

Farm Bureau Pushes Drive For Fire Truck

A drive to secure funds by public subscription for the purchase of a high speed $4,000.00 fire truck for fighting fires in the agricultural sections of Sherman County was launched Monday morning at a coffee held by the Sherman County Farm Bureau in the private dining room of Omaloy's cafe.

Under the present plan a three-fourth ton pickup would be secured which would be fitted with a fine mist spray and chemicals. Donations will be accepted at The First State Bank, Stratford Grain Co., and Van B. Boston's store. Checks will be made payable to Sherman County for the purpose of buying a fire truck. The checks will be endorsed by the county and returned to the Sherman County Farm Bureau for securing the truck. By handling the funds in this manner they are deductible from income taxes of the donors.

R. C. Buckles, Leo Smith, and K. L. Eller head the finance committee, and will accept the donations of anyone desiring to make a contribution.

Smith and Eller stated Wednesday that they had secured about $2,400.00 for purchase of the truck but were pessimistic over securing the balance of the funds unless other citizens came to the assistance of the drive.

The need for the truck became acute this week when the State Fire Marshall informed the City Council they would no longer send the City Fire Truck outside of the city limits.

Protection of the rural sections of the county from fire now hinges on the hopes for a new fire truck which will belong to the farmers and fight fire when ever it is needed.

Funds for the truck must be obtained by May 15 in order that the truck may be secured and placed in readiness to control possible wheat field fires.

Sam Wohlford was elected a delegate from the county organization to attend the Farm Bureau meetings in Omaha and Washington. Leo Smith was elected as an alternate delegate. R. C. Buckles will attend the meetings as a district representative.

Vern Reynolds will attend the meetings as a delegate from Dallam County.

The delegation will leave Sunday by plane. Buckles announced that records being established at the present time for acres in production for 1941, 42, 43, 44, 45, and 49, will provide a history which will follow the land regardless of ownership as a basis for AAA controlled acres in wheat production.

Those present voted to exempt farms under 30-acres in size from marketing quotas under the agriculture control program.

A majority vote favored the present program of 90 percent of parity with controlled acres.

Many favored points in the Branna proposed agricultural program with modifications to fit the large farming scale of this section.

Attending the meeting were: Claude Sloan, Clyde Martin, Ernest Goule, W. N. Price, H. M. Flores, W. O. Bryant, Leroy Judd, Lawrence Naugle, W. P. Foreman, Arthur Milton, Sam Wohlford, Herbert Folsom, Paul Auldell, A. B. Morris, Elmer Hudson, Arthur King, W. T. Martin, Leo Smith, Conde Donelson, F. A. Judd, Chester Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blanck, Arthur Judd, Jim Taylor, Ira Oldaker, C. A. Weatherford, R. C. Buckles, and Brown Ross.

Missionaries From China To Speak In City

Mr. and Mrs. Glyn B. Adsit, missionaries in China, evacuated in the face of the advancing Revolutionists, will be guests of members of the First Christian Church of Stratford from May 1 through the 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. Adsit will take an active part in the services of the church Sunday.

Mrs. Adsit, a former Stratford girl, was Miss Alice Jean Dowd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dowd.

Mrs. Glyn B. Adsit, who went out to China as a missionary for the Disciples of Christ in 1947, has been forced to return to the States because of the civil war there. She and her husband were stationed at Hefei, approximately 150 miles northwest of Nanking, in an area very close to that controlled by the Communists, and therefore, on the rim of conflict at all times.

The Disciples of Christ China Mission, supported through The United Christian Missionary Society, is the only Protestant work at Hefei and the eight or ten missionaries were the only Americans living there. All removed to Nanking or returned to the States until conditions become more settled.

In the city of Hefei the Mission conducts a hospital giving 60,000 treatments a year, and schools enrolling more than 300 students. In addition, a group of thirty or forty boys, between the ages of twelve and twenty, were enrolled in a special school on the station which offered courses in Bible as well as agriculture and academic instruction which was not available in their own villages. The aim was to train these young men in Christian living and to aid them to raise the economic level for the people of their own villages.

