Authorities directed to gravesites for five missing family members

WINNIE, Texas (AP) - Five members of a family missing from their blood-spattered rural home here since July 1 have been found buried in a

Authorities said a former in-law on with the disai pearance directed them Sunday night to the gravesite in neighboring Jef-ferson County. Joe Dugas, 31, of Port acres, has been held in Chambers County Jail in Anahuac in lieu of $500,000 bond.

A prepared statement from the Chambers County sheriff's office said, "Positive identification was established as members of the Phillips family missing from their residence in Winnie, Texas, since July 3." The victims were identified as Bishop Phillips, 64; his wife Ester, 66; a son Elmer, 31; his wife Martha; and their 4-year-old son Jason. Dugas was once married to a daughter of the elder Phillips Justice of the Peace Jack Cravy, who conducted a graveside inquest, said the bodies were close together. "The shallowest (grave) was 18 inches and the deepestewas 4 to 5 feet."

Autopsies were ordered by Cravy, and Jefferson County pathologists took custody of the bodies.

Cravy said authorities were not certain what motivated the killings. Dugas' brother, Richard Lee, has said in a sworn statement that Dugas told him on July 4 that he had kidnapped the family at gunpoint July 1 and had taken them to a "prepared Dugas had previously denied having anything to do with the family's disappearance.

The disappearance was discovered when one of the Phillips' sons returned from a weekend trip to Houston and found the house blood-spattered but vacant.

Briscoe serious about $1.6 billion in tax cuts during next three years

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Dolph Briscoe prepared to tell legislators today how he wants them to cut Texas' low taxes even lower.

The opening of the special 30-day legislative session was set for noon, with Briscoe tentatively scheduled to address a joint session at 1 p.m.

To hear Speaker Bill Clayton tell it, Briscoe was riding by himself on his vast South Texas ranch when he began to get serious about tax relief. Texas, however, already ranks near the bottom in taxes as a percentage of personal income. Briscoe has recommended $1.6 billion in tax cuts over the next three

Clayton says if the governor does not get a substantial part of his proposals approved, he "wouldn't be surprised" to see the governor hold lawmakers in session throughout Au-

Briscoe first mentioned a special session after Californians approved the tax-limitation proposal known as Proposition 13, Clayton said.

Briscoe tried out the idea on a few reporters, Clayton said, and "a crescendo of rumors and speculation" triggered a surge of mail that made Briscoe sense the importance of a

Some fear, however, it may do more harm than good. Newspaper editorials have pleaded for caution. Others have noted that Texas taxes are not nearly as high as those in California. Briscoe critics claim the governor called the session to satisfy his ego after voters rejected his bid for reelection by nominating Attorney General John Hill as the Democratic gu-bernatorial candidate. Additionally, they say, Briscoe does not want to leave a large financial surplus for Hill to carry out ambitious legislative programs in 1979 if Hill should defeat vember election. Briscoe's recommendations, according to some tax experts, would Clayton has said "if we go above $1 billion in tax relief, we're asking for Briscoe waited until Saturday afternoon — 44 hours before the session — to release the agenda for the special session. He urged the Legislature to approve these measures: - A constitutional amendment re-

 Repeal of the 4 percent sales tax on residential utility bills, with a provision that cities can also abolish the one-cent city sales tax on utilities by a majority vote. - A constitutional amendment establishing limits on taxing and spending by local governments.

— Increasing the state inheritance tax exemption of each estate from $25,000 to $200,000. - A constitutional amendment requiring the Legislature to provide for taxing agricultural and timber lands on the basis of productivity, rather than market value, with the state to replace the loss in revenue to school - A constitutional amendment increasing the residential homestead exemption to $10,000, or $20,000 .for those 65 and older, for school tax purposes, with the state making up osses to the districts

The talk of "Hill-Briscoe" votes has surfaced in recent days. An aide to a Hill su orter in the House said a vote count of the constitutional amendments committee showed that the local taxing and spending limitation and the two-thirds proposal will not get out of committee.

There is always pressure, however, to favor tax reductions. "I personally think it's a bad time to be against tax relief and tax limitation," says Clayton.

Although he said the two-thirds po-sposal "really ties the hands of the Legislature," he later noted that the last four tax bills — in 1963, 1967, 1969 and 1971 — had been approved by two-third margins in the House.

The Legislature has not enacted a tax bill since 1971

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said there appeared to be legal precedent for legislators to go far beyond Briscoe's agenda in the special session, but Secretary of State Steve Oaks said Saturday he felt the session could be limited to topics submitted by the governor.

In addition to proposed legislation, Briscoe is expected to ask the Senate to confirm 600 appointments to state boards and agencies.

