Nation's striking teachers suffer 'foxhole mentality'

By GLENN RITT

NEW YORK (AP) - Teachers, frustrated by inflation and classroom turmoil, are encountering voters, equally inflation-weary and frustrated by falling student test scores. The result is teachers' strikes hitting a near-record pace as the school year

And there is a growing conviction among school officials, union leaders and teachers that the discontent is so deep and complex that September's turbulence will only intensify in the months ahead.

Albert Shanker, president of the 500,000-member American Federation of Teachers, says his members are developing a "foxhole mentali-

Dr. Thomas Shannon, executive director of the National School Boards Association, sees a "new dimension" in negotiations. After years of concessions, he says, "school boards want to get something back for what they are giving up.'

By mid-September, teachers had called 50 strikes nationwide, and the National Education Association estimates such a pace could put job actions by year's end at least near the record of 203 set in 1975-76.

Strikes have affected school districts ranging from Philadelphia with 250,000 students, to Oak Harbor, Wash., with 5,300 pupils.

As teachers grow angry over their situation, school officials watch, and sometimes are controlled by, the voters' mood. Citizens whose own incomes have been cut by inflation are voting down school budget increases, and the tax revolt fueled by California's Proposition 13 is only increasing the confrontation.

In Bridgeport, Conn., where more than 100 teachers have been jailed in a strike, Ellen Wisser, an English teacher with three children in college, sat by a telephone at her union's "crisis center."

"I can't believe it's come to this. she said. "But they've underestimated our strength. We won't be stripped of our dignity.

It is more than dignity being jetopardized, of course. Between Septe mber 1975 and June 1978, teacher stalaries nationwide rose an average 5.9 percent while inflation averaged more than 7.1 percent.

"We haven't even kept up with inflation," says Chuck Richards, an American Federation of Teachers official in Washington.

The federal government estimates a public school teacher this year will earn an average of $15,250. In 1960 dollars - to offset inflation's impact that comes to only $6.750. Teachers are not alone, however. It is difficult for taxpayers to show compassion when statistics show teachers' real wages increased 32 percent since 1960 compare to only 16 percent for all private non-farm workers.

"Yes, we have scored some success," says Terry Herndon, executive director of the 1.8 million-member NEA. "But now we want to sustain those gains and inflation threatens to erode our improvement.'

Marilyn Smith, 30, a Bridgeport art teacher, earns about $10,500 a year and understands Herndon's view. "I can't save anything. I'm paying $260 a month for an apartment and utilities. I've got a car to commute 40 miles a day and a student loan to pay back.

"And I'm probably a little above average because I don't have any children to support," Miss Smith

That same inflation has stimulated voters to approve such measures as Proposition 13 and to defeat a growing number of school budgets. In New York, voters rejected 14.8 percent of school budgets in the 1974-75 school year but 29 percent last year. In New Jersey, the 1974-75 rejection rate of 24.6 percent has grown to 57.5 percent. "Frustrated taxpayers have a chance to express themselves on only one form of taxation and that's when they vote for school budgets," Richards explains.

He says it's totally inequitable that schools should be hit more than other

Gas bill opponents gearing last attack

WASHINGTON (AP) - Opponents of a natural gas pricing compromise are organizing for one last attack despite a resounding defeat at the hands of President Carter and his allies in the Senate.

In the first showdown vote on the volatile issue, the Senate rejected by a 59-39 vote Tuesday an effort to return the compromise to the conference committee, a move supporters said would kill it.

Given the margin of that vote, it appeared unlikely opponents would be able to reverse the current tide in support of the compromise.

An Associated Press count showed 50 senators either firmly or tentatively in support of the compromise with 39 in opposition and 11 still undecid-

Nonetheless, Sen. Russell Long, D-

The current compromise would lift gas by Jan. 1, 1985 and allow producers price increases of about 10 percent between now and then.

There is general agreement that the compromise would mean higher prices to homeowners and other consumers but no agreement on how much those increases would be. There is also disagreement over the extent to which the bill would stimulate production of additional supplies.

"The battle isn't over," a slightly dispirited Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said shortly after Tuesday's vote. "We have been counted out before. We'll try to find a compromise to work out some middle ground. Maybe now we have to take a fallback

But Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said the wide margin by which the recommittal motion was defeated assures ultimate Senate passage of the multi-billion dollar pricing scheme. A final vote on the compromise has been scheduled for next Wednesday, federal price controls on new natural but Senate sources indicated opponents might not object to a quicker vote, perhaps by the end of this Long, other oil-state senators, conservative Republicans and consumeroriented Democrats have joined together in efforts to defeat the White House-supported measure.

All previous attempts to defeat the compromise, said by Carter to be the most vital portion of his energy plan, called for removing all of its pricing

But now Long and his supporters are discussing a proposal to cut back the increases in producer revenues to 7 or 8 percent in hopes of picking up support from liberal Democratic senators who fear the Carter compromise would raise consumer prices too

To appeal to oil state senators and some Republicans, Long is expected to try to eliminate portions of the compromise which oil companies say will make federal regulation a bureaucratic nightmare.

Teachers, battered by inflation, aroused by a swelling taxpayer revolt, and frustrated by classroom turmoil, are striking at a near-record pace as the new school year begins. Pictured are members

Big Spring lake environmental report of questionable value

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

BIG SPRING-Big Spring's environmental review record supporting drainage of a natural lake in the city limits was based on a 15year-old federal study and the analysis of an administrator who lacked professional ecological expertise, according to the official who drafted the report. The environmental review record later was approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in the awarding of a $165, 000 HUD grant to begin plans to drain

Paul Feazelle, now assistant city manager in Big Spring, said Tuesday that he compiled the environmental review record in June of 1977 mostly from a study by the U.S. Army Corps

R-T Special Report

of Engineers, dated about 1963, and from his own experience in drafting reports for federal grants.

The report found that drainage of One Mile Lake would "have no significant effect on the environment." The city already has awarded a bid for a drainage improvement project along Beal's Creek, which also would include drainage of One Mile Lake.

Feazelle, who acknowledged he has no professional ecological expertise. said the city had him draft the report because funds did not permit hiring an environmental consultant. He was director of housing and community development at the time he wrote the grant proposal.

Feazelle's report recommended drainage of One Mile Lake because of contentions the lake is the source of mosqui to infestation, is responsible for flooding in the city's northwest

More cool, rainy days ahead

Just when it appeared that the weather had bounced from rainy and cool to warm and summery, the weatherman did a flip-flop in his forecast: more rainy days ahead.

A cooling trend set in and thunder showers broke out Tuesday afternoon, dropping rain over most parts of the Permian Basin. The weatherman said it should be partly cloudy through tonight with a 50 percent chance of rain. The chance drops to 20 percent Thursday. The National Weather Service at Midland Region al Airport reported a total accumulation of .09 inch of rainfall overnight. That brings the total rainfall in the Midland area so far this month to 1.14 inches.

In the south central part of Midland at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, rainfall was measured at .3 inch. Rainfall reported elsewhere included Midland College, .28 inch; Greenwood Estates, .5 inch, and Midkiff. 10 inch

"Most of information for the report comes from the Army Corps of Engineers and local knowledge. The residents of the area of One Mile Lake all feel the lake is as much a contributor to the problems as anything else,' Feazelle said.

It is in the trash area of the nearby railroad tracks that mosquitos actually breed, according to Lee. The area on the south side of the

I. B. Paul, a local bird expert, said in an August 17, 1977, memorandum to the city that the report's findings on what the impact might be on wildlife in the area "is the biggest joke of

The environmentalist also criticized the city for declaring the lake area unattractive.

"Since this is inside the city limits. why doesn't the city enforce some dumping codes? By draining the lake, you will only expose a vast new area that will soon be full of wrecked cars, torn matresses and dead dogs." he

Feazelle said the drainage of the lake would not solve all the problems, but is the "most expedient method" available to the city to improve the situation He thinks the charges made against him by the environmentalists are for the most part unfair and unsupported in documentation.

Bad year could influence prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bad year for America's farm crops could nearly double the expected $3.40 weekly hike in a four-person family's grocery bill in 1979, says the Agriculture Department's top economist. Inflation's inevitable effects will increase prices that much, says Howard W. Hjort, but reduced meat and dairy supplies could raise the mythical family's average grocery bill another $2.75.

That projected increase, totaling $6.15, would be on top of the $6.21 weekly hike predicted for such a family this year. In 1977, it cost $62.10 a week to feed such a hypothetical fam-

One year ago, Hjort came before the same committee and predicted food prices would be up from 3 percent to 6 percent this year

"You can see that we didn't take irito account the effects of farm policites and programs," he said in an The impact of congressional and

Hjort said last year's predictions on farm prices were off because an expected "significant expansion" of 10 percent to 11 percent in the hog market, which would have led to lower pork prices, did not occur.

Bad weather and disease which killed animals combined with uncertainty among producers following claims that chemicals used to cure bacon may cause cancer to keep expansion of the hog market to about 2

Economists had hoped increased pork and poultry production would offset decreased beef supplies caused by ranchers attempting to compensate for four years of losses by trimming their herds.

"That didn't happen," Hjort said.

He said another factor in higherthan-predicted prices this year was bad spring weather in California that damaged lettuce crops and pushed up the price of fresh vegetables.

Similar factors could boost retail food prices next year, too.

Meanwhile, Hjort said halting the annual rise in retail food prices would require either an end to inflation or a willingness by farmers to accept a price cut of about 1-1 percent for their

He said retail food prices during the last 12 years have gone up about 6.6 percent annually and that it was unlikely the pattern would change.

General inflation, he said, "tends to be the dominant factor" in the rise of food prices, with two-thirds of each dollar spent at the supermarket going for services and not the food purchased.

He pointed out that of the approximately $200 billion expected to be spent on food in 1978, about $66 billion will go for the crops and about $135 billion for marketing costs, which are subject to inflation.

schools are caught in the cross-fire. To many school boards, this public anger translates into support in negotiations. "Teachers have been in an eternally up situation and boards are now looking at this very carefully," says Shannon Richards bitterly criticizes this new negotiating posture. "They're attempting to remove things we negotiated and won in the past. They're using this to generate a crisis situation With school board austerity also come threats to job security and classroom conditions. An NEA study indicates teachers are worried too by large classes, student discipline, school crime, and public criticism of teachers because of students' falling test scores.

These morale problems, teachers and union leaders agree, often fuel the friction. And like the salary issue, their resolution often lies with money, an increasingly rare commodity.

You can't get blood from a turnip," says Shannon, describing the fiscal plight of many school boards facing teacher demands.

Shannon and union leaders agree. however, that the culprit is not teachers or school boards, but property taxes. "The property tax never was designed to support education to the degree it's expected to today," Richards says.

And as all levels of government begin to scramble for the shrinking tax dollar, Shannon says, "school boards may be in serious contention with city and county government.'

Many factors lead to increase in well fires

By ED TODD R-T Staff Writer

Wild well fires and gushing blow-outs in oil fields the world over are on the increase, Paul "Red" Adair, the famed "hellfighter," said in Midland Tues-

Adair, the Houston-based fighter of "wild well" fires, said the upswing is partly due to sabotage by terrorists, but most are accidents due to the lack of preventive know-how at the well head. Adair, who has fought many fires and capped blow-outs in West Texas, spoke to a sell-out crowd of about 500 petroleum engineers, geologists, students and guests at a meeting of Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers. SPE is a constituent society of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineers (AIME).

'That's probably where I learned about fighting fires, out here in West Texas," he told the engineers, who gave him a standing ovation at his introdu-

Adair said he has done oilfield fire-fighting "business" and blow-out capping for many Permian Basin oil producers "and will be in the future."

"I think that we're about the only people in the world trying to put ourselves out of business by telling what they (oilfield crews) have done wrong," Adair told audience at Ranchland Hills Country Club.

Adair showed the petroleum engineers three films in which he fought blows-out and fires in Wyoming, Saudia Arabia and

His films depicted the fighting of the Patterson No. 1 Well fire in Wyoming in 1974, the fighting of a terrorist-set oil well fire in Libya, and the snuffing of a roaring fire in Saudia Arabia.

The film "Libya on Fire" told of the "life-saving" sheets of water sprayed to protect Adair's crew and other forces, the "eerie lights" of the fire, the deafening roar, the "sense of excitement." Finally, the apparently British narrator commented: "It was not a pretty

"He made me sound comical, didn't he," Adair commented afterward. In his talk, Adair did not reveal his trade secrets or his Adair said knowledge of fire-fighting procedures at the wellhead normally is a low-priority item by the petroleum companies until a holocaust actually occurs at the drill site or the producing well.