The Adsits and other missionaries of the station made regular itinerations to the villages for preaching and teaching; some as far as forty miles from Hefei.

Mrs. Adsit is a graduate of Phillips University, Enid, and made special preparation for missionary service in Cornell and in Yale.

Mr. Adsit is a native of Kansas where he is now making his home. He is a graduate of Phillips University, Enid, and made special preparation for missionary service in Cornell and in Yale.

Schools Seen Facing Losses In Real Estate

NEW YORK—Many colleges and universities are endangering their endowments by investing in real estate, industry and business ventures, in the opinion of a considerable number of responsible educators and financial authorities. The trend toward the purchase of non-educational enterprises has increased tremendously in the last few years, a study conducted by The New York Times has shown. In some instances colleges have invested as much as one-third of their funds in businesses and other properties.

If a depression comes, or if business in general goes into a recession, these invested funds may be in jeopardy. It has been pointed out that in the late twenties colleges and universities invested heavily in mortgages, only to find that after the 1929 crash their holdings virtually disappeared.

Tax Authorities Concerned
That both the House Ways and Means Committee and the Bureau of Internal Revenue are concerned with the loss of Federal tax revenues resulting from this investment trend is increasingly apparent. A year ago the House committee held a series of hearings on revision of the Internal Revenue Code. Several of these hearings were devoted to the question of how to deal with colleges and universities that owned commercial concerns and paid no taxes on their income.

When he appeared before the committee, John Gerdes, former chairman of the New York University Alumni Fund, explained the position of his institution in acquiring businesses valued at close to $50,000,000, in this manner:

"New York University has always been handicapped by a lack of funds. Its endowment is very small compared to that of other institutions, and the percentage of its income received from endowments probably is one of the smallest in the country. We should like to supplement that income, and that was our purpose in acquiring these businesses.

Public Service
"Those of us who have engaged in these projects are doing it in a spirit of public service. We are giving our time and attention in the hope of developing a source of income for New York University which will enable it to continue and expand its public service in New York City."

One member of the committee observed, in noting that the university "saved" $1,500,000 in taxes that would have gone to the Federal Government if the businesses had remained in private hands: "The action taken is so extraordinary and so revolutionary in connection with these corporations that have been taken over that it occurs to me probably the whole system of tax exemption for edu-national and charitable organizations might seriously be threatened if this precedent is allowed to spread."

German People Found With Little Interest in Politics

PASSAU, GERMANY. — "The people are not interested in politics." This sentence recurs repeatedly in reports from towns and villages throughout Germany. It shows the problem U. S. Military Government faces in trying to spread democracy among people who never have learned or understood that they have a personal interest in their country's politics.

A Military Government officer pointed to a report from Zulzbach, a small Bavarian town near here. It contained the usual line: "The people are not interested in politics." Then it added: "They are worried, however, about Germany's future."

"There's our real problem," said the officer, Marvon Glossop, of Winchester, Ill.

"What we must do is convince them that by taking an intelligent part in politics, by choosing their officials wisely, they can shape their country's future."

Many methods have been tried. The latest is a series of "democratization meetings" reaching even into the smallest of villages.

The villagers meet to talk over their problems—local, state national or even personal. They discuss how they—or their government—should handle these problems.

Poor Quality of Output Jails Soviet Factory Men

MOSCOW — Soviet courts have handed out prison sentences of five and seven years to factory managers who produced goods of poor quality, according to the Soviet press.

The newspapers carried a special communique to the prosecuting attorney's office listing seven cases in which factory officials were given stiff penalties for failure to make their production meet standards of quality.

Other cases were listed as under investigation.

Pointers for Baby Sitter And for Parents Outlined

Baby sitting can be a career. That is the opening statement in a circular, published by the extension service at the University of Maryland, which outlines suggestions for both the sitter and employing mother.

Know what time you are to arrive, only illness should cause a break in the engagement. It is a job not a date, don't raid the icebox, and know how and what to feed the baby or child, and a few of the hints offered for the sitter's consideration. Equally pointed statements are called to the parents' attention; get back on time, arrange for suitable pay, escort the sitter home, give adequate instructions, and have the home situation under control when the sitter arrives.

