40 Youngsters Taking Gymnastic Lessons In Old RL Gymnasium

Every Monday afternoon at 5:00 p.m. the Old Robert Lee gym is filled with the antics of 40 kids learning gymnastics. It is a fun-filled atmosphere of somersaults, cartwheels and handstands. From the tiniest 2½ year old to the tallest 12½ year old, they are learning balance and coordination. Along with all the fun, they are earning a little self-esteem because they can do it.

Gymnastics is a sport where you compete with yourself. You can't carry the team or the team can't cover for you. Only you can improve on your skills and it feels good to learn how to jump and tumble. Instead of being all knees and elbows, you teach your body to take on grace and form.

Jeanne Dean's Dance Studio from San Angelo brings three instructors to teach the children. They bring with them a little discipline and a lot of caring and patience. The instructors welcome mothers, fathers and grandparents and you can bring your camera.

We, the mothers and fathers of the children taking gymnastics, want to thank Mr. Bickley and the Robert Lee school system for letting us use the gym and the equipment there. The instructors were impressed with how well equipped with mats and beams our small school is. We are proud of our school and grateful for a far-seeing school system.

It takes a lot of work on the part of kids, parents, instructors and the Robert Lee School, but the pride of accomplishment in our children is well worth it.

Justice In America Examined In Series Of Three Articles

The following article is a public service by the Bronte Enterprise and Robert Lee Observer through the cooperation of Bill J. Helwig, County Attorney and the Prosecutor Council. Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of Coke County and how we can work together to alleviate some of society's problems. This is the first in a series of three articles examining the justice system in America.

AMERICAN JUSTICE [Part I] CRIME & IMPRISONMENT

The system of justice in America is complex, often confusing, and even contradictory. No doubt misconceptions about it flourish among the public. Here is the first part of a short quiz to test your knowledge of its operation and effect.

The entire quiz (three parts) is based largely on research gathered by U.S. News & World Report. It is offered here as general information, not specific to this county, nor is it a substitute for legal advice on any issue. Rather, it should serve to heighten your interest and awareness of concerns of the justice system.

1. In the last two decades the rate of reported violent crime has: (A) doubled. (B) nearly tripled. (C) more than quadrupled.

(C). This has put an ever-increasing strain on police, prosecutors, courts, and prisons--whose facilities and staff have not quadrupled.

2. On the average, for every 100 felony crimes committed, how many result in a person

The Robert Lee High School teams played host to Water Valley November 22. Looking at it from Water Valley's viewpoint not very polite host either since they sent them home with a 2 out of 3 games loss.

Fall is the season for trees to lose leaves, but it's also the time to set out new trees.

Fall is the best time to plant trees because their root systems have time to develop and become well established before top growth begins in the spring.

Plant only container-grown or balled and burlapped trees during the fall as bare-root trees do not transplant readily until January and February.

Choose trees that will adapt to the area and that will provide the desired landscape.

After selecting the trees and site, the following planting guidelines are suggested.

First, dig a pit large enough to allow six inches clearance on all sides of the root ball. The pit should be as deep as the root ball so that it will rest on undisturbed soil. Plant the tree at the same depth it was in the nursery. This should be indicated by a discolored ring on the trunk.

Place the tree in the pit carefully by handling the ball, not the trunk. Handling the tree by the trunk could cause a broken ball and excessive root damage.

Next, fill the pit around the ball with top soil or a prepared mixture of soil, sand and peat moss or pine bark. Do not fertilize the tree until after spring growth occurs.

After filling in, stake the tree to secure it against the wind so roots can become well established. It's also a good practice to wrap the trunk of the newly transplanted tree to protect it from sunscald, drying winds, sand storms and borer attacks.

Finally, water the tree as needed during the dry winter periods.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ross of Marshall, Oklahoma spent Thanksgiving week with Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Watson. The ladies are sisters and had a nice long visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeddie Beal were in Wichita Falls last Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lois Perkins.

Mrs. Perkins was co-owner of Perkins-Prothro Oil Company at Silver.

Good Tidings

Expression of Faith Is Spirit of Season

Christmas is a time of unbounded faith, hope and love. It's a season that rejuvenates our spirit of good will and compassion.

Indeed, some of our most cherished memories of Christmases past evolve from a particularly poignant expression of faith and trust.

Consider the well-known story of little Virginia's letter to the editor of the New York Sun, back in 1897.

Her question of Santa Claus' existence is one eventually asked by all children who begin to doubt the innocence and trust of youth.

Yet, the editor's enchanting response to Virginia's concern exemplifies the real meaning of the season, and no doubt, restored Virginia's faith:

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their minds.

