Eddie's dream comes true, gets his badge(s)

BOSTON (AP) - Two weeks ago Eddie Goodman celebrated his 12th birthday surrounded by the people he admires most police officers.

It wasn't just any party Eddie, a victim of cystic fibrosis since birth, knew he had little chance of following in the footsteps of the guests he idolized.

They knew it, too, and when his condition worsened last week and he was sent to Children's Hospital for intravenous injections, the word got out.

On Friday, several law enforcement officials knelt during a sidewalk ceremony outside the hospital to make Eddie an honorary member of the Massachusetts State Police, the Boston Police Department and the U.S. Secret Service.

When the ceremony was over, they had tears in their eyes, but Eddie was smiling from his

At 12, Eddie, tousle-haired and blue-eyed with a string of freckles across his nose, looks 8 and weighs just 42 pounds. His prognosis is not good, said his father, Ed.

But Friday was a happy day, said Eddie's mother, Helen.

"Look at it - big people like that doing this for one little kid. You can't be grim when you see this," she said. "You have to know that there are some wonderful people in this world."

The ceremony was the work of Eddie's friends in his Cape Cod hometown of Yarmouth — police Sgt. Al Watson, state Trooper Bill McGreal and other police officers who have spent thousands of hours visiting the boy since they learned of his condition a few years ago.

Eddie has badges from every police department on Cape Cod, and wears one of Watson's old uniform jackets to bed every

When McGreal heard his young friend's condition had grown worse, he phoned state police headquarters to ask if Eddie could be made an honorary member.

The answer was yes and from there the word spread to other law enforcement agencies.

On Friday, McGreal and Watson gave Eddie police shirts. Capt. Paul Beloff gave Eddie the oath of a police officer.

Also on hand were members of the Boston police, including Mounted Officer Marie Donahue and her horse "J.J.", and two Secret Service agents, all of whom presented Eddie with certificates and plaques making him an honorary member of their ranks

World hopes high for 3-power meet

By ROBERT B. CULLEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leaders of Egypt, Israel and the United States, searching once more for ways to bring peace to the Mideast, made final preparations today for the Camp David summit meeting.

President Carter, who is hosting the politically risky meeting at his Maryland mountaintop retreat, prayed for peace during a Sunday School session at First Baptist Church here.

'Let every heart involved be cleansed of selfishness and personal pride. Let us all turn to thee, God our father, for true guidance, wisdom, forgiveness of others, in the search for common ground." Carter said. Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, upon arriving in New York City, declared: "We want peace more than any nation on earth

And President Anwar Sadat, still in Egypt, said he considered the conference "a turning point" in Mideast

To help them, the Carter administration has prepared dozens of options and proposals for possible compromises on difficult points. But U.S. officials are trying not to arouse public hopes, only to have them dashed by a less than successful summit.

State Department officials say their only goal for the meeting is keeping the peace process going. Simply doing that forestalls a wide range of dangerous consequences that could arise if it breaks down, the officials theorize.

The officials, declining to be identified publicly, say they do not expect anything like a complete settlement to emerge. They attribute this in part to the fact that neither Begin nor Sadat has given any indication of willingness to compromise on crucial issues like sovereignty over the territory on the West Bank of the Jordan River which Israel captured in the Six Day war of 1967

One State Department official said the administration would be gratified if Begin were to recognize that Israel must withdraw from at least part of the West Bank in order to have peace.

Pope urges religious freedom; offers to serve world community

By EDWARD MAGRI

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul I Monday told U.S. Vice President Walter F. Mondale and other leaders of foreign delegations who attended his inauguration that the Vatican has no "miracle solutions" for world problems but is ready to contribute in any way it can "to serve the international community

Speaking in French at a brief audience in the ornate Sala Reggia of the Apostolic Palace, the new pope also appealed for religious freedom for Christian believers Allow us to count on your willing collaboration," he said. "We wish foremost that the Christian communities always enjoy in your countries the respect and the freedom which any religious conscience is entitled to and that a fair place be made for their contributions in the search for the common good.

After the group audience, Pope John Paul received Mondale separa-

Earlier in the day the pope gave separate audiences in his private library to the 13 foreign chiefs of state who came to attend his installation and the wives of those who brought them. They were:

King Baudoin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium, King Juan Carlos I and Queen Sofia of Spain, Grand Duke Jean and Grand Duchess Josephine Charlotte of Luxembourg, Prince Francois Joseph II and Princess Georgina of Liechtenstein, Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco. President and Mrs. Jorge Rafael Videla of Argentina, President Rudolf

Kirchschlager of Austria, President and Mrs. Patrick Hillary of Ireland, President Elias Sarkis of Lebanon, President and Mrs. Demetrio Basilio Lakas of Panama, Regent Captains Francesco Valli and Enrico Andreoli of San Marino, and the head of the Order of Malta, Angelo de Mojama di Cologna

The audiences took place a few hours after a three-pound bomb blew a hole in the gate and broke windows of the Lateran Palace, the pope's residence as bishop of Rome. But no one was hurt, and the pope was three miles away, at the papal apartment in the Vatican, where he lives.

Ten thousand policemen were guarding the hotels and embassies where the foreign delegations were

Meany urges 'rich and powerful' to make first sacrifice of battle

By OWEN ULLMANN

WASHINGTON (AP) - AFL-CIO President George Meany exhorted America's rich and powerful today to make the first sacrifice in battling inflation, promising that the nation's workers would be right behind.

In a companion Labor Day message, the AFL-CIO charged that the "tax revolt" sweeping the country actually is an effort in which wealthy Americans hope to slash their taxes at the expense of poorer citizens. Meany said that "in the past, workers have been called upon to sacrifice first to fight inflation. And they have. But the corporations and the bankers never did their share and there is no evidence that they will do so now

"I don't think it is too much to ask of those who have reaped the most from the American economic system — the wealthiest individuals, corporations and banks — to take the first step in combatting the economic evils of inflation," the labor chieftain said.

Meany said wealthy members of the society can do their part by halting price boosts, reducing interest rates and limiting profit margins, which, he said, are running at record

"Workers are among the hardest hit by inflation. That is why - on this Labor Day - workers are still willing to sacrifice as much as anyone else, as long as anyone else," Meany added. "But workers cannot and will not sacrifice alone

The workaday routine resumes tomorrow. But who needs reminding? Rather than a day of toil, Labor Day is meant to be a day for celebration of the most reliable imparter of livelihood — working for fair wages.

Today is a holiday, which is not to say it's holy at all. This is the day of the proletariat. The workers reign at least on paper.

It should be a day of no stress, perhaps recreation, lesiure and much rest. And the body and soul naturally need at least one day out of the week

The day of rest helps to keep the human machine fit. So, too, does vigorous workouts, exercise and, sometimes, work. But there seems to be some mix-up as to which of the weekend days is the Sabbath and when it begins. Hint: try sunrise of the seventh day

The National Weather Service recorded a total rainfall in the last 24 hours of .68 inch in Midland.

Spokesmen for the Midland Fire and Police departments today said they had received no reports of flood related incidents Sunday in the city. However, several access roads to Interstate 20 between Midland and Odessa were partially submerged as a result of Sunday's rain.

Large rain puddles which formed along some of Midland's streets today appeared to be the only aftermath of the rains. The northside fire station in Odessa reported rain accumulation of 1.1 inches. Odessa's southside fire station recorded .15 inch while the central fire station there listed .4 inch.

TESCO's rain gauge in Odessa measured .07 of an inch of rainfall.

There were no major flooding problems reported in Odessa. There was deep water at some intersections for awhile, one Odessa spokesman said, but it "didn't last too long.

Cities south of Midland, such as Big Lake, reported no rainfall, just patches of clouds scattered around. Lamesa experienced a sprinkle, while Andrews reported .48 inch at the airport and people in downtown Andrews today speculated there was a bit more.

The weatherman said the high for today and Tuesday should be in the middle 80s with the low tonight expected to be in the middle 60s.

West Texas vulnerable to 'hot' cigarette sales

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

Cigarette smokers, who are already hot about the high state v and federal taxes they pay to support their habit, might really get burned up if they knew that as much as $50 million of Texas cigarette taxes is going up in smoke each year.

If any Midlanders have purchased a pack of cigarettes lately that doesn't have the state tax stamp on it, chances are they've been had. The 18.5 cents that was supposed to go to the state has found its way into sales seem to be concentrated in the Dallas and Houston areas "where it's easier and faster to get rid of them," said Teaver. Officials consider West Texas to be "clean" when it comes to cigarette smuggling compared to the large metropolitan areas in the

Yet, they concede that several hundred miles of wide open border along the Rio Grande River makes the region rife for cigarette smugglers.

The border serves as a two-fold strategy for the smuggler: 1) Mexican brand cigarettes can be smuggled in and sold without paying the tax or 2) American cigarettes can be exported to Mexico to become exempt from the tax, and then re-routed back into the U.S.

Although there have been very few cases made by U.S. Customs and the Comptroller's Office along the West Texas border, Agent Walley Brown of the Comptroller's Office in Midland said recently that he suspects the region is vulnerable to what he construes to be a potentially invisible

"It's happening. I'm sure of that. It has got to be considered a problem. But just how much, nobody will ever know for sure," Brown said.

'Nothing has happened to substantiate that there is a problem. We really couldn't come out and say there is a big problem until we do a detailed investigation (of the border area). And we haven't done a detailed investigation yet."

Cigarette smuggling is regarded by most officials as a "victimless crime." The smoker actually pays the same price or less for his cigarettes. But an estimated $400 million in potential tax revenue for the high-cigarette tax states is going into the bill folds of quick-buck artists.

