Summit ends; Result vague

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — The Middle East summit — its outcome still a mystery — moved on Saturday toward a dramatic end as President Carter made a final effort to draw Egypt and Israel together on issues that would keep the peace process alive.

Carter suggested that the conference be ended late Sunday, and Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Israel's Menachem Begin agreed, said White House press secretary Jody Powell.

"It simply grew out of a conclusion everyone had come to that these issues had been thoroughly aired," said Powell, who has served as spokesman for all three governments during the nearly two-week-long talks that have been cloaked in secrecy.

As the final countdown began, Carter set up separate meetings with President Sadat and with Prime Minister Begin.

Sources close to all three delegations reported privately that the U.S. president was conducting intensive and potentially meaningful discussions.

An Egyptian official said the negotiations now were "very delicate."

Carter met in late afternoon with Sadat in Aspen Lodge, the U.S. president's headquarters, for 2½ hours. The separate meeting with Begin was held at the same location after the end of the Jewish Sabbath at sundown.

Begin canceled tentative plans to attend a performance of the Israeli Philharmonic Orchestra at the Kennedy Center in Washington.

Briefing reporters at midday.

Powell said there was no certainty that Sadat and Begin would agree even on a formula for keeping negotiations going beyond the summit.

"There are still outstanding differences in important areas," Powell said. "It is not possible to say ... whether efforts to resolve the differences will be successful."

The final intensive effort to reach an accord came in the 11th day of the unprecedented summit, which Carter arranged when he feared the peacemaking process aimed at ending a 30-year-old dispute was on the verge of a total breakdown.

Sources said the final negotiating efforts were being made on three fronts:

—Within the U.S. delegation itself, Carter and Vice President Walter F. Mondale met in the morning with the American negotiating team. The lower-level officials then continued their deliberations.

—An afternoon meeting between Carter and Sadat.

—A session between Carter and Begin after the conclusion of the Jewish Sabbath, which the Israeli prime minister was observing, at sundown.

Powell said he felt a three-way meeting among Carter, Sadat and Begin was likely before the conference is concluded. The three leaders have not met together face-to-face since Sept. 7 — the second day of the summit.

Among the items under discussion in the final hours was a summit-end-

Floats, pretty girls mark celebration

Lester Davis pulled a 100-peso coin, about the size of a silver dollar, from his pocket.

"Say, you ever seen anything like this before?" he said to Emilio Acosta of Andrews, as he handed him the coin to feel, to look at and to return. He hadn't. "That's pure silver," he said of the cien peso coin he picked up in Mexico.

He was obviously proud of the 1978 minted coin. The occasion of its informal showing was Sept. 16 — the time for celebrating Mexico's Independence from Spain early in the 1800s. And the place was in the carnival and food and beer booth atmosphere on the grounds of the Midland County Exhibit Building.

Earlier in the day was the the mostly Chicano parade that passed through downtown Midland in its three-mile route earlier Saturday afternoon. It was made up of floats covered by pretty girls in gay regalia, older women shaded from the beaming sun with dainty umbrellas, horsemen wearing sombreros and purely Mexican charro outfits, about 50 motorcyclists revving their engines, Edison Freshman School bandsmen clad in blue jeans and close-to-matching T-shirts, and cars and vans and other vehicles. Also in the parade, organized by the Eastside Lions Club, were La Fiesta Queen, Lena Jakel, and the princess, Cremlinda Carrasco, and the dutchess, Leticia Rodriguez.

Hundreds of folks, from tots to oldsters, looked on as the parade moved down the streets and slowly rounded corners. The Mexican colors were flying.

"Viva Mexico!" yelled Emma Olgin, as she danced on the Las Palmas Ballroom float.

Bystanders clapped, as floats and gala dressed pretty young girls and women and handsome boys and men passed by.

"Yeah, we sure did (enjoy the parade)," said Eva Rendon, who was holding her 1½-year-old grandson, Ray Rendon. "If it hadn't been so hot, we would have enjoyed it better. We got sleepy," she said in nodding to little Ray.

This time next year, he's going to be big enough to be a charro, a Mexican cowboy, in the parade. Maybe he'll be one of those horses and ponies the two street-sweepers were following. (One of them was pulled off the parade route after its electric fuel pump went on the blink in downtown Midland.

Many of the parade watchers promptly high-tailed out to the County's Exhibit Building for the carnival and festivities, which resume at noon today and continue until around midnight.

Davis put the silver cien-peso back into his pocket and continued to help "work" the barbecue booth. Other booths were selling homemade gorditas, menudo, tamales, burritos, tacos, nachos and other just-across-the-border food. American hamburgers and beer on tap and in the can.

It was getting late into the afternoon, and the dancing, talent acts,

Big Spring dilemma: To drain or not to drain

By MARK VOGLER
R-T Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — While many West Texas cities are mulling over methods of gathering more water, there's a controversy in Big Spring over a proposal to drain a lake.

One Mile Lake, a shallow natural body of water in the city's northwest section, has been the subject of hot debate between homeowners who live near the lake and local environmentalists for more than a year.

Some of the residents take the position that the lake is an "eyesore," health hazard and flood problem as long as it exists. On the other hand, environmentalists argue that the lake is none of these, but rather an asset to the community in that it attracts waterfowl, rare and otherwise, to the area.

Some call the lake a mosquito-infested swamp, while others envision it as eventually a bird sanctuary.

One thing stands clear of debate: Drainage of the lake will enable a Big Spring property owner to sell land, now underwater, for development purposes.

The fate of the lake appears to be a dead issue at present since the city already has $165,000 in federal funds and has awarded a bid for a drainage improvement project along Beal's Creek, which also would include draining One Mile Lake.

However, Bebe McCasland, one of those responsible for holding up the project last year (by joining others in alerting the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development that the city may not have done a thorough job in preparing an environmental review record), has not given up hope.

"We have tackled this from an environmental aspect so far. But there are other things to consider, and I don't think the issue has been settled yet," Mrs. McCasland said recently.

"We will do all we can in order to stop the drainage of One Mile Lake. Nobody has yet questioned the fact that here is federal money being given to a local community to affect state water."

"One Mile Lake is a small puddle compared to everything else, but it is an important puddle to me. I can see beauty in it, and I'll fight for it."

Mrs. McCasland, a member of the National Audubon Society, said she tried to purchase the land in order to develop a wildlife refuge.

However, Dollie Decker, owner of 145 acres of land covered by the lake, seemingly wants to sell the land to another prospective buyer so it can be used for industrial purposes.

The question of whether federal funds can be used to improve private property depends upon the project involved, according to a spokesman for the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

In the case of funds for the drainage of One Mile Lake, the money would be justified since the lake constitutes a possible health problem for the community and its alteration would positively affect Big Spring, the spokesman suggested.

If draining the lake were not considered a correction of a public health problem, then the use of the federal funds might not be entirely proper, the spokesman added.

Defenders of Wildlife, a Washington, D.C.-based animal protection group, suggested in a June 12 letter to the Regional Planning Commission that industrialization of the lake area did not seem feasible because the land is in a flood plain, and flood insurance requirements make such developments difficult to justify.

"The natural lake could be an asset to the neighborhood instead of the eyesore it is now. Instead of draining One Mile Lake, however, the environs

Construction booming, except for one block

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
R-T Staff Writer

"That downtown block looks like London did after it was bombed in World War II," a Midlander commented recently.

While construction booms, and buildings rise in downtown Midland, one block stands out.

Bounded by Wall and Texas avenues and Loraine and Main streets, the block's only signs of life are a few stores inhabiting one small southwest corner.

The rest of the block is characterized by broken pieces of concrete, unlevelled land and numerous weeds, which mix with the cars parked haphazardly in its confines.

This is the block designated for the exhibit center, the focus of a $2 million bond issue passed by Midland voters in December 1976.

After 21 months, construction still has not started and a suitable quip might be: "The natives are getting restless."

Since the bond issue passed, cost of the building has increased from $1 million to $1.25 million, plans have been changed by the Midland City Council and a decision on a proposed park with underground parking still has not been made.

Rusty Arnold, an architect with Frank Welch and Associates who is drawing the plans, recently gave reasons why things are moving slowly.

The Midland firm is working with a San Antonio company, Ford, Powell and Carson, Arnold said. Some have questioned the reasoning behind this action, and raised the question of whether the second firm doesn't add to the cost of the building.

G. Thane Akins, city council member assigned to work with the architects, said it is common procedure for one architectural firm to secure a second when working on large projects.

The cost of the second has not increased the price on the project, he said. "The second firm is covered under the (fee for the) original architect," Akins added.

Although the bond issue was passed in December 1976, Arnold said, the city did not sign a contract with the Frank Welch firm until May 1977.

"It took time to get a contract drawn up and an agreement signed," he said.

What the architects have on the drawing board now is different from what the voters passed in 1976. The original concept is still there, but

Texas trailing Minnesota in Great Gobbler Gallop

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's entry in the Great Gobbler Gallop of 1978 ran away with first-place honors Saturday in the first leg of the sixth annual Minnesota-Texas race.

The Minnesota gobbler, named Paycheck, finished almost two minutes ahead its Texas rival over the 150-yard course down Main Street in this southwestern Minnesota city.

Paycheck takes a 1:54.09 lead over "Rudy Begonia" into the second heat Oct. 8 at Cuero.

Texas. The winner is determined by the over-all time for the two races.

Paycheck was clocked in 47 seconds flat. The Texas bird apparently became confused and ran into the crowd before finally reaching the finish line.

Worthington holds a 3-2 lead over the Texas city in the annual showdown for the title of Turkey Capital of the World.

Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., served as starter for the race, one of the attractions at the 38th annual King Turkey Day.

Byrd says fight for gas bill 'over the top'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd declared Saturday that the long fight to win Senate passage of the hotly contested natural gas pricing bill is "virtually over the top."

The West Virginia Democrat said his "conservative" count lists 49 votes in favor of the compromise bill that President Carter has called a crucial part of his energy package.

Byrd said 37 senators are lined up against the measure and 14 senators are "question marks."

The latest Associated Press survey found 48 lawmakers for or leaning in favor of the bill, 39 against or leaning against and 13 undecided.

The Senate has scheduled a show-down vote on the gas bill Tuesday when opponents will seek to return the measure to a House-Senate conference committee for redrafting. If that fails, the final vote on the bill is scheduled for Sept. 27.

At a news conference Saturday, Byrd was even more confident about defeating the motion to recommit the bill than he was about winning the final vote. The senator claimed he has 55 solid and eight possible votes against sending the bill back to committee. It would take 51 votes to recommit the measure.

"Recommitment of the gas bill means no gas bill," Byrd said, noting that Congress was aiming for an Oct. 14 adjournment. He said a reworked natural gas bill could not be approved in that short a period of time.

He also said opponents agreed to rule out a filibuster against the bill.

The natural gas bill would lift controls on new natural gas in 1985 and permit a steady increase in prices between now and then.

The bill has been criticized by both consumer groups as being too expensive and by industry groups as unlikely to increase supplies of natural gas and overly complicated.

The House-Senate conferees estiimated in their report that the compromise bill is expected to boost an average homeowner's gas bill by $13 a year by 1985. However, liberal critics have predicted a far heavier burden on consumers. The conferees also estimated that the legislation would send $9 billion in added revenue to producers of natural gas by 1985.

Nicaraguan guard recaptures city

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Government commandos broke through rebel defenses in fierce overnight fighting and recaptured Leon, Nicaragua's second-largest city, held for a week by guerrilla-led rebels, a national guard spokesman said Saturday.

In this capital city, meanwhile, an American source said Washington was considering further pressure on President Anastasio Somoza to force him to accept outside mediation to halt the bloodshed.

National guard spokesman Col. Aguilera Aranda Escobar said government troops in Esteli, a second major rebel stronghold in northwestern Nicaragua, "cleaned out snipers who caused a great loss in lives and property."

The insurgents, battling to oust Somoza, took control of Leon, 56 miles north of this capital, last Saturday. Esteli, a city of several thousand 60 miles east of Leon, has been in rebel hands for two weeks.

Somoza's ground and air forces launched a major offensive Friday to end the rebel hold on the two cities. Government jets and prop-driven fighters and helicopter gunships pounded rebel barricades in Leon from the air Friday and armored vehicles moved in on the ground.

Aranda Escobar refused to give casualties from the fighting, but Red Cross sources said the death toll was high on both sides.

There was no independent confirmation of the victory claims by Aranda Escobar.

Somoza, who has imposed military censorship on all reports by foreign and domestic journalists, barred reporters from entering either city.

The insurgents are led by a nucleus of leftist Sandinista guerrillas but represent a wide political spectrum opposed to Somoza's rule.

Church groups in this predominantly Roman Catholic nation made public Saturday an open letter to President Carter asking him to halt all aid to the Somoza government to force the president's resignation.

The American informant in Managua, who asked not to be identified, said, "The opposition has indicated it would accept outside mediation but the government appears to be stalling for time. Apparently it feels it can control the insurrection militarily if it has time to do so."

"The United States will pursue its efforts to mediation," the source said. He would not say what type of pressure might be brought to bear on Somoza.

Search in two states continues for escapees

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP) — Authorities searched near Covington, Ky., and in the north Arkansas woods Saturday for two Tennessee prison escapees who have eluded capture since Wednesday.

An elderly Lonoke County couple held hostage by one of the escapees, Ronald Lyons, 30, was released unharmed in Kentucky and returned home Saturday.

The manhunt for Lyons was concentrated in Kentucky and Ohio Saturday.

Lyons and Larry Chism, 33, are two of four prison inmates who shot their way out of a Dickson, Tenn., bowling alley Wednesday during a prison field trip. The other two escapees were captured Thursday after ramming a deputy's car in Lawrence County.

The search for Chism in a hilly, wooded area in north-central Arkansas was scaled down Saturday night, but authorities hoped he would make his move then.

William Kell, agent in charge of the FBI's Little Rock office, said that if Chism weren't captured by Sunday, a possible change in strategy would be discussed.

Chism, once a third year law student at Memphis State University, is believed to have engineered the daring escape.

The couple held hostage by Lyons, John and Faye King, both in their late 60s, were interviewed by the FBI Saturday. Afterward, FBI agent John Kenney said the Kings reported that Chism had a gunshot wound in the shoulder.

"From interviewing everybody that he's had contact with, we believe his wounds are very minor," Kenney said.

Authorities speculated that Lyons might be headed for the Cincinnati, Ohio, area. His family lives in Loveland, a suburb of Cincinnati, Kenney said.

Police and FBI agents were waiting at the Kings' Woodlawn home when the couple arrived there early Saturday morning. They told authorities they were released by Lyons at a bridge along Interstate 75 near Covington, Ky., Friday morning.

"They said he (Lyons) pulled up, got out of the car and walked off," said Arkansas state trooper Charles Harper.

Police said the couple had telephoned their son in Arkansas Friday to say they were all right and would be driving home from Kentucky. At the time, authorities were skeptical that the phone call was authentic.

They speculated that the Kings were being forced to make the call to throw police off the chase.

"The phone call Friday morning was correct," Harper said Saturday.

"They're in good condition. But they're tired and need rest," Harper said.

Teachers stage support rally for colleagues jailed in strike

By The Associated Press

Teachers in Bridgeport, Conn., rallied on behalf of jailed colleagues, while negotiators elsewhere worked Saturday to end strikes that have delayed the opening of classes for thousands of students.

All told, at least 425,000 students in eight states have had the start of the fall semester delayed by strikes, most of them caused by salary disputes.

About 700 teachers held a midday rally at a Bridgeport auditorium as a show of support for 135 colleagues who have been jailed during the strike, which began Sept. 6, and closed the 22,500 student system for the first time on Wednesday.

Negotiations scheduled Saturday between the Bridgeport teachers' union and school officials were postponed until Sunday.

However, negotiations did take place Saturday between striking teachers and school officials in Cleveland and Fall River, Mass. Talks also continued between striking teachers in the 100,000-student Chicago City College system and city officials.

In Cleveland, where 10,000 teachers and other employees struck the 100,000 pupil system Sept. 7, the talks were held under order by and supervision of Common Pleas Court Judge Harry A. Hanna. The talks broke off without a settlement, but negotiators agreed to meet again Monday.

Union and school officials also were under court order to talk in Everett, Wash., where Superior Court Judge Robert Bibb said he wanted to see at least 10 hours of negotiations over the weekend.

The Seattle school board voted unanimously Friday to go to court, if necessary, to break a strike by 3,500 teachers that has delayed school for 55,000 pupils.

If Congress won't protect Alaska, interior secretary and Carter will

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus says if Congress fails to approve the Alaska lands conservation bill, he has President Carter's firm support to take all necessary action on his own to preserve the lands against development.

Andrus also said it's "pure baloney" that the legislation will stifle economic development of the state, as some Alaskans and businessmen charge.

Legislation has passed the House which would set aside about 120 million acres of federal land in Alaska as national parks, wildlife refuges and wild river corridors. But with Congress aiming for adjournment by Oct. 14, the bill is stalled in the Senate Energy Committee.

Andrus said Friday the Senate panel has made so many major changes in the House bill it is unlikely the House would accept the Senate version without going through a time-consuming conference to reconcile differences.

Without action on the bill, much of the proposed park and refuge land technically would be open for mining, logging and other commercial uses.

"I truly hope, though, that Congress will complete action to protect these priceless national treasures. But if it doesn't, the administration does have several shields," Andrus said.

"On my recent float trip with President Carter (down the Salmon River in Idaho), we discussed Alaska and he made it absolutely clear that he stands behind whatever measures we must take to protect those Alaskan lands," the secretary said in a speech to the Nature Conservancy, a private environmental group.

In referring to "shields," Andrus cited several provisions in federal law that allow him to withdraw land in the face of potential development.

Andrus said Alaska's congressional delegation and oil and mining companies agreed to the concept of a conservation bill in return for legislation settling native land claims and clearing the way for oil production at Prudhoe Bay.

"But now that millions of dollars in Prudhoe Bay oil money is flowing every day into the Alaska treasury — a gift from the people of the United States to the people of Alaska — some Alaskans are whining that the bill will throttle their state's development.

Such charges are pure baloney," Andrus said.

Andrus defended the legislation as taking a balanced approach to protecting the environment and allowing for economic growth.

"We have no intention, as some have charged, to turn Alaska into some sort of wilderness playground for the rich."

Request to be discussed

The meeting will be in the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission conference room at Midland Regional Airport.

The Board also will consider recommendations on board policies and procedures manual and will hear a summary of the center's activities report.

The meeting is open to the public.

Thousands of friendly bees invade Midland

Bees compulsively and unerringly going after nectar is a sight and sound that brought entertainment to H. Hilton and Lorine Kaderli Sr. recently.

"It's a sight to see and an astonishing sound to hear in their pursuit for nectar," Kaderli said.

The bee "show" in Kaderli's front yard was prompted by a September-blooming elm tree that yields succulent blossoms.

Kaderli thought it was a rare sight, particularly so close to autumn.

Thousands of the honey bees lit on the elm's thousands of clustered blossoms, which yield a "pleasant," though barely discernible, aroma similar to burning incense or cedar, he said.

"... No wonder they (the blossoms) attract the honey bees," Kaderli said.

Kaderli, who owns and manages an abstract company in Stanton, said the bees' visit to his home in central Midland was a friendly one. They stayed about 10 days. And there was no evidence of hostility in the working bees.

He said he told curious and somewhat alarmed neighbors and passers-by "not to worry and fret about the bees."

"They're minding their own business, Kaderli said. "If you don't bother them in their pursuit, they won't bother you."

Jury convicts Georgian of murder

PARIS, Texas — A jury convicted Randall Douglas Sewell, 22, of Gainesville, Ga., of murder Saturday and sentenced him to 80 years in the state penitentiary.

Sewell was convicted of shooting to death his long-time friend, John Wright Chapman, 24, a Gainesville native who spent winters in his family-owned home in this Northeast Texas city.

Prosecutors portrayed Sewell, a jailbreaker wanted in Georgia on a number of charges, as a hot-tempered house guest who shot Chapman March 7 in a fit of rage because Chapman wanted him to leave.

Sewell, who was convicted of forgery and drug charges in Georgia and charged with murder in that state, testified he did not shoot Chapman. Sewell said he had gone on a cigarette run early March 6 and returned to find Chapman's blood-soaked body.

Police discovered Chapman's body 10 days later, slain by shots from a 30-30 rifle.

Sewell, who had known Chapman since the two were in the seventh grade together, fled Georgia and arrived in Paris last January.

Nuclear waste disposal opposed

Austin Bureau

FORT WORTH — A resolution against storage of nuclear wastes in Texas without further study was passed by the Democratic State Convention in a final act before adjourning here Saturday.

Those attending the convention elected delegates to the state executive committee and considered various resolutions.

Proponents for the resolution on nuclear wastes noted there is a proposed pilot project site at Carlsbad, N.M., but that wastes would be shipped through Texas and could pose potential dangers to Texas cities including Midland. The Tall City is on a direct shipping route to Carlsbad.

One delegate argued, "We don't need to store nuclear wastes in Texas until we know how to store it, dammit."

Opponents sought to table the resolutions on grounds there is "no viable solution" to the energy crisis without nuclear power — a statement which prompted a noisy floor demonstration.

The convention then adopted the study request which came from a minority report.

All Senate District 25 delegates to the state convention have re-elected their current members to the state Democratic Executive Committee.

Patti Ivey of Robert Lee and Ben Bock of New Braunfels were re-elected to the state Democratic Executive Committee.

A number of West Texas farmers and rural delegates at the convention caucused and called for a strong agricultural plank, with the Platform Committee adopting proposals including support of 100 percent parity for agricultural products.

That platform also called for controls on foreign ownership of agricultural land, elimination of unfair competition to Texas farm products "from cheap foreign imports," and producer representation within the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The platform also calls for development of state policies for new markets for agricultural products, increased research (including dry-land farming), and taxation of agricultural land on productivity rather than market value.

The platform also called for deregulation of oil and gas, and state opposition to "any attempt by Congress to impose mandatory allocation of oil and gas produced and sold within the state."

"Mandatory allocation would mean not only a loss of energy sources for heating and cooling in Texas, but also a loss of jobs and profits," the platform states.

Some members of the rural agricultural caucus indicated some unhappiness that the platform did not spell out some additional provisions regarding farm problems but seemed pleased with the platform, which incorporated most of the objections and suggestions which they had wished included in the document.

The convention voted for Richard Perkins of Dallas over Glyn Day of Odessa for secretary of the party with Perkins winning on a standing vote. Judy Day of Odessa, wife of Glyn Day, was selected as an at-large delegate to the Memphis mini-convention.

In Senate District 28, which includes Ector and other West Texas counties, Harvey Morton of Lubbock and Dorothy Barker of Morton were re-elected to the executive committee.

Big Spring residents argue lake's desirability close to it could be cleaned up," wrote Elise Sharl Steinberg, an agent for the group.

"Instead of...eliminating the fish and birds living there, maybe the area could be made into a lovely community park. A city park at One Mile Lake was suggested by the Texas Chapter of the Nature Conservatory in a letter of September 24, 1977."

"Draining One Mile Lake has been under consideration by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for several years. The plan was part of a project to channel the area from One Mile Lake to Beal's Creek and past the sewage treatment plant.

Summit moves toward end

ing communique, he said. Powell indicated there might be more than one statement.

As he has from the start, Powell sought not to signal either success or failure of the summit.

A formula for at least extending Egyptian-Israeli negotiations beyond the summit was the minimal goal of the Carter administration when the president invited Sadat and Begin to his Maryland mountaintop retreat for the series of wide-ranging and secret talks that began Sept. 6.

The fact that spokesman Powell could not claim success even on this front suggested Carter still faced large difficulties in his eleventh-hour drive for a positive windup.

However, Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate suggested the curtailment of the city's plans to develop the lake are the reason why the Corps dropped the project.

"One Mile Lake does increase the potential for flooding. The Corps project as proposed included drainage. The reason the project was dropped had nothing to do with local drainage problems," Choate said in a May 26 memorandum.

"The cost effectiveness ratio had slipped from below 1 to 1 when the city announced plans to acquire Webb AFB as an industrial park.

"The corps had previously figured industrial development would occur in the Lake and Beal's Creek area. The removal of this planned development lowered the cost effectiveness below the Corps requirements," Choate said.

Choate, like other proponents of the lake's drainage, takes the position that the lake should be drained as a service to the people of the area because:

—Its presence now increases the potential for flooding in the area.

—The lake contributes to the mosquito problem.

—Water quality in the immediate area would improve due to the elimination of the lake.

"Although a formal poll has not been taken, persons asked by the city council members and city staff were nearly all in favor of the drainage," Choate said in his memorandum.

"The City Council represents the people, and the council members felt an overwhelming majority of the citizens were in favor of the drainage. If this had not been so, the council would not have continued the project."

Yet, James Lee, the Howard County Extension Office entomologist, has said that he doesn't believe the lake is the cause of the mosquito problem. It is in the trash in the area of the nearby railroad tracks that the mosquitoes actually breed, according to Lee.

"The area on the south side of the tracks is cut off from adequate drainage. If the area around the railroad tracks could be cleaned up, it is more likely that the mosquito problem would be solved than if One Mile Lake were drained, the entomologist said.

And environmentalists question whether the lake actually is the source of the flooding problems for area residents.

Trash clogging the railroad tracks along the lake is more of a factor in flooding, and prevents proper drainage into the lake, according to several environmentalists. There are no outlets under the railroad tracks for the water to go, they say.

The city has failed to maintain Beal's Creek for almost 10 years, and this neglect actually has caused the flooding because it has allowed the creek to "fill up with sediment and garbage; and the water has to go somewhere," said one observer.

Another complaint of environmentalists is the alleged failure of the city to consult any ecological experts in assembling the environmental impact report. City officials did not hire a professional expert to compile the environmental study, environmentalists maintain.

A local hydrologist said One Mile Lake is a ground water lake which probably couldn't be used for development purposes because the level of the lake depends upon the level of the ground water table.

The lake also serves as a natural drainage area which is fed by three nearby springs, he added.

Because of the fluctuating lake level, it is able to retain large amounts of runoff water that would otherwise rush through town and cause major flooding, according to some.

Juan Flores, a resident who claims to have lived on the lake's edge since 1927, said he remembers the lake being dry for four years during the drought in the 1930s.

He said he is not bothered by mosquitos, "except when I go over there," he said, gesturing toward the railroad tracks.

"I want to keep the lake. It's a good lake. You tell them to bring some more water and put it in the lake," he said.

A charro in downtown Midland may seem a little unusual, but Saturday's sighting of more than a few was right in keeping with the atmosphere during a parade marking 16 de Septiembre, the official anniversary of Mexico's independence from Spain. singing, and other party-like festivities had yet to get underway for the third night in a row.

"Good food, good people," said festival-goer Ann Semple.

But Joe D. Ochoa, who likes to make people smile more the older he gets, wasn't — by comparison — overly impressed with the drift of the annual fiesta.

"They used to have big celebrations (on Mexico's Independence Day) but in retirement, he's taking life easy.

"I don't have to work, because I'm lazy, and I like to make people happy." He seemed to be succeeding.

Across the way from the jovial Ochoa were some Brown Beret-looking fellows who rode Harley-Davidson motorcycles in the parade.

Their tan T-shirts were monogrammed with "MI Riza Primero," which, loosely translated, meant, "My race is No. 1."

"We're just a Chicano group that's hanging out together...in friendship," said Tommy Madrid. "No violence... We don't like that."

There peaceably, too, were members of the Midland chapter of the Brown Beret, a Mexican-American activist group, and many milling-around folks who came out to celebrate Independence Day of the "old country" south of the border.

The weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport said no rainfall had been gauged there Saturday.

Probability of rainfall today and Monday is 20 percent, said the weatherman.

Precipitation so far this month is 1.05 inches, which brings the year's total to 8.34 inches and about an inch shy of the normal rainfall through August. The normal for the year is 13.51 inches.

The high temperature reading today and Monday calls for the mid-90s. The low tonight will be near 70, according to the forecast.

Winds should be light to southwesterly at 10 to 20 mph today.

Exhibit hall in holding pattern; City officials still debating cost

Arnold said the project has gone through an evolution to get to the point it is at today. The final plans should be ready for the City Council to approve at the Oct. 10 meeting.

Doris Howbert, city council member also assigned to work with the architects, said the reason for the council's taking its time on the project is "this is something very new for Midland. We're trying very hard to have a facility that will be complete and functional."

The council has requested changes in the drawings at various times, but, Mrs. Howbert said, "We feel the changes have been for the better."

Despite complaints from the public about delays on the project, Mrs. Howbert added, "We (the council) have not put it on a back burner and forgotten it."

Original plans to put the building on the southeast corner of the block still hold sway.

The architects also had to situate the building over an already existing basement, said Arnold, and the basement will be used for mechanical purposes, as well as to allow extra meeting space when needed.

Plans drawn for the bond election show the building to have a glass front and amphitheater. Both have been dropped. Few windows will decorate the exhibit hall, Arnold said.

While glass is attractive from an architectural standpoint of view, Mrs. Howbert noted, it also increases cost of heating, cooling and maintenance. The council let go of the idea of a glass front for these reasons, she said.

Arnold said an amphitheater planned for the exterior of the building was eliminated after the council decided it would not be worth the construction costs.

Representatives from the architectural firms and City Council toured convention centers in Tyler, San Angelo and Lubbock in April 1978 to learn the strong and weak points of those facilities.

As a result, several changes were made in the Midland drawings.

"We came back with a lot of ideas we had not thought of," Mrs. Howbert said. "The catering kitchen has been the latest thing. We're trying to arrange it so it will be usable by anyone."

A number of organizations and area caterers were consulted, though, before final kitchen plans were drawn. "The city (council) is anxious to make sure people who will be using it will find it adequate," the architect said.

The first drawings also had only part of the block used for development. Businesses located on the southwest corner were to remain. But the council changed its mind and decided to purchase that land, also.

Negotiations are being conducted with the landowners, members of the Fred Wemple family.

First idea for use of this land was to allow the Chamber of Commerce to construct a convention bureau there. But the chamber changed its mind on the location and now wants it built on the same block, but north of the exhibit hall.

If the council approves leasing the land for that purpose and is able to purchase the Wemple property, the entire west side of the block will be open.

Arnold said drawings show a park area with trees and sidewalks to be developed on that portion, with underground parking.

"The underground parking is still in a conceptual stage," Arnold said. Architects are doing a feasibility study on it, he said, adding that about 250 cars may be able to use the space.

