said there had been an argument inside the house. He said that after Luna had left and gone toward his car a man with a gun had stepped outside.

The witness indicated the man who came outside had the gun pointed in the general direction of Luna and his com-He said he then saw Luna fire. "I saw the heavy-set man fall, then get up and run inside," Moreno said. He later identified the heavy-set man as Campos

"Then Luna reloaded and fired a second shot," Moreno said.

Congress Examines Medical School Admissions

WASHINGTON (AP) - American medical schools should have more flexibility in admission policies involving transfer students without risking federal money, House-Senate conferees decided

In the past year, 14 American medical schools have given up close to $11 million States. in federal funds rather than let the government dictate how many American students they must accept from foreign

A law passed last year requires medical schools to accept their fair share of U.S.. citizens who have completed two years in a foreign medical school, passed the standard examination known as the National Boards and who want to finish their medical education in the United Committee's health subcommittee said the new law would exist only one year. In the meantime, hearings probably will be held to see how the program works out,

Charles Fentress, director of public relations for the Association of American Medical Colleges, said he thinks most of the schools can live with the compromise

"We think it's far superior to the existing law. It will provide many of the schools an opportunity to participate in the program," he said.

Fentress would not predict how many of the 14 schools which do not participate will have a change of heart. But he said some of them them might stick by the belief that any federal intrusion into the admission policies is unwarranted. The medical schools that have refuse to participate include Stanford Univers

"He should never ever have been exposed to that amount of radiation without his consent," Mrs. Broudy told a news conference after her lawyers filed the suit against the Veterans Administration in U.S. District Court. "He was not a volunteer.

The suit claims early detection and treatment could have prevented Broudy's death and that it was the responsibility of the government and the Veterans Administration to notify Broudy to seek early medical treatment

Mrs. Broudy said her husband was first exposed to radiation in 1948 when he was ordered to board ships contaminated by radioactive debris from nuclear tests near Bikini Atoll in the Pacific.

He was also exposed to radiation during three nuclear tests in the Nevada desert in June and July of 1957, she said.

In August, the VA rejected benefit claims filed by the Broudys, concluding his disabilities were "not incurred or aggravated by service.

The filing of the Broudy suit coincides with the start of a nationwide campaign by Another Mother for Peace to locate others exposed to radiation during the tests or their survivors to warn them of

Houston Council Okays Pay Hikes For City Workers

HOUSTON (AP) - Pay hikes that will cost Houston an additional $20.5 million a year were approved Wednesday by the city council.

The 2,863 policemen and 2,184 firefighters will receive 9 percent across the board increases. Most of the 14,600 employees in other departments will receive increases averaging 9 percent, but with lower paid workers receiving a minimum $75 a month boost.

Mayor Fred Hofheinz, who had recommended a 7 percent increase for all employees, voted against the action, saying the higher increase might lead to a tax

Councilman Jim Westmoreland, who headed a three-member council commit-tee that recommended the 9 per cent formula, said the matter had been discussed with Mayor-elect Jim McConn and that the committee concluded the higher increases could be financed without a tax hike. McConn is to take office

Student Loan Cost Advisory Mandated

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new government rule will require colleges and postsecondary vocational schools to give students information about dropout rates and the full cost of attendance and loans.

The regulation will apply to the 8,300 institutions that take part in federal student aid or loan programs, including the default-plagued Guaranteed Student Loan programs.

The regulation, to be published in today's Federal Register, will take effect in Schools must make the information available on request to prospective or enrolled students. They also must include information about their refund policy, student eligibility and how they select aid

The dropout-rate information is designed to give students an early warning about schools that few students are graduated from.

Some 344,000 students have defaulted on $430 million in federally backed loans since 1965 and the government is pressing efforts to recover some of the money.

"We find some of the students telling us, 'Well, I didn't get anything from my education," said Stephen Blair, a financial aid official in the U.S. Office of Education. The new regulation is designed to put students "in a better position to know what they're buying into," he add-

The regulation allows schools to describe their retention rates "in terms of each school's enrollment patterns and types of students." But the schools must specify whether the rates exclude parttime students or anyone else.

The original regulation proposed last April would have imposed a stricter disclosure of dropout rates. But some schools complained that students would of Education said.

Blair said the commissioner of education will require stricter disclosure if the schools do not make "useful" information about their retention rates available.

Students will be entitled to see what percentage of students complete a particular course of study, but only if the school compiles that information. The schools must give students a sample repayment schedule showing what it will cost to repay a $1,000 loan, for instance, and what the monthly payments

They also must provide estimates of the cost of tuition and room and board, including on-and off-campus living.

The government originally wanted schools to provide this information to students at no cost or only charging what it cost to prepare and publish it, but that requirement was dropped from the final rule. The institutions can recover their expenses from administrative allowances in the federal aid and loan programs.

Prisoner Aquino Sits In Death Cell

correspondent at 17, the country's youngest mayor at 22 and a close challenger for the presidency at 40, Benigno S. Aquino Jr. at 45 sits in a death cell as the Philippines' most famous prisoner,

Two alleged Maoist terrorists tried with Aquino received the same sentence.

The verdict drew widespread protest abroad, including a statement by the U.S. State Department that it was disturbed by the decision. Marcos on Tuesday ordered the trial reopened, citing Aquino's complaint over trial procedure in an appeal to the Supreme Court

The government claimed Aquino and the others had conspired to install a Communist government in the service of a foreign power, which the prosecutor said was "Soviet Russia and Communist Chin-

Referring to the U.S. reaction to the verdict, Solicitor General Estelito Mendoza told reporters, "I'm sure the State Department wasn't aware of the evidence ... If I had my way, I would decide the matter as the law dictates, regardless of what other countries think.

Marcos ordered the case reopened after Aquino wrote a six-page letter to the Supreme Court asking it to "assert the independence of the judiciary if our republic is to be saved." He said he has made a "painful decision ... to die for my principles" rather than defend himself in a military court.

Aquino was among hundreds arrested in the first few days of martial law, including many other members of the disbanded Philippine Congress.

When the military commission began taking evidence against Aquino in August 1973 the ex-senator made an impassioned plea for a civil trial that brought applause

WASHINGTON (AP)- Certain sets of toy golf clubs may have defective metal rods which could fly off from their handles when swung, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The toys are "Par-Golf Toy Golf Clubs," model numbers 721 and 723. They are packaged in pairs along with two golf balls on a cardboard backing labeled "Par Golf" and "H-G Toys." They were shipped to stores before last May 1 and retail from about $1.50 to $2.50 in specialty and variety stores.

The commission said consumers should inspect their clubs, and if the connection is weak, return the clubs to their retailer for refund or replacement. Consumers who desire more information should write to H-G Toys, Inc., 750 Park Place, Long Beach, N.Y., 11561.

Photographer Declared Immune From Libel Suit

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - A news photographer may not be sued for libel for taking a nondefamatory picture that is published alongside a possibly defamatory story, the Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The high court dismissed a lawsuit against photographer Bruce Fritz and ordered a trial for the libel case's remaining defendants

Patricia and William Westby had sued Fritz, the Capital Times, Madison Newspapers Inc., several editors and reporter Mike Dorgan for allegedly libeling them by identifying them as paid government informers in a 1975 Capital Times article.

The front-page story was accompanied by a photograph of Mrs. Westby, taken by

tory Forecast For Vorster, Party

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - Voters elected a new parliament Wednesday in segregated South Africa, and early results bore out predictions of a landslide victory for Prime Minister John won five of the first six decided contests by margins of 6 to 22 per cent of the vote over the nearest competitor. Its candidates were unopposed in nearly onefourth of the other districts.

The liberal Progressive Federal Party, trying to supplant the centrist New Reublic Party as the major opposition, defeated that party in the sixth contest.

Final results of the voting are expected Thursday, About 2.2 million whites were registered, and about 60 per cent ventured out in rain and gales to cast ballots. The country's 19 million blacks are barred from voting.

The conservative Nationalists, bolstered by white concern over continuing His ruling conservative National Party & racial tension, seemed capable of extending their 70 percent control of the current Parliament in which they hold 116 of 165

> Vorster called elections 18 months early. He wes seeking support for a proposed new constitution that would set sp separate parliaments for the 4.5 million whites, 2.5 million persons of mixed race and 750,000 Asians. There would be no representation for the blacks, who make up 70 percent of the population

Vorster also wanted a mandate to reject what he called "meddling" by the United States and other nations in South Africa's domestic affairs.

He and his wife, Tini, were among the first to vote, casting their ballots in drizzling rain at a booth at a Pretoria high school.

Vorster, like most of the National party leadership, is an Afrikaner. The Afrikaners, descended from Dutch and French colonists, are solidly in the majority among the nation's whites and support the government's apartheid policy of race separation.

The Nationalists have a firm grip on most of their seats in Parliament, and fielded 147 of the 275 total candidates in this election. Forty-two Nationalist candidates were unopposed.