All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias.

There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance, to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in Fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in chimneys on Christmas evening to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see.

Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world. You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond.

Is it real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding. No Santa Claus?

Thank God, he lives and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Christmas Memories

We all have our own particularly meaningful memories of Christmases past and it's those memories that remind us of the love and joy that is truly the spirit of the season.

For some, Christmas memories are of the entire family gathering together. This is always especially meaningful to parents whose children have scattered throughout the land and have "come home" for the holidays.

Perhaps helping others less fortunate provides outstanding memories for some. Inviting a lonely elderly person to join in your Christmas dinner or donating carefully-selected foods and gifts to your favorite charity organization makes one feel very much in tune with the holiday theme. Often, our most poignant memories come from such expressions of selflessness.

For others, special Christmas memories go farther back in time — to younger days when simple hopes and dreams prevailed. The memory of the first time you earned the money yourself for Mom's gift comes to mind. You might still recall the feeling of anticipation and pride as she opened "your" gift. Of course, her response couldn't have been better — she was thrilled!

Music is always a special part of Christmas and the voices of carolers take on a more potent significance when heard through the halls of hospitals and convalescent homes. Spreading cheer to those who will not be able to go home for Christmas is indeed a heartwarming memory for those who've participated in this thoughtful act.

A child's excitement at Christmas is especially delightful and memorable. Who can resist getting caught up in Santa Claus, candy-filled stockings, midnight toy assemblings and the wide-eyed expectancy of kids being trotted off to bed on Christmas Eve.

Many of us claim our fondest memories when recalling Christmases spent with children and we all agree that nothing quite matches the pleasure of sharing Christmas with the youngsters.

In perfect harmony with the season, our most cherished memories are certainly those of love.

*The time draws near the birth of Christ:
The moon is hid; the night is still;
The Christmas bells from hill to hill
Answer each other in the mist.*

*Four voices of four hamlets round,
From far and near, on mead and moor,
Swell out and fail, as if a door
Were shut between men and the sound:*

*Each voice four changes on the wind,
That now dilate, and now decrease,
Peace and goodwill, goodwill and peace,
Peace and goodwill, to all mankind.*

*This year I slept and woke with pain,
I almost wish'd no more to wake,
And that my hold on life would break
Before I heard those bells again:*

*But they the troubled spirit rule,
For they controll'd me when a boy;
They bring me sorrow touch'd with joy,
The merry, merry bells of Yule.*

*Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light:
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.*

*Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow:
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.*

*Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more;
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.*

*Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife;
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws.*

*Ring out the want, the care, the sin,
The faithless coldness of the times;
Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,
But ring the fuller minstrel in.*

*Ring out false pride in place and blood,
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good.*

*Ring out old shapes of foul disease,
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old
Ring in the thousand years of peace.*

*Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kinder hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.*

"C" Is For Cranberries

Cranberries are native to North America. Long before the first settlers arrived. The ruby-red berries grew wild on low vines in marshy areas. The Indians used the little berries to dye their colorful robes, to treat arrow wounds, and to make a "convenience food" combining venison, fat, and crushed cranberries. Cape Cod Indians named the red berries crane berries because their pink blossoms resembled the heads of cranes. Later, settlers shortened the name to cranberry.

"C" is also for vitamin C; one-half cup fresh cranberries provides 10% U.S. RDA for vitamin C. New England sea captains were aware of the little berries' worth. They stored them in barrels of cold water on their clipper ships and ate them by the handful to prevent scurvy, as the British used limes.

Cranberries are also low in sodium which make them popular for those on low-salt diets. An average serving (1/2 cup) of cranberries only has 25 calories! It's what you eat with them that adds calories!

There are many ways to serve cranberries. Try these:

Red Berry "Pizza" Pie

Pastry for 8 or 9" two crust pie
3 cups sliced pared tart apples
3/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 c. fresh or frozen cranberries
Crumble Topping*
Preheat oven to 450 degrees.
Prepare pastry; roll 1 inch larger than 12-13" pizza pan. Ease into pan, flute edge. Cover crust with apple slices beginning at outer edge and overlapping slices. Top with cranberries. Mix together sugar, cinnamon, and nutmeg; sprinkle over fruit. Top with Crumble Topping. Bake 30-35 minutes until golden brown. Cut into wedges. Serve warm. Makes 8-10 servings.

*Crumble Topping: Mix together 1/2 cup all-purpose flour and 1/4 cup sugar. Cut in 1/4 cup butter until crumbly.

