Engineer Sets July 1 Blast-Off Date for Widening of Killer 84; Contract Let on Eastern Section

Conversion of Killer 84 into a four-lane, decent highway all the way from Clovis to Lubbock appeared a couple of steps nearer reality Wednesday after

1. Lamb county had opened contracts for paving that county's portion of the pesky highway, and

2. Resident Highway Engineer Rhea Bradley informed County Judge Glen Williams here that he has set a July 1 deadline for wiping out the paper work for four-laning 84 west from Muleshoe to the Parmer county line.

Bradley told the judge that he expects to have the plans and specifications for 84 west's widening completed by July 1, and then the highway department will be ready to advertise for bids in July with the completion possible — just barely possible — before the first snow flies next winter, maybe before the end of 1966.

It would appear that the state highway department has the widening of 84 into a first-class road high on its priority list for 1966 in view of the two steps announced this week.

In fact, as far back as last November, the Highway department budgeted $1,250,000 for construction of the road west from here to just this side of the Parmer county line, and set up a 1966 goal for the 9.8-mile widening project. The long tedious process of acquiring land for the right-of-way is virtually complete, although one condemnation is yet to be heard. This matter, Judge Williams said, is expected to be completed in short order.

The western project may be dovetailed into a similar project on the west side of Lamb county, providing four-laning for U. S. 84 west from Littlefield to just east of the Bailey county line.

This past week, Henry L. Stafford, Lubbock, was the apparent low bidder on a contract for widening of that section of 84. His bid was $1,371,606.

The project will include the constructing of a new two-lane highway on the south side of the present two-lane highway and a complete rebuilding of the present stretch of Highway 84.

That highway, when completed, will join with the four-lane portion of 84 which runs southeast from Muleshoe and extends a mile or so into Lamb county at present.

D. V. Mims, office manager of the Stafford firm, said it is hoped that construction on the project will start in late March or early April with completion date set for approximately 28 months after starting.

Rhea Bradley said a pre-construction meeting will be held within the next few days with representatives of the contracting firm.

The Lamb county portion will start at the end of the present by-pass around Littlefield which was opened to the public in recent weeks.

Oscar Crain, district engineer, Lubbock, told the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce last autumn when the $1.2 million allocation was announced, that the Bailey county figure was deecided on at the state highway commission's November meeting.

The bumpy little stretch of road had inspired much sarcasm, and a newsman had journeyed here to find out why area folk branded it "Killer 84". In fact, the Muleshoe Jaycees some time ago erected a road-sign, warning travelers of the road's "killer" reputation.

But, Crain pointed out, all that appears to be nearing an end, and he added: "If that Jaycee sign, for instance, caused any traveler to exercise caution which he might not otherwise have shown, then I'm glad the sign was put up."

Crain said that when the plans are completed, they will go to Austin for final approval, and then moving of utilities to new locations will be started. However, some of the utilities have already been moved from part of the route, and others are expected to be re-located early next year, long before actual

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK IS NEXT

Industrial Arts Going on Display

When Muleshoe schools throw open their doors next week to John Q. Public for Texas Public Schools Week, a brand-new department will go on display for the first time. It's the industrial arts department, piloted by James Perry.

And the visitors at Monday night's open house at the senior high will see "assembly line" type of production with boys making tiny hangers as souvenirs for the visitors. They've been running through the assembly line procedure all this week, getting ready for the visitors.

For that matter, the assembly line is part of the teaching procedure in industrial arts, and each visitor will be given a printed slip telling of the industrial arts program.

The industrial arts department is part of a four-unit training program — industrial arts, vocational agriculture, distributive education and automobile mechanics included in the project. The industrial division is housed in a new building at the south end of the senior high building.

The handout which the visitors will be given will read: "You won't get tomorrow's jobs with today's skills," reads

Go-Go Muleshoe Gets Under Way; Events Slated

Muleshoe's Go-Go got under way Tuesday morning with a coffee session at Paul's when plans were laid for a big year in Muleshoe with various promotions that should put Muleshoe's stores on the shoppers' map during 1966.

The Go-Go Muleshoe idea is a promotion of Retail Activities committee of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, headed by the committee is Harvey Bass.

