Senate votes today on first Canal treaty opponents all but conceded victory for the first of two Panama Canal treaties on the eve of the vote, allowing President Carter to claim his first major congressional victory in several months

HOME EDITION

"I think they've got it." said Sen Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., of today's vote on the pact guaranteeing the canal's neutrality after the year 2000.

Five senators were still seen as uncommitted late Wednesday Democrats Edward Zorinksy of Nebraska, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, Quentin Burdick of North Dakota and Paul G. Hatfield of Montana; and Republican Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma.

Zorinsky, scheduled to meet with Carter at the White House today, said. This is probably the toughest decision I've ever had to make."

Bellmon scheduled a news conference before the vote to declare his intention Burdick and Zorinsky said they would not declare themselves before the vote.

An informal poll showed 65 votes solidly for the treaties, two short of the required two-thirds to ensure ratification.

But one knowledgeable source close to Senate leaders said supporters had at least 67 votes in hand And a Republican treaty backer, Sen. Bob Packwood of Oregon, predicted 69 votes for the treaty, including one senator he would not name who had been counted as a "no vote

Packwood, who said earlier this week he might oppose the treaty because he believed Carter was making blatant political deals in exchange for votes, said he changed his mind and would vote for the pact.

Laxalt, the treaty foes' principal strategist, said his followers will concentrate on defeating the second of the agreements to gradually

Three Democrats, Dennis DeConcini of Arizona, Donald Riegle of Michigan and Russell Long of Louisiana, said they would vote for the treaty, as did Republican Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland.

Government inhibits development of resources, Briscoe tells Lions

By JIM STEINBERG

"The federal government is the largest withholder of energy in America today." Gov. Dolph Briscoe charged Wednesday at a meeting of the Downtown Lions Club in Midland

"I don't mind an investigation of what is holding up oil production in this country, only I think most people want to start investigating in the wrong places. The investigation should start with the states that don't produce oil and with the federal government." Briscoe told more than 100 Lions in the Midland Hilton

"The federal government controls 50 percent of the known fossil fuel reserves in the country, but only allows 10 percent of it to get into production." Briscoe said adding that most of that was on the coastal shelf off Texas shores

Having drilled over 600,000 wells, of which 1,200 were on offshore locations. Texas has a right to ask other states to do their share in meeting the nation's oil needs, including offshore drilling, Briscoe said

He said the Texas Railroad Commission was two years ahead of the federal government in formulating an energy policy. He labeled the 24-year history of natural gas price regulation "a disaster" and noted that "unfortunately" bureaucrats want to extend the "disaster" to the Texas intrastate system

"The bureaucrat wants more regulation to get out of areas of poor regulation instead of doing away with the regulation itself." Briscoe said No one is smart enough in or out of government to make price controls benefit the American consumer. Briscoe pointed to what he called the tight fiscal management of Texas. favorable attitude toward industrial state government spending which produces a yearly surplus, and said: "If this policy were followed at the national level, we would not have infla-

At that point his speech was interrupted by applause

"I am very optimistic about the future of Texas But nobody in Midland needs to be told about being optimistic If there is a city anywhere that is booming, it is Midland, Briscoe said

"The people of Texas have a 'can do, will do' spirit, with no feeling that we have reached the height of our development. There is no feeling of share the shortage here. There is no feeling that we can't face the problems of the day. The pioneer spirit is still alive in this state." Briscoe said

Briscoe said Texas has the most development of any state in the nation

"Only New Hampshire has a smaller percentage tax rate, and we are going to have to do something

In the last five years, more than 1.200 new industries have located in Texas, creating 250,000 new jobs and pumping $11 billion into the economy each year, he observed.

"Dollars not taken in taxes are dollars not away from opportunities." Briscoe said

During his tenure as governor, Briscoe said, public education, teachers' salaries, and the state highway system all have prospered Briscoe, who is running for reelection to the governor's office, was introduced to Lions ('lub members by attorney Tom Sealy.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe spoke to the Midland Downtown Lions Club Wednesday on subjects ranging from energy to state finance.

Former Italian premier kidnapped

Aldo Moro, considered Italy's most influential politician, was kidnapped today by gunmen who killed his driver and three members of his protective escort, police reported Another bodyguard was seriously wounded and is in a coma, they said

A telephone call to ANSA, the Italian news agency, said the kidnap pers were from the Red Brigades. Italy's most feared urban guerrilla group Fifteen of its leaders are on trial in Turin, and the organization has vowed to force cancellation of the trial by terrorist attacks.

Two hours later police reported that a helicopter sighted a car speeding down a road on the outskirts of Rome Five persons appeared to be in it, and one of them was being held on the

A massive force of police converged on the area Meanwhile, a widespread manhunt with helicopters and dogs was under way, and roadblocks were set up in and around the Italian

The police, denying initial reports that Moro was wounded in a kidnap attempt that failed, said the 61 year old political leader was driven off in a white Fiat 128

President Giovanni Leone called the abduction "a challenge to the state" and said "the state must give the firmest reply with every measure We must adopt every necessary measure to counter this situation

Aldo Moro

The kidnapped man has been premier of Italy five times and is now president of the Christian Democrats. Italy's largest party and its dominant political force since World War II He was considered a leading candidate for the presidency of Italy when the post becomes vacant next December

The kidnapping occurred at 9 15 a m as Moro was being driven to the Parliament building for a speech by Premier Giulio Andreotti unveiling

Witnesses said about four men timidated prospective jurors blocked Moro's car in the Trionfale section of Rome, near the Hilton Hotel, then opened fire with submachine guns and killed the former premier's chauffeur and a bodyguard riding with him. All the windows in the car were shattered

Then the gunmen turned their fire on a police escort car, killing two officers and seriously wounding a third. the witnesses said

Andreotti met with Communist leader Enrico Berlinguer, whose party is supporting his government, and other leading politicians in an emergency session at the Parliament

Telephone calls to ANSA and local newspapers, purporting to come from the Red Brigades, said "We have carried an attack to the heart of the state Moro is just the start

The callers said Moro was a hostage but made no demands. It was assumed, however, that a demand would come soon for cancellation of the Turin trial. Two previous attempts to try the guerrilla leaders there have

Italian labor unions called a general strike until midnight to protest the kidnapping

Giuseppe Saragat, former Italian president and leader of the Democratic Socialist Party, said Moro's kidnapping "is the most terrible episode which has taken place in Italy since the postwar period. Moro is in the hands of criminals who are trying to destroy our democratic state. This is not a guerrilla (act) but a true act of war.

Moro and his last Cabinet resigned in 1976 after the Socialist Party withdrew key parliamentary support The Socialists contended the Moro government ignored their ideas for solving Italy's economic ills and was prejudiced against the Communist warplanes swooped into southern Lebanon again today aiming to knock out Palestinian artillery firing on Lebanese Christian villages in Israel's new six-mile-wide security strip along the border.

The Lebanese government, meanwhile, announced it would call for an emergency session of the U.N. Security Council Lebanese Prime Minister Selim el Hoss told reporters after a parliamentary session in Beirut that the government is preparing to call on the council to "take the necessary measures that would guarantee a cessation of the aggression and ensure withdrawal of Israeli forces.

In Cairo, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat condemned the Israeli attack and said he was watching closely "to make our plan."

Sadat told visiting African parliamentary leaders he wouldconvene his national security council, which meets only in the time of crisis. to decide the next step. But he said he would continue the search for a peaceful solution.

'We thought we had reached a point when we were about to solve the whole problem peacefully and (then) Israel resorts to the use of force

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - Israeli again," he said in his first public comment on the attack.

The jet fighters roared across Israel's northern border as the guerrilla shells crashed around roads leading to Marjayoun and Kleia, Lebanese communities held by Israel just beyond the frontier.

The Palestinians said the warplanes were striking hilltop positions from which the guerrillas were harassing the Israeli invaders, and that one plane was shot down and fell on the Israeli side of the border.

The Palestine Liberation Organization released its first official casualty count today from the first day of hostilities, reporting 79 of its fighters were killed or wounded. Israeli officials say about 100 guerrillas were killed and hundreds more wounded

The PLO claimed the Israelis lost 350 killed or wounded, but the Israeli military command said only 11 of its soldiers were killed and 57 wounded.

Israeli troops were digging into positions across southern Lebanon. and the Israeli government said they would stay there until it got dependable guarantees the guerrillas would be barred from the zone.

Officer Roberts wins Golden Deeds trophy

A traffic cop simply known as "Preacher" Roberts was singled out Wednesday for being more of a man than a policeman.

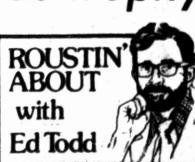

For the Preacher, it's nearly impossible to distinguish between the two; one role leads to the other. This man, Sgt. O. W. "Preacher"

Roberts of the Midland Police Department, seems to fit the foremost requisite for being a "good 'cop' ' First, be a good man.

And if reputation counts, then the Preacher scores a home run in that general category. Last night, the Preacher/was paid respect, and he received it humbly.

He was chosen as the 1978 recipient of the Golden Deeds Award at the 25th annual banquet of The Exchange Club of Midland at the Midland Country

Audrey L. Gill, a 31-year friend of the Preacher, cast the first laurels to this "beat cop" who's about as familiar to downtown Midlanders and school kids as the courthouse.

He's a living fixture. He's known throughout West Texas not because he's a patrolman," Gill told the 100 Exchange Club'ers and guests. "They know him as a

Cosmonauts land safely, end record space flight

MOSCOW (AP) - Cosmonauts Yuri Romanenko and Georgy Grechko returned safely to Earth today after 96 days, completing the longest manned space flight in history, Tass announced.

The Soviet news agency said Romanenko, the 33-year-old flight commander, and Grechko, the 46year-old engineer, landed in the Soyuz 27 spacecraft at 1:19 p.m. Moscow time (6:19 a.m. EST) in Kazakhstan, in Soviet Central Asia. Both men were reported in good

On March 4, they broke the 84-day record for continuous time in space set four years ago by U.S. astronauts

Gerald Carr, Edward Gibson and

William Pogue aboard Skylab 4.

The new record is 96 days and 10 hours. Before leaving the Salyut 6 space station, where the cosmonauts spent most of their time, they put it on remote-control status. Other Soviet cosmonauts are expected to go aloft later in the year, taking Fast German and Polish cosmonauts with them, and they may also use the station. The United States has not made a manned space flight since the 1975 joint Apollo Soyuz mission with the Soviet Union. Flights in the U.S. space shuttle are to begin in 1980.