The most controversial appointee is Hugh Yantis, who was named by the governor as chairman of the state insurance board in September 1977. There has been speculation that Yantis will resign. A reappointment to the board, Durwood Manford, also may face Senate opposition.

Woman dies in shootout at bar

A 32-year-old Midland woman was in Midland City Jail today in connection with the fatal shooting early Sunday morning of Orna M. White, 51, in the Texas Bar at 805 E. Texas Ave.

Mrs. White of the 1200 block of East Chestnut Street was pronounced dead scene of the shooting. Police said the shooting occurred at approximately 12: 45 a.m. Sunday after an argument between the arrested woman and Mrs. White. Several shots were fired with a .22-caliber pistol, police said.

James E. Farrell was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital and released after being injured by a stray bullet, according to police reports.

Transportation key issue at WIPP hearing here

By JIM STEINBERG

The question of transportation safety is expected to be a key issue in Midland Tuesday as the Department of Energy begins the first of three public hearings in Texas on a proposed underground nuclear disposal area near Carlsbad, N.M.

Presenting the DOE's case here for the controversial Waste Isolation Pilot Plant will be Deputy Secretary John O'Leary, the energy department's number two man.

The hearings in Texas are to be what DOE officials call "public information sessions" on a proposal to demonstrate the permanent disposal of up to 1,000 highly radioactive fuel assemblies discharged from commercial nuclear power plants. That's in addition to storage of four million cubic feet of low-level nuclear wastes and 100,000 cubic feet of intermediatelevel nuclear wastes in underground salt domes 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad, near New Mexico State Highway 128.

Tuesday's hearing in Midland will begin at 1 p.m. in the Midland College Fine Arts building. There will be a similar hearing in Amarillo on Wednesday and on Thursday in El Paso Although DOE officials say privately that they expect the Texas hearings to be an 'easier round' than three held in New Mexico during mid-April, they may not find the proposal has much smoother sailing in Texas. One vocal opponent of the project is Winkler County Judge E.C. Locklear of Kermit, who is concerned about the geological stability of the proposed WIPP site and the transportation of highly radioactive waste materials by truck and rail into the area.

"They would have to bring them right through Kermit," Lockler has said, expressing concern about what hazards that would pose for his West Texas city of 10,000 persons.

On that point, Dr. Charles Hyder, of Albuquerque, N.M., said in an interview with The Reporter-Telegram: "I think you can look for one release of radioactive materials per year." Hyder, is a member of the Albuquerque-based Southwest Research and Information Center and has long been an outspoken critic of "Over a 20-year period, that is not very encouraging. And believe me, Midland is going be along the transportation route of these wastes into Carlsbad," he added.

Hyder said he would be at the public hearing in Midland to "elaborate further"on the transportation hazards of the project. "I'll tell you one thing, if they show the same transportation film that they showed in New Mexico, I'm going to stand up at the hearing and say it's a sham. Because what they are going to ship those nuclear wastes in aren't the concrete and steel cases they show on the film.

In fact they are just now testing the crates they plan to use for nuclear wastes.

Midland has a special interest in the project because of the city's water rights to 920,000 acre feet of water in Loving County on the Texas-New Mexico border.

However, Midland's Director of Public Utilities John Lowe, who attended the WIPP hearing in Santa Fe, said he is not concerned about the threat of nuclear contamination of the water because the WIPP site appears isolated from Midland's water sands and is located at a much deeper

The tractors' .051cc engines labored, as they propelled the model tractors, towing loads that got heavier by the inch down the 15-foot track. Like model airplane, trains and sea-faring vessels, these tractors are modeled after the the real McCoys, be they John Deere, International Havester, Massey-Ferguson, Allis-Chalmers, Ford or other models that replaced teams and the one-

Laredo officers tells circumstances of slaying

LAREDO, Texas (AP) - A Laredo police officer who faces murder charges in the weekend shotgun slay-ing of a Mexican national claims he stopped the man and his companions near the Rio Grande while investigating a robbery that occurred two blocks away.

Officer Antonio L. Elizalde Jr., 32, a five-year veteran of the city's police force, has been suspended from duty and held without bond in Webb County Jail since he turned himself in shortly after the shooting early Saturday in this South Texas border town.

He was scheduled to be brought before Justice of the Peace J.P. Vela this morning.

