It happens every time it rains

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
R-T Staff Writer

The northeastern United States is not the only area that can lay claim to an Ohio River. Midland has its own and it "rises" every time a heavy rainfall hits the city.

Ohio Avenue turned into Ohio River, complete with angry waves, Wednesday evening after that part of the city had received more than an inch of rain in a short amount of time.

Other city streets turned into running streams with tongues of water lashing at the tires of each vehicle as they eased through the intersections.

The flooded streets, according to city Director of Public Works Fred Baker, are the main drain streets for Midland.

"Ohio is the main drain street for the downtown area," he said. "It carries water primarily from Illinois Avenue and Powell Street eastward into Terrell Street, finally draining into the Mulberry Drainage Channel."

Under Ohio Avenue is a 48-inch storm sewer which drains water off the downtown area, he added. And both the street and the sewer were draining according to plan this week.

Other major drain streets are Wadley Avenue, Golf Course Road, Illinois Avenue and A street north from Scharbauer Drive.

The drainage system is designed for what is considered to be an average amount of rainfall. "That much rain Wednesday is an unusual rain for us," Baker said, referring to a reported 2.51 inches in 34 minutes.

"This was as intense as the (May) 1968 flood, but did not cover as large an area. It was more than the 100-year intensity," he added.

Baker attributed the number of cars getting "flooded" in these streets to their drivers.

"Most of the problems came from people driving 35 to 45 mph like they do when it is dry. When they hit a low spot, they were drowning out."

Haynes Avenue near Goddard Junior High School was reported having water almost waist high. Baker said his department is making a drainway there that leads southward and east onto Garfield Street.

"We have excavated the east end, but we just haven't been able to finish it," he said. "If it would dry out, we could get it finished."

Golf Course Road was reported by Midland police as being under water. Baker said two lanes — east and west — were open for traffic. The draining project on Golf Course Road which cost $1 million and was completed recently worked satisfactorily in Baker's opinion.

Carter takes to campaign trail for North Carolina's Democrats

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — President Carter launched the first of what may be a series of weekend campaign trips for Democratic candidates on Friday, taking aim at conservative Republican Sen. Jesse Helms, the Democrats' No. 1 target for upset.

The president left the White House at mid-afternoon to campaign for John Ingram, the North Carolina insurance commissioner who is fighting Helms' re-election bid.

As befits a political trip, a band played "Happy Days Are Here Again" as Carter arrived in North Carolina, and a banner decorated with the same green tint used during his 1976 presidential campaign read "Welcome President Carter."

Under threatening clouds but no rain, Carter basked in post-Camp David glory with most of the speakers at an airport rally in Asheville praising his works at the Middle East summit talks.

Carter managed one joke about the 13-day talks, saying Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin told him

"Mr. President, I promise Israel will get out of the Sinai if you let me get out of Camp David."

The president acknowledged to the crowd that "some of you" opposed the Panama Canal treaties, but he said they created "a new spirit in Latin America, a spirit of partnership" with the United States.

There was little reaction to his comments about the treaties, but the crowd applauded when he told them

Early West traditions live on

"One Ranger, one riot," describes a common myth about the highly publicized Texas Rangers.

However, truth and legend have a way of becoming confused concerning this elite law enforcement detachment of 94 men under the state Department of Public Safety.

Members celebrated their 150th year of existence in 1973. And many of the traditions of the early West still live on in the Texas Rangers. These lawmen still wear western style hats and boots and side arms strongly resembling those seen in many an old cowboy movie.

But be not deceived. The Texas Rangers of today are real lawmen. They carry real weapons.

And far from being the photogenic atypical western lawmen they are sometimes pictured to be, today's modern Texas Ranger drives a 1977 Dodge with several police radio frequencies and has access to the most up-to-date crime-fighting equipment for which the state Legislature allocates funds, according to Midland's Capt. J.P. Lynch.

He should know because he is in charge of the 13 Texas Rangers of Company E who make their headquarters the Department of Public Safety in Midland.

Lynch said being a Texas Ranger, as he has been for 21 years, "stands for law enforcement work. That's the kind I like."

"I enjoy helping people who need help. Some of these people are in very serious trouble."

He has a total of 30 years law enforcement experience. He was born in Comanche County and has two sons. "Neither one wishes to follow their father's footsteps," said Lynch.

Lynch said he thoroughly enjoys his sometimes difficult and demanding job. His hours may range from an office-bound 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. some days to late nights and early mornings, which sometimes stretch around the clock.

"No group of lawmen anywhere has matched their reputation as fearless and competent preservers of law and order."

Times have changed, but the purpose of the Texas Rangers has not wavered much from the group's initial purpose: protection of citizens. In the frontier days, Texas law enforcement, symbolized by the DPS today, actually had its start back in 1823 when Stephen F. Austin received permission to colonize the territory.

Austin hired 10 men to protect his colonists. Since these men were re-

Oil storage still burns

HACKBERRY, La. (AP) — Burning oil spewed from an underground oil storage vault Friday and fed a lake of fire at the showcase facility of the nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve. But officials said only a fraction of the post-Arab oil embargo stockpile would be lost.

The oil was jetting under pressure from a well shaft extending 3,240 feet into the storage cavern, the size of a 10-story building, carved out from an underground salt dome. One man was killed and another injured in a fiery explosion at the dome Thursday.

"Engineers tried to bleed off enough brine to ease the pressure but it didn't work," a spokesman said.

However, the gush of oil up the shaft slowly slackened, and the lake of flaming oil contained within earthen dikes was slightly diminished.

"I don't want to be optimistic but we are pleased," said Bill Parker, the deputy project manager. "It may take another day or two but our maximum loss from the 7 million barrels of oil in the hole probably will be 50,000 barrels."

Clarence Simon, 38, of Abbeville, La., was killed and another workman was injured Thursday following an explosion and fire caused by pressure in the cavern ramming oil up the well shaft past an emergency shutoff valve while drillers were repairing casing. Other crewmen on the drilling rig platform scrambled for their lives.

The injured crewman, Bradley Bergeron, 22, of New Iberia, La., was reported in stable condition with burns over half his body.

At first the flames towered 250 feet high, throwing up an enormous column of black smoke.

"The worst part of this whole thing was the loss of a life. Otherwise, we burned up some oil and sure, that cost money, but it is not a serious setback to the program," Parker said.

Parker said an inquiry beginning Friday would try to determine cash loss. Crude oil costs $14 a barrel. In addition, the figure will include the costs of shipping losses, a melted rig, and other items.

Firefighting experts "Boots" Hansen and "Coots" Mathews were on the scene Friday, but officials said they may allow the fire to burn itself out.

It was the first disaster to strike the $20 billion program set up to store a billion barrels of oil in salt dome caverns along the Gulf Coast as an emergency supply in case of another Arab oil boycott.

When complete, the oil bank could offset an Arab oil embargo for six to eight months, perhaps longer, Parker said.

Workmen started filling the Hackberry caverns with Arabian crude shipped in by tankers and barge last July. This cavern had 7 million barrels of oil in it, compressed against the ceiling by 6 million barrels of heavy brine.

Vance efforts stall in Arabia

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's drive to sell Arab leaders on the Camp David accords stalled in this desert city Friday as Saudi Arabia withheld its support and Syria postponed the American's scheduled visit there for 24 hours.

But Jordan's King Hussein gave the United States one small cause for hope, rejecting a personal appeal by Arab hard-liners Moammar Khadafy of Libya and Yasser Arafat, chairman of the Palestinian Liberation Organization, to join the anti-Camp David bloc.

"The king will not respond to any appeals or pressures and his moderate stance remains the same," a Jordanian government official said after Hussein conferred with long-time adversaries Khadafy and Arafat in an unusual meeting at a secluded Jordanian air base.

In two days of talks with Saudi officials, Vance got no commitment from them to back the new Israeli-Egyptian agreements, just as he received none from Hussein in talks earlier this week.

Vance had been scheduled to go to Syria on Saturday to try to persuade President Hafez Assad to soften his staunch opposition to the Camp David plan, but the Damascus government abruptly asked him to delay the visit until Sunday. Damascus is the third and final stop of the Vance trip.

The Syrians said the postponement resulted from the continuation of a summit meeting of hard-line Arabs in Damascus into the weekend.

Khadafy and Arafat made their unexpected trip to Jordan after breaking away temporarily from the Damascus summit, at which the "rejectionists" were planning steps to counter the U.S. peace initiative and further isolate Egypt's President Anwar Sadat.

The two hard-line leaders have been hostile to Hussein since the king drove Palestinian guerrillas from Jordan in a bloody crackdown in 1970. Friday's talks represented the first time Arafat has met with Hussein on Jordanian soil since 1970.

Meanwhile, a White House report that Sadat has declared his willingness to negotiate peace for all the Arabs by himself signaled potentially serious new problems for the U.S. effort to win over broader Arab support for the peace plan.

The White House released a letter from Sadat in which he said he would be willing to "assume the Arab role" in bargaining over the West Bank "following consultations with Jordan and representatives of the Palestinian people." Israel seized the West Bank from Jordan in the 1967 Mideast War.

A senior official in the U.S. party here who asked not to be identified said it would be "preferable" if Jordan joined negotiations over the future of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, "but the process probably could go forward" without Jordanian participation.

Texas Rangers preserve many western traditions

quired to range over a wide region and to scout for Indians, they became known as "Rangers." These men were the forerunners of the now-famous Texas Rangers whose exploits have become legendary through the years.

A DPS brochure said, "No group of lawmen anywhere has matched their reputation as fearless and competent preservers of law and order." Today's 94 Texas Rangers perform a two-fold purpose, according to Lynch. First, they are on call to aid city and county lawmen in their jurisdictions whenever they are asked to do so.

Second, the Texas Rangers conduct state-authorized investigations. Their basic job is criminal investigation, ranging from felonies such as murder, rape and burglary to any number of other crimes. However, when narcotics cases develop in investigations made by the Texas Rangers, the cases are turned over to the DPS Narcotics Service.

Lynch's career is not much different from many Texas Rangers. Lynch, 58, came into the Texas Highway Patrol following World War II in 1948. After 9 years there, he transferred into the Texas Rangers in 1957.

Why? Lynch said he thought it was "a pretty high distinction. I still do. The spirit of corps of the Texas Rangers is pretty high. Because of our small number, we all want to do our jobs better."

He said the real satisfaction that he believes most Texas Rangers receive from law enforcement careers is "solving a case and presenting it to the courts for the judge or jury to decide."

He admitted feeling frustrated sometimes when suspects are not found guilty. "Maybe some people don't always get what we think they should but this is our system of justice."

Lynch does not agree with the so-called motto: "One Ranger, one riot." Instead, Lynch said, "I wouldn't say that. But when we go I hope we will be effective. You win some and you lose some. Being a lawman, you're naturally going to feel bad about things which do not go as they should have."

Lynch said, "For the most part, the people of West Texas are reasonable. I feel they are in favor of law enforcement, and they are going to uphold law enforcement in their verdict when the evidence is presented to them."

Lynch was asked what it means when a Texas Ranger dies. He said it's always a sad occasion when any lawman dies. However, in the case of the Texas Ranger killed in a narcotics raid in East Texas earlier this year, Lynch does not see how the Ranger could have acted any differently.

"He's aware of the danger to start with on search warrant situations like that," said Lynch. Asked to recall his most memorable case during 21 years of Texas Ranger service, Lynch said, "One of the most brutal cases I have ever worked on was the rape and choking of a 4-year-old girl who had been left for dead."

