

County Agricultural Tour Leaves Stratford At 9:00 A. M. Tuesday

The chamber of commerce of Stratford will sponsor a farmers tour of local agricultural demonstrations Tuesday, June 7. The tour will begin at the courthouse in Stratford at 9:00 A. M. and proceed on inspection of projects listed below, returning to Stratford by noon. All farmers and business men are urged to make the tour. The results of work being done on some of the local agricultural problems in wheat production, weed control and revegetation will be observed.

Stop No. 1. Use of 2-4-D to control annual weeds in bar ditches and fence rows, sprayed by air plane.

Stop No. 2. Use of commercial fertilizer in dry land wheat farming, results first and second year following application of ammonium nitrate on production of wheat will be observed.

Stop No. 3. Use of sodium chlorate in control of bindweed, first and second year after application of chemicals made will be observed.

Stop No. 4. Wheat Variety Production demonstration, seven popular local varieties sown in strips will be inspected. Touring group will be given opportunity to identify variety from head samples and estimate yields. Production figures will be reported after wheat is harvested.

Stop No. 5. Grass reseeding demonstration, mixture recommended for this area, results after six years growth will be observed and compared to native range adjoining plot.

Stop No. 6. Use of 2-4-D in control of annual weeds and bind weed in turn rows and fence rows, sprayed by ground unit, will be observed.

Stop No. 7. Use of 2-4-D to control blueweeds, sprayed this year with ground unit, will be inspected.

Stop No. 8. Results of weed control on wheat production first year after application of 2-4-D on blue weeds to be observed.

Stop No. 9. Grass reseeding demonstration, native buffalo and side oats grama seeded separately, third growing season after grass seeded to be observed.

The purpose of this tour is to give the local people an opportunity to see how these agricultural problems are being worked on and explain how the particular treatment or recommended practice may be applied to local farms where similar problems may occur.

It takes a long time, six years in the case of one of these demonstrations, to produce results that can be appraised and valued in study by actual observation. Many times it is necessary to drive miles to an experiment station and then inspect many plots that may or may not be grown under conditions that exist locally in search of a solution to a problem on the farm. Here on this tour you will see the results of chemicals applied for weed control, nitrogen added to the soil to produce more wheat, old eroded fields reseeded to native grasses and the big question confronting all farmers in Sherman County the selection of best variety of wheat to plant. Don't miss the wheat variety production field test. A mistake in the selection of variety of wheat to plant may cost farmers in Sherman County tens of thousands of dollars in the near future.

You are invited to join your agricultural committee of the local chamber of commerce on this tour of local agricultural projects for three hours Tuesday morning.

Manager Of Amarillo Chamber Of Commerce Speaks At Banquet

SEES THREAT TO U.S.

War-essential American jeweled watch industry is threatened by heavy imports from Switzerland which discourage healthy growth of domestic manufacture and thus endanger national security in case of another conflict, James G. Shennan (inset), president of Elgin National Watch Co., tells U.S. Senate committee at hearing on extension of trade agreements act. Asking "realistic duties" to equalize difference in movement costs resulting from Swiss labor rates which are 60 per cent lower than U.S. rates, Shennan cites figures for past 10 years (above). They show that imports captured bulk of U.S. market while the three exclusively American manufacturers of jeweled movements were engaged in vital war production.

A Chamber of Commerce is a group of people bonded together for the betterment of the community, Rex Baxter, manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, told those present at the Stratford Chamber of Commerce banquet held Tuesday night in the private dining room of Omaloy's Cafe.

F. L. Yates, president of the organization, opened the meeting. After the invocation by Rev. H. A. Nichols, Earl Bond, program chairman, was introduced. Bond presented Miss Jeanne Price and Miss Marty MaMaha in two dance numbers.

Rex Baxter, a man of 21 years of experience in Chamber of Commerce work, and now serving his 9th year as the manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening.

In defining the work of the Chamber of Commerce, he stated the complex definition has changed materially in the last few years and so have the purposes. The old promotional Chamber of Commerce settled here in early days, bringing in those seeking homes and land.

The modern Chamber of Commerce is nothing more than a group of people bonded together to improve development of the community and by giving of their time and money succeed in making the community in which to live.

Who is going to support it? he continued. Some will give time, some will give money, some will give criticism, and those who are busiest will do the most work. If you want something done, give the job to a busy man, a loafer never has time.

Do you have to have a paid secretary-manager is a common question. In the case of this town I would advise economy and think it would be wise at present to do without a paid secretary until the town has grown sufficiently to justify his hire. Too many small communities which have raised a few thousand dollars and employed men to carry on Chamber of Commerce work, are now beginning to fold up. They began walking before they crawled.

See to it that your organization has the support of all service organizations and business firms of your city. Extend your services and accept theirs for the mutual benefit of each.

There are few livestock and agricultural programs you can promote as annual events which do not represent an investment of from $10,000 to $15,000.00. This is too great a responsibility for a small organization.

Your program of work must be worked out from what you would really like to do and what you know that you can do. This is your realm of possibility on which a simple work program can be begun.

It is your responsibility to see that Sherman County receives its share of the two-year improved highway program for which an appropriation has just been made.

Schools represent one of the most worthy projects a Chamber of Commerce can adopt. There is a ceaseless demand for more and more playground equipment. The problem of parking space is a project which faces every Chamber of Commerce and with the completion of your parking lot in Stratford you will have solved the problem to a much greater extent than has Amarillo, Baxter told the organization.

Located on two of the most popular national highways you have and will continue to have a greater demand for modern tourists courts. The intersection of U. S. Highways 287 and 54 will experience this year the heaviest traffic that has been known.

Hospital facilities represent a future project. You have a nice clinic, you will need a modern hospital.

Vision helps to build a town. There are few elevator operators who do not regret that they did not have the vision to build several more elevators before the present wheat crop began to mature.

Baxter said storage for the present wheat crop was one of foremost problems discussed in government circles in Washington.

There is also the human side of Chamber of Commerce work. (Continued on Page 10)

A Crown Of Thorns

By Troy Plunk
Minister First Christian Church
Electra, Texas

Editor's Note: (The following is a contribution of Troy Plunk, formerly pastor of the First Christian Church of Electra, and a former Stratford man, which appeared in the column of Southwestern Churches published in the May issue of Southwestern Crop and Stock.)

