BASEBALL UPDATE

If you haven't been making the games lately you have been missing some exciting little league play.

Pee Wee
In the June 11 game with Winter's Giants, the Robert Lee team came up short in a close game, losing 9-8. On June 14, the RL team travelled to Bronte and fell 6-1. In the next game with Winter's Pirates, RL stormed to a commanding 18-9 finish. The Pee Wees record now stands at 4 wins 2 losses.

Little League
In the RL vs. Jets game it was a thriller to the end, with RL defeating the Jets in the last inning, 7-6. Kelly Tomlinson knocked in the winning runs with a stand up double. June 14 RL travelled to Bronte, destroying the opposition with a 15-3 win. In the RL vs Yankees game, which would decide the first half championship, both teams standing 4 and 1, it proved to be a good one. The Yanks took the opening lead with a 3-0 score at the top of the 4th. Then RL made their move to tie the game 3-3 in the 5th. Top of the 6th and final inning the Yanks scored again. With the score 4-3 and 2 outs, Robert Runnion cracked in 2 RBIs to win 5-4 giving the RL team the first half championship. Their record now stands 5-1. We have two more home games. The first being June 4 with Pee Wees and Little League playing Bronte. The last game at home is June 11 with Pee Wees playing Winters Cards and Little League playing Winters Dodgers.

Daily Thunderstorms Leave Up To Six Inches Moisture In Area

Robert Lee residents feel slighted if it doesn't rain every night. Several heavy thunderstorms have totaled almost 6 inches of rainfall since last Friday. Official measurements recorded 4 inches on Friday night, 1.36 inches on Sunday night, with an added .40 on Monday night.

Doyle Gray of Sanco reported about 4.75 inches and his tanks were running around their spillways.

Mrs. Evelyn McKinley stated she had some scattered large hail on her ranch at Meadow Mountain near Spence Lake on Sunday night.

Area residents have felt fortunate to receive the ample rains yet escape the storm damages suffered by other communities ballots by mail can be made to the county clerk's office and completed absentee ballots must be received by the clerk's office no later than 7 p.m. on June 5.

Registered voters may vote in the runoff election though they failed to vote in the primaries. If they voted in the primary election, they must then vote in the same political party's runoff election.

Interest has been shown in the local and county elections as two runoff races are being run. Incumbent D.W. "Dub" Sims faces Aubrey Denman in the county judge's race and Willie Carper and James A. Tidwell are in the race for commissioner Precinct 4.

The battle of the bulge is lost at the hips for many women. In consolation, the June Reader's Digest points to a six-year study that shows overweight women whose body fat is concentrated below the waist run a relatively low risk of contracting diabetes.

Correction

A correction in last week's new story about the trailer club meeting in the Robert Lee County Park needs to be made. There were 27 trailers with 48 members and 13 visitors present instead of the 23 members and 11 guests reported. Sounds like a good time was had by all.

Microcomputers can help farmers and ranchers manage their operations more effectively and efficiently, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University system. With a tax deductible investment of $6,000 to $10,000, a producer can put together a fairly complete management information system. Used effectively, such a system can pay for itself in a few years by improving management decisions. It also can increase the motivation of the decision-maker to more adequately evaluate production, marketing and financing alternatives.

Older adults can be a valuable community resource when it comes to filling leadership positions, says a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M System. Being a contributing community leader provides a valuable role for the retired person seeking a new dimension to his or her life. Some retired people welcome a "second career" in volunteering while others desire a more flexible volunteer schedule. So, be sure to communicate clearly the scope of the project, both in terms of length and responsibilities, when recruiting retired volunteer leaders.

We all know someone who says, "If I even smell a piece of chocolate cake, I gain a pound." They could be telling the truth, says the June Reader's Digest. The Chinese may have had the abacus but the Incas had their own method of counting--quipas, collections of long, knotted strings of various lengths and colors, recorded all their statistics. Impossible as it may seem, reports the June Reader's Digest, the Incas managed their vast empire without a written language or numerals.