The opposition, whose two major parties advocate some power sharing with blacks, has splintered over how to react to black discontent, and the Englishspeaking whites were expected to swing away from their usual support of the opposition and toward the Nationalists.

Canal Pact To Hike Rates

the new Panama Canal Treaty will mean a 25 percent to 40 percent increase in tolls for ships passing through the waterway, U.S. officials said on Wednesday.

think I

They acknowledged that the increases will likely hit some U.S. flaghip companies hard

Maj. Gen. H.R. Parfitt, governor of the Canal Zone, and Howard F. Case, an assistant secretary of Commerce testified committee examining financial costs of the proposed treaty

The pact provides for the Panamanian government to receive at least $20 million annually in direct payments from canal revenues. Additional payments would be made based on how much cargo is carried through the canal each year.

Parfitt said those payments will inevitably force a rise in tolls for the waterway,

The tolls are to be collected by a U.S. controlled Panama Canal Commission which in turn would make payments to the Panamanian government.

Case said the impact on consumers in the United States and in other countries would be negligible.

But he said the higher tolls will probably mean a drop of several million tons cargo traveling through the waterway.

It now costs 66 cents per bushel to ship corn, wheat or soy beans to Japan. Case said the additional costs with a 30 percent hike in tolls would be less than a half cent per bushel.

The impact of the higher tolls on the U.S. economy "would be negligible,"

U.S. East Coast consumers who regularly purchase coffee from Columbia or bananas from Ecuadore would probably pay significantly higher prices, however,

Also testifying Wednesday were treaty negotiators Sol Linowitz and Ellsworth Bunker, who were asked if the treaty isn't a means of bailing out U.S. banks who are owed $355 million by the Panamanian government.

They said the pact has no connection to Panamanian debts.

Bunker said the Panamanians initially sought a $1 billion cash payment as part of the treaty agreement, a demand later reduced to $460 million

In the end, he said, the Panama's negotiators accepted a $345 million aid package over 20 years, plus the payments to be made from canal revenue

The payments include $10 million annually whether the canal is operational or closed by a landslide or some other

Bunker said if for some reason the canal runs in the red before the year 2000, the administration plans to seek approval to borrow funds from the U.S. Treasury to make up any deficit.

Mating Pandas Disappoint Doting Japanese Public

TORYO (UPI) - Lan Lan the panda patted her tumniy Wednesday, smiled her usual Mona Lisa smile and gave 113 million disappointed Japanese the message that a lady still is entitled to her secrets.

Snuffing out a national wave of curiosity, officials of Tokyo's Ueno zoo told a news conference the nine year-old giant panda definitely is not going to have a cub this year. Lan Lan became the country's No. 1 conversation piece last June when she mated for the first time with her five year-old champion, Kan Kan.

The two pandas were given Japan by the Chinese government after the two countries normalized their relations five

The animals are natives of Szechuan province in far western China at the base of Himalayas, and no panda has ever been born in captivity outside China. Previous attempts at the London and Moscow zoos failed.

After rejecting Kan Kan's unenthusiastic advances four times, Lan Lan finally submitted to him in June. The belated wedding night in the pandas' air conditioned zoo house was covered in full on national television.

The nation held its breath and waited for the results. Newspapers carried columns of interviews with supposed experts on the subject of panda pregnancy. What the Japanese found out was that pregnant pandas don't display overt symptoms. They look about the same as they do when they aren't pregnant.

The only visible sign is swelling that appears in a pregnant panda's nipples. Lan Lan's nipples did swell a little during the autumn, giving hope to expectant zookeepers and Japa-nese that a cuddly baby panda was due around the end of

The zoo even set up a telephone message service to play recorded reports on Lan Lan's condition to children who bombarded the office calls.

However, November came and went with Lan Lan still patting her tummy and grinning as usual. But there was no baby panda and Wednesday the zoo's veterinarians finally concluded Lan Lan had been kidding them "Unfortunately it failed this time," a zoo spokesman said. Pandas mate only for a brief period in the spring, if at all. A POT OF COFFEE, A PLATE OF COOKIES, WANDA AND DIANE ND THEE!

Concern Grows Over Children Hit By High Blood Pressure

CHICAGO (AP) - High blood pressure is being increasingly recognized in children as physicians become more aware of it, a Los Angeles radiologist said Wednesday. And when it is diagnosed, kidney disease often is found to be the cause of it, he said. The radiologist, Dr. Philip Stanley, presented a study of 31 children and adolescents with hypertension caused by disease of the blood vessels of the kidney at the annual meeting of the Radiological Society of North America Stanley, who is affiliated with Children's Hospital of Los Angeles and the University of Southern California, said the study he conducted with his colleagues is the largest ever presented. The children involved ranged in age from less than 1 year to 19 years, including 18 males and 13 females: An estimated 1 to 2 per cent of all children are hypertensive, he said, and 75 to 80 per cent of them have a secondary cause. Of these causes, kidney disease is the most common,

Those with kidney disease as the underlying cause have extemely high blood pressure-110 or greater, much higher than those of those who have essential hypertension, that which has no underlying cause, he said.

These children have normal urinalyses, so the disease may

It is important that children with high blood pressure caused by kidney disease be identified because surgical treatment can cure it in 95 to 100 per cent of cases, Stanley

This teatment usually involves a bypass graft of a vein to replace the diseased blood vessel, although removal of one kidney sometimes is necessary.

The radiologist said pediatricians should be more aware of blood pressure and take this measurement, at least periodi-

He recommended also that children with bad cases of hypertension be treated at large medical centers which have the most sophisticated diagnostic and treatment facilities.

Solar Energy Promotion Slated

Menu Planning By Computers Projected

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) - The federal government could save as much as $3 million a day on its National School Lunch Program by using computers to plan school lunch menus, according to a University of Massachusetts professor.

Joseph Balintfy of the university's business school said Wednesday that school menus should be based on students' food preferences, as well as budgetary and nutritional considerations.

The most efficient way to balance these factors, he said, is using computers. Balintfy denied computers would replace nutritionists, saying, "It is merely a tool to be used by nutritionists. "It is humanly impossible to find the optimum mixture in menu planning," he said. "For that you need a mathematical model and computers, which are much more precise than the human mind."

His mathematical model was tested in separate groups among 1,000 students in the Amherst and Easthampton school systems. Balintfy said.

The menu planned by computer ap pealed more to the children, and less food was thrown away, he said.

Computer menus could save the government at least 5½ cents a day per student, he said, leading to considerable savings in a program that serves 26 million students.

The key, he said, was finding out what children liked to eat and how often.

Then the results of the food preference survey, the nutrition requirements of the school lunch program and the food budget all were programed into a computer.

The result was a "preference maximized menu" which meets nutrition and budget standards and offers children the food they like as frequently as they're supposed to like it.

So children eat more and leave less gar-

But in order to save a full $3 million a day, Balintfy said, a "nutrient standard menu" must be implemented. Designed by computer, it would meet students' nutritional lunch needs without adhering to the present system of required food courses, such as one protein and two vegetable items and a half-pint of milk. With the nutrient standard menu, "We could budget for more exact requirements. So for less money we could get more preference," Balintfy said.

He admitted any swing toward computer menus will not come overnight, even though a school system of 2,000 or more students could buy a mini-computer for between $20,000 and $30,000 - an amount he said could be saved in the first year of the program.

More substantial obstacles are the cost of computer expertise and what Balintfy termed "the uphill process to convince the food and nutrition community, who have not had to deal with mathematical problems and computers.

Hayes said, "we need only an educated market and an organized political constituency. Sun Day will help provide both." The nucleus of such a constituency has been gathering behind the Sun Day project, which was endorsed by Kathleen O'Reilly, director of the Consumer Federation of America; Rep. Police Hit JP's Death Ruling

An apparent standoff between Lubbock police and a county justice of the peace over the cause of an Abilene man's death - homicide or an accident - has turned into a small-scale feud between law enforcement officials.

Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalack said he accepts as true police accounts that the 28-year-old man voluntarily leaped from a moving car, fatally injuring him-self, near Lubbock International Airport Aug. 14.

But in a move that caught police off guard Wednesday, he ruled the man's death homicide.

"According to the law, I'm required to make a determination on the cause of death, and from the available reports, I see it as homicide," Blalack said.

Police officials, though, say their long investigation has led them to believe the man's death was strictly accidental. That stand won't be changed, they said.

"We don't have any evidence to indicate homicide," Lubbock Police Chief J.T. Alley adamantly responded to Blalack's ruling. "If he has further evidence, we'll go from there, but he (the victim) opened the car door and got out while the car was moving. We are not going to show it as a homicide."

Police originally were called to a city hospital Aug. 14 to check on an "attempted suicide," but later changed their offense reports to indicate the man was assaulted. Now, police officials say his death was accidental.