Masses of unstamped cigarettes are stolen from distributor warehouses or highjacked from shipment trucks. The cigarettes are then transported to high cigarette tax states such as Texas, New York (23¢), Pennsylvania (18e) or Florida (17e) - where they are eventually sold for the market price. Organized crime has been linked to selling of illegal cigarettes in vending machines.

"We have the potential in Texas for organized crime to get involved in cigarette sales. But hopefully we can stop it before it gets that far," Teaver "We are finding individuals rather than organized groups. I don't think the problem is as serious as it is in some of the eastern states. At least we haven't found a definite pattern yet to suggest that it's organized." Tim James, head of the state attorney general's organized crime task force, said "there's definitely some organized crime involved in cigarette smuggling and we're concerned about However, James said cigarette smuggling is a low priority on his agency's list, and added that the individuals involved "don't seem to be Mafia types. "We don't see the key organized crime figures dealing in this. Cigarette smuggling is small potatoes to them. They're involved in higher money rackets. Texas collected $288 million in cigarette and tobacco taxes last year. The money goes into the state's general funds. Official estimates of actual revenue lost to Texas through smuggling range from $20 million to $50

Successful sales of cigarettes by avoiding the tax can amount to nearly $2 in profit for every carton sold. But the seller risks an expensive penalty if caught.

For every carton, the offender must pay the $1.85 tax and an additional $1.85 for the penalty. Illegal sale of cigarettes is also punishable by a $25 to $200 fine, according to Texas law. It is legal to purchase cigarettes from low tax states such as North Carolina (two cents per pack). But it become a crime when one attempts to sell those same cigarettes in Texas without paying the tax.

Brown said most of the typical cigarette cases in West Texas involve the confiscation of cigarettes from Mexico brought into the country by tourists. According to federal law, the tourists are allowed to bring in up to 10 cartons of foreign cigarettes. But state law only allows two packs, the agent said. Teaver said U.S. cigarettes exported out of the country and into Mexico are probably a more favorite smuggling item along the border area than Mexican brand cigarettes.

"I think the quality of American cigarettes is going to be a factor there," he said

While cigarette smuggling may or may not be a problem in West Texas, Agent Brown said there is no evidence to suggest wide-scale illegal sales through vending machines or over

"We're pretty clean throughout the 17 counties in West Texas we cover. The only real problem that develops once in a while is an expired permit or finding someone selling cigarettes without a permit," Brown said. "In order to sell cigarettes in Texas, one must purchase a permit for $5. Everything is in line. Our office does frequent spot checks of vending machines and cigarette retailers to ensure that the laws are being observed. Teaver said that most cigarette dealers in Texas are willing to cooperate with the Comptroller's Office because they feel threatened by the illegitimate dealers who may drive them out of business.

He said unstamped cigarettes may be as rare as two dollar bills as far as the Permian Basin is concerned.

DPS troopers said Contreras' vehicle and another late model vehicle were westbound on the highway when the crash occurred

Both vehicles reportedly were traveling at a high rate of speed, the spokesman said. The other vehicle left the scene, said officers.

Labor Day 1978

Labor Day is here once again and the occasion is being observed across the length and breadth of the land

Members of labor unions most everywhere are celebrating in one way or another. The labor unions of this immediate area are staging their annual Labor Day celebration at Odessa, as is their annual custom.

But labor union members are not the only ones taking full advantage of the last holiday of the summer season. Other individuals and groups are enjoying outings, fishing and boating trips, pienics and what-have-you, while yet others are just relaxing at Many persons have taken to the highways for trips long and short. One Midland service station operator commented late Friday afternoon that motorists in unusually large numbers were "filling up" and "heading somewhere.

This is the way it is on Labor Day 1978, just as is the custom on most Labor Day weekends.

And this is as it should be

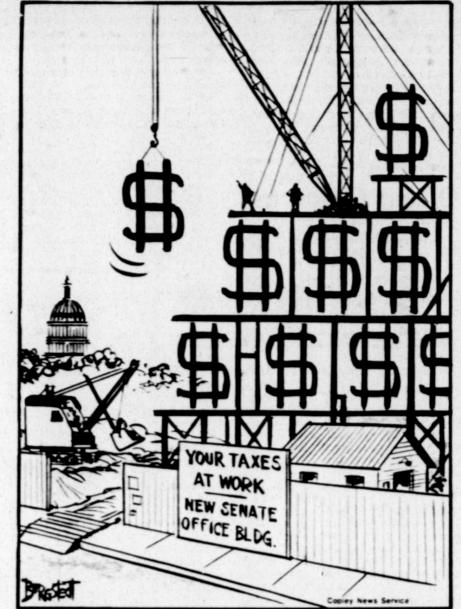

Americans enjoying themselves and the occasion.

The importance of the American working man and woman merits special attention, and today is the occasion for public recognition. The high standard of living enjoyed by residents of the United States largely is a result of the hard work of laboring personnel through the years. But we must not overlook the fact that although Labor Day originally was created to honor the blue-collar working man, it is upon the labor of all Americans in all fields of endeavor that the strength of today's economy is based, whether their work is done in shop, office, plant or the land.

This makes Labor Day a very special occasion, indeed, one worthy of celebration by all Americans.

And so, on this Labor Day 1978, congratulations and all best wishes are directed to members of labor unions and to all those persons in America who labor. May this be the very best Labor Day ever for everyone.

ORLANDO. Fla-I don't agree with pacifists, but I can understand the honest ones. War is madness.

The Soka Gakkai is a lay Buddhist organization in Japan and it has just published a book. "Cries for Peace," in English. The book is a collection of personal accounts of war experiences.

It is interesting and worthwhile to read, especially if you are old enough to remember World War II and the propaganda which painted the Japanese as inhuman monsters and us as the white knights.

In Japan, the propaganda was just as bad. Americans were pictured as such inhuman monsters that many families on Okinawa, for example, committed suicide rather than endure the torture they expected to receive from American troops.

It's hard for an American to accept the reality of a civilian family, including old women and babies. embracing one another a last time and then huddling around a grenade to die rather than fall into the hands of John

What emerges from the sad accounts of human misery is the common bond of humanity which is what the honest pacifist recognizes and so desperately hopes can be mobilized to Sotoku Dana, for example, was a school teacher on Okinawa. In 1944, he left with his family as a chaperone for 500 school children who were being evacuated in preparation for the expected American attack.

The ship, the Tsushima-Maru, was torpedoed by an American submarine whose commander. I'm sure, did not realize it carried a cargo of elementary school children, nearly all of whom perished.

Dana and his wife were among the few survivors, but their only daughter died in their arms during their ordeal on a raft. His mother was lost with the

There was great hypocrisy shown by many Americans during the flap over the My Lai massacre. They conveniently ignored the fact that there is no moral difference between shooting a mother and her baby with a rifle and blowing them to bits with a bomb.

We murdered millions of civilians in World War II and decorated the men wo did it, including Sen. George McGovern, the strange man from South Dakota who was in favor of the Vietnam War, then against it, and now wants to send troops to Cam-

War is not a problem of human nature. It is a problem of the nature of governments. Governments, not people, start wars.

The average Japanese no more understood why he was being asked to fight than the average American understood why he was being asked to

If you look at the world today. you wonder if it was all worth it. The Nazi government has been eliminated and that is a good thing, but the Soviet government is just as bad and more

We will never eliminate war for the simple reason we do not know hown to eliminate governments. Nor is it as simple as the one-worlders think. An international government is just as war-prone as a national one as the history of the United Nations demonstrates.

I don't know the answer. I have nothing against the average Russian and he has nothing against me, but when our respective governments tell us to kill each other, we will-and a lot of other people in the process.

Maybe an old priest I heard about had the answer. He said if they. drafted all men 40 years and older, including the leaders of government and business, there would never be another war.

The speech itself was evidence of the new image being developed by the Central Intelligence Agency

Adm. Stansfield Turner, head of the CIA, discussed CIA operations candidly before a large civic meeting held recently at San Diego. Calif.

Turner's appearance was part of a frank bid for public support to counter the negative criticism which has plagued the intelligence-gathering community over the last few years.

He outlined the system of checks and balances set up to monitor CIA activities pending congressional approval of new charters for the agencies which deal in secrets.

The president and vice president, two congressional oversight committees and a threeman Intelligency Oversight Board guard against the sort of abuses which were revealed during the Watergate probe.

Under an order issued by President Carter last January. government officials were made responsible for avoiding constitutional violations.

But even in the new era of openess, spies are necessary and secrecy must be protected if the nation is to function effectively in world politics.

There simply isn't any other

Turner believes "living in a fishbowl' may have its advantages, because the public will be able to balance achievement against recurring condemnation.

The candor and the close scrutiny of the intelligence community jeopardize the espionage role with the increasing potential for "leaks."

By allowing a little light to shine on CIA activities, however, Turner and his colleagues encourage public understanding of the continuing need for cloak-anddagger operations.

innovative businessmen today are

Yet the little enterprising businesses rather than the corporate giants have been responsible for such developments in this century as insulin, zippers, power steering, ball point pens and self-winding watches. This was in keeping with the tradition of individual inventive geniuses symbolized by the Wright Brothers. Alexander Graham Bell, Samuel Morse and Thomas Edison.

The superiority of small business research has been cited in a study that the Office of Management and Budget strangely never published. The study credited firms having less than 1,000 employees with almost half of the industrial innovations between 1953 and 1973.

According to the study, 16 small technology firms created 25,558 jobs for American workers during the 20year period because they came up with new ideas. Yet the budget office was advised that small firms were drawing inadequate funding from the government, getting less than 4 percent of the research and development layouts.