Those attending expressed pleasure over last week's Washington's Birthday event, first of the promotions for the Go-Go club. Linda Murray was congratulated for his efforts in in-

Assessor to Start Issuing Free Poll Tax Receipts Today

A little three-inch rubber stamp is replacing a dollar and six bits, starting today, as a prerequisite to casting a political ballot in Texas.

Because starting today, Jean Lovelady, tax assessor-collector at the courthouse, will start issuing "for free" poll tax receipts to those who did not pay the customary $1.75 before the Feb. 1 deadline.

"It's just a rubber stamp voting privilege," says Mrs. Lovelady, "and it will be good only through March 18. In fact we've already gone through our poll tax receipts and rubber stamped a number of them in anticipation of the 'rush' which may or may not develop when the bars are lowered."

The rubber stamp reads: "CONDITIONAL VOTER REGISTRATION CERTIFICATE."

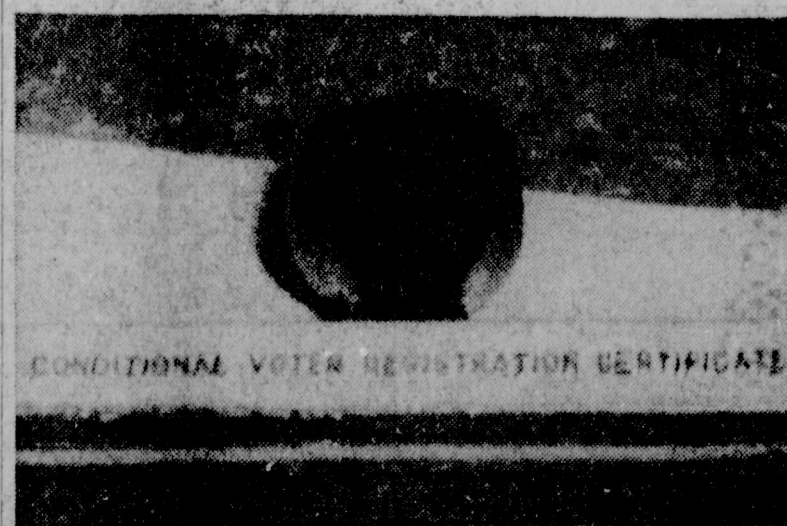

Of course there are still the customary free receipts going to those who have turned 21 recently, and then the newcomers to Texas, registering for the first time, have always got one year's free ride. These conditions will continue to exist.

However, as in the past, those who have passed the 60-year mark will not have to register; such voters get a free ticket, but in a county of this size,

'Army' Here Honors Long-Time Worker

Salvation Army, an agency of the United Fund here, honored one of its long-time workers, sounded an appeal for clothes and took pride in an active winter program this week.

It all came about at a board meeting of the Salvation Army, held Monday in the Muleshoe State bank's community room, presided over by the chairman, Bill Moore.

It all came about at a board meeting of the Salvation Army, held Monday in the Muleshoe State bank's community room, presided over by the chairman, Bill Moore.

Honored for a long-time service to the "Army" was Elizabeth Thomson, treasurer of the local unit who, with her husband is moving to south-central Texas soon. She has served the organization for more than 10 years here.

Moore presented her with a paper-weight plaque in recognition of what he termed "your very, very splendid help to the Salvation Army."

An appeal also was sounded for clothes. Moore said that garments are stored in the old jury room at the courthouse and are distributed from that point as needed. However, he said a need exists for additional clothes, especially children's clothes. Persons who have usable clothes were asked to bring them to the courthouse.

In his report, Moore showed that the Salvation Army here has been very busy since the last accounting was given, Oct. 5.

His figures showed such things as these for the period from Oct. 5 through Feb. 26:

Two hundred seventy five persons were served; of these 226 were local and 49 were transients. Lodging was given $89. A total of $382.15 was spent for food for needy, and transportation amounted to $76.99. Clothes bought totaled $27.75, and medical aid totaled $13.85. Five pairs of children's shoes were bought at a cost of $20.16. Total cash payouts amounted to $599.99.

Moore said the cash figures, of course, did not include many items of used clothing.

