Cooperation Welcomed By Somoza

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza has accepted a U.S. offer to help break the deadlock in Nicaragua's bloody civil crisis, a source close to the Nicaraguan government said Monday.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said Somoza decided to accept "the friendly cooperation of the United States government." He declined to elaborate, saying details would have to be released in Washington.

A senior U.S. diplomat disclosed earlier that the United States had urged Somoza to accept outside mediation from Latin American nations. The diplomat who also asked not to be identified, said the message was delivered to Somoza Saturday by President Carter's special envoy, William Jordan.

Jordan left for Panama, his former diplomatic post, after the weekend session. He returned Monday and received Somoza's answer in a 90-minute meeting with the Nicaraguan president, the source said. The U.S. Embassy declined to characterize Somoza's reply.

The latest outbreak of Nicaragua's bloody fighting was quelled Friday by Somoza's national guard. It began Sept. 9 and was led by the 300 to 400-member leftist Sandinista National Liberation Front. The Sandinistas want to end the 41-year authoritarian rule of the Somoza dynasty.

Opposition leaders and the Roman Catholic Church asked Somoza to accept mediation by Mexico, Colombia and the Dominican Republic.

But Somoza said through his private secretary that he would prefer direct talks, which opposition leaders said they will not accept.

Resignation Advice Speculated
The meeting prompted speculation that Jordan carried a message from Carter, suggesting Somoza resign. The American source, who asked if Jordan pressed for a resignation, said: "I can only talk about U.S. standing policy, nothing more."

The source said Jordan discussed U.S. concern over the situation, U.S. policy and what the United States expected to come out of the Organization of American States.

"Outside mediation was one of the key points in the Jordan talks where he (Somoza) stood and where we (the United States) stood," he said.

Political analysts said the United States feels it is essential to have outside mediation in order to stop and then reverse what was described as "the polarization of Somoza and anti-Somoza forces."

National Strike Continues
In Managua, the government said a national strike, in its fifth week, appeared to be losing momentum. There were reports that 70 percent of the businesses were open, a marked change from 85 percent closure when the strike was called Aug. 24 by business leaders demanding Somoza's resignation.

Government radio stations advised workers to demand full back pay from striking businessmen, saying the government would support the demands.
The government on Monday ordered schools and businesses to open.

ONLY HALF A TRAGEDY—Everything was going fine for Melissa Sandoval, toddling through a damp fairground with her balloon responding to the wave of excited arms. Actually, there was one balloon inside of another. Then, the tiny daughter of Mrs. Stella Sandoval of

Hill Proposes Freeze On State Taxes

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Texas should set an example for the federal government in the fight against inflation through a freeze on state taxes, a state spending limitation and the return of budget surpluses to taxpayers, Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Hill said here Monday.

Hill, in Lubbock on the last leg of a six-day, 22-city, campaign kickoff tour, announced his six-part anti-inflation program saying, "government at all levels should take the lead in holding down the cost of living."

The attorney general pledged to veto any state tax bill and to tightly manage the state budget "to curtail our low priority programs and have more available funds for our public school problems so that we can cut down on property taxes."

Tax Relief "Assured"
"If we do this, we're going to be able to live within our means and can return some of our surplus every two years in the form of tax relief," he said.

Hill said the state spending limitation would be accomplished if the proposed "tax relief" amendment passed by the special session of the legislature is approved by voters on Nov. 7.

Other elements of Hill's fight against inflation include:

Strong Farm Policy Promised By Hance

"THE MAN who replaces retiring George Mahon from the 19th Congressional District must be a man who is effective and knows agriculture," Democratic candidate Kent Hance told a group of Lubbock County farmers Monday night.

"I grew up on a farm. I was active in 4-H. I now own a farm. I know the problems in agriculture. And I can be effective," the Lubbock attorney said.

Hance, who will face Republican George Bush in November, spoke to approximately 40 members of the Lubbock Agriculture Club at the Precinct One Clubhouse.

"An effective representative is needed," said Hance, "because only 85 of the 435 Congressmen in Washington actually represent rural and agriculture areas."

Hance, hitting on issues, said the Farm Bloc today is a minority bloc, "and yet agriculture is the number one industry America has going for it."

Teenagers taking in area school day made the steady drizzle a lark. They found a favorite sport of getting computer pictures made for calendars or t-shirts and signing up for all the giveaways before heading for the Statler Brothers Show.

Monday fans put 27,877 clicks on the turnstiles, bringing the three-day total to 87,989 compared to 117,262 for the same time span on a hot, dry 1977 fair.

Today At The Fair

Today is the first of two Lubbock school days with students and teachers admitted free on passes distributed earlier.
9 a.m. — Angus and Jersey cattle judging, livestock pavilion.
1 p.m. — Open sheep show, swine building.
1 p.m. — Junior beef heifer judging, livestock pavilion.
2 p.m. — Holstein cattle judging, livestock pavilion.
4 p.m. to 10 p.m. — Free entertainment, outdoor stage.
8 p.m. — Johnny Rodriguez Show, coliseum.
All Day — Exhibits in all buildings, food and fun on the independent midway, the Gene Label Shows, gem and mineral show, poultry and pigeon show, and flower festival, crafts and collectibles in women's building.

bringing down the roof with the simple presentation of pure country sound.

The Statler brothers, who sang to 6,134 fans for two performances, followed Charley Pride in the coliseum spotlight and will yield the stage to the Johnny Rodriguez Show with Linda Hargrove for a single 8 p.m. performance today.

Cancellation of the Parade of Bands, due to rain, didn't seem to daunt many area youngsters who trekked to Lubbock anyway.

Although Lubbock schools will turn out Wednesday at 2 p.m. for the fair, manager Steve Lewis urged all Lubbock students who could to attend today to avoid overcrowded midways. Rides, he noted will be half price until 6 p.m.

Today's special events will begin at 9 a.m. with the Angus and Jersey cattle judging in the livestock pavilion.

Sheep Show Scheduled
At 1 p.m., the open sheep show will begin in the swine building. Junior beef heifer judging at 1 p.m. and Holstein cattle judging at 2 p.m. will take place in the livestock pavilion.

Judging in the Monday barrow show saw Ricky Hays of Dalhart take the grand champion trophy and $1,000 for his heavyweight crossbred. Reserve champion, also a heavyweight crossbred, was shown by Terry Hill of Hart who won $750 and a trophy.

Cattle step into the spotlight today with Angus, Jersey, junior heifer and Holstein classes parading for the judges.

Milking cows on the fair grounds provides a very popular show for city visitors.

When milking time comes, cows are lined up to go through the De Laval milking parlor while fans hang over the rail and watch the machinery attached and the milk flowing into containers.

Milk is weighed and a check for the product sent to the owner after the fair.

For many youngsters, fair is not fair without the milking parlor.

The week's coliseum show continues Wednesday with the Jim Ed Brown Show with Helen Cornelius and Wendy Holcombe at 8 p.m., Eddie Rabbitt and Jerry Clower at 8 p.m. Thursday and Mel Tillis at 8 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday.

Coliseum show tickets are $4, $5 and $6. The sound of music lost out to the pounding of rain Monday as the traditional Parade of Bands was cancelled by fair officials.

"We were faced with insurmountable odds; it had been raining steadily since 2 p.m. Sunday," Lewis said.

At 7 a.m. Monday, Lewis and other members of the fair committee assessed the situation and called off the event.

"We regretted the severe weather that forced us to cancel, but we didn't feel it worth the risk of thousands of ruined uniforms and instruments and the damage that could result to $6 marching bands," Lewis added.

Wet Siege Continues Over Area

By RAYNE HARDESTY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

LIGHT but persistent rains threatened to damage some maize crops across the South Plains, as a stalled Pacific cold front continued to dump up to almost two inches of rain on already sodden area fields.

No relief is in immediate sight, either, as forecasters are predicting a 70 percent chance for more rain today and a 50 percent chance tonight.

Temperatures also should remain generally the same, rising from a low in the low 60s, to a high near 70 this afternoon. Monday temperatures in the Hub City only varied by three degrees with a low of 62 and a high of 65.

Thursday Clearing Seen
The heavy clouds which have remained over West Texas for more than a week should begin to gradually clear by Thursday as temperatures become slightly warmer. Forecasters expect temperatures to reach into the 80s and 90s by Saturday as the clearing continues.

Steady rains brought .70 of an inch of rain to Lubbock Monday, although precipitation reports across the area registered up to 1.8 inches at Ralls and Wolf-forth.

Unofficial reports from surrounding communities included an inch of rain at Dickens; 1.43 at Lamesa; 1.0 at Level-land; 1.0 at O'Donnell; 1.8 at Ralls; 1.0 in Roaring Springs and Slaton; 1.2 in Sudan; 1.13 at Tahoka and 1.8 at Wolf-forth.

Other Towns Soaked
Other towns soaked by the steady showers included Amherst with .4 of an inch; Brownfield, .67; Cotton Center, .7; Crosbyton, .09; Dimmitt, .2; Earth, .4; Farwell, .4; Floydada, .43; Friona, .1; Hale Center, .55; Idalou, .25; Jayton, .37; Muleshoe, .4; and Olton, .25.

Petersburg reported .2 of an inch; Plainview, .17; Post, .8; Seagraves, .5; Seminole, .38; Shallowater, .5; Spring-lake, .6; Spur, .85; and Tulia, .25.

Total rainfall amounts within the past seven days across the South Plains varied from 2.85 at Lubbock to 5.5 at Roaring Springs.

Rains in other portions of the region caused flash flood watches to be posted in some counties in the Pecos River Basin and southeastern New Mexico.

West Germans Nab Terrorist

DORTMUND, West Germany (UPI) — The woman captured in a forest shootout with police has been identified as Angelika Speitel, one of West Germany's most wanted Baader-Meinhof terrorists, police announced Monday.

Speitel, wanted for 10 murders in 1977, and suspected urban guerrilla courier Michael Knoll were both wounded in a gunbattle that killed one policeman in the woods outside Dortmund Sunday.

A third terrorist escaped, grabbing the sub-machine gun of the dead policeman and fleeing.

Speitel, 26, was hit in the thigh but not seriously hurt. She is wanted in connection with the murders of banker Juergen Ponto, Federal Prosecutor General Siegfried Buback, industrialist Hanns Martin Schleyer and seven others.

Knoll, believed to have been a courier between urban guerrillas in West Germany and those in other countries, particularly Italy, was badly shot up.

Grammy Grabbing Group Reviews Career

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

When The Statler Brothers scored in 1966 with "Flowers On The Wall," many thought the group had finally found acceptance. Why not? After all, the record won them two Grammy Awards and hit the top of the charts. Nevertheless, there were still some who failed to recognize the Statlers as a viable product — namely the executives at Columbia Records.

During an interview following Monday's 5 p.m. show at the Panhandle South Plains Fair by the popular quartet, Harold Reid, probably the most recognizable of the so-called Statler Brothers, explained "Why did we change labels? Because Columbia sat down, went to sleep, died and forgot about us. They wouldn't let us cut a followup to 'Flowers On The Wall.'"

