'One of guys' a bit different

By SUSAN TOTH R-T Staff Writer

Sidewalk superintendents overseeing construction of the Gibraltar Savings Building in downtown Midland may have noticed one of the ironworkers looks a bit different.

Not in the amount or type of work being done, mind you, just in the general outline beneath the hard hat.

She's Denice Burdick, the first woman to be called out on a job from Local No. 789, which serves Midland, Odessa, San Angelo and Lubbock.

"This job," said the 21-yearold apprentice, "is not for everybody.

"It's really hard work. You have to be willing to get dirty and scratched and not be afraid of heights.

Athough there is some lifting involved, brute strength is not really necessary, said Ms. Bur-

"There's always somebody around to help" with the lifting, she said.

"A lot of the guys help me when I don't really need it. The job is anything but glamorous, Ms. Burdick added. "Every day I get a little dir tier. Last week I was out on the edge of the building — the crew is working on the sixth floor now putting wedges around the stress cables. The cables were covered with grease, and I just got coated The recent seige of warm weather added to the less than glainorous aspects of the work,

"I can't wear makeup on the job because I sweat so much. The first few days I wore mascara, but the first time you have to rub your eyes, forget it." The job also can be dangerous, said Ms. Burdick "We work on narrow scaffold ing along the edge of the building. You have to watch what you're doing every minute, or you could get hurt badly. "Even people who know what they're doing can get hurt. One of the guys on our job cut his arm open and had to have stitches, and he's been doing this (work) a long time. You just can't afford to get care-

Ms. Burdick, who comes from a family of ironworkers (her stepfather and grandfather are working with her on this job), knows about the danger.

My ex-husband fell on the job in June and broke a bone in his back and a bone in his foot. That scared me bad.

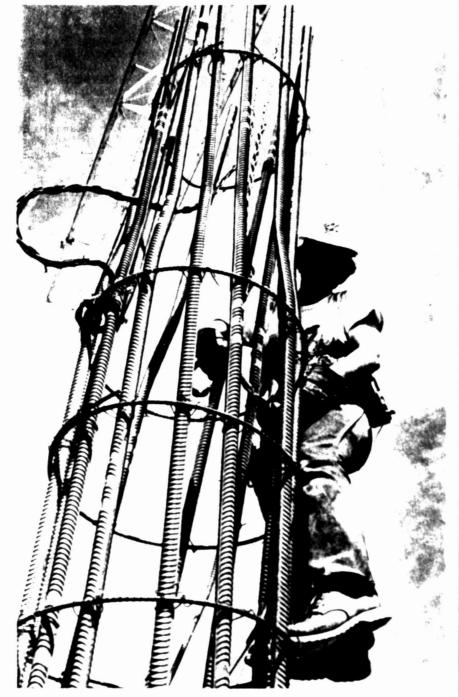

'But sometimes you get to the point where you take a challenge just to see if you can do

"Now I figure, if the good Lord wants me to die, it won't matter where I am, and He knows I have a little girl to take care of and 144 months to pay on my trailer house Ms. Burdick took up the construction trade at the suggestion of her stepfather.

She was "between jobs" as a waitress, and he had just attended a conference stressing the opportunities for women in

Senate wants tax cut hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee is weighing a proposal that would give middle-income families a greater income-tax break than the one already approved by the

It could mean an extra $211 a year to a couple with two children and an income of $10,000 a year. The same couple with a $25,000 income would get $53 more than in the House ver-

Generally, the measure under consideration on the Senate side would offset for one-earner families making $20,000 or less the Social Security tax increase that goes into effect next Jan. 1. That increase will cost a $10,-000 earner $8, a $20,000 worker $155 and those earning $23,000 or more

In most cases in which family income is under $20,000, there also would be enough relief in the Senate package to offset the tax effects of inflation, which pushes workers into higher brackets even though their real buying power has not risen.

But it would do little to help neutralize inflation for those earning more than $20,000 a year.

The committee may vote today on the proposal, which was drafted by staff aides after Sen. Russell Long, who chairs the panel, asked for options on giving more tax relief than the House had voted for couples and individuals earning less than $50,000 a

The Carter administration has criticized the $16.3-billion House-passed bill on grounds that too big a share of the benefits would go to those above the $50,000 income level. More than 59 percent of the $3.7-billion addition being considered for individuals by the Finance Committee would go to those with incomes of $15,000 or less.

Neither the House bill nor the Senate proposal would cut taxes as deep-

Kemp plan for a reduction reaching 33 percent over three years. But the Finance Committee decided by a 10-8 vote Monday that the Republican proposal carries too great a risk for the

Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., who helped write the GOP proposal, hailed it as long-overdue tax relief for the middle classes.

Opponents said the cost of the tax cut would be paid by all Americans through another round of inflation. They said it would be unwise now to commit the government to new tax cuts two and three years in advance, although it is generally agreed Congress is likely to vote new reductions in 1979 and 1980

Here is how the proposal before the Finance Committee would affect typical taxpayers at various income levels, assuming deductions totaling 23 percent of income:

A single person earning $10,000 a year would get a cut of $22 next year under the committee option, compared to $15 under the House bill. The Roth-Kemp bill would cut that person's taxes by about $167 the first year if phased in equally over three

At the $20,000 level, a single person would get a $152 cut under the committee proposal, $105 under the House bill and $390 for one year of Roth-Kemp.

A married couple with no dependents and $10,000 income would get $50 under the committee plan, $47 under the House bill and $106 under Roth-Kemp. At $25,000 the cuts would be $215, $160 and $413.

A couple with two children and an income of $10,000 would realize a tax cut of $273 under the committee proposal, $62 under the House bill and $76 under Roth-Kemp. At $25,000 the cuts would be $285, $232 and $368.

Begin insists on Israeli sovereignty for Gaza

WASHINGTON (AP) - Prime Minister Menachem Begin told Congress today that Israel has no intention of giving up its claim to so vereignty or its right to station troops in disputed areas of the West Bank and the Gaza Strip

Begin told leaders of the House in a breakfast meeting that they should not misinterpret the Camp David accords to mean that Israel has committed itself to restoring Arab sovereignty to those lands, which it captured in the 1967 war

Begin commented as he and Egyp tian President Anwar Sadat visited Capitol Hill to meet with congressio nal leaders and talk about the recent ly concluded summit The two leaders planned to meet separately with President Carter at the White House this afternoon

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Cyrus R Vance added Syrian Presi dent Hafez Assad to the list of Arab leaders he will visit to explain the Camp David agreements and seek support for them. He previously had scheduled stops in Jordan and Saudi Arabia on the trip, which begins to-

Sadat told members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he be lieves Jordan and Saudi Arabia eventually will support the Middle East agreements

Later, he told reporters he plans to fly Wednesday from Washington to Rabat, Morocco, to meet with King Hassan Then, he said, he will fly home to Cairo and make contact with Jordan's King Hussein

Sen Frank Church of Idaho, rank ing Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Sadat told the private breakfast meeting that he hopes Hussein will "play the role that must be played by Jordan if the issues of the West Bank are ever

Sadat told reporters, "Whenever there is any agreement that will permit the establishment of peace so that no one encroaches on the other's land or sovereignty, then all Arabs will be

The Egyptian leader expressed confidence that the remaining issues between Egypt and Israel will be resolved so that "we can be good neighbors." And he said he has been assured the United States will remain "a full partner" in the search for Middle East peace The Arab states have consistently said that Israel must give up its occupied territories on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip

to have peace But Begin made it clear that Israel

views the matter differently "I believe with all my heart that the Jewish people have a right to sovereignty over Judea. Samaria and the Gaza Strip," he said, using the biblical names for the lands on the West Bank He said "the Bible gives us that right Begin added that sovereignty and military control over the West Bank and Gaza are essential to Israel's security because those lands "are on the threshhold of our homes.

The Camp David accords call for the replacement of Israel's military government with an autonomous government elected by the Palestinians who live there. Israel's troops would be garrisoned in specified locations.

But the accords do not deal with the question of ultimate sovereignty or what happens to Israel's troops after the five-year transition period which is supposed to lead to a final peace. Begin said the troop arrangement is not for five years. It is for the transitional period and beyond."

The State Department said Vance will spend two nights in Amman. Jordan to confer with King Hussein, then fly to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, to see King Khaled. After an overnight stop, he will spend five hours in Damascus with Assad, returning to Washington early Sunday.

In talking with Assad, Vance will try to draw the Syrian leader away from the "rejectionists" - the Arab countries opposing any reconciliation with Israel - and bring him into the Middle East negotiating process.

Assad has been sharply critical of

Sadat's approaches to Israel and had broken his alliance with Sadat after the Egyptian leader's trip to Jerusalem in November.

Syria reached an interim agreement with Israel recovering some territory on the Golan Heights in President Carter announced the Vance mission during a nationally broadcast speech to a joint session of Congress Monday night. He said Hussein and Khaled had agreed to receive Vance, a step that encouraged many observers of the fragile effort to achieve peace in the Middle East.

The support of both nations is considered vital to the outcome of the "framework for peace" that Sadat, Begin and Carter signed at the end of their 13-day summit.

The other immediate concern was the status of Israeli settlements in occupied Egyptian territory. The issue was unresolved at Camp David with Sadat insisting that the settlements be removed as a condition to any Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Begin refused to agree to such a step but finally said he would leave the decision to the Israeli parliament.

Carter, in an extraordinary appeal to the Israeli parliament, said in his speech "it is my strong hope that the question of Israeli settlements on Egyptian territory will not be the final obstacle to peace." The Knesset is scheduled to vote within two weeks on the settlements.

Carter said Vance's goal on his trip is "to secure their support for the realization of the new hopes and dreams of the people of the Middle

Although heated debate is expected on the issue, most Israeli leaders' initial reaction showed support for withdrawal of the Sinai settlements.

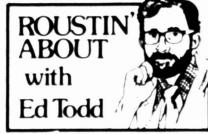

Begin appears to have an easier domestic task ahead of him than Sadat, who faces trouble selling the agreements to his own government. Indeed, Sadat's foreign minister and close friend. Ibrahim Kamel, resigned, reportedly because of a difference with Sadat over the accords

High-rise plans stalled

By LANA CUNNINGHAM R-T Staff Writer

A Midland developer has planned more than 20 acres of high-rise office buildings for an area north of the new shopping center at FM 868 and Midkiff Road, but the city Planning and Zoning Commission Monday decided to hold back its approval of his project.

During a regular meeting in the City Council Chambers at City Hall, the commission postponed making a decision on future use of 58.58 acres of land located north of FM 868.

The panel decided more information on future possible growth was needed before making a final deci-

A building contractor, Clyde Brown, asked the commission for its recommendation on his plans to build offices, apartments and townhouses on the land.

The development would be on the north side of FM 868 and west of Midkiff Road, which puts it directly north of Midland Park Mall, for which ground recently was broken.

In the office district, Brown is proposing high rise office buildings to occupy 24.23 acres of the tract. Much of the land, Brown said, would be used for parking - to at-

It's a lot of work for man and clockwork for the beast.

Man outworks beasts, possibly, though who knows what is the cow's viewpoint. On the whole, each cow is off 60 days out of year during her dry season. That means that at any given time, approximately 400 cows are in production and about 80 or 90 are resting up. On the sidelines and waiting for the time to prove themselves in the milking parlor are some 150 heifers. Someday, they will be replacing their aging mothers.

Like any other job, milking follows the up-and-down curve. And occasionally Neely gives thought to expan-

Father found in same hospital

By JEANNE PINDER

GRINNELL, Iowa (AP) - The deadly twister killed 6-year-old Melaine Rau's mother, brother and sister, and authorities believed her father died too when the tornado smashed a rest stop near Interstate

But hours after a three-day search for Lothar Rau ended Monday night, he was discovered in fair condition at University Hospitals in Iowa City, the same hospital where Melaine was recovering from injuries. She also was listed in fair condition.

Police had searched for the 28-yearold Rau since Saturday night when the tornado devastated a complex of buldings near the Grinnell interchange on Interstate 80, about 50 miles east of Des Moines.

Rau had been at the hospital since late Saturday night, registered under the name of Alberto Phonito of Grinnell. Authorities had thought Phonito was a transient until he was identified by Rau's mother-in-law who was at the hospital to see her granddaugh-

University Hospitals officials said Rau was brought in late Saturday night with a group of persons critically injured by the tornado.

There was no immediate official explanation from authorities on why Rau was registered under a different name, but a hospital source, who asked not to be identified, said he was found near a motorcycle at the rest stop and misidentified through registration found on the vehicle.

There also was no word on Phoni-The tornado killed Rau's wife Rose-steering wheel of the family car and the bodies of the two dead children were found in and around the wreckage of a service station at the interchange site.

Poweshiek County Sheriff Max Allen had said the only information they had that placed Rau at the scene was a statement from Melaine.

Carter's Mideast talks may enhance his image

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's past and future rivals for the White House, praising his high-risk venture in Middle East peacemaking, predict it will greatly enhance his popularity and re-election chances.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders, some of whom recently dismissed Carter as likely to be a oneterm president, now say he has transformed the political landscape and probably earned as much as a 25point boost in opinion polls.

Sen. William Roth, R-Del., recommended that Carter, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat be nominated for Nobel Peace Prizes

Some Republicans suggested Carter's rising stock will not rub off on congressional races next month, and Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, said that while Carter has undoubtedly improved his foreign policy image, "It doesn't get him out of the woods on a lot of domestic problems."

However, the prevailing mood as expressed by House and Senate members after Carter reported to a joint session of Congress Monday night was that the president's achievement has silenced those who painted him as a faltering and unsure leader.

"I think that with one bold stroke he has erased any image of incompeence " said Senate Democratic lead er Robert Byrd

"There is now a presumption that the president of the United States is in charge of his affairs and that he knows what he is doing," said House Democratic Leader James Wright.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. mentioned with increasing frequency in recent weeks as a potential Carter challenger in 1980, said Carter has proved himself adept at dealing with a tough and complex issue, "a fact the American people will surely under stand and appreciate.

Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., who has said he will consider a try for his party's presidential nomination in 1980, said Carter should be given "high marks for a job well done. "It's more than cosmetics, more ences," Baker said. "It's a real ac complishment. "It's always good to be proud of your president," said House Republi can Whip Robert Michel of Illinois. Michel's prediction that Carter's popularity in the polls will rise "by 20 points or more" followed closely House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip"

O'Neill's projection that Carter might reap a 25-point harvest in the opinion polls In the latest AP-NBC News poll, taken last month, only 26 percent of those surveyed rated Carter's performance as "excellent" or "good, while 73 percent gave him "only fair"

or "poor" marks. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., a 1976 candidate for the presidential nomi nation, called the summit "a personal accomplishment" and said Carter succeeded because of an intensity and force of personality "that has not been seen in the White House since

Cooler temperatures likely in Basin through Wednesday

Cooler temperatures and a chance of rain should prevail in the Permian Basin through Wednesday, according to the weatherman.

The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport is forecasting partly cloudy skies with a slight chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms through Wednesday. There's a 20 percent chance of rain tonight and a 30 percent chance Wednesday, the weatherman said.

The high temperature reading for the Midland area Monday was 91 degrees. The record high for Sept. 18 is 98 degrees set in 1945. The overnight low was 70 degrees. The record low for today is 46 degrees set in 1971.