"I guarantee you," Adair said, "if you have a blow-out and a resultant fire, I don't know of anything that will get it on top of your priorities any faster."

Adair usually brings in, mostly by air, his own heavy equip-ment, chemicals, explosives, mud and other materials for fighting fires. Often, he will build needed machinery at the Adair said accidental well fires could be drastically reduced if more expertise were used at the well site.

'They don't have enough good men to go around," he said. On the increase, both in the Middle East and in this country, are fires set by saboteurs, Adair said. This phenomenon is "all over the world" and, he said, seems to be replacing sky-jacking as one of terrorists' favor

Adair who got his "wild well" fire training under the late M.M. Kinley started his own company, the Red Adair Co., in 1959. Since then, he's been handling about "35 to 40 jobs a year."

So far this year, he's topping the average, Adair said. Currently, he's into his 42nd and 43rd "big ones" of the year in

"It takes team work from everybody," he said. "We get all the glory and most of the money, but we've got some awfully good backing.

Adair declined to discuss some of his techniques in setting off explosions to kill fires.

And he was just as reluctant to talk about the cost of putting out

"You get a fire or a blow-out, give us a call, and we'll talk about it," he responded to a Later, Adair said the fee he charges or how much blow-outs or well fires might cost oil companies were not all that important.

"The main thing is your natural resources," the stocky Adair said. "You've got to get it out now and not worry about the cost. Then (after the fire is out and the well is capped) you worry about the money.

What's the worst fire Adair ever fought?

"All of them," he said. "There's a bit of challenge in all of them."

Let's trim the fat!

President Carter struck a modest blow against inflation by limiting pay raises for 3.5 million military and civilian white-collar federal employees to 5.5 percent, almost 3 percent less than recommended by a federal advisory committee.

Recently, the President was handed fresh justification for a further effort to whittle down next year's projected federal budget deficit.

The Brookings Institution, a respected Washington think tank, reported the Pentagon could save more than $900 million a year by reorganizing its 1.1-millionmember civilian work force, eliminating thousands of unnecessary jobs and reducing the pay of blue-collar civilian employees who now earn more than their counterparts in the private sector. A freeze on federal hiring in general could save additional millions of dollars.

Although the Brookings study

perhaps does not merit sentenceby-sentence endorsement, there is little doubt that the Department of Defense presides over its share of fat in government.

It is suggested, therefore, that Mr. Carter demonstrate the seriousness of his anti-inflation program by slashing some waste from the Pentagon's civilian legions.

By attacking the root cause of inflation - the budget deficits attributable to excessive federal spending - this sort of step would be far more effective than the new wage and price guidelines the President reportedly is considering.

Imposing tighter wage restraints on the federal bureaucracy would add far more to Mr. Carter's stature as an antiinflation fighter than futile railing against the free market.

We can think of no better issue on which the President might profitably burnish his image.

Belated solicitude

Sen. George McGovern's suggestion that an international military force liberate the tormented people of Cambodia from their own murderous government reflects a commendable concern. Tragically, however, it comes years to late.

The Cambodians might have escaped the genocide now under way had they been given sufficient military aid to resist the Khmer Rouge forces in the spring of 1975. What they got from Sen. McGovern and a majority of Congress in March 1975 were votes against emergency supplemental aid.

For Sen. McGovern in particular, the votes were triumphs in a long campaign to halt American military aid to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Now, more than three years after the Khmer Rouge seized power in Phnom Penh and began an unprecedented slaughter of their own countrymen. Sen. McGovern's concern is almost irrelevant. Where has he been? What has he been thinking about? Who and what was he thinking about three years ago?

There is no chance that a United Nations force could be mustered to overthrow the Cambodian regime.

Indeed, the United Nations Human Rights Commission has not even agreed to consider the question of whether human rights are in jeopardy in Cambodia.

It also might be asked, where have the commission members been while all this has been going

Could they but know of it, those who survive in Cambodia might be touched by the senator's belated solicitude for their welfare.

At least, in the words of exiled Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn, McGovern has "heard the moans" of the betrayed people of Southeast Asia.

What counted more in the calculation of their terrible fate were those votes in March 1975 denying them ammunition for their rifles.

Think about it, senator, and then think about it some more.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Performance demands reviewing

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Jimmy Carter, the trust-me president, promised never, never to lie to the American people. But in politics, unhappily, deception is a way of life.

His press secretary, Jody Powell, is as amiable a wool merchant as ever peddled stories out of the west wing of the White House. Last week, he demonstrated his skill at stuffing wool in the public eye. It was a superb performance, which deserves a full Powell had learned in advance that were about to explode a bomb is our thousand newspapers. We had compiled the saga of some enterprising, if motley, Georgians who had just pulled off the financial coup of the decade.

For a paltry $42,000, they had purchased $12 million worth of fugitive financier Robert Vesco's prime stock at an obscure judicial sale in Panama. At least that was the paper value of the stock. We discovered that the inimitable Vesco, himself, was behind the bargain. But the Georgians' gain, we also learned, was not supposed to be his loss. In return for their sudden prosperity, they had promised to get the_federal government off Vesco's

Our inquiries led us to letters, affidavits and telephone messages. which indicated that the Georgians were counting on the cooperation of President Carter's two most trusted advisers. This was vigorously disputed by the two advisers. White House aide Hamilton Jordan and Atlanta attorney Charles Kirbo, known in the backrooms as Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside. They denied all but the most innocent contact with the

Still, the evidence suggested a multimillion-dollar political fix might be in the works at the highest levels of government. Our interest was piqued by a report that the payoff had followed a decision by the Justice Department to drop its efforts to extradite Vesco.

We went to the top to check out this report. Attorney General Griffin Bell personally confirmed that the extradition effort had been abandoned. He explained that the strategy had been exhausted and that additional extradition attempts would be pressure from the White House, he

It was a story, we felt, that required a full airing. So we assembled the details in four columns, with proper attention to Griffin Bell's explanations

Although the White House is not a subscriber, the columns were delivered mysteriously to Jody Powell prior to publication. He made a hasty descent from the Camp David summit to seed the storm clouds.

First, he telephoned us in a voice of wounded innocence. He appealed to us, in the name of all that is patriotic. to hold up the columns. He explained that he was busy helping to save the peace in the Middle East. But we declined to schedule our news to suit the White House's convenience.

The next voice on the telephone was that of Robert Strauss, a tiger with a pussycat's purr, who has become President Carter's trouble-shooter. Unable to reach me at church, he settled for our associate Les Whitten.

Strauss explained cordially that Jordan had retained the high-powered Washington attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, to consider filing a libel suit against us. The invoking of Williams' name, if not the mere threat of libel, should strike terror into the heart of a potential defendant. But we did not succumb to the psychological warfare.

Meanwhile, the indomitable Jody Powell, using the long reach of the White House, began scrounging for information to knock down our stories. He seized triumphantly on evidence from Justice and State Department files that the effort to extradite Robert Vesco had not merely been abandoned as we had reported, but had been superseded by strategy. Justice officials hoped to get Vesco expelled from his refuge in Costa Rica - the better to seize him and bring him home for

This new information was communicated to us, and we immediately made changes in our columns to take it into account. Of course, this was information that we had sought from the attorney general and that he had neglected to include in his answers to our questions. We didn't feel responsible, therefore, for Bell's failure to give us the full facts.

But the resourceful Powell began citing the changes in our columns as evidence that our reporting was unreliable, not that Bell's answers had been inadequate. The press secretary called in certain reporters for elaborate briefings. They were overwhelmed with evidence that the Justice Department wanted to get poor Vesco expelled if not extradited. Following the old adage that in politics there is nothing better than to be the victim of an outrage. Powell trotted out Jordan and presented him as a shorn lamb. We were portrayed as the culprits whose careless reporting had shorn Jordan of his good name. Never mentioned was the fact that it was Bell's answers, not our reporting of them, that had been careless.

We also asked the White House to allow us to attend Powell's powwows. We offered to face the reporters with him. We offered to lay our findings side by side with his. But we were excluded from the briefings.

The government does not own the news, but every president has tried to control its flow. Jimmy Carter is no exception.

WASHINGTON - The slippery path into national politics for Hollywood glamor boys was embarrassingly revealed when Robert Redford stumbled trying to help Maine's Democratic Sen. William Hathaway, but the last act has come to light: a personal rebuke of Redford by the party chairman.

Author of a scathing letter to Redford was Harold Pachios, former White House aide to Lyndon Johnson and now Maine's Democratic state chairman. Calling Redford a "peripatetic talk show performer," Pachios accused him of making "superficial, patronizing statements" after he suddenly cancelled a fund-raising speech for Hathaway early this year.

Redford cancelled his appearance in Portland, arranged by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, when he learned that Hathaway favored a power-dam project in Maine opposed by environmentalists. Redford is a most vocal environmentalist.

Redford's last-minute cancellation of his fund-raising mission cost Hathaway a probable $20,000 to $25,000 and set off a storm of charges and countercharges against Redford for not having checked out Hathaway's environmentalist views before offering to come to Maine. That charge-and-countercharge included a letter Redford wrote to Pachios - copies to major Maine newspapers - accusing him of "irresponsible" conduct that "I thought went out with the last administration."

Pachios' reply was private and confidential: "The dramatic last-minute cancellation of your appearance in behalf of Sen. Hathaway may have been motivated by a desire to undermine his campaign or it may be that you simply caved in under a little pressure...You may be reasonably certain that your recent 'bush' performance is not likely to diminish the box office of your future (film) performances. We enjoy your films. A knowledgeable lecturer you are

In other words, to Pachios and the Democrats of Maine, Hollywood stars should stay in Hollywood and stop playing big shots in big-time politics.

CRANE'S SHAKY BASE

Rep. Phillip Crane of Illinois, the first announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has been shaken up on his own political base: the American Conservative Union (ACU).

At a secret meeting of the ACU board in the Rayburn House Office Building which continued into early morning hours, there was a strong consensus for Crane to resign as ACU chairman because of his presidential candidacy. Board members grumbled that ACU staffers have been drawn into the Crane campaign. Only Rep. Steve Symms of Idaho strongly supported Crane continuing as ACU

Crane backers complain that the trouble was stirred by crafty campaign operative David Keene, a key aide of Ronald Reagan and ACU board member. But Rep. Bob Bauman of Maryland, neutral in the Reagan-Crane contest for the nomination, insisted that the ACU will be in for deep trouble with the Federal Election Commission (FEC) if Crane remains in charge.

A motion calling on Crane to resign was defeated 12 to 6 after it was decided to ask the FEC forean advisory opinion. But the strong chance that the commission will refuse to give such an opinion only postpones a showdown between Crane and his own political base.

Pornographic photo album may lead police to killer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — An album of pornographic pictures may lead police to the killer of Bob Crane, TV star of the "Hogan's Heroes" se-

Detectives have been looking for the album since June 29, when Crane, 49, was beaten to death with a heavy metal bar. Crane apparently knew his killer and had let him into the apartment Crane was using while appearing here in a Windmill Dinner Theater production of "Beginner's Luck," police said.

"Apparently there was an album missing — pornographic stills," said Police Chief Walter Nemetz. "It might be a clue."

Crane suffered two skull-crushing blows and his neck was tied with an electrical cord from a videotape camera, investigators said. Dozens of videotapes reportedly were found in the apartment, showing Crane engaged in sex with women in various stages of undress. Several of the women have been contacted and cooperated with investigators.

"There are lots of motives," Nemetz said. "He (Crane) developed a lot of acquaintances. His peculiar activities offstage could lead to many motives amongst his acquaintances."

The weapon, believed to have been a tire iron or jack handle, has not been found. Blood was wiped from it onto a corner of Crane's bedsheet, and the weapon may have been tossed into a canal near the murder scene, officials said.

"We've expended about 2,000 man-hours on the case and we're still coming up with new people to talk to," Nemetz said. "I still have one investigator assigned fulltime."

The investigation has gone to Texas, where Crane also appeared in dinner-theater productions, and to Los Angeles, home of Crane's estranged wife, Patty Olsen, and Crane's friend, John Carpenter, 49.

Carpenter has told police that he was out with Crane and two women until about 2 a.m. the day of the murder, and last saw Crane outside a coffee shop. Carpenter also said he flew to Los Angeles after the evening out, but telephoned Crane in his apartment just before leaving.

Crane also received a telephone call from his estranged wife the night before his death, Nemetz said. Carpenter told police he was with Crane at the time of the call, which developed into a loud argument. Crane and Miss Olsen apparently had argued the previous week as well.