"They still didn't think a quartet could make it. And we understood their doubts for a while, but only until we had the hit song. But they wouldn't even let us have a session after that. We didn't have a (recording) session for over a year."

Then he added, "Now, let me see if I can think of something nasty to say about that label."

There have been no complaints since the group moved to the Mercury label in 1970 though. "What we were looking for was freedom. And that's what we've got. We have complete charge of material, arrangements, everything down to the design of the album covers. So if it's good, we take the credit — and if it's bad, we still have to take the credit."

group, The Statler Brothers are on a hot streak thanks to hit songs like "Bed of Roses," "Do You Remember These," "I'll Go To My Grave Loving You," "The Movies" and "Whatever Happened To Randolph Scott."

It was disheartening that the Monday rain and mud left so many in sodden spirits. "I've heard more applause at a weenie roast," Reid said in his bus afterwards. Still, he had to admit that the quartet had come a long way since their days singing in church back in 1955 in Virginia.

The Statlers — who took their name from a box of Statler tissues in a hotel room, inspiring Reid to say, "We could have been called The Kleenex Brothers" — are Harold Reid, his brother Don Reid, Phil Balsley and Lew DeWitt. All but Don were original members singing gospel. But Harold explained, "We cut our teeth on country. So we didn't mind moving into that field."

Still, the field was crowded and these four guys didn't fit the image.

Finally, in 1963, Reid met with Johnny Cash in hopes of landing a contract. "I called him up for probably six months straight after I first talked with him," he said. "Finally he had to give us a job just so we could pay off the phone bills."

But Cash's influence couldn't change the preconceptions of those in the music business. "As soon as somebody hears we're four guys dressed alike on stage, he immediately thinks we're a gospel group," Reid disclosed. "So yeah, it was a struggle. . . . But we proved three things finally. First, we're not a backup band. Second, we can record hit songs. And third, we can succeed as headliners."

"Thank God we were the first! We were the first country group to come this far. There may be some who come along that are better, but they'll never be able to say they were the first."

The Reid brothers composed "Class Of '57," a song which transcends the title's date in that it easily brings back memories to each individual listener. When asked, however, how much of the song was truth and how much fiction, Harold Reid said, "We didn't start out to write about real people. It was just supposed to be a song people could identify with. But somehow, subconsciously, some truth made it in."

"A guy named Fred was the only guy in our class to commit suicide. And without realizing it, that's the name I gave the guy who 'took his life.'"

Then, perhaps to illustrate how he refrains from taking himself seriously, Reid added, "Strange thing: Fred's parents came up and thanked me for putting him in the song. I guess that was about as famous as Fred got."

Jokes were not uncommon during the interview. Speaking on the lack of privacy which goes hand in hand with stardom, Reid also said, "There's times you wish you were able to turn it on and off. But you can't do that. It's just been the past few years that we've really established ourselves. We're glad people like us. We're not ready to turn it all off."

"Besides, all this sure beats going to work."

That's the Statlers. Still country's top vocal group, and still refusing to take themselves seriously.

Higher Occupancy Tax To Fund Fine Arts Here

City councilman Alan Henry, in a speech Monday before the Lubbock Cultural Affairs Council, praised recent actions by the state Legislature and Lubbock City Council that have recognized the importance of fine arts in community life.

He cited in particular the passage of a bill Aug. 31, 1977, by the Legislature, which allows cities in Texas to designate funds collected from occupancy taxes to fine arts organizations.

The city council subsequently voted in September 1977 to increase the hotel-motel tax from 3 percent to 4 percent and allocate half of the revenues brought about by the increase to the fine arts in general, according to city manager Larry Cunningham.

Henry said he expects this new tax will generate approximately $48,000 in revenues for the arts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1978. He added that Lubbock is "the very first city in Texas, as far as we know, to take advantage of this form of tax."

With the problem of source of funds resolved, the city council at its last session discussed means to appropriate the earmarked revenues, Henry said. He mentioned two alternatives under consideration: funding money for the fine arts directly through the cultural affairs council; or setting up a citizen's advisory committee to oversee funding through the cultural affairs council.

The councilman said he expects the city council to act on this matter and the funds to have been allocated "within the next couple of months."

This said, Henry was quick to warn the audience that state and municipal government support alone would not suffice to ensure the continued development of Lubbock as a cultural center.

Those interested in the arts must appeal to the public for a sense of civic pride and impress upon them the responsibility of Lubbock to provide cultural events for the entire West Texas area, he said.

And in addition to reaching out to the public, existing cultural groups must avoid rivalries and provide what Henry called "an atmosphere of encouragement" to prospective artists and their organizations.

To emphasize the need for the artistic community to acquire a more positive and vibrant reputation in the city, Henry suggested they adopt the term "arts industry" in describing their commitment and contribution to Lubbock.

In other actions at the meeting, Jim Toland, executive officer of the cultural affairs council, told the audience that a Lubbock Arts Festival is planned for April 27-29, 1979, in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. The council is now accepting applications for entry.

I'm sure you realize that you are not going to have a luxurious retirement. You may even have some tough times, until you start collecting Social Security.

But, with careful handling of your money, you should get by.

The $15,000 in the credit union and the $13,000 in bank savings give you a big cash cushion. But you should think about putting some of that money to work at higher yields. Purchases of more of that utility stock or of high-grade corporate bonds would seem right for you.

The $3,000 you have in bank stock might be right or might be wrong. If, at the time you retire, the dividend on that stock is not producing a current yield of at least seven, you should sell it and put that money into a higher-yielding investment.

Q. I want to invest in a no-load mutual fund, for growth. Is there a free comparative list available, showing the performances of mutual funds?

A. There are a number. But I don't know any absolutely "free" ones. You can, however, find the kind of thing you are looking for in the reference sections of most public libraries.

There's the annual mutual fund survey by Forbes Magazine. The most recent was in the Aug. 21, 1978, issue of Forbes. Wiesenberger Investment Companies publishes the "bible" of the fund business, a thick annual manual with quarterly supplements.

Some other outfits put out mutual fund comparative performance statistics which are available at libraries or through brokerage houses.

AN EDITORIAL:

A Baby No One Will Claim

THE LACK OF public response to conservative efforts to drum up interest in various investigations commenced during President Carter's administration has allowed the Democratic Congress to drag its heels on one of the major legislative initiatives to emerge from the entire Watergate trauma.

That is a bill which would automatically trigger the appointment of a special prosecutor in federal criminal investigations that involve certain specified top-echelon officials or which threaten to prove politically embarrassing to the party in control of the executive branch.

If enacted at any time over the years since it was first introduced—hard on the heels of Watergate—such legislation could have resulted in a special prosecutor heading the probes involving the Bert Lance flap, Koreagate and now the rapidly burgeoning scandal within the General Services Administration.

BUT ALTHOUGH the Senate, which drafted the bill to begin with, has passed it at least twice, the measure cannot seem to get through the House.

This year, it was approved by the House Judiciary Committee during the summer only to disappear quietly into limbo between there and the House floor.

There is no overt opposition to the bill.

The Carter administration supports the legislation.

House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., told the wire services he has no idea why it isn't moving. House Democratic leaders shrug and mutter about the crowded schedule, telling reporters they'll try to squeeze it in, but...

It's all a charade. The White House officially endorses the special prosecutor concept but has made no effort to lobby for the bill's adoption.

OLD HANDS at the Justice Department want no part of the measure, and their hostility is no secret on Capitol Hill.

House Democratic leaders, equally cool to the proposal, know full well it will pass if ever put to a vote on the floor. So they are keeping it bottled up.

Even the Republicans who constantly cry for the appointment of a special prosecutor to handle specific investigations—such as the Lance case or the GSA probe—never mention the pending bill that could trigger such appointments automatically, not just during a Democratic administration, but in a Republican one as well.

The special prosecutor bill is the quintessential reform proposal. It's a measure everybody supports but nobody wants.

AN EDITORIAL:

Tougher Task Is A 'Tossup'

IT'S A TOSSUP as to who faces the tougher task. Egypt's Sadat in selling the Camp David deal with the detested Zionists to Arab hardliners—who continue to define peace as the extermination of Israel.

Or, Israel's Begin in selling hardliners in his own government on foregoing Jewish settlement of occupied territories.

Begin's is the more immediate test, with the two-week deadline for the Knesset's consideration of settlements policy. It is a parliamentary confrontation certain to be of epic proportions which will not only determine the settlements policy but Begin's political future.

Settlement throughout the biblical Jewish homeland is an uncompromisable principle to ultra-nationalists who are the core of Begin's political strength and now threaten to desert him for an accommodation they view as "national suicide."

WHILE SADAT'S challenge is less immediate, it may in the long run be more difficult. And decisive. Begin's battle will at least be all in the Israeli family and within the parliamentary arena where some rules of order apply.

Sadat must contend with the chaos that passes for politics within the Arab world of many sovereignties.

There is no doubt that he can deliver his own Egypt—and as Egypt goes, so goes most of the military muscle within the Arab ranks. Without Egypt, an Arab military challenge to Israel is unthinkable.

Sadat thus starts from a position of some strength. It is also probable that he can eventually persuade Jordan and Saudi Arabia to go along, providing Israel's ultimate disposition of the settlements is satisfactory.

NEITHER SADAT nor Begin can be said to be a "winner." For now, if there is such, it must be Jimmy Carter. He laid his shaky prestige and possibly political future on the table in convening the summit.

He had as much or more to lose politically than the leaders of the actual combatant peoples in four wars over 30 years. Had they been so inclined, they could have blamed failure on him.

Instead, if the promise of peace becomes reality, he will have a foreign policy success of note at this point in time. Meanwhile, major challenges in other areas cry out for attention—and action.

Although the agreements still are far short of a comprehensive settlement, the momentum is such that it could lead to that. Stranger things have happened—such as the Sadat journey to Jerusalem which started it all less than a year ago.

ART BUCHWALD:

If You Like America, You'll Love Somoza

WASHINGTON—A well-known columnist came into my office the other day and asked, "Who are you for, Somoza or the Commies in Nicaragua?"

"Why do I only have a choice between a dictator and the Communists? Why can't I be for Lopez?"

"Who's Lopez?"

"I don't know who Lopez is. Let's say he's the guy in the middle who hates Somoza and can't stand the Communists."

"Because Lopez would get eaten up by the Commies. If you're for the American interests in Central America you have to be for Somoza."

"I don't want to be for Somoza. He's a tyrant and from what I read, a crook. He's milked the country dry for 40 years. I hope he gets bounced out on his ear."

"WHAT HE IS and what he does is not our concern. Do you realize if the other side kicks Somoza out, the Commies will have a dagger pointing right at the Panama Canal?"

"Maybe so. But it's obvious Somoza can't hold on much longer, and we should see to it that Lopez is pro-American too."

"We're not going to do it if we keep training Somoza's national guard officers to shoot the Nicaraguan people."

