PEOPLE ARE ASKING THESE QUESTIONS ABOUT ARMY ENLISTMENT

Q. What educational benefits do I get under the GI Bill of Rights?

A. If you serve honorably on active duty for a period of 90 days, one day of which is served between September 16, 1940, and the date of termination of the present war, or you are discharged because of an actual service-incurred injury or disability incurred within that first 90-day period of service, you are, upon discharge, entitled to one year of education in the college, trade or business school of your choice for which you can qualify. In addition, each month of active duty, including the first three, prior to the termination of the war, entitles you to another month of post-service education, up to 48 months.

Your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year will be paid by the government. Also, you will receive $65 a month living allowance; $90 a month if you have dependents.

Q. What about family allowances?

A. For men enlisting or reenlisting now, family allowances will continue until six months after the war is officially ended.

Q. What are my chances of going overseas?

A. If you enlist for 3 years, you may select to serve in any over-seas theater which has openings, especially Japan or Korea.

Q. Can I still choose the branch of service I want to serve in?

A. Yes. You can pick any branch which has quotas to be filled, if you enlist for 3 years.

Q. Is there any way I can reenlist in my old grade? A. Yes, you can, if you reenlist for a 3-year term within 20 days after your honorable discharge.

Q. Is there any other way I can reenlist in grade? A. Yes, if you held one of certain military occupational specialties, and were discharged on or after May 12, 1945, you can reenlist in a grade depending on the length of time you held the desired

CWARMS of passenger pigeons ravaged early Wisconsin wheat crops by devouring the newly-sown grain. Moved by the farmers' plight, the Van Brunt brothers of Horicon, in 1861, built a seeder, incorporating their newly-patented cylinder feed. Seed grain was worked into the ground and covered with a protective blanket

The success of the Van Brunt seeder exceeded its builders' fondest dreams. It not only overcame the pigeon menace, but revolutionized existing seeding practices. Within a few years the fame of the Van Brunt machine spread across the nation.

RUSSIAN MANEUVERING

WASHINGTON. - Despite our improved relations with Russia, something very peculiar is going on regarding the key island of Spitzbergen up near the Arctic circle. The Russians have been exerting all sorts of pressure on Norway to militarize this strategic island, thus permitting them to use it as a military base.

There is only one objective for a base on Spitzbergen - offensive action against the United States. From it rocket bombs probably could hit New York.

The United States happened to learn of the Russian - Norwegian maneuvers because we are a party to a 1920 treaty with Norway, England and Russia, by which Spitzbergen is not to be used as a military base. In order to militarize the island, therefore, it is necessary to change the treaty. The disturbing thing about the Spitzbergen maneuver, however, is the date on which the Russians began to move for militarization. When the state department began probing the matter, they found that the Russians had first approached the Norwegian government in 1944 —while the war was still on. And they continued high-pressuring Norway during 1945, the last year of the war, and up until the present. What causes U. S. concern is that the Russians appeared to be maneuvering for Atlantic bases aimed against the United States even at a time when we were pouring lend-lease into Russia. In this connection, U. S. diplomats can't help remembering the secret minutes of the Molotov - Ribbentrop conversations in late 1940—shortly before Hitler attacked Russia-when Russia offered to come into the war against the Allies if it got the Dar-danelles, half the Balkans, the three eastern provinces of Turkey, Iran and Iraq.

TRUMAN SHAKES HANDS

One ordeal of every President is haking hands at official receptions. Recently President Truman stood in line while 1,400 members of the diplomatic corps, plus their wives, filed by to greet him.

Truman considers receptions for congress or the army and navy bad enough, but he especially dreads diplomatic receptions where he cannot always catch foreign names.

After shaking hands so fast he barely was able to glimpse faces, the President looked up to see retiring White House assistant Eddie Locke, with his

"Why, Eddie!" Truman said laughingly. "Thank God here's someone whose name I can pro-

"Sh-h-h," said Mrs. Truman.