Spurred by the report, the budget office drafted a memo intended for all federal agencies, urging vigorous efforts to channel more of the research to small businesses "which are having difficulty in competing in the big leagues.

The memo added. "There is considerable evidence, that the small proportion of federal research and development work that is being awarded to small technologically based firms is contributing to a serious loss of high technology capabilities in our nation. It is important that we see some real progress within the first 18 months of the Administration."

This ringing call for a new deal was never sent to the agencies. Les Fettig. head of the office that was supposed to be directing the crusade, said the report and the memo were news to him when we asked what happened He explained that the documents "fell through the cracks' during the transition period between the Ford and Carter administrations.

Fettig said his office is alert to the problem and is taking steps to make it easier for small businessmen to get research and development help. Footnote: Investigation shows that the Energy Department under James Schlesinger has been perhaps the > worst offender in government in encouraging research at the little league level. The department claimed it awarded 10.3 percent of its research contracts to small operators in the 1977 fiscal year. The General Accounting Office has challenged the statistic. GAO auditors found the amount was about 2.6 percent. because the Energy Department has counted subcontracts that trickle down from the big corporations.

POSTAL PROPOSAL: An idea that could help reduce the postal deficit and provide the pay increase postal workers are demanding has been run up the flagpole for Postmaster General William F. Bolger. He seems ready to salute it.

Bolger is giving serious attention to the imaginative proposal of Miami public relations wizard Hank Meyer that the hundreds of thousands of mail boxes and postal delivery trucks throughout the United States be used as advertising space.

Meyer stressed in his private presentation to Bolger that he wasn't suggesting the Postal Service provide billboard-style space for promoting junk products. Under his plan, the advertising on the mail boxes and trucks would be restricted to institutional and public service messages subject to approval of the postal authorities

The sale of the postal space could save the taxpayers millions of dollars in direct and indirect fashion. Meyer pointed out that the Energy Department is on the verge of spending $1 million on a media campaign message in six cities to inform consumers how to save money with energy-conserving devices. The message could be spread for less money if the postal billboard system were adopted. Meyer's survey also showed that last year the Defense Department and Housing and Urban Development spent about $500,000 on newspaper advertising in eight U.S. cities: You are aware of media expenditures by U.S. Postal Service itself." he wrote Bolger Vacant space is available on an estimated 180,000 postal vehicles and 400,000 street deposit boxes, which could be rented for advertising.

"From the public's viewpoint, the benefits would be legion." Meyer wrote. "More people would be given access to information important to them in such areas as savings bonds. energy conservation, pollution control, housing, product safety, drugs and mental health, employment, recruitment, job training, education and dozens of other subjects."

INSIDE REPORT:

The Rep. Jack Kemp phenomenon sounds interesting

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

COLUMBIA, S.C. - A new escalation for Rep. Jack Kemp was reached here Aug. 24 just before the Buffalo, N.Y., congressman's speech to a fund-raising dinner when he talked to fabulously rich South Carolina textile magnate Roger Kemp and Milliken conferred in whispered tones at a cocktail party for big contributors before the dinner. Kemp revealed to Milliken what he had not made public: he is about to create a PAC (political action committee) authorized under law to collect contributions. Milliken quickly volunteered that he wanted to be among the first to contribute. No bridges were burned on either side. By setting up a PAC, Kemp does not commit himself to running for president or any other office. By contributing to Kemp's PAC, Milliken does not commit himself to a Kemp presidential campaign. Nevertheless. there are the seeds of commitment from each of them.

Kemp's PAC (to be run by broadcasting executive Frank Shakespeare) presumably will bring order to the congressman's coast-tocoast meanderings - without speechwriter, advance man, research aide or even coatholder. Although the PAC's ostensible purpose is to boost Kemp's tax reduction crusade, it is the essential first step toward seeking the Republican presidential nomination in 1980.

Milliken, long a quiet but bountiful contributor to conservative campaigns, was a major giver to Ronald Reagan in 1976. But he privately questions whether Reagan ought to run in 1980 at age 69. So Milliken is looking close at Kemp. some 25 years Reagan's junior, as the alternative. This was the pattern of two hectic days' campaigning by Kemp Aug. 24 and 25. while Reagan and Rep. Philip Crane (the first announced presidential hopeful) were vacationing. Despite Kemp's shortcomings in both technique and substance, there were twin surprises of volunteered presidential support for Kemp and lack of enthusiasm for Reagan. It is significant because Kemp, after starting the swing in Cincinnati, moved into Reagan country: South Carolina and Mississippi.

This is the Kemp phenomenon. While senior Republican collegaues in the House consider the former football quarterback as much to pushy, Kemp is the instant hero on the Republican banquet circuit by virtue of his tax cut gospel. He need not, as Jimmy Carter was still doing in 1975. explain who he is. No stop was free from spontaneous urgings for a Kemp presidential campaign. Kemp's charisma coexists with confusion. Without an aide to push him along, Kemp missed commercial flight connections from South Carolina to Mississippi. He flew into each stop oblivious of local situations and many local leaders. A potentially more serious problem is obsessive stress on tax reduction as the philosopher's stone to save Western civilization. During two days. Kemp carried on a non-stop economic seminar on tax reduction in speeches, press conferences, meetings with politicians, and in just plain bull sessions. Sooner or later, he must broaden his message.

Yet Kemp's monomania enables him to skirt social issues so pleasurable to hard-core Republicans but of dubious political value busing, abortion, crime. homosexuality, drugs. Furthermore. Kemp rejects demands by Republicans that his tax reduction to restore incentive be balanced by deep spending cuts.

"I believe we ultimately will need to spend more money." he told a Cincinnati press conference, for national defense and "to clean up air and water." In Columbia, S.C., while shocked Republicans gaped over breakfast, he committed heresy: declaring that "the cause of inflation is not unions;" praising John F. Kennedy's tax cuts and criticizing Herbert Hoover's tax increases; attacking the "meatax" $100 billion federal spending cut of Howard Jarvis and preferring something more humane, more compassionate, more positive.

At that South Carolina breakfast, Kemp was preaching specifically to Gov. James Edwards, trying to convince him a balanced budget is not the first priority. Edwards is definitely interesting. A Reagan stalwart in 1976, he still feels a strong pull to follow him. Yet, like Milliken. Edwards wonders whether a last hurrah is in the best interests of either Ronald Reagan or the Republican But why don't Edwards and Milliken opt for the more conventionally conservative Phil Crane instead of Kemp? That goes to the heart of the Kemp phenomenon. "He leaves the audiences with hope, not anger." explains one party leader. after listening to Kemp. That is so unusual a feat for a Republican that it explains why he has surmounted inexperience, confusion and a narrow-based idea to become, for now at least, a welcome excitement in an habitually drab political party.

With Wallace gone, Republicans making effort

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) - With no Wallace to oppose them for the first time in 16 years, Republicans have invested extra energy in this year's gubernatorial primary, hoping to make the quantum leap toward a two-party system in the Democratdominated state.

They will elect their standard bearer in a primary on Tuesday. A primary election also will be held in North Dakota.

Barred by law from seeking reelection, Gov. George Wallace will leave office next January after an unprecedented three terms, his hold on the office broken only by the death of his first wife, Lurleen, who was elected in 1966 as a Wallace stand-in.

When Mrs. Wallace died of cancer after only 16 months in office, she was succeeded by then Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer, who served out the 32 months remaining in her term.

When he ran in 1970 for a full term of his own, Brewer was defeated in the Democratic primary by Wallace. Republican gubernatorial contenders include Guy Hunt, a former probate judge; Bert Hayes, an Athens

State University professor; and Julian Elgin, a Montgomery cattle-The Democrats include Brewer, Attorney General Bill Baxley, Lt. Gov. Jere Beasley and seven others.

Governor to hear what pickers think of pay

BELMORE, Ohio (AP) - Striking migrant workers who say they will let the tomato crops rot in the fields if necessary plan to begin a 100-mile march to Columbus today to "tell the governor" what they think of wages in Ohio's tomato industry.

The caravan of about 25 to 50 striking tomato pickers will clear out of a tent city on four acres rented to the migrants by Belmore Mayor William Kelley, who said he was pressured by threatening phone calls into evicting the strikers by midnight tonight. Strike leaders say about 1,500 mi-grant workers in all have refused to harvest the crops.

Baldemar Velasquez, president of the Farm Labor Organizing Committee, said that by midnight the only thing left in the campsite will by eight 10-by-20-foot tents and a big top. Members of the Toledo-based committee say they want to take their campaign for better migrant labor wages to Gov. James Rhodes.

We want to tell the governor what we think of the tomato industry in his state, ... to see how bad the tomato industry is," said Velasquez, 31.

Until now the strikers have traveled from field to field, urging pickers to join them and let the state's multimillion-dollar tomato crop rot.

Farmers have responded by forming caravans of their own to stand between the strikers and the pickers, honking horns, sounding sirens and

The strikers plan to walk about 25 miles a day. They plan to reach Co-lumbus on Friday and hold a rally.

Velasquez said the decision to leave the tomato farms for the Ohio statehouse came because strike leaders felt they had saturated the two-county target area in northwest Ohio, the nation's second largest tomato growing region. California is the largest.

"The biggest thing we've done is take the people away," Velasquez

An estimated 8,000 migrants came to Putnam County to harvest the tomato crop. More than a fourth of them have already left, said Sheriff Bob Beutler. No figures were available for adjoining Henry County.

Some farmers agree they have been hurt by the strike, but many say they will be able to harvest most of the crop, despite the labor walkout. Some migrant crews remained, and local high school students and farm families began picking on Sunday as a two-week peak period started.