The Romanenko-Grechko flight set a series of space firsts. They included the first linkup of three separate orbiting spacecraft, forming an elongated "space sausage;" the first space refueling mission, using the 'Progress 1" robot supply ship; and the first launching into space of a cosmonaut from any country other than the Soviet Union or the United

Texas International Airlines, Inc. is opposing the application, and its laywer, James Wilson of Austin, told Longoria if Tejas gets a Laredo route, Texas International may halt its service

The Laredo market at the present time is at best marginal," said Wilson, and the entry of Tejas might "force Texas International to take the path it has taken in Longview, in Tyler, in Temple, Waco and other communities — and that is the suspension of service.

This is not a fairyland," he said "This is the real world of business economics.

'This is an obvious threat that Laredo can't have both (Tejas and Texas International), said Tejas lawyer Charles Pope of San Antonio Robert Gannett of the North San Antonio Chamber of Commerce also supported Tejas' application

Gannett said Tejas, a San Antonio commuter airline, had been so successful in its first five months of operation that it had increased its daily flights to Corpus Christi from four to eight

Gannett said he knew of instances where corporations had decided not to include McAllen and Laredo ' in their marketing plans simply because of their lack of adequate one-day, turnaround service.

"Frequency (of flights) is the major concern we have," said Gannett

Wilson asked Longoria if he had to choose between Texas International and Tejas, which one would he

'We want both of them," Longoria

"Sure," said Wilson, "and you want Continental, Braniff, American.

Longoria said if Texas International withdrew from Laredo "in the future, we (the chamber) will meet that problem when it happens

Warmer afternoon forecast

This morning dawned clear and cold, with touches of frost on windshields, making it difficult to believe the weatherman's forecast of warm afternoons.

According to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal, the forecast calls for fair skies through Friday and warmer afternoons. The low tonight should be in the mid-30s, and the high Friday should be in the mid-70s, Wednesday's high reached 67 degrees, and the overnight low was 28. Rankin and Big Spring reported frost this morning. Other area towns reported cold temperatures, but no frost.

The record high for March 15 is 88 degrees set in 1974. The record low for March 16 is 23 degrees set in 1947.

Candidate urges purchase of Texas-grown produce

Hubenak said the most important function of the agriculture commissioner is to become a spokesman for the farmer "Too often the state has delegated

Kremlin ends Soviet citizenship of cellist

By KEVIN KLOSE The Washington Post

MOSCOW — National Symphony Orchestra conductor Mstislav. Rostropovich and his wife, soprano Galina Vishnevskaya, were denounced Wednesday as "ideological degenerates" by the Kremlin and stripped of their Soviet citizenship for activities harmful to the prestige of the Soviet Union.

The action by the presidium of the Supreme Soviet, or legislature, bars the world-renowned artists from returning to their homeland. They left on temporary visas in 1974.

Rostropovich, a virtuoso cellist* whose artistry is legendary, was accused with his wife of giving concerts in 1976-77 "whose income revenue went to help 'white', anti-Soviet) immigrant organizations. Rostropovich was a staunch defender of Nobel Prize-winning novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn when the exiled writer was being vilified by the Soviet leadership in 1970

News of the Soviet action came in a small article in Izvestia:

"Having left several years ago on a foreign journey, Rostropovich and Vishnevskaya are showing no desire to return to the Soviet Union, have carried on unpatriotic activity and have besmirched the Soviet social system and the status of a citizen of the U.S.S.R. They systematically provided material assistance to subversive anti-Soviet centers and other foreign organizations hostile to the Soviet Union. In 1976-77, for example, they gave several concerts whose income revenue went to help white immigrant organizations."

News of the Kremlin's action comes just five days after the leadership stripped the citizenship from former Red Army Gen. Pyotr Grigorenko, a 70-year-old much-decorated hero of World War II.

Chinese chess game

Throughout approximately 30 years of bitter recriminations, the People's Republic of China on the mainland and the Republic of China on Taiwan have always agreed on one thing, and that is the so-called "two Chinas" are

Although the Communist Chinese always have taken pains never to deny a military takeover as one of their future options, they have been uncharacteristically circumspect about any open or immediate threat to do so.

Therefore, when Communist Party Chairman Hua Kuo-feng opened China'a fifth National People's Congress recently by urging military readiness for a takeover of Taiwan, the world sat up and took notice.

Despite the chilling headlines which this news generated, it seems unlikely that Chairman Hua's threat was any more than a pro-forma pronouncement for domestic morale and a studied warning to the United States that Peking is unrelenting in its commitment to reunite the two Chinas, even by military means if necessary,

With the growling Soviet bear on its flanks, mainland China is in no position now to undertake a major war, which would be required to conquer Taiwan. Moreover, we have every reason to believe Peking does not wish to complicate or compromise its relationship with Washington. In any event, China watchers discern no morbid preoccupation with a military takeover of Taiwan at this time.

Notwithstanding the bewildering nature of the Oriental mind, many Western observers are puzzled that the Republic of China doesn't cut this Gordian knot by simply abandoning its irrational claim to represent all of China, proclaiming its independence as Taiwan and getting on with its phenomenal development as one of the world's rising industrial powers.

Meanwhile, it is an encouraging commentary on our more tranquil times that the United States Navy is not so burdened as in former years with the task of keeping the two Chinas apart.

Boys' Club Week

Had you ever thought about giving C-L-U-B-S to a million or more youths?

Chances are you had rather not, but in 700 communities across America this week that very thing is being done - and right here in Midland, too.

But in this case it is cause for celebration, not confrontation.

The 1,100 Boys Clubs of America are celebrating National Boys' Club Week. In all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, young people between the ages of 6 and 18 are saluting the things which Boys' Clubs do every week to develop the potential of each member.

And back to the beginning, C-L-U-B-S - Careers, Leadership, Understanding, Brotherhood and Stamina - are catch-alls for fundamental Boys' Club activities: teaching, employment skills, providing community service, creating educational opportunity, fostering racial and ethnic cooperation, and promoting health care.

This is a great program, isn't it? And for more than a century, Boys' Clubs have been open to help youths find the best in themselves and the world around object to the Carter package. Some feel that "weapons diplomacy" is a futile game. Others object to the timing, not to the notion, of the package, since there are still scents of the Sadat peace initiative around.

One of the most interesting objections was expressed, and strongly, by Rep. Clarence D. Long (D-Md.), chairman of the House Foreign

It is said that Boys' Clubs are not always well known by Americans. But they always are on the job for the young people and they work.

The Boys' Club of Midland fits right in with other units across the land in doing tremendous jobs in helping young people develop into healthier, happier employees, leaders, parents and human beings.

Boys' Clubs merit a snappy salute of appreciation and recognition this week and every week.

Carter, cabinet cull canal votes

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - President Carter has warned his Cabinet in no uncertain terms that "the vote on the Panama Canal treaties is critically important to the Administration. Like a schoolmaster riding herd on his errant charges, the president has kept several Cabinet members in his office after regular meetings to instruct them on how to sway key undecided senators' votes for ratification

Vice President Walter Mondale also cautioned the Cabinet that the issue is 'fundamental to the Carter presidency" and that "losing would be a disaster." Mondale urged each Cabinet member to check with congressional liaison Frank Moore to see how they could help persuade the fence-sitters. Remembering his experience in the Senate, Mondale predicted that "the fight may be long." Unfortunately, he said, "the Senate procedures for ratifying the treaties are archaic and give every advantage to opponents.

Still, according to confidential White House minutes, the president has been pleased with his Administration's progress. He boasted to the Cabinet that "we have climbed from a position of virtually no support for the treaties to a slight plurality. Carter has attended more than 20 briefings at the White House with various groups from around the country and has enlisted the aid of such big names as former President Gerald Ford and former Secretary of Long, 69, a former Johns-Hopkins University professor, is no maverick. Nor is he trying to deny arms to Israel. "I have 125,000 Jews in my district, so there is some risk by me getting into this," he says. "But the overwhelming sentiment in letters I get from people identifying them-

State Henry Kissinger. But despite these efforts, the president lamented, "there are still too many undecided votes." It will be difficult, he continued, "to get the last 10 to 12 votes needed to assure Senate ratification."

Carter has candidly admitted that he uses specialized arguments with Democrats and Republicans. He has outlined these tactics at closed-door meetings with his Cabinet.

With Republicans, the president "stresses the need for bipartisanship." He cites the support of Ford, Kissinger and former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, all of whom were commended by Carter for their efforts in swaying members of their party toward ratification.

The president points out to the undecided that the Joint Chiefs of Staff support ratification. To strengthen this argument. Carter notes that the Joint Chiefs were all "appointed by a Republican ad-ministration." Carter also tries to appeal to the Republicans' sense of world order. He tells them that there is an advantage in "asking a worldwide perspective as against pursuing parochial interests.'

When President Carter lobbies Senate Democrats, he takes a decidedly different approach. He appeals to their sense of partisan politics and "underscores the importance of party unity." And finally, in the strongest possible language. Carter tells his party politicians that the defeat of the treaties in the Senate would have "a devastating effect for FTC FUSS: Business lobbyists and consumer groups have locked horns over a forthcoming appointment to the Federal Trade Commission.

Many business end legal groups are backing Robert Pitofsky, a scholarly Washington lawyer who compiled a moderate record as the commission's consumer protection chief.

The same faction is fiercely lobbying against Willard Mueller, a liberal economist with a strong antitrust record.

Mueller once wrote a study blaming the concentrated power of supermarket chains for inflated food prices. "Mueller is a real fighter who believes in taking on the big corporations," one observer told us. Mueller is being pushed by labor, consumer groups, small businessmen and several liberal congressmen. The commission's activist chairman, Michael Pertschuk, is also said to have recommended Mueller to the White House.

TRUANT TEXAN: As House majority leader, Rep. Jim Wright is supposed to wage floor fights for Administration-backed legislation during crucial votes: But he occasionally turns out to be an absentee shepherd of the Democratic flock.

The bill to establish a federal consumer protection agency, for example, came up for a life-or-death vote on Feb. 8. It went down to defeat despite the backing of both President Carter and Speaker Thomas O'Neill. At the time of defeat, Wright was en route to balmy Hawaii to appear at a fundraiser for fellow Democrat, Rep. Cecil Heftel.

A spokesman for the majority leader, who is second in command among House Democrats, argued that he had already lobbied his colleagues on the bill and was fulfilling a longstanding commitment to his Hawaiian colleague.

But Wright headed for Hawaii on Wednesday, the day of the vote. Heftel's fund-raiser wasn't.until the following Friday. And Heftel himself managed to remain in Washington to cast his vote in favor of the defeated

Wright's office pointed out that the majority leader had arranged for a 'live pair' to register his support for the bill

Executive privilege use being considered in Texas grant case

By EDWARD WALSH The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The White House is on the verge of invoking a claim of executive privilege to prevent the release of 18 documents in connection with a civil law suit that alleges there was a high level political interference in a decision to block a federal grant to a Texas anti-poverty organization.