Cooler temperatures are expected for Wednesday. The overnight low is expected to be in the high 60s. Wednesday's high should be in the middle 80s, said the weatherman.

Winds are expected to be gusty and from the south at 15 to 20 mph through

Members get orientation

Board members of the Midland Division of the American Heart Association heard an orientation talk from Dr. Stanley Wagner of El Paso at their luncheon meeting yesterday.

Dr. Wagner, a Heart Association volunteer in El Paso, gave board members a list of attributes and responsibilities needed for smooth running of the organization.

'We as board members have to minimize costs and maximize effectiveness," he told the group.

"A good board member recognizes the value of time, the virtue of patience, the necessity of dependability, the power of kindness and the joy of originating ideas and solutions," he continued.

After reviewing the areas of volunteer work. Wagner urged board members to try working in new areas.

The cardiologist also praised the Midland Division for its past accomplishments. The Midland group was awarded the Torch Award for the highest per capita donations in the state last year.

He urged board members to keep the goal of the organization in mind: "The reduction of unneccessary death and disability from heart disWednesday

"These offices would take traffic off the streets downtown," Brown said. "Downtown Midland has a parking problem and we need to get some offices away from downtown.

Commission member Mrs. James Purvis questioned Brown about the need for more office space considering the amount being constructed downtown and already planned for othe parts of Midland. Brown answered that if the area already is zoned for offices it will be easier to attract businesses to the But one aspect that deterred the crossover roads along the Loop also were questioned.

Brown agreed to conduct a survey on the amount of planned traffic when the Loop is finished and if the office area is allowed. The study will be completed within 30 to 60 days. Touching on the same problem of crossovers along the North Loop was a request by Magnatex to change its platting of Saddle Club South. According to what several members of the commission were told, there will not be a crossover road at North A Street, the location of the development John Kelly with Magnatex said

Midlander returned to jail after two-hour bond hearing

Sam Chaney, a 30-year-old Midlander, began his second week in jail Monday after a two-hour appealsbond hearing before Federal Magistrate J.M. Pres-

Chaney, a businessman who has extensive farming and ranching interests in Glasscock County, was convicted in federal court here Aug. 15 for conspiracy and for receiving and concealing a stolen aircraft, which investigators claimed was used in marijuana

He received two five-year sentences, to run concurrently, and was fined $5,000 on each count by Federal Judge John H. Wood Jr.

"I'm inclined to recommend that he (Chaney) be released on bond," Magistrate Preston said Monday after listening to the testimony of eight witnesses and the arguments of U.S. Assistant Attorney James Kerr and defense attorneys Tom Sneed of Odessa and Jim Mashburn of Midland.

Though Preston said he might recommend to Judge Wood next week that Chaney be released pending outcome of his appeal, Preston said he wanted to consider the amount of any bail bond.

From the time of his arrest last December until his sentencing last week, Chaney had been free under a $50,000 personal recognizance bond. Mashburn said even that amount on an appeals bond would be set a $375,000 appeals bond. He labeled Chaney a "drug trafficker" who presents a "danger to the

Kerr, who prosecuted the case, asked Preston to

"It is the government's opinion that the defendant will continue to deal in drugs" should he be released, Kerr contended that the single-engine Cessna Cen-turion Chaney took on a 10-minute flight from Garden City was being "utilized to bring marijuana to the United States from the Republic of Mexico."

The plane's engine malfunctioned, and Chaney, a commercial pilot, made an emergency landing near Greenwood in Midland County.

Mashburn, however, argued that allegations of Chaney's involvement in smuggling are "rumor, innuendo and rank hearsay.

Chaney "was never convicted of a narcotics offense. He was never charged with it. He was a suspect," said Mashburn, the former state district attorney for Midland County.

Defense attorney Sneed said because of Chaney's extensive financial holdings here and in Glasscock County and due to his family ties, "There's no reason to believe this man has any motivation to leave (jump bail).'

Chaney's attorneys called five character witnesses on behalf of their client, including Chaney and his father, W.E. Chaney of Midland.

Sam Chaney said his appeal has validity because "I don't believe I was guilty" of the charges. The basis for his appeal to overturn the conviction or to get a new trial is based on what he claims was insufficient evidence on the part of the govern-

The senior Chaney, 54, said that there is "no way" his son would jump bail were he released from custody. He said he would back up the bond with "everything I've got" to secure his son's re-

The government presented three witnesses: David Schrimp, a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation; L.W. "Porky" Moseley, chief narcotics deputy for the Midland County Sheriff's Department, and Bill Bolling, a federal Drug Enforcement Administration agent who formerly headed the Drug Enforcement Administration here.

All three characterized Chaney as having a "bad" reputation with law enforcement officials and as having a "bad" reputation for truth and verac-

Schrimp, Moseley and Bolling said Chaney is a major "narcotics smuggler," though they noted no charges have been brought against him.

Were Chaney released on bond, Bolling said, he would leave the area. However, Schrimp and Moseley said they had "no opinion" on that.

Throughout the hearing, Mashburn voiced "running objections" to references to narcotics smuggling, since, he said, that was not the issue. He said the case against Chaney was based on a reputedly stolen airplane and not on alleged marijuana

GSA chief admits scandals may be just 'tip of iceberg'

WASHINGTON (AP) - General Services Administrator Jay Solomon said today that scandals so far exposed in his agency "may represent only the tip of a gigantic iceberg," but he outlined 19 administrative changes he has made to clean it up.

The fraud, the corruption, the thievery, the mismanagement and downright abuse of the public trust that have been exposed to this date are only the beginning," Solomon told a hearing of the Senate subcommittee on federal spending practices and open government. "GSA is today sitting in exile like a nded animal," he said. "It is surrounded by the vigilant media, the disgruntled, the corrupters and by turf-conscious bureaucrats from other agencies...(who) would like to put an end to the cost-effective concept of centralized administrative services envisioned by the Hoover Commission in creating GSA." Solomon said he might be criticized for "being too tolerant during my early days," but that during the past 88 days he had implemented 19 major changes intended to correct the agen-

Among these were establishment of a central procurement office for GSA. reinstatement of so-called whistleblowers who had been penalized for criticizing GSA, establishment of a central budget office, a central office to dispose of surplus stockpile property, a limitation on spending authority of low-level officials, and a series of changes designed to ensure sharper policing of work done for the government under contract.

A new "office of acquisition policy" to be operating by Oct. 1 and reporting directly to him will standardize purchases of the GSA, which Solomon said now "are decentralized among the services in the central office in Washington and in the 10 regions."

Vincent Alto, the special counsel hired by Solomon to head the internal investigation of the federal government's landlord and storekeeper agency, said Monday that no GSA administrator since the first one, Jess Larson in the Truman administration, has really been able to run the

Coyotes prey on pet poodles, watermelons, mice, crickets...

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - The reclusive coyote is holding its own against man's incursions into its territory - partly by eating the suburbanites' cats and dogs, say the ex-

Coyotes seem to be especially fond of small poodles.

Two experts said in recent interviews that there are an estimated 500,000 coyotes in California. Last year they killed about 13,000 adult sheep and 51,000 lambs. But 84 trappers, under a federally supported control program endorsed by the Sierra Club, got rid of only 7,963 coy-

Ronald Thompson of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said that without the trapping, "the livestock loss figures would be five times this high.

Thompson said coyotes can cover 30 miles a night in search of food. They are thriving in the Sierra foothills despite widespread home building. And they're again preying on household pets on the edge of Los Angeles, after an absence of three decades.

A coyote researcher at the University of California at Davis, Walter E. Howard, says coyotes "like to eat cats and dogs," and is benefiting from the near elimination of the wolf, which preys on the coyote.

A coyote's diet also includes manzanita berries, watermelons, grasshoppers, crickets, rats, mice, squirrels, chickens and about anything else it can get its teeth into.

Howard said the coyote is resisting all sorts of control schemes. One was applying foul-smelling coyote repellents to bait. But "the coyotes got so smart, they would skin the animal and avoid eating the skin.

Researchers are now looking for ways to attract coyotes to traps, guns, or perhaps baits laced with birth-control pills. Howard said

Nationally, coyotes are blamed for $40 million damage a year to the sheep industry.

How Does One Clean A Chimney? VERY CAREFULLY.

Why does one clean a chimney? There are a number of reasons but mainly because they get dirty. When chimneys are dirty, the fire doesn't burn well. Dirty chimneys sometimes emit offensive odors. When dirty the damper cannot close properly, which causes a loss of heat in the winter and air conditioning in the summer. And last but not least, when chimneys are dirty they sometimes catch on fire (which immediately causes an emergency and a

When should a chimney be cleaned? When it is not in use of course-you can't clean one with a fire in it. If you wish to be completely safe, have your chimney cleaned after 2 1/2 to 3 cords of wood is burned in it.

St. Andrews Mission

Mission Sunday afternoon dedicated its new, attractive and completely modern building in an impressive ceremony, followed by a well-attended open-house function.

The Rev. Rodolfo Guerrero, director of Hispanic American Ministry at San Antonio, was the speaker for the occasion.

The new facility is located at 1708 N. Fort Worth St. at Golf Course Road.

St. Andrews Mission, an outreach of Midland Presbyterian Corporate Ministry, long has done a tremendous job in serving specific needs of youths and adults of its Northeast-East Midland neighborhood. With its new, spacious facility, it now will be able to offer expanded services as needs are expressed.

Looking back, St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, founded in 1950, early in its ministry started a kindergarten in response to the need for a language program for neighborhood children. Other programs were added as needs became apparent.

In 1971, St. Andrews merged with the former Westminster Presbyterian Church and became Trinity Presbyterian Church. The mission program was continued at the St. Andrews facility until the Midland Presbyterian Corporate Ministry assumed responsibility for it in 1973. The St. Andrews Presbyterian Corporate Ministry includes the First, Christ, Covenant and Trinity Presbyterian churches.

> A gift made several years ago by a Midland family made possible the new building. Donations and memorials from individuals provided funds for the lots, furnishings, landscaping and playground equipment.

The mission, with a small staff and a number of volunteers, operates a pre-school program for 30 three and four year-old children. In addition, there is a tutoring program for persons wishing to complete their high school education; drivereducation classes: income tax clinic; elementary boys and girls activities; neighborhood women's home demonstration club, and a full summer program. Classes for children and adults in English and Spanish also are offered. A brand new program assists senior high students who are preparing for the SAT and ACT tests. Any number of personal services also are provided.

This is a well-rounded program, filling urgent, specific needs of the community.

Congratulations and all best wishes are directed to the mission, its officers, directors, staff members, volunteers and all others involved, along with an expression of appreciation for the great, far-reaching work they are

'Good idea to put news in proper perspective'

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - Now and again, for those who produce it as well as those who consume it, it is a good idea to put the news in its proper perspec-

As any rational person knows, keeping up with the news can be depressing. Wars and rumors of wars, crime, accidents, natural ca-tastrophes and controversies race across our eyes in a seemingly endless stream.

It's very easy to conclude, based on the news, that the world is not going to hell, it's become hell.

Well, I have some good news for you. We in the news business distort the heck out of reality. Oh, we generally tell you the truth; we just don't tell you all of the truth for the very practical reason that 90 percent of the truth is not news.

We have taught you — at least the more pompous of us — to believe that news is a synonym for important. Well, that's not exactly the truth. If you had to pick one word as a synonym for news, "dramatic" would be closer to the truth than important.

News people all over the world sit through meetings in which 25 items on the agenda are settled rationally and harmoniously and then devote the bulk of their report to the 26th item which caused a controversy.

News is, by our definition, that which is the dramatic, the unusual,

the exceptional. Not only do we seek out the events which are dramatic, exceptional and unusual, but we are trained, when forced to, to present the ordinary in a dramatic style.

For example, if I were going to report on the traffic statistics for Florida in 1977, I would write: "In 1977, more than 158,000 people were injured on Florida's highways." That sounds like a lot of people and it's quite true, but what I wouldn't normally tell you is that that amounts to only 2.4 percent of the licensed drivers in the state. A fraction over 97 percent of 6.6 million drivers never got a scratch!

We inadvertently distort reality by reporting only a relatively few aspects of it. Imagine that life is a long line on a large sheet of paper; news is a number of dots lifted out of that line and magnified.

It does no good to wish, as some do, that news would include nothing but stories about happy events. You wouldn't read it. A few happy stories are sprinkled over the news, but by and large people want to read about something which is exciting.

Newspapers send correspondents to the Middle East because there is dramatic conflict there. If we stationed correspondents in Monaco or Scotland or in any of dozens of other areas where life is proceeding peacefully, you'd think we were crazy.

We also have some helpers in the business of distorting reality. Practically all of the information about many problems is developed by people who have a financial interest in the problem. If you watched the muscular dystrophy telethon, for exam-ple, you would not be likely to realize that muscular dystrophy is a relatively rare disease affecting only a tiny percent of the population.

People in the drunk-saving business magnify the problem of alcoholics; people in the drug abuse business magnify the drug problem; people in the crime business magnify the crime problem. You should remember that in all of these cases and in many others, the information is developed and distributed to justify the respective agency's request for more

As a friend of mine once said, if you are paying a guy $36,000 a year to solve a problem, he darn sure isn't going to solve it.

You can keep the news in perspective by keeping your mind in gear while you consume. Remember, for example, that despite all the bad news you read about New York City that over 9 million pople who are bright and mobile continue to choose to live.

Remember, for example, that despite all you've read about the strife in Ireland that scarcely more than a 1,000 people have been killed in 10 years or that if we tell you that 18,000 people were victims of homicide last year, we are also telling you - by implication — that more than 215 million were not.

Nearly $10 million worth of supplies for government offices is paid for but never delivered. You might call it The Case of the Phantom Paper Clip.

The investigation is all about government purchasing agents accused of authorizing payments for goods never received such as pencils, blotters, waste baskets etc. Apparently they decided that such items are easier to hide than an aircraft carrier.

There's more. It is suspected that we've all been paying for maintenance and repair work that was never done on federal buildings. Which explains the painters and plasterers coming to work in tuxedos.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Justice and mercy and a doctor

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Running afoul of federal investigators can be a harrowing experience under the best of circumstances. But when the victim of government harassment is rash enough to detail the abuses to a congressional committee, the bureaucratic bulldogs never let go. They'll worry a suspect like a favorite bone - even, apparently, to the point of burying him.

Sound farfetched? More like a communist regime in Eastern Europe, or a tinhorn dictatorship in Latin America? It's happening right now in Illinois to a 66-year-old physician, Dr. Milton Margoles. Financially ruined, his health broken, his license to practice temporarily revoked after a run-in with the Internal Revenue Service years ago, Margoles now faces a criminal trial that could literally kill him.

The doctor's troubles began with a questionable $33,000 civil tax debit. By the time the Justice Department finished with him, he wound up in jail and was more than $400,000 in debt from the expense of fighting his case through the courts.

After serving his time. Margoles appealed to some congressmen for help. After years of bitter wrangling - including harassment by tax officials and a federal judge -Margoles was granted a full pardon by former President Nixon.

The pardon helped Margoles to resume a modest practice in a new community in Illinois. But in 1974, he testified before a House subcommittee about the abuses heaped on him and his family by Internal Revenue and Justice Department officials.

