Freezing Rain, Fog Due Today

By ESTER LONGORIA
Avalanche Journal Staff

CONTINUED cold, gloomy weather with periods of drizzle and fog will plague South Plains residents for another day, with no relief expected soon.

A weak, stationary front, located over the northwestern Gulf of Mexico continues to pump a steady stream of low clouds, dense fog and drizzle northward across Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Meanwhile, a storm system along the southern portion of the West Coast slowly crept eastward bringing even more of the murky weather and boosting chances for precipitation.

Rhodesian War Halt Rejected By Guerrillas

RABAT, Malta (AP) — The United States and Britain failed to persuade black guerrilla leaders Monday to abandon their bloody five-year war against Rhodesia's white government and accept an Anglo-American plan for a peaceful settlement leading to black majority rule.

U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young and British Foreign Secretary David Owen said the talks with self-exiles Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo — co-leaders of the militant Patriotic Front — yielded no agreements on major issues.

Talks boycotted

In the Rhodesian capital, Salisbury, negotiations toward a black government dominated by moderate nationalist leaders living inside the country continued Monday with one of the black delegates boycotting the talks.

African National Council president Bishop Abel Muzorewa walked out of the eight-week old negotiations last Friday, accusing the government delegation of insulting him.

After Monday's two-hour session, Prime Minister Ian Smith and black leaders Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole and Chief

Carter Proposes Satellite Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said Monday he favors an agreement with the Soviet Union to prohibit the launching of low-flying satellites carrying radioactive materials.

He said such a pact should be permanent unless a failsafe system can be devised to prevent recurrence of the episode in which a Russian satellite plunged back into the atmosphere over northwestern Canada.

"If we cannot evolve those failsafe methods, then I think there ought to be a total prohibition against earth-orbiting satellites" with nuclear materials aboard, Carter told a nationally broadcast news conference.

Full Parity Opposed

Carter strongly opposed full "parity" pricing of farm products, saying such a policy would be too costly to the nation.

Both Washington and Carter's home town of Plains, Ga., have been the scenes of recent rallies by tractor-riding farmers seeking higher farm prices. Those farmers often cite the goal of full parity.

That would mean government supports raising farm prices to equal the purchasing power they commanded in the legally-fixed base period of 1910-1914.

The Department of Agriculture has estimated that full parity would mean a 20 percent increase in retail food costs to U.S. consumers and could trigger a general inflation rate of more than 9 percent a year.

Asked his views on full parity for farm products, Carter said, "I would guess that to guarantee 100 percent parity for every farm product would cost $20 or $25 billion dollars in the federal budget."

High Farm Prices

"It would also mean that the price of American farm products would be extraordinarily high and that they would be non-competitive in the international markets."

Carter continued, "I think the request for, or demand for, one hundred percent parity is not well founded. There needs to be some flexibility, obviously, and that's what is provided under the 1977 Agriculture Act."

Carter said this act has not yet been in effect throughout a complete farm production season but that it will go a long way toward meeting the needs of farmers.

Parity "Too Costly"

"But a hundred percent of parity, in my opinion, would be too costly," Carter concluded.

Carter also told critics in and out of Congress that rejection of any phase of his tax, jobs, and inflation-fighting programs could aggravate the nation's economic problem.

He said the success of his programs depends on "a very careful balance" between conflicting needs and priorities.

appoint Democrats to those posts.

Carter said he acted routinely in relaying to Attorney General Griffin Bell the request of Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., that the Marston ouster be expedited. He said he did not know at the time that Eilberg was under investigation by Marston's office, although he had been told that the congressman's name had been raised in connection with an investigation.

The president said he gets 10 or 12 calls a day from members of Congress who

English Still Butchering King's Grammar, Spelling

LONDON (AP) — In "My Fair Lady" Prof. Higgins complained: "Why can't the English learn to speak?"

But the English are also increasingly bad at spelling, punctuation and grammar, high school-level examination results indicate.

Misspelling and poor grammar were worse than ever in exams taken last June by some 295,000 students, the Associated Examining Board reported Monday.

The board's examiners do the marking on "O" (ordinary level) and "A" (advanced level) exams taken by secondary school students in Britain as a basic qualification for entering college or finding a job.

Writing Inaccurate

"Fewer candidates seem able to write fluently, interestingly and accurately," the board said.

Some fail to recognize the need for a period at the end of a sentence, while others use capital letters for "any word that takes their fancy."

Common offenses include joining words together such as "alot" and "thank-you."

Misspelled Words Common

Misspellings in recent exam papers included these gems: knowledge spelled "nolidge," symptoms as "sintums," and "80 percent of accidents" rendered as "ateypersunt of axydents."

The examiners said this careless use of English handicaps otherwise talented youngsters. About half the "O" level candidates passed the exam, while 60 percent obtained the more difficult "A" levels.

Jury Finds Thomas Guilty Of Fraud

By FRANK PATRICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

FORMER Brownfield businessman John H. Thomas was found guilty by a jury Monday of defrauding the federal government out of approximately $2.5 million in cotton support payments in 1972 and 1973.

In reaching the verdict, jurors apparently agreed with Asst. U.S. Atty. Bob Slough, who characterized Thomas as a behind-the-scenes manipulator.

"Did you ever see a puppet show?" Slough asked in final argument.

"A man puts down the puppets...then he puts down the curtain, and you can't see the man anymore. The joint ventures in this case are the curtain."

"But who is still pulling the strings? Who's running the puppet show?"

The verdict by the seven-woman, five-man jury came at 7:15 p.m. Members had retired to the jury room at 2:20 p.m., but reportedly waited about an hour to begin deliberations as court officials readied a voluminous mass of exhibits for their view.

The decision capped a hard-fought trial in U.S. District Court here, which began with opening statements by attorneys Jan. 11.

U.S. Dist. Judge Halbert O. Woodward will assess punishment later, after a presentencing report by probation officials.

About 60 persons, mainly friends or associates of the defendant, were in the courtroom during final arguments. Approximately 40 waited during the evening until the verdict was announced.

Thomas, 44, was convicted of 91 counts in the indictment. Corporate co-defendant Jon-T Farms, Inc., was convicted by jurors of 90 counts.

The bulk of the counts against Thomas accused him of willfully and knowingly converting Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) funds to his own use or the use of another and of supplying false information to the government agency.

Prosecutors Slough and Roger McRoberts alleged during the trial that Thomas converted CCC property by causing cotton price support payments totaling about $2.5 million to be allotted to individuals — members of joint farming ven-

Doctor Files For Seat On School Board

DR. JOHN RAY JR., a local pathologist, Monday announced his candidacy for the Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees.

Ray, 51, of 324 56th St., filed for Place 1, being vacated by board secretary Joan Ervin. The only other candidate in that race so far is Lynn Stafford.

"I am seeking this place not as an authority experienced in education, but as a concerned and interested parent. I believe I can make a worthwhile contribution," said Ray, who has been in private practice here for 15 years.

"I am aware of the multiple problems facing our public school system today and feel that parents must stay abreast of current events affecting the education of our children," he added.

Med-School Associate

An associate clinical professor in dermatopathology at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine, Ray stated: "I feel the student is the most important person in our public school system and any decisions and-or discussions must focus on this fact. I would be especially interested in their overall well being, health and welfare in general."

Such goals, Ray said, "can best be served by a sensible application of old-fashioned discipline mixed with a serious concern for turning out a well

New Hospital Ready For First Patients

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

IF WEEKEND tours are any indication, business Wednesday at the new Health Sciences Center Hospital may well surpass administrators' expectations.

An estimated 3,000 persons took up the Lubbock County Hospital District's invitation to tour the deluxe facility Saturday and Sunday, despite bad weather.

The $23 million, 245-bed project, the primary teaching hospital for the Texas Tech University School of Medicine, will begin admitting patients Wednesday at 7 a.m.

Hospital administrators have been predicting an average daily occupancy for the first month of about 40 beds. But in light of the public's weekend response — and the enthusiasm of physicians who toured the medical facility earlier — business may pick up even faster.

"This facility is simply magnificent. Once that message gets out to the community, and I think it already has to a great degree, we shouldn't have any problem building up census," said Joe

Stanley, who has served on the hospital district's board of managers since its inception in 1969.

What's more, Stanley said, "We're going to offer a quality of medical care that matches the beauty and sophistication of the facility itself."

"I mean, the technology is great; it's mindboggling the things the equipment here can do. But what makes a hospital is people. And I feel we've got good, caring people."

Stanley said there may be a psychological advantage to entering a hospital where "the patients are also your owners." The 300,000-square-foot facility belongs to the people of Lubbock County, whose taxes are paying for the project, he noted.

During dedication ceremonies, board chairman J.C. Rickman said much the same thing, with a touch of humor: "Citizens of Lubbock County, this is your facility. We're proud to show you what you own — along with the people who hold the revenue bonds."