There was given me a thorn in the flesh to buffet me — I besought the Lord thrice to remove it from me, but he said my grace is sufficient for you. Therefore, I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me, wrote the apostle Paul.

In a recent article I read these words: "Perhaps neither the world, nor any person can escape the Crown of Thorns, but there is a way to wear it."

Some people accept the crown with complaints and self-pity and resentment. Others accept it in a gracious manner, and life is beautiful. Jesus taught that all men must wear a crown, and that there is a way in which it can be worn in a worthy manner. Just another way of saying that life will have its battles. The question is: who shall be the master of it? The apostle Peter said,

"If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God."

Life Can Be Beautiful

Life can be beautiful or ugly, just as we choose. E. Stanley Jones in his book, "Victorious Living" said, "Is Life a bubble or is it an egg? Is it a bubble with nothing in it, or an egg filled with infinite possibilities, possibilities of growth and development and perfection. I vote for the egg view of life. I grant that even an egg if badly handled can turn rotten. So life can turn rotten if we handle it badly."

Job of old lost all his possessions and was covered with boils, and in his suffering, he said, "Yea though he slay me yet will I trust Him." But his friends said to Him, "Curse God and Die." They were moral and spiritual cowards, and would wear the crown of thorns badly.

One of the malefactors railed on Jesus and said, "If Thou be King of Jews, save thyself and us. He died a rotten death because of his rotten attitude of his crown of thorns. He, like the other malefactor, would have had Paradise if he had known how to wear his crown of suffering.

Judas Another Example

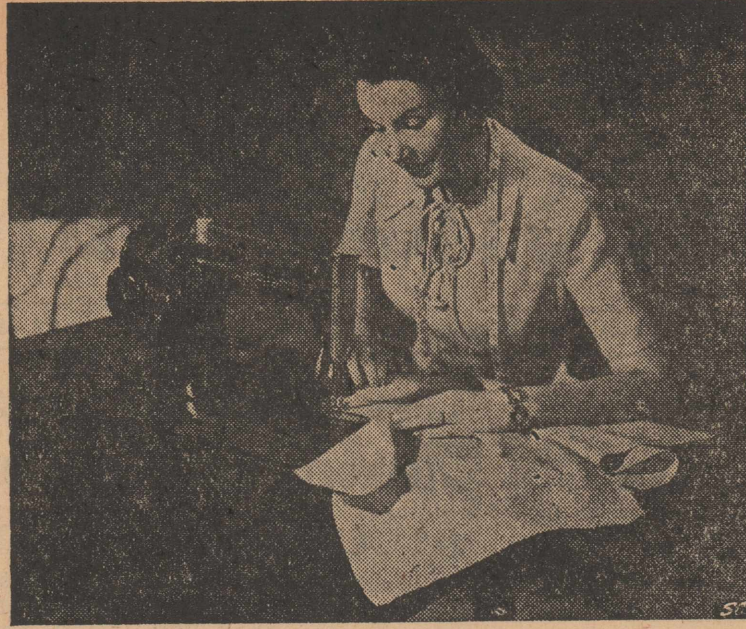

Judas is another example of the wrong way to wear the crown. His was a different sort of crown, that of ambition. He tried to force Jesus to announce Himself King of the Jews. In selling his Lord to the names he was giving over to selfish ambition. And the thorns of ambitions are sometimes very dangerous and hard to wear. For if ambition becomes sinful, it will lead to a multitude of sins.

There is a positive way to wear the crown of thorns. Jesus Christ was the perfect example. He wore the crown in a manner worthy of His name. In the garden He prayed, "Father if it be possible — nevertheless, not my will but Thine." This prayer was one of humble acknowledgement of His burden, and He wore it worthily because of His gracious acceptance of it. In the scripture we read: "That more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." While on the Cross Jesus' thoughts and words all expressed his concern for his Disciples and friends as well as his enemies. Not a word of complaint or condemnation or of fate being against him, but every word unspoken was in behalf of His enemies and friends. His willingness to suffer the crown of thorns was the beauty and holiness of his life. And his example of wearing the Thorn-Studded crown to victory is your victory and mine. For he accomplished it first that we might follow after.

Apostle Paul Is Another

The apostle Paul is another example. He suffered as much if not more than any other Christian, yet he could say, "For me to live is Christ." "I can do All Things through Christ who strengtheneth me." All his life he wore the crown of thorns in a worthy manner.

So like the apostle Paul, and others of his day, there are multitudes upon multitudes who are courageously and silently wearing the crown of thorns. And some day shall hear the welcome words of the Master, "Well done thou good and faithful servant," For Jesus said, "You are the Salt of the Earth."

The time of year doesn't have as much to do with your decision to acquire new slip covers, as the way your living room looks. If it looks shabby, you want gay, new slip covers. Turn home decorator, save money and have fun in the bargain by making them yourself, at your sewing machine.

Your first concern in making your own is to see that your sewing machine is in good order. If you don't own one, now is the time to take a look at the many models available at your Singer Sewing Center. You'll find that you can make everything from draperies to rugs, as well as your slip covers, with your sewing machine and its attachments.

If you have any qualms about tackling a slipcover project, try a few lessons at your local sewing center where sewing experts can show you the latest tricks and short-cuts.

If you want to change your covers with the seasons, you may select materials like the novelty rayons, cretonne, semi-glazed or unglazed chintz, poplin or percale. If you want coverings of year-round nature, choose heavier type fabrics like denim, tapestry or upholsterers' sateen. Be sure that your fabric and trimmings are pre-shrunk and sun-fast.

There are commercial slipcover patterns available for different types of chairs and sofas. Do a careful, pin-fitting job with the pattern. You may want to make your own muslin pattern to help insure a glove-like fit and cut down the possibility of wasting fabric.

The better your pin-fitting job, the more successful the finished results. Cut your pattern so that the up and down lines of your material will follow the up and down lines of the piece you're covering. In placing the seams, follow the original lines of the chair or the original cover of the upholstery.

Ticks cause the same damage to the calf as the hornflies and lice. A mixture of two pounds of 50 percent wetttable DDT and one pound of 6 percent gamma BHC in 25 gallons of water will effect control of livestock pests.

Increased Calcium in Diet Recommended as Investment

Getting barely enough calcium in milk or other daily food to meet the body's current need is not the best planning for good nutrition.

"When calcium is increased to a more generous level, the human body is able to put the added amount to use for long-range needs. That is, the added amount of this mineral is a good investment toward sturdy, healthy bones. It aids old people no less than young adults. In women of child-bearing age, it even extends its benefits to future generations."