"So what you're saying is that we should get in bed with Castro?"

"I'm saying no such thing. All I'm saying is that I don't see why we always have to support a military junta when the people want to throw the rascals out."

"IT'S QUITE simple. Most of the generals in South America have been trained at West Point, including Somoza. They speak good English and you can do business with them. You let the people take over and you'll have another Cuba in six months."

"Not if we support Lopez," I said. "The reason the Commies have a chance of taking over is because the people know we're on Somoza's side."

"You're living in a dream world," the columnist said. "Lopez doesn't have the strength to run a middle-of-the-road government."

"He would if we gave him as much military hardware as we've given Somoza. The only thing that's keeping Somoza in power is the stuff we've sold him. Why can't we give it to Lopez?"

"BECAUSE IF WE give the stuff to Lopez it will eventually fall into the hands of the Commies when they topple him. The only way Lopez can stay in power is by being anti-American."

"The people of Nicaragua are only anti-American because they know we support Somoza. If we said we were supporting Lopez we wouldn't get ourselves in a Marxist box."

"How can you be so sure of Lopez? We know what we've got with Somoza. He may be an s.o.b. but he's OUR s.o.b."

"So that means we have to support s.o.b.'s all over the world because it's in our best interests?"

"Every time we don't we get another Allende."

"BUT HE WAS elected by the people and we knocked him off."

"With good reason. We haven't had to worry about Chile since."

"I'm not going to support Somoza no matter what you say."

"Okay, but when Lopez nationalizes the United Fruit Co., my friend said, 'don't come crying to me.'"

'I Want You To Meet My Friend Here From The GSA'

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

In Fatigue's Jacket

WASHINGTON—When Robert S. Strauss sat down for breakfast with Washington reporters at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel Sept. 19, he was unusually subdued—a condition bearing some significance for President Carter.

Strauss explained that he had bumped his head when his limousine hit the curb in front of the hotel. His spirits rose as breakfast neared its end, but he never quite achieved his normal exuberance.

Friends explained it was not just a minor bump on the head but intimations of mortality feeding his present mood. Strauss frequently tells associates he is working harder and doing more things than any man his age (he will be 60 on Oct. 19) should be doing.

He looks tired and is tired. His annual summer vacation in California lacked its usual therapeutic value.

IN SHORT, STRAUSS means it when he says he will leave government service once he finishes as special trade representative by buttoning up a new trade agreement. He will then help the Carter re-election effort, but not full-time.

That will leave a massive hole in the Carter administration, not likely to be filled. Besides being anti-inflation jawboner and trade negotiator, Strauss' unique talents of persuasion have been repeatedly called on for matters big and little—a reason for fatigue.

A footnote: Strauss' presence at White House sessions generating corporate support for the natural gas bill was felt by executives of companies suffering from import competition.

"When I saw Bob Strauss standing there," one such executive told us, "I wondered about our chances for getting help on imports." Shortly thereafter, this company endorsed the gas bill—reversing its previous position.

THE BACK WAS broken in the Senate drive to kill the natural gas bill days before the Camp David summit triumph when President Carter won support from the two venerable conservatives from Mississippi, Sens. James O. Eastland and John F. Stennis.

Neither liked regulatory aspects of the gas bill but were convinced by Carter that the measure's defeat would bring adverse international consequences for this country.

When Eastland and Stennis committed themselves against the motion to recommit the bill, the strange coalition of consumer and oil interests opposing the President knew they were beaten.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, a key figure in the coalition, could not talk his two old Mississippi friends into bucking the President.

A footnote: Oil state members of the coalition privately grumble that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, while opposing the bill himself, did not push hard enough to pick up other liberals against it.

POLLS TAKEN FOR Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina show his re-election prospects this year so good that political advisers are looking forward to bigger things: running for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

Helms is not nearly so big a name in the party's conservative wing as Ronald Reagan or even Reps. Philip Crane and Jack Kemp.

But he has something they do not: over 300,000 names, the biggest active list of potential conservative contributors in existence.

This list, Helms' aides believe, can generate $7 million for a presidential campaign.

While acknowledging that he is the darkest of dark horses, they believe a Helms candidacy can significantly influence the 1980 ticket and platform.

CONSERVATIVE REPUBLICANS are fuming at what they regard as unfair treatment by the Senate Republican Campaign Committee of conservative Roger Jepsen, Republican candidate against liberal Democratic Sen. Dick Clark in Iowa.

Jepsen has received only $15,000 so far from the committee, far less from the approximately $100,000 that he is legally entitled to receive in cash and political services under a formula party based on population.

Conservative Republicans complain that moderate candidates have already received the maximum permitted by law.

For instance, Rep. William Cohen, in the small state of Maine, has received the maximum $66,000.

THE SENATE CAMPAIGN committee, headed by moderate Sen. Bob Packwood of Oregon, is parceling out its funds on the basis of prospective winners who might be tipped over the victory line with extra help.

Jepsen is not in that category today. Clark was regarded as highly vulnerable early this year but now appears to be running well ahead of Jepsen.

This explanation does not satisfy Republican conservatives, either nationally or in Iowa.

They think they are being discriminated against.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:

Taken For Grant Tab

YOU MIGHT think, now that we're all catching on to the incredible ways Congress wastes our tax dollars, that the gentlemen in charge would be scrambling to change their Santa Claus image by saving a buck wherever they can. You'd be wrong.

Nothing can shut off that magic spigot called "federal grants." That's the political gimmick that keeps the boys in Washington, and that's the name of the game, friends.

Not that there's anything new about it. But it's only when you start collecting local news stories from around the country that you begin to realize you're paying for grants you never hear about.

Some of them might turn out some day to be in the national interest, some of them are for projects that should be paid for out of city or state funds, and a lot of them are out-and-out boondogles.

PUT THEM ALL together and they add up to more billions than you can count. Or, to get down to the nitty-gritty, aford.

There's no reason, for instance, why everybody in the country has to pay for improving bus and subway services in the New York area. But you are.

And Washington has just pumped $134.5 million more into their subway and commuter-rail lines, plus another $4.4 million to build a transit mall in downtown Brooklyn.

Also, the city has recently set up a $6.8-million pilot training program to get people off welfare and into jobs. Uncle Sam is picking up the tab.

San Francisco has just okayed a $50-million plan to pretty up a half-mile promenade on the waterfront with new piers, boardwalks, landscaping and jogging paths. And why not? Federal funds are paying for it.

BOSTON HAS A $98,000 grant to introduce school kids into careers in museums, ballet, stage managing, etc.

That's part of the $250 million the government spends every year to "widen access to the arts and humanities."

Lake Placid, home of the winter Olympics, has already spent $58 million in federal funds to build ski jumps, trails, runs, etc. Now it says it needs $20 million more. Cost overruns, you understand.

And Congress just okayed $150 million to help states compensate crime victims for injuries or, in case of death, support for dependents.

Plus another $2 million to "prepare" school children and adults for that inevitable day when the metric system becomes a fact of life.

WHEN IT COMES to education and research, hold your breath. Every year, universities and colleges collect the staggering total of $7 billion in federal grants. One university even has a $52,000 grant to train "desalination technicians."

And this year, 61 smaller cities will divvy up $61 million to create new jobs and save old ones. Never mind that HUD has already shelled out $380 million to rebuild America's cities.

That's on top of the $2 billion New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have already wangled from Uncle Sam for transit help. Which puts them way ahead of San Francisco and Washington, D.C.

Never satisfied, New York is now asking for $15 million more to help restore the historic South Street Seaport area into a source of jobs and tourist dollars. It'll probably get it, too.

THAT'S CALLED "grantsmanship," and it's being perfected to a point where taxpayers everywhere are paying for services and benefits not even available in their own localities.

Why should we have to ante up $4.7 billion in special grants to help cities and states put in new sewage systems? But we do.

And how about the $9,600 grant to that rancher in Santa Clara, Calif., who is teaching a million earthworms to turn sewage sludge into fertilizer? Not to mention the $15,000 he's asking to continue the experiment.

The list is endless and mind-boggling. Just to hop-scootch around the country for a few instances:

ALLANTOWN, VA., Springfield, Mo., and Chattanooga, Tenn., are part of a $17-million "Quiet Communities" program to study noisy cities.

Kennebunk, Maine, which cut down its electricity bills by harnessing up an ancient wooden water wheel to the Little Mousam river, just got a $71,000 grant to study the hydroelectrical potential of the Mousam.

So it goes—from $80 to $100 billion every year—and there's evidence that that's almost more than anybody can spend.

There are estimates that at least $1 billion of it is lying around in bank accounts of state and local governments, colleges, museums and other cultural and non-profit groups.

It's not gathering dust, folks, it's gathering interest. But not for you or me, although it's our money.

Think about that next time you belly up to a voting machine.

Beef Cattle Mixed In Slow Trading

By Reuters
 CHICAGO — Cattle futures finished 25 points lower to 35 higher with January of the most and thinly traded distant December at the gain, Monday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

The market fell to its lowest in almost three weeks before climbing 70 in nearby December for a time. Sales were 26,335 cars.

News that any nitrite ban could take a year or more to become effective touched off early buying with bull spreading again featured. Late profit-taking pared gains as confusion over a new ruling on the use of DES (diethylstilbestrol) in feeding.

Wholesale beef was unchanged at 82 cents a pound, for all weights, f.o.b. river points. Cash cattle were off 75 to up 50 cents with the best top $56 per hundredweight.

Slaughter was 138,000 head. The major terminals expect 144,000 head today.

Feeder cattle futures closed 5 to 50 lower led by April on turnover of 2,288 contracts. The market fell 60, rose 57 and then slipped again on late profit-taking.

Wholesale hams were unchanged at 90 to 95 1/2 cents a pound.

Pork belly (bacon) futures erased an early loss of 105 and bulged 170 before finishing 10 to 90 higher.

News that any nitrite action would be held off for at least a year brought aggressive short-covering after selling on heavy hog runs and some lower prices.

Renewal of bull spreading favored the nearby at times as did the discount under cash.

Fair Highlights:

Nurse Aids 'Lost Children, Parents'

By JANICE JARVIS
Family News Staff

The excitement of that first Ferris wheel ride fades quickly for the two-year-old who suddenly finds himself in an ocean of adults with no sign of his mother. Fortunately, the Lost Children's Division of the South Plains Fair can come to the rescue.

Each year children wander away from parents and find themselves lost, with no place to turn, explained Mrs. Karen Martin, R.N., director of the first aid and lost children's booth at the fair.

With the help of local Camp Fire Girls, lost children are entertained and cared for until their parents can be notified on the loud speaker.

Policemen, firemen and other volunteers are continually on the lookout for any child under 12 years of age who doesn't seem to know quite where he's going, according to Mrs. Martin.

Usually a lost child is brought to the station by volunteers, before the child ever really starts to panic.

"Most of the kids usually end up having a good time," said Mrs. Martin.