Margoles, meanwhile, had become suspicious about the behavior of some of his patients. Aware that his whistleblowing would not endear him to the feds who had harassed him, the doctor and his son, Perry, repeatedly asked the authorities whether any medically related complaints or allegations had been lodged against him. Despite these precautions, Margoles was not told that he was once again under investigation. Margoles has now been indicted for allegedly prescribing controlled diet drugs to undercover narcotics investigators. The indictment came after 17 months of surveillance and investigation.

The legal case is serious enough; what makes it almost deadly serious is that the doctor is afflicted with a number of serious heart ailments. The physical, mental and emotional strains of a criminal trial could be fatal to Margoles.

As the government's own medical expert warned, "Placing Dr. Milton Margoles on criminal trial might result in sudden death.'

The expert opinion, however, has failed to persuade Assistant U.S. Attorney Ann Poulin. If Margoles is 'sufficiently well to continue practicing medicine" he should be able to stand trial, she told our associate Jack Mitchell. The doctor does indeed practice medicine - for a few hours a day, to support his family and chip away at the mountain of debt remaining from his first brush with the federal government.

His only alternative to standing trial would be to surrender his

medical license, his sole means of livelihood

Incredible as it may seem. prosecutors are so determined to bring Margoles to trial that they are willing to have heart specialists and emergency equipment brought right into the courtroom to attend to the defendant if he should be stricken. Turning a federal courtroom into a makeshift cardiac unit is not too much trouble for federal prosecutors in their single-minded pursuit of the unfortunate Dr. Margoles.

Footnote: In the same Northern Illinois judicial district, a former Teamster official was recently let off on perjury charges when he pleaded that a heart condition made it dangerous for him to stand trial. Mercy does fall in Illinois after all, it seems, but only in select places.

OBSOLETE BONUS: In the years after World War II, the Japanese economy was in shambles, the yen almost worthless. Although U.S. military bases desperately needed local workers, the Japanese considered it demeaning to work for the victorious Americans. The United States, therefore, offered a 10 percent bonus to Japanese citizens who would work for the government.

Today, of course, the yen is soaring and the dollar is plummeting on the foreign exchange markets. Yet the 10 percent bonus, like most Washington programs, has remained long after the original need ended. The Japanese bonus contracts are costing the taxpayers more than $26 million a

OLD DOGS, NEW TRICKS: John D. Ehrlichman, onetime Nixon special counsel, convict and novelist, has taken to the airwaves in a new career as a radio broadcaster. The former head of the White House plumbers has signed a contract to do daily commentaries for the Mutual Broadcasting System. Although the White House tapes revealed that Ehrlichman is adept at turning a phrase, he recently showed up at Mutual's Washington headquarters for speech lessons from the experts.

LATE DELIVERY: Even congressmen, it seems, have to put up with slow mail service. Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, sent a letter to the clerk of the House on May 11 to update his financial disclosure statement. The clerk received the note on June 8. Brown's congressional office, we should point out, is right across the street from the clerk.

The Carter White House uses Ike Eisenhower model

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - It is not just a coincidence that the next step in the political rehabilitation of Jimmy Carter - the impending veto of a public works appropriations bill for only the third time in history - follows in the footsteps of Dwight D. Eisenhower. The first two vetoes of the traditionally sacrosanct pork-barrel bills were President Eisenhower's work, but there is no embarrassment at the White House about a populist Democrat emulating a conservative Republican. On the contrary, President Carter's aides now in the ascendancy want him to consciously shape the rest of his term to the Eisenhower

"Heavens," exclaimed one of the president's more liberal department officials when told of the White House thinking, "they can't be serious!" To copy the Eisenhower style would mean Mr. Carter's further alienating component parts of the Democratic coalition, who have viewed the president as much too conservative from the start. But it also entails some inner conflict for Mr. Carter himself. While Eisenhower's style of ignoring pressure groups and dealing with the electorate at large appeals to him, the president has a fetish for tidying up agged edges of human problems with 'comprehensive' legislation which delights liberal pressure groups - a practice quite foreign to the old gen-

The conscious use of the Eisenhower model in the Carter White House partly reflects the revisionist upgrading of his presidency now that the Harry Truman revival has run its 'When he was president," Theodore H. White writes of Eisenhower in his new book, "In Search of History," "the American people were never happier...the Eisenhower record, when squeezed down, tells of a superb foreign policy — a matchless record of clean decisions"

Key Carter aides, furthermore, see Eisenhower's America similar to Carter's America in desiring to catch its breath rather than embark on domestic or foreign adventures. Faithful to that mood, Eisenhower vetoed more important bills than any other president - charting a course oblivious to pressure groups. Eisenhower defied convention and congressional prerogatives in 1959 by vetoing two successive public works appropriations bills, the second of which was overridden by Congress the only one of 157 Eisenhower vetoes not sustained by Congress. Carter insiders admire that spirit and believe the president's biggest mistake in 1977 was to sign that year's pork barrel bill instead of vetoing it. Thus, what old hands in Congress perceive as a blockheaded inability at the White House to learn from the past is actually determination to atone for the missed veto in 1977. White House agents were intractable in dealing with Congress this year because they welcomed another chance for a Carter public works This reflects a major underpinning of Mr. Carter's rehabilitation program conducted under the direction of senior White House aide Gerald Rafshoon: Jimmy Carter did not get to the White House by accommodating to the demands of pressure groups and has hurt himself by accommodation during his first 18 months in office.

Accordingly, the president's old aides from Georgia are pushing a strong anti-accommodation line at the White House against the accommodation forces led by Vice President Walter F. Mondale. For example, the anti-accommodators lately have been spreading the word that the president thoroughly approves of Barry Bos-worth, the anti-inflation jawboner who is public enemy No. 1 in the eyes of organized labor.

But one important Carter insider points out that while Eisenhower was a national war hero who could defy pressure groups and maintain popularity, Mr. Carter never even commanded a submarine and enjoys no broad popular foundation. That means the president is vulnerable in defying constituency groups of a democratic party.

An equally formidable obstacle is the president's compulsion to put together large, indigestible packages of reform legislation that do not seem compatible with a public suspicious of large government initiatives. Nevertheless, there is feeling within the White House that the president must tame his own activist impulses to

For some 25 years, the "unfinished social agenda" of the two Eisenhower terms was enshrined in Democratic demonology as the cause of social and economic woes. If a Democratic president now actually follows Eisenhower's path, he will be proclaiming the sterility of standard liberal doctrine in quest of national support.

loses NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to slide downward today amid fears about possible antiinflation moves forthcoming from the Carter adminstration and the Federal Reserve.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues slumped 1.21 to 868.94, continuing the decline that has cost the Dow more than 36 points in the past four sessions.

Falling issues held a 2-1 edge over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange. Carter administration inflation-fighter Robert Strauss again stopped short today of calling for man-datory wage and price controls, but said he sup-ported "the toughest possible program" to fight inflation.

And brokers said they expected the Federal Reserve to move to raise interest rates in an attempt to control the amount of money in circulation.

Ramada Inns led the most active list, off 14 to 134 as all casino-related issues continued to tumble in heavy trading. Stock exchange officials late last week further tightened margin requirements on the volatile issues.

The NYSE composite index of all its listed common stocks lost .02 to 58.22 On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .63 to 170.64.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 13.39 million shares at noon, compared to 15.90 million shares in Monday's first two hours.

Other active gambling issues included Holiday Inn, down 1 to 25%; Bally Manufacturing, off 1% to 55%; Caesars World, falling 44 to 524; and Del E. Webb. down 14 to 29%. On the Amex, Resorts International class A gave up 31/2 to 1641/2. Nortek fell 11/2 to 17% and Golden Nugget fell 156 to

House weighs Kennedy report

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators are weighing the merits of a mysterious intelligence report suggesting that Lee Harvey Oswald hinted to Cuban officials he might kill President John F. Kennedy, and that Fidel Castro knew this before Kennedy was slain.

Castro has denied to the House Assassinations Committee that he knew of such a threat prior to Kennedy's murder. Two other Cuban officials say Oswald made no such statements during his three visits to the Cuban consulate in Mexico City. The situation may become clearer today as the committee presents details about the intelligence report and a transcript of the committee's four-hour interview with Castro taped last April in Havana.

The suggestion that the Cuban leader had some inkling of Oswald's plan first emerged in 1967 in a National Enquirer article by Comer Clark, a British free-lance journalist who died in 1972.

Clark wrote that Castro told him in an interview: "Yes, I heard of Lee Harvey Oswald's plan to kill President Kennedy. It's possible that I could have saved him. I might have been able to, but I didn't. I never believed the plan would be put into Clark quoted Castro as saying Cuban officials told him of Oswald's visit to the Mexico City consulate about two months before Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. Clark claimed Castro said he was told Oswald said 'someone ought to shoot that President Kennedy" and that he might do it himself. Questioned about the account, Castro said he never granted Clark an interview and called the story absurd.

"I didn't say that," Castro asserted. "It has been invented from the beginning until the end. It's a lie. If this man (Oswald) would have done something like that, it would have been our moral duty to inform the United States."

In a written report, committee counsel Robert Blakey said investigators "made an effort to explore Mr. Clark's background and reputation for veracity. Frankly, it was not good. Apparently he wrote extensively for the sensational press."

But Blakey continued, "Even though there may be doubts as to the fact of Clark's interview with President Castro, the committee has been informed that the substance of the Clark article is supported by highly confidential but reliable sources available to the United States government."

Questioned by reporters Monday, Blakey refused to elaborate except to say committee investigators have not themselves evaluated the reliability of the secret sources, nor have they reached any conclusions about the merits of the report.

The committee presumably obtained the report from U.S. intelligence officials but Blakey refused to identify them.

The committee took testimony Monday from the two Cuban diplomats who were in charge of the Mexico City consulate in 1963.

St. Andrews Mission

St. Andrews Presbyterian Mission Sunday afternoon dedicated its new, attractive and completely modern building in an impressive ceremony, followed by a well-attended open-house function.

The Rev. Rodolfo Guerrero, director of Hispanic American Ministry at San Antonio, was the speaker for the occasion.

The new facility is located at 1708 N. Fort Worth St. at Golf Course Road.

St. Andrews Mission, an outreach of Midland Presbyterian Corporate Ministry, long has done a tremendous job in serving specific needs of youths and adults of its Northeast-East Midland neighborhood. With its new, spacious facility, it now will be able to offer expanded services as needs are expressed.

Looking back, St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, founded in 1950, early in its ministry started a kindergarten in response to the need for a language program for neighborhood children. Other programs were added as needs became apparent.

In 1971, St. Andrews merged with the former Westminster Presbyterian Church and became Trinity Presbyterian Church. The mission program was continued at the St. Andrews facility until the Midland Presbyterian Corporate Ministry assumed responsibility for it in 1973. The Corporate Ministry includes the First, Christ, Covenant and Trinity Presbyterian churches.

A gift made several years ago by a Midland family made possible the new building. Donations and memorials from individuals provided funds for the lots, furnishings, landscaping and playground equipment.

The mission, with a small staff and a number of volunteers, operates a pre-school program for 30 three and four year-old children. In addition, there is a tutoring program for persons wishing to complete their high school education; drivereducation classes; income tax clinic; elementary boys and girls activities; neighborhood women's home demonstration club, and a full summer program. Classes for children and adults in English and Spanish also are offered. A brand new program assists senior high students who are preparing for the SAT and ACT tests. Any number of personal services also are provided.

This is a well-rounded program, filling urgent, specific needs of the community.

Congratulations and all best wishes are directed to the mission, its officers, directors, staff members, volunteers and all others involved, along with an expression of appreciation for the great, far-reaching work they are

50-year road builder

Congratulations are in order for DeWitt C. Greer of Austin who this month is marking his 50th anniversary with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Greer, who is well-known in Midland and throughout West Texas, is a native of Pittsburg, over in East Texas. One of his first jobs with the Highway Department was as a transit man at Athens. But it wasn't too long before he became district engineer at Tyler. He was transferred to Austin in 1936 to become state highway engineer, a post he held until his retirement in 1968. His retirement, however, lasted only a year. Gov. Preston Smith apointed him as a member of the Texas Highway Commission in 1969. He is wtill there — and still doing a great job in highway. planning, building and maintenance. He is widely recognized as one of the nation's outstanding highway builders.

DeWitt Greer is known to many persons far and wide as "Mr. Texas Highways," and, needless to say, he has had the stellar role in developing Texas' superior highway system during the last half century.

Mr. Greer merits the congratulations and best wishes extended by his fellow Texans on this golden anniversary occasion.

"An opponent probably won't provide direct help — but he'll sharpen your attack."

'Good idea to put news in proper perspective'

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - Now and again, for those who produce it as well as those who consume it, it is a good idea to put the news in its proper perspec-

As any rational person knows, keeping up with the news can be depressing. Wars and rumors of wars, crime, accidents, natural catastrophes and controversies race across our eyes in a seemingly endless stream.

It's very easy to conclude, based on the news, that the world is not going to hell, it's become hell.

Well, I have some good news for you. We in the news business distort the heck out of reality. Oh, we generally tell you the truth; we just don't tell you all of the truth for the very practical reason that 90 percent of the truth is not news.

We have taught you — at least the more pompous of us — to believe that news is a synonym for important. Well, that's not exactly the truth. If you had to pick one word as a synonym for news, "dramatic" would be closer to the truth than important. News people all over the world sit through meetings in which 25 items on the agenda are settled rationally and harmoniously and then devote the bulk of their report to the 26th item which caused a controversy.

News is, by our definition, that which is the dramatic, the unusual, line on a large sheet of paper; news is a number of dots lifted out of that line and magnified.

It does no good to wish, as some do, that news would include nothing but stories about happy events. You wouldn't read it. A few happy stories are sprinkled over the news, but by and large people want to read about something which is exciting.

the exceptional. Not only do we seek out the events which are dramatic,

exceptional and unusual, but we are trained, when forced to, to present the

For example, if I were going to report on the traffic statistics for

Florida in 1977, I would write: "In 1977, more than 158,000 people were injured on Florida's highways." That sounds like a lot of people and it's quite true, but what I wouldn't normally tell you is that that amounts to ordinary in a dramatic style.

Newspapers send correspondents to the Middle East because there is dramatic conflict there. If we stationed correspondents in Monaco or Scotland or in any of dozens of other areas where life is proceeding peacefully, you'd think we were crazy.

We also have some helpers in the business of distorting reality. Practically all of the information about many problems is developed by people who have a financial interest in the problem. If you watched the muscular dystrophy telethon, for example, you would not be likely to realize that muscular dystrophy is a relatively rare disease affecting only a tiny percent of the population.

People in the drunk-saving business magnify the problem of alcoholics; people in the drug abuse business magnify the drug problem; people in problem. You should remember that in all of these cases and in many others, the information is developed and distributed to justify the respective agency's request for more

As a friend of mine once said, if you are paying a guy $36,000 a year to solve a problem, he darn sure isn't going to solve it.

You can keep the news in perspective by keeping your mind in gear while you consume. Remember, for example, that despite all the bad news you read about New York City that over 9 million pople who are bright and mobile continue to choose to live.

