SUPER HANDYMAN

Polishing method hides blemishes

By AL CARRELL

French polishing is an old technique that is still used in hiding a surface blemish while at the same time building up the surface and shining it.

LIFESTYLE

This is done with a pad made from a blob of cheesecloth placed in the center of several layers of lint-free cloth. An old, well-laundered handkerchief can be folded over and works well. By gathering up the edges of the hanky, you can dip your pad in-

Next, you need a few drops of boiled linseed oil in the center of the pad. Now you're ready to start rubbing. The motion is important. It should be a constant circular motion, with the circles about 6 to 8 inches in diameter and each overlapping only about half the previous one. You should start the motion before you touch the surface and pick up the pad before you stop. If the pad starts to drag, add more oil. When it runs out of shellac, dip again. The pad should be wet but not dripping. Never stop moving with the pad touching and move along fairly fast. When the surface reaches the proper luster, or has filled up even with the rest of the surface, wipe off excess oil with a clean cloth. This technique requires practice and, I might add, a very strong arm.

CHEESE CLOTH MOTION FOR FRENCH POLISHING OF FURNITURE

A SUPER HINT — When you drill a blind hole in wood (one that goes into the wood, but not all the way through), did you ever blow the sawdust out of the hole? If so, you probably got sawdust in the eyes, and this is very dangerous. An empty plastic squeeze bottle can do the blowing for you if you'll just squeeze it like a bellows. A lot kinder on the eyes.

Dear Al: Save all the old socks that develop holes in the heels or toes. They can come in handy as tool holders in the shop or in the tool box. They will protect tools from banging against each other and thus prevent damage. For the tool box, they also quiet down the clanging. Sweat socks are particularly good because they are thick. — T. B.

QUICK ANSWERS FOR HARRIED HANDYPERSONS: Q: A freeze-proof outside hydrant apparently froze last winter and burst. However, it only leaks while the water is turned on. I cannot get at it because it's leaking behind and inside the brick wall. How do I fix it? A: Unless you can get to it without tearing into the wall, that's the only way I know of. Figure out which will be the easiest to repair, either the inside or outside wall. The reason it bursts is probably because you left a hose connected, and this trapped water in the part inside the wall, but in front of the long stem with the washer. That's why it only leaks when the water is turned on.

cloth dipped in vanilla extract to remove odors from an ice chest or refrigerator. I have found that after a good cleaning with a solution of baking soda, you can put several pieces of corrugated board into the box and it will absorb odors. In the case of an ice chest, sort of line the sides and bottom with the cardboard. In the case of a refrigerator, put a piece on each shelf. I don't know why it works, but it does. — Ms. W.A.

Dear Al: You have passed along several ways to remove oil and grease stains from a garage floor. All require the use of some sort of absorbent. One absorbent you've never mentioned, and one that all home handymen create, is sawdust. I use paint thinner poured generously over the grease spot, and then cover it with about a half-inch of sawdust. The next day, the sawdust has absorbed most of the oil or grease. — J.O.

DEAR ABBY

Readers respond to plea for Living Bank donors

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR READERS: A few months ago I urged my readers to donate their organs after death by writing to The Living Bank for a donor card. The response was overwhelming!

I want to share a few of the heartwarming letters received by The Living Bank: DEAR SIR: I wish to leave any part of my body that will help someone to see, or hear, or to make their kidneys function normally. I am living a healthy, normal life, but I know there are many people who aren't, so if I can donate my healthy organs after I die to someone less fortunate, it would give my life more meaning.

I am a Catholic, and now I realize that God wants only my soul. I want to give the rest of me to anyone who needs it. Please send me a dozen organ donor cards, so I can give them to others who feel as I do. God bless all you people involved in this wonderful cause!—MRS. JOYCE F.

DEAR SIR: I read about The Living Bank in Dear Abby's column and want to donate my organs after death. I work in an emergency room of a hospital and have seen many people die because no transplants were available. Only God knows when I will die. Please send me a donor card, so that my family and doctors will know what to do when the time comes.—LORRAINE B.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I just finished reading Dear Abby and want to leave my organs after death, so please send me a card. As Abby put it: "There is nothing I could leave after my death that would be of greater value." I feel exactly as Abby does.—JANETH.