Photos of professional killers have been shown to potential witnesses but Nemetz says, "Our inclination is to discount that. We're inclined to believe that whoever killed Crane was in the room with him and knew him. He was pretty careful about locking his door. There was no evidence of Eld

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Until this year, the choice for 80-year-old Bridie Brennan often was food or medicine.

Brennan often was food or medicine.
The bedridden grandmother of five takes more than a dozen pills a day for arthritis, hypertension, hardening of the arteries and other ailments.

"It was pretty grim," said her son, Jack, with whom she lives. "We had to cut into the food budget, because she couldn't handle the drug expenses on her own."

But since the first of the year, Mrs. Brennan and about 255,000 other older residents of New Jersey have been beneficiaries of a novel $1 discount drug program now threatened by runaway costs — because it is too popular.

"The program is wonderful, but I don't know what I would do if it was cut off," said Mrs. Brennan, who has only a modest income from Social Security.

The program, which began Jan. 1, authorizes eligible senior citizens to obtain prescription drugs for $1, with the state paying the rest. Its estimated $5 million first-year cost is expected to zoom to more than $37 million.

"This program is vitally needed and we don't want anyone trying to do a hatchet job on us now," said Eugene Zoppo of Paterson, president of the New Jersey Federation of Senior Citizens, which has 494 groups representing nearly 100,000 seniors.

ing nearly 100,000 seniors.
"Before this, there were a lot of people who were forced to use their food money to pay for prescriptions," he said.

State officials estimated there would be about 50,000 annual participants, but more than 255,000 were enrolled by the end of August. In addition, at least 3,000 had not been processed.

"We were wrong about the estimates," said the state's deputy human services commissioner, Gerald J. Reilly. "The original application form was very cumbersome, but when access was made easier, the original estimates stayed the same."

To make things worse, there have been reports that senior citizens from the neighboring states of New York and Pennsylvania are trying to get discount drugs through relatives or by setting up fake New Jersey residences.

Under the Pharmaceutical Assistance Act, seniors living alone are eligible if their annual income does not exceed $9,000. Couples may have income up to $12,000.

Other states are watching the progam to see how New Jersey officials balance the goal to help seniors on fixed incomes in the face of public outcries against increased government spending. Gov. Brendan T. Byrne, who used the program to woo older voters in a successful re-election bid last year, has urged legislative leaders to adopt modifications immediately.

Officials back 'get tough' attitude

By The Associated Press

Officials dealing with public service strikes in five cities have backed up their get-tough attitudes with threats of contempt-of-court action and the firings of hundreds of striking firefighters and policemen.

No major problems with crime or fires were reported Tuesday in Wichita, Kan., Biloxi, Miss., Butte, Mont., Vernon, Calif., and Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Strikes by police and fire department members in Wichita, population 265,000, have been met with the firing of 122 policemen and the jailing of two firefighters' union leaders.

Firefighters' attorney David P. Roth said Tuesday that 260 striking firemen may also be found in con-tempt and jailed. But city officials would not say if they would seek the jailing of firefighters who refused to honor a back-to-work order.

In addition, about 1,000 unionized city clerks, secretaries and maintenance workers have threatened to honor picket lines.

Bill Cook, president of Local 666 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, and John Robinson, the local's vice president, refused to agree to a judge's condition that they not encourage continuance of the nine-day-old strike in order to be released on $1,000 bail each. Wichita Police Chief Richard La-Munyon said other policemen who refused to return to work would be fired when paperwork was completjecting a city offer of a 9 percent and $40-a-month pay raise next year, contingent on city voters passing a halfcent sales tax in November.

Firemen and policemen now start Meanwhile, the City Council of Vernon, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb, voted Tuesday night to fire 70 firefighters who walked out last month.

Officials contend the firemen violated both the state Labor Code and a city ordinance that prohibits a workstoppage or withdrawal of services by firefighters.

Only one of the city's four fire stations has remained open since the firemen announced in late August they would no longer respond to alarms. Firefighters from surrounding communities have been called in emergencies.

Biloxi, Miss., Mayor Jerry O'Keefe imposed a 10 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew for 48,000 residents as highway patrolmen staffed stations deserted by 51 striking police.

O'Keefe said there was some arson and vandalism Monday night, which he blamed on the strikers, but reported no problems Tuesday.

Firemen and police are holding out for a $150 month pay raise; the city is offering $100.

In Butte, Mont., deputy county at-torney Bob McCarthy said he would seek contempt-of-court citations against 36 striking firemen and 40 deputies who have been on strike against the consolidated Butte-Silver Bow government and ordered back to work by a judge. Most city-county employees in the heavily unionized county of 42,000 honored the firemen's picket lines, disrupting some services.

Firemen demand equal pay with policemen, who recently accepted a new contract that provides $1,050 per month and an extra $25 a month for officers with at least 18 months of service. The firemen have been offered the same base salary, but not the extra $25.

Sheriff Pat Hagel announced Tuesday that he was firing 20 deputies who had honored picket lines.

Greta demolishes village; 1 dies

COXEN HOLE, Honduras (AP) — Hurricane Greta made a shambles out of scores of homes in this picturesque island village off the north coast of Honduras.

It left one dead elsewhere and hundreds of destroyed huts in the British colony of Belize before dissolving into a windy rainstorm Tuesday .

But authorities say there were no deaths here because residents remembered the lessons they learned four years ago in killer Hurricane

"I felt sure someone would get killed when the waves and the wind were rolling like they were. But only a few people were slightly injured. People stayed inside if they thought their houses would stand up.

"A lot of people went to the health center or churches and other concrete buildings we felt sure would stand it," said John J. Wood, mayor of Coxen Hole and 14 other villages on the west end of Roatan Island.

The mayor said authorities provided plenty of advance warning and residents heeded the warnings.

The island's main street was littered Tuesday with debris including household goods, mattresses, downed electric wires and cars axle-deep in sand where they had been left by the

The Honduran government said more than 1,000 homes were destroyed in the storm in the islands and in the villages along the quast about 35 miles away.

GSA probe 'far from over'

- The government's investigation of the General Services Administration so far has uncovered questionable practices ranging from outright theft to a contract calling for the impossible. But the "ugly and dis-gusting saga," as GSA Administrator Jay Solomon called it, is apparently far from over. Solomon said Tuesday the revelations to date may be only "the tip of a gigantic iceberg yet to tionable activities are turning up in Colorado, Montana, Missouri, California and Hawaii.

More than $100,000 in apparent fraud has been uncovered in the past two weeks alone, GSA officials say. The agency's head investigator, William Clinkscales, says his staff has "high hopes that we will shut down thefts of $3,000 to $5,000 a week that have been occurring for years" at a Midwest GSA ware-tified. The federal employee received a suspended sentence for her part in the case, Clinkscales said and has since been given a job promotion. The parking lot attendant, according to Dis-trict of Columbia police, was named in a 170-count indictment in connection with the incident.

The subcommittee heard of GSA employees who stood up against private contractors, then were transferred to lesser jobs. And they were told of a blind GSA attorney who, in the midst of determining a dispute between GSA and a private contractor, found his funds for overtime reading help curtailed, thereby limiting his effectiveness.

Illegal activities are continuing, said Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., the subcommittee chair-

He told Solomon he had some good news: GSA investigators recently found "file cabinets still in their packing cases which are being sold at half price. The bad news,"

Chiles said, "is that someone is stealing your file cabinets.'

Automatic tax cut favored by Republicans on panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans on the Senate Finance Committee are plugging for a system of automatic tax cuts to keep inflation from pushing wage earners into ever-higher income tax brack-

Sponsored chiefly by Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kansas, the "tax-indexing" plan would require yearly increases in personal exemption and standard deduction as well as cuts in individual tax rates pegged to the rate of inflation.

The indexing measure, scheduled for a committee vote today, represents an attemp't by the Republicans to bounce back after failing three times Tuesday to pass the Roth-Kemp proposal to cut individual income taxes by an average of 33 percent over the next three years.

Meanwhile, the Republicans began a coast-tocoast flying caravan today with party leaders such as former President Gerald Ford and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan talking tax reform and boosting GOP candidates.

They are carrying the message that a big change in taxes will require a big change in the composition of Congress.

Back in the Senate committee, Dole argued his case this way Tuesday in a statement:

'The average family of four earned $15,000 last year. The effective tax rate on that income is about 9 percent, or $1,400. Assuming the inflation rate is at 7 percent and the family keeps up by a cost-of-living increase, the family next year will earn

"The family, of course, has not increased its spending power of the previous year. However, the family is now confronted with an 11-percent effective tax rate and a new tax bill that is nearly $1,600."

Dole calls that $200 difference to his hypothetical family "an unlegislated tax hike that cheats the American worker." Under his proposal, it would be offset by a 7 percent increase in deductions allowed the family and by expanding the tax rate tables to allow a 7 percent increase in wages without going into a higher tax bracket.

Opponents say the Dole amendment, which would be for a two-year trial period beginning in 1980, would worsen inflation by raising the federal deficit, forcing the government to borrow more money and giving taxpayers little incentive for their own inflation fight

The committee, writing its own version of a $16.3 billion tax cut approved by the House, also is nearing a final decision on how the House bill should be changed to direct more of the tax cuts to low-and middle-income taxpayers.

In a major decision Tuesday, the panel voted new tax relief for business by increasing from 20 percent to 30 percent the asset-depreciation range.

The sponsor, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said this would stimulate plant modernization and increase productivity, resulting in more output per dollar spent and, thus, less inflation. It would cost $513 million next year.

Former majority whip to testify on Korean influence-buying scheme

WASHINGTON (AP) - The third of four congressmen accused of involvement in an alleged Korean influence-buying scheme got a chance to detail his defense with House colleagues today.

McFall is accused of violating House rules by receiving a $3,000 campaign contribution from Park in 1974 and failing to report it.

A third hearing involving Rep. Edward J. Patten, D-N.J., scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed to give Patten more time to prepare his defense. An aide to the congressman said Patten should be ready for the hearing in a week to 10 days.

Numbers of gray squirrels jumping

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - The Center for Short-Lived Phenomena here reports strong evidence of a population explosion among North American gray squirrels.

"There was a great acorn crop last fall," said center director Richard Golob, "and this year there was a mild spring and a summer without extremes of heat or dryness, which promotes the prolific breeding of squirrels." A dramatic increase in the squirrel population in 1968 was blamed for the deaths of millions of the animals from Georgia to New York. The rodents drowned crossing streams and were crushed darting across roads in an apparent attempt to find less populated areas.

Did Aristotle trick Jacqueline?

NEW YORK (AP) — A new book says that Aristotle Onassis tricked his wife, Jacqueline, into signing an "amendment" to their marriage contract that gave her just 2 percent of the $250 million she had expected.

This version of the inheritance wrangle between the former American first lady and the late Greek shipper is detailed in a copyright excerpt from the forthcoming book "Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis" by Stephen Birmingham. The excerpt appears in the October Issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine.

The excerpt says that because Greek law in 1974 provided that a widow automatically received at least one quarter of her husband's estate, "upon Onassis' death Jackie confidently expected to receive an inheritance of at least $125 million -

In the beginning, "Onassis had literally showered her with money and expensive gifts," the book says. "It has been claimed that he spent up to $20 million in that first year alone most of it on things for Jackie."

After the bill passed, Onassis asked his wife to sign what he termed an "amendment" to their original marriage contract. The amendment provided her with $200,000 a year following his death, plus $25,000 a year for each of her children until age 21.

Because Mrs. Onassis and her lawyers were unaware of the new law, Birmingham says, she signed the amendment, believing the money was in addition to that stipulated in the original marriage contract.

"What she was actually accepting was a tiny share - less than 2 percent - of what might have been her inheritance," Birmingham said.

The terms of the 1968 pre-marital contract were never made public. But the book said the pact contained 173 clauses which stipulated, among her things, that if the couple still married when Ari died, Jackie

Here's tire that really stops door

By AL CARRELL

People who operate farms and ranches are among the most inventive of all handypersons. I recently visited a working farm friend and picked up an idea that will also help us city slickers. Many of us have garage doors that swing out or fence gates that are banging up against some surface because there's no doorstop to prevent a collision. My friend down on the farm had made a gate stop by slicing off about a 4-inch section of an old tire and attaching it to the concrete. The giant-sized stop ispositioned so the gate will swing open enough for entry, but stops it from hitting the fence. It's a sturdy stop and a way to recycle more of that old

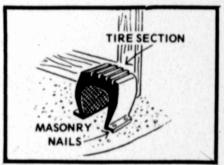

Your idea of removing oil stains from the garage floor certainly works. (Cover the spot with auto engine degreaser. Cover this with an absorbent like dry Portland cement, cornmeal, cat litter, etc. Leave overnight. Sweep away absorbent and drips.) However, I like my idea for removing any slight stains that are left. Here's the secret formula. One cup powdered detergent, one cup laundry bleach, and one gallon of water. Wear gloves and use a scrub brush. Keep adding the solution until the stains are gone. Then hose it away and get your car fixed so the drips don't come back. - R.M. Be sure the detergent isn't one of those that is ammoniated, because ammonia and bleach create a gas that is super bad for your lungs.