The four-story project will open as a

More Havoc Threatens Blizzard Region

By United Press International

SOLDIERS, National Guardsmen and Army engineers battled Monday to reach blizzard-isolated families and airlifted desperately needed food, fuel and other supplies to Midwestern communities facing the threat of more snow.

The cost of last week's blizzard mounted hourly as the great digout went on in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and other snow-bogged states.

New snow fell along the Great Lakes and in the middle Missouri Valley — as much as 12 inches in northern Ohio's snowbelt counties — and forecasters said a storm was expected to move up from the Gulf states and drop from 1 to 4 inches of snow on Ohio Monday night and today.

Rescues Hampered

The snow and bitter cold hampered blizzard rescue and digout work.

The Air Force's Military Airlift Command said it has flown 500 regular Army troops and more than 1 million pounds of snow-removal equipment into Toledo, Ohio, and planned another 15 sorties today.

Army and National Guard helicopters airlifted food and other necessities of life to stranded Ohio towns and rural families. Troops manned bulldozers, snowplows and tractors to clear towering drifts and open a network of highways through the blizzard zone between the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and the Great Lakes.

Losses Staggering

The blizzard claimed at least 34 lives in Ohio, 20 in Illinois, 16 in Michigan, 15 in Indiana and dozens more in other states. Economic losses were staggering.

Farmers in Ohio alone suffered losses estimated at $48 million, and Gov. James

A. Rhodes estimated state expenditures in the massive recovery at more than $12.7 million — including $10 million in overtime pay for state employees.

Indiana Gov. Otis R. Bowen said blizzard losses in the Hoosier state would run into "the hundreds of millions of dollars."

Rhodes said Ohio faced another major problem — curtailment of electricity because of frozen coal stocks and the prolonged strike of United Mine Workers.

In Springfield, Ohio, Red Cross volunteer Stanley Cherryholmes said food was the main concern — "getting enough of it and then getting it where it should go."

Food Supplies Low

Supermarkets in some cities were running low or out of such items as bread, eggs and milk.

"What we've been doing," Red Cross disaster worker Larry Koslick said in

Dayton, "is loading food on National Guard 2½-ton trucks, driving down roads as far as we can and then putting the food on snowmobiles and taking it to families."

A 62-truck convoy Monday was allowed to begin moving eastward out of Celina, Ohio. Highway patrolmen had halted the convoy Saturday night, over objections of belligerent drivers, to keep U.S. 30's single lane open for emergency vehicles.

"In my opinion," Van Wert County Sheriff Donald Thomas said, "they thought their cargo was more valuable than human life."

In Indiana, National Guardsmen were winding down their recovery efforts. Only 142 of 2,550 storm refugees once housed in armories across the state remained there Monday. All interstate highways in Indiana were open to at least one-lane traffic.

In Michigan, where as much as 20 inches of snow fell during the blizzard, federal officials said the Army Corps of Engineers had signed at least 68 snow removal contracts to spur dig-out work in 10 especially hard-hit counties.

Cold Weather Remains

Extremely cold weather clung on in most of the Midwest. The mercury dropped to more than 20 below zero in Wisconsin, 10 below at Evansville, Ind., 9 below at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport and 7 below at Cincinnati.

Freezing rain slicked highways in the Gulf Coast states, snow peppered northern Florida and frost formed in fruit and vegetable fields south of Miami. Early risers in Miami's western suburbs had to scrape ice off windshields and farmers in southern Dade County watered tomatoes, squash, beans and corn to protect them from freezing.

Blizzard Isolates Hundreds In Ohio

CINCINNATI (UPI) — "We were snowed in real good and running low on food and even lower on fuel oil," Billy Norton recalled Monday. "We were starting to wonder what was going to happen to us."

Norton, 36, his wife and three children were snowbound four days in their rural southwestern Ohio home before rescuers finally reached them with four-wheel drive trucks.

The blizzard that roared across Ohio last week claimed 34 lives, cost Ohio farmers $48 million in lost production and livestock and electric utilities are running out of coal.

"Our fuel tank had gone empty, there was only a little left in the line and it was barely burning," said Norton. "We were getting near the end of our food. We'd been eating mostly potatoes, soup, cornbread and beans and getting a little tired of the same thing over and over."

"Then some awful nice people finally made it out to us, brought us 25 gallons of fuel oil and some food — canned goods, canned meat and milk."

"Let me tell you," added Norton. "These snow drifts out here are something else. One step you're up to your knees and you think you're on the ground but the next step you go down about three more feet."

The Nortons were one of hundreds of Ohio families in need of basic necessities in the wake of last week's blizzard and much of Ohio was still crippled Monday.

Coal is also running short, and Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., which serves central Ohio, reduced voltage by five percent to conserve its 50-day supply of coal. Other utilities also reported dwindling supplies because of the cold and the prolonged nationwide coal strike and appealed to businesses and residents for conservation.

Thirty tons of food was airlifted by the federal government to the Cincinnati Red Cross for distribution to snowbound families in rural areas.

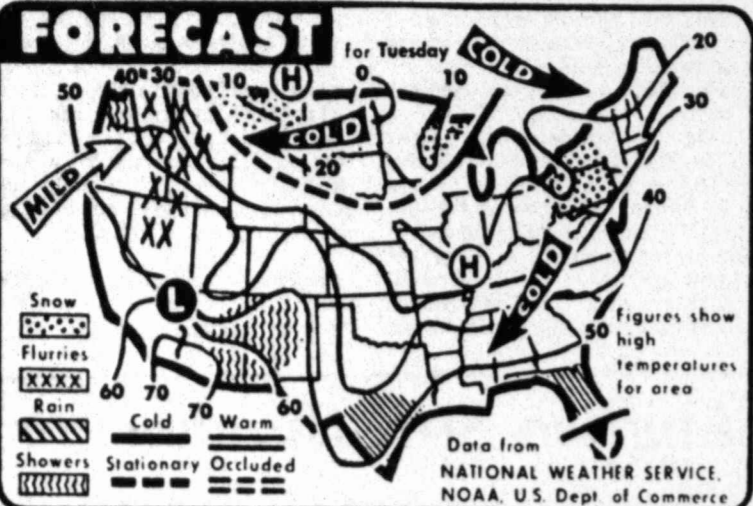

Larry Koslick, a Dayton Red Cross official, said snowmobiles were being used to deliver food.

"What we've been doing is loading food on National Guard two-and-a-half ton trucks, driving down roads as far as we can and then putting food on snowmobiles and going to homes," he said.

In areas where people could get out, supermarkets were jammed.

"A lot of people were in yesterday and we're completely out of bread," Betty Cook, head cashier at the Kroger supermarket in Greenville, said Monday. "We had a supply truck in since last Tuesday, until we finally got one in from Cincinnati Sunday."

"People were interested in staples. Eggs and milk were going fast. There was no panic but customers sure went right to business. They were stocking up because they didn't know when the next storm was going to hit."

Lingering Coal Strike Threatens Inventories

By The Associated Press
Coal inventories at utilities in many Eastern and Midwestern states are at dangerously low levels and mandatory power curtailments might be unavoidable, federal and utility officials said Monday.

"A lot of measures are being taken to stretch the coal supplies as far as possible, but there is only so far they can be stretched," said Alex Gakner, a coal expert for the U.S. Department of Energy. "A lot of people are beginning to get quite nervous."

The United Mine Workers strike is only four days short of the union's 59-day, record-length strike of 1946. The walkout combined with cold weather and record snowstorms has reduced fuel inventories at utilities serving millions of people in states dependent on coal from Eastern mines.

Talks between the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association broke down Sunday after the association reportedly offered to hike wages and benefits by 30 percent over the $6.25 to $7.80 an hour miners now earn, depending on their work. Sources said the union offered a counterproposal to which operators did not respond.

The utilities hardest hit by the strike appeared to be in Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. But utilities serving customers in parts of Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia also reported critically low stocks of coal.

Gakner said utilities in the West are using coal from nearby non-union mines and utilities in the Northeast are using larger amounts of more expensive oil to offset coal.

When the strike began, many utilities reported coal stockpiles that would last 100 days or more under normal conditions. But the severe weather cut deeply into those reserves, officials said.

Gakner also pointed out that the coal being used by many utilities is of poor quality.

"They're getting deeper and deeper into stockpiles where dirt and slush have been gathering for years and years," he said. "That coal is very poor for producing electricity."

In Ohio, where nearly 95 percent of the state's electric power comes from coal-fired generators, Gov. James Rhodes said some utilities had less than a 40-day supply of coal.

"Unless there is a quick settlement of the national coal strike, Ohio and other states which use large amounts of coal for the generation of electricity could be facing a disaster," he said.

Rhodes asked President Carter to assume the role of chief negotiator between the striking coal miners and the industry, and others have suggested using the Taft-Hartley Act to seek a court injunction that would authorize an 80-day cooling-off period.

At a news conference Monday, however, the president said, "I have no present intention at all to intercede or exercise my authority under the Taft-Hartley Act."