Akins said underground parking may help to solve some of the downtown parking problems. He held that that the entire half block would be needed for the parking area.

The $2 million cost for the project passed by the voters included the building, purchase of land and landscaping the block.

Arnold said he does not think the cost for the building alone will go past the $1.25 million figure established by the architects.

But, Akins said, with the current rate of inflation, he expects the cost to rise.

If plans are approved by the council at the October meeting, Arnold said, bids should be accepted by the end of the year. Construction is expected to take about 18 months, which would push the completion date back to 1980.

That date is for the center building, not for the Chamber of Commerce building, the park or underground parking garage.

Midlanders then could not expect a completely finished block before 1981.

Is this a long time? Mrs. Howbert and Akins said they don't know. "You have to compare it with something to say it is a long time," Akins said.

"It's longer than I wanted it to be. But I do think that had we rushed into it from the preliminary plans. We would have had something we would not have been satisfied with."

DIRT, SQUIRT & QUIRT Better harden trees, shrubs

By CHARLES GREEN
Midland County Extension Agent

Cotton is maturing rapidly in the Midland area, hastened by the continued warm and dry conditions. Cotton production estimates for Midland County are down sharply from 1978, with an anticipated reduction of 50 to 60 percent. Some dryland fields have already been abandoned and plowed down. Moisture conditions are still on the deficit side. Showers in August and September have been mostly light and scattered.

John Menzies, new county extension agent-agriculture for Ector County, called the other day to encourage Midland County farmers to enter the Hay Show at the Permian Basin Fair and Exposition to be held in Odessa, Sept. 25 - Oct. A sample, or entry is comprised of one bale, which must have been grown by the exhibitor. Exhibitors may enter as many samples as they desire.

Send entries to John Menzies, 2000 West Third St., Odessa. Judging will be Sept. 25 at 7:00 p.m., and entries will be displayed through the dates of the fair.

The question of how much and how late the water trees of various kinds at this time of the year comes up frequently. Controlling moisture to encourage a process known as "hardening off" is very important to minimize the possibility of freeze damage during the dormant season.

In West Texas many times the temperature lows for the season come in November and December after only a few light frosts, and plants that are in a lush stage of growth prior to this are subject to severe winter damage that doesn't show up until the following growing season. Shade trees, pecans, fruit trees, shrubs and even grass can be "hardened" by controlling water and fertilizers in the early fall. Rainfall, of course, can alter the best planned program.

In general, however, the gardener and orchardist should begin to check the condition and growth of the above mentioned plants with the idea in mind to gradually reduce water and refrain from using high nitrogen fertilizers too close to the first expected killing freeze.

A pecan tree, carrying a load of nuts, must have enough moisture available in the soil in September to complete the filling and maturation of the nuts. If the weather remains warm and dry, and soil moisture supplies, considering depth of soil and extend of root system, are limited one should probably soak the entire soil profile with water once more toward the later part of September. Then the amounts should be reduced and the interval lengthened until about mid-October, when watering should cease until after full dormancy of the tree.

After dormancy, a watering about once a month to maintain the soil in a moistened condition is also important, even though the leaves are gone and the tree is dormant.

One point should be made clear. A tree or shrub that has been watered well to this point should not be suddenly deprived of all irrigation to achieve hardening. If the weather continues in the same pattern this could result in injury. Each gardener must assess his own situation and act accordingly.

Why wait until bad weather sets in this fall or in the rush of spring work next year to collect soil samples? Numerous studies have shown that nutrient levels and soil pH do not change rapidly so that samples can be collected well ahead of planting.

Most important is to have a long range plan for sampling each field at two to four-year intervals. This can be accomplished by sampling 1/4 to 1/2 of the fields each year or sampling all at two to four-year intervals. A farm map should have permanent field numbers and these numbers used each time samples are collected. Keeping results and observing changes over a period of time is essential for obtaining the greatest amount of useful information from soil tests.

To collect a representative sample, give careful attention to instructions on the back of soil sampling information sheets available at the county Extension office. Obtain a composite sample to represent the plowlayer in cultivated fields and the top 3 to 4 inches for perennial sod crops. This requires 10 to 20 slices or cores at random over the field. In view of the high cost of seed, fertilizers, herbicides, etc., the $2 invested in each soil sample could be the most important money spent.

Beal Plaza fete slated Thursday

A combination of beautiful landscaping and lilt-ing music await Midlanders at 11 a.m. Thursday when citizens visit Midland College for a ceremony on Beal Plaza.

The event is designed to recognize the contributions of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Beal of Midland which resulted in the creation of Beal Plaza.

"We want to invite everyone in this community to join with us in enjoying the beauty of Beal Plaza and in acknowledging the contributions which the Beals have made to Midland College," noted Dr. Al G. Langford, college president.

Immediately prior to the start of the ceremony the Midland College Choir, under the direction of Robert LaFontaine, will perform several numbers. Dr. Langford, board president Murray Fasken, and members of the Midland College Board of Trustees will be on hand for the celebration ceremony along with Mr. and Mrs. Beal.

Following the ceremony there will be more musical numbers performed by the newly-formed Midland College Pop Singers.

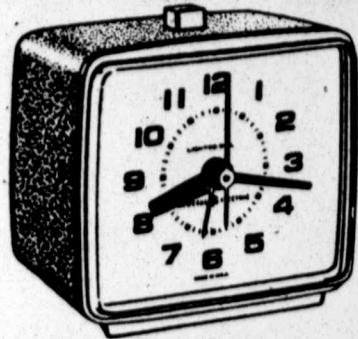

Begun in 1976, Beal Plaza is a large area located between the Administration Building and the Science-Faculty Building and immediately south of the Student Center.

The area is covered with brown cast and paver brick. Four large raised planters feature a total of 16 live oak trees, plus perennial green cover. Redwood benches cover the tops of these planters for inviting seats for students, faculty, and visitors.

Four ground-level planters include 16 sweet gum trees, along with an assortment of ever-changing annual flowers. The central planter features a symbolic mesquite tree, plus flowers. The Beal Plaza was designed by former Midland College horticulturist Don Schaffrina and the plantings were designed by Douglas Page, Midland-landscape architect.

Construction of the plaza was done by the Midland College grounds maintenance staff under the supervision of Joe Hopkins, director of maintenance.

Police investigating variety of burglaries, thefts

Bernice Hopkins told Midland police Saturday that the Mardi Gras Lounge in the 2100 block of East Front Street was burglarized of $509.

She told police the money was taken from the business sometime between 2:15 a.m. and 10 a.m. Saturday.

Police said entry was gained through the lounge's front door, which had a broken lock.

She told officers the cash register had been removed from a back counter and placed on a pool table. Center cabinet doors had been ransacked, she said.

A 26-year-old Midland woman was arrested early today for allegedly carrying an unlawful weapon, according to police.

Police said the woman was arrested at 4:35 a.m. Saturday outside RJ's Bar-B-Q Restaurant in the 2300 block of East Kentucky Avenue, when she allegedly raised a .22-caliber pistol in her hand and ran toward an officer while waving the weapon and screaming profanities.

The woman was then persuaded to place the pistol on the hood of a nearby vehicle. She was taken into custody, according to reports.

Linda Box of the 1000 block of West Wall Avenue told police Friday that between 1 p.m. and 3:45 p.m. the same day $1,500 worth of possessions were stolen from the same address.

She told officers a television set, stereophonic sound system and record albums were missing.

She came home from work and found a door open and unlocked, according to reports. She told officers the door was locked when she left for work earlier in the day.

Marilyn Thomas of the 1600 block of Butternut Lane told police at 7:44 p.m. Friday that between 9 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Friday at his home a burglary had occurred. However, he said nothing was missing.

Police said entry was gained through a window and pried-open screen on the eastside of the residence. Thomas told police a dresser-mirror had been broken and the telephone line was cut.

Harold L. McQuity of the 3500 block of West Illinois Avenue told police at 4:12 p.m. Saturday that a bicycle and a lawnmower, both valued at $160, were stolen from the same address at approximately 6 p.m. Monday, according to reports.

He said the possessions were removed from the front yard of the residence without his permission, according to reports.

H.H. Merworth of the 600 block of South Loraine Street told police at 7:01 p.m. Friday a men's blue coat, Western felt hat, butcher knife and $2.05 in Mexican coins were taken from his home at about 6:30 p.m. the same day.

Police said entry was gained through an unlocked door. Merworth said he saw the suspect in the house. The man asked for food, Merworth said, according to reports.

Merworth then gave the man $1.30 and told him to buy something to eat, said reports. Merworth said he later discovered the missing possessions.

Wayne Fish of the 3300 block of Dengar Avenue told police at 10:16 a.m. Saturday that his wallet, containing $1,900 in checks, $500 in cash, eight credit cards and $50 in American Express money orders were stolen.

Ursula Romero of Pueblo, Colo., told police at 11:30 a.m. Saturday her purse which contained her wallet, a gold ring, two gold necklaces and a coin purse containing other jewelry was taken between 3:30 a.m. at Red's Drive-In on East Front street

Heated debates focus of busiest U.N. session in 33 years

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly begins its busiest session in 33 years Tuesday, and the most heated debates are certain to focus on the Arab-Israeli conflict and the friction between rich and poor nations.

The Mideast question — one of 132 subjects on the agenda — is already slotted for debate in the full assembly. But the 83 "non-aligned" nations also promise to seek a special session on the Palestinian problem.

Both Western and nonaligned diplomats say the drive for a special session on Palestine might have been postponed indefinitely if President Carter's summit talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin at Camp David showed progress toward a Mideast peace and a Palestinian homeland.

But the talks, now scheduled to end Sunday, apparently have not produced any important breakthroughs toward a full peace settlement.

The non-aligned nations agreed on the need for a special session at their July foreign ministers' meeting in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. The Palestine session would come after the regular assembly session ends in December.

Among other issues, the 150-member General Assembly will consider a $65 million appropriation to pay for a new six-month term for the U.N. peacekeeping force in southern Lebanon.

The Security Council is expected to renew the mandate of the force this week.

Besides economic issues, other major topics to be dealt with are the emergence of an independent Namibia, also known as South-West Africa, and the transition to majority rule in Rhodesia.

U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young said he viewed the upcoming session as "a difficult one."

"We've got many difficult issues to deal with, among them the Middle East and the economic issues."

"But I think we'll do very good on African questions because I think we will see some progress on the African questions before the assembly gets too far under way."

A clash between the nations of the "North," the industrialized world, and the "South," the developing world, appears inevitable.

The 119 developing countries want, and are sure to get, a debate in the full assembly on U.S. refusal to let a standing committee of all U.N. members negotiate agreements on international economic issues that are already being discussed in special bodies elsewhere.

A major such item of concern to the developing countries is alleviation of their national debts to richer nations.

Young said he told Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim that the United States was "not stonewalling ... but that there were simply some honest disagreements that we would continue to explore."

Talks on U.N.-South African cooperation in moving South-West Africa, or Namibia, to independence from South Africa are in their final stages.

If the talks succeed, the big issue in the assembly is expected to be not the political future of Namibia, as it has been, but rather the estimated $300 million cost to U.N. members for a year-long military and political operation to supervise the transition to independence and national elections.

Midlander charged with armed robbery

Fredrick Lewis, 21, of Midland was in custody Saturday afternoon in lieu of $10,000 bond after he appeared before Peace Justice Robert H. Pine Friday night on a charge of aggravated robbery.

An earlier report erroneously said Lewis was charged with aggravated assault.

Lewis turned himself in to Midland police officers Friday night after a man allegedly robbed his employer, Herman Seale, of $900 in cash about 3:22 p.m. outside the Texas Employment Commission in the 500 block of North Loraine Street, according to reports.

Detective Sergeant Jerry Compton said he received a phone call from Lewis about 6:30 p.m. Friday.

"He wanted to talk to me. He said he would like to know what to do and he wanted to give himself up," said Compton.

Compton said Lewis claimed the employer was underpaying him.

However, Seale of Seale Furniture and Appliance Center in the 3700 block of West Wall Avenue said Saturday, "I was paying him $3.50 per hour plus an extra hour for cleaning up in the alley by the business."

Midland girl's condition listed as satisfactory

A 14-year-old Midland girl was listed in satisfactory condition Saturday night in Midland Memorial Hospital, said a hospital spokesman. She was injured in a Friday night accident in which a police patrol car was involved.

Marybell Valenzuela, 14, of the 1900 block of East Nash Avenue suffered a broken hip and abrasions, the hospital spokesman said.

The teen-ager was a passenger in a car driven by a man which collided with a vehicle driven by a Midland Police officer, said authorities.

Officer Dusty Ray Lands of the Midland Police Department was treated and released following the accident, said the spokesman.

The accident occurred at about 10:29 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Big Spring street and Scharbauer drive, according to authorities.

Jose Robert Valenzuela, 20, of the 100 block of West Spruce Avenue was driving south on Big Spring Street as Land, 20 of the 3100 block of West Wadley Road was driving north.

Authorities said the two vehicles collided and the car Valenzuela was driving also struck a steel post and a fence.

Exchange student Anja Lotzkat arrived in Midland recently from Frankfurt, Germany. Miss Lotzkat is a senior student at Robert E. Lee High School and will live for a year with the Arthur F. Oestmann family. She is here through the Youth for Understanding International exchange program.

MC Center provides opportunity

By SUSAN TOTH
R-T Staff Writer

"Our main purpose here is to eliminate failure," said Jean Schwisow, director of the Learning Center at Midland College.

With Wanda Phillips, director of the Adult Learning Center, she will direct the program designed to give adults in Midland who have not completed their high school education or who cannot speak English an opportunity to reach those goals.

The Adult Learning Center, scheduled to open officially Monday, is planned around reaching long- and short-term goals for its users.

"A long-term goal for one of our students might be to pass the high school equivalency test. But the short-term goal might be to be able to write a work order so he can get the next promotion on his job," Mrs. Schwisow said.

"We always try to relate what we are doing here back to something that will help the student immediately."

The learning center will be open without charge to anyone 16 or older beginning at 8 a.m. Monday. The center will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Monday through Thursday. Students may choose their own hours and spend as much or as little time as they feel they need, since all instruction is individualized.

Each student is tested to find his strengths and weaknesses. Mrs. Schwisow said, then a "prescription" is prepared for the student so that any time he comes in, the instructor on duty then can refer to what he has done and needs to do at that time.

A variety of learning methods will be used in the center. Self-paced programs using audio-visual devices that one student can use will be combined with small group instruction and individualized attention from the instructors.

One project Mrs. Schwisow is undertaking now is grouping the learning materials available at the center so instructors at the college or at the centers at Pease Elementary School or Guadalupe Center can find the items they need to help individual students with ease.

The storeroom for the materials sits between two classrooms the learning center has taken over in the Occupational-Technical Building at the college.

While one room at least resembles a traditional classroom except for the artwork on the walls, the other classroom has a warmer, less traditional look.

"The first thing I did when we got this room was move all desks out into the hall."

A little paint and some donated furniture later, the room began to take on its present look.

"I went to the art department and told them I needed something for the walls, either student work or teachers' work."

They came through with a variety of styles and media that gives the classroom a warm, untraditional look.

Art students also furnished the pottery on the lightweight shelving that divides the classroom into separate areas for instruction.

"These make the perfect dividers because they can be moved and rearranged easily if we need to bring two groups together for a while then separate them again," Mrs. Schwisow said.

Creativity in the use of the available space and other resources is essential since the center has only a limited budget.

The adult education program has been "a stepchild for several groups," Mrs. Schwisow said. Midland College has taken over the program because "we are a community college, and it's important that we serve the needs of the community in all areas," she continued.

Putting adult education in a college setting is also a way to get more people into the program, she contends.

"Going back to school to get a high school equivalency or learn English is an important step. But it's easier for some people to come to a college setting rather than going back to a high school. The people here at the center are Midland College students, and some are enrolled in other courses while they use the center to improve their skills in other areas," she said.

Instruction is offered at the center in English — including English as a second language — math, science, social studies, reading improvement, family management, and consumer education.

"Our goal," Mrs. Schwisow said, "is to see that each student succeeds in what he is trying to do."

Anacin's tension-relief claims ordered corrected in FTC ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission administrative law judge ruled Saturday that the manufacturers of Anacin, the headache remedy, have falsely advertised their product as a tension reliever and should be ordered to correct that false impression.

"Anacin does not relieve nervousness, tension, stress, fatigue or depression, nor will it enable persons to cope with the ordinary stresses of everyday life," Administrative Law Judge Montgomery K. Hyun found in the false advertising case brought by the FTC in 1973.

Flaws in report pointed out by assassination committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators are pointing out major flaws in the Warren Commission's work, but those blunders do not yet challenge the panel's essential conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald killed President John F. Kennedy and that he acted alone.

The testimony before the House assassinations committee suggests the commission came to the right conclusion despite too hasty and sometimes sloppy work.

This week the committee delves more deeply into what the commission did — and what it failed to do — as it conducted the official investigation of Kennedy's assassination in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

The committee also will assess the performance of the FBI, CIA and Secret Service in the case.

Two of the key witnesses are likely to be former President Gerald R. Ford, one of the few still-living members of the commission, and J. Lee Rankin, the commission's general counsel.

He recommended that the maker, American Home Products Corp. of New York City, be required to say, "Anacin is not a tension reliever" in its next $24 million of advertising, which is about one year's advertising budget.

The tension-relief claim was dropped from advertisements in 1973 after the FTC first challenged the claim. However, Hyun said the false claim was made so many times that an incorrect image of the product remains in the minds of many consumers.

Charles F. Hagan, general counsel for American Home, said he could not comment on the substance of the 237-page decision until studying it. "I'm sure it will be appealed to the full commission," he said.

Hyun's decision can be reviewed and changed by the five-member commission before it takes effect.

Hyun found other parts of ads for Anacin and Arthritis Pain Formula, another American Home product, to be false. However, he recommended against corrective advertising for these other claims and instead recommended prohibiting the claims unless they are established scientifically.

Hyun found to be false or unfair: —Ads that say Anacin is stronger than aspirin. "Anacin's analgesic ingredient is not unusual, special or stronger than aspirin, since it is nothing other than aspirin.... Anacin's only other ingredient, caffeine, is not an analgesic," he said.

—Claims that a person who takes Anacin can expect relief within 22 seconds. "Relief from Anacin is not obtained within that period of time," he said.

—References to a "doctor's survey" used in touting Anacin. These are deceptive because the survey "does not provide a reasonable basis for the representations," he said.

—Claims that Anacin is more effective for relieving pain than any other analgesic available without a prescription. This "has not been scientifically established," he said.

—Advertising that it has been established that Arthritis Pain Formula will cause gastric discomfort less frequently than any other non-prescription analgesic. "There existed a substantial question, recognized by experts... as to the validity of the representation," Hyun said.

His order also would require disclosure of the presence of aspirin in future advertisements of the two products.

Canal won't be deciding election issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The political mileage for a senator who casts a vote for this treaty is absolute zero," Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said at the height of the Panama Canal debate.

"It may cost the office of one or more senators," Byrd added.

The West Virginia Democrat's dire prediction was generally accepted as a political certainty last spring. But it hasn't worked out that way. There are few signs the Panama Canal treaties will be a deciding issue in Senate races this fall.

"A race where it's a key issue; debated back and forth? I can't think of one," said Gregg Hill, director of the Conservative Victory Fund. "I would love to see it."

Paul M. Wyrich, director of another conservative group, the Committee for Survival of a Free Congress, said, "If the canal issue is raised, it has very good potential."

"There's no candidate I've seen who has taken advantage of it," said Wyrich. "It's been swept aside by the tide of events."

Wyrich and other political activists referred to the economic issues — inflation, government spending, taxes — that have dominated the campaigns and swept aside the canal issue in the public mind.

When the campaign against approval of the treaties was at its height, the Conservative Caucus tried to generate massive pressure on undecided senators to turn them against ratification.

It urged people to send pledge cards to senators in which the senders declared they would "never again vote for any elected official who supports the surrender of U.S. sovereign jurisdiction and control over the American canal and zone ..."

Sen. Howard H. Baker, the Republican leader from Tennessee and a key figure in winning votes for the treaties, was the object of an intensive campaign in his home state.

"Only Howard Baker Can Save Our Canal," read newspaper ads.

Baker is up for re-election this year, and five candidates ran against him in the Republican primary. All tried to use the canal as an issue. Baker received 84 percent of the vote and is heavily favored against his Democratic opponent.

Nonetheless, a close aide to the senator said the canal "is still an issue and it's going to cost us some votes." But it won't be the issue Baker aides feared it might be last spring.

Sens. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., also faced primary opponents who tried to make the canal an issue. Both won easily and are heavy favorites for re-election.

Roger Jepsen, a Republican who is trying to unseat Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, so far has made little attempt to use the canal as an issue, a fact that disappoints conservatives like Wyrich.

"Jepsen is not using it as he could and should," said Wyrich.

Clark aides are wary of the issue.

Gamble could force mail strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the two largest postal unions are taking a gamble that could force them against their will to call an illegal mail strike next month.

Emmet Andrews, president of the American Postal Workers Union, and J. Joseph Vacca, head of the National Association of Letter Carriers, are asking the nearly 500,000 workers they represent to ratify a new three-year contract settled through binding arbitration on Friday.

The ratification votes are only a token gesture, however. The contract terms handed down by special arbitrator James J. Healy are final and non-negotiable under an agreement the two union leaders signed in August.

But Andrews and Vacca are under pressure from their local leaders, who have complained that members are being denied their right to approve a new pact.

So, the two leaders, both of whom are seeking re-election, are trying to undercut that criticism by holding votes.

They are gambling that their members, who voted down a previous negotiated settlement endorsed by the leadership, will approve the new agreement, which contains an improved wage package and an unprecedented lifetime guarantee of job security for current employees.

There is the risk, though, that the members may turn the pact down, forcing the two leaders to renege on their binding agreement with the Postal Service and call a strike, which is prohibited by federal law.

"Gosh, the last thing these guys want to do is order a strike," said one union official who asked not to be named.

He and other officials say the risk Andrews and Vacca are taking is very small because postal workers are almost certain to approve the new contract.

Workers will vote on the contract the same time that they elect a new president, both by mail ballot. Results won't be in for about a month.

Food, games to highlight St. Ann's Family Fair

Food, fun and games will highlight the 30th annual St. Ann's Family Fair Saturday, Sept. 30.

The event, sponsored by St. Ann's Catholic Church, is the only fund raising project for St. Ann's School each year, according to Penny Angelo, publicity chairman for the event. The fair will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on the school grounds at 2000 W. Texas.

The fair will feature more than 40 activities including booths of arts and crafts, handmade items and a wide variety of food and games.

Rides for the entire family will be on the grounds beside the Parish Center Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mrs. Angelo said.

Revelers will have the choice of everything from darts and dime throws to basketball, bingo and horse racing in the 19 game booths planned for this year's fair.

Culinary experts can choose from some 16 booths vending food from beer and burritos through hamburgers to corn on the cobb and cotton candy.

The Incredible Edibles booth will make its second appearance this year featuring foods from foreign countries.

Other booths will offer arts and crafts, books, costume jewelry, odds and ends, sewing and balloons and cascarones — confetti-stuffed egg shells.

"We have always had excellent support from the community in the past, and we are looking forward to having good crowds out for this year," Mrs. Angelo said.

Herb and Pat Stanley are general chairmen for the annual event this year.

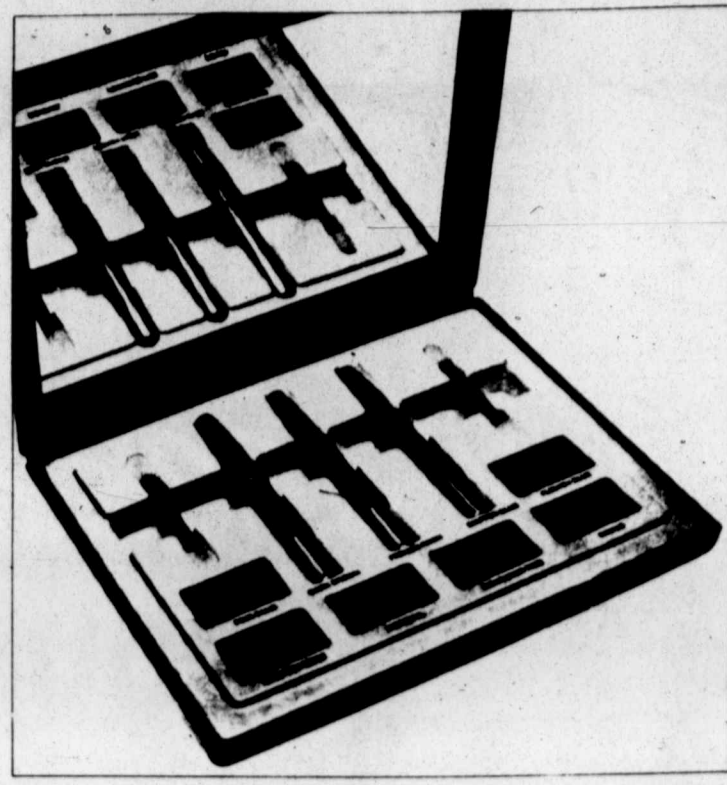

Greenwood considers bids for press box

Greenwood school trustees will consider bids for a new press box, discuss options on lights for the football field and meet with the architect for the newly completed elementary school at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

The new football field with bleachers was completed this year as part of the $1.4 million construction package approved by voters in a 1976 bond election.

The 8 p.m. meeting will be in the board room of the school district administration offices.

CRMWD to meet on '79 budget

BIG SPRING — Dwindling supplies of runoff into man-made reservoirs and the subsequent loss of revenue may lead to some "sticky" decisions to be made by the directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Directors will be considering the 1979 CRMWD operating budget and two alternative budgets based on water inflow and anticipated revenue at 10 a.m. Thursday at the district offices in Big Spring. The 1978 operating budget is $2.96 million. CRMWD's overall 1978 budget, including debt service, is $7.89 million.

Midland, Odessa, Stanton, Big Spring, San Angelo, Snyder and Robert Lee are among the 12 cities served by the district, which also supplies water to industries. The district gets its water mainly from the E.V. Spence Reservoir west of Robert Lee, and lesser amounts from the J.B. Thomas Lake southwest of Snyder.

Increasingly, less water is being pumped from Lake Thomas because of its dwindling supply. Due to that, the greater burden is on Lake Spence. And the cost in energy to lift water from the more-distant Lake Spence is increasing. On the rise, too, is the cost of fuel.

The drought over the past two years has led to a sharp drop in the lakes' levels. And the district, which is committed to serving municipalities first, has curtailed water deliveries from Lake Thomas to many petroleum and other industrial users. However, Thomas water still is being piped to Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. at Big Spring.

As a result of the water slowdown, water district revenue has declined sharply.

Moreover, the water supply to Texas Electric Service Co.'s power-generating plant near Monahans may be cut off next year from the district's Ward County well field. That cutback would further reduce revenue.

CRMWD General Manager O.H. Ivie and other district officials are preparing alternate budgets, which are based on runoffs into the lakes.

The inflow in Lake Thomas has averaged 17,500 acre feet over the past five years. The 20-year average is 43,000 acre feet.

Lake Spence, which has averaged 38,500 acre feet inflow since its impoundment nine years ago, has averaged 26,000 acre feet in the past five years. Currently, the lake has more than 100,000 acre feet in reserve.

In their Thursday meeting, the district directors are to consider purchasing stand-by emergency pumping equipment.

Castro, advisers huddle

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Fidel Castro met with Cuban military advisers Saturday at a base outside the Ethiopian capital of Addis Ababa and was scheduled to tour the scene of one of the major Ethiopian-Cuban victories of the Ogaden war, according to reports reaching here.

The Cuban president arrived in Addis Ababa last Tuesday and attended celebrations marking the fourth anniversary of the military revolution that overthrew Emperor Haile Selassie.

He and Ethiopian leader Lt. Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam delivered keynote addresses Wednesday to the opening session of an Afro-Arab anti-imperialism solidarity conference in Addis Ababa. The Ethiopian media made no mention of Castro's whereabouts or movements for the next two days, though diplomatic sources in Addis Ababa said he had met with Rhodesian black nationalist leaders Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo, who head the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance.

There have been persistent reports that Cubans are helping train Patriotic Front guerrillas.

Castro on Saturday visited the Tatak militia camp on the outskirts of the capital, and was scheduled to later visit the Gara Marda Pass and the town of Jijiga on the edge of the Ogaden region in southeast Ethiopia, the reports from Addis Ababa said.

THE ULTIMATE VALUE

When you drive past an auto manufacturing plant, the first thing that may come to mind is the products that are made. You visualize cars coming off the assembly line. You might also think of the value of those cars. But remember something else. The value of the LAND on which the plant is located...it exceeds by far the value of one day's production of cars.

A railroad brings to mind giant locomotives, boxcars, tank cars, hopper cars, etc. But when a railroad assesses its own value, a large proportion of its worth is listed in the category of rights-of-way, terminals, marshalling yards, roundhouses, and other land and property holdings. We mention all this to emphasize the importance of land and property. Its appeal is universal. Throughout history, kings, emperors, and conquerors fought long and bitter wars for the purpose of acquiring more land. It's no wonder then that real estate is thought of as the basis of wealth, and power! You don't have to be an emperor to acquire real estate. See us. There's an easier way.

Frying pan or fire

This nation has a lot of problems and sometimes we perhaps get to feeling sorry for ourselves.

But pity the people of Nicaragua. They face a Hobson's choice between supporting the corrupt, authoritarian regime of Gen. Anastasio Somoza Debayle or throwing in their lot with the fast-growing insurrection and thus risking a Marxist takeover by the Sandinista guerrillas. Battles are raging in Nicaragua's largest cities.

Meanwhile, the United States government faces something of a Hobson's choice of its own in Nicaragua. Embarrassed by its long support for the Somoza family which has ruled Nicaragua since 1933, Washington would welcome Somoza's resignation and his replacement by a moderate, democratic regime. But Somoza is not likely to resign.

And despite inclusion of a majority of businessmen and middle-class professionals within the anti-Somoza opposition, outright overthrow of the government easily could lead to installation of a Communist regime allied with Cuba and the Soviet Union — a development the United States has every legitimate interest in avoiding.

Yet, Nicaraguan sensitivities are such that U.S. intervention of any kind risks adding to Washington's unpopularity with many Nicaraguans, whether of the left, center or right.

Such a policy, however, may be unwise, even when the risks are considered.

