SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - Residents still reeling from an earthquake that rumbled through Santa Barbara and injured about 50 people are cleaning up its evidence today: shattered windows, flooded streets, cracked highways and a derailed train.

The quake rattled five counties Sunday, knocking people to the ground. The temblor was centered in the Santa Barbara Canal about six miles south of here, in an area that sits atop California's most prominent fault, the San Andreas.

WILLOW ISLAND, W.Va. (AP) - Today, 14 weeks and one investigation after 51 men tumbled to terrible deaths from the rim of a power plant's cooling tower, the company bearing the most blame begins removing the twisted steel and shattered concrete so construction on the tower can resume.

Survivors of the victims, who fell 168 feet when scaffolding gave way, are disturbed that the government is permitting the debris to be carted away.

They claim that the chunks of concrete, the steel scaffolding and cables, the shattered timbers and the safety net, which trapped the victims in a steel mesh shroud, contain graphic evidence of negligence on the part of both the company and the federal investigative

The agency cited Research-Cottrell, a Bound Brook, N.J., company, for 16 willful violations of federal safety standards in connection with the deaths. The company, which drew more than $100,-000 in fines, denies the charges and has appealed the citations.

The victims' families also are disputing the investigation results. WASHINGTON (AP)- A panel of the National Endowment for the Arts urged last wek that federal support for nonprofit professional theater be increased to $6.2 million a year from its present $4

Edsel Lovers Hold Meeting In Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) - The Ford Edsel, generally considered the au-tomotive equivalent of the dinosaur, is a thing of beauty and a joy forever to the 350 members of the International Edsel

"Ford had a better idea and didn't know it," reads a sign in the window of one of 130 Edsels parked at a Nashville hotel, where the group held its 10th annual convention this weekend.

"When I was in high school, I fell in love with them," said Tony Housman, who drove from Wapello, Iowa, to Nashville with his wife Pennie in a 1958 Edsel Pacer. "I've liked them ever since."

Housman said Edsels aren't too hard to find and usually cost from $500 to $3,-500, depending on condition.

NEW YORK (AP) — Those rules of thumb by which we gauge our economic performance should be reviewed every so often, said the financial adviser, if only be used for that calculation too.

The Rule of 72 states that if you divide the rate of inflation into 72 you'll obtain a rough idea of how long it takes to cut in half the buying power of your dollar. Try dividing 10 into 72. Shocking?

A familiar rule of thumb — that you should spend no more for a home than 2½ times your annual income — is also becoming bruised by attempts to make it fit today's inflated economy.

To illustrate: The median family income now is approaching $16,000 a year, which suggests, according to the rule, that the typical house might be selling for about $40,000. But it isn't; it's over $50,-

This doesn't mean the rule has failed: not at all. Financial advisers still maintain it as a measure. But it does indicate that many families are having a difficult time living within the rule.

Analysis

Another rule might also be exami the one that says a family man should maintain life insurance in an amount four to five times his annual income. Watch out for that one; inflation does a job on

The assumption is that your family should be left a sum sufficient to enable it to maintain its standard of living at least during a readjustment period. And that the sum should pay for educations But now consider inflation. So long as it lasts it takes more each year to maintain that standard. itions, for instance, might soar.

Being generalities and approximations, rules of thumb often do not apply at all. While the "four to five times" rule often is cited by salesmen, the truth is that each family's needs are different.

One, for example, might have many debts that must be covered in the event of death or disability. Another might have a huge mortgage. Another might have a disabled child. But some might have no children.

New Wrinkle In Polls

poll surfaced most likely was: "Well, so what else is new?'

In truth, there wasn't much new in the latest survey of how Americans feel about the pb President Carter is, or rather is not

His overall job rating remained about the me, dropping one percentage point to an even lower level than ever recorded by Prestent Nixon.

WHAT WAS significant was an added question on how many persons would like to see Mr. Carter seek reelection.

Half of the American people now do not want the present occupant of the White House to seek another four year term.

Of even more import, more than a third of those who voted for Mr. Carter in 1976 now say they would prefer some other candidate. The latest poll, taken by the Associated Press and NBC, shows 73 percent giving the President a poor to fair rating, with 26 percent rating him good to excellent

THE FEELING around the White House after Mr. Nixon resigned under fire, 36 perthe past weekend as another new nationwide cent of those questioned still rated his performance good to excellent, 20 points above Mr. Carter's new low mark

However, there was one bright spot in the picture for Mr. Carter.

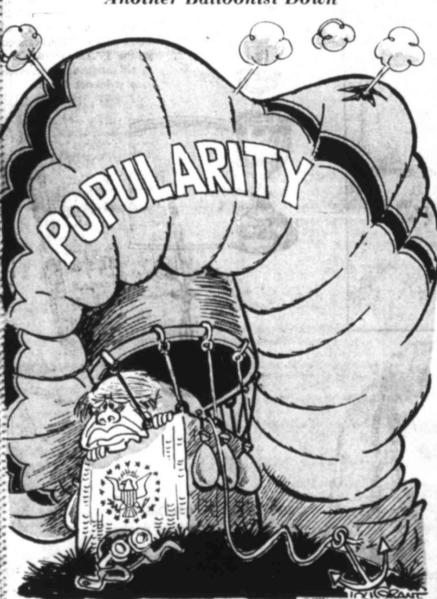

Public trust in the President, as distinguished from his job rating, rose again slightly this month, continuing an upward trend started this summer after 15 months

HOWEVER, IT is obvious, even to White House insiders, that the President is nearing the "point of no return" if he is to turn things around before the 1980 picking and choosing process starts.

It won't be easy for the inexperienced Georgian, and in all fairness, it wouldn't be easy for any President, given the condition of the nation's inflation, the declining dollar and the Mideast and African crisis.

The point seems to be that the public perceives Mr. Carter's lack of action, leadership and expertise as having contributed materially to these problems. Obviously, they have FOR WHATEVER it is worth, four years grave doubts about his ability to solve them.

Quota Beats All He Ever HUD

WASHINGTON-I met a man from Michigan the other day. He had a melancholy tale to tell of the city of Muskegon and the U.S. Department of using and Urban Development. I have checked there, and checked it there, and I pass the tale along. It speaks with a certain sad eloquence of the bureaucratic mind at work.

Muskegon is an industrial town on the eastern hore of Lake Michigan. It's a beautiful area low, and once it must have been altogether lovey, but the area's huge dunes were stripped of world War I brought a few heavy industries to the city; World War II saw more industries, and with it the migration of many hundreds of unfalled black laborers from the South.

Things went along real well through the Kore-War," said my friend, "and then, plop, the wn went on its ear. Downtown Muskegon bein to shrivel like a dried apple. Our plants were bsolete. New capital couldn't be found.

*Census figures tell the story. In 1970 we had 400 fewer people than we had in 1960; in 1960 had 2,000 fewer than in 1950. We're supposed have about 44,000 residents now, maybe 3,000

The second good thing, said my friend, is that a few enterprising business leaders got together and built one of the few downtown malls in the country that really works. None of the principals made a dime on the project.

They worked for three years out of a moral commitment to revitalize their community. After the mall got going, hopes began to flicker that maybe Muskegon could pull off a comeback.

SO THE SAME civic leaders, the movers and shakers in the town, worked up a new and exciting project—a downtown convention hotel.

This wasn't anything to rival Renaissance Center in Detroit, mind you, but it carried the immediate prospect of jobs for construction workers and the eventual prospect of jobs for cooks, waiters, busboys, maids, and other hotel employes.

It was to be an $8 million project—$6 million in private capital, plus $2 million to be obtained from HUD in an Urban Development Action

With great anticipation, Muskegon sent in its application. On May 11, the application was re-

As evidence of this failure, a HUD spokesman coldly reminded Mayor John E. Midendarp that in June 1976 the city employed 410 persons, of whom 32 are black. By September of 1977, because of lay-offs, the city employed only 376 persons of whom 26 were black.

The six blacks who had been laid off constituted a 19 percent reduction rate, compared to an 8.2 reduction rate for whites laid off. The bureaucrats of HUD therefore ruled Muskegon ineligible for an action grant, but if the city reformed its ways, maybe some time in the future a new application could be considered.

I TELEPHONED Muskegon and got City Manager Paul Frederick. He said there was nothing wrong with HUD's figures, only with HUD's un-he's been painted in some quarters. No matter. The fact is that Hill, now that he's the Democratic nominee for governor, is moving rapidly to mend his fences before conservative and independent-minded voters can stray over into Republican Bill Clements' pasture. Clements, who was in Lubbock the same day, has been churning out regular news releases naming people who have climbed onto his band-

BOTH CANDIDATES obviously have read the California Proposition 13 results and both have hailed the Texas Legislature's tax-reduction efforts as a step in the right direction on planks right out of their own platforms.

But Hill obviously feels that he has more room to manuever in the philosophical field.

The attorney general knows that his more liberal supporters are safely in the corral-they're not about to desert to a Republican-and that he's thus free to emphasize those portions of his campaign that appeal more to the middle-of-the-roader and conservative.

Clements, with fewer "safe" Republican votes

Whereas the GOP nominee has to convince voters to break a century-old Democratic tradition, Hill has merely to reassure them he's not going to tear up everything the Establishment has Hill appears to be making his game plan work.

ON THE AFTERNOON before a fund-raising barbecue honoring E.L. Short at Tahoka last month, Hill flew into Lubbock and met with some of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's key campaign workers here.

Before the meeting broke up, they had patched over their differences and Hill knew he could count on them for the fall campaign.

One of those ex-Briscoe supporters, Lee Stafford, accompanied Hill to a meeting with The A-J editorial board last week. The conference was interrupted by a telephone call for Hill from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Hobby was saying "yes" to Hill's request that the lieutenant governor handle the gavel at next month's Democratic state convention.

Stafford, a few minutes later, got around to talking about how strongly his friend House Speaker Bill Clayton is supporting Hill.

Obviously, the Democratic nominee feels he has every reason to feel confident of election -even though he takes pains to say he doesn't want to come off appearing to think he's as good as elected already.

ON THE ISSUES. Hill has not changed; but by a shift in emphasis he sounds almost like the flipside of Briscoe's "no new taxes" pledge.

Unless President Carter changes his attitude on energy and other issues of importance to Texas. Hill says flatly "I could not support him for the party's nomination in 1980."

The attorney general still puts public education at the top of his list of priorities. In answer to a question, though, he says that when he supports raising teacher pay up to the national average he's talking about "factoring in" the local supplements such as are paid in Lubbock and not about bringing the state minimum scale up to the national mean.

If elected, Hill also says, he'll have an "actionoriented" policy to import water to West Texas.

He'll put higher education "on hold" during the next two years, "keep its quality up" and study it, then hope to find ways to improve it and make it more cost efficient in the 1981 Legislature.

HILL WANTS MORE tax reform but opposes either giving cities "revenue sharing" funds from the state treasury or allowing them the option of adding another penny to the city sales tax.

On The A-J's pages after the Hill and Clements visits, much of what the two had to say while in Lubbock could have been lifted verbatim from one man's story to the other's without changing the thrust of what either said.

If Hill can sustain that strategy until November. he'll leave Clements a choice of unappealing alternatives: Either to sound like an echo of the Hill position or become increasingly strident and thus risk alienating the moderate, independent

Jimmy, You Can't Run Russia

WASHINGTON-Sometimes I wonder how it looks from the other side of the Iron Curtain and in the long view of history.

President Carter denounces Russian verdicts before they are made and puts his name and neck on the line for accused traitors, Anatoly Shcharansky and Alexander Ginzburg, for no ascertainable reason except that they are anti-Kremlin.

One of the prisoners is accused of spying for the United States as a CIA agent. The other was denied an exit visa to Israel lest he carry military secrets outside the USSR.

Neither was given capital punishment. Shcharansky got 13 years and Ginzburg nine years. The trial was semi-secret, and little is known of the prosecution or defense. But there isn't a country on earth which does not protect its security against dissenters who are thought to consort with the enemy.

