Female cancer doubles

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of women dying of lung cancer nearly doubled between 1973 and 1976, a new study shows, and the American Cancer Society says it's because women have taken up the smoking habits of men.

The fatality statistics, from a report prepared by the National Cancer Institute, show that while both the number of lung cancer cases and the death rate among women are still well below those for men, new cases among males are increasing at a much slower rate, and women are closing the gap.

"Women began to smoke much later than men, and now it's catching up with them," said Irving Rimer, a spokesman for the American Cancer Society in New York. He noted that for the first time teen-age girls are smoking at the same rate as teen-age boys, whereas the proportion of women who smoke traditionaly has trailed that of men.

Fifteen percent of teen-age girls and boys now smoke, he said, predicting that lung cancer death rates for the two sexes will be equal in about 30 years when today's teen-agers reach the age at which lung cancer begins to take its toll.

The report, released Thursday, said that only 12 percent of all lung cancer victims live more than three years after their disease is diagnosed. Increases were also noted for uterine cancer in women and prostate cancer in men. The death rates from those diseases, however, aren't nearly as high as the toll from lung can-

While the incidence of cancer generally appears to have risen about 1 percent to 2 percent per year between 1970 and 1976, the institute said, the lung cancer rate among women has risen about 8 percent yearly.

The statistics are the first to be published from an ambitious fiveyear-old study seeking to keep track of the incidence of cancer, its victims and survivors for years to come. The study costs about $9 million a year and collects data from 11 areas representing about 10 percent of the U.S.

The report shows that lung cancer killed 13.2 women per 100,000 population in 1973 and 17.6 women per 100,000 in 1976. Those figures compare with a lung cancer death rate of 60.3 per 100,000 males in 1973 and 65.5 in 1976. While the rates for each sex thus rose between four and five per 100,000, the number of women who died of lung cancer in the 11 areas during that time rose from 1,100 in 1973 to more than 2,000 in 1976.

The institute said the mortality figures for the sample are representative of the national population.

The report shows that lung cancer is by far the most deadly of the most common human malignancies - lung cancer, breast cancer and colon and rectal cancer. Each strikes nearly twice as often as any other form of the Tower interest group 'favorite'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Special interest groups have contributed thousands of dollars to both candidates in the U.S. Senate race in Texas, but incumbent Republican John Tower appears to be their favorite, according to Common Cause.

The citizens' lobby group reported in a special study released Thursday that Tower and his Democratic challenger, Rep. Bob Krueger, have received contributions from the same big business or special groups.

"These interest groups are making sure they will have easy access no matter who wins the Texas race," said Fred Werthemer, a Common Cause vice president. "It's like backing both teams in a football game you're bound to have a winner.'

However, Common Cause said Tower received much larger contributions from almost all groups than counts of first-degree murder and two counts of assault with intent to commit murder in warrants issued by Washtenaw County Prosecutor William Delhey. He was not charged in his parents' deaths, which remained under investigation.

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) - Billy Edward Hardesty, who neighbors called a "terrible kid," lay wounded in a hospital as police backtracked over a grisly trail of five deaths that included Hardesty's mother and his father, whose body was found in the family freezer.

Hardesty, divorced and unemployed, is charged with shooting two men to death with a .22-caliber rifle during what police said was an "altercation" in the parking lot of a bar near here around 2 a.m.

The victims were identified as Troy Curry, 28, of Canton Township in Wayne County and Timothy Schofield, 21, of nearby Belleville.

At 6 a.m. Thursday, police said Hardesty showed up at a tool and die company just outside Ypsilanti that is co-owned by his former in-laws and shot his ex-brother-in-law, Daniel Wood, 38, of Canton Township. He also wounded two other men. Both remained in critical condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Richard Frye, 43, another neighbor, said Hardesty came to his home about 6: 30 a.m. and announced he had "just killed three guys."

Frye described Hardesty as "flying high," and said he was carrying a .22-caliber rifle, two shotguns and a bottle containing 15 or 20 tranquilizers. He said Hardesty told him the people he had shot had been "hassling" him about his ex-wife.

