Folks say that figs will grow here - but the fruit never ripen. Well, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Davis, 1906 W. Ave H, have found a variety that WILL ripen. ## Area Chambers To Cooperate

If this West Texas area is to have industry - factories in particular - then West Texas will have to supply hundreds of workers, both skilled and unskilled.

This is the opinion of West Texas Chamber of Commerce who are combining in a campaign to locate workers. As of the moment, labor is scarce in this part of West Texas.

Bailey county, for example, has fewer than 1000 employees chamber figures reveal, while some 7000 operate their own businesses. Of course, the top-heavy employer situation is brought about because many own or lease farms, and the entire farm family is counted in the employer ranks.

The campaign to locate workers is being staged on a Panhandle-wide basis with the chambers of commerce in Panhandle towns conducting the survey. Surveys will be shared with the various chambers, Bob Janca, manager of the chamber here, said Wednesday.

Said the chamber manager: "According to existing labor availability reports, the Panhandle has a shortage of labor. The participating chambers are hoping to prove that sufficient numbers of persons interested in jobs who would be available for industrial employment will be found."

"We hope to come up with enough people to staff any new plant locating in the region," He explained that this is strictly a fact-finding survey, "with the results being used in an effort to attract industry to the area, and is not for a particular company."

The form being used for the present survey is a simple one. It asks merely the name, addresses, marital status, weight, height, employment, occupation, part time or full time work, schooling and age bracket. (See form in this issue.)

The ages, for instance, are by groups rather than specific.

Editorial Highway Week & Killer 84

As community hosts of State Highway 84-70's nine-mile stretch west of Muleshoe, can we, with other Texans, look during this Highway Week 1966 as simple a time to bask in accomplishments?

Benefits are derived from highways. They are to be considered in the light of Governor Connally's theme for this week: "Better Highways Save Lives . . . Time . . . Money."

Texas' 67,000-mile highway system is recognized as one of the world's finest. Bailey county cannot be proud of its nine-mile stretch.

Texas must continue to have the highways needed to save our lives, our time and our money. Public attention, as well as the state and county funds to build and maintain our Texas Highways must not be diverted, dispersed or depleted. As citizens of a state where fine highways are a tradition, we have a duty to see that our future highway needs are met. . . that tradition is upheld.

As citizens of Bailey County and Muleshoe community, we have a continuing responsibility to rid this county of that two-land road, built for traffic conditions of 1933 when a 20-foot, 10 inch road was adequate for this area's traffic. Palmer county acted in 1958, we did not.

Five years ago bonds were voted; work toward obtaining right-of-way started; surveys, condemnation, plans began. Lives, time and money could have been saved since 1961 had we had a new speeded-up and enforced system for acquiring land.

Look at Bailey county's summary during the first eight months of 1966. According to Texas Highway Patrol figures our county had 41 accidents - only six in other scattered areas are added to Killer 84's record of 35 accidents. Three persons have lost their lives in Bailey county - all on Killer 84 this year. Twenty out of 34 persons have been injured and an estimated property damage of $20,630 (compared with whole county's $43,895) has been racked up by this road since January 1.

By districts, in August's 5A rural monthly accident summary, Bailey county property damage rated eighth in our district. Only Bailey and Baylor counties listed two deaths; neighbor Lamb had none, even Lubbock had only one death last month; although Lubbock had 47, Lamb 18 and Bailey nine total highway accidents. Thus we say "Killer 84" as the records and traffic show.

Now this county has finished its right-of-way jobs. State engineers are to complete specifications; plans are to be submitted to state road department (who mentioned this project in 1958) and the national road program, so that this project will be included in 1967's state building schedule.

As they save lives and time, better highways can also make money. Highways and city streets are important to our Muleshoe area because of their important influence on or commercial and residential development, our industrial expansion, our recreational and cultural progress and urban renewal.

This Highway Week 1966 let us resolve to continue our efforts in making this state, this county and this town a safer - and more attractive - place to live and visit.

Our goal is to help tourist and resident, neighbor and associate - to save "life . . . time . . . money" on our Texas highways.

Bruised Mules to Meet Bruised Olton Mustangs in Grid Warfare

Muleshoe and Olton--both outfits smarting from licks last Friday--will battle at Olton tomorrow night, and from all indications, it will be a considerable battle.

The Mules lost to Littlefield, 21-3, and Olton Mustangs were trampled by Hereford Whitefaces 47-8. Neither game was a conference affair. Tomorrow night's game at Olton also will be a non-conference setto.