Velasquez, however, claims his movement has stunted the harvest on 40 percent of the more than 6,000 acres in Putnam and Henry counties

Two canneries, Libby, McNeil & Libby Inc. and Campbell Soup Co., are targets of the strike. The canneries contract with the growers, who hire the migrants. Midland College will have seven more days, Tuesday through Friday of this week and Sept. 11-13, for late registration.

Almost 2,000 students already have signed up and are attending fall semester classes at the college.

The college is closed today in observance of Labor Day. Tuesday is the final day for fulltime students to register for an many as five classes, according to registrar Dee Windsor. Students must register not later than Sept. 13, if they plan to take one, two or three classes.

Persons wishing to enroll for credit courses should visit the Office of Student Services, Administration Building, for registration activities. The office will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday this week, and Monday through Wednesday next week.

"A number of specialized courses, such as welding and auto mechanics have been closed due to limitations of space and equipment," Windsor said. "However, there are spaces available in most of the academic and vocational classes, both daytime and evening"

Specific information about classes may be obtained by dialing 684-7581, Extension 166, during regular day-time office hours.

Windsor said he expected final fall semester enrollment to be very near the record 2,181 students who were enrolled for the 1977 fall semester...

"shore leave!"

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY; I am a farmer in Francesville, Ind. Soon I will be out in the fields harvesting the corn I planted last May.

That doesn't sound like a very important statement for a farmer to make, but it's important to me because it means that I can again provide for my wife and three children — something I wasn't able to do before my recent cornea transplant operation.

Nineteen years ago I lost one eye in a farm accident. Then last year, lightning struck twice, and I seriously injured the other eye in another farm accident. This left me legally blind. I prayed for a cornea transplant, and God heard my prayers.

I am grateful to God, and to my very dedicated eye surgeon, Dr. Louis Girard of Houston, who performed the miracle of restoring my sight.

I wish I could thank the unselfish donor who thought beyond his own life and made provisions to pass on the gift of sight to a stranger. But since that is not possible, I pray that the Lord will bless the family of that donor who cared enough to share.

Abby, please continue to urge your readers to donate their eyes at the time of death so that someone who has lived in darkness will be able to see again, as I am now privileged to do.—PERRY NEIHOUSER

DEAR PERRY: Your letter made my day. And anyone out there who wants a donor card may obtain one free by writing to THE LIVING BANK, BOX 6725, HOUSTON, TEXAS 77005. They are a non-profit organization, so please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. God bless you, and He will.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I can't solve alone. I am very much attracted to a handsome New Hampshire state trooper I've seen, but I don't know how to meet him.

His license number is 206. Do you think if I were to speed and get stopped the next time I saw him, it might help? I don't want to be tacky.—DESPERATE IN KEENE

DÉAR DESPERATE: I don't recommend breaking the law in order to break the ice. If you don't want to be "tacky," you'd better find someone who knows him—and something about him. Your handsome No. 206 may have a wife and six kids

Sleep king gives advise on insomnia

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — When Norman Dine is awake, he's putting people to sleep.

"The inability to sleep well is universal," says the self-proclaimed Sleep King.

Insomnia, Dine says, does not discriminate between the rich and the poor or the famous and the not-so-famous. Anyone who has trouble releasing tension has trouble sleeping, he

Dine, who solved an insomnia problem of his own, has made helping people sleep well his business for 35

The 70-year-old Dine moved his customized beds and sleeping aids to his sleep center here from New York 10 years ago. And with Beth Shapiro, his "Lullabye Lady" and main sale-sperson, he devises new ways to establish sleep inducing conditions.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, Walter Winchell, Otto Preminger and Tallulah Bankhead have sought Dine's advice on sleep, he says, as have Nelson Rockefeller, the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower and thousands of other tired souls.

Eisenhower, Dine says, slept very little, making up for the lack of sleep with short catnaps. Dine says he provided the late general and former president with an inclined cot. Sleeping with the head down and legs up facilities circulation and improves the rest, he says.

"Rockefeller was a traditionalist. He did not want the newer type of bed. We made him an all horsehair bed that was very firm. It made him rest better," Dine says.

Miss Gabor said she had a "marathon mind" and couldn't sleep, Dine recalls. The Sleep King sold her a device which, through pitch, frequency and rhythm lulls the person to sleep. Milton Berle also bought a similar device to end his sleepless nights, Dine says.

For a veteran who hurt his back, Dine developed his ocean bed, essentially a tub filled with water kept at 98.6 degrees, body temperature. About 25 pounds of salt are added to the water to keep the sleeper bouyant.

Dine, who sleeps 5½ hours a day, studied mental hygiene at Columbia University Teacher's College, specializing in the problems of sleep. He also attended sessions at sleep research centers in Chicago and Pittsburgh.

"There are various ways to solve a sleep problem," Dine says. "You can take drugs, of course, but this is the worst thing you can do. You can learn meditation, and this is good, but it requires a great deal of work. Or you can find some mechanical means to set you at page?"

For two people in the same bed, Dine created his compatibility bed, customized to "reconcile" the different demands of each sleeper.

Removing board in floor a snap

Hardwood floors are usually tongue-and-groove. This makes for a neat floor because the groove of one board hides the nails holding down the adjacent floorboard. However, when a kid comes down the length of one of those boards with some toy that digs an eighth-inch deep rut, you've got troubles. Removal of such a single board is probably best done by setting a saw blade to the exact depth of the thickness of the board. Then saw down through the middle of the board. If the entire board is to be removed, cut the full length. If not, go beyond the damage on each end and make a cross cut. Then use a chisel to pry out the board, taking care not to damage the tongue or groove on adjoining boards. In replacing, cut the new board to length. Then saw away the bottom lip of the groove. It can now be placed down, angling the tongue in place and letting it rest neatly atop the tongue of the next board. It now can be secured with finishing nails. A slick and sneaky way to hide the patch.

Dear Al: I liked your hint of using a paint roller to apply hot water to wallpaper to remove it for repapering. Here's an additional tip. If you add a small amount of detergent to the water, it will act as a wetting agent and penetrate the old paper more effectively. It's still a tough dirty job at best though. - R.M.B.

A SUPER HINT - If I haven't convinced you that oil change and lube is a do-it-yourself project, take advantage of the next time you're at the service station for these chores. While the car is up on the lift, take an inspection tour underneath. That's a lot easier than trying to crawl under. Look at your exhaust system. Also inspect the tires. Unusual wear can tell you about other problems with, your car. Of course, some service station operators will look for these things but most do no more than what you ask for. (But be careful that you don't get dripped on...unless you have some very tricky way of removing oil and grease spots from your seersucker suit.)

My basement workshop is also our basement laundry room. This is good because there is a laundry sink that I can use for clean-up. However, this sink has no soap dish and I think you'll like the way I solved the problem. put the bar of soap into an old nylon stocking. Then I sewed a metal washer to the top of the stocking. This hangs over a nail that I positioned so the bar of soap hangs into the sink. When I need to clean up, the lather works right through the stocking. The water drips out into the sink when the soap is not in use. And it doesn't get in my wife's way when she's doing laundry.-S.A.

QUICK ANSWERS FOR HARRIED HANDYPERSONS:

Q. The ceramic tiles on the bathroom floor no longer shine because of many years of foot traffic. Could I put a coat of varnish or shellac over the tiles to make them glossy again? If so, which one?

A: I don't think either would work. However, there is the possibility of putting a clear epoxy coating on with good results. Be sure you follow all the directions to the letter. Epoxies aren't the easiest paints to work with and require totally clean and dry surfaces to properly adhere to ceramic tile. Talk to your paint dealer to be sure you get the proper type.

"The houses we live in reflect our personalities and values more than we realize," she says. "If we understand architectural styles, we can more readily appreciate different structural designs and what prompted them."

Miss Beauregard says that French, Italian, English and Spanish styles have influenced American architecture more than any others, although the earliest settlers in New England and Virginia built purely functional houses solely for shelter against the long, cold winters.

"Architectural styles mainly follow the social patterns of periods," she says. "As people in America made money, they wanted to spend it on grander homes. So in the pre-Revolutionary War period, the Georgian style emerged, named for King George of England. It featured signed because of a French tax - it seems that under Napoleon III, a special tax was imposed in France on each story of a building. Many years before, an architect named Francois Mansard had designed a special roof of two slopes to all four sides which covered two floors of living space but gave the appearance of only one. So enterprising Frenchmen resurrected the idea, put it on their homes and now could have three-story houses while being taxed for

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Women definitely turning from Pill

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have noticed that several of my friends have shifted away from the Pill. They seem to feel it is better to use a method that isn't as iffy-the diaphragm, for instance. Are other people getting a bit nervous about all the possible Pill problems? I just wondered where things are at these days .- Kitty M.

Dear Kitty: It is quite possible that this is a general trend. A recent report in the Journal of the American Medical Association said that there may be a definite movement away from oral contraceptives because of adverse publicity. The trend seems to be back to mechanical methods. The study covered 100 women patients at the outpatient clinic unit of the University of California at San Fran cisco Medical Center. Over half the women-53 percent-had changed contraception methods in the last two years, usually giving up the Pill. Sixteen of the the women said they weren't using any means of contraception. One was trying the rhythm method. And 24 relied on some form of mechanical barrier-diaphragm, foam or condom. Only 28 were using oral contraceptives, and 16 had an intrauterine advice. Eight had been sterilized. The remaining seven were past menopause.