Average family grocery bill may get big boost

By BRIAN B. KING AP Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The average four-person family's grocery bill could rise by as much as $3.40 a week next year if farm prices are stable, but smaller meat and dairy supplies could boost the increase to $6.15 a week, the Agriculture Department's chief economist said today.

That hike would be on top of the $6.21 increase foreseen for 1978 for the typical family whose weekly grocery bill was $62.10 last year. By the end of 1979 then, that family would be spending between $71.71 and $74.46 a week

Department economist Howard W. Hjort told a House subcommittee that steady farm prices would mean an increase of only 4 percent or 5 percent in retail food prices next year, but private forecasters are predicting a rise of 7 percent

Food prices this year are expected to average 10 percent above 1977 averages. Most of that oc-curred in the first five months of the year, Hjort told the economic stabilization subcommittee of the House Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs

For the balance of this year," he said, "they (food prices) are expected to hold about steady, barring unusual weather or other events." The increase was caused mainly by smaller beef supplies, with ranchers attempting to compensate for four years of losses by trimming herds, by weather damage to fruits and vegetables and by a congressional boost in minimum sugar prices, Hjort said.

An increase in farm prices of about 15 percent this year accounts for more than half the 1978 boost, he said.

The costs and profits of food industry middlemen are rising by about 7 percent or 8 percent and account for about 40 percent of the increase,

Hjort said prices for imported foods and beverages and for fish, expectzd to be 10 percent higher than 1977, account for the rest of the bite on consumers' wallets.

In 1979, Hjort said, the major question is whether pork and poultry pro-ducers will take up the slack in the meat supply by expanding at the same time that beef producers are cutting back

Use caution when renovating

By GEORGENE KALEINA Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) - Renovating old houses, a nationwide trend that's luring young and middleclass families back to the cities, may be hazardous to those involved because of the threat of lead poisoning, researchers here say.

The risk is especially great for children and pregnant women, according to the scientists.

Dr. J. Julian Chisolm Jr., who has studied lead poisoning in children for most of his career as a physician, says persons who take on the task of doing over a home should be extra cautious, particularly if the home is 60 years or older.

Even though the use of interior lead-based paint was outlawed decades ago, there are many homes here alone in which the toxic paint was used before the ban. A large percentage of the homes have not been de-leaded.

"People ought to be careful (when renovating a home)," Chisolm said. "They're not aware of the Health officials have determined that 90 percent of pediatric lead poisoning cases result from a child eating peeling, cracking or flaking paint or paint plaster in his home.

The ingestion of lead can cause vomiting, abdominal pain, anemia, nausea, constipation or listlessness in a child.

If the disease goes untreated, there may be central nervous system involvement which can result in blindness, paralysis, mental retardation and finally death, according to a 1971 Health, Education and Welfare Department report.

The report continued that children could also be left with learning problems, partial loss of sensory perception and other behavioral or emotional diffi-

DEAR ABBY: Jody, our 4-year-old son, shocked us recently by using some filthy words he picked up from some older boys in the neighborhood. (Nouns and verbs having to do with sex. I'm sure you know which ones I mean.) Naturally, we were appalled, and told him we never wanted to hear those words again. However, when Jody gets angry, or wants to get back at us for having punished him, he lets loose with a string of those filthy words! My husband says we should do to Jody what HIS parents did to him when he used dirty language—wash his mouth out with soap! I say we should simply ignore the boy. Which method do you recommend?-

APPALLED PARENTS DEAR PARENTS: Neither. Most youngsters pick up dirty words sooner or later, and when they realize that most adults are upset by such language, they use it as a weapon. Explain calmly that there are better words to say the same thing, and tell him what they are. (This is an ideal way to teach your child healthy attitudes about sex.)

And if Jody continues to use "filthy" language, don't react. When he finds that his little game is not working, he'll cut it out.
DEAR ABBY: My 43-year-old

the style was really old fashioned, so I took it to a furrier, who made a nice looking jacket out of it. (There was enough fur left over to make a hat and muff.)

The whole thing cost me $300 but I thought it was worth it. Well, I stopped at my aunt's house to show her what I'd done with her old fur coat, thinking she'd be pleased, and she started yelling at me, saying I had no right to cut up her coat-that she had only let me wear it for a while and never GAVE it to me!

Now she wants the jacket back. Is that fair? How about the $300 I spent on it? My mother says I should give her the jacket if she gives me $300. My father says I should keep it and give dressed, is taken aback by the attitude toward her. She is modest and unassuming: "I really like to work. And I have a feeling for buildings," she explained.

'They all are different. It takes about a year to really know a building. They do have quirks."

University officials respect her expertise and confidently leave management of the building in her

"There's heat, that's all I know," said Fred Bunte, president of the university.

If something goes wrong in the plumbing or other systems, she sends for someone and she shows them where the problem is. Then Franklin is billed for the service.

Sister Hilda's occupation is not what one would usually expect from a nun of the teaching order of the Sisters of Notre Dame but she perceives a special need for the job.

"I volunteered for it because it seemed important to me for the buildmaintained building and classrooms are good for learning."

For 10 years before coming to Columbus, she cared for a much larger school building owned by her order in Cincinnati, where she had a hand in construction work. "We converted a 90-year-old convent into a school, lowering ceilings and taking down walls.'

Her day starts at 5:30 a.m. when, accompanied by an armed guard from the university, she leaves the convent to unlock the school next door heat up to daytime temperature.

She tests the water for minerals to determine whether the chloride is too low or if sulfite is too high. She cleans classrooms when they are not in use. On weekends when the building is empty she has help from a university student with such chores as cleaning the gymnasium floors.

She couldn't be happier with the arrangement - doing work she believes in, staying on in the convent community that has become a famil-

Associated Press Writer MOSCOW(AP) - Onany particular day of the week, at any particular time of day, it is possible to look at a schedule and know what almost every 4-year-old child in the Soviet Union is doing.

If it's summer time, from 9:40 to 11:35 in the morning the child is playing outdoors under trained "upbringer." By 12:35 the child has eaten and laid down for a nap on a bed four feet long by

The Soviet program, initiated in the 1920s, is one model that is being studied by U.S. educators faced with a changing American society in which more mothers are taking jobs and looking for child care.

Christians still fighting in Syria

By ALEX EFTY

EAST BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -The young bushy bearded Maronite Christian militia commander unhitched his artificial leg and rested it against the wall.

'I did not have to come back here to fight again after losing my leg, but this land is very precious to us and we are ready to die defending it," he said. His leg has been amputated just above the knee.

He was speaking in the middle of the night, seated in the basement shelter of his headquarters in the Ein Rummaneh quarter, in the Christian, eastern sector, of the Lebanese capi-

Outside, Syrian rockets and mortars thudded into the multistoried apartment buildings of the low-income neighborhood.

The darkened rubble-strewn streets echoed with the sound of the explosions and the rattle of heavy machine-gun and small-arms fire as the Christian militias and the Syrian troops of the Arab League peace force in Lebanon locked in their almost nightly engagements of the past two

The one-legged commander in charge of the Christian militias in Ein Rummaneh, code-named "Kojak" by his men, said he lost his leg two years ago, during the Lebanese civil war between right-wing Christians and an alliance of leftist Moslems and Palestinian guerrillas.

He charged that the Syrians, who had come to Lebanon to end the civil war, were now trying to dominate the country and crush the Christians who resist them.

The Syrians claim the Christians are provoking the clashes at the instigation of Israel, which keeps them supplied with weapons, as part of an effort to partition Lebanon into Christian and Moslem states. "We feel the Syrians are out to massacre all the Christians," complained Georgette Girgeos, one of about 30 civilians sheltered in another basement near Kojak's headquar-

"We were born here and prefer to die here rather than become refugees," said Mrs. Wadiah Sarrouf, a middle-aged housewife and mother of five. " Besides, two of my sons are fighting the Syrians in the streets outside and I prefer to stay here and help them."

But those determined to stay are estimated to be less than a third of the Christian sector's normal population of about half a million. The rest have fled to safe areas in the mountainous Christian controlled 386-square-mile enclave behind Beirut.

Christian leaders believe they can hold out indefinitely against Syrian pressure so long as they retain control of the port of Jounieh, about 10 miles north of Beirut, to receive their sup-

Ein Rummaneh and the other Christian neighborhoods bordering the Moslem western sector of the capital had already suffered extensive damage as a result of the civil war that ended in November 1976.

But hundreds of additional apartments and shops have been blown to pieces or set on fire, frequently in areas untouched by the civil war troubles, as a result of the heavy Syrian onslaught. Christian spokesmen claim at times the Syrians pour as many as 2,000 rockets into the Christian sector in a night - a rate of more than three a minute. The Syrians unleash their rocket barrages only at night. As a result there is a semblance of normality in East Beirut in the daytime, although most of the shops and places of work are closed.

Even before the sun sets, however, the streets become deserted. People stay at home, fearing they may fall victim to a sniper's bullet if they venture out.

Some stay in their apartments until the last moment, rushing down into the basements shelters only when Syrian shells start falling. The roomy basements, normally used as underground garages, have been transformed into communal dormitories, with lines of mattresses on the concrete floors. Almost all the Christian fighters are in their late teens and early 20s, with a few females among them, some only 13 or 14, who have been

Dressed in green military uniforms and helmets, a string of grenades suspended from their belts and a dagger hanging handle down from their shoulders, they take turns on the frontline through the night.

Almost all wear large crucifixes and as many as four other talismen hanging round their necks, with small printed icons of Jesus Christ and the Virgin Mary stuck to their helmets, the butts of their rifles and their ammunition pouches.

Though his militias are armed only with light weapons and a few mortars and rocket launchers they are far better street fighters than the Syrian troops, as a result of their civil war experience, Kojak claimed.

'We would probably prove no match for the Syrians, if they decided to launch an all-out tank and air supported attack against us. But even then, their casualties would run into tens of thousands. President Hafez Assad would never survive such a victory and maybe this is what stops him from trying such a move," Kojak

"The Syrians' policy appears to be an attempt to wear us down through their protracted indiscriminate shelling of Beirut's Christian sector. But our orders are clear, to resist to the last man and all of us are determined to die proudly, fighting, rather than to die in a Syrian prison after defeat," Kojak said

WASHINGTON-Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Sept. 7 through Sept. 13.

HOUSE

OIL POLICY Rejected, 194 for and 201 against, a motion to prohibit President Carter from imposing fees or quotas on imported oil. The vote was a victory for Carter's energy policy. He says the higher prices resulting from fees and quotas would discourage consumption of foreign oil. Spokesmen on the other side of the issue say such measures have the negative effect of holding back the price of domestic oil.

ROLL CALL REPORT

The motion would have forced House conferees on the Treasury appropriations bill (HR 12930) to agree to a Senate provision restricting the President's authority to regulate the price and availability of foreign oil.

Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, sponsor of the motion, said: "The imposition of a $5 import fee on crude oil would be nothing short of disastrous and it would have almost no effect on decreasing our import levels.'

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., an opponent, said that by passing the motion the House "shall be saying to the world that we simply do not care, that we are content to keep coasting along, fat, dumb and happy, until we spend ourselves poor on foreign oil and waste it and run out of it, and then we shall just depend on Divine Providence to protect us.'

Most members voting "yea" were opposed to presidentially-imposed fees and quotas on foreign oil imports.

Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1, James Collins, R-3, Ray Roberts, D-4, Bill Archer, R-7, Bob Eckhardt, D-8, W.R. Poage, D-11, Jack Hightower, D-13, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Richard White, D-16, Omar Burleson, D-17, Henry Gonzalez, D-20, Bob Gammage, D-22, and Abraham Kazen, D-23, voted "yea."

Reps. Charles Wilson, D-2, Jim Mattox, D-5, Jack Brooks, D-9, Jake Pickle, D-10, James Wright, D-12, Barbara Jordan, D-18, George Mahon, D-19, and Dale Milford, D-24, voted "nay."