The United States is, in fact, already involved in Nicaragua and has been for 60 years. So the decision to remain aloof or become involved is moot.

Fortunately, Washington still may be able to influence events constructively and in a manner well short of the clumsy, heavy-handed intervention which would understandably be resented in Nicaragua and elsewhere in Latin America.

Although he permits nothing approaching democracy, Somoza is not quite the ruthless, omnipotent dictator the Sandinistas would have the world believe.

Pressure from Washington did persuade Somoza to ease press censorship and release some political prisoners in recent years. And, Somoza has demonstrated a willingness, however reluctant, to at least negotiate with the more moderate of his opponents.

Now that respected members of Nicaragua's middle and even upper class are joining in opposition to Somoza, there is reason for Washington to hope that added pressure could moderate, representative elements, and exclude the Marxists.

The military aid sales agreement with Nicaragua signed last year by the Carter administration contains human-rights provisions which can and should be made to influence Somoza to bend.

Meanwhile, the modest economic aid provided Nicaragua should continue to be strictly limited to nutritional assistance, medicines and the like.

Admittedly, the time for compromise is fast running out in Nicaragua.

The Carter administration has a responsibility to use what time is left in the interest of a better future for Nicaraguans and a more secure Western Hemisphere.

So, the big problem facing the people of Nicaragua extends out and into the United States which, as stated above, long has been involved in Nicaragua.

It is, indeed, a very serious matter, one with which the administration must deal — but with proper care and caution.

Meanwhile, our sympathies rest with the innocent people of Nicaragua who are made to suffer as a result of the insurrection — right or wrong.

The environmental impasse: Time for rule of reason

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — A sampling of the sentiment of utility executives who convened here last week is to learn that they no longer feel appreciated as the steady supplier of cheap electricity, and increasingly become exasperated in trying to forge through a thicket of government regulations and zealous environmentalists.

Now few souls ever really loved the power and light company. But for decades, everybody accepted reliable electric service and the generally fulfilled promise of lower rates.

Then, bam, came the Environmental Protection Agency, the Arab oil embargo, soaring fuel bills and an army of environmentalists savvy on how to use the courtroom as a place to delay and stop every last new project.

This once cheerful industry became anxious and sweaty. The public believed it was making 20 percent profit when 7 percent was closer to the mark. People wanted more electricity, but didn't like paying higher fuel costs to produce it, nor were they concerned with the problem of building new plants.

Still, unless the populace wants to revert to kerosene lights, dry horses and foot-treaded sewing machines, new power generating plants must be built.

Consumption of electricity, according to the National Electric Reliability Council, will increase an average of 5.2 percent per year in the next 10 years. The present generating capacity can handle the new loads in the next few years, but unless additional one policy direction from one government agency, only to have a second say something else, and a third deciding to ponder the matter.

A citizen can even muster sympathy for the Gullivers of the industry bogged down on Storm King Mountain (New York) for 15 years, at Midland, Mich., for seven and at Seabrook and a dozen other sites where stop-and-start orders can triple and quadruple construction costs (eventually paid by consumers).

Nuclear plants are the toughest to sell because many Americans understandably suffer the "Hiroshima Neurosis" — an aversion to anything nuclear. But, as Washington governor Dixie Lee Ray points out, "Not one person has ever been injured or killed by a nuclear incident in commercial production of electricity by nuclear power."

Indeed, nuclear plants, such as the seven Commonwealth Edison has been running for years in Illinois, become unnoticed after a while, and log better employee safety records than conventional plants.

There is an obvious need for the "Rule of Reason" to be put to work on this agonizing impasse. The majority of environmentalists are intelligent, well-intentioned souls who somehow see utility executives as ogres out to bilk and pillage. But then some executives think of environmentalists as a collection of Dr. Spocks, fanatics who want to stop everything.

Fortunately, there is a trend toward convening "teachable" environmentalists and open-minded executives to at least talk away at environmental

Ham Jordan responds to columns

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The White House brought top aide Hamilton Jordan and press secretary Jody Powell down from the Camp David summit last weekend to respond to our columns about the attempt to fix fugitive financier Robert Vesco's legal problems in Washington.

Apparently, the two aides gave reporters a high-powered White House briefing complete with witnesses and documents, to refute our columns. We must rely on the Washington Post's account of all this, because we were excluded from the briefing despite a request to attend.

We also offered to go over our documentation, point by point, with the White House staff and the Justice Department. The White House ignored our offer, preferring to give out its own version of events to reporters. But Attorney General Griffin Bell, Deputy Attorney General Benjamin Civilette and other Justice Department officials spent more than two hours reviewing our evidence.

The White House account, as nearly as we can discern from the Washington Post, raises more questions than it answers. For example, the Post carries a statement from Jordan's longtime hometown friend, Spencer Lee IV. He admitted to us of accepting a $10,000 retainer to use his influence with Jordan to help Vesco.

According to the Post, Lee said he had come to Washington with the idea of talking to his friend Hamilton Jordan about "getting someone in the Carter administration to sit down and talk to Vesco about his problems." Lee said he dropped the idea upon the advice of another White House aide, Richard Harden, who cautioned him about Vesco's reputation.

This meeting occurred on Feb. 8, 1977, at the Washington Hilton Hotel. Not only Lee but Harden also admitted to us that they had discussed the Vesco caper. Recalled Harden: "Spencer said he would get a large sum of money if the thing got worked out."

Yet Harden failed to report to the Justice Department that an international swindler, who was on the lam, had offered money to get his legal problems settled. Harden's failure to disclose this startling bribe attempt, officials acknowledge, could itself be a crime.

On the day of Lee's return to his hometown of Albany, Ga., a telephone message was left for Gerolyn Hobbs. "Spencer wants to dictate letter to Hamilton," the message states. "Get letter off today w/rest of mail."

Several other telephone slips in the same message book have been authenticated. No less than the attorney general authenticated one of them. Gerolyn Hobbs has also given us an affidavit, attesting that she typed a letter from Spencer Lee and personally put the letter in the mail to the White House.

It's a "Dear Hamilton" letter from Spencer Lee IV. It reads, in part: "Regarding our conversation, it looks as the PRL matter will take eight to 12 months to complete. The time frame is well within our agreement with Mr. Herring and the Costa Rican gentleman. I forgot to mention to you when we talked that the necessary arrangements have been made to protect our interest in Nassau."

Government bureaucrats are our own creations

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

Charley Reese

ORLANDO, Fla. — It is better to kill one flea than to scratch an itch.

You can make a fair living these days writing or speaking on the subject of the stupidities and blunders of government bureaucracy, but there is no more stupid blunder than to suppose that you can reform a bureaucracy.

You can only kill the flea by abolishing it.

Government bureaucrats are our own creations. So long as we continue to ask government to play God and then give it the power to try, we are going to be abused. Government will use the power to loot the general population and enrich the few who are cunning enough to push the right buttons.

Both the political right and left share the same hallucination. The right believes, for example, that the Environmental Protection Agency would function in a rational manner if only the bureaucrats were conservative Republicans.

The socialists think that if government could be made all powerful, then it would dominate those powerful individuals in the private sector they fancy are the authors of mankind's ills.

In truth, the EPA would be no different no matter who filled up its job slots and an all powerful government would be dominated by the same people who dominate the power centers in the private sector.

This is so because ideology, party registration and institutional mechanics have no effect on human nature. The same drive, energy and ambition that drives a man to seek corporate power would carry him to the top of government if that's where the power lay.

The same narrowness of vision, envy, and fear which dominates a Democrat in the bureaucracy would dominate a Republican. People can not stop being people and that is why it is wise to limit the power of one person or a group of people to coerce another.

Coercion is the essence of government. Laws are not suggestions but orders backed up by the police power to enforce them. Bureaucrats tend to become obnoxious because having the power to coerce destroys all incentive to live harmoniously.

Let me give you an example. This newspaper has no power to coerce its advertisers. It cannot force them to buy an ad. By the same token, the advertiser, despite myths to the contrary, has no power to coerce the newspaper. Since the relationship is entirely voluntary, both parties have a selfish interest in getting along since a dispute could conceivably cause both to lose what they desire — advertising revenue in the newspapers case and an efficient place to advertise in the case of the buyer.

But what happens when a government inspector enters the picture? He has the power to coerce both the businessman and the newspaper publisher. He does not have to persuade them of anything — he can merely order them. His objective — to enforce a law or rule — is not dependent on their consent or good will. They have no choice.

That's why the bureaucrat has no incentive to be either pleasant, reasonable or efficient. So the driver's license examiner is rude to you. What are you going to do about it? You have no choice.

Of course there are people in the bureaucracy who are pleasant, reasonable and conscientious, but as a general rule it's dangerous to hand out power to people. The whole point of the U.S. Constitution and of the republican form of government it set up was to be stingy with power in order to protect liberty.

That's why when you hear politicians of either the left or the right talk about bringing compassion and efficiency to government, you know they are talking nonsense. The choice is only to expand or limit government, not to alter its nature.

To return to the EPA which seems bent on destroying economic growth, the answer is to abolish it and leave the job of environmental protection to each of the 50 states.

It may be true that air and water cross state lines but so does tyranny and it's just as reasonable to expect adjoining states to work together on mutual problems as it is to expect a federal bureaucracy, staffed by politically-oriented lawyers, to cleanse the heavens and the earth from an office in Washington.

Mark Russell says

Grandpa Goes to Washington is a new show which illustrates what kind of senators we would have if all the voters were comedy writers living in California.

If politics is so much fun, how come all senators aren't like Grandpa?

Lovable Grandpa wisecracks his way through the lovable show getting loving approval from the crowds. I suppose Jack Albertson got the role because Howard Jarvis can't tap dance.

Real-life senators don't have Grandpa's twinkle. A more accurate show would be called Grandpa Attends the Joint Economic Subcommittee on the Proposed Budgetary Effects of Claims Settlements."

After which Grandpa would say, "Hey, do you guys know 'Melancholy Baby'?"

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

In words of GOP senatorial caucus member, 'that's politics'

By BILL KIDD Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Obviously, the member of the senatorial caucus was puzzled. The group had just vetoed, all but unanimously in favor of one candidate for party office, and now the members had given one vote to the candidate's opponent.

Doesn't the delegate who seconded that name have to vote for that candidate too? she asked. No, the chairman ruled.

"Then why...?" she began — and then said, "Oh — that's politics."

That happened with the Republicans — but it could have been the Democrats just as easily.

But since the writer hasn't had a chance to sort out the Democrats' situation yet, here are a few reflections on the Republicans.

By now, virtually everyone who follows such things knows that incumbent party chairman Ray Barnhart of Pasadena turned back the challenge of John R. Butler Jr., of Houston, with both men running on the idea of party unity.

Butler argued Barnhart has been more interested in promoting Ronald Reagan for president in 1980 than in working to get Republicans elected to local and statewide offices, and that Barnhart has been taking sides in primary battles.

Barnhart's supporters were seeing the challenge as a continuation of the internal dissension between backers of former Chairman Ray Hutchinson, through Butler, a problem rooted in part in the split between Reagan backers and supporters of Gerald Ford back in the last presidential primary.

Officially, no one in the Texas GOP remembers that unpleasantness in Kansas City, which resulted in an uncomfortable situation for Sen. John Tower — who was seen by some Texas Republicans as having betrayed them by supporting Ford over Reagan.

Politicians usually have as good — at least as good — memories as anyone else, but feuding within the Texas GOP leads to the belief it's composed of southern mountaineers or Sicilian peasants — all out to avenge past injuries.

But for appearances sake, the pleasures of vengeance often are set aside to gain some more immediate benefit — and that, too, is very much politics.

So on the floor of the convention, things generally went smoothly and appeared hunky-dory — but there were some unpleasant moments in various caucuses.

Generally, it appeared that delegates were more interested, overall, in submerging disagreements and unhappiness to provide a display of unity in the belief that it would help Republican candidates.

Republicans are fielding more folks for statewide office than in some time — and many delegates indicated hopes that even if those candidates fail to overcome the undoubted advantages Democratic nominees have in Texas, the races will be close enough to encourage more Republicans to make such efforts.

While there's been much said — and will be more said before Nov. 7 (and afterwards) — on the gubernatorial race by Bill Clements and attorney general's office campaign by Jim Baker, it appears that M. John Tower's re-election remains the top priority with most Texas Republicans.

Tower appeared for a brief speech, blasting his opponent Bob Krueger, and expressing confidence that he'll have little trouble retaining his Senate seat.

Before his speech, sitting in a room in the back hall of the Dallas Convention Center, Tower appeared relaxed and unconcerned about his challenger.

His campaign, Tower said, is going well; his polls are accurate, and favorable; he has a "substantial and unerosable" base of support with minority groups.

Texas, he contends, is still a basically conservative state — regardless of population shifts.

Texasans are worried about inflation, big government, deficit spending and the economic situation — all things he's been working on, the senator commented — and he thinks the independents and "ticket-splitters" (or "November Republicans," as some call them) will add their votes to the GOP as before, and send him back to Washington.

And very likely many of those independents won't have paid any attention to either party convention — and won't care how much unity or disunity there is in either party.

But, as the lady said, "that's politics."

ART BUCHWALD

'Surely a busty brunette is worth a redhead who can turn cartwheels'

By ART BUCHWALD The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — A new element has been added to pro football. Thanks to the showmanship of the Dallas Cowboys, female cheerleaders have become as important as the teams, and every pro football club owner is determined to present the sexiest girls that money can buy.

The competition is so fierce that there is now talk of the NFL holding a draft for college cheerleaders similar to the one they hold for players. The team with the worst cheerleading records would have the first picks of the new crop. There are trades now going on between the cheerleader coaches in the NFL, and every pro organization is looking for someone to bolster its line.

I was in the office of the coach of the Washington Redskins, and there was a great flurry of activity.

The coach was on the phone to the Los Angeles Rams. I heard her say, "Harriet, we need an offensive pom-pom girl. We'll give you two baton twirlers and a 1979 draft pick in exchange for a six-foot blonde with a 40-inch bust.... No, we don't want her. Our scouts say she uses silicone. What about Genevieve? We hear she's fighting with the other girls and wants to move to Washington. I'll trade you Candy and Susie for her.... What do you mean they're too old? Candy and Susie are in their prime. They haven't dropped a baton in six games. If they don't get injured, they're good for four more seasons. Get back to me because I may make a deal with the Boston Patriots."

The Redskinettes coach told her secretary to get the St. Louis Cardinals cheerleader coach on the phone. "Mabel, how would you like a defensive redhead who can do handstands? Joe Namath says she has the best legs in pro football. She can do 'Saturday Night Fever' in four minutes flat, and the ABC cameras had her on for 30 seconds while Howard Cosell was talking about Muhammed Ali.... What do I want in exchange? Do you have a brunette who can do cartwheels and splits?.... No, I'm not selling you a dog. We have too many redheads on the squad now, but we're weak on brunettes who can do cartwheels.... Honest to Pete, Mabel, I hate to trade her, but I can only use her at halftime, and she says if she can't dance during the entire game she doesn't want to sit on the bench.... No, I can't offer you our first draft choice for 1980. We gave her away to Baltimore for Miss Maryland of 1971. We needed some depth during the TV commercial breaks. Will you get back to me?"

One of the Redskinettes' assistants came in. "Mary, Helen wants to be put on waivers. She just broke up with one of the Redskins, and she says she doesn't have the heart to cheer for our team any more."

"Oh God," the coach said. "We built Sousa's entire Washington Post March number around her. Can't we find her another player?"

"I spoke to Coach Jack Pardee, and he said he can't spare any more players for the cheerleading team. He's having enough trouble with bed checks now."

"Where does she want to go?"

"She said she'd like to cheer for Cleveland."

"Does Cleveland have anybody we want?"

"They have a kicker who's out of this world."

"How are her hips?"

"Terrific. She gets more applause when her back is to the crowd than when she's facing it. And she can wiggle her fanny to the 'Marine Corps Hymn.'"

"Why would Cleveland want to trade her?"

"She fumbles a lot."

"All right, I'll call Cleveland. Is there anything else?"

"The Women's Lib delegation is still sitting out in the hall on the floor waiting to see you."

"What on earth do they want to talk to me about?"

"Beats me."

POSITIVE THINKING

Success: the art of becoming your own asset

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I'd been working with a young man for some time, trying to help him find himself. For a long while I seemed to be getting nowhere with him. One major reason was his tendency to blame everyone but himself for his problems.

Then one day he came up with an insight which showed he needed me no longer, because he had learned how to help himself.

He was excited as he told me, "I've discovered what's wrong with me."

"Well, what is it?" I asked.

"I've been associating with bad company," he answered.

"You can stop that," I commented.

"Who is this bad company?"

"Why it's me," he replied. "I've discovered that I'm a liability to myself."

This was indeed a fortunate discovery, but what this young man still needed to learn was how to become an asset to himself rather than a liability.

Indeed, this is a problem for many of us. Any person can either be an asset or a liability to himself. Lots of people would get along wvery well in life if only they did not have themselves to contend with.

They are always getting in the way of themselves, obstructing themselves, tripping themselves up. Time after time, they cause their own defeat and failure. They are a constant source of embarrassment to themselves. But it needn't be so, for you can become an asset to yourself.

Here are a few basic suggestions:

1. Cultivate pleasant, appreciative attitudes that result in good personal relations. People want to help those who act this way and everyone needs the help of others.

Sometime ago I had the privilege of presenting to former President Herbert Hoover the annual Horatio Alger Award on behalf of the American Schools and Colleges Association. In the presentation I asked Mr. Hoover how he accounted for his great achievement in life. He was orphaned at seven and worked his own way through life thereafter.

"I received much help and advice from older people. They were always kind to me," he replied and then added, "Young people should realize how much older people would like to help them if given the opportunity." You also can benefit by the wisdom and experience of others.

2. Develop a creative and positive attitude toward every problem. Keep your mind free of negatives. View every situation optimistically, believing that in some way, through God's guidance and your own creative ability, you can work it out.

One of America's most successful business women, Mrs. Blanche Green, has said that she always approaches a difficult proposition by repeating and trusting the Biblical text, "If God be for us, who can be against us?" She personalizes the passage by substituting "me" for "us." Such humble confidence always Did you see it?

Sometimes the strategy of taking all you can while you can get it works. Sometimes it is a good idea to take more than you can use or need right now.

Did you think I am talking about Begin and Middle East territory? No, I'm talking about Midland, Texas. I'm talking about the startling story by Susan Toth in The Reporter-Telegram. It's on page one, headed "40 percent hike cited for property valuations."

Did you see it? What do you think about it? If you missed it, maybe your neighbor still has a paper.

To whet your appetite, here are a few quotes:

From the assessor-collector Virgil Jones, "Property valuations in Midland will increase 40 percent overall and at least 100 percent in east and south Midland next January." He is candid enough to add that these "increases come only two years after a complete overhaul of city property values in 1977." He gives some dollar-figure examples which are, to say the least, frightening. He says freely that he expects the assessed valuation of most property to double by 1981. And that's not all. Read it yourself.

I'm an old clipping saver, and I think statements made by city officials to justify the enormous increase

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

No news is...

To The Editor: I have been incarcerated in the Midland County Jail for the past 95 days. Last month my parents subscribed to The Reporter-Telegram for me and for my husband, who is also incarcerated here. We received our newspapers with no problem for a month.

Today, with no explanation, an announcement was made that we would no longer be allowed the privilege of receiving our newspapers. Both my husband and I feel that this is a direct violation of our civil rights to have contact with a news media.

Recently, the sheriff has installed a radio system, but we are forced to listen to whatever station the sheriff's department wants us to. Therefore, we are unable to listen to a daily news program. Today we have even been denied the radio with no explanation again!

I feel that the people of Midland County should be made aware of their elected officials actions. Do the people of Midland County approve of these measures? How does The Midland Reporter-Telegram feel about this? If nothing else, why doesn't The Midland Reporter-Telegram donate papers to the county jail?

Although we are prisoners here, we are supposed to be innocent until proven guilty. Have our rights been violated? We, all the inmates here, feel that they have.

Please print this letter for us in the hopes that the people of Midland will know exactly what their Sheriff's Department is doing and ask why? Marsha Stilwell Shelton Terry Dale Shelton

In assessed valuation in 1977 will not be helpful in justifying this proposed increase.

My math is the old math, and never was too good, but, when a "market increase at 20 to 25 percent per year" is used to justify assessed value increases of 40 to 100 percent, I wonder. And then this thing about compounding. It's great if you're getting interest compounded daily. But real estate values do not go up by compound interest rates.

Read the article. What do you think about it? M.A. Bonnar Midland

New teen center

To The Editor: The Midland High School newspaper reported that a new parking lot will be available soon. That's good news!

The paper also contained an article about their youth center which they stated needs to be redone. Perhaps not many parents read this article, so I'd like to call it to your attention.

We all know about L Street, we ought to also know about the youth center and its condition.

The school paper suggested some re-newing, but I think an even better solution would be to sell that piece of property and build a new youth center over the parking lot to the west. We do have office buildings built in this manner with parking under the buildings. The center could be made larger than it now is and, as the article suggested, it could be leased to other organizations for upkeep. A city-wide campaign perhaps with a bike-a-thon, contributions and proceeds from the sale of the old facility should help in this project.

Dads have nice clubs in Midland, even babies have nice nurseries; cannot our youth have a classy youth center?

The Tall City has many nice buildings. Which one is for teens? If you are willing to see a new purple carpeted youth center at Midland High, why not let the high school paper know about it? Mrs. J.B. Keaton 2006 Sands St.

To The Editor: I am a girl, 16 years old, presently attending a high school in Seoul, Korea.

In my country we are taught the English language from the first grade of junior high school as the most important subject. To improve our English we practice not only in the regular class, but also through our English club, for those 13 to 19 years old, of which I am now the leader.

My English teacher told me that letter writing would be of great help for improving our English and suggested that I write to you on behalf of the boys and girls of my school. Most of them are very eager to have friends from your beautiful country. And they would really appreciate your putting this letter into your newspaper.

Simplistic view

To The Editor: Your editorial of Wednesday, September 6th, criticizing government spending and the waste of taxpayers' dollars was unusually misleading. The topic is of great concern to all taxpayers and you rightly devoted a good deal of space to the issue.

Unfortunately, you have misinterpreted the facts in the two cases you cite to prove that the public's money is being squandered. In both the Seabrook nuclear power plant project in New Hampshire and the Tellico Dam project in Tennessee, the responsibility for wasting tax dollars rests with the respective organizers of these projects and not the "changing standards in environmental concern" as you state it.

In both instances neither the public service company nor the TVA cooperated with the appropriate federal agencies in following the policies of the national environmental policy act of 1970.

In the Tellico Dam project particularly, this statement was made a mockery by the refusal of the TVA to follow or even acknowledge its findings. The dam was built ignoring this and other recommendations that came from concerned citizens groups. As a last straw, the snail darter issue was brought into play because the endangered species act is really the only federal statute with real backbone. It could stop the project and it did.

But the point is, and you overlook this very conveniently, is that the problem would not exist today had the TVA not arrogantly assumed that it could do as it pleased. Despite federal laws to the contrary, The Seabrook issue is part and parcel to a larger problem, namely the disposal of nuclear waste products.

Please disagree with federal and state environmental issues if you like. Go to court and write your congressman to change the laws. But why call for a public outcry and upheaval as you did in your editorial? If you do so, at least make an attempt at getting the story straight and avoid taking a simplistic viewpoint over a series of very complex issues. William F. Diggins 2700 Midland Drive

Shame on us

To The Editor: Today, Tuesday, Parks and Recreation director, Wayne Kohout, said we are two parks short, and next year we will be four parks short. Shame on you, sir; shame on you, city council; shame on me, Midland, for allowing existing parks to be closed to our high school age teenagers and other young adults.

We don't need new parks to be closed for use after sundown. We need to utilize the existing parks and offer them for use to all citizens at what ever time they can use them. Please recognize, Midland, that our high schoolers go to school all day, a lot of them work and need a place to meet and socialize after what we consider normal hours.

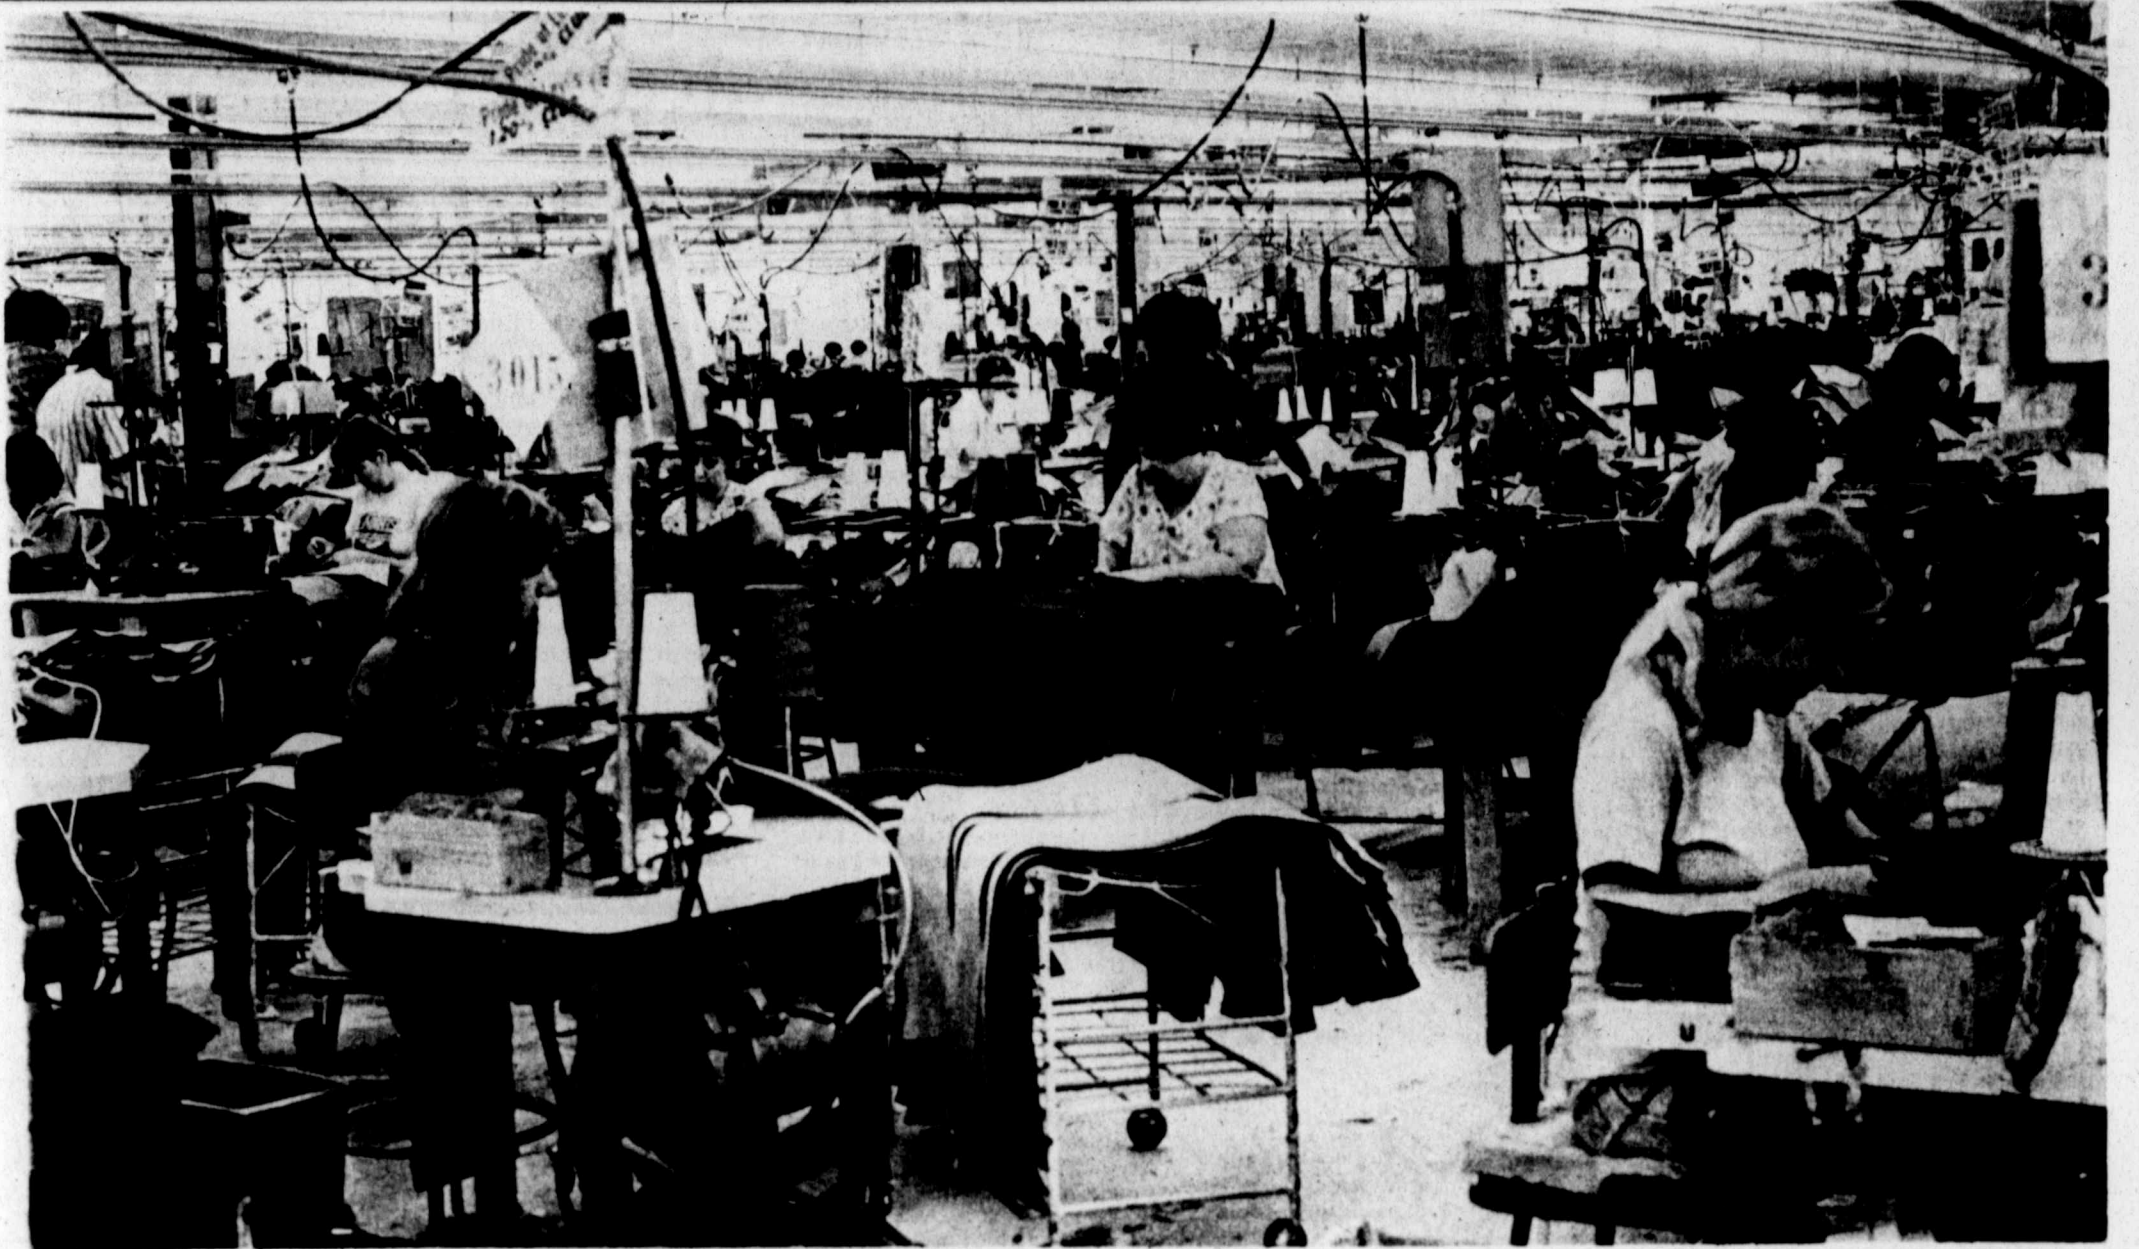

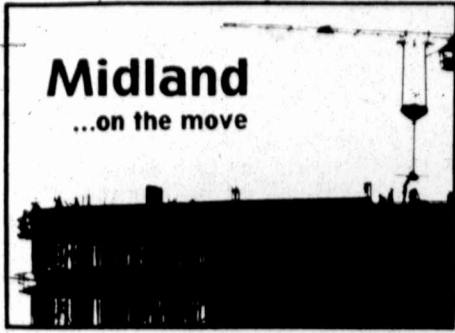

The old parking lots are closed to them, the ones 18 or older go to the bars or discoes — was that the intent in closing the parks?