That is the meaning of the new recommendations for increased calcium in diets of grown men and women of all ages, arrived at by the National Research Council. In advising more calcium for adults, the council's food and nutrition board and committee on dietary allowances reviewed scientific knowledge on calcium need, and took special note of recent laboratory findings.

Putting the new calcium recommendations in terms of daily food, the easiest way to plan regularly for calcium needs is to get plenty of milk and its products in diet. Ranking next as good sources of this mineral are dried beans and peas and certain of the leafy green vegetables such as turnip greens and kale, but it is difficult to get enough calcium without milk products and especially some liquid milk.

Famed Indian Cave Temples Still Stand in Hyderabad

Hyderabad state, which yielded to the Indian Union after five days of military action, was virtually the last of 562 princely Indian states to hold out against accession by either of the year-old dominions—India and Pakistan.

In area, population, material wealth, historical and religious importance, this landlocked state that spreads almost completely across the Deccan plateau in south central India is outstanding. Glories of earlier civilizations, centered in the cave cathedrals of Ajanta and Ellora, make it one of the world's rich regions archaeologically, notes the National Geographic society.

Ruled for 37 years by its present Nizam, Hyderabad compares roughly in area and population to Pennsylvania and Ohio combined. Six-sevenths of the 17-million population is Hindu, but the Nizam and his nobles are of the Moslem one-seventh. Almost two-fifths of the land is owned by the small ruling group.

Despite this arrangement, which finds the ruler adding cash, bullion, jewels and other property to coffers that make him a billionaire, the lot of Hyderabad's masses has been improved through the Nizam's reign. Irrigation dams have advanced farming, cottage workers in textiles have benefited from special training, and new industries have sprung up.

Facts About Insulating

Ceilings of the top floor of almost any house are usually easy to insulate. Keep in mind two simple rules for the job: Try to keep the insulation as close as possible to the heated part of the house. Provide a vapor barrier between the insulation and the warm room, as well as a ventilation space above the insulation. The vapor barrier is a membrane which keeps moisture from reaching the insulation. Walls of older houses are often difficult to insulate properly. Solid masonry houses are especially difficult and costly to treat. Frame or brick veneer houses can be insulated by blowing mineral wool into the empty space between the wall studs.

This half-and-half blouse worn by Elaine Starr shows how "perma starch," newly patented plastic product, saves wear and tear on cotton cloth. In laboratory tests, it was laundered 80 times in a washing machine. One side, starched with ordinary starch after each washing, came out looking like a mecca for moths. The other, dipped every eighth washing in "perma starch," emerged without a worn spot.

Spain, Reds, Nazis Linked

WASHINGTON. — The United States, Britain and France are planning to publish new facts about Spain and Russia's secret negotiations with Nazi Germany.
 Details of the pre-war Hitler-Stalin deal to divide Poland will be bare for the first time in two separate 1,000-page volumes now under preparation.
 Evidence of German, Italian and Russian intervention in the Spanish civil war will feature a third volume dealing with Franco's relations with Hitler from 1936 to 1939.
 Three of 25 Volumes
 Diplomatic officials told a reporter the state department, in cooperation with the British and French foreign offices, plans to start publishing these documents early next year. They will be printed in English, French and German.
 They will be but three of the 25 volumes being prepared by his-

TAYLOR — The 1949 Christian Rural Overseas program (CROP) for Texas will be under the direction of Elmore R. Torn of this city, shown above (upper right) with members of the national CROP cabinet who appointed him. The four are discussing the urgent need for American farm commodities to fulfill CROP's world-wide relief and rehabilitation program. Texas participated in CROP last year when shipments were made to 43 nations. Seated left to right are Father H. J. Miller, representative of Catholic Rural Life; and John D. Metzler, national CROP chairman and representative of Church World Service. Standing at left is Clifford E. Dahlin, representative of Lutheran World Relief.

 torians of the three countries from German records captured by First Army troops in the closing days of the war. The researchers had to burrow through 450 tons of documents to sift out the essential material.
 Soviet Russia's relations with Germany will not be dealt with in separate volumes, but will be included in two volumes telling of general Nazi foreign policy prior to the outbreak of war in September, 1939.
 This may be due to a desire to avoid further disturbing touchy relations with Russia. Moscow bitterly denounced the state department early this year after it publicized part of the record of Soviet-German negotiations as revealed in Nazi documents.
 Contains More Detail
 A government official working on the project said, however, the two new volumes being edited now will contain "twice as much detail" on this subject as the earlier state department volume which ran 362 pages. This fact alone may evoke a new outburst from Moscow.
 Official German documents will be published intact to show step-by-step the secret intrigues which led to the 1939 Russian-German non-aggression pact which doomed Poland. The papers will then trace in detail the growing distrust between the two nations resulting from their failure to agree on spheres of influence despite lengthy negotiation.
 One point that stands out, this official said, is that Hitler and the Nazi foreign office had no spies in Russia—unlike the situation elsewhere—and were forced to rely entirely upon their embassy in Moscow for information.

Group Offers New Hope To Couples Now Childless
 BOSTON.—Childless couples who want children have twice as good a chance of having them today as 20 years ago. Sterility now can be overcome in about 40 per cent of such marriages, a group of medical specialists here has reported. Only 20 per cent could be treated successfully in 1927.
 In that year four faculty members of the Boston university school of medicine formed the first organized group for the systematic study of sterility. They were a gynecologist, a urologist, a specialist on endocrine glands and an internist.
 This group has studied some 500 childless couples, with each specialist making complete examinations and tests.

 One main finding is that sterility is usually due to more than one single trouble.
 There are 40 to 50 different conditions that can lower fertility and generally four or five were found in each couple.
 "In over 80 per cent of cases, these conditions depressing fertility were divided between husband and wife," the group's report said.
Vets Pass 18 Million Mark; Total Loans Are $8 Billion
 WASHINGTON.—The war veteran population in the United States now stands in excess of 18 million, according to an announcement by the Veterans' administration.
 There are approximately 15 million World War II veterans now living, and 3.8 million veterans of other wars. Of the 18.8 million, 186,000 are in schools and colleges.
 About 130,000 have obtained home loans under federal guaranty; 48,000 have obtained farm loans, and 100,000 have obtained business loans. The loan total is about 8 million dollars.
 Total number of disability or compensation cases is 2,263,296.
 New automobiles have been obtained for 22,050 disabled veterans. These are paid for by the government if veterans are eligible under the law.
 National service life insurance has 19,597,055 approved policies with a face value of more than $152 million.
 At the end of October there were 105,762 patients in veterans' hospitals. Awaiting hospital admission were another 15,236.
 Under the new hospital building program, 89 are in various stages of progress, such as site acquisition, blueprinting and designing.