News From The County Agent

By Sterling Lindsey
County Extension Agent-Ag

The cool weather continues to delay and/or spread out the pecan nut casebearer cycle. Based on our findings in Coke County and those of Tom Fuchs, Extension Entomologist, in Tom Green County, the optimum time to spray to control the casebearer should be May 28-30. We have found eggs on the nutlets that should begin hatching May 27, or May 28. We also found one worm already hatched, but this is from an early hatching moth. Most of the egg hatch should come this coming weekend.

If you should desire to spray twice, we would suggest you spray the 28th, then again five days later.

As we stated in last week's paper, to control the casebearer use Malathion, Sevin, Toxaphene, Zolone, or Pydrin. Include zinc in your spray to help combat rosette.

Architect predicts dramatic changes in housing designs

COLLEGE STATION — Like 25-cents-a-gallon gas and a balanced national budget, the sprawling three-bedroom, two-bath home in the suburbs may soon be added to the list of things Americans used to have in the good old days.

That is among the predictions in a special report entitled, "Landscape Architecture into the 21st Century," written for the American Society of Landscape Architects by Lane Marshall, head of the Texas A&M University Department of Landscape Architecture.

"We think there will be dramatic changes in the look of housing," Marshall said. "The conventional single-family home has already increased in cost well beyond the means of the average American family."

New household formations caused by changing lifestyles, however, will generate the need for 20 million new units during this decade, Marshall said.

Marshall recently received the President's Medal, considered the top award in the profession. It is given to the landscape architect who made the greatest contribution to the profession on a continuing basis during the preceding five years.

Registration for Family Land Heritage Opens

"This year we're hoping to surpass the 1,500 mark in the total number of Texas properties registered in our Family Land Heritage Program," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said recently.

"And we certainly hope individuals interested in history or agriculture in Coke County will help us by bringing as many qualified applicants into the program as possible."

"Ulmer Bird, Coke County Historical Commission chairperson and Coke County Judge Dub Sims, will be working with us on the program," Brown said.

Since 1974, the program has honored 1,443 Texas properties.

The Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) is entering its eighth year in sponsoring the program which honors "those families that have persevered for a century or more in the cultivation and production of food and fiber," Brown said. "Undoubtedly, these families, with their unfaltering determination have been the backbone of Texas agriculture."

The registration period will extend from May 15 to August 15.

Those who qualify are honored in state ceremonies and receive a certificate and a copy of the Family Land Heritage Registry. The publication has a brief history of each farm or ranch and includes old photographs of the families and homes.

Basic requirements include the following: Continuous agricultural production on the farm/ranch for 100 years, land ownership within the family, complete operation or supervision of the farm/ranch production by family members who are Texas residents and a size of 10 acres or more with agricultural sales of $50 or more a year, or if less than 10 acres, sales of at least $250 a year. County judges must approve all applications.

Persons who meet the basic qualifications and wish to enter can obtain an application from the county judge, county Historical Commission chairperson, the nearest TDA district office, or by writing to Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

VOTE FOR THE MAN WHO HAS WORKED FOR YOU

When your valuations jumped from $7,000,000 to $69,000,000 many were very concerned. Judge Sims went to work for you to help solve the problem. He and the taxpayers working together were able to get the original surface valuation by McMorries Co. for the county lowered $16,000,000. Other exemptions obtained lowered valuations approximately $12,000,000 more.

During Judge Sim's 3 year administration your county depository earned you $67,366.90 interest as a result of wise handling of funds.

On the other hand, the County paid a very reasonable 5.169840% rate on a $400,000 1980 Road Bond Issue, a saving of $108,000 in interest over the life of the 1980 road bond issue.

He worked with the Volunteer Ambulance Service group to help get this service for Coke County.

He helped make funds available for a Senior Citizens Center if the project proves desirable.

In our opinion, his efforts have resulted in a JOB WELL DONE, and, for this reason we think that he deserves the second term as Coke County Judge.