The study was designed to find out women's attitudes about their reproductive and sexual roles these days and was conducted by Susan

Wall, a medical student with experience as a psychiatric nurse, and Dr. Nancy Kaltreider, a faculty psychiatrist. They felt that the pattraceptive change and the low percentage of oral contraceptive users compared to previous studies was of real significance.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Do cavities in baby teeth really make that much difference, since these teeth are going to be lost anyway? My mother-in-law was making a big fuss about this when she found out that our three-year-old had a couple of cavities. Isn't she just too fussy?—Jennifer Dear Jennifer: Taking good care of

The gental use of dental floss to get rid of plaque between the teeth is another important preventive routine that should be followed once the permanent teeth have come in

Midland 'rookies' do it again

By JERRY GARRETT ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — "We're just a rookie team, and we really tried hard," Al Unser said with mock modesty. "If we ever get warmed up, it's gonna be one heckuva show."

Unser made auto racing history Sunday when he easily won the $300,-000 California 500, completing a sweep of the 1978 Triple Crown events for Indianapolis car racing. Pancho Carter finished second, 15 miles back, with Gordon Johncock, who dropped out while leading six laps from the finish, third.

"I can thank a lot of hard working men for making this possible," said the 38-year-old Unser, who captured the Indianapolis 500 and Pocono 500 earlier this season. "There aren't any harder working guys in racing."

UNSER SINGLED out car owner Jim Hall of Midland, Texas, who is fielding his first Indy car after years of sports car racing, and chief mechanic Hywel Absalom, who has been with Unser for several years. Hall, in turn, praised Unser as "one of the few drivers capable of accomplishing what he did.'

Absent in all of their kind words, however, were any plaudits for their Asked about it, Unser conceded,

We haven't been happy with the car. I especially haven't been happy with Oddly, Unser's only victories this year have been in the three 500-milers on the U.S. Auto Club national championship schedule. Unser quipped that he hadn't won the shorter races because "they don't pay enough money.'

ACTUALLY, the car hasn't been up to it. In two races, the car came apart, causing serious crashes that almost cost Unser his life. Never has the car qualified better than fifth.

"I've got 'sandbagger' painted on my helmet for a joke, because everybody says I run with sandbags when I qualify, then throw them out for the race," Unser explained. "I can assure you, we don't try to qualify slow. I'd try to qualify on the pole position every race if I could."

Unser added, "We keep changing the car at every race, hoping it will get better. So far it hasn't. I'm positive we'll have a new car next year, at least we're gonna make a lot of changes in the one we have.'

IT WAS obvious as the California 500 began that Unser's car was no world beater, and certainly no race winner as long as Johnny Rutherford and a few others were running.

Fortunately for Unser, none of them were running at the end. In fact, only five of the original 31 starters were chugging around in the attrition-plagued event.

"I don't have any idea why every-body dropped out," Unser said. "The heat had nothing to do with it." Unser's main challenger, A.J. Foyt, was finished before the green flag fell; his transmission locked up. "I know what that car can do. I won the race with it here last year," Unser

Rutherford clearly had the race winner with his McLaren-Cosworth. One-third of the way through the race, Rutherford had a lap lead on everyone except Unser, who was 32 seconds

"I couldn't touch Rutherford."

Unser said. "There was no way what-soever I could keep up with him." BUT UNSER'S task was made easier when Rutherford, Danny Ongais and brother Bobby Unser dropped out with mechanical failures.

Unser had one problem that almost ended his race after only 200 miles.

"I picked up some debris on the track during a caution period. I tried to miss it, but hit it square. It tore the bottom of the nose piece completely off," Unser recalled. "When the green (flag) came out, the car was pushing so bad I knew I couldn't finish the "Lady Luck was with us, because the yellow came out a couple of laps later, and I got to go in and change the

Another crash late in the race almost cost Unser the race for a different reason. It allowed Johncock to unlap himself. Johncock chased down Unser, took the lead on the 177th of 200 laps and stayed in front until his Wildcat's engine died 18 miles from

Cowboys' kicker gets quick test

DALLAS (AP) - The newest of the Dallas Cowboys gets a quick pressure test tonight in the opener for the defending National Football League

Payton threat brings police protection

CHICAGO (AP) - A man called the Chicago Park District and threatened to "get" Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears about 11/2 hours before the National Football League team's season opener against the St. Louis Cardinals at Soldier Field, authorities say.

The threat was reported Sunday to police, who dispatched a seven-man tactical unit to Soldier Field and also notified its bomb and arson squad. The Bears also took special precautions to protect Payton, but a club spokesman declined to comment on them "for obvious reasons." In an incident which authorities believe was not related, a woman reported being struck in the elbow during the game by what hospital authorities said appeared to be a .22-caliber bullet.

Big lead not enough for Kite

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) - Tom Kite had a 5-stroke lead entering the final round of the $225,000 B.C. Open golf tournament and still wasn't satis-

"It's a good lead, but no lead is big enough until you're finished," Kite said. "I'd like to have a 6-shot lead going into the last hole.'

Kite shot a 3-under-par 68 on the 71-par, 6,915-yard En-Joie Golf Club course Sunday, opening a command-ing lead over Mark Hayes in quest of the $45,000 first prize.

Hayes fashioned a 6-under-par 65 after overcoming two bogies while Rod Curl was 6 strokes behind the former NCAA champion from Texas.

THE 28-YEAR-OLD golfer from Austin, Texas, has been playing on the tour since 1972 after sharing the NCAA title with Ben Crenshaw. He won $125,204 last year and came into the B.C. Open with $104,737 in earnings this year.

Just before coming to En-Joie, Kite lost the Hall of Fame Classic by 1 stroke. The margin of his defeat there was a 1-stroke penalty he assessed on himself for an infraction no one else saw. His ball moved after he placed it on the ground.

John Mahaffey, who won this year's PGA tournament after coming back from 7 strokes behind, was not conceding defeat after he finished Sunday with a 4-under par 67, 7 strokes off

"I'm not saying I'm completely out of the tournament yet," Mahaffey said. "I'm not wishing Tom Kite any ill at all. There is nothing that would make me happier that to see him win a tournament. But, I'd like to be in there and give him a run for his money.

Hayes moved into a challenging position in spite of playing what he said was a poor round of golf.

"I had an interesting day. I hit the ball worse today than yeaterday. I can't really understand why I shot a 65," said Hayes, who had six birdies and an eagle.

New generation taking over tennis

NEW YORK (AP) - A new generation of American female tennis tykes, showing no respect for their elders. are making high-pitched noises at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships. And people are listening.

Third-seeded Virginia Wade, the 33year-old former Wimbledon champion, was forced to notice Sunday. losing to Lele Forood, an unsung 21year-old from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

CHRIS EVERT, whose exploits as a pony-tailed 16-year-old at the U.S. Open seven years ago helped spawn the new wave of racquet-swinging girls, couldn't help but notice. Even though she scored a hard-fought 6-1, 7-5 over 17-year-old Caroline Stoll, Evert intimated that her days as queen of American tennis may be numbered.

"Women's tennis is much more interesting now," said the second-seeded Evert, seeking her fourth straight U.S. Open crown. "I'd love to dominate again ... If I could put everything else aside, possibly I could dominate again. But I don't know if I'm willing

Even if she became completely tennis-oriented again, teen-age sensations like Tracy Austin and Pam Shriver might push Evert down the tennis ladder, just like Chris did to Billie Jean King in the mid-1970s.

Austin, the 15-year-old No.5 seed, routed Maria Fernandez, Torrance, Calif., 6-1, 6-2 Sunday night. Earlier, Shriver, 16 years old and 16th seeded, overcame Evert's younger sister. Jeanne, 6-2, 7-5, and another youngster, 19-year-old Stacy Margolin, Beverly Hills, Calif., also moved into the fourth round, shocking sixth-seeded Dianne Fromholtz, Australia, 6-2, 7-

MARTINA Navratilova, the No.1 seed, was to play her fourth-round match today.

Other notable matches today included No.4 Vitas Gerulaitis against Andrew Pattison and No.15 John McEnroe against Colin Dowdeswell. Defending champion Guillermo Vilas. the No.3 seed, plays American Butch

Walts tonight. The men also provided an upset Sunday when No.5 Eddie Dibbs, a clay court specialist, fell victim to the faster, harder Deco II surface and Brian Teacher of San Diego, 6-2, 5-7,

Top-seeded Bjorn Borg rallied for a 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over unsung Bernie Mitton of South Africa in the third round, keeping his Grand Slam hopes alive. "I was lucky to survive a match like this," said Borg, again allowing his lucky beard to sprout around the

But Sunday really belonged to the swarm of young, eager American gals. It started with Shriver playing center court, while Evert was relegated to the less glamorous grandstand court.

"I guess I was kind of a big shot," Shriver said with a devilish grin.

Shriver is perhaps the spokeswoman for the group of youngsters bold, brazen and unwilling to take a back seat to anybody. "When I'm on top of my game, I feel I can be in a match with everybody and beat just about everybody," she said.

FOROOD, A part-time professional while she is seeking her pre-law degree at Stanford, expects to graduate next March and devote all her energies to tennis. Meanwhile, while cracking her books, she can daydream about the time she upset Virginia Wade.

"I'm too tired to be jumpy," said Forood, whose ancestry is Persian. "I'm really excited. I've never beaten anybody in the top 10 before. "Now I know I can beat them."

Does that include any woman play-

"I guess so," she said, showing the brashness of this new breed. "Why

Although she gave Evert fits with her "moonball," Stoll said she is not yet able to push aside the more experienced players.

"I don't think I'm ready for an upset like that yet," Stoll said. "Mostly I was just out there for the experience.