Remember, for example, that despite all you've read about the strife in Ireland that scarcely more than a 1,000 people have been killed in 10 years or that if we tell you that 18,000 people were victims of homicide last year, we are also telling you - by implication — that more than 215 million

Mark Russell says

Nearly $10 million worth of supplies for government offices is paid for but never delivered. You might call it The Case of the Phantom Paper Clip.

The investigation is all about government purchasing agents accused of authorizing payments for goods never received such as pencils, blotters, waste baskets etc. Apparently they decided that such items are easier to hide than an aircraft carrier.

There's more. It is suspected that we've all been paying for mainte-nance and repair work that was never done on federal buildings. Which explains the painters and plasterers coming to work in tuxedos.

All of which means that Paul Newman will be making a new movie about Washington — "The Sting Part

WASHINGTON - Running afoul of federal investigators can be a harrowing experience under the best of circumstances. But when the victim of government harassment is rash enough to detail the abuses to a congressional committee, the bureaucratic bulldogs never let go. They'll worry a suspect like a favorite bone - even, apparently, to the point of burying him.

By JACK ANDERSON

Sound farfetched? More like a Europe, or a tinhorn dictatorship in Latin America? It's happening right now in Illinois to a 66-year-old physician, Dr. Milton Margoles. Financially ruined, his health broken, his license to practice temporarily revoked after a run-in with the Internal Revenue Service years ago, Margoles now faces a criminal trial that could literally kill him.

The doctor's troubles began with a questionable $33,000 civil tax debit. By the time the Justice Department finished with him, he wound up in jail and was more than $400,000 in debt from the expense of fighting his case through the courts.

After serving his time, Margoles appealed to some congressmen for help. After years of bitter wrangling - including harassment by tax officials and a federal judge -Margoles was granted a full pardon by former President Nixon.

The pardon helped Margoles to resume a modest practice in a new community in Illinois. But in 1974, he testified before a House subcommittee about the abuses heaped on him and his family by Internal Revenue and Justice Department officials.

allegedly prescribing controlled diet drugs to undercover narcotics investigators. The indictment came after 17 months of surveillance and investigation.

The legal case is serious enough; what makes it almost deadly serious is that the doctor is afflicted with a number of serious heart ailments. The physical, mental and emotional strains of a criminal trial could be expert warned, "Placing Dr. Milton Margoles on criminal trial might result in sudden death.'

The expert opinion, however, has failed to persuade Assistant U.S. Attorney Ann Poulin. If Margoles is 'sufficiently well to continue practicing medicine" he should be able to stand trial, she told our associate Jack Mitchell. The doctor does indeed practice medicine - for a few hours a day, to support his family and chip away at the mountain of debt remaining from his first brush with the federal government.

His only alternative to standing trial would be to surrender his

Margoles, meanwhile, had become suspicious about the behavior of some of his patients. Aware that his whistleblowing would not endear him to the feds who had harassed him, the doctor and his son, Perry, repeatedly asked the authorities whether any medically related complaints or allegations had been lodged against him. Despite these precautions, Margoles was not told that he was fatal to Margoles.

As the government's own medical medical license, his sole means of livelihood Incredible as it may seem, prosecutors are so determined to bring Margoles to trial that they are willing to have heart specialists and emergency equipment brought right into the courtroom to attend to the defendant if he should be stricken. Turning a federal courtroom into a makeshift cardiac unit is not too much trouble for federal prosecutors in their single-minded pursuit of the unfortunate Dr. Margoles.

Illinois judicial district, a former Teamster official was recently let off on perjury charges when he pleaded that a heart condition made it dangerous for him to stand trial. Mercy does fall in Illinois after all, it seems, but only in select places.

OBSOLETE BONUS: In the years after World War II, the Japanese economy was in shambles, the yen almost worthless. Although U.S. military bases desperately needed local workers, the Japanese considered it demeaning to work for the victorious Americans. The United States, therefore, offered a 10 percent bonus to Japanese citizens who would work for the government.

Today, of course, the yen is soaring and the dollar is plummeting on the foreign exchange markets. Yet the 10 percent bonus, like most Washington programs, has remained long after the original need ended. The Japanese bonus contracts are costing the taxpayers more than $26 million a

OLD DOGS, NEW TRICKS: John D. Ehrlichman, onetime Nixon special counsel, convict and novelist, has taken to the airwaves in a new career as a radio broadcaster. The former head of the White House plumbers has signed a contract to do daily commentaries for the Mutual Broadcasting System. Although the White House tapes revealed that Ehrlichman is adept at turning a phrase, he recently showed up at Mutual's Washington headquarters for speech lessons from the experts.

LATE DELIVERY: Even congressmen, it seems, have to put up with slow mail service. Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, sent a letter to the clerk of the House on May 11 to update his financial disclosure statement. The clerk received the note on June 8. Brown's congressional office, we should point out, is right across the street from the clerk.

INSIDE REPORT:

The Carter White House uses Ike Eisenhower model

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - It is not just a coincidence that the next step in the political rehabilitation of Jimmy Carter - the impending veto of a public works appropriations bill for only the third time in history - follows in the footsteps of Dwight D. Eisenhower. The first two vetoes of the traditionally sacrosanct pork-barrel bills were President Eisenhower's work, but there is no embarrassment at the White House about a populist Democrat emulating a conservative Republican. On the contrary, President Carter's aides now in the ascendancy want him to consciously shape the rest of his term to the Eisenhower

"Heavens," exclaimed one of the president's more liberal department officials when told of the White House thinking, "they can't be serious!" To copy the Eisenhower style would mean Mr. Carter's further alienating component parts of the Democratic coalition, who have viewed the president as much too conservative from the start.

But it also entails some inner conflict for Mr. Carter himself. While Eisenhower's style of ignoring pressure groups and dealing with the electorate at large appeals to him, the president has a fetish for tidying up jagged edges of human problems with comprehensive" legislation which delights liberal pressure groups — a practice quite foreign to the old gen-

The conscious use of the Eisenhower model in the Carter White House partly reflects the revisionist upgrading of his presidency now that the Harry Truman revival has run its course, "When he was president," Theodore H. White writes of Eisenhower in his new book, "In Search of History," "the American people were never happier...the Eisenhower record, when squeezed down, tells of a superb foreign policy — a matchless record of clean decisions'

Key Carter aides, furthermore, see Eisenhower's America similar to Carter's America in desiring to catch its breath rather than embark on domestic or foreign adventures. Faithful to that mood, Eisenhower vetoed more important bills than any other president - charting a course

oblivious to pressure groups. Eisenhower defied convention and congressional prerogatives in 1959 by vetoing two successive public works appropriations bills, the second of which was overridden by Congress the only one of 157 Eisenhower vetoes not sustained by Congress. Carter insiders admire that spirit and believe the president's biggest mistake in 1977 was to sign that year's pork barrel bill instead of vetoing it.

Thus, what old hands in Congress perceive as a blockheaded inability at the White House to learn from the past is actually determination to atone for the missed veto in 1977. White House agents were intractable in dealing with Congress this year because they welcomed another chance for a Carter public works

This reflects a major underpinning of Mr. Carter's rehabilitation program conducted under the direction of senior White House aide Gerald Rafshoon: Jimmy Carter did not get to the White House by accommodating to the demands of pressure groups and has hurt himself by accommodation during his first 18 months in

Accordingly, the president's old aides from Georgia are pushing a strong anti-accommodation line at the White House against the accommodation forces led by Vice President Walter F. Mondale. For example, the anti-accommodators lately have been spreading the word that the president thoroughly approves of Barry Bos-worth, the anti-inflation jawboner who is public enemy No. 1 in the eyes of organized labor.

But one important Carter insider points out that while Eisenhower was a national war hero who could defy pressure groups and maintain popularity, Mr. Carter never even commanded a submarine and enjoys no broad popular foundation. That means the president is vulnerable in defying constituency groups of a democratic party.

An equally formidable obstacle is the president's compulsion to put together large, indigestible packages of reform legislation that do not seem compatible with a public suspicious of large government initiatives. Nevertheless, there is feeling within the White House that the president must tame his own activist impulses to

For some 25 years, the "unfinished social agenda" of the two Eisenhower terms was enshrined in Democratic demonology as the cause of social and economic woes. If a Democratic president now actually follows Eisenhower's path, he will be proclaiming the sterility of standard liberal doctrine in quest of national support.

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to slide downward today amid fears about possible antiinflation moves forthcoming from the Carter adminstration and the Federal Reserve.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues slumped 1.21 to 868.94, continuing the decline that has cost the Dow more than 36 points in the past four sessions.

Falling issues held a 2-1 edge over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange. Carter administration inflation-fighter Robert Strauss again stopped short today of calling for mandatory wage and price controls, but said he supported "the toughest possible program" to fight inflation. And brokers said they expected the Federal Reserve to move to raise interest rates in an attempt to control the amount of money in circulation.

House weighs Kennedy report

WASHINGTON (AP) - House investigators are weighing the merits of a mysterious intelligence report suggesting that Lee Harvey Oswald hinted to Cuban officials he might kill President John F. Kennedy, and that Fidel Castro knew this before Kennedy was slain.

Castro has denied to the House Assassinations Committee that he knew of such a threat prior to Kennedy's murder. Two other Cuban officials say Oswald made no such statements during his three visits to the Cuban consulate in Mexico City. The situation may become clearer today as the committee presents details about the intelligence report and a transcript of the committee's four-hour interview with Castro taped last April The suggestion that the Cuban leader had some inkling of Oswald's plan first emerged in 1967 in a Na-tional Enquirer article by Comer Clark, a British free-lance journalist who died in 1972. Clark wrote that Castro told him in an interview: "Yes, I heard of Lee Harvey Oswald's plan to kill President Kennedy. It's possible that I could have saved him. I might have been able to, but I didn't. I never believed the plan would be put into Clark quoted Castro as saying Cuban officials told him of Oswald's visit to the Mexico City consulate about two months before Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963 Clark claimed Castro said he was told Oswald said 'someone ought to shoot that President Kennedy'

and that he might do it himself. Questioned about the account, Castro said he never granted Clark an interview and called the story

"I didn't say that," Castro asserted. "It has been invented from the beginning until the end. It's a lie. If this man (Oswald) would have done something like that, it would have been our moral duty to inform the United States.'

In a written report, committee counsel Robert Blakey said investigators "made an effort to explore Mr. Clark's background and reputation for veracity. Frankly, it was not good. Apparently he wrote extensively for the sensational press." But Blakey continued, "Even though there may be doubts as to the fact of Clark's interview with President Castro, the committee has been informed that the substance of the Clark article is supported by highly confidential but reliable sources available to the United States government. Questioned by reporters Monday, Blakey refused to elaborate except to say committee investigators have not themselves evaluated the reliability of the secret sources, nor have they reached any conclusions about the merits of the report.

The committee presumably obtained the report from U.S. intelligence officials but Blakey refused to dentify them.

The committee took testimony Monday from the two Cuban diplomats who were in charge of the Mexico City consulate in 1963.

If South tries to set up the hearts, he will lose two hearts and two diamonds. Variety is the spice of life, but South is still down one.

South makes the contract if he sets up a heart without losing two heart tricks. See if that gives you any ideas.

South takes the first or second diamond, leads a trump to dummy's king and returns the deuce of hearts. Did you ever know a defender good enough to play the king from the East hand?

DRIVES OUT ACE Your jack of bearts will drive out West's ace. The defenders take their diamonds and shift to clubs, won by dummy's king of hearts.

If East plays the king, you run and return to dummy with a trump to diseard a club on the ten of bearts. Remember that a sensible opponent will play second hand low if you give him the chance to do so.

'Battlestar Galactica' draws large audiences, ratings show

NEW YORK (AP) - ABC's threehour premiere of "Battlestar Galactica" captured larger audiences in three big cities than the tough competition on CBS and NBC, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. show.

The space adventure show claimed between 40 percent and 44 percent of the audience in New York City in half-hour checks while it was on the air, compared to a ranges of 24 percent to 30 percent for CBS' broadcast of the Emmy awards show and 22 percent to 24 percent for NBC's tele-cast of the Dino DiLaurentiis movie, "King Kong."

In Chicago, the range was 38 per-cent to 43 percent for "Battlestar Galactica," 25 percent to 32 percent for the Emmy show and 25 percent to 29 percent for "King Kong." The Los Angeles tally from Nielsen was 48-55 for "Battlestar Galactica," 24-28 for the Emmys and 14-25 for "King Kong."

New party wants federal land for Alaskans

EDITOR'S NOTE — Dun't look for it to happen soon, but two Alaskans are running for governor and lieutenant governor on a platform taking Alaska out of the United States. They argue that the notional government never had valid fifte to the territory, and that U.S. laws made for a developed nation don't fit an undeveloped land like Alaska.

By WARD SIMS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The party's candidate for governor is a feisty Indian. Its nominee for t governor is a crusty gold miner.

Donald R. Wright and Joseph E. Vogler are run-ning as a team with the singleminded purpose expressed in the name of their Alaskan Independence Party. Simply put, they propose to take the 49th state out of the union.

Wright, a 48-year-old former president of the Alaska Federation of Natives, and Vogler, 65, are both compelling speakers, especially when they lock on to their favorite subject—the wrongs, abuses and injustices they claim the United States has heaped on Alaska.

At the core of their displeasure is land. They claim the United States holds illegal title to most of Alaska's 375 million acres.

"In our new country the government will have to release every bit of land to the people," Vogfer says. But he and Wright have other grievances as well.

"Alaskans are being stripped of their rights as a sovereign state," Wright says. "The federal government is doing it in violation of the Constitution of the United States of America." The two also argue that people are not being

Decision expected

Austin Buress

AUSTIN-A decision is expected in Noven the current phase of the lawsuit between Texas and New Mexico over the Pecos River Compact, Assis tant Attorney General Dough Caroom has reported.

That dispute, centering on the alleged failure of New Mexico to deliver an accumulated deficit of 1,400,000 acre-feet of water, is being heard in Denver by Special Master Jean Breitenste

In the latest round of arguments, Texas' interstate compact coordinator, Bob Whiteston of the Department of Water Resources, testified for a day and a half, principally on engineering techniques for simplementing the compact. Breitenstein had indicated concern that even if he decides what constitutes the 1947 condition of the river, a key question in the disagreement, the com-pact may not be workable, Caroom said. Therefore, Carrom said, Whitenton was called to testify on how the compact could be made to work. Texas contends the deficit is owed because of "man's activities in New Mexico" which have reduced flows in the Pecos, in alleged violation of the compact agreement.

allowed to participate in government; if they had their way every law would have to be approved by the voters. But continually they return to land and

Wright says that in the treaty under which Russia coded Alaska to the United States, the United States disclaimed any right, title or interest in land occu-pied or used by natives. But despite that disclaimer, he says, the United States has asserted ownership of all but a few acres, including land used or

"There are only three ways you can acquire title to land — by just war, by negotiated treaty or by exprespriation," he says. "But the Constitution proteets you from expropriation. By the Constitution, the states stand by you against war. And the Congress in its ignorance refused to negotiate a treaty

That Washington hasn't listened to them has only made Vogler and Wright madder.

"You cannot purchase sovereignty," says Vogler. 'The Panama Canal treaty fight proved that. When the United States, in its estimation, took title to Alaska from Russia, all it got was a quit claim deed to nothing. The best it could do was to hold Alaska in a fiduciary capacity, with the task and trust to turn the land over to the first legally constituted government - the State of Alaska."

