Of Cards and Cowboys

Where have the Cardiac Cards gone? What has happened to Dallas' Doomsday Defense? Sunday's Texas Stadium game may provide the answer. Sports writer Terry Williamson provides background and predictions about that game in Sunday's Midland Reporter-Telegram.

The beginning of a tradition

Rain or shine, the St. Ann's Family Fair brings crowds. And Saturday's 30th edition of the event promises to be no exception. Some longtime Midlanders remember well the early days of the fair and share a few recollections about this Midland tradition in Sunday's Reporter-Telegram.

Planning for Midland's growth

When a city is growing rapidly, planning becomes more important than ever, Midland city officials say. Sunday's Reporter-Telegram, in another of its series on "The Midland Story," looks at how the city's planning department is working to make sure expected continued growth in Midland is orderly.

'Hard-line' Arabs arrive in Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy and Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat arrived unexpectedly from Syria today in an apparent bid to talk Jordan's King Hussein into joining the hard-line Arab front against the U.S.-sponsored Camp David peace accords between Egypt and Israel.

Hussein had told Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, who met with him in Amman Wednesday and Thursday, that Jordan would not close the door on the new peace initiative

It was Khadafy's first trip to Jordan, and it was the first meeting in Jordan between Hussein and Arafat since Jordanian troops evicted Palestinian guerrillas from this country in September 1970. The two have met several times since outside Jordan.

Official sources said the three leaders met at Al-Mafraq air base north of this capital city

Khadafy and Arafat took time off from the current conference of the Arab "rejectionist" states in Damascus and drove to the border town of Ramtha, where a Jordanian military helicopter took them to Al-Mafrag for the meeting with Hussein.

At the Damascus summit, informed sources said today that Syria, Algeria, Libya, South Yemen and Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization command as part of their strategy to sabotage the Camp David accords.

As a further insult to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, the sources said, the hard-liners chose Lt. Gen. Saadeddin Shazli, Egypt's army chief during the 1973 Arab-Israeli war who was sacked by Sadat, to take over the joint command.

However, the sources said there appeared to be disagreement among the hard-liners over a proposal by Algeria for a "strategic alliance" with the Soviet Union to counter increased U.S. involvement in the Middle East following the Camp David

The leaders of Syria, Algeria,

Libya, South Yemen and the PLO have been meeting in Damascus for three days, and planned to issue their final declaration today.

Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam told reporters Thursday the participants had agreed on all the basic points discussed, but declined to reveal any of the deci-

Medical mixup blinds pilot

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - ANational Guard pilot who has survived dozens of dangerous rescue missions in the treacherous White Mountains may never fly again because an unexplained medical mixup during a routine checkup left him blind.

"I thought my flying days would end when a mountain tip or a pine tree crashed through my cockpit, not because of a mixup in eyedrops," Lt. Col. Russell Tilton said Thursday The work of the 46-year-old

Army National Guard air rescue officer is legendary in the state's aviation and conservation community He has piloted small planes and helicopters over the state's wilderness forests and needlesharp mountains, survived three crashes in his 24 years of flying and logged more than 10,000 hours.

"There are dozens of people alive today because Tilton slipped his chopper into places in the White Mountains where other men would never try to fly," said Col. Leon Parker, a senior Guard commander.

But on Sept. 9. Tilton was grounded after a routine annual flight physical at Pease Air Force Base — not because of his health, but because of the examination itself, Guard officials said.

A senior flight surgeon had completed most of the examination and was running a routine test for glaucoma, an eye dis-

Seconds after administering eyedrops that should have dilated his pupils. Tilton's eyes began to burn.

Guard officials said the medication the doctor administered was in a bottle labeled as the required ophthalmic solution. but in reality contained Hemocult, a highly caustic mixture used to test stool samples.

'The bottle had the correct label, but the wrong contents. It was a tragic accident but we're not satisfied at leaving it at that," said Col. James Cuddihee, a senior Guard official.

Testimony centers on meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former CIA Director Richard Helms said today that former Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach could not have told the truth when he swore he could not recall meeting with Helms about the handling of a Soviet defector. Yuri Nosenko

But Helms later clarified that comment and said he "didn't mean to imply that he testified untruthfully

Testifying at a House assassina tions committee hearing on the death of President John F. Kennedy, Helms presented memos of his meeting with Katzenbach to discuss the Nosenko matter on April 2, 1964.

Helms told the panel that his lawyer

recently contacted Katzenbach to discuss Helms' recollections of the meeting with him

Katzenbach on Thursday denied under oath that he had any recollection of such a meeting and said he felt sure he would have remembered any detailed discussion of the case

Committee Chairman Louis Stokes D Ohio listened to Helms' account and then asked, "Then Mr Katzenbach's statement could not be true could it?

'No, it could not," Helms replied. Later, however, Helms said his law ver "tells me he feels I did Mr. Kat zenbach a disservice. All I meant to say was that I couldn't comment on Mr. Katzenbach's memory. I didn't mean to imply that he testified untruthfully

The Warren Commission chose not to question Nosenko during its investigation of the murder of Kennedy The commission concluded that Os wald was the lone assassin.

Helms, then a deputy director of the CIA, said the agency considered it "a matter of the utmost importance" to determine whether Nosenko was a legitimate defector or a Soviet plant.

The agency at first believed him to be a plant and expressed that opinion to the Warren Commission. But in April 1964, Helms said, he and other agency officials were making plans to confine Nosenko in "Spartan circumstances" for intensive questioning. He said he and other CIA officials met with Katzenbach and other Justice Department officials to discuss Nosenko's legal sta-

Hospital board focuses on indigent care policy

Discussion of how to implement Midland County Hospital District's policies on care for indigent patients highlighted a meeting of the Board of Directors Thursday.

Dr. Viola Coleman told directors that Midland County no longer is funding such patient care as of Oct. 1. and the hospital district will be taking over this responsibility.

She said she feared people with low incomes could not afford a taxi to the hospital and home to see if they qualify for medical care as indigent patients. Dr. Coleman indicated social workers or other hospital staffers should be readily assessible in the community

"I have had poor people tell me it costs about $2.75 one way for them to get to the hospital in a taxicab,"

Hospital Administrator Wayne E. Ulrich said, "I agree some way must be found to reach these people." He later said, "We're a hospital district, and our first responsibility is to serve people. We can't shirk the responsibility to care for indigent patients.

Board President Ed Magruder sug gested, "We're going to have to study how indigent services can be ren-

Court upholds case transfer

The State Court of Civil Appeals has upheld the decision by Midland County to transfer the case of a 16-year-old Midlander, charged with rape, from juvenile to district court, District Attorney Vern Martin said today.

Martin said he had received an opinion from the higher court upholding the action by then-County Judge Barbera Culver, acting as juvenile judge, to order rape charges against Glenn Bryce Billingsley, to be transfered to 142nd District Court in July of

Republicans want to help working people with economic woes—really

CHICAGO (AP) - It may take years to convince working people that Republicans really want to bail them out of their economic woes with a tax cut, GOP Chairman Bill Brock says. 'We're trying to change a deeply rooted impression, but I think you can over a period of time. I think it takes quite a period of time, though," Brock said in an interview Thursday as the GOP "Tax Blitz" rested in Chicago during a cross-country barnstorming

"When you look at the polls three years ago, if people were asked which party wants to cut your taxes, it would have been three-, four-, five-toone saying Democrats over Republicans," he said. "Today it's just three or four percentage points between the

While the November election will put some new members into the Congress, Hartly said, he has no hopes for more satisfactory action. "I have no more confidence in the next Congress to handle such a matter (energy bill) than this Congress." he said.

The bill will force oil companies to hire more people to handle the paperwork and comply with the increased regulations, taking money and time from exploring for new gas, according to Hartly

He lumped all government regula tions, not just those in the energy bill, into one category - "complicated." Regulations are written by commit tees, "and they are not known for clarity

Hartly said he would have preferred using prices as a method to make society be more careful in the use of energy. "We're just not using the market price to become more efficient," he said.

Despite the idea that no energy policy is responsible for the declining value of the American dollar on the world market, Hartly said the idea is not entirely true. "Energy is number three in the magnitude of currency requirements," he said. "Ranking first is machinery and transportation, while electronics and related prod-

Expected problems with the energy bill are not curtailing efforts by major companies to increase the gas supply, he said. "Gas has been in surplus in the past six months.' And Union Oil is committing itself

There still is going to be a shortage someday because "energy consumption is rising faster than we can prodfuture may be coal and nuclear, he

"I feel all electric and other stationary plants should be atomic or coal powered," the company president said. Hydrocarbons and natural gas might be devoted to higher uses with liquid petroleum products going for transportation uses, he said.

The one good thing the government has done, he added, is make the automobile companies comply with regulations to reduce gas consumption.

Just because Ford didn't hire him was no reason to quit

DETROIT (AP) - Anthony Opat really wanted a job at Ford Motor Co.'s huge Woodhaven stamping plant. So when the automaker rejected his job application, he got a better idea - he snuck in and went to work

Now, after being "fired" when officials found out he had worked three sweltering days on the assembly line, the persistent 19-year-old from suburban Melvindale is hoping Ford will reconsider.

"I thought they'd be glad to get a hard worker...," he said Thursday. The three days I worked were the hottest days of the summer - I never sweated so much in my life. I figured they'd think anyone who would work in that heat would be worth hiring.'

Opat, who had lost a job as an ambulance driver, said he applied for work Sept. 6 but was told there were no openings. So he put on work clothes and simply showed up the next day at the afternoon shift change. 'I flashed my unemployment card at the gate guard and went on in with everyone else," he said. "He must have thought it was an ID card." Inside the plant, Opat said, he told a foreman he was a "new hire," was given a time card and put to work stacking auto hoods. "I knew they eventually would find out that I wasn't supposed to be there. But I hoped by then they would see that I was a good worker and give me a job," he said.

But when Opat told a fellow worker about his scheme, the man apparently feared Opat would get hurt and told a supervisor. On the fourth day, a foreman whisked Opat to the plant

"Everyone in the personnel department must have talked to me. They wanted to know how I got in and who put me up to it, and at first they were pretty mad," he said.

"When we finished talking, everyone was laughing about the whole thing. They told me not to tell the newspapers what I had done and they'd make sure I got a job. They told me to call in a few days to get my paycheck and set up a physical.

But it has been two weeks, and he has not heard from Ford. "Every time I call, they tell me to call back another time," he said. Ford officials would not say if Opat would be hired or paid for his three days of work. The company's only comment came in a statement from John G. Grotz, industrial relations manager at the Woodhaven plant.

The settlers are enraged that the Camp David accords put a temporary ban on new Jewish settlements in the disputed West Bank. The protesters are led by the nationalistic Gush Emunim, Hebrew for "Bloc of the

The settlers claim a God-given right to settle anywhere in the West Bank, the biblical land of Israel, and fear Israel's agreement at Camp David to evacute 20 settlements in occupied Sinai could set a precedent for dismantling the 50 settlements in the West Bank.

However, Parliament still has to ratify the proposed Sinai evacuation, and Egypt says it will not sign a peace treaty with Israel until the Sinai outposts are gone.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin says he agreed at Camp David to a three-month moratorium on new settlements in the West Bank. President Carter says Begin agreed to a fiveyear freeze, and on Thursday a White House spokesman expressed confidence the dispute will be resolved

Arabia, a country which the Carter administration has been cultivating for some time in hopes that it would be a force for moderation in the Arab world. King Khaled received Vance for only 30 minutes. The Saudi monarch is in poor health and he plans to fly to Cleveland for tests next week. Vance then met for more than two hours with Crown Prince Fahd.

Afterwards, the results were much the same. State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Vance intended to continue talking to the Saudis, but Carter could report no change in the announced Saudi position that the accords are an unacceptable framework for a final solution to the Middle East problem.

The Saudis cite the same reasons as the Jordanians. The accords fail to guarantee ultimate Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories of the West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip. For the Saudis, the accords' failure to deal with occupied Arab Jerusalem is a particular concern because of the Islamic holy places there.

The American position on those issues is that Israel, in the Camp David accords, agreed to a partial withdrawal. And once it has begun, the withdrawal process will acquire momentum, Vance argues.

But his ability to make a case has been hampered by the dispute with Israel over exactly what Israel agreed to at Camp David.

The most important squabble concerns Israel's freeze on new settle-ments in the West Bank area. Israel contends that pledge applies only for three months. The United States says it applies for five years, but it is hopeful the dispute will be settled

The settlement issue was supposed to be covered, along with the opposing positions on Jerusalem, in an exchange of letters. Those letters are still unwritten, and will not be until the dispute is settled.

Thus, Vance can say little when unanswered question delays the day when full understanding can be reached," the State Department spokesman said Thursday. At the same time, Israeli troops were cart-ing away punching Jewish settlers from a West Bank mountaintop and moving in to drag off squatters protesting the Camp David accords at at two other sites.

Meanwhile, President Hafez Assad of Syria was hosting a Damascus summit of Arab leaders opposed to the Camp David agreements. The meeting is expected to overlap Vance's arrival in Damascus on Saturday, and Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam said the secretary's visit would have no effect on Syria's unequivocal rejection of the Sadat-Begin accords.

Short-sighted, indeed

The natural gas bill which Tuesday survived a Senate vote does indeed "violate a state's right" to take care of its own natural resources, as stated by Jon Newton, member of the Texas Railroad Commission.

"I can't think of a more shortsighted bill from Texas' point of view or the country's point of view," Newton said.

He explained that the gas bill would impose two years of price uncertainty on gas producers because of lead time necessary to write federal regulations.

"It doesn't make any sense." Newton added. "It's not going to be beneficial to Texas consumers or producers.

The commissioner is just as right as can be in his observations. And he could have gone a lot further in condemning the measure, which President Carter and his cohorts appear determined to pass, by the use of pressure tactics perhaps unsurpassed up to this point.

Permian Basin producers have voiced sound objections which should have killed the energy bill long before now.

But just as Gov. Edwin W. Edwards of Louisiana told Energy Secretary James Schlesinger that the advice of experts from oil-producing states has not been solicited and ignored when offered.

'You're imposing intolerable restrictions on us," the governor continued. "If you expect us (oilproducing states) to be your savior, why don't you listen to

The reason for this indifference. governor, appears to be that Mr. Schlesinger is not inclined to listen to anyone.

Gov. Edwards went on to say that even the authors are not proud of the energy legislation. "The best we can get is that it's the only bill in town," he said. "That's a poor excuse for passing legislation."

A.W. Dillard Jr. of Midland. president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, pointed this out very clearly in a letter he wrote to Secretary Schlesinger. Dillard said he had read that the secretary had advised members of Congress of the bill," just pass it as a symbol of this nation's will to resolve its energy problems."