Initiation Set For 17 Seeking Tri-M Berths

At the end of each semester of the school year, Tri M, Modern Music Masters, will be selecting students who are hopefully qualified for membership. This last semester was the first time the society has done so, as it was organized only the first of the school year in Muleshoe High School. To be accepted as an apprentice, a student must have a scholastic average of 85 or better, be a sophomore, junior, or senior, pass a test on the background and meaning of Tri M, and perform an approved solo or ensemble. After this is completed the members vote upon accepting the members, which is mainly based upon the person's willingness to accept responsibilities. A person must also maintain these standards if he wishes to be a member. The accepted students are then initiated as active members, in a formal ceremony.

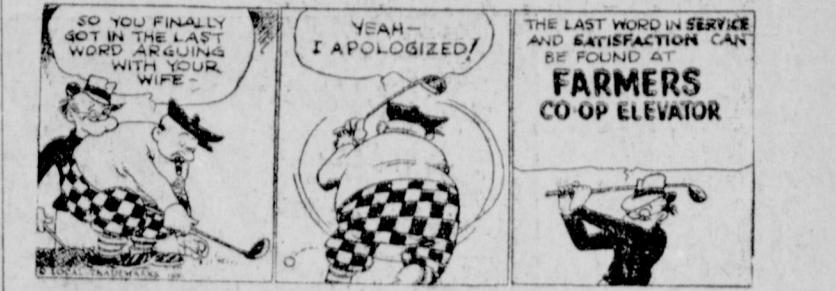

Such is the case at Muleshoe High School this Thursday, March 3 at 8:00 p.m., when some 17 new members will be initiated. This ceremony will be held in the cafeteria, and is open to the public. A special invitation is extended to the Muleshoe Journal, annual staff, and parents. Since this is the first of such ceremonies the charter members which aren't officers will also be officially initiated. Those being initiated are apprentices: Tom Jones, Dennis Burrows, Billy Kelly, Hal Anderson, Nancy Lee, Val Moore, Marcie Williams, Janie Crane, Vondale Bleeker, Gary Edwards, Gail Locker, Lynn Ericson, Wetona Kincannon, Bert Elzarras, Pat Malone, Ann Davis, and Gail Phipps. Charter members: Luna Pitts, Regina Hawkins, Sonja Bass, Gereta Gardner, Terry Bryant, Carol Haire, Brenda Tanner, John Gulley, Neil Finley, Pam Herr, Kathy West, Jane Branscum, Linda Griffiths, and Don Huff. Those in charge will be: officers: Jan Landers — President, Marsha Blackman — Vice Pres., Carol Bass — Secretary, Ellen English — Treasurer, Lindell Wilson — Historian, Jan Everett — Chaplain, and David Dillman — Searg, at Arms, along with sponsors Bill Bradley and Leasel Richardson.

Beth Skipworth gave an interesting talk on books. She displayed several old and rare books from her personal library and told where she had obtained each book and the story behind it, at the Pleasant Valley Social Club meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting was held in the Pleasant Valley Community Building. Mrs. Skipworth also gave a short sketch of the life of Pearl S. Buck, one of her favorite authors.

Yarborough Bill For Victims Of Crime Discussed

By Sen. Ralph Yarborough
This week I would like to report to you for the first time on an important bill which I introduced last year, and which is creating a lot of discussion throughout the Nation. This is my bill to compensate the innocent victims of crime. It is the first bill of this nature ever to be introduced in the Congress of the United States by anyone. Much attention has been paid in the last few years to the treatment of a criminal and the preservation of his rights, but very little has been said about the victims of crime — the innocent person who is brutally beaten, attacked, knifed or shot through no fault of his own. In earlier times, a man had the responsibility of his defense and every man carried a weapon to guard against crimes to himself and family. However, as man progressed he gave up the duty of defending himself and entrusted it to society through his government. It only stands to reason that when society fails to give him the proper protection and he is personally injured that society bear the burden. When the police fail to protect a woman on the streets who has to go to the hospital for weeks, this bill would pay for her hospital care because it was a failure of adequate police forces to give her the protection she required. Naturally there must be many safeguards written into this law — it only concerns injuries to the person, not for the loss of property when someone is robbed; the victim has to be completely innocent, not a participant in a brawl; and the compensation will be nominal so the person can not end up better off than before they were injured. Although this is a new concept in American law, New Zealand has had such a law since 1963 and Great Britain since 1964. Naturally, there must be debate, discussion and clarification of this idea before we enact it into law, but many people have already begun to take a close look at this bill. California has enacted a somewhat similar but more limited law and New York is making a special study of such a proposal.