The people living near the parks have been very vocal of the abuses of the facilities by a few of the people. (Note, I did not say teenagers.) This outcry of the vocal minority has closed the parks at night.

Recreation means different things to all people. Please, let's not structure and regiment socializing — let it be natural. We have Little League baseball, Pop Warner football, basketball, Miss Teen-age softball, etc. These kids have had this well-intentioned, but misguided garbage forced on them since they were six years old. Let's leave them alone and let them provide and form their own social structure — I have confidence in them.

Come on, Mr. Kohout, let's open the parks, we can provide a meeting place for our kids now. We'll lose them soon enough. We adults have access to all types of entertainment, they don't. We can provide a great outlet for their energies with no capital outlay, just by reversing an ordinance closing the parks after early evening, just make it 1 a.m. Why spend money for new parks just to close them at sundown? Think about it Midland. Charles R. Henderson 4420 Storey St.

The Midland story is Industrial Foundation story

Ask anyone who has followed Midland's development over the past 20 years or so what the key is to continued growth and prosperity, and the answer almost certainly will be more and a wider variety of industry.

One of the primary tools for reaching that goal is the Industrial Foundation of Midland Inc. and the industrial park it owns and manages.

Fred Tyler, executive vice president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, has been involved with the foundation since it was in the planning stages more than 10 years ago.

During the mid-1960s, Tyler remembers, the Midland economy was "relatively slow," and city leaders were looking for a way to bring in diversified industry.

The foundation, and the attraction of developed property in an industrial park, formed the basis of the city's plan to rejuvenate the economy.

Now, a little more than 10 years — and at least 1,200 new jobs later — Tyler looks on the effort as a "fantastic success."

Industrial Park is between U.S. Highway 80 and Interstate 20, bounded on the west by Holiday Hill Road. About 70 percent of the available space in the original 200-acre parcel of land has been sold or leased. The approximately 30 businesses operating in the park employ from five to 315 persons.

The largest employer is Levi Strauss, with Teraco (85 employees) and the Department of Public Safety (73 employees) among other major employers.

Because the remaining available plots are small or adjoining a rail line and, thus, reserved for rail users, foundation officers are in the process of planning Phase II on the other side of Holiday Hill Road.

The foundation is a non-profit corporation, chartered in 1968. It is run by a board of directors appointed by the Chamber of Commerce board.

Winston Barclay, this year's foundation board president, said the foundation is "a tool to help make Midland and Midland County competitive with other areas — not just other major towns, but other states."

Before the foundation was formed, Tyler said, it was difficult to assemble hard information about available land and costs for industrial prospects. Further, industries often are seeking land on which they can build immediately — or even a building which, with modifications, can be used.

Barclay agreed that before an industry will give serious consideration to a community, suitable land must be "pretty well ready to go. They're just not interested in a peach tree orchard."

Availability of financing often is another consideration for an industry looking for a home city.

And the foundation can help with all those problems, Tyler said. Tyler credits Midland banks and savings and loan associations, with their willingness to provide financing, with a portion of the foundation's success.

"The foundation is flexible," Barclay said. It will sell land or, as is true for about half of the industries in the park now, build to lease.

Land in the park already is developed, with streets and alleys built, and utilities immediately available.

The foundation's sole purpose is to create jobs, said Doug Henson, First National Bank vice president in charge of the bank's Economic Development Department.

Thus, Henson said, the foundation serves as an "agent" for other industrial property in the community, such as the industrial area at Midland Regional Airport which is owned by the city of Midland and several privately owned industrial parks.

So Tyler's estimate of 1,200 new jobs created by industries locating in the foundation's park is only part of the story.

Of course, before the foundation could purchase and develop the park area, money had to be raised.

Barclay said a number of cities finance their industrial parks through outright donations. But foundation organizers decided instead to issue "debentures," loans to be paid back at a fixed rate of interest.

Of the first $300,000 issue, $275,000 in debentures were sold, Barclay said. However, all but about $100,000 were donated later, he said. The loans were repaid last year.

A second set of debentures issued about 8 years ago matures in 1980.

While foundation officials, working with the MAST, Midland Area Sales Team, of the Chamber of Commerce, aggressively works to sell Midland, foundation officials say they exercise discretion in whom they court.

"We're beggars, but we're also choosers," Henson said.

Henson said the city is seeking "good corporate citizens" that will pay their "fair share" of taxes and fees for services and become involved in civic activities.

Sometimes there is a problem, Henson said, because industry representatives often do not reveal the name of the company looking at the city. That makes it difficult to know whether to work hard to sell the industry or "show them our bad points," he said.

While some communities make large financial concessions to attract industry, Midland's planners decided early not to give anything away "unless it became absolutely necessary," Tyler said.

And in every case except one, land has been sold at appraised value, he said. The exception was the Department of Public Safety building in the park. Because it was decided that facility would be a desirable addition to the park, land was given to DPS, but donations paid the foundation the cost of the land.

"We wanted to keep it a high-grade park," Tyler said. So "planning standards" providing for set-backs, screens for outdoor storage and landscaping requirements were instituted, he said.

In seeking a well-planned park area, Barclay said, the foundation sought to provide a variety of services. Land even was set aside for a motel, which since has been built.

During the past two years or so, the officials agreed, the nature of industries looking at Midland has changed.

Today, the typical industry looking at Midland is seeking a tract of approximately 100 acres of land and expects to employ about 1,000 persons.

Henson said he thinks this change is part of the natural "evolution" of Midland as an industrial center.

The first kind of industry that comes into a city, he said, is light industry, "female or secondary income type industry," such as Texas Instruments or Levi Strauss.

"That gets your name on the map as a community that's interested in being an industrial community," Henson said.

The next step is to get "male" industry, which generally involves heavy manufacturing, he added.

The evolution process has been speeded up in Midland, Henson said, because of the ready availability of energy resources.

In addition to the obvious energy advantages of Midland's sitting on a large supply of oil and natural gas, there is a Chamber of Commerce program to guarantee supplementary natural gas to heavy users in the event of a supply curtailment, he said.

Thus the prediction is that future land sales will be in larger tracts, for the most part, although officials expect the demand for small one- and two-acre plots to continue, also.

As to how much of a role the park itself has had in luring industry to Midland, Barclay said some of the park landowners and tenants, such as United Parcel Service, obviously would have located somewhere in the area, anyway.

But, Barclay pointed out, a business such as UPS in the park makes it a more attractive place to other businesses seeking a place to locate.

Tyler said the park is "directly responsible for those 1,200 new jobs."

What about the next 10 years? "That's a tough question to answer because your chances of being wrong are greater than being right," Henson said. But, he hastened to add, every year has been better than the past, and there's no reason to expect the trend to change.

The "Midland Story" is one of growth and progress, and the Industrial Foundation of Midland is an important part of the story. The Reporter-Telegram will continue to study what's happening to Midland and why. Handling growth through city planning will be examined next Sunday.

This view, at 2,000 feet, shows plenty of room at the Industrial Foundation's Park. The park is close enough to Midland, evidenced by the lightly outlined skyline in the upper center, but far enough out to avoid congestion.

Selling city can be complex, then sometimes it's a piece of cake

The business of selling a community is a complex process, and sometimes strange things cause the game to be won or lost.

Douglas Henson, First National Bank vice president in charge of the Economic Development Department, remembers the time a birthday cake may have been responsible for an industry coming to Midland:

The firm, a major Midland employer now, had determined that three communities offered an equally good profit situation. The company's representative had been in Midland, accompanied by his wife and son, before going on a vacation to Padre Island.

It was the young son's birthday, but, traveling, the family didn't have a cake. But someone on the Midland sales team found out about the event, got a cake and threw a small party at the airport.

"I'm convinced to this day that birthday cake was the thing (that brought the firm to Midland)," Henson said.

Of course, it doesn't always work that way. Winston Barclay, president of the Industrial Foundation of Midland Inc., said Midland was once under consideration for the location of a federal project which required good flying weather.

"We thought this area out here was fine," Barclay said. But the day the project representatives came to look at Midland "was one of the few days of the year the airport was socked in. The fog didn't lift until noon that day," Barclay recalled, and the project was located somewhere else.

"And we do have good flying weather," he added.

Harry Clark, First National Bank senior vice president, has been involved with the foundation from the beginning. He said the group found many businesses were looking for an existing building that, with modifications, could be used.

So the foundation built a building — four walls and a roof — "on spec." It's still sitting there, but it has drawn four different businesses to Midland, he said.

In each case, the business decided on Midland because the building was available and then decided to construct its own, he said.

One of the problems of trying to attract industry, said Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President Fred Tyler, is that often officials aren't told what the deciding factors are.

And, Barclay said, sometimes the decision doesn't have anything to do with the attributes of the community.

"The final decision (sometimes) is not made on any of the facts developed by the experts, but on the fact the president's wife decided she'd really rather live in Colorado Springs," he said.

But the worst thing, Henson said, is losing an industry to a neighboring community, because then he thinks perhaps something different might have brought it to Midland instead. "I'd rather compete with out-of-area towns, personally," he added.

Exchange student Jeff Rea enjoys a joke with one of his teachers at Westerford High School in Capetown, South Africa. Rea spent 10 weeks there this summer as part of the American Field Service exchange program. He is a senior at Midland High School.

South Africa girls 'best,' says MHS exchange student

Jeff Rea, a senior at Midland High School, may have a broader understanding of the world than most of his classmates.

The 17-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Rea, 1206 Community Lane spent 10 weeks this summer living with a family in South Africa.

Sponsored by the American Field Service exchange program, Rea was chosen from some 20 Midland High students who applied for the program last year.

South Africa offered a variety of impressions. The schools are more regimented — Rea wore a uniform which included a coat and tie every day — but the girls are "the best."

"The girls just present themselves so much better than they do here. You never see them in jeans and they seem so polite."

Dating presented another problem since the legal driving age is 18 in South Africa.

"I went through what I did when I was 15 here — the dates were much harder to arrange. Usually we went to a film or to a party."

The parties in South Africa were much more elaborate than the ones here, Rea noted. "They always had good food out to munch on and either a live band or a professional disco," he said.

Classwork in the South African government school was relatively the same as his studies here, Rea noted, but there was little choice in the curriculum. Everything was geared to an exam taken after high school which tested everything that had been studied. The government schools also had compulsory scripture study and "a lot more homework," than schools in the states, he said.

The apartheid practiced in South Africa was "the only thing that really bothered me about the trip," Rea said.

The legal separation of the races was brought home to him quickly. He made the three-day trip to Johannesburg with a black exchange student who was going to another African country. "When we landed in Johannesburg and couldn't use the same facilities, I was immediately offended by that."

During his stay, however, Rea said he came to have a fuller understanding of the problem. "There are so many different tribes over there, it's not like our situation here at all. It's a very complex situation."

While in South Africa, Rea had the chance for some recreation not usually available in West Texas. "I tried to ride an ostrich at an ostrich farm. It's a lot harder than a horse. I got thrown twice."

With an entirely different type of scenery, Capetown is at the tip of Africa just five minutes from either the Indian or Atlantic oceans and at the base of Table Mountain — Rea also got to try some surfing.

Rugby turned out to be another happy find. "It's their national game. I started out on the junior varsity — they call them the 'seconds' — and moved up to varsity while I was there."

The game is something like football here without any stops or times out.

After 10 weeks as a member of another family — the exchange program does a "super job" of matching the student to a family, Rea said — leaving was difficult.

"Until I got half-way home, I was sad thinking of my family back there, but once I passed the half-way mark, I was excited about seeing my family and friends here," He said.

Negro colleges telethon slated

KMID-TV will air a special "Evening Extraordinaire" min-telethon presented by the United Negro College Fund from 7 to 10 p.m. on Sept. 23.

Alice Mitchell and Mae Nell Singletary, general telethon chairpersons for Midland and Odessa, respectively, said they are seeking a goal of $40,000 in pledges this year.

Annie D. Jones and Jean Mitchell are co-chairmen for Midland and Odessa, respectively.

Other chairmen and committees for the television special are: Calude Bowser, Odessa and Annie D. Jones, resource committee; Beulah Dangerfield, Odessa and Carrie Lee and Betty Merritt, Midland, clubs and organizations committee; Joyce Thompson and Ann Adams, Odessa and Betty Lathan and Iris Hall, Midland, direct mailing committee; Rev. Johnny Wilson and Rev. Roscoe Sutton, Odessa and Rev. Johnny Mitchell and Rev. John Campbell, Midland, religious organizations committee; Temple Daniels, Odessa and Odell Walker and Carolyn Phillip, Midland, business committee; and Virgil Hendley, special coordinator.

Also, Willie Taylor, Odessa and Pearl Johnson and Robert Lathan, Midland, VIP committee; Wyvonne Ford, Odessa and Myrtle Shearod and Jane Ram-soure, Midland, volunteer-auditing committee; John Bowser and John Peterson, Odessa and Daniel Allen and Barbara Yarbrough, Midland, can collection committee; Mary Ellis, Odessa and Bobbi Mayberry and Don Clay, Midland, publicity committee; Leroy Hammond, Odessa and Rebecca Brown and Mrs. Debra Graves, Midland, activities committee; and Rosie M. Morris, recording secretary.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the six Texas UNCF member colleges which include Bishop College in Dallas, Huston-Tillotson College in Austin, Jarvis Christian College in Hawkins, Paul Quinn College in Waco, Texas College in Tyler and Wiley College in Marshall.

Moro case suspect militant communist

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Corrado Alunni, reputed leader of the Red Brigades, told investigators in his first formal interrogation Saturday that he was a militant communist "prisoner in an Italian state concentration camp," police sources reported.

Alunni, 30, was Italy's most-wanted terrorist suspect until he was arrested Wednesday in a Milan suburban apartment that contained a large cache of firearms, ammunition and explosives. Police said at the time they also found "important documents" regarding the kidnapping of former Premier Aldo Moro.

Police described Alunni's arrest as a major breakthrough in the hunt for Moro's killers. After saying he considered himself a concentration camp prisoner, Alunni refused to answer questions asked by Milan prosecutors. Alunni was questioned in the presence of his lawyer. Alunni has been charged with arms possession and with being a member of an armed organization. He is scheduled to face a hearing on these charges Oct. 12.

Of 17 persons sought in connection with the Moro case, Alunni was the sixth to be taken into custody. Five others were arrested in Rome after police found a printing shop where, they said, the terrorists prepared the communiques and letters issued during Moro's 55-day captivity.

Motor vehicle thefts rapidly increasing problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a five-part series on Permian Basin auto theft, which will explore the problem, its scope and how vehicle owners can protect against theft. Part 2 will examine the Mexican Connection aspect of vehicle thefts and what success, if any, authorities have had in solving the vehicle theft-drug smuggling problem.

By GUY SULLIVAN
R-T Staff Writer

A person walks to his driveway in the morning to go to work and discovers his car is missing — he has become one of hundreds of Permian Basin residents who each year are victims of car theft.

Motor vehicle thefts have increased steadily each year in Midland, according to local investigators.

However, although more vehicles are stolen in Odessa than Midland, the annual rate of increase there appears to be stabilizing, said authorities.

Still, for the West Texan whose pickup was stolen and taken to Mexico in exchange for drugs, statistics are no consolation.

And to the Permian Basin car dealer who has lost numerous four-wheel drive vehicles to car thieves, such figures don't spell profits.

And profits are what car thieves seek in West Texas, across the state and the nation.

Department of Public Safety troopers said 43,871 vehicle thefts were reported statewide in 1976, compared to 50,896 in 1977.

"Auto theft is one of the fastest rising crimes," said an expert. Authorities said the reason for more vehicle thefts is simple: money. The 50,896 vehicles reported stolen last year were worth an average of $2,500 each. That's a $150 million gross loss in 1977 alone.

Despite the fact Texas lawmen recovered approximately 70 percent of these vehicles, there is a net loss of about $50 million annually because of this one category of crime.

In fact, one million motor vehicles are stolen each year in America.

Commander Worth Seaman of the Texas Department of Public Safety Motor Vehicle Theft Service in Austin said one out of every 139 motor vehicle owners becomes an auto theft victim each year.

Seaman offered some more facts about the auto theft problem:

— The national economic loss from this crime nationally has been estimated at $1.1 billion annually.

— In Texas, almost two-thirds of all motor vehicle thefts occur at night, and about 59 percent in residential areas.

— More stolen vehicles than ever before are being transported to Mexico by small rings in exchange for drugs, authorities believe.

— One-half the vehicles stolen in Texas are recovered within 48 hours, but an estimated 25 percent are partially or totally stripped and sold part by part as a commercial gain.

Seaman, along with

C.C. Benson, manager of the National Automobile Theft Bureau Southwest Division in Dallas, Darrell Joy of the Texas Crime Prevention Institute in San Marcos and West Texas lawmen, continues to investigate and fight the problem.

However, the problem of motor vehicle theft is not going away.

Both Midland County and the city of Midland have experienced steady annual increases in reported vehicle thefts, according to local authorities.

However, Ector County Sheriff's Department figures show rural portions of the county have experienced a decline in annually reported vehicle thefts.

And Odessa Police Department figures indicate the rate of increase appears to have stabilized.

Specifically, Odessa police recorded 193 reported vehicle thefts in 1970, 218 in 1971, 171 in 1972, 194 in 1973, 160 in 1974, 246 in 1975 and 236 in 1976.

In addition, Ector County Sheriff's Department deputies recorded 75 reported stolen vehicles in 1975, 52 in 1976, 28 in 1977 and 10 as of Sept. 6, 1978.

Between October 1976 and October 1977, Odessa city and county lawmen recorded 255 vehicle thefts. And between October 1977 and August 1978, 332 vehicle thefts were recorded, said Odessa Police Department Crime Prevention Unit officers.

Midland Police Department figures show 88 reported vehicle thefts in 1973, 99 in 1974, 141 in 1975, 153 in 1976, 169 in 1977 and 104 through Aug. 1978.

Midland County Sheriff's Department officers tallied 45 vehicle thefts in 1977 compared to 48 through Aug. 31, 1978.

Captain Don Register of the Ector County Sheriff's Department said, "We clear a lot of cases. Most of our cases are joy riders, instead of ring members. They drive a car off for transportation and then abandon it, sometimes after the vehicle has been vandalized."

He said he feels the problem is "fairly stable in Ector County. I don't think it's increasing."

He recommends people take their keys out of parked vehicles and lock the doors.

Register said most of Ector County's reported vehicle thefts are company cars and trucks.

"I know there are auto theft rings which periodically operate in our area. But mainly more cars are being stolen, I guess, because the population is growing. When you start getting more people, your auto thefts increase," said Register.

He said a vehicle reported stolen recently was a pickup which was driven through the wire mesh fence of a company yard. "We haven't seen it since."

Detective Sgt. Rusty Baker of the Odessa Police Department admitted the problem in the city has increased over the years.

"The increase here in Odessa has been because of more new cars being stolen from dealerships," he said.

He, too, urged people to lock their cars and take their keys out.

"This won't stop professional car thieves, but it will help stop the joy riders," he said.

He also said owners should not have anything of value in sight inside their vehicles. "This will only serve to invite car thieves."

Captain D.D. Ray of the Midland Police Department said a growing population with more motor vehicles is a major reason for the city's increased-auto theft problem.

"Sgt. Ed Ward spends full time investigating these cases, and I think motor vehicle thefts are definitely increasing in Midland each year."

He also admitted there is a growing trend of vehicles stolen from the Permian Basin and traded for drugs in Mexico. Trying to recover such autos is "difficult at best," he said.

He believes most of the state's stolen cars end up in Mexico because of the large number of vehicles which are not recovered each year.

While Ray said he believes auto theft increases in direct proportion to the population, he said, "I really don't think it (the problem) is any more serious than in 1970."

He acknowledged the city has experienced a "slight increase" each year because of the growing population.

He said Ward and other officers have had "pretty good success" in recovering stolen vehicles. Ward, he said, has gone as far as Mexico in this capacity.

"Vehicles which end up in Mexico are usually stolen on a Saturday. By Monday, when dealerships or owners discover these vehicles are missing, many times the cars or trucks are many miles across the border," said Ray.

Ray said many stolen cars in Midland are taken by "joy riders" who seek only temporary transportation.

As protection, Ray urged motorists to park their vehicles in well-lighted areas at night and keep the doors locked day or night.

Capt. George Thompson of the Midland County Sheriff's Department said, "The farthest away we've recovered stolen vehicles have been in Las Vegas, Nev., and Chicago, Ill. One was a rental car which was stolen and the other was 'borrowed.'"

"We have one stolen vehicle that we know of which is in Mexico of the thefts reported to us this year," he said. "Undercover agents down near the border tell us that many of the cars stolen from the area end up in Mexico."

Thompson urged use of "common sense" to keep vehicles from being stolen.

TSTA counsel to speak Tuesday

Karen Johnson, legal counsel for the Texas State Teachers Association, will speak to members of the Midland Educators Association and other interested persons at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Alamo Junior High School cafeteria.

"Three Rs — Rights, Risks and Responsibilities" will be the topic of Ms. Johnson's speech. She will provide an in-depth look at various legal complexities in the teaching profession and explain recent court decisions of interest to teachers, said Francine Weaver, MEA president.

A question and answer session will follow. Ms. Johnson, admitted to the Texas Bar in 1973, attended Texas Tech University and received her B.S. degree in 1970. She received a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from the Texas Tech School of Law in 1973. She has worked as a legal counsel for Texas Tech, West Texas State and the Texas Education Agency. She joined TSTA earlier this year.

Chevron U.S.A., Inc.'s, El Paso Refinery has grown considerably since it began operating 50 years ago. It currently employs 222 people and processes 80,000 barrels of crude oil daily. It manufactures 24 products, including gasoline, asphalt and jet fuel, for customers in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. Some of the original 1928 refinery facilities can be spotted in circle in this aerial view.

El Paso oil refinery celebrating anniversary

EL PASO—Chevron U.S.A., Inc.'s, El Paso Refinery is celebrating its 50th anniversary this weekend with a big Texas-style barbecue for employees, retired employees, their families and friends of the company.

Refinery Manager Jim Keating and Bill Nordheim, Southern Division manager of Chevron Pipeline Co., are hosting the affair. The pipeline company also is celebrating a 50th anniversary—that of its West Texas crude line.

The El Paso Refinery was built in 1928, five years after oil was discovered in the West Texas Permian Basin. The refinery started as the Pasotex Petroleum Co., named for the town where it is located, but in 1935 became part of the Standard Oil Co. of California group of companies.

Today it continues operations under the banner of Chevron U.S.A., Inc., the new national oil and gas company Standard created as a subsidiary in January 1977.

Chevron Pipeline Co., which began transporting crude oil from West Texas oil fields to the refinery in 1928, also is a Standard subsidiary.

When the El Paso Refinery started operating, it employed 65 people and processed 5,000 barrels of crude oil a day. Its principal product was fuel oil for the railroads.

Today, the refinery covers 225 acres, employs 222 people and processes 80,000 barrels of crude oil daily.

It manufactures 24 products, including gasoline for automobiles, heating oil for homes, jet fuel for aircraft, asphalt for highways, diesel fuel for trucks and trains, liquefied petroleum gas for cooking and heating, and kerosene.

It serves industrial commercial and residential customers in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, and motorists through the three-state region.

Since its inception, the El Paso Refinery has kept pace with rising and changing product demands, adding new plants and modernizing older ones. Yet, throughout this period of rapid development, Chevron has gone to great lengths to protect and preserve air and water sources.

Wherever it operates, in fact, Chevron makes a conscientious effort to insure that it's a useful and welcome addition to the community, a company official said.

Bill Heck will speak

The Permian Basin Well Logging Society will hold its first fall luncheon meeting Wednesday in the Midland Country Club.

The event will get under way at 11:30 a. m.

The speaker will be William A. "Bill" Heck, exploration manager for Rendova Oil Co. in Midland. His topic will be "How Merry is the Soul of Old King Coal?"

Heck will discuss some of the obvious and some not so obvious problems in coal development, and will offer suggestions as to why the apparent pot at the end of the rainbow might be a pit.

The speaker is a graduate of Lehigh University. He spent four years with the U.S. Geological Survey working with coal reserves in the Appalachian Mountains. He has been engaged in petroleum geology 24 years. He has worked with coal programs in the Powder River Basin.

Reserves revised

BARTLESVILLE, Okla.—Phillips Petroleum Co. reports, as a result of additional lease acquisitions and prospect re-evaluations, it is revising its lignite coal reserves figure upward from more than 4 billion tons to in excess of 8 billion tons.

Phillips' reserves consist of Gulf Coast lignite located mainly within Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama.

The company recently signed an agreement to furnish Louisiana's Cajun Electric Co. with 150 million tons of lignite over 30 years, beginning in 1984.

Phillips conducts and manages its coal operations through a wholly-owned subsidiary, Phillips Coal Co. of Dallas.

SEPM slates Stanton talk

Dr. Robert J. Stanton, professor of Geology at Texas A&M University, will be the speaker for the Tuesday meeting of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

The luncheon meeting, scheduled to start at 11:30 a. m., will be held in the Midland Hilton.

Dr. Stanton's talk will be "Application of the Community Concept in Paleogeology."

Purchase plans told

HOUSTON—Galveston-Houston Co. has signed a letter of intent to acquire all of the issued and outstanding common stock of Stabil Drill Specialties, Inc., in exchange for Galveston-Houston Co. common stock.

The company also announced it has signed a definitive agreement to acquire Progressive Metals & Services, Inc., a Houston manufacturer of special extruded outlet fittings for pipelines and a steel fabricator for the petroleum and related industries.

In the Stabil Drill Specialties deal, Galveston-Houston has agreed to purchase a related company, Oilfield Machine Works, Inc., for cash.

Stabil manufactures and rents stabilizers, pup joints, drill pipe and drill collars. Rental is to major oil companies and drilling operators.

Oilfield Machine Works cuts, faces, threads and reclaims oil field casing and tubular goods.

Stabil and Oilfield are headquartered in Morgan City, La.

The Progressive Metals & Service purchase will be for 25,000 shares of common stock.

Progressive Metal manufactures pipeline related products and does fabrication work.

The company's headquarters are in Houston and employs 40 persons.

Kennedy leaves firm

Grace Petroleum Corp. has announced the retirement of Ralph L. Kennedy, production foreman. His retirement was effective Aug. 31.

Kennedy supervised operations in the Odessa-Andrews area. He had previously worked 32 years as production superintendent for Wolfson Oil Co. before joining Cleary Petroleum Corp. (now Grace Petroleum) in August 1974.

Pending Senate vote most crucial for bill

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram
Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It appears now that the Senate is on the verge of rejecting a motion to resubmit the controversial compromise natural gas bill to conferees to make specified changes in it and will then proceed to approve the legislation.

The House would have to take similar action but most observers believe the crucial test is the vote that is pending in the Senate. If so, President Carter will be more than happy to sign the bill into law.

The bill provides for continued federal regulation of interstate natural gas sales at the wellhead, plus regulation of interstate sales for the first time, until 1985 when the controls would expire unless extended for an 18-month period as provisions of the bill permit.

During the time between now and 1985, natural gas prices would increase gradually under a formula contained in the legislation. The rate of increase would be about 10 percent a year.

The outcome of a Senate vote has been uncertain, with each side seeming to gain some momentum at one time or another. Now, however, the pendulum seems to have swung definitely toward passage.

One evidence of this is that opponents of the legislation are now the ones who are seeking to delay a final vote, either on the recommittal motion or on the bill itself. Obviously, if they felt they had the votes to win, they would not want to delay.

Aware that the recommittal motion as it now stands would likely be defeated, proponents of such a move last week were drafting alternate language in the hope of gaining more votes for sending the bill back to the conferees.

If that move fails in a vote scheduled for Tuesday, the way will be cleared for a final vote on the bill itself.

There has been talk of a filibuster aimed at delaying a final vote for so long the Senate would finally give up and postpone action on the legislation until next year or at least until after the November election.