The man died Aug. 27 in another Lubbock hospital, two weeks after being injured near the airport. Witnesses first told officers the victim-was injured in a 50th Street parking lot shortly after midnight Aug. 15. In later questioning of the same witnesses, their story turned into many versions of how the mishap occurred, including that he had tried to kill himself, that he had jumped from a roof, that he had fallen from a porch, that he had been involved in a scuffle and that he had been run over by a car.

Detectives said they finally were told, during lengthy interviews, the man had jumped from a car.

Although discrepancies in the witnesses' individual versions still cast doubt on their story, basically the witnesses - a woman and three men - said they were riding with the victim near the airport when he suddenly announced he was getting out of the car and opened the door. He jumped, they said, with the car still moving at about 35 mph.

They stopped, picked up the injured Blalack said he believes that account -

If funds allow, this would include the draining of One-Mile Lake and the dredging of the drainage canal as specified in the original application for funds earlier rather than homicide.

"I'm not going to make a different ruling just to keep the workload off them," Blalack argued. "We (the justices of the peace) are here to serve the cause of justice for the people who live in Lubbock."

City engineer Roy Crim will manage the initial phase of the project, advertising for bids in approximately 60 days. The exact date when work will begin has not yet been established.

The project was stalled last summer when local environmentalist Bebe McCasland brought up a number of objections to the draining of One-Mile Lake. Her claim stated that draining the lake would disturb the natural bird habitat on and around the lake and adversely affect the environment of the area.

Nowlin Pleads Guilty To Federal Tax Charge

Vaughan B. Nowlin Wednesday pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court here to a felony charge of failing to account for and pay employee withholding taxes to the federal government.

Nowlin, after being indicted on 39 counts of alleged federal tax law violation, had been arraigned Nov. 9 in Amarillo. His case had been scheduled for trial The 34-year-old Childress businessman, whose firm handled an estimated $40 million to $50 million worth of cotton annually at its peak, pleaded guilty to one U.S. Dist. Judge Halbert O. Woodward ordered a pre-sentencing report to be compiled on the defendant, and will assess punishment at a later date. The maximum punishment for the offense is five years imprisonment and/or a $10,000 fine. Nowlin last month was handed a fiveyear prison sentence by a state jury in Seymour after being convicted of felony theft by check. Of the 39 counts returned by a federal grand jury here Oct. 26, only seven alleged felony misconduct.

Nowlin pleaded guilty to the seventh count, which charged him with willful failure to truthfully account for and pay to the Internal Revenue Service taxes withheld from employees of the Vaughan B. Nowlin Cotton Company during the quarter beginning Jan. 1, 1976, and ending March 31, 1976.

The government alleged Nowlin failed to account for and pay the taxes on or before the due date of April 30, 1976.

Archaeology Researcher Visits City

Sydney Wignall, a British marine historian and archaeologist, will stop in Lubbock today while touring West Texas to speak to high school and college audi-

He is executive director of the Atlantic Charter Maritime Archaeological Foundation with international headquarters in Austin and European office at University College of North Wales, Bangor.

Exploration for Wignall began in 1955 when he led the first Welsh Himalayan Expedition to West Nepal. While surveying the previously unexplored 24,000-foot peaks on the Nepal-Tibet border, Wignall was arrested by Chinese troops and imprisoned for two months.

His pioneer crossing of the central Himalaya in mid-winter is included in his book "Prisoner in Red Tibet."

For 13 years Wignall's main interest has been 16th and 18th Century shipwrecks. His expeditions, all supported by the Council for Nautical Archaeology, have concentrated mainley on wrecks containing bronze artillery.

Wignall holds the first marine archaeology permits issued by the republics of Spain, Portugal and Panama In 1976, he obtained joint French-

American approval to locate and excavate the remains of John Paul Jones' famous ship. The "Bonhomme Richard" was lost in 1779 during the American Revolution shortly after Jones had defeated and captured the English 50-gun Wignall's West Texas tour is sponsored farmers filed a civil suit against him, alleging they could not redeem checks given them in exchange for cotton warehouse receipts. Other legal wranglings quickly followed, and Nowlin later filed voluntary bankruptcy papers.

The ultimate personal car from Chrysler 90. Automobiles

Cordoba TRY IT ON FOR SIZE

Fresh from its triumph as the most successful new personal sized car in the last five years, the Cordoba -1978 version-is new in brilliant new ways and comes to you at an attractive, attainable price for such a superbly equipped and outstandingly designed road car.

Comparison proves its value! The '78 CORDOBA has a longer wheelbase (114.9") and more interior roominess (380.8 cu. ins.) than other '78 cars: Chevrolet Monte Carlo, Ford LTDII, Mercury Cougar, Olds Cutless Calais, Pontiac Grand Prix, or Buick Regal.

... and CORDOBA has more features and options for your driving/riding comfort that are standard equipment.

Comparison proves its value!

Cooper stepped down Wednesday under alumni pressure, and Sloan, left, confirmed later that he had been contacted in connection with the position. Bears Fire White After 7-4 Season

BERKELEY, Cal. (AP)-University of California coach Mike White, whose 1977 team finished 7-4, was fired Wednesday by athletic director Dave Maggard who said he felt the action was "best for the future of Cal footall.

White was told of the decision in an hour-long meeting with Maggard, and the ousted coach met later in the day with White, whose 1975 Bears team tied UCLA for the Pacific-8 championship. had one year remaining on his contact. and Maggard said it would be honored. Maggard hired White, a former Cal player, as head coach in 1972.

White took the job when Cal's football program was on NCAA probation, ineligible for postseason play or network television appearances, because of recruiting violations which had occurred while Ray Willsey was head coach

White, 41, had a 34-31-1 record in six seasons as head coach.

'After several evaluation meetings with Mike White on the total football program over the past six years and following an hour-long meeting with Mike, I have decided to make a change and terminate Mike White's contract." Maggard said in a statement released by his office.

"This decision has been based upon an evaluation of the total direction of the football program for the past six years. I am making the decision based on what I feel is best for the future of Cal football. There has been no real pressure from any group either on the outside or from within the university to influence my decision." the statement added.

Maggard said he would conduct "a nationwide search to find the best coach possible.

The 1977 Bears were a disappointing 3-4 in the Pac-8. White's top team, the 1975 group, was 8-3 overall and 6-1 in the conference while leading the nation in offense with such players as quarterback Joe Roth, receivers Steve Rivera and Wesley Walker and all-America runningbáck Chuck Muncie.

White, in a statement also released by the athletic department, said. "Obviously. I am disappointed at Dave's decision. but I have been around the coaching ranks long enough to know that this is one of the hazards of the trade. I am more disappointed for my players and assistant coaches.

He added. "I am also very proud of what we have accomplished in our six years in light of starting out on a threeyear probation.

However, Parks stole the ball from Myers, and Russell scored with 12 seconds remaining for a 71-68 advantage. Tech regained the ball with a couple of seconds left and hit guard Geoff Huston under the goal. He was fouled but the foul came after the final buzzer. This led to a temper explosion but no free shots. For the Aggies, "Slab" Jones scored 16 points, and Webb had 12.

"This has to be a confidence-builder for us." Myers related, "to go on the road and beat a good ball club like New Mexico State, especially with all the young

But. I think both teams will get better and improve as the season goes along.'

Maddox Likes Mets' Offer

NEW YORK (AP) - Outfielder Elliott Maddox ended his free-agent status Wednesday night, signing a five-year contract with the New York Mets.

No terms were disclosed by the National League team. Maddox, whose checkered major league career has included a stop with the New York Yankees, played out his option with the Baltimore Orioles this "We're delighted to have him and I'm pleased the way he played last season with the Orioles," said Mets general manager Joe MacDonald. "He's a fine talent and should be a welcome addition to our ballclub."

Maddox was traded to the Orioles by the Yankees last Jan. 20 for centerfielder Paul Blair. Troubled by a knee injury. Maddox played intermittently for the Orioles, batted .262 and had nine runs batted in. He enjoyed his best game of the season at Yankee Stadium in July when he had four hits against his former teammates.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Dave Batton, a 6-foot-9 forward, scored 20 points to lead third-ranked Notre Dame to a 98-57 college basketball victory over Baylor Wednesday night.

Batton hit 9 of 10 shots from the floor and added two free throws for his gamehigh total.

Once again 6-7 freshman Kelly Tripucka came off the bench and scored 18 points for Notre Dame, hitting five of seven from the floor and all eight freethrow attempts.

The Notre Dame bench contributed 42 points to the Irish effort, and no Notre Dame player saw more than 26 minutes of action. Notre Dame used a pressing. defense from the outset, forcing Baylor into 30 turnovers and limiting the visitors to 31 per cent from the field.

Phelps noted the freshmen did not practice Tuesday because of exams and said, "Seeing them play as well as they did tonight without practicing the day before is a good indication of how strong they can play.