Police Capt. Joe C. Davila saft the victim, 32-year-old Benito C. Martin-ez of Carrollton, was traveling in a van with his two brothers and another man about 3 a.m. Saturday when Elizalde pulled the vehicle over on a road near the Rio Grande. The Martinez brothers said they were looking for the International Bridge on their way to Monterrey, Mexico, when they took a wrong turn and got lost. Elizalde, who lives near the scene of the shooting, was off duty and was returning from a friend's house when he said he saw a man leave the rear of a gas station in the area about 2:45 a.m. He stopped the four on suspicion of robbery a few minutes later, according to Police Sgt. Tower's hectic campaign travel leaves little time for leisure

By LINDA HILL R-T Staff Writer

TEXARKANA - "Every part of Texas has something to recommend it," U.S. Sen. John Tower said last weekend as he relaxed at his mother's farm near Texarkana.

Dressed in khakis and boots, Tower was taking a brief respite Saturday during an eight-day trip that took him all over the state in his bid for re-election to the U.S. Senate seat he has held since 1961. He had spent Friday night with his mother in her log cabin in the piney woods of East Texas.

He regrets not being able to spend more time in one place during his tightly scheduled trips back to the state, he said.

Friday, he had appeared at five events in three East Texas cities. Before noon Saturday he had donned his three-piece suit again and was off in the six-passenger plane - manufactured by a Japanese company but assembled in Texas - he has leased for the campaign. (Staff members are quick to explain that the plane is plane to Pampa.

Saturday's agenda took the senator to the far northern part of the state, with stops in Pampa and Amarillo.

The schedule is prepared in detail, with each member of the traveling group being given a copy. A look at the schedule tells where the next stop is, the estimated arrival time, who will furnish transportation from the airport and what the event is. Extra notes give other information, such as appropriate dress.

Throughout the two days, everything goes pretty much on schedule. At each stop, local supporters are there to greet the senator and take him to the event. It's up to staff members nervously glancing at watches to pull him away from handshaking and visiting at the appointed

Traveling with Tower are his wife, Lilla, whom he introduces as the best lawyer and the best Texan he knows; his campaign press secretary; his agricultural assistant, who also runs his Austin federal office; his stepson, and a reporter along to observe him on the campaign trail.

In the air between cities, Tower looks over "county files" giving pertinent information about the economic base, population, public officials and political situation in the next county on the schedule. His staff sometimes gives him additional information about subjects likely to come up. And he tells his staff something about the people they are to

That done, he relaxes with and sometimes teases the other passengers. He checks the sports page and sees that the Texas Rangers have lost again - a fact which distresses him, since he is a fan.

Except for a dinner in Amarillo, Tower never gives a formal speech during the two days. Instead, after brief remarks about the status of pending legislation, he asks for questions from the audience.

And at each function, from press conference to reception and from Texarkana to Pampa, the questions basically are the same - Proposition 13, inflation and energy come up at every stop. Questions about beef import quotas are asked in both East Texas and the Panhandle. Tower mentions the Labor Reform Act and the military procurement bill in his introductory comments, and often his listeners will ask more questions about the labor law or defense spend-

He answers the questions concisely and states the same views at each session.

Usually, he is directly critical of President Carter. "Consistency is not one of our president's greatest drawbacks," he quips at one point And he attacks his Democratic op-penent, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, for his vote for the Labor Reform Act.

Talking in his plane between stops, Tower says he has never had a problem with his own beliefs conflicting with the views of a majority if his constituents.

"I can't even conceive of any time when the national interests and the interests of Texas would conflict," he says. After reflecting further, he says such a situation might arise if the time came to choose between a weapons system to be manufactured in Texas and and one to be made elsewhere. Even then, he adds, if the other system were demonstrably superior, its use would be in the best interests of Texas.

During the 17 years he has served in the Senate, he said, lawyers have lost some of their domination of that body, giving it more diversity and perhaps making it a "little less conserva-

He notes that neither he nor his opponent is a lawyer. Both, in fact, are former college professors. Tower expects to go back into teaching when he retires from the Senate.

He expresses frustration caused by his feeling that many of the programs Congress designs to help those at the

Shooting suspect jailed in Odessa

ODESSA - A suspect was in custody today in connection with the fatal shooting Sunday night of a 24-year-old Odessa man.

The shooting took place in Floyd Guinn Park, according to Odessa Police Department officers.

The victim was shot in the upper chest with a small caliber weapon, authorities said.

Consistency mark of area weather

If there is one word to describe the weather lately, other than hot, it would have to be "consistent."

The weatherman with the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport this morning shortened his forecast to a cryptic: fair through Tuesday with hot afternoons. No chance of rain is predicted.

Midland reported a high Sunday of 96 degrees. The record high for that same date is 103 degrees set in 1974. The overnight low was 70, compared to the record of 64 degrees set in Winds should become light and southerly tonight, the weatherman lower end of the socio-economic scale actually hurt those they are designed to aid. He cites increases in minimum wages, which he contends eliminates many unskilled jobs, as an example.

