Carter facing task of fulfilling oil vows

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is home from the Bonn economic summit meeting, where he promised to reduce U.S. oil consumption. Now he faces the difficult task of getting Congress to help him make good on that yow

After two days of meetings with the leaders of six other major, non-communist industrial nations in Bonn, West Germany, Carter told reporters: "Each one of us was cautious not to promise things we could not subsequently deliver." Carter will have no trouble fulfilling one part of his promise, raising U.S. oil prices, but the other part - a cutback in U.S. oil imports — may be a lot tougher to achieve.

The president said in Bonn that to help dampen oil consumption by Americans, he would increase the price of domestically produced oil now an average of $8.99 a barrel — to the world market level, about $13.50 a barrel, by the end of 1980.

Actually, Carter can achieve that goal, and sooner than promised, by

Under legislation Congress passed after the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo, price controls on domestic oil automatically will expire in May 1979, and prices would rise to world levels. The result would be a seven-cent boost in retail gasoline prices.

But in curbing oil imports, the president will have a fight on his hands, no matter how he goes about it.

Carter's proposal to reduce consumption by imposing a tax on domestic crude oil, thus making it competitive in price with imported oil, is in deep trouble in Congress. Observers say that in an election year, and with Proposition 13 pressures mounting among the voters against higher taxes, it would take a miracle to get a crude oil tax through

The same pressures would work against any attempt by Carter to achieve the same results by imposing a quota or fee on oil imports, which he can do without permission from Con-

Even before Carter went to Bonn, the Senate voted to block imposition of an oil import fee, and there is strong support for such a move in the House

If he tries to slap a quota on oil imports, Carter risks the threat of a legislative ban against that step, with especially heavy backing from East Coast senators and Republicans. Congressional leaders in the 15month fight over Carter's energy program had no comment on the president's commitments at the summit. Virtually only two new elements emerged from the summit talks: -Agreement to cooperate in combating terrorism, especially airline hijacking, by threatening to cut off commercial air service to countries that aid hijackers.

-Agreement among the seven to coordinate their economic policies across the board to mutually reinforce each other's efforts. "Their total effect should be more than the sum of their parts," said the final communique of the seven leaders.

Carter said the summit's strong statement on air piracy was "in itself worth the entire preparation and conduct of the summit.

Jury hears former Ector inmate

By MARK VOGLER

Rocke Flannigan, a former jail inmate who claims he witnessed Ector lawmen physically abuse and harass Larry Lozano, reportedly told a federal grand jury in Midland Monday that Ector County District Attorney John Green "misrepresented" his testimony during an April coroner's inquest. The former cellmate of Lozano's spent about a week with the victim before Lozano died in the Ector County jail on the night of Jan. 22. He said Monday he was "keeping my original story" that Ector Sheriff Department deputies visited Lozano's cell to jeer and torment Lozano up until the time of his death

Green today denied Flannigan's allegations.

Flannigan said Green had submitted to the inquest as evidence a selection from a memorandum Green said was a sworn statement from Flannigan. Flannigan said Monday the statement entered by Green at the inquest indicated he (Flannigan) had not heard anyone in the jailhouse threaten or mistreat Lozano. But federal grand jurors Monday heard testimony from the witness that Green's inquest presentation was erroneous.

Green said today the entire transcript of Flannigan's statement. taken before a court reporter, was submitted to the inquest jury.

Flannigan never testified in person at the inquest in Odessa, although he was subpoenaed as a witness. He testified before the federal grand jury for nearly 30 minutes Monday after receiving a last-minute subpoena.

Flannigan maintained Monday that the coroner's inquest only heard part of his original statement, which he said was represented at the inquest to mean the opposite of what he initially told investigators.

In a telephone interview today Green said Flannigan is "trying to get back at law enforcement officials' because of Flannigan's indictment on charges of delivery of marijuana. That charge still is pending.

The district attorney said Flannigan was not called to testify in person because he "is not a material witness." Green said today that Flannigan was not present in Ector County Jail the night Lozano died. Flannigan's allegations concern alleged mistreatment before the night of Lozano's death.

Further, Green said, Flannigan could not know what was introduced into evidence at the inquest because which prevents potential witnesses from hearing the testimony of others. (A transcript of the inquest earlier was placed on record for public inspection in the Ector County Court-

Flannigan and another celimate of Lozano's had made allegations immediately after Lozano's death about deputies inflicting physical abuse on Lozano. The allegations came during a taped interview with reporters in January. A copy of that tape later was turned over to an investigator of the state attorney general's office, several weeks before the inquest.

The two inmates said during the taped interview that they had personally witnessed an incident during a contraband search when a law enforcement official, who was involved in an earlier scuffle with the prisoner, punched Lozano in the groin.

Flannigan reportedly named the deputy for members of the grand jury

Tight security prevailed on the second floor of the federal district courthouse in Midland Monday as the grand jury reportedly interviewed six witnesses. The lineup included Flannigan, former Ector County Constable Leonard Garcia and Connie Lozano, Lozano's mother

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd and his staff would not allow members of the news media on the second floor. Federal grand jury proceedings are not open to the public. Boyd declined to reveal which or how many witnesses appeared during Monday's session, and Boyd had no statemennt for a reporter when he exited the building shortly before 7 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Lozano met with the grand jury for more than an hour Monday, telling them her version of how local Mental Health-Mental Retardation officials and members of the Ector County Sheriff's Department deliberately tried to block attempts to have Lozano transferred from the Ector jail to an institution for psychiatric treatment. She said she had signed papers for her son's commitment on Jan. 13, during the first of three visits she made to the jail. But the sheriff's department later told her that unless the family could come up with the bond money, Lozano would have to stay in jail, she added.

Sheriff Faught has said that his department had made attempts to get the man transferred. But the inmate remained in the jail for 12 days before his death. For 11 of those days, he was allowed to mix with other inmates.

Mrs. Lozano reportedly told the grand jury that the sheriff's department was uncooperative during the three visits she made to the jail

Sewage facility in Midland County pushed by Odessa council's action

By LINDA HILL

ODESSA — Construction of a sew age treatment plant in southwest Midland County may be the result of action Monday by the Odessa City Council

However, land has not been ac quired yet for the facility.

Odessa city councilmen authorized staff members to prepare documents necessary to call an election on $12 million in proposed bonds for four

The four proposals under consideration by the council involve $4 million in revenue bonds to implement a waste water treatment plan, $2 million in revenue bonds to construct a ground storage tank and pump system to supply water to far-north Odessa, $5.7 million in general obligation bonds for a new police-courts facility and $300,000 general obligation bonds for a fire and emergency medical service sub-station, City Manager Kerry Sweatt said today.

The waste water treatment plant to be built in Midland County has been the subject of controversy between the city of Odessa and Midland County, because the plan involves sending treated effluent down Monahans Draw in Midland County

The Midland County Commissioners Court in August opposed Odessa's application to the Texas Water Quality Board to use the draw as a means of disposing of the effluent. As approved by the board, the permit, which was granted Aug. 31, allows Odessa to discharge an average of 5.22 million gallons a day from the proposed plant. It also allows an increase in discharge from the existing treatment plant, scheduled to be improved with bond issue funds, from approximately 6 million gallons a day to 9.8 million.

Midland County officials unsuc cessfully argued before the board that the increased discharge will be a burden to Midland County landowners and deprive them of the use of portions of their land.

Midland area sets heat, power usage records

Midlanders suffering from the effects of a non-tropical heat wave found temperatures still more intense

A new record high was set Monday as the mercury topped the 103 mark at 5 p.m., making it the hottest July 17 since records have been kept. The old record was 100 degrees in

As the temperature has increased, so has consumption of electricity, with a new peak load record set Monday for the Western Division, according to Winston Barclay with Texas Electric Service Co. The Western Division, which includes Midland, Odessa, Stanton, Monahans and Crane, and extends down to Grandfalls, hit a peak of 856 megawatts. Last year's peak was 774 megawatts recorded in the middle of August.