Lynch was called in at the time, some 15 years ago, to help the Palo Pinto Sheriff's Department hunt for the person responsible. "The defendant in that case was assessed a life sentence. I thought he should have received the death penalty... You can imagine. A 4-year-old girl being left for dead along a creek bank. I remember the defendant told us he didn't think the girl was still alive."

Lynch said nobody in that community got much rest "until we got the man responsible. You know, a whole community gets upset about something like this."

To be eligible to become a Texas Ranger, one must show eight years of law enforcement experience, be a certified peace officer and compile 60 college hours of training.

"We don't accept applications until those ages 30 to 50 years old meet these requirements."

"We're no more different than other hard-working law enforcement agencies. We just investigate criminal cases. Our cooperation among West Texas law enforcement agencies has been excellent," Lynch said.

that $2 million in federal money would be spent to expand their airport runway. "We're trying to make North Carolina a rural laboratory to show that people who live on farms have a chance for a better life," Carter said.

Although he was returning to the White House Friday night, he planned another journey Saturday, including a fund-raiser for Ohio Democrats in Columbus. Last Wednesday, he stopped briefly at a luncheon for New Jersey Democrats in Atlantic City.

Tickets to the Ingram dinner cost $500 a couple. About 150 had been sold by Friday morning, with ticket sales picking up after the Camp David summit, a party source said.

A poll taken for Ingram, a 47-year-old self-styled populist, showed Helms leading 46 percent to 39 percent with the rest undecided. A poll taken for Helms, the 56-year-old one-term incumbent, showed the Republican with a slightly larger lead.

Helms, according to Democratic and Republican sources, has raised about $5 million through conservative fund-raiser Richard Viguier's direct mail operation, which will take a hefty chunk of the money. Ingram, whose fund-raising efforts have been running far behind that, has budgeted about $350,000 for his campaign.

A Democratic source said Ingram's campaign has focused on Helms' attention to national issues rather than on those having a direct impact on North Carolina. Helms was a leader of the opposition to the Panama Canal treaties.

In Columbia, he made his first serious reference of the day to the Camp David summit, telling his audience: "We have taken a first step in what I think will lead very shortly to a peace treaty between Israel and Egypt."

By starting in North Carolina, Carter opens a campaign schedule in the southern state where his popularity reportedly is the highest. As a result of his popularity, one Republican source said, Helms has avoided attacking Carter directly.

White House aides have said that although Carter's schedule is not complete, they would not be surprised if he makes campaign trips on most weekends between now and election day.

The president, who on a previous visit to North Carolina said federal research would make the use of tobacco "even more safe than it is today," made no mention of the crop in the tobacco growing region Friday.

From Asheville, N.C., Carter flew to Columbia, S.C., where he campaigned on behalf of Charles "Pug" Ravenel, who opposes another leading conservative Republican, Sen. Strom Thurmond.

may occur sporadically. Baker said the city is having consulting engineers from Parkhill, Smith and Cooper to prepare a study on the drainage system and future needs. Contours and aerial photographs should be completed by the end of this month, according to Baker. A preliminary report should be ready in three months, he added.

The current drainage system is based on studies done in 1954-55, according to the public works director. Another study on the area around Midland Drive was completed in 1958.

The new study will take into account all areas north and south of FM 868, west of Midkiff Road and around Midland Drive. "Their (the engineers') job would be to see if homes and businesses in that area would flood," Baker said.

Midland's drainage is being "aggravated by the continuous building in the northwest part of town," he said. The reports should show "where improvements should be made to reduce flow in the streets."

A drainage system to handle the amount of rain that fell this week probably is not forthcoming in the near future for Midland.

"The cost is very high," Baker said. "In most cases, the inconvenience suffered by some people with the water is not worth installing additional storm sewers. What we design and put in is to prevent damage to properties."

Instead, Baker recommended drivers "to look around and find alternate routes when it rains. The number of days or hours we are inconvenienced by flooded streets is very small."

U.S. magistrate recommends $350,000 appeals bond

Federal Magistrate J. M. Preston of Pecos has recommended a $350,000 appeals bond be set for Sam Chaney, 30, jailed following sentencing on a twin conviction of conspiracy and receiving and concealing a stolen airplane.

Chaney, a Midland businessman who holds farming and ranching interests in Glasscock County, was placed in federal custody Sept. 12, when Federal Judge John H. Wood Jr. sentenced him to two 5-year sentences, to run concurrently.

He was convicted by a jury Aug. 15 of flying a single-engine aircraft federal investigators contend was used in smuggling marijuana from Mexico to the United States.

Prior to sentencing, Chaney had been free under a $50,000 personal recognizance bond following his arrest last December and subsequent indictment on charges of conspiracy and receiving and concealing a stolen aircraft, which had landed about Dec. 7 on a ranch Chaney had leased near Garden City.

Magistrate Preston, who held an appeals bond hearing in Midland on Monday, is making his recommendations on Chaney's release to Judge Wood.

Wood, who lives in San Antonio, is to return to Midland Oct. 30, but may make a decision on the magistrate's recommendation prior to that.

In the appeal bond hearing before Preston, Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr asked that bond be set at $375,000, because, he said, Chaney was a "drug trafficker," was a "danger to the community" and probably would flee the country were he released. Kerr prosecuted the case.

However, Midland lawyer Jim Mashburn, one of Chaney's two attorneys, made "running objections" to Kerr's linking Chaney to any drug-smuggling dealings. He said that was not the issue in the case, and accusations of Chaney's involvement in drugs were mere suspicions and were based on "rumor, innuendo and rank hearsay." Chaney has not been charged in connection with narcotics smuggling. Mashburn said that a $50,000 bond would be excessive.

At his sentencing, Chaney said he had made a mistake in flying the plane. He maintained his innocence and said he did not suspect the plane was stolen or that the plane might have been used to haul marijuana.

Chaney has announced his intention to appeal the conviction to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Brezhnev denounces settlement

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev Friday denounced the Egyptian-Israeli Camp David accords as an illusory settlement that "can only make the situation in the Middle East even more explosive."

In a speech in Baku, capital of Soviet Azerbaijan, in the southwestern part of the country, Brezhnev said despite progress on strategic arms talks, influential Americans were seeking to revive "a new edition of the Cold War."

He cited recent chills in U.S.-Soviet relations and added "it appears that some influential circles in the United States are deliberately provoking the Soviet Union, wishing to aggravate the situation still further."

Brezhnev's comments on the Camp David accords were blunt and tough-worded, but Western diplomats said they were not surprised since the Kremlin harshly condemned the summit even before it began.

Moscow has denounced talks between Egypt and Israel since Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's trip to Jerusalem last November.

Cullen Davis moves into third county jail on his birthday

HOUSTON (AP) — Millionaire Cullen Davis moved into his third county jail in as many years Friday, his 45th birthday.

Davis, charged with attempting to hire a gunman to kill his divorcee judge, was moved to the Harris County Jail and placed in a special room of cells reserved for "infamous prisoners."

Judge Arthur Tipps moved the case here from Fort Worth Thursday after a three-day change of venue hearing.

Harris County Sheriff Jack Heard said Davis will be kept in a separate section of the jail where convicted murderers Elmer Wayne Henley and David Owen Brooks were held during their sensational trials.

"He'll have medical services, he'll be fed and he'll be clothed," Heard said.

Before being booked and issued his jail whites, Davis told newsmen he thinks he will get a fair trial in Houston and "I'm just as happy to come to Houston as any place I can think of."

"I would have been happy to stay in Fort Worth," he said. "I didn't want the change of venue. It was the prosecutors and the jurist who wanted the change."

Davis said there will be some difference here, primarily the inconvenience of not being in his hometown of Fort Worth.

"But I don't think that will be significant," he said. "I think the trial will go just fine."

Davis spent his 43rd birthday in the Secretaries make Tyler meet trek

Several members of the Midland Legal Secretaries Association are in Tyler this weekend attending a board of directors meeting of the Texas Association of Legal Secretaries.

Theme of the board meeting is "Vegas — Second Time Around." Host organization for the meeting is the Tyler Legal Secretaries Association. Betty Kirby of Tyler is the 1978-79 president of the Texas association.

Midlanders in attendance at the Tyler meeting are Pat Kinnison, first vice president of the Texas Association of Legal Secretaries; Novella Anderson, 1977-78 convention chairman; Wilma A. Wheat, current president of the Midland Legal Secretaries Association, and June Judkins, MLSA governor and a member of the TALS board of directors.

Tradition puts it at the center of the world

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jewish tradition says Jerusalem is the center of the world. But the city is also a center of Christian and Moslem tradition and its future remains at the heart of the Mideast crisis.

The Camp David summit left the Jerusalem issue undetermined, saying only that letters would be exchanged.

Jewish sages say the mountain where Solomon built his fabulous temple is the Earth's beating heart and that through the gates of the city will come a messiah to save the world. The Vatican calls the city the cradle of Christianity and the Moslems, who believe Mohammed ascended to heaven from Jerusalem, consider its holiness third only to Mecca and Medina, both in Saudi Arabia.

Fighting between Jews and Arabs accounts for only two of the 37 wars and conquests the city has witnessed in its 3,000-year history. When the city fell to Israel in 1967, Israel vowed never to relinquish it.

The city was divided between Jordan and Israel in bitter and inconclusive fighting in 1948. Barriers of brick and barbed wire, minefields and sniper nests cut a jagged wound through its center.

But within days of the Israeli conquest of the eastern sector on June 7, 1967, bulldozers erased the former border. An annexation bill was rushed through the Knesset, or parliament, on June 28, and the Arab east half of Jerusalem became part of Israel.

Israel's policy has not changed from that day: Jerusalem must remain united under Israeli sovereignty as the nation's capital with free access to the holy places of all religions.

Mayor Teddy Kollek supports a plan to split the city into autonomous boroughs. He told The Associated Press during the Camp David summit that the borough system could be modified to give religious communities of Moslems, Roman Catholics, Armenian and Eastern Orthodox limited control over their peoples.

"Jerusalem must remain as it is today," says Deputy Mayor Yehoshua Matza, a member of Prime Minister Menachem Begin's Likud Party. "There cannot be any compromise."

In the Camp David documents, Egypt ducked the issue of Jerusalem, but is said to be happy with President Carter's reported position that it is part of the West Bank of the Jordan River (and presumably should be negotiated with the West Bank) and that any changes that have been made by Israel are illegal.

Egyptian officials have been vague on what should happen to the Arab sector. They have said the city should not be divided as it was before 1967 and that holy places should be accessible to all.

Saudis and their Gulf partners only say Arab (East) Jerusalem should be fully restored to Arabs.

Jordanians also call for return of Arab Jerusalem. Officials there say privately there should be Arab sovereignty on the east side, but suggest possible joint administration of services, communication and bus routes with the west side.

Vatican experts say any change in the Vatican's long stand to keep Jerusalem as a city freely open to all believers depends on what newly-elected Pope John Paul I decides.

Poll shows most Americans think Mideast peace elusive

NEW YORK (AP) — The public's hopes for peace in the Middle East have risen on the strength of the Camp David accords, but most Americans still don't think peace is just around the corner, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

And, in a reversal of previously held views, the public now favors continued U.S. involvement in the peace talks. In previous months, the public has preferred that the nations in the Middle East negotiate without any U.S. participation.