DEAR SIR OR MADAM: I am 80 and in fairly good health. I want to leave any part of my body that can be used. It has served me well. My eyes are good and so is my hearing, and I can eat anything. I had rheumatic fever twice when I was a kid, and the doctors gave me only 10 years to live, but I fooled them.—WILLIAM E. READERS: To obtain a donor card, or free information about The Living Bank, write to P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77005. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (15 cents) envelope for their reply as they are a nonprofit organization. God bless you. And He will.—ABBY

DEAR SIR: Please send me a Living Bank donor's card to fill out. My brother, Buddy, was killed instantly in a motorcycle accident two years ago. He was 18 and healthy, and such a sweet and generous kid, I'm sure he would have willed his eyes and kidneys—and any other parts that could have been used for transplants—had he only known how to do it. What a pity my brother's death couldn't have meant life to two people who were waiting for kidney transplants, and sight to two blind people who needed cornea transplants. I think to bury perfectly good organs is a terrible waste.—TOM G. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I think Dear Abby's column about donating one's organs should be printed in every newspaper in the world. She has changed my mind about any "organ bank."

Tall City women offered chance to learn football

Coach Fred Akers of The University of Texas at Austin will be in Midland Friday to help women of the Tall City to score points at home.

But the points to be scored at home will involve learning the basic facts about football and not how to make a marriage work.

Akers, Longhorns coach, will give explanations, live demonstrations, "chalk talks" and pointers at Midland Country Club in a program called Ladies Football Focus. The wives and girlfriends of "football nuts" will learn all they've ever wanted to know about football, but were afraid to ask. When weekend or Monday night football rolls around, the women will be able to enjoy the season right along with their husbands or boyfriends.

The luncheon meeting is open to all women of Midland, including those who already know about the gridiron game.

The program will be kicked off at 10 a.m. Friday, with lunch to follow. Tickets are $7 per person and may be purchased in the lobby of The First National Bank, The Midland National Bank, Commercial Bank and Trust Co. and Western State Bank. Attendance is limited so, regardless of your team loyalty, don't get left on the sidelines.

A special prize donated by a Midland merchant will be given away, according to a spokesman for the Texas Exes Association. Sponsors are the banks and the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

BUT I found out it's not that easy to do by yourself! When my husband started making comments about my figure I knew it was time I found professional help. Having already read many things about the Pat Walker Program, the idea of being able to lose both weight and inches where I really needed them off, plus not even messing my hair or even having to change my clothes, while doing it really appealed to me. I am so pleased with the success I have had with the Pat Walker Program. Pounds and inches came off to give me a new figure I can be proud of! I can really say I'm glad I did it. Tiant, Catfish revive memories

By TOM CANAVAN AP Sports Writer

Luis Tiant and Catfish Hunter may not qualify as oldtimers but their pitching performances Sunday brought back a lot of old memories.

Tiant scattered eight hits as the Boston Red Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-0 and Hunter hurled a five-hitter to pace the New York Yankees to a 3-0 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

"In 1968, I blew smoke by everybody. I threw twice as hard as anybody and I was the best starting pitcher in the big leagues," said Tiant, 8-4, after recording his first victory since June 24.

"Now I think pitching more, and I've been pitching just as good as in '68," he added, referring to the season he won 21 games.

BOSTON catcher Carlton Fisk wasn't going to argue. "With all his motions and hesitations, you never know where the ball is coming from or when," Fisk said.

"The biggest thing a pitcher has to do is break down a hitter's concentration and rhythm. There's no one better in the world at that than Luis Tiant."

Hunter isn't going to challenge Tiant in distractions but he was matching his pitching performance.

Hunter, who didn't retire a batter and gave up six first-inning runs against Cleveland 11 days ago, pitched his first shutout and complete game of the season as the Yankees took two of three games from the Orioles this weekend.

"He's coming into a second youth or something the way he's throwing the ball," Yankees Manager Bob Lemon said.

"My arm is feeling better," Hunter said. "I had good control and the name of my game is control. I had everything just where I wanted it."

Chris Chambliss gave Hunter everything else he wanted — runs — when he delivered a bases-loaded two-run single in the first. Graig Nettles added an RBI single in the sixth to close out the scoring.

Red Sox 4, Brewers 0. Rick Burleson's RBI single capped a three-run second inning as Boston handed Milwaukee its ninth loss in the last 13 games.

"We're still in second place, and that's great," Brewer Manager George Bamberger said.

Dwight Evans added a run-scoring single in the eighth for Boston.

Rangers 3, Indians 2. Pinch hitter Gary Gray blasted a two-out, two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning as Texas edged Cleveland. Gray's shot hit the left field foul pole and made a winner out of Jon Matlack, who entered the ninth with a 1-0 lead.

Royals 12, Blue Jays 5. Al Cowens smashed his first grand slam home run and Hal McRae added a two-run double as Kansas City blasted Toronto and maintained a two-game lead over the California Angels in the AL West.

Angels 4, Twins 3. Carney Lansford's one-out ninth-inning single scored Ken Landreaux from second base as California defeated Minnesota and rolled to its fifth victory in the past six games.