Barclay said If the area including Lamesa and Big Spring is added to the Western Division, Barclay said, another record peak load was set Monday. Electricity use in that area hit 1.177 megawatts Monday, compared to the record 1.122 set last year in 'The consumption is around 15 to 17 percent higher than last year," Barclay said. Despite the peak loads, he said, the plants still have reserve capacity, and he does not anticipate any problems with the additional load re-

While residents apparently have been staying indoors under the constantly-running air conditioner, they also have been using more water. John Lowe, director of city utilities, said the city has been pumping a record amount of water all during

"Our peak day last year was 26.1 million gallons," Lowe said. "For the first 17 days in July, our average is 26.4 million gallons, making our average now in excess of our maximum last year."

While Monday's high temperature set a record, water consumption did not. Only 28.46 million gallons were pumped to Midland homes. The highest volume for the year so far is 31.04 million gallons pumped on July 12. "I can't see how the people can afford to pay for what they're buying," Lowe quipped. "We're pumping an awful lot of water."

He added that he foresees no water shortage in Midland, Last summer and this summer are unusual for Midland, he said. The five to seven years prior to that usually had one cool month of the four hot ones ranging from June through September. "I'm just ready for it to rain," Lowe

Despite the searing heat, the city Parks and Recreation Department said Alamo Pool is the only pool which has shown a slight increase in the number of swimmers.

Another hot day should be in store for Midlanders Wednesday, the weatherman said The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport is predicting a high around 103 degrees with the low tonight expected to be in the low 70s.

The record low for today was 62 degrees set in 1955, much cooler than the 76 degrees Midlanders experienced today.

But Midland was not the only Texas town sizzling in the heat.

Temperatures soared past 100 degrees for the 16th day in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, and the death toll blamed on the heat wave rose to at least 21, health officials said.

Countless others have been treated or hospitalized because of the intense heat. At least 16 people had been admitted to Dallas and Fort Worth hospitals. Four were listed in critical condition Monday night.

Other cities around the stricken area reported isolated cases of heat exhaustion, but no fatalities.

But in Dallas Monday, heat victims continued to check in at hospital emergency rooms, some still suffering from the city's record-high of 107

Two deaths were listed in Dallas Monday, bringing the total here to 14. Fort Worth accounted for the other

"We've been watching very closely and keeping in touch with the hospitals, and we're thinking it's going to be the worst we've ever seen if things continue the way they're going," said the Dallas County health director, Dr. Allen Fain.

Tony Badger, an investigator with the Dallas County Medical Examiner's Office, said, "The heat seems to be hitting mostly the older folks." At least 10 of the victims were over

65. Nine of Dallas' deaths occurred between Saturday and Monday. The others died within the last two "These are people who get sneaked up on," Fain said. "The elderly are highly vulnerable right now and they

"Uncle Joe" Stoeger, who apparently earned the respect of the town folks, became the town's postmaster even though the westernized English language never replaced his native German. So, his oldest son John ran the post office. Frank Stoeger remembers that.

He also remembers his father's rej utation as an expert leather craftsman. He did some saddle and boot work for some of the more well-fixed people over at Midland. And, too, he recalls his father's raising of prized registered Hereford cattle, especially buils. After he left the ranch, Frank Stoeger worked at a slaughter house near the faded community of Germania. He also operated a "filling station. But it was talk about the slaughtering and butching of cattle which, seemingly more than anything else, fascinated him. He seemed almost ready to raise himself with his trusty walking cane and show how it was

House moves on missing 1978 property tax reform bill

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - It's full steam ahead on the Peveto "Property Tax Reform Bill of 1978," even though Gov. Dolph Briscoe hasn't submitted it to the special legislative session.

Only a handful - probably not more than five or six - representatives voiced objection Monday to suspending rules so the House Ways and Means Committee can open hearings on the bill Wednesday.

The contrast was marked between that action and the successful efforts by a House minority last week to stymie hurry-up action on constitutional amendments sought by Bri-

Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, smilingly told reporters that while he had received no word from Briscoe, his tax uniformity bill - with a new look - was definitely in the governor's thoughts.

Mrs. Bill Slattery said she and her husband had tried to buy the land, but were told it could only be used for building houses.

Mrs. Bohannan was not present to give her reasons for wanting the change, and the Commission postponed a final decision until she can be at the next meeting.

Foreign ministers agree Mideast gap 'very wide'

By MARCUS ELIASON

LEEDS CASTLE, England (AP) -Egyptian and Israeli foreign ministers opened a two-day meeting in this castle southeast of London today, but after 3½ hours of negotiations the only apparent agreement was that the gap between their positions on Mideast peace was "very wide."

Asked if there were any areas of agreement between Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Mohammed Ibrahim Kamel of Egypt, Egyptian spokesman Hamdi Nada said: "We are still waiting for a more positive response to our initiatives and proposals."

Sounding only slightly more optimistic, Israeli spokesman Naftali Lavie said that since the last negotiating session in Jerusalem in January, "We have got much nearer to understanding each other, the problems being presented by the other

But Nada quickly rejoined: "I don't think there is anything new" in Israel's proposal.

U.S. spokesman Hodding Carter, speaking for Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance who chaired the meeting, said the aim of the talks is "to identify areas of agreement and then move into other areas."

Reliable reports said Vance's assistant, Mideast troubleshooter Alfred Atherton, would shuttle between Egypt and Israel to follow up the talks here. But Carter declined to confirm Atherton's travel plans.

There even seemed to be disagreement over whether the parties were negotiating directly. Lavie said these were face to face negotiations. Nada saw them as indirect talks through

A top U.S. official said before the day's discussions began at Leeds Castle 45 miles southeast of London that no breakthroughs were expected.

"It's a good thing that the parties are beginning to talk directly to each other again," Vance told reporters before they sat down at an oval table

The Americans said the Egyptians appear to have grown more understanding of the Israeli obsession with security and the fear of the West Bank under hostile leaders within cannon shot of Tel Aviv.

Gomez claimed that if Ector County officials had conducted a proper investigation at the outset, a federal grand jury would not have been required for the case.

The U.S. Attorney's office would not say today how many witnesses were expected to testify. It was learned that John Stringer, the Odessa bondsman who took an early interest in the Lozano case, conferred with investigators today, but apparently did not testify before the grand jury. However, Lee Dallaire, who previously worked for Stringer's A-1 Bonding Company, arrived by airplane from Kerrville today in response to a lastminute subpoena.

It was Dallaire who previously said he had tried to get Lozano bonded out, but had decided not to pursue the matter since he was advised by Ector County Sheriff's Department personnel that the inmate was expected to be committed to Big Spring State Hospi-

Another witness who was seen entering the courthouse today, possibly to testify, was Bill Barnes, Sheriff Elton Faught's attorney. Barnes was expected to give testimony on several meetings he held with members of the sheriff's department, one on Jan. 29 in which Barnes reportedly met with the deputies to help "get the story straight." Barnes also reportedly may'be questioned on a meeting he had with Faught on Jan. 22 - the night of the inmate's death. That meeting reportedly lasted until 4

Leonard Garcia, an ex-Ector County constable, was another witness who testified today. Garcia, according to a source close to the investigation, was expected to talk about some information he had on the morning of Jan. 22 about possible civil rights violations being committed

ERA backers predicting 39-month extension

WASHINGTON (AP) - Backers of the Equal Rights Amendment, awaiting a crucial House committee vote. are cautiously predicting they will win a 39-month delay in the deadline for ratification of the proposal.

Unless the extension is approved by Congress, the original seven-year period for the states to ratify the amendment will expire next March 22. The measure is designed to guarantee equal protection of the law regardless of sex.