Nearly two thirds of those interviewed — 65 percent — say the Camp David summit raised their hopes for peace in the Middle East.

Only 2 percent said it had lessened chances for peace, while 24 percent said it had made no change. Nine percent were not sure.

The 13 days of negotiations at Camp David with President Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israel's Prime Minister Menachem Begin produced two agreements on a framework for peace and for future negotiations about disputed issues in the Middle East.

Despite the boost in hopes for peace, Americans are still not overwhelmingly convinced peace is at hand.

Only 7 percent of those interviewed said the summit agreements will almost certainly lead to peace. Twenty-six percent said the agreements will probably lead to peace.

But 45 percent said the chances for peace are no better than even. Peace just isn't possible in the Middle East, according to 18 percent. Four percent were not sure.

The AP-NBC News poll questioned 1,600 adults across the country by telephone Tuesday and Wednesday. It was the first national survey since Carter explained the summit to the American people in a nationally televised address to Congress on Monday.

The apparent success of the Camp David summit has triggered a switch in public opinion on the U.S. role in Mideast peace talks. For the last two years, most Americans have generally favored direct negotiations involving the combatants in the troubled area.

As recently as June, AP-NBC News polls showed Americans did not want the United States to propose its own peace plan, did not want this country to sell arms in the area and preferred direct negotiations to a Geneva conference involving this country.

But the AP-NBC News poll this week found Americans now favor continued U.S. involvement in the Middle East talks by a 67-24 margin with 9 percent undecided.

The poll found that Carter's role in the Camp David summit had spurred a 16-point upsurge in positive public feelings about the incumbent's work in the Oval Office.

Likewise, the American public's attitude toward Sadat and Begin improved dramatically in the aftermath of the summit.

Nearly three-quarters of the public now rates Sadat's efforts for peace as excellent or good. That's up from 40 percent from the finding of the August poll.

Sadat's only fair or poor rating dropped from 44 percent to 23 percent in the last month, while those saying they are not sure dropped from 16 percent to 3 percent.

For Begin, the summit pushed his good or excellent marks from Americans to 53 percent from the 21 percent found in August.

The Israeli leader's poor or only fair rating dropped from 62 to 37 percent this month. Undecided respondents declined from 17 percent to 10 percent.

As with any sample survey, the results of the AP-NBC News polls could differ from the results of interviews with all Americans with telephones because of chance variations in the sample.

For polls with 1,600 interviews, the results should vary no more than three percentage points either way simply because of sample errors. That is, there is only one chance out of 20 that the results of interviews with all American adults with telephones would vary from these results by more than three percentage points.

Of course, the results could vary from other polls because of differences in the wording of questions, timing of interviews or the method of interviewing.

Phone poll based on 1,600 interviews after summit

NEW YORK (AP) — Telephone interviews with 1,600 adults on Tuesday and Wednesday were the basis for the Associated Press-NBC News poll on the Middle East and the Camp David summit.

Telephone numbers were selected at random using a procedure that gives each household in the nation with a telephone a roughly equal chance of being selected.

Interviews were conducted using a procedure that assures a balanced number of adult men and women in the sample.

As with any sample survey, the results of the AP-NBC News poll could differ from the results of interviews with all adults because of chance variations in the sample. The size of the possible variation depends on the number of interviews.

For a poll of about 1,600 interviews, the results should vary no more than 3 percentage points either way simply because of sample errors. That is, if one could talk to all Americans with telephones, there is only one chance out of 20 that the results would vary from the finding of this poll by more than 3 points.

Here are some of the questions asked on the AP-NBC News poll on Carter and the Middle East:

1. What kind of a job do you think Jimmy Carter is doing as President ... Do you think he is doing an excellent job, a good job, only a fair job or do you think he is doing a poor job?
2. What kind of a job do you think Jimmy Carter is doing in handling our foreign affairs ... Do you think he is doing an excellent job, a good job, only a fair job or do you think he is doing a poor job?
3. What do you think of President Carter's role in the Middle East peace negotiations ... Do you think he is doing an excellent job, a good job, only a fair job or do you think he is doing a poor job?
4. What kind of a job do you think Prime Minister Begin of Israel is doing handling peace negotiations in the Middle East ... Do you think he is doing an excellent job, a good job, only a fair job or do you think he is doing a poor job?
5. What kind of a job do you think President Anwar Sadat of Egypt is doing in handling peace negotiations in the Middle East ... Do you think he is doing an excellent job, a good job, only a fair job or do you think he is doing a poor job?
6. Would you say the Camp David summit has improved chances for peace in the Middle East, lessened chances for peace or would you say the chances for peace are about the same as before the summit?
7. What do you think are the chances for peace in the Middle East? Would you say that they are almost certain, probable, 50-50 or do you think peace will not be achieved in the Middle East?

Fabulous... that's the view from the Golden Gate. Linking Oakland and San Francisco, the majestic sight of this famous bridge has thrilled the hearts of weary travellers, inspiring all with its promise of new opportunity.

Catching the morning sun or the evening twilight, the Golden Gate whispers its own welcome to those who near its watch. "Welcome to my beautiful city," or "Come again, old friend," it sighs. It seems to know and understand the problems of each human heart, and like a true friend, it is always there for all to share its strength and beauty.

There is another bridge of inspiration and truth where burdens may be lightened and courage renewed. People everywhere have drawn from its stabilizing influence, and you, too, will always be welcome within the fellowship of the Church. Find out for yourself this week.

Groups consider tax resistance

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Protestant denominations opposed to war are considering a new kind of tax resistance — refusal to pay taxes that go for arms and equipment for war.

it Oct. 8-9 in Greenlake, Wis. The meeting is to consider regional proposals for some form of tax protest against spending for armaments and munitions of war.

tested war in the past by refusing to accept military service, the nature of modern war has turned "from manpower to money for technology and automated weapons," the churches said.

Good Samaritan Sunday planned

Sunday will be observed as Good Samaritan Sunday at Midland's Grace Lutheran Church, 3000 W. Golf Course Road.

The denominations, whose hallmark for centuries has been conscientious objection to participation in violence and war, are all relatively small. But they've had an influential impact on Christianity at large and on American thought.

In a joint statement, they said members of the movement now are "poised for stronger action."

Christian seminar begins next week

A Christian discipleship seminar is planned next week at First Baptist Church of Midland

They are the Society of Friends, involving about 100,000 Quakers; the Church of the Brethren, a Midwest-based denomination with about 180,000 members, and the Mennonites, totaling about 130,000.

Regional meetings at 26 locations have been held in the last year about the issue, with more than 1,500 persons taking part, citing war and violence as "denials of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ."

Emotions Anonymous sets meetings

Emotions Anonymous, a program designed to help people cope with emotional problems, is holding weekly meetings in Hope Lutheran Church, 2003 North A St.

The seminar begins Monday night and continues through Sept. 30. Monday through Friday sessions will begin at 7 p.m., concluding by 9:30. The final event on Saturday, Sept. 30, will begin at 1:30 and conclude by 4 p.m.

At one of the conferences at Old Chatham, N.Y., last April, it raised this question: "Are we going to pray for peace, and pay for war?" Another in Wichita, Kan., declared that 50 percent of funds collected from income taxes are used for military-related purposes and for manufacture of destructive weapons.

South Plains Music Festival to be held

DENVER CITY — The sixth annual South Plains Music Festival will be held here Oct. 7 in conjunction with the annual Old Settlers Reunion here.

Conducting the special services will be Billy Hanks Jr., one of the nation's most dynamic evangelists. Hanks, who was graduated from Baylor University and holds a master of divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, is president of International Evangelism Association, headquartered at Fort Worth. Hanks has visited some 65 countries during the course of his evangelistic ministry.

A meeting in North Manchester, Ind., proposed making use of the current tax revolt highlighted by California's Prop. 13 and the distress at the national debt and inflation to further the peace cause.

Asbury Methodist holding revival

A tent revival underway here this week at Asbury United Methodist Church will continue through Sunday night.

There are no dues or fees for participation in EA. The EA fellowship is supported entirely by voluntary contributions from participants. Additional information on the EA program and the current series of meetings here may be obtained by telephoning Baker at 683-1936.

Former pastor to be guest speaker at St. Mark's Sunday

The Rev. C.B. Melton, a former pastor of St. Mark's United Methodist Church of Midland, will be guest speaker at that church's Sunday evening worship service.

1st amendment not meant to keep federal funds from private schools

Copley News Service

The modern Supreme Court has almost reversed the original understanding of the two religion clauses in the First Amendment to the Constitution, according to Michael J. Malbin, a scholar with the American Enterprise Institute (AEI) for Public Policy Research.

schools, either for textbooks or transportation, but it has been unsuccessful because of lobbying by those who say it would be support for religion.

Churches, on the other hand, are jealous of the right to run their own affairs without interference from government.

In a study called "Religion and Politics," recently released by the AEI, Malbin contends a return to the original intent of the authors of the First Amendment would remove the constitutional cloud from legislative proposals to aid private schools and other measures that might aid religion.

Since most parochial schools are Roman Catholic, the opponents of aid contend it would breach the separation of church and state. Malbin's contention is that Congress intended for the government to provide support for religion, if it was done even-handedly.

In a recent case involving the National Labor Relations Board, a federal appellate court ruled that the NLRB lacks jurisdiction to order union elections in Roman Catholic schools in Chicago and western Indiana dioceses over the opposition of their bishops.

The two clauses are contained in 16 words: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

"Land grants were given to church schools, such as in the Northwest Ordinance (of 1787)," he said.

According to Christianity Today magazine, the U.S. solicitor general has appealed to the Supreme Court, charging that the bishops' position gives them a "constitutional right to commit unfair labor practices."

Malbin, a contributing editor to "National Journal," has a doctorate in government from Cornell University. He made a speech-by-speech analysis of the debates on freedom of religion in the First U.S. Congress.

He said that every one of the speakers in the First Congress seemed to agree that the Bill of Rights should not prevent the government from giving non-discriminatory assistance to religion "as long as the assistance is incidental to the performance of a power delegated to the government."

The appeal contends the ruling "restricts the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act from some 100,000 lay teachers in Catholic schools who tried to secure union elections."

He concludes that the amendment's authors did not intend to prohibit all non-discriminatory aid to religion. Rather, he argues that the authors of the amendment meant to prevent Congress from preferring any particular religious sect or group of sects over others. He also said they meant to prohibit Congress from doing anything to harm then existing state religious establishments.

According to this argument, aid to education or services for children could be supported by the government through church institutions as well as public ones.

Missionary to be guest speaker

Bill Williams, an air pilot and missionary to Mexico, will be guest speaker at Sunday services of Midland's Trinity Baptist Church, 3308 W. Cuthbert Ave.

Many times in recent history, Congress has attempted to pass legislation that would provide money for children who attend parochial

Enrichment seminar underway

A family enrichment seminar is underway this weekend at the Fort Worth and Jax Streets Church of Christ.

Williams has been involved actively in missionary work in primitive areas of Mexico for more than 10 years. His work has been expanded greatly through the use of airplanes which enable him to cover vast distances and visit normally inaccessible areas.

Single-Aires set fall schedule

The Single-Aires, an organization of single young adults sponsored by First United Methodist Church of Midland, has begun its fall schedule.

The seminar began Friday and will continue through Sunday, with sessions open to all interested persons in the community and surrounding area.

In addition to piloting his own plane, Williams has in recent years been active in establishing medical clinics in remote areas to aid isolated people to whom he ministers.