Bears coach Jim Haller called the Irish everything they are cracked up to be. They are a super-powerful team in every respect. They have tremendous defensive strength in the back court, and I can't say enough about Kelly Tripucka. He's going

Kingman also met Wednesday with representatives of the Chicago White Sox. Earlier he had negotiated with the New York Yankees and the California Angels. "Now I can go on vacation," Kingman LARGO, Fla. (AP) - There are a variety of reasons the nation's leading professionals are competing in the $200,000 Mixed Team Golf Championship, but, as usual, it was Lee Trevino who found the best one.

Bowden has closed his team's practices this week in preparation for Saturday's game at Florida. It's hard to imagine the Seminoles will have trouble concentrating on the game because FSU fans consider it the one their team must win. Kickoff time for the game at Florida Field in Gainesville has been moved from 3 p.m. to noon CST to accommodate ABC Television, which will broadcast the game regionally. "We could care less about the kickoff time." Bowden said. "That will not be a factor in this game."

He said fullback Mark Lyles has been hampered by an injury and may not be able to start against Florida. Ernie Sims or Chip Sanders will replace Lyles, if necessary, Bowden said.

Two other injured Seminoles, defensive end Willie Jones and nose guard Ton Simmons, should be ready for the game with the Gators, he said.

Bowden called Florida a team with outstanding potential.

"When they don't want to get here."

"When they don't want to get beat, they're mighty hard to beat," he said. "They'll be ready for the Seminoles — that I know. They score so easily sometimes, it scares you to death."

After Saturday's game, the Seminoles will take on Texas Tech on Dec. 23 in the Tangerine Bowl.

Odessa Permian. 12-0-0. absolutely loves these playoff affairs. The Panthers appear in so many of them it's almost like a second season. But Permian coach John Wilkins will tell you his team doesn't own a patent on playoff magic.

"We've been tied at halftime in all of our last six games, so we've survived the nitty-gritties." said the Permian coach. We're not very impressive. Permian used the split backfield during nearly all of the regional playoff game with Arlington Lamar last week. Vilas Captures Tennis Grand Prix

NEW YORK (AP) - Guillermo Vilas. the Argentine tennis star, has captured the $300,000 bonus from the Grand Prixinternational tour after building an insurmountable lead in the standings, circuit promoters announced Wednesday.

Vilas accumulated 1.947 points this year, winning 51 consecutive matches, the longest streak in the 10-year history of open tennis. That streak ended when he defaulted to Ilie Nastase at a tournament in France in which the Romanian ged the now-outlawed double-strung racket.

The 25-year-old Vilas won the U.S. and French Open titles, placing himself firmly in contention with Sweden's Bjorn Borg and American Jimmy Connors to be the world's No. 1 player. In the U.S. Open, Vilas defeated Connors.

Although one event remains on the Grand Prix circuit, the Australian Open Dec. 19-31, Vilas' lead in the standings is in no danger, and he is assured of the top seeding in the Grand Prix Masters tournament scheduled Jan. 4-8 at Madison Square Garden. The tournament features

Hardaway, Beckner Capture A-J Cage Honors

By TOM HALLIBURTON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff He's been doing it effectively for the past two seasons, but the latest version of Dunbar basketballer Billy Hardaway may prove the best

TYPER ROSE ROMPS

DALLAS (AP) - Besides leading the country in rushing and scoring, Earl Campbell of Texas also led the Southwest Conference in tandem offense, a combination of rushing and pass receiving Campbell caught only five passes but they went for 111 yards. He rushed 267 times for 1.744 yards. Campbell's tandem offense average was 168.6 yards per

Minnesota Drops NCAA Suit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - The University of Minnesota has quietly decided to end its legal battle with the National Collegiate Athletic Association over the eligibility of two basketball players.

An appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court was dismissed Tuesday at the request of attorneys for both sides, the clerk's office in Washington, D.C., said Wednesday.

University officials were unavailable for comment. However, attorney Joe A. Walters, Minneapolis, who represented the university in the litigation, said the appeal was dropped "because of the fact that the University of Minnesota and the NCAA have wrrked out a settlement of their differences."

We received instructions from the university to withdraw the appeal," Walters said Wednesday.

University president C. Peter Magrath had been highly critical of the NCAA during the lengthy dispute over what the appropriate penalty should be for basketball players Mychal Thompson and David

At one point, Magrath called the NCAA a "Rube Goldberg contraption gone mad," and said the university would not engage in "lifeboat ethics" by abandoning its court fight and making a deal with the NCAA.

The university went to court in October of 1976 and obtained a restraining order which prevented the NCAA from putting the entire men's athletic program on indefinite probation. But that order was overturned by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals and the university took its case to the Supreme Court.

However, the university administration received pressure from coaches and athletes in other sports and an agreement was eventually worked out with the NCAA. The university agreed to declare Thompson and Winey ineligible, as demanded by the NCAA.

The NCAA lifted its probation against all men's sports but continued it until October of 1978 for the basketball program. And Winey was ordered to sit out the first three games of the season while Thompson was given a seven-game sus- Brock Snares pension.

When the suspension of the basketball players was announced a few weeks ago, a university spokesman said no decision had been made on the appeal pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Thompson, a 6-foot-10 center who is among the top collegiate players in the nation, was penalized for selling basketball season tickets at more than their face value. The 6-10 Winey, who returned to action Wednesday night against Loyola of Chicago, accepted free weekend lodging at a lake cabin from a university booster.

WTC Picked In JC Loop

The Western Junior College Conference races kick off in earnest tonight with a full slate of men's games and a battle between two of the undefeated girls sugads.

South Plains, Odessa and Western Texas are currently 1-0 in women's league play, and WTC hosts Odessa tonight.

Only one men's game has been played to date, and that was an upset when Frank Phillips beat Midland 82-81 in Midland. Tonight's schedule finds Frank Plains women were picked by league coaches in an Avalanche-Journal poll to repeat their conference winning antics of a year ago.

The WTC men finished sixth in the national meet and the SPC fems were fifth in the nationals.

SPC was a unanimous choice of league coaches to repeat, but league bosses felt WTC's fourth consecutive crown would be harder, as the Westerners drew five first-place votes and 77 points. Midland was the runner-up with three firsts and 69 points. Clarendon had the other two firsts and 67 points.

Wilkens Replaces Hopkins

As Coach Of SuperSonics

Hopkins, promoted last May to head coach of the Seattle SuperSonics, was fired Wednesday and replaced by Lenny Wilkens, the National Basketball Association team's director of player personnel, a team spokesman said. Under Hopkins' tutelage, the Sonics had won only five of their 22 games this season entering Wednesday night's contest at Kansas City. Only the lowly New Jersey Nets had a worse record than Se-

Wilkens, 40, a former player-coach with Seattle and one of the most popular personalities in the team's history, began his new duties immediately.

The announcement was made in Kansas City, where Zollie Volchok, Seattle's executive vice president and general manager, and Wilkens flew earlier Wednesday to huddle with Hopkins.

Volchok said Hopkins, 43, would remain with the team as head of scouting.

"For all of us, it was a very difficult thing," Wilkens said of the coaching change. "I want to change our mental attitude immediately. Sometimes we've been playing with what looks like a defeatist attitude.

the court, but it's nothing that will show up as fast as tonight (against the Kings).

Volchok said Wilkens would serve as coach until the end of the current season. at which time he will have the option of continuing as coach or resuming his fulltime duties as personnel director.

Assistant coach Les Habegger, also in his first season with Seattle, will remain in his present job, Volchok said.

Hopkins was given a one-year contract when he was named to his first NBA head coaching job last May 13 by team owner Sam Schulman. He succeeded Bill Russell, who had served as coach and general manager for four seasons. Hopkins served as Russell's assistant for three seasons before being named head

Hopkins was a highly successful coach at Prarie View College, Alcorn State and Xavier of New Orleans before coming to Seattle.

Wilkens, a Providence College star, played 15 seasons in the NBA, including four with Seattle beginning in 1968 - the last three as player-coach. His 1971-72 team compiled a 47-35 record - the best in the franchise's 11-year history.

Wilkens went to Cleveland in a highly controversial trade in August 1972. He played three more seasons - at Cleveland and at Portland. He served as player-coach at Portland for the 1974-75 season before he was fired. His overall NBA coaching record is 159-169.

Starr hopes to play his rookies extensively in the club's final three games of the season.

Dallas' Lewis Learned Trick From Redskin

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Cowboy D.D. Lewis stands charged by Washington— Redskin coach George Allen with one

The position had been created for Bradley as part of an agreement reached in the wake of a controversy that arose last week over the firing of Bradley as football coach by Thomas and Colson.

Rudy Apodaca, president of the university's board of regents, had called on the regents to make the final decision on the firing of Bradley. Apodaca, wanted to give Bradley, head coach the past five seasons, one more year.