Fish, Wildlife Service Plans Recipes for Cooks
 WASHINGTON. — It may seem alien to a government agency with such virile responsibilities as the management of fur seal herds and the destruction of predatory animals, but the fish and wildlife service of the interior department works up recipes for the housewife. Its kitchen-counseling activities are part of a plan to make America more fish-conscious.
 In line with this program, the service's branch of commercial fisheries maintains a spotless, well-equipped test kitchen at its technological laboratory on the campus of the University of Maryland at College Park.

 The kitchen is operated by four home economists who concoct and test fish recipes and then distribute them in printed form to restauran- tants, homemakers, food editors, and even to army mess sergeants.
 The fish and wildlife service home economists also put on fish cookery demonstrations for women's groups and set up displays and exhibits at national conventions and meetings of restaurant, home economics, dietetics, grocery, public health and food service groups.
 An average five-year old peach tree probably produces 25 thousand blossoms. Only 250 to 1,250 of these blossoms develop into fruit.

BRAVERY REWARDED

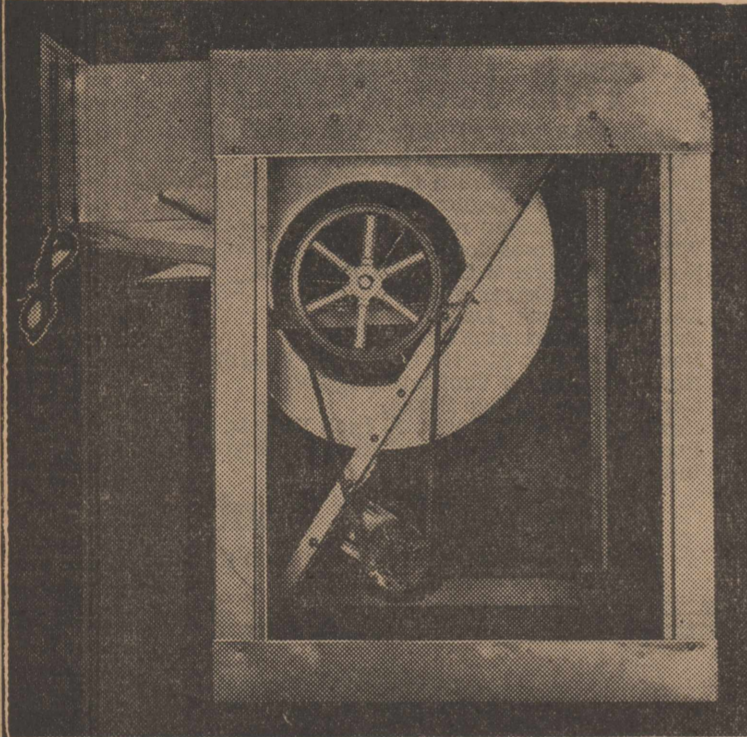

Merit Medal Honors Girl

WASHINGTON.—Inspired by the heroism of Ruth Orlandi of Los Angeles, the District of Columbia council of the Navy League of the United States has created a foundation to reward merit in the nation's youth.

American boy or girl will be provided with funds to assist any career the winner may choose. The project arose from the Navy Day honor visit here of the 17-year-old Los Angeles girl, daughter of a retired chief machinist's mate, who risked her life to save a baby from a deep pool of petroleum waste.

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

24 YEARS OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP AND PUBLIC SERVICE

sored by the league district council and the Los Angeles Examiner.

Creation of the foundation was ordered by the board of directors of the Navy league council at the suggestion of the council's president, E. Cortlandt Parker.

To the fund, the league council will make a substantial donation annually, and subscriptions will be received from the public at large.

Parker, a marine corps reserve colonel, said he had already received offers of more than $500 in subscriptions, which are tax free.

By scholarships or in other ways the fund, to be awarded at the annual Navy Day banquet, would "assist youths of America who have demonstrated true American principles by outstanding acts related to associates or civic affairs."

Navy Interest Stressed. It was pointed out that acts of heroism such as Ruth's would not be necessary to win, but a requirement will be that the winner declare an interest in the navy.

Colonel Parker said: "If a winner happens to be a boy who wants to be a plumber, then we'll help him to become a good plumber."

In general, though, the annual rewards will be invested in scholarships or traveling fellowships and in research in the arts and crafts."

Dr. Theodore E. Friedemann, associate professor of physiology, said the vitamin might be a potent energy builder if the body would absorb enough of it.

But he said laboratory tests revealed that doses of more than two ten-thousandths of an ounce—about 1/65th of an aspirin tablet—are largely wasted.

The body won't take any more than that, he reported. Furthermore, the tests indicated that if the vitamin is taken constantly over a period of time, the body sometimes becomes allergic to it.

Friedemann said it made virtually no difference whether the vitamin was taken by mouth or through the veins.

Water Discovery in Desert Is Big News for Mojave

MOJAVE, CALIF.—They've struck water near Mojave! That's more important to this desert town than gold was 100 years ago, or the recent uranium find near Beaumont, Calif.

Water has been the principal problem since Mojave was founded in 1878. It has been hauled in by Southern Pacific railroad tank cars. It costs residents 25c for 1,000 gallons—about $10 a month to water lawns.

One well recently came in at Monolith, 12 miles away. A few days ago another began producing at 1,000 gallons a minute on property five miles east of town. If tests of the water prove satisfactory, there will be a special election to authorize a bond issue to purchase one of the wells.

Bedridden Professor Uses Wire Recorder To Lecture Classes

KANSAS CITY, MO.—It suits the Rev. John C. Friedl to keep the body at rest in St. Mary's hospital as long as the mind is not put to bed—something his doctor would find hard to do in Father Friedl's case.

The Rockhurst college professor abided by his physician's prescription for a tired circulatory system. That kept the body away from his philosophy and labor classes at Rockhurst, but the mind and voice were on the job there three times a week.

The professor did it with a wire recording machine which shared a place at his bedside with a telephone, his Bible, other books and a signal button.