Said the Hereford Brand this week in commenting about the Whiteface-Mustang game: "The second straight win of the season was an easy one for the aroused Herd, it piled up 29 first downs and gained 435 yards of which 339 yards were on the ground. Almost six yards was averaged in gain for each Hereford play."

"With Phillip Cain at the half, the Herd scored the second time they got the ball, taking over on their own 24 and driving the 74 yards in 11 plays for the six points."

The Brand story said: "A stampeding herd of Hereford Whitefaces led by Quarterback Phillip Cain and Halfback Bill Frank, completely dominated the Olton Mustangs before 3000 jubilant fans here Friday night...."

Tickets to the Olton-Muleshoe game will be available Olton has an average weight of 165 pounds for its starting lineup, says the Olton Enterprise.

Picking the starters, the Enterprise gave the following names:

OFFENSE--Joe Fincher and Kenneth Moss at ends, Steve Burleson and Mike Crowder at tackles, Tony George and Jim Schreier at guards and Jason Latimer at center, Charles A. McLain will be at quarterback, Steve Spain and DALE DeBerry at halves and Benny Akin at fullback.

defense--Joe Fincher and Burleson at ends, Eddie Hooper and Schreier at tackles, Jim Smith at middle guard, Ricky Smith and Huckabee at inside linebackers, Kenneth Johnson and Albert Key at cornerbacks, Spain at half and McLain at safety.

Singled out for their outstanding play against Morton were five Olton gridders who were given "stallion" and "head-hunter" awards under Coach Beck's awards system.

Offensive winners of stallions were McLain, five excellent runs; DeBerry, two blocking efforts beyond his initial assignments; Burleson, highest film grade; and Schreier, five excellent blocks.

Defensive winners were Schreier, who was in on 19 tackles in the Morton game; and Johnson, highest defensive film grade.

Burleson and Johnson were named "Mustangs of the Week." The week's "Fireballs," youngsters who showed the most hustle in workouts each day, were Joe Dale Chitwood, Ronnie Yandell and Frankie Buckner. Chitwood and Yandell are freshmen, and Buckner a member of the junior varsity.

13-Year-Old Lad Wins Grid Prize

A 13-year-old lad, a freshman in high school and the son of a former coach, took the top honors in this week's Journal football contest with only one miss and a close guess on the out-come of the Muleshoe-Littlefield game.

He's Bucky Taylor, 201 E. Birch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor. His father is now principal of DeShazo Elementary school.

Getting second place money this week was Earl Richards, 605 E. Austin. He also missed only 1 winner, but he was a bit farther off on the Muleshoe-Littlefield score than was Bucky.

Bucky said Littlefield would score 18 and Muleshoe 7. Richards said the score would be 28-0 in favor of the Littlefield outfit. The actual score was 21-3. Thus Bucky was off 7 points, Richards, 10 points.

The contest continues this See 13-YEAR-OLD on Page 6

In further explaining the survey, Janca said; It is pointed out that the sponsoring organizations are interested in receiving replies from people who might presently be employed but looking for other opportunities, as well as those who are not employed.

He said that "while the chambers are primarily interested in the number of people who would be available for employment, they also are interested in the individual status. This is the only way they could be contacted by any company desiring to locate in the area. The names of all responding persons will be kept confidential."

He explained that it will be necessary to make the survey every year, since such information quickly becomes outdated.

He also pointed out that the forms are appearing in the Journals and forms also are available at the chamber of commerce office.

Nebraska Record Makes Devaney No. 1 Among College Coaches

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Bob Devaney, the 50-year-old University of Nebraska football coach with the pleasant smile, either is getting smarter or his teams are getting better.

It's probably a combination of both because in the last three years his Cornhuskers have lost only two regular season games. And as Nebraska heads for its fourth straight Big Eight title, Coach Devaney, a product of Little Alma, Mich., College, has a fantastic record.

Of the active major college coaches whose football teams have turned in 50 or more victories, Devaney is the leader with a remarkable .820, the result of 73 victories against 16 setbacks in nine years as a head coach.

In 1961, the year before Devaney moved from Wyoming, Nebraska had won only three games, lost six and tied one. With Devaney on the scene Nebraska hasn't lost six games in the last four years, unless you count his team's last two bowl appearances.

The Scarlet and Cream has a 36-6-0 (.857) record under

(The games are not counted in percentage table.)

Devaney and only once did his Cornhuskers suffer a trouncing. That was in 1962, his first year, when Oklahoma piled it on, 34-6. Nebraska was 8-2 that year, also losing to Missouri, 16-7.