LET'S LOOK BACK. On Oct. 16, 1859, a dissenter named John Brown with less than 20 followers crossed the Potomac River bridge from Maryland into Virginia, captured a block house and arsenal and proclaimed himself the liberator of millions of black Africans whose forebears had been brought to America as captives and held in slav-

John Brown was trying to renew this fight for human rights-for everything the Declaration of Independence stood for-but the U.S. Marines under Capt. Robert E. Lee easily overcame him and his band.

Brown was tried, condemned for treason and murder in Charles Town, publicly hanged on Dec. 2, 1859, amid a cordon of troops, not unlike that at the Moscow trial. Congress did absolutely nothing to reform the government that permitted slavery and executed its resisters.

WHAT THE RUSSIAN royalist government thought of all this, I do not know. Queen Victoria of Great Britain and her Prince Consort Albert did some handwringing, but left America to its own business, which largely was selling southern cotton to the English mills.

Spain and France, the imperial continental powers, looked the other way. Only within the United States was there dissent against this hideous offense to human rights, and we can see that it came, though much too late.

The Republican Party was born of this dissent, and the very next year elected its first President, Abraham Lincoln.

South Carolina, followed by 10 other states, refused to be hectored by the central government and began the rebellion in which they lost everything except honor.

cution in the USA and USSR. The comparison between what happened in the enforcement and resistance to the Civil Rights acts of the 1960s and what happens inside the prison state of Russian will not stand up at all. Only a misguided or disloval American would say so.

But it would be all right with me if President Carter would let those people in the Kremlin alone. We know little and approve less of the Russian judicial system, but the way to keep peace in the world is to hold one's peace. For all we know the men who were accused and convicted were as guilty of insurrection as John Brown. I don't believe Carter would tell a deliberate lie, but I would be hard to convince that the CIA does not hire Russian dissenters to

There are many reasons why we should block Russian expansionism and suspect Russian motives at every turn. Jimmy Carter will not serve either America or humanity by trying to run the internal affairs of any country except his own.

How many of you have complaints in my category? How many of you also are backtracking to the traditional mechanical timepiece that, with all its drawbacks, is simple to manage?

On complaints, I found the answer easily. Among the top 20 subjects of consumer complaints to the Office of Consumer Affairs in Washington, watches and clocks are listed only one place behind TV and radio, and several places ahead of home repairs, movers, etc. On hand-winding watches, the traditional mechanical watch that uses a balance wheel, which oscillates 5 to 10 times a second to keep time, is still the favorite, reported a spokesman for the U.S. Jewelry Industry Council. And this, despite the multiplicity of choices you now have in the timepiece market.

THE CHOICES for instance:

Similar to the traditional hand-wound timepiece is the automatic or self-winding watch, except that it keeps itself wound by the movements of the wearer's wrist.

* In a different class is the electric watch which, although it is a conventional balancewheel watch, is powered by a tiny battery assuring continuous operation for about 12 months.

 In electronic watches, one type has a batteryoperated balance wheel, with power transmitted by an electronic circuit while other types use tuning-forks or quartz crystals in place of balance The tuning-fork watch has a more accurate time-keeping standard than the balance wheel; a tiny fork vibrates from 300 to 450 times a second. The quartz watch has a tiny bar of quartz crystal which vibrates thousands of times a second and is hailed as amazingly accurate. A much lower frequency of vibrations regulates the time * Quartz analog watches use a traditional face but either electromagnets or tiny synchronous motors control the wheels and gears which turn the hands on the dial. QUARTZ DIGITALS (solid-state or all-electronic watches) have no moving parts. The conventional dial with hands is replaced by a digital

* The L.E.D. (light-emitting diodes) is one type of solid-state digital which displays time by means of dots or bars which glow at the touch of

* The L.C.D. (liquid crystal display) is a second type which displays time when a light-sensitive liquid is electrically stimulated. It consumes very little power and, with the L.C.D., continuous time display is possible.

* Then there are the special feature watches: many show the month, day and year as well as hours, minutes and seconds; others give phases of the moon or the time in other countries or Chronograph watches measure small fractions of a second while others are used to calculate speeds, distances and altitudes. There are special watches for the blind, for astronauts, pilots, skin divers, parachutists, as well as timepieces that are water-dust-wind-shock-magnetic resistant. There are about as many forecast as there are analysts on the number of people likely to keep working, or return to the work force, because of the new law. Inflation also may lead people to keep working under the new law. Most pensions are fixed; the cost of living is not. In an AP-NBC News poll, 36 percent of those questioned said they didn't think their retirement income would be enough to live on. The same number said it would be just enough to cover living costs. Only 23 percent thought that pensions, Social Security and their other resources would give them enough to live comfortably in retirement.

In the same poll, 43 percent said that the new law would make it more likely they will work past age 65.

Businesses Utilize Gas Turbine Power

NEW YORK (UPI) - It's surprising how often new inventions can turn the clock back as well as forward. The gas turbine is a case in point.

In the nineteenth century every factory had to make its own power, either from a dam and a waterwheel or a big steam boiler and a coal pile or woodyard. The factory workrooms were forests of belts descending from overhead shafts to run machines because all the power came from one big engine.

Then the electric utilities grew up and everybody began buying power and put-ting small motors on individual ma-

Today, because of the gas turbine, more and more businesses are making their own power again either for standby purposes or to use continuously, says Roger Swingle, a regional manager for International Harvester's Solar Turbines International division of San Diego.

"It's not going to become universal by a long shot, but a surprising number of companies find it pays for a wide variety of reasons," Swingle said.

One of the more striking examples is the Ronzoni spaghetti and pasta plant in Brooklyn. N.Y. Ronzoni gets all its power from two Solar Saturn turbines. The company does this because it can use the high heat exhaust — air at 800 degrees F containing 16 percent oxygen - in its food cooking and drying processes.

This use of the turbine to provide both mechanical energy to turn a generator and thermal energy is called co-generation. The thermal energy also can be converted to mechanical energy by heating a steam boiler if desired.

Swingle said the kind of factories that will use the rather expensive gas turbine to make their own power require the cogeneration feature and they also are processing industries operating pretty much around the clock. More and more textile mills are realizing the advantages of using the turbine's co-generation capability, he said.

Other continuous usages of the gas turbine include generation of power for oil and gas offshore drilling, gau processing plants and pipeline pumping stations.

To provide standby power, the turbines are installed by many factories, office buildings, hospitals, hotels, schools, airports, computer centers and even by electric utilities which also can have power emergencies when their own systems break down. Swingle said small electric utilities can save by using the turbines to provide extra power in peak periods.

Despite its high initial cost - a fairly big installation can cost around $3 million - the gas turbine has many advantages over diesel engines for standby power

It is light and compact and can be installed anywhere, on a roof for example. It is vibration free and doesn't require any water cooling system. Its lubricant doesn't come in contact with the combustion process and so does not become polluted. It will burn a wide variety of fuels.

Poor Suspects Say Lawyers Unconcerned

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal study reported today that indigent criminal defendants often believe lawyers from public defender offices side with the prosecution.

The survey said 49 percent of the de-fendants who were questioned soon aft-er arrest felt most public defenders were on the state's side. The figure dropped to, 25 percent when the defendants were asked to evaluate their lawyers after their cases were settled.

A study of public defender offices, which provide attorneys free of charge for those who can't afford to hire their own, was sponsored by a $218,000 grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and conducted by a Stanford University research team.

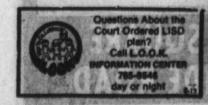

The researchers questioned 812 male defendants in Phoenix, Baltimore and

The study reported that 49 percent of the defendants said their lawyers spent less than 30 minutes with them prepar-ing their cases and 27 percent said they had less than 10 minutes with their law-

While the report said the amount of time spent with a client did not appear to be related to the outcome of the case, it had a lot to do with a lack of confidence many defendants felt in their law-

The study said defendants are less likely to feel they are being shunned because they are not paying if attorneys spend more time with them.

James M.H. Gregg, acting head of the LEAA, said the study could help guide public defender offices in dealing with defendants by either encouraging them to give more personal attention to clients, or by assigning paralegal assistants to spend more time with them.

And, he asserts, since equity financing probably runs 6 percent to 8 percent, versus debt financing of 10 percent or so, the company saves money in the long run.

"So why don't more companies utilize the technique?" Lambert is asked. His frustration, underlain with pride, shows through. "Old-fashioned attitudes," he replies. "Lack of understanding too."

Sale-leaseback cannot always be quickly understood. "It's a science," Lambert maintains. "Like chess. And it's being incounting changes."

Because of the complexities of selling physical assets and then leasing them back - and sometimes buying them back at a later date — many companies simply don't consider such moves in thir capital

In most companies, said Lambert, the notion "falls between the cracks."

The real estate department, he said, designs and picks sites. The financial vice president is concerned with stockholders, bank relations and the stock listing. And the treasurer "is a balance sheet guy."

AUSTIN (AP) - Inflation is blamed for a 4 percent increase in freight rates sought by railroad companies for intrastate shipments in Texas.

A Texas Railroad Commission examiner begins hearing testimony today on the railroads' request for an across-the-board increase that would hike the prices of many products shipped by rail. The railroads said in their application that the rate hike was "made necessary by increased costs, which have not been covered by previous rate increases."

Most of the cost increases are "labor-related or are connected with fuel, material and supplies and miscellaneous ex-penses," the railroads' application says. Higher rates are needed to attract cap-ital and assure "continued adequate and safe service," the application says.

Rescuers Seek Victims At Landslide Site

MANILA. The Philippines (UPI) -Rescue workers with payloaders and bulldozers today sifted through a "mountain of clay" searching for 30 persons believed buried alive in a landslide triggered by tropical storm Della.

Police said they had not recovered any bodies at the landslide site outside the U.S. Subic Bay Naval Base 90 miles northwest of Manila but the Red Cross reported three bodies, two boys and a girl, were recovered.

In another incident near Subic Bay, authorities said a mine caved in at San Marcelino town and killed at least two persons and trapped 10 others alive.

Rescue operations were going on in the tunnel of the Benguet Consolidated Mining Co., which has gold and copper mining operations in the area.

Police said about 30 persons or more were attempting to cross a mound of mud that had blocked the national highway between a hill and a creek at Subic town when a huge chunk of earth fell on "The mountain of clay built up steadily and spilled on the swollen creek going out to the sea," police said. Witnesses said some of the survivors

Diverse Political Groups Herald New Tax Gospel

Associated Press Writer

They are business owners from the city and farmers from the country. Rich and poor. Male and female. Political newcomers and political pros.

They are the preachers of the gospel of tax revolt, united in a commitm government spending, even if it means cutting government services.

The approval of Proposition 13 slashing property taxes by an average of 57 per-cent in California spawned similar drives in more than a dozen states. "It is what we've been saying all along, and now, people are listening," said Kenneth White, president of the Virginia Taxpayers Association, a small, generally con-servative group that was given new life by the success of the California campaign.

The people leading the fight are a diverse group. California's Howard Jarvis is a former newspaper publisher. Dick Benton, head of the Iowa Tax Reform Association, used to be a school superintendent and is now a law student. Thorn-

Robert McCarney, the leader of the drive for change in North Dakota is a millionaire who once owned an auto dealership in Bismarck. "North Dakota was good to me," he says, in explaining why he has been campaigning since 1963 to lower taxes.

Mel Hancock, founder of the Taxpayer's Survival Association in Missouri, runs a security alarm business in Springfield: he says he began the group because taxes took too big a bite of his income.

Vicki Bezanilla, a field representative for the National Taxpayers Union, said that in January, the union had 130 member groups; today, it has more than 500.

The union, a 10-year-old Washingtonbased lobbying group, is financed by con-tributions and by $15-a-year dues paid by the 75,000 individual members. Miss Bezanilla said there are hundreds of organizations working in the field. Some have only a handful of members: others have thousands. "A lot of them are bridge clubs who want to get involved in cutting taxes." Miss Bezanilla said. "We are trying to establish umbrella groups in ev-

Union Leader Warns New York Papers

NEW YORK (UPI) - A strike by pressmen that has shut down the New York Times, Daily News and Post was in its fifth day today with the president of the union warning that unless the papers backed off from their demand to reduce manpower, the walkout would be a "very

"With the attitude of the publishers, it could be a very long strike," Kennedy said Sunday

Kennedy said acceptance of the new work rules would mean a reduction in the number of pressmen at the three papers from 1,600 to about 800.