There were some things that were the professor's own baby, intellectually speaking, in the institute of social rehabilitation at Rockhurst, and he aimed to shepherd them as long as his mind was free to roam. He knew that the assistant director kept a capable hand on the institute's tiller, meeting its classes and making sure the boys were properly taught.

When it came, however, to that thrice-a-week course in "basic principles in industrial jurisprudence" the professor just couldn't rest in bed or anywhere unless he had a voice in it. This is one of the courses for the degree of bachelor of science in labor relations which the professor deems especially vital in these times.

So, from his fourth-floor room in the hospital, the professor recorded his lectures on the wire recording machine and then sent out the spools of wire bearing his lectures for that course. He talked into the microphone with as much intensity as if he were standing before his class.

Prize Winning Cattle Are Not Well-Groomed by Nature

DES MOINES, IOWA.—The next time you see a well-groomed champion steer in one of those bovine pin-up poses, you can be sure he didn't get that beautiful by accident.

Rules for grooming and exhibiting a baby beef or a bull in 4-H and commercial livestock shows are as exacting as those for a Saturday morning inspection in the army.

For example, one of the first rules of steer-showmanship is that the animal's tail should be clipped down to the "switch," or fluffy section. Clipper marks can cost a steer a point or two in the judging. The switch should be brushed out, and it frequently gets as much attention as a city girl devotes to her coiffure.

Another rule, says William Im-lau, field representative of the Iowa Beef Producers' association, is that the steer's hair coat should be dry. If oil is applied to add sheen to the coat, it must never be enough to cause two hairs to stick together.

A steer's hair can be shown either smooth or curled, depending on which hair-do best suits the steer's "personality."

Peril of Smog Declared Threatening Other Cities

CINCINNATI.—Back from Donora, Pa., scene of the lethal smog which killed 20 residents, Dr. Clarence A. Mills, University of Cincinnati expert on the effect of air pollution on the respiratory system, reported his belief that "many other cities in the country" have the setting for a similar disaster.

Aided by Mrs. Mills, Dr. Mills made a four-day survey of conditions in Donora, secured the cooperation of the community's borough council in having a house-to-house canvass made, and plans to return for further investigations.

Dr. Mills has studied air pollution problems in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Nashville, Birmingham and Atlanta.

The house-to-house canvass will reveal such details for Donora's population as (1) who was affected by the death-dealing smog; (2) tobacco smoking habits, and (3) past histories of individual respiratory damages.

Wales Hums With New Life

The valleys of Wales are throbbing once more with the noise of industry. Pitheads, rolling mills and furnaces, silent in the inter-war years of slump and unemployment, now hum to a feverish round-the-clock schedule. The Welsh, who were hard-hit by the slump of the inter-war years are now busier than ever, and building the means for an even more prosperous future. Heart of this vast industrial rebirth is at Margam on the South Wales coast. Here, from a desolate wilderness of sand dune and marsh land, a steel giant is springing to life. Margam is today the site of the biggest single steel project in the world.

Persimmon Gains Popularity

The persimmon is coming into the year-round eating picture. The small, native persimmon and the large, cultivated one both freeze well and can be used many ways. Varieties that are not stringy should be selected for freezing. They are usually frozen in the form of puree with one part of sugar added to five parts of puree. The frozen puree may be used all during the year as a flavor base for ice cream or sherbet, as a frozen dessert, as topping for various desserts, or to use in persimmon pudding. The gay color and rare flavor of the persimmon make it a popular dessert.

SOME DISH — AND FOR DOGS, TOO

Going somewhere? Take your dogs along. It's easy to travel with an obedient dog, according to Miss Irene Damaska of Chicago. She recently introduced these wire-haired Fox Terrier puppies to air travel on a flight from Chicago to the West Coast. When meal time comes just open a can of Fard, the "one-dish-dinner" for dogs developed by Swift & Company's Research Laboratories. According to nutritionists, this convenient meat food contains all of the high quality proteins, minerals, vitamins, and fat required in a scientifically balanced dog diet.

The secret of beautiful hair is the simple trick of remembering to use a creme rinse after your shampoo and certainly after your home permanent. It lends a fascinating silky softness to hair, makes it far easier to manage, and helps eliminate scalp odors. If your hair is inclined to be dry or is baby fine, you'll discover that a creme rinse will give it body and new life! A teaspoonful added to a cup of water is all that is needed. Pour it over your head — wait a half minute — then rinse.

Two of the lace-featured gowns inspired by the sterling silver spoon that went to Paris and made fashion history are: (left) evening gown by Raymond Barbas, director of Jean Patou organization, and bridal gown by Pierre Balmain. Mr. Barbas is comparing lace of his gown with lace-like openwork of the "Queen's Lace" pattern, the spoon of which is shown directly above.

This is the story of an American sterling silver spoon that went to Paris and made fashion history. It's also the story of why it will be fashionable for this year's June bride and graduate to wear gowns, robes and lingerie highlighting lace.

It all began early this year when a New York fashion expert chanced to see a sketch of the spoon International Silver Company planned for its new sterling pattern, "Queen's Lace". The expert was so impressed with the lace-like openwork, delicate beading and graceful, sweeping lines that she asked permission to take a spoon with her the following week to Paris.

Though only a few spoons were available, the company permitted the expert to take one. She arrived in Paris at the time designers were working on creations for this year's spring and summer markets. During a conference with a famous gown designer, the American woman showed him the silver spoon. He looked intently at the spoon . . . reached for paper and pencil . . . and in a few minutes was sketching a bridal gown that featured the same lace-like design as the silverware.

That designer was the famous

Pierre Balmain. Other name designers, too, were inspired by the spoon. Molyneux created a short evening dress, Jean Patou interpreted a lace and net evening dress, and Marnier made trousseau pieces — including gowns, slips and negligees.

Adaptions of these Paris originals . . . as well as the Queen's Lace silverware . . . will be available for the June bride and graduate. It now is an established fact that lace, a wartime casualty, once again is back to please the fastidious. The spoon that went to Paris has made America lace-conscious once again.

Your Home
By Frances Ainsworth

We've recently had the outside of our house painted with the new titanium dioxide paint and the improvement is simply amazing! We felt that we were very fortunate in having a close friend in the painting business, because there are many, many things that every home-maker should know about painting.

