Sadat issues new challenges, invitation

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Carter will come to Egypt for the signing of the peace treaty between Egypt and Israel, President Anwar Sadat said today

Sadat told the Egyptian parliament, during a speech on the Camp David accords, that he had extended the invitation. He told newsmen after the address that Carter accepted.

No date has been set for the visit, but officials said it will depend on how fast Egyptian and Israeli negotiators can work out steps to implement the accords, agreed upon earlier this month to end the 30 year conflict in the Middle East.

Sadat and Begin have pledged to conduct talks speedily. They are expected to open in Washington Oct. 12, with a target of a peace treaty by Dec.

Sadat said the accords would not have been possible without Carter and"without his perseverence."

"President Carter will go down in history as one of the great leaders who changed the face of history from bitterness to love and from wars to

During the speech Sadat attacked Arab critics of the Camp David accords and invited them to join in peace talks with Israel if they think they can do better. In his first public appearance since returning from Camp David nine days ago, Sadat blasted leaders of Syria, Libya and the Palestine Liberation Organization, who say Sadat is guilty of treason for signing the agreements with Israel.

He called Col. Moammar Khadafy of Libya "a child.

But Sadat did not criticize King Hussein of Jordan, whose eventual participation in the negotiations is necessary if they are to succeed. Hussein has critized the accords but refrained from joining the so-called Arab rejectionists who split with Egypt over Sadat's peace initiative.

"I invite King Hussein to assume his responsibilities," Sadat said. "I invite Syrian officials to take part in the talks so as to deal with the Israeli withdrawal from the Golan." He called on PLO leaders to end what he said were their "farcical" differ-

Sadat maintained the accords, which provide for a total Israeli withdrawal from Sinai within three years, would have the same terms applied to the Golan Heights if the Syrians joined the talks.

"This is what Egypt was able to do at this stage... we do not claim to have reached a comprehensive settlement, but we have prepared the road toward a comprehensive settlement," Sadat

Further peace talks set to begin in Washington

By The Associated Press

Negotiations to complete the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty, outlined in the Camp David summit accords last month, are reported set to begin in Washington on Oct. 12. And Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said today President Carter will go to Cairo for the signing of the treaty

Egyptian government sources confirmed reports in Israel and Cairo that Washington had been chosen as the site for the talks rather than the location proposed by Egypt, the Suez Canal city of Ismailia

The sources said the shift would facilitate participation by American officials in the negotiations to end formally 30 years of hostilities between Egypt and Israel.

The Israeli Parliament removed the last barrier to further peace negotiations last Thursday when it ratified the Camp David accords and agreed to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's demand that Israel withdraw its 4,000 Jewish settlers from 18 outposts it established in the Sinai Desert.

In Cairo, Sadat made the announcement of the Carter trip while addressing his parliament on the Camp David accords

"President Carter will go down in history as one of the great leaders who changed the face of history from bitterness to love and from wars to peace," Sadat said, adding the talks could not have succeeded without Carter's "perseverence.

He also attacked Arab critics of the agreements and invited them to join in peace talks with Israel if they think they can do better.

This is what Egypt was able to do at this stage ... We do not claim to have reached a comprehensive settlement, but we have prepared the road toward a comprehensive settlement." Sadat said

President Carter brought Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin together at Camp David for two weeks of talks that yielded frameworks for Arab-Israeli peace and for a peace treaty between Israel and Egypt to be concluded within three

The framework for the Israeli-Egyptian treaty calls for a two-phase withdrawal of Israeli troops from Sinai, the stationing of United Nations forces on the southern Sinai coast to insure Israel's right of passage through the Gulf of Aqaba and the establishment of early warning sta-

The negotiators in Washington will work on demarcation of the zones in Sinai in which Israeli, Egyptian and U.N. troops will be stationed and a timetable for withdrawal of the Israe-

Israel and Egypt also are to negotiate for establishment of an autonomous Palestinian government in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip. Nearly 100 West Bank Palestinian leaders at a meeting in Jerusalem Sunday rejected the Camp David agreements and called on the West Bank Palestinians to boycott the elections that are to be held to choose an administrative

Officials deny threat halted jackrabbit roping

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

ODESSA - Permian Basin Fair and Exposition officials got tangled up in a showdown with investigators from the Humane Society of the U.S. Sunday and decided to cancel the World Championship Jackrabbit Roping Contest.

Marc Paulhus, an investigator from the society's headquarters in Washington, D.C., claimed credit for stopping the event which he considered 'inhumane and a clear violation of Texas animal anti-cruelty statutes."

Paulhus and Rick McCracken of the organization's Corpus Christi office had threatened to file criminal complaints against the contest's sponsors, the participants and the rabbit suppliers had the event been staged as Meanwhile, Bill D. Hicks, a fair director and supervisor of the event, said the roping was cancelled because "enough rabbits couldn't be had and they apparently did not want to be roped this year.

The Humane Society is not the reason why we cancelled. We went out two nights and just couldn't round up any rabbits. We plan to go ahead with it next year."

Paulhus called Hick's explanation

"a poor alibi."
"It seems to me they could have rounded up enough rabbits if they really wanted to go ahead with the event. They could have even purchased the rabbits off one of the local jackrabbit contractors," the investigator said.

Paulhus was referring to local merchants who make money through mass shipments of jackrabbits from the Midland-Odessa area to as many as 40 states for use as live bait in greyhound race training exercises known as "coursing."

Several federal and state agencies are investigating possible violations involved with "coursing." The Humane Society also has said it regards that activity as cruel and inhumane and is attempting to put a stop to it. Paulhus regarded the cancellation of Sunday's roping event as "a big victory for the Humane Society." "I can assure you that the event will not happen again. I strongly believe that the activity is illegal and that local officials were aware of that and knew that we would do everything in our power to see that those involved would be prosecuted if the event took place," Paulhus said Sunday.

"If they try to have it again next year, we'll be back, but with one exception. We'll be quite prepared. We'll know in advance about it, we'll prepare our objection long in advance and we'll be prepared with an attornev general's opinion as to the event's

"We'll seek an opinion from the attorney general's office soon, although I think it's pretty clear-cut that the event is illegal in Texas." The agent contends that it is a

Investigators to release crash transcript today

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The jetliner was falling, plunging 2,600 feet after colliding with a small Cessna. But its pilot and copilot still struggled — for "about a half minute's time" — to control the plane, making what investigators say was calm, casual conversation with air traffic controllers.

The transcript of that conversation was to be made public today, said investigators of the nation's worst air tragedy. The transcript covers all comments from ground to air and back before and after the Cessna and a Pacific Southwest Airlines 727 collided over the North Park residential area of San Diego a week ago.

At least 144 persons died, including seven on the ground, said Deputy County Coroner Max Murphy. He said during the weekend that the death figure was revised downward from 150 to 144. He said six persons believed killed on the ground were not in their homes at the time of the crash.

A spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board said in an interview with The Associated Press Sunday that the impact between the planes may have ruptured the jetliner's hydraulic system; in effect killing its power steering and some braking power.

The spokesman, Rudolph Kapustin, who heads the 100 investigators looking into the cause of the crash, said, "The aileron on the right wing was fully deflected and pointing upward," indicating that despite damage to the wing, the plane's steering mechanism wasn't knocked out entirely. Ailerons are hinged sections along the trailing edge of the wing that enable the pilot to control the rolling movements of the plane.

Kapustin said the PSA pilot and his first officer appeared to have tried to control the jet from the instant of the collision to the crash on the ground, "about a half minute's time:

"Fire broke out immediately, leaving an indication that the fuel tank was damaged" when the jet's right wing was hit, he said.

Kapustin said further that he was unable to find any truth to published reports that there had been "bantering and joking" before the crash.

ness Book of World Records.' "You can make a world's champion out of anything as long no one has done it," said Cross to the background of "Whiskey River" country music.

He was firmly holding a beer stein of "cowboy cool" beer in his hand. "We just had a helluva good time," Cross said of the wallowing down at San Angelo in the middle of the summer. Cross, who describes himself as "just a kid" at 33, said he had nothing but a pair of Levi's blue jeans on when he plunged himself smack-dab in the slop called mud. "A lot of people got in the mud nd tried to do silly things to get the people 's attention," said Cross, who

"So, I got in there and did what I did," Cross recalled, as the seven-day Permian Basin Fair and Exposition was drawing to a close Sunday.