But he did call on Americans living in the hardest-hit areas to conserve electricity, and he said he had discussed the situation earlier Monday with his Cabinet.

Lee Sheppard, a spokesman for the Tennessee Valley Authority, the nation's largest power company, said the TVA has a 47-day average supply of coal, omitting one plant with an abnormally high supply.

"That doesn't sound bad, except that five of our 12 plants have less than a 30-day supply," he said. The TVA serves 2½ million customers in Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia.

Gakner and utility officials said that even when an agreement is reached between the 170,000-member union and the coal industry, it would take at least four weeks for full deliveries to resume.

For utilities with 30- to 40-day supplies, that means serious trouble.

Sheppard said the TVA, which already has requested voluntary curtailments of power, is preparing recommendations for mandatory curtailments that probably would begin with industrial customers.

"We would hope to avoid curtailments that create real hardships for anybody," he said. "I expect that within a few days, we will announce some kind of contingency plan."

The American Electric Power Corp., which serves about 2 million customers in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, said it has 58 days worth of coal.

"At 50 days, which is going to come up next week, we'll get into our emergency curtailment plan," said spokesman J. Donlan Piedmont. He said that plan involves cessation of power sales to other utilities.

Helicopters Seek Victims Of Storm

LONDON (UPI) — Helicopters buzzed over snowdrifts in Scotland Monday searching for more victims of the nation's worst blizzard in 30 years. At least eight persons were known dead and one official said, "God knows how many people are still buried out there."

Rescue teams, digging through drifts that ranged from 20 to 50 feet in parts of northern Scotland, found the bodies of a married couple in one car and a man in another car, both marooned when the storm swept in Saturday.

Two other people were found north of Inverness, one a motorist who abandoned his stalled car but froze to death before he could reach shelter.

An Inverness police spokesman said "We don't know how many motorists are trapped or dead."

In other parts of Britain a customs officer died Sunday when winds swept him into the harbor at Annalong. A mountain climber drowned in a lake in snow-covered Wales and another climber died of exposure in Derbyshire.

A fleet of helicopters, which already had plucked more than 200 people to safety in one of Britain's biggest peacetime rescue operations, began checking Monday on the hundreds of cars marooned in the snow.

The helicopters — Army, Royal Air Force and civilian — were called in when searchers on the ground reported difficulty in spotting trapped vehicles. The helicopters looked for any raised area in the snow.

A spokesman for the Royal Automobile Club said winds had dropped so "there should be no more drifting."

"It's a grim task not knowing whether we are uncovering just empty vehicles or icy tombs," he said.

Across the channel, winds of up to 100 mph battered the French coastline around Mont-Saint-Michel and elsewhere in Brittany rivers burst their banks.

An avalanche killed a skier Sunday at Isola, in southern France, and many other ski resorts closed some of their slopes due to the risk of avalanches.

In the Swiss Alps, five skiers died in avalanches over the weekend and gale force winds, driving heavy snowfalls into deep drifts, brought havoc to road and rail traffic.

The storms closed many alpine passes and delayed trans-European express trains in sidings for up to five hours.

Hurricane force winds and heavy rain lashed northern Portugal over the weekend, uprooting trees and killing two people when a tree crashed on their automobile on a highway near the town of Felgueiras.

The weather department said Monday the wind reached gusts of 83 miles per hour in some areas.

Utility Slates Common Stock Sale In March

Southwestern Public Service company has announced that it had filed registration statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering the proposed offerings of $45 million first mortgage bonds due March 1, 2008, and 1,729,206 additional common shares.

Net proceeds from the additional common shares and the new bonds will be used by the company for the repayment of short term debts and for construction purposes.

The sale of the common stock will be made through a rights offering to existing shareholders of record on March 8, or a later day as the registration statement shall declare effective. These shareholders will be able to subscribe to additional shares on the basis of one share for each 14 shares held. The subscription offering will expire at 5 p.m., March 28.

Dillon, Read and Company Inc., is the manager of the underwriting group for both the proposed sale of new bonds and the additional common stock.

Tax Cut Goes To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, carrying President Carter's tax program to Capitol Hill Monday, learned quickly that Congress has a soft spot in its heart for middle America and the expense accounts of businessmen.

Few members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee volunteered support for the package of tax cuts and revisions as the panel opened hearings on the proposals. And few vowed to oppose it.

However, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the committee, repeated his contention that the $25-billion net tax cut proposed by Carter for 1979 is too large.

"I am still going to do my best to hold the reduction to $15 billion to $20 billion net, but we are going to have to give and take in all areas, so it will be a different mix altogether" than Carter recommended, Ullman told reporters.

Carter himself made a pitch for his plan, telling a news conference Monday afternoon that the entire program could fall if any part is not approved.

"If you modify one element in the balanced plan, you could destroy the balance and aggravate our economic problems," Carter said. For example, he said, if Congress doesn't accept the tax reform proposals that accompany his $25 billion in tax cuts, it would increase the federal budget deficit so much that the economy could move too fast and worsen inflation.

The president predicted that his proposed $25 billion in tax cuts would create one million new jobs by the end of this year and reduce unemployment from the current 6.4 per cent to a level below 6 percent by the end of 1979.

Carter also called for support for his voluntary anti-inflation program to reduce wage and price increases, saying "it's our best hope for bringing (inflation) under control."

The Carter plan contains tax cuts for individuals and business that are aimed at helping offset higher Social Security taxes and some effects of inflation. But the president also proposes to raise taxes on some taxpayers by eliminating various deductions.

As Blumenthal sought to justify the 30 separate parts of the package, members of the committee returned again and again to two themes:

— More tax relief is needed by middle-income Americans — generally those earning under $30,000 a year.

— Forget about reducing or eliminating deductions for what has become known as the "three-martini lunch" and other business entertainment expenses.

Members of the committee raised more questions with Blumenthal about business expense accounts than any other subject.

Rep. Richard T. Schulze, R-Pa., asked Blumenthal if he, while serving as chairman of the Bendix Corp., had ever attended a lunch where someone had drunk three martinis. "Yes, but not if I had any control over it," Blumenthal responded.

Blumenthal admitted that Bendix had paid his country-club dues. But as for using a company-owned yacht that had qualified for a tax deduction, Blumenthal replied, "I don't like water."

Present law allows businesses to deduct from income which is subject to taxation any ordinary and necessary business expenses. This has been interpreted, for example, to allow a deduction for buying lunch for a client or taking a potential customer to a football game.

The effect of such a deduction is for the government to pay about half the cost of that lunch or that football ticket. Carter wants to eliminate deductions for sports tickets, hunting lodges and first-class airfare and to have them for meals.

Ullman, the committee chairman, agreed with several of his colleagues that additional tax relief is desirable for middle-income Americans.

The Carter administration calculates that 94 percent of the tax cuts proposed by the president would go to families and individuals earning less than $30,000 a year.

In 1979, the tax cut would more than offset recent Social Security tax increases for four-member families where one wage-earner makes $30,000 a year or less. For example, a family of four with $20,000 income would end up in 1979 with a $150 net reduction in federal taxes, even after the $120 increase in Social Security tax is included.

But in subsequent years, the reductions in income taxes would be soaked up by ever-increasing Social Security taxes.

Blumenthal cautioned Congress that the tax revisions proposed by Carter must be passed in order to finance the tax reductions.

"Enactment of the tax reductions and incentives without the structural changes would result in an excessive drain on tax revenues and a serious distortion in the allocation of the tax burden," he said.

The administration views the tax cut as necessary to protect the economy against the drain of spending power attributed to higher Social Security taxes and to help counter inflation, which pushes wage-earners into higher income-tax brackets.

Hardly anyone in Congress has spoken out against the need for a tax cut in this election year. But as Blumenthal discovered, each of the proposed revisions, which would mean higher taxes, has some opposition.

Ullman announced that he will seek to win a tax revision that Carter decided against asking.

Trial Judge Bars Media Gag Order

A-J Correspondent
SAN ANGELO — Dist. Judge Robert C. Wright Monday denied a defense motion for a gag order which would have restricted newspaper, television and radio station news coverage of the Clarence Allen Lackey capital murder trial.

Wright instead decreed that a standing rule of the 51st and 119th District Courts here, outlawing use of broadcast equipment and cameras in the courthouse, will be in effect during the Lackey trial, being held here on a change of venue from Lubbock.

The Lubbock 137th District Court judge also denied a defense motion for a continuance in the trial.

The expected lengthy process of selecting jurors began Monday, with attorneys for both sides going over the list of 300 prospective veniremen summoned for the case.

Prosecutors and defense attorneys will begin interviewing the potential panelists in groups of 10 at 1 p.m. today.

Lackey, 23, is charged with capital murder in the abduction-slashing last July 31 of Toni Dianne Kumpf, a Texas Tech University Medical School secretary.