There are precautions parents can take to avoid the panic of losing a child in the crowd, Mrs. Martin said.

Mrs. Martin suggests parents put some identification on the very young child.

"But even if there's no identification on the child, we can describe him over the loudspeaker, and a parent usually comes to pick the child up," she said.

There are other precautions parents can take to make sure older children don't get lost.

"Have an agreed-upon meeting place where the kids can go if they get lost," advised Mrs. Martin. "If the children do wander off or don't show up at the designated place, then check with the lost children's area, located across from the cattle barn."

To avoid crowds try to go earlier in the day, Mrs. Martin said. Evenings are very crowded and children are lost more easily than earlier in the afternoon. Parents should also arrange to leave a little before closing time to avoid the rush when the fair closes.

If a child is left behind, a volunteer staffer will arrange to return the child to his home. Although children are rarely left behind, occasionally a child is not found.

"We never leave the fair without making sure all the children have been returned to their parents," Mrs. Martin said.

Adjacent to the area for lost children is the first aid station, at which minor injuries are treated and an EMS volunteer is available to handle serious emergencies.

The most common problem reported to first aid volunteers is foot blisters, according to Mrs. Martin. To avoid blisters, Mrs. Martin suggests visitors wear comfortable shoes.

It's also important to dress for the weather, noted Mrs. Martin. Last year, extremely hot temperatures caused problems for some visitors.

Those enjoying rides on the midway should also be aware that motion sickness can be a problem, she added.

According to Mrs. Martin, more than 25 registered nurses will be on hand in the first aid and lost children's station at the fair this year. Camp Fire Girls and other volunteers will also be available to assure visitors an enjoyable and safe visit to the fair.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:

I have got to share this with you. I was in a restaurant the other evening and the poor waiter had been serving about three tables of women at dinner.

By the time he got around to taking our order, and the ladies had left, he apologized for taking so long. He said nothing was worse than waiting on 10 women who are all members of the "separate check society."

My date and I laughed at this and really felt sorry for the waiter. I know how difficult it must be to write out a different check for five or six at one table.

It was funny, but it did start me to thinking. Most women do split the bills evenly. When my girlfriends and I go out to eat we always divide up the bill as fairly as possible.

I know men are always making funny comments about women doing this, but we never do have bad feelings about who paid last time, or who came out on the short end.

So from both sides, try and make it easier on your waiter or waitress and get one check and work it out yourselves.

From the other side, if people do ask for separate checks, try to understand their reasoning and just take it in stride.

Remember, we all have our little quirks, thank heaven. Wouldn't life be dull if we didn't? Love you! — Heloise

Courtesies

ELAINE MOORE

Elaine Moore, bride-elect of Andy McNally, was honored Thursday with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Gerald Bain. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Rick Fullerton and Mrs. Mike Boone.

Special guest was Mrs. Bill McNally, mother of the future bridegroom.

The couple plans to be married Oct. 14 in Dallas.

LACKE-BALLARD

Carol Lacke and David Ballard were honored with an announcement reception Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Halls. Nine couples were co-hosts.

Special guests were John Ballard, father of the future bridegroom; Mrs. Elizabeth Ballard, mother of the future bridegroom; Mrs. Edgar Wommack, grandmother of the bride-elect; Mrs. W.R. Lacke, grandmother of the bride-elect; Julie Ballard, sister of the future bridegroom; and Mrs. Mae Ballard, grandmother of the future bridegroom.

RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES . . .

QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE 15 MINUTE HOME TREATMENT MUST SHOW IMMEDIATE IMPROVEMENT OR — YOUR MONEY BACK!

A leading cosmetic laboratory has developed a simple home treatment that rinses away blackheads, helps dry up acne pimples, and shrinks enlarged pores. The name of this medicated product is QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla, dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" are kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads, and other foreign impurities. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws out waste matter from the pores. . . In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually came off on your wash cloth. Women 35 and over will enjoy the skin tightening experience as the masque relaxes tired facial muscles and eases tension lines on face and throat. If you suffer the agony of blackheads, acne-pimples, and enlarged pores, give yourself this home treatment and see the breath-taking results. Ask for it by name, QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE.

Robbers Hit Local Radio Store

Police late Monday were looking for two men who robbed a 34th Street radio supply shop of $143, shortly after 10 a.m. Monday.

Joe Hart, manager of the Radio Shack at 1918 34th St., told police the men entered the store soon after he opened. One of the suspects flashed a .22 caliber pistol and told him, "Just hold it right there, give me the money."

Hart said the men then took him to a back storeroom where they tied him loosely with cord and told him not to get up until he was told to.

After taking the loot, police say, the suspects fled the store on foot, leaving behind a van parked behind the shop.

The late-model van, according to police, had been reported stolen from a Lubbock car dealership.

Darla Fisher, a secretary for Globe Life and Accident Insurance located next to Radio Shack, said the suspects came into her office shortly after 10 a.m. and asked when Hart opens the shop.

Mrs. Fisher said one of the suspects, a tall black man with a bushy Afro, possibly a wig, came in and asked her, "What time does Radio Shack open?" She said she told the man about 10 a.m. and he replied, "Well, I guess I'll just have to wait."

Several minutes later, Mrs. Fisher said, Hart came into the insurance office and said, "Hi. I just got held up. Can I wait here until the police come?"

Hart described the two men as black and in their early 20s. He said one of the suspects was a tall, heavy man with an Afro.

Investigating officers found a white straw hat and an Afro wig, believed to have been used by one of the suspects, in a dumpster in the 2000 block of 34th Street.

Police also found Hart's wallet, minus $16, in the back storeroom of the Radio Shack.

Vernon Terry of 1907 East First Place told police that sometime Monday morning someone entered his home through the garage and made off with his television and stereo, valued at $875.

J.M. Collier, owner of a monument company at 2909 Ave. H, said burglars, who broke into his business through a back window, took an adding machine sometime between noon Saturday and Monday morning.

Francis Ibeh of 2221 10th St. reported that sometime Sunday night or Monday morning someone shattered the left window of his car causing $150 damage.

Stephen Thomas Taylor told officers that while his 1977 Pinto was parked at a car dealership at Loop 289 and Indiana Avenue, burglars removed his CB equipment. Taylor said the theft occurred Sunday afternoon and estimated his loss at $250.

A Lubbock woman said she had returned home from work about 11:45 p.m. Sunday when she was attacked by a man who tried to take her purse.

Billie T. Evans of 4519 65th St., No. 124, said the suspect hit her on the head with what appeared to be a billy club. She said her screams scared the man off before he could take her purse.

A witness said he saw the black suspect running east from the apartments. Mrs. Evans was taken to West Texas Hospital

FIRST DAY IN SCHOOL — Allan Bakke, focal point of the Supreme Court's "reverse discrimination" case, arrives for his first day of school Monday at the University of California Medical School at Davis, Calif. The high court last June overruled the school's quota admission system and ordered that Bakke, a 38-year-old engineer and Vietnam veteran, be admitted. Bakke went to his class of the day, a three-hour biochemistry lecture, trailed by about 100 reporters and photographers. A like number of picketers staged a peaceful protest on the campus, chanting anti-Bakke slogans. Plain-clothes university police guarded the lecture hall where Bakke attended class, but school administrators said it was only a temporary security measure. (AP Laser-photo)

United Way Campaign Gets Underway Today

United Way campaign leaders will launch what they term "Lubbock's Number One Job" at noon today at Memorial Civic Center.

It's the public kickoff of the 1978 United Way campaign, the 33rd time the local organization has asked the community to support a federated drive for multiple agencies and services.

This year's campaign, headed by Chairman Don Douglass and Vice Chairman Joe Price, has a goal of $1,682,369 to provide support for 34 agencies.

The kickoff luncheon at the civic center will see most of Lubbock's civic and service clubs gathering there rather than at their regular weekly meetings. UW leaders added that the luncheon is for the entire community, not just civic clubs, and that tickets will be available at the door for $4 each.

Charles Peebler, chairman of the board and president of Bozell and Jacobs, Inc., an international advertising agency, will be featured speaker at the luncheon.

In addition, the audience will see a "United Way Portrait" presented by the Five Flamed, high school representatives selected by their schools as hostesses for the campaign kickoff and report meetings. This year's Flamed are Loretta Alvarado, Lubbock High School; Cynthia Dailey, Estacado; Trina Foster, Dunbar-Struggs; Robin Igo, Monterey; and Kathleen Kindred, Coronado.

The Dunbar-Struggs marching band, under the direction of Mike Cantwell, will provide special music.

Boy Scout Troop 406, sponsored by St. John's United Methodist Church, will present the colors for the national anthem. The Rev. Bob Utley of Trinity Baptist Church will give the invocation.

Table decorations are to be provided by Guadalupe and Parkway Neighborhood Centers.

where she was treated for a cut on the head and released.

In another reported assault, Natividad Garcia, 32, of 2706 E. Seventh St., said two men kicked open her door about 2 a.m. Monday and pulled her out of bed. She said one of the suspects hit her in the head with a tire tool.

The woman, who was treated and released at Methodist Hospital for minor head injuries, said the suspects also slashed the tires on her car, which was parked in her driveway.

Police Sunday discovered more than 10 pounds of marijuana contained in luggage at Lubbock International Airport, and several hours later, arrested an 18-year-old man who claimed the two suitcases at the airport, according to reports.

Police said the man was arrested about 7:30 p.m. Sunday when he was leaving the airport. The suspect told police he was picking up the suitcases for another person.

Reports show that a 48-year-old man was picked up about 12:05 a.m. Monday in the 3000 block of Avenue A after police watched him weaving along the road in his car.

Police told the man, suspected of driving while intoxicated, that he was under arrest and the suspect replied: "I can't be. I wasn't even driving." However, he was the only person in the car.

When an 18-year-old man reportedly relieved himself in front of a restaurant in the 1600 block of University Avenue about 2:30 a.m. Monday he apparently didn't know a policeman was watching from inside the eating place.

The man was arrested and transferred to the county jail for allegedly causing a disturbance by exposing himself.

Josephine Garza Castaneda of 1615 43rd St. said someone broke into her house about 12:45 p.m. Sunday and stole $930 in jewelry, silverware, a radio and television set.

Woman Seriously Injured In Collision

A 77-year-old Clovis, N.M., woman remained in serious condition late Monday at St. Mary's Hospital with injuries suffered in a two-car accident on the Clovis Highway about two miles west of the city limits Monday morning.

Madge Williamson and three other persons, including an eight-months-pregnant woman, were injured in the collision, which occurred about 11 a.m. on rain-slick streets at the intersection of U.S. Highway 84 and F.M. 2528.

Josefina Aldaco Revelle, 27, of Anton, and her brother-in-law, Orville Revelle, 29, also of Anton, were treated and released Monday at Health Sciences Center Hospital. The woman's four-year-old son, Michael, was in good condition Monday at the hospital.

All three persons were occupants of the car driven by Mrs. Revelle. Mrs. Williamson was the lone occupant of the other vehicle.