The new deadline under a compromise extension would be June 22, 1982. Approval by the House Judiciary Committee, in a vote expected late today, would clear the measure for action by the full House

"If we get it through the committee we ought to be able to get it through the House," said Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y.

A spokesman said the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on the Constitution would await the outcome of today's vote before making plans for Senate action.

Thirty-five state legislatures have approved the ERA, although four of them - in Nebraska, Idaho, Tennessee and Kentucky — later rescinded approval. Kentucky's rescission action was vetoed by the acting governor. Thirty-eight, or three-fourths of the states, must approve the measure for ratification.

ERA backers originally sought a seven-year extension but agreed to a shorter period after they could muster only 16 supporters on the House Judiciary Committee of 32 men and two women - two short of a majori-Three members who were opposed committed. Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights, joined Ms. Holtzman in predicting approval of the compromise extension.

They also said they thought the committee would beat back two preliminary moves by opponents of a straight-out extension.

One of these would require a twothirds majority for approval of the extension once it reaches the floor. Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Mo., the sponsor, said it "might very well be" that the measure would be defeated.

Commission will consider computerized jury selection

Midland County commissioners probably will meet sometime this week to consider a proposal to use a completely computerized system to select jury panels, County Judge Blake Hansen said today. Midland's three district judges met

Friday to consider a proposal drafted by 142nd District Court Judge Perry D. Pickett which outlined a method by which jury panel members would be selected at random from a list of registered voters by computer.

The proposal was signed by Pickett and 318th District Court Judge Barbara Culver. However, 238th District Court Judge Vann Culp declined to sign the document.

Judge Culver said the recommendation from the majority of the county's district judges allows the Commissioners Court to consider using the computerized system instead of the jury wheel currently in use.

"It appeared to us this was the way to authorize them (county commissioners) to go into it and study it," Judge Culver said. But the action does not require the commissioners to adopt the new system, she added.

The commissioners met Wednesday to discuss the proposal, but delayed their consideration when they discovered the document had not been signed by the judges.

But film star tough-guy James Cagney - who marked his 79th year Monday - is still ready to doff his yachtsman's cap in vaudeville style.

The burlap cap was a birthday gift, and a small group of friends joined Cagney and his wife, former dancer Frances "Bill" Cagney, in this tiny town on the island of Martha's Vineyard to mark the day.

The U.S. Postal Service also had its gift, a stamp commemorating George M. Cohan's "Yankee Doodle Dandy," a Cagney classic.

Early in the day, under a bright overcast sky in a wooded spot chosen by Cagney, postal officials presented the film star with a framed poster depicting the newly-issued stamp.

Then it was home to the secluded Cape Cod-style house, surrounded by a white picket fence, that Cagney shares with his wife of 55 years and their 10-year-old dog, Lady.

The house, far off the road on the south coast of Martha's Vineyard, is home to the Cagneys six months a year, with the remainder spent in California and Standfordville, N.Y.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) -Salesman John Lowther was a bit embarrassed Monday when he took a group of buyers on a final demonstration ride and experienced a minor mechanical breakdown in the brand new vehicle.

His passengers weren't too thrilled about the whole thing either. Lowther, you see, is an airplane sales-

"It was the last flight before we signed the papers. Before we finished the paperwork on the sale, they wanted to go up for a 15-minute local flight," Lowther said.

"One of the three landing gears would not come down. We tried several different techniques while we circled, but it wouldn't come down," he Lowther circled Laredo for nearly two hours to burn up fuel and was told he could head to Kelly AFB, approximately 140 miles away.

The plane came down on the runway covered with the safety foam and skidded onto the grass. Poised emergency and fire vehicles raced to the scene in seconds, but the plane didn't

Andrew Young again

All right, President Carter has scolded United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young for saying there are "hundreds, perhaps thousands" of political prisoners in the United States. The president termed the envoy's statement a mistake which he does not want repeated.

Young reportedly agreed that it was "an unfortunate mistake" and apologized to the president for the embarrassment he caused while Carter was centering criticism at human rights violations in the Soviet Union.

And our comment to the verbal exchange is "so what!" The president should have fired the ambassador on the spot. He missed a perfect opportunity for so doing, and a vast majority of citizens undoubtedly would have applauded his action. But a light wrist-slapping apparently was all that took place. This might have been satisfactory, had it been the first time that Young had spoken out in similar fashion when he should have been listening; but it wasn't.

We agree wholeheartedly with The Dallas Morning News in its recent editorial comment that "Enough's enough" and that Andrew Young should resign as the U.S. ambassador to the U.N. - or else be removed from office.

"There is no law, perhaps, against making idiotic statements," The News said, "but right reason dictates that high public officials should refrain from making them - or else find other employment."

and Wednesday.

Howdy, Lions group

The present controversy of course, stems from Young's incorrect, insulting, inflammatory statements to a Paris newspaper that "there are hundreds, perhaps thousands of political prisoners in the United States."

He compared dissidents on trial in the Soviet Union to American civil rights campaigners and alleged there were "political prisoners in both countries."

Young's erroneous comments drew immediate fire from his own government. The stinging criticism certainly was and is well-merited.

It was unfortunate that the House defeated an impeachment resolution against the ambassador.

Even House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, believe-it-or-not, crificized Young, stating at a news conference: "I think Andy would have done well if he had curbed his tongue at this particular time. I don't believe there is such a thing as a political prisoner in America and I don't believe Andy believes there is such a thing either. I guess it is how you interpret the word."

Regardless of the interpretation of the word, Young should not have said what he did in the first place, and at that particular time. It makes one wonder.

One cannot blame Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, in Geneva for Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet foreign minister, for being furious at Young's statements.

Warning labels sometimes wrong

WASHINGTON - It can happen without a moment's warning. A small toddler howls in anguish; the mother finds him clutching an open bottle of poison; panic-stricken, she reads the warning label to find out what to do. But shockingly, the instructions may be inaccurate, and the child may be permanently injured if she follows

After a Missouri child swallowed some tye drain cleaner, for example, his mother faithfully obeyed the instructions and gave him vinegar as the antidote. This caused a heat reaction that blew out the little boy's stomach and burned his esophagus. The damage could not be repaired.

"It is estimated that 500,000 children under age five are accidentally poisoned by common household products," warns a confidential memo prepared for Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif. A tragic number of these small victims suffer permanent injuries that could be avoided if the warning labels were correct.

Some labels, for instance, suggest using salt to make the child vomit, but experts say at least 30 children have died from salt poisoning caused by this remedy. Other labels fail to reveal the exact kind of poison contained in the product.

The respected Consumers Union has gone so far as to advise parents to ignore warning labels on poisons and call a doctor instead. The labels, it warns "are old fashioned and inaccurate and may increase the likelihood of serious or fatal injury.'

Government officials have tried to reduce child poisonings by requiring special safety packaging for such hazardous products as drain cleaners and furniture polish. Yet these packages still are not totally childresistant. Other products, such as insect sprays and rat poisons, have no safeguards at all.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

The bottles that are made difficult for children to open, ironically, are often left with the lids off by elderly and arthritic people who have trouble opening them.

But even more disturbing is the failure of the government to require accurate labels.

The House memo adds this chilling reminder: "Children who swallow drain cleaner containing lye may never swallow or breathe normally for the rest of their lives."

GROWING PAINS: In two decades, the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation has mushroomed into a multinational, multibillion-dollar industrial empire. This growth was not achieved by the traditional routes to corporate success - developing new products, introducing new market techniques or producing a better and cheaper mousetrap.

It has been done almost exclusively by buying up existing companies. Even the subsidiaries now have subsidiaries, with offices in some 70 countries on six continents.

But behind each merger is a human story. Earlier this year, for example, ITT swallowed up the North Electric Company. This is a modest, .$50 million firm that manufactures telecom munications equipment.

The takeover has severely shaken the company's home base of Galion, Ohio, where ITT summarily fired 379 employees. In one division alone, three-quarters of the workers were handed their pink slips.