Instead, the United States claimed it held title to most of Alaska and in the Statehood Act gave Alaska only the right to select about 103 million acres of federal land.

That, Wright and Vogler say, was an illegal and unconstitutional provision which tainted the act making Alaska the 49th state.

By The Associated Press Three states held primary elections today, with the most significant battle taking place in Massachusetts where Republican Sen. Edward Brooke tried to fight off a well-financed conservative challenger.

Other states holding primaries were Oklahoma, where Democrats chose candidates for governor and U.S. Senate in a runoff, and Washington, where Republicans and Democrats selected standard-bearers in seven congressional districts.

Brooke, a two-term incumbent who earlier this summer admitted making false statements about his personal finances in connection with divorce proceedings, was opposed by Avi Nelson, a former talk-show host who has received the backing of national conservative organizations.

Brooke, is considered a liberal and

Brave woman fights, writes about cancer

By PATSY GORDON R-T Lifestyle Editor

"It's not the end of the world if lumps are found. You can adjust to it," said Susan Nethery of Milam.

Mrs. Nethery, author of "One Year and Counting...Breast Cancer, My World and Me," was in Midland Saturday for an autograph party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. McClure of 3303 W. Golf Course Road. She was the houseguest of Mr. & Mrs. Tommy Tompkins of 2509 Goddard St. Mrs. Nethery and Mrs. Tompkins grew up in Hemphill

In her book, Mrs. Nethery tells about the four-month period during which she experienced a radical mastectomy, five weeks of cobalt treatment, a breast biopsy and a simple mastectomy

During this time, she faced the paralyzing fears of cancer and the ego-shattering experience of the surgery with the help of a strong Christian faith in God and the support of a family and friends who love her.

Her first surgery was two years ago in May, after she discovered the first lump that later turned out to be malignant. She had had previous lumps that Dr. R. I. Garrett of Lufkin diagnosed as fibrocystic lumps, which rarely lead to cancer, she was told. Mrs. Nethery said her first reaction to the discovery of the lump was one of panic. "I had known from the beginning it was cancer because the close observation the doctor was keeping had to mean something."

She didn't tell the family about the lump she found because she thought it might turn out to be nothing, but they were the first to know the doctor's verdict...the lump was malignant.

The more involved the family, the less fear they will have, Mrs. Nethery believed. "I felt like letting them help me with therapy would make them feel needed."

The book was written because Mrs. Nethery couldn't find any books on breast cancer, especially ones written from the young wife and mother's point of view and from a Christian viewpoint. The Reach to Recovery material, she said, is geared to older women, and there were articles written by doctors. She found Betty Rollins' "First You Cry" depressing.

The young author, who was 32 when her cancer was diagnosed, kept a journal during her fight against breast cancer because she knew if she didn't make it, she wanted to leave something for her four children. "I wanted to show them how much I loved them."

The children are Ross, 14; Laura, 12; Rick, 5 and Lana, 3.

She dedicated her book to her father, Turner Mills, Hemphill school teacher, "Who has watched helplessly as three women he loved-his mother, his wife and daughter-were stricken with cancer.

Her husband, Jim Nethery, tax as-

Group forms; Buffet tonight at GS center

A new organization has formed in Midland under the name of Communi-

Community Gold is made up of young, single adults interested in so-cial, civic and self-development activities. One of the major functions of the group is to acquaint the growing number of young, single professional people who are moving into this area with the city, its opportunities and each other.

A dessert buffet will be hosted at 7:30 p.m. today in the Permian Basin Girl Scout Center at 901 W. Dengar Ave. for prospective members, with a six-week introductory period to follow during which tours will be held of various agencies and institutions in Midland. Included are Midland Community Theatre, several United Way agencies and the museums.

Community Gold is headed by a coordinating board of elected officers. They are Phil Hoppman, chairman; Rusty Arnold, vice chairman; Betty Clark, secretary, andCyn Stovell, treasurer.

Coordinators are Russ Powell, civic; Holt Cowden, social; Larry Connally, self-development; Dr. Greg Bartha, program; David Lashford, membership, and Kathleen Bynum, communications.

In a light way, she explains, in the book, the unknowns concerning breast cancer that are most frightening to women who have a malignancy. The book should be required reading for all women since one out of every 13 American women, according to the American Cancer Society, are walking around today with breast cancer at some stage of growth. Survival is directly related to the stage at which the tumor is found and treated.

"All my doctors say early detection is the key to survival and women should take monthly self-breast exams. They also say 95 percent of women find tumors themselves,"

May-December marriages usually trade-off affairs

DEAR ABBY: Why do all 50- and 60-year-old men try to resume your former good relationship. At the very first opportunity tell your father-in-law want 25- and 30-year-old women, when we 50-year-old women would be so much better for them?-FIFTY

DEAR FIFTY: First, not ALL 50- and 60-year-old men want 25- and 30-year-old women, but who's to say what's "better" for those who do?

As for those May-December marriages, they are usually a trade-off, and all that is necessary for a marriage to succeed is two people who need each other. It matters little what each needs from the other, as long as the need is real and fulfilled.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl, 16, and I am dating boys who have cars. Sometimes we'll come home from a movie or somewhere and we'll sit in his car for a while. We sit right in front of my house, Abby. If we wanted to make out, we could easily go park on a

I'm not saying I've never exchanged a kiss or two with a guy in his car, but it's never a big make-out session. We talk mostly. I don't do anything in the car I wouldn't do in the house, but my mother says she doesn't want me sitting out there-even talking. She says the neighbors are getting their eyes full, and I'm ruining my reputation. I couldn't care less what the neighbors say, as my conscience is clear. I would like your opinion.-NOTHING TO HIDE

DEAR NOTHING: As long as you don't do anything in the car that you wouldn't do in the house, do it in the house. A girl has only one reputation, so take care that yours is as clear as your conscience.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow. (Under 30.) My husband died less than a year ago in a tragic accident, and I'm still not over it. I've always been very close to my in-laws, and since my husband's death I have had dinner at their place once a week. Now my problem: Three weeks ago, when I went to my in-laws' home for dinner, my mother-in-law wasn't home yet, but my father-in-law was. Well, he made improper advances toward me. At first I thought he was just being affectionate in a fatherly way, but when he started holding me tight and kissing me. I realized that he had something else in mind. I was totally stunned when he started to unbutton my blouse! I freed myself, ran to my car and

Since that night I haven't been back there. My mother-in-law keeps asking me when I'm coming, but I don't want to face my father-in-law again. What do I tell my mother-in-law? Just thinking about that

DPS lacks manpower to investigate all car thefts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a five-part series on auto theft the scope of the problem and its impact on the Permian Basin. Part 4 will discuss commercial auto theft and show how authorities feel vehicle owners can be protected.

By GUY SULLIVAN R-T Staff Writer

"Thieves take no holidays," said Arvin Kilpatrick, Midland-based investigator for the Department of Public Safety.

He specializes in auto theft and aids authorities in 21 surrounding counties seeking to recover stolen vehicles and to arrest the thieves involved.

"If you own a car, a thief can steal it. There is no protection from the professional thief. We lack the manpower to investigate all the cases we find," he said.

"Of those cases we do investigate, I'd sure like to see the courts send some of these people to the pen," he

These remarks come from a man who has spent 20 years recovering stolen vehicles in West Texas.

Kilpatrick has traveled as far as New York and Mexico to recover such

Despite efforts by lawmen, the problem of American vehicles being stolen and driven to Mexico in exchange for drugs continues.

A 1936 treaty between Mexico and the United States which calls for the reciprocal return of stolen automobiles and other vehicles between the two nations was described last year as lacking success, according to a spokesman for the National Automobile Theft Bureau in Dallas.

However, C.C. Benson, manager of the National Automobile Theft Bureau in Dallas said earlier this year "a substantial increase in the return of vehicles from Mexico under the provisions of the international treaty" had occurred.

He cited the recent recovery of 22 vehicles, including seven diesel truck-tractors and a number of luxury cars, vans and other vehicles

Council awarded $75,000 contract

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Department of Housing and Urban Development has awarded a $75,000 technical assistance contract to the Southern Christian Leadership Council to enable the council to coordinate with local officials in planning low-income housing.

HUD said the nine-month project will allow the council's church and volunteer groups to help local governments in the Southeast identify lowincome housing needs and plan for meeting those needs.

The estimated total value of these recovered vehicles was $150,000.

However, Benson said that "more stolen vehicles than ever before are being transported to Mexico... There is continuing evidence to relate the stolen vehicle with narcotics traf-

He pointed out the problem of American vehicles going to Mexico in volume "has existed for more than 40 years." He said it has "increased in proportion to the total number of registered vehicles and the total number of U.S. thefts.

"The market for stolen U.S. vehicles in Mexico remains strong...Such vehicles are being sold or bartered along the border for not more than 10 percent of their U.S. value," he said. Benson said a stolen vehicle, once stealthily documented in Mexico, has a value "double its value in the United States.'

Border crime conferences involving officials from California, Texas, Arizona and New Mexico have called for actions to control problems such as auto theft and drug smuggling along the U.S.-Mexico boundary.

These lawmen seek the formation of multi-agency cooperating task forces to better monitor outgoing traffic at the U.S.-Mexican ports of entry.

"There is every evidence that the number of stolen vehicles traveling in international traffic to Mexico continues to increase. This includes more stolen trucks, earthmoving equipment, luxury passenger cars, recreational vehicles and pickup trucks flowing out of the country," Benson

In addition, he said, more than 20 stolen vehicles are known to have been sold in Nicaragua, and one was returned from Guatemala, while another vehicle was sold in that coun-

"There is continuing evidence that more and more stolen U.S. cars are finding their way to Central America and, we suspect, South America. The problem will keep growing until we establish a reasonable detection and surveillance program to challenge vehicles leaving America in order to detect and detain those that are stolen," he said.

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council said in 1976 motor vehicle theft was "widespread across" Texas." A report issued by this group said, "Texas connections have been identified as extending throughout the nation and into Mexico and South America.

"It's estimated that 15 to 20 percent of all vehicles stolen in Texas can be attributed to organized groups and that this activity has an annual dollar volume of between $8.8 million and $11.4 million," the study said.

Organized rings with contacts in Mexico and the U.S., including Texas, are responsible for "a good many vehicle thefts statewide," according to Commander Worth Seaman of the Austin-based Motor Vehicle Theft Service, a division of the DPS.

"Someone who steals a car and decides to cross the Rio Grande River into Mexico can usually get anywhere from $200 to $1,000 per auto or truck. Organized ring members will get several hundred dollars for a pickup truck, if they have the contact. They'll either trade the vehicle for resale or for narcotics.'

Seaman said Texas has been losing about 50,000 vehicles per year in auto thefts. "Right now there's about a 73 percent recovery rate. Ten years ago was 90 percent. More vehicles are being taken to Mexico.

"We're understaffed. We've 19 men in the field coordinating efforts with local lawmen. I'm requesting more troopers from the Legislature when it reconvenes in January. I don't know how they feel about it, though," he

Seaman said there is substantial evidence that the total number of stolen U.S. vehicles entering Mexico "continues to increase at a rapid

"There is much red tape when negotiating the release of vehicles on a local basis at the border, and some Mexican officials demand payment of a 'ransom' or gratuity."

The problem becomes more complicated, he said, when American officers trying to recover vehicles at many ports of entry must deal on an individual basis with about six Mexican agencies and hundreds of individual Mexican officers.

He cited the example of a year ago in which his agency was involved for six months in trying to recover 11

Ike Lovelady, Inc., of Midland announced leation for a 4,600-foot wildcat in Sutton County, 18 miles south-

Slated as No. 1-8-A Ross Ranch, it is 660 feet from north and 750 feet from west lines of section 8, block 14, TW&NG surkvey. Ground elevation is 2.305 feet

The location is 1/2 mile southwest of a depleted gas discovery, Pierce & Dehlinger No. 1 Ross Ranch.

The discovery was drilled to 4,5311 feet and completed in 1973 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1,120,-000 cubic feet per day through perforations from 4,520 to 4,531 feet.

AUSTIN-Texzs oil and gas wells produced 576,449,570 mcf of gas in June, down 9.27 percent from field runs a year earlier. Marketed gas production totaled 485,052,585 mcf and reflected a 10.17 percent decrease from the June 1977 just north of San Francisco - none indicated commercially recoverable quantities of oil.

In addition, surveys of the oil industry by the Department of Interior consistently have placed the north coast in a low priority position. In 1974 one such survey put the region 16th out of 17 OCS areas. Oil company officials say the enthusiastic reaction is not due to new discoveries of likely oil formations. The Bureau of Land Management has estimated that the north coast region, known as Sale 53, contains somewhere between 200 million and 1.9 billion barrels of recoverable oil and 300 billion to 2.6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. Some industry figures go somewhat higher. Chevron geologist John Cassell says the recoverable oil potential could reach 3.5 billion barrels of oil. "If we could get that much out of several centralized locations, that would be verynice," says Cassell.

At such a level the north coast would produce about one-third of the amount of petroleum that is expected from Alaska's north slope and about half the amount recovered in the Los Angeles Basin since production began here 50 years ago. But these estimates of the north coast potential largely are based on information gathered in the 1960s during drilling of the exploratory wells north of San Francisco, Cassell says, and he ave been known for some

The reason for the large number of nominations, oil officials say, actually stems from political and technical developments. Since the arrival of the Carter administration, they say, the pace of offshore development has slowed markedly, and oil companies now are jumping at whatever opportunities are presented to them.

The present administration also is requiring a three-year period to complete environmental reviews and make the final decision to develop the field or delay it further.

"That's just about twice the time it used to take, so companies are saying, 'My goodness, demand for oil could go way up by then, so we'd better nominate and be prepared,"

BLM officials stress, however, that Sale 53 is far from receiving final approval by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus. The Agency first must conduct an environmental assessment of the project and at any point. Andrus could cancel the sale altogether.

STERLING WELL The Sterling Co. No. 1-17 Terry (formerly W. C. Blanks No. 1-17 Terry) has been completed in the W.A.M. (Fusselman) field of Sterling County, six miles southwest of Ster-

Two and one-quarter miles northeast of other Fusselman production, it finaled for a daily flowing potential of 115 barrels of 66.7-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 9,809-1, through perforations from 8,676 to 8,698 feet.

The pay section was acidized with 5,000 gallons. The flow was gauged through a 14/64-inch choke. Total depth is 8,800 feet and 5.5-inch casing was landed on bottom. The plugged back depth is 8,750 feet.

Ground elevation is 2,612 feet. The well is 660 feet from south and 933 feet from west lines of section 17, block T, T&P survey. The well originally was sgtaked in the Conger (Pennsylvanian) pool. It is 7/8 mile northeast of production from that pay section.

Oil group asks relief on prices

SEMINOLE, Okla.-"Present federal energy policies are pre-venting the drilling of thousands of wells and the production of more than half a million barrels of domestic oil each day," according to the Energy Consumers and Producers Association which is headquartered in Se-

Fred Gipson, attorney for the association, filed a formal request Monday for price relief for future wells drilled in the Austin Chalk formation in 19 counties in South Texas.