According to the Department of Public Safety, Mrs. Williamson was traveling north on F.M. 2528 and crossing the highway, and Mrs. Revelle was eastbound on U.S. 84 when the two vehicles collided.

Older Readership Reportedly Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Persons aged 18 to 24 read newspapers as much now as they did 10 years ago, but readership among older age groups has declined as much as 13 percent, according to a study released by the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The study's author, John P. Robinson of Cleveland State University, concluded in the report that the current newspaper marketing strategy of catering to the interests of younger readers is failing to address the major reason for circulation drops: the loss of the older reader.

Slaying Seen As 'Vietnam-Type Fight'

AUSTIN (AP) — David Lee Powell is a methamphetamine-crazed psychotic who remembers the machine-gunning of Patrolman Ralph Ablanedo as a "Vietnam-type fire fight" and feels no remorse, a Detroit psychiatrist testified Monday.

Dr. Emmanuel Tanay testified Powell thinks of himself as the leader of a band of "operatives" who depend on him for economic support.

Tanay is a nationally recognized authority on homicide. He was a post-conviction consultant to defense lawyers for Jack Ruby, who killed Lee Harvey Oswald. He is a survivor of Nazi death camp in Poland and founder of the American Association of Law and Psychiatry.

Powell, 27, could be executed if convicted of killing Ablanedo, who was riddled with a burst of gunfire from an Iron Curtain AK-47 automatic rifle. The death penalty, however, may be imposed only if the jury finds the killing was deliberate and unprovoked and that the defendant would be a continuing threat to society if allowed to live.

Tanay said Powell began showing signs of mental illness about the time he was 16, an honor student who later became valedictorian of his senior class as Campbell, near Greenville.

Tanay said he had diagnosed Powell as paranoid-schizophrenic.

"Do you have an opinion as to whether he knew what he had done was wrong?" asked defense lawyer Edith Roberts.

"He believed he was in a fire fight — a Vietnam-type fire fight. He describes it as a military encounter. There was a war. He was prepared for it. He had a machine gun and grenades," Tanay said.

The psychiatrist went on to tell the jury that he asked Powell how he felt about "killing an innocent human being."

"He said, 'Death is not tragic. Life is tragic,'" Tanay said.

Tanay said Powell lived with two young women "that he says were his lovers" at the time of the slaying and was a "drug pusher."

"He tried to imply in a Manson-type style that he had a whole band dependent on him. ... That he was the leader of a big movement. ... But you try to pin him down, and there's nothing there," Tanay said.

The psychiatrist said Powell "can't give you answers to everyday questions."

He said that because of mental illness, intensified by heavy use of methamphetamine — "speed" — Powell was unable to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law.

Assistant District Attorney Steve Edwards asked if there was evidence of organic brain damage.

Tanay said a report prepared by a court-appointed psychologist showed Powell's IQ had dropped from about 145 to about 125 in a decade.

"Might a man who faces a mandatory sentence of death or life imprisonment ... try to demonstrate symptoms of insanity?" Edwards asked.

"Yes. But Mr. Powell did the opposite. He tried to make it seem that what he did was rational and the right thing to do. ... He tries to appear normal and not sick," Tanay replied.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day for studying future goals and to make plans to go after them at the earliest possible moment. You may want to force issues but use tact and diplomacy for best results.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Take steps to have your talents recognized by those who can help you make the most of them. Avoid temptation to exaggerate.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You can be very clever in the handling of home affairs now, but don't permit an outsider to interfere. Use common sense.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Follow through on a business matter that could bring you added abundance in the days ahead. Be sure to pay your bills.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Consult with financial experts and follow their ideas for your greater success. Be economical in pursuit of pleasure.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have good judgement today so carry through with whatever you have in mind. A friend can help you gain a personal wish now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Consult with an adviser who is well-informed and can tell you how to be successful. Work on a plan of advancement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good friend can be helpful in gaining your personal wishes but you have to be explicit in stating your ideas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The right day to contact influential persons to gain the backing you need. Also, be more cooperative with others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of worrying about something you can do nothing about, get away and study new interests. Be logical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure you keep promises you have made or you could regret it later. Try to be more pleasing to loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact one who is prominent and clear-thinking and get advice concerning a project you are interested in.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Study your work from every angle and make plans to be more efficient. Be kind but firm with one who wants to waste your time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be capable and endowed with many talents but must be taught to use reason and courtesy with others for best results. Prepare now for a college education for your bright progeny and start putting money away for it.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

County Officials Okay Budget

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

After a long day of discussion and discussion, Lubbock County commissioners Monday approved a $10,132,554 budget for 1979.

Commissioner Jim Lancaster of Idalou voted "No" because of objections to road and bridge fund allocations and the way in which salaries for deputy sheriffs and juvenile probation officers had been considered.

The calendar year budget projects a $3.4 million surplus at the end of next year and, with a $4.9 million county cash balance expected for Dec. 31, is a deficit budget.

It gives county employees a 6 percent across-the-board cost of living raise, but the commissioners ran out of time considering raises of more than that for tax assessor-collector workers and were to resume the meeting at 9 a.m. today.

Assessor Russell Hardin asked for more because of rapid turnover in recent months, and County Judge Rod Shaw said he would vote for increasing base pay there from $492 to $550 per month.

The new budget would raise it to $522 Jan. 1.

Lancaster questioned the City-County Library budget, road and bridge fund allocations, 1979 salaries for deputies and probation officers and the situation of contracts between Lubbock County towns and the county for rural fire protection.

He said that each of the four precincts has about $250,000 for next year while his precinct, No. 3, has a heavier workload than some of the others and would have a proportionately larger allocation.

He told the other commissioners and Shaw that the public hearing on the budget opened at 11 a.m. Monday that he was prepared to go to court if the road and bridge issue cannot be resolved.

Lancaster and other commissioners questioned the library budget because they considered it not specific enough on several items, and three city officials came to the courthouse Monday afternoon to go over it in detail.

Lancaster said Monday morning that he considered the hand-written budget submitted to the county for its part of the budget "an insult."

Asst. City Manager Jim Blagg, Director of Community Facilities Jim Weston and Library Director Bill Stewart explained that most of the 15-percent increase asked for from the county is from a 5 percent cost of living salary increase, a 5 percent increase from merit raises and another 5 percent hike from city-wide salary reclassifications.

They also said the Goedeke branch library is getting replacement air conditioners and new carpeting and drapes and more books next year.

The library system has 52 staff members, the officials said, and Lancaster had them show a list of all the employees and their salaries.

The commissioners also heard a delegation from the Lubbock County Bar Association ask support in seeking another county court-at-law and district court.

Commissioner Alton Brazell said the commissioners court will need to see a report from Auditor Dale Gallimore on what the additional courts would cost the county before a decision can be made on whether or not to support the bar association.

J. C. Rickman, board chairman of the Lubbock County Hospital District, and Gerald Bosworth, administrator of the new Health Sciences, Monday morning asked and were given approval of a $22,984,596 district budget for its first full year of operation next year.

at the soggy scene. His son, Phillip, 10, however, hasn't let the gloomy skies dampen his spirits, as he waves from his lofty seat. At right, Linda Grisham, 10, wouldn't have minded riding a pony in the rain if only her umbrella had worked. Her sister, Belinda, 8, was luckier. ## Hill Raps Bargaining For Public Employees the proposed amendment's provision of a $5,000 homestead exemption for all homeowners and an additional $5,000 exemption for elderly homeowners.

—Utility bill rate relief. Hill said utility bill increases should be "minimized by a closer review of rates by the state Public Utility Commission" and by opposition to increases in railroad coal hauling rates charged to power plants and passed along to consumers.

If his anti-inflation plan is followed, Hill said Texas "will have high credibility and can show the way to lead Washington to pass a constitutional amendment and get the national government on a pay-as-you-go, deficit-free pattern."

"Then we can really say we in government are doing our part to control inflation," he said.

Collective Bargaining Opposed

Queried about a plank in the state Democratic Party platform supporting the right of public employees to organize and bargain collectively, Hill expressed his unwavering opposition to the plank.

"I simply do not support collective bargaining for public employees," he said. "I don't think we need it."

Hill said collective bargaining by public employees can be avoided "by taking decent care and fair care of our state employees."

He accused Republican opponent Bill Clements of taking the "meat and approach" in his suggestion that 25,000 state employees ought to be eliminated.

Rather, Hill said he plans to "insist on productivity in state government from all employees. When they give it, there we should give fair compensation," he said. "When they don't give it, they should be dismissed."

Reserving Judgement

Hill said he is reserving judgement on President Carter's proposed solution to the problem of illegal aliens, which Clements has severely criticized.

"I appreciate the national administration addressing this problem since it is a national problem," he said. "I'm willing to give them a chance to see how those programs work."

Hill did say he is "disappointed we've not made more progress" on finding a solution to the problem and said he is "hopeful" Congress will begin work in earnest on it after their recess.

"I'll wait until early in my administration to see how things are coming along," Hill said. "If I'm satisfied they're making progress and working towards a sensible solution we can all live with, I'll support it."

But if the progress is not satisfactory and "if I feel they're totally failing, I'll address it as a state issue. At that point I'll outline the way I think Texas can address it as a state issue," he said.

Also Monday Hill defended his selection of Houston businessman Billy Goldberg as state Democratic chairman against Republican charges Goldberg is a liberal.

Hill described Goldberg as a "conservative businessperson in Houston who is progressive on some issues like education and human rights."

The most recent Hill polls show the attorney general with 52 percent of the vote, Clements with 30 percent, and 18 percent undecided.

Hill said the poll results indicate "if we had the election today, we would win even if every undecided vote went to him."

But, despite polls showing him with a sizeable lead, Hill said he will "campaign as if we're behind — we're not taking anything for granted."

"We're up against a lot of money and we're working hard to get out the vote," he said.

consumer would really take it on the chin because it would be extremely easy for a few people to organize and have extremely high prices," he added.

Hance's solution to solve low prices is to (1) decrease acreage, (2) increase loan rates, and (3) expand exports with prices.

Hance hit hard at the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) which is proposing strenuous dust level standards for gin operations.

If ginners are forced to comply with the standards, he said, they will be forced to pay the high cost of new machinery, resulting in even higher costs of cotton production.

Hance noted that the upcoming November election will determine a new representative for the district for the first time in 44 years.

"I want to be elected and carry on the traditions of a long tenure as Mahon has," Hance said.

He hit again on his agriculture experience, both practical and in politics, he said that a newly elected official's experience determines on which committee he will serve when he goes to Washington. "I feel I'm qualified."

Knesset Discusses Sinai Settlements

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin asked Parliament Monday to dismantle Jewish settlements in the Sinai Desert and accept a peace agreement with Egypt in "the supreme national interest."

Begin also told the Knesset he stands by his position, disputed by the White House, that he committed Israel to only a three-month freeze on the building of new settlements in other occupied lands.