The Justice Department, which has had a soft spot for ITT, is ignoring the merger. One Justice official tried in vain to stimulate an investigation. He told our reporter Michael Kranish that the takeover "might constitute a direct elimination of competition. At the very least, I thought there should have been a preliminary investigetion.'

But on Capitol Hill, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has his eye on Galion, Ohio. His antitrust subcommittee is quietly looking into the ITT takeover.

Footnote: An ITT spokesman told us the merger was a "legitimate business move.'

TURKISH ECHOES: In a cable from Ankara, the U.S. Information Agency reports that the Turkish press seized upon our recent column quoting a confidential cable from U.S. Ambassador Ronald Spiers. The ambassador declared in the cable that a recent speech by Turkish Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit demonstrated "mindless nationalism" According to the USIA: "Leftist, pro-grovernment Cumhuriyet (newspaper) quoted a State Department officer as saying, that because the 'mindless nationalism' phrase 'was of a nature which will damage relations between the two countries. President Carter had taken a personal interest in the

HEMISPHERE REPORT:

Many Chilean exiles are returning to their homes

By WILLIAM GIANDONI Copley News Service

Mention human rights and Latin America, and Chile comes to mind, probably for the wrong reasons.

The Chilean record actually is much better than people have been led to think. Accusations against the government headed by Gen. Augusto Pinochet have been grossly exaggerated. Take the matter of disappearances of political prisoners. The International Red Cross and other organizations have estimated that as many as 2,500 persons "disappeared" in Chile since the coup of Sept. 11,

Yet, the figure generally accepted, even by critics of the Chilean military government, is now 618.

That was the total established by the "Vicariate of Solidarity," the Catholic group in Chile, that has been pressing the Pinochet government for investigation of the disappearances.

Another indication that conditions in the South American country are not so bad as painted is the fact that many Chilean exiles are now petitioning the government for authorization to return home from abroad.

It apparently is not generally known that the military regime that took power nearly five years ago after toppling the Socialist-Communist-Radical coalition government of President Salvador Allende allowed more than 18,200 dissidents to go into exile. Included among them, according to the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, were at least 47 persons who had been sentenced to life in prison.

Many prominent Marxists -Communists, Socialists and others also were given a choice between exile and incarceration.

Probably the best-known of that group is Luis Corvalan, the secretary general of the now-outlawed Communist Party. Corvalan spent more than three years under detention before his release in December 1976.

Part of the delay in turning Corvalan loose can be blamed on Cuban President Fidel Castro. An effort was made to convince the Cuban Communist dictator to exchange his most famous political prisoner, his onetime comrade in arms, Huber Matos, for Corvalan. But Castro ignored it.

Eventually, Corvalan was exchanged with the Soviet Union for a young dissident, Vladimir Bukovsky, and now Corvalan and his wife make their home in Moscow. Interestingly, Mrs. Corvalan remained living in Chile, without harassment, during the period of her husband's detention.

Relatively few prominent Chilean Marxists have opted for, or been able to obtain, refuge in the Soviet Union. The largest concentration of Chilean exiles in Latin America settled in Mexico, whose former president, Luis Echeverria, was a friend and admirer of President Allende. Mrs. Hortensia Allende, the president's widow, has been living in the Mexican capital since the Pinochet government gave her safeconduct out of Chile after the funeral of her husband, who committed suicide rather than surrender to the Chilean armed forces in the coup of

A number of Chilean Marxists also moved to the United States.

Best known, probably, was Orlando Letelier, a Socialist, who was Chilean ambassador to the United States during most of Allende's regime but who returned home to serve in the Allende cabinet toward the end.

Letelier was imprisoned for about two years after the fall of the Marxist government. He was released by the Chilean military at the personal request of a prominent Venezuelan politician, Diego Arria. Eventually he and his wife and children settled in Washington where they had lived during the years he worked with the Inter American Development Bank before the Marxists took over in Chile. Letelier was active in the Chilean Marxist lobby in the U.S. capital until Sept. 21,1976, when a bomb planted in his automobile exploded, killing him and his secretary.

U.S. federal investigation of the crime, still going on, indicates that two men, one a U.S. citizen who lived many years in Chile, both connected with the Chilean secret police, were involved.

Some critics of the Pinochet government try to link Letelier's murder with the bombing death in Buenos Aires of Gen. Carlos Prats, one-time Allende defense minister. and with the bomb attack in Rome on Bernardo Leighton, interior minister in the Christian Democrat government that preceded Allende's. Leighton and his wife, Alicia, who both survived the attempt on their lives, apparently don't think that the military government was responsible for the atrocities. They left their exile in Italy and returned to Chile in June.

Sadat's other nightmare: Soviet actions in Libya

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

CAIRO - A military map kept in a locked cabinet in the office of Gen. Abdel Ghany Gamasy, Egyptian deense minister, reveals more clearly than the words of politicians how far Soviet penetration of key African states has proceeded, which the U.S. plays by Marquess of Queensbury

It shows that Soviet military advisers in Libya have doubled to 2,200 since Egypt gave Libya a swift blow last year in a bloody border dispute. It shows that these Soviet advisers are training Libyan troops down to the company level, with three to five 'technicians' assigned each bat-

Egypt today has little to fear from oil-rich but relatively powerless Libya, headed by the radical pro-Soviet leader, Col. Muammar Qaddafi. But the legends on Gen. Gamasy's colored map point to this conclusion: while the U.S. flinches from any use of superpower power, the Soviet Union is penetrating key African countries with no such scruples, using money, propaganda, dirty tricks,

Egypt is a principal target. "They want to get even with President Sadat," Gamasy said, for Sadat's ex-pulsion of Soviet influence here in Speaking with diplomatic restraint, Boutros Ghaly, Sadat's chief African cialist, expressed the same point terently. He told us that major African states south of Egypt, where for centuries Egypt has blocked potential enemies to protect its Nile River lifeline, fear that the U.S. had "drawn a Korea-type defense line" excluding Africa. Another high Egyptian official said that "the cold war has moved to Africa, and any idea that the continent can be ruled off bounds in the U.S.-Soviet competition

Sadat was specific: Soviet pressure in Ethiopia, Chad, Sudan and Libya, with an eastern achor in South Yemen at the Southern tip of the Arabian penensula, is "the first belt" of Soviet influence across Africa.

The "second belt" is targeted across southern Africa, from Angola to Mozambique. Neither belt has been buckled. In the north, for example France is successfully contesting the Soviets in Chad. Sudan, Egypt's southern neighbor and close ally, has turned back Soviet efforts to exploit cultural, religious and racial differ-ences between the Arab north and the black south. But the new Soviet presence in Ethiopia is a mounting threat to Sudan — and thus to Egypt.

The problem for Sadat is the future, as the Soviet Union pushes its aggressive role and the U.S. keeps insisting that Africa is no place for East-West confrontation. During Vice President Mondale's brief stop in Alexandria to see Sadat, the Egyptian president warned that Moscow's free hand in Africa was shredding confidence in the U.S. and creating Soviet strong points throughout the continent for future opportunities.

Sadat's worry seems reasonable. Ever since he odered 15,000 or more Soviet advisers out of Egypt, cut dependence on the Kremlin and edged toward the U.S., Moscow has threatened retaliation. Sadat claims that a dressing-down of then-foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy by Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev in Moscow two years ago amounted to an "ultima-

He described this ultimatum to us as follows: "Tell Sadat we shall continue to have our plans in Africa and he will meet the consequences of trying to oppose us there."