Cranberry-Apple Mold

1 pkg. cherry or strawberry gelatin
1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup boiling water
1 cup applesauce
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cranberry sauce, applesauce, and lemon rind. Turn into mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Serves 4-6.

SELECTING SAFE TOYS

Toys go with children. Toys are fun and can be educational. Unfortunately, toys can also be dangerous. Careful toy selection can help prevent some hazardous situations.

When buying toys, keep in mind the child's age, interests and skill level. Toys that may be safe for older children can be extremely dangerous in the hands of little ones. Look for quality construction in all toys for all ages. Make sure you read the label! Look for age recommendations, such as "Not recommended for children under three". Also look for safety labels including "non-toxic", and "flame retardant".

Toys of brittle plastic or glass can easily be broken, exposing dangerous sharp cutting edges. Wooden, metal and plastic toys sometimes have sharp edges due to poor construction.

Tiny toys and toys with small removable parts can be swallowed or become lodged in a child's windpipe, ears or nose. The squeakers in some squeeze toys can be removed and possibly swallowed. The seams of poorly constructed stuffed dolls or animals can break open and release small pellets that can also be swallowed or inhaled.

Toy caps and some noise-making guns and other toys can produce sounds at noise levels that can damage hearing. The law requires the following label on boxes of caps producing noise above a certain level: "WARNING-- do not fire closer than one foot to the ear. Do not use indoors."

Broken toys can expose dangerous prongs and knife-sharp points. Check all toys periodically for breakage and potential hazards. A dangerous toy should be thrown away or repaired immediately.

Protecting children from unsafe toys is the responsibility of everyone. Careful toy selection for your child, as well as another child, and proper supervision of children at play is the best way to protect children from toy-related injuries.

COKE COUNTY BOOK WOULD MAKE OUTSTANDING GIFT

The Coke County Book Committee suggests a perfect Christmas gift for those special loved ones on your list this year; a copy of the COKE COUNTY BOOK which is now in preparation. The book will be a quality production in all respects.

In lieu of the book itself which won't be off the presses until sometime next year (hopefully July or August), the Committee has made available some attractive gift certificates which can be hung on the Christmas tree. Each certificate promises that a copy of the book will be delivered when the publication is released. The high quality book will be a gift that grows in value rather than one that is outgrown!

There will be no second printing. It's not like buying a book at the book store, there won't be one to replace it on the shelf. Which of your children will get your one book? Give your child or grandchild a book now to avoid the future problem of who gets the folks' book.

Do not delay ordering just because the book will not be completed until next year. All orders are needed immediately so that we can meet our goal for book sales. Remember that only the number of books ordered before printing will actually be printed.

The books will have charts for entering births and deaths and a family tree to record your lineage. Included in the book will be general history as well as over 1,000 stories submitted by Coke Countians (past and present). Many current and historic photos will be published in the book. In the family section alone, there will be over 750 pictures, 30,000 names, 450,000 words.

These days it is hard to find an original and valuable gift. The Coke County Book promises to be both. It will be an ideal gift for that "hard to shop for person who already has everything."

You can get your gift certificates by sending your book order with payment in the form of check or money order to: Coke

County Book Fund, Box 328, Bronte, TX 76933. $39.95 per copy if you pick it up; $42.95 if mailed.

The San Angelo Genealogical and Historical Society will hold their annual Christmas party 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 6 in the Western Hills Church of Christ fellowship hall, 1920 N. Childress in San Angelo.

Weather Conditions Determine Color Leaves Turn In Fall

COLLEGE STATION-- It's a quiet revolution that happens each fall. Slowly but surely Mother Nature goes about painting leaves on trees and shrubs to produce a riot of red, purple, orange and yellow for spectacular fall displays.

Just what is taking place is enough to cause even the most avid skeptic to marvel. It's all tied to chemical processes in leaves as the summer season gives way to fall and the approaching winter.

"Leaves are actually little factories that manufacture food to support a tree's or other plant's growth," points out Alan D. Dreesen, a forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "They are busy producing food during spring and summer, but as fall approaches, their work slows down as temperatures and daylight hours change. Chlorophyll -- the green pigment in leaves -- breaks down and other pigments, mainly yellows and oranges, become visible and gives leaves their fall splendor."

At the same time other chemical changes are occurring to form additional pigments, varying from red to blue, notes the forester. These give rise to purplish leaves on such trees as dogwoods and sumacs and brilliant orange or fiery red and yellow leaves on sugar maples. Some trees, such as quaking aspen, birch and hickory, boast only yellow colors, while many oaks and others display predominant brown or bronze leaves.

"Leaf colors will vary greatly from year to year, depending on weather conditions and the amount of chlorophyll and other pigments in leaves," explains Dreesen.