In an editorial, the Boston Herald has said, "The principle seems sound and the Yarborough bill sounds sensible." An article in the Washington Post states that "Support of the idea has come from both those who criticize and those who defend current legal trends toward broadened rights of the accused in criminal cases." Chet Huntley, with NBC News has stated in his broadcast that "The concept of compensating the victims of crime is not new. It is almost as old as law itself." Now that the Cold War GI Bill upon which I have worked for seven years has been enacted, I will be devoting more of my time to developing the concepts of this bill and encouraging support for the compensation of innocent victims of crime. At a time when the individual places his safety in the hands of society to protect, it is essential that society should help him and his family when that protection breaks down.

The Bailey county project specifically is listed as: U. S. 84 from Parmer county line to Muleshoe, 9.4 miles of grading, structures and surfacing for two additional lanes, $1,250,000. It's all a part of a two-year $350 million consolidated highway program for Texas.

To numerous senior high school students in Muleshoe schools, industrial arts teaching program, this warning is well taken for they are among other thousands of students in Texas and across the United States who are learning industry. . . from the materials and processes now in use to broad applications of what could be used in the next few years to invent new products or new ways of making old products.

Industrial arts for junior and senior high school students if not learning a vocation; it is learning pride of craftsmanship, how to work with others, and to think and reason. This is the best preparation for learning tomorrow's skills. The industrial arts student gains the basic skills of industry although he does not become an experienced carpenter, metal worker, plastics fabricator or electrician. His industrial arts education is integrated with English, reading, mathematics, social studies and speech.

The goal of the industrial arts program is to build better citizens. . . better because they are capable of profitable work, harmonious working relationships and communicating with others.

There are five classes of industrial arts being conducted in Muleshoe public schools. The picture is virtually the same in cities surrounding Muleshoe.

March 18. "We don't have much to base an estimate on," she explained. "You see last year we issued only 1355 poll tax receipts altogether, and this year we jumped all the way up to 2158, despite the fact that the federal court decision was pending. In other words, more people paid poll taxes this year than last because it's a 'big' election year, regardless of the court ruling."

Here students may start industrial arts in the ninth grade and continue through high school.

"In high school, the industrial arts student may work in metal working, wood working, mechanical drawing, architectural drawing or electricity. No special fees are required for industrial arts students, and the only cost is for materials used in projects.

Said Perry: "We want everybody to visit our shop and ask questions, and we hope all visitors will feel free to return at any time."

The looms of ancient Peru spun some of the best textiles ever made. As early as 2500 B.C., Peruvian craftsmen were using cotton and wool to weave almost every known kind of fabric, including tapestry, embroidery and lace-like gauze.

There are 5,500 oil well derricks in the Gulf of Mexico, as far as 60 miles from shore.

Witnesses Attend Plainview Meet

Jehovah's Witnesses in this vicinity are cancelling all local meetings from March 4-6 to attend a training program in Plainview.

About 500 of Jehovah's Witnesses in a newly redistricted circuit, from Wichita Falls to Muleshoe and Altus, Okla., to Haskell, are expected to attend the "Make Disciples of People of All the Nations" assembly. The presiding minister of the Muleshoe Congregation, Elmer B. Lowery, said whole families will be in attendance and the WASHINGTON, D.C., — Congressman Walter Rogers will take part this week in a sweeping review of Government policies affecting the minerals and domestic mining industry.

Congressman Rogers, a member of the Subcommittee on Mines and Mining of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, said the public of the important studies to be undertaken in this Session by any Committee of Congress. The Nation's security and the well-being of our domestic mining and minerals industry are highly dependent on the sound administration of policies affecting the $8.1 billion stockpile.