Of the interests of urban and rural constituents, Tower says he does not think they are conflicting in Texas because agriculture is "still our number one industry," and the economic health of many citie depends directly on the health of that business.

Further, he says, the Texas delegation always votes with the farmer when those from other states might vote with urban interests, "and we don't get punished for it in the cities.

The Texas delegation will expand by two after the 1980 census, Tower predicts, because of rising population. The new spots basically will go to Dallas and Houston, he says.

With the retirement of several longterm representatives this year, Texas will lose much of its seniority in Congress. Tower comments that "Texans have appreciated the seniority system more than most states." He believes a congressman who manages to get elected to three terms can count on staying in until he voluntarily retires, "if he doesn't make any major mistakes" and isn't a victim of redis-

Late Saturday night as the plane starts from Amarillo toward Dallas, Tower takes off his shoes, props up his feet and watches the lights of the cities below. The atmosphere is relaxed, as jokes are exchanged and the political situation in the state becomes a topic for general conversation. Sunday, he will go back to Washington, with trips to Texas planned for weekends and congressional recesses through November.

Soviet docking termed a success

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviets have succeeded in docking a second unmanned space ship to the orbiting Salyut 6 space station, sending letters and supplies to the two cosmonauts

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported that Progress 2 linked up with the manned station Sunday afternoon. It brought fuel, other supplies, letters from home and other items to Vladimir Kovalenok and Alexander Ivanchenkov, who are in their fourth week of Earth orbit.

Progress 1 was launched Jan. 20 while a different pair of cosmonauts worked in the space lab. The supplies it brought helped Yuri Romanenko and Georgy Grechko set a world space endurance record of 96 days before they returned to Earth March Western experts said the supply ship would probably be jettisoned to burn up as it re-enters the Earth's atmosphere. That was what happened to Progress 1.

Laughing it up in poet's corner

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) - Since 1585 the Oxford University Press has watched over literary tastes and the mother tongue with the fastidious concern of track stewards maintaining proper dress and decorum in the royal enclosure at Ascot.

Fancy my shock then, the other day, when opening at random a volume of poetry from this prestigious house, the last bulwark against vulgarity, and finding a poem with the opening line:

"A Lesbian girl of Khartoum..." And right next to it another that

'A vice most obscene and unsa-

Holds the Bishop of Balham in slav-

Even that refined British spelling of unsavory could not contain my utter disbelief at the source of such ribaldry, until I realized that this was the "New Oxford Book of English Light Verse," chosen and edited by Kingsley Amis, a learned and witty gentleman who writes mystery stories on the sly.

Amis first burst forth on the British literary scene, like fireworks over the House of Parliament, with the publication in 1954 of "Lucky Jim," an acidly funny novel that since has been followed by two dozen volumes of fiction, verse and criticism. Now comes this marvelous compendium of comic stanzas that is not so much a sequel to The Oxford Book of Light Verse selected by W. H. Auden in 1938 as a direct contradiction of it.

Auden in those days was freighted with a political philosophy that governed his choice of what was light verse along lines of what was socially significant and accessible to a proletarian audience. Amis aims lower, toward the belly laugh, which is where light verse belongs, and scores higher, although he admits choosing his handful of naughty limericks 'with reluctance.

Noel Coward and Edward Lear are here side by side splitting with Thomas Hardy, T. S. Eliot; Samuel Johnson and Lord Byron.

Parody, satire, nonsense rhymes, even a few witty lines from the colonies find their place, although more space is given to making fun of American poets than quoting many of

There is Lewis Carroll's devastating parody of Longfel-low's "Hiawatha," with the hapless brave portrayed as a photographer taking a family picture in that familiar sing-song meter:

"From his shoulder Hiawatha Took the camera of rosewood..." But strangely, erroneously, another deft knock at Longfellow is entitled

"After Emerson" "Lives of great men all remind us As we o'er their pages turn

That we too may leave behind us Letters that we ought to burn." The 50 lines of John Keats' "Ode on a Grecian Urn" have been nimbly summarized by Desmond Skirrow

"Gods chase Round vase. What say? What play? Don't know Nice, though."

Amis manages to ressurrect a poem I have been hunting for since high school days, the one that begins, "An Austrian army awfully array'd, Boldly by battery besieged Belgrade" and continues all the way through the alphabet without breaking step to its conclusion

"Yield, yield, ye youths, ye yeomen, yield your yell: Zeno's, Zimmermann's, Zoroas-ter's zeal, Again attract; arts against arms appeal!"