Warm, sunny days in the fall followed by cool nights with temperatures below 45 degrees F. are ideal for the formation of brilliant red colors, he points out. These conditions enable leaves to produce a lot of sugar during the daytime but slow down the movement of these sugars from leaves at night. Consequently trapped sugars form the red pigment that is so vividly displayed in leaves of the red maple, flowering dogwood, sweetgum, black tupelo or blackgum and sassafras.

"A lot of warm, cloudy, rainy weather in the fall, on the other hand, will produce leaves with less red coloration because of the reduced sugar production in leaves," notes Dreesen.

"Fall leaf color can also vary from tree to tree," he adds. "For example, leaves directly exposed to sun may turn red while those on the shady side of the same tree or on other trees in the shade may be yellow. Some leaves simply turn dull brown from death and decay."

Where can one find an abundance of showy fall displays?

The eastern United States and southeastern Canada boast large areas of deciduous (trees that shed their leaves) forests with brown-leaved trees and favorable weather conditions for vivid fall colors, notes the forester. Some mountainous areas of the western U.S. also offer vistas of fall colors along with eastern Asia and southwestern Europe.

While arranging for all the fall leaf colors, Mother Nature is also preparing the twigs that hold leaves to gradually sever themselves from the branches, says Dreesen. When the leaves finally fall, due to their own weight or a sudden burst of wind, they enrich the forest floor, returning part of the nutrients that were used by the tree.

TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

Using certain cultural practices in your garden may indirectly help you control your garden's insect population. Practices like frequently turning the soil and controlling weeds may even reduce or eliminate the need for traditional insect control.

Good cultural practices will help keep your plants healthy so they can better withstand insect attack. The following practices should also help cut down your insect problems as a side benefit.

Good soil conditioning promotes seed germination and vigorous growth and helps prevent soil insect problems as well. Turning over the soil during the hot summer exposes soil pests to predators and to drying air, while tilling during winter months helps kill insects by exposing them to cold weather.

Before adding compost, barnyard manure, or other organic matter to the garden, kill the soil pests in the material by spreading it thinly between two pieces of plastic. Seal the edges and leave it exposed to the sun for a few days. The high temperatures should kill the insects.

Variety selection may help with insect control. Some varieties of vegetables are tolerant to certain pests.

How Cultural Practices Can Affect Insect Control

It is much better to plant a variety adapted to your area which will produce a vigorous plant, however, than to select one solely because it is somewhat tolerant to a pest which may not even be a problem this year.

Planting dates can be very important in insect control. Seeds should not be planted in soils which are too cold. Seeds germinate and grow slowly in cold soils, which allows more time for insects to feed on and damage plants while they are small. Once the weather is good, however, get those seeds and plants out. Crops planted as soon as soil temperatures are favorable often grow and produce fruit before insect populations build up to damaging levels.

Weed control can have a marked effect on insect control. Weeds often build up heavy insect populations that eventually migrate to nearby garden crops. Controlling weeds can delay and even prevent infestations of insects like flea beetles.

When the year's harvest is over, help prevent next year's problems by destroying crop residues. Old plant residue should be plowed under for organic matter or removed and properly composted. This eliminates a food source for pests.

Budget For Holiday Giving

COLLEGE STATION-- Many families do not recall ever making a conscious decision on how much money to spend for Christmas gifts and other holiday items, says home economist Nancy Granovsky, who is with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Advertising, offers for easy credit or no finance charges until after the holidays and the emotions associated with Christmas gifts tempt us to overspend. "Unfortunately, the thrill of purchase often escapes when the bills come due, and some families wind up in financial trouble after the first of the year," she explains.

According to Granovsky, a specialist in family resource management, consumers can take these steps to control their holiday spending.

- * Make a budget and stick to it. Set spending limits before you get involved in shopping.

- * Have a game plan for shopping. Prepare a gift list and try to avoid impulse purchases or budget a specific amount just for impulse buying.

- * Use your imagination to save money. Some options include making a tax deductible charitable contribution in another's name; an IOU for services like babysitting or housecleaning; making gifts such as baked goods or plant cuttings yourself; giving a seldom used possession or "family heirloom" to a family member who has admired it; or shopping at garage sales.

- * Shop early to take advantage of sales, better choices and faster service.

- * Plan for next year. Advance planning allows you to shop at sales throughout the year. You can also set up a special savings account to save for the holidays. But avoid special "holiday accounts," cautions Granovsky, unless they pay the same rate of interest as other savings plans.

