

Weekly Reader still wows 'em at 50

By LARRY MARGASAK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Think back now, what was the first newspaper you ever read? There's a good chance it was My Weekly Reader. Still around after 50 years to tell youngsters what's going on in the world, it hasn't changed that much since its debut Sept. 21, 1928. Sure, the stories reflect the 1970s — a recent issue explains inflation by analyzing why cheeseburger prices are increasing — and sharp, color photographs have replaced simple black-and-white drawings. But children who still dream of climbing mountains, going to the moon or playing in the major leagues can read about their heroes in their Weekly Reader. Just as the last two generations have. Okay, grampa, jog that memory. Remember reading in 1928 about Admiral Richard Byrd's expedition to the South Pole? It was in YOUR Weekly Reader and so were those great games and puzzles — as they still are. And mom and dad, how about that 1952 story of "men trying to answer the call of Mount Everest," a year before the first man stood atop the world's highest peak? No wonder readers opening September's 50th anniversary issue found stories on "Jacques Cousteau: A Modern Day Explorer" and on Naomi Uemura, the first person to reach the North Pole alone. The times have changed, but not the stores that stimulate young minds. Officials at Xerox Corp., which owns the newspaper, estimate half of all living Americans have read the Weekly Reader (the "My" has been dropped). The paper has more than back issues to keep its link to the past. It has Eleanor Johnson, now 85, who founded and edited the paper and still serves as a consultant. A half-century ago, Miss Johnson was a school administrator in York, Pa., when she discovered. "Children were reading folk tales, mythology and fairy tales, but not about the realistic world. So it occurred to me that children didn't know what was happening in the world." Her remedy was to start the first newspaper for youngsters written in their language. The first papers cost 20 cents for a semester's worth of issues. Today, the price is $1.15 a semester up to fourth grade and $1.25 for grades five and six, with each grade having its own edition. The boom years came in the 1950s, when the newspaper could thrill its readers with stories (Continued on Page 2A)

SALT talks hit new snag

MOSCOW (AP) — Prospects dimmed today for quick conclusion of a U.S. Soviet arms limitation agreement and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said another round of negotiations "presumably" will have to be held. "We are working, we are working very hard," Gromyko told reporters during a luncheon recess in the second day of talks here with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance. "The matter is very complicated." With Vance at his side, Gromyko said "We are a little closer than we were in Washington." Added Vance: "I would agree with that. As I said before, these things are built brick by brick." Washington was the site of the last round of talks, three weeks ago, in the joint effort to complete a SALT II treaty limiting strategic bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles. Vance's spokesman, Hodding Carter, refused to specify what the remaining obstacles were or what progress may have been made here. Asked whether the results measured up to Vance's expectations, Carter said, "This is roughly where he thought he would be." The search for a treaty is now six years old. This is Vance's eighth set of negotiations with Gromyko in less than two years. Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev was joining the final session in early evening. Vance's schedule calls for him to leave for Washington Tuesday morning, and U.S. officials said they were virtually certain his stay here will not be extended. Gromyko is scheduled to leave on a visit to France. If a SALT II pact is not completed now, U.S. officials have said, another round of talks probably would be held within the next month. Vance said earlier in a luncheon toast the American side was determined "to do everything within our power to ensure the success of these negotiations." "There are some problems that remain to be resolved," he said, but added "We believe that there are no problems that cannot be worked out fairly and reasonably given good will and determination on both sides." Vance noted that a large part of the treaty has been worked out over the last several months, and said, "We can take heart from the very substantial progress" achieved so far. A heavy snow warning was issued for the mountains and foothills of Colorado as an early winter storm moved into the Rocky Mountains, while near Hawaii, Hurricane Susan began to weaken. More than 2½ inches of wet snow and rain was reported in Fort Collins, Colo., by Sunday night as the storm system spread from New Mexico to Wyoming. Forecasters in Honolulu said a hurricane watch for the island of Hawaii was canceled as the movement of the hurricane slowed. The storm's high est sustained winds were estimated at 100 mph, down from 125 mph Sunday. The cold front that caused the Colorado snow produced drizzle, rain and thunderstorms from southwest Texas into Michigan. Isolated thundershowers also were reported early today in Arizona and near the southern tip of Florida. Snow also fell in parts of Upper Michigan. Stockmen's advisories were in effect in southwestern Kansas and portions of eastern New Mexico for rain, drizzle, snow or various combinations of the three, along with low temperatures. Readings were in the 40s and 50s as far south as New Mexico, north and west Texas, from the Lower Mississippi Valley to the East Coast and from northern Florida to New England. Readings in the 20s and 30s prevailled from the northern and central Rockies, across the northern half of the Plains and into the Upper Great Lakes. Clear to partly cloudy skies were reported over portions of California and the Great Basin region, the northern Plains and part of the Upper Mississippi Valley.