EVERT, SEEKING to become the first player in more than 40 years to win the women's title four straight years, still doesn't see her competitive fires burning brightly enough.

"It's not life or death whether I win or lose," she said. "It was before ... When it counted in the second set, I won the big points. But I also made a lot of mistakes. I'm not anywhere near where I want to be." Neither is Borg, winner of the Wimbledon and French titles earlier this year. To win the U.S. Open, he said, "I have to play a lot better."

By HAL BOCK

The Broncos, beginning the defense of their American Football Conference championship, started where they left off in the West, beating

Oakland, 14-6 in their opening game of the National Football League season Sunday. "It's about time people started be-lieving Denver is for real," said defensive tackle Lyle Alzado.

"I still don't think people believe us yet," added safety Bill Thompson. 'But I don't care.'

CLUTCH INTERCEPTIONS by safeties Thompson and Bernard Jackson keyed Denver's victory over its chief rival in the AFC West. Nine months ago, the Broncos beat the Raiders 20-17 to cop the title in a major upset. But if it was upsets you wanted the NFL was the place to find them Sunday.

Favorites like Miami, Cincinnati, New England and Minnesota tumbled like ten-pins on a day for the underdogs. The New York Jets stunned Miami 33-20, Kansas City edged Cin-cinnati 24-23, Washington kayoed New England 16-14 and New Orleans beat Minnesota 31-24.

Broncos 14, Raiders 6 Denver converted a pair of turnovers into touchdowns and rode a stubborn defense to its victory over Oakland.

Craig Morton lobbed a 5-yard TD pass to Haven Moses for the first score and the Broncos clung tenaciously to a 1-point lead, withstanding field goals of 33 and 22 yards by Errol Mann. Otis Armstrong plunged in for the wrapup TD in the final minute. "Our defense won the game for us," said Morton. It was Oakland's first regular season loss in Denver since 1962. Saints 31, Vikings 24

Turnovers spelled the difference for New Orleans with safety Tommy Myers intercepting three passes and returning one of the thefts 97 yards for the winning touchdown over Minneso-

Cornerback Maurice Spencer, who had an interception of his own, deflected Fran Tarkenton's pass into Myers' hands. "I kind of stumbled and all I could do was concentrate on holding the ball," said Myers. "I took one look over my shoulder and didn't see any of their fast players around and from there on, it was clear sailing. I didn't think Fran could catch me. Chiefs 24, Bengals 23

New Coach Mary Levy retrieved the Wing-T formation from pro football's moth balls and Kansas City rode it past Cincinnati. "It's basic football...run and block," explained fullback Mark Bailey, who gained 106 yards as the Chiefs set a club record with 69 rushing plays.

Kansas City built a 24-9 lead and then hung on for the victory as the Bengals scored two TDs in the final five minutes

Richard Todd stung Miami for three TD passes and Pat Leahy kicked four field goals as New York surprised the Dolphins.
Todd connected twice on bombs of 47 and 43 yards with wide receiver Wesley Walker. "Richard loves to throw long and now he has the confidence that he can do it," said Walk-

"I saw the openings and I went for them," added Todd. Falcons 20, Oilers 14 recovered fumbles. Second half field goals of 30 and 48 yards by Fred Steinfort supplied the winning points. Both three pointers followed fumble recoveries by Robert Pennywell and Lawrence.

Redskins 16, Patriots 14 Linebacker Brad Dusek took a recovered fumble 31 yards for the winning touchdown with 2:40 remaining as Washington stung New England.

Dave Butz stripped the ball loose from Horace Ivory and Dusek pounced on it, although not immedi-"I was playing outside and when I saw the ball hit the ground, I hesitat-ed," Dusek said. "I wanted to make sure I could pick it up on the run." Steve Grogan threw a pair of TD passes and Harold Jackson caught seven aerials for 124 yards.

Rams 16, Eagles 14 Rookie Frank Corral's third field goal of the game, a 46-yarder with just seven seconds left to play, car-ried Los Angeles over Philadelphia.

The Eagles had taken a 14-13 lead on Wally Henry's 57-yard punt return with less than six minutes to play. The Rams started their winning drive from their own 12-yard line with less than two minutes left.

"I can't believe it," said Corral, who also connected from 29 and 49 yards. "This is about the best thing that ever happened to me so far." Bears 17, Cards 10

Steelers 28, Bills 17 Terry Bradshaw threw a pair of TD passes while Franco Harris and Sidney Thornton rushed for two others as Pittsburgh defeated Buffalo.

Harris rushed for 96 yards, pushing his career total to 6,319, passing Floyd Little to become No. 8 in all-time NFL rushing history.

Browns 24, 49ers 7 Rookie Ozzie Newsome scored the tie-breaking touchdown on a 33-yard end around just before halftime as Cleveland sank San Francisco.

'The Bear (Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant) is going to give me hell for spiking the ball after the touchdown," said Newsome, "but it was a professional spike."

O.J. Simpson, making his debut with the 49ers, ran for 78 yards. "I've done better," he said.

Green Bay 13, Detroit 7 The Packers got field goals of 41 and 23 yards by Chester Marcol to defeat Detroit Quarterback David Whitehurst, nursing an injured shoulder, piloted Green Bay to its victory.

"He wasn't 100 percent before the game, but the doctor gave us the green light for him to play," said Packers Coach Bart Starr.

Chargers 24, Seahawks 20 Dan Fouts threw a pair of TD passes to John Jefferson, leading San Diego over Seattle.

Fouts found Jefferson with a 29yard pitch and a six-yarder while tackle Gary Johnson added another Charger TD, returning an intercepted pass 52 yards.

Angels happy bitter Knapp came back

By FRANK BROWN AP Sports Writer

Not many weeks ago, Chris Knapp was a bitter man - and a former pitcher. His interest in renegotiating his contract was not shared by the management of the California Angels, so - at 24 years of age

- Knapp announced his retirement. Knapp was to have started the Angels' first game after the All-Star break July 13, a home game against the Toronto Blue Jays. But he never showed; Don Aase pitched a four-hit, 5-0 victory in

TIME AWAY from the game changed Knapp's outlook. He applied for reinstatement and received it July 24. Since then, he has made seven appearances (six starts) and posted a 4-1 record.

The latest victory, a 3-1, one-hitter against the Blue Jays Sunday, never would have happened if Knapp hadn't changed his mind. But the right-hander looked ahead, instead of looking back, after one mistake cost him a perfect game.

The contract trauma, he said, "has blown over. I'm playing for right now — not next year. I'm trying to help us win a pennant."

He did his share Sunday, giving up a home run to Willie Horton leading off the second inning, but setting down every other Toronto batter in the triumph that kept California one game behind the first-place Kansas City Royals in the American

"As long as we win, that's all that matters," said (to a no-hitter). As far as results are concerned, this was my best game. But I may have had games where I've thrown better."

KNAPP COULDN'T have done much better Sunday. He threw 116 pitches, 81 strikes, and got offen-sive support from Bobby Grich's third-inning homer and Brian Downing's RBI single in the sixth.

Knapp did the rest, raising his record to 14-7 and pitching his sixth complete game of the year.
"I'm just anxious for my next start," he said, as though he'd never been away. "It's a good feel-

A three-run triple by Chris Chambliss and an RBI single by Cliff Johnson provided the runs and Rich Gossage pitched remarkable ninth-inning relief to preserve New York's ninth victory in 10 games. Gossage came on with one run in, none out and runners at second and third. Then, on 11 pitches, he struck out Tom Paciorek, Bob Robertson and Julio Cruz for his 21st save of the year.

Red Sox 11, A's 6 Jim Rice clubbed his major league-leading 37th homer and drove in four runs, powering Boston's East leaders past Oakland. The performance hiked his batting average to .330 and his RBI total to 118, fostering the usual speculation about his chances of winning the Triple Crown. "I'm not even thinking of going for the Triple Crown," said Rice, still 10 points behind Minnesota's Rod Carew in the batting race. "If it comes, it

pin lead

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — Ernie Schlegel moved into the lead and set his sights on his first Professional Bowlers Association championship after the fourth round of the $62,000 Quad-Cities Open Sunday night.

Despite winning only three and tying one of his eight matches, Schlegel took a 65-pin lead over Fred Jaskie.

Schlegel averaged 223 for his eight matches but his opponents came up with games of 222, 255, 244 and 231 to beat him.

His total pinfall, including 105 bonus pins, is Jaskie of Greendale, Wis., also won just three and tied one, and his total is 5,715.

"I really outclassed the field tonight," Schle-gel said. "If I had the right draw in match play, I'd have a 300-pin lead. Every one of my matches went down to the final frame and I lost three of them by less than 10 pins.
"If I'd had a couple of those matches out of the woods earlier, I might have been able to loosen up and string some strikes," he said. The 24-match play fi-

NL East race heats up

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

While most baseball fans have been paying close attention to the tight ennant race in the National League West, three clubs have begun to stage a wild shootout in the East.

The Philadelphia Phillies lost a doubleheader to San Francisco 4-1 and 3-2 Sunday, tightening both pen-nant chases. With Los Angeles losing to the New York Mets 8-5, the Giants moved within one game of the firstplace Dodgers in the West. The Phillies' lead in the East, meanwhile, shrank to two games over the rampaging Pittsburgh Pirates and just 1/2 over third-place Chicago.

The Pirates beat Atlanta 6-3 and the Cubs swept a doubleheader from Houston 3-2 and 4-2.