Air Crash Toll Rises To 144

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A packed Boeing 727 collided head-on with a small plane flown by a student pilot Monday and both planes crashed in flaming fragments into a populous residential area. Officials said at least 144 persons were killed in the worst air disaster in U.S. history.

Burning debris from the Pacific Southwest Airlines jetliner rained down and ignited at least nine wood frame houses and two businesses. Parts of burned bodies dropped onto rooftops and into streets. The neighborhood's mostly elderly residents tried frantically to douse the flames with garden hoses, sending clouds of gray-black smoke billowing over the area.

The Federal Aviation Administration said none of the 136 persons aboard PSA flight 182 from Sacramento survived the collision. Both persons in the rented Cessna 172 were killed.

At least six persons on the ground were killed by falling bodies and debris or the resulting fires. At least six others were treated at local hospitals.

The burning wreckage gutted half a block of homes.

Bill Gibbs, president of the Gibbs Flying Service here, said the Cessna carried a student pilot and his flying instructor. Gibbs said the student was making an instrumental approach to the airport when the collision occurred.

"They hit head-on, it was unbelievable," said Lt. George Farrell, 31, a Navy flight surgeon. He said the 727 went into a tailspin.

The PSA Boeing 727 was on a flight from Sacramento with a stop in Los Angeles, one of the airline's busiest commuter runs. The weather was clear with 10 miles visibility when the collision occurred at 11:03 a.m. CDT. The crash, 3,000 feet in the air, occurred three miles east of downtown Lindbergh Field, the jet's destination.

"You can't believe it," said W.T. Bradbury, a policeman on the scene. "Parts of bodies were sticking into a wall. You don't know how far the wall went because you couldn't see through to the other side because of smoke and flames."

Emergency crews sifted through the smoldering debris, desperately searching for survivors in the tangled mass of airplane parts studded with corpses. But none was found.

A national anti-busing leader Monday said Congress and state legislatures could ban the use of "forced busing" to integrate schools within a year — if U.S. Rep. George Mahon and a few of his colleagues would push the issue.

After Joyce DeHaven detailed the "disastrous story" of court-ordered integration, local anti-busing parents disclosed they are organizing a "sick-out" day to protest the Lubbock Independent School District desegregation plan.

"A date will be set later" for parents to keep their children home from school as a "show of unity" against busing, said Dan Seale, spokesman for a group called The People.

About 50 members of the organization met Monday night at Wilson Junior High to hear Mrs. DeHaven, president of the National Association for Neighborhood Schools (NANS). She also held a news conference earlier in the day.

A petition to force the U.S. House to "Bodies were flying all over the place," said Richard Rollings, a witness. "I saw one body flying down to the street. It splattered against the side of a car."

St. Augustine's, six blocks from where most of the debris fell, was converted into a makeshift morgue. The two planes slammed into each other while the school was at recess and the students scattered.

"Most of the kids saw the actual crash," said Anthony J. Wasko, principal of the school. "I sensed it was going to hit the school, and most of the kids must have, too, because they all started running from the courtyard."

Police and firemen cordoned off the area, but a curious crowd of 4,000 to 5,000 persons jammed in to look at the grim scene. At least 20 ambulances lined 33rd Street, the nearest street to where the jet fell.

One of the victims on the ground was identified by her brother as Darlene Watkins. The brother, Sam Rush, said a piece of the fiery debris from the jet apparently fell onto her home.

"My sister's lying there burned to death," he sobbed. "She's all busted up and everything."

The previous worst U.S. air disaster occurred in 1960, when 134 persons were killed in New York City in a crash between a United Airlines DC-8 and a TWA Constellation.

About a dozen persons were arrested at the scene of the crash for failing to disperse and two persons were arrested for looting, apparently after trying to ransack some of the burning homes.

Busing Foe Raps U.S. Solons

prompted to work against the proposal on the House floor.

Mrs. DeHaven said she doesn't buy that argument. Besides, she said, Mahon is not seeking re-election and thus would not have to bear a backlash from pro-busing colleagues.

Mrs. DeHaven, who has testified before Congress 23 times on anti-busing matters, said busing has wasted energy, drained tax monies and inconvenienced parents and students, she said. Moreover, due to white flight, busing has "resulted in more segregation, not less."

We the People members voted to affiliate with Mrs. DeHaven's association and change their name to NANS of Lubbock.

Seale said the local anti-busing group has retained attorneys "to see what can be done" about local busing. And to dramatize the protest, he said a "sick-out" day is being planned.

NANS advocates "freedom of choice" in school attendance, she said. The group opposes court-ordered busing because "it just hasn't worked. It's been counterproductive."

NANS has succeeded in temporarily halting busing in Columbus, Ohio, and in delaying busing in Los Angeles, Mrs. DeHaven said.

Business Tax Cut Backed In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted Monday in favor of a multibillion-dollar income tax reduction for the nation's businesses as it began a week of decision-making on tax cut legislation.

In a voice vote the committee approved a plan estimated to save businesses $5 billion in 1979 and $5.5 billion in 1980.

The House voted in favor of the same proposal earlier this year when it approved a $16.3 billion tax cut measure.

Senators Vote To Delay Cotton Dust Crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, in a compromise action, voted Monday to delay until May 1 implementation of new government regulations requiring the cotton industry to sharply reduce the levels of cotton dust in all its plants.

The regulations, issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, have been in effect since Sept. 4, although they have not yet been enforced.

Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., asked the Senate to block their implementation until Sept. 30, 1979, by amending a Labor HEW appropriations bill to deny any money for this purpose during the next fiscal year.

Costly To Industry

Johnston said the regulations would cost the cotton industry $1.8 billion to $2.6 billion to comply.

He said this would increase inflation for the entire country by three quarters of a percent, would raise the cost of cotton from 44 cents to 66 cents a pound, force "many, many plants" to shut down and put "thousands upon thousands" of workers out of jobs.

Sens. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., and Edward Brooke, R-Mass., floor manager of the bill, said the regulations were designed to reduce the incidence of byssinosis, known as "brown lung," among cotton workers.

But Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., said there is no evidence the disease is caused by cotton dust.

"They're forcing thousands and thousands of businesses to spend millions and millions of dollars for compliance, when they do not have any evidence that there is a problem," Bumpers said.

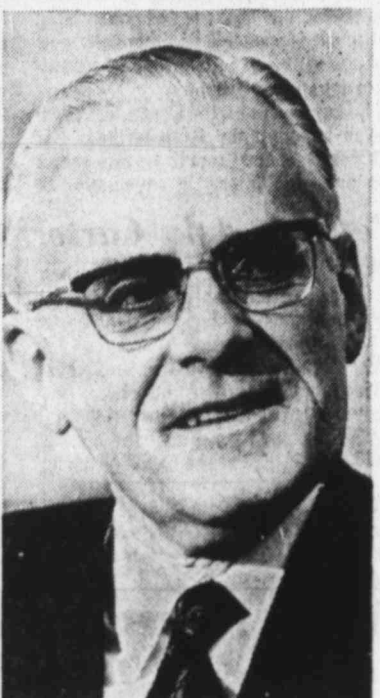

Magnuson said the regulations give the industry four years to comply and that the inflationary increase would be more like one tenth of 1 percent next year.

A showdown vote on the issue was avoided when both sides agreed to compromise on a delay until May 1. Senators said that would give the Senate Human Resources Committee time to hold hearings, scheduled to begin in October, and may allow court challenges to the regulations to be decided.

A revised amendment to that effect was approved by voice vote. But it will have no effect unless House negotiators agree to it in conference. The House-passed version of the Labor HEW bill contains no provision on cotton dust.

In 1968, the government imposed a cotton dust limit of 1,000 micrograms — or millionths of a gram — per cubic meter of air. The new regulations would reduce this to 200, 500 and 700 micrograms, depending on the type of plant.

EARL BUTZ
Booked As Conference Speaker

Butz To Help Republicans Raise Funds

Former Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz will address the Agricultural Chemicals Conference here Wednesday night and help Lubbock County Republicans raise funds before and after the speech.

Butz, now dean emeritus of agriculture at Purdue University, will speak on "Carter, Congress and Commodities" at the conference awards banquet at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Tickets to the banquet are $12.50 per person and are available from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets are considerably more for a $125 per couple Republican fundraiser at 5 p.m. Wednesday at the University-City Club. That ticket includes admission to the awards banquet.

Before the fundraiser, Butz will meet with Republican volunteer workers at U.S. Sen. John Tower's campaign headquarters.

Thursday at 7:45 a.m. Butz will have breakfast with farmers and agribusinessmen at the University-City Club.

Butz served as Agriculture Secretary from 1971-1976 when he was forced to resign the post after an off-color racial joke he told caused a public uproar.

Airline Routes To Alaska Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board law judge recommended Monday that Northwest, Western and Alaska airlines be awarded authority to fly routes to Alaska.

In an initial decision, Judge Alexander N. Argarakis recommended that Northwest and Western be authorized to fly between Los Angeles and San Francisco and Anchorage.

Greeks Seek Regard For Three Saints

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek press and Orthodox Church groups have launched a campaign to get the Roman Catholic Church to reconsider its downgrading of three popular patron saints, George, Barbara and Nicholas.

Roman Catholic spokesmen say the 98 percent Orthodox majority, clearly offended by the issue, has misunderstood the church's action. Some Orthodox authorities worry that the controversy could endanger the movement toward unity for the schism-split churches, who still hold centuries-old saints in common.

In 1969, the Roman Catholics issued a new liturgical calendar, dropping some 40 saints from the list on grounds that they lacked enough historical evidence of their authenticity to warrant world-wide acknowledgement as saints.

Church officials stressed the move did not mean the saints didn't exist, but that they should be revered locally if tradition called for it.

According to the Roman Catholic Church, a saint is someone who, through his virtue and devotion to God, merits heaven directly upon death. The saint is venerated as one who may intercede to God, but is not adored or worshipped directly.

Sea-going Greeks revere St. Nicholas as their patron saint, St. George as the patron saint of the army and St. Barbara of the artillery. St. Nicholas, said to be a southern Italian archbishop, was known world-wide as a patron saint of children and his legend grew into the Santa Claus tradition. St. George, the legendary dragon slayer, has been revered as the patron saint of England since the Crusades.

The issue has received heavy coverage in the Greek press because some strong church organizations now say Orthodox officials haven't done anything against the reclassification.

A spokesman for the "Holy Worship Department" of the Greek Orthodox Holy Synod, the church's 13-member governing body, said he thought the saints had been "illogically abolished" by the Roman Catholics after centuries of worship.

"Roman Catholics are from time to time dismissing our saints. It is a major and worrying issue," protested the large-circulation newspaper "Ta Nea."

A Greek Holy Synod spokesman said the issue is one of a number of dogmatic differences separating the two churches split by an eighth century schism, but it has not yet reached serious proportions.

"We can't revolt against their decision," he said, "but we do find it peculiar and high-handed."

The spokesman said a theological dialogue is continuing normally with Catholic and Protestant churches to iron out differences, with the ultimate goal of Christian unity.

