Shoppers may find more 'no smoking' signs

By SUSAN TOTH R-T Staff Writer

Midlanders planning to go Christmas shopping while puffing on a cigarette may find more and more stores posted with large "no smoking"

The new militancy by retail merchants is one more step in a growing war against smoking.

It started with warnings in fine print on the sides of cigarette packages and news stories about smoking and cancer. Then anti-smoking ads replaced cigarette jingles on television.

A shift in emphasis was beginning to be noticed in the smoke filled rooms of the nation.

Some anti-smoking ads converted from preaching to smokers to minisessions in assertiveness training for non-smokers. "You mind very much if they smoke.

Smoking was banned in small enclosed areas like elevators, and hospitals removed their cigarette machines.

Instead of a nation of smokers tolerating the fanatical few who object to the fumes, the U.S. may soon be a non-smoking nation where only the social ingrate would light up in public.

With a reformed smoker as the head of the largest and most wide-reaching bureaucracy in the nation, federal guidelines are favoring the rights of non-smokers more often than not. Joe Califano, secretary of HEW, has promised to wage a war of education on what he called 'slow-motion suicide

Where before there were specific areas set aside for non-smokers to be free from smokers in planes, movie theaters and some offices, now the smokers will be confined only to specific areas, leaving the general air free for those who prefer to breathe unfettered.

The goal of organizations like the American Cancer Society is to make smoking socially unacceptable - something done only by consenting adults in the privacy of their own homes benefits for ailments caused by breathing their co-workers foul fumes, and only the most expensive campaign ever mounted in the state prevented the passage Nov. 7 of California's Proposition 5 to ban smoking in most public places.

Some office workers already have collected Workmen's Compensation

Texas state law already prohibits "possession of a burning tobacco product or smoking tobacco" in a public primary or secondary school, an elevator, enclosed theater or movie house, library, museum, hospital, transit system bus or intrastate bus.

Smokers can get around the penalty — it's punishable as a Class C misdemeanor — if there is not a sign prominently placed and reasonably sized to inform the culprits of the smoking ban.

In addition, facilities seeking to proscribe puffing within their walls must be "equipped with facilities for extinguishment of smoking materials" for that rare soul too sensitive to drop a burning butt on the Special smoking areas may be designated within the facilities (Continued on Page 2A)

First freeze of the season recorded about midnight

The frost greeting early risers today was indeed what it appeared to be: the first official freeze of the season

The mercury dropped to 32 degrees around midnight but gained a couple of degrees before it struck the low of 30 around 5 a.m. An upward climb of temperature began at 8 a.m.

The freeze was a warning to fill your car's cooling system with antifreeze, get out last year's ice scraper. bring in the potted plants and, if you haven't done it yet, survey your winter wardrobe. Officially, the first autumn freeze came at midnight, when the thermometer first hit 32 degrees.

"Actually, from a technical standpoint," said a weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, "it (32 degrees) is the melting point of ice.' The freeze was the first in almost 81/2 months. The year's last official freeze was on March 11, when the mercury dropped to 28 degrees. The Weather Service gauges the air temperature rather than that of the ground, which generally is somewhat

Mayor, supervisor lie in state together

By SUSAN AGER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Mayor George Moscone, who grew up and grew powerful here, and supervisor Harvey Milk, a New Yorker who built a political base among his fellow homosexuals, lie in state together today beneath the dome of City Hall, where both were assassinated

A political foe of both men, former supervisor Dan White, 32, is in jail, booked for investigation of the slay ings - which took place moments before Moscone was to announce White's successor at an 11 30 a m news conference Monday

White, who resigned early this month then decided he wanted his job back, walked into a police station 45 minutes afer the shootings and eight blocks from the scene and surren dered, police said. Psychiatric tests were scheduled Moscone, mayor since 1975, liked to say of his birthplace. "There's no place like it in the world." Milk said it was where he "finally found true happiness

President Carter expressed "out rage and sadness at the senseless killings" At the National League of Cities meeting in St. Louis, KenErickson, mayor of Cheyenne, Wyo., said: The faces of the mayors around me grew pale when the announcement was made.