We respectfully urge you to vote for Judge Sims on June 5th.

Community markets can benefit growers as well as consumers, notes and economist in fruit and vegetable marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Growers, particularly weekend gardeners who wind up with more produce than their families can use, find community markets helpful in marketing their crops. And consumers are able to buy fresh fruits and vegetables at a reasonable price. For a community market to be successful, produce growers must be interested in selling, the market must be easily accessible, and consumers must be interested in buying fresh produce.

"Fitness vacations" are sweeping the country as resorts dedicated to a healthier lifestyle spring up in town after town. Each offers a program to suit different people's needs and tastes. This is evident, the June Reader's Digest suggests, in the prices charged for a week's stay at the various resorts which can range from $150 to $2,275.

The vast majority of people are happy and healthy into their seventies, eighties and even nineties, the June Reader's Digest reveals. Sixty-five is now the prime of life. In the United States, there are more than 25 million people over age 65.

Free enterprise in outer space restricted by treaty

COLLEGE STATION — The future of American space exploration and colonization is in jeopardy from new treaties that could restrict free enterprise in outer space, says a Texas A&M University economist.

Dr. Larry Wolken, associate director of Texas A&M's Center for Education and Research in Free Enterprise, says economic concerns rather than technological considerations pose the greatest stumbling block to settling space.

Wolken points out the economic potential of further space exploration would be stifled particularly by the United Nations "Agreement Governing the Activities on the Moon and Other Celestial Bodies," commonly called the Moon Treaty.

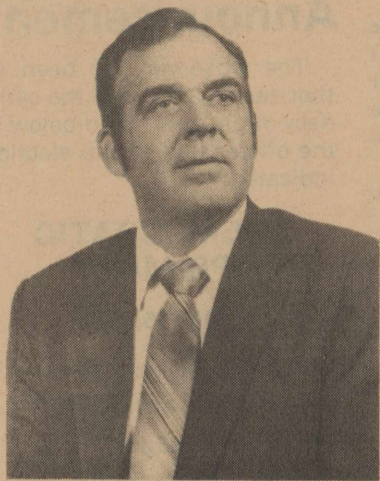

While fewer than 10 nations have signed the treaty, neither the U.S. nor the Soviet Union have approved the document and are not yet bound by its provisions.

The treaty declares all celestial bodies and their resources the "common heritage of mankind." No nation can claim sovereignty over any celestial body and their resources can't become the property of any nation or person. Wolken claims the treaty prohibits nations and individuals from owning property in space.

Sewing Course To Be Offered

WTU EXECUTIVE--Don Welch begins his duties June 1 as Vice President and Director of Customer Services for West Texas Utilities Company. He succeeds Dick Brooks, who moved to Corpus Christi to become vice president, engineering, for Central Power and Light Company, which, like WTU, is a member of the Central and South West Corporation. Welch has been an executive assistant at WTU's general office in Abilene since February 1, and previously had been district manager at Stamford and local manager at Alpine, Wellington and Aspermont.

WTU supplies electric service to 161 communities in a 53,000-square-mile area extending from the Panhandle to the Big Bend.

Using outside air wisely can reduce energy use for residential air conditioning, says an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. During the spring and fall when average outside air temperatures are comfortable, whole house or attic fans can be used to pull outside air into the home and remove heat. Air flow depends on having windows or doors that will open in each room to admit air. Attic ventilation also helps reduce air conditioning bills during the summer. This calls for outlet vents near the peak of the roof along with the same amount of inlet vents at the eave.

Look out for Mr. Bill! Don't pay any bills without first checking them carefully. The Postal Service is warning that swindlers are mailing out phony bills. Often, the bills include notices threatening legal action if a bill is not paid immediately. The swindler's primary targets have been businesses, because there is a better chance that the employee paying the bill will not check to see if the items were actually purchased. Still, it is smart for all consumers to examine bills for possible errors in merchandise and charges. If you receive a phony bill, report it to your local post office.