However, the threat of an effective filibuster does not appear to be great. In fact, a decision already has been made to take a final vote on the bill by Sept. 27 or sooner.

If the legislation is adopted, it will not be because the compromise bill attracted support on its merits but, rather, because a majority of Congress was convinced that some bill had to be enacted and the compromise was about the best that could be expected.

Almost all of the petroleum industry would prefer outright decontrol but an increasing number have reached the conclusion that in the current political climate that was out of the question.

There are still those, especially in the independent producer ranks, who would prefer to have no bill at all to the present one and who want to try again to get a deregulation measure adopted. However, many others in the industry consider this wishful thinking and are now willing to accept the present legislation.

This dispute has led to a split in the industry and this split has extended to the independent producers themselves.

The major independent producer organizations, such as the Independent Petroleum Association of America and the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, have continued to oppose the compromise bill and to advocate holding out for a deregulation measure later. But some influential members of these organizations have swung over to support of the current bill.

Those who have switched say it is pointless to continue to demand total deregulation at this time and that the compromise is better than no bill at all, which would mean a continuation of price regulation by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. In other words, they prefer the specific price escalations provided in the bill to risking price increase action by FERC.

One of the arguments made by the IPAA has been that the bill is so highly complicated and involved that it will mean many independent producers, especially the smaller ones, will not be able to survive. Advocates of the bill, however, say producers can live with the terms of legislation.

Coal gasification bill will hit staggering sum

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—The natural gas utility industry estimates its capital investments through year 2000 will require $60.3 billion for coal gasification projects.

That is nearly one-half of the $126.2 billion the industry believes it will have to spend in developing conventional and supplemental gas supplies by the end of the century.

The projections for coal gasification do not include another $12.3 billion required for plants that will be under construction but not in operation by the end of 2000.

An American Gas Association study estimates $2.7 billion will be spent on coal gasification plants between 1981 and 1985, $15.1 billion between 1986 and 1990, and $42.5 billion between 1991 and 2000.

The figures are based on a capital cost of $1.37 billion for a plant capable of processing 250 million cubic feet of gas a day from coal.

The AGA says high quality gas from coal is feasible using current present technology.

"A number of commercial plants are proposed and construction of the first few plants can proceed with federal loan guarantees," the report says.

"With such support, two plants producing a total of 0.2 trillion cubic feet could be operational by 1985. Subsequent capacity is projected at 13 plants by 1990, 24 plants by 1995, and about 44 plants by the year 2000."

The AGA said such a growth rate is consistent with the rate of growth experienced by the nuclear power industry between the late 1950s and the early 1970s.

"Additionally, the gas industry and the Department of Energy are continuing their combined efforts to develop advanced coal gasification technology which will enhance the commercial competitiveness in the 1990s," the report said.

Projections for conventional exploration and development total $28.8 billion, including $3.2 billion between 1978 and 1980, $6.1 billion between 1981 and 1985, $6.5 billion between 1986 and 1990, and $13 billion between 1991 and 2000.

Facilities to move Alaskan gas supplies to the lower 48 states are projected to cost $24.4 billion. Included would be $400 million for U.S. flag tankers to transport Southern Alaska gas in liquefied form and $24 billion for a pipeline system to move North Slope natural gas to markets. The Canadian financed portion of the pipeline system would involve another $1.1 billion.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has recommended the North Slope gas system have an initial delivery capacity of 700 to 900 billion cubic feet a year.

The $24 billion for the system includes $1.4 billion between 1978 and 1980, $6.9 billion between 1981 and 1985, $3.7 billion between 1986 and 1990, and $12.7 billion between 1991 and 2000.

The AGA says the figures assume delivery of 700 billion cubic feet by 1983 and, with looping of the first system, an increase to 1.4 trillion cubic feet by 1990.

"Construction of a second major delivery system beginning in 1990 is assumed," the AGA report said.

"This could add another 0.8 trillion cubic feet per year of delivery capacity by 1995. Finally, when this system is looped, adding another 0.7 trillion cubic feet per year, the total system would deliver 2.8 to 3 trillion cubic feet per year by 2000."

Other supplemental gas supply projects are expected to require $2.6 billion for substitute gas from liquids, $200 million for Mexican gas, and $9.9 billion for liquefied natural gas imports.

The AGA said the foreign investment required to permit the United States to import 3 trillion cubic feet a year in liquefied natural gas by the year 2000 would approximate $25 billion.

Eddy, Lea, Pecos top Permian Basin drilling

Drilling progress in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico picked up five units over the previous week as Reed Drilling Equipment found 271 rigs making hole.

The total last week showed 266 rigs going, dropping 26 rigs reported at this time last year.

Eddy County, N.M., lead the Basin area with 26 rigs going. Last week the Reed survey counted 30 units.

The second most active area showed Lea County picking two rigs with a report of 22 active rigs over last weeks 20.

The West Texas leader put Pecos County out front with a gain of four units over last weeks report of 20 active rigs turning to the right.

Other areas with 10 or more rigs making hole include Gaines County with 13 rigs, picking up one rig, while Crockett and Sterling counties each were the scene of 10 rotary operations.

Gas men to hold meeting

The Natural Gas Men of the Permian Basin will meet Tuesday in the Midland Country Club.

Douglas B. Henson, vice president in the Economic Development Department of The First National Bank of Midland, will be the speaker. His subject will be "Midland's Future."

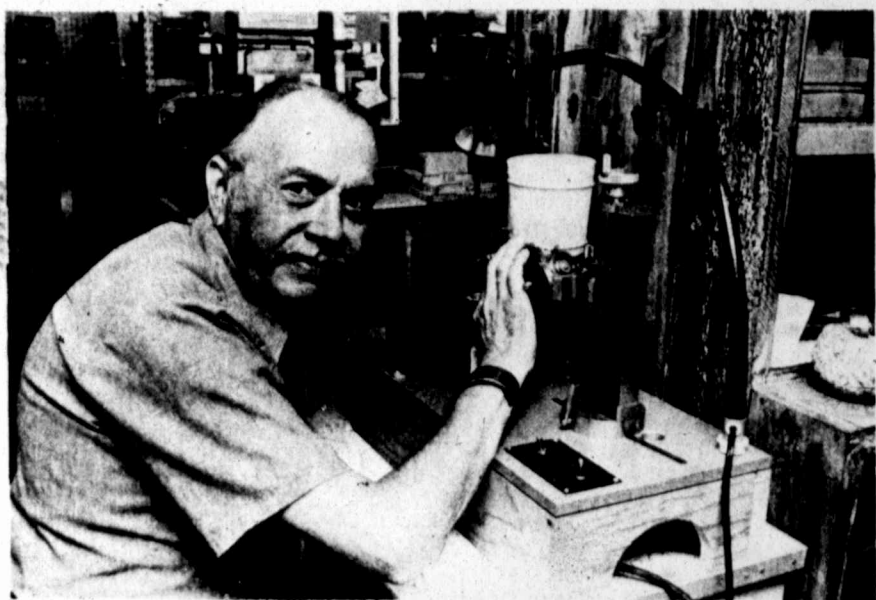

The meeting will be held at noon. Henson, president of the Permian Basin Capital Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of First National, attended Midland High School and Texas Tech University. He also took a course in Basic Industrial Development at Texas A&M University and attended the Industrial Development Institute at the University of Oklahoma.

Henson is a director of several organizations, including the Permian Basin Graduate Center, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Permian Basin Capital Corp. and Ranchland Hill Country Club.

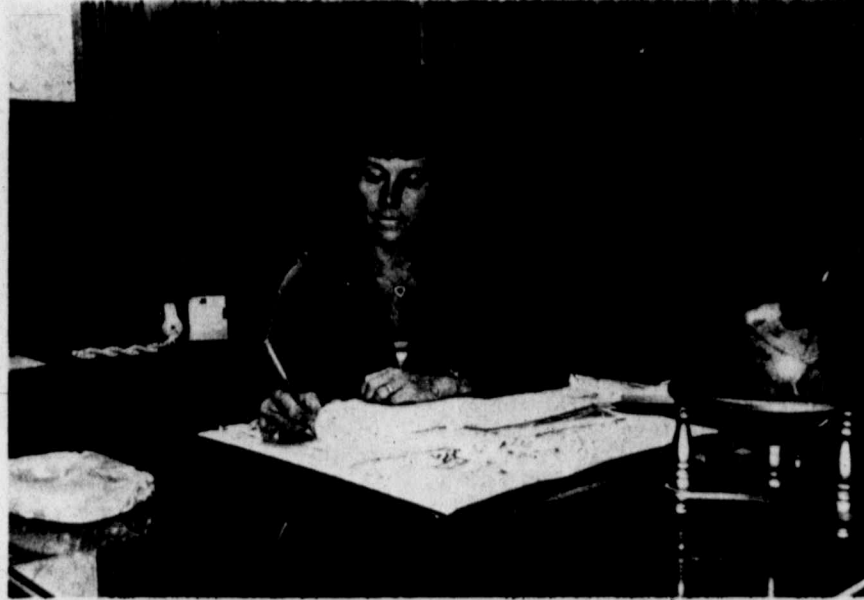

He is an alternate director of Southern Industrial Development Council and is assistant secretary of Midland Industrial Foundation. He also is a member of the Executive Committee of the Midland Area Sales Team.

He is chairman of the awards Committee of the Texas Industrial Development Council and a member of Jobs for Texas through Revenue Bonds.

MoRocCo-rock hound's delight

Joe Moore, who owns and operates the MorRocCo Rock Shop, has been a resident of the Permian Basin for thirty-five years. Born in the southern Oklahoma oil country, Moore attended the University of Texas. He worked for the Bureau of Economic Geology before coming to Midland to accept a position with Honolulu Oil Company in 1940, and where he spent ten years. His work took him to New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Wyoming as well as the Permian Basin. He left Honolulu to become an independent operator and consultant.

Among Mr. Moore's credits are memberships in the AIME, AAPG, Texas Academy of Science, Midland Gem and Mineral Society, Faceter's Guild of Midland, and Fellow, American Geographic Society.

Moore's love for and interest in rocks led him to learn the art of lapidary. His hobby became so important to him that it became a full-time job, and he became aware of a real need for a good supply source for the serious lapidarist as well as the casual hobbyist. He established the Rock Shop, which has evolved into a treasure shop for geologists, jewelers, rock hounds, and even the home craftsman who needs small tools. For the geologist, MorRocCo has picks, books, magnifiers, and microscopes. Gemstones, silversmithing supplies, lost wax supplies, all are to be found in this, one of the most complete rock shops in Texas. It is adding continually to jeweler's supplies. Joe Moore is always available to young people to encourage and instruct them in the fascination and romance of rocks. It could be the beginning of an interest which would lead to a career in geology. Retirees, too, find this hobby to be both therapeutic and profitable. Call 682-2089, or come by the shop at 2407 W. Indiana. It is like a small museum, and you will be welcomed there.

Manpower solves personnel problems

Manpower Temporary Help Services have their Midland offices at a new location, 1002 W. Wall, and have changed their phone number to 683-4624. Diana Krischke, Manager, emphasizes that the good work done by the organization which has made it the nation's number one in its field is the same as always, and she can solve the hiring and employment problems for business or industry. Manpower is a nationally franchised organization, and each branch is locally owned and operated. This makes it possible for employees to pick up their checks at the office, rather than waiting for them to come by mail. The hiring companies are billed according to their individual needs, whether monthly, weekly, or otherwise.

Employees listed by Manpower are fully tested and qualified people. They are both men and women, proficient in the widest assortment of positions: Carpet layers, carpenter's helpers, office machine operators, Clerical help of all sorts, draftspersons. Whatever your skill, or whatever skilled person is needed, it pays to check with Manpower. "Check first with the first."

Attorney Bailey denies charge by Patty Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Attorney F. Lee Bailey has disputed claims by convicted bank robber Patty Hearst that he didn't represent her adequately, saying his primary concern was to avoid more serious charges against her.

In an affidavit filed here Friday, Bailey said that when he was hired, Miss Hearst's parents voiced concern their daughter would be charged with crimes far more serious than bank robbery. Miss Hearst was convicted of joining her Symbionese Liberation Army captors in a San Francisco bank robbery.

She was kidnapped by the SLA on Feb. 4, 1974. Last month, Miss Hearst asked the federal judge who sentenced her to seven years in prison to set aside the conviction because her trial was "reduced to a mockery, a farce and a sham because of ineffective assistance of counsel." That motion was filed by her new attorney, George Martinez.

The heiress claimed Bailey was overly concerned with writing a book on her trial, forced her to testify against her wishes and travelled to Las Vegas during the proceedings.

In court documents filed by the government — which contained Bailey's affidavit — Assistant U.S. Attorney Ed Davis said, "In shotgun fashion, (Miss Hearst) has attempted to amass innuendo and speculation in order to discredit the attorneys charged with her defense at trial."

We're asking the people who took their office skills home to bring them back.

Chairman appointed

DALLAS—J. C. Walter Jr. of Houston, chairman of the board and president of Houston Oil & Minerals Corp., has been named convention chairman for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's 59th Annual Meeting, scheduled Oct. 12-13 in Houston at the Galleria Plaza Hotel.

John W. Phenice, vice president and division manager, Amoco Production Co., Houston, will serve as vice chairman of the general arrangements committee for the meeting, according to the association's president, H. B. "Hank" Harkins of Alice.

In announcing the appointment of Walter, Harkins estimated that more than 600 oil and gas industry executives—representing both independent and major companies—and their guests will attend the meeting.

Harkins also announced the appointment of other Houstonians to convention committee posts:

Richard C. Hudson, independent oilman who is the association's district vice president for the upper Gulf Coast, will serve as chairman of the reception committee.

W. J. Wooten, president, Texas Gas Exploration Corp., will serve as vice chairman of the committee, comprised of all Houston members of the association.

Wayne Hightower, president, Hightower Oil & Gas Co., will head the registration committee. Vice chairman will be James R. Lesch, president and chief operating officer, Hughes Tool Co.

Keith L. Fuller

PAS slates profit talk

Keith L. Fuller, a member of the petroleum consulting firm of LaRue, Moore & Schafer of Dallas, will be the speaker for the Petroleum Accountants Society Wednesday in Ranchland Hill Country Club.

He will talk to the group on "Profit Maximization Within DOE Crude Oil Regulations."

The meeting will begin at 6 p. m. Fuller is a specialist in the application of Department of Energy rules and regulations as they relate to the crude oil producer.

He is a graduate of The University of Texas at Austin, with a degree in Applied Mathematics.

Managers appointed by Drilco

HOUSTON—Drilco, Division of Smith International, Inc., has named three new sales managers.

George H. Wickham is the new manager-Eastern Domestic Sales; Hubert Vogel is manager-Western Domestic Sales, and Rex Jenkins is manager-Western International Sales.

Wickham joined Drilco in 1969 as field engineer and was manager-Western Domestic Sales until his new appointment. He holds a B.S. degree in Petroleum Engineering from the University of Illinois.

Vogel, who was most recently Western Regional Sales manager, joined Drilco in 1973 as a district manager after 18 years of selling and servicing Drilco equipment for K&SW Sales of Casper, Wyo.

Jenkins, who joined Drilco in 1963, has served the company in various manufacturing and sales-related capacities, most recently as Mississippi-Alabama Area sales manager.

Drilco is headquartered in Houston and designs, manufactures, markets and services a variety of downhole drilling tools and equipment.

Smith International, Inc., Newport Beach, Calif., is a manufacturer and supplier of a broad range of drilling tools, equipment and related services for the energy industries.

The company also is associated with the technical development of oil and gas well drilling and mining tools and equipment.

John J. O'Brien

J. O'Brien joins firm in Midland

John J. O'Brien has been employed as a landman on the staff of American Trading and Production Co.'s Midland District, reports Ed L. Dillon, district manager.

O'Brien holds a degree in Petroleum Land Management from the University of Oklahoma. Before joining ATAPCO, he was with Union Oil Co. of California in El Centro, Calif.

He is a native of Midland and was graduated from Robert E. Lee High School.

Private sale ends

ODESSA—The completion of a private sale of $2,750,000 of subordinate convertible debentures was announced by Perry Gas Companies, Inc.

The terms of the debentures is 10 years at 10 percent, convertible into Perry Gas Common Stock for five years based on $12 per share.

In addition, the debentures are callable after one year at 106 percent of par. The entire placement was made with officers, directors and present stockholders of the company.

In addition, the company recently concluded a loan agreement with the Mercantile National Bank in Dallas, Security Pacific National Bank of Los Angeles, and Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago.

According to Charles R. Perry, president of the company, the sale of these debentures plus the long-term bank line of credit will adequately provide for company financing for the foreseeable future.

The proceeds of the debenture sale will be utilized for expansion in the company's pipeline systems, purchase of undeveloped acreage for drilling and exploration, and reduction of short-term debt.

Perry Gas Companies, Inc., is an energy-related holding company headquartered in Odessa. Subsidiaries include Perry Energy Co., Inc.; Perry Engineering Corp.; Perry Gas Processors, Inc.; PGP Gas Products, Inc.; Perry Gas Transmission, Inc.; and Rockies Oil and Gas Corp.

A. E. Palk

New firm organized

Glen Aaron and A. E. Palk announced formation of PACO, Inc., an energy company with offices at 502 W. Ohio St. in Midland.

Aaron has been an oil operator and lease broker in Midland nine years. Prior to that he was a landman with Standard Oil Co. of Texas.

Palk was a geologist with Stand of Texas and affiliated and successor companies 25 years. He most recently was employed by Enserch Exploration, Inc., and Flag-Redfern Oil Co. in Midland.

PACO will engage in petroleum leasing and exploration and other energy related enterprises.

Discoveries, wildcats, field operations reported in Basin areas

L. B. Roberts Jr. of Bangs has reopened lower Fry production in the Crews, South field of Runnels County with completion of his No. 1A. B. Stovall.

The well, three miles south of Crews, finished on the pump for six barrels of 45-gravity oil and 12 barrels of water, through perforations from 3,627 to 3,633 feet after 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio is 333-1.

The lower Fry was topped at 3,620 feet on ground elevation of 1,872.7 feet.

Location is 3,414 feet from north and 4,158 feet from east lines of Antonio Losoya survey No. 515. It is 1/2 mile south of the original opener.

Total depth is 3,950 feet and 4 1/2-inch casing is set at 3,723 feet.

PENN STRIKE

Dan J. Harrison Jr. of Houston No. 1 Joe F. Bean has been completed as an unidentified Pennsylvania gas discovery in Crockett County, 10 miles northwest of Ozona.

Operator reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 1,900,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 6,443 to 6,574 feet.

The gas-liquid ratio is 20,250-1 and gravity of the liquid is 52.6 degrees.

Total depth is 8,062 feet and 4.5-inch casing was set at 7,744 feet.

Well site is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 29, block UV, GC&SF survey.

FIELD AREA

An offset to production in the Howard Draw (Grayburg-San Andres) field of Crockett County has been completed by C. F. Lawrence & Associates of Midland.

The well, No. 1-1 Todd 17 miles northwest of Ozona and 1,500 feet south of other production, finished for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 538,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Completion was natural through perforations from 1,248 to 1,343 feet.

It is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 55, block UV, GC&SF survey.

ECTOR WELL

Continental Oil Co. No. 1-13 W. E. Connell Estate is a new well in the Jordan (Fusselman) field of Ector County, three miles southeast of Judkins.

A re-entry project, it finished for a daily pumping potential of four barrels of 43.2-gravity oil, through perforations from 7,420 to 7,440 feet after a 2,000-gallon acid treatment. The gas-oil ratio is 250-1.

The sixth Fusselman well in the multipay field, it originally was completed from the Ellenburger and Waddell.

Total depth is 8,945 feet and plugged back depth is 8,380 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 13, block B-16, psi survey.

TERRY OILER

Textland, Rector & Schumacher of Fort Worth No. 1 James Witherspoon has been completed as the 10th well in the Warhorse (upper Clear Fork) field of Terry County, eight miles south of Sundown.

It is one location southwest of other production and was finished for a daily pumping potential of 53 barrels of 28-gravity oil, through perforations from 6,592 to 6,818 feet after 16,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio is 302-1.

The hole is bottomed at 6,975 feet and 4.5-inch pipe was set at 6,975 feet. The plugged back depth is 6,904 feet.

Well site is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 24, block D-11, SK&K survey.

GAINES AREA

A pair of potentials have been reported in Gaines County, one in the Seminole (Wolfcamp) pool and the other in the Edmondson (San Andres) area.

Amerada Hess Corp. No. 2-B Seminole Deep is the new Devonian well. It finished for a daily flowing potential of 318 barrels of 32-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio too small to measure, and 12 barrels of water.

The potential was gauged through a 13/64-inch choke and the fluid came from open hole pay from 8,882, where seven and five-eighths-inch casing is set, and total depth of 8,942 feet.

The well is three miles northwest of Seminole and is the second Wolfcamp well in the field.

Location is 933 feet from south and 2,890 feet from west lines of section 229, block G, WTRR survey, abstract 302.

Indian Wells Oil Co. of Ozona No. 2 Jones Ranch is the Edmondson (San Andres) oiler. It potential on the pump for 62 barrels of 38-gravity oil and 118 barrels of water, through perforations from 4,959 to 5,024 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 352-1.

The pay section was acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Total depth is 5,075 feet and 4.5-inch pipe was landed on bottom. The plugged back depth is 5,028 feet.

Well site is 660 feet from east and 580 feet from north lines of section 21, block A-7, psi survey and 1.5 miles southeast of Higginbotham. It is the third well in the pool and is one location north of other production.

On 24-hour potential test it pumped 30 barrels of 32-gravity oil and 42 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio is 3,900-1.

The pay zone was treated with 3,500 gallons of acid and fractured with 47,500 gallons.

Total depth is 4,950 feet and 5.5-inch pipe is set on bottom. The plugged back depth is 4,906 feet. The fifth well in the pool, it is 9,200 feet from south and 400 feet from east lines of tract 5, Burns survey, abstract 325.

UPTON PRODUCER

Cotton Petroleum Corp., operating from Midland, has filed potential test for its No. 1-A Jackson, fourth Devonian well in the Amacker-Tippett multipay area of Upton County.

It completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 58 barrels of 52-gravity oil and four barrels of water, through a 12/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio is 9,827-1.

The flow was from pay behind casing perforations from 11,059 to 11,688 feet. The zone was acidized with 7,500 gallons and fractured with 75,000 gallons.

Hole is bottomed at 12,040 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set at 11,860 feet. The plugged back depth is 11,750 feet.

It is 2.5 miles north of other Devonian wells and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 103, block D, CCS&D&RGNG survey, 15 miles northwest of Rankin.

NOLAN RE-ENTRY

WES-TEX Drilling Co. of Abilene announced plans to re-enter a former producer in the Neill, South (Odom lime) field of Nolan County and test it as a Strawn and Caddo wildcat.

The operation is six miles east of Sweetwater and 4,807 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of George W. Morgan survey No. 295.

Drilled to 6,025 feet, it was finished from the Odom in 1971.

The Strawn sand was topped at 5,486 feet on ground elevation of 1,972 feet. The Caddo was hit at 5,916 feet.

CROCKETT WILDCAT

H&W Enterprises of Midland staked No. 1 Shannon as a 2,400-foot wildcat in Crockett County, seven miles northeast of Iraan.

It is 4,150 feet from north and 4,500 feet from pool of Ector County and set for production in the Atoka.

If successful, it will be the second well from that pay in the field. It is one location east of the other well.

STEP-OUT TESTS

Texaco Inc. announced locations for three projects in the Davidson Ranch multipay area of Crockett County, four miles southeast of Ozona.

All three are scheduled on 8,100-foot contracts.

No. 4-D C. E. Davidson Jr. NCT-1, is one and one-fourth miles west of 6,200-foot production and 1/2 mile northwest of dual Pennsylvanian and 8,606 production. It is 1,300 feet from north and 1,400 feet from east lines of section 9, block KL, GC&SF survey.

No. 8-D A. R. Kincaid Trust is 1/2 mile north of 7,890-foot production and 2,150 feet from north and 2,050 feet from west lines of section 6, block KL, GC&SF survey. It is surrounded by 6,200-foot production.

The gas-oil ratio is 755-1.

Total depth is 8,600 feet and 4.5-inch pipe is set at 8,600 feet.

Well site is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block Y, GC&SF survey.

We've got to improve some images before October 15.

Starline would like to help your business image. If you are in the oil industry or any business associated with petroleum, you can help us.

From October 15 to the 21, the Permian Basin Oil Show will be held in Odessa, and everyone who's anyone in petroleum will be represented.

This is the largest inland oil show in the world, and if you're ever going to make an impression on potential buyers this is the time to do it.

Starline Creative Printing can help you put your best foot forward with professional design and reproduction. Take advantage of this unsurpassed coverage of the oil industry by introducing a new logo or image that will be remembered by oil people from all over the world. Your brochures, magazines, business cards and other printed material must convey the quality and pride of your business. It may even be responsible for customer response long after the show is over.

Starline can design and produce your printed material for the Oil Show, but we need to start now. Anyone knows, a quality-product takes time.

We'll see you at the Oil Show.

W. L. Burleson

W. T. Wheeler Jr.

Retirements reported

W. L. Burleson of Midland and W. T. Wheeler Jr. of Wickett have announced their retirements from Gulf Oil Exploration & Production Co.'s Western Division, Southwest District.

Burleson, a senior clerk in the Exploration Department, worked for the company 34 years and 10 months. His retirement was effective Sept. 1.

He began his career with Gulf in 1944. He has worked as a roustabout and clerk in the McElroy Area, as a senior clerk and technical clerk in the Wichita Falls office and as a clerk in the Midland office.

Mr. and Mrs. Burleson will make their retirement home in Midland.

Wheeler, who had completed 40 years, joined the company in 1938 in Mene Grande as a clerk. In addition to his present classification, he has worked as a material inventory man in Wickett, senior clerk in the Monahans and Wickett offices, and as a senior stockman in Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will make their retirement home in Wickett.

Alvin E. Bushong

Nolen E. Faught

Service awards made

A pair of 25-year service awards have been earned by two employees of Atlantic Richfield Co.

Nolen E. Faught of Kermit, production foreman in the Production and Drilling Department, South-Monahans Area, and Alvin E. Bushong of Kermit, a pumper in the same department, were presented the awards by B. L. Smith, district production supervisor of the Monahans Area.

Faught went to work for Sinclair Oil & Gas May 6, 1953, in Rankin as a roustabout. He transferred to Denver City in 1954 and to Eldorado in 1957 as a pumper. He worked in the Royalty-

Crew in Monahan in 1960 and then worked out of the Crane Area from 1962 through 1970. He was promoted to foreman and moved to Odessa in 1971. In November 1973 he was given his present assignment as production Foreman in Kermit.

Bushong joined Sinclair as a roustabout in Big Spring May 6, 1953. He served at that location as a pumper, and in 1960 was moved to Coahoma as a pumper. He was transferred to Artesia, N.M., in 1961 where he stayed until 1974 when he was transferred to his present job in the Monahans Area.

Program extended

HOUSTON—Coastal States Gas Corp. reports that its foreign uranium exploration unit, CLU Enterprises, Inc., will extend its foreign uranium exploration program in the Republic of Liberia into a second year.

Coastal said several encouraging anomalies have been located by airborne radiometric surveys on the 20,000-square-mile mining concession and a core drilling program will be conducted to further evaluate the properties.

The company's concession in Liberia covers a five-year exploration period which started last November. The concession area, originally 25,000 square miles, has been reduced by acreage selection to 20,000 square miles, and further reductions will be made as the program progresses.

Expenditures for exploration are expected to reach $2.5 million with completion of the core drilling phase.

If a commercial uranium deposit is discovered, the term of the concession will run for 25 years and the company will have the right to develop mines to extract uranium and other associated minerals.

Application approved

AUSTIN—The Railroad Commission of Texas has approved the application of Amistad Fuel Co. of San Antonio to surface mine bituminous coal on a 1,100-acre lease in Coleman County.

A public hearing on the application was held June 28 and the company testified that it would restore the mined area in accordance with RRC rules and applicable laws.

The permit will be issued when a certificate of insurance and a performance bond are filed by Amistad. Company representatives indicated that such papers would be filed within a month.

Amistad's application is the first to mine bituminous coal in Texas. The company, a subsidiary of Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp. of Oakland, Calif., expects to initially mine 200,000 tons of coal per year, most of which will be used at a Kaiser cement plant in San Antonio.

Operations will begin as soon as possible after the permit is issued, Amistad officials said.

The permit area is approximately 18 miles south of Santa Anna and 26 miles north of Brady.

Pennzoil plugs test

HOUSTON—Pennzoil Co. announced it has plugged and abandoned its first exploratory well offshore Brazil.

The test, which encountered a number of non-commercial shows of oil, was 80 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro in 480 feet of water.

The company announced plans to drill a second test approximately one and one-quarter miles south of the first well on the same block.

Joint meet scheduled

The Permian Basin Landmen's Association and the New Mexico Landmen's Association will hold a joint meeting Monday in the Sheraton-Santa Fe Inn.

The meeting gets underway with a social hour at 6 p. m. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting features a golf tournament at the Santa Fe Country Club in Santa Fe.

The Permian Basin Landmen's Association also announced that officers will be elected this month.

Nominees include: first vice president, Robert Caudle and Rick Farris; second vice president, Dale Keadle and Ron Pepper; treasurer, Mike Mullins, Carl Beach; secretary, Lee House, Robin Donnelly.

Director nominees are Wes Chalfant, Bryan Jones, Dan Leonard, Rick Lanning, Jack Larremore, Bernie Scott, Ed Smith, John Young, Jan Watson and Jack Swallow.

Gary L. Pitts

Transfer reported

Gary L. Pitts has been transferred to the West Texas District office of Texas Oil & Gas Corp. as district geophysicist.

Pitts joined the company in Dallas in January.

He received a B.S. degree in Geophysics from Texas A&M University in 1973. He is a member of the Dallas Geophysical Society, the Society of Exploration Geophysicists and the Permian Basin Geophysical Society.

Howard P. Bradford

Bradford leaves city

Howard P. Bradford of Midland has moved to Dallas to be associated with Sovereign Exploration Co. He has been named vice president-Land for that concern.

He had been division land manager in Midland for American Quasar Petroleum Co.

He is a member of the Permian Basin Landmen's Association, Oklahoma Landman's Association and the American Association of Petroleum Landmen.

Commitment revealed

DALLAS—Holly Corp. has announced that its board of directors has authorized commitments totaling $17,750,000 for capital improvements and exploration expenditures for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1979.