The Lower Mississippi Valley eastward and much of the south and Middle Atlantic Coast states also had clear to partly cloudy skies. Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 21 degrees at Warroad, Minn., and Rawlins, Wyo., to 78 in Melbourne and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Santa Cruz Island, Calif. The forecast called for rain in parts of Washington state and from the southern half of the Plains across the Ohio Valley. The eastern two-thirds of the Great Lakes region and northern New En- (Continued on Page 2A)

More than an inch of cold, steady rain closed at least one street and some intersections and stalled a number of cars in Midland this morning. Scharbauer Drive in northeast Midland was closed because of the downpour, police officials said. Intersections of some other streets were closed also, according to police. The weatherman was calling for continued light rain through today, with only the possibility of a few thundershowers to interrupt the steady drizzle. Today's 80 percent probability was expected to decrease to 70 percent tonight and 60 percent Tuesday. Today's predicted high in the low 50s is expected to give way to a low in the low 40s tonight. Tuesday's high should reach the upper 50s, according to the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport. Ten to 15 mph winds were expected late this afternoon, the weatherman said. While the official rain gauge at the Weather Service office had recorded 1.42 inches of rain by noon, other areas in the region recorded even heavier rainfall from the front, which rolled in around midnight. Weather watchers in the far east part of Midland recorded 2.1 inches of rain from the front this morning, while Greenwood received 1.5 inches. Midland College collected 2.45 inches in its gauge, and the Petroleum Museum in south-central Midland got 1.8 inches of rain. Those in the north-central part of the city collected 1.1 inches of rain, and people in the far west end of the city got 1.45 inches. The Midkiff area reported better than an inch, while Westview Estates recorded 1.3 inches. Area towns were reporting the same type of wintry, drizzly weather. Midlanders were "enjoying" it. Odessa recorded 1.4 inches of (Continued on Page 2A)

Both, I guess, are worthy. Take both seriously but not deliriously so. Laugh a little at both. "It better befits man to laugh at life than to lament over it," wrote Seneca, the Roman statesman-philosopher. And yet, as all wise and seemingly wise men know, or should, life without its grave, serious moments of ponder is a life without any real laughter, humor or wit. ("Wit is cultured insolence," said Aristotle.) "Let me laugh a while," wrote John Keats. "I've mickle (greatly) time to (Continued on Page 2A)

Talmadge jury probe widens

ATLANTA (AP) — A published report that a federal grand jury investigating charges of misuse of funds in Sen. Herman Talmadge's office has asked the Georgia Democrat's former wife and several aides to testify has been confirmed by a Talmadge staff member. The Washington Star reported Sunday that Betty Talmadge, Alynne Tisdale, Talmadge's executive secretary; Dathine "Tack" Brunson, a former campaign treasurer and secretary; and T.R. Wade, the senator's administrative assistant and campaign chairman, are scheduled to appear before the grand jury in Washington on Thursday or Friday.

Talmadge spokesman Gordon Roberts confirmed the report Sunday evening. He added that Talmadge has not been officially notified the grand jury is beginning to take testimony and has not been subpoenaed. "If they ask him to appear he will, but they haven't asked yet," Roberts said. The Star also reported that Justice Department lawyers have notified Daniel Minchew, Talmadge's former chief aide, that the grand jury wants to take his testimony in early November. Minchew was granted limited immunity from prosecution last month and testified for nearly three days before staff investigators of the Senate Ethics Committee. On Saturday, Roberts said in response to a different Star article that Minchew disregarded "implicit instructions" from Talmadge that a $1,000 contribution from a textile executive in 1973 should be reported as a campaign gift. Minchew, employed by Talmadge from 1971 to October 1974, is now a member of the U.S. International Trade Commission. He has said Talmadge instructed him to open a secret account to convert falsely claimed Senate funds and campaign gifts to cash for Talmadge's benefit. Talmadge has denied the charge.

'Tortilla Curtain' draws criticism

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — U.S. officials say a proposed fence between this Texas border city and Juarez, Mexico, will help cut down the flow of illegal aliens. The plan, however, is drawing fire from critics who compare the 12-foot-high barrier to the Berlin Wall and call it a "Tortilla Curtain." The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service plans to start construction on the 6½-mile-long wall within 60 days. The project would cost about $1.4 million and take about six months to complete. "This fence will be very much like the fence that exists between East and West Berlin — a symbol of something between two countries," said Gaston De Bayona of Juarez, the city's director of international relations. "What can we say? It's foreboding. It's ominous." The fence will separate congested areas of El Paso and Juarez where INS agents have difficulty making apprehensions. A similar structure is planned for the border between Tijuana, Mexico, and San Diego. Fences now separate El Paso from its Mexican neighbor along most of the wall site's length, but Border Patrol agents claim they are easy to cut, climb and tunnel under. The new five-foot steel wall will rest on a concrete foundation buried at least two feet below ground surface. Above the solid steel, a metal mesh fence will extend the wall another seven feet. The mesh will lean toward the Mexican side and is designed to wobble and shake in order to make climbing more difficult. U.S. officials say the new barrier will be an uncontroversial improvement in border control techniques. At the State Department's Mexican Affairs desk, a spokesman said the department was aware the INS was building a new barrier but the move was not considered important enough to warrant a statement. In Juarez, American Consul General Frank Stevens said: "The only difference is that this is going to be a better fence. I don't see anything profoundly psychological about it." But De Bayona said the wall will serve as a constant reminder of Mexico's poverty and lesser world status. "We Mexicans are a little sensitive about issues like that. But there it will be, a symbol dividing two countries, one more powerful than the other." Alfonso Valarde, regional director of the U.S. Catholic Conference and chief of refugee services along the entire 2,000-mile Mexican border, calls the barrier "the Tortilla Curtain, and I hate to see it going up." "It upsets me because I don't see it as good public relations or good international relations to put up a fence between two nations," he said. Robin Clack, INS operations chief in Washington, said no one in the INS believes the wall will keep the aliens from crossing into the U.S. "All this is supposed to do is throw them into the desert where they'll be easier to catch."