Neighbors say the 23-year-old woman was dragged screaming from her Lubbock apartment about 6:30 a.m. that day. Her body was found about two hours later in a field south of the town.

Her throat had been slashed, almost to the point of decapitation.

Court officials predict that selection of a panel from among the 300 prospective jurors could take one to two weeks.

Jurors will be sequestered for the duration of the trial as they are picked.

The prosecution team, headed by Lubbock Criminal Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin, and defense lawyers Phil Brown and Tom Richards of Lubbock, are preparing for what could then be a multi-week trial.

The prosecution has subpoenaed 40 witnesses and the defense, 30.

Lackey's court-appointed attorneys are being assisted by San Angelo lawyer Jerry Johnson.

Richards missed a portion of Monday's proceedings due to what was termed a medical condition.

If convicted on the capital charge, Lackey, a strapping construction worker, faces either life imprisonment or the death penalty — the only punishment options open to jurors under Texas' capital murder law.

Hobby Announces Price Appointment
AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby announced the appointment Monday of Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa, to the jurisprudence, natural resources and finance committees.

Price was sworn in this month after winning a run-off for the seat of Max Sherman, who resigned to become president of West Texas State University.

Trade Deficit Reaches Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's trade deficit soared to a record $26.7 billion last year, the government reported Monday, and a top administration official predicted a deficit nearly as large this year.

Imports of costly foreign oil were a major cause of the 1977 deficit, draining $42.1 billion from American banks and pocketbooks, an increase of $10 billion from a year earlier.

The huge trade deficit has been a chief reason for the decline of the dollar on world money markets in the past year. If the deficit continues as predicted, further declines in the dollar appear likely in 1978.

Both imports and exports set new highs during 1977, although imports grew much faster. The Commerce Department said imports of all goods totalled $146.8 billion, a 22 percent increase, while exports totalled $120.1 billion, a five percent advance from 1976.

The resulting deficit of $26.7 billion was more than four times larger than the previous record deficit of nearly $6.4 billion in 1972. The deficit a year ago was just under $5.9 billion.

President Carter's chief economic adviser, Charles L. Schultze, told reporters that the deficit in 1978 will be in "the neighborhood" of the 1977 deficit, although he forecast an improving trend over the next few years.

He said the size of the deficit depends in part on the demand for U.S. goods in other nations. Demand has been weak in such countries as Japan and Germany and the administration has been appealing to these nations to take steps to import more goods from the United States.

For American workers, the trade deficit translates into a substantial loss of jobs because it means Americans are buying many more foreign-made goods and products than foreign consumers are buying U.S.-made products.

Schultze acknowledged at a news conference that the nation's trade will be one of the things that will be closely watched by the administration in months ahead and which may have a bearing on the nation's overall economic performance this year.

There was some slight improvement in the trade figures in December. The Commerce Department said exports totalled $11.029 billion while imports were $13.059 billion, leaving a deficit for the month of $2.029 billion, down from November's $2.082 billion.

The agency said oil imports in December declined to $3.219 billion from November's $3.529 billion.

Total oil imports during 1977 by quantity were nearly 3.2 billion barrels, up sharply from the 1976 total of just under 2.7

billion barrels. But administration officials do not expect any significant increase in oil imports in 1978.

Besides oil, there were other increases in imports during 1977 of crude materials, food and live animals, manufactured goods and machinery and transport equipment.

The nation increased its exports of crude materials, machinery and transport equipment, chemicals, beverages and tobacco and manufactured goods.

Exports of animal and agricultural products declined by more than 10 percent during the year to a total of $14.1 billion from the 1976 total of $15.7 billion.

The decline in the value of the dollar is expected to eventually increase U.S. exports and decrease imports by making U.S. goods cheaper abroad and some foreign goods more expensive here.

But the administration estimates that the beneficial results of a cheaper dollar won't be felt for at least a year and probably longer. In the meantime, the drop in the dollar has an upward impact on inflation since foreign goods become more expensive for American consumers who want them.

Ireland Publishes Tourist Booklet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ireland appeals to youths from 8 to 80, according to a special booklet, "Land of Youth 1978," published by the Irish Tourist Board.

Whether renting a tent, a bike, a horse-drawn caravan, a thatched cottage or a Shannon River cruiser, a visitor can tour Ireland at his or her own pace. Accommodations ranging from Georgian homes to coastguard stations are available — or overnight in a castle, a farmhouse, a stately mansion, all at prices designed to please the cost-conscious.

The booklet lists activities ranging from rock climbing and island-hopping to cave exploration and orienteering. There are tips on unusual shopping bargains, budget restaurants, theaters, folk entertainment, festivals, and tracing roots. International sports are spotlighted, as well as many cultural activities, including the World Irish Dancing Championships scheduled for Dublin, March 23-25.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I've been reading about "junk" bonds as a means of getting a higher return on one's money. Some friends report good income as well as capital gains from this form of investment. But how would an unsophisticated investor with relatively limited resources ($10,000-$15,000) get enough diversification to spread the risk?

A. Disillusionment with the equity market in recent years has naturally turned some investor and trader interest to bonds. And if you add the hope of market profit to high income as your goal I guess it's only natural that you should turn to more speculative liens. As you point out, however, you'd better know what you are doing if you decide to make the selection.

To satisfy this growing interest, we are beginning to see the emergence of professionally-managed mutual building portfolios in this area of lower-rated bonds — both corporate and tax-exempt. The large Fidelity Group in Boston, manager of several mutual funds, has just launched two more — the Fidelity Aggressive Income Fund which invests in secondary corporate bonds, and the Fidelity High Yield Municipal Fund which manages a portfolio of medium quality, long-term tax-exempt bonds. Both are no-load funds.

The corporate bond fund — which is what you asked about — will emphasize investment in "lower rated" or what the managers believe to be "under-rated" bonds. It will tend to average out its quality ratings at about the BB (Standard & Poor's) or Ba (Moody's) level. This rating is the fifth down from the top in both rating agencies' standings.

The fund will be managed — which means its portfolio will be changed to meet changing market or corporate conditions as its managers see fit. Although yield will change with money market and bond market conditions, the fund hopes to achieve a payout around the 9% percent level.

In telling you about this new trend in investment companies, I want to stress the fact that by no stretch of the imagination am I implying that the age-old laws of risk vs. reward in investing are being repealed.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

Bond ratings have NOT been repealed, professional investors managing billions of dollars for universities and foundations and hospitals continue to place tremendous weight on the differences between AAA and AA and between yields of 8.1 and 8.6 percent. And if the treasurer of some multi-million foundation decides to go as low as BBB or BB we must assume he knows exactly what he is doing, and why.

But, as I have said here many times: Wall Street is a giant department store where the investor may shop for what he wants and if he wants to try for high income and is prepared to assume the risks this implies (even with professional management) he now has that opportunity. "You pays your money and..."

Q. I am thinking of forming a corporation and raising capital by the issuance of common shares, what would be the first step?

A. I suggest you talk to the nearest Securities and Exchange Commission office and see what regulations apply to your particular case.

Q. I want to build a fund for a handicapped grandchild. I've begun with a couple thousand dollars and hope to add $40 or $100 a year. Would Treasury bonds be a good idea?

A. They are a good idea — but not with the amounts of money involved in this case.

You could consider a long-term insured savings certificate earning about 7% percent, or some common shares which offer reinvestment of dividends plus the occasional quarterly or semi-annual amount you plan to add to this fund.

Mr. Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

For information on corporate and tax-exempt bonds, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address your requests to Sam Shulsky, care of King Features Syndicate, 235 East 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Commissioners Tell Utility To Pay Cost Of Fire Protection

Southwestern Public Service Co. will have to pick up its own tab for standby fire protection in rural Lubbock County, county commissioners have decided.

The commissioners court has declined to pay a bill submitted by the Shallowater Volunteer Fire Department for watching over utility work done by SPS about 300 feet outside City of Lubbock limits.

Instead, commissioners said, the Shallowater department should seek payment of the $275 bill from the electric utility company.

Commissioners said that while they are willing to pay $275 for each fire put out by the county's volunteer fire fighters, the county should not be responsible for "standby service," in which there is no actual fire.

Heritage Program Started

WASHINGTON (AP) — Protecting the nation's heritage of historical and natural sites is the aim of a new program being launched by the Interior Department.

Although coordinated by the new federal Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, the aim is to develop the program at the state and local levels.

The federal agency, Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said, "will incorporate natural and historic preservation activities now handled by the Natural Landmarks program and the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation of the National Park Service, with the recreation responsibilities of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation."

In addition, a new emphasis will be placed on the cooperative protection of natural resources, he said.

"I am asking the governors of all the states to join us by participating in heritage programs at the state level, with heavy emphasis on voluntary public participation through conservation groups, historical societies, community and cultural organizations and local governments," Andrus said. He said the emphasis will be put on protection of sites and areas by means other than public acquisition.

"Through this new program we hope to identify and initiate protection for the majority of the nation's heritage resources within five years," Andrus added.