Rebel Dockers Challenging Union

NEW YORK (AP) The Steamship Trade Association of Baltimore obtained a federal court order late Wednesday directing its biggest group of dockworkers to end a day-old wildcat strike.

The order was issued as at least two cargo ships bound for the Maryland port were diverted at sea because of the rebel action by the 2,600 members of Local 333 of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO.

Local 333 struck in defiance of orders from ILA President Thomas W. "Teddy" Gleason, contending it was not bound by the vote of four other Baltimore locals that joined most other Atlantic and Gulf men there in a Tuesday night vote.

The new strike action in Baltimore, following a general strike of the 4,000 dockworkers there for several days last week, posed the most serious of three challenges to Gleason's control of the union.

A rebellious faction among the 4.000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association in New Orleans worked feverishly to get rejection of the proposed three-year settlement.

In Mobile, meanwhile, the situation remained in limbo following rejection of the proposed terms by the 700 longshoreAtlantic Coast port as Garris McFadden, president of Local 333, representing over half of Baltimore's 4,000 longshoremen, ordered his men off the job in defiance of an edict from Gleason.

the container piers, starting Tuesday night in parts of the nation's biggest harbor here. They found acres of containerized cargo waiting to be moved on 70 ships that had been strikebound since

The strike ended in most ports with the promise of a 30 percent wage-benefits increase and a guarantee of union funds by

Behind the Baltimore opposition were complaints that the parent union was denying Local 333 the right to negotiate its own contract. John Kopp, an ILA international vice president, said McFadden toured the Baltimore waterfront, pulled his 2,600 men off the ship and effectively closed

A port spokesman said a few men were at work in Baltimore, but conceded that little cargo was being moved.

October, led the opposition to the new terms there.

Stationing himself outside polling places where voting was to continue all day, he urged dockworkers both in New Orleans and Baton Rouge to reject what most other longshoremen had approved. He complained that the parent union "just dumped it out there and said take it or leave it. That ain't right."

The Mobile longshoremen watched to see how Philadelphia dockworkers voted before deciding on a course of action. Al-

More than 900 of the 12,000 longs men here happily returned to work Tues-day night at the new time and a-half rate of $13.20 an hour as stevedoring firms responded to pressure from cons free Christmas merchandise and other goods trapped in the strike.

Wednesday morning found 7,865 dock-workers, "only a bit more than normal," laboring on the New York and New Jersey sides of the harbor, where 55 ships were docked. An official of the Waterfront Commission said the work resumption was slowed because some of the thousands of trucks normally serving the container piers had not yet reappeared.

In Boston, 200 longshoremen resumed work Wednesday morning, servicing a single container ship in port there and preparing cargo in the van-size containers for another ship arriving later in the day.

Surface mail had been shut off to many foreign countries as a result of the strike by dockworkers on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. With the end of the strike, surface mail to all destinations now will be accepted at post offices, the Postal Service

However, the mail service said it "advises mailers sending Christmas packages by surface mail to notify the recipient by air mail letter that the possibility exists the parcel may not be received by Christmas due to the after-effects of the dock strike."

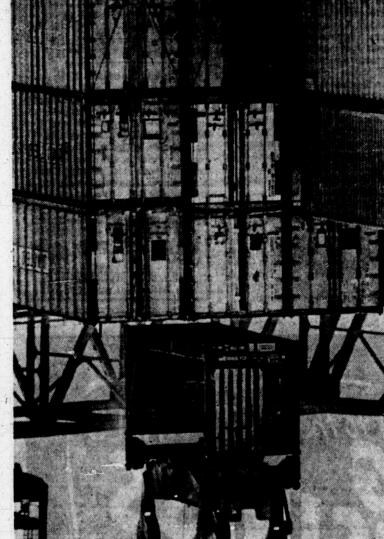

"An alternative for mailers is to use air mail that will insure parcels will reach recipients in time for Christmas," the Postal Service said. Air mail charges for packfor surface mail.

The Postal Service's suggested Christmas mailing deadlines for most of the embargoed areas already have passed. In addition, the service noted that mail destined to go abroad in ships will be competing for space with millions of pounds of other commodities that are backlogged at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

Surface mail sent into the United States through the affected ports "has been delayed and will be off-loaded and processed now that the strike is over," the Postal Service said.

Circus Elephant Eludes Massive Search Effort

PALMDALE, Fla. (AP) - An 8,000-pound elephant named Colonel which ran away from a circus two days ago has managed to elude searchers as they tromped through fields, swamps and woods near this Florida town. 🐪

"There is enough foliage around there that even a big elephant can hide out," said Jim Lyons, a spokesman for Circus Vargas, Colonel's owner. "We don't want a situation like a Tarzan movie with him crashing through a village." But Colonel already has scared farm animals. "The horses and cows are nervous," a sheriff's spokesman said. Colonel escaped with two other elephants Tuesday morning after an electrical fire forced attendants to release the three in the area just west of Lake Okeechobee. One of Colonel's buddies was caught immediately, and the other elephant was found several hours later in a pasture.

The other two elephants are being kept in the vicinity to help make Colonel more manageable when searchers find it, Lyons said. "He's problably pretty scared. That's why we have our people up there,"

Lyons said. Lyons said three elephant trainers are in the search area "because when we find him it's going to be a chore" to get the elephant back to its pen. Colonel's age is estimated at 45 and its value at $35,000.

"He's a well-trained animal who is in the center ring. There just aren't too many of them like him around," Lyons said.

Failures Dot 10-Year Pathway Toward Peace In Middle East

TEL AVIV (AP) - The Cairo peace conference called by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is the seventh major push for a Middle East settlement in 10 years.

During that time, U.S. diplomats, U.N. envoys and African statesmen have tried to calm the storms of this region. At best, they have brought about shaky, temporary cease-fires.

The first major drive for peace was launched in November 1967, after the Si-Day war, when the U.N. Security Council adopted Resolution 242. That broad document calls for trading Israel's war-won territory for a peace treaty. It still serves as a cornerstone of Mideast

Its operative clause in 1967 was the dispatch of Gunnar Jarring, a Swedish career diplomat, to mediate the conflict.

While Jarring shuttled around the Mid-dle East, faced with an Israeli refusal to withdraw and an Arab refusal to recognize or talk with Israel, the Suez Canal cease-fire collapsed. By April 1968, a fullscale trench war raged on the Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian fronts.

Within a year, Jarring gave up. Then France, which had been Israel's major foreign arms supplier, stepped in. The Paris government called a conference with the United States, Russia and Britain to renew the momentum toward

The Big Four envoys to the United Nations met in the spring of 1969 for the second major peace push, seeking a firmer interpretation of Resolution 242 so that Jarring could resume his efforts.

The four met 40 times in a year before giving up, stymied by the word "the." The French translation of 242 called for Israel to evacuate "the territories," implying all occupied lands, while in English it spoke only of "territories," taken to mean some of those lands. A three-letter word became an insurmountable roadblock

Meanwhile, the Suez conflict was intensifying, with Israelis in U.S.-supplied warplanes dogfighting Soviet-piloted MiGs.

on's national security adviser), Rogers threw all his efforts into the Middle East's third peace drive and chalked up one major success. In August 1970, a cease-fire went into effect on the Suez

But when Rogers tried to get Israel to withdraw on all fronts, Jerusalem flatly turned him down. Rogers bowed out.

Attempt No. 4 came about in November 1971, when the presidents of Zaire, Senegal, Nigeria and Cameroon visited the Middle East, hoping to win a role for Africa in settling the dispute. They came away empty handed.

Jarring returned for a final try and found the gap as wide as ever.

The Israelis by now were being heavily armed by the United States, and Egypt had broken its military ties with Moscow. Nixon and Kissinger were immersed in Indochina. Israel contended that as long as it remained militarily superior, the Arabs would not go to war.

The phrase "oil embargo" was un-known then, and it looked as through the stalemate was becoming permanent.

Everything changed with the October 1973 war. The Israelis were shaken by quick thrusts from Egypt and Syria, later repelled. Israel's American ally began seriously to consider its dependence on Arab oil, and the Arabs realized the extreme difficulty of bringing Israel to its knees militarily.

The stage was set for Kissinger, now secretary of state, to mount the fifth peace offensive.

First he negotiated a cease-fire. Then he brought Egypt, Israel and Jordan together for a peace conference in Geneva which set the scene for his "shuttle diplomacy," in which he flew rapid-fire missions between Middle East capitals.

Henry A. Kissinger (then Richard Nix- disengagement agreement between Israel and Egypt, and in September 1975 a more ambitious "interim accord" was signed. Kissinger also negotiated a disengagement of forces by Syria and Israel in June 1974.

But, meanwhile, the Palestinians were asserting themselves. President Carter, who took office in January 1977, moved toward a full peace treaty and recognition of Palestinian rights.

