It's Time to Pick Our Best Spellers

It's spelling bee time again in Bailey county.

Tomorrow, 18 boys and girls will gather at Muleshoe high school auditorium at 1:30 p.m. and start "spelling down" one another.

Fred Johnson, who had been the giver-outer for several years, will start with simple words like "lathe", but as the afternoon wears on, the words will get tougher, building up to such words, for example, as "ecclesiastical."

Most of the six schools which will send three spellers each to the meet had not yet finished their elimination rounds at mid-week, but most had the finals slated for Wednesday afternoon. Schools which will send representatives to the county-wide spelling event will include Bula and Three Way in the southern part of the county, and DeShazo, Hilltop, Richland Hills and junior high here in Muleshoe.

The bee is sponsored here by The Journals, and in the district by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Winner here will go to Lubbock for the district contests, and winner there will take part in the national spelling bee in Washington June 8-10.

The contest is open to boys and girls who will not have reached their 16th birthday before June 10.

Judges for the Muleshoe event will be John Shelton, Muleshoe State Bank; Harmon Elliott, First National Bank, and Albert Field, city manager.

The public is invited to attend the spelling bee. Admission is free.

Officers Seek to Link Maple Fire With Attempted Burglary

Grocery Listed as Total Loss

Sheriff Dee Clements and his deputies at mid-week were sifting through the debris of a $40,000 Sunday morning grocery fire at Maple, attempting to determine:

1. Whether the blaze was set and
2. Whether there is any connection between the burning of the store and the 2 a.m. entrance of the store owner's home by an 18-year-old Latin who lived in gin barracks at Maple.

Clements and a deputy, Bobby Henderson, arrested Hilario Perez Jr. in a field at Maple Tuesday morning and brought him to Muleshoe for arraignment before Justice of the Peace Joe Vaughn. He listened silently to the reading of the lengthy charge and then said he wanted time to think it over before asking for bond or for a preliminary hearing. Perez was returned to jail "to think it over."

It's Kite Time

Kites are fun these days, and most kites are perfectly safe since they are flown with dry twine. However, Southwestern Public Service Co. Manager Jeff Peeler pointed out that kites CAN be unsafe if metallic string is used and the kite nose-dives into a high power line as this kite, flown by Terry Paul and Dan Dedyne, is doing. Frankly, the black metallic string here is purely for picture purposes. Terry Paul and Dan are safe kite-pilots. (Journal Photos)

Scouts Spend Night At Horseshoe Bend

Lance Puckett, patrol leader; Neil King, John Garth, Dean Gardner and Donnie Puckett, all from the Cobra Patrol of troop 620 went to Horseshoe Bend Friday evening where they spent the night and returned to Muleshoe Saturday.

The group of scouts were working on their badges which called for an all-night outing. The boys cooked all their meals in which they had pork chops, hamburgers and bacon and eggs, on the menu. One tent was pitched in which housed five boys on their scouting exhibition.

The boys looked for arrowheads and other valuables and were awakened by the howling of coyotes. It seemed the boys were already sleeping 'lightly' as they had to go out looking for fire wood at 2 a.m. It seemed the weather turned quite cool!

Yarborough Bill Would Up-Grade 'Rural' Medicine

By Sen. Ralph Yarborough

Last year when the Veterans' Administration closed several VA hospitals across the country, including Texas hospitals, it brought home a major problem in this country concerning medical care. Most of these hospitals were closed because they were in remote areas. The VA contended that they could not keep up with medical progress nor have the latest treatments available in remote areas.

If this is so, then every citizen of this Nation who lives in a small town, whether he is a veteran or not, is threatened by inadequate medical care because he is not close to a major medical center.

Because of this threat, I have introduced a bill in the United States Senate which would allow the Veterans' Administration to enter into cooperative contracts with medical schools, hospitals and research centers for the purpose of sharing the most advanced medical information, equipment and facilities available for the diagnosis and treatment of illnesses and injuries.

This means that VA hospitals can share the scarce equipment they have with other hospitals and both will benefit from the exchange. Medical equipment has become so expensive that one hospital, especially one in a remote area, does not have the money to buy all the latest equipment. My bill would allow both hospitals to offer better medical care without having such a tremendous expense by this interchange in use of equipment.

The bill also provides that the VA Hospitals can contract with major medical centers to use modern technology to bring remote hospitals into the mainstream of medical progress. This could be done by such methods as two-way television where a remote hospital can communicate with experts in a medical center for help in diagnosing or treating a case. This method has tremendous possibilities for improving the medical care available to all Americans, whether they live in cities or areas distant from the great cities with their great medical complexes.