The "first belt" across north-central Africa, if completed, would threaten Egypt with encirclement, yet neither Egypt nor any other anti-Soviet country can begin to muster adequate resources in respon

In fact, however, Sadat knows that a U.S. counter-strategy of the kind envisioned by him is not today under serious discussion in Washington. The fashionable talk among State Department political appointees is that, if given enough rope, the Russians will hang themselves in Africa. Compounding Sadat's concern is the predictable turn to new anti-U.S. radicalism throughout the Arab world and across north Africa if the U.S. fails to win Israel's acceptance of a Mideast peace plan. "If the U.S. now shows that Israel can deafen its ears to the president of the U.S.," one official told us, "the future may belong to Moscow in this part of the

In short, evidence that the U.S. could not even deliver Israel for a Mideast settlement with the Arabs would reinforce skepticism here over Washington's dubious response to Soviet activism in Africa. The two -Middle East and Africa — are halves of the same whole, a political fact that Jimmy Carter should understand.

Postal Service, three unions finally get down to issues

SINCE 1919

By OWEN ULLMANN

WASHINGTON (AP) - With a possibile mail strike three days off, the U.S. Postal Service and three unions are for the first time beginning headto-head confrontation of major obstacles to a new contract.

There was no indication, however, that any progress was being made on such key issues as wages, job security and compulsory overtime.

A source close to the negotiations said the two sides met until late Monday night, discussing a bitter dispute over a no-layoff clause that the unions won in 1973 and insist on retaining in the new accord. The Postal Service wants to eliminate the provision.

But the Monday night session did not get to wages, on which vast disagreement remains, the source said. While the two sides had stated their positions in initial discussions three workers, mainly on the East Coast, staged wildcat strikes. While negotiators met at a Washington hotel, a group known as the Public Service Research Council, which opposes public employees' strikes, filed suit in federal court seeking to have any striking postal worker fired.

The Postal Service has repeatedly told its employees that a striking worker could be fined up to $1,000 and sentenced to a year in jail.

The sanctions were not used in 1970, however, as part of an agreement that ended the strike.

Analysts also noted a generally cautious appraisal by the market of an $1.5 million grant

BIG SPRING — The city of Big Spring has been approved for a $1.5 million federal grant to upgrade the living, working and recreational conditions for approximately 300 low-income families in the northern part of the city.

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr.'s office late Monday notified the city that the Community Development grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development was approved, Paul Feazelle, the city's director of housing and community develpment, said today.

The funding, programmed for a two-year period will be for improvements of parks and streets, renovation of a building for use as a day-care center, demolition of sub-standard housing, the relocation of families from sub-standard housing to more liveable housing, and the inspection of commercial and residential buildings to determine if they meet the city's codes, Feazelle said.

Feazelle also said federal loans will be made available to assistant home owners in renovating

Feazelle said Big Spring, a city of more than 30,000 people, made app'ication for the Community Development grant last May.

"Small cities have to compete for these funds," Feazelle said. ". . . So we are past the stage of competition." Larger cities, such as Midland, apply directly for the funding, he said. He said the funding will begin early in 1979.

No appeal of order on wet-dry vote likely

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - After spending over an hour in closed conference with legal advisers this morning, Taylor County Commissioners decided not to appeal a state judge's Friday order that they canvass all votes cast in the June 17 wet-dry elec-

The commissioners had thrown out one precinct box that is expected to confirm a wet victory. Dry forces have threatened to appeal the judge's ruling, but have not yet taken any action.

The commissioners set 10 a.m. Thursday as the time for the certification that could change Abilene's 76-year-old ban on the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Monahans mayor urges care with tax measures Austin Bureau

AUSTIN-Monahans Mayor Richard Hoyer urged lawmakers Monday night to be careful in restricting the ability of cities to use property taxes, saying Texas cities have been wiser in their use of taxes than cities in some other states." Hoyer, the current president of the Texas

Municipal League, told the House Constitutional Amendments Committee he personally favors limited government-and limited government spending-and thinks that other Texas mayors feel the same way.

But Texas cities, Hoyer said, unlike some northern cities, have had "sound fiscal management," and Texas cities, Hoyer told the lawmakers, "provide the basics"-and do so with local property taxes.

He noted some states, such as New Jersey and Wisconsin, have attempted to limit spending by cities by restricting use of property taxes, but have found cities have turned to the state or Federal governments to obtain funds. Federal funds aren't used to finance municipal

Amendment by Wright helps delay energy plan

By GEORGE LARDNER JR. The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The House Democratic leadership hurriedly yanked the Energy Department's principal authorization bill from the schedule Monday in the face of growing controversy over an amendment to raise prices on a substantial portion of U.S.

The chief sponsor of the drive to lift price controls, House Majority Lead-er Jim Wright, D-Tex., told reporters that the bill was pulled off the calendar because of warnings that adoption of the amendment might trigger a collapse of President Carter's energy program.

"We've just decided to step back at this time," Wright said after a midafternoon meeting in Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill's office with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, and others.

Jackson reportedly told the House leaders that some Senators might refuse to approve the compromise bill to

New wells complete

Amoco Production Co. and Texaco Inc. each have completed wells in Andrews County.

Amoco No. 12 University Consolidate V has been completed as the third well in the Fullerton (Ellenburger) area of Andrews County, 14 miles west of Andrews.

Operator reported a daily pumping potential of 220 barrels of 389-gravity oil, plus eight barrels of water, through perforatisons from 10,610 to 10,640 feet after 500 gallons of acid. Total depth is 11,001 feet, and seven-inch casing is set at 11,001 feet.

remove federal price controls from natural gas by 1984 if so much oil was to be decontrolled now.

The Wright amendment would decontrol more than 1 million domestically produced barrels of crude oil a day and send prices up to $14 a barrel. Most of the oil in question is now controlled at a price of $5.45 a bar-

Declaring that too many oil wells are being abandoned at present prices, Wright made plain that he was willing to let the issue simmer for a while, especially since Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger is working to accomodate him administratively. Schlesinger offered last week under authority he already has, to decontrol 20 percent of the production from the so-called "marginal wells" that Wright and his colleagues want to exempt completely.

When the House sponsors of the drive turned that down, Schlesinger responded, sources said, by promising to decontrol 40 percent. The House majority leader would not confirm the details of Schlesinger's latest offer but said it might prove satisfactory so long as the energy secretary takes it out of the realm of "vague conversation" and puts it in writing in the Federal Regis-

"I would be satisfied when I saw the regulation," Wright said. "All I want is some hard-and-fast, clear-cut, definite plan...not just conversation." He said Schlesinger has been promising relief for the independent operators of the oil wells in question for three years now but has yet to do any-

An aide to O'Neill said the Energy Department authorization bill, which was scheduled to come up for debate on the House floor Monday afternoon under a rule making the Wright amendment in order, had been pulled back indefinitely.

Jackson reportedly told the House leaders in O'Neill's office that the gas-deregulation bill could become a casualty either in the Senate-House conference, where it has been sitting for months, or on the Senate floor, where, Jackson says, he doesn't have enough votes to cut off a filibuster.

The natural-gas bill, which for months was the stumbling block holding up the rest of President Carter's energy package, was approved by House conferees in May by a vote of only 13 to 12, and by Senate conferees by a vote of 10 to 7. But the conference report is still awaiting their signa-

Production decrease sought by purchasers

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The railroad commission reported Monday that major purchasers of Texas crude oil want 3,517,436 barrels a day next month, a decrease of 4,171 barrels daily from July.

The commission will meet Thursday to set the statewide oil allowable for August.

LoVaca Gathering Co. got permission from the railroad commission Monday to sell natural gas for approximately 45 days to Uvalde Corn Processors, Inc.

The company wants the gas to operate a corn dryer two miles northeast of Uvalde, the commission said.

Lo Vaca will sell the gas at cost, plus 20 cents per thousand cubic feet (mcf), or about $2.36 per mcf.

The railroad commission Monday canceled the permit of a Tyler oil operator to drill an exploratory well in Henderson County because the well was expected to penetrate a formation bearing poisonous hydrogen-sul-

The commission said it was the first time it had canceled a drilling permit because the operator had failed to show how he planned to comply with safety regulations.