That really is something in itself. Mr. Carter and Mr. Schlesinger and their associates apparently want to pass the energy bill in order to make the United States look good abroad - but to hell with the producers and consumers of the U.S.A.

It is a ridiculous bill in many respects. Its fallacies are too numerous to mention in limited

Shrine Circus in town

It's circus time in Midland, and once again the Midland Shrine Club presents the annual Shrine Circus Saturday and Sunday at Cubs Stadium.

Performances are scheduled at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. both days, but the big-two day entertainment event will be launched at 10 a.m. Saturday, when the big Shrine Circus parade will move through Downtown Midland. Shrine parades always are tops, but this year's procession promises to be the best ever. It will feature bands, youth groups, floats, the Kids Klown Kostume Kontest, and numerous other attractions, including the ever-popular Shrine units from area cities.

But it is the spectacular Shrine

Circus itself which will produce all the thrilling events, fun, excitement and other experiences of the circus, with all of its amazing acts, clowns, wild animals and what-have-you.

And most important of all is the fact that proceeds from the Shrine Circus are used to help support the Shrine Burns and Crippled Childrens hospitals. This is a great, far-reaching, humanitarian program which has benefitted thousands of youths across the state and nation. The Midland Shrine Club has a tremendous record to its credit in this regard. And the Shrine Circus helps foot

CHARLEY REESE

MIAs still exist despite what is written on paper

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - It's dangerous to be a human being. You can become an embarrasment to your government or, even worse, an impediment to some grand design. In either case, you are likely to be obliterated.

The Americans in Southeast Asia who were listed as Missing in Action (MIA) have become both and they are being obliterated. The Carter administration, like the Ford administration, wishes to make the MIAs a non-issue. To do that you eliminate the MIAs.

To do that you hold routine hearings to which you invite the survivors. If they can afford to make the trip, you ask them, "Have you seen your son lately?" No. "Well, I don't see him here." And then you make a presumptive ruling of death. Bingo, one MIA becomes a KIA (killed in action) and you slam shut the book on a human

By this process, our wonderful federal government has reduced the number of MIAs from 2,500 to about 350. These last ones have hard-nosed survivors who are resisting the process. Still, when the last one has been executed by the stroke of a pen, there will be no issue, no embarrassment, and no impediment to any grand designs of the State Department.

But there will still exist some 2,500 MIAs regardless of what is written on

There is evidence that at least some of them are still alive and in prisons in Southeast Asia just as there is some evidence that perhaps as many as 3,000 other American citizens, some of them perhaps MIAs from the Korean War are rotting in other communist prisons in Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union, and Red China.

These people have not been forgotten. The government has just officially and for reasons of state and policy removed them from the ranks of the

You can understand why the gov-ernment must do this and deny that it is doing it. The American people, you see, are too sophisticated to understand grand designs and why they are more important than living human beings. If the government told the truth, then the American people would probably demand that it do something about them. That would be distressingly inconvenient.

How can you sell the American people on a Strategic Arms treaty if they know that the Soviet Union has unjustly imprisoned Americans and lied about their existence for 20 years? How can you sell the American people on establising relations with Vietnam if they know the Vietnamese are still holding American

That's why Ted Grevers, a remarkable private detective in Grand Rapids. Mich., who has taken on the job as a personal crusade to develop information about Americans in communist prisons, gets harrassment instead of cooperation from the U.S. government.

That's why Joel Cook, a remarkable truck driver in Walden, N.Y., who refuses to let go of the MIAs, gets no cooperation from the U.S. govern-

That's why the U.S. government intimidates and attempts to discredit any Southeast Asian refugee who steps forward and reports that Americans are still alive.

That's why U.S. officials keep singing the same song: there are no MIAs left alive, there is no hope. That's why they ignore precedent, like the release of 12 Spanish nationals in 1969 who were captured by the North Vietnamese in 1954.

That's why they ignore information developed by Grevers who says that five Roumanians who escaped from a Soviet camp in January 1975, report there were many foreigners there, including Americans. The State Department told me they had not heard about that and know of only two Americans in prison and branded them as drug smugglers.

Grevers said, however, that John Noble who spent 10 years in a Soviet prison believes that as many as 3,000 Americans are still in the communist prison system.

But nothing will be done, about them or about the MIAs, unless the American people make it a national

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Minority business lawbreakers

By JACK ANDEBSON

WASHINGTON - Some minority businessmen have gone into cahoots with government contractors and undercut a worthwhile federal law intended to help the minorities break into the business world. Under the law, states and municipalities are supposed to funnel at least 10 percent of the money for certain federal construction projects to minority

But some firms are using their minority status to help established contractors get government bids. The minority firms collect fat fees for fronting for the companies which actually do the work. The fees are added to the cost that the taxpayers

Sponsors of the legislation believed it would give blacks, Hispanics and Orientals a crack at some $40 million worth of job-creating government projects every year. Unfortunately, the program has developed a reputation for subterfuge.

Here's a case history that apparently is all too typical:

Choi Enterprizes is a Pittsburgh construction supply firm owned by Korean businessman Soo S. Choi. Since the law went on the books, area contractors have discovered that for an appropriate sum Choi will lend his name to their government bids. Thus they use his minority status to qualify for contracts that had been earmarked for minority firms.

In one instance, Choi advised one contractor on a Pittsburgh project to make his own purchases but have his bills sent to him. Choi then rejiggered the itemized payment voucher, added a 7 percent commission and returned it to the customer.

Several Pittsburgh contractors told us they have automatically increased their bids for such government work to compensate for Choi's minority "commission." The added cost, of course, comes out of the taxpayers'

Our reporter Eileen Canzian, posing as a representative of a Pittsburgh contractor, asked Choi if he could supply concrete for a federally funded project in order to comply with the 10 percent minority rule. He told her he would play the role of supplier for almost any construction material for a fee of no more than 10 percent.

reporter, Choi angrily protested he'd been lured into a trap and clammed up with this outburst: "It is none of your business. It's not your money."

Choi is wrong; it is the taxpayers'

INSIDE REPORT:

The new 'Ron and Jerry' show premieres at Houston

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

HOUSTON - Driving back to his hotel from a Republican rally in the Albert Thomas Convention Center Sept. 11, Ronald Reagan confided his concern about indisputable evidence of a widening breach between him and former President Ford and asked plaintively: how do we deal with it? The question poses a central problem of Reagan's 1980 presidential campaign. A Jerry Ford determined to undermine Reagan's second fullfledged quest for the Republican nomination could do great, conceivably irreparable damage, if Ford himself decides not to run - a strong probability - and actively tries to block Reagan in favor of somebody else. That is most likely to be George Bush, in the opinion of the Reagan Musing out loud, Reagan said the problem had to be confronted, and that he felt Ford himself was less responsible for the anti-Reagan campaign than "people around him." The next evening, in Dallas, with Ford sitting near him at a Texas fundraising dinner (for Republican governor nominee William Clements), Reagan made his move.

Looking at Ford, he quoted President Carter's comment in the inaugural address ("I want to thank (Ford) for all he has done to heal our land") and added his own graceful compliment: "History will record that Gerald Ford healed our land and by his example reminded us that this

Novak nation deserves our love and demands our courage.

Whether those words will terminate this latest in a century of Republican feuds, they place Reagan in an unassailable posture: proud and sensitive, Reagan has made his peace offering without groveling or begging. But one cynical Ford Republican, listening to Reagan's new-found praise of the man he almost upset in 1976, asked: 'Why didn't Reagan say that in 1976?" The Ford camp, including the former president, still fumes over what it considers Reagan's lukewarm post-convention support. Reagan's appeal to let bygones be bygones followed leaks from the Ford camp that the former president's memoirs, due in bookstalls next spring, will blame Reagan for Ford's defeat by Mr. Carter. Ford cautions friends that he has not yet finished late chapters of his book dealing with the 1976 campaign, but insiders are sure that just such a rebuke was all but certain — at least until Dallas. Some Ford intimates, including ex-

White House aides Robert Hartmann and Dean Burch, agree that the drumbeat of undercurrent propaganda against Reagan does not come directly from Gerald Ford. Supporting that judgment was a curious incident last spring involving Ford's office. After President Carter turned down an invitation to make the dedication speech at the new Herbert Hoover memorial library at Stanford University, library officials - many of them Reaganites - invited Ford instead. Ford was carefully informed that Reagan would be there. The two had not met since the Kansas City shoot-

Ford's office gave a speedy answer: no. But one library official refused to accept that no. Ford himself, he speculated, might never have seen the invitation; send an agent to Ford and ask him personally. That was the course taken and Ford then said yes, he would be delighted. They met at Stanford but the ice was broken. No chances were taken in persuading Ford to appear twice with Reagan here in Texas for his close friend and former deputy defense secretary, Bill Clements. Trailing in his campaign, Clements flew to California to put the arm on Ford. "Ford had to say yes," an insider told us, "but he wasn't exactly joyful."

Reagan and Ford have at least one more joint date: in California for Evelle Younger's uphill race for governor against Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown. But the success of the Ron and Jerry Show here in turning out crowds and raising money is certain to generate other requests for joint Ford-Reagan campaign appearances. Whether Ford, having broken the ice here, plays a consenting role is uncertain.

Reagan handled the former president adroitly in Houston and Dallas. At a Clements breakfast Sept. 12, Reagan arrived early to greet Ford at the head table, grabbed both his hands and held on while cameras

For the 1980 nomination race, such tender treatment is essential. If Ford attacks Reagan - rather than merely supporting Bush or some other Republican - Reagan would not be the only casualty. Another victim would be the Republican party. That was Reagan's coolly-calculated message to Ford here: don't break up the party before the campaign has even - 30 YEARS AGO (Sept. 22, 1948):

Davis is being held without bond in Tarrant County Jail on charges he ordered the murder of his divorce judge, one of 15 persons allegedly named in a homemade "hit list" the state claims was authored by the Fort Worth industrialist.

Defense lawyer Phil Burleson of Dallas described Moore as a "very smart lawyer-judge. He's easy going but at all times in control of his court.' Burleson predicted the case could be tried within six to eight weeks or about half the time it took to prosecute Davis last year in Amarillo on a capital murder charge of killing his 12-year old stepdaughter. Jury selection alone required eight weeks in Amarillo.

Davis spent both his 43rd and 44th birthdays in jail during the legal proceedings prior to his acquittal in November 1977.

Tipps, who disclosed that only three of several judges contacted were willing to take the case, said, "My experience with fighter pilots is that they are a breed apart. He's sort of a no-nonsense judge ... He will try the case faster than most judges."

Tipps said Moore insisted one of the prosecutors assigned to his Houston court assist the Tarrant County prosecutor. There was no such assistance in Amarillo.

Moore, now 55, left the University of Florida as a freshman to enter the Air Force in World War II and kept his lucky penny in his left boot during 35 combat missions over Italy.

He later took the boots and penny along when he was called to active duty in Korea. While there, a friend borrowed the boots and the penny was lost. Moore's plane later was shot down but he landed in a friendly area and was not injured. Back at the base, Moore looked up the friend who had lost the penny.

"He was so upset when he heard I'd been shot down he retraced every single step he took that day and found it," Moore said.

Moore graduated from the South Texas School of Law in 1951. After three years of law practice in Houston, Moore became an assistant district attorney and served under four Harris County district attorneys before being elected as judge of a county court-at-law on a platform that called for "full-time, conscientious, and impartial administration of Moore moved to the 184th District Court in 1969 under an appointment by Governor Preston Smith. He is now the Democratic nominee for a third four-year term.

Davis's August 20 arrest came after an employee of the Davis financial empire told authorities Davis wanted him to hire someone to kill the judge in a bitter and drawn-out divorce suit filed by Davis' estranged wife, Pri-

At a bond hearing, the prosecution produced tape recordings and video tapes showing Davis and his chief accuser, David McCory.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - David Lee Powell, accused of machine gunning Patrolman Ralph Ablanedo to death, had enough "speed" in a knapsack the morning of the killing to rate as a dealer, a narcotics officer has testified.

Attorneys for Powell, 27, were expected to begin presenting evidence today that the slender former student, shorn of his shoulder-length hair, was

"Are you able to determine where that particular weapon was manufactured?" asked Assistant District Attorney Steve Edwards.

"I don't know, ... but my opinion is this gun is the Chinese version of the Russian AK-47. This is called an assault rifle. All the Communist bloc countries have them," Rymer said.

Both prosecution and defense lawyers say they do not know where or how Powell obtained the illegal automatic weapon. Earlier, witnesses testified that Powell's fingerprints were on plastic bags of methamphetamine -'speed" - found in a brown nylon knapsack. The knapsack was discovered in a wooded area next to Travis High School, near where Ablanedo was shot. Police chemist Ralph Owen said the "s

Narcotics officer Larry Stafford testified the street value of the drug, if cut once and sold by the gram, was $11,700. Under questioning, he said the amount was great enough to rate the owner as a "speed"

Darrouzet asked Stafford the characteristics of a

Darrouzet told a reporter, "We are going to prove that that night in jail he (Powell) was just like he (Stafford) described speed freaks to be."

Someone wants sheriff killed

TYLER, Texas (AP) - Cherokee County Sheriff Danny Stallings says he believes a $35,000 contract has been issued for his life in retaliation for a recent crackdown on drug dealing in his East Texas coun-

"There are at least two people in this county that want to see me dead, and probably more," said Stallings, a former Department of Public Safety narcotics agent. "It takes good money to kill an

Stallings told the Tyler Courier-Times-Telegraph on Thursday at least one attempt has been made on

Last Friday, he said, an anonymous caller led him to a roadside park in the county in an apparent attempt to ambush him.

Stallings, suspecting the ambush, said he hid in a wooded area near the park until a small car drove up and dropped off a man carrying a shotgun. The sheriff said 25-year-old James Thomas Pryor shot at him once before Stallings returned fire and killed

DPS officers and Texas Rangers are still investigating the episode in an attempt to determine who was driving the car that deposited Pryor at the park Early in August, Stallings' house burned down in a fire that has since been labeled arson.

Deputy Tom Glass was reportedly investigating the arson when he picked up John Robert Odom for questioning. Glass reportedly took Odom to an iso-lated area for questioning and during a scuffle in the patrol car Odom was shot and killed.

Cherokee County residents protested the shooting with a courthouse demonstration, claiming the suspect should have been brought to the sheriff's department for questioning. Stallings said he believed he and Glass could both be objects of the death contracts due to the shootings of Pryor and Odom.

The sheriff said he hoped, however, that he was the only person marked in the contract. can't look out for the others," he said. "I can look out for myself. I'm not going to fall into any

Stock market mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock orices were mixed today as blue chip issues failed to make some early gains

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than points at the outset, was off .69 at 858.45 by noontime.