If we can erase the problem of distance and lack of communication, then we can improve all medical care throughout the Nation, wherever the ill person lives. If a remote VA hospital can receive the latest medical information and techniques through two-way television, or other electronic communications, then any remote hospital in the United States can bring the latest medical care to its patients.

If this can be done, communications can be improved between all medical centers, no matter where they are located or how big or how small they are, and all new medical knowledge can be made immediately available to all doctors and all Americans for treatment in all hospitals.

Through proper planning, all hospitals will become partners in sharing the latest medical information and a distant hospital will no longer bring inferior care to its people, and the Veterans' Administration will no longer try to close down VA hospitals because they are not in large medical centers.

This bill provides the means for an entirely new system of medical care which will allow the sharing of information, facilities, of equipment, and of knowledge.

By improving our communications between various medical facilities we can bring every hospital and every doctor into the mainstream of the latest medical technology and development. I am proud to be the author of this bill which will be so meaningful to all our citizens - whether in big cities or in small towns. Every American deserves the best, the most modern, medical care available and this should not depend upon where he lives or where he is hospitalized.

by force, threats and fraud at night, enter into a house, the same being then and there the private residence of W. H. Eubanks, with intent then and there to ravish and obtain carnal knowledge of . . . a woman by force and threats without her consent."

Five minutes after the entry of the Eubanks home, the sheriff pointed out, the Eubanks' grocery in Maple caught fire. The sheriff said apparently the blaze started in the front of the store after a plate glass window had been broken. However, the sheriff said the back door of the sprawling store was discovered to be open after the blaze, and it is possible that entry was made by that means.

Eubanks, who is a county commissioner, reportedly carried no insurance on the building or its contents. Court records show that Perez was arrested Feb. 5 this year on a charge of disturbance. He was arraigned in Justice Vaughn's court and paid a $20 fine and costs.

In still another case filed here he was charged with theft of an automobile which he drove to Portales where he was arrested. The case was dropped, however, after a grand jury returned a no-bill against the youth.

The youth, it is claimed, gained entrance to the Eubanks' home through an unlocked door, and apparently left by the same means when his presence was discovered.

Bob Stovall, representing the Jaycees, asked for a soft drink dispenser at the mule memorial. The request was granted. Stovall also mentioned that the Jaycees here are supporting the council 100 percent in establishing a city park.

Police Chief Carl Neely was granted a two weeks' leave for medical treatment.

The council soon will approve a new equalization board; two members already have been named.

Good Seed Basic To Production Peak, Says PCG

It is an accepted fact that quality planting seed is the first limiting factor in the production of a high yield, good quality cotton crop. And a maximum effort to secure and plant the best possible seed is good advice to any cotton farmer.

But even the producer who hears and heeds this advice to the fullest may still end up planting inferior seed—simply because he doesn't have access to enough information about seed quality.

This conclusion came through loud and clear recently when Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., was to host a meeting of top-notch plant scientists to discuss ways and means of providing farmers with more complete and more meaningful information on seed quality.

It was agreed at the meeting that there is much more to the quality of planting seed than is revealed by standard germination tests. For one thing, the tests are run under optimum conditions at soil temperatures from 68 to 86 degrees—conditions seldom found on the Plains at planting time. If he is to plant early, get a good stand and take maximum advantage of a short growing season, the High Plains farmer needs to know what percentage of the seed will sprout at from 58 to 60 degrees, or at least as low as 65 degrees.

Also, the standard tests now in use reveal only how many seed sprout. They shed no light on the vigor of the seedlings that result from germination. There are not, of course, enough certified seed available to plant the entire High Plains crop. And Dr. Ray points out that since it is necessary for some farmers to save their own seed, extreme care should be taken to preserve seed quality and purity. First, he says, farmers planning to save their own seed should have a seed plot planted with the best and latest release of their preferred variety each year. Then, the necessary precautions should be taken to preserve varietal purity and quality throughout the growing season, harvesting, ginning and delinting.

Dr. Luther Bird of the Plant Sciences Department, Texas A & M, emphasizes the importance of producers knowing the history of the seed they plant as a guide to overall seed quality. The producer should know whether the seed he plants are from a fully mature and disease-free crop; whether they are kept dry in the field after maturity, during harvesting, in the trailer prior to ginning and in storage after ginning. If too much moisture is present at any time, deterioration of seed quality, loss of germination and seedling vigor will occur, Bird said.

He went on to say that good seed with at least 80 per cent germination and which have been properly handled can be planted when soil temperatures at seed depth are averaging from 58 to 60 degrees, while seed in which quality has been allowed to deteriorate may not produce a stand at less than 65 to 68 degrees soil temperature.