The three publications, which have a combined daily circulation of 3.4 million newspapers, have argued the staff reductions were necessary to compete with suburban newspapers which, they say, employ about half as many pressmen.

Martin Fischbein, special assistant to Rupert Murdoch, publisher of the Post, said Sunday the afternoon tabloid, with a circulation of about 600,000, has a particular need to reduce its pressmen staff be-cause of its precarious financial position.

Kucinich said he is prepared to go to court to defend the victory if it's challenged. "I'm not going to let the city government be stolen from the people," Kuelections began an official survey of the

If he wins by one vote, "it will be good enough," Kucinich said Sunday night. With all of Cleveland's 645 voting precincts reported, Kucinich turned back the recall drive by an unofficial tally of 60,308 to 60,033.

Cleveland has been plagued with problems since Kucinich took office on Nov. 14. 1977, but the recall drive was triggered when the mayor fired Police Chief Richard Hongisto during a televised news conference March 24.

Contacted after the recall vote. Hongisto, now head of New York state's prison system, said he does not expect any changes for the better.

"It's hard to kill a city. But he'll (Kucinich) do a fair job of trying." Hongisto told a reporter.

"I don't think Dennis won. I just think the people said they didn't want anything as drastic as a recall."

But Kucinich was exuberant. "Thank God for the people of the city of Cleveland for ignoring my imperfections and giving my administration another chance," the 31-year-old mayor said. If the victory is sustained, he would complete his two-year term in the $50,000-a-

"I could have embraced the old wheeler-dealers and toadied up to the editors, but somebody has to make a stand in behalf of the people. By the grace of God and the people, the city government is going to stay that way." Kucinich said.

Robert Hughes, Cuyahoga County Republican chairman and a member of the Board of Elections, who early in the evening had predicted a wide Kucinich victory, called the results "unbelieveable."

Recall forces gathered at a nearby hotel and celebrated to the strains of "Happy Days Are Here Again.

Thomas Campbell, a leader of the Recall Committee to Save Cleveland, said: What we have done is raise the level of accountability of Kucinich so high that things will have to change. He no longer has any excuses.

Election officials impounded the paper ballots and four armed police officers were assigned to guard them.

An official survey of the votes was scheduled to begin today and could continue for three to four days, Board of Elections Director Virgil Brown said.

AUSTIN (AP) - Abilene's fight over liquor sales went on Monday in two Austii courts while a third court in Abilene awaited the results.

Officials of the Texas Supreme Court said no action has been taken on a request for a court order to declare that District Judge Charles Mathews had no authority to enter in the case.

The request was filed late Friday by Sherman McBeath, administrator of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission. If the Supreme Court decides to consider the matter a hearing date will be set, officials said. Meanwhile, Mathews heard arguments on whether he should continue indefinitely a ban on state liquor permits in the West Texas town. Mathews, who issued the temporary restraining order last week, refused twice to dismiss immediately the suit in his court. He said the motions to dismiss would be carried along until a decision is made on a temporary injunction. Matthews also was asked by Roy Johnson, attorney for a group of intervenors, to declare void a July 10 order by the Taylor County commissioners court. Johnson said the order was issued at a regular session of the court instead of a special sesssion as required by law.

That is a good argument for the election contest in Abilene, " Mathews said, "but I'm not going to consider it here."

School Officials Report Dunbar Enrollment Lag

Avalanche-Journal Staff Iles Elementary's "magnet program" is coming along fine, but enrollment in the Dunbar-Struggs High School is lagging a bit, according to a U.S. District Court report on the two voluntary racial integration efforts.

The enrollment status for Iles far exceeds the number of projected volunteer non-minority students," the study, prepared for federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward by school officials, says.

Initially the school district projected that 54 whites would transfer voluntarily to previously all-minority Iles for special activities beginning this fall. That number would have given Iles an enrollment of about 38 percent white, 62 percent mi-

But as of Aug. 1, the district's progress report notes, 102 white children from throughout the city have signed up to attend Iles, 2401 Date Ave. School administrators had not expected to reach such a level for three years.

Because of the unexpected boost in voluntary transfers, white students actually will be in the majority at Iles when classes begin this term, the report said. According to the Aug. 1 count. Iles' enroll-ment will be 51 percent white, 49 percent

The report said the overall enrollment at Iles will be 199 - instead of the earlier projected 143 students.

School, Lubbock's secondary-level magnet program, isn't doing quite so well, the school system's study said.

School officials had hoped that, by offering classes designed to draw pupils from other high schools. Dunbar-Struggs would have a fall enrollment of 863 students - 397 (46 percent) whites and 466 (54 percent) minorities. However, as of Aug. 1, the Dunbar-totals only 816. The report said whites number 343, or 42 percent; and minorities, 473, or 58 percent. In other words, the Dunbar-Struggs white enrollment is still about 4 percentage points - around 50 students - under the district's original projection. Woodward has said he may order mandatory student reassignments if the magnet-school projections are not "substantially" met. School officials hope that the Aug. 1 figures for Dunbar-Struggs are close enough to satisfy the court. The school district's report shows that Dunbar-Struggs this fall will have 343 full-time white students, 265 blacks and 208 Mexican-Americans. The report said 546 of the Dunbar-Struggs students, including 77 of the whites, live in the school's immediate attendance zone. The rest are transfers from other schools - 139 students from

Kay Knight, Iles principal, said that since Aug. 1, the number of white students transferring to her school has increased from the reported 102 to a new total of 130. The school now has "such a good racial balance that we are accepting applications from minorities,"

She said 16 black and Mexican-American students who live outside the immediate Iles zone are transferring to Iles.

The two magnet schools are part of the district's court-ordered integration plan. The schools will offer features to attract students from across Lubbock.

For instance, besides the regular class day. Iles will have optional activities from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. These include supervised sports and recreation, arts and crafts, accelerated academics and tu-

The craft was reported 470 miles east of Newfoundland this morning, heading due east at about 24 mph. It had reached the 15,000-foot altitude mark as planned. The ballonists, who took off from Presque Isle, Maine, on Friday night, said they hoped to reach northern Europe by early Thursday and perhaps touch down near Brest, France.

'My understanding is about 17 have been arrested," Attorney General Thomas Rath said. Witnesses said demonstrators refused to walk and were dragged without resistance into waiting police

The Clamshell Alliance organized the demonstration to protest a Nuclear Regulatory Commission order reinstating the Seabrook construction permit. The NRC had shut down construction July 21 to give the Environmental Protection Agency time to rule on the safety of the plant's cooling system. The EPA okayed the cooling system Aug. 4 and last Thursday the NRC said construction could resume. Several hundred workers reported back today to restart construction. Small groups of demonstrators tried to enter a private road leading to the construction area, placed a "No Nukes" sign atop a crane on the plant site, and chained themselves to a sign outside the plant, Clamshell spokesman Diana To-

Rath said those arrested would be arraigned in Hampton District Court, and bail sought would depend on whether the demonstrators had a history of previous arrests at Seabrook.

Rath said his office "might have to bring some of them to the attention of the Superior Court" if they had violated a June injunction, still in force, barring demonstrators from entering most of the 715-acre site owned by the Public Service Co. of New Hampshire.

Four hundred laborers of 1,800 laid off when construction was halted began filing through plant gates this morning. The plant builder hoped to put the rest back to work within a month.

Mrs. Tomasello said today's protest would be "the first of many wave actions" aimed at blocking the plant that has become the focus of a national drive to stop nuclear power.

A Clamshell demonstration last May resulted in 1,414 arrests. The group also sponsored a legal protest in June that attracted an estimated 10,000 people.

Illegal Alien Smugglers Often Reuse Vehicles

WASHINGTON (AP) - Smugglers bringing illegal aliens across the border from Mexico often use the same trucks over and over because Border Patrol officers cannot seize the vehicles, Congress was told today.

Testifying before a Senate subcommittee on immigration, Castillo said a 1967 Chevrolet pickup engaged in smuggling operations was stopped by immigration officers 12 times between April, 1977, and March, 1978.

"When we make a smuggling arrest the owner of the vehicle may simply claim it from us," Castillo said. "Often the vehicle is back in use for smuggling by the next day."

Michael D. Hawkins, U.S. attorney for Arizona, said the seizure legislation would make smuggling more costly by subjecting the smugglers to the loss of their vehicles Hawkins said airplanes, tractor trailers and large recreational vehicles "are finding increasing use in this sordid business" because they can hold large num-

Gerda Bikales, program associate for population of the National Parks and Conservation Association, said the legislation "would have a very definite, desirable effect in stemming the flow of illegal entrants into the United States." Phyllis Eisen, immigration program director for Zero Population Growth, said immigration officers find automobiles used by smugglers that are only a year old and already have traveled more than 100,000 miles. Other federal investigative agencies such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Customs Service and Drug Enforcement Administration already have authority to confiscate vehicles. The proposed legislation would permit the Border Patrol to seize vehicles used in smuggling and would allow the seizure to be carried out without a warrant when it was done in connection with an arrest. Castillo said federal court decisions

"cast serious doubt" on the constitutionality of the warrantless seizure provisions. Hawkins said he would be "very relucant" to authorize seizure without a

The burning itch and pain caused by infection and inflammation in hemorrhoidal tissues can cause much suffering. But there is an exclusive formulation that in many cases gives prompt relief for hours from this itch and pain so that the sufferer is more comfortable again. It also actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation and infection.

Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients in New York City, Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center reported similar successful results in many cases. This is the same medication you can buy at any drug counter under the name Preparation H*.

cords this morning.

An 11-year-old boy reportedly received a one-inch gash on the left side of his head while attempting to stop a scuffle between his younger brother and another child about 2 p.m. Sunday.

The boy said he, his brother and another boy were watching television at his home in the 1600 block of Avenue D, when the fight began and he eventually was hit in the head by a lamp, However, the boy wielding the lamp told police the victim pulled a knife first, and his attack was in self-defense.

The father of an 8-year-old Plainview girl told police there was an altercation between his daughter and another small child about 9 p.m. Sunday.

The daughter, he said, was struck in the head by a stick during the fight. The girl was taken to Methodist Hospital where she was treated for a cut on the left side of the head.

A 30-year-old housewife allegedly took a large dose of phenobarbital pills about 7:30 p.m. Sunday and locked herself in the bathroom at a service station in the 2300 block of Texas Avenue. The woman was taken to Methodist Hospital, where she was under observation today.

Gorge R. Carillo, 25, of 2217 10th St. Apt. 101, said two men with long hair and beards attempted to run him off the road about 10 p.m. Sunday. He told police the suspects drove their maroon, two-door Pontiac LeMans into the right side of his car while traveling on Fourth Street.

And expensive wire-wheel hubcaps were a hot item for thiefs Sunday. Hal Anderson of Muleshoe said he was attending a movie in the 2300 block of 34th Street while his set of hubcaps, valued at $400, was apparently being swiped. Anderson estimated the theft occurred about 9:30 p.m. Another set of $400 wire hubcaps were reported stolen while their owner took in little recreation Sunday night at a bowling alley in the 3000 block of Slide Road. Kennith D. Lee of 1506 27th St, said he was away from his car between 8:45 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. Sunday. Gilbert Perez of 2105 Kewanee said he came out of a club at Main Street and Avenue X about 1:15 a.m. today to discover his car's windshield shattered, the antenna bent and large dents covering his vehicle's hood. Lloyd Reece reported the loss of about $740 in television and stereo equipment when his 2219 8th St. residence was burglarized about 1 a.m. today. Entry appartioner unit out of a window at the back of police detectives could arrive.

Sheriff's deputies were looking for the person or persons who apprently entered C.E. Thomas' horse stables and stole two saddles and two bridles. Thomas estimated the break-in, which occurred between Saturday night and Sunday morning, cost him about $430

An 18-year-old East 10th Street woma told police a former boyfriend lured her into his auto during the weekend, drove her outside the city and then tried to rape

The woman told officers the 25-yearold man talked her into leaving her ho with him to go to a nearby conve store about 3:10 p.m. Saturday, but once she was inside the car, he drove past the store. After he had driven to an Idalou Road area, she said she demanded to be taken home, but he only responded,

You're going to give me someth She tried to escape, she said, but every time she opened the door he would beat her head against the auto. The woman said she eventually got away and ran to a drive-in movie snack bar where attendants called police.