In 1963 Nebraska was 9-1, plus a 13-7 Orange Bowl victory over Auburn. The Cornhuskers' only defeat was a 17-13 thriller to the Air Force. In 1964 the team was 9-1 again, losing to Oklahoma 17-7, then bowing to Arkansas, 10-7 in the Cotton Bowl.

Last season Nebraska won all 10 regular season games but bowed to Alabama, ranked No. 1 by the football writers, 39-28, in the Orange Bowl.

Devaney put Wyoming football across in his five years there. His teams won or shared four Skyline Conference titles. Now he has made Nebraska one of the nation's football powers.

Johnny Vaught, a standout guard and captain of the 1932

Texas Christian team, is another perennial winner. In 19 years as a head coach—all at Mississippi—Vaught shows a winning percentage of .784. His teams have won 149, lost 41 and tied 10.

Vaught has coached some great athletes at Ole Miss, including Charley Connerly, Barney Poole and Jake Gibbs, who turned to baseball and now catches for the New York Yankees.

Dan Devine, Missouri's youthful looking coach, ranks third on the list of active winners with a .778 mark. In 11 years, eight at Missouri and three at Arizona State, his teams have compiled a record of 84-24-7, including a thrilling 20-18 success against Florida in last January's Sugar Bowl game.

HALAS ON SAYERS
CHICAGO (AP) — "You can't expect him to have another year like last year," says Chicago Bear Coach George Halas when talking about runner Gale Sayers.

"He's a great back (a record 22 touchdowns as a rookie), but the National Football League teams will rig special defenses for him. In training camp we are working to take advantage of these special defenses."

Halas sees one advantage when rivals concentrate on one man.

"When teams do that," says Halas, "they leave themselves more vulnerable."

Foreign Farm Experts Study Area Sorghum

Grain trade and government officials from three nations will converge on the High Plains this week to look over the rapidly maturing grain sorghum crop with an eye toward larger use of it in their own countries. The visits designed to promote the further use of United States grain sorghum is a regular part of the foreign market development program of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association through its membership in the U.S. Feed Grains Council. Similar visits and programs in the past have helped push the exports of United States grain sorghum from 22 million bushels in 1956 when such work was started to 235 million bushels this year.

Dr. Norman Comben, Director of the U.S. Feed Grains Council program in England and Ireland was in the area Sunday through Wednesday. His principal interest is related to the industrial use of grain sorghum particularly as a source of starch. About 70% of the grain sorghum kernel is made up of starch and is broken down into component parts by the wet milling process such as now used by one mill in Corpus Christi and which will be used in the planned new sorghum mill at Dimmitt, Mrs. Comben accompanied her husband.

A four-man German feed grain team arrived Tuesday and will be in the area through Friday where several cooperative and independent grain companies and seed companies for related industries will assist Grain Sorghum Producers Association in hosting functions. The principal interest of the German group will be to study grain sorghum processing methods for the seed industry and see its utilization in area commercial feedlots. Already this year, Germany has purchased over 10 million bushels of United States' grain sorghum for use in their own programs of livestock feeding. Members of the German team are: Dr. Rudolf Stoehr, Agricultural Department of Alfred C. Toefer Company, and agricultural merchandising firm; Harald

Hansen, executive officer of the Hamburg Grain Brokers Association; Alfred Strothe, publisher of an agricultural business magazine; Dr. Klaus Werner, director for Germany, U.S. Feed Grains Council.

In the area through Thursday will be Soto Clastaris, director for Greece of the U.S. Feed Grains Council. GSPA since 1959 has been promoting grain sorghum use in Greece through the Council. Clastaris just recently joined the council staff as director and will be gaining information in the area market development work for sorghum in future Greek programs.

Yarborough Seeks Trans-Pecos Mountain Park

By Sen. Ralph Yarborough

In this time when civilization is rapidly destroying forests, poisoning streams and rivers and driving our nation's wildlife into extinction, forest and wildlife areas need to be set aside as a refuge from the clutter and clamor of cities. I'm happy to report progress is being made in establishing just such a national park in the Guadalupe Mountains of Texas.

My bill to set aside these high and rugged mountains of the Trans-Pecos region was first introduced in 1963. This year, Congressman Richard White of El Paso has led a successful fight in winning House approval of a new version of this bill (H. R. 698).

Just recently, the Parks subcommittee of the Senate Interior Committee held the second hearings this year in Congress on the Guadalupe Mountains National Parks. I have long been an advocate of such a bill, and it was my privilege to once again speaking in favor of both H.R. 698 and my own bill (S. 295). It is hoped that final Senate action on this bill co-authored with Congressman White for Guadalupe National Park will be taken this year.