Taking part in the seed quality discussion, in addition to Spencer, Dr. Ray, Dr. Bird and Dr. Berry, were Dr. Earl Menton, plant pathologist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center; Dr. Arthur Young, head of the Agronomy Department at Texas Tech; Ed Dean, field service representative for Plains Cotton Growers, and Joe D. Unfred, cotton producer and member of the PCG Executive Committee.

The continuing economic pressure on the cotton producer makes it more necessary than ever before that he attain top yields of quality fiber from every acre planted. Growers who expect to do this are going to have to pay more attention to the quality of planting seed. And they are going to need better standards for measuring seed quality, especially when the complete seed history is not known.

The question is not only how many seed will sprout, but also how many will produce a seedling strong enough to survive the attack of soil borne organisms long enough to emerge from the ground.

It was pointed out by C. B. Spencer, agricultural representative for the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association, that seed with 80 per cent germination often give only 40 per cent emergence under the adverse conditions found on the Plains. And this is true even of seed bearing certified, registered, or select tags.

Dr. Bob Berry pointed out that certified seed must be produced from plants that are typical of the variety and must be free of weed seeds. And, by law, an inspector must certify that the seed are not carrying disease organisms which he is capable of detecting. He said these guarantees put the certified seed far above the average farmer-grown seed. But he went on to say that the fact that a seed lot is certified does not guarantee that the seed will be high quality from the standpoint of deterioration.

It was suggested by the scientists, and plans are being made by Plains Cotton Growers to set up a system of grading seed in seedling vigor categories to show the percentage of excellent, good, fair, poor and abnormal seedlings that result from germination. This could be done with plantings in plastic trays during winter months, and some such testing will be done prior to planting time in 1967. Also, germination tests at soil temperatures below the optimum range are planned.

Standards for seedling vigor and low temperature germination will take time to establish. But in the meantime there are things producers can look for which will help assure them of quality planting seed.

Of primary importance is varietal purity. This fact was clearly demonstrated in 1964 and 1965 by Dr. Levon Ray, agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center. Dr. Ray compared yields and net returns from farmer-saved seed and certified seed. In 1964 the certified seed produced an average of 116 pounds of lint cotton per acre more than farmer-grown seed. Results from the 1965 tests were not so spectacular, but there was still an average difference of 36 pounds lint per acre—far more than enough to justify the cost of pure seed.

Planning Board To Hear Larsen

James Jennings, chairman of the City Planning Commission, announced Wednesday that Kenneth W. Larsen will be present at the commission's regular meeting next Tuesday at 6 p.m. Larsen is a city planner from Albuquerque.

The members are expected to get better acquainted with Larsen who has been designated by city council as planning consultant for the city of Muleshoe.

Work is expected to begin shortly by the planning commission on a comprehensive plan for future development, considered to be one of the most basic requirements for orderly growth and development of a community.

Tax Decrease Soaring Living Costs 'Erase'

By Sen. John G. Tower
It is a matter of grave concern to me that continual federal deficit spending—the paying out of dollars the government does not have—has driven the cost of living ever upward. For a majority of Texas wage earners, 1965's income tax cuts have been more than offset by the ever-increasing cost of living and by increased Social Security taxes.

A normal Texas family will have to earn more money this year just to stay even with its purchasing power of 1963. If your family income was $6,000 back in 1963, you will have to earn $175 more this year just to maintain your 1963 standard of living.

Just a brief look around us shows us that our dollar which was worth 100 cents in 1955 is now an 85-cent dollar. It takes more dollars to buy the things we need.

In the last ten years our food dollar has dropped to 85 cents. Our rent dollar is now an 87-cent dollar. Our clothing dollar is now a 93-cent dollar. Our medical-care dollar is 73-cent dollar. Our home-building dollar is an 82-cent dollar. Our college-cost dollar is now a 76-cent dollar. Our car-repair dollar is now an 80-cent dollar. A loaf of bread costs 17 percent more. Bacon has jumped 61 percent. Milk costs 14 percent more.

TV-repair costs are up 17 percent. A man's winter suit costs 23 percent more. A pound of round steak has gone up 22 percent. A woman's cotton house dress costs 10 percent more. Wool rugs have gone up 13 percent. Laundry costs are 43 percent more. Doctor fees for a house visit are up an average of 38 percent. A semi-private hospital room has jumped 80 percent in cost.

In total, it now costs you $11.16 to buy what you could get for only $10 just six years ago.