The permit had been issued to Basin Operating Co.

The railroad commission Monday dismissed a request by San Antonio for a new hearing on natural gas nominations.

A hearing examiner told the commission a Feb. 5 rule had answered San Antonio's complaints.

The commission said Mayor Lila Cockrell of San Antonio had complained that over-nominations by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. had resulted in higher prices for the city.

The Feb. 5 rule, however, requires that nominations be based on a firm

Pricing of natural gas may be in fresh trouble

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) - As the Senate moves toward expected approval of the first part of President Carter's energy plan, another section dealing with natural-gas pricing appears in fresh trouble. The snag is the latest obstacle thrown in the way of an energy package that has been plagued with one problem after another since its introduction in Congress 15 months ago.

Senate action was on tap today on legislation designed to force many industries and power plants to convert from oil and natural gas to coal - the first section of the five-part energy plan to go before either house for a final vote. Passage by a wide margin was expected for the noncontroversial bill.

Action had originally been scheduled for last Friday, but was delayed because of what amounted to a oneman filibuster by Sen. Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., an opponent.

At the same time, new troubles surfaced Monday for the proposed compromise to lift price controls from natural gas in 1985 - a bargain tediously crafted in five months of negotiations.

It now appears jeopardized by an attempt to lift federal price controls from a substantial amount of domestically produced oil, a move some industry critics claim goes too far perhaps costing consumers up to $3 billion a year in higher energy costs.

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, tried to get the oil-deregulation proposal approved as an amendment to a bill authorizing programs for the Department of Energy.

But House Speaker Thomas P O'Neill had the entire bill set aside Monday after some leading lawmakers on energy issues, including Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, threatened to oppose the natural-gas compromise if the Wright amendment were adopted.

Jackson and other critics claimed Wright's proposal would be too generous to the oil industry, especially on top of concessions made to the industry on natural gas.

Jackson claims the natural gas compromise - approved by House-Senate conferees but not yet acted on in either chamber - is in deep trouble in the Senate anyway, where it faces an almost-certain filibuster by opponents from both political extremes. Senate sources say it now appears unlikely that leaders can muster the needed 60 votes to break such a filibuster, and that the Wright deregulation proposal may be hurting the bill's

Committee organized

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Railroad Commission Monday announced the formation of an advisory committee to propose safety regulations for the handling of liquefied petroleum

The commission approved the nomination of six members by the LP-Gas Association of Texas and said a public member will be added to the commit-

One member already is testing a commission proposal to remove fencing from around LP-Gas bulk storage facilities

"Fences were put around the facilities to keep the tanks from being tampered with by outsiders," said Guy Matthews, director of the LPG division. "If there is an accident and the possibility of a flash fire, some firefighters are reluctant to go inside the fences because if the fire erupts they may be trappped inside the en-

"The same degree of safety can be obtained by installing locks on valves and hoses and guard rails around the tank to keep it from being run into by a vehicle," Matthews said.

He said the no-fence program has been used for about a year by Liquid Gas Service of Lufkin. Monty Stafford Liquid Gas is a member of the advisory committee.

Agreement reached

WEST MONROE, La. (AP) -Olinkraft Inc., paper-making compa-ny based in West Monroe, says it has reached a tentative, $460-million agreement to merge with the Texas Eastern Corp. of Houston.

Texas Eastern is a diversified energy company with operations throughout the world, including ex-tensive oil holdings in the North Sea.

The tentative agreement, which must be approved by stockho provides for exchanging each share of Olinkraft common stock for $51 or for one share of Texas Eastern convertable stock which would have a stated value of $51.

That stock also could in turn be converted to 1.1 shares of Texas Eastern common stock.

The proposed merger follows a flur-ry of trading on the New York Stock Exchange which has sent Olinkraft's common stock climbing by 10 points since July 1.

Olinkraft employes 3,000 persons here and has a total of 7,000 employees at its 29 plants in nine states and

On Monday, still without any final congressional action on his 15-month old energy package, Carter joined leaders of six other non-Communist industrial nations in vowing to take steps to increase employment worldwide and reduce U.S. oil consumption by raising prices and cutting im-barrel - to world levels - now approximately $13.50 - by the end of 1980, although without specifying exactly how he would accomplish this.

Wright's proposal would offer the world-market price to any wells producing 35 barrels or less a day. The current exemption from price controls ends at 10 barrels. The proposed increase would result in deregulation of some 1 million additional barrels of oil daily, congressional economists

Wright indicated Monday that Energy Secretary James R. Scheslinger had offered to administratively deregulate about 40 percent of the oil that would be covered by his own amendment - a deal that Wright said he could support but which failed to generate much enthusiasm from Jackson or other critics.

Wright claimed that much oil from marginally productive wells is now being left in the ground because it cannot profitably be extracted under the present price control scheme.

Arkansas posts win

By The Associated Press Dave Bialas and Jim Rieggleman accounted for six of the runs and R.J. Harrison picked up the pitching victory as Arkansas took a 10-Texas League baseball victory over San Antonio

In other Texas League action, Shreveport swept a doubleheader from Amarillo, 11-2 and 10-3, Tulsa blasted Midland, 11-3, and El Paso rolled to an easy, 15-7 victory over Jackson.

Bialas had a two-run homer, his fourth of the season and had a total of three RBIs as did Rieggleman. John Dean's 13th homer of the year helped Shreveport take the 11-2 victory in the opening game with Amarillo. He also singled home a run.

And guess who's in the eye of the storm once more. Why, it's none other than Billy Martin and Reggie Jack-

Two of the major leagues' strangest bedfellows, whose antagonism raged through the explosive summer of 1977, have picked up where they left off last year.

Martin, the stormy Yankee manager, virtually was breathing fire at Jackson after the outfielder with the brittle ego dismissed a hitting sign during Monday night's 9-7, 11-inning loss to the Kansas City Royals.

The situation was this: Jackson was batting with Thurman Munson on first after a single with none out in the 10th inning of a 5-5 game. Third base coach Dick Howser first relayed the bunt sign to Jackson, but then switched signals and ordered the Yankee slugger to swing away. However, he still attempted a bunt and popped to the catcher on a two-strike Bump Wills singled with one out in the 11th off Mike Flanagan, 13-7, stole his 28th base in 32 attempts and continued to third when he kicked catcher Rick Dempsey's throw into left field. Bonds, who had two of the nine Texas hits, lined out to center field and the throw from Larry Harlow struck the mound and bounced high into the air as Wills scored with the eventual winning run. Juan Beniquez followed with a solo homer.

Red Sox 3, Twins 2 Carlton Fisk delivered a two-out, 10th-inning single to lead Boston past Minnesota. Trailing 2-1 into the bottom of the 10th, the Red Sox came back to tie it on Jim Rice's two-ouu single off reliever Mike Marshall, 4-

After Carl Yastrzemski singled Rice to third, Fisk delivered a long single off the center field wall to score Rice with the game-winner for reliever Bill Campbell, 6-5.

Indians 5, Mariners 2 Andre Thornton drove in three runs with a two-run homer in the eighth, his 19th of the year, and a bases-loaded walk in the third to lead Cleveland over Seattle.

Thornton's homer came off reliever Enrique Romo after Buddy Bell had singled to send loser Jim Colborn, 1-8, out of the game.

Tigers 4, Angels 3 John Lockunfus delivered a single in the 10th inning, pacing Detroit over California, dropping the Angels percentage points behind Kansas City for the AL West lead. Staub opened the inning with a single off loser Dave LaRoche, 6-4. LaRoche struck out Jason Thompson and got Steve Kemp to ground out, but Milt May beat out a single to deep short to set the stage for Wockenfuss' game-winning hit.

Reggie Jackson in trouble with Martin again.