Participation in Single-Aires activities and outings is open to all unmarried young adults in the city, regardless of church affiliation, said the Rev. Bill Weir, associate minister of First United Methodist Church.

Leading the seminar are Thomas S. Cunningham and Kenneth G. Dye, both of Stillwater, Okla. Cunningham is a family life specialist at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. Dye is minister of a Church of Christ in Stillwater.

Williams will be describing his work in detail during the 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m. worship services of Trinity Baptist Church. A special offering to aid in the missionary's work in Mexico will be collected during the services, said Ron Bates, minister of the host church. The services are open to the public.

Youth Week will feature educator, leader as speaker

Dr. Andy Edington, educator and Presbyterian lay leader, will be featured speaker during special Youth Week events next week at First Presbyterian Church of Midland.

Seminar sessions today will begin at 9:30 a.m. and 2 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday events are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. and 3, 4:15 and 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Edington will address youth of First Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in the church fellowship hall. In his talks to young people of grades 7 through 12, the visitor will be taking stories from the Bible and adapting them to present-day life situations.

Emotions Anonymous sets meetings

Emotions Anonymous, a program designed to help people cope with emotional problems, is holding weekly meetings in Hope Lutheran Church, 2003 North A St.

The Rev. C.B. Melton and his wife, Bea, will be honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall following the Sunday evening service. Members of St. Mark's Church who joined the congregation during Melton's three-year pastorate here will also be honored at the reception.

Early bison hunters' sites discussed

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN—Nine High Plains archaeological sites, dating from the time of hunters of giant bison some 10,000 years ago to the days of the Comanchero traders of the 18th and 19th centuries, are described in a recently-released report of the Texas Historical Commission.
"Archeology at Mackenzie Reservoir," by Jack T. Hughes and Patrick S. Willey, describes the results of the surveys and excavations conducted during the 1973-78 Mackenzie Reservoir Archeological Project in the area inundated through construction of that water supply facility on Tule Creek by Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority.
Perhaps the major find during the excavations was at the "Rex Rodgers Site" (named for the landowner), where the remains of an extinct species of bison were found, along with evidence showing they had been slaughtered by hunters some 9,000 to 10,500 years ago.

Found with the crumbling bones were stone artifacts resembling the implements used by the big-game hunters of that period, although the stone tools—probably projectile points or knives—do not correspond exactly to those identified with "Paleo-Indian" cultures such as those found in Folsom, Clovis and Plainview.
Interestingly, the bison bones (at least six bison were killed at the site) rested on top of the remains of an extinct species—the mammoth.
The mammoth bones, the report notes, are earlier than the bison—but "whether the time difference is a few years, centuries, or millennia is unknown."
And while it is known that Paleo-Indian hunters did kill both mammoth and bison, no evidence was found to show that the mammoth bones were related to the activities of prehistoric man.
Archaeologists do believe, however, that the bison were herded into a gully—and then slaughtered—rather than being stampeded over a cliff, a hunting technique which was practiced by Indian hunters up to recent times.
"At least some of the points found associated with the bison were used to kill them," the report states, "although other implements and handy sandstone boulders may have been used as well."
The animals were then dismembered—and "more refined processing" carried out in a nearby area.
On the other end of the long period of occupation and use indicated for the area is the "Sand Pit Site"—where artifacts such as iron knives and "fleshers" and glass beads were discovered.

Those materials, and a number of gun flints, indicate the site was occupied during the last quarter of the 18th Century, most likely by the Comanches—with the "white goods" probably coming from Comanchero traders out of Santa Fe, or French traders living with the Wichita allies of the Comanches at the Spanish fort villages on the Red River.
The report comments that the special interest of the site "stems in part from the fact that, aside from a few burials, it appears to be the only historic Indian site of the many known to exist in the Texas Panhandle that has thus far been excavated and reported."
Another site, labeled "Deadman's Shelter," produced a number of arrow points, pottery shards and other bone, stone and shell artifacts, along with a human burial.
Archaeologists believe the site was occupied twice, between 120 and 210 A.D. and again from 465 to 710 A.D.

5 youths join honor society

Five young persons of First Christian Church have been inducted into the Society of Distinguished American High School Students.
They are Nita Bedford and Melinda Wilson, students at Midland High School, and Lisa Evers, Jeanene McClintock and Lori Womack, students at Lee High School.
According to the Rev. Steven M. Church, associate minister of First Christian Church, the Society of Distinguished American High School Students is one of the nation's foremost honoraries. The five local students recently inducted into the society were accepted because of their demonstrated excellence in scholastic leadership and civic achievement.

Early steal has best chance to work

South takes the king of clubs, draws a round of trumps and then leads the singleton spade.

At this stage West doesn't know that South needs a diamond finesse. From West's point of view, the hand may depend on how South decides to play the spades. If that is the case, West must casually play a low spade to make South guess the right spade play without any help.
PLAYS KING
If West plays a low spade, South can steal the trick by playing dummy's king. Having won that trick, South can make the slam even if he later loses the diamond finesse.
If South won the club, drew a round of trumps and then took a losing diamond finesse, he would have no later chance to steal a spade trick. As soon as South led spades, West would grab the ace since that would be the setting trick.
Whenever possible, put an opponent to the guess during the first two or three tricks. The longer you wait, the less of a guess your opponent will have.
DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-4; H-AQJ1097; D-QJ109; C-AK. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid three heart. You plan to rebid the hearts at your next turn, thus indicating a very powerful suit as well as a hand that may well produce a slam even if partner has minimum values for his opening bid.

Three fugitives remain at large

PALO PINTO, Texas (AP) — Three fugitives remained at large Friday following their bloody breakout from the Palo Pinto County jail.
A relief jailer was stabbed with a pocket knife and a woman dispatcher was clubbed with a broomstick as the trio fought to freedom Thursday evening.
It was not known if the prisoners were armed with more than a knife.
Roadblocks sealed off Palo Pinto County as over 100 law enforcement officers joined in the massive manhunt.
A mounted posse picked through the rocky, uneven terrain covered with scraggly forests of mesquite and cedar trees. In addition, four helicopters hovered over the area while fixed-wing aircraft made slow passes, looking for any sign of the jail-breakers.
Officials said the alleged mastermind of the breakout was Dan Taggart, 18, of Dallas, serving a 30-day sentence on a misdemeanor marijuana conviction.
The other escapees, both from Mineral Wells, were identified as Michael Bender, 23, and Karol McAtee, 24. Bender was held on burglary charges and McAtee was charged with armed robbery.
The three were also charged with attempted capital murder in connection with the attacks at the jail.

Jailer Jon Hutson was reported in stable condition, but undergoing intensive care at a Mineral Wells hospital. He was stabbed three times in the back and chest.
Dispatcher Melinda McCoy, with injuries to the head and knife cuts, was in satisfactory condition with a concussion.
The prisoners fled the jail in Ms. McCoy's car, but abandoned it outside the town when it broke down.
Police said there was no apparent motive for the escape of Taggart, who had about two weeks of time left to serve.

"We don't know why he did it," an assistant district attorney said. "Most of those people are in there in the first place because they're stupid more than anything else."
Palo Pinto County District Attorney Bob Glasgow said that Taggart threatened the dispatcher with a knife in the sheriff's office, which is in the basement of the courthouse. He forced her to take him up to the third-floor jail, the prosecutor said.
"He confronted the dispatcher with a pocket knife, stuck the knife to her neck and made her get the keys to the jail," Glasgow said.

Supermarkets taking to banking

A small but steadily growing number of supermarkets are offering shoppers the opportunity to do their banking where they do their buying and a new study indicates that consumers — with some reservations — like the idea.
Some of the in-store electronic funds transfer (EFT) systems make it easier to customers to cash checks to pay for groceries. Others offer a complete range of banking services through automatic cash machines.
A study conducted for the Food Marketing Institute (FMI) and the Bank Administration Institute (BAI) showed that customers who used the systems were generally satisfied, although they reported some difficulties with machine breakdowns. Non-users, in contrast, were apathetic and saw little need for the card-operated services.
"A clear need exists for effective backup procedures," said the survey, prepared by Willard Bishop Consulting Economists of Barrington, Ill.

Application received

AUSTIN—The Department of Banking has received an application for a change in control of the Reagan State Bank in Big Lake.
Filing the application to acquire control were H. Wayne Smith, S. E. Stout, Lacy D. Way, Sam Mann, Ernest O'Hearn and Frank Junnel, Big Lake; and V. Jack Bleakley, San Angelo.
Terms of the acquisition are confidential by law, the department reports.
No hearing will be held unless the application is rejected by Commissioner Robert E. Stewart.

Courses slated

Two non-credit evening courses at Midland College have been rescheduled, according to James Bramlett, director of Community Services.
"For the first time in six years, our classes were rained out," Bramlett said. "We've rescheduled Pattern Making and Dream Reflections for a Wednesday start date."
Both classes will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Occupational-Technical Building. Pattern Making will meet in room 104, and Dream Reflections in room 100.
Students who wanted to attend last week but were unable to do so may attend the first class Wednesday, Bramlett said.

Texas air board postpones decision

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Air Control Board has postponed a decision on a staff recommendation to file an anti-pollution suit against the nation's largest oil refinery in Baytown.
The board was scheduled to vote at its monthly meeting here Friday on whether to file suit against Exxon Corp.'s mammoth Texas complex and the adjacent Stauffer Chemical Co. plant, but delayed the vote because four of the board's nine members missed the meeting.
TACB chairman John Blair said a legal quorum was present, but added, "It bothers me to make any major decision without the four members."

Exxon's Baytown facility had received relatively few citations for pollution violations until a recent expansion made it the nation's largest single refinery complex.
The proposed suit would seek to limit sulphur dioxide emissions at the facility, but Exxon and Stauffer officials say they expect soon to be in compliance with state law.
"By the end of October, essentially all of the Exxon sulphur dioxide emissions which our data indicate could be contributing to the problem will have been eliminated," said Exxon spokesman Leonard Stansney.

Monterey slashes by Purple Pack, 17-14

By BOB DILLON

Midland's 17-14 loss to Lubbock Monterey was a costly one Friday night.

Quarterback Tommy Somers suffered a neck injury late in the game when he was tackled after throwing a pass downfield. The injury came when the Plainsmen stunted on the play with three players rushing the passer.

Somers had scored a first period touchdown for the Bulldogs as the Plainsmen came back from a 14-7 halftime deficit with 10 second half points to take the narrow victory on the Midland Memorial Stadium turf that had been soaked by rains for the past two days.

The Bulldogs showed the crowd they meant business by taking the game's opening kickoff, driving 67 yards in 10 plays to score first. Midland got some help along with way with a roughing the passer penalty and a 23-yard pass interference on Monterey during the drive.

Monterey—Tommy Somers, 3-yard run. (Bobby Stovall kick).

Monterey—Rick Pinkerton, 3-yard run. (Potts kick).

Monterey—Potts, 16-yard field goal.

Tailback Billy Applin, who led the Midland running game with 63 yards in 16 carries, capped the drive with a 15-yard TD scamper which was set up by the interference call on the Plainsmen. Somers hit Link Grimes when he threw a scrapper on the drive. Bobby Stovall booted the PAT to give Midland a 7-0 lead with 8:29 left in the first period.