These drastic increases in the overall cost of living did not happen automatically. They happened because of unwise governmental policies—policies that have substitute compulsion for freedom and thrown the free market out of kilter by attempting to substitute for it a federally-planned economy.

Most Americans look forward to progressive pay raises as they pursue their jobs from year to year, becoming more proficient and more productive. They expect—and quite rightly—to use those increased earnings to improve their standard of living; to buy things they need and want; and to send their children to college.

Certainly, they do not expect their federal government to rob from them by its unwise policies that improved standard of living. Yet this is precisely what inflation is doing.

Continued incorrect government policies are resulting in this steady and oppressive increase in the cost of living. Unwise farm policy is a major culprit. A federally-generated shortage of harvest workers left many vegetables rotting in the fields—with resulting higher prices to consumers.

A failure to balance the federal budget has caused the government to "create" the deficit dollars it wants to spend, with resulting inflation which cheapens the worth of every dollar. The federal government must attempt to live within its income—just as a family must do.

This totals $13,350 which is higher than the previous year.

Plaques were presented to several persons for their "outstanding work with United Fund last year," one going to the president, Mrs. White who headed the drive for two years.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to be trying to defend himself, his letter this week indicates, it's a job we'd never undertake.

Dear editor:
From time to time some people around Muleshoe have implied, implied thunder, have come right out and said that I'm lazy.

"Ole J. A., whoever he is, must be the laziest man in this part of Texas," I heard one man tell another in town one day while he was looking over a copy of The Journal, "You ever heard of anybody as far behind in his work as he seems to be?"

I now wish to state that some people just don't know the difference between an economist and a bum.

According to a front-page article I read in a copy of a newspaper President Johnson to ask big business to slow down and postpone studied the economic index and the cost of living and spiraling prices and decided that too fast expansion at this time would be inflationary, and many industrialists have agreed.

I am pleased to announce that I was years ahead of the economists.

Some people thought the reason I didn't build a new fence around this Johnson grass farm was that I was too lazy, whereas actually all the time I was fighting inflation.

I didn't have to wait for the economists to tell me that plunging into the job of putting a new roof on my house would be inflationary. In this modern, complex world, a man has got to know when to put the brakes on. You'd think the big industrialists would know this without having to be told.

Declining to jump on my tractor and plow up some unused ground isn't laziness, it's anti-inflationary. You're not going to catch me sending the inflationary spiral off the top of the chart and bringing economic collapse to the entire nation.

The next time you hear somebody say I'm lazy, ask him to get in touch with President Johnson.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

VERY CONSIDERATE SCORER
POWELL, Wyo. (AP)—A four-point play in basketball? No, it isn't impossible. Chris Kelley of Greybull High School did it.

Kelley, a sophomore, took the ball after a jump against Powell and dribbled in to score. But he went the wrong way and scored two points in Powell's basket. He was fouled after the shot. So Kelley hit two free throws on a one-on-one situation to complete the four-point play—two for Powell and two for Greybull.

Farmers Given Extension On Depletion Tax

Congressman Walter Rogers said farmers entitled to water depletion tax allowance for 1962 may protect their rights to tax refunds even though preparation of technical data has not been completed by the April 15 deadline.

The Congressman said he had consulted with officials of the Internal Revenue Service because many Panhandle-South Plains farmers had indicated they would not be able to obtain the information to support their claims by April 15.

"Taxpayers who believe they are entitled to depletion on water for 1962 should file protective claims for refund with the District Director of the Internal Revenue Service before April 15, 1966, estimating the amounts of depletion and tax refunds to which they are entitled," Congressman Rogers said.

Congressman Rogers said he had been assured by Internal Revenue Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen that "protective claims covering water depletion for 1962 filed on or before April 15, 1966, will be considered, pending the furnishing of the more exact information required."

South Plains College Rodeo Set April 21-23

Rodeo teams slated to participate include: Panhandle A.M., Oklahoma State, West Texas State University, Midwestern University, Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons, Sul Ross, New Mexico State, and Eastern New Mexico University.

South Plains College Rodeo Team will include David Hill.

Bull riders will be Whittenberg with Willard Deerman of El Paso, Don Lesley, Concord, Calif.; Jerry Long, Fort Sumner, N.M.; and Phil Brewer, Graham, featured in the bulldogging events. Beverly Eaton of Lamesa, the only girl on the team, will do barrel racing and goat tying.

First prize will range from $125 to $150 and belt buckle in each event. The high point cowboy will receive a tooled saddle and a saddle purse will go to the high point girl.

Admission to the rodeo will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students and children.