Carter hoped the sixth peace initiative, directed by his secretary of state, Cyrus Vance, would lead to a resumption of the Geneva conference. But Israel still refused to talk to the Palestine Liberation

Then: Sadat made his dramatic visit to Israel on Nov. 19-21. In one stroke he breached the wall of distrust that had blocked previous efforts. The issues remained difficult, but the trip set the Middle East on what Egypt and Israel, at least, hope will be a new course.

MUSICAL GAMUT Hundreds of organs built to provide accompaniment to silent films half a century ago remain playable. In addition to imitating all the instruments of a band from drums, trumpets and trombones to violins, clarinets and cymbals, they can duplicate the sounds of a clanging trolley bell, the hooves of galloping horses, birds' songs, surf, a train whistle and an Oriental gong.

East German

from a mining district more than 100 years old, East Germany said Wednesday it had run out of industrial hard coal. The country's hard coal industry, said the state news agency ADN, "has been closed down because supplies have been

The last load of hard coal, which burns hotter and cleaner than the soft brown coal most common in East Germany, came from the 3,300-man Martin Hoop Works near Karl-Marx-Stadt, the former city of Chemnitz

East Germany long has conceded its supplies of hard coal were dwindling. More than 15,000 former hard coal miners have been retrained for other work and ADN said half the Martin Hoop workers also would get new jobs.

"The rest will stay for a while in the works, to bring up remaining coal for the firm's own use, to fill the main shaft and to mine secondary raw materials," the agency said.

East Germany depends on coal for more than 80 per cent of its energy needs, though hard coal has in recent years provided less than 1 per cent. Hard coal production had fallen to 594,-000 tons by the start of last year, down from more than 2.8 million tons as recently as 1950. Imports, mostly from neighboring Poland, were running at more than 6.4 million tons a year at the start of 1976.

In fact, coal production in Poland is leading that country's industrial resurgence. It not only is exporting vast amounts of coal, but also is exporting coal technology to both East and West.

in early 1978, he is expected to sign an agreement on industrial cooperation which likely will provide for swapping coal mining technology

Poland, claiming 140 billion tons of reserves of all coal, is the world's fourth largest producer after the United States, the Soviet Union and China.Its output this year is due to top 200 million tons for the first time, more than five times its 1946 yield. Only the United States exports more than the annual 50 million tons Poland sells each year to Communist and capitalist nations alike, Poland's main coal deposits are located in the upper and lower Silesian basins, most of which was German territory prior to 1919. After an armed uprising in Poland in 1922, the League of Nations accepted a partition of the region, most of it going to Poland. And in 1945, nearly all of the previous German Silesia was placed under Polish administration.

U.S. reserves of hard coal, mined mostly in Pennsylvania, are estimated at 7.4 billion tons, enough to last more than 1,-000 years at present rates of production.

Hard coal is used in the hundreds of steam locomotives still in operation in East Germany, and elsewhere where boilers need to produce high heat and little

Coal is such a basic energy source in East Germany that special energy rationing plans are put into effect during the winter to meet industrial, heating and power needs. The plans resemble those worked out by United States utilities to cope with air conditioning and summer power shortages.

Brown coal production this year is expected to hit 254.5 million tons, up from last year but below the 262.8 million tons mined in 1971.

Official figures indicate the country has been able to reduce its hardcoal imports, which hit a peak of 8.3 million tons in 1973, by shifting some coal-fired operations to the oil piped in from the Soviet

"It's all expensive," says one East German official. "But Soviet oil is less expensive than Polish coal.

A prime hard coal district for more than a century in what is now East Germany has been the Zwickau-Oelsnitz district on East Germany's side of the mountains along the boder with Czechos-

In Oelsnitz, a 150-foot shaft tower over one works has been left standing as what East Germany calls a "techninal memorial." Long involved in labor movements, the miners in the area are described by ADN as "known for their revolutionary traditions."

East Germany have given extension publicity to its efforts to retrain mine put out of jobs by the dw seams. There are some signs that the miners have had strong enough feelings to influence the program. "The strong connection between many miners and their localities measurably influenced the decision to locate new firms in or beside the hard coal works," ADN

'Many former miners travel to work onthe same bus as before, use the same cafeteria, the same clinic

The government claims that its retraining and relocation program assures min-ers they will be at least as well off in their new jobs as they were before. Eight big hard coal operations already had been who phased out by the time of this week's an nouncement about the Martin Hoop

Raw Farm Products Prices Rise

farm products moving into the consumer pipeline rose I percent in the month ended Nov. 15 as grains and soybeans continued a brisk post-harvest recovery, the Agriculture Department reported Wednes-

The gain followed a 1 percent increase in October, leaving average crop and livestock prices & percent above a year ago. Earlier, however, this year's bumper harvests sent the farm price index down 10.3 percent in a four-month decline before the October and November recovery

The November farm price report said wheat, which hit a harvest season low of $2 a bushel in June and July under the impact of a bumper crop, rose from $2.26 in mid October to $2.48 with the help of improved export demand, slightly above its year-ago price of $2.46.

Corn, which reached a low of $1.59 a bushel on Sept. 15 as farmers harvested a record crop, rose from $1.61 last month to $1.91 a bushel on Nov. 15, compared with $2.02 a year earlier.

Farmers' costs rose 0.5 percent in November and were 5 percent above a year earlier. Comparing farm prices with costs, the department said average farm commodity prices rose to 66 percent of the farm parity standard, compared with 65 percent in mid-October and 66 percent a year ago.

Many economists discount the parity standard, which shows what farm commodities should bring to give farmers the same purchasing power they had in a 1910-14 base period, as an accurate measure of the modern economy. But a farmer protest group, the American Agriculture Movement, has announced it will call for a nationwide farmers' strike Dec. 14 unless Congress acts to assure farmers 100 percent of parity returns.

In addition to rising prices for grains ember report indicated no change in government retail food forecasts.

Economists said recently that average retail food prices, which are rising 6.5 percent this year, may advance another 4 to 6-percent in 1978 primarily because of increases in marketing costs while farm returns remain relatively flat

The report showed mid-November soybean prices at $5.68 a bushel, compared earlier. Beef cattle fell to $34.60 a hungredweight compared with $35.40 a month earlier and $31.20 a year earlier.

Hogs were reported down to $37.50 per hundredweight, compared with $39.90 a month earlier and $31.20 a year earlier, and cotton prices fell to 52.3 cents a pound, compared with 54.7 cents in mide October and 65.2 cents a year ago

Texas Farm Bureau Withholds Ag Strike Movement Support

HOUSTON (AP) - The Texas Farm Bureau, the nation's third-largest such organization with 215,000 members, Wednesday refused to support a proposed agricultural strike to withhold products from the market. The Texans, by a overwhelming vote, said a strike would be contrary to the policies of the individual farmer and rancher of the state

A resolution was offered that would let each individual rancher and farmer decide whether he wanted to support an agricultural strike movement that has spread through the South and Midwest

Texas farmers and ranchers agreed they wanted no part of such a movement because it could bring more federal intervention into the agricultural business and destroy the individuality of the Texas

The resolution was submitted from the floor at the concluding session of the bureau's annual convention.

Jack Williams of Anderson County, one of the 1.200 delegates, said, "We cannot say what another farmer or another rancher should do. That is just not our way of doing things in Texas. We cannot support anything that says strike

Robert O'Donald of Randall County said. "We farmers are the first to complain when labor unions strike. How can we justify a strike by farmers?

The strike issue was rejected after about two hours of debate.

Pete Mauney, a Harris County rancher, said. "If we support the strike all we are doing is getting more government control. This is the last thing the farmers and the ranchers of Texas and the nation

The resolution to support the strike, a movement started in the Midwest, was introduced by Gail Sadler of Castro

Sadler said. "Let us support this on an individual basis. Let each farmer and rancher decide for himself but let's put it in our resolutions Sadler said, "Our solution relies on our own individual decisions. Let us cut back on the land under production and let us force a larger demand for our products.

Earlier, the convention approved a resolution opposing the use of any taxpayer. money for "activities of the International Women's Year organization.

We further recommend that a concentrated effort be made to inform state legislators, the governor and other elected officials that the resolutions coming from the IWY organization do not represent the opinions and the wishes of all women." the resolution said.

The National Women's Conference sponsored by IWY was held in Houston last week.

The Farm Bureau delegates also approved a resolution opposing the Equal Rights Amendment, with all of the farm wives voting with the majority.