The suit alleges that White House aides, seeking to placate Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe and members of the Texas congressional delegation, pressured the Community Services Administration into blocking release of an $855,000 grant to the Zavala County Economic Development Corporation.

The Mexican-American organization, located in the South Texas community of Crystal City, has feuded frequently with Briscoe.

At a brief hearing Tuesday before
U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, William Z. Elliott, a Justice Department lawyer representing the White House, said a claim of executive privilege by President Carter is "a definite possibility" in the case.

The White House has refused to produce the documents on the grounds that they involve privileged attorneyclient communications and "intragovernmental privilege," a legal concept that Gesell said he did not

The case has confronted the Carter White House with a delicate political situation. Executive privilege - a claim that certain documents belong to the president and he may not be compelled to surrender them - was widely invoked in the Nixon White House in connection with the Watergate case.

Given Carter's repeated public commitments to "open government," it would be politically embarrassing for him to use a tactic so closely associated in the public mind with the White House lawyers will have to weigh that factor against the contents of the documents, which include several memoranda from staff aides

A listing of the documents being sought by Noel H. Klores, the lawyer for the Texas groups, was filed in court Tuesday. The list indicates there was an unusually early and high-level interest in the White House in a relatively insignificant government grant.

On Jan. 28, 1977, after he had been in office only eight days, Carter received three separate memoranda on the Zavala grant. One was from White House counsel Robert Lipshutz and his deputy, Margaret McKenna. The others were from congressional relations chief Frank Moore and Joseph Aragon, an aide to Hamilton Jordan, the president's chief political

The next day, according to the listing, Attorney General Griffin B. Bell advised the president in writing on "the procedures applicable to suspension and or termination of suspension and-or termination of OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity) grants" such as the Zavala grant. By the end of February 1977, Carter had received eight memoranda, most of them from Aragon, on the subject.

Aragon is a key, White House link to Hispanic-American organizations who has worked with Jordan on such matters as appointments.

The White House initially refused to produce the documents last week when depositions were taken in the case from Moore, McKenna and Aragon. The three presidential aides were questioned about a meeting they attended at the White House last September with Graciela Olivarez, the head of the Community Services Administration.

The meeting concerned the Zavala grant and congressional relations and was, according to court documents, the only time Olivarez has been summoned to the White House to discuss one of her agency's grant applica-

In court papers, government lawyers have denied any political interference in connection with the grant. Gesell set April 7 for a hearing on release of the documents being sought by Zavala.

Houston's Rep. Archer to face Democrat opponent

HOUSTON (AP)—Rep. Bill Archer, a Republican in one of the nation's most Republican congressional districts, has clear sailing until the November general election when he will be opposed by a young chemical engineer making his first political

Archer, 50, attempts to keep close ties with the voters in his affluent district and is always available for the personal calls and letters. As one political observer said, "Bill Archer never stops campaigning. It is a day-to-day thing with him.

His Democratic opponent, also unopposed in the May 6 primary, is Robert Hutchings, 29, who said in a recent interview, "Congressman Archer is getting more and more conservative. I think the voters will want to turn to a moderate Democrat to solve their problems. I have a good chance of winning."

Dr. Richard W. Murray, a University of Houston political scientist known for his success in predicting political races, said Archer would win easily in "the most Republican district in the United States now and getting more so."

The area embraces most of the rich River Oaks section which is only 2 percent black and 6 percent Mexican American.

Archer, in an interview, said there are some advantages and disadvantages in running unopposed in the

"You tend to lose some of the contact you have with volunteer workers and with the people who have contributed funds for your campaign. On the other hand, it does give you more time to spend on your legislative work and means you don't have to do many of the things involved in a campaign," he said.

Hutchings said, "It is time more people who are moderates go into politics and that's why I am running. After the primary, I will begin some hard campaigning. I mean knocking on doors, telling people what I believe in, and offering them a positive ap-

Archer, a native of Houston, an attorney and banker, is a member of the influential House Ways and Means Committee. He was elected to the House in 1970 and hasn't been pressed by an opponent since that time.

Hutchings said he is convinced, "there is a good chance of winning. There is a climate for change in the district and this may be the year."

Kenya orders ban on animal products; poachers to be shot

By DAVID LAMB The Los Angeles Times

NAIROBI, Kenya - In another tough move to save Kenya's diminishing wildlife resources, the government has banned all future sales of animal products and threatened to shoot poachers on sight. The sales ban, which follows a total ban on hunting ordered last May, went into effect Sunday and prohibits the private sale or export of all animal skins, trophies, ivory and souvenirs which for years had provided Kenya's 230 curio shops with a multimillion dollar business.

Last December, President Jom
Kenyatta celebrated Kenya's 14th anniversary of independence by announcing the sales ban and saying that curio shops had 90 days to sell their stocks. Millions of dollars worth of ivory alone was stashed in warehouses throughout Kenya.

The result was a buyer's market Saturday. The curio shops were swamped by tourists and residents -few of them black - who lugged away bargains at 50 to 75 percent off. Zebra skins went for $125, warthog tusks for $50, ivory rings for $12, lion-tooth pendants for $20.

Shops plastered their windows with signs saying, "We consider any reasonable offer," and street hawkers tried to peddle their supply of elephant-bair bracelets to tourists. Zimmerman's, long the premier taxidermy company in East Africa, closed its doors permanently

The government has said it will confiscate all animal products not sold. It seems likely that the curio-shop owners had made some arrangement to sell their remaining merchandise to importers in Hong Kong and Europe at discounted prices rather than turn it over to the government without compensation.

Conservationists applauded the government's latest move to preserve some of the world's last great game herds. But few observers thought it would eliminate poaching entirely, because the illicit sale of ivory and other commodities is too profitable and involves too many people at high levels of government and business. Illegal ivory sales are estimated to be worth $10 million in Kenya alone

"Ivory is a currency," said one wildlife expert, "and you can't eliminate its flow any more than you can'the flow of gold. If you stop ivory's route from Nairobi to Hong Kong, it will just flow in another

Most of the poaching in Kenya is done by Somalis. The tusks from a dead elephant can earn them as much as $100 each. By the time a tusk reaches Hong Kong — passing through influential middle-men in Nairobi who export it illegally with the help of bogus export papers — its value may have reached $1,500.

U.S., Soviets narrow differences

By ROBERT B. CULLEN

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. and Soviet strategic arms limitation negotiators have narrowed their differences to three major items, according to informed sources.

The sources said the unresolved issues involve the right of the two nations to develop new in-tercontinental ballistic missiles, the number of strategic weapons to be allowed in each arsenal and the status of the Soviet Backfire bomber under the proposed treaty.

But negotiators have reached tentative agreement on such thorny issues as limitations on cruise missiles and missiles based on mobile launch platforms, the sources said, asking that their names not be used.
"The number of outstanding issues is rapidly shrinking," said one American official. He predicted the agreement will be completed within

Armed robbery reported

ODESSA - An Odessa man told police three men entered his residence at gunpoint early this morning and took $13 in cash, two stereos and a clock radio.

Clyde Lee Yancey reported the robbery at 2:57 a.m. today. Police had not made any arrests in the incident.

The Carter administration repeatedly has moved back its estimates of when the SALT II agreement will be concluded because of unexpected snags in the process.

Differences still to be resolved are:

-The right of the two countries to develop new intercontinental ballistic missiles by late 1980. The United States wants to flatly ban new missiles. The Soviets want each side to have the right to introduce one new missile to its arsenal.

The Soviets are replacing their SS-11 with a new generation of missiles which are more accurate and can carry several warheads. The sources speculated that the Soviets are planning one more missile to replace the SS-11 and want to be able to deploy

-The number of strategic weapons in each national arsenal. In 1974, the two sides agreed to a limit of 2,400 for each side in the total number of landbased missiles, submarine missiles and strategic bombers. President

City councilman recommends filing complaint

ODESSA - An Odessa city councilman thinks it might be a good idea for the council here to look into filing a complaint against the federal government later this month.

Curtis Webster, one of the two councilmen who voted against issuing a permit to Brown Berets for a civil rights march in February, said he thought the council might discuss the matter at its March 28 meeting.

Last month, a representative from the Community Relations Service of the U.S. Justice Department asked for a parade permit in the name of Gilbert Herrera, a Lubbock Brown Beret leader.

Following that request, Webster instructed Terry Diveley, acting city attorney, to investigate any possible recourse which the city might take against the federal government's involvement. Diveley reported that the only action which the city could take would be to lodge a complaint with the Justice Department.

Carter last year proposed cutting that figure to as little as 1,800. The Soviets refused.

The dickering now over a com-promise figure has the Soviets asking for 2,250 launchers and the United States seeking a limit of 2,160. The limit would be in effect until 1985.

-The Backfire, a new plane that the Soviets insist is not an intercontinental weapon. U.S. experts feel it could threaten the United

The two sides have agreed not to include a Backfire limit in the treaty itself, the sources said. Instead,

This afternoon's stock market report Stock market mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market hovered around Wednesday's closing levels today, subdued by wariness over the latest Middle East developments and the continued struggles of the dollar.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was unchanged at 758.58. Advances and declines ran just about even in the broad tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. The dollar slumped in foreign-exchange markets today, equaling the all-time low against the Japanese yen that it reached earlier in the week. Brokers said buying in terest also was restrained by Israel's seizure of a strip of territory in southernmost Lebanon.

After taking control of the area Wednesday, Israel said it would maintain forces there until an agreement could be reached to keep out Palestinian guerrillas.

Ramada Inns ranked among the most active NYSE issues, up ¼ at 5 in trading that included a 120,000-share block at that price and another of 100,000 shares at 4%.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks eased .01 to 49.64. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index ros .30 to 123.39.

Volume on the Big Board came to 9.90 million shares by noontime, down from 10.18 million at the same point Wednesday.

Tax bill time produces flood of dizzy proposals

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON When Congress considers tax legislation, there's fanciful they end up as the butt for congressional products or services. one-liners.

With this being an election year, the supply of silly tax legislation is all the more bountiful. Here, for those who think tax law has to be dull, is a compendium of some of these measures - with a few non-congressional embellishments designed to highlight some of the Item: Sponsors of two rival bills to provide tuition tax credits have joined forces behind a massive $4.5 billion proposal that combines ax breaks for college students and elementaryand-secondary school pupils. The coalition is designed to broaden the measures' support.