After drinking a cup of coffee, Frye said Hardesty told him he was going

Hill vows 'uphill' energy battle

By JIM STEINBERG R-T News Staff

Although conceding it would be an "uphill battle," Attorney General John Hill said in Midland Thursday that he intends to challenge the legality of the federal government to regulate the intrastate price of natural

Hill said that after President Carter signs (assuming he does) the new energy package, Texas, along with the oil and gas producing states of Oklahoma and Louisiana, will file a joint lawsuit in Oklahoma City.

Hill said the states will contest the constitutionality of what he termed the federal government's dictation of intrastate pricing policies to a state.

The Democratic candidate for governor said regulation of the Texas intrastate natural gas market is "contrary to the tenants of federalism. It perpetuates an inequality whereby residents of non-gas producing states can pay less for natural gas than residents of gas producing states.

"What's next, regulating the price of wheat in Kansas?" Hill asked. Because of the constitutional issues involved. Hill said, he expects other states will join the petitioners in their

Prior to attending a fund-raising dinner for "West Texans on the Hill Side," the attorney general said his office would investigate alleged instances of oil companies polluting West Texas playa lakes.

1978 Oil Show attendance heading for all-time record

ODESSA-Attendance for the 1978 Permian Basin Oil Show in Odessa is heading for an all-time record, Ed Durrett of Odessa, a vice president of the show and chairman of the attendance committee, said this morning.

Thursday, the second day of the show, saw 151,731 persons walk through the turnstiles, Durrett said. The first day, 159,996 visitors were counted, giving the show a two-day total of 311,177.

The first two days of the show the exhibit grounds were off limits to everyone except persons directly associated with the oil industry and allied industries

Durrett said the 1976 first-day count was 112,000 plus and that the second day total was 122,000 plus.

During the final two days in 1976, 251,000 persons were admitted to the nds. Durrett said "if the show grounds. Durrett said "if the weather doesn't kill us we are certain to go far past the 500,000 mark this

Tail gunner only B-52 survivor

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) - The lone survivor of the crash of an Air Forae B-52 bomber in which five crewmen died was a tail gunner who stumbled from the fiery wreciage and was found staggering through a plowed field.

Master Sgt. Joseph Packey, 35, was reported in stable condition at the March Air Force Base hospital with severe injuries, officials said.

The 244-ton, eight-engine bomber was carrying 61,000 gallons of fuel when it departed on a routine training mission in light fog. Air Force Capt. Carl Rossman said. No nuclear or conventional weapons were aboard the craft, Rossman said, although March is a Strategic Air Command

Staff Sgt. John Romines said Packey, originally from Mt. Pleasant, Pa., was found in a plowed field about 300 yards from the site of Thursday's Romines identified the dead as Maj. William Parkell, 36, of Red Bank, N.J., instructor-pilot; Capt. Roert Mitchell, 29, of Dayton, Ohio, co-pilot; Capt. some of the rare and valuable books housed in the Nita Stewart Haley Memorial Library and J. Evetts Haley History Center which are located at 1805 W. Indiana Ave. here. The valuable collections of the Library represent more than a halfcentury's efforts of Evetts Haley.

He said the collection which he presented to the Library is the result of 50 years of hard work and considerable expense - along with some fun and personal satisfaction.

Haley recalled several interesting and noteworthy incidents which occurred during his boyhood days in Midland, particularly his school 'activities." Considerable humor was intersperced with his commentary.

He told of how he became interested in history as a lad, and of how, after going off to college, he discovered that "history is right here at home." He said history concerns the preservation of the ideals and traditions of the "people at home," telling the truth about them and their Ranch work, or "cowboying" in the

Syrians turn positions over to Saudis; fighting Iulls

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Syrian forces turned over key positions to Saudi Arabian troops in the embattled Christian quarter of Beirut today as the first step in President Elias Sarkis' security plan.

The green-bereted Saudis rode into the Christian enclave in convoys of French-made armored cars from the Moslem sector of this war-ravaged Mediterranean capital.

The Syrians, in red berets, pulled out in caravans of Soviet-manufactured tanks, armored personnel carries and trucks.

The Syrians relinquished the 25story Rizk Tower building, one of the city's highest skyscrapers that has long been used as the main Syrian rocket-launching base in Beirut.