Martin suspends Reggie Jackson

NEW YORK (AP) — Reggie Jackson says he is being placed in the position of "greedy moneymaker against the poor little street fighter" after his indefinite suspension without pay for bunting when he was ordered to swing away by Manager Billy Martin.

"He doesn't want me around here, he should be happy now," said a calm Jackson when notified of Martin's decision to suspend him. "Billy hasn't spoken to me for a year and a half so why should he talk to me now? Why should he tell me? Why should I talk to him?"

Jackson was batting after Thurman Munson singled with none out in the 10th inning of a 5-5 game that Kansas City eventually won 9-7 in 11 innings. Third base coach Dick Howser relayed the bunt sign from Martin to Jackson on the first pitch from Kansas City's Al Hrabosky.

"The bunt was on, on the first pitch," Martin explained in his terse, hand-written note that he read to newsmen after a 30-minute private discussion with Yankees General Manager Cedric Tallis. "It was then taken off via verbal instructions by the third base coach. The manager's orders were just disregarded. He bunted in defiance of a verbal order to IN ATTEMPTING to bunt, Jackson eventually popped to the catcher on a two-strike count. He was then told by "one of Billy's coaches," Gene Michael, that his services were no longer needed during the game. 'Reggie Jackson is suspended without pay effective this moment for deliberately disregarding the manager's instructions," read Martin's Jackson, 32, spoke of the play in the Yankees' locker room following the game but before Martin's announcement of the suspension.

"I wanted to get him home the best way I could," said Jackson of Munson. "If I get it down, I'm a hero. If not, I'm a bum.

'I've got a man, Lou Piniella, hitting .320 behind me and we've got a good chance to score and win if I move the man up." After learning of the suspension, Jackson mentioned that he'd told Munson he would bunt if Munson got on base.

"When I was on deck, I told Thurm, 'If you get on I'll bunt you over.' He said, 'Don't get carried away.' JAKSON THEN turned his focus to his recurrent problems with Martin ever since the All-Star outfielder signed a $3 million contract with the club as a free agent after the 1976 season. "I can't win no matter what I do," said Jackson, who is batting .266 with 14 homers and 51 RBI this season and last year was the hero of the Yankees' World Series triumph over the Dodgers with three home runs in the sixth and deciding game. "I come off as a big, greedy moneymaker. I'm not going to file a suit or a grievance. "I've been saying 'Yes, sir' ever since I came here. I'm not going to fight this," he added in a tone that made it seem he expected Martin's decision. "I've never had the summer off. I'm tired and I'm down. Maybe I'll take the 9 a.m. flight to California." JACKSON'S PROBLEMS with Martin last season came to a climax in a nationally televised game at Boston in June. Martin removed Jackson from right field for an apparent lack of hustle, then almost came to blows with the outfielder in the dugout.

"He tried to beat me up in Boston," noted Jackson. "I think that's what

Martin also benched Jackson for the fifth game of the American League playoffs last season against Royals' left-hander Paul Splittorff, who started Monday for Kansas City. Jackson batted fourth against "I've never been accused of undermining Billy since I'm here," Jackson emphasized. "I don't cry when I don't play that they're trying to

LAST WEEK, in a meeting between Martin and Yankees owner George Steinbrenner, it was decided that Jackson would become a part-time designated hitter and that Munson would take over Jackson's spot in right field. Monday afternoon, Jackson had his own meeting with

"I talked to George an hour and a half this afternoon," said Jackson. "I

Andrews' first homer ignites San Francisco to 9-7 victory

Rob Andrews hesitated for a moment when the ball soared off his bat. In 1,227 previous trips to the plate, the utility San Francisco infielder had never been in such a situation.

Up it went, a rising drive which headed for the left field seats at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis. Still, there was hesitation. Andrews watched his ninth-inning drive and thought it might drop at the base of the wall for a double It didn't. The game was tied 7-7 when Cardinals reliever Buddy Schultz launched a slider towards catcher Ted Simmons, but when the ball came to rest, the Giants had an 8-7 lead and Andrews had the first home run of his career.

"I think five or six guys passed out on the bench," said Andrews. "I was stunned. I thought, 'What's going on here?' Then I saw the umpire motioning me around. When you haven't hit a home run in 1,200 and some at-bats, you don't get much chance to practice trotting around the

"I kept telling the guys that they hit the home runs when they didn't count. I said I was going to save mine for a time when it won a game," said An-

It did just that, though Willie McCovey - a teammate with 503 home run trots to his credit - delivered an insurance run in the Giants' 9-7 triumph Monday night. "I didn't think he could throw the ball up twice and hit it out of here," said St. Louis Manager Ken Boyer. "That's the last thing in the world we were looking for. "You could throw him 150 of those and he might hit two of them out," added Simmons, whose eighth-inning homer tied the game 7-7.

Surprising as it was, it counted; and it earned Andrews a king's reception in the clubhouse. There wasn't time to order a red carpet, so the path to Andrews' locker was paved with a succession of towels.

board crown, inscribed it "King for a Day," and placed it on Andrews'

"Definitely the highlight of my ca-reer," he said. "I still can't believe it went over." Neither can the Cardinals.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds topped the Montreal Expos 8-6, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the San Diego Padres 8-7 in 10 innings, the Houston Astros nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in 11 nings and the Atlanta Braves beat New York 3-0 in the opener before dropping the nightcap to the Mets

Andrews' blast salvaged the game for the Giants, who collected 17 hits—five each by Terry Whitfield and Darrell Evans—but blew a 5-0 lead. A four-run sixth helped St. Louis tie it at 6, but Marc Hill's RBI single in the eighth put San Francisco in front before Simmons' homer set the stage for Andrews.

Reds 8, Expos 6 George Foster slugged two homers and drove in five runs - raising his season's RBI total to 71 - while Pete Rose extended his hitting streak to 30 games as Cincinnati rallied from a 5-0 deficit and beat Montreal. Foster cracked a two-run shot in the fourth inning and a three-run blast in the fifth to bring the Reds even at 6-6. Rose, meanwhile, slapped a fifth-in-ning single for the 3,082nd hit of his career — snapping a tie with Cap Anson and placing the third baseman in 10th place on the all-time hit list.

Rose now is seven games from tying the NL record hitting streak set by Tommy Holmes.

Tulsa bombards Midland Cubs

TULSA, Okla. — The Tulsa Drillers proved to be rude hosts as they blasted Midland 11-3 Monday night on the Cubs' last night in town for their fourth win in the five game series.

Tulsa pitcher David Crutcher choked the Cubs on six hits in his Texas League debut. Crutcher, who went the distance for the Drillers, was backed by 12 Tulsa hits, five of those for extra bases.

The Cubs scored a run in the top of the first for a short-lived lead, but Tulsa tied the score in the third and applied the finishing touches with four-run outbursts in the fourth and seventh innings.

Joe Hernandez figured in two of Midland's three tallies, scoring a run in the first and then blasting his sixth homer of season in the eighth.

Hernandez singled in the first and moved to second on Eric Grandy's infield hit. Both runners advanced on Tulsa second baseman Blair Stouffer's wild throw to first. A throwing error by Driller first baseman Doug Duncan allowed Hernandez to score an unearned run.

A triple by Greg Jemison and a two-base hit by Joe Russell highlighted Tulsa's four-run splurge in the eighth. Jemison, the Texas League leader in stolen bases with 45, led off the inning with his shot and scored on Smith' wild pitch. Tulsa then loaded up the bases for Russell, who delivered his double to clear the bases.

After Hernandez's solo round-tripper in the eighth, the Cubs got another unearned run for their final tally. Grandy followed Hernandez with a double and then raced home when Duncan booted Kevin Drury's ground ball, his second error of the evening. Drury got only one hit in the game, but reached base in his other three at-bats on Tulsa errors.

The Cubs left Tulsa after the game for Shreveport, La., where they will open a five-game series with the Sports. The Cubs will return to Midland Monday with a five-game stand with the Drillers.