When U.S. wheat, cotton or any other agricultural commodity is sold abroad, it's the business of Kelly M. Harrison to know about it

Harrison general sales manager of the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will be among the speakers at the fifth annual Bankers Agricultural Credit Conference Friday and Saturday at Texas Tech. Pre-registration indicates approxi-

Reagan V. Brown will address a banquet Friday in the ballroom of the Texas Tech University Center. Registration is scheduled for 6-7 p.m. and the banquet

Harrison, a native of Lockney, will discuss credit arrangements and contract responsibilities relating to export of agricultural products at 11:15 a.m. Saturday The session will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Harrison has responsibility for foreign market development activity. His staff is concerned with the Commodity Credit Corp. (CCC) export credit sales program: the Food for Peace Program; standby programs for barter, export sales of most CCC-owned commodities. export payments and programs which encourage the export of U.S. Agriculturport sales by private U.S. exporters.

Mozambique Raids May Cloud Upcoming Rhodesian Talks

Minister Ian Smith says his talks with moderate black leaders on black majority rule will begin Friday and he doubts the negotiations will be prejudiced by last week's Rhodesian attacks on guerrillas in Guerrilla leader Robert Mugabe said in Mozambique the five days of ground and air attacks killed scores of civilians. Bishop Abel Muzorewa, one of the black moderates due to meet with Smith, said the raids "cloud the whole situation very se-

Smith, in an interview Wednesday with the Rhodesia Herald, defended the operation as "essential to stop the heavy attacks across our borders." The government claims it destroyed two major base camps and killed 1,200 Rhodesian guerrillas fighting against white rule.

The Mozambique government claimed Rhodesian forces killed about 80 persons in the raids and most were women and children

Smith said he did not believe moderate leaders would abandon the talks with his innocent Rhodesians by the terrorists is a so urgent that I cannot believe that any of the leaders who have committed them-selves to taking part in the talks will let anything stand in the way of progress to-wards this objective," Smith said.

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) - A security police telex message saying an injury had been inflicted on Steve Biko was read into the record on the final day of testimony Wednesday at an inquest into the black leader's death.

The message appeared to contradict police testimony that Biko had injured himself while being held in prison. The leader of the Black Consciousness movement in South Africa died of head injuries Sept. 12 in a Pretoria prison cell three weeks after he was arrested outside Port Elizabeth.

After final evidence was taken, the inquest court adjourned to allow counsel to prepare final arguments for today. Sydney Kentridge, counsel for the Biko family, asked for the adjournment to allow-preparation of a concise final argument and thus save time in the long run. He also asked the court to hear his argument first. For the first time in 13 days of hearings an application by Kentridge was not opposed by any of the other legal teams.

Kentridge earlier had read to the court the telex about Biko's injury sent by Col. Pieter Goosens in Port Elizabeth to Security Police Chief Brig. C. F. Zietsman in Pretoria

Goosens testified that the word "inflicted" had been used to indicate that Biko had possibly been injured Sept. 7 during a scuffle with interrogators.

Biko was kept naked with hands and feet in chains in his cell and, after appearing ill, was transported still naked 750 miles to Pretoria.

The inquest is held to determine if anyone was responsible for Biko's death. Kentridge has alleged in court that Biko was beaten by police, but police witnesses have denied any assault on him.

No Agreement Established About Park

WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Department said Wednesday no agreement has been reached with the South Korean government for rice dealer Tongsun Park to return to the United States

Park has been indicted on 36 counts of bribery, mail fraud and other charges, and U.S. officials want to question him about the alleged Korean scheme to buy influence on Capitol Hill.

"We are, through our embassy, continuing to have discussions with the Korean government concerning the disposition of the Tongsun Park case," spokesman Hodding Carter III said. "No conclusion has been reached on this." Asked for elaboration later, another spokesman said there was no decision on whether Park will return to Washington.

In Seoul, there was speculation Wednesday that Park may come to the United States. Newspaper reports said South Korea eventually may agree to Park giving testimony in the United States if he is granted immunity from American Ambassador Richard Sneider met with Foreign Minister Park Tong-Jin on Monday, and the two are scheduled to meet again on Thursday. Sources said they are discussing a new proposal outlining conditions for taking Tongsun Park's testimony.

The South Korean government has opposed U.S. efforts to question Park in a third country and has made it clear it will not force him to return to the United States against his will.

State Inspectors Restore Status

A Health Department inspection team has recommended that Colonial Nursing Home be taken off "vendor hold," said Ralph Harmon, regional program administrator for the Health Department.

The home was inspected Nov. 16 after being told on Oct. 14 it would not be permitted to collect federal money for Medicaid patients in the home until certain defects were rectified.

Harmon said Health Department officials in Austin will likely recommend to the Department of Human Resources that the federal money be released to the PITTSBURGH (AP) - An Internal Revenue Service review excusing Gulf Oil Corp. from tax liability on its $10.3 million political slush fund actually was written by a Gulf attorney and signed by an IRS auditor, a federal prosecutor, says.

Assistant-U.S. Attorney Craig McKay said the 1974 report concluded there was $200,000 in the domestic fund, when in fact it contained nearly $5 million

The allegation raised new questions about Gulf's tax liability, but neither the IRS nor the Justice Department would comment Wednesday on the charge. A Gulf spokeswoman said she was unaware of any slush fund tax liability determined subsequent to the auditor's report.

McKay also charged that IRS auditor Cyrif J. Niederberger shared sensitive documents from the Watergate Special Prosecutor's Office with the lawyer Gulf

Among the trips Standefer allegedly arranged for Niederberger was a junket to Pebble Beach, Calif. The IRS auditor, now retired, received the trip the same day his 1974 slush fund review was submitted.

Niederberger, 70, was convicted in February for accepting the gratuities. He is free pending appeal. Gulf pleaded guilty last week to providing trips for Niederberger, who headed an IRS team responsible for reviewing Gulf's 1959-1964 tax returns. The company, saying it wanted to put the slush fund scandal behind it, acknowledged for the first time that it was illegal to give public officials gifts even when no favors were sought or expected.

Drilling Firms Might Wait For Nod From Supreme Court

NEW YORK (AP) - Spokesmen for a ward off the coasts of Delaware and Virnumber of oil companies, granted Enviginia. ronmental Protection Agency permits to begin exploratory drilling off the New York and New Jersey coastlines, said Wednesday they are taking a wait-andsee attitude before deciding when to start drilling.

Chief among their concerns is whether the U.S. Supreme Court will hear a suit challenging the companies' right to drill in the Atlantic. It was filed by Suffolk County on Long Island and a citizens group.

"We're still studying the timing," an Exxon spokesman said in Houston. "We could conceivably wait until the Supreme Court decision.

The EPA permits take effect Jan. 3. A spokesman in Mobil's office here said: "It would be far too costly to begin drilling one day and then be ordered to stop the next." He said Mobil would wait for the court to act.

A Gulf Oil Corp. spokesman said the Pittsburgh-based concern plans to start drilling "sometime early in the spring."

The Supreme Court has yet to decide whether to hear the appeal, which seeks to stop the oil companies from drilling in an area known as the Baltimore Canyon. The area, between 75 and 135 miles south of Long Island and between 50 and 75 miles off New Jersey, also extends south-

Town Joins Fight To Save Local Corner Gas Station

LOVELAND, Ohio (AP) - Residents of this southwest Ohio town are fighting to keep Standard Oil Co. of Ohio from padlocking the door of the corner gas sta-tion that Ken and Brenda Lewis manage.

The station they have operated for five years is one of seven in the area that Sohio plans to close. The Justice Department told the firm to trim retail gasoline sales by 400 million gallons a year as a prerequisite to merging with U.S. operations of British Petroleum Ltd.

Lewis, 38, had worked 11 years as a mechanic before getting into the service station business. His wife, 33, gave up her job as a buyer for a department store to join her husband.

"It looked like a solid kind of job and we were assured we would be able to keep the station," Mrs. Lewis said. Then they just came in one day and told us we might as well start packing."

Loveland Mayor Viola Phillips said she. told Sohio she would tear up her Sohio credit card if the station is closed.

When someone has worked so hard to set up a business for themselves," the mayor said, "it is just not the American way to set them out in the cold like that."

The Loveland Ministers Association has also joined the battle to save the Lewis' business. The ministers wrote to Sohio asking that "immediate steps be taken to rescind the decision.

"They have made an outstanding con-tribution to the community by things like assisting senior citizens back home when they leave their car for repairs," said the Rev. David Ross, chairman of the ministers group.

Sohio officials said that the stations to be sold were selected to minimize the reduction of the company's strength in any large geographic area.

"We were acting under orders of the Department of Justice and if it were our own choosing we would not sell our only gas station in Loveland," said H.S. Kno-bel, a spokesman for Sohio in Cleveland.

Allowable Hike Urged

AUSTIN (AP) — Richard Hocker of Cities Service Oil Co. said Wednesday changing the rules of the East Texas oil field — including raising the allowable to 100 percent — would boost oil output and cut water production.

Hocker, conservation coordinator, told the Texas Railroad Commission his proposals would raise oil production by 19,-318 barrels a day and reduce daily water output by 104,056 barrels. The allowable has been 86 percent Hocker said the current bonus allowable rule provides an incentive to operators to produce large quantities of water. Production data shows a trend of increasing water production, he said.