Although the federal agency is encouraging organization of the program on the state level, officials said they would welcome contact from interested local individuals or organizations.

If you or your group can contribute to helping the nation's historic preservation activities, contact Chris T. Delaporte, Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, 1951 Constitution Ave. NW, Room 246, Washington, D.C., 20240.

Kentucky Honors Roosevelt

FRANKFORT, Ky (AP) — Monday was a legal holiday in Kentucky, the only state that officially celebrates the birthday of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Some banks and the state legislature observe the holiday, added to the state's calendar in 1958 through the efforts of then-State Sen. George Ed Overbey Sr. of Murray.

The bill was passed by a great majority, Overbey, now 65, recalls.

"Even some Republicans voted for it," he says. Why in 1958? "I guess I just thought of it then," Overbey said.

"FDR in my opinion ranks among the greatest of the other presidents such as Lincoln and Jefferson," said Overbey. "He brought about the biggest revolution this country has ever seen — deficit spending."

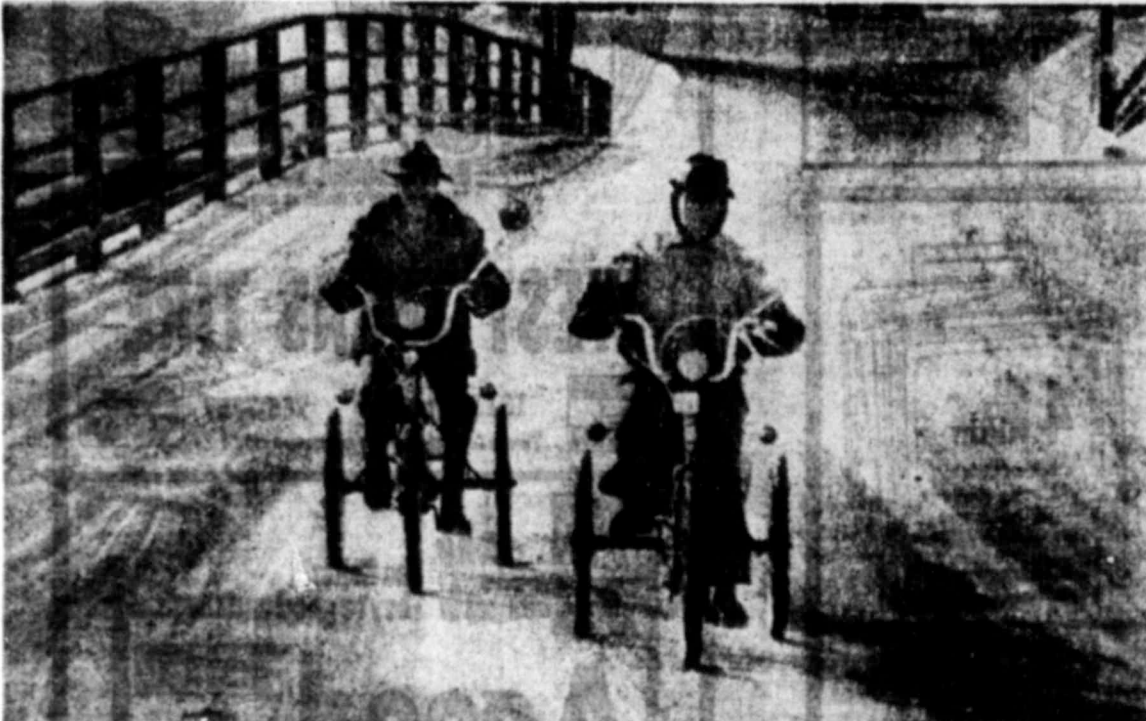

Officer Corrals Pet Bear

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Glenn Lister, a deputy sheriff in Winnebago County and a former high school wrestling champ, never had an opponent to match Lindsay.

Lister met Lindsay, a 455-pound black bear, on not-so-friendly terms Sunday afternoon at the home of Harriet Anderson in rural Rockford. Seems Lindsay, one of several of her husband's pets, had broken loose from his chain and was wandering around the family's home.

Sheriff's Lt. Frank Englund said Lister wrapped a rope around the bear's neck, threw a blanket over its head and dragged it to a fenced-in area. And Lister wasn't even hurt.

Once order was restored, Lindsay got a bowl of peaches and a half-gallon of ice cream.

COLD PEDALING — William Henry Brush, left, 59, with his sister, Rose Anna, 57, don't let snow and the cold stop them from regular tricycle ride over circuit in Newport, N.Y., Sunday. The pair got the tricycles last August and say they have made their exercise run almost daily, and will occasionally ride to a neighboring village about 10 miles distant. (AP Laserphoto)

Two-Beer Limit Ordered

SONORA, Calif. (AP) — It's OK for Arthur Beckett to quaff a couple of beers after work. But two is the limit, says Tuolumne County Superior Court Judge Ted R. Vilas.

The probation office wanted to bar Beckett from drinking as part of probation for a conviction of firing a weapon in a car with four people inside.

But the logging truck driver's lawyer pleaded that Beckett likes to relax with a glass or so of suds after work.

"I recognize that a person may need to relax a bit, just as long as he doesn't drink excessively," the judge said as he ordered a two-beer limit.

Racial War Called Inevitable

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Banned editor Donald Woods says a major civil war between blacks and whites in racially troubled South Africa is probably inevitable.

Woods told 500 students at Yale University over the weekend, "It's unlikely that after 30 years of incriminations that anything will be achieved at the bargaining table." But he added, "You've got to keep working. If you concede, you wash your hands of the whole thing."

Woods fled South Africa on Dec. 31 after the government had forbidden him to work as a journalist because of his criticism of the country's racial policies. He now lives in Great Britain.

Prince Visits Paratroopers

BERLIN (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles is traveling to West Berlin for a private visit to a paratroop unit of which he is honorary colonel.

The 29-year-old prince was to spend Tuesday visiting the 2nd Battalion, Parachute Regiment, part of British Army forces stationed in West Berlin.

The prince's mother, Queen Elizabeth II, is to make her second visit to West Berlin this May 24. The British monarch last visited Berlin in 1965.

FTC Stops Diet Pill Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has ordered the makers of X-11 diet pills to stop false advertising of the product.

Advertisements have included such testimonials as "I lost over 40 pounds" and "I lost 80 pounds."

The commission, in a unanimous decision, found that Porter Dietsch Inc. of St. Paul, Minn., misrepresented the product in indicating that X-11 users can lose weight without restricting their accustomed diet. The FTC said the advertising failed to disclose that a highly restricted diet is part of the X-11 plan.

"Where dieting is required, there is simply no substitute for clear and conspicuous disclosure that dieting is required," the opinion said.

The commission also said the advertisements were false in not disclosing that the non-prescription drug might be hazardous for persons with high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes or thyroid disease. It said the advertisements also were false in failing to make clear that the endorsements telling of substantial weight loss were not typical results for X-11 use.

The FTC ordered that future advertising say, "Warning: This product poses a serious health risk for some users. Read the label carefully before using."

COMPANY C — Craig Wasson, Andrew Stevens, and Stan Shaw are among the U.S. Marines in the Vietnam conflict who are able to find humor and laughter in the stress and danger of mortal combat in "The Boys in Company C," a Columbia release currently being filmed under the direction of Sidney J. Furie. Location shooting took place in the Philippines. The film has not yet finished production work.

UT Police Arrest Speeding Biker

AUSTIN (AP) — Campus police arrested a bicyclist at the University of Texas Sunday on charges of speeding, evading a police officer and riding on a sidewalk.

Steven Lynn Rosanky, 27, was released on personal recognizance bond after being charged in Municipal Court.

Patrol officer Nan Doerr said she clocked a man pedaling his bike at 25 miles an hour in a 15 mile an hour zone. She pursued, but when he took to a sidewalk and she tried to head him off by going around a block, he doubled back.

The officer then drove onto a sidewalk and gave chase while radioing for help. The biker darted between buildings.

Fellow officer Billy Cox arrested Rosanky moments later.

Radio Station Plays Record Despite Flack

NORWAY, Maine (UPI) — While some radio stations decided to ban Randy Newman's controversial hit song "Short People," a Maine station found a way to deal with "some very obnoxious calls" it received.

WOXO-FM decided to take the complaints it received about the song in stride and turned the controversy into a promotional gimmick, said morning news director Kevin McCay.

Two weeks ago, the station began "my favorite short person contest" — asking listeners to send in photographs with the name, age and height of their favorite short person.

The winner will be picked at random on Ground Hog Day and given $100 worth of prizes and treated to dinner — including, shrimp cocktail, short bread and strawberry shortcake, McCay said.

Newman's song — a ridicule of prejudice — has disturbed a few smaller-than-average sized people who are taking personal offense at lines characterizing "short people" as having grubby little fingers and dirty little minds.