Texas' Doc Medich saves life of baseball fan in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) - Baseball pitchers strive to record saves, but only when George "Doc" Medich is involved are human lives at stake.

The Texas hurler, a first year resident at Allegheny General Hospital in Pittsburgh, saved the life of an apparent heart attack victim in the stands of Memorial Stadium Monday night about an hour before the Rangers were to play the Baltimore Ori-

Germain Languth, 61, of Pasadena, Md., had no detectable heartbeat or pulse by the time Medich responded to a public address announcement for a doctor and rushed from right field to a box behind third base.

But after Medich directed the emergency treatment, Languth was admitted to nearby Union Memorial Hospital with stable vital signs. Although he was listed in serious condition in the coronary care unit, Languth was described as "alert, and well aware of what's happening around him."

Medich, who said he has been involved in 25 such cases since starting his medical training, gave mouth-tomouth resuscitation and external heart massage, and then attached tubes and lines for the administering of medication and electrical shock.

The 29-year-old Medich conducted a rare interview in the Texas clubhouse during the game to describe his part in the drama, and again was beseiged by newsmen as he ate a postgame snack.

In response to a question, Medich conceded his actions probably saved Languth's life but added modestly: "I was trained, and I was in the right spot at the right time." "Yes, I guess I saved him," Medich said. "Anytime somebody's lying there without a heartbeat and pulse. . without aid, there's a good chance he would have died.' Medich, involved in a similar incident in the stands of Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium in 1976, when the victim died after receiving emergency aid, said fellow pitcher Dock Ellis had mentioned while they were running in the outfield that someone had suffered a heart attack in the "I didn't do anything at the time,"

"I didn't make any demands or threaten in any way in that meet-

Jackson said he also met for 1½ hours with Martin in the afternoon. But he wasn't told by Martin about the suspension Monday night.

"If it was me, I would've called the player in, heard what he had to say and ruled accordingly," said Jackson. "Somebody else wouldn't have this junk going on."

Martin explained that he didn't get any thrill out of suspending a player.

"I don't like to fine or suspend anyone," said the beleaguered Yankee field boss, whose job reportedly has been in jeopardy several times in the past two seasons. "I've never done it before.

"He disregarded the manager's instructions. Nobody defies the manager or management in any way. Nobody is bigger than the team.
"I sensed his attitude when he came to the ball park that he was upset about something. Until today, his attitude was tremendous."

Martin could not say when Jackson could expect to be reinstated.

"HE'LL BE reinstated when I'm ready to reinstate him," the manager said. "I don't believe in apologies. I won't talk anything out with him. I'm the manager. He does what I say. I'm not getting $3 million. I obey my boss' orders. They tell me what to do and I do it."

Apparently, however, Martin acted on his own in suspending Jackson, one of Steinbrenner's favorite players. Steinbrenner reportedly called the Yankee dugout following the 10th-inning incident and was told Jackson had bunted on his own and against orders.

"They've paid me well here and I'm a member of the team," noted Jackson as he left Yankee Stadium. Whether he'll ever play another

Lose scholarships

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Kentucky Coach Fran Curci says that as many as 13 of his football players will lose their athletic scholarships because of National Collegiate Athletic Association restrictions.

Those on the list include senior quarterback Billy Williams, sophomore quarterback Kevin Bethea; running backs Robert Pitman, a sophomore; junior Mike O'Donnell and senior Phil Mobley; senior linebacker Chuck Postel; linemen Jeff Hess, a senier, and sophomore Chuck Allegretto.

Curci said quarterback Bill Tolston; backs Robert Hawkins, Greg Long and Brian Palacious and line-man Chris Gosselin had been mistakenly identified in one news account as being on the list.

Curci refused to identify the others losing scholar-ships. He said the final list might not be determined until the Sept. 16 opening game at South Carolina, which is the date specified by the NCAA.

Postel and Hess still will receive financial aid under the NCAA's medical disqualification program for players sidelined by injuries, Curci said.

The scholarship cuts were necessary, he said, because "we've done a good job of keeping our players. The NCAA rule figures there is going to be nore attrition than we've had.

"We're opposed to cutting any athletes and we'd like to find a better solution to this scholarship

The hit into right field gave the Cincinnati switch-hitter 3,082 career hits, putting him past Cap Anson for 10th place on the all-time hit list.

Shcharansky requesting boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of Soviet dissident Anatoly Shcharansky has asked the United States, Canada and other western countries to boycott the 1980 Summer Olympics in Speaking to more than 30 senators Monday, Avital Shcharansky says it would be "an honor to be the first country to start considering cancellation of the Olympic Games in the country which stamped out human rights.

"If world leaders are passive today it will not be enough to save the lives of these people," Shcharansky said through an interpreter, "This passiveness will support the evil in the

Shcharansky, whose husband was sentenced last week to 13 years in a Soviet prison for espionage and anti-Soviet agitation, also believes that the Soviets are deliberately attempting to crush the dissident movement before the Olympics begin. She drew a parallel between the 1980 Moscow Games and the 1936 Olympics in Berlin when Adolf Hitler used the event as a showcase for Nazism.

"They are cleaning up the territory before lots of foreigners come in. added Mrs. Shcharansky.

In another development, Sen. Wen-dell Anderson of Minnesota, a member of the 1956 U.S. Olympic hockey team, began an effort to take the 1980 Games away from Moscow and perhaps award them to Montreal.

Although no alternate site was expected to in the proposal to be presented in Congress, an aide to Anderson said the senator had unofficialy suggested that "Montreal might be an priate site since the physical plant is already there.

Predicting that the resolution would pass the Senate, the aide said several members of the House of Representatives expressed interest in having the House pass a similar resoultion.

The resolution, however, would not be binding on the U.S. Olympic Committee, which is a non-governmental

In Canada, the president of the Canadian Olympic Association says the group will consider the request of Mrs. Shcharansky to boycott the Moscow Games, but it is "unlikely" that they would withdraw from the competition

"This is a human rights issue," said Richard Pound, the head of the association that oversees the selection and training of Canadian athletes. "I don't know if it's directly related to the Olympics but it's certainly something our executives will look at to see whether we ought to take a position.

"If there were any way we could relate the trials to the Olympics, then we would have a bullet to shoot in protesting to the Russians."

However, he added no such proof has been provided, and that the trial appeared to be linked to internal policles of the Soviet Union.

"On that basis alone, it is very unlikely we could take a position.'

CHICAGO (AP) - Chicago Cubs General Manager Bob Kennedy says he foresees the day when a fuel shortage may force major league baseball officials to realign the National and American]Leagues into three divisions of eight teams

Kennedy said the major league scene is pretty secure right now, but there's no guarantee it will remain that way. "The day will come Kennedy's idea calls for realignment into three eight-team divi-sions. Initially, he said, teams would play games only within their division with intradivision play following eventually. "I envision something like an East, a Central and a West Division," he said. "In the Central you would have the Cubs, (Chicago) White Sox, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cincinnati, Minnesota, St. Louis and maybe Pitts-

South took the king of spades and started the diamonds. Souh, a worrier, sondered what would happen if East had started with four diamonds to the jack. To guard against his he took the first diamond with the king and then led the low diamond to dummy's ace.

This play protected South against the minor ailment in diamonds, but it cost him his head.

South could reach dummy only once, with the ace of diamonds, and could therefore take only one club finesse. He won two spades, one heart, four diamonds and only one club. Down one.

NEEDS TWO FINESSES South should see that he needs two club finesses. This is far more important than guarding against the remote possibility that he would need a diamond finesse through East.

South should win the first two diamonds with the king and queen, and then lead the ten of diamonds to dummy's ace for the first club finesse. Later, South can lead the three of diamonds to dummy's five for a second club finesse. When the second club finesse works, South has his ninth trick.