He had driven up from San Angelo to Odessa to partake of the fair's frivolities and to enter the chili con-

Unlike the wallowing venture, he took a backseat with his bowl of red: the iron-stomached judges gave him a third place in chili showmanship. Now, his thoughts were more on mud wallowing than Texas chili.

"I wallowed," he recalled. "I took a bath...scrubbed myself with (mud) soap." And just as the two-minute contest was nearing its end, he buried himself in the mud like a dirt dauber caught in a rainstorm.

He went under, came up with a mouthful of mud, and, in another stunt to get the people's attention, blew ("spat") mud at judges Tom Griffin and Sam Pendergrast. His effortful wallowing (within sight of Guinness representatives) must have amused the judges, who awarded him first place.

The distinction, like pig calling, is dubious. "It's a crazy contest," said Cross.

"It's a lot of fun, and Lord, I done it again. His second wallowing was just for practice and show over at Llano in Texas Hill Country. Now he's intent on wallowing once more down at Terlingua Nov. 4 at the World's Championship Chili Cook-off. That, too, will be for the fun of it and for a bit of "good press" for the mud-wallow devotees. He'll be defending his title next year, so stay tuned to Roustin' About for the time and place. You might want to try your own ability at rooting

There's no particular secret to a great wallow, Cross says. "You've got to get in that mud and wallow.... I always take a shower afterward.' Not long after Cross won the coveted wallowing contest, Griffin, who's an ace chili chef, gave him a sterling silver belt buckle, which has "got the head of a pig looking out of the mud," Cross said.

He wasn't wearing it.
"I don't wear it, because I prize it too much. I love it...," he said. "The look on the pig's face is 'What in the hell is going on' or 'What am I doing here,'" said Cross.

Although no complaints were filed with the county attorney's office last year, Atkins said he was prepared to investigate any charges the Humane Society might make and refer the matter to an Ector County Grand Jury if necessary.

Paulhus said he was prepared to "go all the way" if the event would have taken place.

"If they would have taken us up on the challenge, we were prepared to file criminal complaints Monday with the County Attorney. And if we didn't get any satisfaction there, we would have taken the case to the state attorney general's office," the agent said.

"I think the same law involved in the roping event applies here. Those involved in gathering the rabbits. those who transport them, those who use them in training greyhounds and those who sanction the event are violating Texas law," he said.

"There are various ways to bring 'coursing' activities to the courtroom, and that's something we plan to do in Texas as in other states where the practice is going on. 'Coursing is a little more serious than rabbit roping. Here you are pitting one animal in a fight against another. When we compile enough information on those people in the Odessa area who are gathering up the rabbits, we intend to take the appro-

When we catch him delivering the rabbits to another state, we'll bust him," Paulhus said.

Federal investigators have said that one area jackrabbit dealer may earn as much as $100,000 a year through what appears to be an elaborate interstate system.

Mourners pay tribute to Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Throngs of mourners huddling out of the rain filed into St. Peter's Basilica today for a last glimpse of the body of Pope John Paul I. "People loved him," explained one of those on line, Giovanni Oliviere.

"He was a real pastor of the people, He's left a personal example of what the people want, which will be difficult for his successor to follow," said the 35-year-old Oliviere, standing beneath the Bernini colonnade in St. Peter's Square.

The start of a new work week reduced the size of the crowds today. On Sunday an estimated 300,000 people braved pelting rain to view the body after it was brought from the papal palace to a catafalque in front of the main altar of Christendom's largest church.

Among those viewing the body today was Ernest Gardella, 48, of Rumson, N.J., who said he, his wife and mother had hoped to see the pope in an audience this Wednesday, then learned of his death as they were touring Venice. After viewing the body Gardella said, "It was the greatest experience of my life, even though he was dead."

Wednesday now will be the day of Pope John Paul's funeral.

Vance hopeful despite disappointing conclusion to latest SALT talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance says he is still hopeful the United States and the Soviet Union can reach a new arms limitation agreement by the year's end despite a disappointing conclusion to their latest effort.

Wendell Earle, professor of mar-keting, and Willard Hunt, a research specialist, studied 53 companies operating 8,021 stores. They compared profits for the year ended in April 1978 with those in the preceeding 12 months.

earnings was due to an increase in debt, decreased returns on investment and higher expenses, particularly for labor. Costs went up most for stores in the Northeast where payroll expenses rose sharply.

The supermarket industry, meanwhile, has started a campaign to get its view of food prices and inflation across to the public. The Food Marketing Institute, whose 900 members operate 24,000 grocery stores, including chains and individual outlets, is distributing to retailers booklets on ways to save at the supermarket.

According to the institute, the average gross margin for supermarkets the difference between the price the retailer pays and the price he gets from the customer - is 22 cents on the dollar. Of this, the institute says, the biggest chunk — 14 cents or about two-thirds -- goes for labor.

(The average hourly wage paid to grocery store employees went from $2.26 in 1967 to $4.94 in 1977, an increase of 118 percent. Food prices in the same period have increased about Saving money on groceries means spending time to shop carefully. It also means learning where your dollars go and for what.

-How much of your food bill actually is spent on food? Studies show consumers spend up to one-fourth of their grocery budget on non-food items like paper goods, toiletries, etc. Supermarket profits on non-foods are up to twice as high as those on foods and stores often arrange these items to encourage sales. End-of-aisle displays may be designed to catch your eve and entice you into buying something on impulse. Stop and think before you reach.

-Watch for hidden price rises. You may suddenly notice, for example, that the brand of paper towels you always buy has fewer sheets per roll or each sheet may be smaller. The dollars-and-cents price may be the same, but the real cost is higher. It might pay to switch brands. -What are you willing to pay for convenience? Individual serving packets, pre-prepared foods and special cooking pouches usually add to the grocery bill. Do you really need those pieces of paper in between the cheese slices, for example? Some socalled convenience foods actually cost less than items made from scratch; others are much more expensive. These labels tell you not only the cost of the item, but also its price per ounce, etc. Large sizes that are labeled with a name which implies a price advantage — "Economy Pack," for example — must, by law, cost less per unit than regular sizes.

This does not apply, however, to items with names like "Giant Size" which refer to quantity. -Compare cost per serving. Marketbasket survey documents price boosts

By The Associated Press

Bargain hunters had a hard time tracking down good buys at the supermarket last month. An Associated Press marketbasket survey showed price increases during September outnumbered decreases

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

Among the highlights of the latest survey:

Triumph by default

The Carter administration has demonstrated a deplorable tendency to unilaterally discard weapons systems which could be useful as bargaining chips in arms negotiations with the Soviets or, failing that, as actual deterrents to aggression and war.

JAMES N. ALLISON (1902-1975)

The list is well known: Cancellation of the B-1 bomber, an indefinite delay in production of the so-called neutron bomb, shutdown of the Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile production line, and various delays in the development program for the MX ICBM.

To that regrettable list, must we now add the Navy's long-range sea-launched strategic version of the Tomahawk cruise missile?

The implications of a confidential Defense Department memorandum to Navy Secretary W. Graham Claytor Jr. suggest just that.

As reported by Copley News Service Washington correspondent L. Edgar Prina, the memorandum from Deputy Defense Secretary Charles W. Duncan Jr. to Claytor directs the Navy to complete research and development of the 2,200-milerange Tomahawk version, but to cancel plans and funding for the production of the missile and its launch facilities on Navy ships.

Admittedly, a protocol to the prospective SALT II treaty would ban deployment for long-range sea-launched cruise missiles for three years following ratification of the treaty. But, even assuming the treaty is ever ratified, expiration of the three-year protocol would leave the United States free it seems, plays right into the to deploy such weapons or overall Soviet plan. It is a negotiate their prohibition in hazardous procedure.

exchange for some comparable Soviet concession.

JAMES N. ALLISON JR. (1931-1978)

The Duncan memorandum would seem to foreclose these useful options in the interest of saving about $500 million over the next five years. It might well prove to be false economy.