Also featured is a baby sitting safety record chart on which the sitter and the mother can check 20 items to be guarded against and a list of recommended reading on child care is included for the sitter's study. The bulletin summarizes some of the advantages of a baby sitting career by saying, "Besides giving the community a service, earning money and observing many practical skills in child care training, you become aware of the many tasks of the successful homemaker."

Flies' Resistance to DDT Tested by Entomologists

In many localities of California, house flies have developed such a resistance to DDT that 50 times the normal amount is required to kill 95 per cent of them. That was indicated by experiments carried out by the University of California college of agriculture in a search for an explanation as to why DDT no longer gives satisfactory control over flies.

Dr. James R. Douglas of the division of entomology and parasitology, compared DDT's effectiveness on a strain of flies from a DDT treated dairy near Fresno with a strain of flies which for two and a half years had been reared in the laboratory. The laboratory insects alone died quickly when tested, proving that the fault does not lie with the chemical, but simply that the other insects developed a resistance, as had been observed previously with other insects.

Dr. Douglas is now studying the use of other chemicals for control of flies. Because of possible variations in resistance to these chemicals it is not yet possible to say which of them will give best control in a particular locality.

Deer, Barometer of Soil

The weight of deer reflects the condition of the country they live in, weight records of 10,000 deer collected by the Wisconsin conservation department during the last decade show. The records show that deer average lighter in weight in central than in northern Wisconsin, believed to reflect the poorer soil conditions of central Wisconsin. Average deer weights show a gradual decrease over the last 10 years on ranges characterized as poor while on ranges listed as good, deer weights do not show the downward trend. In all cases the deer were weighed after being dressed out. The department listed the deer according to the type of range they came from and it was found that deer from the good ranges outweighed the deer from the poor ranges.

Frozen Orange Juice Concentrate Takes Chores From Breakfast Menu Planning

Courtesy "Birds Eye"

It's no chore to give the family fresh-tasting orange juice every morning if you take advantage of the new quick-frozen concentrated sort. This orange juice comes in six-ounce cans that can be easily stored in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator. When it's time for orange juice, just turn the contents of one of the small cans into a shaker or a pitcher, and add three cans of cold water. That is 18 ounces or 2 1/4 cups of water. Then shake or stir vigorously and pour. Without any of the mess of squeezing and straining, you will have six 4-ounce glasses full of juice that can't be distinguished from the fresh-squeezed kind.

It's not only at breakfast that the new quick-frozen concentrated juice is a convenience. When the children come dashing in from play with the cry, "I'm thirsty!" you can give them this wholesome drink in a jiffy. It's a delicious between-meal or bedtime pick-up for grown-ups, too. And it's an easy and flavorful addition to fruit juice and cold tea punches, and the basis of many tempting desserts.

Here's another point that makes quick-frozen concentrated orange juice easy to use: You will be spared that early morning worry about how many oranges are needed for the breakfast setup. Each little can, reconstituted with water, always gives just so much—six full 4-ounce glasses.

ORANGE JUICE FROSTING

1/2 cup butter
3/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar (about)
1/2 cup quick-frozen orange juice, thawed

Cream butter. Add sugar and orange juice alternately, beating until of right consistency to spread. Makes 2 cups, or enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 8-inch layers generously.

OPEN HEARTH FURNACE

IRON—according to legend—was discovered by primitive man in campfire embers or in meteorites. Iron tools were used in constructing the Pyramids about 3000 B.C. The ancients produced iron in pits built on the windward side of banks, or in pits or rock furnaces, using bellows.

In 1645, the first successful blast furnace in America went into operation at Lynn, Mass. The initial casting was a crude kettle. TODAY—huge blast, open hearth, bessemer and electric furnaces in the U.S. can surpass iron and steel production of the rest of the world. Hundreds of patented inventions have poured greater productive efficiency into this mighty mold of progress.

More than 40 per cent of all factory workers in this country earn their living by making and forming steel into useful products.