They also turned over to the Saudis the Qarantina and Jisr el Wati bridges, which control the eastern and northern approaches to the Christian enclave.

A spokesman for the Arab Deterrent Force said the redeployment operation was designed to consolidate a 14-day-old cease-fire and defuse the eight-month-old confrontation between the Syrians and Christians.

The Sarkis security plan was endorsed over the weekend by a conference of Arab nations held 15 miles southeast of Beirut.

The 30,000-man deterrent force, made up mostly of Syrian soldiers, polices a 23-month-old armistice that halted Lebanon's 1975-76 civil war between Christians and an alliance of Moslems and Palestinians.

Saudi Arabia maintains a 2,000-man contingent in the force.

The Syrians withdrew from the two areas to new positions at the city's dividing "green line" and to hilltops overlooking the Christian enclave from the east. The Christian Voice of Lebanon radio reported the redeployment operation was going without a hitch. But the broadcast warned the population to stay away from the bridges and the Rizk Tower area pending an announcement that the redeployment was completed. The bridges had been closed for traffic for the last 22 days. The Rizk Tower residential area has been under a virtual curfew since the 10 days of Syrian-Christian fighting that took 1,288 lives before the cease-fire went into effect.

The United States and France have declared support for current efforts to re-establish peace in Lebanon and warned all antagonists against resumption of hostilities.

The Christian command declared it had issued stern orders to its militiamen to respect the standdown. Christian leader Camille Chamoun reportedly went on a hunting trip in the Christian hinterland, his first such outing since a Syrian-Christian July Informed sources said the second step in the security plan would be for the Christian command to dismantle military positions throughout the Christian sector and call its militiamen off the streets.

Commanders of Moslem militias that stayed out of the recent fighting pledged unconditional support for the Sarkis plan. They called on the president to announce a disarmanent

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING TO SELL YOU HAVE SOME-

deadline and vowed to disband their militias and turn over the arms to authorities.

There are more than 25 private armies in Lebanon. The trouble with the Christians began in February when they refused Syrian orders to disarm because the Moslems hadn't been told to disarm. The Syrians then began cracking down on the Christian militias and trying to take control of their enclaves.

The world of a private eye: It's not always glamorous

CHICAGO (AP) - Mike Chiappetta lives in a two-story brick and cedar house in the suburbs with a grotto to the Virgin in the back yard which he built himself. He's a bad guy. At least he says he's a bad guy, always doing lousy things. "My work doesn't make me feel good," he said. "I'm not proud of it. Sometimes I feel really crummy. I'm going to get out of it soon, try something else. Got to. I'd like to be a movie director. Why not? He's already been a baker, a cabbie, a cop, a palm reader, hairdresser, Lord knows what all, in his 34 years of hustling the streets of Chicago.

Right now he is Mike Chiappetta, private eve.

He is a private eye in the Sam Spade tradition. No necktie. No nonsense. No questions asked. He'll bodyguard you, spy on your spouse, dig up dirt on your rival in the company. The latter duty is called "employee

For his part, Mike says he'd rather work for the less "respectable" element, gamblers, shady characters, if for no other reason than they pay their bills on time.

"Doctors and lawyers are the hardest to collect from. The only thing they understand is intimidation.

"Well, I understand it too. I'll send over a friend, a street guy, carefully chosen. He will say, 'Mike says you have an envelope for him, sir.' There is something in the voice and the look that is genuine and evil and unmistakable. Scares hell out of 'em."

Chiappetta believes that private detectives, using their own methods, are far better investigators than their police counterparts who are burdened with subpoenas and warrants and "I can get into any place I need to get into. I have a guy who can print me a business card or receipt book in two hours, whatever I need. I've been inside more fancy apartments on Lake Shore Drive than I can

"I usually pose as a plumber sent up by the superintendent. I'm good at it. I told one guy I had come to fix the leaky faucet and he gave me a $10 tip for fixing the toilet while I was there. Once inside, I get what I came for. Just give me a few minutes alone.'

Chiappetta believes the future of private detectives is in public service, as it were.