In the strategic weapons equation, the cruise missile is the great equalizer.

Its relative low cost would permit production of enough of these subsonic, pilotless jet missiles to help offset the COS superiority the Soviet Union is building over the United States in other strategic weapons fields.

Less reliance on the cruise missile as a wonder weapon of the 1980s will mean increased emphasis on far more expensive ballistic missiles if American security is to be maintained.

The cruise missile programs also offer the attraction of a significant American lead in the miniaturized guidance technology needed to make these weapons accurate over long ranges.

The proof of this logic lies in the obvious determination of the Soviets to use the present arms negotiations to curb further American development of strategic cruise missile programs.

The Duncan memorandum hands them a triumph by default and very definitely should be rescinded.

All this certainly makes one wonder about the Carter administration objectives. Everything it does in this regard,

More ZIP proposed

Now comes word from the Postal Service about plans to add another four numbers to the Zip Codes across the nation.

There would be nine numbers in each code instead of the present

The reason? Well, each block in this vast country would have its own number and, thus, the Postal Service would be able to provide more efficient mail service and make less frequent bids for rate increases.

Faster service at no increase in cost certainly would be welcome by those on the receiving end of the mails. But one wonders if it just isn't the old numbers game all over again.

Postal officials say there probably will be some resistance from those already sick of all the numbers in their lives and tired of the personalization such numbers bring. But officials feel the results will be worth it.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

'Tony the Ant': Vegas overlord

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - As a young tough, Anthony John Spilotro used to brag that he would one day reign as the Godfather of the Chicago mob. His dream, for the most part, has come true. The pint-sized, hard-eyed mobster is now the reputed overlord of Mafia operations in Las Vegas.

The squatty Spilotro, known to his nefarious colleagues as "Tony the Ant," is currently the target of two federal investigations: the Internal Revenue Service wants him for alleged tax evasion and the Justice Department's Las Vegas strike force has targeted him in a racketeering Spilotro earned his reputation in the underworld as a button man for his late boss, Chicago Mafia leader Felix "Milwaukee Phil" Alderisio. His criminal career, however, goes back much further than that.

It began on Jan. 11, 1955, when he was arrested for stealing a shirt from a River Forest, Ill., haberdashery. He was convicted of the petty crime and fined $10.

Over the next five years, Spilotro was picked up by the police several times on suspicion of burglary. He was once asked to leave Belgium for "showing undue interest" in a jewelry store. Spilotro's name also surfaced seven times as a suspect in shooting and murder cases.

Spilotro stood trial for murder just once. In 1963, the mutilated body of a mob loan-collector named Leo Foreman was found in the trunk of a car. Ten years later, Spilotro and two other mobsters were indicted for the murder. The other defendants were Sam DeStefano, who ran the Chicago syndicate's loanshark operations, and his brother Mario DeStefano.

Sam DeStefano never made it to the trial; He was murdered before it began for reasons, it is believed, that were related to the case. Mario DeStefano was found guilty. Anthony Spilotro got off scot-free.

Spilotro may owe his acquittal to the unusual manner in which the trial was conducted. It was so unique, in fact, that the FBI investigated the trial judge, the late Robert A. Meier. No formal charges were ever filed, however, against the judge Prosecutors believed that Foreman was murdered by a four-man death squad. The fourth member was Charles Crimaldi, a former DeStefano associate, who was granted immunity in return for his testimony.

According to Crimaldi's sworn testimony, Foreman was murdered because he was holding out on some of the "juice" he was squeezing from loan shark victims. The unsuspecting Foreman, said Crimaldi, was lured into a bomb shelter that was being converted into a sauna bath beneath Mario DeStefano's home.

"As we got to the bomb shelter." Crimaldi recounted, "Mario pulled his gun and I pulled my gun. We fired and there was another shot from inside. I sidestepped Mario and Tony (Spilotro) was there with his gun. He had fired.'

Mario DeStefano began stabbing the victim and Spilotro began kicking him, testified Crimaldi, as Foreman lay moaning on the floor. Sam DeStefano then entered the room, according to Crimaldi, and grabbed one of the guns. He shot Foreman in the buttocks and stabbed him a few more times. Foreman finally succumbed.

This dramatic eyewitness evidence, however, was undercut by the judicial antics of the trial judge, Robert Meier. One expert on the Chicago judicial system described Meier's performance to our associate Marc Smolonsky, as "kinky. He was an

Federal and local law enforcement officials observed the trial from the rear of the courtroom. They soon became convinced that the judge was leaning toward the defense. While the prosecutors presented their case, for example, Meier sustained virtually all of the defense's objections. He openly scoffed at the prosecution's objections. His facial expressions and verbal comments were colored in favor of the defense. He distracted the jury by calling numerous bench conferences and consultations in his chambers. More incredibly, Meier barred significant scientific evidence which had been painstakingly prepared by the state. He ruled out testimony from two expert witnesses that paint chips found on the victim's body matched samples taken from the murder scene. He disallowed enlarged photographs of the paint chips. He refused to admit into evidence photos of the victim's body, which corroborated Crimaldi's testimony. He barred a simple diagram of Mario DeStefano's home and the record of Spilotro's and DeStefano's prior convictions.

Only Mario DeStefano was found guilty of the Foreman torturemurder. Before his death three years ago. DeStefano won a new trial and was released on a $100,000 bond by a Chicago judge. The magistrate who granted DeStefano this highly unusual privilege was Robert A. Meier. DeStefano's conviction was later reversed on "evidentiary grounds.'

Spilotro's current lawyer, Oscar Goodman, told us his client is extremely upset that we are now raising questions about the murder trial. He asserted, on Spilotro's behalf, that the Illinois state prosecutors had attempted to frame his client a decade after the murder. Goodman also contended that Crimaldi was paid $100,000 for his testimony against Spilotro.

A source close to the case acknowledged that Crimaldi received 'enormous sums' from the state not for his testimony, but in payment for several years as an intelligence source on Mafia activities. The frame-up charge, said our source, was "incredulous."

Most of the major characters of this grim drama have now passed on. Anthony "Tony the Ant" Spilotro, however, is flying high as the Mafia kingpin of Glitter City.

You see the sharp contrast when you visit the Israeli Embassy. Even though I had called in advance, I had to bring an identification card with a photograph. You open a heavy iron gate and you hold up your ID to the television camera. Then a solid door is opened electronically.

You are not in yet. Inside, on your right is a brick wall; on your left, another steel door; and in front of you, behind a heavy glass booth, is a man who put his hand on the gun I could see under his shirt as I entered. Only when he is satisfied, does he push the button that opens the inner

Inside the embassy, I passed two men stationed on either side of the staircase. They did not smile and they were not bored and they were not afraid of offending me by giving me a professional "frisk" with their trained eyes. The Israelis, who have had experience with terrorism, take it seriously and we do not. That is too bad because the Palestine Liberation Organization is not at all happy about the Camp David summit.

Yassir Arafat, the PLO chairman. has said, "Carter will pay for this," and George Habash, the even more radical leader of the most radical of the many factions of the PLO, has said plainly he will extend terrorism to American interests.

INSIDE REPORT:

A tired Robert Strauss looks forward to retirement

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - When Robert S. Strauss sat down for breakfast with Washington reporters at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel Sept. 19, he was unusually subdued — a condition bearing some significance for President Carter.

Strauss explained that he had bumped his head when his limousine hit the curb in front of the hotel. His spirits rose as breakfast neared its end, but he never quite achieved his normal exuberance.