Reps. Olin Teague, D-6, John Young, D-14, and Robert Krueger, D-21, did not vote.

VETERANS Rejected, 149 for and 222 against, an amendment making it easier for veterans of the Vietnam theater to land Civil Service jobs. The amendment was unpopular because it also denied pre-Vietnam veterans the preference that now gives them an edge over non-veterans in competing for federal jobs. The amendment was proposed to HR 11280, the Civil Service reform bill later passed and sent to conference with the Senate.

The existing veterans' preferance gives all veterans a five-point bonus on the Civil Service exam; disabled veterans get a 10-point bonus. The effect of this amendment, in part, was to deny the bonus points to individuals who entered the military before adoption of the Aug. 7, 1964, Gulf of Tonkin resolution. It also sought to limit the use of the veteran's preferance to one time per veteran.

After this vote, the House voted to keep the preference in its present form-which means a veteran of any era can continue to use it an unlimited number of times in seeking a U.S. Civil Service job.

Rep. Don Bonior, D-Wash., the sponsor, said the preference "was meant as a readjustment tool" but that even with it Vietnam "cannot compete with the more experienced older veteran who enjoys lifetime

Rep. Richard White, D-Tex., said he opposed any tinkering with the existing preference because that would break "a promise made to those who entered the armed services."

Members voting "yea" favored sweetening the veterans' preference for many Vietnam-era vets to the detrement of pre-Vietnam vets.

Wilson, Mattox, Poage, Hightower and Jordan voted "yea.

Hall, Collins, Roberts, Brooks, Pickle, Wright, Young, de la Garza, Archer, White, Burleson, Mahon, Gonzalez, Gammage, Kazen, and Milford voted "nay."

dent Carter's veto of the $37 billion defense procurement bill for fiscal 1979: Since it takes only one house of Congress to sustain a veto, there will be no Senate vote on the issue. Carter based his veto on the bill's inclusion of $2 billion for construction of a nuclear aircraft carrier which he said the nation does not need.

Rep. Robert Sikes, D-Fla., a supporter of overriding, said the veto "may be the final action in the gradual surrender of America's leadership of the free world...Killing the carrier may help to kill America's hope for a non-communist world in the future."

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., an opponent of overriding, said: "This is a day we should support the president, not take away the influence he should wield as president of the U.S. If war comes with the Soviet Union, the difference between 12 and 13 carriers won't matter."

SENATE FEDERAL JUDGES Passed, 43 for and 31 against, a bill (S 1423) establishing a procedure for examining charges that a federal judge is incompetent or guilty of gross misconduct. Federal judges have lifetime appointments and, since they can be unbenched only by impeachment, there is virtually no watchdog over their performance.

The bill, which was sent to the House, would create a many-layered mechanism for screening and processing citizen complaints against federal judges. Judges so scrutinized would be federal district court judges, circuit judges, Supreme Court Justices, and court of claims, customs and patent judges. If an allegation made it to the end of the complaint process, a Court on Judicial Conduct and Disability could dismiss it or recommend to the House of Representatives that the jurist be impeached or censured.

Senators voting "yea" favored the review procedure for federal judges. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted "yea." Sen. John Tower, R, did not vote.

Oil sanctions against Rhodesia last 13 years totally ineffective

By WILLIAM TUOHY The Los Angeles Times

LONDON - The British government's oil sanctions against Rhodesia for the past 13 years have been totally ineffective, according to a blue ribbon official report released Tuesday.

In fact, the amount of oil consumed in Rhodesia has doubled since the country's unilateral declaration of independence from Great Britain in Further, the report stated, from 1965 to 1967, subsidiary companies of British Petroleum and Shell actually shipped oil directly to Rhodesia apparently without the knowledge of the parent companies.

The discovery of this led the British government under Prime Minister Harold Wilson to tacitly approve a swap arrangement under which oil was provided to Rhodesia by a French company, whose stocks were in turn replenished by British Petrole-such a confrontation would risk "seriously damaging" the British economy, the report said.

In 1970, the Conservatives replaced the Labor government and they apparently went along with the swap agreement under which Rhodesia got its oil through Mozambique, then a Portuguese colony.

During much of this period, the British navy spent an estimated $200 million maintaining a blockade outside the Mozambique port of Beira.

This blockade was practically useless - since the oil was coming in at the capital, the Port of Lourenco

The report was commissioned by Foreign Secretary David Owen 18 months ago when he appointed a prominent lawyer. Thomas Bigham to investigate the charges that the oil companies were breaking the embargo. The Bigham report is expected to cause reverberations in Britain's political world.

While senior government officials had knowledge of the ineffectiveness of the oil embargo and of the swap arrangement, neither Parliament nor the British public was informed.

And now, politicians of both the Labor and Conservative parties have begun arguing as to who knew that the embargo was being broken.

Sir Harold Wilson, the former prime minister, denied knowledge of Yet his former colleague, Commonwealth Secretary George Thomson (now Lord Thomson) said that he had conveyed in writing to Wilson and other ministers a full account of the swapping arrangement in 1968.

He also told the Bigham report investigators: "We (the government) came increasingly to the conclusion that we couldn't bring the Rhodesian government to an end by sanctions, unless we were prepared to apply them to South Africa. We were under no circumstances willing to do that. and therefore the more we went into the repeated problem of the allegations about oil from British companies reaching Rhodesia, the more we came to the conclusion that the best we could make of a bad job in this respect was to be in a position to say at least there was no oil from British oil companies reaching Rhodesia."

Lignite strip key to fight

ROCKDALE, Texas (AP) - A rich strip of lignite running from San Antonio to Texarkana is the key in Texas' fight to cope with mounting energy needs, Railroad Commissioner John Poerner said Tuesday.

Poerner also told a Rockdale civic club luncheron that Texas was lucky because the major lignite deposits are found in areas that are neither expe cially good for farming nor covere d by large rock formations.

"This band of lignite which rur as through Rockdale will bring mo re major industry and more jobs to the lat elongated region," he said.

Poerner said the development of Texas lignite mining increased from 15,000 tons per year in 1890 to 1.2 million tons annually in 1918 wher 1 use of oil and natural gas became the energy of the day. The reviv al of lignite output reached 16.9 m illion short tons in 1977.

"By 1984. Texas lignite prod luction is forecast to exceed 70,000; short tons," he said. Poerner pointed out that the Surface Mining Act of 1975, which is administered by the railro ad commission, requires that all m ined land be returned to a "substanti ally beneficial" condition.

Governors say victory will prove disastrous

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP)

— President Carter's energy (chief has been told by two Southern governors the administration's victor y on natural gas price deregulation will prove "disastrous."

Gov. Edwin W. Edwards of Louisiana complained to Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger Tuesday that the advise of experts from oil-pr oducing states has not been solicite d and ignored when offered.

"You're imposing intolerable re-strictions on us," Edwards told Schlesinger. Their confrontation cam le during the Southern Governors' C'onfer-

"If you expect us (oil-pro ducing states) to be your savior, why don't you listen to us?" Edwards sa id.

Schlesinger had just told the Dixie governors that Carter's energy bill will pump additional natural gas supplies into interstate commerce, reduce the U.S. dependence on foreign oil imports and improve the nation's ability to wield a firm hand ir i foreign policy matters.

Shortly after the energy s ecretary spoke. the U.S. Senate vo ted 59-39 against sending the multi-b illion dollar compromise energy bill back to a House Senate conference cc mmittee.

Anticipating that favorable vote, Schlesinger said recommital would have had the effect of killi ng the bill and "continuing the 30-y ear war" over natural gas price der egulation.

Another rig high reached

HOUSTON (AP) - An industry survey indicates domestic oil and gas drilling operations have moved to another 20-year high. A weekly survey compiled by the

Hughes Tool Co. indicates 2,349 rotary rigs were in use the week ending The new count is the highest since

2,356 active rigs were reported the week ending Dec. 22, 1958. The 2,349 total also marks the eighth time the industry has recorded a new 20-year high since early May. The previous high this year was 2,339 in the week ending Aug. 21.

tion turns out to be wrong. He promised to do his best to make the new energy legislation work, although he has little confidence that it will. Schlesinger insisted there are "incentives" in the bill to encourage production of more natural gas. If they do not work, he said he will push for remedial legislation in two years. "None of us from gas-producing areas are aware of any incentives in the bill," Gov. Edwards said. Even the authors are not proud of the energy legislation, he said.

"The best we can get is that it's the only bill in town," Edwards told Schlesinger. "That's a poor excuse for passing legislation.

Schlesinger conceded the bill is a compromise that does not totatlly satisfic either proporties or concentration.

isfy either proponents or opponents of price deregulation.

Schlesinger said the legislation "provides us with a way out" of a 30-year dilemma over natural gas pricing policies.

Oil companies accused

LONDON (AP) — A government investigator has accused Britain's two big oil companies, British Petro-leum and Shell, of violating the trade sanctions against Rhodesia for Lawyer Thomas Bingham also says the successive governments of La-borite Harold Wilson and Conservative Edward Heath condoned the companies' sctions, although this was due to ignorance of what was going on. But he says the governments could and should have learned what was going on. Extracts from Bingham's documented 600-page report were shown to The Associated Press in advance of publication by the Foreign Office later today. The findings in an 18-month probe seem certain to stir an international storm.

Bingham reports that Shell and BP, which is 51 percent state-owned, delivered more than 14 million barrels of oil and oil products, directly or indirectly through affiliates in South Africa or then-Portuguese Mozambi-que, to Rhodesia between 1966 and Smith's 1965 declaration of Rhodesian independence to block British plans for black-majority rule and the invoking of financial and economic sanctions by Wilson's Labor government. By 1967, the report continues, the British government began to suspect that oil from British companies was being diverted to Rhodesia through what Wilson later described as "dubious dealers." As a result, Shell and BP through a jointly owned subsidi-ary in Mozambique made a deal with Total, which is backed by the French government, about February 1968. Total took over the Shell-BP orders from Rhodesia, and Shell-BP deli-vered a matching quantity of oil to points designated by Total.

The two British companies advised the Wilson government of the swap. It accepted the arrangement, Bingham said, because South Africa had become a staging point for the swaps, and the British government had no wish to confront or offend South Africa, one of its .est trading partners.

Meanwhile, the Wilson government had led a successful campaign in the United Nations for global sanctions against Rhodesia, and a British frigate was patrolling the Mozambique Channel to stop oil from reaching the pipeline to Rhodesia at the port of

But nothing was done to stop tankers unloading at Lourenco Marques, Mozambique's capital, where the oil was shipped to Rhodesia by rail via South Africa or by road.

The swap deal between the British and French companies was replaced in the early 1970s with one involving South African intermediaries, Bingham reported. He said Rhodesia's consumption of oil was nearly 3 million barrels a year when it broke from Britain in 1965, and in the past few years it has been nearly double that.

The Pack dropped a 21-14 heart thumper to the El Paso Eastwood Troopers Friday in Memorial Stadium, and coach Dennie Hays seems to have his finger right on the situa-

"I'm not saying we should have won the game, but we could have won it,' Havs said in an effort to explain what happened. "I know one thing. It wasn't our night.'

In short, that is just about the short--and the long--of it all. It certainly seems that it wasn't the Bulldogs' night. Somehow, you just get the feeling that some strange powers never intended for the Pack to win this one. And if it is not strange powers at work, then don't drink the water in the Memorial Stadium field house because there is something in

HAYS' SQUAD has suffered through more injuries in the first two weeks of the season than most squads see in a year. And this is with a team that can't survive too many injuries. Depth is not a precious comodity on either side of town this season. Still, with the Bulldogs looking more like a hospital ward than a football team, Midland High was in the game until the very end, and had a chance to win it. Strange powers may be at hand, but the lack of desire is one ailment the Purple Pack is not Tokyo against Tascosa. You just don't loose a player of his ability and not feel the effects.

The Feldts are not the only injuries on the Bulldogs' roster by any means, but I think you get the picture. It's more than strange.

It was the two long TD runs that did Midland in, but the offense also had chances that came up empty just like those darned old Las Vegas slot machines. The Bulldogs got to the 25yard line in the second quarter before failing to convert a fourth down play, and a fumble stopped them at the 31-yard line in the same period.

WITH THE score tied at 14-14 in the second half, the Bulldogs failed to convert a 28-yard field goal attempt after moving to the 11-yard line, and Eastwood scored two plays later for the winning margin when Chuck Heist broke loose on a 75-yard romp right up

Still, the Bulldogs came back and got to the seven-yard line before another fumble stopped the game Pack. Fans present at the game were lucky, however. If the Pack had had time to mount another scoring drive, it would probably have been interrupted by falling light standards from both Hays knows that I'm a good one for giving advice, but this one has me perplexed. Dennie, the only thing I can suggest at this point is don't step on any man-hole covers and carry a cross with you at all times. And, for gosh sake, don't drink the water.