This sort of thing, Amis points out in his introduction, makes much more stringent demands on the writer's technique than so called "high" or classic verse because it admits of fewer mistakes. "A concert pianist is allowed a wrong note here and there;" notes the editor, "a juggler is not allowed to drop a plate.'

Few plates or clinkers are dropped in this sunny anthology, where even Benjamin Jowett, the great Oxford Greek scholar and vice chancellor, is pelted on his pedestal:

"First come I; my name is There's no knowledge but I know

I am master of this college: What I don't know isn't knowledge. We cling to the belief that the English, especially the Victorians, are a prudish lot with no seems of humor, but Lewis Carroll, who among many other delights wrote "Twinkle, twinkle, little bat" and made a laughing stock of the poet laureate, Robert Southey, with his "You are old, Father William," was busy photographing naked pre-pubescent little girls long before Vladimiar Nabokov discovered "Lolita."

And A. E. Houseman, when not engaged in Shropshire lyrics, could be droll on a subject that today would bring the women's libbers down on his

"When Adam day by day Woke up in Paradise He used to say 'O this is very nice.' But Even from scenes of bliss Transported him for life The more I think of this

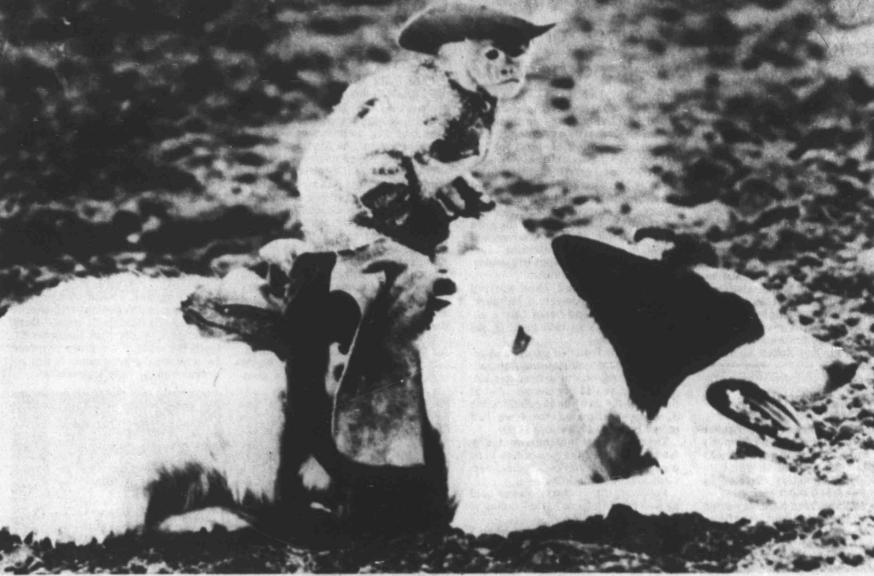

The more I beat my wife. The current poet laureate, Sir John Betjeman, is a master of light verse. Witness the lady's prayer he overheard in Westminster Abbey during "Gracious Lord, oh bomb the Germans.

Spare their women for Thy Sake And if that is not too easy We will pardon Thy Mistake. But gracious Lord, whate'er shall Don't let anyone bomb me."

There'll always be an England and an English literature as long as the Oxford University Press can wrinkle its high brows into a grin configuration and allow the poets to discourse learnedly on the besetting sin of the Bishop of Balham.

Book deals in White House lore

WASHINGTON (AP) - It says here that Billy Carter is allergic to peanuts.

It also says that as a young naval officer, Jimmy Carter used to get seasick, and carried a bucket with him when he went to stand watch.

And that Amy Carter is one of about 180 children who have lived in the White House. The first was a 4-year-old granddaughter of John Adams.

There have been more presidents with the name James than any other; Carter is the sixth. James Madison's close friends called him by his nickname, Jemmy. Presumably, some of Carter's

Would you ride a camel for a weekend benefit?

HOOPER, Neb. (AP) - What was a college dean doing atop a racing camel? Probably the same thing the capital city's mayor was doing behind an ostrich: holding on tight, at the Hooper Camel-Ostrich Races.

"I was just crazy enough to do it. Actually, it was sort of fun," said Caryl Steyer, Midland Lutheran College dean of students, after dismounting from Sheiba, the camel that ran away with the victory. The second camel in the race, Valentine, sent Tekamah school principal Bill Anderson tumbling into the dust.

Several thousand fans visited Hooper Downs, formerly a ballpark, during the weekend benefit for community projects in this town of 895

Besides the featured camel and ostrich races, the entertainment included donkey races and a beer garden. Admission was $3 per person, and at the end of the day Sunday, fundraiser Al Croson estimated the town had netted between $7,000 and $8,000.

The money goes into the community fund which over the years has been used to improve parks, medical services and street lighting.