Plans for annual J.A. finance campaign set

Plans for the annual finance campaign of Junior Achievement of Midland, Inc., were reviewed and the major gifts part of the overall effort was launched Wednesday noon at a meeting of the J. A. board of directors held in The First National Bank.

Thomas Bruner, finance and fund drive chairman, said the general solicitation will get under way following a "kickoff" breakfast scheduled Nov. 1 at the Midland Hilton. Twelve teams of six persons each, functioning under two division chairmen, Juanita Bryant and Ed Hagan, will be engaged in the general solicitation.

The initial report on campaign results will be heard at the next meeting of directors, scheduled for Nov. 22. The final report meeting will be held on Nov. 30, Bruner said. He distributed prospect cards in the major gifts division among the directors in attendance.

The goal this year is $60,000. Bruner

President Joe Kloesel presided at the meeting.

During one recent show a 39-year-old woman who responded to her husband's TV entreaties after running away with a 22-year-old lover was being interviewed when her mother ran on the stage, called her a disgrace to the family, and began pummelling her with slaps to the face.

Program director Michio Kasaki said that when the series started 10 years ago there were about seven runaway men for every three women, and that most of the women who did flee from home were escaping from the violence or heavy drinking of their husbands. Now the figures are reversed, with about 70 percent of the runaways being women, he said.

He added that most vanishing acts are by women in their 30's who choose to give up their home and children and live with a lover.

This Hot Dog Hobgoblin hides a surprise meatloaf. It's a fun way to serve a nutritious main dish at a festive family supper for a Halloween get-together.

Here's Halloween treat for all

So, if you're planning a get-together this Halloween, or a festive family supper, serve a Halloween Hobgoblin. Hidden inside the Hobgoblin is a hot dog meatloaf made like a traditional meatloaf, but with chopped up frankfurters instead of ground beef. A fluffy potato coating, easily stirred together with Big Tate Mashed Potatoes, is sprinkled with pumpkincolored cheese, then decorated with green pepper. What a fun way to serve a nutritious main dish. Spicy Tomato Grog is an ideal beverage for a cool October night. To make it, just season hot tomato juice with Worcestershire sauce and a sprinkling of brown sugar.

Round out your festive meal with buttered green beans, hot rolls, and apple dumplings. Then, for the final treat, bring on a large pumpkin filled with gaily-wrapped miniature presents for an at-home Halloween party the entire family will enjoy.

HALLOWEEN HOBGOBLIN 2 eggs

1/2 cup milk 2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard

Paprika

2 cups soft bread crumbs l pound frankfurters, finely diced

1/2 cup finely diced sweet pickle 6 serving recipe mashed potato flakes 34 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Beat together eggs, milk, and mustard in large mixing bow. Add bread crumbs, franfurters, and pickle; mix lightly. Spoon into a round shape on well greased baking pan. Bake in 400 degrees overn 20 minutes. Prepare mashed potatoes following directions on package; spread over baked hot dog loaf, covering completely. Sprinkle with cheese and paprika. Return to oven and bake 5 minutes longer. Arrange a "face" on hobgoblin using pieces of pickle or green pepper. 6 servings.

SPICY TOMATO GROG 3 cups tomato juice 2 tablespoons firmly-packed brown sugar

I tablespoon Worcestershire sauce l tablespoon lemon juice Thinly sliced lemon

Combine tomato juice, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce, and lemon juice in saucepan; heat to simmering. Serve in mugs garnished with sliced lemon. 6 servings.

She's houseless wife

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and Larry is 29, and here is my story: We moved in with Larry's parents right after we got married. ("Only until we find a place of our own," he promised') Well, it's been five years, and here I sit with two lovely children and a closet full of unused wedding

My in-laws are very nice, and some people think I've got it easy with Larry's mother to do all the cooking, and a built-in baby-sitter for the kids, but I'm miserable. Larry's mother has her own way of doing things, and I help her as much as she lets me, but it's still her house, not mine.

Every time the subject of moving comes up, Larry's father says, "Why move and pay rent when you can live here for free? We have plenty of room" (It's true, but I would rather have a place of my own.) Larry has a good job and we can afford it.