Our national park system is designed to preserve and to protect for future generations some of the remaining wilderness of our country.

The primitive beauty of the Guadalupe Mountains offers a perfect setting for a national park. This is why I have not ceased to urge such action since 1963, when the Advisory Board on National Parks first recommended it.

That historical peak, El Capitan, is part of this rugged Guadalupe Mountain range. It pushes up from the rocky plains to make an 8,200-foot high landmark that was a guide for explorers and roving bands of Indians centuries ago.

The highest point in Texas is the tip soaring Guadalupe

Peak, which reaches 8,751 feet into those sun-drenched skies above this scenic country.

Too few Texans know of this unspoiled region that is screened from casual view by the Guadalupe Mountains.

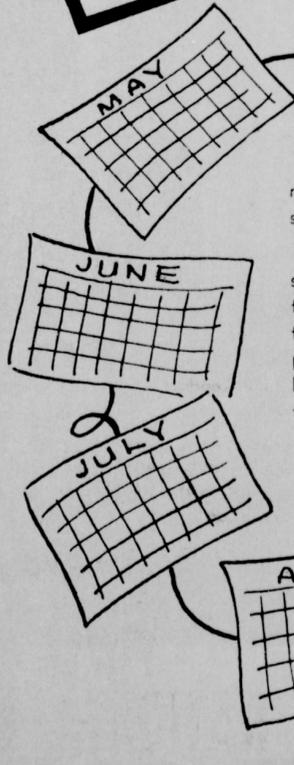

But here, highlands covered with Ponderosa pine in sharp contrast to the dusty plains. McKittrick's Canyon carves through the mountains to open up a paradise where wild birds, deer and elk drink from clear springs in a 6,000-acre haven hidden away in the mountains.

Texas boasts many natural wonders, such as this. But few are more worthy of preservation for public use.

As your Senator, I have always worked hard for such conservation. Padre Island National Seashore became a fact only after 4 1/2 years of effort. Guadalupe Mountains National Park may become a reality before three full years have passed since I first proposed it.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

Vash Young and the 52 PHONE CALLS

In his book, "The Go Giver", Vash Young tells of making a telephone call to one prospect for 52 consecutive weeks before he got results.

Vash Young is one of the all time great insurance salesmen. He used tact, diplomacy, intelligent presentation and persistency. In this particular instance he telephoned a prospect for an appointment. The prospect put him off until the next week. And then he put him off another week and another and another until the telephone calls got to be sort of a game.

Vash Young kept right on calling every week without ever getting an appointment. On the 52nd call he was startled when the prospect told him of another man who wanted to buy a substantial amount of insurance. Vash Young followed the lead and took an order for the largest policy he had ever sold.

If Vash Young had given up after the second or third call he would never have sold the big order. And so it is with newspaper advertising. It takes more than one or two "calls" to the potential customers to get the best results. It is the consistent, persistent advertiser who eventually gets the "big order."

Moisture of Cotton Held in Trailer Should be Uniform, Expert Points Out

MEMPHIS—Keeping seed cotton moisture uniform in the trailer helps to preserve cotton quality.

A trailer load of cotton containing approximately the same moisture content throughout can be ginned to maintain staple length, keep short fiber content low, give full bale weight, higher dollar value, and greater end use value, the National Cotton Council points out.

To protect quality and insure profits, cotton should be harvested when lint moisture is 8 per cent or less, or when seed cotton moisture is 10 per cent or less. If it becomes necessary to pick when moisture conditions are less than optimum, cottons which differ appreciably in moisture and trash content should be placed in separate trailers and the ginner notified. Mixed batches of seed cotton with highly variable amounts of moisture in the same trailer can cause serious trouble. If the ginner sets his equipment to gin the cotton with the higher moisture content, part will be overried, causing fiber damage, shorter staple, and weight loss. If cotton is ginned to accommodate the low moisture part will be underried, causing inefficient cleaning and lower grades, rough preparation, and possibly choke-ups. With way the producer loses money, and the spinner loses processing efficiency and product quality.

It is impossible for the ginner to do his job properly if there is a wide variation in moisture content in the same trailer load, the Council concludes. Specific recommendations tailored to local conditions and practices may be obtained from Extension Services and USDA ginning laboratories.