Deer Hunting in Pennsylvania

A million deer hunters comb Pennsylvania's woodlands each fall. Since 1941 they've driven away with 273,446 dead deer. Despite this, 60,000 Pennsylvania deer probably will starve this winter. This is not unusual, nor exclusive with Pennsylvania. Michigan loses 10 per cent to 70 per cent of its fawn crop this way annually. And—though a hunter may spend all day in the woods without seeing a deer—a 1947 survey by three outstanding biologists showed 30 of the 48 states are bothered by deer-crowding.

Gorgeous American Bird

Wood duck is one of the most richly colored and most beautiful in the world, with only the Mandarin of China as a rival for gorgeous coloring. Truly a bird of the North American continent, it nests from Canada to Central America and from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, inhabiting most every territory suitable to its requirements. This shy bird is almost exclusively a fresh water duck, living in the cypress swamps of the South or the peaty bogs, or along the streams of northern lakes.

A few remained alive and efforts were made to drag them back into the water. Several times before whales are reported to have beached themselves along the Florida coast. When they were towed back into the water, they swam headlong into shore again.

Laughing Gas in Atmosphere

Laughing gas, an anesthetic widely used by dentists to put their patients to sleep, has been found in the atmosphere. R. L. Slobod and Milton E. Krogh of Dallas, Texas, announced at meeting Southwest of the American Chemical Society. The gas, known to chemists as nitrous oxide, or N<sub>2</sub>O, makes up only one part in two million of air, the report stated, explaining that examination of sunlight with the spectroscopist had previously suggested the presence of nitrous oxide in the earth's atmosphere. Laughing gas is colorless and has a sweet odor. A whiff will make a man giggle, and more will put him to sleep.

Ghost 'Airports' in Peru

Pilots aboard Peruvian International Airways planes find it difficult to convince passengers flying over Peru's limitless plains that the "airports" they spot aren't really airports. Looking exactly like giant runways criss-crossing Inca land, the age-old markings are actually the remains of gigantic calendars that were constructed by pre-Inca peoples to mark the changing seasons. In the dry, windfree area they remain plainly visible after thousands of years.

Scholar Who Dared Death Three Weeks Learns Old Secret

TEHERAN.—An American professor, who dared death every day for three weeks, said he had learned the secret of the inscriptions Persian King Darius had carved on Mount Bisitun 2,400 years ago. Prof. George Cameron of the University of Michigan and the American School of Oriental Research copied the rock carvings by means of a rubber compound. He did his work suspended 194 feet from a mountain ledge and 100 feet above the rocky ground just east of Kermanshah in western Iran. Sometimes his son, Thomas, 15, went up with him on the scaffold and helped. "The story of Darius' life now appears with remarkable clarity," Mr. Cameron said. "I know now the secret of four huge columns of the inscriptions, which have not been read before because they were in an inaccessible spot. The full secret, however, is one that I shall not divulge until I have had further time for study."

The Bisitun inscriptions, in three languages, are ranked as the most famous antiquity of the kind in western Asia.

If Churches Too Comfy, Congregation May Sleep

CARLISLE, ENGLAND.—The chancellor of the diocese of Carlisle says he is against proposals to disperse the immemorial gloom and dampness of English churches. He says it might encourage naps during sermons. A consistory court recently considered a proposal to install lights and a heating system in the church at Gilsland. "If the heat in a church becomes excessive people might go to sleep during the sermon, or at least have an excuse for doing so," said Chancellor H. H. King. "Also, we don't want theatrical lighting in churches." The chancellor also disapproved installing electrical heating tubes under pews.

The whole project was tabled for reconsideration. Cumberland mists will continue to invade the Gilsland church on frosty Sunday mornings.

Male Shoppers Rated Best By Girl Clerks in Stores

NEW YORK. — The department store girls wear their prettiest smiles for the shopping man, but they don't want to take all his money, Mrs. Lorraine Frankland says.

"We try to sell him something within what we judge would be his wife's price limit," she explained. If he spends too much his wife will bring it back anyway and be mad at the store for selling it to him, she figures. Mrs. Frankland is the head personal shopper at Lord and Taylor's department store.

To figure that price limit, Mrs. Frankland says she starts out low and works all the way up, making a mental note of the point he starts perspiring. Then she goes back and "encourages" him to buy below the boiling point.