This seemed to fire up Monterey which marched from its own 20 all the way down to the Midland 11 where the Bulldogs held, thanks to some great defensive play by Jerry Hollums, Grimes, Jimmy Zachry and Rick Ankerholz. After Midland held at its 11, Applin was hit hard at the line of scrimmage and the ball popped loose with Monterey's Todd Gresham recovering and the Plainsmen scored on the very next play when quarterback Todd Hunt went 30 yards for the score. Kent Potts split the uprights to tie the score, 7-7 with 3:03 left in the opening period.

Neither team was able to do much in the early part of the second quarter until Midland drove from its 36 to the Monterey 21 where Stovall tried a 41-yard field goal. It was far enough, but wide to the right. Applin's 28-yard scamper, had moved the ball to the Plainsmen 26 and Somers misfired on a pass to wingback Bobby Floyd who was wide open at the seven, but the pass was overthrown.

APPLIN THEN brought the crowd to its feet by returning a Monterey punt 45 yards to the Plainsmen 15 and the clearing block was thrown by Hollums who threw a scrapper on the Monterey defender. Applin then ripped off 10 yards to the Monterey five and two plays later, Somers banged over for the score and a 13-7 lead. Stovall's kick was true, making it 14-7 with 2:21 left in the first half.

Andy Barron and Potts picked off Somers passes in the second quarter to turn away the Bulldogs twice and Midland returned the favor in the third period when Pat Hickey swiped a Hunt pass at the Monterey 48.

Midland moved all the way down to the Plainsmen 36, but Somers was thrown for a 14-yard loss and Earl Michie then came in as got off a 20-yard punt for the Bulldogs.

Monterey then marched 70 yards in 13 plays in a drive that ate up a lot of time on the clock with Rick Pinkerton going in from three yards out. Pinkerton, who gained 89 yards in 26 carries, had runs of 22 and 30 yards during the time-consuming drive.

Potts booted the PAT to tie the game, 14-14 with 1:17 left in the third period and it was his toe that made the difference in the final quarter with a 16-yard field goal that made the final score, 17-14 in favor of the Plainsmen who now stand 1-1 on the year compared to Midland's 1-2 record.

Monterey held Midland to one first down in the second half in check-

Timely toe keeps Rebels unbeaten

BY TERRY WILLIAMS
R-T Sports Writer

PLAINVIEW— The Midland Lee Rebels had their first chance to show their poise here Friday night and they shook off two third quarter disasters to edge the highly-touted Plainview Bulldogs, 16-14.

Lee dominated the statistics in the contest, but two third quarter mistakes almost cost them the game between two undefeated squads.

The Rebs chummed out 186 yards rushing and 92 pising for 278 yards total offense. The Bulldogs made only 112 yard a total against a very stubborn Lee defense.

Lee fullback, Jeff McCowan, the Cactus Flower, ascended in the highly-promoted battle of fullbacks as he outgained Plainview's Royce Coleman 159-137.

Lee held a 130 lead going into the second half, but before 3:06 had elapsed in the third quarter, Plainview held a 14-13 lead.

A Ricky Johnson fumble, his second of the night, was recovered by Plainview's Gary Russell at the Rebs' 32 and seven plays later Coleman crashed over on a sweep some seven yards out and tailback Billy Williams ran for the two-point conversion to cut deeply into Lee's lead, 13-8, with 9:50 left in the period.

THEN LEE ran three plays without much success and Jody Sessom's punt attempt was blocked in midair by guard Don Palmer and Michael Black caught it and raced 20 yards to give the Bulldogs a 14-13 lead with 8:54 left in the third quarter.

With adversity facing the Rebels for the first time this year and also being behind for the first time, Lee came right back for a winning 22-yard field goal off what proved to be the golden toe of Bill McPherson.

Lee marched from their own 20 as McCowan hit for 18 and 13 yards in two successive cracks before quarterback Gary Butler dialed Elmer Montgomery with a 26-yard bomb to the Plainview 22. McCowan and Steve Waldron helped move the Rebs to the five yard line before McPherson was called on for his game winner.

The boot Lee the victory over what most consider the best 4A unit in the Panhandle and should give the 3-0 Rebels a head of steam heading into the 5-4A race in two weeks.

In the first half, Lee got off to a fast start, but converted only one of two chances for a score.

Lee's Tom Williams broke through to block a Steve Alexander punt to set the Rebels in motion at the Rebel 23, but four cracks into the Plainview line failed to net a first.

ALEXANDER THEN gave Lee

another big break with a five-yard punt and Lee was back at the Bulldog 25. McCowan then had his biggest gainer of the first half on a fourth and two at the 17 with a sweep for the touchdown and McPherson added the PAT for a 7-0 lead with 5:16 still left in the initial stanza.

Plainview later backed the Rebels to their own four yard line and Johnson coughed up a mid-air fumble that was retrieved by Mitchell Hearn at the Lee 19. The Bulldogs nudged to the one yard line but couldn't score on a fourth down when the entire Rebel line stopped the heralded Coleman for no gain.

Herb Pearce, playing with a sore neck, led the defensive charge.

Late in the second quarter, Lee struck for six more points by moving 79 yards in five plays. Johnson had a 15-yarder to set up a 46-yard aerial display from Butler to Montgomery.

Butler slightly underthrew the ball and Montgomery did a backstepping dance to elude safety William Brown for the score. McPherson shanked the extra point try, but made up for it with his game-winning field goal.

Iraan powers over Reagan County by 36-0

IRAAN — The powerhouse Iraan Braves continued to flex their muscles as they dumped the Reagan County Owls, 36-0, Friday for their third win of the season against no losses.

Iraan, which has yet to give up a point this season, bombarded the Owls with 318 yards rushing and another 88 passing. Halfback Sammy Castanada was the workhorse, grinding out 105 yards on 16 carries. Castanada put Iraan out in front in the first period with his one-yard plunge with 4:57 left in the quarter. The kick failed, but that six points was all Iraan needed.

Sophomore Joe Scouriers picked off a Mickey Owens pass in the second frame and raced untouched 49 yards for the Braves' second score. Iraan added a third score in the third period, and eight yard run by Martin Russel. Russel's tally culminated a 54-yard drive.

Russel added another touchdown in the fourth period, this time from one yard out. The score was set up by a 23-yard pass from John Scouriers to Mark Lang.

With just less than four minutes left in the contest, quarterback Scouriers picked up Iraan's final touchdown of the evening on a three-yard keeper. It was the first loss of the season for Reagan County.

Stanton emerges with 8-0 win over McCamey

By STEVE O'BRIEN
R-T Sports Writer

STANTON — Little did the Stanton Buffaloes know when they took the field Friday night that McCamey wasn't the only opposition they would have to deal with.

In addition to the Badgers, Stanton also had to overcome themselves and the rain but in the end they managed to beat all three in pulling out a hotly contested 8-0 homecoming win.

Todd Smith's one-yard run on the last play of the third quarter was the game's only score and it was all Stanton needed to pick up their first victory of the season.

HEAVY RAINS prior to and for the first half of the game made holding on to the football quite an achievement in itself. Stanton fumbled the ball five times and lost four of them to keep the outcome of the contest in doubt for most of the game.

The Stanton defense was able to rise to the occasion after each of those lost bobbles, however, twice stopping McCamey inside the 10-yard line. The Buff defenders were superb for the entirety of the game, but they were fantastic when their backs were against the wall.

For McCamey it was a frustrating evening. The Badgers played a remarkable game in their own right, but those two failures inside the 10 spelled defeat in the final analysis.

The first missed scoring opportunity came midway through the first quarter on a series of plays that epitomized the entire evening's activities. After failing to pick up the required 10 yards in three plays McCamey punted from the middle field stripe and Stanton's Richard Perez attempted a fair catch at the 10. But the Buffalo return man bobbled the ball and McCamey's Billy Ray Terry pounced on the loose pigskin, setting the Badgers up only 10 yards away from the goal.

BUT, THREE STRAIGHT running plays netted only two yards and on fourth down, Raul Arana's pass for Allan Prather was dropped, turning the ball back over to Stanton.

Neither team mounted any serious drives in the second period, seemingly content to slug it out between the 30s like a couple of punch-drunk fighters looking for that one big blow to end it.

It was Stanton that finally delivered the knockout punch in the third period. After taking over at their own 44, the Buffaloes staged a 16-play drive that ate up seven minutes of the clock, culminating with Smith's scamper around the left end as time ran out in the quarter.

A key play in the drive was a roughing the passer penalty against McCamey on second and nine at the Badgers' 29. That penalty moved the ball all the way down to the 14.

BUT THE SCRAFFY Badgers were unwilling to let Stanton have anything easy and it took a seven yard run by Buff quarterback Tommy Morrow on fourth and six from the 10 to keep the drive alive.

If Stanton thought McCamey had been tough before that point, they probably couldn't believe what they were about to face. Three straight running plays at the heart of the much smaller Badgers produced only a pair of yards, but with fourth and goal from the one, Smith finally got into the end zone. The Buffs faked the point after kick, with holder Ernie Byrd rolling around the right side for the two point conversion.

It looked as though Stanton was going to finally put the pesky Badgers away on their next possession, driving the ball from their own 45 to the McCamey fumble. The big play in that drive was a fake punt by Morrow on fourth and seven. Instead of booting the ball, Morrow reared back and fired an 11-yard strike to Smith for a first down. But it was all for naught as Morrow's exchange to Mitch Elmrow was bobbled and McCamey's Tommy Trowbridge was in the right place at the right time to cut short the scoring threat.

WITH JUST OVER two minutes left in the contest, it appeared McCamey was finally going to get some points on the board. Punting from his own 10, Morrow shanked one for only four yards.

But, McCamey let the golden scoring opportunity go by the boards when Stanton's Chuck Straub recovered B.J. Terry's fumble at the 10-yard line. The Badgers fought Stanton down to the wire, recovering another Stanton fumble at the 32 as the final seconds ticked off the clock.

Again, it was the Stanton defense that made the difference in the outcome, holding McCamey at bay until their offensive counterparts finally got on the board and then making it stand up the rest of the way. Stanton held McCamey to only a pair of first downs and one of those came by way of a penalty.

"We weren't real pleased with our offense," Stanton Coach David Thompson said after the game. "We felt like we should have scored more points."

"But you've got to give credit to McCamey — they were very scrappy. Our kids say they hit us harder than anybody else we've played so far."

It's put up or shut up time for Fightin' Irish

Ohio State's Ron Spring didn't have too much luck running against Penn State last week and is counting on smoother going against Minnesota today as Buckeyes try to bounce back from 19-0 defeat. (AP Laserphoto).

Having learned the hard way that it's tougher to defend a national championship than to win one in the first place, Notre Dame — winless Notre Dame, that is — is faced with a put-up-or-shut-up situation.

Before the season, Coach Dan Devine said it would not be easy to dethrone the Fighting Irish, but Missouri did a pretty good job two weeks ago by upsetting them 3-0 and dropping the defending national kings from fifth place to 14th in The Associated Press rankings.

Michigan is the current fifth-place team and the Wolverines invade South Bend on Saturday to meet Notre Dame in a game that brings two of the nation's most prominent college football powers together for the first time in 35 years.

"This type of game should be played," says Michigan's Bo Schembechler. "It involves two Midwest teams that have been strong down through the years."

DEVINE INSISTS the Irish are "a better team than we were two weeks ago...I know we are. We haven't been sitting around licking our wounds or feeling sorry for ourselves. We are quietly confident."