Four Rs Learned at Home Give Good Results in Class

COLLEGE STATION (Sp.) — Texas A&M University President Earl Rudder told Texas county home demonstration agents here recently that "we can expect good results with the '3 Rs' in the classroom if we have '4 Rs' in the home."

Rudder defined the 4 Rs as "respect, reason, responsibility and religion."

The A&M president addressed extension home economists taking part in the second annual "Family Life Education Workshop."

Another major speaker, John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, emphasized that each person is a product of a family in a society that is definitely family-oriented. "This nation's fundamental strength is derived from its family life, for nothing is more important than people," he said.

A Missouri family relations specialist, Arthur McArthur, with the University of Missouri extension division, emphasized that three major developmental tasks confront today's teenagers. He listed these tasks as developing a sense of identity, establishing a status of being independent from adults, and acquiring an understanding of the socially accepted roles of teens.

"There's considerably more decision-making for teens today than formerly, since there are no ascribed roles for youth. In primitive societies, young people have ascribed roles, which give them a sense of identity and security," McArthur said. Educators should serve as sounding boards for youth of their community, he emphasized.

Grandma's Advice For Zesty Living

FLAPDOODLE, TRUST AND OBEY. By Virginia Cary Hudson. Harper, $2.95.

In 1962 a resurrected collection of essays concocted long ago by a precocious 10-year-old girl had a great popularity. The book was called "O Ye Jigs & Juleps!"

This little book is from the same author. The switch is that Virginia grew up, married, had a daughter and finally a grand-daughter. Her grandmotherly let- ters to her daughter are re- sistance on laughing to keep from crying.

Mrs. Hudson was writing from the roominghouse she ran in Louisville. Her topics included the schoolteaching roomers and busybody brimming over with their romances, her helping church and hospital, her meeting with an old beau, the funeral of a year corn, it is such wholesome Sister Annie, her triumph in a court case, her sympathy for old living.

Texas Teachers Seek $500-Year Pay Raise

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN - Texas school teachers are planning a big push for another pay raise. This time it will be for a $500-a-year increase with a built-in adjustment to keep their salary level equal to the national average.

They will try to sell the 1967 Legislature on this plan - on the heels of a $100,000,000 raise voted them in 1965.

Legislative candidates already have been polled by the Texas State Teachers Association. More than half the 415 candidates responded to the TSTA questionnaire on who responded, three-fourths reportedly favor the salary plan which would move the teachers to the national average next year and set up machinery "to keep them there automatically without a biennial bloodletting legislative fight." Support was said to be almost identical for retirement and sick leave propositions.

TSTA's salary proposal calls for adjusting the base pay at the beginning of each biennium to insure that it remains at the nationwide average. This likely will mean increases in teacher pay every two years since the "average" will automatically rise with each Texas hike in pay.

Minimum salary for beginning teachers today, in Texas, is $4,104. Average is $5,950. Texas now ranks 29th in the nation in teacher pay. . . or four states below the average.

Gov. John Connally reminds that a blue ribbon study committee is at work on a long-range survey of school needs. He also points to possible need for overhauling of school finance formulas.

Connally is a firm believer in local districts financing a greater share of the cost of education. He remains uncommitted to any specific program, and cautiously observes that he must consider overall state needs in making recommendations that would necessarily require new taxes.

A 3 cent per pack increase in cigarette taxes took care of last year's teacher pay raise.

That's All For Now - There will be no more free-voter registration periods for Texas this year.

A three-judge federal court in Austin refused a U. S. Justice Department request to reopen registration during April 8-19 and August 22-October 8. Decision was made final, as was the February 9 order declaring the poll tax an unconstitutional voting requirement for future elections.

Acknowledging that the March 3-17 free sign-up period for 1966 elections, as provided by the new state registration law enacted last February, was "extremely short," the court nevertheless found it "afforded reasonable opportunities to register."

"The United States," proclaimed the judges, "has not demonstrated that this court should undertake to substitute its judgment for . . . legislative action."

More than 2,900,000 Texas adults now are registered to vote in the 1966 elections. This

Memorable People End In Horror

THE TELLING. By John Weston, McKay, $4.50.

Weston's second novel is a vivid, emotional and realistic tale that finally dissolves into gothic, tragic horror.

The scene is a town in the Mojave Desert, where a river and a railroad junction had created a place for people to work and sweat in the oppressive heat.

Its high school principal, Peter McCarron, a local product with a personal tragedy in his background, an ulcer in his stomach and a compulsion in his mind to spy upon his employees, was faced with the problem of finding teachers by mail order; only misfits and castoffs would be likely to come here to the desert.

