Child Pedestrian Is Major Problem

"Bring 'em up, don't run 'em down"

In these words, Mr. E. C. McFadden of Dallas, President, Texas Safety Association, Inc., today made a plea to Texas motorists to watch out for children in traffic. Mr. McFadden was speaking in connection with the child pedestrian and bicycle safety program being sponsored locally this month by the Texas Safety Association, the Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"Every year thousands of children are injured and killed in motor vehicle accidents," Mr. McFadden said. "To improve this tragic situation, every driver must keep alert for children."

According to National Safety Council statistics, 4,400 children under 15 were killed in traffic in 1953, and approximately 225,000 youngsters in this age group were injured, Mr. McFadden said.

"Of those who died," he said, "2,000 were killed in cities, and 2,400 were killed in rural areas."

Mr. McFadden also pointed out that in 1953 almost 2,000 of the youngsters who lost their lives in traffic were pedestrians.

"A total of about 32,000 child pedestrians were injured and killed that year," he said, "and most of these accidents occurred to children crossing streets between intersections, coming onto streets from behind parked cars or playing in the roadway."

To avoid bringing harm to children in traffic, Mr. McFadden suggested that drivers follow four safety rules. The rules are:

1. Always expect the unexpected where children are concerned, remembering that children are unpredictable and that the motorist must think for them in traffic.

2. Give young bike riders every break.

3. Drive with extreme caution near schools and playgrounds and in residential areas -- in fact, near any place where children may be expected to gather.

4. Be especially alert in school areas for signs, signals, traffic police, school patrols and for children themselves.

He served as minister at McCaulley, Silverton, Thalia, then the Vernon circuit and was returned as minister of the Kirkland church. From there he went to the Shamrock circuit, then served as pastor of the Quitaque church. He went to the Texhoma church and from there came to Matador. # Rotan Is Proud . . . Of It's Churches

Through good books the sages of the ages may speak to the children of this age. Good books are antidotes for juvenile delinquency and for adult delinquency. Good books increase our joys, soften our sorrows, ennoble our friendships, enlarge our ideals, refine our ambitions, guide our energies, feed our souls. They are companions in loneliness, friends in trouble, tools for work and guides in wayfaring. The church and the church library offer you books that will keep your boys from being crooks. Books help mold minds.