Michigan-Notre Dame will be televised to most of the country by ABC-TV, followed by a national telecast from Birmingham of two other prestigious names — top-rated Alabama vs. seventh-ranked Southern California.

Meanwhile, runner-up Arkansas visits Oklahoma State while Oklahoma and Penn State, which are tied for third in the ratings, are home against Rice and Southern Methodist, respectively.

SIXTH-RANKED Texas entertains Wyoming in a night contest while No. 8 UCLA visits Kansas, No. 9 Texas A&M is at Boston College for a night game and 10th-ranked Louisiana State hosts Wake Forest under the lights.

Twelfth-ranked Nebraska is the only Top Twenty team with the week off. Elsewhere, No. 11 Pitt entertains Temple, No. 13 Florida State is at Miami, Fla., No. 15 Washington at Indiana, No. 16 Ohio State at Minnesota, Mississippi at No. 17 Missouri, No. 18 Maryland at North Carolina in

Abilene bows to Temple, 49-0

ABILENE — The No. 1-ranked Temple Wildcats flexed their muscles Friday night and bombed the Abilene Eagles, 49-0 in P.E. Shotwell Stadium.

Carl Robinson paved the way by scoring three touchdowns as the powerful Wildcats, state finalists in 1976, held the Eagles to six first downs.

Robinson had runs of five, nine and 15 yards for the TDs as Temple exploded for 21 fourth period points to win going away.

Temple is now 3-0 on the season while Abilene stands 2-1 going into District 5-4A play in two weeks against Big Spring.

While Robinson was scoring three times, teammate Elvis Walker also had three TDs on runs of 18, two and also on an 87-yard punt return.

a key Atlantic Coast Conference showdown, San Jose State at No. 19 Colorado and No. 20 Iowa State at Iowa.

Although a loser against Missouri two weeks ago, Devine said he was "happy about some things we accomplished on defense." On the other hand, Schembechler called Michigan's 31-0 victory over Illinois "a typical first game with lots of mistakes," adding:

"Illinois is not Notre Dame. We'll be better tested in South Bend. They've had an extra week to prepare for us and, of course, they have the advantage of playing in their own stadium."

Of course, Notre Dame had that advantage against Missouri, too.

ALTHOUGH ALL coaches would love to schedule 11 patsies, Devine says he loves "the competition and the atmosphere of a big game" while Southern Cal's John Robinson says of the clash with Alabama: "These are the games you live for. You anticipate the sheer joy of playing in them."

Bulldogs lose

BRETT DIXON recovered a Midland fumble at the Bulldog 26, to set up the winning field goal, but Monterey had to work for it as Midland's John Beane, Zachry and Ankerholz came up with great defensive plays during the short drive that almost turned Monterey away. Potts' field goal came with 9:36 left in the game, but Midland only had the ball two more times the rest of the game, once at its own 29 and its own 22.

After the injury to Somers, Brad Hixon came in to hit Hickey with an eight-yard pass, but time ran out on the Bulldogs.

Midland is open next week and then faces Odessa Permian in Odessa, Oct. 6 in its District 5-4A opener.

Of Muscle Beach, sand and 90-pound weaklings

Strange, isn't it, how the guys on Muscle Beach flex their biceps and ignore each other like there's an epidemic of poison ivy running rampant along the water front.

The muscle bullies roam the beach kicking sand in the faces of 90-pound weaklings, without fear that they'll pull a Charles Atlas. After all, if they do, just ignore 'em and find another 90-pound weakling. There's plenty of 'em around, just waiting to be picked on.

Oh, on once in a while, a couple of the muscle guys will bump into one another and it makes it fun for the railbirds up on the boardwalk, but the sportswriters don't really complain.

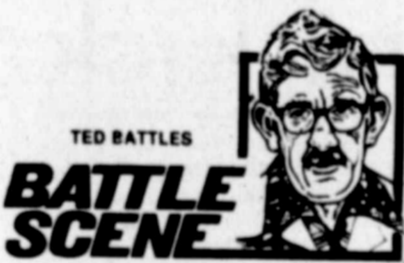

Shoot, it's a lot less hazardous to pick Oklahoma-Rice than say, Penn State-Oklahoma. And if you had a choice, would you rather pin your peerless reputation on Arkansas-Ohio State or Arkansas-Oklahoma State?

Of course, when the bicep-bulgers are in the same conference, they are going to meet eventually, but as long as there's a choice, why play LSU, if you can bully Tulane.

OF COURSE, sometimes those boardwalk dreams do happen, like down in Birmingham where Alabama and USC meet today and up at South Bend where Michigan and Notre Dame are renewing acquaintances after nearly 40 years of abstinence.

Actually, that series ended back when Frank Leahy's teams were the scourge of the nation and, while the Wolverines were formidable enough, they weren't in the class of the Irish. They say Leahy's manner rather than the beatings were responsible for the rupture in relations.

Whereas, Knute Rockne could beat you and make you feel as though it was an honor. Somehow the bruises from one of those one-sided losses to Leahy hurt for months after.

Penn State-SMU might just be better than anyone expected and at the other end of the spectrum TCU and Oregon, a couple of 90-pound weaklings, could be a treat.

Starting off with the kind we like to pick most...

Texas 35, Wyoming 0—Steers may not have a reason to get emotional about this thing, but they really don't have to.

Arkansas 31, Oklahoma State 6—Lou Holtz will have the Razorbacks thinking it's OU all over again.

Oklahoma 40, Rice 0—You don't think the Sooners will let UT's 34-0 stand, do you?

Ohio State 21, Minnesota 7—The Gophers pay for last week.

Tennessee 23, Oregon State 6—Johnny Majors better not try the patience of the Vol fans too long. Texas A&M 28, Boston College 10—New England in the fall is beautiful, but the Aggies aren't there for pleasure.

Pitt 24, Temple 7—After the way the Owls scared Penn State, the Panthers should be ready.

Houston 10, Utah 7—The Utes were 3-8 last year. Surely they haven't improved that much.

And now those we've been avoiding... Alabama 21, USC 20—Bama beat Trojans on Coast last year and this year it's in Birmingham. Besides Tide seems to have some kind of hex on USC.

Penn State 10, SMU 7—Lions by Chris Bahr's toe.

Kentucky 14, Baylor 13—Two in a row on the road is rough on Bears.

Texas Tech 23, Arizona 20—Home field and past history point to Raiders.

Michigan 14, Notre Dame 10—Dan Devine won't eschew the field goal this time as he did against Missouri, but it won't be enough.

TCU 33, Oregon 30—We like to live wild once in a while.

Yale 17, Brown 14—They say it might be for the Ivy League championship.

Washington 18, Indiana 9—Huskies still have Rose Bowl ambitions.

Maryland 18, North Carolina 15—The coin came up heads.

Clemson 21, Georgia 7—I don't really believe it, but I'm picking Tigers for a friend.

Missouri 13, Mississippi 7—Mizzou, if they've got anybody left.

Solomon, Ashe win matches

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixth-seeded Harold Solomon and seventh-seeded Arthur Ashe advanced to the quarter-finals of a $200,000 men's tennis tournament with third-round victories Friday.

Also gaining quarter-final berths at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion were a pair of unseeded players, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and Jan Norback of Sweden. Eleventh-seeded John Lloyd of England and 14th-seeded Peter Fleming won third-round matches Thursday.

Bears' Finks pulls fast one

CHICAGO (AP) — General Manager Jim Finks of the Chicago Bears did a slick bit of maneuvering earlier this season involving the trade of a Pittsburgh Steeler running back.

Finks says he's not above doing a bit of finagling now and then. And while the National Football League says it doesn't necessarily condone the sly maneuver, the NFL shrugs it off as being technically within the rules.

The Chicago Tribune reported the details Friday. The Pittsburgh Steelers, faced with their final squad cut, placed veteran running back Alvin Maxson and Jack Delopaine on waivers.

Both men were claimed by the Washington Redskins. However, the Redskins decided they didn't need two more backs and Maxson was put back on waivers.

Steelers President Dan Rooney called Finks and asked him to put in a claim for Maxson and keep him for one game to protect him from other clubs.

"My response to Dan was that we would be happy to do them a favor unless we had to have the space on our roster for somebody we really needed," Finks said.

"So I added Maxson, kept him for one game, then waived him and traded him back to Pittsburgh," Finks added.

The Bears' acquisition of a new player for the opener against St. Louis was not announced. Maxson never came to Chicago.

Fall officially arrives at Tech

Typical college football at Texas Tech is the goal line stand.

Halftime means marching bands.

Masked rider of the Plains rides again.

Keeping peace on the sidelines. In his own way.

The Cowboys have their Cheerleaders and so do the Raiders.

A guy can draw a crowd in a hurry.

Rex Dockery, coach with a care.

Early arrivals on game day at Jones Stadium.

Arizona brings Pac-10 look to Jones Stadium

Arizona belongs to a more prestigious conference than the last time the Wildcats visited Lubbock, but the Texas Tech Red Raiders are hopeful they are as friendly as the beloved Border, WAC league days when the old rivals square off at 8 p.m. today in Jones Stadium.

Tech enjoys a 24-3-1 edge in the series with Arizona, but the new association with the Pac-10 means more fertile recruiting grounds for the Wildcats, yet Tech Coach Rex Dockery understandably hopes the upgraded program won't become evident this quickly.

That may be wishful thinking, since Coach Tony Mason's Wildcats were 2-9 last year and already are 2-0 this year with victories over Oregon State and Kansas State and a string of 14 consecutive scoreless quarters that should test Tech's suspect offense.

ALTHOUGH TECH lost its opener to Southern California, 17-9, few expected the game to be that close. In fact, the Trojans had to overcome a 9-0 deficit to pull it out in the last half. Now the question remains, was Tech's performance in Los Angeles two weeks ago for real or a mirage? Arizona should shed some light on the mystery, offering some hint as to just how big a regrouping task Dockery and his young and inexperienced hands are faced with.

In any event, the Wildcats, based on preseason appraisals, offer the Raiders their best hope for victory in the first four games. After UA comes Texas and Texas A&M.

ELSEWHERE ON the Southwest Conference front, Texas A&M, Arkansas, Texas and Houston, the supposed haves of the league, pick on lesser lights while SMU, Baylor and Rice will be fighting for their lives against nationally-ranked powers. And TCU just may have a rare opportunity for victory in its intersectional conflict with Oregon at Eugene.

Arkansas, a comfortable winner over Vanderbilt last week in its opener, treks to Stillwater this afternoon to play NCAA-whipped Oklahoma State, already a two-time loser.

Texas breezed to a SWC victory over Rice last week and figures to romp over Coach Fred Akers' old school, Wyoming, at Austin. And although Fred recruited most of the current Cowboys, it should be a touchdown-parade for the Steers who are looking ahead to bigger game.

Texas A&M travels to New England with hopes of enjoying the colorful fall foliage up north and, hopefully, more hospitality than the Eagles showed Texas a couple of seasons ago.

And tarnished Houston, splattered 17-3 by Memphis State last week, seeks to rebound against Utah.

MEANWHILE, RICE is at Oklahoma where 71,000 will witness what is expected to be a quick execution, SMU travels to Penn State and Baylor is at Kentucky, all afternoon games. SMU is presented the best opportunity to strike a blow for SWC intersectional prestige and picks a good spot on the schedule to catch the Lions fat and sleepy. The 3-0 Mustangs tackle Joe Paterno's Nittany Lion on the heels of State's 19-0 win over Ohio State last week. An SMU win, or strong showing, would cause uneasiness around the rest of the league.