What the girls really love about the men shoppers, Mrs. Frankland said, is they make up their minds so fast.

The average man, shopping for his wife and maybe his mother or daughter, spends about $50 all told, Mrs. Frankland said.

And not one in 500 of them buys black underwear, she said.

Those who like cinnamon toast will enjoy this quick coffee cake with spicy cinnamon mixture spread generously between layers and over the top.

Easy does it when you make a quick coffee cake for luncheon or tea.

It needs only mixing and spreading the batter in the pan, with no rising or kneading. For this cinnamon-filled coffee cake, first spread half the batter in the pan. Sprinkle half the crumbly spicy cinnamon-sugar and shortening mixture over it. Then cover the sugary filling with the remainder of the batter and bake. The flavorful cinnamon filling also serves as topping, so there's no icing to make.

Coffee cakes made with enriched flour step up the food value of any meal, for they are thrifty sources of B-vitamins, iron, and food energy.

Time this coffee cake to be ready at the same time as the rest of the meal, for it is best when served warm.

The quick coffee cake base can be adapted to other fillings and toppings. Try a crusty orange mixture. Combine one tablespoon melted butter or margarine, three tablespoons sugar, and two tablespoons grated orange rind; then add one-half cup chopped nuts and mix well.

CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE

Filling and Topping Mixture
 2 tablespoons enriched flour
 2 tablespoons melted shortening

1/4 cup sugar
 3 teaspoons cinnamon

Batter

2 cups sifted enriched flour
 3 teaspoons baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 cup shortening

1/4 cup sugar
 1 egg
 1/2 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg. Mix well. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Spread half the batter in greased 7 by 11-inch pan. Sprinkle half the filling and topping mixture over the batter. Cover with remaining batter and sprinkle with rest of topping. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Makes one coffee cake.

Household Hints

Remove grease spots from the surface of your electric iron by rubbing with ordinary corn meal.

Fill centers of peach halves with cranberry sauce and top with slivers of blanched almonds for an extra colorful and flavorful garnish around poultry platters.

If the hot water bottle refuses to stay in place, sew a pocket on a bath towel, slip the bottle into pocket and wrap the towel around it.

Dropping a small piece of charcoal into the flower vase will help flowers stay fresher longer and reduce the odor from decaying stems.

Ironing a bias-cut skirt with the weave of the cloth minimizes bulging at the seams.

These are the homes

These are the people

THESE are the people who own your electric light and power company. Chances are you are one of this group, too.

They represent a cross-section of America - housewives, doctors, teachers - industrial workers, craftsmen, farmers - mechanics and milkmen. Yes, people from all walks of life have put their savings into companies like ours. They're direct owners.

But there are countless indirect owners, too - many who don't know they have a stake in the electric industry. They're people with life insurance policies and savings accounts. When banks and insurance companies accept your money, they must invest it wisely and productively. And because business-managed electric companies have a long record of successful service, much of that money is invested in utility securities.

So, you see, the electric industry is owned by the people it serves.

Tips for Spring Cleaning

Here are some helpful time saving hints for your spring housecleaning. Preliminary washing with soap and water is unnecessary with the use of Cream Wax that quickly cleans and polishes furniture, woodwork and kitchen equipment. You'll find that dirt and dust do not readily cling to a hard, waxed surface. Time and energy can be saved by using Cream or Liquid (buffing) Wax on venetian blinds. Window sills can be protected against moisture by applying wax. The life of parchment lamp shades is lengthened by coating them with Cream or Liquid wax. Don't forget to wax your shelves for greater cleanliness, protection and beauty. You'll find hundreds of other uses for wax to speed up and make your housecleaning easy!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Critics Attack New Farm Program As Urging Unprecedented Controls; Extension Seen for Marshall Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FARM PROGRAM:

Pros & Cons

President Truman's sweeping new farm program met with mixed response on Capitol Hill. Critics claimed it would carry the nation closer to socialism and would empower the government with unprecedented farm controls and powers.

PROponents of the measure contended that consumers would be benefited because retail food prices would be allowed to seek their own level.