If the two sides still don't have enough votes, maybe they could consider merging with sponsors of the popular home insulation tax credit proposal now pending in the Senate. The result would be a new all-purpose College Tuition and Storm Window Tax Credit that supporters contend would be all but unstoppable. The measure would offer a tax break for everyone who ever wanted to avoid a draft.

Item: Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, has a proposal to lower taxes for Alaska and Hawaii residents by increasing their personal exemption to $850. Reason: Their higher living costs require higher pay - and make their taxes higher, to boot.

What's needed now for equity is a companion bill that would boost the tax burden for residents of Mississippi and Arkansas, whose living costs and taxes - are proportionally lower. With a little more effort, Congress could set different federal income-tax states, and revise them each session. It could keep Congress out of trouble for most of the Item: Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., is seriously pushing a plan to give taxpayers the first $100 of President Carter's proposed energy tax rebates in the form of a voucher that can be used only to buy stock in oil companies. The Finance Committee chairman's reasoning is that the bill would help the oil firms attract more needed investment to step up exploration and production.

Sen. Ford treaty lobbying target

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wendell H. Ford arrived at the Dirksen Senate Office Building at 6:45 a.m. Wednesday to work on the speech announcing he would vote against the Panama Canal treaties.

The Kentucky Democrat was one of the last of the holdouts, still un-committed as the tally sheets showed the totals edging toward the numbers essential to approve or defeat the

At 7:15 a.m., Walter F. Mondale, vice president of the United States, popped unannounced into Ford's office for a chat. The two men talked privately for about 30 minutes.

Then Ford's old friend Bob Strauss showed up with White House aide Hamilton Jordan and Lee Kling. Ford had been one of the strongest promoters of Strauss when the Texan became Democratic national chairman. Kling is a former treasurer of the Democratic National Com-

They were followed by Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who also was publicly uncommitted but who would announce a few hours later that he would vote for the treaties.

After all the visitors had gone, Ford cancelled his request for time to make a speech. He cancelled his ap-pointments and told an aide he needed more time to think.

Later, Ford laughed when asked if the administration had corralled another vote and said he was back working on the same speech.

The activity by the administration raised questions whether deals were being struck: a vote for the treaty in of a farm bill, a decision to buy copper for the nation's strategic stockpile and, of course, the president's power to fill thousands of jobs in the executive and judicial branches.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., looking weary and resigned after bucking the kind of power a president can bring to bear, said, "I don't want to appear crass, but our side can't buy copper. Our side can't appoint any judges. Our side can't promise a senator he won't have an opponent."

Helms added that the Carter administration probably hasn't done any more than its predecessors in similar situations.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., heard all the stories about deals and issued an angry blast at the administration in which he said, "The president shouldn't be the host of 'Let's Make a Packwood said he was so upset by the alleged wheeling and dealing that he was considering voting against the treaties. But by Wednesday, Packwood had talked to Mondale and Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and was convinced decisions to buy copper and not to oppose a Talmadge farm bill were not related to the treaty fight.

All the lobbying wasn't from the pro

Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., regarded as uncommitted, was visited by Secretary of Defense Harold Brown and members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. UMW council votes for new agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed contract, sweetened by bargainers and narrowly approved by the United Mine Workers' leadership, is heading to the coalfields, where it faces uncertain chances of ending the miners' 101-day strike.

The union's bargaining council endorsed the tentative agreement by an unexpectedly close vote of 22-17 Wednesday as some council members ex-pressed concern the 160,000 striking miners again would vote for rejection.

Despite key industry concessions concerning health benefits and anti-wildcat strike provisions, the new settlement won less support from the council than an earlier contract that was soundly defeated by the rebellious rank-and-file.

Before the vote, several dozen striking miners picketed UMW headquarters in Washington to protest the agreement. The protest forced the bargaining council to abruptly move its meeting to the Labor Depart-

The members are scheduled to vote on the new accord a week from Friday "I don't think it will pass my district," said Joseph Phipps, president of District 19 in Kentucky. "It's a better contract, but it still doesn't satisfy what the members wanted.

The principal objection to the new agreement, said Phipps and other council members, is the provision calling for companyrun health insurance plans in-stead of the existing independent fund set up 28 years ago for UMW members and their families.

In addition, the proposed contract would require miners to pay for some health care benefits they had been receiving at no cost under the expired 1974 contract. However, the maximum payments are several hundred dollars less than under the pact rejected by the rank-

UMW President Arnold Miller, who said before the council's vote that he "just couldn't imagine the rank-and-file turning it down this time," left immediately after the meeting and was unavailable for

AT WIT'S END

Housewives can tell how winter to match with others

By ERMA BOMBECK

With all due respect to the long-range weather forecasters, I'm always interested in what the naturalists predict in regard to the weather.

This year, they all hit it right on the button. They knew back in early December that this winter was going to be wet and rotten because: The elk and deer came down early from the high country.

Mud-dauber wasps were building their nests higher.

Skunk cabbages grew taller. Woolly bear caterpillars had heavy coats. Bears were fat.

Squirrels had ravenous appetites in the fall. They should have asked housewives. They also have an inside track on how the winter is going to compare with previous ones. I knew I was to be a bruiser because:

This is the year eight pairs of boots in our house didn't match one pair of feet. This phenomenon oc-curs only once in every 72 years and can only mean that blizzard conditions are on the way. This is the year we cleaned out the freezer-leaving only three snowballs from 1971, five packages of squash which everyone hates and 12 packages of chicken innards to be thrown away on garbage day...someday.

This is the year we got the puppy, rationalizing that we could watch him when he started to twirl around in a circle, grab him and put him outside.

This is the year we didn't buy firewood, because we figured it was too expensive and besides, we rarely use the fireplace as it smoked up the bricks. This is the year we put the sled up in the attic-on the far side where there is no floor and you have to crawl through the insulation and put the rope in your teeth and slide it carefully along the beam before you fall through the floor.

Yep, no doubt about it. When our 72-year-old milkman got new teeth and began to look more like Robert Redford every day, we knew it was going to

Women artists discuss their works on tapes

By KARREN MILLS Associated Press Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Do you ever feel when going through an art gallery that you don't understand what the artist wants to say?

That sometimes bothers artists too. A project is under way in Minnesota which could cut through that language barrier and enable more people to understand the work of a selected group of Slides of the artists' works are being coordinated with tapes featuring artists discussing the works - explaining how the finished piece evolved and what the artist is trying to communicate.

'We're demystifying the art experience," said Joyce Lyon, a painter and printmaker who applied for federal and state grants for the project. 'In our society, the visual is not that important to us so the sensitivity is generally quite low," she said. 'It's the verbal language that is stressed in schools, and visual language often needs translation."

groups, schools and other interested persons throughout the country for a nominal rental fee.

The one-year project will cost about $10,000, which includes research, photography, editing, production and equipment. The project is being paid for with grants from the Federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, the Minnesota State Arts Board and Cardiac Pacemaker, Ms. Lyon said.

The contemporary artists featured in the tapes were selected from among the some 150 members of the Women's Art Registry of Minnesota, which is open to all women visual artists in the state.

The project was limited to women artists, Ms. Lyon said, "because historically and in the present a lot of the work of women artists has had no outlet." She said statistics show women artists have created only about 5 percent of the work in major shows in the last 25 years, and "the numbers and quality of women artists far outdistance that."

Reception to honor work on the project began in September, and 14 PTA life members

The annual PTA life membership reception will be held from 7-9 p.m. today in the home of Mrs. Courtney Cowden of No. 7 Churchill Way.

DEAR ABBY

Abby says husband should report to wife

By ABIGAIL VAN BURKS

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for 15 years and have three children. I'm under a lot of pressure at work, and when I'm finished (at 3:30 p.m.), I sometimes go to a bar to unwind and talk with friends. I get home anywhere between 8 and 10 p.m. (Only occasionally do I stay until the bar closes at 1 a.m.)

Sometimes after work I stop and visit my mother, which ties me up until 9 or 10 p.m.

My wife always has dinner on the table at 6 p.m., and more often than not, I'm there. I can't understand why she insists that I should call her after vork to let her know where I am and whether I'm coming right home or

She doesn't object to my having a few drinks; she knows I'm not seeing other women, and she certainly can't object to my seeing my mother. Nevertheless, she gets mad and says she has a right to know as soon as possible which nights I'll be home later than usual.

How can I get her to grow up and realize that mature adults do not need to check in like children?—NAGGED TO DEATH

DEAR NAGGED: Why don't-YOU grow up and behave like a responsible adult? Your wife has a right to know which nights you're going to be late, and if so, how late. Few things are as unsettling to a wife as waiting in-definitely for her husband to show up for dinner. So when you know you're going to be late, give her a call.

DEAR ABBY: At the age of 51, my husband sent a dollar for your booklet "How To Be Popular," and he's been swinging ever since.

Up until then he was a very reserved person. But lately he's been trying to make himself more "charming," and develop the art of being a good conversationalist, and he seems to be succeeding.

Now I've got to know how to cope with a swinging husband. If you have a booklet on that, I'd like to have one. If you don't please write one and I'll be your first customer.-REJECTHD

DEAR REJECTED: I don't have a booklet on that subject, but you've given me an idea.

DEAR ABBY: While in Munich, Germany, recently, I was shown through a brewery, and I noticed that the English-speaking tour guide carefully enunciated "you know" after each sentence.

After the tour, I asked her if she had been instructed to say "you know" so frequently.

She replied, "No, but I have heard you Americans speak, and that's the one thing I noticed you say very of-

So, who was I to tell her otherwise, you know? -- DELORES
DEAR DELORES: Yes, I know. And until it was called to my attention, I was not aware of how often I used that superfluous little filler.

Solitaire sends new message

NEW YORK (AP) — The diamond solitaire has long been, and continues to be, the universal expression of love, but one needn't be engaged to get the message, says Cheryl Poser, fashion director of the Diamond Information

Sweden's minister finds her job stimulating

STOCKHOLM (AP) - Foreign Minister Karin Soder is generally regarded as the most successful member of Sweden's non-Socialist government, but she would never admit it herself. "If my work is seen as positive, it depends on my able fellow-workers at the Foreign Ministry," she explained to The Associated Press.

Mrs. Soder, 49, has visited 18 countries since she became the world's only woman Foreign Minister late in 1976. A hardworking mother of three, she is an exotic figure in international politics. But she tries not to pay any attention to the fact that she is a woman, saying, "I try to do my job."

Is she satisfied with her performance so far?

"No," she said firmly, adding with a smile, "and I hope the day I OK myself, someone will tell me to quit politics. Not being satisfied is the best driving

All coffee beans are not created equal. That's why Hills Bros. is so picky about the beans they use.