How much should you plan to save for holiday spending? Some financial counselors suggest allowing 1 1/2 percent of your gross income plus ten percent of that amount for last minute purchases, says the home economist.

Texas A&M receives over $2.7 million from former students

COLLEGE STATION — A record $2.7 million was given to Texas A&M University by its Association of Former Students last year in annual fund gifts from more than 30,000 contributors, announced Jack G. Fritts, who headed the Texas A&M alumni association in 1982.

Fritts said unrestricted funds totaling $2,620,000 represent a new all-time record for giving through the alumni organization. The remaining $123,267 was restricted to specific Texas A&M programs and wishes of the donors, he explained.

"Texas A&M is the envy of my colleagues throughout the nation and it is precisely for this reason," said University President Dr. Frank E. Vandiver. "The substantial support of our former students enables us to become involved in projects that other institutions only dream about. It is this support that has always placed Texas A&M a cut above the rest."

Texas A&M's 110,000 member alumni association has in recent years ranked among the leaders nationally in both per-capita and total giving.

BOB HASLER, right, and Game Warden Ken Lunsford count the points on the trophy buck Hasler shot in Maverick November 12.

73 POINT BUCK SHOT RECENTLY IN MAVERICK COMMUNITY AREA

Editor's Note-- We heard coffee shop talk and managed to track down Mr. Hasler. He was kind enough to bring a picture and this story by the office and share his trophy with us. He was on his way back to his lease around Maverick for more hunting although he doubted he would ever come across a deer like this one again.

The unusual specimen had a total of 73 points and field dressed 151 lbs.

Bob Hasler said after all his years of hunting he had given up hope on getting a trophy buck. The opening of deer season this year was no different, he was going out to bag a deer. But in the back of every hunter's mind is always the thought, "Maybe the next one will be a real wall hanger, something to look at for years and always remember the thrill of that particular hunt."

As Mr. Hasler told it, it was an unusual hunt all the way around. He and his 14 year old son were sitting in the blind, they have been watching a herd of 15 does and were waiting for a buck. Mr. Hasler left his son to watch the deer and he turned to watch the turkey on the other side of the blind. He was getting ready to take aim on a turkey when his son noticed the buck coming up from behind and urging the herd of does on. His son refused to shoot it until he looked at it. Mr. Hasler said, "I couldn't believe it, it was so far away it looked like a miniature deer with huge antlers, but as it got closer it kept getting bigger and bigger until he stopped even with our blind and turned broad-side to us, as if he was waiting on us." As any normal red-blooded hunter would do, he squeezed the trigger of his 30.06 rifle to bring down this trophy.

Here is where the real story begins. Hasler told us when he got to the deer and counted 20 points on one side, he started over because he knew he had made a mistake. Then he counted 25 points on the same side and this is when he loaded his trophy in his truck and headed to his home in Cedar Park and contacted game warden Ken Lunsford.

Together the two men counted 73 well-defined points. Thirty-six on the right side and 37 on the left. The unusual thing about this buck's antlers, other than the number of points, was they were completely covered with thick velvet.

The big white-tail weighed 151 lbs. field dressed. It took three men to lift him for dressing and he was over eight feet long when hung. Hasler said that before being dressed he pulled a 200-lb. scale all the way down. They estimated, after accounting for dehydration during the long trip back, the live weight was 230-250 lbs.

Lunsford contacted biologist at the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife to find out what could have caused the unusual development. Lunsford said he was told that research done several years ago indicated that such unusual antler growth was probably the result of the drought combined with an abundance of some mineral in the diet.

Now the speculation is on as to the record number of points. I've heard 72 and 74, Mr. Hasler was thinking 104. Whether its a record trophy or not, it's still a trophy to be proud of. Enjoy it Mr. Hasler!

So, take heart Coke County Hunters, Maverick is not that far away. If they can grow them that big over in Runnels County, so can we. If not maybe one of theirs will cross over into Coke County. Happy Hunting!!

AON Holds Pledge Rites

Pledge Rituals for Kei Antilley and Debbie Stelter were held in the home of Ara Burns on November 28. President Kaye Pitcock conducted the ceremony officially inducting the two as pledges of Alpha Omicron Nu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The ritual was held prior to the regular meeting of AON.

All fourteen members and special guests Donna Downen of Georgia and Master Joe W. Arledge IV of Sanco were present for the second meeting of November to hear of the tremendous success of the Benefit Bake Sale held November 22. Thanks to the generosity of the town of Robert Lee and the hard work of its members, Alpha Omicron Nu raised $355.50 to donate to the Houston Ronald McDonald House. AON would like to express its sincere appreciation and thanks to everyone who helped with this project.