In other violent incidents across Lubbock during the weekend, Gloria Judie of 3601 Zenith Ave. told officers about 4:30 p.m. Saturday another woman started a fight with her at a 3609 Vanda Ave. residence, pulled a knife and then took her purse before driving off in a 1971 Buick.

Officers investigating a second reported robbery also were seeking suspects and the victim's $10,000 1978 Oldsmobile stolen in the incident.

Raymond H. Armenta of 116 Temple Ave. told police he had just pulled his car up outside a 2017 4th St. store when an 18-to 25-year-old man approached his car and asked for a ride. Armenta told officers the man pulled a pistol from his clocers the man pulled a pistol from his clo-thing when he refused and then demand-ed he drive him toward Reese Air Force

Escapee Believed Hiding In Arizona

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — Gary Teresa Tyson, 15, a niece traveling the Lyons family, later was found four slayings during a two-week escape, apparently has not fled the state, authoriound.

Tison, 42, the object of a widespread manhunt, also may be linked to the disappearance of a Texas couple on a honeymoon in Colorado. The newlyweds' van was in the possession of Tison's companions when they ran a roadblock last week near Casa Grande.

Escaped killer Randy Greenawalt, 28, and two of Tison's sons, Raymond, 19, and Ricky, 18, were captured Friday when the van overturned, about 30 miles from the Arizona State Prison where Tison and Greenawalt escaped July 30. A third Tison son, Donald, 20, was shot to death

Sgt. Allan Schmidt of the state Department of Public Safety said there was strong evidence to indicate that Tison was in the van that crashed the roadblock and escaped on foot.

"I'm not going to reveal everything but we feel in our minds he was in that van and is still in that area," Schmidt said Sunday. "Our feeling is that he is sticking around the area he knows."

The search was concentrated in a de-sert area near the Papago Indian Reser-vation but the manhunt was scaled down by Sunday and only 50 law officers remained to search the dry washes, caves and abandoned mineshafts.

At its height, the search included a posse of more than 100, including men experienced in desert tracking, officers on horseback, four-wheel drive vehicles and aircraft equipped with infrared scanning devices.

The fugitives were accused of killing Marine Sgt. John F. Lyons, 24, his wife Danellda, 23, and their 22-month-old son Christopher, of Yuma, Ariz. The slayings occurred in a desert area near the California border and the escapees stole the Lyons' car, authorities said. The body of

Did you ever notice how in reporting sports no one ever "wins" a game? They crush, stomp, triumph, trounce, bomb, out-score, out-class, overthrow, run over, edge out, hammer and victimize, but they never use the word "win."

The other night after a sportscast where there were three assaults, four upsets, one humiliation, a squeaker and a rout, I said to my husband, "These guys must be fed intravenously by a thesauus each night to come up with all those words that mean 'win."'

"They have to," he said, "you'd get bored hearing ho 'won' all the time. "But that's not the way people talk," I com-plained. "Can't you just see some 230-pound guard being interviewed at halftime saying. 'We came to beat Pittsburgh. At this moment, we're not overwhelming by as much as we had hoped, but sooner or later we hope to vanquish. After all, as Vince Lombardi said, subduing is everything.""

"You should talk," he said. "How

"I think plighting a troth is rather poetic. It's certainly not like the Dodgers 'smothering' their opponents or the Red Sox 'clobbering theirs."

"Hey," he grinned, "it might be fun if society pages showed as much imagination as they do on the sports pages. Can't you just imagine reading where Belty Schmidlapp cruised by four ugly bridesmaids Saturday to overpower her opponent and cap a victory in the Bride groom Open in the upset of the year?"

This is a stupid argument," I said. "And I don't want to continue it. Just say I won and we'll forget it."

He sat there thinking.
"See," 1 continued. "You haven't heard the word win in so long you can't even remember how it goes."

"Let's see," he said, "let's just say in the sports vernacular you 'persuaded your opponent it was in his best interest

News for the nutrition-conscious and calorie-cautious:

YOU'RE IN THE MAJORITY if you watch your diet. According to a survey of 1,400 U.S. households by a national research service, more than half reported making changes in their cooking, shopping and eating habits due to health concerns. In better than three out of five households someone had a health problem requiring special diet changes. Overweight was the most common problem, followed by high blood pressure, allergy, heart disease, kidney disease and diabetes. Older, poorer and less educated people were the least likely to change their diets. (The survey was taken in 1976. If anything, diet-watching is even more

BREAKING HABITS - other than overeating - isn't any tougher for overweight people than normalweights, according to a study abstracted in Obesity and Bariatric Medicine, a medical journal. Using standard testing procedures, groups of obese and normal college students were trained to hit a button when a light went on, until it became an habitual response. Both groups were then detrained, to not respond. The fat students had no more trouble unlearning the response than slim ones. Previously it was thought that overweight might be due. in part, to difficulty in unlearning previously established habits

THAT'S A TOMATO? Of all the fruits and vegetables on the produce counter. tomatoes received the highest dissatisfaction rating. Consumers questioned by the research service singled out tomatoes as poor in value, ripeness, taste and appear-

MOMMY, I WANT SOME COLLIE FLOWERS!' Hartford nursery school mothers who thought their kids didn't like vegetables got a chance to-learn a thing or two from college students. Graduate students from the University of Connecticut put on a nutrition demonstration program in Hartford day care centers. Raw cauliflower, cherry tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, celery and carrots were cut into interesting shapes and decorated with cream cheese and peanut butter. To the surprise of the mothers, the kids

AVOIDING SUGAR? That's what you think! According to the publication Consumer Reports, many non-sweet foods are "sweeter" than "sweets." Coffeemate cream substitute is 65 percent sugar (compared with 51 percent in a Hershey bar. Wishbone Russian Dressing is 30 percent sugar, has proportionally three times more sugar than a Coke.

NOT SO FAST! A follow-up study on patients who lost weight by fasting discovered that patients who had been overweight since infancy tended to retain more weight than they had lost. The follow-up study. by D.J. Johnson and E.J. Drenick, was reported in the publication Nutrition Reviews.

WHO'S WORRIED? Despite the publicity blitz against artificial sweeteners and the government's attempted saccharin ban, the diet segment of the soft drink market rose 11.5 percent in 1977 (outpacing the 1976 growth of 7 percent) according to Beverage Industry, the soft drink trade journal. (Maybe the government should try spraying saccharin with para-

FRESH VEGETABLES ARE GROW-ING...in popularity. As reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a vegetable popularity decline began in the 1940s and reached a low point in 1972. Since then, fresh vegetable intake has steadily increased, reaching 10 pounds per person in 1976 (undoubtedly more than that now). The popularity of salads and restaurant salad bars is a major factor according to the U.S.D.A., noting that salad tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuce and celery are the leaders, along with cauliflower, broccoli and green beans. But, the intake of peas, lima beans, sweet potatoes and other higher-in-calories vegetables continues to decline.

HAVE A (LIGHT) SNACK - the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition reports on a study of the frequent eating of 2,028 Americans. Those who ate only two or three meals a day tended to be fatter than those who ate up to seven times daily. (Other studies support the idea of dividing the day's calories into smaller. lighter, more frequent meals because the calories from fewer, heavier meals are more likely to be stored as fat.)

SECRET SOYBURGERS - Volum teers who knew they were eating "helped" hamburgers - with soy meat extender added didn't like them much. But those who didn't know thought they were every bit as good as pure beef. U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers tested a variety of supermarket blends against pure ground beef with 144 volunteers. There was no significant difference in the ratings given by those who didn't know which was which. But the volu teers who were told in advance expre a definite preference for pure beel.

USE YOUR BEANS - Plant protein is less likely to raise cholesterol levels than animal protein, according to a report by biochemist Dr. K.K. Carroll of the Canadian Medical Research Council. Carroll points out that heart disease is more prevalent in countries where more ani mal protein is eaten, and that controlled experiments show that cholesterol levels can be lowered by replacing animal proteins with plant proteins. He claims that the correlation between animal protein foods and coronary mortality is at least as strong as the connection between fat and

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My husband started running every morning before work for his health. He said he felt like a new man, and he really looked terrific. He lost 15 pounds and started to pay more attention

Well. everything was wonderful until he started running after work. I thought it was rather odd for him to come home from work, shower, put on cologne and comb his hair to go running! Then I found out why, quite by accident.

I was driving along the parkway where he runs, when I saw him saying goodbye to a blonde who was getting into her car. She had on running clothes, too. Such a goodbye I never saw outside a movie. They were embracing and looking into each other's eyes like a pair of young lovers. I don't know how old she is, but my

He doesn't know I saw him. Should I tell him? I don't want him to quit running. because it's been so good for him. I can't run with him because I'm not the type. What do you say?

RUNNER'S WIFE

Dear Wife: Don't blame the running. If husband didn't run, he'd probably run into a blonde somewhere else. Of course you should tell him. And let the next move be his.

DEAR ABBY: I've been playing Mah-Jongg for over 30 years and I never cheated in my life. However, last night I really don't know what came over me, but I wanted so desperately to make a hand that I cheated.

Well, a dear friend who was out at the time noticed what I had done. Although she didn't say anything to me, I could tell by the expression on her face that she saw me cheat.

The rest of the evening I felt terrible, and that night I couldn't sleep a wink.

I know that I will never cheat again, but how can I rectify this with my good friend? I don't want to lose her friendship over a stupid mistake.

Should I just let it pass? Or should I say something to my friend? Sign me...

VERY, VERY SORRY

Dear Sorry: You are obviously suffering from a very troubled conscience, so go ahead and clear the air with your friend. You'll feel better.

1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—You have a strong hand, but beware of precipitate action. The fact that you have a singleton in partner's suit should make you leery of a possible misfit. A bid of one spade will suffice for the moment—unless partner can take some voluntary action, it's unlikely that your side has the values for game.

Q.2-East-West vulnerable. as South you hold: ♦K74 ♥QJ8752 . ○KJ103 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now? What do you bid now?

A.—Game is a live possibility, so your hand rates a forwardgoing move. You don't want to raise spades with only three-card support if you can avoid doing so, but neither your hand nor your heart suit is good enough for a jump rebid. The solution is to find another forcing bid, and two diamonds fits the bill perfectly. Since it is a new suit by responder, opener is suit by responder, opener is forced to bid again.

Q.3-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦AKQJ982 ♦AQ83 ♦72

respond?

A.—You surely want to be in game, and slam if partner has the right cards. Therefore, we suggest a jump shift to two spades. Usually we do not recommend this action when you do not have a fit for partner's suit, but here your spade suit is self-sufficient so you know where you are going to play the hand.

Q.4-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦J762 ♥852 ♦A9754 ♦6 The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♦ Pass 1 ◊ Pass 1 + Pass 2 + Pass 3NT Pass 7 What action do you take?

A.—At no trump, your hand is unlikely to produce many tricks for partner. Since it's doubtful from the auction, that partner can run nine tricks, we would revert to four spades. At that contract you can at least contribute a couple of ruffs to your side's cause.

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. There is nothing about partner's bidding to suggest that you can make a slam. To come to twelve tricks, partner must be able to cover all of your lopers in both black suits. He has shown something in hearts, which is useless to you, and he certainly does not have the ace of diamonds. The trouble with making even one move is that the five-level could be too high.

Q.6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold: $72 \infty AJ83 OK7 \times AK1094 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

What do you bid now?

A.—Your hand is not strong enough to reverse into two hearts, so it is a question of choosing between two clubs and one no trump. We prefer the former, because it highlights your good five-card suit—a key leature of your hand.

Q.7-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: 44 VAJ10762 AQ832 46 The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♥ 2 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—We would not blame you if you decided to launch straight into Blackwood and their bid slam if partner shows an acc. However, that runs the risk of missing a grand slam, so:that would be our second choice. We prefer a quiet bid of twq diamonds. One a good day partner will raise to three diamonds, and now, if in response to Blackwood partner shows two aces and two kings, we would vesture seven hearts in the hope that the second king was in diamonds. If not, the grand slam would be, at worst, on a finesse.