Following the victory, Steyer said he was retiring from camel racing to return to academics.

"I thought it was a put-on when I got the letter asking me to be in the race. I did it because I like this little town," said Steyer, who conceded he was a little nervous before the ride. "I thought I'd just come here, ride the dumb camel and go home. But my family came as a cheering section."

Before her race began, Lincoln Mayor Helen Boosalis made a rapid exit from the cart when her ostrich, Boomer, somehow got his feathers ruffled. "It took four or five men to harness them and tie them into the sulky. I had no idea they're such strong birds," she said. Hers was a three-bird race.

Boomer lost by a beak when Jughead, steered by University of Nebraska journalism director Neal Copple, surged ahead at the finish line. Suzanne Masters, managing editor of the Lincoln Star, came in third with a bird named Oscar.

Mike Eagan, publisher of the Hooper Sentinal, said he got the idea for the races from the movie "Doctor Doolittle." Eagan won one of the ostrich races with Boomer, whom he described as "the star. He likes to run and get it over with."

Although it was her first ostrich race, novelty is not new to Mrs. Boosalis. During past fund-raisers, the mayor participated in a goat milking contest, had sponge balls full of water thrown at her head, and rode in the open cockpit of a biplane.

ERA marchers to lobby for deadline extension to parley in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) - Backers of the Equal Rights Amendment, who marched by the tens of thousands Sunday in support of the proposal, were lobbying members of Congress today to extend the March deadline for ratifying the measure. The National Organization for Women and more than 300 other groups staged the march and a rally on the steps of the Capitol to dramatize their stand that, even if the proposal dies next spring, the issue will not fade away.

Bella Abzug, co-chairwoman of the National Advisory Committee on Women, told the marchers to "lobby (members of Congress) and make as a condition of support of their re-election a vote for the ERA extension."

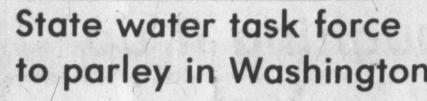

The head of the liberal Americans for Democratic Action, Patsy Mink, told the marchers not to leave Washington "without having a firm comber" of Congress.

"And if they dare to turn us down," she added, "... we will turn them out on the next election day.'

Eleanor Holmes Norton, head of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, told the crowd, "We marched up Constitution Avenue today (Sunday), but we are going to march from one end of America to another until women are as free as "We are going to march from one end of America to another until the ERA is law," she said.

The proposal, passed by Congress in 1972 to ban discrimination based on sex, will die March 22 unless three more states ratify it or Congress extends the seven years given proposed constitutional amendments to win approval from 38 state legislatures.

Richard halts Dodgers by striking out 12 during 5-1 triumph

HOUSTON (AP) - Although he's won 46 games over the past two and a half seasons, Houston's J.R. Richard will be spending the All-Star break the same way he spent it the past two years - at home.

McCordic seeks bowling crown

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Pete McCordic is looking forward to winning his first Professional Bowlers Association championship after taking the lead Sunday night in the $60,-000 Salt Lake Open. McCordic, a six-year veteran on the PBA tour, came close in two previous tournaments this year, finishing second and third.

Going into the final 16 games Monday, McCordic's 222 average leaves him 51 pins ahead of second-place John Handegard of Eugene, Ore. "It's going to be tough for the next two rounds," the Houston pro said. "I don't think it's going to get any ea-McCordic won four of his eight matches in Sunday night's fourth round. He defeated Handegard 213-194 in the opening match and outscored fourth-place Steve Martin 258-247 in another crucial match. "I felt like I bowled pretty well, but I'm disappoined in my won-lost record. My opponents shot pretty well against me though," he said.

McCordic shot games of 213, 258, 223, 199, 224, 192, 210 and 254 for 1,773 during the round. His four victories gave him an additional 120 bonus pins at 30 pins per victory, raising his total to 5,892.

Handegard's total was 5,841, and third place Wayne Chester of San Mateo, Calif., had 5,747. Martin, the PBA rookie of the year from Kingsport, Tenn., had a 5,668 total, while Carmen Salvino of Chicago was fifth was 5,621.

Salvino is the only PBA champion among the top five.

Richard, the major leagues' strikeout leader, tossed his second consecutive four-hitter while rolling to his seventh straight triumph over the Dodgers as the Astros dropped Los Angeles, 5-1, Sunday.

"I'll probably visit my sister who just had an operation," said Richard, 8-9, who also contributed a two-run single. "I may do some fishing, but I really haven't made up my mind

The veteran right-hander hurled five innings of no-hit ball before Bill Russell lined a sharp single to center to lead off the sixth inning. Russell moved to second on Ron Cey's grounder and scored on Steve Garvey's double to account for Los Angeles' only run off Richard as Houston broke a four-game losing streak. Richard walked six and struck out 12 to raise his season strikeout total to 157 and he says he's throwing harder this year than last year when he won 18 games.