The children are getting spoiled by their grandparents, and I'm getting fed up. Please help me.—TRAPPED IN ILLINOIS

DEAR TRAPPED: Face it, your husband is reluctant to give up the comfort and security provided by his parents. But if you don't insist that he cut the cord and leave the nest, you will be living with them indefinitely. Start a campaign now for your independence. (A suggested slogan: "A place to call mine in '79!")

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently visited some out-of-town friends we hadn't seen in years. We wanted to stay at a motel but they wouldn't hear of it, so we ended up staying with them, which was a big mistake.

During our visit our hostess spent half her time doing housework and cleaning up.

After every meal, out came the vacuum cleaner! She was constantly mopping, scrubbing or polishing. As soon as my husband dropped one ash in the ashtray, she'd grab it and clean it. She ran around with a mop or a dust cloth in her hand all the time we were there

I realize that cleanliness is next to Godliness, but she wore us out just watching her clean up.

Her fussiness spoiled my vacation. Are such actions normal?-DIRTY

DEAR DELORES: No. Your hostess sounds like a compulsive cleaner-upper. Although she may be a meticulous housekeeper, that's not what hospitality is all about. Hospitality is the art of making one's guests feel genuinely comfortable.

DEAR ABBY: By looking at me you wouldn't think I had a problem in the world. I'm middle-age, attractive and married to a beautiful guy (my age). He's handsome, good-natured and generous. We're both healthy, young at heart, and love to have a good time. We take fabulous vacations (Hawaii, Switzerland, cruises) and we get along great. I really love the guy and he loves me.

The problem: On weekends he takes me to dinner and then to a club for dancing. We both love to dance, but as soon as we get there he starts looking around for women without escorts. The pretty ones he asks to dance. (He says he feels sorry for them.)

I've sat out plenty of dances while he dances up a storm with these unescorted ladies.

Should I let him dance to his heart's content while I sit alone? Or should I give him a taste of his own medicine and pick up the stag men to dance with?—HUMILIATED

DEAR HUMILIATED: Don't pick up any stags to dance with or that will be the beginning of the end. Tell your "generous, good-natured" guy that charity begins at home. And let him know you mean business!

R-value helps when buying insulation

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you shop for insulation you'll hear the term "R-value" a lot, it can be confusing or a big help depending on whether you know what it means.

Simply put, the R-value of a piece of insulation is its ability to resist the flow of heat from one place to an-

The National Bureau of Standards says this number is the single most important indicator of the effectiveness of the insulation and should be used in deciding what to buy. The higher the R-value of an insulation, the more effective it will be in doing the job regardless of thickness. This number tells you how much insulating effectiveness you are getting for your money. Here are some typical R-values for various kinds of insulation, according to the Bureau of Standards. The value is per inch of insulating material. -Rock wool batts and blankets: 3.1

Prices raised before penalties

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — George Meany might be right. When you talk about an upcoming anti-inflation program you encourage business to get its price increases in before any penalties are attached.

"Every time some government official talks about controls or guidelines or restraints, business takes it a a signal to raise prices," Meany, the AFL-CIO chief, told a union meeting this week.

It's happened before. When President Nixon was considering them earlier in this decade some companies did raise their prices. Better to do it while you can, they figured, rather than wait and be trapped. And so they changed their catalogs, listing prices they felt certain would keep them ahead of the

The beauty of high list prices, they felt, was that you could give discounts from them, maybe even leaving the customer with the feeling he was getting a break when he was really obtaining nothing special.

While it was a gimmick, the high list price was "official" also, and thus a company had room to raise its real selling prices later without violating whatever restrictive guidelines or controls might be Anticipatory pricing is inflationary, and there might be a good deal of it going on right now, especially since the Carter administration repeatedly has promised but postponed its anti-inflation program. Warned so many times that price limits of some sort can be expected, businessmen would be poor businessmen if they didn't seek to protect their businesses and their shareholders. It's afprimary responsibility. But even with price restrictions, business finds ways. In the past, for example, when prices remained within limitations quality might be sacrificed, and service and freight charges might be

The Carter program, when it comes, might demonstrate that the old loopholes have been knotted up, leaving some businesses with the option of violating limitations and accepting whatever is the penalty.