And that's why Hills Bros. Coffee always tastes rich and full-flavored. Cup after delicious cup.

Any food good for you will be good for breakfast

Newsday

Serving breakfast in bed to an early-morning commuter or having one prepared by that same dashing mate can only be construed as an act of love. It doesn't have to be much. perhaps just a cup of coffee brought bedside. It is, as they say, the thought that counts.

If you have any ambitions beyond serving coffee, however, here are a few suggestions for interesting morning fare that should take no longer than 15 minutes to prepare. Two of the menus may seem a little offbeat, but, as the nutritionists say, anything that's good for you to eat is good for you to eat in the morning.

The first menu might be called Mexican, although it is basically the ingredients, and not the finished food, that have a South-of-the-Border

To get this little meal prepared in less than 15 minutes, start by putting the chocolate and milk mixture over low heat while mashing up the avocado and slicing the tomato and cucumber.

Tortillas, which can be purchased fresh from the dairy case of many supermarkets, take just a few seconds to heat on a griddle. If fresh aren't available, frozen tortillas should be removed from the freezer as soon as you walk in the kitchen. BREAKFASTI

Tomato Juice Tortillas with Avocado Spread, Tomatoes and Cucumber Spiced Hot Chocolate

SPICED HOT CHOCOLATE 1 cup whole milk 1 ounce unsweetened baking

1-4 teaspoon cinnamon

Few gratings nutmeg 1-4 teaspoon vanilla extract Fresh-ground black pepper or a cin-namon stick chocolate, cinnamon and nutmeg. Place over low heat and allow chocolate to melt, stirring occasionally. (Meanwhile prepare tortillas with avocado spread).

2. Just before serving, raise heat to medium-high and bring to a simmer. beating constantly with a wire whisk or fork. 3. As soon as mixture begins to simmer, remove from heat and beat in vanilla. Pour into a cup or mug and garnish with a little fresh-ground black pepper or a cinnamon stick. Makes 1 serving, but recipe can be multiplied as desired.

TORTILLA WITH AVOCADO SPREAD

1-2 avocado 2 teaspoons lemon or lime juice Salt to taste

1 tortilla (see note) 1 or 2 slices tomato 6 thin slices cucumber

1. Cut avocado in half, discard pit and scoop out the meat. 2. In a bowl, with a fork, mash the avocado pulp and season with lemon or lime juice and salt to taste. 3. Reheat tortilla quickly on a dry griddle. Place on a serving plate and spread with avocado. Garnish with tomato and cucumber slices. Use a knife and fork to eat, or chop the tomato and cucumber garnish so tortilla can be rolled up and eaten with the hands. Makes 1 serving. (If desired 1 canned green chili pepper, seeded and sliced, can be used as an additional garnish).

Note: - Fresh whole grain tortillas, packaged in plastic bags, are available in the dairy cases of many local supermarkets. Less satisfactory frozen tortillas are available at almost all supesrmarkets.

The second menu has an oriental flavor and may be a rude awakening for some - those not accustomed to garlic and cayenne pepper early in the morning.

Recipe for bread satisfying

By CECILY BROWNSTONE AP Food Editor

Found! A marvelous recipe for Portuguese Sweet Bread. We came by it because we happened to tell an acquaintance from California that we were looking for a really good recipe for such a loaf. She said she could help us out.

It seems she learned to bake this specialty because her husband pined for the Portuguese sweet bread (pao doce) when he lived in Hawaii.

PORTUGUESE SWEET BREAD (PAO DOCE)

2 medium potatoes, about 1/2 pound 7 to 8 cups all-purpose

3 envelopes dry yeast 2 teaspoons salt 4 teaspoon ground

ginger Sugar 14 cup milk 14 cup butter

7 eggs l teaspoon vanilla Cover the wellscrubbed potatoes with unsalted water and boil until tender. Drain, reserving 1/2 cup of the potato water. Peel and mash the potato; measure 1 cup and reserve. In the large bowl of an electric mixer stir together 2 cups of the flour with the undissolved yeast, salt, ginger and 3 tablespoons sugar. Heat the reserved 1/2 cup potato water with the milk and butter until very hot (130 degrees); butter does not need to melt. Add to the yeast mixture. At medium speed, beat for 2 minutes.

In a medium bowl with a clean beater, beat 6 of the eggs until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in 1% cups sugar until thick and ivory color. Add to the batter with the reserved 1 cup mashed potato and 1/2 cup more flour; at medium speed, beat for 2 minutes. Gradually stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on a lightly floured surface. Knead about 10 minutes, adding about 10 minutes, adding only enough flour to pre-vent sticking. Place in a large buttered bowl; turn to grease top; cover and let rise in a warm draft-free place (about 80' degrees) until doubled about 1 to 14 hours. Punch down. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface and divide into 4 equal pieces. Shape into round loaves and place well apart on buttered cookie sheets. Let rise as before until doubled — about 1 to 14 hours.

Dallas magazine springs to life

DALLAS (AP) — David Stephens, editor and publisher of the slick and grammar-defying Dallas Photo magazine, said his creation came to him "in a flash" one Sunday afternoon in December.

He called up his partner in the advertising production business, and they developed the name, the logo and the first issue's cover that same day. The complete first issue was on the newsstands within 90 days for March sales. The monthly magazine is designed to appeal to professional and amateur photographers, capitalizing on Dallas' growing reputation as an advertising and media center. The publisher believes it is the only slick local photography magazine in the nation.

The reason that we think it will work in Dallas is that Dallas is a very rapidly growing advertising production center." Stephen said. "Probably five years ago was the turning point." The Dallas area also has a sufficient number of amateurs as potential subscribers. "It seems that everybody is a photographer. Amazingly, there are so many people out there that are serious about photography."

With national publications using perhaps one portfolio each month, Stephens said most photographers have little chance of being published.

Plans at Dallas Photo call for about five portfolios each month. "They have a very real chance of getting their own works in it," the publisher said. Even if they don't get in it, they can identify with those that are. If we start running the works of Arizona photographers, then we've defeated the purpose of our magazine."

Among the first issue's items are a behind-the-scenes look at Esquire's sultry cover photo of the Dallas Cowboys cheerleaders, an explanation of how-newspapers handled photo coverage of the Super Bowl and a Caribbean travel feature with a Dallas

The second issue will examine the career of Bob Jackson since he snapped his Pulitzer Prize-winning photo of Jack Ruby shooting Lee Harvey Oswald.

Dear Barbara: I would certainly talk this over with your doctor. But it should be helpful to you to know that the American College of Radiology has just taken a strong stand against therapeutic abortion in cases like yours. They did this after a thorough study by Dr. Reynold F. Brown and colleagues at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center. Dr. Brown puts it this way: If abortions were performed as a matter of course on women who had an X-ray during the first three months of pregnancy, anywhere from 1,000 to 10,000 normal fetuses would be sacrificed to prevent the birth of one possibly abnormal child.

Begin's position at home had been eroding in recent weeks. His cabinet was deeply split over whether to bow to Washington's objections to Jewish settlements in the occupied territories. His opponents in the Knesset had begun a fierce attack on the peace plan he offered to President Anwar Sadat.

Then came the terrorist attack Saturday. Begin delayed his trip to Washington a week and decided to retaliate despite U.S. and Egyptian warnings. Expert offers tips on cleaning aluminum

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

Things you might want to know about the care of aluminum:

When the inside of an aluminum pot gets blackish, as it sometimes does after boiling water or cooking certain foods, the discoloration will not harm either the food or the pot. While the color will come out the first time you use the pot to cook acid fruits or vegetables, such as tomatoes, rhubarb or sauerkraut, the appearance of the pot may bother you. In that case, remove the discoloration by boiling a solution of two tablespoons of cream of tartar to each quart of water the utensil holds. To restore the polish, rub with a steel-wool pad. The pitting of aluminum pots and pans can be avoided by not leaving foods (especially those that are highly seasoned) in them for long periods. But if you should do so, the foods will not be harmed.

Aluminum exposed to the elements can be cleaned with a mild soap or detergent, followed by a thorough rinsing and wiping.

Here's answer

- You recently wrote about the effect of roof colors on the apparent size and shape of a house. Can you do the same thing for me on resilient floor tiles, which expect to install on two floors of our house in the near future? I haven't quite made up my mind which type of tiles to get, but what I am interested in is getting the right colors. One of the rooms to be tiled is a kitchen, one a bedroom.

A. - No matter what you read here or anywhere else, your own individual taste should play a part in the selection of colors. It is true that tests have shown that the colors of floor materials can have a bearing on the moods of people, but even in these tests, there have been exceptions to the general findings. Having given you that preliminary information, here is what is floor colors:

Dark colors absorb light, making things look smaller and heavier, but they can be depressing when used extensively. Light colors reflect more light and so make things seem larger than they are. They also mak things appear farther away. The so-called warm colors are reds, pinks, oranges, corals, golds, yellows and yellow-greens. The cold colors are blues, blue-greens, blue-grays and violets. When making a choice, remember that the color you select will seem stronger when applied to a large surface.

In a kitchen, try to use a tile that will make the room cheerful. In a bedroom, choose something that will enhance and blend with the decor of the room. Avoid garishness, but don't avoid it so much that you wind up with drabness.

Q. - We are moving into a new house shortly. It has wide overhangs, but no gutters and downspouts. I notice that many of the other custom-built houses in the same neighborhood have gutters and downspouts. Our builder said they aren't necessary when the overhangs are wide. Is this true?

A. — Wide overhangs help to drop the water from the roof a bit away from the foundation, but there is more to good drainage than that. Some of the factors controlling the flow of water away from the house and the prevention of water in-side the house are land that slopes away from the foundation, the water table in your area, the in-stallation of drainage tiles at the bottom of the foundation where re-quired and the type of foundation. Have you tried asking some of your future neighbors whether they think their houses need the gutters and downspouts and — very important — whether they had to have them installed after they moved

Although Jordan's unfortunate talent for attracting unwanted publicity has given him a Peck's Bad Boy image, he sat through two even-ings without even loosening his tie.

Most states pay legislators very meager salaries

By LEE MITGANG

Michigan, New York, California and Illinois are the only four states that pay their legislators $20,000 or more a year in salary.

The four stand in sharp contrast to a national picture which shows that even though legislative salaries in many states have gone up sharply in the past two or three years, members of many statehouses still get a pittance compared with many others in government.

In particular, salaries at the state level are still sharply lower than U.S. congressional salaries, which now stand at $57,500.