No matter which school of thought was correct, it was inescapable that the program would use taxpayers' dollars to guarantee farmers an income equal to that of a recent 10-year period.

Some opposition to the plan termed it as one that might be so expensive that it would push the U. S. treasury toward bankruptcy and would thoroughly regiment the farmer.

CHARLES F. BRANNAN, secretary of agriculture, conceded that "imponderables" such as weather and improved farm techniques made it impossible now to estimate the cost of the program.

He said of the program that it probably would mean a heavy drain on consumers' dollars.

He added that the government plans soon to undertake a costly new program to keep up the price of pork. If this program is approved, Brannan said, farmers would sell their pork for whatever it would bring. The government—meaning the public—then would pay the farmer the difference between the support price and the price the farmer actually received.

REPRESENTATIVE Anderson (R., Minn.) was not impressed. He estimated the total government outlay under the program might run as high as 10 billion dollars a year.

When it is remembered the government has no money except that which it gets from the people in taxes, objective observers were wondering who, if anyone, could benefit by the program, since farmer and consumer alike would be paying out added funds to finance it.

OLD AGE:

No Elixir

Impending old age affects many people in many ways. But to all who stand on its threshold, it is a topic of prime consideration. Of late, science, medicine and the psychiatrists all have been concerned with the subject and apparently little loath to be heard upon it.

LATEST to ponder the problem of how one should approach old age and what may be expected in this period of life was a conference of 800 physicians from all over the nation.

These physicians were all agreed that one of the biggest problems facing the medical profession in the problems of old age is making those added years healthy, happy and useful.

Throughout the conference the warning was sounded again and again that something must be done to give men and women not only long life, but a healthy, happy and useful old age.

THE SIMPLE and sad fact is that man's life has been extended beyond his present capacity to enjoy it as a useful citizen, the medical authorities agreed. For in prolonging life, science also prolonged suffering and misery—all the chronic illnesses and disabilities which plague mankind in the declining years.

Dr. Chauncey Leake, of the University of Texas, said that young people be taught how to grow old—that is, how to cultivate hobbies and intellectual curiosity and how to develop a systematic regimen for physical and mental hygiene.

He declared the country should have an "old-age program" similar to the child-care program.

HE ALSO URGED increased research on drugs which may help the aged by preventing the disorders to which old people are subject.

But, coming out by the same door wherein he went, he warned that all hope for an "elixir of life" must be dismissed—that there is no "miracle drug" to restore youth to the aged.

Wherein he delivered himself of a truism well known even as Ponce de Leon was searching for the fountain of eternal youth.

"CORN" PROPOSAL

British Shudder at Hominy Grits Plan

It was doubtful if the majority of Americans would work up any vast regret at the plight of Englishmen who faced the horrible possibility of having to eat American-provided hominy grits.

For, most Americans would realize that there are thousands of needy poor right here in the South in our own United States to whom hominy grits is a staple item of

Elevators Found Helpful on Farms Perform Most of Heavy Lifting, Transport Jobs

On today's electrified farms, elevators perform most of the heavy lifting and short transportation jobs. Although used for a number of years to some extent, these devices did not acquire widespread popularity until World War II.

It was during the worst of the manpower shortage period that elevators were used most. They answered the demands of older men for mechanical help to replace employees called to service. And they saved the day for younger farmers in helping them save time for more important production tasks.

Farm elevators are either portable or stationary. In general, motors for portable elevators range in size from one-half to one horsepower. Tests made at Idaho state college indicate that an average load of grain can be emptied and cribbed by one man in from six to eight minutes with the aid of a portable elevator.

Elevators also are used for raising or moving a wide variety of farm produce, including hay, loose or sacked grain.

The use of elevators in farm work has been found highly desirable because of the freeing of labor for other tasks and the amount of time saved over the run of a crop year.

DN-289 Efficient

Typical injury on fruit from eye-spotted bud moth.

The development of a new and efficient dinitro fungicide and insecticide for orchard use has been announced by the manufacturer Dow chemical company.

The chemical is the triethanolamine salt of dinitro-sec-butylphenol and is effective against a wide range of fruit pests and diseases. First used experimentally during the 1942 season, the compound is now ready for commercial use under the trade name DN-289. It is available as a stable, clear solution which contains eight ounces actual dinitro-sec-butylphenol in each quart and which is readily miscible with water.