But the voices that Newman says go "peep, peep, peep" have joined together in such a howl of protest the song has been banned in Boston, New York and Pennsylvania.

WOXO started playing the song about five or six weeks ago. Shortly after that the phones started ringing.

"We got some very obnoxious calls. Some people threatened to boycott our sponsors," said night news director Steve Rogers.

COMPLETE STOCK MARKET, AMEX

Stock Mart Stages Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, aided by better-than-expected trade figures, staged a slow but steady rally Monday that carried the Dow Jones industrial average to its best gain so far in 1978.

The Dow average of 30 blue chips climbed 8.32 to 772.44, its largest single-session advance since it rose a similar amount last Dec. 9.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about a 5-3 spread on the New York Stock Exchange, and the exchange's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was up $9 at 49.45.

The pace of activity was unimpressive, however. Big Board volume totaled 17.40 million shares, down from 17.60 million Friday and the lightest total for a full six-hour session since 16.75 million shares changed hands on Dec. 27.

At mid-afternoon the government reported that U.S. imports exceeded exports by $2.03 billion in December, bringing the total trade deficit for the year to a record $26.72 billion.

But analysts noted that the news had been widely advertised in advance, and that the actual figures came in below advance estimates of about $30 billion.

BY OSWALD JACOBY AND ALAN SONTAG

No bridge history would be complete without some mention of the Lenz-Culbertson match of 1931-1932 and "Passing Fancy." The book on the history of contract includes this hand played by Sidney Lenz as one of several hands from the match.

Lenz' opening two-heart bid was systemic. He played two bids as strong, but not forcing. Jacoby passed at three hearts because they had a 30-point part score.

The final contract was not the best one in history and a diamond lead would have defeated it easily, but Culbertson opened the deuce of clubs.

This gave Lenz a chance to make the contract by means of a spectacular, but normal expert play. He dropped the queen of clubs under East's king to make it possible to finesse dummy's 10 of clubs later on, discard a loser and score his ninth trick.

Lenz was 57 at the time of the match and was known as the grand old man of bridge since Culbertson was 40, Jo Culbertson 32 and Jacoby 28.

Ask the Experts

A New Jersey reader asks if there ever was a 1-2-3 system.

The answer is "Yes." Invented by Sidney Lenz, suit three bids were game forces and two bids just very good hands and not forcing. Today's article shows the system at work.

This team up has a sailing jacket in twill, a cotton fishnet blouson and pants that are side-elasticated and detailed with an envelope-flapped watchpocket.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Readers: A gentleman in Oklahoma came up with the perfect answer for the wife whose husband comes home from work and asks, "What did you do all day?"

In a recent column a woman wrote to say her husband asked her that question and when she told him she washed clothes for eight people (they have six kids) he replied, "What do you mean YOU washed clothes? The machine did it."

Well, here's his snappy comeback — in poetry yet — and I love it!

Someday I'll Answer...

(Husband): "What did you do all day?"
 I didn't wash the dishes,
 And I didn't make the bed,
 Your clothes are
 Where you left them —
 I sat all day and read.
 I overlooked the ironing.
 The wash and mending too.
 As far as I'm concerned
 There's not a thing to do.
 Your supper isn't ready
 And the toys are in the way,
 And that, my darling husband,
 Is what I didn't do
 All day. — Submitted by Jack Wright,
 Yukon, Oklahoma

Dear Jack: A big kiss from every woman in America who has ever been asked the question!

Dear Ann Landers: My sister's husband started running around on her very soon after they were married. Everyone seems to know about it but her.

She is such a sweet person, a great wife and a terrific mother to two small children. It seems every other day someone tells me about another girl her husband approached for a date, took to dinner or practically attacked.

The jerk has made passes at me and my brother's wife. We both told him off but he feels safe because he knows we would never let my sis know. It would hurt her too much.

Should a woman have to live her whole life like this? I've been thinking seriously about telling her. She is still young and beautiful and could make a life with someone else.

He must be crazy. I need your advice, Ann. — Torn Between Two Fires

20 pounds ago, I had thick thighs. Can you believe I'm now a size 5!

Judy Boyum's True Story:
 My husband never said, "You look fat." But he must have thought it. Three years ago, my weight had reached 130, and on my 5'3" build, that was just too much, especially since most of the pounds seemed to be concentrated between my waist and my knees.

It wasn't as if I hadn't ever dieted or exercised. I'd been going to a spa for a long time...and yet, the big change I wanted hadn't happened.

Then a friend began going to Pat Walker's. She told me about her treatments on the passive exercise unit, and how she didn't have to undress, or muss her hair. I couldn't believe it would work, but when she started losing weight, I decided to give Pat Walker's a try.

I became a believer so fast. Within a month, I'd lost eight pounds! Suddenly I had such energy, and I was feeling much happier with myself.

Over the next several months, I went from a size 12 to a size 5. That summer, for the first time in my life, I wore a bikini.

I've been able to maintain my figure from that day two years ago to this. Now, at 31, I'm manager and buyer for a gift shop in Houston, with all the confidence I need to do my job well. And my husband thinks I look super.

Go ahead. Call for your free figure analysis and sample treatment. No matter what your age, you could be starting a new way of life, just as I did.

How to Win At The Losing Game

... Feel Good While Dieting

DIET CENTER

THE DIET CENTER WAY
 PERHAPS THE MOST unusual aspect of the Diet Center's approach to attacking extra pounds is that "every single person who comes through our doors is treated as an individual."

Since its inception in 1970, Diet Center had avoided the group therapy approach, preferring instead to offer each client personal, private counseling and support.

What we offer dieters in the program is the knowledge that through the thick and thin of their weight reducing period they have a friend — who understands.

The Diet Center program is based on four phases of dieting from preparing to lose weight to maintaining ideal weight once it's attained. All phases include the private counseling sessions.

Another important reason for the success of Diet Center, now incorporated with centers in the U.S. and Canada is the quick results of the Program!

While other reducing plans may set one or two pounds as average weekly losses, Diet Center averages three and one half pounds per week. A conservative estimate of weight loss is between 18 and 30 lb. No crash starvation techniques are utilized nor are drugs or shots used to achieve the losses.

BE A WINNER!
 Here is a program that really works. Women and men enrolled in the program are enthusiastic, happy and very satisfied with good results in weight loss. There are no drugs, no injections no exercise, no gimmicks, whatsoever — just daily counseling, diet supervision and education for a life time of weight control.

This is the first service of this kind to be offered in this area, one that is within the reach of the average pocket book and is successful for anyone who is serious about losing weight.

If you would like to know "how to win at the losing game," we would like to talk to you. Call us for a consultation.

Administration Issues Economic Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — A steady increase in purchasing power should make 1978 a good year for most Americans, but inflation, unemployment and sluggish business investment loom as pitfalls for the economy in years ahead, the Carter administration said Monday.

"The economy is entering its fourth consecutive year of sustained growth, and the prospects for continuation of the recovery in the near term are quite favorable," said the President's annual economic report to Congress.

It said Americans on the average should benefit from an increase in purchasing power of more than 5 percent this year, up from a 4.9 percent gain in 1977. As a result, they will increase their overall purchases of goods and services by about 4.5 percent, the report said.

Put another way, it means a family with income of $200 weekly last year should see its income rise to more than $210 in 1978, after discounting the effects of inflation and increased taxes.

Nearly all of the additional $10 a week will be spent on new purchases, officials say.

The report, which was prepared by the President's Council of Economic Advisors, offered this assessment of the economy at the end of 1977:

"The sectors of the economy were in good balance, inventories were relatively lean and the balance sheets of businesses and financial institutions were strong."

But the report added that with unemployment and inflation still high, and production not yet what it should be, much more remains to be done. "The great resources of the U.S. economy are still incompletely utilized," it said.

The report repeated the administration's earlier forecasts for overall economic growth of 4.5 percent to 5 percent in 1978, compared with 4.9 percent in 1977, and a decline in unemployment to between 6 percent and 6.25 percent, down from 6.4 percent in December.

Inflation is expected to continue at about the same 6 percent rate of 1977, although Carter's new anti-inflation program could reduce it somewhat, Charles L. Schultz, the chairman of the Council, said at a news conference.

The administration's hope is that the voluntary program can trim one-half of 1 percent from the inflation rate each year if business and labor will agree to smaller price and wage increases than they have had in the past two years.

"There must be a well-coordinated, good-faith effort on the part of both sides if progress is to be made in unwinding the inflationary pressures inherited from the past," the report said.

The report expressed considerable concern over the sluggish pace of investment by business in new plants and equipment. Investment increased 8 percent last year, after discounting for inflation, and should rise another 7 to 8 percent in 1978.

But the report said this isn't good enough, especially since investment is still 2 percent below its pre-recession peak in 1973. A stronger rate of investment is needed to provide the jobs to help return to full employment, as well as to prevent future shortages that could worsen inflation, it said.