Holly President E. I. Parsons said $15 million has been allocated to oil and gas exploration and development. This compares with actual commitments of about $10 million for the same purposes in fiscal 1978. The remaining $2,750,000 of the fiscal 1979 budget has been authorized for capital projects at the company's Artesia, N. M., refinery.

Parsons said the company expected the $17,750,000 budget can be funded from internally generated cash flow and that no outside borrowing will be required.

Parsons said "The budget reflects the board's judgment of an investment level consistent with expected economic conditions and existing governmental regulations which affect certain segments of Holly's business."

"Any substantial changes in the economic outlook for the petroleum industry, particularly those which might emanate from a new national energy policy, could result in an adjustment of the proposed spending levels," he added.

"The increased oil and gas budget reflects Holly Corp.'s continuing efforts to expand its exploration and development activities," he said.

Holly Corp. is a Dallas-based refining and petroleum exploration and development company.

RRC okays sale of gas

AUSTIN—The Railroad Commission of Texas has authorized H&W Enterprises of Midland to sell gas produced on Texas public lands to Ex-Paso Natural Gas Co., an interstate customer. RRC approval of such sales is required by statute.

The sale involves sour casinghead gas produced on five University of Texas leases in the Farmer (San Andres) field in Crockett County.

The commission action permits H&W to turn its gas into an established casinghead gas-gathering system that delivers gas to the Big Lake gasoline plant for processing with the ultimate sale of gas to El Paso at $1.20 per thousand cubic feet.

Casinghead gas production ranges from 14,000 to 54,000 cubic feet of gas per well per day on the five leases.

Program approved

AUSTIN—Approval has been gained from the Railroad Commission of Texas for a unit operation and a secondary recovery program that is expected to result in the production of an additional 750,000 barrels of crude oil from a 43-year-old field in North Texas.

The program is to be applied to the Caddo reservoir in the James field of Young County.

The commission agreed that the proposed secondary recovery project should recover an additional 750,000 barrels of oil, without waste, from the Caddo reservoir.

The newly-approved unit encompasses 640 productive acres within the James field, which was discovered in 1935. The Caddo reef formation is found at an average depth of 3,200 feet and has produced more than one million barrels of oil.

Profits are made by the use of equipment not ownership.

transportation or runs a family home. As a result, the individual consumer, not business or industry, has the greatest potential for conserving energy, according to government statistics.

In order to take advantage of this potential for energy savings and to help consumers cut their energy costs, Cities Service Co. has developed an energy conservation plan for individual consumers.

The program will be presented to the American people by the U.S. Jaycees.

The implementation of the program relies on local Jaycee chapters informing others in their communities about how they can conserve energy and save money at the same time.

The presentation which Jaycees around the country will make includes a slide show which illustrates various means of saving energy and reports the dollar savings possible through each effort.

The program participants also will receive copies of a booklet called "Tips for Energy Savers," which should add to their knowledge about America's energy outlook. In addition, people who attend an Energy Conservation program presentation will have an opportunity to communicate their views on conservation efforts to the Department of Energy on both the state and national levels through reports made by the Jaycees to that group.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON They're reliable

Dear Dr. Solomon: Are contraceptives such as foams or suppositories reliable? I'm interested because I don't like the Pill and I'm worried about using an IUD. Some time ago, I saw something about a suppository being 99 percent effective, which seems pretty good.—D.H.

Dear D.H.: Vaginal contraceptives—foams, suppositories, gels, or creams—are effective if carefully used. When pregnancy does occur, according to a recent report of the Food and Drug Administration, this is often because the contraceptive was not properly inserted, or because new applications were not made before each coitus.

The FDA says that if a woman is highly motivated and follows directions rigorously, failure rates are quite low. It notes one estimate of 2 percent for the whole group of vaginal contraceptive drugs, and another giving 6 percent of the failure rate of one foam.

By comparison, oral contraceptives have estimated failure rates of less than 1 percent and IUD failure rates range from less than 1 to 6 percent. But of course, side effects may be a problem with either of these methods.

These figures, incidentally, indicate the chance of pregnancy for an average woman using the method for one year.

The 99 percent effectiveness claim you mention, which corresponds to 1 percent failure, was made for Encare Oval, a foaming suppository, put on the U.S. market late last year. The claim was based on German studies which the FDA did not consider reliable.

The FDA felt that the claim went too far and could give users of the product a false sense of security.

The manufacturer voluntarily revised its labeling and promotional claims. According to the FDA, Encare Oval is probably neither more nor less effective than other vaginal contraceptive drugs available.

The FDA says that growing concern about the side effects of oral contraceptives and IUDs have led to renewed interest in vaginal contraceptive drugs. A recent meeting of experts concluded that they are rightly assuming an increasingly important role in family planning.

The vaginal products, as you probably know, all contain spermicides which immobilize or kill sperm on contact. They also provide a mechanical barrier to sperm. A spermicide combined with a diaphragm is, obviously, more effective, but also more trouble. Spermicidal preparations used alone are not the same as those used with a diaphragm—they are stronger and of a different consistency.

Check with your doctor about just what method is most likely to be the right one for you.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

RINGING THE BELL

Bellringer looks at Freemasonry

Freemasonry from a Black Perspective: According to bellringer Bossie Simmons, the average American citizen who is not a member of the fraternal order often thinks of Freemasonry as a secret society and Shriners as "playboys of Masonry." Freemasonry is not a secret society but a society with certain secrets, states Simmons.

It is also a well-known nationwide fraternity whose members proudly declare their membership. They meet in buildings identified as Masonic Temples. Public announcements of their meetings are made in newspapers and the stories include the names of the leaders of the organizations, all outstanding men and citizens of the community.

Recently the 85th Imperial Council Session was held in Kansas city, Mo., and thousands from over the country and foreign lands met in a week's convocation.

According to our sources, Freemasonry is a fraternity of men bound together by vows in morality in public and private life who believe in God and in a resurrected life and the constitutional right of members to free choice of religion and political persuasion.

The fraternity endorses free public education, encourages self-improvement, promotes patriotism and respects the Constitution, sanctions equal rights under the law and contributes generously to philanthropies. Masonry is a charitable, benevolent, educational and fraternal organization. Its basic tenets are Brotherly Love, Relief (Philanthropy) and Truth. Through the improvement and strengthening of the character of an individual, Freemasonry seeks to improve the local community, city, state, nation and the world.

Minority Politics. The New Mexico All-Indian Pueblo Council is in a massive registration drive and hopes to unite some 20,000 voters in a single Indian voice in November, according to The Pueblo News. In the meantime, the New Mexico GI Forum, LULAC and Image are said to be joining forces asking candidates for governor (Republican Joe Skeen and Democrat Bruce King) to outline their plans regarding employment of Mexicans in state government. NAACP chapters are reported conducting voter registration drives of Blacks, especially in the Southeastern sections of the state where a majority of them live.

Lorraine Hotel For Sale Deadline: The Feb. 28, 1979, deadline for purchase of the Lorraine (Bailey) Motel, the site of the assassination of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has been announced. The Lorraine Motel would be used as a cultural multipurpose center and would be a national shrine to the late Dr. King. Charles Buford of Chicago and national chairman of the group, said. Efforts also will include the purchase of land adjacent to the motel so that the center will be able to be developed as an educational institution where major civil rights groups can meet and plan, Buford said.

Woman convicted

BERLIN (AP) — An East German court has sentenced a West German woman to nine years in prison after she was convicted of smuggling people from Communist East Germany to the West.

Prosecutors told the court in Frankfurt on the Order that the case of Brigitte Badroth of Rellingen, West Germany was "especially serious" because she belonged to a commercial escape organization that gave children "overdoses of medication" to avoid detection while crossing East German border points.

Airborne device probes space secrets

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — Three times a week, the world's most advanced airborne observatory soars 41,000 feet into the Pacific night to uncover secrets across light years of time and space.

Against velvet blackness, stars wink with brilliant intensity; meteors flash by like sceneries from "Star Wars."

On consoles crowded with meters, scopes and blinking lights, vital observations are plotted during the eight-hour flights.

It's all in a night's work for the Gerard P. Kuiper Airborne Observatory, a converted, four-jet, Lockheed C141 Starlifter crammed with astronomers, technicians and sophisticated equipment — including a computerized, air-cushioned, 36-inch telescope.

The Kuiper, named for the late University of Arizona astronomer who accurately predicted what the surface of the moon would be like when men landed there, has been run since 1975 by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at a cost of $3.6 million a year.

Scientists throughout the world wait in line for the opportunity to go aboard the Kuiper to perform experiments.

"In the three years this aircraft has been flying for us more than 150 scientific papers have been published based on its results," said the mission's director, Jim McClenanah.

The Kuiper is a complex platform "sort of a halfway step between earth and space," said Nobel Prize-winning University of California physicist Charles Townes, a frequent user.

The great value of the Kuiper, says NASA, is that it provides an observatory above more than 99 percent of atmospheric water vapor, which disturbs observations by absorbing infrared radiation.

The Kuiper's discoveries have included water vapor in Jupiter's atmosphere and faint rings around Uranus. Detailed studies of infrared emissions from gas and dust clouds in the Milky Way have been completed from its 41,000-foot "ground zero."

A recent flight hosted a six-mission joint project by five scientists from the European Space Agency and another three from the Meudon Observatory near Paris. They sought to examine the emission of hot gases in a region of the galaxy where new, "O-type" stars appear to be forming — "young" stars 100,000 years old.

The Europeans came from France, Britain, Switzerland and Germany. The visitors were looking especially for evidence of the presence of traces of sulfur atoms embedded in clouds of hydrogen and helium.

Suddenly a torrent of French came over the plane's intercoms.

"Magnifique!" shouted French scientist Jean Paul Baluteau. There was, he discovered, information in the computer readout that sulfur had been found, radiating energy from far out in space.

"I think we got what we came for," said Baluteau, as Kuiper rushed to meet the dawn over the San Francisco Peninsula.

Building alterations said cause of huge GSA losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration has caused substantial financial losses by using irregular bidding practices for work done on government-leased buildings, according to a study released Saturday.

The report, prepared by the General Accounting Office, an investigative agency of Congress, said the GSA permitted building owners to make alterations without competitive bidding.

The report was requested by Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee.

The GSA, the government's housekeeping and administrative agency, also failed to get its own cost estimates before allowing building alterations and sometimes negotiated renewal leases before the work was done, the report said.

As a result, it added, the GSA awarded contracts after alterations were completed, paid more for alterations than buildings were worth and faced huge rental increases because of its practices.

The GSA is the target of multiple investigations because of a variety of examples of mismanagement that have come to light.

Television critic gives new 'radio' show high rating

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Set your dial for "WKRP in Cincinnati" and stay tuned for what looks like the funniest new show of the season. It's about the folks at a fictional Cincinnati radio station that suddenly the newly hired program manager who orders the change. Gordon Jump is station manager Arthur Carlson, whose most fervent hope is that his mother, who owns the station, doesn't find out and kill him. Or worse, fire him.

"WKRP" could do for local radio what "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" did for television news. It's also from MTM Enterprises.

The show premieres on CBS at 8 p.m. EDT Monday, and though it looks like a hit, the going could be rough. It's up against two winners in the ratings, NBC's "Little House on the Prairie," and ABC's "Welcome Back, Kotter," which has been shifted to Monday.

The series also stars Loni Anderson, Richard Sanders, Tim Reid, Frank Bonner and Jan Smithers.

Sandy, 32, comes to "WKRP" after three soap operas and a regular role in the syndicated series "All That Glitters." This is his first starring role.

"I did a lot of guest shots on television," he said, "ranging from crazies to whatever. This is one of my first likeable roles. I wasn't too likeable in 'Glitters.' I was pushy and trying to get to the top."

Sandy, a tall, slender man with longish blond hair, said he auditioned for the role in "WKRP." "It came so quickly. More than any time in my career, I realized you don't know what's going to happen next. "Three days before I had auditioned for the second time for another pilot at CBS. Another guy got it. I really wanted that part, it was a great role. The pilot didn't sell.

"On the strength of that screen test, CBS called MTM and told them about me. They were down to the wire and I think they must have lost somebody for the part. I went in, read on Friday, tested on Saturday, was told I had the part on Sunday and started rehearsals on Monday."

Like Mary Tyler Moore in her show, Sandy is the straight man in "WKRP," the oasis of sanity amidst all the craziness.

"That's a challenge for me because they want me to be laid back and easy going and still keep the pace going," he said. "There's a fine line between laid back and boring."

In an upcoming show, Sandy has to cancel a preacher on the early Sunday morning religious program because he's hawking things like "New Testament steak knives." He's the Rev. Ed "Little" Pembroke of the Toe-to-Toe With Satan Church of the Mighty Struggle. No one's ever seen him because of the early morning hour, so when Sandy shows up to fire him, "Little" turns out to be a 280-pound ex-wrestler.

Sandy said he was also impressed with the respectful way people on the show treated each other.

"When we came back after the pilot to start the series, the producers gave us all of the scripts for the series. That's unheard of. Usually, you don't get the scripts until the day before you start a show. I think that's respectful to give the actors the scripts ahead of time so they'll know where their characters are going."

Sandy, unmarried and a native of Dayton, Ohio, moved here from New York three years ago. He had worked on three soap operas, "As the World Turns," "Somerset" and "Secret Storm," and had appeared in more than 40 plays in stock and summer theater.

ENTERTAINMENT

switches its musical format from geriatric tunes to rock 'n' roll. The disc jockey, Dr. Johnny Fever, played by Howard Hesseman, manages the shift in mid-record, and it's a hilarious sequence.

Gary Sandy stars as Andy Travis.

Pickwick auditions scheduled

Annual fall auditions for membership in the Pickwick Players, the young people's performing company at Midland Community Theatre, will be held Monday afternoon.

Admission to the Pickwicks organization is by audition only. The auditions are held three times yearly, in advance of the fall, spring and summer theater school sessions at MCT.

Students 13 years of age or older are eligible to try out for the performing ensemble. No past stage experience is necessary, said Debbie Waddell, director of children's and young people's theater at MCT. Persons attending Monday's auditions should prepare themselves with some demonstration of his or her talent, such as a dance, song or reading, or with an original art work or design.

The audition session will begin at 4 p.m. in the Blakemore Room of Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave. Addition information on the tryouts is available by telephoning Theatre Midland at 682-2544.

MCT 'September Premiere' brings big week

The current week will be a busy one at Theatre Midland, the new home of Midland Community Theatre on West Wadley Avenue.

Theatrical performances, concerts, dance programs and special events are among the activities scheduled as MCT continues its gala "September Premiere" of its new theater home.

Today's events will include a performance of a children's play, "Aladdin," followed by a puppet show. Capping the day's activities will be a musical program presented by talented vocalists and instrumentalists.

"Aladdin," a new play by Moses Goldberg, director of the Louisville (Ky.) Children's Theatre, opened a six performance run Saturday afternoon. The show is being presented in Theatre 2, the smaller, more intimate arena theater inside Theatre Midland.

Tickets for today's 2:30 p.m. performance will be on sale at the theater box office in advance of curtain time. Reserved seating for additional performances of the play on Sept. 22, 23, 29 and 30 also are available at the box office.

Following today's "Aladdin" performance, a special puppet show will be presented at 4 p.m. in the Abell-Hanger Courtyard of Theatre Midland. Presenting the show will be puppeteer Kelly Draper of Big Spring. Draper, who has been working with puppets for the last seven years, is a member of Puppeteers of America. He designed and made the colorful puppets for MCT's production of the musical "Carnival" which opened MCT's 1978 season last February.

Draper is in wide demand as a puppeteer and entertainer for children's groups, schools, civic functions and nursing homes in Big Spring and elsewhere in this area.

Continuing today's activities at Theatre Midland is a free public concert scheduled to begin at 6 p.m., presented jointly by the Thouvenel Quartet and the Chorale de Camera.

The Thouvenel ensemble is Midland's string-quartet-in-residence which moved here in the fall of 1977 underauspices of the Midland Symphony and Chorus Association. Members of the ensemble will be presenting a series of recitals in the city and elsewhere in the Permian Basin this season. The instrumentalists also will be playing in the Midland-Odesa Symphony and teaching privately in the city.

Members of the quartet include Sally Chisholm, viola; Jeff Levenson, cello; and Eugene Purdue and Michael Rosenbloom, violins.

The Chorale de Camera is a part of the Chorale of the Midland-Odesa Symphony and was formed in late 1977 by Dr. Frank Varro, chorale conductor. Members of the group include Eugene Greenwood, Frank and Margo Varro, Keith and Mary Johnson, Janice Archer, Brad Webb, Bonnie Hanssen, Carole Schmickrath and Jane Hedrick. The ensemble sings at special functions throughout the year.

Two concerts and master classes in dance will be presented this week at Theatre Midland by the Rush Dance Company of New York City.

The ensemble, under the artistic direction of Patrice Regnier, will begin a week's residency at Theatre Midland today, to continue through Sept. 24. The master classes in dance will be open to all interested dancers in the area, and full information is available from Cherry Jones, MCT's choreographer, at 682-2544 or 689-3828.

The Rush ensemble's public concerts are scheduled Friday and Saturday nights at 8. Tickets for the events, priced $3 each, are now on sale at the Theatre Midland box office and will be available there each day this week.

Army slates 'Command Review'

"Command Review," an audio visual musical program featuring the band of the U.S. Army Forces Command (FORSCOM), will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium of Lee High School here.

The concert is being presented under sponsorship of the Midland Chamber of Commerce and will be free to the public. The program is a collective effort of the FORSCOM public affairs office and key members of the band, who describe "Command Review" as a nostalgic musical journey from the turn of the century to the present day.

Visually, the program utilizes three large projection screens as well as six slide projectors and a motion picture projector. These are combined to run simultaneously for 45 minutes, using more than 300 slides and 20 minutes of motion picture film. The visuals depict the hardships as well as the triumphs encountered by the people of America and are highlighted by the numerous historical events in both civilian and military life. While the audience is carried visually from the early 1900s on to the present, there also is a trip down memory lane provided by a "live" show and a vocal ensemble. The band highlights each decade of the 20th Century with appropriate selections.

The second portion of the concert is titled "This Is Forscom Today" which presents the audience with a closer look at today's Army.

Free-admission tickets to the concert may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce offices at 211 N. Colorado St., in downtown Midland. Persons may mail-order tickets by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, along with a request for the number of tickets desired, to Band Concert, P.O. Box 1890, Midland 79702.

"A Royal Welcome" is the title of the opening production of the 1978 Ice Capades — and lavishly-dressed skaters live up to the title in current performances in Odessa's Ector County Coliseum. The popular family show will have a matinee at 2:30 p.m. today, and evening performances Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Tickets for all presentations are on sale at the coliseum box office.

Pianist to add little 'jazz' to opening symphony season

The Midland-Odesa Symphony begins its 1978-79 season next week on a definitely jazzy note — or many jazzy notes.

The orchestra's Sept. 25 and 26 season-opening events will feature famed jazz pianist Dave Brubeck and sons Darius, Chris and Dan as guest performers. Brubeck and the sibling Brubecks in recent years have become one of the top jazz ensembles on the contemporary scene.

The concerts are scheduled for 8 p.m. Sept. 25 in Odessa's Bonham Junior High School and 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in the auditorium of Lee High School in Midland. The concert pair will be under the baton of Dr. Tom Hohnstadt who is beginning his fifth season as conductor and musical director of the Midland-Odesa Symphony and Chorale Inc.

Meanwhile, annual season ticket sales campaigns are underway in both Midland and Odessa under the direction of the Symphony Guild of each city. Season subscriptions for the orchestra's six-concert series in each city are $25 for seating in reserved section, $20 for general admission tickets, and $6 for student tickets. In addition to the season-opening events next week, the season will include concerts on Nov. 13-14, Dec. 11-12, Feb. 26-27, April 2-3 and May 14-15. Season tickets are usable for concerts in either city.

Dave Brubeck

Persons wishing to order season tickets may contact the Midland Symphony Guild's campaign headquarters in the lobby of Texas Electric Service Co., in downtown Midland. The tickets may be ordered by telephoning 684-7461.

Film shows 'coming of age' in urban world

By The Associated Press "BLOOD-BROTHERS" portrays the coming of age of Stony De Coco, son and nephew of super-macho construction workers in the Bronx. Does the high school graduate follow the male family tradition of boozing and lechery, or does he strike out on his own? After studying his elders' squalid lives, the decision is easy. Director Robert Mulligan and writer Walter Newman have captured the sound and feel of urban blue-collar life with all its harshness.

Korean ethics probe nears end

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 19-month-old investigation into alleged Korean influence-buying on Capitol Hill is nearing an end, and action on four congressmen named in the case is expected before Congress breaks for the November elections. Facing congressional adjournment in October, the House ethics committee held two public hearings last week as its Korean probe showed more life than it has in months. The remaining two hearings are expected this week. However, it is less certain whether the panel can complete work on conflict-of-interest allegations filed last week against Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Fa. The committee alleged that Eilberg received more than $100,000 in a conflict of interest involving work his law firm did for Philadelphia's Hahnemann Hospital, which obtained $14.5 million in federal funds in 1975 for a $65 million addition. Responding to the allegations, Eilberg expressed confidence that he will be cleared and that the voters of his Northeast Philadelphia district will "make a fair judgment of my honesty and integrity." However, whether the voters will know the outcome of Eilberg's case when they go to the polls on Nov. 7 remains an open question. Eilberg, like the four congressmen involved in the Korean probe, is running for reelection. Rep. John Flynt, D-Ga., committee chairman, said completion of work on the Eilberg case before the election was possible, but he agreed it would be difficult. Eilberg had 21 days from last Wednesday, when he received the committee's "statement of alleged violations," to file a response. If Eilberg takes the entire three weeks, the committee would have only about 10 days to hold hearings on the case and decide whether to recommend disciplinary action to the full House before the target adjournment date of Oct. 14. Eilberg declined last week to comment on his plans.

The congressman also is under investigation by a federal grand jury in Philadelphia. That investigation touched off a flap early this year when Republican U.S. Attorney David Marston was fired after Eilberg called President Carter and urged the prosecutor's removal. Carter said he was unaware of the Eilberg investigation at the time. The ethics committee has been beset by trouble keeping a quorum — seven members of the 12-member panel — and that difficulty combined with problems in obtaining testimony from South Korean principals has delayed its consideration of the Korean influence-buying case. However, the committee showed new life last week when it sped through public hearing on allegations against Reps. Edward Roybal and Charles H. Wilson, both California Democrats. Public hearings are expected this week on Reps. John J. McFall, D-Calif., and Edward J. Patten, D-N.J. The four were accused last July of violating House rules by illegally accepting contributions from South Korean businessman Tongson Park. Flynt said he believes action on these cases will be completed before the elections. During public hearings, Roybal said he mistakenly failed to report a $1,000 campaign contribution from Park in 1974, but he denied he tried to mislead the committee when he earlier claimed that he had never met the South Korean rice merchant. Wilson said he did not initially tell the ethics committee about a $1,000 wedding gift from Park because he had forgotten about it. Final arguments in the Roybal and Wilson cases are scheduled for Sept. 27. After hearing the evidence in the five cases, the committee can either dismiss the allegations or recommend that the full House reprimand, censure or expel the congressmen. Any action by the committee requires seven votes in favor.

Indian leader stabbed by fellow inmate

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Jailed Indian leader Russell Means was stabbed superficially by a fellow inmate Saturday about two hours before a rally in his support at the South Dakota State Penitentiary, prison officials said. Means was treated at a hospital for a single stab wound in the chest and returned to the prison, authorities said. Two inmates were being questioned in the attack. Warden Herman Solem said Means was stabbed during an exercise break in the prison yard. About 200 to 300 inmates were in the yard at the time. The attack occurred prior to a rally by an estimated 600 persons, including actor Marlon Brando and other celebrities who gathered outside the prison in support of Means. Means is serving a four-year sentence for rioting.

MC cancels open house

A Midland College open house at the new Chaparral Center originally scheduled for today has been canceled, said a spokesman. No new date has been set, the spokesman said.

Donna Young holds three-stroke lead

ALAMO, Calif. (AP) — Donna Caponi Young, going for her first tournament title in two years, shot a 5-under-par 68 Saturday and held a 3-stroke lead over Nancy Lopez after three rounds of the $100,000 event at Round Hill Country Club.

Lopez finished with a 4-under 69 and a 54-hole total of 214 by posting birdies on the final three holes of the 6,324-yard, par-73 course. She took a double-bogey 6 on the second hole but said later, "I was able to come back and that felt good."

The 21-year-old from New Mexico has won eight tournaments and a record $157,000 this year, but her last victory was two months ago in the European Open.

Young, the 33-year-old player from Los Angeles, had her only bogey of the third round at the 17th hole, a par-4, but got her sixth bird with a 4 on the 18th. She started the day 3-under par and went to an 8-under 211.

The defending tournament champion, Jane Blalock, had a 71 for a 215 total and was tied for third with South African Sally Little and Australian Jan Stephenson. Betty Burfeindt was at 216 and Robert Speer, Pat Bradley and Murl Breer were at 217.

Sharon Miller, the second round leader, took double bogeys on the second and third holes, struggled to 76 and was at 218.

Lopez opened the tournament with a 75 Thursday, but moved onto the leader board with a 70 in the second round.

"It was getting so golf wasn't a sport for me any more. It was getting on my nerves," she said Saturday. "I thought about what was happening and prayed that I could just get started and feel good again. I could have shot an 80 today and it wouldn't have bothered me."

The tournament is sponsored by the Sarah Coventry jewelry company.

Bowman in tennis win in MTC play

Turpin-and-Turpin team made their way to the semis by topping Pan American's third seeded Pickens-Segal combination, 6-4, 6-4.

VINES AND Caine will face SMU's Drew Gitlin and Chris Delaney in tomorrow's finals. The SMU duo were upset winners over Diepraam and Jim Hill, the number two seeds, 6-4, 6-7, 6-1, in the other semifinal match. Oberheide and Bowman, the top seeds in women's doubles, were also eliminated from title contention Saturday in their third round match with SMU's Kris Fulgenzi and Jody Jacobi, but it wasn't a matter of being outpointed. The Trinity team defaulted that match.

The two semifinal matches will pit Fulgenzi and Jacobi against fourth seeded Angela Bartzan and Janie Bowen of TCU while No. 3 seeds Fleming and Steinmetz meet Sullivan and Broe, upset winners over second seeded Anne Broyles and Cindy Benzon of SMU in the second round.

All of tomorrow's matches will be played at the Midland High tennis courts, with action getting underway at 9 a.m. with the men's singles semifinals, women's doubles semifinals and men's doubles finals.

The men's singles finals will be at 1 p.m. while the women's finals will be held at 11 a.m.

Memphis State tops Cougs by 17-3 count

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Senior quarterback Lloyd Patterson threw two touchdown passes, including a 94-yard pass to Ernest Gray, to lead Memphis State to a 17-3 defeat of Houston in football Saturday night.

The victory gave Memphis State a 1-1 record, while Houston's 54-yard touchdown sprint and the running of Freeman McNeil on a 44-yard scoring drive gave ninth-ranked UCLA a 13-0 non-conference football victory over Tennessee Saturday night.

After a scoring first half in which both teams failed to capitalize on scoring opportunities, Brown broke a tackle at midfield in the third quarter and raced for 54 yards to paydirt. The 80-yard drive included a 19-yard pass from Rick Bashore to Savern Reece.

UCLA's second touchdown by Bashore from the 1-yard line came after Kenny Easley intercepted a Tennessee pass at the Vol 44.

phs State 46. The drive was aided by a leaping one-handed catch by Eddie Hill, who gave the Tigers 13 yards and a first down at the 26.

Rusty Bennett kicked the 37-yard field goal to give the Tigers a 10-3 edge over Houston. Hill was on the receiving end of Patterson's second touchdown pass, a five-yard effort. Bennett kicked the extra point.

Georgia takes 16-14 triumph

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Coach Vince Dooley of Georgia said Saturday he was drained after his Bulldogs staged a late comeback to edge Baylor 16-14 in a season opening college football game.

"It was most satisfying," Dooley said. "We know we whipped a good football team."

"I'm drained, I don't know what happened," Dooley added. "I do know it was a big win."

Baylor led 7-6 at half-time and appeared in control of the game until sophomore Rex Robinson kicked his third field goal of the day, a 36-yarder, that gave Georgia a 9-7 lead.

Four minutes later, the Bulldogs converted a Baylor fumble into their only touchdown, a 16 yard run by Willie McClendon.

"I'm glad we played the in September in Athens," Dooley said. "I would not want to play them in November anywhere."

Coach Grant Teaff of Baylor said Robinson "was the difference in the game. He did an outstanding job."

In addition to his field goals, Robinson kept the Bears backed up consistently with booming kickoffs into the end zone.

"Anytime you have a close game, and we knew it would be a close game, the little things become more important," Teaff said.

"And they did. Baylor missed two field goal attempts in the game and also lost two fumbles, the last in the final four minutes shortly after moving 80 yards for a touchdown that cut Georgia's lead to the final 16-14 margin.

"We moved the football like I thought we would but just didn't score," Teaff said.

Steele paces Huskies to win

SEATTLE (AP) — Junior tailback Joe Steele rushed 26 times for 102 yards and two touchdowns, and Washington's defense thoroughly frustrated the Kansas offense as the 18th-ranked Huskies beat the Jayhawks 31-2 Saturday.

Washington, which lost its opener 10-7 to ninth-ranked UCLA last week, mounted scoring drives of 43, 50 and 77 yards in the first half and 51 yards in the final period against the young and inexperienced Jayhawks. The 6-foot-4, 210-pound Steele, who led the Huskies in rushing last season, scored on a 1-yard run in the second period that put Washington ahead 14-0 and a 3-yard burst in the fourth period for the Huskies' final score.

Junior quarterback Tom Porras' 7-yard run staked Washington to a 7-0 lead on its first possession in the opening period.

Penn State romps past Ohio State by 19-0

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Penn State was ready. Ready for Rod Gerald, Ohio State's slick senior quarterback. Ready for Art Schlichter, the fabled freshman. The Nittany Lions were ready for anything and everything the Buckeyes threw at them.

"I said before the game I thought they would go with Gerald, but we were ready for both of them," Coach Joe Paterno said after fifth-ranked Penn State set a record-tying four field goals by Matt Bahr, an 80-yard drive capped by Matt Suhey's 3-yard touchdown run and eight Ohio State turnovers to embarrass the sixth-ranked Buckeyes 19-0 Saturday.