'He was a wild man, just a wild man," sobbed secretary Terri Wallen

Moscone, who turned 49 Friday, was shot four times - twice in the head and twice in the lower chest and Milk, 48, was shot five times twice in the head and three times in the lower chest. Moscone will be buried Wednesday. Milk will be cremated Friday night, aides said

Federal judge says Texas will make Hughes decision

Judge Jack Roberts has decided a jury here - not in Colorado or Califor nia - will try the definitive case on Howard Hughes' legal residence

Roberts denied a request by Cali fornia on Monday to transfer the case - with millions of dollars in inherit ance taxes at stake - either to Den ver or a federal court in California. Administrators of the eccentric multimillionaire's estate filed the "interpleader action" in Roberts' court in July to obtain a binding deter mination of Hughes' residence

Hughes died in 1976. Four members of the U.S. Supreme Court had suggested such an action after turning down California's re quest for a residency decision. The administrators are Hughes aunt, Annette Gano Lummis, and first cousin, William Rice Lummis, both of

A Houston probate court jury already had decided Hughes was a Texas resident but its decision would be overridden by whatever the Austin jury decides

Administrators of the estate contend Hughes was a resident of Ne vada, which has no inheritance tax

Lawyers for California told Roberts last week that moving the case to Denver would preserve the appear ance of justice and avoid a possibly prejudiced jury in Texas They said Texas would reap as much as $158 million in inheritance taxes — almost $12.50 for every man woman and child - if Hughes is declared a Texas resident.

Roberts cited a statute that says actions such as this one may be brought in a judicial district in which forum in which this action might have been brought And, accordingly, Colorado is not a forum to which a change of venue might be had," he said.

Roberts said moving the case to California simply would shift the inconvenience of travel from the California parties to the Texas parties. The judge also denied California's motion to add as parties 22 persons who hold themselves out as the only known heirs of Mr. Hughes." Attornevs for California contended this was necessary to avoid further litiga-

Recent prime rate jump slowing economy, but bankers optimistic

By SUSAN TOTH R-T Staff Writer

The recent jump in the prime interest rate to 11½ percent already is having a slowing effect on the booming Midland economy, but the longrange effects of continued tight money can't be determined now, Midland's bankers agree.

The bankers are optimistic about the strength of the city's economy, however.

Small borrowers in the city - people buying cars or making home improvements - may find money a little harder to get and certainly more expensive to borrow, but should not see any serious changes in the money situation they have faced for the past

Large and intermediate borrowers, however — the people building businesses and constructing homes - may find the tighter money market means some projects have to be put off.

rate, the interest rate large banks

The recent increases in the prime charge their best customers and generally considered an indicator of the way other rates will go, already are having an effect on growth here, according to Wilbur Yeager, president of First National Bank.

Existing projects will continue to be financed, Yeager said, because banks traditionally have taken care of their existing customers.

"New projects may be harder to fund," he noted since there will be less money available and that money will be more expensive to borrow. A slowdown in constuction already is evident, according to Tony Martin, president of Midland National Bank. The expensive money is having a slowing effect on drilling and other oil-related activities in the Permian Basin now, he noted. "Eventually, you reach the point where money is too expensive to speculate in the oil business or any other business," Martin said. "A general slow-down in business activity" is the purpose of the tightening money market, Martin said.

Some take a more optimistic view of the money matter, however. "The economy in Midland is so good, I don't think a couple of points will have an effect on Midland's growth," according to Boley Embrey, president of Western State Bank.

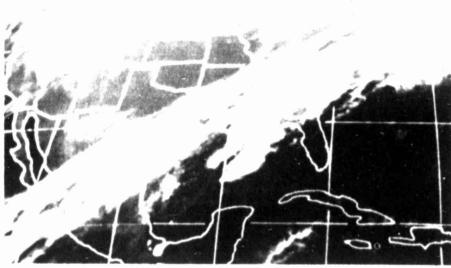

Although Midland may be growing at a little lesser rate now, "it's not serious yet," he said. "The publicity given it day after day will have more effect than the increase in the prime rate." Embrey said.

Jonestown survivors to begin return to U.S.

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) -Jonestown survivors will begin returning to the United States starting tonight or Wednesday, U.S. consular officials said.

They said seven survivors, all age 61 or over, would leave no later than Wednesday evening.