"At a time when strong growth in the capital stock is needed to meet future

'Bonehead' Club Cites Farmers

DALLAS (AP) — The good news is that striking American farmers have won an award for their efforts. The bad news is that the award is the top prize from the Bonehead Club of Dallas.

Club members announced Monday that the American Agriculture movement is the collective recipient of the annual "Bonehead of the Year" award.

The club cited the farmers for setting a record for no-shows at Texas Stadium and for seeking 100 percent parity "when no one knows what it is."

A rally in the stadium, home of the Dallas Cowboys, was expected to draw thousands, but attracted only a few hundred persons.

A statement from the club said members of American Agriculture's headquarters at Springfield, Colo., will be on hand to accept the award Friday.

The club presents its award each year to a person or group committing a "monumental goof."

Previous winners include former President Richard Nixon and last year's winner, Bill Coors, who was cited for the "press-tab" operation since abandoned by Coors beer.

Church Fire Injures Three

A-J Correspondent
MEMPHIS—Three persons, including a minister who was preparing to deliver his first sermon here, were in satisfactory condition Monday at Hall County Hospital with injuries suffered in Sunday's flash fire at the First United Methodist Church of Turkey.

Sunday school superintendent Alga Turner, 78; the Rev. Elroy Wisian, 25, and his wife, Donna, 23, were hospitalized after suffering second and third degree burns in the fire. The Wisians' 17-month-old daughter, Carla, also was hospitalized but was dismissed Monday.

Betty Christian, charge nurse at Hall, said the Wisians would be transferred to Amarillo's High Plains Baptist Hospital for further treatment.

The injured had been preparing for services in the building when the blaze erupted at about 9:50 a.m. in the church's basement.

Apparently a gas heater had been left on, and reduced gas pressure had extinguished the flame.

When Wisian attempted to light the furnace, the escaping gas fumes burst into flames.

Raiders Hold Off Late Frog Rally 58-51

By DON HENRY
Executive Sports Editor
FORT WORTH — The Raiders ran through airports, and they tried harder. But, they didn't finish like Avis. Not Monday night.

It wasn't all a case of getting here, though, as the Raiders held off a TCU charge for a 58-55 squeaker. And when the final buzzer sounded, Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers could finally draw a deep breath. It was probably the first big one he had been allowed since early Monday morning.

The victory brought the Raiders' Southwest Conference record to 6-3 and 14-6 for the season. It also snapped a two-game losing streak, the only time this year Tech has lost two in a row.

But, for a time, it didn't look as if the Raiders would be in a position to win or lose. There was this business of getting to TCU's Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Fog in Lubbock zapped the Monday morning flight which was to bring the team to the Metroplex. A bus was chartered about the time Myers got the word that he probably would be able to get out of the airport.

The team left a 4 p.m., flew to Dallas and walked into the fort Worth arena at 6:30 p.m. Start of the contest was delayed ten minutes to allow full warmup.

Then there was the matter of the Frogs. Thanks to a slower pace, the Raiders didn't have to exhaust full energy. They moseyed to a 25-22 half-time lead and, thanks to a surge of early-second-half rebounds by Joe Baxter, Tech protected that lead.

And, when Mike Russell hit a free shot with 6:12 left to open a 10-point lead (46-36), it appeared as if the Raiders had things under control.

Appearances can be deceiving, however. For the Frogs outscored Tech 9-2 during the next two minutes, and when Mike Edwards missed the first of a one-and-one with 3:56, that 48-45 lead didn't look too comfortable. Frankly, it was worse than the fog.

To make it worse, Frog Tim Marion rebounded. But, Tech choked off that threat, regained possession and went into a serious delay game. Baxter, who finished with 10 drilled a jumper from the key at 2:44 left, but Steve Seales n that with a jumper from the top key with 2:25 remaining. After some more clock, Baxter from the key as before, but he this one. But, the 6-9 center hit the baseline retrieved his shot muscled back up for the buck 2:04 remaining.

Dunbar, Estacado Rematch Set

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

It may not be the only game in town, but it should be. And for obvious reasons, too.

1. The bout pits the city's top two teams. (Or rather for arguments sake, the teams with the best won-loss records.)
2. A district title could be decided.
3. And the matchup puts arch-rivals that make Begin and Sadat resemble kissing cousins one one one.

So who are these masked men? Why the Estacado Matadors and the Dunbar Panthers, of course. And tonight at 8 p.m. in the Estacado gym these two basketball dynamos square off in the second and final chapter of "Bombs Over East Lubbock" or "Return Of Voit Jack". Meaning there's going to be a whole lot of shooting going on.

The bout tonight is expected to be witnessed by more than 2,000 fans in the EHS gym. (In their meeting a group estimated at more than 1,200 crowded into the DHS gym. An additional 200 persons were turned away at the door.) Also on tap for tonight, Lubbock High (1-3, 4-21) entertains Coronado (2-2, 8-16) at 7:30 p.m. in a District 4-AAAA game, Monterey (4-0, 15-11) travels to Plainview (1-3, 4-21) for another 4-AAAA contest, the Dunbar girls (0-2, 0-21) host the Estacado fens (0-2, 7-14) and the Lubbock High girls (0-3, 6-14) are at Frenship.

The game pitting Lubbock Christian High and Christ the King set for tonight has been postponed until Feb. 7.

If tonight's matchup is anything like the first then a few sweaty palms might be in order for both coaches, J.J. Wood of Estacado and Joe McWilliams of Dunbar.

During their first encounter, Estacado used the strong outside shooting of guard Alvin Harris to notch a 81-79 overtime win.

"We expect about the same kind of game this time, too," Wood said. "We aren't going to do anything different than we did last time — except maybe score a little sooner, I hope — and I don't think they will make any changes."

Wood, who has watched the Mats run up a 21-2 season record and a 1-0 second half loop mark, is the first to admit that as Dunbar ace Billy Hardaway goes, so goes the Panthers.

OVERRULED AGAIN — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley poses by a caricature of himself in his Chicago office after baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn's decision of himself was announced. Kuhn Rejects Vida Blue Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn rejected the trade of Vida Blue to the Cincinnati Reds Monday, but urged the two clubs to restructure the transaction.

The decision, announced by his office after Kuhn had left for Boston, was precipitated by the $1.75 million that the Reds had paid Oakland owner Charles O. Finley for Blue, a 3-time 20-game winner.

Kuhn has placed an informal $400,000 ceiling on the price any team could pay another club for an individual player. The Reds and A's tried to skirt that limit when Cincinnati included minor league slugger Dave Revering in the Blue deal which was announced at baseball's winter meetings in Hawaii last December.

Within minutes of the announcement of the trade, Kuhn informed both clubs that he was withholding approval pending his examination of the transaction.

Finley and Reds President Bob Howsam spent two days testifying at hearings called by the commissioner earlier this month. There was an attempt at a compromise that would have sent other Reds players to Oakland and reduced the cash involved in the transaction. But, when that could not be worked out, the commissioner stopped the deal, then suggested that the two clubs renegotiate during the second interleague trading period that runs from Feb. 15 to March 15.

In Cincinnati, the Reds said they would have no comment until they could study the 15-page decision.

In Oakland, Blue's attorney, Richard Sequeira, said he would have no comment until he gets the decision.

It marked the second time that Kuhn has refused to allow Finley to move Blue to another team. Nineteen months ago, the commissioner blocked the sale of Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million each of outfielder Joe Rudi and relief pitcher Rollie Fingers to Boston.

Rudi and Fingers both played out their options with Oakland and moved to other teams as free agents with Finley receiving nothing in return. Blue, who had signed his contract just hours before Finley attempted to sell him in 1976, remained with the A's, and is one of the

Finley 'Disenchanted'

CHICAGO (AP) — Charlie Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, said Monday that baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's decision to void the Vida Blue trade to Cincinnati was "very disenchanted to say the least but nothing unexpected."

"It's ridiculous when you pour millions of dollars into a club over the years to develop five consecutive division titles and three straight world championships and not receive any support in doing so and then be deprived of selling a player like Vida Blue for $1.75 million who, without question, will be playing his option out next year and will be placing himself on the bidding block and receive $2 million or more himself and the club that developed him receive nothing," said Finley.

TI May Drop Three New Mexico Flights

By FRANK STANLEY
A-J Correspondent

CLOVIS, N.M. — Texas International Airlines officials told three communities in eastern New Mexico Monday that the airline would cease serving the cities by the end of 1978.

The airline also announced it would be cutting jet service to four of five communities it serves in New Mexico, substituting slower propeller-driven planes.

Airline vice presidents Van Taylor and David Brown met with Clovis city officials late Monday and announced that effective March 15, the airline would no longer provide DC 9 jet service to Clovis, Carlsbad and Hobbs.

Instead, the airline will provide the cities with Prop-Jet Convair service. No reason was given by the airline officials for the change.

The much slower propeller-driven Convairs had been in service to the communities until April 1977, when the airline announced they were going "all jet" in New Mexico.