Don Baylor's home run, his 24th of the season, off Twins' starter Geoff Zahn tied the game 3-3 in the eighth inning.

California's starter Nolan Ryan struck out 10 to regain the AL strike-out lead from New York's Ron Guidry, 174-173.

Tigers 8, White Sox 0. Steve Kemp hit a three-run homer and Rusty Staub had a two-run shot, backing the sixth pitching of Jim Stalton as Detroit blanked Chicago, the Tigers' eighth win in the last nine games.

Staub hit his 18th homer in the third inning, while Kemp, who drove in four runs, crashed a three-run shot in the fifth.

A's 4-4, Mariners 3-3. Dell Alston, recalled from the minors Saturday, delivered a seventh-inning single to score Bob Picciolo from second as Oakland defeated Seattle and swept a double-header. Taylor Duncan's eighth-inning pinch single scored pitcher Darrell Woodard from second as Oakland won the first game.

The A's, who have beaten the Mariners in 13 of 15 games this season, moved within four games of division leading Kansas City.

"I hate to see them go. It's a Manager Jack McKeon said after the game that concluded the season series between the teams. "If they let us beat them though, we'll beat them."

Dodgers knock Giants out of 1st

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Since moving to the West Coast in the late 1950s, the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants haven't had too many glowing moments reminiscent of their flaming baseball rivalry in New York.

This season, however, is different. As they once did at Ebbets Field and the Polo Grounds, the Dodgers and Giants are getting the best out of their association — and the crowds are loving each competitive moment.

On Sunday, 54,723 showed up at Candlestick Park in San Francisco to watch the Dodgers beat the Giants 5-1 and put more of a squeeze on the hot National League West race.

THE DEFEAT knocked the Giants out of first place for the first time since June 8, allowing Cincinnati to move into the top spot by percentage points with a 3-1 victory over San Diego.

"It's been so close for so long," said winning pitcher Burt Hooton, "that I don't think it's going to change the rest of the way. This race will go down to the wire for sure."

It's certainly a different scenario than last year — when the Dodgers jumped out in front at the start and stayed there by a big margin. This year, the pitching-rich Giants have been leading the pack for a good chunk of the season, although challenged hard by the Reds and Dodgers.

The competition, especially with the Dodgers, has reaped financial benefits for the Giants. The recent four-game series, split by the two, drew a total of 195,000 people.

That makes 492,000 for the 10 Giant-Dodger games so far.

"It's a heck of a race, isn't it?" said Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda, rhetorically. "I wish I knew who was going to win it. I guess it hinges on who gets good pitching — and who stays free of injuries."

HOOTON PITCHED a four-hitter and Reggie Smith drove in three runs in the Dodger victory. Smith drove in the Dodgers' first two runs with a double in the first inning and Lee Lacy also belted a two-run double off San Francisco starter Bob Knepper, who retired only one batter before leaving.

Smith's 21st home run for the season, off Charlie Williams in the fifth, gave the Dodgers their final run. Hooton beat the Giants a fifth straight time, giving up a run in the sixth on Jim Dwyer's RBI single.

"During the game I wondered if we'd ever see daylight in this crazy race," said San Francisco Manager Joe Altobelli. "I realize now that the only daylight we'll see will be at 6 a.m. in the morning."

Reds 3, Padres 1. Johnny Bench's tie-breaking sacrifice fly in the bottom of the ninth inning led Cincinnati over San Diego. Prior to the game-winning RBI, Randy Jones had permitted only one fly ball, handoffing the Reds with low-breaking sinkers.

Fred Norman, recently demoted to the bullpen after struggling as a starter, got the victory in relief of Bill Bonham. Norman, 10-6, struck out five of the six batters he faced. Doug Bair pitched the last two innings to record his 21st save.

Phillies 5-5, Pirates 2-0. Larry Bowa singled home two runs in the fourth inning to lead Philadelphia over Pittsburgh in the first game of their doubleheader as the Pirates' Willie Stargell set an all-time major league strikeout record.

Dick Ruthven gave up eight hits and struck out three batters, including Stargell's record-breaking in the ninth. It was the 1,711th time that Stargell has fanned in his career and sent him past Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees in that category.

Steve Carlton pitched a three-hitter, drove in a run and scored once to pace the Phillies to their second-game victory.

Expos 2-3, Cubs 1-4. Gary Carter and Andre Dawson hit homers to lead Steve Rogers and Montreal to their first-game victory over Chicago. Carter hit his 12th homer of the season to open the third inning and Dawson hit his 20th in the sixth. Along with his 22 stolen bases, Dawson became the first Expo in history to hit 20 home runs and steal 20 bases in the same season.

Rogers improved his