Baylor rebounds from a loss to Georgia against a Kentucky Wildcats squad that is still snarling over last week's tie with South Carolina. The Wildcats, 10-1 last year, had visions of bigger things this year.

TCU waged a 29-24 thriller last with Oregon and the Frogs, 0-1 to SMU, will be out to reverse the outcome.

TEXAS CAME with a game of the national championship yet before losing to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, ruining all of those beautiful celebration plans. The Longhorns are still ranked, but without Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell. Wyoming, the WAC's Fiesta Bowl representative two years ago, was 4-6-1 last year and lost its only previous game to Texas, 34-7, in 1974. Confronting the Cowboys is a seven-game UT home field winning streak. Wyoming beat South Dakota, 30-11, in its only previous start.

Akers wasn't exactly pleased with the 34-0 win over Rice, not with the Longhorns slapped with a record 17 penalties for 165 yards and losing five of six fumbles.

Ramsay signs 4-year contract

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Jack Ramsay, who coached the Portland Trail Blazers into champions, has signed a new four-year contract, the team announced Friday.

Ramsay's two-season record with the Blazers is 107-57 and in his first season he led them to a National Basketball Association championship.

The terms of his contract were not announced.

"He's been here two years and won one year's world championship, so naturally we want him around," said John White, Blazers information officer. "Almost everybody has said he's the best teaching coach in the country, and we're going to need it this year."

Ramsay was included in criticism of the Blazers management leveled by center Bill Walton when he decided to leave Portland. Walton, who broke his foot in a playoff game, complained about the team's medical policies and said players were pushed to play when they were injured.

Halas sees end to NFL expansion

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas calls it his "Grand Plan" and when he says the National Football League will cease expanding with the addition of two more teams in the near future, take heed.

"There can be too much expansion," said Halas, the last surviving member of a group of men who founded organized pro football in a Canton, Ohio, automobile agency in 1920.

"We have allowed for that," said Halas. "Two more and a total of 30 teams and that will be it. That was part of the Grand Plan, my Grand Plan, 10 years ago."

Halas, who at 83 is listed as chairman of the board of the Chicago Bears, hasn't lost any of his wit and, with a twinkle in his eyes, said, "Now

Midland hosts Major Zone net tourney

Deadline for the Texas Major Zone tennis tournament is Friday and entry blanks are available at Midland College, Midland Racquet Club, Midland Country Club or Yvonne Garton, 1409 W. Golf Course Road.

"This is the first Major Zone tournament ever held in Midland and we are excited about the number of good players it will bring," said Tournament Chairman Brian Gilley. The tournament is scheduled Oct. 14-16 at Midland College, MHS and Midland Lee courts and is sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association and sponsored by the Texas Tennis Association. The tourney will have all events for adult men and women.

"In order to receive state or national rankings, players must compete in a specified number of Major Zone tournaments or sanctioned tournaments each year," Gilley said. "Although players from New Mexico may compete in the tourney here, they would not receive Texas player rankings."

you don't really expect me to reveal who the last two teams will be, do you? I think we know where the teams will be but it wouldn't be fair to reveal it to anyone. You can be sure everything will be well planned and studied in advance.

"THAT'S THE way we've always done things," said Halas. "We don't just pick names out of a hat. When we expanded to Tampa Bay and Seattle, we selected what some people thought were two remote spots. But look at what has happened."

Although Halas feels expansion beyond 30 teams would not be wise, he doesn't believe, as some do, that there is overexposure of pro football on television.

"It seems that wherever we went we were accepted by fans, by radio by television," said Halas. "The fact that we are winning more and more fans is because of television. That's the reason we will continue to grow in popularity."

"We used radio first and then television to introduce our game to the fans," said Halas. "It's like sending a salesman ahead to show the people the product."

ALTHOUGH PRO football could not survive today without the money provided by television, it was less than 30 years ago that Halas dug in his own pocket and paid to have Bear games televised to places like Minneapolis and Louisville.

"We knew we had a great attraction but we had to show the public and the television people what a great game professional football is," said Halas, who learned long ago how to catch the public fancy.

"It all started with Red Grange," Halas reminisced. "Grange opened the doors to the public. He was then and still remains the most publicized player in history. He was in his day what radio and TV were to become later."

GRANGE, THE legend from Illinois, made his debut in Wrigley Field on Thanksgiving Day before a capacity crowd of 36,000.

THE QUOTE BOOK Bullpen view can't be beat

Some notable quotes from the world of sports:

"I haven't played in going on two years. It'll take time." — Pro hockey star Bobby Orr, making a comeback with the Chicago Black Hawks after his sixth knee operation.

"It's strange down there. You've got a great view of the left fielder and that's all." — Jerry Koonsman of the New York Mets, on being sent to the bullpen for the rest of the season.

"What are we going to do, lay down and die? We got beat. We got to bounce back tomorrow." — Carl Yastrzemski of the struggling Boston Red Sox.

"It's time for me to go fishing." — Ralph Houk, manager of the Detroit Tigers in announcing his retirement effective at the end of the season.

"Because of the rivalry and the fact that we're both unbeaten, it's only natural there will be a lot of publicity and a lot of emotionalism." — Cleveland Browns wide receiver Reggie Rucker, looking forward to Sunday's game against Pittsburgh in a battle between two unbeaten National Football League teams.

"I think we are a better team than we were two weeks ago. I know we are." — Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine, preparing for Saturday's game against Michigan following the Irish's upset 3-0 loss to Missouri.

Rommie Loudd granted parole

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Rommie Loudd, an Orlando sports figure who was convicted in 1975 of two counts of delivering cocaine, has been granted parole by the Florida Probation and Parole Commission.

Officials said Loudd's parole was contingent on his developing a satisfactory release plan. Loudd will be released once that plan is developed and accepted by the commission, although it will not be necessary for the commission to take another vote on his parole.

Loudd had been convicted on two counts of delivering cocaine and had received two 14-year sentences from an Orlando judge.

Look for Browns to shock Steelers and Packers to win

NEW YORK (AP) — This weekend the National Football League inaugurates Sunday Night Football — and to start things off right, it presents the New England Patriots, fresh a losing effort in Monday Night Football.

Ah, but this time things will be different, namely the Patriots will win, getting even with the Oakland Raiders, who have inflicted cruel and unusual punishment on them more than once.

It's an Upset Special of the Week — but not the only one. Look for Cleveland to shock Pittsburgh, Green Bay to bolt past San Diego, New Orleans to shell Cincinnati and San Francisco to knock off the New York Giants. Considering what's been happening this season, that's not all that many upsets.

Last week's mediocre 8-6 put the season mark at 22-20, .524.

Patriots 28, Raiders 24
The usual "revenge" talk may be a lot more than just hot air in this case. Besides, lesser teams that the Pats have given Oakland fits this year.

Browns 21, Steelers 17
The Browns haven't won in Pittsburgh since 1969. With the prospect of remaining unbeaten and leading their division, now is as good a time as any to end the drought.

Packers 24, Chargers 20
Green Bay's David Whitehurst and James Lofton will hook up for a couple of game-breakers.

Saints 28, Bengals 16
New Orleans has made some strides toward respectability. The only thing Cincinnati has made is a fool of itself.

49ers 17, Giants 14
Whether O.J. plays or not, the difference will turn out to be young San Francisco quarterback Steve DeBerg.

Rams 34, Oilers 28
What Los Angeles did to Tony Dorsett and the Cowboys last week it'll do to Earl Campbell and the Oilers this week.

Vikings 14, Bears 10
Minnesota wasn't as bad as it looked last Sunday against Tampa Bay. Field judge Pat Mallette was, however.

Cowboys 31, Cardinals 10
Dallas had better not be looking past the Cards or it'll lose the game. Bud Wilkinson had better not look at the game or he'll lose his appetite.

Falcons 17, Buccaneers 10
Ineptitude seems to follow the Bucs around. Sometimes it winds up on the wrong bench, but this time it'll be back where it belongs.

Redskins 28, Jets 21
The New York secondary seems vulnerable to any kind of passing game, and Joe Theismann's giving Washington a good one.

Dorsett is like a Rembrandt in a saloon or the "Has-Anybody-Seen-Gale-Sayers-Lately?" syndrome. TONY DORSETT came into the Los Angeles Coliseum Sunday as the most marked man in pro football.

Dorsett's per-game average dropped 30 yards. His reputation average dropped in half. The object of all this attention stood toiling himself off in the locker room after the game.

Dorsett grinned. "I don't see how. Put you in glass? I don't know what kind of a rule change they can put in once you got the ball."

Paralyzed quake victim walks again

By CAROL KRUCOFF
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — When an Air Force plane brought Randy Ellsworth back home from central America in February 1976, doctors told him that he might never walk again — that he was lucky to be alive.

The young Mormon missionary from Rockville, Md., was the only American known to be injured in the devastating Guatemala earthquake, in which an estimated 18,000 persons were killed. The day Ellsworth came off that Air Force plane, he was strapped to a stretcher, semiconscious and delirious and paralyzed from the waist down.

Yet last month, after an intense 2 1/2 year struggle back to health, 22-year-old Ellsworth marched, on two sound legs, down the aisle of Washington, D.C.'s Mormon Temple with his bride, Silvia (Sherry) Lang, a native of Guatemala.

"What I like in Randy is his determination," 26-year-old Lang said softly as she sat with her fiancé in the living room of his Rockville home before the wedding. "He is a very special person."

His determination to make a "110 percent" recovery, to finish his Guatemalan mission and to marry Lang, has guided Ellsworth since his injury — an experience he calls "a test to prove my competence."

Ellsworth's test came at 3:04 a.m. on Feb. 4, 1976, while he was serving as a Mormon missionary to Guatemalan Indians.

Sleeping in a church to be near a sick friend, he awoke to find the world shaking and his body "snapped in two" by a 60-foot concrete and steel beam that had crushed into his back.

Ellsworth was trapped underneath the beam for six hours before a carpenter removed the floor beneath him with a chain saw. After being freed, he was taken in an old Greyhound bus along dirt roads to a nearby town, only to find it demolished by the earthquake. He was then driven five hours to a hospital in Guatemala City and taken to the Canal Zone, where his parents, Lois and Nylan Ellsworth, flew down to meet him. He was then flown to Andrews Air Force Ca.

Doctors found that the beam had crushed Ellsworth's back and seriously injured his kidneys and bladder.

"At first, walking 30 feet from the front door to the lightpost was exhausting — I'd collapse and sleep for the rest of the day," said Ellsworth, who left George Washington University Hospital after four months of intensive physical therapy while the crushed nerves leading to his legs regenerated.

"Every day I'd walk to one more lightpost, then another, using two crutches. In two weeks I went up two blocks, and each day I tried to have a first — even if it was stepping up two stairs instead of one," said Ellsworth, who, in time, traded his crutches for two canes.

In July 1976, supported by leg braces and a single cane, he announced in temple that he was ready to finish his mission in Guatemala.

"Everyone thought I was crazy," recalled the clean-cut, courteous young man. "When I received permission from a church official to return to Guatemala, I was so happy I didn't know what to do. Then I went into my bedroom and started to cry."

With a special six-month extension to make up for lost time, Ellsworth was able to complete his two-year missionary service. Last year, he returned to Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, to begin his sophomore year of pre-med studies. There he met and fell in love with Sherry Lang.