Do you know that the success of the paint-job on your house may rely on the way in which the surface is prepared before painting? That the surface must be clean, smooth and dry, and all nail holes, cracks and joints must be filled and smoothed with putty? If your house has not been painted for many years, it may be necessary to completely remove old paint. That's why it is so important not to let your painting go. Experts at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company say that a good painting job will last about four years . . . and that poorly done work may look terrible in only a few months.

Two other factors in outdoor painting are also very important. The paint itself, of course, is something to consider carefully. The new paints made with titanium dioxide are best. A good quality paint also has plenty of oil, which is the life of the paint. In fact, Jim said without oil there is nothing to resist the elements except a thin coat of pigment. Then, too, the weather must be right for painting. Naturally, no one will paint in the rain . . . but it's important, too, that the wood be completely dry before painting after a rain. And freezing weather for painting is especially undesirable.

In addition to all these factors, is the necessity for a good, professional painter who will know how to prepare the surface, to mix the paint and correctly apply it . . . not just "slap" it on. Painting your house regularly is an investment, for a house without this protective coating is at the mercy of the elements . . . and other repairs caused by lack of paint protection may become very costly indeed!

ROOSEVELT: Old Tradition

The old tradition was running true to form: you can't beat a Roosevelt. Young Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., most like his father in looks, charm and smile, won the New York congressional seat left vacant by the death of Sol Bloom. And he won it with the national administration and Tammany allied against him.

FDR worshippers were jubilant. Those who had fought the "champ" throughout his years in the White House professed to see in the election result the creation of a new Rooseveltian political dynasty.

Already the cry of the exultant victors was "on to Albany," New York capital which Franklin D. Roosevelt, four-time President of the United States, used as a springboard to the White House.

Denied the Democratic nomination, young Roosevelt ran on the Liberal and Four Freedoms parties' tickets in a contest which kept Manhattan's west side in an uproar for months. A surprise to many Americans, who did not know such procedure was permissible, Roosevelt does not reside in the district he will represent in congress. It seems that all the while there has been no bar in the law to prevent a candidate from living in one district and representing another.

DESPITE his victory as a standard bearer for two other parties, Roosevelt declared he is still a 100 per cent Democrat.

Campaigning, he visited thousands of voters, turned on the old Roosevelt charm, mingled with the masses in their homes, attended house parties as honor guest, made street corner speeches.

One defeated candidate sounded a familiar note heard so frequently during other Rooseveltian campaigns:

"The formula in this election was a glamorous name and a quarter of a million dollars, and neither of these did we have."

BARKLEY: No, Guards

"I'm a big boy now. And besides, who would want to harm a young man like me anyway."

Thus did Kentucky's Alben W. Barkley, Vice-President of the United States, dismiss the idea of personal guards.

BARKLEY, who will be 72 in November, goes where he wants, when he wants and flatly refuses protection of any sort.

He told newsmen that President Truman had "tried to get me to accept a few secret service men," but was turned down.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and top G-man J. Edgar Hoover also offered to provide bodyguards. But Barkley wanted his freedom. "I like it better that way," he said.

Barkley claims he's just a "common man, nothing fancy." In fact, he gets a kick out of people trying to figure out how to address him.

"I STILL call myself senator," he says, "a habit after 22 years in congress, but the kids call me 'veep.' I like that."

He could also be called Mr. President, since that's how he's referred to in the senate over which he now presides.

RADIO: Godfrey Tops

Carrot-thatched, gravel-throated Arthur Godfrey, radio's chief exponent of the "be yourself" type of entertainer-announcer, led the CBS network in earnings during 1948. He was paid $440,514.16 last year by the broadcasting system for which he labors.

Newscaasters didn't fare so badly, however. Lowell Thomas was a close second with $420,300. Oddly enough, the network boss, Frank Stanton garnered only a measly $109,798.00. All these figures covered income before Uncle Sam took his cut, so there was some difficulty in trying to ascertain just how much "take home" pay these gentlemen received.

For the ABC network, Don McNeill, emcee of the Breakfast Club, was tops with earnings of $180,229.40.

Paul Whiteman, ABC's musical director and vice-president, received $145,316.56. Again the network president ranked lower. ABC's president Mark Woods got only $75,000.

TROOPERS CATCH TARTAR

Wild West Showman Defies Georgia Law Many a man has had a hankering to do just what Col. Zach Miller did when he ran afoul of state police on a speeding and driving without a license charge. It happened in Georgia where the colonel and his driver, James Colbert, were riding the range at 75 miles per hour. The limit is 55. Colbert, it seems had no license.

Last Man Over

Lt. Joe Russo, U.S. army air force, is shown holding a bouquet of flowers presented to him after he landed his airplane at Templehof airdrome to complete the last airlift flight before the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

GERMANY: Clay Speaks Up

If Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retiring United States military governor in Germany, had his way, America's ex-foes would be permitted back into the company of democratic nations as soon as possible.

BACK in Washington where he was feted and decorated by President Truman, Clay warned that unless Germany is restored to the community of western nations, an alliance with Russia by our former enemies is inevitable.

Speaking to the house of representatives, the general declared that the German people, in spite of their recent history of aggressive war and "extreme cruelty," now had shown their preference for a government standing for the "dignity of man as an individual."

In the spirit of the residents of Berlin who survived through the airlift, Clay declared, there is a spark for German freedom that "may grow with the years." He told the senate how the people of western Germany had adopted through their parliamentary council a constitution which guarantees free elections and is "devoted to reestablishing in Germany the dignity of man."

WITHOUT referring to the Soviets by name, he charged, nevertheless, that the Russians have two objectives that were irreconcilable with the efforts made by the United States, England and France to create a four-power government in Germany based on international cooperation.

He defined these objectives of what he termed "the fourth power" as intent to exact the maximum in reparations from Germany and to set up a government that could be controlled or exploited by a police state.

COMMUNISTS: Losing Ground

Whatever was responsible—the American airlift, a conviction that American democracy had more to offer or a general revulsion to all police states—the Communists weren't doing so well in the eastern Berlin elections.

THIS was in contrast with the confident predictions of Communist politicians in the Soviet zone of occupation of an overwhelming majority.

The vote was being taken on a "people's congress" of 2,000 members, all hand-picked by Communist-controlled organizations and put on a single ticket. However, the Communists were picking up only about a third of the votes expected.

Some voters wrote on their ballots "we won't vote for a police state and we reject Communism." Early returns from Berlin showed a majority of "no" votes—the only way the congress could be rejected since only one list of candidates was submitted.