"We have every reason to believe a current price of $14 or the world price per barrel for this oil would cause approximately 20,-000 to 30,000 wells to be drilled within the next few years. This is an extremely large field-perhaps 300 miles long by 20 miles wide-which may contain as much as a third of the oil reserves we have found on the north slope of Alaska. "New oil produced in this country will mean less oil will need to be imported; less drain on our balance of payment; and reduced inflation rates here at home," according to Bud Stewart, executive director of the association. The request submitted to the Department of Energy states that oilmen rushed to drill wells to the Austin Chalk formation in 1975 and 1976, but learned it wasn't as good as they thought and soon backed off from drilling new wells because of lower than expected return on investment, Stewart said. Also, he said, the old Federal Energy Administration twice rolled back prices received at the wellhead. The theory is an increase in crude oil prices of $2 to $3 per barrel may be enough to get oilmen interested in drilling again.

"Our sampling of 31 operators in the field show only 112 new wells are planned for drilling at present crude oil prices, but more than 310 new wells would be drilled by these people next year if the price were allowed to float to the world level.

"We know we are going to have to pay $14 per barrei to the Arabs for their oil, so why not pay the same amount for oil found in this country? New domestic oil found and produced here means more jobs, more tax revenue, and less inflation,'

Stewart said. The formal request for blanket price relief will be taken under advisement by DOE and an answer issued within the next few weeks. Usually, DOE considers price exceptions or exemptions only on a well to well

Compromise opponents say fight far from lost

By MIKE SHANAHAN

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate opponents of the natural gas compromise say their fight is far from lost, although they concede almost certain defeat in the first showdown vote.

An unusual coalition of conservative Republicans and Democrats opposed to deregulated gas prices have eight days to reverse the tide behind the White House-supported compro-mise. arious counts indicated today's test vote to send the compromise back to a congressional conference committee would fail by five to 10 votes. The administration claims such action would kill the measure. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said Monday, "The only question now is the size of the vote.'

A final vote on the multibillion-dollar gas pricing compromise is scheduled Sept. 27 under an agreement that averted a Senate filibuster on the By then, opponents led by Demo-crat Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and would occur without the bill. Jackson said the opponents would need at least 40 votes in today's test to have much of a chance in later

DPS lacks manpower to investigate all car thefts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a five-part series on auto theft the scope of the problem and its impact on the Permian Basin. Part 4 will discuss commercial auto theft and show how authorities feel vehicle owners can be protected.

By GUY SULLIVAN R-T Staff Writer

"Thieves take no holidays," said Arvin Kilpatrick, Midland-based investigator for the Department of Public Safety.

He specializes in auto theft and aids authorities in 21 surrounding counties seeking to recover stolen vehicles and to arrest the thieves

"If you own a car, a thief can steal it. There is no protection from the professional thief. We lack the manpower to investigate all the cases we find," he said.

"Of those cases we do investigate, I'd sure like to see the courts send some of these people to the pen." he

These remarks come from a man who has spent 20 years recovering stolen vehicles in West Texas.

Kilpatrick has traveled as far as New York and Mexico to recover such

Despite efforts by lawmen, the problem of American vehicles being stolen and driven to Mexico in exchange for drugs continues.

A 1936 treaty between Mexico and the United States which calls for the reciprocal return of stolen automobiles and other vehicles between the two nations was described last year as lacking success, according to a spokesman for the National Automobile Theft Bureau in Dallas.

However, C.C. Benson, manager of the National Automobile Theft Bureau in Dallas said earlier this year "a substantial increase in the return of vehicles from Mexico under the provisions of the international treaty" had occurred.

He cited the recent recovery of 22 vehicles, including seven diesel truck-tractors and a number of luxury cars, vans and other vehicles

Council awarded $75,000 contract

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Department of Housing and Urban Development has awarded a $75,000 technical assistance contract to the Southern Christian Leadership Council to enable the council to coordinate with local officials in planning low-income housing.

HUD said the nine-month project will allow the council's church and volunteer groups to help local governincome housing needs and plan for meeting those needs.

The estimated total value of these recovered vehicles was $150,000.

However, Benson said that "more stolen vehicles than ever before are being transported to Mexico... There is continuing evidence to relate the stolen vehicle with narcotics traf-

He pointed out the problem of American vehicles going to Mexico in volume "has existed for more than 40 vears." He said it has "increased in proportion to the total number of registered vehicles and the total number of U.S. thefts.

'The market for stolen U.S. vehicles in Mexico remains strong...Such vehicles are being sold or bartered along the border for not more than 10 percent of their U.S. value," he said.

Benson said a stolen vehicle, once stealthily documented in Mexico, has a value "double its value in the United States."

Border crime conferences involving officials from California, Texas, Arizona and New Mexico have called for actions to control problems such as auto theft and drug smuggling along the U.S.-Mexico boundary. These lawmen seek the formation of multi-agency cooperating task forces to better monitor outgoing traffic at the U.S.-Mexican ports of entry. "There is every evidence that the number of stolen vehicles traveling in international traffic to Mexico continues to increase. This includes more stolen trucks, earthmoving equipment, luxury passenger cars, recreational vehicles and pickup trucks flowing out of the country," Benson said.

In addition, he said, more than 20 stolen vehicles are known to have been sold in Nicaragua, and one was returned from Guatemala, while another vehicle was sold in that coun-

"There is continuing evidence that more and more stolen U.S. cars are finding their way to Central America and, we suspect, South America. The problem will keep growing until we establish a reasonable detection and surveillance program to challenge vehicles leaving America in order to detect and detain those that are stolen," he said.

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council said in 1976 motor vehicle theft was "widespread across Texas." A report issued by this group said, "Texas connections have been identified as extending throughout the nation and into Mexico and South America.'

"It's estimated that 15 to 20 percent of all vehicles stolen in Texas can be attributed to organized groups and that this activity has an annual dollar volume of between $8.8 million and $11.4 million," the study said.

Organized rings with contacts in Mexico and the U.S., including Texas, are responsible for "a good many vehicle thefts statewide," according to Commander Worth Seaman of the Austin-based Motor Vehicle Theft Service, a division of the DPS.

"Someone who steals a car and decides to cross the Rio Grande River

into Mexico can usually get anywhere from $200 to $1,000 per auto or truck. Organized ring members will get several hundred dollars for a pickup truck, if they have the contact. They'll either trade the vehicle for resale or for narcotics.'

Seaman said Texas has been losing about 50,000 vehicles per year in auto thefts. "Right now there's about a 73 percent recovery rate. Ten years ago it was 90 percent. More vehicles are being taken to Mexico.

"We're understaffed. We've 19 men in the field coordinating efforts with local lawmen. I'm requesting more troopers from the Legislature when it reconvenes in January. I don't know how they feel about it, though," he Seaman said there is substantial evidence that the total number of stolen U.S. vehicles entering Mexico "continues to increase at a rapid "American thieves can sell the ve-

However, he admitted the processing of vehicles under provisions of the treaty with Mexico "has been less than satisfactory in many border

"There is much red tape when negotiating the release of vehicles on a local basis at the border, and some Mexican officials demand payment of a 'ransom' or gratuity."

The problem becomes more complicated, he said, when American officers trying to recover vehicles at many ports of entry must deal on an individual basis with about six Mexican agencies and hundreds of individual Mexican officers.

He cited the example of a year ago in which his agency was involved for six months in trying to recover 11 Texas pickups from Mexico.

"We finally got the vehicles re-leased, but the insurers, or owners, had to pay approximately $4,000 in gratuities to the Mexican officers involved," said Seaman.

Benson is certain improved relations between presidents of Mexico and the U.S., which have resulted in prisoner exchange programs and other ideas is partially responsible for the current status of cooperation between lawmen of both nations.

California coast area becoming battleground

By ROBERT A. JONES The Los Angeles Times

ne eriminal

W. Communication

California's northern coast, pres-ently untouched by offshore oil devel-opment, suddenly is promising to become the site of one of the bitterest struggle in this county's long and quarrelsome outer continental shelf

From the San Luis Obispo area to the Oregon border, oil companies have identified about 8.4 million acres of offshore territory they believe suitable for exploratory wells.

The nominations of prospective ng sites were in response to an announcement made earlier this summer that the federal government was beginning the lengthy process of opening the north coast to possible oil development. The federal zone begins three miles off the coast and extends out to a maximum of 70 miles.

In all, 27 oil companies filed nomi-nations with the Bureau of Land nent's Pacific Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) office, the largerst number ever recorded for a prospective federal offshore sale.

Not to be outdone, environmental groups and local governments filed a record number of negative nominas - or requests that certain areas be closed to development. In some parts of the region, areas with the highest number of positive nomina-tions overlay those with the highest number of negative responses.

The implications of such conflicts have led both sides to expect what one environmentalists has called "a loody war." "California has always been much tougher than other parts of the coun-try," says Tom Cook, the BLM's act-ing chief of operations for the Pacific region. "There was a backlash after the Santa Barbara (blowout) and the pressure has never let up since." At stake is 600 miles of the California shoreline, parts of it regarded as some of the most spectacular coast-line in the world. It includes the Big Sur area south of Monterey, the Marin headlands forming part of San Francisco's Golden Gate, Point Reyes National Seashore, and stretches of coast in Mendocino and Del Norte nties now almost entirely unsuched by man.

The widespread response by the oil companies to the north coast nominations has surprised both the governsent and environmental groups. In he 1966s a previous sale drew only a lukewarm reacton and of 18 explor-atory wells drilled — most of them

just north of San Francisco — none indicated commercially recoverable quantities of oil.

In addition, surveys of the oil industry by the Department of Interior consistently have placed the north coast in a low priority position. In 1974 one such survey put the region 16th out of 17 OCS areas.

Oil company officials say the enthu-siastic reaction is not due to new discoveries of likely oil formations. The Bureau of Land Management has estimated that the north coast region, known as Sale 53, contains some-where between 200 million and 1.9 billion barrels of recoverable oil and 300 billion to 2.6 trillion cubic feet of

Some industry figures go somewhat higher. Chevron geologist John Cas-sell says the recoverable oil potential could reach 3.5 billion barrels of oil. 'If we could get that much out of several centralized locations, that would be verynice," says Cassell.

At such a level the north coast would produce about one-third of the amount of petroleum that is expected from Alaska's north slope and about half the amount recovered in the Los Angeles Basin since production began here 50 years ago.

But these estimates of the north coast potential largely are based on information gathered in the 1960s during drilling of the exploratory wells north of San Francisco, Cassell says, and he ave been known for some

The reason for the large number of nominations, oil officials say, actualstems from political and technical

Since the arrival of the Carter administration, they say, the pace of offshore development has slowed markedly, and oil companies now are jumping at whatever opportunities are presented to them. The present administration also is requiring a three-year period to complete environmental reviews and make the final decision to develop the field or delay it further.

"That's just about twice the time it used to take, so companies are say-ing, 'My goodness, demand for oil could go way up by then, so we'd better nominate and be prepared,"

BLM officials stress, however, that Sale 53 is far from receiving final approval by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus. The Agency first must conduct an environmental assessment of the project and at any point. Andrus could cancel the sale altogether.

Explorers scheduled in West Texas areas

Three West Texas counties have gained locations for wildcat opera-tions, and field work has been report-ed in other Permian Basin counties. HMH Operators of Midland spotted

The location is 1/2 mile southwest of a depleted gas discovery, Pierce & Dehlinger No. 1 Ross Ranch.

The discovery was drilled to 4,5311 feet and completed in 1973 for a cal-culated, absolute open flow of 1,120,-000 cubic feet per day through perfo-rations from 4,520 to 4,531 feet.

Production announced

AUSTIN—Texzs oil and gas wells produced 576,449,570 mcf of gas in June, down 9.27 percent from field

runs a year earlier.

Marketed gas production totaled 465,662,565 mcf and reflected a 10.17 percent decrease from the June 1977 tion 12, block 1, Jasper Hays survey. There is no nearby production.

Ground elevation is 2,540 feet.

MITCHELL TESTER

Sun Oil Co. No. 8-A J. F. McCabe is to be drilled as a 7,300-foot Ellenburger project in the Jameson, North area of Mitchell County, four miles north of Silver.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 3, block 1-A, H&TC survey. The location is 1.5 miles southeast of Ellenburger production in the Dixon field.

CROSBY STEPOUT

Boone and Moore Oil Co. of Lubbock spotted No. 3 Amoclo-Collier Estate as a 3/4-mile southeast stepout to production in the Ridge, South (Clear Fork) pool of Crosby County, 14.5 miles south of Ralls.

It is 1,980feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 10. block 2, DAS&E survey. It is contracted for a 4,200-foot bottom.

STERLING WELL

The Sterling Co. No. 1-17 Terry (formerly W. C. Blanks No. 1-17 Terry) has been completed in the W.A.M. (Fusselman) field of Sterling County, six miles southwest of Ster-

Two and one-quarter miles north-east of other Fusselman production, it finaled for a daily flowing potential of 115 barrels of 66.7-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 9,809-1, through perforations from 8,676 to 8,698 feet.

The pay section was acidized with 5,000 gallons. The flow was gauged through a 14/64-inch choke.

Total depth is 8,800 feet and 5.5-inch casing was landed on bottom. The plugged back depth is 8,750 feet. Ground elevation is 2,612 feet.

The well is 660 feet from south and 933 feet from west lines of section 17, block T, T&P survey.

The well originally was sgtaked in the Conger (Pennsylvanian) pool. It is 7/8 mile northeast of production from that pay section.

Oil group asks relief on prices

SEMINOLE, Okla.—"Present federal energy policies are pre-venting the drilling of thousands of wells and the production of more than half a million barrels of domestic oil each day," according to the Energy Consumers and Producers Association which is headquartered in Se-

Fred Gipson, attorney for the association, filed a formal request Monday for price relief for future wells drilled in the Austin Chalk formation in 19 counties in South Texas

"We have every reason to believe a current price of $14 or the world price per barrel for this oil would cause approximately 20,-000 to 30,000 wells to be drilled within the next few years. This is an extremely large field-perhaps 300 miles long by 20 miles wide-which may contain as much as a third of the oil reserves we have found on the north slope of Alaska.

"New oil produced in this country will mean less oil will need to be imported: less drain on our balance of payment; and reduced inflation rates here at home," according to Bud Stewart, executive director of the association.

The request submitted to the Department of Energy states that oilmen rushed to drill wells to the Austin Chalk formation in 1975 and 1976, but learned it wasn't as good as they thought and soon backed off from drilling new wells because of lower than expected return on investment, Stewart said.

Also, he said, the old Federal Energy Administration twice rolled back prices received at the wellhead. The theory is an increase in crude oil prices of $2 to $3 per barrel may be enough to get oilmen interested in drilling again.

"Our sampling of 31 operators in the field show only 112 new wells are planned for drilling at present crude oil prices, but more than 310 new wells would be drilled by these people next year if the price were allowed to float to the world level.

'We know we are going to have to pay $14 per barrei to the pay the same amount for oil found in this country? New domestic oil found and produced here means more jobs, more tax revenue, and less inflation." Stewart said.

The formal request for blanket price relief will be taken under advisement by DOE and an answer issued within the next few weeks. Usually, DOE considers price exceptions or exemptions only on a well to well

The association has more than 500 members from 15 states. with its office in Seminole. The group has several lawsuits pending against federal agencies on behalf of its oil and gas producer members.