But gainers held a 5-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed ssues. Brokers said some buying was encouraged by the market's steady showing Thursday after a sharp sixsession decline. Some observers said the market might have drawn some support from Senate Finance Committee approval Thursday of a measure that would cut capital gains taxes by $3 billion a year. But Wall Street also was faced with the Federal Reserve's report that the basic measure of the money supply grew at an 8.1 percent annual rate in the first eight months of the year, rather han its earlier estimate of 7.6 percent.

Many economists consider apid growth in the money supply to be a primary actor in the country's high inflation rate.

Price changes in most ndividual issues were small.

The NYSE's composite ndex slipped .05 to 57.31, but the American Stock Exchange market value index climbed .51 to 166.99.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 13.25 million shares by noontime, against 14.59 million at the same point Thursday.

Sadat will take 'Arab role'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is willing to "assume the Arab role" in negotiating the future of the West Bank and Gaza if Jordan and other Arab states reject the framework produced by the Camp David summit, according to letters released by the White House on Friday.

Although somewhat ambiguous, the language in the letters appears to hold out the possibility that a Palestinian Arab civil government could be set up for the territory without the consent of Jordan, which once controlled it.

Sadat said he would be prepared to enter negotiations on the West Bank and Gaza "following consultations with Jordan and the representatives of the Palestinian people," but he gave no commitment to follow their lead in any such negotiations.

A Carter administration official, who briefed reporters about the letters on condition that he not be named, said he takes this to mean that Egyptian-Israeli negotiations over the territory could take place if the Palestinian Arabs are comfortable with Sadat as their representative.

He also said he is optimistic that a dispute between the United States and Israel over Jewish settlements in the West Bank will be settled within a day or so. U.S. officials have said Israel agreed to a five-year moratorium on new settlements, but Israeli Prime

Two Midland women and a woman from Arlington were released after posting a total of $2,400 bond Thursday following their arrest Wednesday by Midland County Sheriff's deputies on prostitution charges, said officers.

Sheriff Dallas Smith said deputies received information over the past weeks that there an organized prostitution effort was being conducted.

"I assigned officers to look into it and to establish that the operation was taking place," Smith said. Smith described Ms. Hewitt as the "manager" of the operation. "It was the kind of operation where the prostitute goes out to meet the customer,'

Sheriff Smith said it was the first aggravated promotion of prostitution case his deputies had filed this year. Aggravated promotion of prostitution is defined as owning, managing, supervising or controlling a prostitution enterprise using two or more prostitutes.

Death ends free-fall try

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A movie stuntman died today of injuries suffered when he attempted to set a free-fall jump record by leaping 323 feet without a parachute from the top of a downtown office building, the Fayette County coroner said.

Members of the film crew shooting the movie "Steel" said a canvas and plastic air bag intended to cushion A.J. Bakunas split open when the stuntman hit it Thursday. He was estimated to have been moving at 115 miles an hour when he hit.

Bakunas, 27, who jumped from the top of Kincaid Towers, suffered multiple injuries and had been under intensive care at Good Samaritan Hospital.

Summit boosts Carter's popularity some, but poll shows Americans remain doubtful

David summit boosted Jimmy Carter's standing with many Americans, the public still has grave doubts about his ability to deal with domestic problems, particularly the economy and energy, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

The surge in the judgment of Carter's overall performance totaled 16 points in the aftermath of the summit talks on the Middle East, according to the survey taken Tuesday and Wednesday.

But the surge is a relatively narrow one, fo-cused on the Middl East in specific and foreign affairs in general.

Carter, as other presidents before him, has seen a decisive move in international affairs provide a substantial boost in his standing with the

On his overall performance, Carter got "ex-cellent" or "good" ratings from 42 percent of the public, up from 26 percent last month.

He got "only fair" ratings from 45 percent of those interviewed, down from 53 percent in August. Twelve percent rated his work "poor" down from 20 percent last month. In both months, 1 percent was undecided.

But, asked specifically about energy and the economy, Americans gave Carter poor grades for his work.

In the economic area, only 19 percent rated him good or excellent this month for his performance, about the same as the 18 percent found last month. Seventyseven percent gave him

Carter's current foreign policy rating is the highest of his administration, passing the 46 percent positive mark he received in May 1977 after his first overseas

By contrast, Carter's overall performance rating is now at the same level found late last year and early this year, but still well below the highs of the early months of his administration.

A number of recent presidents have found like Carter — that a decisive move in foreign policy can give a substantial boost to one's standing.

St. Laurent creates with whimsy

By BETTIJANE LEVINE The Los Angeles Times

NEW YORK - "When a woman loses her mystery, she is all finished forever. She has lost the most important thing she had," says Paris designer Yves Saint Laurent in an interview. And mystery seems to be the theme of his trip here this week introducing his new perfume,

"It is rare to find a man of mystery. But each woman has something mysterious within. She may be young or old, plain or beautiful, she may be doing the same work for the same pay as a man. But she must not want to be like a man. She must appreciate the specialness of being a woman - the powerful mystery of that is what keeps her appeal alive.

"I do not think this is — how do you call it? — a regressive attitude I have toward women," Saint Laurent says. "It is simply a law of life. Women are in a totally different and much more mysterious universe than men."

Tall, slim, gentle - St. Laurent at 42 retains the extraordinary shy charm of the boy who became France's prince of fashion at age 16 when he joined the House of Christian Dior. Now he is a man of so many far-flung assets that he does not even know the number of his boutiques and says he hasn't the slightest idea of how many products carry his name. "I control all that, but I do not bother with the statistics," he says. "It is all a mystery to me."

Among the other mysteries he is stirring here is why he chose this moment to create a new perfume that is heavy, indolent and sensual when other designers are developing what they call light and lively "life-style"

scents.
And there is the mystery of why he decided to call the perfume Opium — a name that probably did not delight people at Charles of the Ritz, who distribute the $100-per-ounce fra-

Marvin Traub, chairman of the board of Bloomingdale's said they sold about $1,000 worth in the first hour. Was he fearful of the name Opium? "We believe that Opium is used as a term of fantasy. This is the way that Saint Laurent handled it and the way we've handled

it, too.'

And there is the mystery of why this rather reclusive genius, who admits to "a solitary existence, watching life pass by through my windows," would elect to launch his new perfume in the United States by hosting a party Wednesday night for 500 people in New York. Not an ordinary party on dry land, mind you, but a floating fantasy aboard an ancient barque called the Peking, moored in New York's South Street seaport.

It is a fantasy he planned in Paris from start to finish, featuring thousands of real orchids "growing" from brilliantly lacquered fake trees and giant Oriental lanterns casting paths of light from atop tall, swaying bamboo poles. It is a fantasy including a guest list of Kennedys, Kissingers, Rockefellers, Andy Warhol, Mick Flick, Faye Dunaway, Warren Beatty, Mikhail Baryshnikov, Jacqueline Onassis, Barbara Walters, plus almost every top fashion designer, socialite and media personality in in a preparty interview at the Pierre Hotel, the designer talked about the "mysterious."

He says he developed a lush, exotic scent rather than a light one because this is the moment in history for women to be romantic, powerful, provocative. He calls it Opium, he says, not to achieve a mood of drug-sated decadence, but because the word evokes all the most exquisite, poetic, Oriental images that for years have occupied his mind. How serious is Saint Laurent about all this?

"I am serious with a great sense of humor," he says. His creation of Opium, he thinks, is as important an event as Coco Chanel's invention of Chanel No. 5. It is one of his "most important" achievements, just as he thinks his most recent couture collection (in which he revived little hats, skinny suits and gloves) was "the most important fashion statement of my life." Then he grins. "But I understand no one takes hats and gloves seriously these days. I revived them precisely to destroy their old meaning, to give the world a new way in which to perceive chic. My hats are not pulled down on the head like the old ones. They sit on top. They are not really hats, but ornaments like circus horses might wear.

That's why it is all so modern, even though it may remind one of the past. The past is here to lead us to the future. And fashion is always a sublime reflection of what is happening in life.

Domestics not a luxury anymore, they're necessity in Washington

By RICHARD COHEN The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - She arrives with another woman. She sits on the couch, crosses her legs at the ankles and pulls down the hem of her skirt. Her friend does most of the talking. Her friend explains that the woman's English is not too good. You ask all the standard questions and then you ask about immigration status. A small conference erupts in Spanish. They both smile and shrug their shoulders. Don't worry, they say.

The interview progresses. She knows somehow that you are desper-ate. She sees the child she is being asked to care for. She senses that you have been looking for some time, that the days have been tough, ablibbed affairs in which no one knows from one day to the next who will watch the child, who will be home after school and on holidays and on those horrible days when teachers decide to have conferences among themselves — that sort of thing. The woman on the couch puts her arms around the child. She asks a lot of money.
This is Washington, after all. This is the town of the two-income family. This is the town where the wife works and the husband works and the grandparents, bless 'em live some-where else. Day care has its own hours and they are not your hours and so you need someone to watch a child. It is not a luxury anymore. It is a necessity. Someone to watch the child. A little piece of mind. Maybe some cleaning, too, but that to tell the truth, is not so important. It's the peace of mind that counts.

The woman on the couch sets out her conditions for employment. She is very precise about hours and overtime and holidays and what she will do and what she won't do. She wants all the government holidays. Fine. You have no choice, and all you can do is hope there are no surprises this year. Every time the government declares a holiday for someone's funeral, someone in the house has to stay

In Washington, the joke is that people talk about neither politics nor sex but real estate. That is no longer the case. The same people who used to talk real estate now talk maids. The town is full of women whose liberation depends solely on their ability to find and keep an unliberated woman who will watch their children. There is a constant sarch for the perfect maid, the one who is wonderful with children and a whiz with the broom. It is like the single girl's search for Mister Right. Sooner or later, she settles.

At lunch, the women talk maids. There is one who won't tell you the name of her maid for fear you will steal her. Maidnapping is becoming a problem. There is one who drives her maid to group therapy, hoping this little courtesy will keep her. Another puts up with petty incidents of sabotage - things thrown away, for instance - because she is afraid of what would happen if she had no maid. They tell horror stories of women who neglected their children and others who suffocated them with protections. They tell of calling home all the time and then being afraid to because they don't want to interfere. How can you "interfere" with your own child? One woman says the maid problem stopped her from having another child, and another says she has quit her job because of the prob-

"I just couldn't show another woman how to work the damned washing machine," she says.

The woman on the couch accepts the job. Her acceptance comes by phone. The days of waiting have been tough. Now, a cheer goes up. The days of chaos are over. A burden has been lifted. Usually, this is the woman's burden. For some reason, most men don't worry about this sort of thing. Their concern is work, to bring home the bacon, to defend against Indian attacks. It is the woman's concern to raise the children. That is tradition. It is also her role now to work. That is liberation. Any more liberation, and she will collapse under the burden. I know that.

The whole thing is ridiculous. We are building an economic structure on the backs of domestics, finding out, in the process, what it must have been like all these years for the poor. What, after all, do the maids do with their own children? All of a sudden working women of one class have something in common with working women of another class, juggling schedules, finagling children so everyone can make a buck. There is even a problem in writing about this, maybe these are the problems of the rich. Maybe so, but it is also the problem of a large percentage of the women who work, including the maids themselves.

I am home the day the woman from the couch is supposed to arrive. I am waiting at the door, dressed for work. She is late. I start to fume. She is very late. I get furious. I take off my tie and go to the phone, scuttling the day, canceling appointments, getting madder and madder. She should have called if someone offered her more money. She should have called.

After a while, a letter for her arrives from South America. A little while later, another letter comes. I decide to do a column about maids. I go to see Evelyn Miller who runs an employment agency for domestics. She says the demand far exceeds the supply. She shows me a file drawer with nothing in it but the names of single fathers seeking maids. Single father - my God, who ever thought of them? I mention the woman who never showed up and how I am still furious and how it is that someone like that comes to take control of your life. Evelyn Miller disagrees. She knows the woman I think has control over my life had no control over her own. It is almost always this way with the poor. In this case Immigration got her.

She was an illegal.

Mental illness: A stigma hard to live down

By LEW SCARR Copley News Service

The hate of it is unparalleled.

It transcends the prejudice society bears against race and religion. It is worse than discrimination against the physically disabled.

It is worse, even, than isolation of lepers.

The mass discrimination against the mentally ill is an unmatched, perpetuating genocide. The prejudice against the mentally ill is man against himself, literally. The crazy one, it seems almost by international edict, can never do anything worthwhile again even when he is no longer

He is often shunned by his own family in a kind of mutually imposed sentence of hereditary disgrace.

Finally, he is turned even against himself, refusing to acknowledge until it is too late that he may need psychiatric help because that admission even in a rational mind would be a personal weakness.

We used to put our mentally disturbed in large public boxes called Bedlam and deprive them of everything except the right to breathe a little oxygen and drink a little fluid and ingest a little protein Before that we put them on ships of fools and let them drift from port to port until they were all dead.

Now, thanks to drugs and progressive legislation, they are being released from modern bedlams and returned to their communities where their biological freedoms have been broadened, but where the rest of their rights are restricted almost as narrowly as before.

Many former patients live in decaying walk-up rooms, in old hotels and homes converted to board and care facilities where there is little board and less care. The larger the city, the worse the problem. In many large cities former patients are left to wander the streets, easy prey. In Chicago an old man strayed from his nursing home and was made to strip naked and stand on his head by neighborhood hoodlums.

Another man sits on the curb almost every day plucking cobwebs from himself when there are no spiders. Another directs traffic with a broom. Day in, day out, precisely at 6 a.m., a woman walks into a coffee shop, buys coffee and a sweet roll, then shouts obscenities.

Another woman in a nearby apartment pays her rent with a dead cat cradled in her arms. She says the cat is asleep but that he had better wake up because he owes her $19,999. She screams.

Suicide is 20 times more prevalent among schizophrenics than it is with the rest of the population.

A man not yet 30 was doing so well at a San Diego, Calif., board and care home that he was given a pass to visit his family.

The first (and last) thing he did when he got home was kill himself. The father of a San Diego woman, a young mother, said his daughter told him she was raped three times in three months while a patient in a psychiatric facility. His daughter may or may not have been raped. She may have been hallucinating. The father is convinced she was raped at least once, but he This is a form of discrimination. The father would have been afforded more thorough answers, perhaps, from a more complete investigation, had the patient not been mentally deranged. Why do we, and that includes even recovered schizophrenics — why do we discriminate against the mentally ill? There are as many reasons as there are people who discriminate. It is a little like asking why is there racial hatred? Or why have the Jews been haunted by unwarranted bias Except that there is fear involved in our hate of the mentally ill. There is real fear that deranged persons may physically hurt us.

And there is the subtle fear that they somehow will touch us with their "taint," that we will have to lie down with them one day and take on their schizophrenia and that then, finally, they will be us.