THE "PEOPLES' congress," if it were to be set up, would be the Soviet answer to the western state being set up in the western zone.

Objective observers couldn't fail to see in the initial trend of the voting an indication that in any case where American system and ideologies may be contrasted with that of the Soviets, the latter can not command support.

PARKING: No, Thanks

In a nation where parking space is at a premium, parkers were shunning a Great Bend, Kas., parking lot in great numbers. Joseph Nolan, a short-time parking lot operator is authority for the reaction. Nolan opened his lot in the heart of the downtown district. In eight days his gross income was only and exactly $1.20. He tried every device he knew, even "free parking." Still they stayed away

ACCIDENTS: Three Reasons

Plain stupidity, bad manners, and liquor are the top three causes of automobile accidents, according to a study made by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

By far the top killers are the "stupid" group of driver offenses—excessive speed, ignoring traffic signs or traffic officers, passing on hills or curves, and other miscellaneous "dimwit" violations; the study finds that one or more of these offenses is involved in 40 per cent of all fatal accidents, and is the principal cause of 32 per cent.

FOOLISH ACTIONS by adult pedestrians—crossing against traffic signals, crossing intersections diagonally, crossing between intersections, coming from behind parked cars, and walking in the roadway in the same direction as traffic cause another 12 per cent of fatalities, based on experience records of 1946, 1947 and 1948, the study finds. Thus 44 per cent of our annual traffic death toll results from failures by drivers or pedestrians to use common sense.

Bad manners, such as road hogging—driving over the center line or actually on the wrong side of the road, and "barging through" when the other fellow has the right-of-way cause another 15 per cent of traffic fatalities, the records reveal.

TRAFFIC DEATHS due to alcohol are estimated by the insurance statisticians at a minimum of 15 per cent—12 per cent due to drinking by drivers and 3 per cent due to drinking by pedestrians. This is the most difficult group of cases to measure accurately, the study points out, because: Many drinking drivers try to conceal such facts in case of an accident, and an unknown number succeed; second, a considerable proportion of other violations such as reckless driving, which are directly blamed for certain accidents, would not be committed if the driver were fully sober and his judgement clear.

Summary: Of our annual traffic toll of 32,000 to 33,000 deaths, 44 per cent result from acts of folly by motorists or pedestrians, 15 per cent result from bad driving manners, and at least 15 per cent from liquor. Total: 74 per cent.

SNEEZER: 150,000 Times

Michael Hippisley had sneezed 150,000 times and was still sneezing. London doctors sought frantically to bring some relief to the 14-year old schoolboy who had sneezed once every three seconds for nine days.

THE only time the boy hadn't sneezed in the nine days was when he was knocked out by drugs or sleeping.

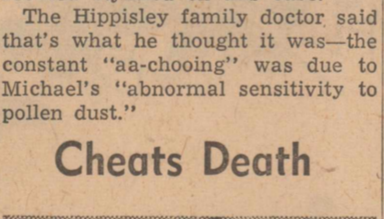

"I've had kerosene up my nose, drops down my ears and hundreds of tablets," Michael told reporters. "Then they cauterized me. I couldn't feel anything more, but I kept on sneezing."

When news of Michael's plight got about, some 50 callers offered sympathy and advice. One suggested hypnosis. Another said sneeze in a paper sack. Unfortunately, all remedies had been tried.

SCIENCE, making great strides with allergy controls and remedies seemed stymied on this case.

The Hippisley family doctor said that's what he thought it was—the constant "aa-choing" was due to Michael's "abnormal sensitivity to pollen dust."

Cheats Death

Flashing a smile of victory over death, Reid C. Lewis, is shown in hospital at Santa Monica, Calif. His heart stopped after a minor operation and remained stopped, as did breathing and pulsebeat, for 12 minutes. His doctor, remembering an old Boy Scout trick which sometimes revives drowned persons by breaking a bone, snapped one of Lewis' ribs and the shock restored him to life.

SPORTLIGHT Mighty Casey Hasn't Struck Out

WHEN Casey Stengel came back to New York from St. Petersburg just a month ago, he was almost in a complete daze. He was listening to funny noises in his block.

He knew Joe DiMaggio was out indefinitely. He knew that Frank Shea's arm was out of kilter again. And then, in quick succession, Charlie Keller ripped a new muscle loose in his back. Johnny Lindell sprained an ankle. Snuffy Struweiss was ailing. Bob Porterfield snapped a ligament in his pitching arm.

By this point, Casey had reached the spot where nothing else could happen. Some experts were beginning to look for some place lower than eighth where the team could finish. The lowly Browns had a new rival.

But the Casey of early April and the Casey of today are two entirely different men. The staggering Casey of early April is the mighty Casey of late May.

"There is ease in Casey's manner and a sneer on Casey's lips. There is scorn in Casey's bearing as he moves his swinging hips. And when he looks around the field to call his rival's bluff. Not a rooter in the place can doubt that Casey knows his stuff."

In any event young Jerry Coleman, at second, suddenly turned into a star. So did young Dick Kryhoski at first. His pitching staff became the best in either league, and his batsmen started ripping the cover off the ball. Above all, when something was needed, Tommy Henrich would hit a home run or a triple or make a killing play in the outfield. Bobby Brown and Billy Johnson began driving in runs.

Who would have said on the 17th of April that the Yankees would be something like six games ahead of the Red Sox on May 10?

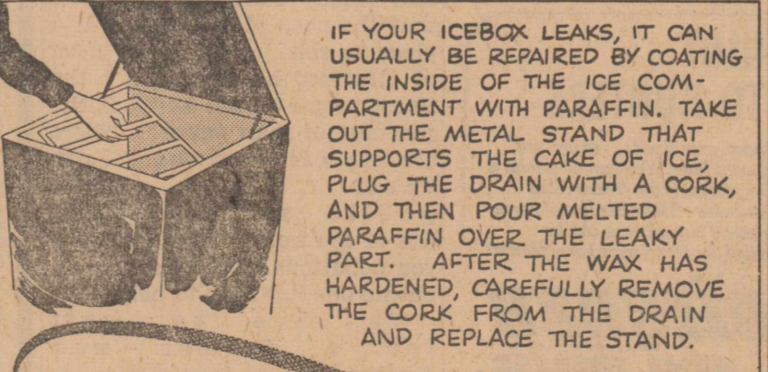

As one Yankee veteran explained it, "When our batters fall down our pitchers step in. When our pitchers blow, our batters come to life. But most of the time, both our pitchers and our batters are on the job, delivering together." This latter seems to be most of the answer. The Yankees always had good pitching. But it is even better than it looked to be. A staff that carries Vic Raschi, Bob Porterfield, Tommy Byrne, Allie Reynolds, Joe Page, etc., is a stand-out.