The 1942 rule provides a bonus allowable for injecting water back into the Woodbine Formation.

A change in the market demand factor to 100 percent, coupled with a propos amendment to permit transfers of oil al-lowables from shut-in wells, could lead to more efficient production, Cities Service

The commission hearing on the allowa-ble, a proposal to split the giant field into two and other suggestions was in its second day.

Since it was discovered 47 years ago the field has produced approximately 4.5 billion barrels of oil. Cities Service contends more than one billion more barrels remain in the ground.

INVESTORS'

GUIDE By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I've made a listing of utility pre-ferreds which offer yields of anywhere from 8.3 to 9.7 percent. I want maximum income with high security. Is this proper thinking for a retired person (63)? What about commons offering the same yield?

A. Utility preferreds are a good source of retirement income. Although the income is fixed, it's fixed at what is (up to now) a historically high level. But (there's always a "but")

You should not run your finger down. the yield side column of the stock tables. and just pick the "biggest bargain" ... any more than you would be safe in buying the biggest bargain in tires, or shoes, or

There are several pitfalls you must

1. Quality. Several of your issues are quite low-rated. Coverage of the dividend by earnings is scanty. Earnings may have shown little progress, or may have actually declined. The area served may have become unattractive.

2. Some of the preferreds evidently attracted your attention because of the high dividend (in dollars) such as $12.50. and $10.50 and $12...etc. All that means is that the issue was sold to the public during a time of high money rates and the company had to "sweeten" the dividend considerably in order to raise the money. The pitfall here is that practically every one of these issues will become callable in a few years and you may be paide off at a price much lower than you pay for the stock today. So there is a very real chance that the $12 annual dividend you will enjoy until the issue becomes callable will then be suddenly and brutally offset by a capital loss per share of $4, $5 or $8 (or, in one case, $12) upon redemption of the stock. This is a very real possibility that you cannot ignore. So; the lesson for today is: If you are shopping for high-dividend preferreds, make sure that quality is high and also be aware that the price you pay may be so high above par that you are also acquiring a "built-in" capital loss in the event the issue is redeemed in a few years.

Some commons would certainly be acceptable for a man of 63. Strong utilities in expanding industrial areas of the country have been successful in raising dividends. These might be of some help in offsetting inflation. Preferreds do NOT raise dividends. That's why they pay more at the very start.

Q. I bought Schering Plough stock May 3, but didn't get the dividend paid later that month.

A. Right. The stock went "ex-dividend" May 2. You were two days too

Q. I bought 4,000 Avco warrants at close to $2 a few years back. They expire Nov. 30, 1978. How long should I keep them in order to limit my losses?

A. First you must tell me what Avco common will do over the next year.

On the day your letter arrived the stock sold at around 131/2 and the warrant at 25 cents. The Kalb-Voorhis warrant summary says the warrant entitles you to acquire a share of common by paying $56 cash (although the par value of Avco 71/2 debentures of 1993, selling at around 80, may be used as "cash").

So, you see, the warrants -as of the moment -are barely a faint hope. You must now decide whether you want to salvage about $1,000 of your speculation or go the full route and ride it to the end, hoping for a sensational turnabout in the com

when Edith Head was given a blank check and six months to design wardrobes for glamor girls when movie cosumes often set fashion modes.

Today the screen's premiere designer shops in department stores for blue jeans just like any housewife.

Movie realism and tightened budgets have reduced the grand art of costuming to bargain basement rummaging.

In the old days June Allyson could play a $50-a-week secretary and wear a $1,000 gown. Or Lana Turner, the wife of a soldier, would sashay around in a $500 skirt and sweater.

Audiences accepted the anomaly with out complaint. The movies, after all, were make believe. Rita Hayworth, playing an impoverished working girl dressed in rags, surely would have rebelled along

Edith, with a staff of 30, dressed the biggest stars in gowns fancier than anything Parisian couturiers ever dreamed

In more than 1,000 pictures she designed stunning costumes for Gloria Swanson, Bette Davis, Elizabeth Taylor, Ingrid Bergman, Marlene Dietrich, Olivia de Havilland and virtually hundreds of others.

Currently she is doing the costumes for Bonnie Bedelia and Susan Anspach in The Big Fix," a contemporary story in which the actresses wear today's fashions. Simple blue jeans, blouses and a dress now and then.

'God knows it isn't what it used to be," Edith said wryly.

"Studios and producers don't have the time or money they once did. We'd spend months working on wonderful sketches of every costume worn in a picture. We sent to Europe for material and a staff of women made hand-beaded dresses.

"After that there would be wardrobe tests. The stars would spend a day or two in front of the cameras modeling their clothes for the approval of producer and

Now there are no wardrobe tests. Too expensive and time consuming. Often you only get to work with the performers a day or two before the picture starts shooting, sometimes after production has

Edith worked with director Jeremy Paul Kagan on "The Big Fix," providing him with a few sketches before the acesses were cast

She is grateful to the young director for his meticulous interest in wardrobe in a day when many a director leaves the costuming entirely up to her. "Other directors let the actress decide what she'll wear, which couldn't be worse," Edith said, aggrieved.

this picture. But most of the wardrobe comes from stores. Sometimes the actress accompanies me or I take her measurements on shopping expeditions by myself or with my one assistant.

"Ten or 15 years ago this might have been a six-month job. I'd have known who the actresses were well in advance and they'd have taken the time to work on costuming with me.

We put all this together in two weeks, and I keep working as the picture prog-

"The entire fashion image in movies has changed because the film format has changed. Today the average picture is about the averageperson in average circumstances in average clothes.

Wardrobe won't change until the stories do. Designers are completely at the mercy of the script.

The last time I recall a movie having any impact on fashion was 'The Sting, which I designed. Curiously, it was the only movie in history that won an Oscar for male clothes.

"It brought back the vest and the threepiece suit for men. It also led to the popularity once more of striped suits.

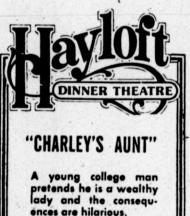

"As for style-setting in movies, I'd have to go back to Audrey Hepburn in 'Sabrina,' and the neckline I invented for her in the picture. Despite the cutbacks and the trend toward realistic wardrobe. Edith says she finds as much challenge in designing costumes as she ever did. But what's challenging about blue jeans? 'The problems of dressing down are the same as dressing up," she explained. The principle is the same whether it's ball gowns or blue jeans. 'Clothes still help identify the character. They add a specific dimension to the personality traits of the individual."

NATURAL WARMTH

Iceland's capital city, Reykjavik, is the most northerly capital in the world, yet thanks ot the Gulf Stream is warmer in: winter than New York. Reykjavik means 'smokey bay" in the Icelandic language. The "smoke" seen b ninth-century settlers was steam rising from hot springs. That natural steam and hot water is now piped in to heat all the homes of Revkiaik, making it a clean and smokeless city.

At last! A movie that plays no favorites. A movie that succeeds in offending everyone from science fiction fanatics to

Chi Omega sorority pledges to the average movie-goer merely seeking enter-tainment. A movie so bad the audience may choke to death on its own laughter. Yes, folks, at last we've been offered a real piece of grunge which inspires nothing in the way of controversy and zilch in the way of entertainment.

The film - and I use that term oh so loosely - is "The Day It Came To Earth," a certain candidate for worst picture of the year honors.

But more important than the film's quality, or obvious lack of it, is the fact it found its way to the Cinema West screen. More than a few have asked this writer just what in blazes is happening at the theater and, frankly, I'm at a loss for an answer. Still one of Lubbock's largest and certainly more elite theaters, the Cinema West has been treated like a tax writefolf of late. The current garbage has been preceded by a "Pippi Longstocking" film, reissues of A Star Is Born" and "Carrie" and a miraculously bold re-release of a 1960s Peter Sellers flop called "The Par-The Christmas film at the Cinema West will not be "Looking For Mister Goodbar," or "Julia" or "The Turning Point" or "Equus" or any of a number of yet to be booked big films. Instead, it will be something called "Charge Of The Model Ts." starring Arte Johnson. Now that's a real ho ho ho for your Christmas stocking. If this keeps up, the owners of this beautiful theater — which has in the past given us "Little Big Man" and "Jaws" and "Annie Hall" might as well turn it into a dollar house.

They're already treating it like one. But enough of editorializing and back

Seeking approval from their geology pro-fessor, embarrassingly acted by George Gobel, the stone is returned to the school lab.

But the beast wants his rock back and, shrugging off bullets and fire and long falls, he retrieves the stone. Our investigating hero in blue says, "That's very in-teresting, professor. But the question is: who would want a 50-pound meteorite?" His cohort answers, "Maybe he wanted a paperweight." All together now ... GROAN.