Absentee vote high

Opening days of absentee voting last week saw an unusually high number of persons casting ballots, County Clerk Rosencelle Cherry said today. During the first three days of absentee voting, which began Wednesday, 242 persons voted in the clerk's office, and 192 ballots were mailed. Mrs. Cherry reported "heavier voting in the office than in past elections." Persons who will be out of the county on Nov. 7, persons over 65 and persons who fall into certain other categories may vote absentee through Nov. 3 in the county clerk's office on the first floor of the Midland County Courthouse.

Resumption of drinking too risky for alcoholic

Dear Dr. Solomon: I remember a big controversy a few years ago about a report that some alcoholics could drink in moderation after a cure. Has there been anything new on this? A close relative with a drinking problem has been on the wagon for a couple of months and is talking about trying some moderate social drinking. Otherwise, he says, he feels kind of conspicuous as parties and other social gatherings. What do you think?—Bert

Dear Bert: If I were you I would urge your relative to forget it. No matter how "cured," for an alcoholic to resume drinking of any kind is simply too risky. This is the view of people who really know what alcoholism is all about—in particular, it is the position taken by Alcoholics Anonymous, which has the best record of any organization in getting the alcoholic back to a normal and productive life.

The report you refer to, incidentally, was the Rand report, and it was, unfortunately, widely misunderstood. In a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Assn., Dr. Brian R. Nagy, an expert on alcoholism, points out that the report did not say that alcoholics could return safely to social drinking.

What it did say was that most alcoholics in fact did not stick to abstinence after treatment. Dr. Nagy makes the very sound point that a doctor must not abandon these patients, and at the same time must not condone attempts at controlled drinking. As he puts it: "Maintaining the trusting, supporting setting while continuing to confront drinking is part of the treatment."

Most physicians with experience in alcoholism, Dr. Nagy says, agree that a rare patient may be able to resume drinking modestly and keep it under control. But the percentage, he stresses, is extremely small. And to recommend a course with a minimal chance of success is not responsible medicine.

One final word: Your relative shouldn't feel that avoiding alcohol at social gatherings makes him conspicuous. Actually, it is quite the thing nowadays to ask for Perrier water or some other non-alcoholic beverage.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Who should receive German measles (rubella) vaccine?—B.M.

Dear Mrs. B.M.: Rubella vaccine is most useful for children between 1 year of age and puberty. Vaccine should not be given to infants less than 1-year-old because maternal antibodies may prevent a "take." It usually is given with measles and mumps vaccine at the age of 15 months. A history of rubella illness is not reliable enough to exclude children from being immunized. The vaccine should not be given to pregnant women nor to women who may become pregnant within two months following immunization.

(If you have a medical problem see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

Iranian police fire on protesters

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iranian police opened fire on crowds of anti-government protesters, killing at least five and wounding 18, press reports said.

Reports from Hamadan, 250 miles west of Tehran, said the violence exploded Sunday when students and teachers massing in the city refused to disperse.

In the southern city of Isfahan, thousands of high school and college students marched to demand an end to martial law and release of political prisoners. No bloodshed was reported.

The government of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi imposed martial law last month to quell bloody rioting that has left more than 1,000 dead so far this year.

Anastas Mikoyan dead at age 82

By HARRY DUNPHY

MOSCOW (AP)—Anastas Mikoyan, the durable Bolshevik who survived 40 years of often bloody Kremlin intrigues and managed to retire with honor, is dead at 82.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the former president died Saturday after a long illness. The Communist Party and government made the announcement Sunday "with deep sorrow."

Mikoyan's death leaves only two of the old Bolshevik front-liners—Vyacheslav M. Molotov, 88, and Lazar M. Kaganovich, 84.

Molotov retired in 1961 to live out his life in oblivion, having been branded an accomplice to dictator Josef Stalin's crimes.

Kaganovich was ousted from the Politburo in 1957, reportedly sent to run a cement factory in the Ural Mountains, and has not been heard of since.

Mikoyan, a dark-looking man with a black mustache whose nose was twisted from an old fist fight, had an uncanny ability to weather political storms often fatal to his comrades.

He escaped Stalin's purges in the 30s and 40s, and some said even as it appeared his luck might run out, he was saved by Stalin's death in 1953.

He denounced Stalin as a murderer in 1957 and backed Nikita Khrushchev that year. But when it was time for the ax to fall again, Mikoyan was on the side of the Andrei Kosygin-Leonid Brezhnev thrust which in 1964 forced Khrushchev from power.

Mikoyan was born in Armenia, the son of a carpenter. He studied for the priesthood—as Stalin did—and despite winning top honors in school, joined the Bolshevik Party when he was 20.

The revolution of 1917 came two years later, and Mikoyan was a member of the Communist Party presidium in Baku. He was wounded during fighting there and was jailed when the Baku commune collapsed.

He was turned over to British forces and the White Guards and was to be executed along with 25 other top party leaders. They were shot, but he wasn't, apparently because his name was mistakenly left off the list.