This doesn't mean the Yankees are due to break up the American league. But it does mean they are a far stronger ball club than any one thought they would be. They can hit and field and they have able pitching. And they have, in manager Stengel, a leader who no longer fears to look fate in the face.

Casey would have received his share of razzing if the team had blown up. Why not slip him the loud huzzas for his place in the standings today?

Manager

 There is the job of working with children and preventing delinquency through provision of a few facilities to give them some thing to do. Civic and service organizations will give you assistance. You will want and can secure a new Post Office building. Congress appropriated funds for the construction of 803 buildings this year. Your board of directors who manage the organization should be elected for their devotion to public interest.

Remember, you must crawl before you walk and leave the impossible to the future, Baxter advised the group in his closing remarks. F. L. Yates announced the board of directors was composed of Earl Bond, Delbert Cummings, Chester Plunk, Mrs. May Placey, Baskin Brown, George Allen, and C. F. Meinhardt was donating his time free of charge as the organization secretary.

H. L. McMahan is the Chamber of Commerce treasurer. The membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been working slowly but is expected to complete its canvass of the business district in the near future. Yates asked the assistance of everyone in the Stratford territory to do what they could toward giving aid to the road program, the boys recreation program, and the securing of a swimming pool for Stratford. A boy kept busy is a boy kept out of trouble he told the crowd. Questioned as to the type of agricultural program an organization of a town of this size could handle, Baxter suggested a wheat improvement program. He stated that within three years only about one-half of the wheat produced would be bought by millers unless the inferior grades of wheat are replaced with quality wheat.

Mayor Van B. Boston spoke briefly on the crying need of Stratford. He said that a college professor once spoke on the crying need of the modern home and finally convinced his class that the need of the home was a place to spit. The crying need of Stratford he said, with the finest people of the world, is the shortage of man power. There are only a few men who will give their time to public service regardless of the work. They will give you donations to the last man, but no one has time to help you. We have to wait for a farmer who has the time to furnish the incentive, Boston said, and turning to Baxter he asked, "what is the solution?"

Stratford like Amarillo is suffering from prosperity, Baxter replied. Call your business men together frequently but avoid night meetings if you hope to have them present. "What is your appraisal of the farmer as a member of the chamber of commerce?" Ernest Goule questioned Baxter. Take him as a regular member, Baxter said, at every turn you will be dealing with agricultural interests and your farmers are among your best boosters. The Chamber of Commerce sponsored agricultural tour for

Tuesday morning was announced. Those making the tour will return to Stratford in time for the 12:00 o'clock noon banquet of the organization which will be held in the private dining room of Omaloy's Cafe. Ernest Goule reported to the members present that Sherman County farmers had made a change in the planting of good milling qualities of wheat and that a recent survey showed the county would harvest approximately 75% of its grain from the better varieties of grain. Only a gain of about 15% is needed in 1950 to place the county on the list of select producers of premium quality wheat.

Behold The Man!

Lesson for June 5, 1949

LAST JANUARY a man in Holland wrote to the high court of the new nation of Israel, petitioning for a review, now nearly 2,000 years after the trial of Jesus by the court at Jerusalem in the year 30 A. D. That court may never review the case, and perhaps has no legal right to do so. But history has reviewed it, and reversed it. Jesus was tried by at least four tribunals on the early morning of the first Good Friday. But the verdict of history is that the courts were guilty, one and all, while the prisoner was innocent.

Sentence first, Verdict afterwards

BESIDES the informal hearing before the ex-high priest Annas, there was the formal trial before the High Priest Caiaphas. He presided over the Sanhedrin, the supreme court of the Jews at that time. It was a learned tribunal, venerated all over the Jewish world. As the lawyers might say, its writ ran everywhere; its decisions were quoted as precedent in Alexandria, Babylon, Spain. You might have expected it to be dignified, honorable. But not on that night, with that victim.

You might as well expect a pack of wolves, starved in winter, to be dignified and honorable with a sheep in their circle. These men, and their intimate friends, had been described by the Prisoner, not long before, in words that stuck in their brains like arrowheads. "Whited sepulchres . . . full of all uncleanness . . . ye devour widows' houses . . . blind guides . . . offspring of vipers. . ."

If there had been any hope that they might change, Jesus would not have used such words. So they had made up their minds: He must die. Now was their hour, while the city slept. Leader of the pack was this Caiaphas. As the farce of a trial went on and the high priest by grace of Rome faced Jesus, High Priest by the grace of God, what did he see in Jesus' eyes?

That Fox

IF CAIAPHAS was a wolf, Herod was a fox. It was Jesus' nickname for him. On that April morning this fox had the surprise of his lifetime. Before he could collect his wits, he was facing the very man whom his private police force had been vainly trying to arrest—Jesus of Nazareth. Two kings faced each other in Herod's hall that morning. The one wearing a robe and crown, seated on some kind of throne, was one of the most un-kingly men who ever bore the royal title. The other, in plainest citizens' clothes, and no crown, no throne to be seen, was the one real king who has lived among men.

"Suffered Under Pontius Pilate"

PONTIUS PILATE, procurator of Judea, deputy plenipotentiary of his Imperial Majesty, sat on his judgment seat and looked at Jesus. Six times he had looked at him; six times he had made certain that this young prisoner was an innocent man, and six times he had said so, even in the face of the mob. The noises in the street confused him. He could not hear, down through the centuries, the voices of millions of men, women and children, rising up week after week and repeating the words, almost like a curse:—"and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who . . . suffered under Pontius Pilate." The voices in the street drowned the voices of the centuries.

But if, as Pontius Pilate turned Jesus over to the will of those who hated him, he had dared to look into Jesus' eyes, and what would he have seen?

To this very day, and to the end of time, in all places and among all men, this Christ whom the world holds in chains is yet the Judge of every man. Men may say of Jesus what they wish, and he will be silent still. But in his eyes is the verdict. A man is judged by his own judgment of Jesus Christ. And you, too. Facing you, he looks straight through you. What do you see in Jesus' eyes?