Giants 4-3, Phillies 1-2 San Franciscoo's Bob Knepper pitched "one of my strongest games this year," a seven-hitter in which he struck out nine, in the opener, and Jim Dwyer homered. In the second game, John "The Count" Montefusco pitched eight strong innings in gaining his 10th "We've got the best starting five in the league but we need all five," said Knepper, 15-9, who won his fourth straight. "I think that game should help 'The Count,' to know he's needed and that we're counting on him."

In the nightcap, Helty Cruz' soft single to center scored the tying and winning runs in the eighth inning. "Every time it looks like someone is going to step on us, we bounce back," said San Francisco Manager Joe Altobelli. Phillies Manager Danny Ozark was optimistic, despite his team's dwindling first-place lead. "I'm not displeased with our play because we played well in the four games here," said Ozark. "A break here or there and we could have won a couple more.' They won just once in San Francisco this weekend.

Pirates 6, Braves 3 Dale Berra's three-run, ninth-inning homer vaulted the Pirates to their 19th victory in the last 22 games

"It was like we knew it (the streak) was going to come," said Berra. "It had to come. It was just a matter of

and their seventh in a row.

Three weeks ago, the Pirates were 11½ games behind Philadelphia.

"I'll tell you, if we continue to play like this, it's going to be a runaway," said winning relief pitcher Kent Tekulve. "There's no way any team in baseball could keep up with us at the pace we're playing at right now," Willie Stargell got his 2,000th career hit, a single in the seventh, and Phil Garner added a three-run homer to the Pirates' attack.

Cubs 4-3, Astros 2-2

Chicago gained two games on Philadelphia by sweeping the Astros. Rookie Scott Thompson, a former Midland Cub, had a run-scoring single in his first major league at-bat and Greg Gross also drove in a run in the decisive seventh inning of the

"All I was thinking about was try-ing to relax," Thompson said of his first time up in the majors. "I really didn't have time to think about it and it's probably best that way.

Thompson pinch-hit a single, helping the Cubs win the nightcap. Willie Hernandez had saves in both games. Mets 8, Dodgers 5

Lee Mazzilli had two homers, two singles, drove in three runs and scored two for the Mets.

"It's the first time in the majors that I've hit home runs both ways," said Mazzilli, a switch-hitter, who ho-mered off Tommy John while batting right-handed and off Charlie Hough swinging left-handed." Mazzilli had a profitable trip to California. While in Los Angeles, he got a Hollywood screen test.

"I met the people at Paramount," he said, "and read a part in a screen test Thursday. I'll be back after the season to work on it.

Farmer has home with Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Ed Farmer, Ozark for not pitching him more. He released by the Milwaukee Brewers was traded to Sacramento, then a from their Triple A farm team three Brewers' farm club, after that seajust may be the pitcher they have sought all season to bolster their bull-

He certainly did Sunday after re-lieving Andy Replogle with none out in the fifth inning, two runs in for Texas, the bases loaded with Rangers and the Brewers clinging to a 3-2

Farmer promptly struck out John Lowenstein, retired Al Oliver on a grounder which allowed the tying run to score and got dangerous Richie Zisk on an inning ending fly to center. Sal Bando broke the tie with his 16th homer in the Milwaukee fifth, and Farmer finished with five innings of two-hit relief and earned his first major league victory since 1974 as the Brewers won 4-3.

Farmer, who had pitched for Cleve-land, Detroit and Philadelphia from 1971-74, was called up Friday from the Brewers' Spokane farm club. "Today is a dream. Three years ago this was just a dream. I'm here be-cause of God, my wife, Harry Dalton (Brewer general manager) a4nd George Bamberger," said Farmer, 28, who hurt his arm in 1975 and sat out the 1976 season, when he had bone spur removal and cartilage repair in his right shoulder.

THE BREWERS took a 1-0 lead in the second as Robin Yount reached on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on a single by Gorman Thomas. RBI singles by Yount and Buck Martinez off loser Jon Matlack (12-12) made it 3-0 in the fourth.

The Rangers got to Replogle, who had pitching 20 2-3 successive scoreless innings, in the fifth after singles by John Ellis and Juan Beniquez.

Harrah then singled to left and Hisle's throw appeared in time to retire Ellis at the plate, but he knocked the ball from Martinez' grasp and scored. Successive walks forced in another run and brought on Farmer.

Farmer was sent by Philadelphia to Toledo in 1974 after he had publicly criticized Phillies' Manager Danny and was released.

"I was working at a golf course in Los Angeles, driving a cart around, he said. "My wife was working, but it wasn't the life style I had become accustomed to in the big leagues. I said a lot of prayers and did a lot of soul searching."

SO FARMER called Baltimore outfielder Terry Crowley, a close friend, who recommended him to the Orioles. They sent a scout to California to watch him work out, but the workout never materialized.

"I was hit head-on while riding my bike," he said. "I went right through the car's windshield and almost got killed. I lost several teeth and had to have a partial bridge."

Stingley remains on stable list

CASTRO VALLEY (AP) — Wide receiver Darryl Stingley, his spirits buoyed by a visit from the owner of the New England Patriots, remained in serious but stable condition at Eden Hospital Saturday, the hospital re-

Stingley, 26, was injured on a tackle by Raiders' defensive back Jack Tatum during an Aug. 12 National Football League exhibition game at Oakland. He underwent surgery to fuse his fourth and fifth vertebrae. On Friday the daily hospital report said Stingley had developed lung complications that were "potentially life-threatening."

Saturday noon's report said: "His condition has stabilized and, although still serious, shows signs of encouraging response to his medical therapy. He remains in good spirits and is encouraged by the constant attendance of his family and particularly by the visit on Friday night and Saturday morning by William Sullivan, owner and president of the New England Patriots."

Cook wins

PLAINFIELD, N.J.

(AP) - John Cook says

winning the U.S. Amateur golf championship doesn't make him the best amateur golfer in the country. It only means he was fortunate enough to get hot at the self the best amateur golfer in the country, not

by a long shot," said

The 20-year-old Ohio

State student defeated

Scott Hoch 5 and 4 Sunday in the 36-hole match

play finals at the par-72,

6,865-yard Plainfield

"I just had a good

week, better than anyone else," Cook said. "Many years of hard work final-

Cook took an insurmountable five-hole lead

after the first 18 holes

Hoch was never in contention after that and pointed to Cook's 35-foot

birdie putt on the 10th

hole as the turning

"That got his adrena-

lin pumping so much.

After he made that, he felt he could make anything," said Hoch, a senior at Wake Forest.

It's time to grow up, Jimmy

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) - News Item: "Jimmy Connors Wins Opening Match in U.S. Tennis Championships, Spurns Press Interview."

News item: "Connors drops pants, exposes rear end to tennis crowd.

Aw, c'm'on, Jimmy. You're 26 years old — had another birth-day just last Saturday. You're a grown boy now. Remember those admonitions from the sisters when you were in parochial school? "When I was a child, I spoke as a child but when I became a man I put away childish things ...

WE COULD be understanding and forgiving when you were a teen-age firebrand, slinging racquets, belting balls at ball boys, snapping insults at umpires and spectators. "Just a hot-headed kid," we apologized for you. "He'll mature and be great." We've been waiting for that maturity for nearly 10 years. We haven't seen a sign of it yet. We all made excuses for you. What could you expect of a kid who never had a normal adolescence - always under the thumb of a doting grandmother and dominant mother, yanked from his childhood roots before he was old enough to shave and taken to the Pacific Coast to be programmed for tennis star-

WE DIDN'T even get overly exercised in 1974 when you were the best in the world yet refused to represent the United States in Davis Cup matches, allowing the mightiest tennis nation to be beaten by little Columbia. Some questioned your patriot-

In 1974 you were king of all you surveyed. You crushed Ken Rosewall in the final at Wimbledon, losing only six games. In the U.S. Open final at Forest Hills, you were even more devastating, beating Rosewall 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, "He'll rule tennis for the next decade," experts said.

THROUGHOUT this period, your deportment on the court failed to live up to class of your shotmaking brilliance. You continued to be the feisty, arrogant, thoughtless street fighter the tennis world had come to expect

"Our intention was to market Jimmy as a heavy — an anti-es-tablishment villain," said Bill Riordan, your svengali. "It made him a rich man.";

Then your world came tumbling down. At the insistence of your mother, Gloria, you broke with Riordan, your longtime business manager and advisor. Your engagement to Chris Evert was shattered. You disposed of your longtime coach, Pancho Segura. The death of your father was a blow. THE "CONNORS Era" of ten-

Ontario 500 resembles Labor Day on Highway (Continued from 1B) gallons to go 50 miles. He didn't make it. He had to turn the boost up to hold off Al Unser. The boost makes a car go faster. Also, fuel. Johncock was getting about 1 mile to the gallon when the tank went dry 7 laps short of the finish. AL UNSER has now won three 500mile races this year. No one ever won the sprinters wear each other out and saves his run for the stretch. He spent most of Sunday's California 500 chasing Johnny Rutherford but not too hard. He inherited the lead when Johnny's car, as Al knew it would, headed for the garage instead Unser husbanded his lead but, when Gordon Johncock began to persist in trying to get around him, Al let him. That was on Lap 178. Unser's attitude was, be my guest. He knew Johncock was being mile-wise but fuelish. His own plan was not to turn the boost in his Cosworth engine only with 5 laps to go. As it turned out, he didn't have to. When Johncock's car coasted to a stop with a dry tank, Unser had a 20-mile lead with 15 miles to go.

only 5 out of 31 cars finished, Al Unser was, as usual, one of them. In a race where 26 out of 31 cars could not even be given a 500-mile guarantee — even with no-fault accident insurance - Al Unser could be given the same insurance rates as a schoolteacher in Alta-Stearns set mark more wrecked vehicles than the Normandy beachhead. A five-car race is not high on any list of My-Greatest-Days-In-Sports but if everybody knew how to conserve on gas and engines the way Al Unser does, Detroit and Chevron would be in big trouble. Around town, Al probably still has a 1929 Essex in mint condition. The only thing that can beat Al Unser in a 500-mile race is rain after 250 miles.