Wildcats scheduled

Wildcat operations have been announced in West Texas areas. McCormick Oil & Gas Corp. of Houston staked location for a 5,000-foot wildcat in Coke County, eight miles southwest of Robert Lee. It is No. 1 T. K. Whiteside, 1,980 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 30, block Z, D&SE survey, abstract. The drillsite is 5/8 mile southwest of the depleted Robert Lee, South (Cross Cut) field and the same distance southeast of a 7,016-foot dry hole.

Compromise opponents say fight far from lost

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate opponents of the natural gas compromise say their fight is far from lost, although they concede almost certain defeat in the first showdown vote.

An unusual coalition of conservative Republicans and Democrats opposed to deregulated gas prices have eight days to reverse the tide behind the White House-supported compromise. .arious counts indicated today's test vote to send the compromise back to a congressional conference committee would fail by five to 10 votes. The administration claims such action would kill the measure.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said Monday, "The only question now is the size of the vote."

A final vote on the multibillion-dollar gas pricing compromise is scheduled Sept. 27 under an agreement that averted a Senate filibuster on the

By then, opponents led by Demo-crat Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and Republican Clifford Hansen of Wyoming hope to find a formula that will reverse the sentiment of enough senators now supporting the compromise to ensure its defeat.

The bill, a highly modified portion of the energy plan Carter sent to Capitol Hill 17 months ago, would lift federal price controls by 1985.

The compromise would increase consumer prices $16 billion by 1985, according to an estimate by the Congressional Budget Office. But that study also said such an increase would not be much more than what would occur without the bill.

Jackson said the opponents would need at least 40 votes in today's test to have much of a chance in later

Chevron finals well

Chevron U.S.A. Inc. No. 1-38 George P. Hill has been completed as a 5/8mile southeast extension to the Marsh, South (Delaware gas)field of Reeves County, 12.5 miles south of

Operator reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 287,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 2,861 to 2,862 feet after 1,000 gallons of acid gallons of fracture fluid

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 38, block 45, psl survey.

Total depth is 3,000 feet and 5/5-inch casing is cemented at 2,995 feet. Plugged back depth is 2,960 feet.

C. Morris appointed

FINDLAY, Ohio-Carl M. Morris has been appointed to the newly-established position of drilling manager for Marathon Oil Co.'s U.S. and Canada production oprations organiza-

Morris previously was manager of the offshore construction group in the Houston Production Division

In his new capacity, he will have the responsibility for overall control and coordination of onshore and offshore drilling programs and support activi-ties throughout the United States and Morris will report to Burrell L. Walters Jr., vice president, and will continue to be located in Houston.

Morris will be succeeded by Jack E. Fosher, construction superintendent of the offshore construction group for Marathon in Houston.

Atoka well potentials

Amoco Production Co. has filed potential test for the second well in the Fasken, South (Atoka) field of Ector County It is No. 1-BF David Fasken, 16 miles north of Odessa. Operator reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 240 barrels of 43-gravity oil and 13 barrels of water, through a 17/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio is 1,-The pay section, behind perforations from 10,178 to 10,278 feet, was acidized with 10,000 gallons. Total depth is 13,231 feet and 5.5inch casing is cemented at 10,688 feet. The plugged back depth is 10,320 feet and the ground elevation is 3,038.6

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 20, block 42, T-1-N, G&MMB&A survey.

The project originally was staked as a wildcat. It is 7/8 miles northwest of the tripple discovery of the Fasken, South (Wolfcamp, Fusselman and Ellenburger) pool. The Railroad Commis-sion schedule shows no wells to be producing from the Ellenburger

The No. 1-BF David Fasken is approximately one mile northwest of the other Atoka producer in the pool.

kid you. I'm not overly optimistic."
Nonetheless, he said, "There will be no advance concession speech from said of the opposition, "I don't want to Metzenbaum said attempts will be made to amend the recommital motion in ways he hopes will draw enough votes to send the compromise back to the conference committee. That would mean Senate conferees would be told to go back to the House negotiators and seek approval of a bill shorn of the pricing provisions in the current compromise. The Carter administration says the legislation is crucial to help the president's stalled energy program and to encourage the search for new domestic natural gas supplies.

Discovery completes

C. F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., of Midland No. 1 Dawson-Bean (formerly Ken Dawson of Midland No. 1 Joe Bean) has been completed as a San Andres gas discovery in Crockett

The discovery, 12 miles northwest of Ozona, was completed for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 60,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 1,161 to 1,184 feet after 5,000 gallons of acid. Wellsite is 2,276 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 35, block UV, GC&SF survey.

Operator called the following tops on ground elevation of 2,597 feet: Yagtes 660 feet; Queen, 874 feet; Grayburg, 1,030 feet, and San Andres 1.160 feet.

Total depth is 1,420 feet and plugged back depth is 1,297 feet. Four and one-half-inch casing is set at 1,286 Dawson drilled the project and it had been shut in since May 1976 waiting on pipeline connections. The strike is one and three-eighths miles northeast of the Donham (San Andres and Grayburg gas) field.

Dawson had tested the Grayburg and Queen zones before turning the project over to Lawrence.

California coast area becoming battleground

By ROBERT A. JONES The Los Angeles Times

SECTION

California's northern coast, presently untouched by offshore oil development, suddenly is promising to become the site of one of the bitterest struggle in this county's long and quarrelsome outer continental shelf

From the San Luis Obispo area to the Oregon border, oil companies have identified about 8.4 million acres of offshore territory they believe suitable for exploratory wells.

The nominations of prospective drilling sites were in response to an announcement made earlier this summer that the federal government was beginning the lengthy process of opening the north coast to possible oil development. The federal zone begins three miles off the coast and extends out to a maximum of 70 miles.

In all, 27 oil companies filed nomi nations with the Bureau of Land Management's Pacific Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) office, the largerst number ever recorded for a prospective federal offshore sale.

Not to be outdone, environmental groups and local governments filed a record number of negative nomina tions — or requests that certain areas be closed to development. In some parts of the region, areas with the highest number of positive nominations overlay those with the highest number of negative responses.

The implications of such conflicts have led both sides to expect what one environmentalists has called "a bloody war.

'California has always been much tougher than other parts of the country," says Tom Cook, the BLM's acting chief of operations for the Pacific region. "There was a backlash after the Santa Barbara (blowout) and the pressure has never let up since.

At stake is 600 miles of the California shoreline, parts of it regarded as some of the most spectacular coastline in the world. It includes the Big Sur area south of Monterey, the Marin headlands forming part of San Francisco's Golden Gate. Point Reves National Seashore, and stretches of coast in Mendocino and Del Norte counties now almost entirely untouched by man.

The widespread response by the oil companies to the north coast nominations has surprised both the government and environmental groups. In the 1960s a previous sale drew only a lukewarm reacton and of 18 exploratory wells drilled - most of them

just north of San Francisco - none indicated commercially recoverable quantities of oil

In addition, surveys of the oil industry by the Department of Interior consistently have placed the north coast in a low priority position. In 1974 one such survey put the region 16th out of 17 OCS areas.

Oil company officials say the enthusiastic reaction is not due to new discoveries of likely oil formations. The Bureau of Land Management has estimated that the north coast region. known as Sale 53, contains somewhere between 200 million and 1.9 billion barrels of recoverable oil and 300 billion to 2.6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

Some industry figures go somewhat higher. Chevron geologist John Cassell says the recoverable oil potential could reach 3.5 billion barrels of oil. 'If we could get that much out of several centralized locations, that would be verynice," says Cassell.

At such a level the north coast would produce about one-third of the amount of petroleum that is expected from Alaska's north slope and about half the amount recovered in the Los Angeles Basin since production began here 50 years ago.

But these estimates of the north coast potential largely are based on information gathered in the 1960s during drilling of the exploratory wells north of San Francisco, Cassell says, and he ave been known for some

The reason for the large number of nominations, oil officials say, actually stems from political and technical developments.

Since the arrival of the Carter administration, they say, the pace of offshore development has slowed markedly, and oil companies now are jumping at whatever opportunities are presented to them.

The present administration also is requiring a three-year period to complete environmental reviews and make the final decision to develop the field or delay it further.

"That's just about twice the time it used to take, so companies are saying, 'My goodness, demand for oil could go way up by then, so we'd better nominate and be prepared," Cassell says.

BLM officials stress, however, that Sale 53 is far from receiving final approval by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus. The Agency first must conduct an environmental assessment of the project and at any point. Andrus could cancel the sale altogether.

STERLING WELL

The Sterling Co. No. 1-17 Terry (formerly W. C. Blanks No. 1-17 Terry) has been completed in the W.A.M. (Fusselman) field of Sterling County, six miles southwest of Sterling City.

Two and one-quarter miles northeast of other Fusselman production, it finaled for a daily flowing potential of 115 barrels of 66.7-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 9,809-1, through perforations from 8,676 to 8,698 feet.

The pay section was acidized with 5,000 gallons. The flow was gauged through a 14/64-inch choke.

Total depth is 8,800 feet and 5.5-inch casing was landed on bottom. The plugged back depth is 8,750 feet. Ground elevation is 2,612 feet.

The well is 660 feet from south and 933 feet from west lines of section 17, block T, T&P survey. The well originally was sgtaked in the Conger (Pennsylvanian) pool. It is 7/8 mile northeast of production from that pay section.

Oil group asks relief on prices

SEMINOLE, Okla.—"Present federal energy policies are preventing the drilling of thousands of wells and the production of more than half a million barrels of domestic oil each day," according to the Energy Consumers and Producers Association which is headquartered in Seminole.

Fred Gipson, attorney for the association, filed a formal request Monday for price relief for future wells drilled in the Austin Chalk formation in 19 counties in South Texas.

"We have every reason to believe a current price of $14 or the world price per barrel for this oil would cause approximately 20,-000 to 30,000 wells to be drilled within the next few years. This is an extremely large field-perhaps 300 miles long by 20 miles wide-which may contain as much as a third of the oil reserves we have found on the north slope of Alaska.

"New oil produced in this country will mean less oil will need to be imported; less drain on our balance of payment; and reduced inflation rates here at home," according to Bud Stewart, executive director of the association.

The request submitted to the Department of Energy states that oilmen rushed to drill wells to the Austin Chalk formation in 1975 and 1976, but learned it wasn't as good as they thought and soon backed off from drilling new wells because of lower than expected return on investment, Stewart said.

Also, he said, the old Federal Energy Administration twice rolled back prices received at the wellhead. The theory is an increase in crude oil prices of $2 to $3 per barrel may be enough to get oilmen interested in drilling again.

'Our sampling of 31 operators in the field show only 112 new wells are planned for drilling at present crude oil prices, but more than 310 new wells would be drilled by these people next year if the price were allowed to float to the world level.

'We know we are going to have to pay $14 per barrel to the pay the same amount for oil found in this country? New domestic oil found and produced here means more jobs, more tax revenue, and less inflation. Stewart said

The formal request for blanket price relief will be taken under advisement by DOE and an answer issued within the next few weeks. Usually, DOE considers price exceptions or exemptions only on a well to well basis.

The association has more than 500 members from 15 states. with its office in Seminole. The group has several lawsuits pending against federal agencies on behalf of its oil and gas producer members.

Wildcats scheduled

Wildcat operations have been announced in West Texas areas

McCormick Oil & Gas Corp. of Houston staked location for a 5,000foot wildcat in Coke County, eight miles southwest of Robert Lee.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said Monday, "The only question now is the size of the vote."

lar gas pricing compromise is scheduled Sept. 27 under an agreement that averted a Senate filibuster on the issue.

By then, opponents led by Democrat Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and Republican Clifford Hansen of Wyoming hope to find a formula that will reverse the sentiment of enough senators now supporting the compromise to ensure its defeat.

of the energy plan Carter sent to Capitol Hill 17 months ago, would lift federal price controls by 1985.

The compromise would increase consumer prices $16 billion by 1985, according to an estimate by the Congressional Budget Office. But that study also said such an increase would not be much more than what would occur without the bill.

'Little Joe' does it all for Baltimore Colts "We just improvised," he said. "All

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - The National Football League has a new triple threat in Joe Washington, and the injury-riddled Baltimore Colts have a new life.

"It's one of the greatest upsets in pro football history," said Baltimore Coach Ted Marchibroda after the Colts exploded for 27 fourth-quarter points Monday night and shocked the New England Patriots 34-27.

Washington, obtained in a trade with San Diego for recalcitrant run-ning back Lydell Mitchell, accounted for three of the touchdowns - on a halfback pass, a 23-yard reception, and a 90-yard gallop with a kickoff

The touchdown run broke a 27-27 tie with 1:18 left in the nationally televised game, as Baltimore won its first NFL contest of the season and dropped the heavily favored Patriots

"IT REMINDS ME of my days in college at Oklahoma when things looked really bleak, but we always came back and won," said Washington. "I took the kickoff on a good bounce; the wedge was right there. I could see a crease. When I ran outside

I knew it was a touchdown." Earlier in the quarter Washington had given Baltimore a 14-13 lead on his 54-yard pass to wide receiver Roger Carr. He then caught a touchdown pass from quarterback Bill

New England led 13-7 at halftime and took that margin into the fourth quarter before the fireworks started. After Washington's touchdown pass and reception, Carr caught a 67-yard strike from Troup and the Colts hung

NEW ENGLAND stormed back with 14 points on a 4-yard touchdown run by quarterback Steve Grogan and Sam Cunningham's 1-yard plunge.

Washington's stunning dash up the right sideline with the kickoff return provided the final Baltimore margin as a last-ditch New England drive ended with safety Lyle Blackwood's interception in the end zone with 23 seconds left.

"I've always had a good arm," Washington said of his touchdown pass. "I threw a touchdown for Oklahoma against Texas and in the NFL for San Diego against Denver.

"But it's the first kickoff I've ever run back for a touchdown and now I think our team is like a boat crossing the Atlantic. It hit some bad storms but now we have clear sailing." "We were out-executed and got beat on a halfback pass we had been working on," said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "Washington played an outstanding game ... a lot of those guys from Oklahoma are coming back to bother me."

FAIRBANKS, a former Oklahoma coach for whom Washington played one year, added that the Patriots "simply are not playing like a good football team."

"Washington has added a new dimension for us. He's a home run hitter," said Marchibroda.

But Baltimore also got top performances from Carr, who had six catches for 187 yards and Troup, substituting for star passer Bert Jones, who is still sidelined wth a shoulder separation.

Outscored 80-0 in their first two losses, Troup — with Washington's help — revived the Baltimore offense, completing 10 of 15 passes for 221

Until the fourth-quarter scoring binge, the game played in a driving rainstorm looked like it belonged to New England.

THE COLTS, missing several injured starters in addition to Jones, got a 3-yard touchdown run from Don McCauley and took a 7-6 lead. But New England countered with a 62yard pass from Grogan to wide-receiver Stanley Morgan.

The Patriots had led 6-0 in the first quarter on Andy Johnson's 1-yard touchdown bolt, but kicker John Smith missed the extra point.

Smith, ailing with an injured eye muscle, later showed grit by temporarily tying the game with an extra point conversion after Cunningham's touchdown to tie the game 27-27 with

Grogan, whose passing was shoddy for three quarters, ran and passed the Patriots back into the game in the fourth quarter before Washington's romp on the kickoff.