A Roman Catholic spokesman defended the reclassification of the saints.

"Some of our saints are meaningless to Africans, for example. It's something like national heroes. Some are famous internationally and some only locally. Tribute to them is therefore relative," the spokesman said.

He pointed out that while St. Agnes of Rome and St. Genevieve of Paris are highly honored in those capitals, they are unknown to Greeks and ignored by them.

Restriction Sought On Snepp's Writing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department asked a federal appeals court Monday to prohibit former CIA officer Frank W. Snepp from publishing any articles pending appeal of a ruling on Snepp's unauthorized revelations of CIA operations in Vietnam.

The department asked the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to uphold a ruling by federal Judge Oren R. Lewis, who ordered on Sept. 15 that Snepp be prohibited from publishing any articles without prior review by the CIA.

In a legal brief, Justice Department officials said Lewis' ruling does not violate Snepp's First Amendment rights and will not prevent him from pursuing his new profession as a writer because the CIA must complete its review of any manuscript within 30 days to determine if it contains classified material.

Senator Questions CB Invention Secrecy Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Washington senator is questioning how a super-secret government intelligence agency blocked the manufacture of an invention designed to prevent eavesdropping on Citizens Band radio messages.

Sen. Warren Magnuson, in a letter to Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps, said he was concerned that the rights of the inventors of the device not be violated.

"The inventors have not been given an opportunity to refute the government's decision or even to learn the basis for that decision," the Washington Democrat said.

The invention uses an unrevealed technique to protect CB transmissions and other private conversations from eavesdropping. It apparently scrambles the voice of the sender at the transmitter and unscrambles the signal at the receiver.

The inventors, Carl Nicolai, Carl Quale and David Miller of Seattle, Wash., and William Raika of Monterey, Calif., applied for a patent for their device.

Instead of granting one, the Patent Office issued a secrecy order which forbids the inventors from discussing or manufacturing their device.

The secrecy order was issued at the behest of the National Security Agency, the nation's most secret intelligence agency. The NSA is responsible for eavesdropping on the communications of foreign governments and decoding such messages.

The inventors are appealing the secrecy order to the commissioner of patents in the Commerce Department.

"I am concerned that my constituent and his co-inventors be accorded their full rights to procedural due process in this matter," Magnuson said in the letter to Mrs. Kreps.

"It would seem only reasonable to expect that applicants would be allowed a hearing to rebut the conclusions of the National Security Agency. ... I do not believe that the inventors should be deprived of their rights to their labors without having a full presentation of their views."

The inventors say they have spent thousands of dollars and hundreds of hours of time developing the device. But, because of the secrecy order, they cannot market it nor license others to use the technology that forms the basis of its operation.

"They're ruining us," Nicolai said in a recent telephone interview.

NSA says the device threatens national security, but will not explain further. The agency told the inventors in a letter that even the reasons for the decision are classified. The inventors maintain their device was designed specifically not to threaten national security.

The secrecy order is the third of its kind in the last two years.

Last year, an NSA employee warned a group of scientists not to discuss their work in cryptography. Although NSA disavowed the letter, some of the group believe it was designed to slow private research in the area of codes and code-breaking.

Earlier this year, George I. DaVida, a University of Wisconsin professor, was hit with a secrecy order for his attempt to patent a computer security system. After a public outcry, that order was lifted.

The first non-stop flight from Europe to the United States was completed in 1930 by two Frenchmen.

Okies Take Over Top Poll Spots

By The Associated Press

The Oklahoma Sooners replaced Alabama as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press college football poll Monday while Notre Dame's defending national champions were beaten for the second time in two games and dropped out of the Top Twenty.

Alabama, defeated 24-14 by Southern California, slipped to seventh place while the race for No. 1 turned into a five-way scrap among Oklahoma, Arkansas, Southern Cal, Michigan and Penn State.

Oklahoma, tied for third place with Penn State last week, slaughtered Rice 66-7 and received 27 first-place votes and 1,235 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of 66 sports writers and broadcasters.

The runaway score against Rice vaulted the Sooners ahead of Arkansas, which retained its No. 2 ranking by defeating Oklahoma State 19-7. The Razorbacks received 17 first-place votes and 1,208 points.

Don Henry Maturity: Prescription For Pressure

IF RON REEVES didn't learn last winter during recruiting season about that phone ringing, he's learning now.

There was a clamor for him last year, in the weeks before letters-of-intent were being extended. And, there is a clamor for him now, following his opening explosion Saturday night against Arizona.

The script couldn't have been prepared better by Darryl F. Zanuck: Tech trailing, time running out in the first half, the starting quarterback ailing with a deep thigh bruise. In comes the kid, and wins it.

That's the way it came but. Only this time, the young man was the hometown star, and he received a standing ovation when he went to the bullpen to warm up. But, both last winter during signing time, last Saturday in that throat-tightening situation, and even Monday when the calls were coming from every news-gathering angle, Reeves seemed to be able to handle the situation.

Pressure Saturday night? "Well, I had a feeling I would get a chance to play — maybe not that early," Reeves remarked Monday. "But, there wasn't anything said — they teach us that only the quarterback talks in the huddle — but I felt they were pulling for me."

BEING NO. 3 on the quarterbacking ladder didn't mean his playing would be

December was to Reeves. "We wanted him all along as a quarterback. Some people might have looked at him as a linebacker, but the way he threw the ball, we knew what we wanted him for."

"I wanted to play quarterback in college," Reeves said Monday. "Those that talked to me about linebacker, I just told them I wasn't interested."

It came down to Tech and Baylor, and recalls Dockery, "I'll admit we were worried. Grant Teaff really did a good job working on him. But, we wanted him bad."

Saturday night, the Tech fans saw some of the fruits of Dockery's quest: 11 of 14 pass completions for 159 yards and two touchdowns, and an efficiency rate of six scores in eight possessions while he was in the game.

IT'S NOT FAR from Jones Stadium to Monterey High, just south on University about three miles to 50th, then turn right about a mile. Talent, he displayed as a schoolboy, maturity, Reeves must have picked up along the way.

"You see so many more coverages than in high school. You have to read so many people, not just one or two like in high school. The players are bigger and faster, but that works two ways: Our guys are bigger and faster, too."

"They might be more physical in college. I'm about the same size (6-1, 215), but I worked on my passing this summer with most of the receivers. And I think that helped. Godfrey (Turner) and Brian (Nelson) were here, and I think I learned a little about throwing to them."

Maybe it was last summer and not those five catches Saturday which led Turner to brand his teammate Rocket Ron.

Next Saturday, Reeves gets his chance against Texas, a conference game, a nationally-ranked team, a bigger challenge as a starter.

"I have to work to gain the team's respect," Reeves admitted. "If I do my job and learn my assignments, I feel they will accept him."

"The quarterback has to be a leader. I feel the team is willing to let me be the quarterback, even if I am a freshman. At least, I hope they are."

But, the surprise element at Arizona will be gone. The stadium will be filled with people, both Tech and UT fans who know Reeves will be at the throttle.

"Sure there'll be pressure," Dockery commented Monday as he talked about the situation, "but it'll be exciting pressure."

Reeves has operated in pressure situations, in the state semifinals in football, in the state tourney in baseball. Now, the pressure waits on a higher level, but he appears to be able to swallow it without letting a big bite hang in his throat.

"I never feel pressure; I feel it's on the entire team."

For some, maturity comes early.

RON REEVES

an automatic thing. He had not played at Southern Cal — he and coach Rex Dockery both admitted that the freshman out of Monterey was not ready.

But, an off week — thus two full weeks of work — before Arizona gave Reeves a chance to catch on. "I hadn't had that many reps (repetition of plays in practice). You can know the plays on paper," Reeves commented, "but there's lots of difference in running them every day and knowing them."

"But, in the two weeks after USC, I got better used to it. Being No. 3, you can't expect to get in, but something just told me that I'd get in (Saturday night). I didn't know how I'd do, but I felt I knew all my reads."

"And, Arizona didn't run but one coverage that we hadn't worked on. And we adjusted to that at the half."

Completing that first pass, even though it was called back (penalty), made a difference. Also, we had good field position, which helped. Then, the line was giving me such good protection. . . About the only time a quarterback gets hit hard is when he's passing; when you're running you don't get hit that hard. But, the line held so well that I never did get sacked."

DOCKERY FIRST WANTED Reeves long before Rex became head coach. The spring before Reeves' senior year at Monterey, Dockery watched workouts. "I saw him throw the ball, and I knew then we needed him."

Then, one of the first calls after Dockery was named Tech's head coach last Southern Cal's impressive triumph over Alabama lifted the Trojans from seventh to third with 14 first-place votes and 1,189 points.

Michigan climbed from fifth to fourth with six first-place votes and 1,144 points by beating Notre Dame 28-14, sending the Fighting Irish reeling out of the rankings.

Penn State, which came from nine points behind in the third period to edge Southern Methodist 26-21, slipped to fifth place. The Nittany Lions received the other two first-place ballots and 1,087 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Texas, Alabama, Texas AM, Pittsburgh and Florida State.

Texas remained No. 6 with a 17-3 decision over Wyoming. Texas AM edged from ninth to eighth with a 37-2 rout of Boston College while Pitt and Florida State moved into the Top Ten from last week's 11-13 spots. Pitt defeated Temple 20-12 while Florida State downed Miami, Fla., 31-21.

UCLA and Louisiana State dropped to the Second Ten. UCLA, No. 8 last week, was upset by Kansas 28-24 and fell to 18th while Louisiana State struggled past Wake Forest 13-11 and slipped from 10th to 11th.

The rest of the Second Ten consists of Nebraska, Ohio State, Missouri, Maryland, Colorado, Iowa State, UCLA, Georgia and Stanford.

Georgia and Stanford were ranked for the first time this season. Georgia blanked Clemson 12-0 while Stanford whipped Illinois 35-10. They replaced Notre Dame, which was 14th last week, and No. 15 Washington, which lost to Indiana 14-7.

Last week's Second Ten consisted of Pitt, Nebraska, Florida State, Notre Dame, Washington, Ohio State, Missouri, Maryland, Colorado and Iowa State.

TOMMY PROTHRO

DON CORYELL

SD Coaches Change

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tommy Prothro, who had high hopes for the San Diego Chargers this season, resigned as the National Football League team's head coach Monday after a 1-3 start and was immediately replaced by former St. Louis Cardinals Coach Don Coryell.

"Last winter I told (Chargers' owner) Gene Klein I would coach only one more year because I felt we had a good team and would have a good year," said the 58-year-old Prothro in announcing his resignation. "I still believe this is a good football team and it is a playoff contender."

"However, after disappointing losses to Oakland and Denver and the disaster against Green Bay, I feel a fresh approach and a rude awakening may be what this team needs."

Prothro referred to the 24-3 setback the heavily favored Chargers suffered to the Packers at San Diego Stadium Sunday.