There are a million reasons for this prejudice, just as there are for all of Discrimination against the mentally ill often is worst in the very places where one would expect that it does not exist at all. Said a psychiatrist:

'The medical profession itself discriminates (against the mentally ill). Just work in a hospital for a little while and you will find that when the medical staff discovers a patient may be mentally ill they want to get them out of the medical unit right away."

Another psychiatrist: "I find discrimination right here in my own office. I have pretty sophisticated personnel working here. All of them are college graduates and most of them are married to medical professionals.

"But when they go through data about a patient and find out he is in for treatment because of some bizarre behavior symptom, they will look askance at him.

"They treat him altogether differently than they do a patient, say, who may be in with a brain tumor.' Our prejudice against mental illness is as widespread as the disorder itself. It is safe to say that no family on earth is totally free of one or the other - either of mental illness in one or more of its ugly forms or the prejudicial sickness that follows it everywhere.

A patient's outstretched arms seem to express a cry for help-a cry that is mostly ignored by a society that discriminates against the mentally ill, placing them in deep isolation. This picture was taken at the Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk. (Copley News Service Photo)

We all have that aunt we do not talk about. She is not a creation of fiction. We all have thought about that uncle when the application form asks for "Any mental illness in your family?"

And some of us have not had to think very hard. Often they are in our own house. And when you are old it is worst of all.

Pearl Smith began staying in bed 10 years ago. It was a decision she made firmly, irrevocably. It was her way of turning reality out of her life. She entertained imaginary guests at regular afternoon tea parties in her room. Her husband had to do all of the housework and died one morning getting Pearl her breakfast. She still thinks she is upstairs at a tea party but has lived in a trailer with a niece for years. Almost everyone who cares agrees that over the years there have been too many mental patients cared for in state hospitals, that many of them could be cared for in the community, and that now, finally, it is a good thing that so many of them are.

But it is also a point of almost universal agreement that community mental health programs are not doing the job.

Removing patients from mental institutions and caring for them in the community has become, virtually, a national policy. It is endorsed by most of the psychiatric profession and the National Institute of Mental Health and enforced by most of the states' governors and their departments of mental health. The number of patients in state mental hospitals has dropped by two-thirds in 20 years. The policy is strengthened by several attitudes. First of all, many professionals feel their patients can be cared for better in small com-

which said in part:

Mentally disabled persons have been released from public institutions without (1) adequate community-based facilities being available or arranged for, and (2) an effective management system to make sure that only those needing inpatient or residential care were placed in public institutions and that persons released were appropriately placed and received needed services.

"As a result, many mentally disabled persons enter, re-enter or remain in public institutions unnecessarily. Many others have been placed in substandard facilities or were not provided needed services." How could such a well-intentioned reform have created so many

Dr. Steven S. Sharfstein, director of the division of mental health service programs at the National Institute of Mental Health, has an idea: 'The system out there is thought-oriented, and that's usually what we say about the patients. It's a jumble of agencies, eligibility requirements, restrictions, conflicts and barriers." Less publicized but believed to be far more widespread are incidents in which the former patients are left to fend for themselves, often becoming

A San Diego, Calif., couple, Evelyn and Boyce Langston, responded to a television commercial that advertised freezer meat (with freezer) for as little as $9.09 a week. When a salesman came, he immediately told them the advertised plan wasn't big enough for their family of five and convinced them to buy a meat package alone for $105 a month.

In addition, the Langstons were talked into buying a $530 freezer. "I'm sure I could have gotten one just as good at Sears for $250 or less," Evelyn said in retrospect.

And the beef? "None of it was edible. It was tough and very stringy. had to marinate everything for hours before I cooked it.'

Carolyn Van Buskirk had a similar experience last February.

"I got a pound of bacon that was pure white - there was no meat on it." She had ordered a $322 package of freezer meat which was promoted as a six-month supply (it was eaten in 2.5

"None of the meat was any good except the hot dogs and hamburgers. We got some fryers (chicken) that were so skinny there was no meat on them," Carol added.

Both the Langstons and Van Buskirks tried to cancel their orders. But they were talked into exchanging the meat. They found the new meat little better.

The selling of freezer beef packages - that often include highly overpriced freezers along with the meat -

In 1953, the Better Business Bureau, which used to be more heavily involved in consumer protection matters, investigated a sale by Zounds Meat Farms in Chula Vista,

The customer ordered a side of beef (one-half of a steer). Among the cuts

Eleven sirloin steaks representing three "different" sides of beef.

Three rump steaks plus one complete rump - far more than a single side of beef can produce. Four sirloin "tips" which turned out to be ends three more than can be expected from one side of beef. Twenty percent more rib steak than can be obtained from one side of beef. Stew meat that was at least 30 months old.

Meat graded in part USDA 'choice" (which was what the person ordered and paid for) and in part the much lower grade of USDA "com-mercial." (A steer gets only one

Plus 58 pounds of the 200-pound order was waste - a minimum of 24 pounds more waste than could be expected.

Consumer protection agencies have taken action for misrepresentation or shortweighting against several meat companies.

Complaints continue to trickle in to these agencies. But agency spokesmen think they get far fewer complaints than they should

"I think it's a problem that is widespread, but people don't realize that they've been had," said Tony Samson, a deputy district attorney with the consumer fraud division in

For those contemplating a large meat purchase, here are some things you should demand to know:

- The USDA grade of beef, which goes from a top of "prime" to "choice," "good," "standard," "commercial" and "utility." (Supermarkets generally sell "choice" and "good."

- The definition for their term "aged." If it means only three days, the meat isn't going to be extra special.

- The "wrapped" weight of the meat you plan to buy, because many companies talk about "hanging" (gross) weight which is before cutting and waste trimming.

- Exactly what cuts of meat will be delivered.

- The actual price per pound you

Poor people now can get food stamps without cash

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Board of Human Resources voted Thursday to end the requirement that poor people make a cash outlay to obtain food stamps

Board members made the decision at their meeting in Amarillo, and it was announced here.

Jerome Chapman, commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Resources, said he hopes to make the no-cash rule effective around Dec. 1. He must await authorization from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which runs the food stamp program nationally. He said dropping the cash require-ment would add 102,000 persons in 30,000 households to the 773,000

Texans now receiving food stamps. Chapman said he expects the agriculture department to issue guidelines for eliminating the purchase requirement in early October.

If the guidelines come out on schedule, the Texas agency will end the cash outlay rule on Dec. 1, he said.

A family of four receiving $182 a month in food stamps now pays $58 in cash for the stamps, thus getting a 'bonus value" of $124. When the purchase requirement is eliminated, the family will receive the same $124 worth of stamps without paying any-

"Eliminating the cash outlay provi-sion in the food stamp program will provide needy Texans the same amount of nutritional subsidy, while permitting them to retain more of their limited resources for other necessities," Chapman said.

He said thousands of Texans do not have the money to buy their full entitlement of food coupons or are faced with a choice between paying their rent and utilities or buying food

Misapplication of funds charge may halt project

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

Big Spring is ready to move ahead on the drainage of a natural lake, but environmentalists contend the project may be halted on the grounds of misapplication of federal funds.

The critics say "inadequacies" in an environmental impact statement which recommended that the lake be drained raise questions about whether the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development rightfully awarded the city a $165,000 grant.

Edward Fritz, chairman of the Dallas-based Texas Committee on Natural Resources, termed the city's report "a cheap job which was used to get the desired results."

THE CITY HAS ALREADY awarded a Big Spring company the bid for a drainage improvement project along Beal's Creek, which includes draining One Mile Lake.

But even though the project is almost under way, Fritz said he expects some people to question the legitimacy of using federal funds to drain water controlled by the state of Texas off privately owned property which may be developed for personal prof-

He further stated that the environmental impact statement drafted in June of 1977 by Paul Feazelle is "a totally unprofessional job."

Feazelle's report recommended drainage of One Mile Lake because of contentions the lake is the source of mosquito infestation, is responsible for flooding in the city's northwest

"The finished product (environmental impact report) stinks worse than they (city officials) claim the lake does. The report doesn't begin to show any fairness, impartiality or thoroughness," Fritz said.

"It was obviously prepared with a purpose of trying to ram the project through. For one thing, they did not give genuine consideration to the values that the lake would have to the people of Big Spring in the way of recreational and educational use as well for the consideration of wild-

FRITZ, WHO LAST YEAR filed a protest to HUD about "inadequacies" of the environmental impact statement, said the study was not a proper environmental assessment since it failed to include the positive aspects of preserving the lake.

"I personally feel that it is an immoral application of federal funds. And HUD people, as far as protecting the environment and people's pocket book is concerned, are totally incompetent," he said.

"As a federal taxpayer, I don't appreciate being charged for a boondoggle like this. And at this state of the game, I would assume that the city officials are not going to stop without a law suit."

ALTHOUGH THE FEASELLE report did not mention the benefits the lake might have to Big Spring residents if it were converted into a park or recreational area, he did say in an interview that a park would be an alternative to draining the lake.

However, he said the city would be restricted even if it currently wanted to build a park since such a decision would require permission of the property owner and funds — two elements that favor the drainage project.

Bebe McCasland, one of those responsible for holding up the project last year (by joining others in alerting HUD that the city may not have done a thorough job in preparing an environmental review record), would like to purchase the lake area in order to develop a wildlife refuge.

However, Dollie Decker, owner of 145 acres of land covered by the lake, wants to sell the land to another prospective buyer so it can be used for industrial purposes.

Mrs. McCasland said the decision of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to drop the Beal Creek's project this year after having taken an interest in it since the early 1960s "affirms the suspicion that the real reason for FEAZELLE DENIED that development had anything to do with the city's decision to continue the project on a smaller scale after the Corps dropped it plans.

"I just can't see the area becoming productive for industrial development. There's still going to be water problems out there. I would have to get the land for a dollar before it would be of any interest to me,' Feazelle said

"I wouldn't invest any money in it for the purpose of industrial development, and I doubt whether anyone else would.'

ADOLESCENTS, WHOSE DILEMMA? -- UNDERSTANDING ADOLESCENCE

This lesson deals with the emotional and physical development of boys and girls as they reach and pass through the state of puberty. Emphasis is placed upon the developing of a sense of identity with its implications for parental guidance and assurance.

•MORAL VALUES -- CAN PARENTS DO ANYTHING ABOUT THEM?

This discussion reviews variability of ethics and morality as viewed by differenct cultrues and subcultures. Value concepts are shown to be centered and taught within the close relationship of parent and child. Behavioral functions and activities between parent and child are presented as being much more significant in moral value development than anything that can be verbally taught. •SEPTEMBER 23, SATURDAY AFTERNOON, 2:00 P.M.

'There will be no gradual phasing in," said John Braden, an administrative assistant for Atlanta's Department of Aviation. "One plane will be flying in to the old complex, and the next will be directed to the new complex."

Construction is about 30 percent done, on schedule for the completion date of Jan. 1, 1981, Braden said.

The new complex will planes at once, and 60 million passengers per year, compared to the present terminal's capacity of 104 planes and average of 30 million passengers a year. That would make it second to Chicago's O'Hare Airport among busy airports in the world. But numbers are not the only awesome aspect of the "midfield expansion." The complex's futuristic design, encom-passing underground walkways, computerized people-movers and 1,000-foot concourses, seem equally impressive.

A $300-million bond issue is paying for the project. Braden said leases to airlines will provide Atlanta with the money to retire the bonds at low interest, with no cost to the tax-

The concrete used in paving the concourse taxiways is enough to pave 100 miles of interstate highway, or build seven 30-story office buildings the size of one city block, Braden said.

But the typical air pas-senger will not notice the concrete, mainly be-cause he'll be traveling under it when going from the main terminal to the boarding gates.

A mile-long "people mover" mall is being built to connect the terminal with the four concourses from which passengers will board their planes. The mall is an elaborate tunnel which intersects the four 1,000foot concourses where planes are parked.

Travelers will have three options: they can walk, board a moving sidewalk or ride an automated guideway transit minirail system.

Braden said the min-irail, designed by Wes-tinghouse, will be con-trolled by computer. There are no engineers. "Westinghouse guaran-tees that the system will have more than 99 per-cent availability," Braden said. "No car will be down for more than three minutes."

Westinghouse engineers have promised that weary air travelers will not have to wait more than 103 seconds for the next train to ar-

Drug trade shifting to new route

By BEATRIZ DE LA MATA

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) - Customs inspectors made a routine check on a Nashville, Tenn., woman's baggage and said they found 47 pounds of cocaine. A similar check netted four pounds hidden in a statuette bought by a woman arriving from Peru.

Drug officials say the women are "mules" - carriers of illegal drugs that are working the new Caribbean connection that has developed since authorities cracked down on the old Mexico-Texas route.

Here there are special problems. Cruise ships and airplanes carry large numbers of tourists to this resort island both from South America and the U.S. mainland. Once inside Puerto Rico, tourists do not have to monwealth on the way to the mainland. The two recent seizures were only minor raids by law enforcement officers on the new routes from South America that have made Puerto Rico a convenient jumping off point to the profitable U.S. market.

undergo thorough customs inspections before leaving this U.S. com-

In a larger operation — which is an ironic twist — the U.S. Coast Guard is now making the raids on "mother ships" on sea lanes where pirates used to raid Spanish galleons. Ronald Seibert, regional director of the Drug Enforcement Administration, said these Colombian ships carry as much as 100 tons of marijuana in a single trip.

He estimated that some 1,500 pounds of cocaine destined for the U.S. Eastern Seaboard are smuggled annually into Puerto Rico from

There is no realistic estimate of other drugs passing through the Caribbean lanes now being used by smugglers following the crackdown on more established routes through Mexico and other points.

Most of the smuggling is not done by the ships but in smaller quantities by "carriers" lost among the thousands of tourists passing through Puerto Rico and other Caribbean resort areas.

Travelers are "home free" once they get into Puerto Rico, Seibert said. He explained that people coming from South America must go through customs upon arrival but face only a routine Department of Agriculture check when they go on to the U.S. mainland. Agriculture inspectors look mostly for forbidden plants and fruits.

Customs and Drug Enforcement Administration agents seized 76 pounds of cocaine in the first six months of 1978. Seibert said authorities estimate they confiscate only about 10 percent of the total destined

On Aug. 25, agents arrested Betty Inman, 37, of Nashville, Tenn., as she landed in San Juan from Caracas, Venezuela. Authorities said three of her 14 bags contained 47 pounds of cocaine with an estimated street value of $14.3 million. She also had $64,676 in cash and more than 100 gold jewelry items, they said. She is now awaiting trial.

Seibert said that young, middle-class U.S. carriers who are paid $1,000 for each kilo of cocaine they carry back to the United States are the ones usually caught. Most are disguised as tourists.

Cruise ship passengers are allowed to disembark in San Juan and the U.S. Virgin Islands, a short distance away, for several hours without need to go through customs and can easily bring ashore unnoticed several kilos of cocaine or heroine. From here it is no problem to fly it into the U.S.