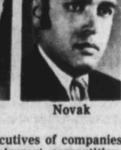

Friends explained it was not just a minor bump on the head but intimations of mortality feeding his present mood. Strauss frequently tells associates hs is working harder and doing more things than any man his age (he will be 60 on Oct.19) should be doing. He looks tired and is tired. His annual summer vacation in California lacked its usual therapeutic

In short, Strauss means it when he says he will leave government service once he finishes as special trade representative by buttoning up a new trade agreement. He will then help the Carter re-election effort, but not

That will leave a massive hole in the Carter administration, not likely to be filled. Besides being anti-inflation jawboner and trade negotiator. Strauss' unique talents of persuasion have been repeatedly called on for matters big and little — a reason for

A footnote: Strauss' presence at White House sessions generating corporate support for the natural gas bill was felt by executives of companies suffering from import competition. "When I saw Bob Strauss standing there," one such executive told us, " wondered about our chances for getting help on imports." Shortly thereafter, this company endorsed the gas bill - reversing its previous posi-

PASSING THE GAS BILL

The back was broken in the Senate drive to kill the natural gas bill days before the Camp David summit triumph when President Carter won support from the two venerable conservatives from Mississippi, Sens. James O. Eastland and John F. Sten-

Neither liked regulatory aspects of the gas bill but were convinced by Mr. Carter that the measure's defeat would being adverse international consequences for this country. When Eastland and Stennis committed themselves against the motion to recommit the bill, the strange coalition of consumer and oil interests opposing the president knew they were beaten. Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, a key figure in the coalition, could not talk his two old Mississippi friends into bucking the president.

A footnote: Oil state members of the coalition privately grumble that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, while opposing the bill himself, did not push hard enough to pick up other liberals against it.

JESSE'S PLAN

Polls taken for Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina show his re-election prospects this year so good that political advisers are looking forward to bigger things: running for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

Helms is not nearly so big a name in the party's conservative wing as Ronald Reagan or even Reps. Philip Crane and Jack Kemp. But he has something they do not: over 300,000 names, the biggest active list of potential conservative contributors in existence. This list, Helms' aides believe, can generate $7 million for a presidential campaign. While acknowledging that he is the darkest of dark horses, they believe Helms candidacy can signifi-cantly influence the 1980 ticket and platform.

GOP GRUMBLES

Conservative Republicans are fuming at what they regard as unfair treatment by the Senate Republican Campaign Committee of conservative Roger Jepsen, Republican candidate against liberal Democratic Sen. Dick Clark of Iowa.

Jepsen has received only $15,000 so far from the committee, far less from the approximately $100,000 that he is legally entitled to receive in cash and political services under a formula partly based on population. Conservative Republicans complain that moderate cnadidates have already received the maximum permitted by aw. For instance, Rep. William Johen, in the small state of Maine, l as received the maximum $66,000.

The Senate compaign committee, readed by moderate Sen. Bob Packvood of Oregon, is parcelling out its 1 ands on the basis of prospective winhers who might be tipped over the victory line with extra help. Jepsen is not in that category today. Clark was regarded as highly vulnerable early this year but now appears to be running well ahead of Jepsen.

This explanation does not satisfy Republican conservatives, either nationally or in Iowa. They think they are being discriminated against.

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - A rally by the dollar in foreign exchange helped the stock market post a small gain in quiet trading today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 4.51 on Friday, added another 1.38 to 867.20 by noontime

Adva ces outnumbered declines by about a 5-4 spread among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The dollar gained against leading foreign currencies after Switzerland's central bank said it would intervene to stop the rise of the Swiss franc against the dollar.

But brokers also noted that the market was faced with persistent interest-rate worries.

The bank prime lending rate climbed from 91/2 to 93/4 percent last week, and most Wall Streeters seemed to be expecting upward pressure on interest rates to continue Ramada Inns gained % to 141/2 in active trading. The company said it agreed to buy a hotel in Atlantic City, NQ.J., to enter the gambling business.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks edged up .02 to 57.80. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .43 at 169.24.

Volume on the Big Board came to just 8.32 million shares as of noontime. Analysts said the slow pace was partly due to the observance of the Jewish holiday Rosh Hashana.

Execution stayed by appeals court

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) -James Paul Burns, scheduled to be executed today for the torture-murder of an Odessa, Texas, man, has won a stay of execution pending a hearing in federal court.

Burns has been on Texas' Death Row for four years, and state prosecutors say he is likely to be one of the first condemned prisoners in Texas to be put to death since 1964.

Burns was convicted of the 1973 murder of G.W. McDonald of Odessa, a slaying described as "extraordinarily heinous and gruesome" by a federal judge in San Antonio. Prosecutors said Burns and two other men abducted McDonald at an Odessa drive-in and drove him to a remote spot where they robbed him, stripped him of his clothing, and tortured and killed him.

DEA Supervisior Mike Agnese said today his office is seeking to extradite Ramiro Chappa Salinas, 24, who is being held in Midland City Jail in lieu of $250,000 bond on a federal bench warrant charging him with conspiracy to distribute heroin.

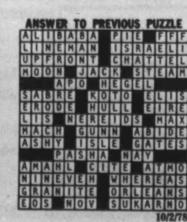

Salinas was indicted by a federal grand jury in Baltimore on counts of conspiracy to distribute heroin, distribution of heroin, interstate transportation in the act of racketeer enterprising and use of a facility in interstate commerce in aide of racketeer enterprising, according to Ag-

The agent said Salinas was indicted along with Ruben Juarez-Perez of Chicago for offenses that allegedly took place from the summer of 1976 to August of last year.

"A number of other people have been arrested and are already in jail in connection with this case," Agnese

"These two men are involved with the transporation of large quantities of heroing from Chicago to the Baltimore area. It is a major case." Salinas was arrested by narcotic agents of the state Department of Public Safety Friday. His address is listed as 1315 W. 24th St. in Odessa.

Post, pressmen sign tentative agreement

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Post and its striking pressmen sealed a tentative contract agreement this morning, raising the possibility that the city's afternoon tabloid could end a 54-day strike by resuming publication later this week.

Although negotiators revealed their agreement to The Associated Press Sunday night, a marathon 15-hour session continued until dawn today before lawyers for the two sides were satisfied with the contract language.

Then the pressmen turned their attention back to the city's two morning newspapers, the New York Times and Daily News, which now will be under pressure to reach a settlement so that the Post does not get a big edge on them in resuming publication. Talks with those papers resumed at noon at the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service offices. The arriving union leaders said they were optimistic that the Post settlement would spur other agreements. Post publisher Rupert Murdoch and William Kennedy, president of the Printing Pressmen's Union No. 2, were not immediately available for comment.

The pressmen were scheduled to continue negotiations with The New York Times and the Daily News today at offices of the Federal Mediation and Counciliation Service.

Since Aug. 9, some 3.3 million daily copies of the three papers have been sorely missed by readers and advertisers, and 10,000 workers have been out on the street while publishers' losses have mounted.

Howard Squadron, legal counsel to the Post, announced the accord after eight hours of bargaining. He said then there was a chance the Post could be back on newsstands as early as Wednesday but later revised his prediction, saying that was overly optimistic.

Before the afternoon paper can publish, it must settle with paperhandlers and machinists on strike against all three papers and the Newspaper Guild, whose editorial and commercial employees are striking only the Post. The Guild was to resume talks with the Post on Tuesday.

The Post pulled out of joint negotiations with the Times and News and the pressmen last Wednesday to protest the participation of Theodore Keel, the labor lawyer who for 15 years has mediated newspaper disputes here. Murdoch maintained that Kheel sought to interpose himself as a de facto arbitrator.

Commenting on the Post-pressmen agreement, Kheel said Sunday, "Obviously, he (Murdoch) knows something about collective bargaining I don't know. I am anxious to find out what it is so I can add it to my tribution to my education.

The AP learned that Murdoch told the pressmen he would be willing to accept many provisions of any contract they ultimately negotiated with the Times and News. But it was learned that Murdoch also insisted that the pressmen take into account that the Post has been losing money - with losses of $10 million reported in 1977. The Post agreement with the press-

Commissioners to discuss loop

Midland County commissioners have scheduled a special executive session for 2 p.m. Wednesday to discuss the north loop around Midland and the Midland-Odessa north route highway project, according to County Judge Blake Hansen. Commissioners last year along with the city of Midland, the city of Odessa and Ector County agreed to pay 100 percent of right-of-way land acquisition costs. Midland County waivered before making a decision to set aside $700,000 for the land acquisition costs. Commissioners at one point were in doubt as to whether the county could afford the funds. Inflated land prices have since clouded the picture and forced the commissioners to either come up with more funds or abandon the project. If any one of the government entities involved withdraws its involvement on either the north route or the loop, the entire $60-million plus project would be scuttled, according to the state Department of Highways and Transportation.

men covers three years and takes the newspaper's financial plight into account, The AP learned. It was understood to provide for the same pay increases negotiated in other trendsetting agreements at the papers -$68 over three years, with annual raises of $23, $23 and $22.