After making the equipment change announcement, the airline officials then stunned community leaders Monday with the announcement that the airlines wanted to suspend service permanently by late 1978.

The airline presently serves Albuquerque, Roswell, Carlsbad, Hobbs and Clovis in New Mexico.

At a Monday morning meeting in Roswell, the two vice presidents announced that Roswell air service would be cut from two jet flights to one. The city also would receive one Convair flight daily.

In Clovis, Mayor Chick Taylor Jr., said "It's all a shock. We don't know what to think of the airline's move at this time."

The city of Clovis in April of last year had purchased a modular terminal to be built at Canon Air Force Base to accommodate the new jet service which could not use the municipal airport.

In today's announcement, the airline said they would be going back to using the municipal airport.

Trade Deficit Analyzed

NEW YORK (AP) — What does the record $26.7-billion U.S. trade deficit mean to you, your job and your economic well-being? The following questions and answers may help.

Q: Why should the average person care whether the nation has a trade deficit or surplus?

A: A trade deficit fuels inflation. It means you probably will have to pay more for certain products like Scotch whisky, French wine, fancy clothes from Europe and inexpensive garments from the Far East, cameras, electronic gadgets and other imported goods. This already has happened with some foreign cars and color television sets sold in the U.S.

Q: What is a trade deficit and why did it come about?

A: A deficit means the United States bought more from other countries than it sold to them. The key cause of this deficit was the nation's thirst for foreign oil, which cost $42.1 billion in 1977.

Q: Why does a trade deficit mean imports will cost more?

A: Because it means the value of the dollar will fall in relation to other major currencies. That means the dollar buys less abroad. Or said in another way, it takes more dollars to buy the same amount of foreign products.

Q: What causes the dollar to drop in value against other currencies?

A: A $26.7-billion trade deficit means the United States spent $26.7 billion more overseas than it took in for American products sold in other countries. That means American businesses need West German marks, Swiss francs, Japanese yen and other currencies from countries with trade surpluses to pay for those goods. And businesses in countries with surpluses need fewer dollars because they are buying fewer American products.

The result is greater demand for other currencies in world money markets and less demand for dollars. There's less supply of other currencies to meet the demand and a greater supply of dollars, which fewer people want. The result — dollars are worth less and marks, francs and yen are worth more.

Another element in foreign exchange trading is psychology. All the speculators are trying to outguess each other on whether one currency will rise or fall in value and by how much. This can accelerate the rise or fall of the dollar.

Q: What does all this mean to my job?

A: In general, a trade deficit is not good for employment because it means that foreign workers instead of American workers are producing goods consumed in this country. But the impact varies, depending on who you work for. If you work for a company that has been having difficulty competing with Japanese imports, for example, it could mean your employer's products will be more competitive with the Japanese goods.

Warplanes Claimed Piloted By Cubans

MOGADISHU, Somalia (UPI) — Cubans piloting Ethiopian warplanes have driven Somali forces from the strategic city of Harar in eastern Ethiopia in a series of almost round-the-clock air raids, diplomatic sources said Monday.

The sources said the Somalis, who at one point last week controlled two-thirds of the mountain citadel town in the north of the Ogaden desert region, pulled back about two miles last weekend.

They said it appeared when the air raids began last week the Somalis were close to capturing the city. They speculated that the insurgents would have succeeded if they possessed effective air cover or ground-to-air missiles.

Second Force-Out

It marked the second time the Somalis have been forced out of Harar after penetrating the city's defenses and fighting in the streets of the town. The last time was in early December following a four-week Somali effort to capture the city.

The diplomats confirmed Somali reports that the Ethiopians launched a large scale attack last Sunday pushing south of Harar. The Somalis counter-attacked, captured the towns of Babile and Fiyambiro east of Harar and moved into the city itself, they said.

Beginning Wednesday, the sources said, 29 Ethiopian warplanes — mostly MIG 17s and MIG 21s — began launching

New Israeli 'Ideas' Delivered To Cairo By U.S. Official

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of State Alfred Atherton arrived in Egypt from Jerusalem Monday carrying new Israeli "ideas" for a political compromise to get the stalled peace negotiations started again.

Only hours later, Egypt announced the military talks would resume tonight in Cairo — the first direct negotiations between Egypt and Israel in two weeks.

The talks between the Egyptian and Israeli Defense Ministers, Gen. Mohammed Gamassy and Ezer Weizman, were interrupted Jan. 13 after reaching a deadlock on the future of 19 Jewish settlements in the Sinai.

Atherton's visit is viewed in Egyptian and Western diplomatic circles as an important prelude to President Anwar Sadat's scheduled talks with President Carter at Camp David this weekend.

His mission is concerned with reviving the "political" talks — aimed at reaching an overall peace settlement — that broke down in Jerusalem Jan. 18.

Peace Probes Planned

Atherton, who will fly back to Washington ahead of Sadat, said he will have "informal and exploratory talks" with Foreign Minister Mohammed Kamel "to try to find ways to advance the peace process."

At the same time, an Israeli spokesman said in Tel Aviv that Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, his family and top aides would leave Tuesday for the next round of military talks in the Egyptian capital. The talks were suspended when the Israeli cabinet voted eight days ago to delay sending its delegation.

Atherton, who spent nearly 10 days conferring with Israeli leaders, said on arrival, "I am bringing some ideas" from the Jerusalem government.

Getting Egyptian Position

"I hope my talks here will help the United States to understand the Egyptian position in preparation for Sadat's talks with Carter," he said.

The American diplomat has been attempting to bridge the gap between Egyptian and Israeli positions on a declaration spelling out the basics of Middle East peace.

The future of the Palestinians on the West Bank of the Jordan and Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands conquered in 1967 are the major stumbling blocks to a peace agreement and led to the collapse of the political talks in Jerusalem Jan. 18.

Atherton said his talks with Kamel, scheduled for Tuesday morning, will center on the "declaration of principles for a comprehensive peace settlement. In this respect, I will be building on the similar talks I had in the last few days in Israel."

Before departing for Cairo, Atherton met for 45 minutes with Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and said he came away with a "full understanding of the Israeli position."

Asked if he was carrying fresh Israeli proposals, Atherton said: "Calling it proposals is a little too formal. I am bringing some ideas we have been discussing" in Jerusalem.

Israeli Talks "Productive"

He said his talks with Israeli leaders were "very productive" but the renewal of negotiations between the foreign ministers depends on the results of Sadat's talks with Carter.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said a favorable Egyptian reaction to the proposals Atherton carried would considerably facilitate the talks between Carter and Sadat, who then would concentrate on the mechanics of getting the peace talks resumed.

If Cairo's reaction is unfavorable, they said, Sadat will take up the issue of the draft declaration with Carter and will seek American pressure on Israel for concessions.

In Washington, State Department officials said Monday that Carter sent Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin a curt letter last week warning him not to go ahead with the creation of a new Jewish settlement at Shiloh on the West Bank.

The United States maintains the new settlements on occupied territory violate international law and are an obstacle to peace.

Officials At Hobbs Plan To Combat Wild Dog Packs

A-J Correspondent

HOBBS — John Good, superintendent of Hobbs Environmental Services, says 10 packs of dogs are running at large inside the city limits here.

He says the packs include from four or five up to 15 to 20 dogs, many of which have no owner.

However, he observed, some of the packs are the result of owners letting their dogs out to "roam, both day and night." Good said the existing leash law, which calls for fines up to $300 or 90 days in jail, or both, are not effective in the case of the "unowned-dog."

Good and George Schubert, Hobbs city attorney, say they will explore the use of tranquilizers to capture dogs that can't be captured in the usual manner. However, Good said, the tranquilizer method would have to be conducted by a veterinarian or someone under his supervision. Permission must be obtained from the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Donations Needed For Science Fair

LAMESA (Special) — The South Plains Regional Science Fair is scheduled here March 31 and April 1, but because the fair is supported entirely by contributions, Richard B. Davis, fair director, is asking that the public respond with donations now.

Lamesa Independent School District will provide the physical facilities for the fair, but this year's expenses are expected to approach $3,000.

Contributions can be sent to the South Plains Science Council, in care of Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce, Educational Division, P.O. Box J, Lamesa 79331.

The fair will be held on the campus of Lamesa Middle School. Two finalists will qualify for the International Science and Engineering Fair in California in May.

State Interviewer Sets Memphis Visit

A-J Correspondent

CHILDRESS — An interviewer from the Texas State Employment Commission office here will be in Memphis accepting job interviews on alternate Fridays beginning Feb. 3.

According to Buford Scarbrough, manager of the employment office, Ed Burchell, will conduct the interviews on that schedule until March 3.

The interviews will give person affected by the recently announced closing of a Burlington Industries plant in Memphis an opportunity to seek other employment, Scarbrough said.

"It's easier to send someone to Memphis for the interviews than to have as many as 200 people traveling to Childress," Scarbrough noted.