In the Virgin Islands, five persons have been arrested this year following their arrival from the French-Dutch island of St. Marten with one to six kilos of cocaine.

Seibert said the most ambitious operations are carried out by Colombians who have around 40 World War II vintage vessels they use to transport marijuana and cocaine.

The "mother ships," he explained, carry their cargo compressed into 60-pound packages wrapped in plastic and burlap sacks. The ships then head north through the Windward passage between Jamaica, Cuba and Haiti to rendezvous at sea with smaller ships, which then carry the load to the Florida, Georgia or the Carolina coasts.

Seibert said the U.S. Coast Guard has made a strong effort to intercept the mother ships and the smugglers now also are using the alternate route around Puerto Rico to the Atlantic and into the Bahamas.

Coast Guard officials said that last December the captain of a seized "mother ship" carrying 15,000 pounds of marijuana told them he had "come around north of Puerto Rico because he heard the Coast Guard was pressing in the Windward passage".

DEA has made 47 arrests this year, but Seibert said "the carriers are not our targets. We are after the sources and the recipients.

Only once in a while is a big "money man" arrested, according to Seibert. Last February, Teodoro Ariza Ibarra, a Colombian, was arrested with $5 million in bank checks hidden inside his shoes. His mistake, Seibert said, was that he tried to sell 25 kilos of cocaine and 50,000 pound of marijuana to an undercover agent.

Ariza's bond was set at $10 million, the highest bond ever set in the United States for this type of crime. He was later convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison. "The measure of success is not the amount seized, but the importance of the trafficker," Seibert said.

BIG SPRING - Domino playing, an omelet supper, a pet show, Country and Western singing and an open horse show are in the offing during the Howard County Fair, which runs through Saturday night on the fair grounds here.

Shuffling for the domino tournament resumes at 6 p.m. Friday in the south barn, said A.A. Cooper, a codirector of the Howard County Championship Domino Tournament. The play for the champion title will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, he said.

Twenty four players, making up 12 partnerships, have signed up for the tournament, Cooper said. He expected a larger turnout.

Simon's Rock has place for 'special' students

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass. (AP) - When Andrew Beaman became bored with high school at the age of 16, he dropped out. But he didn't get a job or hang around street corners. He went to college. Beaman, of Jackson, Mich., is like hundreds of students who enter college after their sophomore year of high school instead of waiting until they finish their senior year. Last year, over 1 million students took Advanced Placement Examinations for college entry.

But unlike a growing number of young students who have gone on to college without completing their high school years, Beaman went to a fouryear college designed specifically for this type of student: Simon's Rock Early College.

"Only 10 percent of our students have completed high school before entering," said Dr. Samuel H. Magill, president of the small liberal arts college in Great Barrington, Mass. "Students who come here are usually good solid 'B' or better students in high school. Like Beaman, most are inquisitive and eager to accelerate the educational process. That's why they want to begin college early."

"I was feeling stifled," recalls Beaman. "I was at a large school and the classes were too big. It just wasn't academically challenging. I wanted to get into an area that would be stimulating and to meet interesting Beaman's complaints are similar to those of other students, Magill says. "Some bright children feel out of sync with their classmates and their schools' curricula. Others are good 'A' and 'B' students who just find classes are too large and stultify-

At Simon's Rock the classes are small, usually numbering four to 12 students and sometimes as few as three. All the classes are seminars.

There appears to be mounting evidence that high school students are seeking alternatives to the lock-step educational process that requires four years of high school and four years of college, educators agree.

"It is no surprise that students are looking for alternatives," Dr. Janet Lieberman of LaGuardia Community College in New York City recently told educators attending the annual meeting of the American Association of Higher Education.

Quoting a Carnegie Foundation study, she said, "The report found that 30 percent or more of the academic content of the senior year in high school is repeated in the freshman year in college.

Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore has a special program for gifted math students, some of whom are as young as 12. Tufts University in Boston and Matteo Ricci College at the University of Seattle are among postsecondary schools that admit students without high school degrees.

"Parents might wonder if entry into college without a high school diploma will hurt future opportunities for their children," Magill said. "For students like Andrew Beaman the answer is apparently not."

Beaman graduated with a bachelor's degree from Simon's Rock in June and, at the age of 19, is now enrolled in the University of Michigan Law School. Many of his fellow graduates have gone on to graduate studies at schools such as Harvard and

DEAR DR. SOLOMON: Does Ger man measles occur in epidemics? I so, what are the results?--M.N.

DEAR M.N.: Some rubella case occur every year. Past evidenc shows, however, that large outbreak come every six to nine years in th United States. The last majo epidemic, in 1964, was probably th largest in 30 years. We estimate tha 20,000 to 30,000 infants were born wit severe defects from the 196 epidemic. From the cyclica character of rubella, another large in crease in cases was anticipated in th early 1970s. As yet no such increas has been observed, partly due to larg scale immunization programs.

Scientists from two nations two-week probe of Egyptian desert 17

WASHINGTON (AP) Using space satellites to chart their course, U.S. and Egyptian scientists will venture next week into an Egyptian desert seeking information that could slow the steady encroachment of deserts everywhere onto fertile sqil.

Andrews High School. Judge refuses to block Christie movie

NEW YORK (AP) - Afederal judge has re-fused to block distribution of a movie and novel based on mystery writer Agatha Christie's brief, unexplained disappearance in 1926.

U.S. District Court Judge Lawrence W. Pierce this week dismissed two lawsuits brought by the late writer's estate and by her only child, Rosalind Christie Hicks, who argued that the defendants were infringing on her right of publicity.

The right of publicity covers use of a personality's name or likeness. A recent U.S. Court of Apppeals decision involving the estate of rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley established that the right of publicity is transferrable and inheritable.

However, in dismissing the suits, Judge Pierce concluded that because the "Agatha" plots were fictional and not biographical, "this court finds that the First Amendment protection usually accorded novels and movies outweighs whatever publicity rights plaintiffs may possess and for this reason their complaints must be dismissed."

Named in the suit as defendants were Ballantine Books, which published the book; Casablanca Records and Filmworks; First Artist Corp. and Warner Brothers

Both fiction plots deal with what happened when the writer disappeared from her home on Dec. 4, 1926, and returned 11 days later, saying she had suffered amnesia.

Radioactive dirt scares Salt Lake City residents

By BILL BEECHAM

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Twenty years ago, a fire station was built atop a foundation filled with what seemed harmless dirt. Years passed, and a family took a house near a lot heaped with the same dirt. Neighbors had lived quietly in the peaceful area for decades.

Now one of those neighbors has leukemia, the firemen are frightened, and the young family in the quiet brick house is eager to move away. That dirt is the residue from uranium mining, and only recently have officials determined it is radioactive and may be dangerous. For 20 years, the field just outside uranium ore, and which remain when it is milled.

Two decades ago, when the potential hazards were not well known, more than 2.3 million tons of these radioactive tailings were scattered over the lot by the Vitro Minerals and Chemical Co.

The firm, which processed uranium for atomic weapons, later went out of business. But the tailings are still there - and in similar piles left by firms that have gone out of business in seven other states.

Congress is debating how to help the states get rid of the piles. Meanwhile, people live with the problem. Here are four facets of it:

In hearings before a congressional committee, Rep. Dan Marriott, R-Utah, said a survey projected 24 cases of lung cancer for residents in the Salt Lake City lot's vicinity, six near a site in Durango, Colo., and five at Shi-prock, N.M. John Hanks, a Marriott spokesman, could offer no statistics but called that rate "very abnor-

Lyman Olson, director of the Utah Division of Health, says he is unaware of any cancer cases proven to be caused by the tailings.

"There are so many factors one must take into consideration. Do they smoke? How long have they lived there? What are their genetic characteristics? Where did they live be-Nevertheless, says Olson, large doses of radon gas over 15 to 20 years can cause cancer. "We know that to be the case.'

One person caught in that uncertainty is Ander Burke, 65, who has lived for 35 years in his modest house eight blocks from the Vitro lot. Last February, he said, his doctors told him he had leukemia.

He says he cannot blame the tailings for his condition. 'But then again, it's possible," he adds. "Nobody knows." "I only know that place is a disgrace, an ugly thing that should never have happened."

At first, people saw the pile of tailings as just an ugly scar, the kind of ugliness to which they eventually grew accustomed.

Now property around the lot has become almost valuelesss, residents can't find buyers for their homes, and, in recent years, no new building has been allowed near the perime-

"I don't like the idea of living here," says Pat Hatch, 29, a mother of four whose brick home is aeross the street from the lot.

She says she knows of three area residents who died of cancer.

"I think, 'Maybe the children will get cancer, or my husband, or me.' It's constantly in the back of my mind," she says.

But it is nearly impossible for the family to move, Mrs. Hatch says. "Who would buy the house now?"

Twenty years ago, when the Vitro plant was operating, Salt Lake County did not know the tailings were radioactive. It took advantage of what seemed a bargain, and built its fire station headquarters atop a fourfoot-thick layer of the dirt used as

Now, the State Health Department says firemen are being bombarded with radon gas at a rate six times that permitted for uranium miners.

Assistant Fire Chief Shirl Maxfield has worked in the building since it opened. He said he is concerned but "not panicking. Some of the younger guys, you'd swear they were dying the way they complained."

Fire Chief Charles Paris says precipitators worth $40,000 and new ventilating equipment are being installed, and the county has promised to build a new station. Before those measures were taken, the firemen's unionThad threatened a walkout.

"As long as they know we're doing something about it, they're feeling better," Paris said.

Salt Lake City's Is not the only problem. There are 21 other piles in Pennsylvania, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Arizona and Ore-gon, and two bills are pending in Congress to remove them. One calls for 90 percent federal funding, the other 100 percent. The project would cost an estimated $180 million, according to Hanks.

But the question is asked here: Why wasn't something done sooner?

"For one thing," says Dr. Olson, "we didn't know about their seriousness until relatively recently. The second reason - and this is where the rub has been - was funding."

For years, state and federal governments squabbled over who would foot the estimated $33 million bill to remove the tailings here.

Geraldine Newport, who said her father died of cancer and that she has an "incurable disease" that she would not specify, has lived across the street from the field since before the plant was built.

She said she has often complained about the loose, uncovered tailings and the way the field attracts chil-

WKRP provides varying degrees of wackiness

LOS ANGELES (AP) Radio, rumored to be
 TV without pictures, is a crazy business, its inmates say. Confirmation of this lurks in the new "WKRP in Cincinnati" series on CBS.

It stars Gary Sandy as a young program direc-tor from New Mexico hired to save a dull station whose inept boss (Gordon Jump) gives him "a free hand from here on out - for the

Energy issue awaits attorney general winner

By LANA CUNNINGHAM R-T Staff Writer

Energy and its direct ties with consumer protection are the top issues any state attorney general will face in January when the new one takes office, according to Mark White, Democratic candidate for the post.

White, who was in Midland Thursday, is opposing Republican Jim Baker for the position.

"Coal is environmentally degrad-

White said the office of attorney general must be concerned about this plan because of the safety of the people.

The bill proposes regulation of intrastate gas and the candidate said there is a question of the government's constitutional right to regulate intra- and interstate gas.

Crime is a major issue in his campaign, but White said he disagrees with his opponent on not having juries set punishment.

"I have a high regard for jury assessment. It's one of our strong points we rely upon to maintain freedom in this country. White proposed a task force of experienced prosecutors be formed to assist district or county attorneys in rural areas when their docket becomes filled

That would consitute short-term help and also would help rural areas comply with the state's new Speedy Trial Act, he said. White claimed he has a lead over Baker at this point, but he said the margin may be narrowed some by the November election.

Baker has received money from the northeast (part of the country), according to White, who said most of his money is from Texas.

"I don't understand what interest the people up there (in the northeast U.S.) have in this race," he White described the attorney general's seat as a position of great power. He said it has "to be executed judiciously and wisely.

He said he also sees Texas as a state with many opportunities and that more people are moving to the state because of that.

"An attorney general can have a great deal to say about having that opportunity progess and continue,"

Carter also named Homer F. Broome, of the Los Angeles Police Department, to the No. 2 spot in LEAA, and Henry S. Dogin, a New York state criminal justice official, to be head of policy development.

The appointment of Morris, 54, had been expected. He headed the Center for Studies in Criminal Justice for 10 years, and also served as director of the United Nations Institute for the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders.

this one. The Unimate is Unimation Inc.'s robot. Unimation president Joe Engelberger and his Danbury, Conn., company pioneered industrial robots in 1962 when their first model came out. Recently, Unimation sold its 2,-000th model and controls about 75 percent of the market. However, the company did not turn its first profit Engelberger says many people still fear robots. Business executives fear union reaction, but so far unions haven't reacted much, Engelberger says. "Most of the unions realize that the younger men coming up just won't take those dirty, demeaning jobs, anyway," he says.

Unimation has 85 robots in one diecasting plant. "The deal was to put in robots over 10 years as people retired. Immigrants used to run the machines, but their children weren't about to do it. So it was set up. I could walk down the line, look at the color of hair (how gray it was), and decide how many robots we'd sell in the next

"Nobody lost a job, and because there are five secondary jobs to every die-casting job, employment at the plant actually increased because of increased productivity. The union has said two things: no massive displacements, and whatever the blessings of increased productivity, we get part of it. Give them that, and rational labor leaders will go along."

Jack Wallace, president of the Robot Institute of America, feels the same way. "The robot isn't really a breakthrough; it's just a combination of already developed technologies. We don't want to make an artificial man; nobody wants that. What we want is performance of specific tasks that are mentally beneath the capacity of humans, or physically above

Former teachers pursue schools of fish in Boston

BOSTON (AP) - Elbow-to-elbow with the crusty seamen who work on Fish Pier are a pair of former suburban schoolteachers, the unlikely owners of the first new trawler to join the Boston fishing fleet in 12 years.

The arrival of the shiny Eleanor Eileen among the ragtag collection of ancient, peeling wooden boats is typical of the change in New England fishing since foreigners were banished from American shores a year and a half ago.

By the hundreds, people who watched for a generation while Atlantic fishing shriveled under foreign competition are rushing to cash in on the new-found exclusiveness of America's off-shore domain.

But while a comfortable living can be gathered from the sea, old and new fishermen alike are finding that the 200-mile limit is a mixed blessing. There are more fish to be caught, but there are also more Americans trying to catch them. Tom Horigan, 29, and John O'Connell, 30, gave up their teaching jobs in Canton, a suburb south of Boston, two years ago. With the 200-mile limit soon to take effect, they thought they

'We decided the fishing industry would get a shot in the arm if they kicked the Russians out," said Horigan. "We didn't know then that there would be quotas."

Quotas are the main gripe now of American fishermen. The species they want most - cod, haddock and flounder - are tightly regulated by the federal government. The purpose is to let these kinds of fish replenish themselves.