The Newspaper Deliverers, the pivotal union needed for management to put out a newspaper, have reached tentative accords with all three papers. Its president, Douglas La-Chance, said Sunday he was happy with the Post agreement. "We're looking forward to returning to work," he said.

Six injured in accident

Six West Texans were injured in a two-car accident Sunday afternoon at the intersection of the 3200 block of North Big Spring Street and the 200 block of West Wadley Avenue, according to Midland Police Department reports.

Alice Faye Battles, 33, of the 400 block of East Shandon Avenue was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital, said a hospital spokesman.

The spokesman also said passengers in the 1971 Buick driven by Alice Fave Battles who also were treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital included:

Exie Pope, 66, Pam Battles, 12, and Virgina Pope, 28, all of the 400 block of East Shandon Avenue.

Lawyer sets Jaycees talk

ODESSA - Bob Wilson, presidentelect of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, will speak to members of the Odessa Jaycees at noon Tuesday in the Branding Iron Restaurant

In a letter preceding his appearance, Wilson wrote that the TTLA has decided to speak out statewide to inform people about "abuses by the insurance industry.

"Our association has strong evidence that Texas consumers are paying for 'windfall' insurance company profits. The State Board of Insurance sets premium rateson what the insufrance industry tells them, and the industry isn't telling the board all it needs to know," wrote Wilson. He cited as "questionable" the notion of reserving practices which allow the insurance industry to report underwriting losses and support requests for rate increases.

Wilson added: "At the same time the industry is requesting higher premiums, the big insurance companies are reporting to their shareholders the largest profits in their history." Wilson, of Wichita Falls, also is a trial attorney and a director of the

"Although bears are rarely a danger to humans, they're making a nuisance of themselves this fall," Dr. James Lindzey, coordinator of state bear research programs and an associate professor at Penn State University, said.

> He said hungry bears are partial to honey and will sometimes attack livestock. "They particu-larly like pork," Lindzey said. Corn is the most vulnerable crop because it is grown in the open and matures about the same time as acorns.

In the morning you may catch an ambassador — ours or someone else's or a genuine CIA man emerging from the American embassy down the hill to pour over the Italian newspapers over an outdoor coffee. You can watch the tour buses filling up outside the Exelcior and Savor hotels and see the shopgirls, Rome's truly fashionable dressers, on their way back to work. One morning I caught a famous black model, the bald headed one who always peers sulkily from the covers of those fashion magazines, having a prune yogurt at Doney's with a chihuahua on her lap and a civet cat tied to the leg of her chair on a jeweled

There was a rush of photographers when Henry Kissinger came out of the Exelcior and waved to Marvin Kalb. Or was it Dan Rather? I'm not sure because the lady from Moline, Ill., at the adjoining table was sure it was Zbignew Brzesinksi waving to John Chancellor.

There is always the secret thrill of being mistaken for a celebrity yourself. One of the natives apparently mistook me for Franco Zefferelli, the famous director. He sidled up and whispered, "Hey, Frank, you want to buy a genuine Cartier watch for cheap?

Gunter Sachs had just gone in with his new wife.

Or was it Emerson Fittipaldi? I never did find out because the guy in the rock star rhinestone sunglasses and John Travolta satin overalls at the bar turned out be a vacationing tree surgeon from my hometown of Ridgefield, Conn. Another plan is to discard a club on the extra heart and then play clubs. After cashing the ace of clubs, declarer leads the jack. The idea is to ruff if East plays a high club but to discard a diamond otherwise.

South can return to dummy with the jack of spades to repeat the club play and again with the ace of spades to cash a club. Declarer eventually gets a second club trick to add to five spades and three hearts. ACTUAL PLAY

What do you know about Susan Anthony?

By MARC CHARNEY

NEW YORK (AP) - The man on the penny freed the slaves. The man on the nickel wrote the Declaration of Independence. On the dime is the man behind the New Deal, on the quarter the Father of His Country, on the half-dollar the man who asked what you could do for your country.

Now - quick - what do you know about the woman on the dollar? Her name is Susan B. Anthony, she lived in the 19th Century, and she was instrumental in gaining women the right to vote.

She didn't live to see the victory, but she spent a half-century fighting for the woman suffrage finally won with the 19th Amendment

She is a hero to today's women's movement - was, in fact, there at the founding. Now Congress has approved putting her likeness on a new dollar coin, and President Carter is expected to sign the bill soon. Her tactics were speaking, writing, gathering people in conventions, and, always, traveling - to the frontier and through the big cities and across the Atlantic. Her weapons were the podium, the printing press, the petition, and the quick retort to ridicule.

Some of her views might disappoint today's feminists as prim or cautious. But others would bring cheers from the most militant.

For at the same time, she was an abolitionist, a Quaker-born spinster who advocated temperance, a crusader for the rights of women to hold property and to work for a fair wage. She defended the sanctity of marriage and frowned on "promiscuity," but crusaded to change the institution of ception! The Bible tells nothing. marriage and make it fair to

Often, she was criticized as a radical who went too far.

After the Civil War, she made enemies of former allies among the abolitionists, by insisting that if women did not gain the right to vote, then freed black men should not be enfranchised either.

She called her newspaper "The Revolution" and in 1872, she tried to test the law by voting in Rochester. N.Y. She became a cause celebre when she was arrested, tried and convicted - but not sent to jail, thus thwarting an appeal. Yet, as a young woman, she had criticized two colleagues for dressing too stylishly - frivolously, she thought. Near the end of her career, she disapproved of her friend Elizabeth Cady Stanton's efforts to write a feminist translation of the Bible.

MIAMI (AP) — Teresita Silva quit breathing 38 days ago, and most doctors say she is dead.

Mrs. Silva, 39, entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Aug. 24 for a routine "D and C" by Dr. Raquel Cruz, her gynecologist of 14 years. The procedure is a common surgical technique involving dilation of the cervix and the scraping of the lining of the uterus. A cervical biopsy was also planned.

But on the operating table, before the procedure began, Mrs. Cruz stopped breathing. She has been on life support equipment, unconscious,

Assistant hospital director Pat Scheff told The Associated Press that "there were complications in the operating room," but he would not elaborate. He said he had no comment on whether the administration of anesthesia had begun when Mrs. Silva stopped breathing. Florida law does not recognize brain death as "a distinct entity," said Scheff. "It's up to the physician to pronounce death at the cessation of heart beat." In this case, the physician is Silva. He refuses to give up, so his wife stays on the life support equipment. Other physicians told The Miami Herald the woman's brain is dead. "It's decomposing," said one doctor.

Autopsy ordered for slain soldier ordered on the body of a Fort Hood soldier who was shot to death by sheriff's deputies after leading officers on a wild, high-speed chase through two Central Texas counties in a stolen highway patrol

Spec. 4 David Samuel Fullington was killed early Sunday when Burnet County deputies opened fire on him as he crashed through a roadblock about 12 miles east of Burnet on Texas 12, according to Sheriff Roy Hilliard.

Officials at nearby Fort Hood said Fullington was from Illinois, but refused to give a hometown until his relatives were notified.

"He had tried to run over two of my deputies and me," said Hilliard. "Then he ran this roadblock. Fullington was deceased by gunfire.' But a Department of Public Safety spokesman said officers opened fire only after Fullington raised a hand holding what officers mistook for a gun. Hilliard declined to comment on details of the shooting. "It's under investigation," he said.

Three companions with Fullington were arrested and jailed in Burnet on charges of public intoxication. Fullington's body was taken to Austin for an autopsy

Before Fullington was shot, Hilliard said, he drove stolen Department of Public Safety patrol car across fences and over pastures, rammed a deputy's car, ran Hilliard off the road and wore the rubber off all four tires.

Congress bracing for expected veto

WASHINGTON (AP) - More time for the proposed Equal Rights Amendment and a tax cut for some Americans highlight the Senate agenda for what may be the next to last week of the 95th Congress.