UNFAILING GOOD HUMOR

Every White House caller these days comes out of the inner sanctum remarking on how well and high - spirited President Truman looks. Expecting him to appear bowed and discouraged by the weight of his office, they remark: "He doesn't seem to have a care in the world. Even during the middle of the coal strike, when Truman cabinet members were worried sick over the economic consequences to the country, White House callers came out to report that the President seemed to be in fine fettle. One unofficial explanation is that, since November, the President feels that the Republicans have removed part of the responsibility of leadership from his shoulders. No matter what he does, it can't be right in GOP eyes; therefore, he might as well be philosophical about it. Another explanation is that, since November, Truman feels he is no longer under any obligaton to carry on the Roosevelt New Deal program. The November balloting showed that the majority of the people wanted a change, argue some White House advisers, so Truman has a mandate to desert the Roosevelt program for his own.

. . . JIMMIE BYRNES' 'WHISKERS'

Retiring Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes has had so many tough diplomatic battles that even in his spare time he can't forget he's not tussling with Russians.

The other morning, Byrnes took his wire-haired terrier "Whiskers" out for a stroll, during which the dog started barking angrily at another pup. Said Byrnes:

"Stop that, Whiskers - that isn't Molotov."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

President Truman has turned down ambassador to Brazil Bill Pawley's bid to be assistant secretary of state for air. . senate secretary, Leslie Biffle, will act as top liaison man between the administration and GOP congressional leaders. Biffle will handle all patronage for the White House. He will make all the deals with the Republicans on GOP appointments to executive department jobs and will have the final say on Democratic nominations to vacancies.

THE question has come up con-1 cerning the comparative value, merit and skill required in playing shortstop or second base. We put the problem up to Frankie Frisch, one of the greatest second basemen and one of the best allaround ball players in the annals of the game, also one of the smartest. "Why is it," we asked the slightly graying Flash from Honus Wagner

Fordham, the Giants and the Cardinals on the playing side, "that there are so many star second basemen and so few outstanding shortstops?" "Just how do you figure that out?" Frisch asked.

"Look over the list," we suggest-"At second we have Nap Lajoie, Eddie Collins, Rogers Hornsby, Frank Frisch, Charlie Gehringer, Johnny Evers-to mention only a few. There are still arguments as to which one of these is the greatest. But when you come to shortstops you reach out for a fellow named Honus Wagner-and you stop. Travis Jackson, Marty Marion, Beauty Bancroft, a few more-but not outstanding. Only Wagner."

"There are two answers to that," Frisch replied. "In the first place, Wagner was Wagner. A great shortstop—the greatest. He led his league seven years at bat. He could steal 50 or 60 bases a year. He could do everything. You may remember that John McGraw, before his death, ranked Wagner as the greatest ball player of all time. Over Cobb and Ruth. So does Ed Barrow. These two are not palookas. But I'll have to admit that outside of Wagner, while there have been fine shortstops, the game hasn't shown many great ones.

More Speed, Skill Needed

"One reason for this is that shortstop is a tougher job than second base is. You have to cover more ground. You need more speed and a better arm. You may have to throw from short left, on the grass, to first base—a longer throw than the third baseman has to make. But just why it is that no short-stop, outside of Wagner, could hit to match Lajoie, Collins, Gehringer, Hornsby and others, I couldn't tell There haven't been many hard-hitting shortstops who could hand you .340 or .350. Maybe they were too busy trying to cover all that ground."

"What about third base?" I asked Frisch. "Not as tough as short, not as tough as second. Less ground to Frisch couldn't go back quite far enough to cover all the great third basemen: Art Devlin of the Giants, Jimmy Collins of Boston, Bill Bradley of Cleveland and Buck Weaver of the White Sox-four of the great-

"What's the matter with Pie Tray-nor?" he asked. "Pie belongs with any third baseman." This is true. But there have been more good third basemen, for all-around value, than great shortstops. The same applies to first base. You can get argu-ments today over Hal Chase, George Sisler, Lou Gehrig, Frank Chance, Bill Terry and one or two others.

Must Be Heavy Hitter

"A first baseman has to hit," Frisch said. "Maybe Chase was the greatest fielding first baseman. But he couldn't hit with Sisler, Gehrig or Terry. A first baseman should be a power on attack. Of course, it helps when he also can field his job. Stuffy McInnis wasn't bad. He could cover that bag and still hit over .300. Stuffy was a great first baseman. And Glen Wright was a great shortstop," Frisch added.