Schlichter, the heralded rookie, was given a rude welcome into the collegiate ranks. Penn State intercepted him five times and forced him into one of Ohio State's three lost fumbles as the Buckeyes unveiled a new-look pass offense that put the ball into the air 34 times.

"Woody used up his passes for September," cracked one press box wit. "Schlichter is going to great," Paterno said, "but our defense put a lot of pressure on him and showed him some coverages he hadn't seen. We thought our defense did an outstanding job. Jerry Sandusky, our defensive coordinator, put together a great game plan."

Ohio State's Woody Hayes call it "as bad an opener as we've played. The biggest single thing was our inability to establish a running game, but a lot of it had to do with them. I think our new quarterback will be as fine a passer as any in the country. I think we asking a little too much of him today to take over a Big Ten team."

The Buckeyes managed only 89 yards, on the ground.

Gerald, who played most of the game at wide receiver while seeing limited duty at quarterback, fumbled the ball away at the Penn State 22 late in the opening period after catching a 46-yard pass from Schlichter.

Schlichter, the Bloomingburg, Ohio, hotshot who led his high school team to a 29-0 record, coughed the ball up after he was sacked by Larry Kubin early in the second period and was intercepted by Jim Dooley at the Penn State 36 late in the session.

Ohio State survived a fumbled punt by Mike Guess at its own 34 early in the third quarter but after falling behind 10-0, Schlichter was intercepted by Lance Mehl at the Ohio 44 in the opening minutes of the final stanza. That set up a 41-yard field.

Bahr, who has been successful on nine of 11 field goals attempts this season, added a 25-yarder after an interception by Joe Lally at the Penn State 42 and completed the scoring with another 30-yard boot following Harris' second theft of the game at the Lions' 43.

Despite Schlichter's numerous turnovers — he also was shaken up after being sacked by Bruce Clark in the final quarter — the 6-foot-3 rookie was on target enough to impress most observers. He completed 12 of 26 passes for 182 yards. But his freshman mistakes caused the fiery Hayes to slam down his headphones several times in frustration.

The Buckeyes' most serious threat came in the waning minutes when third string quarterback Greg Castiglione led them to the Penn State 44-yard line.

Nebraska storms by hapless Hawaiians

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Tom Sorley ran for one touchdown and passed for another as the University of Nebraska's 12th-ranked Cornhuskers pounded out a 56-10 non-conference football victory Saturday over the game but outgunned Rainbow Warriors from Hawaii.

The Huskers marched 78 yards to score on their first possession with I-back I.M. Hipp scoring on the 11.

It looked, although briefly, as though Hawaii might move the ball through the air. But a couple of Jeff Duva passes slipped through the hands of his receiver and NU held Hawaii in check through the half. Nebraska led 7-0 in the first quarter. But in the second stanza Andra Franklin scored from the 11 and on the ensuing kickoff, the Huskers covered the free ball on the Hawaii 33.

Two plays later Sorley scored from the one.

Alabama trips Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — No. 1 Alabama, stunned by three Missouri touchdowns in the second quarter, recovered the lead on Ricky Gilliland's 35-yard run with a blocked punt and cruised to a 38-20 victory over the 11th-ranked Tigers on a hot, steamy field Saturday.

A crowd of 73,655, a Missouri record, roared when the Tigers erased a 17-0 deficit with three quick touchdowns, the most points scored against a Bear Bryant team in one quarter in nine years.

Gilliland scooped up the loose ball after E.J. Junior blocked Monte Montgomery's punt and gave the Tide a 24-20 lead after 3 1/2 minutes of the third period.

Tony Nathan dived over from the 1-yard line with 2:04 left in the third period following a Missouri fumble on the 40. After only six seconds had elapsed in the final period, the Tide capitalized on another Missouri miscue, quarterback Phil Bradley's fumble on his own 26.

Quarterback Jeff Rutledge hit Lou Ikner with a 23-yard scoring strike to put the game out of reach.

Alabama, a 20-3 victor over Nebraska in its opener two weeks ago, swept 71 yards in six plays to seize a 7-0 lead on its first possession.

Buckeye fumble pops loose from quarterback Art Schlichter (10) during second period of game between Ohio State and Penn State in Columbus, Ohio Saturday afternoon. Tony Petruccio (99) and Matt Millen (60) of the Lions, apply the pressure to Schlichter. Penn State stunned the Buckeyes, 19-0. (AP-Lapsersphoto).

Utah State edges Colorado State

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Scrambling quarterback Eric Hipple lofted a 33-yard touchdown pass to flanker Jimmy Bryant with 1:50 left in the game to give the Utah State Aggies a come-from-behind 21-20 interconference football victory over Colorado State Saturday.

Hipple's pitch came less than two minutes after Aggie linebacker Will Withers had hauled down an errant pass by CSU quarterback Steve Fairchild to stop a Ram drive and give the Aggies position on their own 48.

Hipple, a 6-foot-2, 189-pound senior, was sacked on the first play following the interception, but came back to throw to tight end John Thompson, who carried 21 yards to the CSU 31.

One play later, tailback Rick Parros carried for two yards, setting up Hipple's winning pass.

Hipple's extra point pass to Bryant was caught out of the end zone.

The Aggies, down 7-3 at halftime, fell further behind when the Rams took the kickoff on their own 34 and marched 76 yards in nine plays, culminated by a throw by Fairchild over the middle to Mark E. Bell for a touchdown that made the score 14-3.

Tarleton State University quarterback Shelby Wright hit Mark Owen with a 20-yard touchdown pass Saturday to lead the Texans to a 13-3 win over Sul Ross State in Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association competition.

Tarleton allowed Sul Ross only 15 yards rushing and 103 yards through the air. Sul Ross held Tarleton to 177 yards total offense.

Sul Ross got on the scoreboard first on a 31-yard field goal by Travis Howard midway through the first quarter. Tarleton's first score came on a Gale Grant 39-yard field goal in the second period.

Grant kicked a 42-yard field goal in the third quarter giving Tarleton 6-3 lead.

Tarleton stands 2-0 in season and conference play while Sul Ross dropped to 0-2 for the season and 0-1 in the conference.

Austin College nabs win

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — Sophomore tailback Kelly Hyde raced 68 yards for a third quarter touchdown to pace Austin College to a 17-7

Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association win over Trinity Saturday.

Gordon Eiland kicked a 28-yard field goal set up by freshman Chris Luper's fourth quarter interception to round out the scoring.

Defense dominated the first half which was tied 7-7.

Air Force stuns Boston College

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Tailback Shelby Ball raced 38 yards for the winning touchdown in the third quarter and Jim Sturch kicked a school record four field goals as the Air Force Academy shocked a fumbling Boston College football team Saturday night 18 to 7 and ruined Coach Ed Chlebek's debut for the Eagles.

The Air Force turned six Boston College fumbles into three of Sturch's field goals and used the other two to halt the Eagles' drives.

Boston College led 7-6 at half-time on Anthony Brown's 34-yard touchdown run, but Ball broke loose off left tackle after 11:10 of the third quarter to give the Air Force, 2-0, a 12-7 lead.

Sturch kicked fourth quarter field goals of 21 and 26 yards to ice the game.

The winning Falcons, who defeated Texas-El Paso in their opener 34-25, got a 37-yard field goal from Sturch in the first quarter and a 20-yarder in the second.

Air Force also capitalized on two short Boston College punts, although the Falcons themselves lost a chance to score in the first quarter when quarterback Dave Ziebart raced 63 yards to the Boston College four but lost the ball two plays later on a fumble.

Temple downs Bulldogs

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Quarterback Brian Broomell tossed a 5-yard touchdown pass to tight end Drew Wesnak with less than five minutes remaining as Temple held off Drake, 36-29, in college football Saturday.

Drake, 2-1, scored first then fell behind 29-7 in the third quarter before rallying behind the passing of Steve Drexler to tie the game at 29-29.

The first Drake touchdown came on a 2-yard run by Rob Forbes.

Iowa State takes win over Aztecs

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Quarterback Terry Rubley connected for one touchdown in the first quarter and a two-point-er in the final period as No. 19 Iowa State came from behind to defeat San Diego State, 14-13, in college football Saturday.

Rubley's 11-yard touchdown pass went to Dexter Green, the leading Iowa State rusher, who turned in his 11th consecutive 100-yard-plus game.

Rubley's game-winning two-point conversion came on a toss to tight end Guy Preston with 6:35 left in the game after a 4-yard TD run by Victor Mack.

The touchdown by Green was set up by a blocked punt by John Meis early in the opening period.

The Aztecs tied the game on field goals of 21 and 32 yards by Steve Duncan in the second quarter. They took a 13-6 lead with 3:12 left in the third quarter when San Diego State's Mark Halda threw 2 yards to tight end Don Warren.

Simpson duels Campbell in NL headliner today

HOUSTON (AP) — San Francisco running back O.J. Simpson, gunning to win his second straight yardage duel, faces off against rookie flash Earl Campbell and the Houston Oilers in a National Football League game Sunday.

Simpson, the No. 2 alltime NFL rusher, won a shootout last week with 108 yards rushing compared to 62 yards for Chicago's Walter Payton although the Bears won the game 16-13 to leave the 49ers 0-2 for the season.

Waiting in the Astrodome for the 1 p.m. CDT kickoff will be the Oilers' Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell, who has rushed 248 yards on 37 carries in his first two NFL games and leads the American Football Conference in rushing.

Simpson will trade his personal battle for a team victory any day.

"I gained 100 yards and we lost and Payton got 60 yards and won so I don't think we gained much," Simpson said. "That doesn't do us much good."

The Oilers can expect to see a lot of Simpson and the ends in Houston's three-man defensive front are considering ways to help Campbell win the duel and the game.

"The main thing when we play O.J. is to attack him as quickly as possible in the beginning of the game," said Elvin Bethea. "You've got to show him it's going to be a tough day."

"O.J. has never had a 100-yard game against us. I don't want him to get 100 yards this time."

Second-year pro end Jim Young, an off-season fireman, expects to get much of the heat from the 49er offense.

"I'm not uptight," Young said. "He's got to come to me and I've got plenty of help. Nobody wants to run at Curley (Culp) and Elvin. They all come at me. A guy in my shoes can get pretty beat up."

The 49ers lost in the final minutes to Chicago while the Oilers rallied in the closing minutes last week to beat Kansas City 20-17 with Campbell scoring two touchdowns.

The Oilers are 1-1 behind Campbell and quarterback Dan Pastorini, who has been throwing less and watching Campbell run more since the University of Texas rookie took charge of the Oiler ground game.

Tim Wilson, a second year pro from Maryland, will join Pastorini and Campbell in the starting backfield. Wilson has rushed only 14 times for 53 yards this season and Ronnie Coleman, Houston's leading rusher the past two seasons, has not carried the ball from scrimmage.

Seattle Slew captures win in Marlboro Cup race

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle Slew, flashing his 1977 form when he won the Triple Crown, led all the way Saturday in capturing the $300,000 Marlboro Cup at Belmont Park, completing 1 1/4 miles only two-fifths second off the world record.

In this first meeting between thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown winners, the 1978 champion Affirmed was second all the way and failed to mount a stiff challenge, finishing three lengths behind. Meadow Hill Stable's Nasty and Bold finished third in the field of six, five lengths behind Affirmed.

Seattle Slew, carrying 128 pounds including Angel Cordero Jr., had been a disappointment because of injury and illness since becoming the only thoroughbred to win the Triple Crown while undefeated. Since then, the 4-year-old Bold Reasoning colt was upset by J.O. Tobin on July 3, 1977 in the Swaps Stakes and didn't race again last year. He was not brought back to the races this year until May 14 when he won an allowance test.

He won another allowance test Aug. 12 before finishing second by a head to Dr. Patches in the Paterson Handicap at the Meadowlands Sept. 5.

In the interim, his Triple Crown trainer, Billy Turner, was fired and replaced by Doug Peterson, and recently, Jean Cruguet, the only jockey he ever had, was fired because he said the horse was not fit.

Colorado dumps Miami, 17-7

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Reserve quarterback Bill Solomon threw touchdown passes to second-stringers Kazell Pugh and Greg Howard and Colorado's defense applied a strangle hold for three quarters to produce a 17-7 victory over Miami of Florida in college football Saturday.

Solomon, who replaced starter Pete Cyphers early in the second quarter, hit Pugh on a 73-yard bomb to boost the Buffaloes' lead 10-0 with 3:45 left in the first half.

Early in the third period — just moments after tailback Jeff Hornberger, still another second-teamer, dashed 27 yards with a pitchout deep into Hurricane territory — Solomon connected with Howard on an 11-yard scoring play for a 17-0 advantage.

Miami didn't cross midfield until midway through the third quarter when, helped by two pass interference penalties that accounted for 49 yards, the Hurricanes reached the Buffs' 14, but that threat ended on an aborted fake field goal play.

Clemson in Wyoming posts win easy rout

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Led by the running and passing of senior quarterback Steve Fuller, Clemson scored on all six first-half possessions and coasted to a 58-3 rout over the Citadel Saturday in college football.

Montague intercepted two passes and returned one for a touchdown, and Hughley turned in an interception and a fumble recovery as the Cowboy defense forced five turnovers and kept South Dakota bottled up all afternoon.

The Wyoming offense showed flashes of brilliance, but was stymied by mistakes and turnovers and often failed to sustain drives.

Fleet halfback Myron Hardeman led all rushers with 59 yards, including a 22-yard TD scamper, but also was responsible for a fumble that led to South Dakota's only touchdown of the afternoon.

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — A tenacious Wyoming defense led by Saunders Montague and Randy Hughley corralled the South Dakota Coyotes to lead the Cowboys through first-game miscues and a 30-11 college football victory here Saturday.

Montague intercepted two passes and returned one for a touchdown, and Hughley turned in an interception and a fumble recovery as the Cowboy defense forced five turnovers and kept South Dakota bottled up all afternoon.

Unser loses close race

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — A.J. Foyt rebuffed a challenge from Al Unser on the final lap, and scored a half-car length victory in a 100-mile qualifying race in the 1978-79 International Race of Champions series Saturday.

Gordon Johncock nipped Tom Sneva for third place by less than a foot. The top four finishers moved into the finals Oct. 15 at Riverside, Calif. and March 17, 1979 at Atlanta.

Danny Ongais finished fifth, the last car of eight starters running. Ongais spun out halfway through the race while battling Foyt for second.

Bobby Unser, Johnny Rutherford and Rick Mears were knocked out of contention on the second lap when they crashed in the third turn.

It was the first victory in the series for Foyt, even though the veteran Texan has won two IROC championships.

Death, dying: Not subject for intimidation

By Susan Rutherford
R-T Lifestyle Writer

Some time ago Time magazine did a cover story on "present day saints." It is perhaps not coincidental that the greater portion of those written about were in the nursing profession. And that the greater portion of the article was given to a Catholic sister in India who made death and dying her main concern.

Nursing, particularly hospital nursing, must make death and dying part of the work routine. Attitudes toward death and dying are now taught in nursing schools so the new nurse knows something of what to expect.

But according to Gwendolyn McKay, in hospital nursing for 41 years and director of nursing at Midland Memorial Hospital, some nurses are never able to handle the emotional traumas involved.

Death in her opinion is not maudlin. It is a matter of fact just as life is a matter of fact. "A life span is not guaranteed," she says. "A life span can be one day, one year or 100 years."

The nursing director since '72 also says she would like to dispel the idea of the "hard nurse."

Her own RN training emphasized being in control, never showing emotion in the situation of death and dying or any other crisis situation. "We were told to always conduct ourselves as if the patient were going to get well and go home and as though the patient were always conscious."

The truth is, she says, that the nurse does respond emotionally to the death situation. "Because the nurse doesn't show emotion doesn't mean the nurse doesn't feel emotion. Self control is part of a nurse's life. One of the things the general public does not know is that the nurse is going through a tremendous emotional upheaval. Nurses have to be able to control themselves to be able to help. Always the most helpful in a crisis situation is the one who is quiet, compassionate, calm and not tearful. And the person giving the family the most support is the one who gives them a lift by being solicitous while not being emotional."

Nurses, says Mrs. McKay, are taught to recognize a series of stages each patient goes through when faced with death as a certainty. Nurses are taught to react to these stages in an informed manner.

This, of course, applies only in long illness cases. "Probably the longer someone lives the more hope that remains," Mrs. McKay comments.

"First the patient goes through a period of grief," she continues. "The nurse must be able to give support so the patients themselves can handle this stage. The family also must be involved in being able to face grief. Here a lot probably depends on the family's attitude. It's much easier on the patient if they react with kindness and consideration and not with the notion that 'tomorrow you could be gone.'"

"After the grief passes the patient goes into the second stage which is anger—'Why me.' Nurses are being taught to handle this as the clergy does—to show the patient we know why he is angry and that we're there to help him over this. It's a matter of moral support. And all along we continue treatment. Treatment is continued regardless of the condition."

"The final step is acceptance. Some also go into deep depression during this time and the depression must be dealt with."

One explanation for a nurse's inability to cope with the death situation is the fact that the nurse's main mission is to heal and help get well,

Gwendolyn McKay, Midland Memorial Hospital's director of nursing, does not back away from the subject of death and dying—a topic now hit head-on in schools of nursing as well as in lay books on the list of best sellers. "As nurses we do help people to die. But I'm not sure all nurses are capable of handling this."

according to Mrs. McKay. "Many nurses have trouble adapting. It's hard to work in a hospital where death goes on every day. When you have to deal with it on a regular basis you have to have some kind of cushion—discussions, staff support. Of course we're not supposed to discuss details of a death situation outside the profession. But a lot of nurses have a certain person to relieve their feelings. Personally I'm one of the non-talkers. I've found it very difficult to express my emotions when faced with the aftermath of death. I clam up."

She says one of the main things nurses try to do is to let the patient know that they understand what he's going through. "If the patient wants to talk he should be given the opportunity. But if the patient doesn't want to talk the nurse should let him choose the time. The nurse should be present, solicitous, compassionate and understanding. Listening is very important. The patient doesn't want to be spoken to. He wants to hear the sound of his own voice."

A lot of nurses back off from death, she says.

After a death occurs there is a time when the family usually needs to be alone with the family member, according to Mrs. McKay. "Most want to be with their loved one alone to express with grief, to accept with grief and to begin to live with grief. It's sort of a period of farewell."

"I've notice this particularly when the patient was young—the family knows before, but when it suddenly happens it's a shock. Up to then they've had support from everywhere—from doctors, clergy, nurses, the family. Usually they want a period of being alone, thinking it's strictly a family matter without outsiders. This is difficult to always arrange in a hospital, but we try to give them privacy—the time they need to adjust."

"At one time during my experience, we were told to close the door on death. It was timely but done quickly. The family was asked to leave so the undertaker could come in and the family wasn't given the time to adjust to grief."

"Then hospitals began to realize that there were different ways of handling the situation and that one was to allow the family the time with the loved one. This doesn't always work perfectly because sometimes this time results in hysteria. That's when the vigilant nurse knows when to step in."

In her experience as head of the pediatric ward at Midland Memorial Hospital for most of the 20 years she's been at that hospital, she sees that "the ability to accept death is directly related to one's ability to accept life. Death occurs wherever there are people—at home, on the streets, in automobiles. If one is well adjusted to life then he is able to adjust to death."

League-hosted fashion show meets great response

Draped in a vest of hip-length black fox tails is model Sunny Fletcher. Basically the outfit is pajama in style with black charmeuse slacks and accessorized by "Junque" jewelry.

There were over 500 present when the Children's Service League hosted a style show-luncheon at the Midland Country Club with fashions presented by Amen Wardy.

And if the packed ballroom weren't impressive enough, the fact that all tickets were sold by Aug. 26 should lend a hand.

Benefiting by the overwhelming response in its behalf is the Cerebral Palsy Center at 802 Ventura St. The sponsoring and staffing of the center are the primary concerns of the league. This center serves about 150 children and is directed by physical therapist James P. Crawford.

Amen Wardy, traveling with his group of 25 from California, says he presents fashion showings for benefits only. Wardy, who is known by many Midlanders from his days in the couture business in El Paso, now is located in Newport Beach, Calif. where his shop has his name. Born in El Paso, Lebanese descended Wardy believes in "putting the woman together." The total look is his forte. An interest in assembling the right fashion accessories "so the woman feels well dressed."

"Women don't come to my shop wanting just a blouse or a skirt," said

Amen Wardy

Wardy. "Women want exciting clothes that make them become show pieces. So we put the outfits together for a total look."

Traveling with him to provide a complete fashion package were representatives from Maximilian furs of New York and from Medici Jewels of California. Wardy says he features fashion components from every top designer and at the same time has clothes made up for himself that carry his own Amen Wardy label.

Among the many congratulatory messages to Mrs. Nobye Hamilton of Stanton, a Martin County pioneer, on her 94th birthday this week was an official White House greeting from President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter. "You have our warmest congratulations and best wishes as you celebrate your birthday. We hope the year ahead will bring you special happiness," the message read.

Mrs. Hamilton, widow of Horace Hamilton who owned and operated a cotton gin both in Stanton and Midland during the 1920s and 1930s, has been a resident of Stanton since 1901, being one of Stanton's first school teachers. She also is the only living charter member of the town's First United Methodist Church, and was county and district clerk for many years and a former postmaster and church and civic leader.

Mrs. Hamilton is a resident of Stanton View Manor, where her daughter, Leila Hamilton, was hostess to the residents of the manor Thursday for a birthday party. She was assisted by Mrs. Ray Simpson, Mrs. James Jones and Mrs. O.B. Bryan, all of Stanton.

Other relatives from out-of-town attending were Cecil Hamilton of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Davis and Gary N. Selby, all of Midland.

...THERE ARE so many talented and generous Midlanders. Among them is Mrs. George Farlow.

For the past seven years, a group of women who vary in age and interests, have had regular meetings as the Contemporary Study Group of the First Presbyterian Church, according to Mrs. Robert Boynton Smith, wife of the pastor of the church.

Each year Mrs. Farlow entertains the women, as many as 32 at one time, in her home with a country breakfast, which is a gourmet's delight. The menu can range from the traditional grits, bacon and eggs to crepes and quiches. "She is an avid, prolific and resourceful person," said Mrs. Smith.

The most recent meeting was Tuesday and in addition to the breakfast, Mrs. Farlow treated the women to a review of "Hagar" by Lois Henderson and presented each with handmade needlepoint favors, a potpourri of items.

Mrs. Farlow also is an artist, and has been a book reviewer for a number of years to Midland clubs...

Williams weds Springer in DeSoto

Mrs. James Ray Springer

DESOTO-Karen Diane Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim R. Williams of 2611 W. Dengar St., Midland, became the bride of James Ray Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob R. Springer of DeSoto, at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Hampton Road Baptist Church. The Rev. Douglas Beggs officiated the double ring ceremony.

After a trip to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, the couple will reside at 840 N. 62nd St., Waco.

The bride received a bachelor of science degree in fashion merchandising from Texas Tech University and was a merchandising assistant for Sears Roebuck & Co. in Dallas. The bridegroom majored in art advertising at Southern Methodist University and is manager of United Super Grocery store in Hewitt.

Mr. Williams presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal white gown of knit and Venice lace. The bodice had a high stand collar of Venice lace. The sheer neckline was edged with lace and pearls. Lace trimmed the waistline and cuffs of the short slim sleeves. Her veil had lace and pearl trim. She carried a bouquet of Japheth orchids laced with stephanotis and spider plant foliage.

Mrs. Charles F. Tims of Duncanville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Cindy Thompson and Lynda Halhman of Dallas and Roy Anne Williams of Lubbock, sister of the bride.

Bob Garrett of Dallas was best man. The groomsmen were Courtney Thompson, Ken Grady and Lasse Petterson of Dallas. David Springer and Mike Springer, brothers of the bridegroom; Mike Mullina of Dallas and Andy Williams of Midland, brother of the bride, were the ushers. Paul Springer was ring bearer.

Music was provided by Mrs. L. O. Bearden, organist, and Vernon Scott of Lancaster, soloist.

The reception was held in the Oakcliff Sheraton Inn.

Enjoying life recommended

By SUSAN POSTLEWATE
Associated Press Writer

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — At age 95, Scott Nearing says he has "stumbled onto" the good life.

"It's a situation where we're enjoying life," he says. "Maybe we ought to be sitting and rocking, but we're not. We're enjoying life, and it's a life we can recommend to our friends."

From 25 to 30 people a week troop up the dirt road at Harborside in Penobscot Bay where Helen and Scott Nearing — among the leaders of the back-to-the-land movement of the 1960s — live in an isolated stone house they built themselves.

Most of their visitors want to see the garden and greenhouse and ask if there is still land available at a reasonable price, Nearing said.

Nearing tells the pioneers, mostly young people from affluent backgrounds, that there is land, but it's getting scarcer each year. He also advises that if they want to homestead, "Don't do it alone. Find at least one person who agrees with you."

A year ago, Nearing and Helen, 75, moved into their new, two-story stone house, without telephone or television. Last year, Nearing said, they took a "sabbatical." He published a new book, and Helen worked on a cookbook requested by a publisher, which she calls an "anti-cookbook."

An author, social critic and now a living example for young people attracted to "alternative" life styles, Nearing first gained prominence during World War I when his views sparked a dispute over academic freedom. Fired from one university for publishing anti-capitalist sentiments, he was later fired from another university for opposition to the war, he says.

Because of his writing and activities since then, he has been hailed by some as the "ultimate environmentalist," and grandfather of the ecology movement.

Nearing conceded he is less agile than he was 20 years ago, and he likes to take a nap before lunch, but he wears no glasses, his blue eyes are clear, he stands straight and his voice is strong. Only his white hair and sun-browned hands and face show his age.

"I'm in good health, good spirits. I enjoy the sunshine. I have a fine garden and I'm in tune with the Universe," he explained.

He doesn't smoke or drink, and has been a vegetarian for 50 years. But he attributes his excellent health to "moderation in all things, absence of anxiety, fresh air, sunshine and fresh food."

The Nearings grow 85 percent of the food they eat in their gardens and in the winter continue to eat fresh greens that they grow in their solar-heated greenhouse.

They have simplified their needs and make enough income from raising blueberries — their only cash crop — to pay taxes, buy clothing and pay other living expenses.

Royalties from their books go into a separate fund which they use to publish Nearing's political books.

The Nearings' most popular book, "Living the Good Life," first published in the 1950s, was reissued in the '70s, and has since sold 140,000 copies, Nearing said.

The Nearings turned to homesteading in the Depression when Nearing lost a job teaching. When Nearing was 50, they moved to southern Vermont where they purchased a farmstead and lived there until 1951 when Stratton Mountain development brought them to Harborside.

The idea behind moving to the country was to achieve a self-sufficient economy, in which he could accumulate no debts and be free of state control except insofar as he had to pay taxes, said Nearing, who describes himself as an economist.

The other benefits of homesteading they discovered were somewhat of a bonus, Nearing said.

"We had no idea when we started how much enjoyment you can get from one of these situations," he said.

Junior League conducting pre-natal clinic programs

Junior League of Midland volunteers have begun conducting education programs at Midland's three City-County Health Department Prenatal Clinics.

The purpose of this newly initiated program is to provide an educational and supportive program for indigent mothers.

Joining in the effort to improve the outcome of pregnancy, the Midland County March of Dimes chapter has supported the project by supplying an educational kit for each clinic. This includes teaching aids, visual aids and materials for distribution, a nutritional film for the pregnant woman and three educational display quizzes on nutrition.

"Our March of Dimes chapter is certainly pleased to see this program go into effect," stated chapter director Kathy Atkin. "Through studies and research we have discovered the extreme value of good prenatal care in protecting the newborn from birth defects. We know this program will give every woman the opportunity to benefit from this knowledge and in turn improve the outcome of pregnancy in Midland County."

The curriculum developed for this educational program will include fetal development, nutrition, infant feeding, exercise and home safety. The clinics are operated at the following locations each Thursday morning: Main Clinic at 2200 W. Illinois, East Clinic at 1109 E. Parker and the South Clinic at 301 E. Florida.

CHEESE POTTERY — quite unlike any you have ever seen. These English pottery are more than craft items; they are artists whose distinctive designs are eagerly sought all over the world.

The pottery work in a traditional studio in an atmosphere of cheerful and dusty disorder, but this is deceiving. The workers, in the wheels and kilns, are highly creative professionals, who can handle the most demanding commissions, from a six inch square tile to a forty foot sculpture panel. Glazed in jewel-like colors, in an unusual glazing technique, the designs are mounted on each piece individually and the colored glazes are fired individually.

You would enjoy a visit to the Studio in the heart of Chelsea, London, and you'll find there who can't be surpassed in the art of pottery.

Miss Graham, Flowers repeat vows

Sonja LaVoin Graham and Henry Cannon Flowers repeated double ring wedding vows in a ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday in St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

Wesley D. Graham of 2303 Auburn Place is the father of the bride. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. G. H. Flowers of Odessa.

Rick Denson of Main Street Church of Christ was the officiating minister. Ellen West was the organist, and J. D. Stewart was soloist.

Steva Graham of San Angelo, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaid was Beverly Cooper of Odessa, and bridesmaids were Paula Glasscock of Big Lake, sister of the bride; Mary Lain of Rio Vista and Georgia Schmidt of Slaton.

Kelby Shahan of Gardendale was the flower girl, and Brian Beauvais was ring bearer.

Rick Flowers of Odessa, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The groomsmen were W. H. Flowers of Texline, uncle of the bridegroom; Sammy Payan, Midland, and Larry Abalos and Larry Miller of Odessa.

Mr. Graham gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a candlelight gown of chiffon and Venise lace in princess styling. The bodice with bishop sleeves was trimmed with lace flower appliques. The bodice featured a slit neckline edged with Venise lace and a deep yoke edged with scallops of pearls and lace. The skirt edged with Venise lace swept to a chapel train. The two-tiered hand-rolled veil was caught to a band of flowers matching the bridal bouquet. She carried a cascade of silk flowers in candlelight and champagne with blue rosebuds and blue and white candlelight baby's breath.

Mrs. Henry Cannon Flowers

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

The couple will reside at 7373 Valley View Lane, No. 3028, Dallas.

Mabel Marie Jones

Miss Jones to say vows

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Jones, Route 4, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mabel Marie, to Michael Lynn Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny L. Jones of Del Center, N.M.

The wedding is planned for 7 p.m. Nov. 18 in Gardens Assembly of God Church.