Five months later he was released from custody and traveled to Moscow where he met with revolutionary leaders Vladimir Lenin, Stalin and Trotsky, who launched him on his career.

In 1935 he became a full member of the Politburo and retained the membership until his retirement.

As Stalin's trade emissary, Mikoyan traveled to the United States in 1936 and brought back ideas for two foods that fascinated him—corn flakes and ice cream.

You can do it!

Weatherstripping and caulking around doors and windows stop energy leaks.

In time, even tiny air cracks can add up to large heating and cooling losses. But sealing those energy-robbing cracks isn't all that hard. You can do it yourself with Texas Electric's free booklets on caulking and weatherstripping. They're part of a series we're offering to energy-conscious homeowners who want to make their homes energy efficient. Using basic tools and readily available materials, even unhandy people can caulk and weatherstrip their own homes to keep energy costs down.

Other booklets in the series cover insulation, storm windows, ductwork, and general maintenance. Just call us, or ask for the booklets on the comments section of your electric bill. See how easy it is to make your home energy efficient.

Hawaiian hurricane weakens

HONOLULU (AP) — A hurricane watch for the island of Hawaii was canceled as Hurricane Susan, described once as the most powerful storm ever recorded in Hawaiian waters, began to weaken.

The storm was located late Sunday 265 miles southeast of Hilo, the largest city on the island of Hawaii. The watch for the island was canceled when Susan's movement to the northwest slowed to 5 mph.

mph early Sunday. Susan was expected to reach the south point of Hawaii Island on Tuesday afternoon with winds of about 46 mph, below hurricane strength.

The storm carried sustained winds estimated at 100 mph near her center, compared with 125

The National Weather Service called Susan "a weakening but still dangerous hurricane."

'Operators to blame' for bill, Hefner says

By MAX B. SKELTON AP Oil Writer HOUSTON (AP) — Independent oil operators were told Sunday producers can blame themselves for passage of the new natural gas bill that extends federal price controls to intrastate markets.

"We, the producers, dropped the ball," said Ray Hefner, chairman of the natural gas policy committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

As a result, Hefner said, the industry must try to continue producing natural gas while facing the most extensive regulatory scheme ever developed in peacetime.

The 5,000-member trade group long has championed decontrol of interstate natural gas prices and freedom of intrastate markets from federal regulation.

The Natural Gas Policy Act now awaiting President Carter's signature would phase out some price controls by 1985 but extend federal controls to intrastate sales.

The gas policy committee met preliminary to the opening of the association's 49th annual meeting.

Hefner, an Oklahoma City independent, said producers missed their chance Oct. 13 when the House refused by a 207 to 206 vote to separate the natural gas bill from other energy package bills on final passage.

Texas, three in Mississippi, one in Colorado, one in Wyoming, one in Montana, all four in West Virginia and three from the producing areas of California.

"It is obvious we did not do the job we should have done with our own congressmen from our own states," Hefner said.

"Because the immediate battle before us is with an army of dedicated regulators, armed with an unprecedented amount of regulatory authority on their side, our task will be difficult," he said.

"They will be even less responsive than Congress has been, so it will be a tough, and often frustrating task we will face in trying to continue to produce natural gas under the most extensive regulatory scheme ever designed for a private sector of our economy in peacetime," Hefner said.

The API noted, however, that in recent months the gap between this year's level of imports and last year's has been narrowing.

In September, the average import level of 8.4 million bpd was only two percent lower than last year's September level of 8.6 million bpd.

Domestic demand for petroleum increased only 2.6 percent during the first three quarters of the year as compared to the January-September period of 1977, the API reported.

Explosion rips tank

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — A gasoline storage tank exploded in flames Sunday at a Shell Oil Co. facility on Rough and Ready Island and burned out of control for hours.

Shell officials said the blaze, which had created a "potential fire bomb" that could have engulfed other tanks, was brought under control shortly after 3 p.m. (PDT) and no injuries were reported.

About 100 firemen were at work as the fire sent big black clouds billowing over Stockton.

Gasoline was being pumped from a Southern Pacific railroad tank car through a pipeline into the Shell tank, containing a reported 1.8 million gallons of ethyl gasoline, when a spark from a hot water heater in a security guard's shack ignited fumes, investigators said.

Flames shot straight toward the tank and it exploded, they said. Stockton Police Sgt. Charles Mierkey said the island is separated from residential Stockton by the San Joaquin River, but officials were considering evacuation of about 40 to 50 families from nearby Navy housing units.

Rick Berger of the Stockton Fire Communication Center said two other large tanks owned by Mobil Oil Co. would be in danger of being engulfed by flames if escaping fumes from the Shell facility did ignite.

Firefighters from nearby communities were reported joining the battle to control the flames at the facility about 90 miles southeast of San Francisco.

The appointment becomes effective Jan. 16, 1979.

Dr. Flawn is internationally known for his work in mineral resources. He currently is a professor of geological sciences and public affairs at UT-Austin. He also is acting director of the Marine Science Institute.

Carter planning new gap-closing program

By TOM RAUM WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, with one big energy victory behind it, is preparing a second energy program to close what it views as gaps in the first plan.

Federal energy officials say the new plan will be aimed more at boosting U.S. energy supplies than was the big energy bill passed in the closing hours of the 95th Congress.

And Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger disclosed to reporters last week that it will include some kind of proposed tax on oil intended to curb imports.

Will it be a warmed-over version of Carter's rejected crude-oil tax or closer to the "windfall profits tax" preferred by oil companies and their allies in Congress? That remains an open question.

The administration is expected to submit its "National Energy Plan Two" to Congress in January or February.

Proposed federal grants, loan guarantees and stepped-up research for a wide variety of energy projects — ranging from transforming coal into clean-burning fuels to better utilizing wind, geothermal, solar and hydroelectric energy — are expected to be included.

But the oil-pricing issue probably will generate the most controversy.

Congress killed the crude oil tax that Carter called the centerpiece of his first energy program. It would have raised U.S. oil prices to world levels in three years.

Although they voted to lift federal price controls on natural gas in 1985, lawmakers wound up doing nothing about the price of oil.

Although Carter can extend the controls through September 1981, he vowed at last summer's Bonn economic summit to take unspecified steps to raise U.S. oil prices to world-market levels by 1980.

Without the crude oil tax his options are limited.

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell Long, D-La., predicts Carter will both allow the controls to expire in May and propose a tax to keep oil companies from reaping windfall profits.

"But in doing so, he ought to have very strong incentives for people to produce more energy, particularly more oil," Long added.

Such a "windfall profits tax" exempting profits plowed back into energy exploration and production has long been sought by congressional Republicans and oil-state Democrats such as Long.

But in the past, administration officials have complained it would be hard to administer.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Garrett E. Pack has been named vice president of Occidental Engineering Co., a subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum Corp.

He joined Occidental in 1977 from Fluor Engineers and Constructors, where he was chief of advanced process technology. His career includes 18 years in the field of process engineering and management, with extensive experience in petroleum refining.

Stump sand pay reported

FORT WORTH—American Quasar Petroleum Co. has announced a discovery in the Stump sand at its Pineview field in Summit County, Utah.

A four-hour production test from 5,997 to 6,012 feet, the No. 1 Newton Sheep flowed gas at the rate of 702,000 cubic feet per day and oil at the rate of 1,266 barrels per day through a 40/64-inch opening.

Flowing tubing pressure was 475 pounds and gravity of the oil is 47 degrees.

American Quasar and limited partners operate 22 other completions in the Pineview field, all of which are producing from the deeper Nuggett or Twin Crk zones.

American Quasar and limited partners have combing working interest of 87.5 percent in the No. 1 Newton Sheep.

Union Oil Co. of California No. 1 Valley Farm has been completed as a Bone Spring discovery in Reeves County, nine miles south of Pecos. The closest production to the discovery is 11 miles southeast in the Toro multipay field.

Petroleum imports dip

WASHINGTON—Total petroleum imports (crude oil plus products) during the first three quarters of the year were 11.8 percent lower than during the comparable period of 1977, the American Petroleum Institute reported today.

According to the API's Monthly Statistical Report, total imports—not including those destined for the strategic storage program—averaged 7.9 million barrels per day compared to nine million barrels per day imported during the January-September period last year.

The API noted, however, that in recent months the gap between this year's level of imports and last year's has been narrowing.

In September, the average import level of 8.4 million bpd was only two percent lower than last year's September level of 8.6 million bpd.

Domestic demand for petroleum increased only 2.6 percent during the first three quarters of the year as compared to the January-September period of 1977, the API reported.

For the first nine months of this year, the API said total domestic demand averaged 18.8 million bpd compared to 18.3 million bpd for the first three quarters last year.

Demand for gasoline and home heating oil rose three percent each.

P. T. Flawn appointed

AUSTIN—The appointment of Dr. Peter T. Flawn as the first holder of the Leonidas T. Barrow Professorship in Mineral Resources at The University of Texas at Austin was approved Friday by the UT System Board of Regents.

The appointment becomes effective Jan. 16, 1979.

Dr. Flawn is internationally known for his work in mineral resources. He currently is a professor of geological sciences and public affairs at UT-Austin. He also is acting director of the Marine Science Institute.

In January 1979, he will become a full-time faculty member in the Department of Geological Sciences.

In addition to his years as a faculty member at UT-Austin, Dr. Flawn also has been an executive vice president of the university and director of the Bureau of Economic Geology. He was president of The University of Texas at San Antonio five years until January 1978.

Schmidt backs WIPP

ALBUQUERQUE—U.S. Senator Harrison Schmidt said today that the Department of Energy should continue the Waste Isolation Pilot Project (WIPP) near Carlsbad, but should also look at other options including reprocessing.

Schmitt, speaking at a dedication ceremony at Sandia Laboratories, said he believes "the utilization of the individual components of nuclear wastes has the potential to supplement some of our national resource import requirements, provide resources for some new technologies, as well as making the ultimate management of wastes a more manageable problem."

Schmitt called for a full evaluation of "various alternatives for the safe and acceptable management of nuclear waste as a resource."

"Although I am a supporter of WIPP as an experiment, I am yet to be convinced that this is our only viable option for nuclear waste management, or even the best option for permanent waste disposal," he said.

Schmitt also commented on a nuclear waste draft report issued by the Department of Energy today. Schmitt said that although the report advocates denying a state veto power over nuclear waste disposal within its borders, he believes "the right to such a veto inherently resides in the State."