For several years I had slowly been gaining weight, thinking of course, I could lose it by myself anytime. BUT I found out it's not that easy to do by yourself! When my husband started making comments about my figure I knew it was time I found professional help. Having already read many things about the Pat Walker Program, the idea of being able to lose both weight and inches where I really needed them off, plus not even messing my hair or even having to change my clothes, while doing it really appealed to me. I am so pleased with the success I have had with the Pat Walker Program. Pounds and inches came off to give me a new figure I can be proud of! I can really say I'm glad I did it. VIVIAN RODGERS

Gays Plan Democratic Caucus

By K. MACK SISK SAN ANTONIO (UPI) - At least 50 homosexual delegates plan to form a cau-cus which will be "highly visible" at the State Democratic Convention in Fort Worth next month, according to the moderator of the Texas Gay Task Force.

Kathy Deitsch said the homosexual men and women delegates to the Sept. 15-16 convention were chosen at senatorial district conventions across the state. She said the caucus will be called

"Lesbian-Gay Democrats of Texas."
"We intend to be highly visible at the convention, thus one of the reasons we have planned a hospitality center for all delegates and alternates and their friends," she said. "We know from our past and present work with the Democratic Party that we have many friends and supporters. We will continue to participate in voter registration, campaigns and coalition building."

Miss Deitsch said a meeting of all homosexual delegates and alternates to the state convention met in Austin last weekend "to identify our strength and to de-termine a plan for the September con-

"We were successful in identifying at least 50 such individuals," she said. "I believe it is necessary, however, to point out the difficulty which we experienced in this process of identification. We must always be aware of an individual's concern for confidentiality and for the alienation which gay men and lesbians feel if that fact of their lives becomes known."

The Texas Gay Task Force's state convention earlier this summer at Dallas supported a move to establish a two-member lobby group in Austin during the next Texas legislative session to oppose any laws that repress homosexuality.

"It must be stressed that although we work primarily to repeal the discriminatory laws which affect gays, we are strong advocates of issues of other caucuses," Miss Deitsch said.

"We wish to coalesce with others who seek to promote the human dignity of all people. Through our support and working with Democrats, we believe there will be eventual recognition of our needs and help to correct inequities."

Miss Deitsch released a list of Task-Force spokesman whom she said were "in a position to talk openly about the respective senatorial district in the major four cities of Texas. She identified them as Larry Bagneris Jr., Houston: Gary Brock, Dallas; Bettie Naylor, San Antonio, and Steve Thomas, Austin.

"I think it's tremendous as many as 50 are willing to make their sexual preference known," Miss Naylor said. "There are more than the 50. There are many more who will aid our cause and make themselves known to us, but there are many who won't.

Miss Naylor said Texas homosexuals were concerned about Proposition 6 referendum on California's November ballot which would ban homosexuals from teaching in public schools.
"This State Deocratic Convention is a first in Texas politices for openiy gay and lesbian participation and for non-gay delegates and alternates as well," Deitsch said

"It is our belief that when convention participants meet us as individuals and talk with us about our concerns that it will be evident we are all Democrats and that we all work for and support the Democratic Party."

WESTMINSTER, Colo. (UPI) - What have you not seen in a very long time? How about firemen rescuing a cat from a tree? It's a scene right out of a Norman

The Tallman Pools story is quite a success story: Back in 1962, Al and Jan Tallman, each in their early 20's, wanted a pool of their own . . . so what did they do? They started their own pool construction business, on a small scale, in their home area of Buffalo, N.Y. Business expanded. Even after going into the Rochester area, they did all their own work, and really kept busy, for some 10 years. At this time they had increasing difficulty in prompt material delivery from some factories, so what did they do?

They began to manufacture the steel panels and vinyl liners, themselves! The business prospered as the quality and integrity of their work became

BAKING COMPANY

FROM WILSON — The pictured open-slat livestock trailer and the steel grain hopper trailer are two of the popular models Lubbock Quirt Avenue facility.

American Equipment & Trailer Adds Wilson Line Of Stock, Grain Trailers

"For our friends in the Panhandle and South Plains area, there is big news from American Equipment & Trailer,

"We are now the authorized distributor for Wilson livestock and grain trailers, the big name in the industry."

Wilson Trailer Co. has been most prominent in the transportation industry since back in 1890 . . . the year young Frank T. Wilson went into business up in the Dakota Territory, complete with two carloads of carriage and wagon

Today, headquartered in Sioux City, Iowa, Wilson Trailer Co. stands out as the specialist in the manufacturing of livestock and grain trailers, with plants in four locations, and a sales representa-tion unequaled in the country. Three Locations

For 25 years, American Equipment & Trailer, Inc., located at 3707 Quirt Ave. in Lubbock, has been meeting the equip-ment and service needs of drivers and haulers in the Panhandle area.

"Today, we're proud to offer custom-ers our modern facilities, innovative equipment, large parts inventory, and large, experienced sales staff — available both in-house and on-the-road.

"We see the addition of the quality

Wilson Trailer line as a natural extension of our long-standing service to you, the people of the Panhandle, our customers and friends."

American Equipment & Trailer not only has large facilities in Lubbock, but also at 610 N. Grand in Amarillo, and at 1400 West Overland Trail in Abilene.

Invitation is extended to view and inspect and compare the Wilson trailer models, with numerous ones always in stock. See the steel grain hoppers, the aluminum drop-center livestock trailers, the train trailers and other livestock trailers. Choose from multiple models, sizes and designs.

Wilson . . . and American Equipment & Trailer . . . understand the truckers' needs, serving accordingly. Experienced, qualified people make it so.

Wilson's basic commitment is "to produce what our customers need while maintaining the highest degree of manufacturing excellence".

American Equipment & Trailer invites you to check for product specifications and for details of how any of the represented lines and units can fit into your own operation.

Many Products See this better firm for such other products and lines as the Great Dane refrigerated trailers, Clement dump bodies, Bendix-Westinghouse air brake equipment, Tulsa winches and parts, Galion dump bodies and farm hoists, wheels and wheel parts, brake drums, Holland 5th wheels and parts, Michigan fleet gasoline tanks, tank installation kits, bearings, air horns, complete brake exchange parts, truck-trailer lighting equipment, trailer axies and parts, vacuum brakes and parts, Stemco wheel oilers, Koenig service bodies and tool box-es, R.O. cranes, aerial devices, Hender-son bulk bodies and spreaders, and

"We are proud of our customer list appreciating the opportunities of years past to serve the contractor, rancher, farmer, industrialist, trucker and all with quality products from recognized lines. We look forward to continuation of these opportunities and privileges in years to come.

"Come out and visit American Equip-ment & Trailer, Inc., at its modern facil-ity in Lubbock — eight acres of land and a 12,000 sq. ft. building with multiple double-bay drive-through shop, parts de-partment and spacious showrooms. A genuine welcome awaits."

Dubose Automotive & Machine, at 1520 19th St., phone 765-8429, actually can handle any machine work for auto, truck and irrigation engines, in addition to its full-service garage . . . and all at one

Great Products, Fine People Contribute To Rainbo Success

Rainbo Baking Co. of Lubbock, in its series of thumbnail sketches of key personnel, is happy this week to salute Johnnie Askew.

Askew, prominent on the Lubbock bakery scene for more than the salute.

Askew, prominent on the Lubbock bakery scene for more than three decades, exudes a zest in his job, his product, his employer firm and in the community, all easily explaining why he is termed "a person you can count on".

Harry Hoopes, manager of the Lubbock Rainbo Baking Co., is profuse in his recommendation of Johnnie Askew, "literally a jack-of-all-trades who knows a whole lot about Rainbo and its concept of service to the area".

Presently serving as transport and thrift store sales manager for the firm, Johnnie Askew dates his association with the firm back to 1947, and since that time he has served as route salesman, supervisor, public relations man,

In the late 40's, Askew, who then lived in Tennessee and was in a textile mill, visited the South Plains and "fell in love with Lubbock". He went back to his native state, sold out, and he and Mrs. Askew have called the Texas plains, their home ever since.

kew have called the Texas plains, their home ever since.

"West Texans are the finest people in the world... they sit together and drink coffee, not caring whether and drink coffee, not caring whether the man across the table is worth a million or a hundred!"

The Askews first lived in Littlefield when he joined the baking company then owned by Bill Mead. As a fonte salesman, he resided in Littlefield 16 years, then to Plainview for a 10-year stint, and then into Lubbock siz years ago, but always employed by the bakery firm at the same quarters it now occupies at 1966 Texas Ave. in Lubbock.

"Now, as to Rainbo, I could talk all morning about the company and the people who make it tick. The Rainbo management takes care of the people who take care of Rainbo, and that's the way it should be. Manager Harry Hoopes is the finest manager one could hope to find.... anywhere," Askew emphasizes.

Appreciates Priendships

Johnnie is a natural for his job seeing it as a challenge in a very competitive situation. He likes people, appreciating them and telling them so; and he enjoys selling. Small wonder he is a valued staffmember.

For hobbies, golfing, bass and trotline lishing take priority.

"My wife, Thelma, also enjoys the outdoors and fishing in particular; we have a travel trailer and thoroughly enjoy going to the lakes. As to retirement...

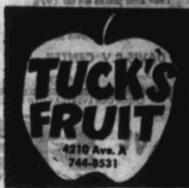

I'm in no hurry; I like to work and still find time to fish"

The Askews have two children: a daughter, Rita Ann Houston of Missouri, and a son, Scott Askew of Lubbock. The family attends the Baptist Church.

Rainbo... and Johnnie Askew. they're your kind of folks!

Meet each of these: they are folks with

Rita, a lifelong Lubbock resident, points out that the Diet Center she first established here opened in early January with purpose of helping people lose weight quickly, stabilize their weight at the desired goal and to teach them how Rita is the daughter of Lubbock businessman Jack Ridpath who is associated in the firm. A graduate of Lubbock High School in 1969, she attended college in Rexburg, Idaho, and while there became acquainted with the revolutionary but very practical Diet Center program that actually was initiated in Rexburg.

She took extensive training in the Diet Center home office there before returning to Lubbock to establish her own center and to assist the rapidly expanding clientele list here.

Debra (Mrs. Tim) Ridpath joined the family operation in early summer. The daughter of Weldon and Ellene Butler of Levelland, she is a graduate of Levelland High School and attended South Plains College, receiving an associate degree in elementary education and minor in health sciences including nutrition.

"Rita got me interested in the Diet Center business . . . and I love it. I see how the program makes others so happy helping them regain self confidence and also becoming actually prettier."

Deanie Holland, newest counselor and who is at the Terrace Diet Center, is the daughter of Billy and Jean Wood of Plainview. A graduate of Plainview High school, she attended Texas A & M for three years, and has been a Lubbock resident well over a year, performing a very commendable service at the Terrace Diet

"I am thoroughly sold on the Diet Center program," she explains, "through personal experience. I enjoy working with people and helping them, so it seems only natural that I am now serving at the Diet Center."

Four Diet Centers now are in Lubbock including the two mentioned above, and the others at 2321-A 50th St., and at 4708-B 4th St. (in Holiday Center).

For Women and Men

Essentially a diet program, the Diet Center method also advises light exercise. At a very modest cost, one may avail herself or himself of daily counseling during the weight loss period, couns during stabilization and further aid during later maintenance for a lifetime of ght control.

Varied programs are available, and there is a Diet Center near you!

The most popular Diet Center programs involve two to six weeks, with an expected weight loss of one-half to one pound a day . . . (more for men) with Rita Pence then reporting that "You've won the award for staying on your diet . . . the Nobelly prize!"

"What better way can you learn all about Jan's, and what the shop can do for" you either as a new or long-time customer than by visiting the shop during this back-to-school preparation period? All merchandise is casual; all personnel friendly and efficient. Jan's is one of the more popular stores in its field, and upon a visit there, one readily can discover why this is the situa-

Essentially a family operation, Jan's is owned and operated by the husband-wife team of Ernie and Jan Holleman, assisted by Jan's mother, Mary Pattillo; her daughter, Kellie; and Margaret Dean and Estell Mathis.