The limits have eased a bit since the 200-mile limit went into effect in March 1977. But at the same time, the number of fishermen has increased dramatically.

During the first half of 1977, the National Marine Fisheries Service issued 1,100 permits to fish for the three prime species. That number increased to 1,600 during the first six months of this year.

The result is clear, says Joseph Mueller, a fisheries service economist. "There has been a decline in the income of the typical boat."

Fishermen are still doing well. Industry sources estimate that a crewman on a large boat that fishes steadily will make about $25,000 this year, while the skipper will earn $50,-

Despite the restrictions, the two former schoolteachers seem optimistic. They have hired a captain and a five-man crew for their 72-foot, $350,-000 boat. And they have ordered another 80-foot trawler to be delivered in November.

"If the restrictions are eased, we'll be able to make a living," said Horigan. "People are always going to eat fish, and there will always be a

Lubbock Monterey comes to town tonight.

The Plainsmen, coached by James Odom are the Midland High Bulldogs last non-district opponent before they plunge into the tough District 5-4A race, Oct. 6 against Odessa Permian in Odessa.

Super Dog Coach Dennie Hays is anxious for his outfit to wind up nondistrict play with a big win in order to go into its league opener against Mojo in two weeks with a win under their belts. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

The injury bug has hit the ranks of the Bulldogs with Michael Feldt, David Brigham and Blake Feldt, all out of tonight's game with injuries. Michael suffered a broken bone in his left leg two weeks ago in the first half of the Amarillo Tascosa game while Brigham suffered a shoulder injury. Blake broke the same small bone in his left leg as his brother during pre-game drills last week prior to the start of the Eastwood game.

ODOM, MEANWHILE, has some problems too, but his team is still a typical Monterey team as far as size in the line is concerned. Anchoring down the line for the Plainsmen are guard Paul Kaelin (255), tackle George Morris (250) along with tight end Kent Smith (205) and tackle Kelly Gresham (205), but Odom is the first to admit that his team is very young with only two starters back from last year's team which wound up 12-1 with its only loss to Odessa Permian by the score of 7-3 in the Class AAAA quarterfinals. "We are really green and have a long way to go, " said Odom. The main concern of Odom's is the lack of offense thus far. His Plainsmen have tied Class AAA Canyon, 6-6 and then lost last Saturday to a good Wichita Falls Rider team, 17-0. In that 17-0 loss, his defense played well, but just had to spemd too much time on the field.

Todd Hunt, a 145-pounder, is the quarterback for the Hub City team and the rest of the backfield is not large by any stretch of the imagination. Dwyane Smith (165) starts at the fullback slot while wingback Barry Stevens weighs 165 and tailback

Bizarre race plan ends in conviction

NEW YORK (AP) - One of the most sensational scandals in New York thoroughbred racing history has ended the conviction on minor charges of veterinarian Mark Gerard, who won nearly $78,000 when one horse was switched for another in a race at Belmont Park last year. The decision climaxed a case that famed defense attorney F. Lee Bailey called "one of the most bizarre I have tried. It would not make a good fiction story. It's too improbable.

A jury of six men and six women found the 44-year-old Gerard guilty of two misdemeanor charges for substituting the champion Uruguayan thor-oughbred Cinzano for Lebon, a cheap Uraguayan horse that earlier had been destroyed. Each misdemeanor conviction carries a maximum sentence of one year.

THE JURY ACQUITTED Gerard of felony larceny and deceit charges that could have meant imprisonment for another 19 years. Judge Raymond Harrington set sentencing for Nov. 2.

Specifically, Gerard was acquitted of grand larceny in depriving million-aire New York Nets owner Joseph Taub of his horse Cinzano, which was stabled at Gerard's Long Island farm and was purported to have been the destroyed horse; of grand larceny against Lloyd's of London, which paid off $137,000 in insurance on Cinzano; of falsifying business records, and of filing a false insurance claim with

The trouble started last Sept. 23 when Gerard bet Cinzano, running as Lebon, at odds of 57-1. The horse won by four lengths, and Gerard cashed tickets worth $77,920. He has insisted that he made the bet believing that the winning horse really was Lebon. However, the case did not turn on vhether Gerard knew been made, but when he knew.

Describing herself as a vegetarian deeply affected by mistreatment of animals, Alice Gerard said she pulled the switch to embarrass the New York Racing Association, the operator of Belmont and other tracks, which she felt was guilty of needless cruelty to horses.

Throughout the 16 trial days, Bailey insisted Gerard learned of the switch only after the race was run. He told the jury the key issue in the case was when Gerard first knew of the switch - before or after he cashed his winning tickets.

BAILEY REFUSED to label the verdict a victory for Gerard because he "did not admit fixing the race."

"I think they believed Alice swapped the horses sometime before the race and then that Gerard got knowledge of it," he said.

The ringer scandal began a year ago last spring when Cinzano was bought for Gerard for $81,000 and Lebon for $2,000.

The horses arrived here June 4, 1977 and were sold: Cinzano for $150,000 to Taub, and Lebon for $8,500 to trainer Jack Morgan.

Alabama's potion designed to

By MAL FLORENCE The Los Angeles Times

The word out of Tuscaloosa is that Alabama is a good football team but not yet a great one, that there is considerable dropoff in quality from the first to the second team.

And, Paul (Bear) Bryant complains that his boys played listlessly at times in beating Missouri, 38-20, Saturday. This is the Southern Comfort that Bryant, the 65-year-old Alabama coach, serves each week. It's a potion designed to lull Yankees to sleep.

THE FACT IS that top-rated Alabama, which meets USC Saturday at Birmingham in a nationally televised game, is loaded. Here's why:

—'Bama has already defeated two firt-class teams, Nebraska, 20-3, and Missouri, which two weeks ago upset Notre Dame, 3-0.

-With 15 starters returning from the team that thrashed Ohio State, 35-6, last January in the Sugar Bowl. Alabama has the talent and experience to move up from its final No. 2 ranking in 1977 to a national championship in 1978. -Bryant has a quick, pursuing defense led by linebackers Barry Krauss, and Rich Wingo, ends Wayne Hamilton and E.J. Junior, tackle Marty Lyons and cornerback Don McNeal.

Tigers' Ralph Houk

...announces retirement

WHEN LAST SEEN on national TV against Nebraska, Krauss, 6-3, 235, wearing No. 77, was shucking Cornhuskers all night. As a sophomore in 1976, Krauss helped destroy UCLA, 36-6, in the Liberty Bowl and was named player of the game.

-Alabama has one of the nation's most sophisticated wishbone teams and, unlike some other teams that run from this ground-oriented formation, it can also pass.

Jeff Rutledge is another accomplished 'Bama quarterback from the mold of Joe Namath, Kenny Stabler, Steve Sloan and Richard Todd. Until he was intercepted by Missouri, he had thrown 100 straight passes without a turnover.

-AS USUAL, Alabama is deep in running backs. Swift Tony Nathan is averaging 6.2 yards this season. There's also steady Major Ogilvie, Lou Ikner and Billy Jackson, a compact (6-0, 196) sophomore sensation who is the No. 2 rusher)4.3 average) behind Nathan. With Jackson and veteran Steve Whitman alternating, the Crimson Tide doesn't miss Johnny

Davis, last year's fine fullback. -And there's Bryant himself, a legend in his own time. The Bear is the best argument in the country for those opposing mandatory retirement

Bryant, with a leathery, lined face, houndstooth hat and gravelly voice, has had 20 consecutive winning seasons at Alabama, has won 10 Southeastern Conference titles and has been in 19 straight bowl games.

HIS OVERALL 33-year coaching record is 275-76-16, and that puts him within four to five years of passing Amos Alonzo Stagg's all-time mark of 314 victories.

Bryant intends to get the record, saying, "I'll coach at least four more years. If anyone is going to be the winningest college coach of all time, it might as well be me.

The mandatory retirement age at Alabama (a state school) is 70. But Charley Thornton, assistant 'Bama athletic director and longtime associate of Bryant, reasons that the legislature would amend the law if the Bear wanted to stay around longer.

Bryant has a more immediate goal. He wants to become the first coach to win five national championships since the advent of the wire-service polls. He and the late Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and former USC coach John McKay are tied with four apiece.

SO IT'S OBVIOUS that John Robinson's young Trojans will be thoroughly challenged in Birmingham - not only by a veteran Alabama team but by the cagey Bear himself.

Last year, USC was the nation's No. ranked team near midseason and riding the nation's longest consecutive-win streak at 15. The Trojans then were upset by 'Bama, 21-20, at Now Alabama is No. 1 and protecting a 12-game win streak, best among the nation's major colleges. The Tide is favored by 111/2 points over USC.

Moreover, the temperature in Birmingham Monday was in the 90s with humidity to match.

"WE JUST HOPE it stays that way for Southern Cal this Saturday," said an Alabama official.

Alabama's offensive line may not be as formidable as Bryant's other units. There are three new starters up front, tackle Buddy Aydelette (a converted tight end) and guards Mike Brock and Vince Boothe, who are trying to take up the slack for gra-duated guard Bob Cryder, an All-American last year and the New England Patriot's No. 1 draft choice. But center Dwight Stephenson, 6-3, 230, is an All-American prospect and his matchup with USC nose guard Rich Dimler figures to be a feature of

Cubs tie record but still lose

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs called on the reserves, but still couldn't stop the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Despite the use of a Nattional League record-tying 27 players Thursday, the Cubs were found lacking in the defensive area and as a result dropped a 3-2, 14-inning decision to Pittsburgh.

"It was just a typical Pirate battle," said Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner, whose Pirates have been winning close games all year to stay in contention in the hot National League East race.

Pittsburgh's four-hour, 40-minute marathon victory moved the Pirates within 11/2 games of the Philadelphia Phillies, who were rained out at Montreal Thursday.

'We've been inspired all year and hanging in there all year like this," Tanner said. "There's no more inspiration from this than from any

This latest Pirate victory was fa-shioned with the help of Matt Alexander's running and two wild throws by the Cubs. Alexander, a pinch-runner, scored the winning run in the 14th when he stole second and continued home on a pair of poor throws on the

"It was a gamble," said Alexander. "I made it safe and we won the ballgame. I figured the first pitch would be a pitchout. On the second pitch, I took off."

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Diego Padres beat the San Francisco Giants 5-1; the Houston Astros blanked the Atlanta Braves 2-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals took a 6-2 decision over the New York Mets.

Pinch-hitter Rennie Stennett started the Pirate rally in the 14th with a walk off reliever Bruce Sutter, 8-10, and was replaced by Alexander. With Frank Taveras at bat, Alexander took off for second, continued to third when catcher Dave Rader's throw went into center field and kept going when center fielder Bobby Murcer's throw got by third baseman Rodney Scott.

The 27 players used by the Cubs tied an NL record set Sept. 13, 1974 by Philadelphia in a 17-inning game against St. Louis. The Cubs and Pirates used a total of 45 players, falling six short of the NL mark set in the Philadelphia-St. Louis contest.

Padres 5, Giants 1 Gaylord Perry, who turned 40 last Friday, became the first NL pitcher to win 20 games this year as San Diego beat San Francisco.

Jerry Turner singled home two runs as the Padres broke open a close game with a four-run seventh. Gene Richards, who went 4-for-4, and Gene Tenace added RBI singles in the in-

Perry, who last won 20 games in 1974 while pitching for the Cleveland Indians, was removed in favor of Rollie Fingers after pitching four-hit ball for seven innings. Perry, 20-6, retired the last 10 batters he faced, and 18 out of the last 20. Astros 2, Braves 0

Ken Forsch pitched a five-hitter and struck out 10 while establishing a personal high with his 10th victory of the season as Houston blanked Atlan-Forsch, 10-6, walked only one and allowed only one Atlanta runner to reach third base. Phil Niekro, 19-16, absorbed the loss. A leadoff single in the sixth inning by Jeff Leonard and Jose Cruz's RBI double gave the Astros a 1-0 lead. Houston added an insurance run in the seventh on singles by Bruce

Bochy and Julio Gonzalez and a runscoring single by Leonard.

Cardinals 6, Mets 2 John Urrea combined with Buddy Schultz on a four-hitter and belted a two-run single to lead St. Louis over New York.

Urrea, 4-9, who entered the game with a 5.64 earned run average, permitted just a one-out single to Doug Flynn in the fifth inning and struck out four and walked three in seven innings. Schultz pitched the last two innings, allowing a run in the ninth on a triple by Lee Mazzilli and single by

Loser Craig Swan, 8-6, allowed all six Cardinal runs in his seven innings, but only the first three were earned. Ted Simmons smacked a two-run triple for the Cardinals in the first in-

Astros rehire Virdon

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Astros may be just 1½ games out of the cellar in the National League's Western Division, but Manager Bill Virdon and his staff will all be back in search of improvement next season. The announcement that Virdon has been rehired for 1979 was made Thursday by Tal Smith, president and general manager of the Astros. Virdon, fired by the New York Yankees in 1975 before he came here. acknowledged Houston's 69-83 record through Thursday has been disap-

Virdon said his coaching staff would return intact in 1979.

"We had the idea in our minds we were not good enough to win the division but that we could make it interesting," he said.

Same old story; Hunter, Gossage win for Yanks

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees have the Boston Red Sox on an electric treadmill, and it's been a couple of Yankee right arms turning on the switch.

Catfish Hunter started and Rich Gossage finished in a story that has been repeated numerous times since Hunter came off the disabled list in the middle of July.

And as been their custom since the end of July, when Bob Lemon became the manager, the Yankees won. This time they beat Toronto 7-1 as Hunter and Gossage combined on a five-hitter Thursday night. The Red Sox, who have been winning of late - four of the last five games — beat Detroit 5-1 but went nowhere because of the Yankee victory.

With each team having nine games left, the Yankees lead the Red Sox by two games in the American League East

"I felt too good. I thought I was going to throw it past the first hitter," said Hunter, who gave up a leadoff homer to Rick Bosetti and just three other hits in six innings. Gossage, who has two wins and seven saves in his last 11 appearances, worked three innings of one-hit ball for his leagueleading 24th save.

"I felt like Sandy Koufax. I got the ball anywhere I wanted," said Hunt-

The only similarity between Hunter and Koufax in June was that Koufax's sore arm ended his career and Hunter seemed to be going the same route. But a miracle shoulder maniuplation treatment has Hunter, 11-5, throwing like the Cy Young winner of old. He's won eight of his last nine decisions.

"We don't have to turn it on," said the inspirational Hunter. "It's going just like last year.'