"I remember talking with a friend in the cafeteria when I saw a beautiful girl," Ellsworth recalled. "All of a sudden I realized I knew her. She was the daughter of (Mormon church) President Lang from Guatemala."

Mormon men are not allowed to date during their missionary years, so he hadn't paid much attention when he met Lang in Guatemala, Ellsworth explained.

Still wearing braces on his legs, he approached her, reintroduced himself and asked her to a football game.

"I had heard a lot about him, I saw him a few times, and he impressed me very much," Lang said shyly. "I liked him, but he was so famous and, I thought, so far to reach."

The couple began a classically whirlwind romance, attending concerts, school functions and sports events. When Ellsworth worked out in the gym, swimming and lifting weights to strengthen his leg muscles, Lang would stop by with encouragement.

"I began working out in the gym, too, for personal exercise (and) to be able to do a lot of things with him," Lang laughed. "Sharing things meant a lot."

Last May, they announced their engagement.

After their brief camping honeymoon, they returned to Utah. While Ellsworth finishes his studies, his wife will teach Spanish to children enrolled in a special, intensive language program.

Someday, they hope to return to the Washington area where Randy Ellsworth would like to attend medical school.

"My dream, if avenues open up, would be to open a clinic in Guatemala," said Ellsworth.

Even though his determination was a major factor in his recovery, Ellsworth says his faith sustained him throughout his recovery.

"In all honesty," he said, "I feel I've made a positive experience out of something that could have kept me flat on my back for the rest of my life. I attribute my recovery to faith in my heavenly father and a lot of hard work. If you put in your part, the Lord will do his."

Randy Ellsworth, once paralyzed, was told he might never walk again. (Washington Post Photo by Joel Richardson)

MacArthur's spirit returning to Manila

NEW YORK (AP) — The spirit of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur will return to the Philippines once again.

Replicas of 30 of the five-star general's medals were presented Thursday to his longtime friend, Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, foreign minister of the Republic of the Philippines, during a brief ceremony at the Waldorf Towers in Manhattan, home of Mrs. Douglas MacArthur. The collection will be displayed in the MacArthur Suite, once the home of the MacArthurs, at the Manila Hotel in Manila.

Mrs. MacArthur along with Brigadier Gen. Robert A. Sullivan, chief of public affairs for the U.S. Army, unveiled the medals. They reminisced about the highpoints of MacArthur's career, including his departure from the Philippines in 1942 when, forced to evacuate by the invading Japanese, MacArthur vowed: 'I shall return.'

He returned to liberate the islands in the fall of 1944.

Asked which medal, among the replicas being sent, was her most treasured, MacArthur's widow said she was very proud of the Congressional Medal of Honor, but she said, "They all mean a great deal to me."

Bakke decision no ban, says Califano

WASHINGTON (AP) — HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. said Friday the Supreme Court's Bakke decision will not restrict government programs to increase black enrollment or hiring in the nation's colleges and universities.

"Affirmative action is alive and well," the secretary of health, education and welfare declared in a speech at predominantly black Howard University here, where he received an honorary degree.

Califano said his department had conducted a review "of all HEW programs and regulations to determine their legality in light of the Supreme Court's decision" three months ago.

He said the report is incomplete, but "I can announce today the major conclusion we have reached: in general, the Bakke decision will not interfere with or restrict HEW programs of special value and concern to minority groups."

The high court, in split 5-4 rulings, said Allan Bakke, a white, must be admitted to the University of California at Davis

Medical School because he had been discriminated against by a school admission policy under which 16 of 100 first-year seats were set aside for minority applicants. But a separate five-man majority said colleges could use race as one factor in deciding admissions.

NATO forces concerned about chemical warfare

NEUMUNSTER, West Germany (AP) — NATO military units are pushing their preparations to survive chemical warfare but officers say they are deeply troubled over Western shortcomings in the field.

NATO's supreme European commander, American Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., said today the military alliance's protection from chemical attack is "still highly unsatisfactory." He hinted that unless U.S.-Soviet talks in Geneva on banning chemical weapons are successful soon, NATO might consider upgrading in its own offensive chemical capability.

Haig spoke to correspondents who have toured NATO maneuver grounds in West Germany for the past week. Reporters saw wide disparities in preparations for chemical attack, ranging from tanks fully equipped with air filtration systems to field headquarters and a hospital that had little chemical protection.

Protection against chemical warfare has been a major part of the current "Autumn Forge" NATO exercise involving 200,000 troops, including 11,400 Marines.

Haig and many other Western specialists have accused the Soviet Union of stepping up its ability to wage chemical war. They say the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact forces can deliver heavy amounts of gas and sprays from planes, rockets and artillery shells that could immobilize or kill troops.

Several officers have expressed bitterness over Western reluctance to deploy neutron weapons, which would kill people with radiation but do minimal property damage outside the immediate blast area, while the Soviets develop chemical weapons with essentially the same effect.

Judgment affirmed

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has upheld a 1977 judgment that awarded damages of $177,980 for copyright infringement to the estate of ragtime composer Scott Joplin's wife.

The judgment was entered by Manhattan federal court Judge John M. Cannela against Olympic Records Corp., its president, Joseph Abend, and Crown Publishers.

Politics out of place in Hawaii

By WILLIAM ENDICOTT
The Los Angeles Times

HONOLULU — Surrounded by sea and bathed in sun, Hawaii seems as if it should be insulated from the rough and tumble of politics. A hotly contested political campaign appears somehow as an obscene and awkward intrusion.

Yet a race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination that is moving toward a climax here can match in intensity and bitterness any campaign being waged in the country this fall.

It has been marked by racial tensions, the specter of an unsuccessful probe into public corruption, allegations of organized crime influence and charges that the future of Hawaii hangs in the balance. The combatants are two long-time political enemies—the incumbent, George R. Ariyoshi, 51, a quiet and humorless Japanese-American first elected in 1974, and Frank Fasi, 58, the feisty and flamboyant mayor of Honolulu who declared his candidacy last year on the same day he was indicted for bribery in a city redevelopment scandal.

Democrats hold an almost five-to-one registration edge and have dominated state politics here for so long that it is a virtual certainty that whoever wins the Oct. 7 primary will win the general election in November.

Fasi, who beat the bribery accusation when a prosecution witness refused to testify, has since succeeded in turning the indictment into a question of whether the Ariyoshi Administration precipitated it to remove him as a political threat.

He had finished second in 1974 to Ariyoshi, a protégé of Hawaii's first Democratic governor, the late John A. Burns.

"They used a political vendetta to violate my civil rights," the mayor said in a recent interview, "and they haven't heard the last of that."

In turn, Fasi has seized on a Hawaii Crime Commission report that pointed to alleged influence of organized crime on state government to charge that the links reach all the way to Ariyoshi's office. He offered no specifics.

"All I said was that the commission said organized crime had influence in high places in government and since it wasn't my office they were talking about, it must be the governor's," Fasi said.

But neither did the commission provide specifics, and Ariyoshi told the Los Angeles Times that Fasi's comments were "ridiculous" and "all very political."

Unfortunately for the governor, he works so hard at being "gubernatorial" that he often appears stuffy and colorless. He rarely has been accessible during the campaign for questioning by reporters and is so closely shielded by his personal secretary that even his own staff has difficulty seeing him.

Basically, Ariyoshi, a second generation Japanese-American born here, is running a "formula" campaign — heavy use of volunteers at the grass roots level and slick media ads that try to explain away his dullness by portraying him as "quiet ... effective."

In contrast, Fasi, a tough-talking ex-Marine who moved here from Hartford, Conn., shortly after World War II, is flashy, almost boisterous, and likes to cast himself as the underdog against the overwhelming odds of Ariyoshi's incumbency and an unfriendly Honolulu press.

A seasoned political observer here described the governor as "the completely managed candidate" and Fasi, ever the populist, as "a candidate nobody can manage."

And a political scientist at the University of Hawaii characterized the campaign as a "supercharged personality campaign" based more on styles than on issues. "But if Fasi wins," he said, "it will mean the traditional Democratic conglomerate built by Jack Burns will have crumbled and Hawaii will be in for some free-wheeling politics."

"There used to be a lot of political idealism here. After statehood, people wanted to prove they were good Americans. Burns was treated almost like a god. But now we're becoming more and more like the mainland."

Ariyoshi's support has a largely ethnic base — a huge constituency of Japanese-Americans who took over Hawaii politics from the big business Republicans in the 1950s and backed Burns in three successful elections.

But the governor also is viewed now as the "establishment" candidate and thus enjoys the support of an unusual alliance of big business and big labor, including the powerful international Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Japanese-Americans, although no longer in the population majority having been passed by Caucasians — still boast the single-largest voting bloc, an estimated 38 percent to 40 percent of the total registration.

Fasi's appeal is to many of the out-of-power ethnic minorities in the state, the working class and mainland newcomers — Haoles — who see in him a chance to break the Japanese-American political stranglehold on the state.

Singer Guthrie, agent in court

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Arlo Guthrie sings to his audiences but a former concert promoter is suing him for talking to one audience.

Clayton Fuller contends Guthrie ruined his reputation as a promoter by telling a 1976 Burlington concert audience that "everybody here is being ripped off."

Both Fuller and Guthrie testified Thursday in U.S. District Court in Burlington in a slander suit Fuller filed against Guthrie.

Fuller said that because of the turnout for the concert was lower than he expected, he did not have Guthrie's $2,500 fee in cash.

He said he gave Guthrie $950 cash during the intermission, but that Guthrie refused a personal check for the rest.

Cardinal in Germany

FULDA, West Germany (AP) — Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński, leader of Poland's Roman Catholics, says the church must move away from "theological rationalism" toward more evangelism.

Speaking in German to about 4,000 worshippers on Thursday, the Polish cardinal, said the church must "leave the labyrinths and faculties, free to search out the poor of faith."

Cardinal Wyszyński, on a rare visit to the West, added, "perhaps the church of today will break away from some contracts and renounce arrangements in order to win back true freedom."

He said such a move would not result in a poor church but one that "trusts God more than men."

The Polish primate, who arrived Wednesday for a five-day visit, spoke at the concluding service of the German Bishops Conference.

$1200.00 Per Month Plus

Manager Trainee needed to fill $58,000 per year position. It normally takes only 2 to 3 years to become a manager. $14,400 is your guaranteed annual salary while you learn; however, for those who survive, the first year average compensation is $24,800 due to additional sales commissions. 90 to 95% of your time will be in sales during the 2 to 3 year training period.

The qualifications are tough-please don't apply unless you meet each and every qualification.

1. Impeccable integrity and references.
2. 4 year degree from accredited college or high school diploma coupled with 2 years of heavy, retail manager experience.
3. Willing to work over (60) hours per week (no Sunday or out town work.)
4. Willing to take polygraph test.
5. Willing and capable of taking instructions.
6. Not have any prior heavy sales experience such as Real Estate, Automobile, Mobile Homes, vacuum cleaners or Etc.

We have an extraordinary benefit plan including a retirement profit sharing plan. We don't list with employment agencies and request they don't refer "candidates" to us.

We need a great sales rep.

For an uncommonly good job.

Representing the nation's largest manufacturer and seller of custom-designed single family homes. We know the job will take hard work, even though you'll be selling to qualified leads. That's why we need an aggressive, self-starter who works well without supervision.

Experience in home construction, direct selling or related industry background will be a real plus. Many of our sales Representatives with similar backgrounds have consistently earned five figure incomes through commissions.