Master Charge, Visa and layaway purchases are welcomed. Selections are grouped for easy shop-

"And remember, together with the Furthermore, the firm has parts for very fine clothing presentation, that Jan's Casual Cottage is a relaxing and casual place in which to select."

everything sold, also. Jent's House Of Music Tells Readiness For School Demands

Jent's House of Music, 2646 34th St., has a message of interest to the band and/or orchestra parent, and the following key points of that message should be of special significance:

One may rent a new or reconditioned band or orchestra instrument at Jent's. with rentals starting at $10.50 per month. There is no time limit, with rental payments applying to purchase when de-

"When you rent at Jent's, your contract stays at Jent's; it is never sold to a finance company."

A complete stock of accessories for all instruments is stocked.

There are music stands, method books, sheet music and just everything for the beginning or advanced student. Small wonder so many have made Jent's their musical headquarters! "We at Jent's House of Music would like to welcome you . . . whether you have a son or daughter who is just beginning in the music program or if you are involved for the second or third time . . . we hope to make the experience as smooth as possible. "We feel that we have the best rentalpurchase plan there is to offer; it has several options we feel you will like including some that other rental plans do not tails of a program to meet your individual needs and preferences."

Jent's has a complete repair depar' ment that is considered to be one of the best in this part of the state. Either minor repairs or complete overhauls are available. Lealon Staley, a veteran repairman of 30 years, is in charge of this department. "If you have any questions regarding our policies, products and services, please feel free to inquire; your Jent's salesman will help in every way

"Thank you for choosing Jent's, at 2646 34th St., phone 795-5579, in Lubbock."

Nothing else would be fair," Chairman Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, said as the committee opened its first public hearings on the assasination of King in Memphis, Tenn., on April 4, 1968.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was ready to testify as the first witness.

Walter Fauntroy, the District of Col-umbia's delegate to the House and chair-man of the subcommittee that focused on King's death, said the panel's investiga-tion has been "comprehensive and thor-

Slayings Panel Delays Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House assassinations committee investigated 21 allegations of conspiracy in the murder of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., but will review other evidence before reaching final judgments on their validity, members said today.

"We are suspending judgment as a committee until all the evidence is in.

King.

The week of hearings have elements of both a trial and a play and today's session was designed to establish the mood of Memphis on the day of the murder.

"The first theme of the questioning will be Dr. King in Memphis. What did he represent in America, how did he embody symbolically the civil rights movement, and how did he come to Memphis?" a committee representative said at an

" a committee representative said at an advance briefing for reporters. With the scene set, the committee plans on Tuesday to question a patholo-gist about the medical investigation following the murder.

But the star witness, scheduled to testify Wednesday through Friday, will be James Earl Ray, serving a 99-year prison sentence after pleading guilty to killing King, a plea he later recanted.

It is not yet clear to the committee what Ray will say — or whether he will say anything at all. The panel obtained a court order requiring Ray to testify, but, the committee spokesman noted, "We can bring him up here with a writ and we can sit him down and we can ask him a question. But if he doesn't answer, what are we going to do — threaten him with jail?"

Since recanting his guilty plea, Ray has asserted that he did not kill King and that he was involved in what he thought was only a narcotics and gun-smuggling ring with a man named Raoul, who framed him for the King assassination.

him for the King assassination.

The hearings will follow the questioning and cross-examination procedure of a trial and, when Ray appears, the similarity will be especially striking.

State and federal officials last week or-dered the evacuation of 237 families liv-ing on streets bordering the canal after investigators found that the miscarriage rate of pregnant women in the area was 50 percent higher than the national average. They also found five instances of birth defects.

State environmental officials said evidence from the infrared photos and 1938 aerial pictures donated by Cornell University indicates that the contamination versity indicates that the contamination may stretch all the way to the banks of the Niagara River, an international waterway that flows into Lake Ontario.

State Deputy Health Commissioner Glenn Haughie said that study of the infrared photographs indicates the contamination extends past the southern border of the canal — a never-completed ditch that was covered over in 1953.

Scientists have identified $2 dangerous chemicals in the canal and surrounding areas.

In addition, Haughle said, the 1938 aeri-l photos "have been interpreted as howing an extension of the canal to the

The canal site was used between 1943 and 1953 by what is now Hooker Chemicals and Plastics Corp. to dispose of waste generated in its manufacturing

In a related development, the state Health Department has set up a nationwide, toll-free "hotline" to help trace people who formerly lived at the Love Canal site. "It is important that we locate people who have lived near the former landfill at one time or another during the last 30 years," said Dr. Robert Whalen, state health commissioner.

Whalen said New York state residents should call 1-800-342-3828. Out-of-state residents should call 1-800-833-3632.

Study Refutes Common Beliefs About Women In Business

NEW YORK (UPI) - Contrary to popular belief most women who go into business for themselves do so because they want to, not because they have to.

American Management Associations reached this conclusion in a recent survey undertaken for President Carter to determine, among other things, a model of the successful woman business owner.

Conducted by means of a questionnaire mailed to a large number of feminine proprietors across the country, the study refuted several widely held misconceptions and produced some interesting statistics on women business owners.

Of the women responding, 72.5 percent were Caucasian, 22.7 percent black, 3.4 percent native American and 0.4 percent Oriental. Some 70 percent were Protestant, 15 percent Catholic and 5 percent

The commonly held beliefs that most women go into business because they are single, widowed or divorced and thus must work for a living: that they inherit a family business, or start a business on impulse or simply to earn "pin" money were not borne out.

On the contrary, more than half the women in the study are married. Fewer than 7 percent inherited their business and 42 percent said they had established their business without any help from husband or other male relative.

Howevar, 21 percent did have a husband, brother or other masculine relative as a partner: in many cases as "front," to help overcome the anti-feminine prejud ices of bankers, customers and others.

The AMA study also showed fewer than 1 percent of the feminine enterprises were started on impulse. Most were carefully planned. There was no indication that the failure rate was significantly greater, or less, than the general high failure rate of all new businesses.

British Phone Service Suffers

LONDON (UPI) - There were two words of advice for anyone in Britain trying to telephone abroad Sunday: for-

Post office engineers - who handle all long-distance telephone communications - have been on a slowdown and partial strike for weeks to back a claim for a 35hour week, and by Sunday a dozen of the world's major cities could not be reached from Britain.

One estimate said only 5 percent of London's callers dialing overseas direct were getting through. For the rest of the country, the estimate was 8 percent.

Operator services were negligible and engineers refused to work overtime and insisted on observing rules to the letter. They refused to work at all at places like the London Stock Exchange, where supervisory personnel earlier did some emergency work.

When faults took a line out of service it joined the list of other out-of-action lines to be worked on - someday. Virtually no new phones were installed. Mail deliveries, particularly air and second-class mail, were hard hit. Talks in the dispute were held through the weekend, but neither side was cheerful about prospects. Banks, international businesses and financial operations like foreign exchange dealers said their businesses were being crippled by the lack of phone service.

There was general agreement that the woman who establishes a business still is sure to encounter some form of male prejudice along the way, related for the most part to men's belief that women were intruding in a man's world, were in business for fun, lacked adequate business experience, couldn't comprehend business intracacies or were overly emo-

Woman Provides Care For Dying Patients

NEW YORK (AP) - Renetta Gaston says the 30 families who make up the remote Caribbean village where she was raised could teach Americans about death. She knows: She earns her living caring for the dying.

"In my village, they don't know the name of a migraine headache, but it's traditional for old people to die at home. The whole village helps. I think you could learn from us how to respect your old people." she says, her voice a soft West

For two years, Mrs. Gaston has worked here as a nurse's aide. She says Americans are learning that a sterilized, motorized hospital bed and the company of cool, professional strangers is not always the best approach to death.

Each day Mrs. Gaston travels to the home of her patient - an aged woman, a 38-year-old man with cancer. Each night at her home, she says she prays for the dawn because "I just can't wait to get back to them. You never know when you leave them at night if you'll see them in the morning than nursing home or hospital treatment for seven of eight patients.

A study this year by New York's Health Systems Agency put the cost of skilled nursing homes for the chronically ill at $1,380 a month, compared with $857 a month for hospital care and $586 for home care.

Cost doesn't concern Mrs. Gaston. Her. concern is the quality of life as death ap-

"As long as they have their own home. I think they should stay there and get somebody who can honestly take care of them. It's happier for them. They accept better. They see their children care.

"If you break up their homes and give away their things, it kills them quicker.' She says the families of the 10 terminally ill people for whom she has cared in the last two years came to understand that they were capable of caring for their dying relatives at home.

"I think people are getting ready to love their old people more now. They're not afraid of them. The more I get on these cases, the more I see families saving. 'She's an aide and she can do it and I

UpJohn put Mrs. Gaston through a 17week training program covering such details as how to care for the dying, how to lift even the most obese patient.

With 55,000 employees in 240 offices, UpJohn is the nation's largest private home health care provider. Maximum salaries range from about $3.50 an hour for an aide to about $6.25 an hour for an RN. Working hours are usually flexible, depending on the patient's needs. As an aide, Mrs. Gaston is allowed to administer no medication. The job amounts largely to helping with the needs the ill can no longer meet alone bathing, shopping, laundry, cooking. But Mrs. Gaston, recalling her village on the Caribbean island of St. Vincent, reduces the doing of her job to a single, not-sosimple ingredient: Love.

"You don't have to tell them anything. You let them see and feel that you care. You don't make them eat when you want them to and you don't make them get up at 8 o'clock, because they're dying. Because they're dying and it's all up to

Earl Scudday Cowboys Riding High

AFTER TWO EXHIBITION victories, Dallas Cowboy fans have reason to smile. Seldom have the 'Pokes looked so strong this early in the season, despite the usual lag in the running game. It hardly seems like August, with the Cowboys winning the practice tilts. Two tough preseason contests still are ahead for Dallas, however, and it would not be all that shocking for the 'Pokes to lose to Houston or Pittsburgh.

Or to both, perhaps, if the ball bounces the wrong way.

Whatever the outcome of those remaining exhibition contests, the Cowboys are very impressive at this stage. Roger Staubach is living up to his billing as one of the top quarterbacks in the National Football League, and he is chunking to a quality group of receivers. Drew Pearson and Billy Joe DuPree are All-Pro, with Golden Richards and Butch Johnson only a step behind. Now young Tony Hill is challenging for a starting job at a wide spot. Head Coach Tom Landry has so many outstanding running backs that trimming the roster is going to be a problem. Tony Dorsett and Preston Pearson are firmly entrenched at tailback, of course, but Houston's Alois Blackwell looms as a threat to Doug Dennison and Charles Young. That's no surprise to Southwest Conference grid fans, who watched Alois romp for the Coogs. When the blockers get their assignments worked out and the runners polish their timing, the 'Pokes will have a formidable ground game despite Landry's present moans and misgivings.

THE OFFENSIVE LINE has been a question mark the last two seasons, but-Landry continues to get by with a remarkable patch job. Tackle Pat Donovan. who filled in for the ailing Rayfield Wright last year, is the replacement for retired Ralph Neely this year and bidding for All-Pro honors. Rayfield is back at his old spot and showing flashes of his former ability. Guard Burton Lawless, who appeared in danger of losing his place on the roster, has made a great comeback this summer and is challenging again for starting honors, along with outstanding young guard Tom Rafferty.

When the Cowboys had to score against Denver just before halftime, to overcome a Bronc lead, the Dallas forward wall gave Staubach flawless protection as he guided them up the field to a touchdown. It was a most impressive drive against rugged opposition and bodes well for the future.

DALLAS IS SPELLED D-E-F-E-N-S-E in the NFL, and the new Doomsday gang appears ready for the race to start. Denver scored a couple of touchdowns, but one was set up by a Cowboy fumble on the 29-yard line. The other came late in the game after the outcome was all but decided.

Other NFL coaches must have noticed that Harvey Martin still is Too Mean, Randy White is Too Quick and Ed Jones is Too Tall and Too Tough. The Broncs were able to give their passers more protection than they did in the Super Bowl last January, but that may have been because Dallas was playing a more basic defensive alignment.