This is also despite the often ingenious ways legislators have found to supplement income with privileges. expense allowances, so-called perks. An Associated Press survey of all 50 states shows that in only 15 have voters permitted legislators annual salaries of $10,000 or more. The AP tally showed 28 states offer legislative salaries of less than $10,000, and the remaining seven give no salary but provide various expense allowances.

And in only one state - Wisconsin, where the $18,736 salary ranks fifth nationally — are legislative salaries permitted to rise automatically each year without requiring special legislation.

In terms of salary alone,

Michigan's $24,000 salary is tops among the nation's state legislative houses. New York follows with $23,500, California with $23,232, and Illinois with $20,000.

The ranking changes when items like daily pay during sessions (known as per diem allowances), and unitemized expense allowances are tallied with salaries. A 1977 Council of State Governments survey which made that calculation ranked California first in overall annual compensation at $30,799. New York, Michigan and Illinois were ranked a distant second, third and fourth.

The lowest state legislative salaries are concentrated in the Rocky like North Dakota ($5 a day), Montana ($7,200 a year in salary and expenses during a regular session), and Wyoming (no salary, but about $2,300 expense allowance).

Salaries also rank among the lowest in New England states, and getting pay raises there hasn't been easy. Rhode Island legislators, who get $300 a year for two months' annual sessions, haven't had a raise since 1900. New Hampshire lawmakers got their last pay increase in 1889 - to $100 a year.

At least a dozen states make it difficult for legislators to receive pay hikes, because salary levels are written into the state constitutions. constitutional amendments and voter referendums. In some states that have removed legislative salaries from the constitution, pay in recent, years has shot up.

Nebraska's voters, for instance, permitted their legislators a salary hike from $2,400 to $4,800 a year in 1969, but since then have defeated three attempts to increase salaries.

Eight states also offer no pensions for legislators: Alabama, lowa, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Carolina, South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming.

Legislators in some states have salaries, often including large ex-pense allowances that don't have to be itemized, free insurance policies, liberal pensions, and telephone and travel privileges. Colorado legislators who earn $12,000 a year also get free passes to ski areas and membership in Denver

Louisiana legislators do not get salaries, but they do receive a $12,000 a year expense allowance, plus $50 a day for the 85 calendar days the Legislature is in session each year.

Concorde believed creating 'superbooms' off Atlantic Coast

By ROBERT C. TOTH The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - The rash of "air quakes" off the Atlantic Coast this winter has revived interest in and concern about "superbooms" - sonic booms up to nine times stronger than Superbooms are now being advanced by some scientists as the sole cause of all the 183 mysterious events recorded between Nov. 1 and Jan. 12 despite a Pentagon study that blamed most of the blasts - 117 - on unusual weather conditions propagating normal booms over long distances.

The Pentagon study and its chief critic, Dr. Jeremy J. Stone of the Federation of American Scientists, agree that 66 of the blasts, heard and felt in Nova Scotia, came from the Concorde supersonic airliner passing more than 100 miles south of Cape of the other blasts heard along the U.S. East Coast.

Concorde flights into and from New York's Kennedy International Airport change direction off Cape Sable, thereby apparently creating the "superboom," it was agreed.

Dr. Stone said that what is disturb-ing is that the noise and effect of the Concorde traveled so far, and regularly. He intends to announce new findings about "superbooms" which will indicate how the booms are carried such unexpected distances, he said. He also insisted that calculations in the Pentagon study are "all wrong.

Superbooms have been known for Superbooms have been known for almost two decades, according to Dominic Maglieri, an accoustics specialist with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Langley, Va. Among other places, they struck the Los Angeles area regularly two decades ago dursupersonic bomber.
The superbooms occurred during the B-58's deceleration as it prepared to land, Maglieri said. The big booms also occur when supersonic planes ac-celerate, gain or lose altitude, or change directions.

"In fact," Maglieri said, "anytime a supersonic aircraft does anything except fly level at constant speed, it focuses its boom - creates a superboom - somewhere.

When a plane changes direction, speed or altitude, the shock wave from the aircraft can over-run an earlier shock wave much as two ocean waves peaking at the same time and place reinforce their height and strength. When an aircraft flying at one altitude climbs and then levels off higher up, for example, the shock wave sent forward during the climb reaches the ground at the same time

This creates a superboom with twice the normal force, Maglieri said. A boom nine times stronger than usual is created when a supersonic fighter goes into a very tight turn, with the pilot experiencing twice the usual gravity pull, at a very high bank angle, he said.

Maglieri, whose work made up a significant part of the Pentagon study, expressed doubt, however, that the Concorde was creating superbooms off Nova Scotia.

"Its turning maneuvers are very gradual, both because the plane was not built as a fighter and for passenger comfort," he said. "I'd say there was only a low probability that it lays down a 'focused boom,' as we call them."

On the other hand, there have been reports in Europe that the Concorde, in slowing down for landing in Paris, sends a boom that has been heard in Sweden, according to knowledgeable

California cracks down on dope-pushing doctors

The Los Angeles Times

SACRAMENTO, Calif. - Creation of a statewide strike force to put "every dope pushing doctor in California out of business" was an-nounced Tuesday by officials of the state medical board and the state Department of Consumer Affairs.

The strike force, compromised of about 24 agents, began operations Tuesday by filing for temporary restraining orders to ban five doctors accused of drug trafficking from practicing.

An arrest warrant charging manslaughter was issued against a sixth doctor whose patient had taken an overdose, and action to suspend or revoke the licenses of seven phar-

'When our field people observe a doctor or pharmacist violating the drug control laws, they will either arrest them on the spot or secure a warrant for their arrest the same day," Sophn said.

"In case this does not dampen the vicious greed of the pusher, a court order will be sought immediately to restrain him or her from practicing," he added.

In the past, drug pusher doctors have been allowed to practice and continue prescribing pills for months awaiting state disciplinary action. The Times disclosed in its series.

Now, Spohn said, administrative action to suspend or revoke a drug doctor's license to practice will be taken within 30 days.

Spohn identified the doctors against whom restraining orders were sought Tuesday as Dr. Kenneth A. Rascoe, Hermosa Beach; Dr. Marvin L. Stern, Cypress; Dr. Chester J. Hurd, San Jose; Dr. Lamar Desmuke, Oakland and Dr. Franklin D. Hendricks, San Jose.

Spohn said a check of two pharmacies showed that during the first nine days of March three of the doctors wrote nearly 1,000 prescriptions for more than 60,000 for Quaaludes (sleeping pills) for one patient in 60 days, Spohn said.

The doctor for whom an arrest warrant was issued was identified by Spohn as Dr. Rodney Chamberlain of Santa Clara.

Spohn said Dr. . Chamberlain prescribed 5,400 tablets of Ascodeen (a codeine pain pill) in six months to a patient who died of an overdose.

He said the Brown administration also is sponsoring legislation to speed up further the licensing-disciplining them wrapped in what once were classified FBI documents. The agency, often criticized by civil libertarians for keeping too many files on too many Americans for too long, is preparing to winnow out nearly half of its "obsolete" materials that presently cram 18,000 file drawers in more than 60,000 square feet of floor space at FBI

pizza or reach for a box of laundry detergent, chances are they will find headquarters here.

This material, like the FBI's classified refuse, will be fed to a pneumatic hammermill in the FBI basement and pounded into a damp,... egg-carton-like substance. Then it will be given to a recycler who will use the pulpy residue to produce paperboard, including boxes for pizzas, soap powder, and similar products.

Some historians, biographers and other researchers fear destruction of the records will erase potential grist for scholars, though the bureau says it has taken steps to assure this does not happen.

"We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," said one FBI official, reflecting on the irony of being caught between pressures to purge FBI files and pressures to throw virtually nothing away.

John Rosenberg, an author who found that some FBI records he sought had been destroyed in an earlier FBI file purging after he requested them, contended that FBI record keepers and scholars operate on different wave lengths.

"An investigative agency's criteria for what is substantive simply are not the same as a scholar's," Rosenberg

The FBI set out its plan for disposing of much its headquarters files in a "request for records disposition authority," submitted to the National Archives and Records Service last May 4.

While the plan spells out in seven pages of single-spaced detail what files will be sent to the National Archives for permanent retention and which will be destroyed after specified periods, James W. Awe, author of the plan, acknowledged in an interview: "Basically, it boils down to (retaining) cases of national media attention."

Like other government agencies, the FBI needs National Archives authority to dispose of its records.

Existing authority was suspended in January, 1975, when the Senate created the Select Committee on Intelligence to probe allegations of improper and illegal actions by the nation's intelligence agencies, including the FBI.

James B. Rhoads, the nation's archivist, has authority to approve the FBI's plan. But he sought the advice and counsel of Senate and House committees under the law that allows for such consultation when it is in the public interest or when the records are of special interest to Perhaps indicating the sensitivity surrounding the general subject of FBI files, eight months have passed and Rhoads has not received the advice of either the Senate Rules and Administration Committee or the House Administration Committee.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Executive Vice President C.S. Nicandros of Continental Oil Co. said today that the current oversupply of petroleum "could lull certain wishful thinkers" into a false sense of security. "The current oversupply is temporary, and it is masking a tightening petroleum situation that could translate itself into serious shortages by the mid-1980s," Nicandros told oil and gas executives. "Things are better, but they still are not good enough," said President Avery Rush Jr. of Diamond Shamrock Oil and Gas Co. Their views were among several at the Texas Railroad Commission's annual hearing on the state of the oil and gas industry.

Before the presentations, the commission routinely set the April statewide oil allowable at 100 percent. Maximum production was ordered six years ago and, with the exception of three months last winter, has remained at 100 percent.

As usual, however, the East Texas Field was restricted to 86 percent production to avoid possible waste. Chairman Mack Wailace of the commission noted that crude oil imports into the United Stats were 8,022,000 barrels per day for the four-week average of March 3. This represents approximately 41 percent of this country's demand, he said. Nominations by major purchasers for April totaled 3,543,797 barrels a

Prime exploration area threatened by agencies

TULSA, Okla. — Huge chunks of public lands in the Overthrust Belt of the Rocky Mountains and in Alaska considered among the best prospective onshore areas for the new U.S. oil and gas supplies — may soom be closed to exploration.

Two federal agencies are studying their vast landholdings to determine which tracts to set aside as wilderness, making them off-limits to mineral development. And the U.S. House is considering legislation to insure that millions of acres in Alaska remain pretty scenery — and nothing

To the petroleum industry, such land withdrawals would come at the expense of major potential additions to the nation's oil and gas reserves, the Oil & Gas Journal reports in its

March 13 issue. Edd Turner, president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, warns that a reversal of the decline in U.S. petroleum reserves is impossible without government cooperation. Speaking at a trade meeting, Turner said the logical followup to the Carter Administration's expressed concern over diminishing energy supplies would be opening of more land to exploration. The withdrawal programs have the opposite effect. One Overthrust Belt operator put it this way: "The Overthrust Belt is a very important area now to find new reserves for this country. We consider our prospects there attractive, and think we can drill them without harming the environment.