He got four from the human scrapheap. Bill Dann, a product

On April 18th the Board will reach a decision on the role and scope of 22 state-supported colleges and universities.

Sadler Clears Park Stand-Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler denied allegations by U. S. Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall that he opposes creation of Guadalupe Mountain National Park.

Sadler said he favors the park but insists Texas must be able to retain mineral interest owned in some 45,000 acres. Added the commissioner: "I see no reason why the Department of Interior is unable to accept the fact that we could have a park and still permit Texas to retain her mineral rights for the benefit of the people of Texas."

Screwworms Again Threat - Recent discovery of several cases of screwworms in Tamaulipas and an area 30 miles south of Eagle Pass pose a threat to the Texas border regions from El Paso to Laredo.

"There were hot spots at Carrizo Springs and Uvalde last year," Dr. Ben Vale told members of the state Animal Health Commission, "and we are concerned with two more cases reported in Texas."

Dr. Vale said 23 Texas cases were reported in January, one in February and two in March. The last two were in the Hidalgo area.

SHORT SNORTS

An application has been filed for Mont Belvieu State Bank (Chambers County) with a capital of $60,000, a surplus of $60,000 and reserves of $30,000. Governor Connally has announced the approval of four projects under the Economic Opportunity Act for: Hidalgo County, $79,502 (including $44,339 for additional day care centers to be operated by Edinburg); Balmorhea, $10,386; Jefferson County, $91,762; and San Angelo, $13,800. Connally designated April as Bluebonnet Month in Texas, since the flower blooms annually in the latter part of March and all during April. Col. Homer Garrison Jr. announced promotion of Highway Patrolman Walter A. (Bob) Werner of Fredericksburg to Texas Ranger and assigned him to Navasota.

Downtown business districts are losing customers in 10 out of 11 leading retailing cities despite a shopping "boom," according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Draft Study Expanded - State Board of Education has ordered expansion of its study of why so many young Texans are rejected by the draft boards for medical reasons.

Study will be pushed by 28 workers in nine offices over the State.

Board in recent meeting here also authorized changes in vocational rehabilitation plans, increased available school fund aid from $80.65 per student to $83, and approved federally-financed coordination of migrant school programs in several states.

Special training programs for migrant school teachers will be operated at Texas A & I College in Kingsville and Pan American College in Edinburg.

College Programs Defended - Texas Southern University and East Texas State University urged the Coordinating Board of the State College and University System to let them retain their law school and doctor of philosophy programs.

includes the 635,600 signed up during the March period. About 2,000,000 adults have not qualified as voters.

As for the registration itself, Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. Stephen Pollak said the FBI found no evidence of racial discrimination during the 15-day period for free registration, and county tax collectors, who served as registrars, did a good job in the brief time allowed them.

Texas' Attorney General, Waggoner Carr, maintained that if the request for two additional registration periods had been granted, the next move would have been to require more than one day for elections.

Courts Speak - On May 11 the Court of Criminal Appeals will hear a motion for a new trial for Jack Ruby, who was convicted of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Ruby's attorneys are seeking to disqualify District Judge Joe Brown of Dallas on grounds he agreed to write a book about the celebrated trial in which Ruby was given the death penalty.

State Supreme Court says the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals must decide if $3,250 in damages against an Amarillo loan company is excessive. In the case in question the firm recovered money from a divorcee after a loan to her and her ex-husband already had been settled. High court found evidence to support the trial-jury finding of malice on the part of the company.

Appointments - Wales Madden, Amarillo attorney, is the new member of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education. He succeeds the late Kermit Kyche of Alvin. Committee is making a three-year study of school needs.

Connally also picked Dr. Sterling H. Pruitt Sr. of Fort Worth for the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners. He reappointed Dr. Harvey H. Kennedy of Longview and Dr. Walter H. Fischer of Temple to the same board.

Governor chose William H. Gardner, Austin newsman, to serve as the citizen member on the Committee for Restoration of the Flag of Santa Anna.

Named to the Texas Surplus Property Agency were Ed Riedel, Jess M. Irwin Jr. and C. O. Layne, all of Austin; the Rev. Edward Maher Jr. of Dallas; Bill Bitner of Centerville; C. A. Roberson of Odessa; Carl Parker of Sherman; Garland Ferguson of Union Grove; and Grady Hester of Terrell. This agency administers the transfer of federal surplus property to state agencies. Riedel has served as chairman for several years. Layne, Bitner and Roberson also have previous service.

House Speaker Ben Barnes announced these appointments:

Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon and Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock as members of the Committee on Agriculture for the Southern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments; Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview to the Committee on Economic Development for the Southern Regional Conference.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress to the Senate's standing committee on Interstate Cooperation.