Under Carter the penalty might be the loss of some tax benefit. Under President Kennedy the penalty was a public scolding. President Nixon had stockpiles of goods he could sell to undermine markets. Whatever techniques are used, and no matter how effective they are, the evidence seems to indicate that restraints or controls might have little permanent impact on underlying inflationary factors. When Nixon's wage-prize freeze came off, so did restraint, as current conditions attest to. And Nixon ran budget deficits — generally acknowledged to be inflationary — and does Carter.

Over short periods the evidence of a positive affect seem clearer. Some believe Nixon controls were good for a year or so and Kennedy-Johnson guideposts for a longer time.

CHICAGO (AP) -David Buckley, 21, has been away from his New Zealand home for nearly a year now, living it up on a 40,000-mile trip throughout North America on $3.50 a day.

"It's easy when you have friends," said the clean-cut young man who claims to be the world's No. 1 hitchhiker.

He has criss-crossed the United States several times and has been through most of Canada. He said he frequently writes his parents, who live in the northern part of New Zealand and have 10 other children. He has mapped mail drops ceive their letters "and when I feel a little homesick, I phone them col-

Buckley, passing through Chicago recently en route to Toronto and Quebec, said he doesn't know when he will return home. But he conceded he misses his girl friend, Sue McShane, more and

"I've met quite a few girls, but I still like Sue the best. She understands me and knows I have to get this traveling out of my system," he said. "My only definite plans now are to visit friends in Minneapolis for Christmas. I've never seen a white Christmas. In New Zealand it's summer that time of the year.

Buckley said he worked 75 hours a week as a diesel mechanic to save enough money for air fare and enough to average $3.50 per day on the road.

"I told my parents I wanted to see the world and that they'd see me again when I walked through the front door,' said Buckley. "They have traveled around the world twice and gave me a list of friends they had made and their addresses.

"As I hitchhiked I made more friends who gave me their addresses and asked me to drop in when I'm in their area. I have a book of 500 names of friends in the U.S. and Canada. My only relation living in the U.S. is a cousin, Kay Wallace, in Houston and I visited her in March.

Buckley said he spends money only for an occasional milk shake and vitamin bars to munch before he arrives at friends' homes. He also has replenished his scant wardrobe with a pair of shoes, a pair of jeans, two T-shirts and four pairs of heavy socks. "I plan my traveling day always to wind up in a town where I have friends," he said. "I never let them know I'm in town until I arrive because I don't know what time it will be. They are always glad to see me, invite me over for the night, feed me supper and breakfast and let me use their washing ma-

She finally learned the truth and sued for back pay and reinstatement. On Wednesday came the irony: A federal court denied her claims, ruling that she had waited too to file the suit. "It's Catch 22, that's

The United States Court of Claims divided 2-1 in rendering its decision. Miss Braude's lawyers said they may ask the full nine-member court to hear the case.

Miss Braude, described by one lawyer as a cheerful woman "who makes you wish she were your grandmother," said it all began with her firing on Dec. 31, 1953.

'I had just come back from Europe, doing some research in a small U.S. Information Agency unit, when the lady for whom I worked said I had been summoned by superiors," Miss Braude recalled Wednesday. "She said 'that must be about the raise I recom-

The firing began a 25year fight to be rehired by Uncle Sam. Not. however, until Congress passed the Privacy Act of 1974 were her lawyers able to pry loose the USIA documents that told the true story:

Carter has power to hasten price decontrol

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - If Congress simply makes no change in existing law. President Carter will automatically achieve within three years the same large increase in oil prices he unsuccessfully sought as part of this year's energy plan.

That is because the present system of oil price controls is scheduled by law to expire by the fall of 1981.

Carter also has legal authority to hasten that expiration; in fact, he has power to abolish controls next

If oil were his only concern, aides say, he might well do this. The administration wants higher oil prices to discourage consumption while stimulating domestic production, thus reducing imports.

But if Carter let U.S. oil prices jump all at once to world levels next spring, he would drain some purchasing power from consumers and businesses and might cause the economy to falter just at a time when administration economists think it will need

Thus aides say the president is most likely to propose another tax to drive up the price of crude oil next year, with the proceeds to be rebated to consumers through a reduction in income taxes. Then as controls were phased out and prices rose over the next three years, the tax would de-

This is also what Carter proposed and Congress rejected - as the central element in his original energy plan. To make Congress take it this time, administration strategists say the president may threaten to abolish controls if the tax is killed.