"But the way things are going,

"But the way things are going, you'd think someone was trying to squeeze domestic exploration to death."

Included in the acreage that would be affected by the D-2 bill are what some oilmen consider the best prospective tracts in Alaska.

An alternative proposal would set aside only 92 million acres and allow exploration to continue under conditions imposed by the Interior Department.

Oil and gas operations already are locked out of huge stretches of federal land. According to a Department of Interior study published last year, about two-thirds of all federal lands "are either effectively closed or restricted (to varying degrees) for mineral development. The government holds about 760 million public domain and acquired acres administered by 13 agencies or departments. Including lands for which the government holds title to mineral rights, the amount of land under federal control total 877 million

Almost half the federally owned acreage is in Alaska, and most of the remainder is in the 11 Western states

Circus' Sunday visit to fund civic projects

Three big rings of circus fun and excitement will be featured in the American Comtinental Circus when it Presents performances here Sunday.

The performances are scheduled to begin at 1 and 5 p.m. Sunday in Midland Memorial Stadium on West Cuthbert Avenue. Tickets will go on sale at the gates one hour in advance of each

The circus' Midland engagement is sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles here, with proceeds to benefit Eagles' charitable and civic projects.

A wide variety of trained animal acts, aerial acts and special acts of skill and daring await circus audiences. The lineup includes trainer Bucky Steele and his ferocious felines of the jungle world; the Flying Wilastons, high wire artists from Colombia; the Suarez Riding Troupe, an equestrian family from Mexico; the Ray-Cuts, an astonishing acrobatic team; the Guerreros, daredevil high wire cyclists, and beautiful aerial ballerina Myoshy Amotto, the "Pearl of the Orient

And, certainly not least are the clowns, without which no circus is complete, who will be delighting old and young alike with their zany antics and special comedy routines.

Young artists offer special musical treat

Four separate and very special musical treats were provided by the winners of the 1978 National Young Artist Competition in their concert performances this week with the Midland-Odessa Symphony.

Correction: There actually were six treats for audiences at the pair of concerts - the orchestra's presentations of Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 and Ravel's "La Valse" amounted to rather special treats in themselves. It does seem that the winners in each competition are more awesomely gifted, more impressively proficient than even those of the year before, and the winners in this 16th contest event are no exception. They are an enormously talented and remarkably professional foursome.

Flautist Robert Yelvington, 20, of the University of New Mexico, was the first of the four young performers, playing a movement of C.P.E. Bach's Concerto for Flute in B-flat major. His solo work was controlled, precise, always beautifully phrased. It was a pleasure to hear him.

Violinist Felicia Moye, 16, of Westbury, N. Y., demonstrated technical expertise far in advance of her years in her playing of the final movement of Henri Vieuxtemps' Concerto No. 4 for Violin and Orchestra. Her poise and stage presence, along with her remarkable proficiency as an instrumentalist, made a hit with her audience.

Baritone Kenneth Carroll, at 24 the Baritone Kenneth Carroll, at 24 the oldest of the four guest artists, was also probably the most relaxed, the most assured, as a performer. He sang two operatic selections — the famous prologue from Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" and the "Largo al factotum" from Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" — and sang them beautifully. He has a fine voice, a well-trained voice, and he knows how well-trained voice, and he knows how to use it effectively. Carroll is a law student at The University of Texas.

The fourth and final guest artist was pianist Tom Dickinson, a 22-year old student at the Yale School of Music. Dickinson chose contemporary composer Samuel Barber's Concerto for Piano and Orchestra for his concert performances here, and for him the choice was probabły a good one. It is a pianist's showpiece — bombastic, dramatic, technically demanding— and it served well to show off Dickinson's keyboard proficiency and con-siderable dexterity.

At conclusion of the students' performances, they were given engraved plaques as first recipients of the annual Lara Hoggard Performance Award. The awards, established by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fullinwider of Midland, pay tribute to Dr. Lara Hoggard, former music director of the Midland-Odessa Symphony, who organized the National Young Artist Competition in the early 1960s. Dr. Hoggard, now a member of the music faculty of the University of North Carolina, came here for the pair of performances this week and made the presentation of the special awards to the students.

He was assisted by Mrs. LaDoyce Lambert, who served as general chairman of the 1978 National Young Artist Competition held in Midland in late January.

As previously noted, the orchestra's presentation of Beethoven's First Symphony and Ravel's "La Valse" were added treats in the pair of concerts.

It was a special pleasure to hear the Beethoven because we haven't all that many opportunities to hear Beethoven's symphonic works, particularly his early, less-wellknown symphonies.

The Midland-Odessa orchestra, under the baton of Dr. Tom Hohstadt, provided an exceptionally fine reading of the work, giving it both richness and depth in its subtler passages as well as its broader ones. The effect was, overall, extremely Maurice Ravel's splendid tone poem, "La Valse," came off with the grace and style and, yes, elegance that the composer intended it to have. Its musical imagery was rich and variegated. All orchestral segments combined to provide a wholly enjoyable listening experience.

Job not envied

By JAY SHARBUTT

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —
At Oscar awards time, Don Yott has the leastenvied task in Tinseltown. He seats the nominees, including the major stars you'll see April 3 when ABC airs the annual Oscar show. His is tricky work.

Contenders often attach great importance to where they sit, how many allies can sit with them. And what with Hollywood feuds and egos, one star may even refuse to sit near another one. For three years, Yott has dealt with the delicate matter of where stars bottom out on Oscar night. But he says he's never had a nominee refuse to show up because of the seating arrangements.

Sure, some want to bring two, three or more friends or relatives to sit with them, "and they say they 'absolutely won't come unless I can get those seats," Yott says.

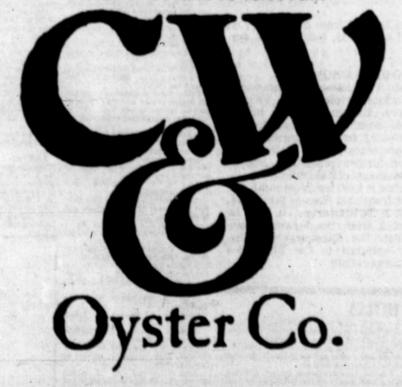

"We try to work it out. Eventually they come around ... but not until after considerable phone calls and reasoning," adds the seater in chief for the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Sciences.

As in recent years, April's Oscar show is televised from the Dorothy Chandler Pavillion of the Los Angeles Music Center. About 350 nominees are up for salutes in various categories, Yott says.

But the main action, as far as TV is concerned, is in the front 20 rows, where nominees in major awards for acting.

Schomberg's bronzes show people in oil industry work, some at moments of dramatic intensity. The collection includes 'The includes 'The Roughneck,' 'Dry Hole," "Stabbing the Pipe," "The Strike" and 'Lost Offshore."

The Schomberg works come to Midland from an exhibition at the Kenneth John Sculpture Gallery in Melbourne, Australia. The artist previously has shown his work in galleries in New Mexico, Arizona, Michigan, Colorado, Wyoming, Louisiana and Texas, and he will have future exhibitions in New York City, Beverly Hills and Oklahoma City.

Schomberg, born in Iowa in 1943, holds a bachelor of fine arts degree from Wayne State University and a master's degree from the University of Denver. Extensive study and travel in Europe have contributed to his development as a leading sculptor in recent years.

Of his "Oil Series" to be shown here, Schomberg comments that the works "illustrate paramount elements in the petroleum industry, one of today's most dramatic industries. Pride, failure, graceful beauty, success and tragedy are among these elements.'

Late-night prankster jars Soul

By DICK MAURICE Copley News Service

Nobody likes to answer the telephone when it rings in the middle of the night. The jarring bells always seem to herald bad news.

But DAVID SOUL, more than anyone, has good reason to dread the ominous sound. As of late he's been besieged nightly by calls from an anonymous crackpot. The life-threatening caller says things like: "You think you're really a big shot. Well, you aren't going to be around much longer!"

In a vote of no-confidence, Soul refuses to contact the police. His greatest fear is that when news of his nightly harassment spreads, it'll encourage other cranks to tie up his line, too.

Elsewhere, the problems on the set of "Wonder Woman" are quite real.

Some of those headaches have been well documented, and in case you missed it, there are few people associated with the show who have a kind word for LYNDA CARTER.

What's not been revealed until now is that one of the set because of a "run-in" with the star, and the account executive with her PR representative quit his job because he'd grown tired of constantly having

Dogfight seen in Tall City Relays Friday

Friday's Tall City Relays at Memorial Stadium could be one of the tightest track meets of the year as three teams appear to have the fire power to pull off a championship. Odessa Permian, San Angelo and Midland Lee have all been winners this season as has Odessa Ector against AAA competition. Midland High and Amarillo Tascosa have also placed second in meets this season. Add Odessa High and Amarillo Palo Duro to the field, and there is enough spice to go around.

PERMIAN, THE meet favorite, doesn't have a lock on this one, even though the Panthers have won championships in their last two outings. San Angelo has won one meet this year and that came when Lee and Permian were in the same field and Lee won its first title of the season last week in Amarillo where Tascosa was

In fact, the meet appears to be so close at this point in time that just a few shifts in points could spell the difterence, Still, Permian is the team to catch, and the Bobcats and Rebels will have to find some points to make up the difference.

Field event finals and running preliminaries began at 2 p.m. while all running finals are set for a 7 p.m. start. Running under the lights is new for all teams and that could make a problems for the Bulldogs and Rebels this year as San Angelo and Permian have dominated. But Palo Duro's Richard Buck will possibly drain points from the two teams since he owns a 38.2 in the 330 hurdles and a 14.0 in the 120 hurdles. Buck went to state in the 330s last season and owns the record in the Tall City Relays.

THE 100-YARD dash should be another close race since Permian's Danny King and Lee's Dwight Washington both own 9.9 times while Jerry Bundage of Midland High and San Angelo's Danny Abbott is the big favorite in the 440 with a 50.5 his best of the year. Lee sophomore Phil Carlton is continually improving and has a 51.5 for the next best time. From there it is a horse race for the next few King is again the favorite in the 220 with a 22.2 this year, but Washington owns a 22.3 while Midland High's Alvin Price stands at 22.5 and Lee's Doug Guthrie owns a 22.6. This could be a very close race.