Caldwell blanks Yankees to tighten AL East race

By The Associated Press

People gave up on Mike Caldwell three years ago. People gave up on the Boston Red Sox three days ago. Both are alive and well, however, and they've revived the pennant race in the American League East.

Caldwell completed a four-year comeback from elbow surgery when he won his 20th game of the season Tuesday night, pitching a four-hit, 10-strikeout masterpiece as the Milwaukee Brewers stopped the New York Yankees 2-0.

And the Red Sox, who started play Sunday 3½ games behind the Yan-kees after losing 14 of 17 games, climbed within 11/2 games of their archrivals by beating the Detroit Tigers 8-6 behind Carl Yastrzemski's five runs batted in.

Brewers 2, Yankees 0

"It was just another typical ballgame against the Yankees this year," said Caldwell, a 29-year-old left-hander who pitched his third shutout of the season against the Yankees and sixth overall, a team record. His 20 wins and 22 complete games tied club

It's quite a turnaround for a pitcher who had a bone spur removed from his left elbow after posting a 14-5 record in 1974 and managing a combined 13-28 mark the last three

"I never gave up on myself," said Caldwell, 20-9, who joined New York's Ron Guidry as the major leagues' only 20-game winners. "If I quit on myself I wouldn't have been able to come back and do what I did this

"I never had any doubt that I could come back. It just took a little longer than maybe I realized."

Milwaukee nicked Dick Tidrow for run in the third inning on Robin Yount's double and Don Money's single. Yount hit his ninth homer in the fifth.

Red Sox 8, Tigers 6

Yastrzemski, who has been hampered by a sore hand, belted a threerun homer in the first inning for the Red Sox. Detroit bounced right back on Jason Thompson's grand slam homer in the bottom of the first, but Yastrzemski's two-run double highlighted a four-run uprising in the fourth inning that put Boston back on

'Guys like Yaz, they're the real stars," praised Detroit Manager Ralph Houk. "That's what makes this game what it is. The Kalines are the same way, the Mantles, all those guys you see in the Hall of Fame - that's how they did it.'

As for Boston's chances of catching New York — the Red Sox have 11 games remaining, the Yankees 12 -Yastrzemski said, "We can only afford to lost one game the rest of the way." And Boston first baseman George Scott added, "When you're 11/2 behind and you don't play that team again, that's a lot to make up.'

Indians 2, Orioles 1

Jim Palmer, gunning for his 20th victory and nursing a 1-0 lead, had to leave the game because of pain in his pitching elbow in the eighth inning after giving up a double to Jim Norris. Reliever Don Stanhouse surrendered RBI singles to Buddy Bell and Wayne Cage.

Palmer refused to be interviewed after the game, but Orioles Manager Earl Weaver said, "At this point it looks like 20 wins are out the window. If he cannot complete a game when he has a 1-0 lead in the eighth, I don't see how he can pitch again this year."

Angels 4, Twins 1 Bobby Grich singled home Joe Rudi with the go-ahead run in the seventh inning and Joe Rudi and Brian Downing belted ninth-inning homers for California. Nolan Ryan pitched a sixhitter and struck out 10 in raising his record to 8-13, the 117th time in his career he has fanned 10 or more.

After Rudi led off the ninth with his homer, Minnesota pitcher Roger Erickson's first pitch to the next batter, Ron Jackson, came in tight on the fists. Jackson charged at Erickson and they wrestled each other to the ground before being separated by teammates and coaches. Jackson was ejected and Erickson left for a reliev-

Erickson pleaded innocent. "I didn't know where the pitch was going. I was mad at myself. I had made mistakes to Rudi all night."

Royals 9, Mariners 8 Kansas City remained 5½ games ahead of California in the AL West as Paul Splittorff won his 18th game of the season. Fred Patek drove in three runs, two of them on his second home run of the season. White Sox 8-7, A's 4-3

Ron Blomberg's first career grand slam and Wayne Nordhagen's tworun homer powered Chicago over Oakland in the first game, while rookie Steve Trout handcuffed the A's on four hits in the nightcap.

Pirates move in on Phils

By The Associated Press

The National League season is dwindling down to its last precious few days - and the Philadelphia Phillies' lead in the NL East Division has dwindled down to one precious and precarious - game over the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates.

The stumbling Phillies suffered their fifth setback in nine games Tuesday night, bowing to the Montreal Expos 5-2, while the Pirates outs-lugged the Chicago Cubs 12-11 in 11 innings for their seventh straight victory and 30th in 38 games.

With 12 games remaining, including four against each other at Pittsburgh in the final three days of the season, the Phillies have an 82-69 record and the Pirates are 81-69.

"In football and basketball, the clock can run out on you, but in baseball, that time clock isn't there,' said Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner after the Pirates had frittered away a 10-2 lead after six innings

"You have to get three outs in the ninth inning to end the game," added Tanner. "Otherwise, it can go on all

He slugged his second homer of the game and 29th of the season in the 11th inning off Chicago's ace reliever, Bruce Sutter. Parker, the National League's leading batter with a .327 average, also had two singles and drove in four runs, boosting his league leading total to 111 RBI.

Bill Robinson also smacked two homers for the Pirates and Phil Garner hit a two-run homer. Bill Buckner and Dave Kingman homered for the Cubs in Chicago's friendly Wrigley

Montreal, playing the role of spoil-er, beat Philadelphia for the eighth time in 13 meetings this year.

The Expos overcame a 2-1 deficit with three runs in the seventh inning. Gary Carter singled in the first run of the inning, Larry Parrish doubled home the second and Chris Speier capped the rally with a sacrifice fly.

Dave Cash accounted for the other Montreal runs, driving in one with a single and scoring the other after another single.

Braves 3, Astros 2

James Rodney Richard, Houston's towering fireballer, broke Tom Seaver's National League single-season record of 289 strikeouts for a right-hander by fanning Bob Horner in the seventh inning for his 11th strikeout of the game.

"I decided if I got two strikes on him, I was going for it," said Richard, who had pitched no-hit ball for six innings but was forced to leave the game in the eighth when his forearm

"When you pitch against the Reds, the adrenalin flows a little more," said Rhoden after blanking Cincinnati for the second time this year. Steve Garvey, playing in his 500th straight game, doubled home the Dodgers' first run, while Lee Lacy had two doubles, a single and drove in Jerry Turner's three-run homer backed the eight-hit pitching of Bob Owchinko and Rollie Fingers as San Diego handed the Giants their 12th loss in 14 games. Fingers earned his 35th save of the season, tops in the major leagues.

It is the intent of the National Football League to be, perhaps more than anything else, progressive - which doesn't explain the return this year of a couple of concepts which vanished along with raccoon coats, hip flasks and the Varsity Drag.

They are the Statue of Liberty play and the Wing-T offense, two ideas which, for more than a couple of decades, sat moldering on the shelf, fun to think about now and then but certainly not worth playing with.

Nevertheless, they are being used with varying degrees of success by Seattle and Kansas City.

Jack Patera, calling the shots with a Seahawk offense once dedicated to the proposition that any play in which the ball does not become airborne is illegal, is giving defensive lineman whiplash by sending David Sims past them at the most unlikely moments.

And Marv Levy, who didn't let his Phi Beta Kappa key get in the way when he ran the football at Coe College about 30 years ago, is trying in his first year as head coach at Kansas City to turn Tony Reed and the rest of the Chiefs into the Ohio State of the NFL - 3 yards and a cloud of

In other words, while the NFL goes about the business in the off-season of trying to open up the offense with more passing, Patera and Levy fly (or, more accurately, run) in the face of progress by selectively ignoring changes in the rules designed to promote the art of the air ball. "There's really nothing new in football," says Patera. "Almost anything you can do has been done before. Oh, they can change the rules around but it doesn't really change anything.

"I'm not a great advocate of rules changes," he adds. "They can put too much of a burden on the officials. You end up with too many things being called, sometimes the wrong things

This year, for example, has brought into prominence the esoteric phrase "illegal chuck." It sounds like a refer-

"Besides," Patera points out, "just when you think you've discovered something new, someone comes along and says, 'Oh, yeah, we used to do that back in '48,' or something like

The Statue of Liberty play is a sort of delayed draw, in which the quarterback drops back, suckering the defense into thinking he's going to pass, then hands off to a back. Last Sunday the over-eager New York Jets repeatedly stormed after quarterback Jim Zorn, only to find Sims bulling his way past them, en route to 121 yards and three touchdowns.

The Wing-T is, in effect, an admission that a team's passing game could do with some improvement. It adds a running back at the expense of a receiver - although these days running backs are often among the league's leading receivers. Levy also acknowledges that, in Kansas City's case, it is a means of keeping a questionable defense off the field that much longer by running the clock down with grinding, 14-play drives.

And it is, Levy stresses, a commitment to conservatism, to getting away from fancy, high-powered and sometimes disastrous offenses.

"The way things have been going, the defenses have become offenses, making big plays, scoring a lot of points, because teams trying for big offensive plays sometimes find themselves in deep holes, long passing situations," Levy says.

"We want more normal yardage situations; first and 10, second and six - although I'd prefer better than that third and two. That way you control the ball, you don't make the big mistakes, you don't let someone else's defense become an offense against NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - A group of more about three dozen Tennessee State University football players boycotted practice Tuesday night because they felt they haven't been given enough time to study, one of the players says.

Senior Guard Jimmy Carter said the action came after Coach John Merritt and his assistant, Joe Gilliam, met with the players prior to last night's session. When the talk ended, Carter said a group of offensive players remained in their dorm while other players left for practice.

"I leave my room at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for practice and I get back at 10 o'clock at night. I get an hour to eat dinner. Lights are off at 11 o'clock. That means I have to take all my classes between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. When am I going to study? When will I ever graduate?" Carter told a newsman.

"All we want to do is kill one of the practice sessions so we can have time to study," Carter said. "Two-and-a-half or three hours ought to be enough practice for any football team. Oklahoma wins with one practice. Notre Dame wins with one practice. We practice more in one day than Vanderbilt does in a DALLAS (AP) — Tony Dorsett's worst day in professional football on average per rush doesn't disturb Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

"It (bad days) happens to all great runners," said Landry Tuesday when asked about Dorsett's two yard average on 19 carries in a 27-14 National Football League loss to the Los Angeles Rams.

"Tony is a unique runner," said Landry of 1977's NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year. "He moves with flashes

"If he has a hole he gets through it in a hurry. He will explode."

Landry added "Any back will have a game like Sunday against an excellent defense like the Rams. His hole will sometimes shutoff then he has to rely on his natural instincts. The Rams were pursuing well and he just didn't have much of a place to go.

Dorsett, who has rushed for an average of 5.1 yards on 58 carries in three games, said "I felt like a magnet out there against Los Angeles. Every time I got the ball it was like everyone of their players were there.'

Landry concluded "When you are hustling like the Rams were a lot of good things happen.

To shore up Dallas' shaky pass defense, Landry Tuesday moved Mark Washington to the starting left cornerback spot to replace Benny Barnes was covering Ram wide receiver Ron Jessie, who caught seven passes in Los Angeles' 27-14 National Football League victory.

"Benny is a fine player but his foot just hasn't responded from an off-season operation," said Landry. "It really bothered him on the natural turf particularly when he tried to stop and cut.

"With rest, we hope the foot responds. Benny would not blame his performance on it (the injury). But the foot is still sore. Our doctors said it should be getting better but they have no real solution for the problem. It just hasn't healed."

Landry added "You could see Benny favoring the foot in the films. They would run a deep streak route on him then come back. He just couldn't

"He will still play on our specialty teams where there's nobody better in football. He can run straight away without a problem.

Landry admitted the Cowboy defense looked bad against Los An-

"We just don't have too many players playing at the pitch we had in the playoffs last year when we were the finest defense in professional football," said Landry.

Cougars must elminate mistakes

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Coach Bill Yeoman says the Cougars will have to eliminate mistakes like six fumbles and 113 yards in penalties if they are to play a good game against improved Utah this week.

Utah just killed Idaho State (56-0) in their opener and they had an open date last week so they'll be raring to go," said Yeoman, whose Cougars opened their season with a 17-3 loss to Memphis State last week.