Having Frisch finally loosened up, we put on the pressure. "If you had to win one big game, a game you had to win, who would you pick to pitch it? Carl Hubbell or Dizzy Dean? Frisch lost no time in answering this one. "What difference would it make? Both would pitch shut-outs if the blue chips were down. I mean at their peak. Just give me a shutout and I'll promise that I won't lose, even if I have to take a tie. feebly. "My, your hair is pretty. You know one of the great things about Hubbell? He never gave you a pitch that you had hit before. you got the same hit off Dean, Diz ly. would come back with the same pitch and probably strike you out. Of course, Hubbell had a longer and therefore a greater career. He was one of the greats of all time. But in 1934 and 1935, before he hurt his ing yesterday's fiery dance, was arm, there never was a greater pitcher than Dizzy Dean. Just give me either one."

A Better Racing Year

For the first time in a good many years, I think it would be safe to say that this year there will be bigger and better racing, and in saying that not to be thinking of mutuel play and the breaking of financial records. It seems probable to me this year, that the wild spending days are over for some time to come. I am thinking of better horses and jockeys, sounder track management, and a more sporting attitude.

Mother's Love By Elaine Francis

WNU Features.

AS A baby-sitter she certainly got around, Minerva reflected ringing the bell of the imposing Labonn home. All types of doors had opened for her in the past few months, due to the shortage of servants, but none more interesting than this one.

"Come in, my dear Miller," Tanya Labonn cried, "You're just in time to watch me rehearse.

Minerva gaped. Not at the "Millwhich Mrs. Labonn always called her in continental fashion, but at Tanya's exotic beauty.

Chattering rapidly, for the for-mer ballerina was always friendly, always informal, Tanya led the way through the spacious drawing room to the equally large sunroom stripped of all its furnishings except the radio-phonograph. This she snapped on and began to dance.

"Miller, you like it?" Tanya inquired. "So does Billy Dunn. He was my agent before the war and tomorrow night he brings movie scouts and big shots to our show. You know about the benefit, yes?'

"A plush, lush affair, they call it," Tanya giggled. "But it is luck for me. All those years when Don, my husband, was at war, I could not dance. I had to work for victory. But now . . . Don does not mind that I become a glamour puss and go to Hollywood. He says to spread the wings before it is too late. Ah, Bonnie . . ." She swooped over to the door and kissed her daughter.

Suddenly it seemed incredible to Minerva that this 13-year-old was Tanya's child. The contrast was painful. Bonnie's mudblonde hair, the braces on her teeth, the dainty frock accentuating adolescent oulges. . . . And her face was sullen and dull. What was wrong?

Minera gaped at Tanya's exotic

IT WAS not until late that night that Minerva learned the answer. People always confided in Minerva, once they had pierced her shabby exterior, and Bonnie was no exception. "Mother is gorgeous, isn't she?" she asked wistfully. "A cinema cinch, her agent says."

Minerva's movie going had been limited, but she agreed heartily.

"It's selfish," Bonnie cried, "but I wish she'd flop. I loved our life just as it was-now everything is spoiled. Mother gets younger every day and I feel more like a Mack truck. Minerva could not sleep that night, thinking of Bonnie's unhappiness. At this particular stage she was apt to be permanently affected by her mother's fame. Previously, she had been adaptable. A few more years and she would be selfreliant. But right now. . . If only she could help the child. There was one way, to norrow. . . . She tried hard to dismiss the idea. Nevertheless, at four the following afternoon, the plan was in motion. Having sent Bonnie to the summer house for her supposedly mislaid spectacles. Minerva searched for the phone. Strangely, it seemed to have moved, but she found it just as Tanya returned from the beauty parlor. Picking up the receiver, Minerva said loudly, "I feel sorry for Bonnie, claims it will ruin her life if Tanya makes a hit. Sure, she's hipped on Hollywood. Oh, 'bye.'

AS TANYA stood and stared at her, Minerva did not have to act ashamed. She actually felt it. "Didn't hear you," she explained "Miller, how could you discuss our affairs this gossipy way? I am disappointed," Tanya said cold-

That night she crept into her seat at the Civic auditorium and watched the curtain rise on Tanya, a whirl of blue. But her performance was so mediocre that Minerva, recallamazed. At the finish Tanya bowed, smiling straight at the box where her husband and Bonnie sat with three disgruntled gentlemen. The talent scouts, no doubt. and then Minerva understood that Tanya had deliberately danced that way, sacrificing her career for her daughter's sake. But what or who had changed the ballerina's mind.