That way he would be telling Congress, "The price is going to rise no matter what you do. The only question is whether you want the money to go to the companies or the Trea-

The present controls system sets up two main categories of oil — old, from wells drilled before 1972, and new, which is mainly oil from newer wells or increased daily volumes of oil from old ones.

Old oil is controlled at about $5.90 a barrel now. New oil is allowed to sell for about twice that.

The administration is expected to redefine some old oil into new by changing what is known as the "decline curve" for old wells. That curve tells how much oil a well could normally be expected to produce in each

Legal battle could reshuffle timetable

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - A legal battle looming over a controversial report may cause more reshuffling of timetables for Public Service Co. of Oklahoma's Black Fox nuclear plant, officials say

Vaughn Conrad, the Tulsa utility's manager of licensing, says hearings adds "the spectre of significant delay," before the plant becomes operational.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Atomic Safety and Licensing Board is wrapping up another week of hearings intended to determine whether Public Service will receive final approval for constructing the plant.

Site preparation near Inola has been underway since the company received a limited work authorization

But the new roadblock is a legal tug-of-war over the GE report on its nuclear technology, including the type of boiling water reactors which will be installed at Black Fox if ap-

Oil moves to storage

HACKBERRY, La. (AP) -The first Arabian crude oil to pass through a 42-mile-long pipeline between here and Nederland, Texas, gushed down into underground storage caverns Thursday.

'There was no problem at all atong the pipeline," a spokes-man said. "We traced it all the way by helicopter or boat or on the ground."

The 42-inch diameter pipeline connects the series of huge underground storage caverns at Hackberry with two 400,000 barrel storage tanks at Nederland.

A parade of tankers bringing crude from the Persian Gulf keep the tanks filled, and the pipeline will feed 175,000 barrels a day into the caverns. With this flow augmented by crude brought in by barge, the Department of Energy expects to fill Hackberry to its original 51 million barrel capacity by spring.

This facility, built for the department by Parsons-Gilbane, is one of four storage sites where the government plans to bank one billion barrels of crude. at a cost of $20 billion, as a hedge against another Arab oil embar-

Two offshore wells blow

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Oilmen tried to damp down any spark Thursday as two offshore wells spewed a wild and dangerous jet of natural gas at a small production platform 25 miles off the western Louisiana

Three boats stoodby near the abandoned platform pumping seawater through firefighting hoses and nozzles to try to keep it under a heavy spray of cooling water.

A spark could turn the gas into a giant torch which could ruin the platform and the equipment on it. Dan Bourgeois, an official of the U.S. Geological Survey office at New Orleans, said the Mobile Oil Co. wells blew wild at about 1 a.m. Wednesday while a workover crew was repairing the casing. "It happened at a small satellite platform which controlled two gas wells drilled in 1971," he said. "The satellite is connected to a larger platform by a walkway. The whole crew was evacuated without injury." The platform stands in water about 50 feet deep south of Cameron, La. Bourgeois said wild well specialists had been called in by Mobil. "It may be that the best way to control these wells is to drill relief wells," he said. "Mobil has contacted two drilling rigs which are operating nearby. If they are called in, they could be there within a few days." However, drilling two relief wells would take weeks. A relief well angles into a wild well and kills it at a point deep under-

Bourgeois said the exact cause of the blowout had not been established, but it came when pressure built up within the well and high seas hampered efforts maintain control.

The blowout damaged the wellhead below the valves so that gas flowed from both wells, he said.

Spraberry wells final

Warren American Oil Co. of Midland has completed two Gin (Spraberry) field wells in Dawson County.

No. 3 Weaver was completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 68 bar-rels of oil and 60 barrels of water, through perforations from 8,164 to 8,179 feet after 30,000 gallons of fracture solution.

Gas oil ratio is 600-1 and gravity of the oil is 38 degrees. Total depth is 8,400 feet and 4.5-inch pipe was landed on bottom. The well is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of secton 20, block 36, T-5-N, T&P survey and five miles southwest of Lamesa.