Social Security Q's and A's

Q. When a person has doctor bills is there a time limit to file a claim for reimbursement under Medicare?
A. To be effective, a request for payment must be submitted by the last day of the calendar year following the year the expenses were incurred. For example, doctor bills for the year of 1966 must be paid and a claim for reimbursement filed prior to January 1, 1968.

 Ramage came in the past weekend after enrolling at WTSU.
 The boys gave a partial description of what is like enrolling at the University at Canyon. The most important thing it seemed was being on time for every event. The boys stood in line for various reasons, to get books, to pay fees and etc., only to find out they would have to return the next day as the window went down just before they were next, they said. They didn't mind this so badly as to have the window closed before they got to eat. The boys carried an alarm clock back to college with them.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK--Kenneth Holum, Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Department of Interior for Water and Power, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., September 21.

The meeting will be held in the KoKo Palace, 5201 Avenue Q, Lubbock, beginning at 10 a.m. Donald A. Johnson, executive vice president of PCG has issued a blanket invitation to all cotton producers, ginners and other cotton-related businessmen. Lunch will be served at noon.

Holum is one of the most knowledgeable people in the U.S. on the subject of surface water, of its distribution, and current plans for its redistribution from surplus areas to water-short areas such as the High Plains.

He will direct his remarks specifically at water for irrigation purposes, and is expected to shed some light on when, and from where, supplemental irrigation water might be available to the High Plains.

Dr. Grover E. Murray, new president of Texas Technological College, is also scheduled to speak. He will outline and explain the significance of his plan to make Texas Tech the world center for higher education and research on "arid and semiarid lands."

As of 1964, the High Plains had 5.75 million acres under irrigation, and the total is expected to peak at near 6 million acres about 1980. But, hydrologists predict that by the year 2020, slightly less than 2.2 million acres can be irrigated from existing supplies of water.

For this reason Johnson feels that one of the prime responsibilities of Plains Cotton Growers is fully to investigate every possibility of securing supplemental water for irrigation. "And having these people on the program for our annual meeting is one step toward learning all we can about where surplus water is available and how it can be brought to this area," Johnson said. He feels that what these two speakers have to say will be highly interesting to the PCG membership, and is urging a large attendance.

He pointed out that the PCG water committee, chaired by Joe B. Pate Jr., of Lubbock, for the past several months has been studying the proposed "Texas Water Plan" and working closely with others in an effort to get some of our own state's surplus surface water for West Texas.

"But at best the available surplus water in Texas might be sufficient to maintain our current level of irrigation," Johnson said, "and we are striving toward the development of our full irrigated potential, somewhere in the neighborhood of 9 million acres. And to do this we must look to out-of-state sources for additional water."

The annual meeting will also include the regular report on past, present, and future PCG activities. County directors, elected previously in meetings throughout the 23-county area, will be certified by the membership. PCG is governed by two directors from each county, one a producer and the other a businessman.

All-cotton door prizes will be given and there will be two grand prizes, one each to a ginner and a cotton producer. The grand prize will consist of an expense paid trip to the Texas Cotton Ginners Convention in Dallas, usually held in April.

Johnson said he hoped to complete the meeting by around 2 p.m.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is out of his field this week, but that's his problem.

Dear Editor:
Since a man can't spend all his thinking time thinking about international problems, and since every newspaper I've picked up out here lately has been devoting more and more space to the new football season, from high school through college to the professionals, I have returned to a problem I've been working on for several years now.

It is: how can football be arranged so, after a game, everybody on both sides comes away happy? Like it is now, out of the thousands of games played every weekend, 50 percent of the people always leave the stadium sad, except in a case of a tie. No game, like no political, can last if it can't make more than half the people happy.

My friends in town who are experts on the game say it can't be done, but there's a way for both sides to win, but I can't imagine a Great Society where only half the people come away from any event week after week happy. Who wants to settle for just 50 percent of a Great Society?

Therefore I have devoted considerable thought to this problem the last few days and while I haven't quite worked out a system where all unhappiness will be eliminated, I have cut it down to only 10 percent.

Like it is now, the average team plays 10 games, one a week for 10 weeks, with 50 percent of the fans being saddened every week. I can cut this to 10 percent.

It's simple. Don't have any winners or losers every week. Wait till the end of the season. Meanwhile keep running scores. At the end of the 10 weeks, add up the scores, and the team with the most total points wins. All the tears are thus put in one bucket. Not scattered out over the whole season. If some team beats you this week by 6 points, you figure on beating the next team by 12, and thus getting back in the running. You can see how this will improve scoring.

I am glad to make this contribution, and will now devote my thoughts to other problems. As a matter of fact, I have set-