THE SHOCKING UPSET, reminiscent of scoring duels in the old Ameri-can Football League, was summed up by Carr, who insisted that the Colts free-wheeled their way to victory.

Alabama, Hogs remain atop polls

By The Associated Press

Penn State has moved into a thirdplace tie with Oklahoma in The Associated Press college football poll, thanks to a 19-0 triumph over Ohio State that dropped the losers from sixth place to 16th.

Meanwhile, Alabama and Arkansas remained in the 1-2 spots where they have been since the preseason poll. Alabama, a 38-20 winner over Missouri, received 50 first-place votes and 1,207 of a possible 1,220 points

Mike LaCoss, the Reds' rookie right-hander, handcuffed Los Angeles on seven hits Monday night, pitching Cincinnati to a 4-0 victory that prevented the Dodgers from reducing their magic number for clinching a second consecutive division title.

The Dodgers' magic number remains at five, as the Reds closed to within 7½ games.

Asked flatly if the Reds can catch the Dodgers, Anderson said: "I don't know. I'll let you know Oct. 1. I don't think it will take a miracle, but we're going to have to win every one of our (12) remaining games.

Yankees winning; Red Sox hoping

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees, and pitcher Ed Figueroa in particular, are playing winning baseball. The Boston Red Sox, meanwhile, are playing scoreboard baseball - and hoping ... hoping that the Yankees lose.

Figueroa, pitching brilliantly and regularly since Bob Lemon replaced Billy Martin as New York's manager, scattered seven hits as the streaking Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3 Monday night and retained their 21/2-game lead over Boston in the American League East.

The struggling Red Sox had to go 11 innings before subduing the Detroit Tigers 5-4, the winning run scoring on Jerry Remy's single.

straight division championship, have 13 games remaining — one against Milwaukee and six each against Toronto and Cleveland. Boston has 12 games left — six against Detroit and six against Toronto

"I'm not a .500 pitcher and I haven't been for four or five years," said Figueroa, who at one point was 7-7 this year, but has now won 11 of his last 13 decisions to raise his record to

"I started pitching better when Lemon got here," added the Yankees' right-hander. "Billy said he'd use me every fourth day, but he never did. When he was here, I was going sometimes five, six, seven days between pitching."

The Yanks got only five hits off loser Bill Travers, 10-11, and Bill Castro, but two of them were successive homers by Reggie Jackson and Lou Piniella in the second inning. Jackson's homer was his 24th of the season and the 337th of his career, moving him into 32nd place on the all-time list, ahead of Joe Adcock.

New York also scored in the sixth on

Chris Chambliss' single, an error and Roy White's sacrifice fly, then broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth on a hit batsman, two walks and Mickey Rivers' runscoring infield single.

All of Milwaukee's runs came on homers — two by Cecil Cooper and one by Sixto Lezcano. The final New York-Milwaukee score was posted on the Tiger Sta-dium scoreboard while Boston and Detroit were in the 10th inning. "At this point (in the season), you've got to look (at the scoresaid Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "I just knew we had to win to stay in the race."

"We knew the Yankees had won and it took a little out of us," said Remy, "but we weren't losing, we were tied. So at least we knew we had a chance to win."

The Red Sox wasted little time in winning. In the 11th, Butch Hobson walked, Jack Brohamer delivered a pinch single, Dwight Evans grounded out, Rick Burleson hit into a fielder's choice with pinch runner Frank Duffy being thrown out at home and Remy hit a line single to center. Center fielder Ron LeFlore might have had a chance to catch pinch runner Garry Hancock at home, but he overran the ball. Earlier, Dwight Evans and Fred Lynn homered for the Red Sox and Rusty Staub and John Wockenfuss connected for Detroit.

"We've got to put a little pressure on the Yankees by winning," said Evans, "We had our chances against

Lewis says Cowboys have lost mental edge

DALLAS (AP) - Linebacker D.D. Lewis says the Dallas Cowboys have lost the mental edge that made them Super Bowl XII champions.

'This year we keep saying we can get to the Super Bowl but I don't think we believe it yet," Lewis said in the wake of Dallas' 27-14 National Football League drubbing by the Los Angeles Rams.

"We are a semi-great team," the 13-year veteran said. "Last year we were so mad because LA had beaten us in the playoffs the previous year that all we could think about was the Super bowl. If we don't get with it, we could have a number of games like we had Sunday.'

What happened to the Cowboys Sunday, Lewis said, was a "shock." "It hurts when their coach (Ray Malavasi) comes out and says they are going to whip our tails, then the team comes out and does it," said Lewis. "There's not a lot you can say. Maybe it will be good for us in the long haul. Maybe it will get us back to basics.

Lewis said, "I'm concerned the way the Rams shut our running down. Something is wrong when we pass 45 times a game. (Coach) Tom Landry's

Ron Guidry virtual shoo-in for Cy Young

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Stand next to Ron Guidry and he looks like your kid brother. He is a wisp of a man and to call him slender is to give him the benefit of the doubt. Skinny would be a more appropriate adjec-

Despite his size, no man is more responsible for the New York Yankees sitting in first place right now in the American League's East Divifrom Louisiana, whose voice still retains traces of his Bayou upbringing.

Guidry is 22-2, a .917 winning percentage which becomes particularly significant when you consider that no 20game winner has ever finished a season with a percentage of better than .900. The closest was Lefty Grove, who went 31-4 for an .886 percentage in 1931.

He has won nine of his last 10 decisions and six of those victories have been shutouts, the last two consecuttive two-hitters against the Boston Red Sox. Guidry now has eight shutouts for the season and a 1.71 earned run average. Only five times since 1920 has a pitcher finished with an ERA lower than that, and two of those were in FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - Paralyzed wide receiver Darryl Stingley received a tumultuous salute onhis 27th birthday Monday night when the crowd of more than 55,000 at the Baltimore Colts-New England Patriots National Football League game sang Happy Birthday to him during halftime.

Stingley is hospitalized in California after suffering a disabling injury Aug. 12 in an exhibition game at Oakland. He was reported to be watching the game on television.

Bellville, after a one week stay as the No. 1 ranked 2A team in the Associated Press schoolboy football poll, fell back to the ranks as Mount Vernon returned to the throne room.

Willis tripped Bellville 20-6 and sent it tumbling to the No. 10 ranking in the latest balloting by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters across the state.

Mount Vernon, the runnerup in 2A last week, took over the lead with 11 first place votes and 165 points while Newton moved up a notch to second place with three first place picks

Meanwhile, Temple in 4A, Huntsville in 3A and Grapeland in A held their No. 1 ratings although Grape-land had to fight off a strong challenge by No. 2 Farmersville.

Grapeland edged Lovelady 25-23 while Farmersville rolled over Sanger 41-7. Grapeland polled nine first place votes for 167 points but Farmersville was close behind with five first place picks and 164 points.

Temple, which defeated San Antonio Edison 35-7, had little trouble holding a healthy lead over runnerup Garland in 4A. Temple finished with 16 first place votes and 183 point compared to Garland's one first place vote and 146 points.

In a mild upset, perennial power No. 6 Houston Kashmere lost a close 7-6 decision to No. 10 Houston Forest Brook and dropped out of the top 10. Forest Brook moved up to No. 8 this Second ranked Gregory-Portland, No. 4 Kilgore and No. 8 Dumas were losers among the 3A ranks.

Gregory-Portland, after leading 20-6 in the second quarter, opened its season with 35-20 loss to Corpus Christi Carroll, which dropped from seventh to ninth in the 4A rankings following the victory.

Kilgore fell to 10th place this week after losing to Daingerfield 12-7 and Dumas dropped from the list after its second consecutive loss. Fort Stockton appeared for the first time as No.

Cameron, 2-0, replaced West as the No. 9 team in 2A after Gatesville played West to a 21-21 deadlock.

There are two newcomers in A with No. 9 Lexington and No. 10 China Springs replacing No., 7 Tatum and No. 10 Groveton.

Arp beat Tatum 13-6 and Corrigan-Camden blasted Groveton 33-6.

Owls win second straight in weekend of surprises

By STEVE O'BRIEN R-T Sports Writer

It was a weekend of remarkable surprises. Muhammad Ali, at age 36, defeated Leon Spinks to become the only man in history to capture the world heavyweight boxing title three times. The New York Yankees, who once trailed the Boston Red Sox by 14 games, beat the Sox two of three times in New York to take a 2 1/2 game lead. Seattle Slew, the 1977 Triple Crown winner, nipped Affirmed, the 1978 Triple Crown winner, in the Marlboro Cup Stakes.

And, the Reagan County Owls won their second football game in as many

The Owls proved they are no fluke by pulling off a 14-6 win over the McCamey Badgers to push their season mark to 2-0. Now, it's not that Reagan County is the only team in the state with a 2-0 record - to be sure, there are many others. But, if you would have had to draw up a list of Texas prep teams who would be unbeaten after two weeks, Reagan County would doubtless not be includ-

But there they sit, pretty as you please, and laughing at the world around them. It's the ultimate joy for Owl fans after having to watch their local boys in action for two seasons to witness as many wins as they've seen in just two weeks in 1978.

AFTER 1-9 AND 1-8-1 records in 1976 and 1977, the outlook for 1978 wasn't exactly rosy. But, the future has suddenly become much brighter for the Class A school after an opening victory over Class AA Ozona and Friday's win over McCamey.

The 2-0 mark ties them with preseason favorite Junction, a 22-7 winner over Ozona, for the best record in District 9-A.

Three other area schools find themselves in a similar position after the first two weeks of the season. Andrews, with a 22-0 win over Lamesa, Rankin and Crane are also among the ranks of the unbeaten. Crane dumped Marfa, 21-0, Friday night while Rankin disposed of Sanderson, 30-0.

With plenty of action remaining in the still-young season, a real dogfight is already shaping up in District 2-3A. Along with Andrews, Ft. Stockton and Pecos are also unbeaten. A year ago Andrews topped the league with a 10-1 mark, but they were followed closely by Pecos (9-1) and Ft. Stockton (8-2). If the trend set in the early going is any indication, there's no reason to believe it won't be at least that tight again this year.

LAMESA, A 46-0 loser to Pecos in their opener, were once again plagued by an ineffectual offense, managing only 26 total yards and -6 yards rushing in their second straight shutout. But, a fiery defensive effort on the part of the Golden Tors must give them hope for salvaging the remainder of the season.

District 3-3A favorite San Angelo Lake View was blown out by Kerrville, 27-8, Friday, dropping them to 1-1 on the season. With wins in their second outings, Snyder and Brownfield have matched Lake View. Sweetwater and Lamesa are 0-2.

In District 7-AA, Crane's Golden Cranes and Kermit, a 14-0 victor over Denver City in their most recent outing, are both 2-0. Sonora notched their first win Friday, a 13-0 shutout of Ballinger, after a season-opening tie. Ozona, victimized by District 9-A's Reagan County and Junction, are at the bottom of the ladder.

STANTON, WHICH showed a lot of promise in preseason, has fallen victim to a murderous opening schedule. After losing to Tahoka, the fourth ranked team in Class 2A, the Buffaloes came out on the bad end of a 28-15 score in their matchup with old rival and always-tough Coahoma Friday.

Despite playing without the services of tailback Todd Smith, the Buffaloes managed to rack up an impressive 234 yards on the ground against Coahoma. Alonzo Padron, Smith's replacement at tailback led the way and scored one of Stanton's

Iraan, with a 27-0 win over Eldorado, and Rankin are setting the pace in District 6-A with 2-0 marks. McCamey stands at 1-1 following the loss to Reagan County:

Blame for Ohio State's loss goes to Woody, not young quarterback

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Don't blame Art Schlichter, Ohio State's heralded freshman quarterback, for throwing five interceptions in the Buckeyes' 19-0 loss to Penn State. Blame Woody

There is little doubt that Schlichter (pronounced Shleester) is going to be a good one. In fact, on his Saturday night TV show, Hayes said there is "no doubt that he will become the greatest quarterback we've ever Schlichter's prep credentials were super. His Miami-Trace High School team - he's from Bloomingburg, Ohio - went 29-0-1 his final three years. Schlichter completed 264 of 478 passes for 4,397 yards and 46 touchdowns and also ran for 1,660 yards and 29 TDs.

All of which helped make him Ohio's High School Player of the Year in 1977. "A man playing with a bunch of boys," said one recruiter.

BESIDES THE five interceptions, for 184 yards overall and led the Buckeyes to a total offense of 205 yards in the first half, which doesn't happen every day against a team as talented defensively as Penn State. The 6-foot-3 rookie showed enough to impress as astute an observer as Ara Parseghian, ABC-TV's color commentator.

"I heard about him when he was a sophomore in high school," said the ex-Notre Dame coach. "I think he's good; I really do. He's got a hell of a lot of talent. He showed me a quick arm and great judgment and he has the ability to drill the ball as well as put a soft touch on it. He misread a couple of coverages, but that will come with experience. "That's my general appraisal. It's unfortunate that he was thrust into going against one of the better defensive teams in the country in his first collegiate game. The last time he played it was probably before a few thousand people and suddenly he's thrust into a nationally televised game with 88,000 on hand.

ANOTHER COACH who saw the game on television - he requested anonymity - put the blame squarely

"I hate to see a team win or lose because of a coaching error," he said.
"It was the most asinine thing I've ever heard of putting an 18-year-old kid in that situation. Here's a coach who's had great success over the years running the football and all of a sudden he's gonna throw the hell out of the ball. "They don't know anything in that conference about throwing the ball, anyway. All they know about is the I-formation and running right at you. I think they'd have had a better chance to beat Penn State with Rod Gerald at quarterback.

"IT'S NOT like he (Hayes) went out and hired a great passing mind as a quarterback coach. He tried to have his own staff incorporate a passing attack and all they know is pound

Highlights of the game were few and far between, where Ohio State was concerned. And Hayes, in a spurof-the-moment decision on his TV show, chose not to air film clips of the Buckeyes' five interceptions and three fumbles.

"Doggone it," he sputtered, "I'm not going to humiliate those youngsters. They were humiliated this afternoon and I'm not going to do it again. This is an Ohio State show and it's biased reporting, I'd have to

Hayes' famous temper was in evidence several times during the game. He threw down his headphone after a couple of the interceptions but his biggest outburst came on a 17-yard pass from Chuck Fusina to Bob Bassett during Penn State's 80-yard touchdown drive in the third period.

THE THIRD-DOWN completion gave the Nittany Lions a first down at the Ohio State 22. Hayes — and most observers in the press box — thought a Penn State player moved before the snap. When no flag was thrown, Hayes stormed out onto the field waving his arms and shouting.

"I could not believe what I saw on the sidelines," he told his TV audience some 61/2 hours after the game. "I could not believe it. But I haven't seen the films because we fouled them up, too. I waited four hours and I still haven't received them.

"I won't say anything more about the play because I'll have the commissioner on my back. But I could not believe it. I could not believe it."

Michigan State has no one but itself to blame for its 21-14 loss to Purdue. A fourth-down Purdue shift drew the Spartans offside and led to the winning touchdown. 'Yes, we worked on that," said Purdue Coach Jim Young. "We had that pulled against us at Arizona, and I figured if it worked in the WAC it could work in the Big Ten.