Cancer Society Honors Coke County Women

The American Cancer Society gratefully acknowledges the diligent and devoted volunteers of Coke County. Among those who have contributed their time to the cause are Mrs. Wayne Mashburn and Mrs. Henry Raney.

These people make it possible for us to believe that cancer can be wiped out in your lifetime. Their hard work and thoughtfulness is priceless and we thank them for this gift of caring.

To develop self-awareness, look at yourself positively first, then improve those things that seem to be negative, says a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. By starting out with all the positive things you can think of about yourself, you will then think of some of your negative characteristics. Write these down for a clearer picture of yourself. Then go back and pat yourself on the back for all the positive things and think of ways you can overcome some of the negatives.

The Grand Coulee Dam, begun in 1933 and finished in 1942, ranks as the mightiest piece of masonry built by man. It is made of 10,585,000 cubic yards of concrete.

VOTE SECOND PRIMARY JUNE 5, 1982

For those that voted for Bud Thetford in May, you made a choice between three men. Now it becomes necessary to make a choice between two men. We ask you to give very serious consideration to AUBREY DENMAN in his race for County Judge.

Aubrey has made the following pledges to the people if elected:

1. To serve all the citizens of Coke County without prejudice.
2. Full cooperation with the commissioners making it a five man governing body.
3. Cooperation and a harmonious working relationship with other elected officers.
4. To keep an open door to the news media and citizens for information and discussion on all issues.
5. Close monitoring of all government programs for need and cost per capita involved.
6. Provide the very best service to the citizens, while keeping a careful rein on spending.

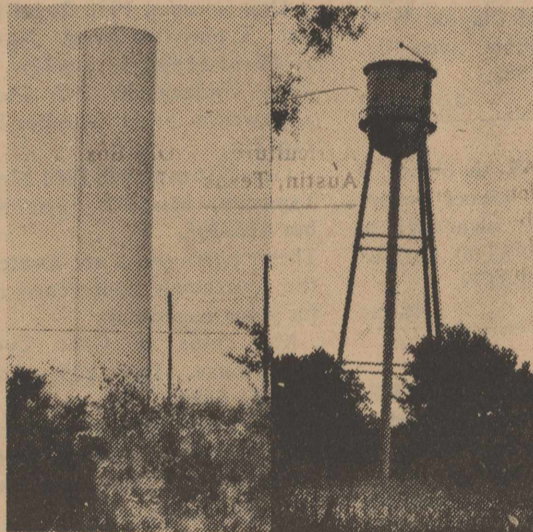

Although Aubrey does not have a college education he has proven to have sound management and business practices.

We believe his honesty, integrity and desire to serve his fellowman qualifies him to be our next County Judge.

WATER WHEN THE WIND BLOWS

WATER ON DEMAND

Unlike electricity, water can be stored until it is needed. Pumped electrically during off-peak periods to pressure or gravity flow tanks, the water is ready on demand.

Higher electric costs have revived the romantic windmill but water systems which give you water when you need it, where you need it, and as much as you need, is one of the most agreeable rural amenities the electric cooperative has created.

After a number of tries, moisture in one form or another has finally arrived at just about every point in West Texas but Stiles in Reagan County.

Boze Hartgrove, who ranches in the Stiles country, believes if Noah had constructed his boat there, it would never have seen water! "During the drought of the 1950s, we couldn't tell the difference," said Hartgrove.

Well, it's not quite that bad. At least most parts of the West Texas terrain are broken up with pump-jacks every few yards or miles, which give good shade to a number of livestock.

Someone in Ballinger the other night told about another unusually heavy broomweed crop in the making in parts where it has rained. My first instinct was to check on my friends in Sterling County. In the past 15 or 20 years when there was an outcrop of broomweeds in Concho County or the Hill County, they would be as tall and thick as the South Texas bush in Sterling.

Back eight or ten years ago, Dow Chemical's public relations department called me with the assignment to photograph the weeds in Sterling County. They had plans to develop some kind of eradication for broomweeds. My pictures indicated the weeds were as tall as mesquite trees.