UNSER'S THEORY is, it's better to be first than fast. In a race in which LOS ANGELES (AP)

The speed was slowed by seven caution flags, five for accidents.

Salt Walther and Phil Threshie collided early in the race. Tom Sneva hit the wall at the 50-mile mark. Mike Mosley smashed at the 200-mile mark, and Cliff Hucul and Steve Krisiloff tangled with 100 miles to go. Walther and Threshie received minor

Carter, blackflagged later because something else was falling off his car, and damaged in a third instance by a piece of debris which wedged under his car, was asked if he was happy to finish second in view of his trials during the race.

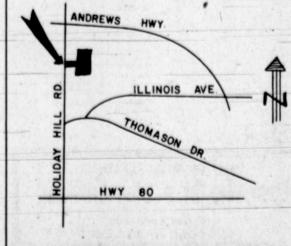

"No," Carter said, "I was just happy to finish."

Copley News Service
PUNA DISTRICT, HAWAII — The Earth is hot to the touch. A few feet from the highway, columns of steam float free from fissures in the lava. Hawaii's geothermal potential is visible out 30 miles from the city of Hilo. For centuries settlers used the steam for cooking and healing.

Today the county, state and federal governments are embarking on Hawaii's first geothermal power

In a clearing in the middle of an undeveloped subdivision, Hawaii's test well shoots off a tall, billowy cloud of steam. Drawing hot water from a depth of 6,450 feet, the well produces a resource so clean the excess water can be used to irrigate nearby papaya trees.

In the next four years, the federal Department of Energy, the state and County of Hawaii, and private sources have contracted to spend $6.8 million to build a generating station that by 1980 will produce 3.5 megawatts of power - enough to serve about 3,500. persons.

The project also includes a testing facility to determine the size of the Kapoho Geothermal Reservoir. Preliminary estimates indicate the reservoir could easily produce 500 megawatts of electricity for 100

Project manager Paul Yuen, an engineering professor at the University of Hawaii, said his state must move faster to encourage geothermal development. 'Since Hawaii has no oil, coal, minerals or other resources, there have never been any laws dealing with geothermal power," he said.

Regulations are being written. At the Puna well site, the unleashed

Company organized

Robert E. Tucker Jr. and George G. Tucker of Midland and John C. Snyder of Fort Worth announced the formation of Tucker & Snyder Exploration, Inc. to pursue oil and gas exploration in the Rocky Mountains.

The new company has acquired 312,-000 net acres of undeveloped leases previously owned by the founders in Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Colorado. It intends to pursue an acrtive program of acquiring leases and assembling exploration projects...

The company is joined in its ex-ploration efforts by a group of individuals and corporations in a joint venture arrangement and in a limited partnership arrangement formed with the aid of the investment banking firm of Roton Mosle Inc.

These arrangements provide an annual budget for acreage and seismic work of approximately $5 million which it is hoped will in turn generate some $20 million in annual drilling expenditures.

Robert Tucker and Snyder serve respectively as chairman and president, while the department heads consist of Maynard E. Robertson, vice president-land, J.P. Perry, geo-physical manager: Morris A. Miceli, geological manager: W.C. "Bill" Gilmore, operations manager: and Rodney L. Waller, vice president-administration/finance.

Exploration offices are in Denver, while the Administrative offices are in Fort Worth.

steam is muffled, but the roar still draws complaints from nearby property owners. Hydrogen sulfide emissions are offensive on the ground, but researchers flying above the well in a light plane detected only minimal amounts of the gas.

At the bottom, the well temperature is 676 degrees — making it the hottest geothermal well in the world. If state law can be written to encourage development of the Kapoho region, Hawaii may be on its way to energy self-sufficiency.

However, Hawaii,s demand for power is not great. Bill McKenzie, manager of the Hawaiian Electric Light Co., said he agreed to buy the 3.5 megawatts of power produced even though his customers do not need it yet.

A field trip sponsored by the Geothermal Resources Council at the close of its annual meeting here, featured some of the state's most spectacular volcanic regions.

The most striking aspect of Hawaiian Volcanoes National Park is the Kilauea Crater. The last lava flowed in 1974, but the stark, black floor perpetually seethes and boils with lava flowing close to the surface. Steam shoots from fissures in the lava. Where the sulphur content is high, patches of brilliant yellow contrast with the dark, brittle lava.

Brave hikers cross the craters, treading carefully on the hot rocks. From the massive Kilauea Crater, the Mauna Loa volcano rises 13,680 feet above sea level in the center of Hawaii.

The craters' lava tubes and desolate plains create an eerie, otherworldly atmosphere. Layer upon layer of cooled lava allow observers to watch the Earth's evolution.

Yet only a few miles away from the steamy craters, dense fern groves, flowering fuchsias and heavy underbrush thrive.

Blaze hits platform

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) - Fire erupted on a Marathon Oil Co. oil and gas well platform in the Gulf of Mexico, forcing 45 crewmen to evacuate.

No injuries were reported. Wes Westgaard of Lafayette, the company operations coordinator for the Gulf Coast, said emergency valves snapped shut on the platform's 19 natural gas and five oil wells when the blaze started Friday.

"There is no pollution threat," he Westgaard said a firefighting crew extinguished the flames in the pro-duction area two hours later and then struggled with a fire in the platform crew quarters.

The platform stands on steel legs in water 320 feet deep about 130 miles southwest of Morgan City.

When the fire erupted, posing the threat of a lethal explosion, some of the men slid to safety in an special emergency craft called a survival capsule. Westgaard said others got away in a crew boat which was moored to a platform leg.

Madison takes post

Bob Madison of Odessa has been named vice president of Membership for the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, reports Al Dillard, president of the organization.

Madison is a long-time resident of Odessa and has been news director of KOSA-TV in Odessa and KMID-TV at Terminal.

Madison's initial duties will be to conduct an extensive membership frive for PBPA under the director of Ben Alexander of Hobbs, N. M., Membership chairman, and Ed Thompson, executive vice president of the Asso-

Madison joined PBPA after a decision by the board to expand the scope of the association in national, state and regional matters affecting the oil and gas industry as well as the general economy of the Permian Basin.

Company to relocate

DENVER-Phoenix Resources Co. announced that the Company's headquarters and staff will be relocated from Denver, Colo., to Oklahoma City with the move expected to be complete by early Fall.

The recently elected board of directors approved the second half 1978 capital budget of approximately 7 million dollars.

The company announced the resignation of Paul R. Stewart as president and reported he will continue to serve as a director.

James A. Kishpaugh, vice president of engineering and operations from the company, has been elected to secceed Stewart as chief operating officer. Prior to being elected a vice president with Phoenix on August 4, 1978, Kishpaugh had been manager of engineering and planning for Texas International Petroleum Corp. and prior the that had been associated with Exxon Co., USA, in various ca-

Divisions organized

Houston Oil & Minerals Corp. has announced a decentralization of the company's oil and gas operations into operating divisions,.

Midland is headquarters of one of the units, Western Division, and Vincent D. Loftis has joined kthe company as general manager here. The other divisions are Texas Division, headed by R. D. Patrict III, vice president and general manager; Eastern Division, headed by C. J. Waves come into play FENCE FENCE 15.55. 5 ft. 52.75, 4 ft. in energy source field

By JOHN STANSELL Copley News Service

LONDON - A scheme for extracting energy from the waves by means of devices which are likened to nodding ducks is being developed in Brainchild of a Scottish engineer, Stephen Salter, of Edinburgh University, it is one of four main ideas for obtaining power from the sea on which work is going ahead under a grant from Britain's Department of Energy.

Tests are being conducted on Loch Ness in conjunction with a commercial company, Sea Energy

The scheme makes use of a long string of 20 ducks arranged to produce electricity to power test loads on the nearby shore. Each duck is shaped rather like a cam or teardrop, with the base down and the "beak" upward; in a sea the duck oscillates out its axis and its relative rotation in relation to the spine on which it is mounted is used to produce useful

One of the methods of extracting power from the system now being considered is for the ducks to ride on radial piston pumps that produce hydraulic oil at high pressures, which in turn can drive pumps at speeds compatible with fairly conventional electricity generation.

As the optimum wave energy densities are well offshore, an efficient method of transmitting the energy back to the land is essential.

Profits are made by the use of Existing experience with high voltage current links, the latest of which went into service between Norway and Denmark last year, makes this technology attractive.

Another project being tested is the hinged raft system, brainchild of Sir Christopher Cockerell, best known for his invention of the hovercraft.

In conjunction with a small company called Wavepower, Cockerell is promoting an arrangement of hinged contouring rafts, the relative movement of which, in a seaway, produces a slow oscillation that gives very high torque.

A string of three of these rafts was anchored in a test location at the entrance to the Beaulieu River in the Solent, off southern England. The device will generate a few kilowatts of energy in the form of hydraulic pressure which will be put to an experimental use on the nearby shore either for heating or electricity generation.

In full scale commercial models the energy could be extracted by methods similar to those being proposed by Salter.

Two other concepts receiving funds from the Department of Energy are called Russell's Rectifier and the oscillating water column.

Russell, director of the Water Research Station, makes use of a series of opening and closing gates which directly rectify the waves. The head of water achieved in this way is used to drive a low head water turbine and thus produce electricity.