During the intermission, Bonnie came running to Minerva. "I have a message from mother. She said to that the handle will be down again tell you the telephone is portable and wasn't plugged in, but thanks anyway. Whatever that means. And Minerva, mom doesn't want to be a star. Isn't that super!'

JESUS THE GIVER OF LIFE

LESSON TEXT-John 4:46-51; 5:2-9; 11:

MEMORY SELECTION—I am the resur-rection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.

his servants and the Lord Jesus ahead, however, that the structure Christ, are not mere marvels or is sound. wonders. They are not for the advancement of the cause of any man or for personal glory. They are the mighty signs of an omnipotent God wrought for the good of men, for their spiritual enlightenment and as a testimony to the one true God. Jesus is the giver of life; first and most important, of spiritual life, but also of physical life and health.

Leaving Samaria after his blessed work there, our Lord went up into Galilee, where he met many simplehearted folk who were ready to believe. Here he was able to work miracles of healing and of grace. I. A Sick Boy Made Well (John young man. But it is also true that affliction may be, in God's hand, a means of blessing. This son's sickness sent his father to Jesus, and resulted ultimately in the salvation of the entire household (v. 53).

A nobleman's son was sick. Death comes to the young as well as the old. In fact, the first that it drowns out all radio comgrave dug in this world was for a munication.

There is another helpful lesson here—our Lord's Word is as good as his presence. The man asked Jesus to come, but he sent his word instead. It was accepted, believed, and completely effective. How blessed for us who may not have the physical presence of the Lord to recall the potency of his Word. When he says it, believe it! II. A Lame Man Made Whole (John 5:2-9)

Back in Jerusalem at the Feast of Purim, a time of joy and gift giving, our Lord found his way to the pool of Bethesda where there were misery and disease. His compassionate heart sent him there to help and to bless.

"Impotent folk"—the words well describe not only those who lay helpless about the pool of Bethesda, but they fit us as well. Oh, yes, we are strong, capable, fearless, but only until we meet some great elemental problem. Then we see that we are inded "a great multi-tude of impotent folk." The silent fog can paralyze a nation. Death, sickness-who can stay their hand? Long familiarity with his weakness had bred in the man with the infirmity a sense of despair. Such an attitude invites defeat. It is unbecoming to a Christian. Let us not forget in the darkest hour to "keep looking up."

Jesus told the man to "rise and walk" — the very thing he could not do for his 38 years of life. But when the Son of God speaks to us he gives the power to respond to his command.

III. A Dead Friend Made Alive (John 11:11-13).

The fact that Jesus is our Friend and our Saviour does not exempt us from human sorrow, but it does assure us of the needed grace to bear the trial and to trust him even in life's darkest hour.

Lazarus, the friend of Jesus, was sick. The home in which Jesus had found rest and fellowship was in deep trouble. Jesus was no longer in Judea. In haste, word is sent to him of his friend's illness. But he did not come.

Why does he delay? Such is the heart cry of thousands today who call on him in their hour of trouble.
The purposes of God are beyond our ability fully to understand. We need only to trust him and abide

Notice that his failure to respond at once to the message of Lazarus' sisters did not mean that he had deserted them (11:4-6). Nor did it mean that he had denied them his help (v. 7). Lazarus may have been dead before the word reached him. He may also have delayed in order that there might be no question about the resurrection miracle. And he may have tarried in order that their faith might be strengthened. Above all, do not fail to notice that he came. He always does. Jesus has never failed any child of his. The time and the manner of his answer to our prayers may not conform to our opinion of what should have been done, but let us remember that we know only in part. He knows all. Let us trust him. In his darkest hour Job said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15).

He called Lazarus forth from the sleep of death. Even so he calls sinners forth from their spiritual death into glorious eternal life! The lifegiver, our Lord and Saviour, is here now ready to give life to everyone who will call on his name.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

No Cooking, So Easy. Saves Dollars.

No Cooking. So Easy. Saves Dollars.

To get the most surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—a child could do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it's hard to beat for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Fill up with your syrup. This gives you a-full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a long time.

And it gives quick relief. It acts in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