"I certainly hope this team will not think I am quitting on it or have lost confidence in the players," added Prothro, who was in his fifth year as the Chargers' coach. "I take this action only because I want it to be for the best interest of the team."

Judge Opens Locker Rooms

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge shattered baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's policy of barring women sports writers from major league clubhouses Monday by ordering the New York Yankees to open the doors of their stadium locker rooms. The order does not directly apply to other major league teams.

The order by U.S. District Judge Constantine Baker Motley applied to Melissa Ludtke, a Sports Illustrated reporter denied access to Yankee Stadium locker rooms during the 1977 World Series.

Idalou Coach Mum On His Opposition

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Idalou football coach Tom Ritchey is what some people call "cagey".

Richey allows that he is reasonably pleased with his team's progress as well. "We're pretty team oriented," he said. "We've got some good ball players. Our offensive line is pretty young and they're starting to come around."

He has a three-year record of 24-5-2 with the Wildcats and last year he guided them to a 10-1 regular season and 4-0 district mark.

"We lost everyone from tackle to tackle last year but these young kids are starting to come around. Our season will depend on how well they come around."

This year he stands at 3-0, but the first thing he does is tell you that he's played some real fine teams. Then he tells you he has to play seven more.

"We've played a good schedule so far, but I think everybody in our district has played a real tough schedule. It's getting to where just about everybody on the South Plains has got a good football team."

Make that eight, coach Ritchey could make the most out of an open date.

"We are happy that we are 3-0," he confided, "that's a lot better than 0-3. We've been in three real close football games against three good teams."

He leaves out tidbits like his aggregate score this season, 70-19 (for those who aren't mathematically inclined, that works out to an average of roughly 23-6).

Or that of the three teams he's played, two are Class A, and the trio has a combined record of 2-7 so far this year.

He just doesn't want to make anybody mad, not even the three teams he has put behind him. He may have to play them again someday.

"Well, you know, in one of those ball-games we had to come from behind in the last minutes, which was fortunate because Petersburg is a good team," he explained. "The others were closer than the scores indicated."

The Wildcats, for the record, knocked off New Deal 27-0 and Frenship 30-7. The Petersburg score had Idalou up 13-12.

"I think it'll be a good football game," Ritchey says. "Lorenzo opens up district play the next weekend after an open date so they'll want to have a win here."

"I think they're very well coached. Everything they do you can tell they know what they're doing. They are very well prepared and very well organized and a hard-nosed football team."

Lyman Bostock

Tributes Continue For Fallen Angel Bostock

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels will wear black armbands the rest of this American League season in sad farewell to Lyman Bostock and his smiling countenance.

Angels owner Gene Autry, who had signed Bostock to a multi-year, multimillion dollar contract starting with this 1978 season, said, "He was a fine person. One of the reasons we went after him was because of his off-the-field activities."

Funeral services tentatively are scheduled for Thursday for the 27-year-old baseball star who was shot fatally in Gary, Ind., on Saturday night by a shotgun blast aimed at somebody else.

Last winter, the outfielder had worked in several youth clinics in the Los Angeles area, saying, "Too many people grow up taking from a community and it isn't every day you can go back to that community when you have fame and fortune."

When he was off to a poor start last April, Bostock donated his month's salary to charity after first offering to give it back to the Angels.

Teammates and Manager Jim Fregosi wept openly when they learned of the death.

"I'd like to have called off the game," Angels General Manager Buzie Bavasi, the man who brought Bostock to Anaheim, said of Sunday's game against the White Sox. "It's not fair for me to ask (White Sox owner) Bill Veeck to do it on Fan Appreciation Day."

Veteran player Ron Fairly, who occupied the locker next to Bostock's at Anaheim Stadium, said, "He was a good man. I felt comfortable around him. When he came into the clubhouse he always had a smile and a nice word."

In Gary, Police Sergeant Charles Highsmith said Smith and his estranged wife apparently had quarreled earlier Saturday.

Police said the two women in the car when the shooting occurred were long-time friends of Bostock. The player's agent, Abdul Jallil, said further that Mrs. Smith and her sister were godchildren of the ballplayer's uncle, Thomas Turner, who was driving the car.

As Bostock's body was flown back to Los Angeles, murder charges were filed against Leonard Smith, 31, the estranged husband of Barbara Smith, 26, who was riding in the car. She was apparently the target, police said, and was hit by some of the shotgun pellets. Bostock was hit in the temple. Mrs. Smith's sister, the other occupant, was not hit.

Running Back Miles Does It All, And Well, For Sudan Offense

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
You could say that Sudan's John Miles has had a fair season.

Midland Lee fullback Jeff McCowan scored a TD and picked up 134 yards on 31 tries as the Rebels upset Plainview.

The 5-10, 155-pound running back has carried 62 times for 625 yards in three games so far this season. He capped it with a 299-yard, five-touchdown performance on only 18 carries Friday night against Anton to earn the top spot on the Avalanche-Journal's weekly Schoolboy Honor Roll.

Quarterback Eddie Blackmon of Shallowater completed 11 of 18 passes for 201 yards and a pair of scores against Springlake-Earth. He also ran the ball nine times for 54 yards and a TD.

Miles is only one of two starters returning for the Hornet offense. Last year he collected 1284 yards for an 8.9-yard average per carry.

Dawson QB Jon Hataway had a good night as well. He hit eight of 14 tosses for 76 yards and ran 17 times for another 121 yards. He totaled 197 yards total offense and scored twice.

"He's got good speed (4.7 in the 40). That's not real good but it sure is on our level," said Sudan coach Sonny Wiginton. "But the main thing is he's got a real natural instinct for running the ball. He's got a good knack for his cuts. He runs hard when he should and he picks his way when he should."

His teammate, Lupe Rivas, ran seven times for 126 yards and a TD but did it all in the first quarter. He suffered a knee injury but, according to his coach, should be back in time for the next game.

"Everytime he gets the ball he's dangerous."

Springlake-Earth's mighty mile line-backer Steve Monreal (5-6, 130) is in the news again. He made a total of 20 tackles, eight of them solo. He also caused three tackles and recovered another. In his spare time he knocked down a pass, blocked a point-after attempt and was in on five tackles behind the line of scrimmage. He graded 99 percent.

Anton sure found that out. Miles' five touchdowns against the Bulldogs gives him a total of 10 scores in three games.

Lorenzo back Greg Cunningham carried 29 times for 133 yards against Seagraves. He didn't get any TDs, but his coach joked that he collected a couple of RBIs in the 3-2 loss. Also turning in a top performance from Lorenzo was defensive player Pinky Landon. He collected 22 tackles.

To take the statistics a little further, he has averaged 10 yards a carry this season and has scored a touchdown every 6.2 times he touches the ball.

Petersburg tailback Mike Jones carried 33 times for 195 yards in the Buffaloes 28-18 win over Kress.

In his two previous games, he gained 146 yards on 23 tries against Shallowater and 180 on 21 against Springlake-Earth. He also threw a 50-yard touchdown pass in that game.

Floydada's Junior Arredondo rammed 191 yards on 19 tries and scored a pair of touchdowns as the Whirlwinds whipped Post 21-0.

That's some star.

Clondike tailback Lonny Ferguson scored twice and picked up 179 yards on the ground as the Cougars won their second game of the year, 32-6 over Garden City. Ferguson's backfield partner, David Cox had 102 yards and contributed another three scores.

Other outstanding performances included:

Ralls had another pair of running stars. Halfback Willie Paul Anderson got 136 yards on only six tries and scored on runs of 75 and 14 yards. Fullback Rusty Forbes carried 11 times and got 153 yards and another two touchdowns.

Both teams are now 2-2.

Sundown To Have Full Homecoming

SUNDOWN (Special) — Sundown will celebrate Homecoming and the 50th anniversary of the Sundown School Oct. 19 through 21.

Activities will include a bonfire, pep rally, turkey and dressing supper, crowning of the Homecoming Queen, a football game between the Sundown Roughnecks and the La Lazbuddie Longhorns and class reunions.

The bonfire will be Thursday night. Participants will pre-register at 2 p.m. Friday at the high school. The pep rally will be at 3:10 p.m. in the gym followed by the junior class's turkey and dressing supper from 4:30 to 6:30.

The Sundown Homecoming Queen will be crowned at 7 p.m. Friday before the 7:30 football game.

The reception will take place in the cafeteria after the game for all ex-students, teachers, maintenance personnel, lunchroom workers, administrators and parents.

Class reunions will begin at noon Saturday and include access to the swimming pool from noon until 4 p.m. Tours of new facilities will also be conducted during this time.

A 6:30 p.m. dinner in the cafeteria will conclude activities. Tickets for the dinner are $3.50 and must be purchased in advance. Door prizes will be given away and class histories will be displayed.

The classes of '38, '48, '58 and '68 will be honored this year. Contact For more information contact Gaylene Fariss Helms, Box 433, Sundown, 79372.

Tennessee Woman's Misfortunes Soar

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Lois Davidson has lived through more problems in the past two years than some people experience in a lifetime, but she is ready for some help.

The trouble began, Mrs. Davidson said, while she and her husband were living happily on a poultry farm near Red Bay, Ala.

Her husband lost his arm in a mechanical compicker. The next year their new house, which had little insurance, burned to the ground.

She had to have a tumor removed from her pituitary gland and, in March, she had to have her thyroid gland removed. The next month she and her husband separated.

In May, Mrs. Davidson was forced to resign her job because of health problems and a month later she and her husband obtained a divorce. In July, her pituitary gland failed.

While moving to Memphis the next month, her refrigerator was dropped out of a truck and her food freezer heated up and spoiled a year's worth of vegetables.

Her two-year-old daughter underwent a kidney operation.

This month, Mrs. Davidson is in a Memphis hospital with a rare eye disease that may leave her sightless.

"Frankly, I could use a little help," she said from her hospital bed, where she is recovering from her fourth operation in 11 months.

Mrs. Davidson, who worked as a teacher and social worker before her illnesses, said she gets $275 a month from her husband, but she has been unsuccessful in attempts to qualify for government aid.

"I first applied for Social Security benefits in Alabama," she said, "but I was rejected because somebody figured I could do some other kind of work like clerking in a store or waiting tables. Well, I don't mind working — in fact, I'd welcome it even — but whoever turned me down didn't even mention my visual problems. You've got to see to do stuff like that."

Mrs. Davidson said the Social Security office told her that her case is under review, but she is unsure what to do about her children. Lisa, 3, and Gary, 12, a son from a previous marriage (Mrs. Davidson's first husband was killed in an automobile accident when she was 19).

"I can't figure out what to do," Mrs. Davidson said. "My sister is taking care of my children. But what do I do when it's time to go home and I can't see?"

REGISTRATIONS LAGGING
HOUSTON (AP) — Tax Assessor-Collector Carl Smith says voter registration is lagging a hit in populous Harris County. Smith said Monday 852,347 persons are registered to vote in the Nov. 7 general election with only 23,026 of them registering since May. "There should be at least 100,000 more," Smith said.