Last year, the Yankees won the World Series, but they looked like also-rans until Lemon's easy-going style allowed them to concentrate on baseball rather than the hysterics of the Billy Martin regime. "Our pitching's been outstanding," said Lemon, the Hall of Fame pitcher who's watched the Yakees go 41-17 since taking over the club. "Since I got here, we're leading the league in pitching." Elsewhere, Texas beat Minnesota

6-3 and Kansas City whipped Milwaukee 8-4, moving 5½ games ahead of idle California in the AL West race. Red Sox 5, Tigers 1 Dennis Eckersley, the stopper of the staff, pitched a six-hitter for his 18th victory and his ninth this season following a Boston loss. He also won vaging the final game of a crucial three-game weekend series.

Carlton Fisk snapped an 0-for-22 slump with an RBI single in a threerun first inning. After Fisk's two-out hit, Fred Lynn walked to load the bases and Butch Hobson singled in two runs.

Jason Thompson's 25th homer lead-ing off the seventh was the only run for the Tigers, whose manager, Ralph Houk, announced his retirement before the game, effective at the end of the season. Les Moss, manager of the Tigers' top farm club, will get the promotion. Royals 8, Brewers 4

The magic number is now five for Kansas City's third straight AL West crown. George Brett singled home the tying run in the fourth and clubbed a solo homer in the sixth to help beat Milwaukee and move 51/2 games ahead of idle California. Dennis Leonard scattered 10 hits for his 19th victory in 36 decisions.

Rangers 6, Twins 3

Jon Matlack, 14-13, fired a five-hitter, winning on the road for only the second time in 12 decisions. The hardthrowing left-hander struck out five and walked two for his 17th complete game of the season.

Pinch-hitter Johnny Grubb broke open a 3-2 ballgame with a two-run double that keyed a three-run eighth

But if the Phillies somehow hang on to win the division - one observer suggested that to do that they'll need a five-game lead going into that final four-game series - the individual awards could go elsewhere.

Larry Bowa of the Phillies and Reggie Smith of the Los Angeles Dodgers would be stiff MVP competition for Parker. Bert Hooton of the Dodgers, J.R. Richard of Houston, and a couple of pitching graybeards — San Diego's Gaylord Perry and Phil Niekro of Atlanta — would have the Cy Young edge on Tekulve. Atlanta's Bob Horner would become the favorite in the NL rookie balloting (if he's not already) and San Francisco pilot Joe Altobelli would probably win the Manager of the Year award.

SO THAT four-game set becomes crucial on two levels and, ordinarily, that kind of showdown would pack the ballpark. You can be sure if the teams were playing in Philadelphia's Veteran's Stadium, the joint would be jumping. But the Pirates' advance sale for the series has been only so-so and the front office is expecting crowds of around 30,000 for each of the Three Rivers Stadium has been struggling through the attendance blahs this season. Through games of last Sunday, Pittsburgh had totaled 839,915 for 64 dates, down more than 330,000 from last year and dead last in the National League, trailing such less than sparkling attractions as the New York Mets, and St. Louis Cardinals That's ominous and inexplicable in a year when baseball attendance records continue to tumble. Pittsburgh fan apathy for the first half of the season was understandable. The Pirates were, themselves, pretty apathetic, wondering along in the middle of the NL East race until August 12, when they found them-selves at their lowest ebb, a fat 11½ games off Philadelphia's pace.

THAT'S WHEN the Pirates took off on a 23-3 binge which rocketed them to within one-half game of the Phillies on Sept. 6. They had wiped out 11 games worth of their deficit in three weeks in what Tanner said at the time might have been the greatest comeback in baseball history because of how quickly it occurred.

Then they slid back to five games behind again and it seemed that the Phillies had recovered control, just in time. But you can't sell this Philadelphia club short when it comes to being able to create a crisis. The Phillies are past masters at the art.

Having survived their first scare, Philadelphia succeeded in creating another. We'll find out just how serious this one is in the season's final four games, when the division title and a few other things will be decid-

break for Washington

Joe Washington's 54-yard touchdown pass for Baltimore against New England Monday night shouldn't have been that much of a surprise. Although a running back with the Colts and in college at the University of Oklahoma, Little Joe was a quarterback in high school at Houston, until, that is, former Midland Cubs pitcher Dyain Frazier ran him off.

It may have been the biggest break of Joe's athletic life. Frazier set all kinds of state offensive records, running and passing, with no little help from Washington, and was offered a scholarship by Colorado, but opted for a pro baseball career. Washington, meanwhile, who might have been ignored as a guy too small to play quarterback in college, was plucked by the Sooners and became an All-

LET'S SEE, last week we wrote a column suggesting that the only place the Dallas Cowboys might find any competition this year was in a Higher. League. Would you believe the next Lower League? Few expected the Dallas Cowboys to cruise undefeated through a 16game schedule, but the guess here was that it would come as a result of a blind-siding blitz by some non-descript rival.

For an opponent like the Rams, the Cowboys were expected to be more emotionally hyped. After all, Los Angeles, despite past failures, is a probable division and a Super Bowl possibility.

A lot of folks are disturbed over Tony Dorsett's paltry 38yard output against Los Angeles. Compared to O.J.'s six yards on seven carries, that's a

Punters face ticklish dilemma when kicking to Houston

HOUSTON (AP) - For the first time this season, punters facing the Houston Oilers will have to contend with a ticklish dilemma - kick to Billy "White Shoes" Johnson or rookie Johnny Dirden.

"He's going to have to kick to one of them," Oilers specialty coach John Paul Young said, referring to Los Angeles punter Frank Corral. The unbeaten Rams visit the Oilers in the Astrodome Sunday seeking their fourth consecutive victory under new Coach Ray Malavasi. Johnson, the defending National Football League punt return champion, has been hobbled with a knee injury since the final preseason game, but thinks he's about ready to start his own personal season. "I took some treatment and did this and that," Johnson said, "but I learned that nothing heals like Mother Nature. Only time and rest could help, so I slowed down. My coaches and teammates have been great about it. There's been no pressure on

"But it bothers me seeing the other guys playing without me. I'm looking forward to contributing." In Johnson's absence, the Oilers discovered another return star in Dirden, who was driving a cement truck this time last year and only dreaming of playing pro football.

Dirden led the NFL in kickoff returns after the first week of the regular season and still is No. 2 in the American Football Conference with a 33.5 yard average per return.

With Johnson out of the lineup, opposing kickers also had been avoiding Dirden.

Finley considering sale of A's to furniture dealer

CHICAGO (AP) - Charles Finley, who has dickered over the cost of his Oakland A's in the past, this time is talking with Oakland furniture dealer Ed Bercovich about a possible sale of the club.

"We are sitting here drinking white German wine and looking at Lake Michigan," said Finley from his lakefront apartment Thursday. He reportedly wants $12 million for his club.

We are just having conversation so far. I haven't seen any money yet. I haven't examined his pockets yet and I haven't seen any green stuff fall on

"He has a brown satchel with him. I don't know what's in it - a tape recorder or money," said Finley. "I hope he doesn't turn out like some of those Texas promoters who were hot for the A's — big hats but no cattle."

Bercovich was accompanied by his lawyer, Steven Kay. Word from Oakland indicated that owner Al Davis of the Oakland Raiders football club also was along, but Finley said he hadn't seen him.

Houston acquires Slick Watts

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets traded a first-round draft choice to the New Or leans Jazz for guard Slick Watts and released Ed Ratleff, a five-year man taken by the Rockets in the first round of the 1973 draft.

The Rockets acquired Watts' contract Thursday in exchange for their first round pick in 1981. He will fill a vacancy created when Mike Newlin broke a bone in his right hand during a practice session Monday. Newlin is expected to miss six weeks or more. The 6-foot-1, 175-pound Watts was with Seattle four seasons before he was traded to New Orleans for its 1981 first round draft choice. In the 1975-76 season.

Watts became the first player to win league titles for assists and steals, posting an average of 8.1 assists and 3.2

Lee Lacy feels Gilliam's absence LOS ANGELES (AP) - The absense of Jim Gilliam is felt deeply by many members of the Los Angeles Dodgers' organization. But perhaps nobody feels it like Lee Lacy.

Only last week, Gilliam was busily involved in the activities of the Dodgers, hitting ground balls before games, offering suggestions around the batting cage and coaching first

But last Friday, he suffered a stroke and underwent complicated surgery for a massive cerebral hemorrhage. The 49-year-old former Dodgers' star and a member of the organization since 1953 has been in a coma and in critical condition ever

"It's really hurt me," said Lacy, the Dodgers' versatile utility player. "We were always doing things together, off the field, on the road.

"Basically, he's a New York man," added Lacy. "He'd always have a nice restaurant to take me to there. Or we'd go to a clothing store with a gift certificate from a radio show and look around. Things like that."

Lacy recalled when his friendship with Gilliam began, back when he signed with the Dodgers.

'In 1969, Jim and Walter Alston (the Dodgers' Manager at the time) came to the Instructional League (in Lacy. "Then, the next year, they invited me down to the spring training camp with them.

"That meant a lot to me, them showing real interest in me. When I came to the big leagues, Jim was retired, a former star. When he said something I listened. He had my total respect.'

Gilliam, who hit .265 through 14 seasons with the Dodgers, talked freely last spring about his one unfilled desire in baseball. He felt he had all the qualifications to be a manager.

He mentioned, without bitterness, that owners appeared reluctant to hire another black after Frank Robinson was fired by the Cleveland

Gilliam made it clear he was ready, able and willing if a call ever came. But it didn't.

"He's most definitely missed, severely missed," said Lacy. "All of us give our prayers to his family.

"It's tough, but we've got a job to do now. He wouldn't want us to sit around and weep. He'd want us to go out'and win the pennant and the se-

Golfers find dream course in Napa tournament

NAPA, Calif. (AP) - Several members of the pro golf tour, along with 40-year-old club pro Paul Biocini, have found the kind of course most golfers only play in their dreams.

"You felt like you were going to make every putt you had," said Dave Eichelberger after posting a 6-underpar 66 which gave him a share of the first-round lead Thursday in Napa's $200,000 tournament.

Ed Sneed, another of the leaders, also had that feeling — especially after he made a 65-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 13th hole of Silverado Country Club's 6,481-yard south

"The thing that set up the round was my putting on the back nine. I played it in 6 under," said Sneed, who won the tournament here in 1973. "It's unbelievable how much the course has improved. It's never been in bad shape, but it's much better now than it ever has been.

Rex Caldwell and Jay Haas were the other tour regulars to open with 66s and share the lead on an opening day that saw 78 golfers, over half the field, break par on Silverado's north and south courses, both par-72.

The north course is almost 300 yards longer and was playing quite a bit tougher. A foursome at 67 included just one player, Eddie Pearce, from the north course and three who played the South and its lush greens — Pat Fitzsimons, Bob Zender and Pat McGowan

At 68, in a large group with bigname company such as Tom Watson, Dave Hill and Ben Crenshaw, was Biocini, the club pro from Manteca,

"This is the first time I've played in a PGA tournament. I feel very lucky and I made some putts," said Biocini, who crashed the tournament field on the basis of his point standing among northern California club pros.

Others in the majority under par included Mark Hayes, Gay Brewer, Jerry McGee and Charles Coody at 69; Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Andy North and PGA champ John Mahaffey at 70, and Lee Trevino, Gene Littler and Masters champ Gary Player at 71.

Miller Barber, the tournament's defending champion was at 72 and Ron Streck, winner of last week's Texas Open, was at 74. But at least they had the advantage of teeing off today on the popular south course.

The Napa tournament is sponsored by Anheuser-Busch.

Judge refuses UIL injunction

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A state district court judge has refused to issue a temporary injunction prohibiting enforcement of the University Interscholastic League's one-year transfer rule.

The UIL rule requires non-senior athletes to sit out a year after transferring to another school. The American Civil Liberties Foundation of Texas Inc., which is challenging the rule's legality in a class action suit, sought the temporary injunction to make non-senior football players eligible for varsity competition before the Oct. 9 trial of the

State District Court Judge Harley Clark, in refusing the injunction request Thursday, said he did not want to create any confusion among the

'Should temporary relief be granted now and some court rule in the opposite direction later, then there would be a lot of confusion, certainly among the students," Clark said.

Rozelle rules against Starr

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The National Football League commissioner was reported today to have ruled against Green Bay Packer Coach Bart Starr concerning his charge that an Oakland Raiders defensive back took a "cheap shot" at Packer running back Terdell Middleton.

An NFL spokesman said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle reviewed films of the play in question and talked to Starr by telephone.

The Packer coach had contended the Raiders' Jack Tatum illegally hit Middleton in the face with a forearm during Oakland's 28-3 victory over the Packers at Green Bay last Sunday. No penalty was called on the play.

Psychologist says violence in sports result of frustration

By TIMOTHY HARPER Associated Press Writer

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — In Minnesota, a football referee is seriously injured by a whisky bottle tossed from the stadium's upper deck.

In Cleveland, drunken fans hurl racial slurs and dump beer on a base-ball player lying unconscious after crashing into an outfield wall.

In Milwaukee, 13-year-old hockey players celebrate their victory of rough, dirty play with beers and curses they got from their adult

In Houston, a scuffle on a basketball court ends when one player falls unconscious, out for the season undergoing operations to rebuild his

ALL ARE EXAMPLES of the growing trend of violence in sports, from grade school to the pros, from the playgrounds to the superdomes, from the kid with broken glasses to the pro football player who may be paralyzed

"Violence in sports is escalating. It's becoming a very real social problem." says Fred Hatfield, a physical education professor at the University of Wisconsin. As a sports psychologist and sports sociologist, his research in recent years has made him one of the nation's foremost academic authorities on sports violence.

"I believe sports violence is going to continue to escalate for a good long time to come," Hatfield predicts. "Nothing short of a total re-education of generations of fans and athletes alike will change it."

HE NOTES there is much current attention on football violence since Sports Illustrated magazine recently ran a three-part essay on the topic, but says the problem of violence extends to almost all sports and includes players, attending fans and barroom bettors.

One problem in studying sports vio-lence, he says, is that experts can't agree on the many and varied theories for what triggers violent behavior at sporting events.

Some say it's frustration-aggression, others say it's a hereditary action innate to man. Some say it's socially learned, and others say it's simply a function of oneupmanship aimed at producing full grandstands and winning teams.

"They almost all fit," Hatfield says of the theories.

He believes sports, as a mirror of society, merely reflects a more violent American society resulting partly from sweeping technological ad-

"THERE'S FRUSTRATION with jobs, with the economy," he says. "Many people lead what they see as unfulfilled, meaningless lives. Violence lends zest to a person's life."

Both American society — because of technology - and sports - because of free agentry — are disorganized societies, Hatfield says. Families are breaking down and relationships loose knit, athletes jump to teams on the basis of dollar signs and people move every two years in cities and every four years in the country.

"Many people no longer have a stake in the community," he says.

Whatever the cause, Hatfield says, those who deplore violence elsewhere in life accept it and sometimes applaud it in sports.