Hearings will be held Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. "Materials valued at $4 billion are now considered by the Office of Emergency Planning to be excess to presently determined needs. The way in which this excess is disposed of is of primary importance to the domestic mining industry," Congressman Rogers said. He pointed out that the stockpile of such minerals as aluminum, copper, lead, zinc, and mercury was created for use in a national emergency. "The stockpile is not maintained to be used as a source of cheap minerals for the advantage of anyone or to the detriment of the mining industry, and it was not intended to be used as a means of indirect price control."

On Monday, Congressman Rogers will preside as another subcommittee of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee receives testimony on the saline water program proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Congressman Rogers is subcommittee chairman.

Meanwhile, the House Committee on Interstate for Foreign Commerce, on which Congressman Rogers serves as ranking majority member, has scheduled two days of hearings on a bill introduced by Congressman Rogers to free railroads and other common carriers from punitive taxation policies.

Among measures scheduled to come before the full House of Representatives this week is the defense authorization bill.

Events

(Continued from Page 1) creasing participation in the program. Mrs. Truman Lindsay said she was pleased over last Sunday's promotion page in the Bailey County Journal, backing a "shop at home" program. She said she felt that there should be more promotions such as that, adding that the Muleshoe business men also should shop at home.

Employers again were reminded to stress the importance of employees' giving the customers a friendly greeting.

Plans for forthcoming events were made, including Maid of Cotton promotion.

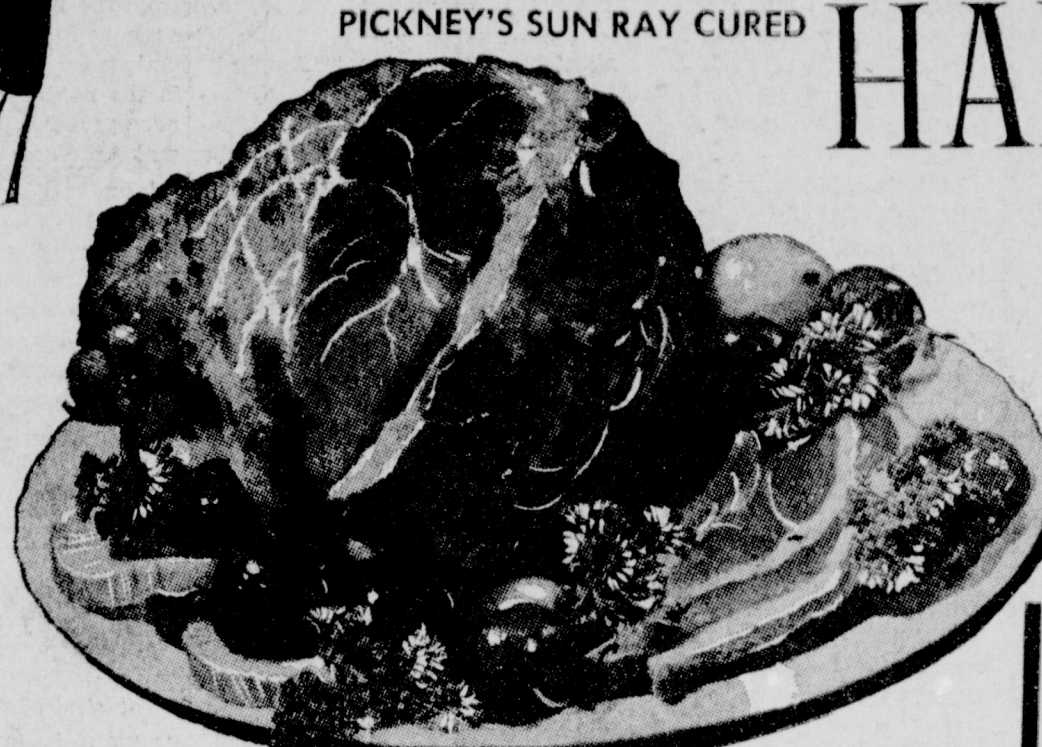

The organization is planning a series of events stretching through the year, Bass said.

program is designed to help all with the commission of disciplining the people.

The purpose of this assembly is to analyze the ministerial workers in Texas Circuit 9, determine the existing weakness, and lay plans for expanding the work at circuit and national levels.