MIDLAND HIGH'S Jeff Adkins is the big favorite in the mile run. Adkins has won two miles this year with his best time of 4:27.4 gaining only a third place last week in Odessa.

will be heated with son Angelo's Lon Albert, 4:32.2; Lee's Steve Hooper, 4:32.7; Lee's Ricky Parsons, 4:35.0, in the field.

The 880 will feature another duel between defending 5-4A champion Ed Bruning against Midland High's Chuck Stump. Bruning owns a 1:56.4 this year for one of the state's best times while Stump owns a 1:59.2. Lee's Arthur Pertile has a 2:01.5 and could challenge for a high spot. Permian has won both of its meets with major strength in the field events. This is where other teams will have to cut into the Panther domination if they want to win.

win at least three of the five field events, so the lower places could become all important Friday after-

Permian's Mark Shipman owns the pole vault with a leap of 14-0 feet this year while King has a 13-6. That could be good enough for a one-two sweep of the event. Lee's Jody Sessoms also owns a 13-6 while Midland High's Joe Primera has a 13-3 along with San Angelo's Jack Fannon. Primera and Sessoms, however, have been over 13-feet only once, and they will need to do it again Friday.

King is the big favorite in the long jump with a 23-4 to his credit while the battle for second should be a heated one against Paul Davis of Permian and Jerry Moore of Lee, both with 21-73/2 this year.

THE SHOT put will feature another duel between Lee's Jeff McCowan and Permian's Tommy Sager. Sager has the best throw this year with a 55-8 while McCowan stands at 55-3. Mc-Cowan, however, defeated Sager on his last throw in the Comanche Relays before Sager pulled the same stunt the next week in Pecos to defeat Mc-Cowan. Lee also needs help in this event from Rodney Taylor (52-10) and Herb Pearce (51-7). But the field is crowded since Odessa's Jeff Crombie owns a 53-5 and Palo Duro's Scott Loftis a 53-2. Midland High will depend on Brian Booker (50-8%) and David Simmons (50-814) for some hoped for points The high jump could turn into a one-man show with San Angelo's Neville Leverette in the field with a 6-7 jump this year. Jim Smith of Tascosa owns a 6-4.

San Angelo's Sammy Lee, Permian's Sager and San Angelo's Doug Dewitt are within a foot of each other. Lee has the best with a 161-3.

The biggest mystery of the meet, however, will come in the special two-mile run. This event has not been run this year, and this is where the coaches will have to manuever the talent around for the best results. It's anyone's guess who will shine here. Midland High's Jeff Adkins owns the record in this event, but he will probably run in the mile since he is almost a shoe-in for first place. There will also be a junior varsity division and a girls division. The same eight teams will be in the JV run while the girls will have a small fiveteam field.

ODESSA PERMIAN'S girls are the big favorite in the girls division while it is anyone's guess in the JV run since most meets do not have a junior varsity division. Lee, however, should be Midland High should be competitive in the girls run. Jana Trolinder should score in the 80-yard hurdles and 440 while Susan Shoemaker should get points in the 80 hurdles. Nan White is also strong in the 440 while Wanda Caldwell, who set a record in Odessa last week, will be the favorite in the 880. Renee Ramsey is strong in the 880 also. The Bulldogs also have a good mile relay team.

Bulldogs upend Monterey again

By BOB DILLON

It was worth the delay . -Coach Larry Peel's Bulldogs, behind the pitching of sophomore righthander Tracy Gann, knocked off the Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen for the second time in a week, 5-4, at the Memorial Stadium diamond Wednesday in a makeup baseball game.

The Purple Pack had beaten the Hub City team, 8-5, last week in the Tournament of Champions at Cubs

Not only did Gann scatter seven hits, but slammed a long home run over the fence in the first inning to help stake himself a 1-0 lead off righthander Derek Hatfield.

Midland came from behind with two runs in the sixth inning after trailing, 3-2. Monterey did manage to score one run in the top of the seventh inning, but third baseman Phil Bruedigam grounded out to third to end the game, giving the Pack a 5-5 season record.

THE LOSS brings Monterey's record to 3-3 going into its game with Abilene Cooper on Friday. Midland, meanwhile, faces the Class AAA Lamesa Golden Tornadoes at 1 p.m.

Junior Tennis Meet is set

The Midland Jumior . Tennis Association will sponsor a boys and girls singles tournament for players 15 years of age and under on April 1.
Play will be held at the Lee High courts beginning at 9 a.m.

The deadline for entering the tourney is March 29, and anyone interested in participating should call either Celia Rhòdes at 683-6806 or Yvonne Garton at 683-1529.

Balls and trophies will be supplied from the proceeds of last year's Midland Junior Tennis Mixed Doubles Benefit, which was sponsored by Midland National Bank.

Jones working out for track meet

McAllen, Texas (AP) - Injured Longhorn sprinter Johnny Jones is working out but Texas track Coach Cleburne Price says there will be no showdown with Texas A&M's Curtis Dickey at a meet here March 25.

Jones is nursing a hamstring injured in the UT Cotton Bowl loss to Notre Dame. While the Olympic gold medalist has been sidelined, Dickey has zipped to 60-yard dash crowns at the Southwest Conference and NCAA indoor meets.

The Bulldogs scored twice on Hatfield in the bottom of the first with Gann's leadoff homer setting the Ricky Goode worked Hatfield for a walk and scored after Jimmy Zachry legged out an infield hit and both Goode and Zachry moved up a base when Hatfield uncorked a wild pitch.

James Allen plated Goode with a sacrifice fly to center. A passed ball gave the Pack another opportunity, but Steve Cole struck out and after Joe Mowles walked to load the bases, Rick Foster flew out to left with Dana Rieger making a fine running MONTEREY SCORED one run off Gann in the second when Rieger singled, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Ron Reeves' double.

The Plainsmen went ahead, 3-2, in the fourth inning by scoring two unearned runs when Foster dropped a routine fly ball into left with two out. A double past first base by Foster in the bottom of the fourth along with a wild pitch and squeeze bunt by Archie Booth, tied the score, 3-3. Gann lined out to second and Goode flew out to deep center in the fifth inning, but the Pack was not turned away in the sixth. Allen was safe at first when he dove at the bag for an infield single on a close play COLE LAID down a perfet perfect bunt for a base hit and Joe Mowles was safe on an error by Hatfield to give Midland a run. Mowles scored what proved to be the winning run on a wild pitch. Jeff Harp started off the Plainamen in the top of the seventh by getting the only walk issued by Gann. Mike Wooten singled and after Andy Barron struck out looking, Eric Voyles grounded out to second with Harp scoring. Bruedigam then

McEnroe in net victory

WASHINGTON (AP) - John McEnroe burst onto the tennis world in a blaze of glory last summer when he reached the semifinals at Wimbledon at the age of 18. The young teen-ager, an amateur from Stanford University, still arouses the crowd.

McEnroe, No. 6 seed in the $125,000 Washington stop of the men's pro ten-nis tour, defeated veteran Bob Lutz Wednesday night, but he didn't have the audience of some 3,700 with him. And he knew it.

"They were against me before I went out," he said after the 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 victory that moved him into the round Asked how he could tell, he replied: "Just judging from the way they clap-ped when I hit a good ball compared to the way they clapped when he hit a good shot.

'I was hitting good shots at the end and they weren't getting nearly the response he was getting," he said.

McEnroe said he didn't know why the tennis audiences react to him in such a manner — though he said not all react negatively — but Wednesday night he thought it might have been because of what he described as a "number thing."

"Maybe a lot of older people liked him because I'm a lot younger than he is," said the 19-year-old McEnroe of the 30-year-old Lutz.

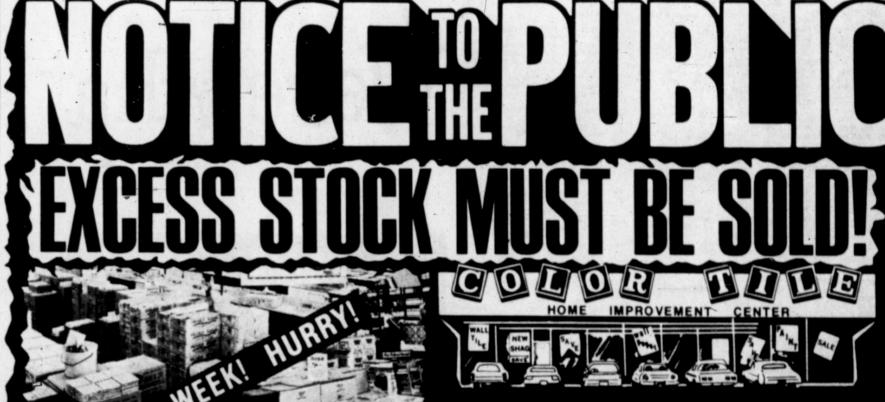

"Sometimes you get aggravated," he said, "He hits a shot that's not so good and they go crazy. Maybe they don't like me.

Along with his meteoric rise last year, he also garnered a reputation of being quick-tempered and sometimes ill-mannered on coourt.

McEnroe, who beat Lutz and Charles Pasarell at Virginia Beach last April for his first major victories in high powered tennis, had little comment on his many outbursts when line calls went against him Wednesday. But he did say "it's hard to forget a bad call when it's 4-3 and you're at

In the major upset of the tournament so far, unranked Brian Teacher ousted No. 2 Eddie Dibbs 3-6, 7-5, 6-1, culminating the match with 12 consecutive points.

Afterwards, the 23-year-old Teacher said that before the middle of the second set, he had been pressing

"I'd like to take my chances hitting in Yankee Stadium," he said. "I've always hit well there. They helped me out of my 1-for-17 slump last year and got me started.

The Yankees also helped Carew with his spring training hitting Wednesday, as he belted a homer and single to lead the Twins to a 6-1 exhibition victory at Orlando, Fla.

Twelve other games were played Wednesday during a full day of spring training activity, a rarity so far this year which has seen a lot of rainouts in zoth Florida and Arizon.

Mike Ivie, Terry Whitfield and Mike Sadek each drove in a run in the eighth inning to lead the San Francisco Giants to a 3-1 decision over the Oakland A's. Rance Mulliniks belted three hits, scored twice and knocked in a run as the California Angels whipped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-1. A two-run homer by Jose Cruz in the first and a two-out, RBI single by Dennis Walling in the eighth inning powered the Houston Astros to a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Jerry Remy and Butch Hobson blasted homers and Carl Yastrzemski ripped three straight singles in a 13hit attack that carried the Boston Red Sox past the Montreal Expos 8-3.

Bobby Bonds, Jorge Orta, Lamar Johnson and Chet Lemon combined for 13 of 21 Chicago hits as the White Sox buried the Philadelphia Phillies 13-5.