"I'm getting the ball over the plate more and I'm throwing with more velocity than I did last year.

"I got erratic out there today. Six walks can blow a game open sometimes."Houston jumped on Dodger starter Don Sutton, 9-7, for a first-inning run on doubles by Terry Puhl and Jose Cruz and added a third inning run on a single and stolen base by Puhl and Enos Cabell's RBI single

Art Howe's run-producing single and Richard's two run bloop single to right highlighted a three-run Astro uprising in the sixth inning as Houston broke the Dodgers' four-game winning streak and Sutton's personal five-game winning sreak. Although his team lost the game, Los Angeles outfielder Reggie Smith believes his team won its "weekend war" with the

"We beat them three out of four," Smith said. "The feeling that we're going to win every series is back. The Glants are looking over their shoul-ders. We know we have the better ball club and we're just going to have to go

Serrano is anxious to fight Arguello

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) -World Boxing Association junior Serrano floored the top-ranked conlightweight champion Samuel Serrano of Puerto Rico says he is ready to challenge World Boxing Council champion Alexis Arguello to put the division's crown on one head.

Serrano retained his version of the title Saturday night when he knocked out top-ranking contender Oh Young Ho of South Korea in the ninth round at San Juan's Roberto Clemente Coli-

"Now I'm going to try to get a fight with Alexis Arguello and unify the title," said Serrano after the fight. Arguello, of Nicaragua, won the WBC junior lightweight title from Puerto Rican Alfredo Escalera last

"My technique is enough to beat Arguello,' said Serrano. "I only want a good purse for that fight."

The champion took home $100,000 after Saturday's match while Young Ho received $10,000.

Rangers edge Tigers in 13th inning, 4-3

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers aren't where manager Billy Hunter thought they would be at the All-Star break, but Hunter believes the law of averages has to work to his team's advantage during the second half of the American League baseball season.

Hunter predicted in the spring the Rangers would be the best team in baseball and atop the AL West. He stuck his neck out when he said he should be fired if the team didn't win the division.

Jim Mason's single with one out in the 13th inning Sunday night scored Mike Hargrove from third base with the winning run as the Rangers edged Detroit, 4-3, to stay above the .500 mark for the year. But, despite their 42-41 record, the in the AL West, where they are 21/2 games behind front-running Califor-"If we could go to Boston after the break and beat the Red Sox badly two games, I think we'd be on our way, Hunter said Sunday night. "Maybe we can play the second half of the season like Boston has the first And, Hunter knows that if the law of averages holds true the free-agentstudded Rangers have a lot of hits coming their way in the next several

Sunday night's 4-3 victory snapped a three-game losing streak. Entering the contest, Texas, which had climbed to first place in the AL West in late June, had lost nine of its last 11

Jim Umbarger, 4-6, held the Tigers scoreless after relieving Fergie Jen-kins to start the 11th inning.

Detroit got a superb relief effort from Jim Slaton, 8-6, who came on in the fourth inning and allowed only one hit until Hargrove led off the 13th with a single. John Hiller relieved and intentionally walked Toby Harrah after Hargrove was sacrificed to sec-ond. But Hiller also walked Kurt Bevacqua, unintentionally, to load the

Steve Foucault came on to pitch and Mason punched his second offer-ing for a single to right field that Texas got sparkling ninth-inning defensive play from center fielder Jorgensen, first baseman Hargrove and second baseman Bump Wills to keep the game knotted.

The game began in sweltering 100 degree heat and it cooled only slightly as the night progressed.

Flanagan pursu Cosmos' Chinagila

By The Associated Press New England's Mike Flanagan had been pursuing North American Soccer League goal-scor-ing leader Giorgio Chinaglia of the Cosmos for 21 After Flanagan's 22nd match, it's Chinaglia turn to do the chasing.

The high-scoring Englishman tied a NASL twice to lead the Sting record for goals scored in a game with five Sunday as he led the Tea Men to a 5-2 triumph over the California Surf.

Flanagan, in his first season with New England, has amassed 27 goals - the NASL record is 30 for one season set by John Kowalik and Cirilo Fernandez in 1968 — and holds a two-goal lead over Chinaglia in the individual scoring race with eight games re-

The five goals by the elusive forward tied the mark jointly held by Chinaglia, Steven David and Ron Moore. Flanagan, however, would not take all the credit for his feat. "It's nice to be No. 1 in goals," Flanagan said. 'But a forward needs help to score goals. "Those three goals in the second half were be-cause of long passes, he added. "I couldn't ask

75th Trans-Miss golf opens today

DALLAS (AP) - A handful of collegians commanded the attention today as a field of 400 amateurs teed off at two courses in a bid for 64 qualifying spots for the 75th Trans-Miss golf championship.