Both issues have already been dealt with in the House, although the tax cut is expected to be back there again after a House-Senate conference committee has arrived at a compromise measure.

Meanwhile both houses are bracing for an expected veto of the $10.2-billion public works bill they passed despite President Carter's strong object-

On another issue, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said over the weekend that the prospects for Senate passage of the Humphrey-Hawkins jobs bill are "fairly good."

Leaders of both houses say they are aiming at adjourning Oct. 14.

The House voted on Aug. 15 to push the deadline for ratification of the ERA back to June 30, 1982, from the present cutoff of March 22, 1979. On Thursday, Senate opponents said they were abandoning their > Backers of the ERA say this amendment would wipe out the advantage of the extension.

Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, leader of the fight against the extension, said Saturday that 53 senators, three more than needed, had told him they would vote for the amendment. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the proextension leader, said earlier the vote was "too close to call." Byrd predicted Saturday it would be "very close.

The ERA, which would prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex, needs to be ratified by 38 legislatures to become part of the Constitution. It has been approved by 35, but the legislatures of Idaho, Kentucky, Nebraska and Tennessee have rescinded their approval.

Debate on the tax bill will probably begin Thursday, Byrd said, with a vote possible the following Monday. The bill would cut the government's tax take by $23 billion and would reduce taxes for single people earning about $15,000 and for families of four or more earning under $20,000.

The Carter administration, contending the bill is too costly, says it favors the wealthy by making deep cuts in taxes on capital gains, the profits from the sale of assets owned a year or longer. The House-passed bill would cut taxes $16.3 billion

Carter favors a cut of about $20 billion. Virtually whatever tax cut emerges, about 68 million individuals and couples would pay less taxes next year than would otherwise be the case. Some 1.2 million would pay more.

Most of the 68 million, however, probably would not save enough on their federal tax bill to make up for higher Social Security taxes and the tax effects of

Carter assailed the public works appropriation bill last week as wasteful "pork barrel" legislation. Byrd, at his Saturday news conference, retorted that "if one has to shovel black mud out of his house or see the lives of his family snuffed out by a sudden flood, that flood-control project is not pork

Both Byrd and House leaders vowed their best efforts to override a veto.

Byrd said he is seeking an agreement to clear the way for scheduling the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, probably next week. The bill sets a goal of reducing unemployment nationally to 4 per cent by 1983.

is prologue, as the inscription over the National Archives says, be prepared for the final minutes of tonight's nationally televised Dallas Cowboys-Washington Redskins game.

If it's a typical game between the two National Football Conference East Division rivals, the outcome will be in doubt until the final minutes, or at least until the final quarter.

That's been roughly the pattern since Ken Houston made a dramatic goalline stop on Walt Garrison in 1973 to preserve a Redskin victory, or winning, last-second 50-yard touchdown pass for Dallas on Thanksgiving

"IT'LL PROBABLY be a fourthquarter game," Redskin Coach Jack Pardee said. "The real classic battles with them before have been in the fourth quarter. I saw a quote from Tom Landry about how important the first quarter will be. He's sort of right, too. That sort of sets the tone of lished," Pardee continued. "But all things being equal, it usually comes down to the fourth quarter.'

THE SERIES between the two clubs has always been intense with tonight's game being no different. The Cowboys, 3-1, don't want to lose to the undefeated Redskins, 4-0, and fall two game behind in the NFC East.

Redskins tight end Jean Fugett has seen the rivalry from both locker rooms. "It's probably the most intense game you'll ever play in," he said last week. "In Dallas it was because of the verbal jabs coming out of Washington. It became a question of pride and respect. We always felt the Redskins never respected us ...

> "I TELL you something else. Nothing could compare to the feeling of coming into RFK Stadium if you were a Dallas Cowboy. When the ground started shaking in the warmups, you knew you were in for a long night.

"No, George Allen isn't here any more, but nothing has changed. It's the same feeling. The Redskins against the Cowboys will always be like that. That's what makes it so much fun," said Fugett.

And, says a member of the Cowboy organization, "No matter who wins or loses, you always leave RFK Stadium knowing you've been in a big-league ball game."

Typically, Redskins defensive tackle Dave Butz has a plastic mouse hanging from the top of his locker with the label, "Staubach."

'That's to show that we'd like to stuff him," said Butz.

Bosox, Yankees clash in playoff

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer It all came down to one game today, winner take all, the New York Yankees against the Boston Red Sox for the American League East title. The Red Sox, who had led by 10 games in July and by 81/2 as late as Aug. 21 before being overtaken by the Yankees' second-half surge, climbed back into a tie Sunday by blanking the Toronto Blue Jays 5-0.

But they needed help, and they got it from the Cleveland Indians, who clobbered the Yankees 9-2. New York only needed to win its game to take the division title outright, but couldn't

"I just didn't have any pop," said Yankees starter Catfish Hunter, knocked out in the second inning after being rocked for home runs by Andre Thornton and Gary Alexander. "I can't say what it was. I just didn't have any pop — that little extra that makes the fastball pop and the slider slide - even if it's just one mile an hour faster."

AND SO the Red Sox finally got the break they needed. Ever since Sept. 23, they had trailed New York by one. game. But the Yankees had matched them win for win over the next week. until Cleveland put an end to New York's six-game winning streak on

"We wanted a shot and we got it," said Red Sox third baseman Butch Hobson. "Now it's up to us." Today's game was to be nationally televised by ABC starting at 1:30 p.m. The winner begins a-best-of-five series against the West Division champion Kansas City Royals in Kansas City Turesday night.

New York's ace left-hander, Ron Guidry, 24-3, was scheduled to pitch today against Boston's Mike Torrez, 16-12 - both of them going on three days of rest.

Guidry had hurled two-hit shutouts in his last two outings against Boston. winning 7-0 on Sept. 9 and 4-0 on Sept. 15. Torrez, who starred for the Yankees last season before signing with Cleveland's Rick Waits, 13-15, settled down after yeilding two runs in the bottom of the first and allowed only one more hit the rest of the way, finishing with a five-hitter.

Hunter, who made a miraculous recovery from shoulder problems that threatened his illustrious career earlier this year, did not blame his ineffectiveness on injury. "I can't say what it was," he said. "There's nothing wrong with my shoulder. The only physical problem I had this time was giving up too many runs.'

TEXAS IS 2-0 in league play after thumping Texas Tech 24-7 Saturday night in Lubbock before a standing room only crowd of 54,000 plus.

The Aggies whipped Memphis State 58-0 to remain unbeaten while Arkansas tripped a tougher than expected Tulsa club 21-13.

The Aggies have allowed just one touchdown in three games.

"Right now, we're a good defensive football team and last year at this time we weren't," said Aggie Coach Emory Bellard. "Offensively, we're presenting two pictures with the Wishbone and the I, and we're getting better at it."

Memphis State Coach Richard Williamson said he got the picture.

"They have as fine a group of athletes as I have seen on any football team," said Williamson. "They don't have one player who stands out. They have 11 players on each side of the ball who standout on every play.'

ARKANSAS WAS praised by Tulsa

"I think they're the best team in the country," said Cooper. "We just got beat and we played about as good a game as we could.

Texas Tech Coach Rex Dockery had nothing but respect for Texas, saying Their defense is every bit as good as it was last year and I think the offense will get better week after week."

Dockery added "Texas is just a great defensive football team. They have great quickness. The key to their team is great speed both offensively and defensively."

Texas' defense spoils the Raiders' party

Offensively, maybe it's not the Texas of a year ago, but the defense remains as stout and resolute as ever and, as for the offense, it's good enough to take advantage of opportunities so frequently provided by the defense.