Edward Kennedy rips interest groups

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says special interests "are doing their best to buy every senator, every representative and every issue in sight."

In a speech today at Lake Superior State College, the Massachusetts Democrat said, "Representative government on Capitol Hill is in the worst shape I have seen it in my 16 years in the Senate."

"The heart of the problem is that the Senate and the House are awash in a sea of special interest campaign contributions and special interest lobbying."

Appearing in Northern Michigan to deliver the Philip A. Hart Lecture, named for the late Michigan senator, Kennedy said corporations have been creating political action committees this year at the rate of one a day.

Such committees representing a variety of special interests as well as corporations had contributed $11 million as of mid-July to various candidates, according to Federal Election Commission records. Kennedy pointed to the vote in a House committee to kill a strong hospital-cost containment bill and said that "19 of the 22 congressmen who voted to kill the measure had received a total of $85,000 in campaign contributions from the American Medical Association since 1975 — an average of over $4,000 each."

The senator added that, "On the crucial vote, they voted with the AMA to kill the measure."

Kennedy urged support for legislation to extend public financing to Senate and House elections. Public financing, supported by President Carter, failed to pass the 95th Congress.

West was unkind enough to lead a diamond. Declarer played dummy's ten, and East covered with the queen.

South now fell from grace by winning with the ace of diamonds. This greedy play cost him his contract.

Declarer continued with the ace and king of trumps, but the queen failed to fall. He then led a spade, and West stepped up with an ace.

TAKE TWO DIAMONDS
West cashed the queen of hearts, and East discarded the deuce of clubs to discourage a club lead. West thereupon led another diamond, and East defeated the contract with two diamond tricks.

South should let East's queen of diamonds hold the first trick. East cannot return a diamond, since then dummy's jack would win a trick. East therefore returns a trump.

Declarer takes two top trumps and leads a spade. West can take the ace of spades, but South still has the ace of diamonds. The defenders can get a trump, a spade and only their first diamond trick. South can set to dummy with the king of clubs to discard on the good spades.

Sadat unsatisfied with peace treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt is not completely satisfied with the draft peace treaty with Israel that was agreed to over the weekend and wants some "clarifications," informed sources said today.

Sadat is not rejecting the treaty, said the sources, who asked not to be identified. They did not know whether the clarifications he is seeking will require renegotiation of the issues the two sides had agreed on.

In Cairo, Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil, in an interview with The Associated Press, denied reports the document had been rejected. "It is totally wrong," he said. "We have asked for modifications."

Khalil did not elaborate. He said he and Sadat reviewed the draft at a two-hour meeting and "informed our delegation in Washington about some technical remarks on the text."

The Israeli Cabinet also was studying the compromises made in two days of negotiations that brought the two countries to the verge of a treaty to end 30 years of war and hostility.

"The principal issues in the negotiations have been resolved so far as the Egyptian and Israeli delegations are concerned," State Department spokesman George Sherman announced Sunday.

In addition, the delegations must resolve several other issues, Sherman said, including terms for the sale of oil Israel discovered in the occupied Sinai, which will be returned to Egypt.

The breakthrough in the talks came Friday and Saturday, after the Israelis announced they were going home to consult with their cabinet about issues Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan said he was "very doubtful" the delegations could resolve themselves.

But the Israelis observed the Jewish ban on travel during the 24 hours of the Sabbath, beginning Friday at sundown. President Carter used that time.

He met until nearly midnight with the delegations at the White House Friday. Then, the two sides met for four hours Saturday, Sherman said. During those meetings, the two difficult issues dividing the delegations were resolved.

One was the timetable for establishing full diplomatic relations. It had not been specified in the agreements reached at Camp David.

Egypt asks modifications

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said today Egypt has asked for "modifications" in the draft of an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty but denied reports the document had been rejected.

"It is totally wrong" — Egypt has not rejected the draft treaty," he said in an interview with The Associated Press. "We have asked for modifications."

Khalil said he and President Anwar Sadat reviewed the draft treaty during a two-hour meeting today and "informed our delegation in Washington about some technical remarks on the text."

Khalil would not say what modifications Egypt wants made in the draft treaty.

Academy panel criticizes sexual exploitation on TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Members of a television academy panel on sexuality agreed there is too much sexual exploitation on TV, and one panelist said, "We are led to believe that a man and a woman are the sum of their private parts."

They said it's up to the networks to stop it.

Grace Basinger, president of the National Parent-Teachers Association, and Dr. Harry Hollis of the Southern Baptist Christian Life

Commission said they were concerned with the growth of sexual exploitation on the air. They were among members of a panel sponsored Sunday by the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Ms. Basinger said, "Yes, our members are beginning to believe there is too much sexual behavior portrayed on television. When the national PTA first began looking at television in about 1976 we were concerned about violence."

Mark Carliner, executive producer of "Flying High," a CBS-TV series about the adventures of three attractive young flight attendants, said he agreed there was more sexuality portrayed on television.

Now 65 percent of the calls on our hotline are concerned about sex on television.

"We are led to believe that a man and a woman are the sum of their private parts," Hollis said. "Sex on television hasn't even reached the level of the 19-year-old. There is too much snickering."

George Conklin of the Media Action Research Center said, "If something is polluted or injurious to public health, it's up to the regulatory agencies to rectify it."