Surface Pits Halted - Texas Railroad Commission has ordered the use of salt water surface pits for storage of oil field brines in Young County and part of Archer County to be stopped by September 1.

Included in its order is part of Archer County which comprises the Salt Creek Watershed.

Attorney General Speaks - Governor Connally's Committee on Aging may contract with religious institutions for performance of certain services under the state law implementing the federal Older Americans Act of 1965, says Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

In other recent opinions, Carr concluded:

Names of Texans who registered to vote free last month can be placed in jury service this year.

New Code of Criminal Procedure would not prevent prosecution for failure to appear in a traffic violation.

Responsibility for operation costs of Harris County Convalescent Ward now rests with Harris County Hospital District.

A new owner of a barber school or college cannot be required to bring the school up to minimum standards. He need only notify the State of the transfer. But the license or permit of the school may be revoked or suspended if the school violates the requirements of another section of the law.

A barber school or college changing to a new location must obtain the approval of the State Board of Barber Examiners on the building and the equipment located in that building.

A defendant who enters a plea of no contest and is declared guilty and fined, but doesn't receive a jail sentence and pays his fine and court costs, still is on probation until the probation is revoked. It is necessary for the court to revoke probation before a final judgment of guilty can be entered.

Di-Syston, applied at planting time, provides early-season thrips, aphid and mite control

Di-Syston controls pests that can cause stunted, crooked cotton plants... gives your crop an early, vigorous start without a set back from early-season pests. Di-Syston is taken up by the roots just like water... works from inside the plant where it is unaffected by weather. And, it can't harm beneficial insects... kills only those pests that feed on plant juices. It does not harm parasites and predators such as lady beetles, assassin bugs, big-eyed bugs, that help to control bollworm later in the season. Use Di-Syston in granular or liquid concentrate formulations or impregnated on fertilizer.

Will Split District Split the Voters? Voters, Where Are Them Thar Voters?

Editor's Note: Under a Wichita Falls dateline, The Sunday issue of The Dallas Morning News discussed state senatorial candidates' prospects in this sprawling 30th congressional district, which stretches from Wichita Falls to Farwell. Below is the article.

John Connally, Rogers, an insurance agent in Childress, will counter with the fact of his 14-year seniority in the senate. Ray, a farmer-stockman, is campaigning on his 16 1-2 years as administrative assistant to Congressman Mahon of Lubbock.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas - Across 300 miles of northwest Texas wheat, oil, and cattle country this election year the contest attracting the most attention is the 3-man race in the 30th Senatorial District.

Enough record to have anybody against him," Rogers told The Dallas News. "The real issue is seniority and who can do the most for the district."

The U. S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" ruling forced the Texas Senate to be redistricted on a strict population basis for the first time in history in 1965.

Rogers is taking time from his law practice to campaign for the $400 a month senate post because of "an enjoyment of public service and the opportunity to get better acquainted with the people of this area."

One result of the redistricting has been the combining of the 30th District, represented for 14 years by Andy Rogers, and 23rd District, represented since 1964 by Jack Hightower.

The resulting district encompasses 21 counties stretching from Wichita and Archer on the east to Parmer and Bailey at the New Mexico line on the west.

Rogers, Hightower and James Ray of Hale Center are contestants in the Democratic primary with no Republicans filed, making the winner of the May 7 primary the state senator from the newly designated 30th District.

Observers in Hale County, the second largest in the district, give Rogers little encouragement there despite the fact it was in his old district. "Andy hasn't given Hale County much since he's been in the Senate," one Democrat there claimed.

Some antagonism still remained because Rogers defeated Hale County Representative Harold LaFont in 1952 when the old 30th District was first formed.

"Andy was an underdog in every political race he ever tried but he's been in the House and Senate a total of 18 years," Childress Index publisher Tom Higley points out in downgrading the possibility of Rogers' defeat.

"His biggest asset is his unimpeachable honesty," Higley adds. Rogers has always had the backing of farmers' organizations in the area and with extensive help from them now he is expected to narrow the gap in the remaining weeks of the campaign.

James Ray is not expected to get enough votes to cause a runoff between the two incumbents, most observers agree. "He has been working in Washington for a number of years and has been back in the district only about a year. He would have to spend a lot of money to get acquainted," one Hale County Democrat predicted.

Auto Inspection Deadline Nears

A last minute rush is expected by all local vehicle inspection stations for the deadline for having vehicles inspected is next Friday, April 15.

Although people have had since September to get the job done, most tend to wait until the deadline nears, causing them to wait in line to get service.