More than 50,000 fans showed up at Jones Stadium, the majority Techpartisans who hoped, despite the preseason prognostications, that Texas' biannual visit to the South Plains might carry with it SWC championship overtones before the night was

The reason for their optimism, of course, was freshman quarterback Ron Reeves, the kind of all-around athlete who is regarded as a prospect in baseball, was good enough in football to be recruited as both a linebacker and quarterback, and, who as a quarterback, turned Tech's offense from a three-downs-and-punt lullaby into a three-alarm fury against Ari-

GOING INTO Saturday's -game, Reeves had played little over a half of college football, but in those 31 minutes, 24 seconds, he generated enough offense to rank 15th in the nation in total running-passing statis-

However, Texas' defense wasn't Arizona's and the aggressive tactics that routed Arizona boomeranged against the Longhorns who pressured Ron-into "typical" freshman mistakes that made it look easy for the No. 6 ranked Steers, who aspire to loftier levels.

Down deep, most Tech fans suspected something like 24-7 and perhaps it would have been the same without Reeves. The difference was that with him, Tech had hope. Without him there was none.

IT WAS a game in which turnovers were decisive, Tech fumbling away opportunities as well as setting up some easy Texas scores.

"I missed some open receivers. It wasn't nervousness. I guess I just got overanxious on some passes," reflected Reeves. "I didn't sit in the pocket and throw as well as I did last week," which, it might be added, was because quite frequently remaining in the pocket would have been somewhat like refusing to budge while the

"I think we played them an excellent game," said Tech receiver Godfrey Turner, who summed it up as concisely as anyone. "but they didn't make any mistakes and we did."

Johnny "Ham" Jones (26) shakes tackler to pick up yardage for

Longhorns against Texas Tech Saturday night as Steers posted a

THE USE of the freshmen quarterbacks of the two teams best illustrates the difference between Tech and Texas. While Tech was gambling its hopes on Reeves, Coach Fred Akers could afford to spot Donnie Little, his fine young prospect, without exposing him to game-on-the-line situations, as he did Saturday. And Little responded by taking the Steers on their longest drive of the night, although they were forced to settle for a Russell Erxleben field goal.

So while Tech gropes for maturity, and College Station next Saturday is no place to be groping, Texas arrives at the crossroads, Oklahoma, the game that will decide whether the Steers contest for national honors or confine themselves to more modest goals, like the SWC title.

IT SHAPES up as a battle of Oklahoma's point-consuming offense and Texas' staunch defense, but you can tell from Akers' reaction after Saturday's game that he'd like to take as much pressure off his offense as possible. That's why he was pleased with Johnny "Ham" Jones play and the consistency with which Texas moved the ball. Jones was especially happy after his two-touchdown, 128-yard lark, and perhaps a little relieved. "I had had two bad games in a row, and I just decided I wasn't going to be denied anything tonight."

Critics of Professional football cite its alleged brutality. Their argument seems to be that because injuries occur in the game it is therefore a brutal game. I disagree. Because football is a body contact sport, the possibility of injury is present in every game. But the body contact has one purpose: to stop or deflect an opponent. There is no intent to injure and without that intent the game cannot be called brutal.

Boxing, with its intent to injure the opponent, may be brutal. Football Darryl Stingley's spine injury this year, and the bad knees of famous players like Joe Namath, Dick Butkus and Gayle Sayers, tend to emphasize injuries out of proportion to their real

HALF OF the games in the NFL are now played on artificial turf. From the standpoint of player safety, this is the worst thing ever to happen in

With synthetic turf, all you've got, in effect, is a concrete slab with a carpet over it. When the carpet gets worn down, there's no give at all.

On a hard artificial surface such as those in Houston's Astrodome and San Francisco's Candlestick park, among others, the players get lumps and abrasions on their legs and arms that literally take weeks to heal. Evervone has to wear extra knee, elbow and arm pads. But even that doesn't protect them entirely. Ankles and knee joints take a beating. Just standing there is like standing in a hotel lobby. It tires the legs and takes away the spring.

Football was meant to be played outdoors, on grass. Even a hard, dry grass surface has some resiliency.

THE WEATHER is part of the

We had the ideal solution in Washington's RFK Stadium. There we had "prescription turf," a compound of earth and grasses with an irrigation and heating system that offered green grass in December.

Some players court injuries by neglecting available protection. Many won't wear hip pads. Others remove the thigh and knee pads from the sewn-in slots in their pants. Fiesty Finley struck out by justices

WASHINGTON (AP) - Charles O. Finley, feisty owner of baseball's Oakland A's, struck out in the Supreme Court today.

The justices let stand lower court decisions frustrating Finley's challenge of a 1976 order by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn that blocked the sale of Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers and Vida Blue, then stars with the A's.

Finley's much-publicized feud with Kuhn and the baseball establishment began when, in the midst of the 1976 season, the A's announced the planned three-player sales.

ALL THREE had played pivotal roles in the A's three consecutive World Series victories, from 1972 through 1974. Finley wanted to sell Rudi, an outfielder, and Fingers, then the sport's premier relief pitcher, to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million each.

He wanted to sell Blue, a pitcher, to the New York Yankees for $1.5 mil-

Finley announced the sales only hours before the season's June 15 "trading deadline." After that date, Oakland could not have sold or traded the players without first offering them to all other American League teams at a waiver price of $20,000. If it claimed a player, the A's would have to sell the player at the waiver price or pull him off the waiver list. As explained by Finley's lawyers, "Because of the star calibre of all three players, it was common knowledge in baseball that none of the players could pass waivers."

brutality. A few men might take an extra shot or two, but the players themselves police this.

Usually a late hit or contact out of bounds just means that a player misjudged his speed and can't stop. But the officials are policing this well. Punters, quarterbacks and other vulnerable players are being protected from late hits by prompt whistles. This season has seen late-hit offenders paying heavily with 15-yard pen-

The knee remains a problem. It isn't made for football. if a man gets hit low from behind (clipped) something has to give.

We've changed some rules to combat knee injuries. Clipping, of course, has long been forbidden. And even head-on the first blocking contact with the defensive man must be made above the waist.

But there are limits. Knee injuries cannot be legislated out of existence. Conditioning is very important in avoiding injuries. If a man doesn't take care of himself, he's going to shorten his career. We had a full-time weights coach and conditioning coach at the Redskins. We also had Redskin Park, a year-round facility fo physical conditioning which players were urged to use. I predict that every team in the NFL will have a facility like this eventually.

FINALLY, MANY, too many, injuries happen in practice sessions. Practices should be better organized and conducted to minimize their potential for injury. For example, when I conduct full scrimmages, I elimiate kick-offs and punt returns.

But I oppose suggestions that have been made to eliminate kicking from the game. The kick is an integral part of football and it cannot be sacri-

The players are bigger today than they once were and they are faster, but generally speaking I think that the safety rules and the players' equipment have kept up with the game. I think that a serious study would show that the injury rate has remained unchanged over the years.

Perry reaches 3,000 Ks; Parker wins homer title

By BERT ROSENTHAL AP Sports Writer
The final day of the National League season was anticlimatic for most players. But for others, such as Gaylord Perry, George Foster, Pete Rose, Dave Parker, Kent Tekulve, Omar Moreno and Ross Grimsley, the closing games had true significance.

Perry, the 40-year-old graybeard of the San Diego staff, became only the third pitcher in major league history to strike out 3,000 batters, fanning 10 as the Padres defeated Los Angeles' NL West champions 4-3 in 11 innings

Foster won the NL home run and runs batted in titles for the third consecutive year, smashing two homers — his 39th and 40th of the season, the second a two-run shot in the 14th inning, giving the Cincinnati Reds a 10-8 victory over the Atlanta Braves. Foster finished with 120

ROSE HAD his 13th .300 season in 14 years, batting .302 after collecting one hit in two at-bats in the Reds' seventh straight triumph. But he failed in a bid for an unprecedented 10th 200-hit season, winding up with 198 hits.

Parker, Pittsburgh's slugging outfielder, captured the league batting crown for the second straight year, with a .334 average, while two of his teammates, Tekulve and Moreno, set club records - Tekulve with his 31st save and Moreno with his 71st stolen base - as the Pirates downed Philadelphia's East Division champions 5-

And Grimsley became the NL's second 20-game winner — Perry was the first - pitching a five-hitter as the Montreal Expos topped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1.

the 10th inning when he got Joe Simpson looking at a third strike. Asked about his chances of winning his second Cy Young Award - he won his first in the American League with the Cleveland Indians in 1972 - Perry said, "I'd love to. It would give all people over 40 a chance.' The only other pitchers with at least

3,000 strikeouts are Walter Johnson (3,509) and Bob Gibson (3,117). Perry was not around at the finish

lowed a two-out single by Ron Oester in the 14th inning, ending the 4-hour, 15-minute marathon - Atlanta's seventh loss in a row.