"They also have a great little quarterback in Randy Gomez," Yeoman added. "If he was 6-2, he'd be All-American, but if he was 6-2, he'd be at Southern Cal."

As for last week's upset, Yeoman said the Cougars played exactly like a team needs to play if it wants to

"First there were six fumbles and what that didn't get done, we had 113 yards in penalties that fit right in with our scheme," he said. Yeoman said he saw progress in his young offensive line against Memphis

"I was encouraged by the play of our bunch of kids in the offensive line," Yeoman said. "They are young and just haven't been to the trough enough. You throw something new at them and they're confused. But they've got the physical ability to get the job done."

Fans turn on Tarkenton

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - Is Minnesota's love affair with the Vikings and Fran Tarkenton at an end?

The boos and jeers directed toward the team and the record-setting quarterback Sunday at Metropolitan Stadium during the team's 16-10 loss to lowly Tampa Bay might indicate a positive response to that question.

Tarkenton completed 23 of 31 passes against the Bucs, most of them short tosses, but completions all the same and nearly identical to the ones he has been throwing in Minnesota since 1972 when he returned from a five-year hiatus with the New York Giants.

Still, when Tarkenton was being rudely treated by Lee Roy Selmon and Co. and could not get the Vikings into the end zone in the fourth quarter, the fans asked for his hide.

"People pay to get into the ball-park; they're entitled to boo," was Tarkenton's general response. "I didn't throw everything right, but I felt good and I think I played okay. "I've been playing this game for 18 years and I haven't figured out a way yet to get into the end zone when you're on your rear end," said Tarkenton, who was sacked four times. The reaction by the crowd was a disgrace - an insult to Tarkenton, and proof that the Minnesota sports fan is as capable as any of quickly forgetting the heroic deeds of a man they once cheered wildly. 'Fans are no different here than any place else, no matter what you hear," said running back Chuck Foreman. "He's the same old Francis. That doesn't make him a perfect person. You lose when you let the guy

"Nobody is sacred in a football game," Tarkenton said. "I have no trouble with being replaced by Tommy Kramer. You look around for something different, another face, anything to get you going. "We weren't going anywhere. If we would've put the defense in for the offense and it would've helped, I would have been for it." Another reporter suggested that Tarkenton might not even finish the year with the Vikings.

Game film vindicates Miller

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Slow-motion, frame-by-frame examination of Sunday's game film may have vindicated Minnesota's Kevin Miller, but it didn't change the outcome of the Vikings' 16-10 National Football League upset loss to Tampa Bay.

Miller, who was charged with muffing a punt return which the Bucs eventually recovered and turned into the game-winning touchdown, says game films show he did not touch the

Rams turn minds to Earl Campbell

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) -What happened against Dallas means nothing in Houston, so Los Angeles Coach Ray Malavasi says as he prepares the Rams to face the Oilers and rookie star running back Earl Camp-

"We felt confident we could stop Tony Dorsett, but Campbell is a different type of back," Malavasi says. "He is bigger and stronger and can run over you.

Los Angeles stopped Dorsett with just 38 yards rushing in last Sunday's 27-14 upset victory over the Super Bowl champions and put the Rams' National Football League record at Malavasi said he was confident against Dallas because the Rams had seen the Cowboys several times before and had played against Dorsett. But he's studying films to learn about Houston and Campbell. That will determine if Los Angeles makes any defensive adjustments.

Dorsett, from Pittsburgh, and Campbell, from Texas, each won the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding collegiate football player -Dorsett in 1976 and Campbell last year. Each was the No. 1 draft pick in the NFL.

Yet while Dorsett relies on speed, Campbell is a power runner, making a difference to the defense.

Malavasi said, "We stopped Dorsett with overall defensive speed and overall pursuit.

Then he pointd out that at 224 pounds, Campbell presents a different problem than did Dorsett at 190.

"We have to forget the Cowboys," the coach added. "Houston is a team we don't know much about. Statistically, it looks tough both defensively and offensively. You can't box Campbell up. He has the strength and size to run over you.'

Malavasi said a goal is to shut down an opponent's running game. The team that scares me more than anything is the team that can run the hell out of the football," he said. Then they throw less with less chance to make errors.

By-stopping Dorsett, the Rams forced Dallas and quarterback Roger Staubach into throwing more and he was intercepted four times and sacked on three occasions.

The defensive coordinator under Chuck Knox, Malavasi was a candidate to succeed him when he left for Buffalo after last season. Then George Allen got the job but lasted only two preseason games, both losses, before being fired. The assistant, who once served as head coach at Denver, was elevated and the Rams have won all five games under his direction - two in the preseason.

Malavasi said star running back Lawrence McCutcheon still is questionable with a thigh muscle pull that has kept him out of regular season play. But defensive back Dave Elmendorf and linebacker Isiah Robertson, who were hurt in the Dallas game, have responded well to treatment and are expected to play Sun-

Promoters file suit on Ali

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Two white promoters of the Muhammad Ali-Leon Spinks fight have filed $10 million lawsuits against Ali, charging that he slandered them during a racial tirade at a news conference this

Meanwhile, Ali was criticized by Jewish leaders for "insulting remarks" about Jews and 'wholesale degradation of a religious minority' in his remarks at that same news conference.

The controversy erupted Monday when Ali summoned reporters to discuss*a lawsuit involving promoters of the Friday night bout in which he won the heavyweight title from Leon Spinks.

Promoters Jake Di-Maggio and City Councilman Philip Ciaccio, both white, had filed suit against black partners Don Hubbard and Sherman Copelin, charging funds were diverted from Louisiana Sports Inc., the company made. formed to promote the

The suit was filed Saturday and dropped Monday in an out-of-court settlement

At his news conference later Monday, Ali denounced racism in general and, without naming either DiMaggio or Ciaccio, implied that their lawsuit represented white jealousy.

"This is a white-man, black-man thing," Ali said, charging that whites were upset that blacks had successfully promoted the fight and that "niggers are counting $6 million.

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - Blue chip issues staged a modest upturn in the stock market today, pulling out of a weekong slide.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off nearly 45 points in the past week, recovered 4.07 to 865.64 by noontime today.

Gainers and losers were about evenly balanced in the broad tally of NEW York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Analysts said it was logical for the market to attract some buyers with prices of many leading ssues down sharply from their levels of a week ago. But they also noted continuing uncertainty over the outlook for the Camp David agreement spelling out plans for peace between Egypt and Israel. Both Saudi Arabia and Jordan took relatively cool positions toward the accord in their initial statements on it Tuesday. The dollar declined in Europe today, apparently in response to that develop-Gambling stocks, which have sold off in the last couple of days after a meteoric rise, continued to give ground. Caesars World dropped 2% to 43%; Del E. Webb was down 1/8 at 2734, and Resorts International class A stock fell 7½ to 144½ at the American Stock Exchange. The NYSE's composite index edged up .09 to 57.93. But the Amex market value index slipped .07 to 169 even. Volume on the Big Board came to 14.04 million shares by noontime, against 13.39 million at the same point Tuesday.

Crabber prefers peace of waters

CANTON, N.J. (AP) - He doesn't work at his job for the money

Richard Finlaw, 31, is one of about a dozen crabbers along the Salem County coast of the Delaware Bay. He prefers the water, the quiet peacefulness and the independence.

"I've tried everything, and this is what I like," he

"I rode a tractor-trailer, I rode a bulldozer. I worked in a factory. None of them suited me. Out here, I'm my own boss."

He lives in a county that hosts the largest organic chemical complex in the nation. And the county will soon host one of the largest nuclear power complexes in the world.

But Finlaw's job is guided by the cycles of the wildlife of the marshes and the bay.

In the July through October crabbing season, Finlaw sets out for the bay every morning and is busy for six or seven hours a day. He steers the boat to the floats that mark each of his 150 pots, grabbing the line to each pot with a gaff, reeling in each pot from its bed some 20 feet below on the bay floor.

He shakes out the wriggling, clattering, white-bellied crabs into a sorting trough, throwing away the old bait and packing the fresh. Then he throws the pot back overboard for the next day's catch. After a morning of crabbing, Finlaw heads for his

"I work about 40 to 50 hours a week on the farm in addition to this (crabbing)," Finlaw said. But he doesn't do it just for the money. "Out here," he said, "it's just nice and quiet. Ain't nobody running by, hollering and blowing horns." Finlaw learned crabbing as a boy because his family has a history of working the sea. "My father's father used to fish for shad and sturgeon. And his father, too, he was a bayman. He Finlaw says there's more to crabbing than meets

"A lot of people think all you got to do is put your pots down in the water and the crabs crawl right in," he said. "But to make a good dollar, you've got to study your pots every day. If you see four in the end of a row with nothing, you've got to move them.

"It looks easy, but you've got to do a lot of brainwork. You have to have a map of the bay in your head," he said. Finlaw said a crabber did very well if he could clear $100 a day.

"If I just make enough to keep my bills paid, pay for the kids, and have a little to eat, I'm well satisfied."

Penney warns of bikes

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The J.C. Penney Company Inc., in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, today re-warned bike riders that about 33,500 bicycles marked under the "J.C. Penney" brand name have a defective pedal crank that could break, possibly resulting in serious injury to

The bicycles with the possibly faulty cranks are deraillure-type, 24-, 26- and 27-inch, 10-speed, lightweight vehicles in light-tan and dark grey color, manufactured in 1977 and 1978 by the Huffy Corp.,

J.C. Penney marketed the bicycles in their retail and catalog stores in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. One bike sold under the Penney's name was associated with a laceration injury that occured when the Consumers can tell if they have one of the bicycles by looking for numbers 2131A2, 2141A2, 2180A1 or 2181A1 on the outside of the left, rear, metal axle plate where the wheel is attached. Also appearing with each number is a J.C. Penney catalog number. The light tan bike imprinted with catalog numbers 927-3525, 927-3533, 927-7070, 927-7088, 927-7096, 927-7104 or 927-7112. Dark grey bicycles bear cat-

U.S. spokesman answers critics of Savings Bonds

NEW YORK (AP) — Why should you buy U.S. Savings Bonds — or, in fact, save at all? In view of a government-induced inflation rate that exceeds the return on savings bonds — 6 percent if held for at least five years, less if sold before then the question was asked here recently.

Prompting it was the realization that 10 percent inflation for five years, for instance, would reduce today's $75 bond to pretax buying power of $61.16 rather than the $100 indicated by Uncle Sam.

That costly possibility didn't seem to fit the tone of Uncle Sam's recent promotional message that owning Savings Bonds was "no war of nerves" but "all peace of mind." While losing money and being taxed for it? While saving for retirement, as suggested by Uncle Sam, and then finding there aren't nearly enough funds? While Sam's deficits fuel further inflation? Uncle Sam was upset by the criticism. His spokes

Wrecking yards, 'cut shops' add to commercial car theft profits

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a five-part areas of concern include Houston and the Dallasseries on auto theft — the scope of the problem and its impact on the Permian Basin. Part Five will discuss what Midlanders and others can do to prevent car thefts.

By GUY SULLIVAN R-T Staff Writer

Where once the "joy rider" abandoned the stolen car at the curb and vanished, the steal-for-profit thief in Midland and elsewhere now parks in a "cut shop" and the motor vehicle vanishes.

It's called commercial auto theft and it's costing Americans and Texans billions of dollars in lost property each year.

'Cutting" has become a flourishing operation in the nation's multibillion per year vehicle theft business, according to officials with the National Automobile Theft Bureau

Authorities say this business is so profitable because of the increased cost of auto repairs, parts and labor, and the diminished ready availability of some replacement parts.

"Organized crime is involved in the stripping and selling of stolen auto parts," said Darrell Joy of the San Marcos-based Texas Crime Prevention Insti-

He said, "This has become more common in Texas in recent years. You take the average $6,000 vehicle. Once it's stolen, the value decreases some. But thieves strip and sell it part by part with the average seller making around $24,000 per vehicle.

He said there is some movement to regulate the private sale of auto parts by firms in big warehouse

"The law enforcement profession nationwide is pushing for federal regulations to monitor the sale of auto parts," he said.

In cutting and stripping operations, the major body parts of an automobile are sold to rebuilders or body repair shops because it is more profitable for an auto shop to replace a car door with one already assembled or a painted one, according to Texas

Wrecking yards and "cut shops" raided by law enforcement agencies in 1977 contained vehicles ranging from automobiles to new commercial semitractors valued at close to $100,000 each.

In 1977, the National Automobile Theft Bureau participated with lawmen nationwide in investigating 288 auto theft ring cases. The results involved a total of 3,817 vehicles, worth an estimated $18,577,-000, which were recovered, according to officials.