If the game had been for real, the Denver blockers would have had to cope with a different situation. Slants and loops and double dogs, probably.

Denver completed some passes against Dallas, but all of the teams are facing a problem in that department this season. The new rule against bumping the receivers downfield is going to open up the passing lanes.

The best pass defense - and perhaps the only one - is going to be a fierce rush against the passers.

THE ONLY REAL cloud over the Cowboy camp right now is the absence of kicker Efren Herrera, who demands a contract renegotiation or a trade to another club. Efren has no legal grounds at all for his action, since he still is under contract to Dallas. By the rules approved by his own union, he must play out his contract or retire.

Herrera owes the club a huge amount of money, because of the automatic $500-per-day fine for absence from training camp. It is doubtful that Landry would revoke that penalty, even if Herrera should have a change of heart.

The situation took a new turn this morning when Landry gave personnel director Gil Brandt the go-ahead to trade Herrera. Brandt admitted that talks are under way with Buffalo, but did not rule out a deal with another club.

Brandt also said that the club had increased its contract offer to Herrera last week, but that the kicker had rejected the pact. Rookie Jay Sherrill may be able to take over the kicking job, or veteran Skip

Butler could be the temporary solution. Other kickers will be available as teams trim their rosters during the next couple of weeks. THERE ALWAYS ARE undercurrents on any football squad. A few players dislike the coaches, or their contracts, or think they ought to be starting instead of sitting on the bench. That is human nature. But the Cowboys have good team morale, by any standard, and 90 percent of the players are happy to be wearing that star on their hats. They like living in Dallas and playing with a winner. That may or may not add up to another Super Bowl triumph. It takes luck, as well as skill, to even get to the Big One. At least six NFL teams have the physical talent and the coaching to go all the way. But if Dallas' key players avoid crippling injuries, the Cowboys almost certainly will be back in the playoffs next December.

After surrendering 29 hits and 25 runs to division-leading Philadelphia in the last two games, Pittsburgh woke up with some timely hitting and pitching.

Don Robinson hurled a six-hitter and struck out six, and the Pirates got 12 hits, including a three-run homer by Dave Parker. The Phillies had won the first three games of the series. Cardinals 6, Mets 1

St. Louis swept a three-game set with New York and tied the Mets for fifth place in the East, the first time in nearly three months that the Cardinals were not in sole possession of last place.

Pete Vuckovich, the NL earned run average leader among starting pitchers, hurled a four-hitter and had a run-scoring single. He struck out seven and walked

Former Mets Wayne Garrett and Mike illips had seven hits between them to d the Cardinals attack. ab r h bi

Rain Wins Out Over Yankees

The New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles spent 9 hours, 31 minutes playing 5 hours, 12 minutes of baseball and completing 201/2 of the 27 innings they were pposed to have played this weekend.

They managed some of those innings Sunday before the heavens intervened, converting a five-run Yankee seventh into so much extra batting practice and Minnesota's sweep of Oakland. The A's turning an apparent 5-3 New York triumph into a 3-0 Baltimore shutout.

Sunday, forsaking the scuba gear and miner's hats that might have been more appropriate, the teams tried again. Baltimore scored three times in the sixth, the Vanks tallied five in the seventh

But since scores revert to the last complete inning when rain halts official d play was stopped with the Birds batting in the seventh - New York came out on the short end.

Butch Wynegar's eighth-inning single delivered the deciding run, backed a fivenitter by Roger Er	ickson and capped	throw to the plate.

what Judy Rankin did in the Ladies Pro-fessional Golf Association $100,000 tour-nament that concluded Sunday at the North Hills Country Club. It turned out to be the right cure. Mrs. Rankin, the leading money-winner on the circuit in 1976 and again in 1977, shot a par-73 on the 6.143-yard course to finish at a 9-under 283, two strokes ahead of Debbie Massey, Rookie of the Year in 1977, and Para Histories. 1977, and Pam Higgins. Sally Little was fourth with 286. Beth Stone had the best round in the windup of the 72-hole classic, a 4-under-69 and that resulted in a deadlock for fifth with veteran Kathy Whitworth at 288.

The 33-year-old Mrs. Rankin, who hails from Midland, only revealed her switch to the new irons after the victory that was worth $15,000 and raised her current carnings to $49.360.

That is a far cry from the $150,734 she collected in 1976 or the $122,890 earned

"I had some changes made in my old irons exactly one year ago," explained the 5-foot-31/2, 110-pounder. "It was right after this same tournament.

"Once the work was completed. I never questioned it. I assumed the clubs were the same. Things had gotten so bad, how-

"The changes I had made with the old clubs dealt with weight, not the grooves or anything like that," continued Mrs. Rankin, now in her 17th year on the tour. "The clubs never felt bad, but the consistency wasn't there. Something had to

Pocket Coin Takes Easy 'Grande' Win

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (Special) -The way the fans at Ruidoso Downs had it figured, all Pocket Coin had to do in the Rio Grande Futurity was show up. The competition would Keel over from

So Pocket Coin was made a crushing 1-5 favorite in the six-furlong fixture for New Mexico-breds, and the scenario played out just as expected.

Pocket Coin dismissed his foes with ri-diculous easy and romped under the wire with a 64-length margin, as he collected $16,740 out of a gross purse of $33,480. The paycheck put Pochet Coin's career earnings at $97,500 and beefed up his racing record to a near-perfect seven wins and a second from eight starts. The colt is owned by the father-son combine of Melvin and Ernest Riggs of Fort Stockton.

Swinging out of the first turn, Pocket Coin quickly scooted into the clear. As he coursed over the midway point of the backstretch, the lead had fattened to four

Happy Irishman looked like a lukewarm menace as he circled the turn for home. But that modest effort was all he could deliver and Happy Irishman had no recourse but to give up the chase. Dandy Binge shifted into high gear in the upper stretch and passed Happy Irishman for second money of $6,696. Mysiswasadancer, a 35-1 longshot, came in third, to earn $3.682

Pocket Coin covered the distance in 1:14 3/5 and returned $2.60, $2.40, and $2.20. Dandy Binge, owned by V.J. Callaway of Hobbs, paid $3.50 and $2.20, and Mysiswasadancer, owned by John Renner of Friona, returned $2.20.

Walton Reportedly Prefers Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Bill Walton, the injury-prone Most Valuable Player who didn't like the medical treatment he got with the Portland Trail Blazers, has decided he wants to play for the Golden State Warriors.

"Bill has determined that if he is going play in the NBA, (Golden State) is where he is going to play," said Jack Scott, the sports activist, author and Walton's friend and adviser. Warriors General Manager Scotty Stirling, who met with the 6-foot-11 center last week in Portland, also confirmed Sunday night that Walton wanted to play for Golden State. "That's essentially the story. We have agreed in principal. I won't comment be-The San Francisco Chronicle reported in today's edition that Walton preferred the Warriors over other National Basketball Association teams because he liked the Bay area, the team, its fans and man-Scott said, "We felt it was one area of the country that he would get support from the fans ...

The New York Knicks reportedly offered Walton more money but the Warriors offer was large enough, the Chronicle said. The Philadelphia 76ers and the sought Walton.

Still to be worked out is the compensation for Portland in giving up Walton's services. John White, spokesman for the Blazers, said any talk of where Walton might be going is premature. "He's not going anywhere until we make a deal," White said. "And we haven't made a deal." Blazer General manager Harry Glickman said, "They've still got to make a deal with us. They've got some good players we would be interested in, but certainly no centers. "We would be looking at other players. both guards and forwards. We'll have to go out and acquire a center."

Walton led the Trail Blazers to the NBA championship in 1977 and was named Most Valuable Player in 1977-78 despite injuries that kept him out of action much of the second half of the sea-

He indicated he decided to leave the Trail Blazers because he was unhappy over medical treatment of a foot injury sustained during last season's playoffs.

Princeton Experiment Rivets Attention On Fusion

By WARREN E. LEARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — We smirk about ancient alchemists dreaming of turning lead into gold. Yet we are spending billions of dollars to turn water into something more precious to us than gold — energy.

The dream of limitless energy from a fuel supply that can't be embargoed has accentists doing things that seem as much like alchemy as they do modern sci-their terrifying power.

They are trying to master fusion energy.

One such step was announced over the weekend by Princeton University scientists who heated a form of hydrogen to more than 26 million degrees Celsius. The exact temperature achieved is expected to be announced this week, but it was high enough for a U.S. Department of Energy spokesman to call it

"significant."

"It is not a breakthrough," said Jim Bishop, cautioning against published reports to the contrary. Saying that much more research is needed, he added that the latest Princeton work "is a significant development" confirming earlier Fusion is a way of freeing tremendous amounts of energy by forcing together the nuclei of light atoms such as hydrogen, just as the sun does. Scientists are using two forms of hydrogen found in water, deuterium and tritium, as fuel.

When the hydrogen nuclei come together — fuse — they form helium and release subatomic particles called neutrons. Energy from this reaction is converted to heat, which is transferred through the wall to generate steam and run od to heat, which is transferred through the wall to generate steam and run power plants.

Today's nuclear power reactors work on the opposite principle called fission, the separation rather than fusion of atoms. Heavy atoms of uranium are shattered apart in a chain reaction with other particles, releasing energy.

Scientists are looking for an alternative to fission because it is potentially dangerous, produces large amounts of long-term nuclear wastes, has limited sources of fuel and some byproducts can be used to make nuclear bombs.

Fusion, on the other hand, can use sea water for fuel, should produce little radioactive waste, is relatively harmless to the environment and produces no byproduct that can be converted into weapons.

But a number of scientific breakthroughs have to be achieved and many billions of dollars invested before controlled fusion reactors become a reality.

Even though the United States is spending a half-billion dollars annually on its fusion research program, the Energy Department estimates that a demonstration fusion power plant won't be ready before the mid-1990s.

The United States is exploring two main approaches to a possible fusion reactor. One is the magnetic containment approach headquartered at Princeton. The other is laser fusion, or inertial confinement, method being pioneered at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in New Mexico and the University of California's Lawrence Livermore Laboratory.

With magnetic containment, the most widely used devices for fusion experiments are large, doughnut-shaped machines called tokamaks. These machines, invented by Soviet scientists in the 1960s, are circular chambers surrounded by electromagnets.

Hydrogen gas fed into the chamber is heated so bot that it's stripped of its

Hydrogen gas fed into the chamber is heated so hot that it's stripped of its

These same principals hold for laser fusion. With this method, powerful laser light beams fire at tiny glass pellets containing deuterium and tritium.

This sudden burst of energy exporizes the pellet coating and, as it flies outward, it pushes back against the fuel to compress and heat it. If the laser beams are powerful enough, the compression effect will cause nuclei to fuse and release energy.

Some of the milestones yet to be reactied are simultaneously combining the ideal temperature, density and confinement time for controlled, sustained fusion. Fusion also must reach the energy break-even point when the energy coming from the reaction equals or exceeds that used to start it.

If research masters the technical problems, federal energy officials say commercial fusion plants could be supplying power early in the next century.

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) - Shouts screams and breaking glass shocked the audience of a live radio talk show as they listened to an attack by club-swinging youths on a Nazi organizer who was Breda and his companion, whom he declined to name, suffered head cuts. Two station workers were injured slightly when they were struck by clubs. The attack lasted less than a minute. Breda continued with the program and later was treated at a Kansas City hospital.

Police said as many as 15 persons, whites and blacks mostly in their early 20s or late teens, broke into a side door of the station and rushed the studio.

The sound of the studio door open and a voice shouting "Get them!" could be heard on a tape of the show played back later. Then a voice pleading, "No, no, don't, please," and the sound of glass breaking as the attackers beat the studio's occupants and swung their clubs wildly, hitting windows.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional investigators say new government regula-tions are needed to control introduction of costly equipment into the nation's medical system.

To emphasize the point, Congress' Office of Technology Assessment reported Sunday on computerized x-ray machines that cost $400,000 each.