They were identified as Hyacinth Thrash, 70, of San Francisco; Grover Davis, 79; Madeline Brooks, 73; Carol Young, 78; Alvaray Satterwhite, 61; Marian Campbell, 61; and Raymond Godshalk, 62. The hometowns of the other six were not immediately avail-

Police were making a complete inventory of the camp and questioning Peoples Temple sect members in Georgetown to determine which of the 80 survivors will be permitted to leave this South American nation and which will be held as suspects and material witnesses in the suicide-murder at Jonestown.

"Their status is being reviewed, and some will be allowed to go," Assistant Commissioner Skip Roberts said Monday. "Some will be held for judicial proceedings.

Two Americans have been charged with murder, and three others were questioned Monday for the second time about the death ceremony in which 908 Americans and one Guyanese died at Jonestown, the Rev. Jim Jones' religious commune in northwest Guyana.

The three were Tim Carter, 28, and his brother, Michael, 20, both of Boise, Idaho, and Michael Prokes, 32, a former Modesto, Calif., television news-

"We just wanted to question them some more and go back over their story," Roberts said.

The two men under arrest are Larry Layton, 32, of San Francisco, who is charged with killing Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., and four others who might have participated in the slaying of Rep. Ryan or conspired in the killing.

Refugees coming to U.S.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) - Refugee officials say more than 2,000 Vietnamese refugees will be flown from Malaysia to the United States in the next two or three weeks, and the Carter administration is reported planning to seek congressional approval to admit some 20,000 others who have fled from Indochina.

Refugee officials say the 2,000 U.S. bound refugees will be taken from Malaysia's crowded transit camps, where 40,000 Vietnamese have found shelter, and from among the 2,500 refugees stranded aboard the freighter Hai Hong off the west coast of Malaysia.

Justice Department officials in Washington said Attorney General Griffin B. Bell will ask Congress to approve admission of 22,500 Indochinese refugees before next May 1. They would be in addition to the annual quota of 25,000, which is already exhausted, and would include the 2.500 Washington said it would take after the Hai Hong case hit the headlines.

A growing flood of refugees from Vietnam is riding all manner of old, leaky craft on the southerly currents of the South China Sea to Malaysia. Over the past two weeks, the rate of arrivals has reached 300 to 500 a day, taxing already crowded refugee camps and threatening the Malaysian government with a crisis.

Most of the refugees now are ethnic Chinese, a community never popular with the Vietnamese because they dominated commercial life in South Vietnam. Now they are fleeing because the Communist regime has ended their commercial activity, and the Communists are said to be glad to see them go but letting them out only for a price, reportedly as much as $2,500 each Malaysia, which has a potential Malay Chinese problem of its own, has been turning away seaworthy refugee boats but letting those in danger of sinking land at the island camps on its east coast.

It barred the 2,500 passengers aboard the Hai Hong when that small freighter arrived off the west coast city of Port Klang. Malaysian officials claimed they had paid a Hong Kong syndicate $5 million to charter the tramp steamer and thus were illegal migrants rather than refugees. The government threatened to tow the freighter back out to sea unless other nations took its human cargo.

Refugee officials say Canada has agreed to accept 604 people from the Hai Hong, France 275 and West Germany between 500 and 1,000. The rest are expected to find homes in the United States Canada is taking its quota in four planeloads. The first group of 159 arrived in Montreal Saturday night The second group of 160 left today Angry Malaysian villagers stoned a beached refugee boat Monday at Kuala Trengganu, on the northeast coast. The Vietnamese took refuge below deck and the mob left at dusk The vessel remained on the beach and it was not known what would be done with its passengers. In Bangkok, the Thai government ordered its coast guard to look for a small freighter with about 370 Vietnamese aboard that was forced to leave Thai territorial waters two days ago by mistake. A spokesman said West Germany had granted the refugees asylum but the Thais did not learn of it until the freighter had been

MidTran requires county support

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

MidTran, the city's new transit system expected to begin by the first half of next year, will require the support and participation of Midland County in order to be successful, according to the system's transportation coordinator.

John Schafer told members of the Commissioners Court Monday the van system, funded for the most part by federal monies, will benefit the county as well as the city.