One investigation of a St. Louis, Mo.-Beaumont, Texas, ring resulted in the recovery of 69 late model

'There is evidence that organized crime is increasing its infiltration of the commercialized auto theft business," said C.C. Benson, manager of the National Automobile Theft Bureau's Southwestern Division in Dallas.

'I think this is true all over, especially in Texas. Theft rings represent a substantial portion of auto thefts, but not the majority. I'm saying that commercial organized auto theft is a substantial problem," Benson declared.

He represents a non-profit service supported by more than 500 insurance firms. Investigators with his outfit work closely with lawmen to control and eliminate auto thefts. Theirs, Benson admitted, is a constant uphill battle.

Of the estimated 50,000 vehicle thefts reported in Texas in 1977, he said each vehicle was worth an average of $2,500.

'That's $150 million annual gross value of stolen cars in a year's time in 1977. That's an estimate, but with recovery of 75 percent of these annually, you still wind up with a net loss of $50 million worth of property for last year," Benson said. Seaman said vehicle thefts have shot up by 9 percent this year over last year in Texas "mainly because of theft rings and the stealing of late model vehicles and stripping them for their parts." He said over a period of several years, law enforcement has become increasingly aware of the commercial auto theft problem.

Commercial vehicle thieves have two main forms of operation: steal a vehicle and resell it, or steal it for disassembly

Seaman said disassembly is a proven factor. He cited as support of that contention the continued decline in stolen vehicle recoveries. 'This deterioration has been evident for the last five years, and the ratio of late model vehicles in the unrecovered category is substantial," he said. He said inspection of auto salvage yards and informant information indicate an abundance of front-end assemblies and tail sections are on hand, and are moving in and out of salvage yards daily. "Pickup trucks deserve special note because cabs are in demand as are the front-end assemblies," he

Through contacts with automobile salvage pool operaors, salvage buyers, body shops and wreck rebuilders, the DPS has consistently verified that:

Large quantities of front-end assemblies and tail sections are being transported between metropolitan areas and via transcontinental shipments.

Voice and teletype communications circuits used by groups of salvage dealers serve to advertise the need for certain parts. The order is then apparently filled through selective theft and disassembly, often even allowing for desired color and interior

- The "legitimate" dealer is being sold out and undersold due to the availability of stolen parts and because the price of the stolen merchandise undercuts the market for similar parts from wrecked

- Large trailers (built to carry four levels), lesser vehicles operating behind pickup trucks and rental equipment are transporting this type of merchandise from the east to the midwest and the southwest. Similar components also are being shipped from Texas to California.

DPS investigators said in addition to information received from the larger brokers and suppliers, they receive daily individual tips on the detection of single replacement vehicle identification numbers. sales by suspected violators.

Also, investigators said concerted efforts to search suspected salvage yards often yield evidence of cut up and presumably stolen vehicles.

Tramp printer settles down

BISMARCK, N.D.(AP) — For 16 years Jim Fields has tramped across America, earning his way in print shops and backrooms of more than 40 newspapers. Now, the 35-year-old Fields and his wife want to find a place to settle down.

So Fields quit his job as a night markup man for the Bismarck Tribune. He and his wife, Alice, secured their belongings, stowed the six-foot rubber raft atop their four-wheel drive pickup, hooked up their 26-foot trailer and headed for the Pacific Northwest.

"I simply want to find a job in an area that I think is beautiful and live out my life like anyone else," Fields says. "At one time I either liked a town or a newspaper, but I never found a place where I liked both. Now, I'm willing to concede the fact that no place is perfect. Now, I'm not as picky as I used to Fields, who says he's still learning his craft, got into the printing business when he was 19, fresh from two years in the Navy. He landed a job in the art department with Price Bros. Lithographers in Bridgeton, N.J., doing color work and making labels for tin cans.

Soon he took a job with the Van Nuys Publishing Co., a large classified advertiser in California, and became a member of the International Typographi-

"Once I got into the Typographical Union, I got a traveling card. It introduces me to the next local union that I go to," he says.

Since Fields got his card, he has criss-crossed

America, working for newspapers and print shops from New York to Los Angeles, with stops in Chicago, San Francisco, Denver, Miami, Philadelphia and points between. 'Normally I average about four months per job, with the shortest period being one day and the longest one year," Fields says. Travels also took Fields, who reads and speaks fluent Spanish, to Bolivia, where he worked for six months on a newspaper there. "I don't have to make an application for a job. All I have to do is drop my traveling card with the local union and pick up my working card and go to work," During his travels, Fields never has known lean times. "I've always been able to get a job when I've needed one," says Fields, who has experience in typesetting, ad makeup, newspaper page makeup, proofreading, and markup. Fields looks at his travels as an educational process.

"The more I see of other people, the more I understand about myself. I've got a collge education through my worldly experience," says the junior high school dropout.

"A great majority of printers respect tramp printers because they've been in a great number of shops and have done a good number of different things," he

Seaman cited several reasons for the continued "growth" of the disassembly problem.

The price of new replacement sheet metal parts has increased greatly, and the hourly shop labor price in auto rebuilding garages has reached $12 to $15 per hour or more," he explained.

He also said in order to move rapidly, minimize labor and improve on quality of reconstruction, rebuilders now place high priority on repairing front-end collision damage with a complete front-end assembly Also, he said, rear-end collision damage sometimes is repaired by replacing the entire body from the firewall back.

In the latter case, he said, rebuilders simply cut only across the floor in front of the seat and at the two windshield pillar posts.

Seaman said the value of the sections to be used in such operations, especially in popular luxury car cases, is from $500 to $1,500 per unit depending on the make and model He said rapid increases in costs of new and used vehicles in recent years have made rebuilding 'more feasible" and are reflected in the much increased value of salvage. Seaman said another major problem is that once major components of sheet metal are removed from a stolen vehicle "they become just that, 'parts' which usually are not identifiable and can be sold without title or even a bill of sale in most jurisdic-

He emphasized three important facts about the commercial auto theft problem: First, he said, informants indicate a street thief may receive from $200 to $400 "just to steal and deliver a vehicle. Second, Seaman said, those who do the cutting and sell the first time to brokers and peddlers "will get about 50 percent of what the final consumer will

Third, only a few salvage buyers can be approached or even depended upon as informants.

"Many complain, however, about being driven out of business by illegal operators," said Seaman. 'Most will not cooperate to set up a 'buy,' pleading fear of retaliation or a desire to not get involved, said the DPS commander. Solutions to this problem which Seaman proposed include the following:

- Titles: Certificates of title, format and configuration, alter-proof paper, clearance with a state of origin before new title issued in second state (either surrender the title or clear by fast communication), and tighten control of certified copies of original titles. - Registration: Require vehicle operator to possess registration receipt.

Salvage title: Require all states to start the issuance of a salvage certificate in lieu of original title for vehicles sold as salvage. Adequate inspection and certification of all formery "salvage vehi-cles" before issuance of a "restored" title should be required.

- Out of state inspection: Physical inspection of every used vehicle before titling one state to an-

Licensing of dealers in the new, used and salvage businesses. - Enforcement of uniform record keeping systems to adequately identify all purchases and sales

Vehicle identification number replacement: Required, he said, is a need for uniformity in the state administration of issuance of attachmen

New York police re-ported a drop of 6.2 per-cent for robbery, 1.3 percent for aggravated assault, 8.3 percent for burglary, 10.6 percent for larceny and 13.6 percent for car thefts. However, the rates for murder and forcible rape increased, by 1.6 percent and 3.6 percent respec-

Globetrotters should try togas

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

ROME (AP) - One reason the ancient Romans favored togas, which Marcus Tullius Cicero failed to mention, was to frustrate the Eternal City's infernal pickpockets.

Down the ages, long before Vittorio De Sica made "The Bicycle Thief" a national hero, Rome's purse snatchers have had a better record plundering the citizenry and occasional tourists than Alaric the Visigoth or Attila the Hun.

Last month's death and election of a pope, as the media can attest with pained accuracy, was particularly profitable for the light-fingered legionnaires. With so many celebrities in town so preoccupied with solemn, mostly outdoor events, they rarely had better pickings. A crowd of a quarter million packed tight into St.

AUSTIN - The Department of Highways and Public Transportation is to take bids Oct. 17 on an estimated $253,663.65 worth of base, paving, drainage structures and related work in Big Spring.

The projects include work on US 87, from 4th Street to 3rd Street; 11th Place, from Abrams Street to 10th Street; and 10th Street, from 11th Place to Gregg Street, a combined distance of 0.46 mile.

Time for completion is 120 working days. Project engineer is Joe Smoot, Big Spring.

Peter's Square, all staring up at a slender smokestack or gazing in fervor at a faroff balcony, is a scene bound to incite the greed of a dedicat-

Seldom have so many been ripped off so easily under such sublime circumstances right under the eye of the carabinieri. The world press can attest to these doings so accurately and in such depth because so many reporters were themselves the victims, further proof of McLuhan's law that the medium is the message.

Consider the case — as the Roman police still are without success — of ABC-TV's Lou Cioffi, seasoned globe trotter and war correspondent whose aquiline features have graced the tube from Korea, Vietnam, Cambodia, Angola and wherever danger and a story lurk.

Lou was striding determinedly down the Via Veneto, bush jacket draped casually across his shoulders in the approved Italian film director's style. It was his favorite bush jacket, hand crafted in Saigon by Minh the Tailor, couturier to the world of jour-

Up that fashionable boulevard roared a minimotorbike. The easy rider in the saddle, known in Ialy as a "scippatore" (literally a strap grab-ber, one who snatches at handbags) reached out to nimbly pluck the treasured garment from the correspndent's back and disappeared in a cloud of exhaust fumes in the direction of the Borghese Gardens. The vanished jacket contained Cioffi's air ticket, which could be replaced, and an irreplaceable "hero-gram" from management telling how magnificent was his coverage of Vatican crowd

Then there was the taking of New York Post columnist Murray Kempton, indefatigable defender of the poor and disadvantaged. One morning with eyes uplifted in awe at the miracle Michelangelo had performed in converting the cavernous baths of Diocletian into the Basilica of St. Mary of the Angeles, he was bitten by several of the hands he had been feeding, metaphorically speaking. Fingers soft as a Horowitz glissando relieved him of wallet, passport, traveler's checks and Vatican press cre-

Another fine morning, Smith Hempstone of the Reader's Digest passed through Bernini's great bronze doors to the papal palace to be received by the newly elected John Paul I in a special audience for journalists. In the push of nuns, priests, pilgrims and a few bona fide journalists puffing up the grand marble staircase, the eminent essayist was lightly jostled and heavily unburdened of his notebook and Gucci credit card case. Amid such cramped, scampering fervor, there was scant room for a Swiss Guard to swing a halberd at a miscreant, if one could be found.

"Sure, they'd lift the freckles off your arm," affirmed Brother Timothy, an Irish Dominican who has spent the past 40 years in Rome and wisely goes about in pocketiess triar's

The last sad tale of pilfering in papal surroundings is embarrassingly autobiographical. Your humble scrivener boarded a No. 64 bus one day near the balcony where Benito Mussolini used to deliver those threehour harangues, always a favorite staging area for the "borsaioli," the pickpockets.

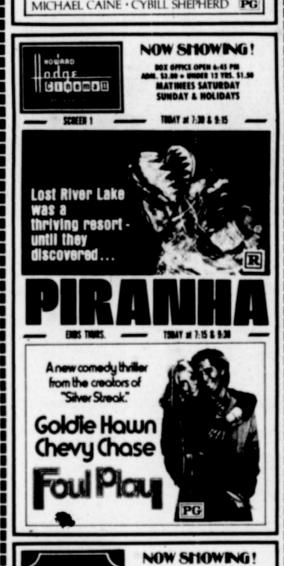

The bus reached the end of its run in a side street behind St. Peter's Basilica, where the cardinals were converging for the start of the conclave.

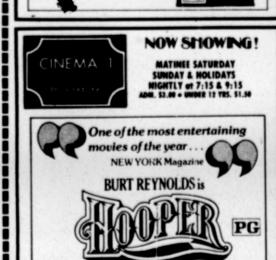

Four Spanish nuns, eager to see it all, attempted to go out the "in" door, flailing helplessly upstream against a tide of German, French and Portuguese pilgrims surging abroad from the row of shops selling papal blessing and rosaries. In the confusion, your correspondent was spun about

The bus ride to the Vatican normally costs 100 lire: 10 cents. This day it cost $40 as the teller of the tale was separated from his favorite money clip and 40,000 lire by expert, silent