Thinking I had doctored the pictures, Dow sent some folks down from the head office in Michigan to have a look at the broomweeds on the Clinton Hodges ranch and others. The delegation quickly discovered my camera does not lie. I never heard if Dow came up with a chemical either.

Over the years, natives have found there is little that can be done to hold down broomweeds. It seems they are much more prominent in years where moisture falls at just the right time. This appears to be one of those years. So maybe Stiles will come out the winner after all.

Skipper Duncan, who ranches west of San Angelo, commented the other morning that the weeds this season are most prolific in his well kept conservation pastures. That brings up another subject, somewhat related.

Many of us have watched over the years the transition of Duncan's ranch from miles of condensed mesquite thick to a ranch which could now accidentally be mistaken for a national park. Duncan has practiced good soil conservation management with the clearing of some brush and planting different varieties of grasses.

He has left strips of brush for game and wildlife. Matter of fact, I can remember when deer and turkey would not be seen further north than the South Concho River at Christoval. Because of Duncan's and others like the Turners at Water Valley and Angelo State University, wildlife is now plentiful all over Tom Green County.

Something else I couldn't help but be delighted about on the Duncan Ranch was the constant observation of electric fencing and fiberglass rod post. He has developed the Savory type high intensity rotational grazing system to beautiful results.

For more than a year, I have worked with Mike Sheehan and Robert Nickel of Twin Mountain Supply Co. here in San Angelo to promote the use of the new electric fencing systems. I remember my days with the sheep and wool growers when the fencing alone would have turned hundreds of coyotes.

Skipper has used electric fencing and sound conservation practices to the utmost degree to not only turn ranching into a profitable profession but protecting and caring for the land and saving it for generations to come.

To me, to take something and improve it and leave it better than when you took over is what the good Lord challenges us to do in whatever our assignment is in life.

THANKS, Coke County Voters

I would like for all of my supporters in the May primary to know how much I appreciated your votes and influence. I know that it may be difficult for some of you to return to the polls on JUNE 5th, but I humbly seek your support once again. Together we can see that Coke County continues to have an open and honest form of government for all our people.

To those voters who may have voted another ticket, I sincerely seek your votes and will appreciate your support also. I ask only that you consider my qualifications, record of accomplishments and dependability, and then compare. I ask only that you consider my printed stands on the issues and then compare. I ask only for the opportunity to serve YOU.

I urge all voters (regardless of how you vote) to please go to the polls and support the candidate of your choice. That too, is DEMOCRACY IN ACTION.

THANKS AGAIN,

EVEN WHEN YOU'RE AWAY...YOUR HOME KEEPS RUNNING

You may naturally expect your home to use less electricity while you're away for a week or more. The reduction may not be as great as you think, however. That's because there are many factors that can affect your usage: weather conditions, billing periods and even vacation preparation.

1. Very hot weather before you leave and after you return means increased use of air conditioning; this makes it difficult to compare your bill with a previous month of milder weather.

2. Hot weather causes your refrigerator/freezer to run longer, particularly if your home air conditioning is turned off while you are away.

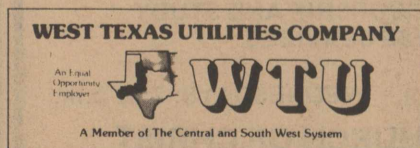

3. If the time you're away falls within two billing periods, the reduction you expect will be split between two bills.

4. If you didn't turn off your electric hot water heater before you left, it continued to keep your water hot 24 hours a day, even though you weren't there.

5. And don't forget... when getting ready for a vacation, you often use more electricity than usual for cleaning, washing, drying, ironing, cooking and general preparations. The same is true about your return.

Check your meter.

If you learn to read your own meter, you can find out just how much electricity was used while you were gone. And, you'll see just how much energy you're using during the summer, the heaviest electricity consuming season, with your air conditioning operating most of the time.

Remember REDDY Supplies the energy—but only YOU can use it wisely!