Because of this, he said, the county should be involved in the planning and implementation of the public transportation system Schafer said many city residents who are employed in jobs in the county will be depending upon the ser-

The system's seven vans are to be funded by a $147,840 federal grant, $24,004 in state money and $12,936 from the city of Midland. Routes throughout the city will focus on two different services, said Schafer. Persons who want to "subscribe," or pay a flat fee per month to go to designated employment areas each day, may be picked up and dropped off at their doorsteps, he Other passengers will be serviced through a "demand-responsive system," sharing the ride with others who are picked up and dropped off in the same general area, Schafer said.

These riders will be taken from where they are to where they want to go. Advance notice of 24 hours for a ride will be needed to coordinate the vans. Each rider will pay a flat fee each way

The bus system will operate 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through

Schafer said MidTran, a non-profit corporation, is not asking for county

He said the city has allotted $50,000 for an anticipated deficit for the first year of operation.

The average cost to operate a bus per hour is approximately $10.22, according to Schafer

Vans will not follow any preplanned routes, but rather be scheduled according to where the demand is for transportation. Each of the seven vehicles will make an estimated total of 70 trips a day.

Fees will be charged, with elderly and handicap persons being allowed to ride on the bus at reduced rates. In other action, commissioners:

- Voted to split the cost of $3,850 with the Museum of the Southwest for a fire alarm system for the museum. - Authorized the veterans' service officer to attend a training session in Austin.

- Approved bills and reviewed reports of the county judge and commis-

United Way drive just below goal

Midland's United Way campaign still lacks 5 percent of the 1979 goal of $928,686, campaign chairman Tom Brown announced at the campaign awards luncheon Monday.

Pledges totaling $881,600, or 95 percent of goal, had been received at that time, he said

Midlanders have responded as never before to the needs of the community. However, we still need to get out and finish the job that we committed ourselves to do," Brown said.

Although the campaign is still 5 percent short of the goal set for 1979, workers have collected 13 percent more than last year's total and 17 percent more than last year's goal, Brown said. There is no doubt in my mind that in the next few days we will go over the top," he told the campaign workers at the luncheon.

More than 70 Midland business firms were recognized at the luncheon for outstanding participation in their individual campaigns. Also commended for their outstanding service to the campaign were the 36 loaned executives and and 28 members of the campaign cabinet

Farber says reporter confidentiality must ultimately be decided by court

NEW YORK (AP) - New York Times reporter Myron A. Farber, whose contempt citation was left standing by the U.S. Supreme Court's refusal to hear the case, says the court ultimately will have to address the issues raised in the free press-fair trial controversy.

J.A.: free enterprise

Junior Achievement of Midland, Inc., this week is attempting to conclude its annual fund drive on a successful note, with a hoped for "victory" breakfast scheduled Friday.

But cash and pledges will have to pick up considerably if the organization's $60,000 goal is to be met. At the middle of last week. contributions totaled only about half that amount. It was somewhat discouraging to the volunteer campaigners, but a great many prospect cards remained to be worked at that time. Hopefully, the situation will have changed by the end of this week. $60,000 isn't a whole lot of money, under today's standards, except when an organization is seeking that amount to carry on its operations.

It does seem a bit strange, however, that in Midland, of all places, an organization which teaches high school students the principles of America's great free enterprise system is having a somewhat difficult time in raising a comparatively small amount of money to conduct its program. It could be, however, that the proper contacts have not yet been made in sufficient numbers to take care of the budget figure. Last year's finance effort was one of the most successful ever, and it is likely that the present campaign will turn out just as well, even though it may take a bit longer.

But if you are interested in giving to this worthy cause. please don't wait for a solicitor to call. Just mail your check to Junior Achievement, 2311 Elizabeth St., 79701.

It is said that Junior Achievement is where youth learns the business of business. And this is most important in this day and age.

Junior Achievement, incidentally, is the nation's oldest youth economic education program. It teaches Achievers the principles of free enterprise by helping them run their own miniature businesses, which they organize, finance, operate as a normal business firm, and liquidate at the end of the school year. In other words, the youths learn by doing in the J.A. program.

The program is supported entirely by the local business community.

Teenaged members benefit from the program which helps them understand the free enterprise system and enables them to see a place for themselves in it.