"Once a player or a fan commits a violent act without guilt, they're much more likely to do it again," he

Reform, he says, must start with

"RE-EDUCATION for youngsters in sport has to be such that violence is removed as a strategy," Hatfield says. "It is often a reactive, lashing out thing, but violence is also often used to gain some type of advan-

Conditioning, communication key to Kent Benson's improvement

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) - His rookie season was tumultuous and depressing - starting with his opening-game conflagration with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. But Kent Benson says his outlook has improved, and Milwaukee Bucks Coach Don Nelson says the young center has improved 100 percent as a basketball player.

Both attribute the changes to better communications between them, as well as peak conditioning. The 6-foot-10 former Indiana University All-American has shed 17 pounds to 233, partly to improve his mobility and partly to ease strain on the knee he injured last December.

The injury was the most obvious reason for Benson's disappointing rookie season, when the first player chosen in the NBA's 1977 collegiate draft averaged only 7.8 points and 4.3 rebounds per game.

But perhaps just as significant was the emotional torment Benson suffered after his one-punch knockout by Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles in the season opener here. The right cross to Benson's temple gave him severe headaches for months, along with psychological scars. He believes the public wrongly saw him as the villain in the ugly incident.

BENSON, WHO REFUSED to discuss it for months, spoke of it freely and with a measure of bitterness at the Bucks' training camp at Carroll College here Tuesday. He implied that the reason he's willing to discuss it now is that his attitude has improved, the result of his improved relationship with Nelson.

"The whole experience was a shock, especially when I found out the punch came very close to killing me," Benson said. "That shook me. People said it was over, that I should get over it, but not many people have been through something like that. The headaches were so intense I couldn't sleep for two months, and when I did I woke up with flashbacks of it.

"What bothered me was the clips on TV didn't show everything," he said. "They showed me as the villain, giving Kareem the elbow before he hit me. What they didn't show was Kareem instigating it by giving me the first elbow.

"HE ELBOWED ME in the sternum, and I had had a bruised rib cage," he said. "The clips didn't show that, but he probably hurt me more than with the elbow I gave him to acknowledge the first one. And I certainly didn't react to his elbow the way he reacted to mine.

"When we played again in LA, I offered my hand to him as a sign it was all over, but he would not accept it," he said. "Then at the end of the first quarter he came over and we shook hands. As far as I'm concerned, it's over. The guy just lost his compo-

Benson was asked if that meant he had forgiven Abdul-Jabbar. "You can forgive a human failing,"

BENSON MISSED a few games after the punch, then played creditably, although not sensationally, until the mid-December knee injury sidelined him for several more games. It also permanently lost him the starting center's job to John Gianelli. Benson thought he should have played more after he recovered. "I was confused and bewildered, because I was getting as many points and rebounds as John in proportion to what playing time I did get and what John got," Benson said. "Then when Coach Nelson wanted me to play in the summer league this year, I told him I thought we needed to talk some things over first, and I invited him down to Indianapolis."

What grated on Benson besides lack of playing time was a statement attributed to Nelson last spring in which he seemed to question Benson's dedication to basketball.

Lasorda is Mr. Charm, but it wasn't always so sweet By JOHN HALL dazzled by his showbiz fan club he no without interruption, that he appears

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - Tom Lasorda stood with a sportswriter in the door-way of his office at Dodger Stadium. Inside was a traffic jam of ballplayers and guests eating, joking, needling, laughing, watching television and making small talk. In a few minutes the Dodgers would go out for infield practice, warmups and another arm wrestle with Cincin-

One of the rookies recently brought back from the minors walked past. "Hey, wait a minute! Where are you going? Stop a second!" Lasorda

The manager introduced the rookie. "This is the finest writer in the history of American journalism," he said to the rookie. "You are lucky to be meeting baseball's next superstar. He's going to win the Cy Young Award. And now you can always say you knew him when, that you met this young pitcher before it all happened," he said to the sportswriter.

ABOUT ALL Dave Stewart could do was grin. "He always makes you feel like a million dollars," Stewart managed to chuckle. The strong righthander, a football and baseball All-American at St. Elizabeth High in Oakland, then moved on with a Lasorda repeated the cornball ritu-il with Rick Sutcliffe, who has heard it before, and a couple other rookies, leaving them nearly speechless, as usual, over his blarney.

It doesn't always work. Lasorda doesn't actually expect his runaway enthusiasm to always come through or for it to always be taken too seriously. He long ago developed a genius for exaggeration and the white lie and he still sometimes is surprised when somebody takes what he says as

HE IS a put-on artist and probably should be required by law to wear a sign saying so. Anyway, he was in good form - about the same sort he's displayed in 28 years in the organization as southpaw pitcher, scout, minor league manager, big league coach and leader of the band.

Some say Lasorda is changed, a fathead gone Hollywood, an ego so longer has time for his players, media regulars or old friends.

You observe his pregame rumpus room full of laughing players sharing his egg roll, you listen to him laying on the old romance with the rookies and you can conclude only one thing about the rumors. Nonsense. Still...

"SURE, EVERYTHING IS cool now," a veteran baseball writer said later in the press box. "It's easy now. The Dodgers have it made. Lasorda will be Mr. Charm in the playoffs. everybody will love him. But it wasn't so sweet when the Giants were out in front. There was a lot of pressure and the manager made some mistakes." Well, isn't that always the way?

Mistakes are the name of this game of the long, hot summer. The big deal is how many you correct and eliminate. If Lasorda has offended any of his ballplayers or media along the way, he says he's unaware of it. He knows he's had some shoutdowns here and there, but he's a shouter by nature and doesn't figure it's anything to be taken as "forever" when he lets his larynx all hang out.

IN HIS tenderest moments, he can make a whispered sweet nothing sound like a bomb blast in a library. That's his style and his charm and he must be doing something right. For his 51st birthday Friday, the Dodgers are about to give him a clincher on his second straight division title. Two for two in the National West can't be improved.

The Lasorda Dodgers of '78 go into their final nine games with baseball's best record. Whatever his public relations techniques, the 3.2 million Dodger stadium attendance is something. Before Lasorda last season and this, nobody even came close to 3

But his critics say it's all buttons. Just press 'em. Some say Lasorda didn't display strong enough leadership in the Don Sutton-Steve Garvey fight, that he told different things to different people in the mixup over whether Rick Monday or Bill North was No. 1 center fielder, that he should not have allowed Davey Lopes to angrily chew out a sports editor in the manager's office, that he rarely gives a direct answer to a question, that he rarely has time for questions on the Johnny Carson show more often than Carson and that the mushrooming numbers of showbiz celebs in the dugout are suffocating.

IT IS SAID Monday and Lee Lacy, in particular, are not leaders of the Lasorda rooting section.

OK, let's go looking for a team in any sport where every athlete likes every other athlete and second stringers are perfectly happy and not a nose is out of joint nor a hair out of place. If we could find that, we'll be on some other planet.

A magazine said Lasorda's conduct is driving his players and the media up the wall. A sportscaster said on radio Lasorda no longer speaks to the press because he no longer trusts

"Look at the walls," Lasorda urged. "Do you see anybody up there? If I'm not talking with the media, who am I talking with? I get along as well as ever with any writer I ever knew. Anybody wants me for anything they know where to find me. Look around, what do you see?"

It's only natural that success has brought more demands on his time and thus there's less to spread around. But what we saw the last two pretty much the same old Tom. He still leads the league in hugging as well as bleeps. Mostly, what we see is a manager who's got his team together as well as any and better than most with the best record

Wrestler dies

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) - An 18year-old University of California freshman wrestler collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack Thursday, the university announced.

He was identified as Eric Leaf of Rhonert Park, Calif.

The university's sports information department said Leaf had completed stretching exercises and was in the weight room when he collapsed.

Leaf was pronounced dead on arrival at a campus hospital. The cause of death was tentatively diagnosed as heart failure, the university report-

Ruffian Handicap set Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) -Late Bloomer and Pearl Necklace, two 3-year-old fillies who this year always have gotten a piece of the purse, will contest a $100,000-added race Saturday at Belmont that is named after a filly who made a habit of collecting first money — the Ruffian Handicap.

A total of 11 3-year-old fillies were entered Thursday for the 11/4mile stakes named after the brilliant filly who broke down during a match race with the colt Foolish Pleasure during match race in 1975 and had to be destroyed.

Greentree Stable's Late Bloomer was made the early 3-1 favorite, with Pearl Necklace next at 3-1 followed by Cum Laudie Laurie at 5-1.

Gas supply looks good

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission says the nation's interstate pipelines probably can get enough natural gas this winter to avoid numerous closings of industrial plants, but warns some plants may have to burn alternate fuels at times.

The commission staff, in a summary of reports collected from 29 major interstate pipelines that carry some 99 percent of the natural gas flowing across state lines, said the companies expect to have slightly less gas delivered this winter than last

The expected supplies do not include emergency gas purchases that might be necessary to meet surges in demand.

"It appears that the national impacts of natural gas curtailment this coming winter are generally manageable if gas supplies, including 60-day emergency volumes and alternate fuels, are available in anticipated quantities, and if weather is not extremely cold throughout the winter," the report said.

It said a preliminary Department of Energy study indicates that no significant shortage of alternate fuels such as propane and fuel oil is anticipated, even if the winter is colder than nor-

One killed when crude storage area explodes

By DAN EVEN

HACKBERRY, La. (AP) — A yellow-red ball of burning oil boiled over an alligator-infested swamp of palmetto and sawgrass today following an explosion that left one man dead and another seriously injured at the showcase storage site of the nation's strategic petroleum reserves.

The fire, at one time visible for 30 miles, lessened in intensity overnight but a plume of smoke still billowed from it today and officials said it might burn for at least two days. It was fed from an underground cavern - 10 stories high and as big as a city block - that held 7 million barrels of crude oil being stored as a hedge against foreign oil embargos.

Firefighting experts "Boots" Hansen and "Coots" Mathews surveyed the fire today and were waiting for workmen to relieve pressure in the cavern before trying to blow it out.

The fire roared up a six-inch drill pipe during routine maintenance late Thursday and caught about 20 men on a steel drilling rig, officials said. Two men were burned while four dived to safety in a mudbank and the others clambered down a staircase just ahead of the flames. The heat melted the drilling rig.

"We don't know what happened," said Bill Parker, deputy project man-

But workmen said the fire was touched off by a spark that was struck while they were pulling a drilling bit up the pipe.

"A big stream of oil spewed into the air about 50 to 60 feet high for about 40 seconds. Then there was a loud explosion that rocked my truck and the oil caught on fire," said George LaBove, a mechanical inpsector who was about a quarter mile away. The dead man was identified as

Clarence Simon Sr., 38, of Abbeville, La. In stable condition with burns over half of his body was Bradley Bergeron, 22, of New Iberia, La. We've got every trick in the book working to try and control it," said Parker. Earthen dikes were hastily pushed up to contain the flames in a 200square-foot puddle. "There will be an inquiry," Parker said. "There were men on the rig platform so we will have plenty of sites along the Gulf Coast to take on oil. It blew when the cavern was half The work crew was conducting a routine oilfield maintenance chore - cleaning out a dirty hole extending 3,240 feet down into the cavern, officials said. "It's a standard procedure that

Coastal States has scheduled a special Nov. 10 shareholders meeting to consider the settlement under which LoVaca would be spun off as part of a new and independent firm, Valero Energy Corp. The settlement terms also provide for Coastal States to spend about $180 million over a 15-year period to find gas supplies for LoVaca. A Coastal States spokesman said Border Exploration, with headquarters in Houston, already has a gas test drilling at a depth of about 13,000 feet

Men accused in fuel oil case plead innocent

By PAT LEISNER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Seven men, including four Houston oilmen, pleaded innocent Thursday to charges of scheming to inflate the price of fuel oil sold to the Florida Power Corp. during the 1974 energy crisis.

Their trial was set for December. The defendants, each accompanied by his attorney, appeared before U.S. Magistrate Paul Game during a 15minute arraignment and entered their pleas to charges in a 12-count conspiracy and fraud indictment. Game set Oct. 3 for a pretrial hearing in the oil-pricing scandal and scheduled the trial during the December term of U.S. District Judge W. Terrell Hodges. No specific date was set, but Hodges will be on the bench the weeks of Dec. 4 And 11.

During the brief proceedings, each defendant entered his plea separately before Game in the small, packed courtroom, then left. Federal investigators claim the accused conspired to manipulate fuel prices through daisy-chaining deals that allegedly cost Florida Power customers $8.5 million in higher charges. Angel Perez, 70, former president and board chairman of Florida

Power, was allowed to remain free on $15,000 signature bond. He faces a single charge of conspiracy which carries a maximum sentence of five years in jail. Richard Raymond, 63, retired vice president of the St. Petersburg-based utility, and Walter L. Ballard, 56, a Houston oilman now living in Fort Myers, remain free on bonds of $50,-

000 each. They are named in all 12

counts of the nine-page indictment which accuses them of conspiracy and of furthering the alleged plot by telephone and by mail.

The four oilmen from Houston also were charged on all 12 counts of conspiracy, mail fraud and fraud by wire. The charges carry a maximum penalty of 60 years in prison.

They are James B. Clark, president of Larcon Petroleum Corp.; Ronald Pruitt, 36, a Houston-based attorney and part owner of Larcon Petroleum Inc.; John L. Burns, 50, a former executive with the Charter International Oil Corp., and Ray Granlund, 73, a Houston-based oil broker.

Ballard is a former executive vice president of Signal Oil and Gas Co. of Houston but now heads the Ballard

Gas Co. in Fort Myers, Fla. The indictment accuses the men of knowingly devising a plan to artifi-cially boost fuel-oil prices following the Arab oil embargo of 1973-74. Prosecutors contend it was done through daisy-chaining - a process mainly of paperwork whereby goods are sold and resold with the cost going up each time before they get to their final

When the indictment was returned by a federal grand jury in Tampa one week ago, FBI Director William H. Webster said in a statement released from Washington: "This is the first of more than a dozen oil fraud cases to be investigated by the FBI in which the American consumer has unknowlingly been made the victim of alleged white-collar schemes costing tens of millions of dollars."

NOTICE AFFORDING OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC HEARING

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is planning the construction of Spur 217 from Farm to Market Road 1788 easterly to Farm to Market Road 1781 easterly to the Midland Regional Airport. The proposed project is within the City Limits of Midland only at the intersection of Wright Drive, which is within the Regional Airport Complex.

The proposed project will provide for the construction of an additional entrance into the Airport facility. A minimum of four traffic lanes and a continuous left turn lane within generally a 64 foot curb and gutter section are proposed. The project will be approximately 0.5 miles in length and will generally follow the contour of the natural terrain. It is proposed that a minimum of 100 feet of right of way be acquired throughout the limits of the project.