Foster is only the sixth player in major league history to lead a league in RBI three straight years. The others were Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby, Joe Medwick, Honus Wagner and Ty Cobb - all Hall of

Johnny Bench hit his ninth career grand slam homer for Cincinnati and Dave Concepcion finished with a .301 average, the first Reds shortstop to hit .300 since Joe Tinker reached the Pirates 5, Phillies 3

Tekulve pitched the final two in-nings for Pittsburgh in getting the save and breaking the club record of 30 set by Dave Giusti in 1970, while Moreno got the steal he needed during the Pirates' four-run fifth inning, erasing the team mark of 70, set last year by Frank Taveras.

Parker batted only once and failed to hit, but he finished 18 points ahead of Los Angeles' Steve Garvey, who hit .316, in the batting race. The Phillies, who clinched the division title Saturday with a 10-8 victory over the Pirates, rested all their regulars Sunday in preparation for the best-of-five NL playoffs against Los Angeles, beginning Wednesday night at Philadelphia. The Phillies and Dodgers also met in the playoffs last year, Los Angeles winning in four games. Expos 5, Cardinals 1

Coach Bart Starr, who was the quarterback when Green Bay terrorized the National Football League a decade ago, thinks it's too early to tell. But Packer backers prefer to look at the National Conference standings, which show their team with four wins in the first five games and sitting in first place. "We haven't met a championship calibre team yet, other than Oakland," said Starr, whose club destroyed Detroit 35-24 Sunday. "We haven't heaten anyone of repute, so we have to-temper it."

But that's tough for Green Bay fans to do after Terdell Middleton ran for 148 yards, including a 76-yard touchdown, and David Whitehurst had two TD passes to Aundra Thompson in a 14-for-18 day that produced 230

"Just about every play we called worked," noted Whitehurst. Starr could appreciate that. He remembers when the same things happened to him almost every week.

GREEN BAY'S defense also sacked Detroit's quarterbacks six times for 50 yards, with end Ezra Johnson in on four of the saeks.

If Starr was hesitant in his assessment of his team, Lion quarterback Greg Landry was not. "I'd say Green Bay is playing well enough to be challenging for a divisional championship," he said.

Raiders 25, Bears 19 Oakland used Errol Mann's fourth field goal, a 29-yarder with five seconds left on the clock, to tie Chicago and then won the game in overtime when Neal Colzie returned an interception 24 yards and Art Whittington swept in from the 2-yard line.

It was the third straight 100-yard game for Montgomery, who has started only seven NFL games in his two years in the league.

Steelers 28, Jets 17 Pittsburgh won its fifth straight game as Terry Bradshaw passed for three touchdowns against New York. Lynn Swann caught two of Brad-

Corrales named as Rangers' next some ways, Sunday wasn't an unusual day at all for either the Seattle Mariners or the Texas Rangers.

For the 104th time since April 5, the Mariners lost, this time 9-4 to the Rangers in a seasonending contest before 5,-807 fans in the Kingdome.

For the sixth time in two years, the Rangers changed managers. This time they fired Billy Hunter and hired third base coach Pat Corrales to succeed him.

"I think every coach in the major leagues strives for this," Corrales said of his sudden appointment to his first major league managerial job. "Unfortunately, not everybody gets to do it. I'm thankful I'm going to get the opportunity."

CORRALES SAID Rangers majority owner Brad Corbett telephoned him in Seattle late Saturday to notify him that Hunter was out and he would be the new skip-"I had mixed emotions about it," Corrales said of Corbett's call. "I didn't know whether we (Texas coaches) were going to be rehired or fired against Oklahoma, Akers perhaps

"We had problems. Everybody knew about that," said Corrales. "That was a big reason for the change.'

BOBBY BONDS, the Rangers' slugging outfielder, agreed with Corbett that the club should have done better this season.

"There is a lot of ability here and you would have to think with that ability we would have won it (AL West),' Bonds said. The Mariners, meanwhile, finished their second season 56-104 - the worst record in baseball in 1978. "There were some disappointments this year, certainly," said Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson, who guided the Mariners to a 64-98 record in the fifth.

Before the season,

Johnson said he would be "extremely disappointed" if this year's club didn't win 75 games.

"I'm disappointed because I've got some people out there (Seattle clubhouse) who are disappointed in themselves," said Johnson.

Bonds and Richie Zisk each belted two-run homers and Mike Jorgensen added a solo shot to power the Rangers Sunday. Texas roughed up Seattle starter Glenn Abbott, 7-15, for three runs in the first on runscoring singles by Zisk and John Grubb and Toby Harrah's sacrifice

Commissioner urges resistance by Texans to federal intrusions

SAN ANTONIO-John H. Poerner, a member of the Railroad Commission of Texas, has urged Texans to mount al allout resistance to federal intrusions into their intrastate gas markt that are expected to be gtriggered by imminent congressional approval of White-House-supported gas policy legislation.

"Texas must do all in its power to resist this federal invasion, not only for the good of the state, but also for the good of the nation," Poerner said in a statement submitted to the Texas House of Representatives interim hearing in San Antonio last week.

His statement was presented by J Randel Hill, counsel for the RRC's SurfaceMining and Reclamation Di-

Poerner said Texas' course on energymatters must be tri-directional: -"Producrtion and perpetuation of incentives which maximize both the production and conservation of the

Kermont B. Mickelson

Mickelson in new post

DALLAS-Kermont B. "Mic" Mickelson has been appointed director of exploration operations for the U.S. Exploration Division of Enserch Exploration, Inc.

He will report to Louis H. DuBois, vice president. Mickelson is responsible for all area exploration offices and will remain headquartered in Dallas. He was employed by major oil, gas and service companies prior to joining Enserch in 1975 while it was still known as Lone Star Producing Co.

Mickelson is a member of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, Dallas Geophysical Society, the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, the Dallas Geological Soclety, and the Engineers Club of Dalmarket for almost a quarter of a

Poerner said Commission Chairman Mack Wallace and Commissioner Jon Newton join him in pledging the expertise and available resources of the commission toward assisting the House committee in developing a reasonable and common-sense approach in managing the natural resources of Texas. The tradition of the Texas legislature toward energymatters is one of high accomplishment," he said and added: "This sgtate has always initiated action long before being told to do so by the federal government."

Poerner pointed to U.S. dependence on foreign sources for 43 percent of its energy supplies.

"If we do not reduce this percentage by promoting domestic production, U.S. national security, in which Texas has a great stake, is dangerously jeopardized," he warned. The energy official said Texas has produced almost 40 percent of America's natural gas supplies and 25 percent of all its energy because Texans have been innovative and inventive.

"We have been able to do this because we have nurtured an intrastate market which recognizes that production of energy and price are interrelated-that any price which falls below the cost of production will not insure additional energy supplies, Poerner declared.

"Texas is doing something right" in its efforst to produce energy, the federal government," he said.

"As you know," Poerner daid, "two days ago the U.S. Senate passed legislation which would open the Texas intrastate market to the kind of federal intervention that has inhibitedk production of natural gas in the interstate market since the early 1950s."

Fire check underway

HACKBERRY, La. (AP) — Officials say firefighters have completed their work at the U.S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve here where a fire raged out of control for almost a week.

Meanwhile, three separate investigations have been started in attempts to find out what caused the explosion that killed one man and set off the spectacular blaze.

Flames shot 300 feet into the air and the huge tower of smoke could be seen as far away as Texas.

Saturday, workmen placed a piece of equipment called a Christmas tree over the well, thereby capping it permanently. The wel led down into a huge cavern dug out of a salt dome.

The cavern, one of six at the Hackberry site, held 7 million gallons of crude oil when the fire began Sept. 21. Thousands of barrels of oil went up in

The storage site is the showcase for a federal program to store a billin barrels of oil in Gulf Coast salt domes as a hedge against foreign boycotts.