Miss Jones attended Commercial College of Midland and is employed by Conoco Oil. Her fiancé attended New Mexico State University and also is employed by Conoco.

Old methods still available

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

While it is still mild outdoors let's think about both cold and hot weather back in the good old or bad old days before technology solved problems of discomfort from the climate.

There were ways to cool homes in summer and conserve heat in winter, and those methods are still available.

First, use energy supplies wisely. Make heating and cooling systems work efficiently and use them conservatively. Utilize other energy sources such as sun and wind, and reduce energy requirements in the home by controlling the effects of climate on the dwelling itself. Trees and other plantings will help you do all these things.

Open windows on hot days and let cool breezes in, channeled by dense hedges planted strategically. Plant leafy trees where they shade the house in summer.

You can landscape in the same fashion with trees, shrubs and evergreens. Advice is readily available. Shade trees help control climate, in summer with shade umbrellas and cooling transpiration. In winter they shed leaves and let the sun come through, especially effectively on the west and south sides of the house.

Ivies planted on masonry or trellis help block out direct sun and the leaves set up a convection current behind them to draw away hot air. In winter, ivy on walls exposed to wind is an insulator against heat loss from inside.

In severe cold, an evergreen windbreak on the north and west sides of the house tempers winter winds. The American Association of Nurserymen estimates twice as much fuel is needed to heat a house at an outside temperature of 32 F with a wind of 12 mph as for the same temperature with wind at 3 mph. They'll save you a lot of fuel.

Windbreaks generally are best on the windward side, where a double or triple row of trees will ease the wind-chill. For best results, plant the trees a distance from the house equal to about 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 times the height of the structure they are sheltering. If the building is 20 feet tall, the windbreak should be 30 to 50 feet from it.

In summer, a chair under a tree is in a temperature as much as 8 degrees lower than the open area around it. If the same tree is shading a window from direct sunrays, the temperature inside can be 20 degrees lower.

Trees are great air washers. A beech tree standing alone releases 75-100 gallons of water into the atmosphere during a summer day. The effect has been described as equal to 10 room-size air conditioners running 20 hours a day.

Trees, flowers and grass are like "blotters" soaking up dust and gases discharged into the U.S. atmosphere. These oxygen machines cleanse the air through photo-synthesis, removing carbon dioxide from the air, returning oxygen to it.

NEW GARDEN BOOK
An excellent combination of gardening and cookery is "Your Kitchen Garden" (Simon & Schuster), a well-illustrated guide to growing what you eat and cooking what you grow. The gardening aspects are by George Seddon and the cookery by Helena Radecka.

This thorough volume takes you from the history and layout of the kitchen garden, where it discusses tools, seeds and supplies, salad plants, fruits and herbs, into the kitchen where Radecka goes into stalks, shoots, pods, roots and tubers.

There are sections devoted to preserving, by Sally Ashworth, wine by Leo Zanelli, and a glossary and metric conversions. The book covers a lot of territory.

Candice Lynne Hare, Steven Lindley marry

HOUSTON—Steven Johnson Lindley married Candice Lynne Hare in a double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday in Tallowood Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Othello Oscar Hare Jr. of Houston are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Schott Lindley of Midland.

Dr. Lester Collins officiated. Music was by Dr. Lewis Zailer, organist, and James Covington, soloist.

Mr. Hare gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a designer gown of ivory English net and silk organza with motifs of re-embroidered Alencon lace and bridal pearls. Fashioned with a high neckline in front, the bodice was cut low in the back. Long tapered sleeves and Empire lines completed the gown, which fell to slipper length with a border of lace and pearls around the long chapel train. She also wore a covered cloche with a mantilla of matching re-embroidered Alencon lace framing her face and ending in flowing illusion which fell beyond the train. She carried an assortment of beige-brown orchids and foliage.

Rebecca Ann Hare, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Beth Hare and Maralyn Carol Hare, sisters of the bride; Sydney Ann Lindley and Marion Lindley of Midland, sisters of the bridegroom; Ellen Carol Adams of Dallas, Hessie Reese Owen of Austin and Margaret Tarry Miller of Houston.

Brint Foster Albritton was best man. The groomsmen were John Johnson and Rob Donnell of Houston, Bruce Robson of Dallas, Geoffrey Barnett of Austin, John Lindley of Alvin, Steve Swanson of Arlington Heights, Ill., and Ken Malcolmson of Garland. Ozzie Gramling of Henderson, cousin of the bride, and Terry Thomas, Theodore Nowak and Craig Johnson, cousin of the bridegroom, of Houston were the ushers.

The reception was held in the Lake-side Country Club, before the couple left on a trip to the South Pacific. They will reside in Houston.

CLUB NEWS ROUNDUP

Club has slide program

Peggy Hawkins, 2828 Auburn St., was hostess to the Sand and Seed Garden Club, when it began its new year with a slide program on "Birds of West Texas." Francis Williams, member of the Phalarope Society and Midland Naturalists, presented the program. Plans were made for an annual pottery sale to be held Oct. 20-21. The sale will feature original stoneware pottery by Florence and Charles Henderson and will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days in Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest.

Details were given of the garden center luncheon to be held Oct. 10. Proceeds will be used in maintaining the center, its grounds and greenhouse.

Gretchen Parsley, horticulture chairman, reported that lawn care needs more light application of fertilizer before cold weather. Watering should also continue through September.

The October meeting will be in the home of Joy Boes. Charles Green, Midland County Extension agent, will be the speaker.

CHAPARRAL HD CLUB
Tasting and learning were combined in a program about cheeses given by Judy Germany to members of the Chaparral Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Germany, Midland County extension agent (home economics), discussed the history, nutritional content, cooking and serving of various cheeses. Afterwards, members were invited to sample several cheeses and cheese dips prepared by Mrs. Germany.

Hostess was Mrs. Robert Warfield. Guests were Myra Pitcher, Mrs. Bill Sewell and Mrs. Germany. Following the program, members made final preparations for its Annual Day activities Oct. 13.

Protests denote freedom

By PATSY GORDON
R-T LIFESTYLE EDITOR

The next time you see people assembled to hear a speaker or see people marching in protest of something they believe to be wrong, be glad.

This, in essence, is what Dr. Guy Newman, president emeritus of Howard Payne University, told the audience at a Constitution Week Dinner held at the Midland Woman's Club. Constitution Week begins today and concludes Saturday.

The Constitution of the United States guarantees us the right to do the above things and many others without retaliation from the government.

"The Constitution written and approved at the Constitutional Convention in 1789 marks one of the greatest events in the history of the world. Today when we observe the significance of the Constitution, let us think together on the meaning and relevance of this great document," urged Dr. Newman.

"One of the great symbols and outgrowth of the Constitution of the United States and the first 10 amendments which is known as the Bill of Rights, is the guarantee that men would have freedom. From this document and the validity of it, there have been many symbols to remind us constantly of its greatness," he said.

The speaker quoted David Hume who once said, "Nothing appears more surprising, to those who consider human affairs with a philosophical eye, than the ease with which the many are governed by the few." And, Herbert Spencer, who was heard to say, "Hero worship is stronger where there is least regard for human freedom."

"Thus," said Dr. Newman, "our Constitution is the mother of our basic human rights and our greatest legacy, freedom to succeed or to fail, to realize our full potential within the frame of reference of our democratic processes."

Dr. Newman said the most momentous question of the present hour is—"Can we preserve the roots of the fruits of our cultural, political and economic life?"

He pointed out that while Henry Clayson, in a publication known as the New Age, said that America stands at the forefront of technological and economic development, and every year the so-called "poverty level" rises so that today, the American family living in what is called "poverty" has more real income than "prosperous" family units in many parts of the world, our spiritual and moral fiber as individuals and as a country disintegrates.

good citizens are becoming aware there may be some basic truth in the comparison of modern America to decadent Rome. The tyrannical, bloated Roman Empire eventually fell, not to an enemy from without, but to an enemy within.

"We cannot afford not to learn from this historical lesson. Even such a great mathematician as Albert Einstein realized that amoral science is not the answer to man's quest for meaning. He said 'Our defense is not in armaments, nor in science, nor in going underground. Our defense is law and order.' Moral law and moral order are the true keystones of any great culture, and truth is the basis for all moral authority," said Newman.

The special week dinner was sponsored by many patriotic groups in the Tall City, including the Lt. William Brewer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; Col. Theunis Dey Chapter, DAR; Norman Pride's Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists; Alexander Daugherty Chapter, Daughters of 1812; Magna Charta Dames, Midland Colony, and the Permian Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

Dr. Guy Newman, second from left, founder of the Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom at Brownwood, visits with Dr. Dorothy Wyvell, national defense chairman for the Lt. William Brewer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, right; Donald N. Ewan, a member of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Mrs. M. W. Armistead, chaplain of the Col. Theunis Dey Chapter, DAR, prior to D. Newman's address to those attending a Constitution Week Dinner.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RICHTER

(Sun., Sept. 17)
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to study modern methods for getting ahead and adopting a school of thought that could be used to your advantage in the days ahead. Make plans for the coming weeks.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Find a better way of doing things so that you can have a more abundant and happy life. Take no risks with your reputation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day for contemplation and knowing how to improve your life. Listen to what a good adviser has to say.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to be with good friends and having a delightful time together. You can easily gain a personal goal at this time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do what you can to improve your standing in the area where you reside. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listening to the words of noble persons can help you live a better life. Show more consideration for family members.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find better methods for handling your duties in the future and get right results. Make plans for the weeks ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A civic affair crops up that gives you a good chance to get ahead. Be sure to handle it wisely. Relax at home tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Showing appreciation to others for favors extended to you is a good way to spend part of this day. Express happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to do something nice for those you are allied with and gain their goodwill. Your creativity is high at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make yourself as useful as possible at home and improve conditions there. Let your conversation be inspiring and cheerful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do those things that will improve your regular routines. Ideal evening for pleasing the one you love.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good time to make plans to have greater abundance in the future. See what you can do about pleasing good friends.

(Mon., Sept. 18)
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Carry through with the details of whatever plan of action you decided upon, but make it a point not to get into strict pioneering ventures. Study all phases of anything you undertake.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be restrained in going after personal desires and you get good results. Your business affairs should be handled with less emotion and more reason.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are the one who will have to get rid of obstacles in the path of your progress. Don't add to personal problems you already have.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use care with your friends since they are irritated and could cause you trouble if you buck them. Use a new method to gain aims that have been difficult before this.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't take any risks with those who have power over your affairs or you meet with some serious reverses. Be particularly careful of credit matters.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Before you get into a new project, be sure to have first completed another important one. Make sure that trip you are contemplating is a necessary one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep any promises you have made to loved ones and get good results thereby. Stay on the logical side of life and feel better, accomplish more.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't harass a partner because of some situation that has developed and you do not understand it. Don't enter into any arguments of a public nature either.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you are thinking of recreational pursuits, there is so much work ahead of you it is wiser to handle it instead. Cooperate more with co-workers and get good results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get at your work with a smile and get it done efficiently, since recreational activities would only be met with delays and obstacles. Don't argue with loved one or matter could get serious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't be so opinionated over some home affair, but listen to the views of others also. Come to a correct solution of the matter.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The planets are not favorable for anything important you want to do, so wait for a better time. Be extra cautious in motion of any kind tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be careful of any purchases you make today and try to economize more. Improve your budget so that it runs more smoothly.

The term Appellation Controlee on French wines assures the consumer that the wine comes from the district that the label says it does, and that is hasn't violated any of the rigid standards of quality and degree of alcohol content that the French government imposes on the industry. A Burgundy will come from the Burgundy district and a Bordeaux from the Bordeaux. The United States wine business is not regulated in that way, so American wine manufacturers will call one of their wines a Burgundy if it resembles a French Burgundy whether it comes from New York, California, or Ohio.

And whether you're looking for a Burgundy or a Bordeaux, you'll find it at IMPERIAL LIQUORS, 3209 W. Wadley, 694-4256. # Asinine questions prompt unique thoughts

By ERMA BOMBECK

My Aunt Lotte said to me the other day, "Boy, you certainly have changed since you were a child. You used to be so shy and introverted, you wouldn't say butter if it melted in your mouth. Why, I couldn't get you to say two words to me."

My mind went back to the days as a child and my defense I have to say that children would love to talk. They really would. It's just that the questions adults ask them are tough. I defy any adult to answer some of them.

She's the aunt who used to come into a room and upon noticing me would stoop down and ask, "Where did you get those blonde curls?"

(I'd think, "Oh boy, here we go again. That's got to be one of those inherited trait questions with the genes and chromosomes. Maybe I'll just spit on my handkerchief and twist it around my tooth and she'll go away.")

"What's the matter?" she pursued.

"Has the cat got your tongue?"

"Where does she come up with this stuff? Besides, that is the most gross idea I've ever heard. Oh, oh, here she comes again."

"You're not talking to Aunt Lotte. Do you want Aunt Lotte to cry?"

("What kind of a question is that! Good heavens, she's putting her face in her hands and going boohoo.")

"Talk to Aunt Lotte. What are you going to be when you grow up?"

("Good grief. I can't wash my hands without standing on a stool and she wants to know what my goals are.")

"Would you look at the pout! Do you want your face to freeze that way?"

("She's always asking that and I haven't heard of a single case of frozen face since I was born.")

"Do you know what I think is wrong with you, missy? I think you need a N-A-P."

Aunt Lotte jarred me back to reality with, "Would you like me to give you a penny for your thoughts?"

"Aunt Lotte," I said, "with the present devaluation of currency, 1/100 of a dollar is barely sufficient remuneration for my reflections. Frankly, I can get more with mass syndication distribution."

Aunt Lotte said, "I liked you better when you sat there like a stick."

Protests denote freedom

R-T LIFESTYLE EDITOR

The next time you see people assembled to hear a speaker or see people marching in protest of something they believe to be wrong, be glad.

This, in essence, is what Dr. Guy Newman, president emeritus of Howard Payne University, told the audience at a Constitution Week Dinner held at the Midland Woman's Club. Constitution Week begins today and concludes Saturday.

The Constitution of the United States guarantees us the right to do the above things and many others without retaliation from the government.

"The Constitution written and approved at the Constitutional Convention in 1789 marks one of the greatest events in the history of the world. Today when we observe the significance of the Constitution, let us think together on the meaning and relevance of this great document," urged Dr. Newman.

"One of the great symbols and outgrowth of the Constitution of the United States and the first 10 amendments which is known as the Bill of Rights, is the guarantee that men would have freedom. From this document and the validity of it, there have been many symbols to remind us constantly of its greatness," he said.

The speaker quoted David Hume who once said, "Nothing appears more surprising, to those who consider human affairs with a philosophical eye, than the ease with which the many are governed by the few." And, Herbert Spencer, who was heard to say, "Hero worship is stronger where there is least regard for human freedom."

"Thus," said Dr. Newman, "our Constitution is the mother of our basic human rights and our greatest legacy, freedom to succeed or to fail, to realize our full potential within the frame of reference of our democratic processes."

Dr. Newman said the most momentous question of the present hour is—"Can we preserve the roots of the fruits of our cultural, political and economic life?"

He pointed out that while Henry Clauston, in a publication known as the New Age, said that America stands at the forefront of technological and economic development, and every year the so-called "poverty level" rises so that today, the American family living in what is called "prosperous" family units in many parts of the world, our spiritual and moral fiber as individuals and as a country disintegrates.

good citizens are becoming aware there may be some basic truth in the comparison of modern America to decadent Rome. The tyrannical, bloated Roman Empire eventually fell, not to an enemy from without, but to an enemy within.

"We cannot afford not to learn from this historical lesson. Even such a great mathematician as Albert Einstein realized that amoral science is not the answer to man's quest for meaning. He said 'Our defense is not in armaments, nor in science, nor in going underground. Our defense is law and order.' Moral law and moral order are the true keystones of any great culture, and truth is the basis for all moral authority," said Newman.

The special week dinner was sponsored by many patriotic groups in the Tall City, including the Lt. William Brewer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; Col. Theunis Dey Chapter, DAR; Norman Pride's Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists; Alexander Daugherty Chapter, Daughters of 1812; Magna Charta Dames, Midland Colony, and the Permian Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

Dr. Guy Newman, second from left, founder of the Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom at Brownwood, visits with Dr. Dorothy Wyvell, national defense chairman for the Lt. William Brewer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, right; Donald N. Ewan, a member of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Mrs. M.W. Armistead, chaplain of the Col. Theunis Dey Chapter, DAR, prior to D. Newman's address to those attending a Constitution Week Dinner.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RICHTER

- (Sun., Sept. 17)
- GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to study modern methods for getting ahead and adopting a school of thought that could be used to your advantage in the days ahead. Make plans for the coming weeks.
- ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Find a better way of doing things so that you can have a more abundant and happy life. Take no risks with your reputation.
- TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day for contemplation and knowing how to improve your life. Listen to what a good adviser has to say.
- GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to be with good friends and having a delightful time together. You can easily gain a personal goal at this time.
- MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do what you can to improve your standing in the area where you reside. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.
- LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listening to the words of noble persons can help you live a better life. Show more consideration for family members.
- VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find better methods for handling your duties in the future and get right results. Make plans for the weeks ahead.
- LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A civic affair crops up that gives you a good chance to get ahead. Be sure to handle it wisely. Relax at home tonight.
- SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Showing appreciation to others for favors extended to you is a good way to spend part of this day. Express happiness.
- SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to do something nice for those you are allied with and gain their goodwill. Your creativity is high at this time.
- CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make yourself as useful as possible at home and improve conditions there. Let your conversation be inspiring and cheerful.
- AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do those things that will improve your regular routine. Ideal evening for pleasing the one you love.
- PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good time to make plans to have greater abundance in the future. See what you can do about pleasing good friends.

- (Mon., Sept. 18)
- GENERAL TENDENCIES: Carry through with the details of whatever plan of action you decided upon, but make it a point not to get into strict pioneering ventures. Study all phases of anything you undertake.
- ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be restrained in going after personal desires and you get good results. Your business affairs should be handled with less emotion and more reason.
- TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are the one who will have to get rid of obstacles in the path of your progress. Don't add to personal problems you already have.
- GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use care with your friends since they are irritated and could cause you trouble if you buck them. Use a new method to gain aims that have been difficult before this.
- MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't take any risks with those who have power over your affairs or you meet with some serious reverses. Be particularly careful of credit matters.
- LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Before you get into a new project, be sure to have first completed another important one. Make sure that trip you are contemplating is a necessary one.
- VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep any promises you have made to loved ones and get good results thereby. Stay on the logical side of life and feel better, accomplish more.
- LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't harass a partner because of some situation that has developed and you do not understand it. Don't enter into any arguments of a public nature either.
- SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you are thinking of recreational pursuits, there is so much work ahead of you it is wiser to handle it instead. Cooperate more with co-workers and get good results.
- SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get at your work with a smile and get it done efficiently, since recreational activities would only be met with delays and obstacles. Don't argue with loved one or matter could get serious.
- CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't be so opinionated over some home affair, but listen to the views of others also. Come to a correct solution of the matter.
- AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The planets are not favorable for anything important you want to do, so wait for a better time. Be extra cautious in million of any kind tonight.
- PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be careful of any purchases you make today and try to economize more. Improve your budget so that it runs more smoothly.

The Wine Cellar
by Sam Day

The term Appellation Contrôlée on French wines assures the consumer that the wine comes from the district that the label says it does, and that is hasn't violated any of the rigid standards of quality and degree of alcohol content that the French government imposes on the industry. A Burgundy will come from the Burgundy district and a Bordeaux from the Bordeaux. The United States wine business is not regulated in that way, so American wine manufacturers will call one of their wines a Burgundy if it resembles a French Burgundy whether it comes from New York, California, or Ohio.

And whether you're looking for a Burgundy or a Bordeaux, you'll find it at IMPERIAL LIQUORS, 3209 W. Wadley, 694-4256, we feature a top collection of fine wines for your selection, and if you have a preference for a wine we do not stock, we will be glad to get it for you. Look for the moustache in our drive-up window. Open: 10-9 Mon.-Sat.

Asinine questions prompt unique thoughts

By ERMA BOMBECK

My Aunt Lotte said to me the other day, "Boy, you certainly have changed since you were a child. You used to be so shy and introverted, you wouldn't say butter if it melted in your mouth. Why, I couldn't get you to say two words to me."

My mind went back to the days as a child and my defense I have to say that children would love to talk. They really would. It's just that the questions adults ask them are tough. I defy any adult to answer some of them.

She's the aunt who used to come into a room and upon noticing me would stoop down and ask, "Where did you get those blonde curls?"

(I'd think, "Oh boy, here we go again. That's got to be one of those inherited trait questions with the genes and chromosomes. Maybe I'll just spit on my handkerchief and twist it around my tooth and she'll go away.")

"What's the matter?" she pursued.

"Has the cat got your tongue?"

("Where does she come up with this stuff? Besides, that is the most gross idea I've ever heard. Oh, oh, here she comes again.")

"You're not talking to Aunt Lotte. Do you want Aunt Lotte to cry?"

("What kind of a question is that! Good heavens, she's putting her face in her hands and going boohoo.")

"Talk to Aunt Lotte. What are you going to be when you grow up?"

("Good grief. I can't wash my hands without standing on a stool and she wants to know what my goals are.")

"Would you look at the pout! Do you want your face to freeze that way?"

("She's always asking that and I haven't heard of a single case of frozen face since I was born.")

"Do you know what I think is wrong with you, missy? I think you need a N-A-P."

("Why doesn't she just come right out and say it. She's always spelling in front of me. Last time she misspelled overbite... put a Y in it.")

ty with, "Would you like me to give you a penny for your thoughts?"

"Aunt Lotte," I said, "with the present devaluation of currency, 1/100 of a dollar is barely sufficient remuneration for my reflections. Frankly, I can get more with mass syndication distribution."

Aunt Lotte said, "I liked you better when you sat there like a stick."

Judy Anne Owen becomes bride of Ennius Bergsma in New York

Models are wearing Lilli Ann three-piece suits in the new spirit of fashion...fluent lines, lithe, soft, feminine, young...a new lovely lady look, a new lovely lady feeling. They are of delicious cream color allied with sensuous pastels.

Style show scheduled

William Tilisman of San Francisco and Paris, fashion coordinator, Thursday will narrate a showing of Lilli Ann fashions in the Midland Woman's Club. It will be an open-house and Welcome Back Luncheon for the Woman's Club, and will set the stage for its activities for the coming year.

design and styles, including holiday attire. The new fall lines of Lilli Ann will have a lot of new fabric interests, including 100 percent wool flannels, wool blends, ultra suede, silks and crepe de chins. For the woman that wants a pre-coordinated wardrobe, Lilli Ann puts together a beautiful jacket, skirt, blouse, pant and often a long skirt. This enables the woman to go from morning to late night, looking just right for any occasion. Models for the event will be from shareholding clubs and active members. Guests are welcome and reservations can be made by contacting Mrs. Allis Chapman at 684-4123. Special prizes will be given. The social period begins at 11:30 p.m. Thursday, with the luncheon and style show to follow.

Women staff Tokyo factory

By RICHARD BILL

TOKYO (AP) — An experiment begun last year by Yamaha Motor Co. to operate a motorbike factory with women workers has proved a roaring success. With some degree of apprehension women were put on the assembly lines, as one official said, "to make better use of womanpower." He said the women had won the admiration of their male colleagues when the all-woman factory produced 175,000 minibikes last year, 25,000 more than initially planned. "They are making ladies' bikes so it makes sense that ladies should build them," said overseas department spokesman Hitoshi Ishida. Another reason may be that women are considered skillful at precision work and that traditionally they earn less than men. The women earn $9,000 a year at the factory — about one-third less than their male counterparts. When the experiment was launched in January 1977, the company management feared productivity would drop if only women operated the factory. Their fears have proved groundless and there are now plans to increase the number of female workers, Ishida said. The factory started with 70 women but this has increased to 120, he said. At present the factory is geared toward the domestic market and there are plans to put the women on larger and more powerful bikes in the future, Ishida said.

Courtney to say vows

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Courtney, Route 3, announce the engagement of their daughter, Robin Elaine, to Larry Edward Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams of Midland. The couple will be married in June in Calvary Baptist Church. Miss Courtney is a junior student at Midland High School. Her fiancé is a self-employed carpenter in Wichita Falls.

Pooch has lavish birthday party

SEATTLE (AP) — It was Taras' sixth birthday and a party seemed in order — champagne, presents and formal pageant. Not many dogs have lavish birthday parties with 200 formally dressed human guests and a belly dancer for entertainment. "Taras is sort of my substitute child," says his owner, Darlene Novak, a Northwest Airlines stewardess who gives the Samoyed a birthday party every year.

The bride has a bachelor of science degree, with major in communications, from The University of Texas-Austin. She is president of Creative Media, a full-service company for audio-visual productions. The bridegroom attended the University of Leiden in the Netherlands. He is a candidate for a law degree and doctoral degree in corporate law. He received a master's degree in business administration from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He is engagement manager of McKinsey & Co., Inc., an international management consulting firm.

The Rev. Norman J. Catir Jr. performed the ceremony. John Morris was the organist.

The bridesmaids were Lark Navez of Hollywood, Calif., and Diane Carson of Dallas, Texas. Victor M. J. Both of Amsterdam was the best man. The groomsmen were Richard M. Ossoff of Washington, D.C. Jaap Kool of Amsterdam and Jan K. Smeets of Manhattan were the ushers.

Mr. Owen gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of all silk detailed with Belgium lace in traditional and contemporary styling. Her hat also was of silk. She carried a bouquet of tiny flowers in pastel colors.

The reception was held in The Georgian Suite in Manhattan.

DEAR ABBY

It's time daughter gives truthful answers

By ABIGAIL VANBUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please help us solve a problem that I know many grandparents are having now. Our daughter lives about a thousand miles from us. She left her husband, took their son and daughter, and is now living with another man. We are planning a trip to see her and our grandchildren, so I wrote and told her that because we do not approve of her living with a man she is not married to, we refuse to stay with her, but will stay at a nearby motel instead. She responded by saying that she had plenty of room in her home, and if we didn't stay with her, the children would start asking questions, so if we wanted to see our grandchildren, we would have to stay with her. We love our grandchildren very much and want to see them, but we don't know what to do or how to answer our daughter. Please help.—SHATTERED daughter is holding the trump card, so if you want to see your grandchildren you had better stay with her. Staying with your daughter doesn't necessarily mean that you approve of her lifestyle. You don't say how old the grandchildren are, but if they're old enough to "start asking questions," it's time your daughter started giving them some truthful answers. DEAR ABBY: Although I'm only 14, I look much older, and I've been out with guys who are 20 and even 21.

DEAR SHATTERED: Your

(I sometimes say I'm almost 18, and they believe me.) My problem is that I am turned on very easily. I still have fairly high moral standards, but when a guy I like kisses me, my resistance melts away. My friends say I'm cute, and I have a great figure. So far I've gone only to "second and third base," but I'm afraid one of these times I won't be able to control myself. Am I normal?—WEAK IN THE KNEES feel while being kissed are normal to everyone, but new to you. You are much too young to be dating guys who are 20 and 21. And furthermore, you would be wise to postpone the heavy kissing until you are older and sufficiently experienced to control yourself. If, at age 14, you've gone to "second and third base," you had better get out of that league or you'll be known as the "Home Run Queen" by the time you're 15.
DEAR WEAK: The emotions you

Leslie Eileen Mauldin becomes bride of Michael R. Ralston Jr.

Leslie Eileen Mauldin and Michael R. Ralston Jr. were married in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday in First Christian Church, with the Rev. Jerald Ralston officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mauldin of 1500 Murray St. are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael R. Ralston of Odessa.

Mrs. Tony Lewis of El Paso, aunt of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Vicki Ralston and Paula Anderson, cousins of the bridegroom, and Margaret Drennan, all of Odessa.

Rhonda Ralston of Odessa, sister of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. Mike Mobley of Odessa, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. The groomsmen were Curtis Ralston of Odessa, brother of the bridegroom; Mike Mauldin, brother of the bride, and Randy Horne.

Kelly Schumpbert and Steve Schumpbert of Odessa were the ushers.

Organist for the ceremony was Stephen E. Spain.

Mr. Mauldin presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a traditional gown of bridal sheer crepe enhanced with Cluny lace and bridal pearls. The fitted bodice featured a Brussels' embroidery yoke creating a silk and peal cameo. It had a lace ring neckline and bishop sleeves with panels of lace gathered to deep lace cuffs edged with crystal pleating. The yoke was outlined in crystal pleating which extended over the shoulders and to the waist. A lace ruffle was attached to the lace panels, creating a colonial design. Lace traced the waistline. The A-line skirt featured two lace panels continuing from the bodice and flowing to the deep lace-edged double flounce hemline. Soft fullness in back formed the chapel train. Her face was framed with three lace-edged tiers gathered to a matching lace and pearl Camelot headpiece. She carried a cascade of daisies and baby's breath on a Bible.

The reception was held in the church parlor, before the couple left on a short wedding trip. They will be at home on Route 2.

Mrs. Michael R. Ralston Jr.

Young Homemakers of Texas to observe week with events

The Tall City Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, sponsored by the Homemaking Department of Midland High School, will be celebrating YHT Week today through Saturday, with several activities scheduled during the week.

This organization will be holding its first regular meeting and a membership drive at 7:15 p.m. Sept. 28 in the MHS Homemaking Department.

The organization is formed for educational purposes with particular reference to the area of homemaking. The overall goal of young homemakers is to provide creative opportunities for young people in maintaining effective personal, family and community life. Members learn new skills and gain information contributing to family living and community membership.

Programs for the coming year include "Meal Planning," "Halloween Safety," "Arrangements of Dry Materials for Christmas," "Tote Painting," "Microwave Cooking," "Pyramidology," "Interior Decorating," "Furniture Refinishing," "Food Preservation" and "The Challenges of Children." The chapter also is involved in community service projects and in family-oriented activities.

During YHT Week, the membership will have lunch together at noon Monday; will have a fall get-together Wednesday evening and celebrate Friday with family-oriented activities with their families. They also plan a bake sale in November.

Officers of the chapter are Wanda Hansen, president; Debbie Barker, vice president; DeDe Willis, secretary; Rotha Cloyd, treasurer; June Holt, historian-reporter, and Shelia Riddle, parliamentarian. Darlene Hicks, homemaking teacher at Midland High School, is the advisor.

Membership in the organization is open to all persons. If interested, dial 697-4795 or 694-1394 for information.