Lindy Miller, an Oklahoma State University star who was low amateur in the 1978 Masters and the 1977 U.S. Open, was among 200 playing at hilly Las Colinas Country Club.

Doug Clarke, a Stanford University player who won the Trans-Miss two years ago at Pebble Beach, Calif., was among the other 200 in the field playing at Brook Hollow Golf Club. The players will change courses Tuesday for their final 18 holes of medal qualifying play. The Trans-Miss championship will be decided by match play, with the player firing the best qualifying score teeing off first Wednesday at Brook Hollow's No. 1 tee. He will be paired head-to-head with the No. 33 qualifier; the No. 2 qualifier will go against No. 34, etc. Clarke, after playing a practice round on both courses, predicted scores will be noticeably lower at Las Colinas.

'Brook Hollow is one of the finest golf courses I've ever played in. I'd have to rank it in the top 10. It's a fun course. Very tight. You have to hit every shot, hook the ball when you need to and fade the ball. You can't just go out and hit every shot the same," he said. Clarke, who was 17 when he won the Trans-Miss in 1976 by beating Dr.

Ed Updegraff 2-up in the 36-hole final, said he used his driver on only three of Brook Hollow's 18 holes, "and I might be going down to two." Brook Hollow is reasonably short at 6,550 yards, but the fairways are narrow, and when Clarke missed three or four of them he was in trouble, he said, and ended up about 4 over par for the round. 'Five yards off the fairway, the rough is small, and then all of a sudden it's two or three inches deep. You get in there, you can't hit a normal shot

Las Colinas, on the other hand, has undulating fairways "and is almost wide open. You can use a driver all over the course. The two are almost opposite of each other. The lower scores will be shot at Las Colinas,'

Bjorn Borg best in tennis world

All of the men's pro tennis world, unlike Caesar's Gaul, is divided into two parts - young Bjorn Borg and the rest of the 200 to 300 court gypsies who travel the international circuit.

The 22-year-old, long-haired Swede now stands apart. He is on one towering tier and you need binoculars to see those just below him - Jimmy Connors, Guillermo Vilas, Ilie Nastase and Vitas Gerulaitis.

Another wide gap separates the Borg's crushing 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Connors in the Wimbledon final projects the Scandinavian into an elitist society spoken of by tennis buffs only in reverential terms.

If he never wins another match and there's no doubt he will win many more and take home additional trophies in abundance - Borg already has earned the right to be bracketed with such greats as Bill Tilden, Fred Perry, Don Budge, France's Four Musketeers, Jack Kramer, Pancho Gonzales and Rod Laver.

"No doubt about it," said Perry, the last man to win three consecutive Wimbledons back in the mid-1930s and now a British radio commentator. "What has he won now?" Perry paused to answer his own question, Three Wimbledons, three French and two Italian. And he's just start-

"There appears no limit to what this kid can achieve. He has everything - great size, natural physical assets, speed, lightning reflexes and, more important, excellent temperament.

"With it, he's a great boy." The British expected the Wimbledon men's final to be a knockdown, drag-out battle between the game's two heavyweights - Borg, a sledgehammer hitter with an almost inhuman faculty for insulating himself against all outside distractions, and the fiery, feisty Connors, a street fighter in knee-high socks and white pants and a Little Lord Fauntleroy

An even-money bet with London's legal bookies, it was advertised in Britain's flashy tabloids as the court battle of the century

Borg turned it into a travesty. The young Swede's thunderbolt service, topspin forehand and ripping two-fisted backhand reduced Connors' normally aggressive, slambang attack to complete impotence.

The American was left to appreciate how aging Ken Rosewall felt in 1974 when he was wiped out by Connors' flashing steel racquet, first at Wimbledon and then at Forest Hills, winning only eight games in six sets.

Now Borg has beaten Connors five of the last six times they have met and has given up only 12 games in the last six sets they have played. Counting the last set of the tournament at Boca Raton, Fla., and a match in Tokyo, the sets read like this: 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

The strong, quick-moving Viking has completely dominated Vilas, who has proven himself to be a one-surface performer - clay. No other player on the scene can begin to challenge the recognized king of the courts.

Borg, a native of Sodertlage on the outskirts of Stockholm, had his fighting qualities questioned whe he joined the circuit at the tender age of 17, but gradually he proved himself worthy of any challenge.