It is a diagonal northwest offset to other Spraberry production. Warren No. 2 Ray was finaled one mile west of other production for a daily pumping potential of 27 barrels of 38-gravity oil and 33 barrels of water, through perforations from 8,-202 to 8,217 feet. The gas-oil ratio is

RRC says energy bill hard pill to swallow

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The state agency that regulates Texas' multibillion dollar oil and gas industry will follow the lead of the federal energy bill, but - railroad commissioners indicated Thursday - it's a bitter pill

Railroad commissioner John Poerner said the new energy bill will be "financially burdensome" to Texas, which is the nation's leading loil and gas-producing state, but he ad-

"I suspect, in the final end, we, as Texans and good Americans, will place the well being of this nation ahead of our pride. We will continue to produce with the added burden of administrative hobble. It just adds to the cost of production that will eventually be paid for by the user. No one gains - government just continues to grow."

Oil and gas executives applauded when Poerner added, "While this commission is preparing to comply with the provisions of the law, let it be known in the president's office and in the halls of Congress that we reserve the right to fight in court to correct an injustice to our producing state.'

Poerner and chairman Mack Wallace addressed the statewide oil allowable hearing after they had routinely set the November allowable at 100 percent. As usual, however, the large East Texas field was restricted to an 86 percent allowable to avoid possible waste. Wallace criticized a federal court ruling in Los Angeles that he claims allows California to "call the shots" in developing federal offshore oil and

He said California argued that "it has sufficient oil resources now and is not under any obligation to consider the national interest ... it is incredible to me that another state does not have to consider the national interest, that it can sit on its own reserves and say 'our end of the boat is not sinking (and) we don't have to consider the

"That is not what made this country great, and it is not what will maintain our greatness," Wallace said. Major buyers of Texas crude oil submitted nominations for 3,492,014 barrels of oil a day in November, a decrease of 15,466 barrels from October. The decrease apparently reflects declining receipts from oil leases. Wallace also noted that crude and petroleum products imports into the United States were 8,602,000 barrels a day for the four-week average of Oct.

Here are the nominations by major purchasers of Texas crude oil for

Sterling gets three oilers

Three more wells have been potentialed in Sterling County by Wagner & Brown of Midland.

The operator completed No. 32-20 Hildebrand for a daily flow of 124 barrels of 47-gravity oil and a trace of water in the Conger (Pennsylvanian)

The flow was through a 14/64-inch choke and from pay behind casing perforations from 7,444 to 7,515 feet and from 7,721 to 7,857 feet. The upper set was fractured with 20,000 gallons and the lower set was fractured with 45,000 gallons. The gas-oil ratio is 2,331-1.

Total depth is 8,130 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set at 8,014 feet. The plugged back depth is 7,953 feet. Location is 14 miles southwest of Sterling City and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 20, block 31, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Wagner & Brown No. 1-30-A Flint was finaled as a flowing well in the Conger (Pennsylvanian) pool for a daily potential of 136 barrels of 45gravity oil and one barrel of water, hrough a 16/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio is 7,059-1.

The production is from two sets of perforations-7,644-7,694 feet and 7,-906-8,051 feet. The upper set was fractured with 40,000 gallons and the lower set with 30,000 gallons.

Total depth is 8,250 feet and 4.5-inch pipe was landed at 8,164 feet. The hole is plugged back to 8,142 feet.

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 30, block 31, T-5-S, T&P survey and 15 miles southwest of Sterling City.

Another new Conger (Pennsylvanian) well is Wagner & Brown No. 2-4-K Glass. It completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 333 barrels of 46-gravity oil, plus one barrel of water, through a 14/64-inch choke and perforations from 7,795 to 67,882 feet and from 8,048 to 8,147 feet. The upper zone was fractured with 25,000 gallons and the lower set with 20,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio is 1,764-1.

Total depth is 8,340 feet and 4.5-inch casing was set at 8,255 feet. Plugged back depth is 8,226 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,078 feet from southeast lines of section 4, block 31, T&P survey and 14 miles southwest of Sterling City.