Tonight James Robison will tell you what many others are afraid to say!
Tonight James Robison will say things you have probably never before heard on prime time television, things you may have suspected, things that cannot be ignored! He will say that America—you, your family, all of us—are on a crash course with disaster because we live in a world gone mad. In this cynical, unbelieving society that idolizes power and rewards immorality, where anything goes as long as you don't get caught, James Robison will dare to tell you about the divine judgment that has already begun! Johnny Cash calls James Robison "a man of destiny." You may agree with James Robison, or perhaps you won't like what he has to say, but one thing is certain, you can't afford to miss him because what he tells you will radically affect your life!

Upsets deplete ranks of college unbeatens

By The Associated Press

There are only five college football teams left with perfect records and this much is certain — there will not be five when the season comes to a close.

That's because second-ranked Penn State and No. 6 Maryland have a Nov. 4 date in State College, Pa., which looks as one of the most attractive pairings left in the regular season.

That upcoming clash took on added status over the weekend when Penn State throttled Syracuse 45-15 behind Chuck Fusina's four touchdown passes, while Maryland trounced Wake Forest 39-0 with Steve Atkins scoring twice and his backup, Alvin Maddox, getting three TDs.

THE OTHER unbeaten-untied teams are top-rated Oklahoma, which trimmed Iowa State 34-6 as Billy Sims rushed for a career-high 231 yards; No. 17 Navy, a 9-0 winner over William & Mary on Bob Tata's 27-yard field goal and Larry Klawinski's 33-yard scoring dash, and unranked Holy Cross, which was idle.

All the unbeaten have big games left. Oklahoma has road dates with Nebraska and Colorado. Penn State closes out the regular season with Maryland, North Carolina State and Pitt.

Maryland must face Clemson as well as Penn State. Navy will find out just how good it is the next two weekends against Pitt and Notre Dame while Holy Cross lists improving Brown and once-beaten Rutgers among its six remaining opponents.

THE RANKS OF the unbeaten suffered one major loss over the weekend when third-ranked Arkansas lost to No. 8 Texas 28-21 as Randy McEachern threw two scoring passes to Olympic sprinter Lam Jones — including the winner with 6:15 to play — and one to Lawrence Sampleton.

For the most part, though, it was a form-following weekend, in sharp contrast to the previous week when there were more upsets than Los Angeles Dodger fielding lapses. Besides Arkansas, the only loser among The Associated Press Top Twenty was 12th-ranked Texas A&M, which bowed to previously winless Baylor 24-6.

Elsewhere, fourth-ranked Alabama turned back Tennessee 30-17, No. 5 Nebraska swamped Colorado 52-14, No. 7 Southern California whipped Oregon State 38-7, No. 9 Michigan mauled Wisconsin 42-0 and No. 10 UCLA buried California 45-0.

In the Second Ten, 11th-ranked Houston outlasted Southern Methodist 42-38, No. 13 Missouri drubbed Kansas State 56-14, No. 15 Pitt edged Florida State 7-3, No. 16 Louisiana State blanked Kentucky 21-0, No. 18 Georgia defeated Vanderbilt 31-10, No. 19 Purdue beat Illinois 13-0 and No. 20 Notre Dame downed Air Force 38-15.

ALABAMA TIGHT END Tim Travis scored twice on end-arounds as the Crimson Tide beat Tennessee and Rick Berns rushed for 132 of Nebraska's 641 yards of total offense.

SWC race clearing up

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

It's not even November and the Southwest Conference football championship race has come down to just four teams—Houston, Texas, Southern Methodist and Arkansas.

Gone are the Texas Aggies, who couldn't score a touchdown against either Houston or Baylor.

Gone are the Baylor Bears, who stumbled coming out of the gate.

Gone are the Rice Owls, Texas Christian Horned Frogs and Texas Tech Red Raiders. All have two or more defeats.

No team has ever shared in a SWC title with two losses.

Alive are the Houston Cougars, who have regained the magic of 1976 when they stormed to the Cotton Bowl.

Alive are the defending champion Texas Longhorns, who have unsharpened their talented freshmen and share the top spot with the Cougars at 3-0.

Semi-alive and still dangerous are Southern Methodist and Arkansas who took direct hits Saturday in their first SWC losses.

Houston outlasted Southern Methodist 42-28 in Dallas before a crowd of 61,000-plus in the Cotton Bowl.

The Cougars won't have long to celebrate.

The previously unbeaten Arkansas Razorbacks were rudely dumped 28-21 in Austin where they haven't won since 1966 by the Longhorns featuring senior quarterback Randy McEachern and unheralded frosh tight end Lawrence Sampleton. And Arkansas comes calling Saturday night in the Astrodome.

Texas must prepare its secondary for the trauma of dealing with SMU and its aerial blitz in a Saturday afternoon encounter.

In other games last Saturday, the Baylor Bears took out Texas A&M 24-6, Texas Tech outscored Rice 42-28 and Texas Christian surprised Tulane 13-7.

TCU's victory gave the SWC a final 15-11-1 count against outside competition for the year.

Baylor is at TCU, and Rice is at Texas A&M this Saturday afternoon.

SMU is 2-1 in league play while preseason favorite Arkansas is 1-1. Baylor, Rice, Texas A&M and Texas Tech are all 1-2 while TCU is 0-3.