GM Chairman Sees Continued Auto Industry Growth In '79

By JEFFERY L. SHELER DETROIT (UPI) - The U.S. auto inustry will sell a record 15.4 million cars

"The U.S. economy has expanded at an impressive rate during much of the past year, despite the unfavorable impact of severe winter weather and a protracted coal strike," Murphy said.

"Strong gains in employment - an addition of more than 10 million jobs since the current expansion began in April, 1975 - and rising personal incomes are evidence of the economy's underlying momentum," he said.

Murphy predicted the Gross National Product, an indicator of the nation's economic expansion, should increase at an annual rate of 4 percent through 1979.

Some industry analysts disagreed with the GM chairman's prediction for continued expansion, and said car sales, as a re-sult, will taper off late this year and into

But the natural acoustics also pose some problems.

"It's a big change going from the tiny rehearsal room we have. You don't have the lag time in a small room. Your speech can get garbled unless you speak slowly and distinctly. It sometimes takes actors a good week or more performing to get it right," he said.

one of Germany's two national television networks replaced "The Avengers" with a Tom Jones concert in line with a decision to reduce violence on the home screen, angry viewers jammed TV station switchboards everywhere to protest.

One station, NDR in Mamburg, reported only a single telephone call from a viewer who said, "Well done, and thanks."

Directors of the ARD network, the socalled "first channel" and the oldest of the two national networks, anticipate another storm at the end of August when they replace "Ironsides" with the world swimming championships in Berlin and the European track and field championships in Prague.

ARD program director Dietrich Schwarzkopf announced after the July meeting of the network's board that the

New FDA Chief Wants Better Sugar Labeling

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The new head of the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Foods believes consumers deserve better information and warnings about the amount of sugar — both natural and added — in the food they buy.

In addition, Dr. Sanford Miller said he personally would like to see warning labels or perhaps better descriptions on labels about the amount of salt in food, as well the exact names of the kinds of food colorings used, instead of phrases like 'color added."

Miller, in an interview just before being sworn into his new job last week, said he is not sure there should be a ban on sugar advertising to children, as the Federal Trade Commission has suggested, although such advertising needs to be scrutinized very carefully.

"I'm a firm believer in sugar labeling," he said, "but I think it ought to also extend to all products, no matter what the sugar comes from. If sugar labeling is designed to facilitate the battle against dental (cavities), then it ought to be for all sugar, irrespective of its origin.
"I just don't think there's anything particularly evil about sugar added by industry compared to the sugar that the Good Lord put there. I think they both have the same potential," Miller said.

Miller, a professor of nutritional biochemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology before he came to the FDA, said consumers should not be given the idea that is imply because a date is grown on a tree it's any less cariogenic (decay causing) than a candy bar containing the amount of sugar.

"You've got to get rid of this idea that processed food is somehow evil, and children ought not to learn that it's somehow evil," he said. "It's processed food that keeps us able to survive in an urban children to "

Asked his reaction to a recent petition to FDA asking for a warning label on highly salted foods, Miller said his personal feeling was that there should be, "if not a warning label at least a label in-forming people as to what salt is, and what the concentration of salt is in a product.

"About 30 percent of the population is salt sensitive, and they have a right to know what the materials are that they are dealing with," he said. "It's much better for a physician to say, "Look on the label and just don't use anything that has over that amount of salt."

To Less Violent Shows BONN, West Germany (UPI) - When noon "krimis" are being dropped and that many of the remaining cops-and-robbers shows will be replaced with "softer"

Critic Hans Blumenberg put the case in favor of less violence in the weekly magazine Die Zeit, saying. "Constant exposure to brutality on the television screen makes us indifferant to brutality in life."

"Mindless and cynical American imports such as 'Superstar,' 'The Streets of San Francisco,' and 'Starsky and Hutch,' in which scenes ranging from kicks in the crotch to shooting to kill are common. pave the way for a climate of insecurity and fear .... They do not go into the question of how violence comes about and how, apart from even cruder counterviolence, it can be overcome. Their disappearance from our screens is no loss." But Blumenberg and other critics expressed concern that German TV directors might become overzealous and eliminate so much violence that TV loses all touch with reality. ARD spokesmen said no one need have any fear on that point. Viewers will continue to have a wide range of foreign and homemade thrillers. Neither will violence be eliminated from news programs, they said. No one has blamed a German television network's shows for provoking the commission of a crime, as has been the case in the United States. But the American cases are followed closely in Germany, where the programs under fire in the United States are also wn, and directors express private fears that it is only a matter of time until someone does sue them. The elimination of some of the worst violence is an expression of that fear.

DALLAS (UPI) - Braniff Internation al today announced reduction of its standby and budget roundtrip airfares from Dallas-Fort Worth to London to $299 effective Sept. 1 and subject to ap-proval of the regulatory agencies of both nations.

The new standby rates represent a decrease of $50 and the budget rates lower the cost of a roundtrip ticket by $93. The airline also lowered its advance purchase excursion fare by 18 percent to $349 and said passengers who board in Houston and connect at D/FW Regional Airport, the nation's largest, will be given the same rates as those boarding in Dallas for the London trip.

All of the fares provide confirmed reservations under varying conditions.

Braniff also said the previous $30 surcharge for weekend travel has been eliminated.

Exhibition On Sailing Opens

By DONALD SANDERS

WASHINGTON (AP) - An exhibition of this country's commercial sailing fleets from the Mayflower to supertankers, containing hundreds of items, opened to the public last week at the Smithsonian Institution's Management mian Institution's Museum of History and Technology.

The exhibit is called the Hall of American Maritime Enterprise.

A central feature is the National Watercraft Collection, started in 1884 by Capt. Joseph W. Collins. Regarded as one of the linest collections of its kind in the world, it includes hundreds of half-models and rigged models: schooners, clipper ships, fishing craft and riverboats.

The Mayflower is represented only by a model. But there are sea chanties, a tattoo parlor, lighthouse lamps, steam en-gines, ropes, pulleys, tools, lifeboats, paintings and prints account of ings and prints-some of them by rewned artists.

There are bits of incidental information. Not all supertankers haul petroleum. The Tropicana carries 121/2 million is of orange juice.

Visitors may enter two full-sized exhibits: a 1970s towboat pilot house and the working engine room of a ship. The sight from the pilot house is similar to what Mark Twain might have seen on the Mississippi River.

There are several figureheads of women at the entrance to the galleries. "As steam replaced sail, bowsprits disappeared and so did the enchanting figurehead," says historian Robert C. Post, who has been working on the display for Scores of maritime and maritime-related firms contributed to the exhibition. So did many ports, from Boston to Detroit, Honolulu, New Orleans, San Diego, Seattle and Tulsa.

There are displays of lithographs of 19th century ship fires, including a rare one by Nathaniel Currier, newspaper es about the sinking of the Titanic and the burning of the Morrow Castle.

There is even a piece of sheet music from the 19th century titled: "Lost on the Steamer Stonewall: Mama, Why Don't Papa Come Home?"

There are menus from the translantic superliners, with a dozen or more courses, and a major scrimshaw collection of engravings on whale teeth and bone.

Pap Test Scores

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I need some information on the yearly Pap test for women of childbearing age. My latest Pap test came back classified "2" and while my doctor states I do not have cancer, I could develop it in a span of 20 years from now. Then upon check-ing he told me he can correct the cells in question by burning them off and then taking a biopsy. Can this all be done in the doctor's office? And am I safe to believe I am out of danger of getting cancer now? He also stated a three or four reading would indicate cancer had started in the body. I really wish you could clarify my questions on

DEAR READER - Classifications mean different things to different people and it's not possible for me to know exactly what your doctor meant. However, the standard classification for the cells from a Pap test is on a one to five range. Class "I" and "2" are benign, meaning that the cells did not show any evidence of cancer. If there is a variation in the class "2" the usual procedure is to re-represent localized cancer, not the invasive type that people get into trouble with. In fact, it's usually called carcinoma in situ.

Class "5" are the kind of cells that are associated with invasive carcinoma of the cervix.

You should remember with the cells obtained with the Papanicolaou test are really to identify suspicious cases. The test has to be correlated with what the doctor sees and finds on his examination. If there is a suspicious area he sees and finds on his examination. If there is a suspicious area he may wish to biopsy it or if the cells come back from a Pap test that they are abnormal, he may want to biopsy some area of tissue. If you have a localized carcinoma in situ, which is not a major malignancy, he may wish to treat this area. In any case, if there's nothing to see on the examination and the Pap test is also normal then a woman has nothing to worry about at the time.

I know of no test that will predict when a woman will or will dict when a woman will or will not develop cancer in the future. Therefore, I would certainly be

South Africa Investment BanRapped

WASHINGTON (AP) - Legislation to bar new American investment in South Africa is drawing fire from the Carter ad-ministration and from a Zulu chief visitministration and from a Zulu chief visiting Washington.

Assistant Secretary of State for AfricanAffairs Richard Moose told a House subcommittee last week that prohibiting; new investment could jeopardize SouthAfrican cooperation with U.S. plans to bring about majority rule in Namibia and Rhodesia.

Chief Gatsha Buthelezi, political leader of the Zulu nation, said in a seminar that the average South African worker does not favor economic sanctions against that "The only way to bring the white South African establishment to understand the need for fundamental change is for us to. translate rhetoric into action." Solarz said in an interview.

Solarz pointed out that his bill wouldnot require American firms to end their, current investments in South Africa. Nor would it prohibit those companies from reinvesting profits earned there. His proposal would ban investment of new funds. Given the current climate of: unrest in South Africa. he said, that amounted to only $9 million last year.

The Solarz bill would also require.

American corporations to enforce a fair.

American corporations to enforce a land employment code requiring equal pay, and equal opportunity for black workers. There is probably not enough time in the current session of Congress for the Solarz bill to move beyond committee hearings, but pressure has been building. on Capitol Hill for more stringent Ameri-can sanctions against South Africa. Moose reflected the Carter administra-

"We need to act with careful regard for timing. If we persuade the white South Africans that we are simply hostile to-them — rather than to apartheid — we give up the possibility of influencing them constructively." he said.

Moose said the administration feels the best way to bring about peaceful change in South Africa is to demonstrate the feasibility of whites turning over power to sibility of whites turning over power to, blacks by achieving peaceful transitions in Namibia and Rhodesia.

Buthelezi, a moderate South African' black who thus far has managed to avoid being banned or imprisoned by the white government, spoke at a seminar sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

He said the liberation struggle in South Africa must be won slowly. "South Africa is not a Jericho which will crumble from shouting. Those who call for disinvestment have yet to persuade South Africanworkers to strike. The workers do not believe disinvestment is a viable alternative to keeping body and soul together to participate in the struggle," he said.

The campaign began with the subdu-ing, if not stilling, the voice of National Security Affairs adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski in deference to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. Brzezinski, who takes a tougher line with the Soviets, has been a target for Moscow's verbal retaliation. Vance operates more within the diplomatic constraints and prefers accommodation to confrontation.

The bumping of presidential assistant Midge Costanza, who has since resigned, from ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" program to give soft spoken, academic Stuart Eizenstat, the domestic policy adviser, the sole spotlight, was a Rafshoon special.

More recenty, Housing Secretary Patricia Harris declined to testify before a House committee when her testimony failed to be cleared by the White House. Press secretary Jody Powell cited "differences in articulation," whatever that means

The administration also has muzzled Barry Bosworth, outspoken chairman of the Council on Wage and Price Stability. from criticizing high-cost labor contracts. Administration statements on labor contracts will now emanate from a panel of Carter's economic advisers, including Charles Schultze, Ray Marshall and chief inflation fighter Robert Strauss.

Those who get in headline-making trouble will be put on a leave of absence until the problem is straightened out.

These are the initial steps in the new disciplined White House. Time will tell if

Feminist Not Likely For Midge's Post

WASHINGTON (AP) - The next White House adviser on women's issues likely will not be strongly identified with the women's movement, the head of the Women's Lobby predicts.

Carrol Burris said in a recent interview some people think the president and his top aides have no interest in picking a strong feminist to replace Midge Costanza, who resigned. The Women's Lobby is a private group that lobbies Congress on women's issues. A check of major women's organizations and some high female officials in government indicates great interest in the