Throughout Texas approximately 3/4 million vehicles are yet to be inspected. Law enforcement officials will, of course, begin handing out tickets for non-compliance with the Motor Vehicle Inspection law, which requires an annual safety inspection of vehicles, Saturday, April 16.

All people who have not had their vehicles inspected are urged to do so immediately.

entertainment for the people of this area as well as to help stimulate a center for a get-together once a month.

The Go-Go organization has many promotion ideas in mind for the summer, autumn and winter months," Bass said, and the group "already is making tentative plans for next Christmas' promotions."

THE FAMILY LAWYER Double Jeopardy To the athlete defeated in sport, the proverb says: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." But to the prosecutor defeated in court, the United States Constitution says just the opposite: "If at first you don't convict, you may not try, try again." For, if the prosecutor tried the same case again, he would be putting the accused person in "double jeopardy"—that is, he would be forcing him to face trial twice on the same charge. Why does the Constitution forbid double jeopardy? It is a matter of simple fairness. "The underlying idea," the Supreme Court once explained, "is that the State with all its resources and power should not be allowed to make repeated attempts to convict an individual for an alleged offense, thereby subjecting him to embarrassment, expense and ordeal and compelling him to live in a continuing state of anxiety and insecurity." Yet society, by giving up its second chance of winning a conviction, takes the risk of letting some real criminals go free. To prevent double jeopardy from providing an "easy out" for rascals,

S/S Garvin Long Garvin Long Route 1, Morton, Texas. 14s-4tp Rogers to Preside At 'Hot Oil' Act Hearing Tuesday WASHINGTON - Congressman Walter Rogers will preside as the House Subcommittee on Communications and Power holds a hearing April 19 on a bill Congressman Rogers introduced to free state governments from a restriction of the Connally "Hot Oil" Act.

"The Connally Act as it stands handicaps states as they seek to dispose of illegally-produced oil acquired by them in enforcing their laws and regulations," Congressman Rogers said. "The purpose of the amendment is to permit the shipment in interstate commerce of oil acquired by a State under its confiscation or other laws." The Connally Act prohibits shipment in interstate commerce of so-called "contraband oil," or oil produced in violation of State prohibition or other production regulations. The Rogers Bill would amend the definition of "contraband oil" as used in the Act to exclude oil the title to which is held by a State.

"At the time the Connally Act was enacted, there were a substantial number of markets within a State where oil could be sold for strictly intrastate distribution," Congressman Rogers said. "Under today's marketing system, it is next to impossible to sell oil within a State with the refined products used within the boundaries of that State," he said. "Thousands of barrels of 'hot oil' confiscated by the state of Texas have been in storage for a number of years because the state has not been able to make a legal disposal of it, the Congressman pointed out.

the law puts careful limits on the rule. Consider three examples: A mail fraud trial was called off because the judge became seriously ill; a murder trial was halted by the discovery that the defendant had smuggled a friend onto the jury; a forgery trial ended in deadlock when the jurors found themselves unable to agree on a verdict. In each of these cases a second trial was begun. Each time the defendant objected that he could not be tried again because of "double jeopardy."

But each time the objection was overruled. For in none of these situations had the basic question of guilt or innocence really been answered. Through no fault of the prosecution, the law's machinery had been stopped short, its task yet undone. In fairness to the accused, we do not ask him to face jeopardy twice. But in fairness to society, we do ask him to face it once. Society, too, is entitled to its "day in court."

Flick Of A Switch Can Win Chicago 4-H Trip

The 4-H Electric awards program now in its 31st year is for boys and girls interested in learning more about electrical energy, electronics and the repair and maintenance of electrical equipment.

Projects have changed to keep pace with technological advance, automation, wider use of electrical power controls, appliances and lighting in the home and on the farm says the Cooperative Extension Service.

This program supervised by the state and county 4-H staff, is offered to 4-H'ers between 9 and 19 years of age. Projects are carried out under the guidance of volunteer adult and junior 4-H leaders. Electric power suppliers also give a big asset to the program.

Next fall the 4-H'er having the most outstanding electric project in the state will be named a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as a guest of Westinghouse Electric program.

From about 50 state trip award winners, six will be singled out for national honors and $500 scholarships. The scholarships can be used for vocational courses, short courses, specialized training or for college education.

A survey of former 4-H Club members who worked on electric projects for several years revealed that skills and knowledge gained set the course for high education and a career. Preparation for future jobs and increase of capabilities are the main purposes of the project.

More information about joining 4-H and participating in the electric program can be obtained by contacting the county extension office.