Missouri outscored Kansas State 35-7 in the second half, including a 71-yard dash by Earl Gant, who also scored the tie-breaking touchdown in the second period. Fred Jacobs darted 13 yards for a second-quarter touchdown and Pitt held on to defeat Florida State.

LSU USED four interceptions, three fumble recoveries and Charles Alexander's 44-yard gallop with a short pass to beat Kentucky. Willie McClendon led Georgia over Vanderbilt by rushing for 155 yards and two TDs.

Mark Herrmann passed to Mike Harris for the game's only touchdown while Scott Sovereign kicked two field goals as Purdue downed Illinois while Joe Montana scored two TDs and passed for two as Notre Dame defeated Air Force.

Temple defends ranking

Sparkling individual performances highlighted the 7th-week of high-school football action as most top-ranked teams thrashed their district foes.

Tyler unleashed an explosive one-two offensive punch in DeMarcus Baxter and Floyd Dorsey who punished Texarkana's defense with a dazzling rushing attack that salvaged a 35-31 come-from-behind victory for the 9th ranked Lions.

Baxter scored on jaunts of 93 and 44 yards and rolled up 199 yards in a game where he was the second best runner. Dorsey garnered the rushing honors as he streaked, crashed and plunged for 204 yards and two touchdowns, including a 51-yard scoring gallop.

Dwayne Love streaked 70 yards for one touchdown and set up two others to guide 2nd-ranked Garland to a 41-6 trouncing of North Garland.

Temple defended its top-rating in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll crushing Killeen Ellison, 41-6.

Corpus Christi Carroll intercepted eight passes and ran two back for touchdowns to wallop winless Robstown, 47-14. But there is little joy at ranked San Antonio Churchill clobbered Alamo Heights, 33-6; Odessa Permian, No. 6, blasted Big Spring, 48-0; 8th-ranked LaPorte lost a squeaker to Pasadena Dobie, 30-29; and 10th-ranked Plano drubbed once-beaten Richardson, 35-0.

Arlington Lamar, No. 3, edged cross-town rival Arlington, 17-13; Houston Stratford, No. 4, blanked Memorial, 33-0; 5th-

Wadkins wins European Open

By ROBERT JONES
AP Sports Writer

WALTON HEATH, England (AP) — The inaugural European Open Golf Championship finished in the gloom of an English fall evening Sunday, just about the way every organizer dreams — in a three-way tie after 72 holes of see-saw golf.

American Bobby Wadkins came out the winner and local hero Bernard Gallacher tied for second place with another American, Dr. Gil Morgan, after a sudden-death playoff.

Wadkins, from Richmond, Va., came off the 73rd green after sinking from 3 feet for a birdie-3, to hear that elder brother Lanny had won the Garden State PGA in Melbourne, Australia.

Bobby, 27, two years younger than his more famous brother, picked up the $36,000 first prize after a sudden surge to the front with two birdies and an eagle on the last nine for a 68-283. Until then, Greg Norman of Australia and then Gallacher had held the lead with Morgan in close touch.

It was a see-saw affair throughout the tournament's four days, with Tom Weiskopf and Britain's Nick Faldo fighting for the lead for two rounds, and then Norman and Mac McLendon taking over after Saturday's third round. Weiskopf, going great guns after a first-round 70 and a second-round 69 on Walton Heath's par-36-37-73 course, dropped out of contention in the third round when he strained his left wrist and took 81. He played on Sunday but could only card a 74 and finished well down the list with 294.

This first-ever European Championship was the brainchild of Sven Tumba, former Swedish ice hockey star, with Jack Nicklaus — who could not play because of business commitments — as chairman of the tournament's advisory board.

It was the first top international event played at Walton Heath, a tree-lined, 7,130-yard course with fairways flanked with heather, 30 miles from London. During the four days, more than 25,000 British golf enthusiasts followed play.

Tumba said he hoped the $200,000 tournament would take its place among the world's major championships and eventually rank with the British Open and the U.S. Open, Masters and PGA.

'Vantage. I just won't compromise on taste.'

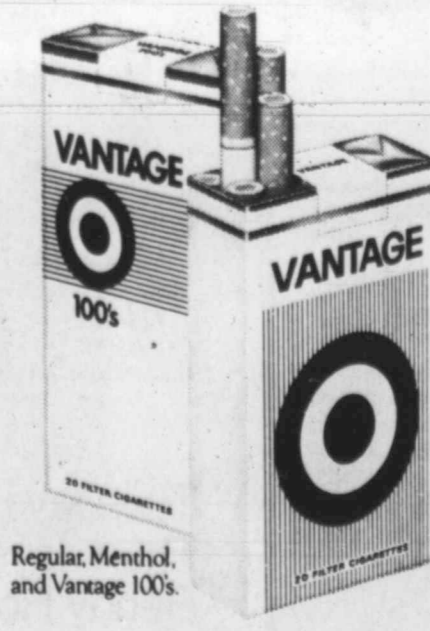

"I'm willing to make some concessions, but taste isn't one of them. Even though I've heard the tar stories, I still want a cigarette with good taste.

"That's why I'm glad I switched to Vantage.

"With Vantage, I get the taste I smoked for in the first place. And that wasn't easy to find in a low tar.

"For me, Vantage is the best tasting low tar cigarette there is."