DN-289 has shown high efficiency as an insecticide for use in the dormant period against a variety of insects such as the rosy apple aphid, the currant aphid, the black cherry aphid, the mealy plum aphid, eye spotted bud moth, the cherry case-bearer, the pear psyllid and oyster shell scale on apple and lilac. It also has given very promising results in control of the San Jose scale, scurfy scale and the eggs of the European red mite. As a fungicide, DN-289 has been used successfully for the control of sooty blotch on pears.

The amounts of the compound required to attain good control ranges from one quart to two quarts in 100 gallons of water. Aphids are controlled with one quart, while two quarts are needed to kill bud moths case-bearer and the pear psyllid. Heavier concentrations may be needed to control oyster shell scale.

Research workers are conducting extensive tests to find other insects and diseases that may be controlled with the chemical.

Ladino Clover Produces Better if Bee-Visited

Ladino clover on which bees were allowed to work freely produced 40 times as much seed as that from which bees were excluded, according to an experiment conducted by Dr. H. A. Scullen.

From 100 clover seed heads worked by bees he obtained 13,946 seeds, while from 100 heads screened against bees he got out only 365 seeds, or fewer than four seeds per head.

Jesus Is King

Lesson for May 1, 1949

IT IS A SIN to tell the truth out of season. So declares a famous Protestant creed. It is not always good nor wise to tell everybody everything you know. Keeping your mouth shut may be one of the best things you ever do. Jesus himself knew how to keep a secret till time to tell it. He never uttered an untruth about himself, but for a long time he did not openly declare his conviction, in spite of being pestered to say Yes or No about it.

The question was: Are you the Messiah? This was the same as asking, Are you the King? Jesus would not say Yes, because the mere word would be taken to mean "revolutionist" or "traitor." But he would not say No, because he was a King; indeed of all men he had the best right to the title.

When Jesus rode into the ancient capital where his forefathers reigned, astride a mule, the people knew, and he knew they would know, that this was not just somebody riding a mule on a Sunday morning. In the history of the Hebrews, mules were the steeds of kings.

King Solomon was crowned riding on a mule. There was a famous prophecy (Zech. 9:9) that when Jerusalem's great king should come, he would be riding on such a royal steed. So when Jesus rode into Jerusalem, the people threw their palm branches and shouted their welcome, not to the teacher and prophet, but to the King.

Tears in Triumph
IT WAS NOT altogether a victorious occasion. Jesus knew too well how cheap and easy "demonstrations" can be. In his mind's eye he could see a cross standing outside Jerusalem, and in his inner ear he could hear this same dusty-throated mob, now shouting "Hosanna!", yelling instead "Crucify him!" Tears stood in Jesus' eyes. But they were not tears for himself; he never wasted energy in self-pity. They were tears for that blind city, tears for its coming destruction—the city that did not know the way to peace.

Master of the Temple
BOLDER THAN JESUS' triumphal boldness was what he did inside the city. It was one thing to claim royal rights over the nation; but at the temple Jesus' claims reached far higher. It should be remembered that in the eyes of all Jews at that time the Temple was absolutely sacred. It represented the dwelling-place of the invisible God. Now the priests at that time were more profane and politicians than priests. They carried on what today we call a "racket" in the sale of animals for sacrifice and in changing the ordinary money of all countries into the local Jewish shekel (in which coin alone could temple offerings be paid).

The racket was notorious; every decent Jew hated the priests' profiteers. But no one had ever done anything about it, for that would mean assuming an authority over the temple that no man dared to assume.

But Jesus took it on himself. His direct and even violent action in smashing the racketeering ring was a mark of something more than ordinary self-confidence. He laid claim to being no less than the Master of God's Temple. He was acting in the name of God and with the authority of God.

Master of Man
WHEN THE CHRISTIAN church calls Jesus "Lord" and "King" today, we are making no claim for him which he did not make for himself. What we mean by these titles is that Jesus Christ, for us and for all men, is the authority above all others.