The Achievers hold attitudes much more favorable toward business than those of the general public, mainly because they understand how the free enterprise system works and are free of the general misconceptions held by many

Alaskan giveaway

Responding to the promise of something for nothing. Alaskan voters approved the Beirne Homestead Initiative in the Nov. 7 election.

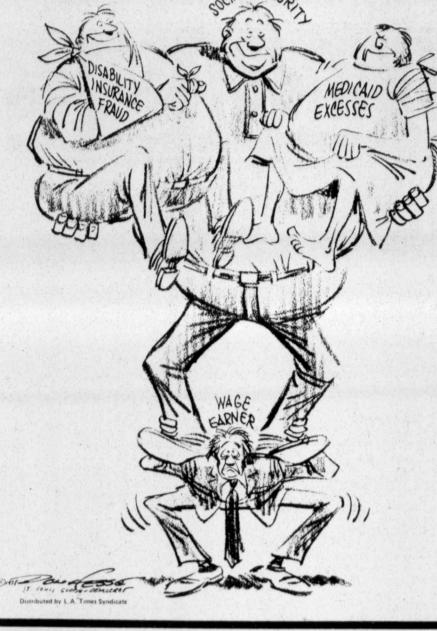

This measure, proposed by Rep. Mike Beirne, an Anchorage doctor, would give anyone who has resided in Alaska for three years 40 acres of land. Five-year residents would be entitled to 80 acres and 10-year residents 160 acres.

It would not be necessary for them to build cabins on the land, improve it or live on it, as was required of homesteaders in the last century in the lower 48.

The Alaskan homestead act is a straight giveaway of public land - up to 30 million acres of pristine wilderness - to approximately 300,000 people.

What would the new owners do with their real estate? Anything they want to, since apparently no strings are attached. Chances are a lot of the property eventually would wind up in the hands of a few promoters.

The courts may find that the Beirne initative is an unconstitutional gift of public property. But in any case the vote demonstrates the land-hungry attitude of a majority of Alaskans toward the public domain.

Reports from Washington indicate that the Carter administration belatedly discovered that U.S. interests in oil-rich Iran should take precedence over the complaints of minority extremists, be they ultraconservative Moslems or wild-eyed Marxists.

At the same time, the U.S. government imposed a virtual economic and financial blockade on Nicaragua in an effort to weaken its government.

Yet both countries are run by dictatorships and, if anything, the shah's has been more restrictive than that of Gen. Anastasio Somoza. The shah has been in power since 1941; Somoza, since 1967. The Pahlavi dynasty dates from 1925; Somozas have been running Nicaragua since able to read and write, compared with 37 percent of the Iranians. Yet the commentaries reflecting U.S. government views on Iran make much of the shah's efforts to improve the lot of the people of Iran. Still there is nary a word on the concessions that Somoza recently offered the Broad Opposition Front, including even its participation in government if it were to show sufficient strength in a plebiscite. The Front rejected the offer, maintaining its insistence on the resignation and exile of Somoza. What Washington seems unable to comprehend is that the possibility exists that the Nicaraguan people, if allowed to go to the polls, might just vote their preference for Somoza. Presumably, their alternatives would be a member of the Sandinista guerrilla movement or a representative of one of the 15 groups that make up the Broad Opposition Front. Keep in mind that most of the bloodshed in Nicaragua was a result of the attempts that the guerrillas, with the backing of some businessmen and others, made to take control of a number of Nicaraguan cities by force of arms.

In that context, Somoza might seem a relatively attractive law-and-order candidate.

Latin American history shows that voters often prefer a strong man, even a military dictator, as head of state in times of crisis.

Just last January, for example, the people of Chile voted overwhelming approval of the policies of Gen. Augusto Pinochet, the army general who rules that country, despite the fact that the Carter administration has made no secret of its distaste for the Chilean military junta and its alleged violations of human rights.

If that is not convincing, check back into the histories of Colombia and Venezuela, two of the Latin governments that are so widely hailed as Both have questionable claims to fame. Both had to employ something less than democratic tactics to block the returns to power of dictators who had been toppled by revolutions a few years earlier.

First was the case of Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, the Colombian dictator who was ousted in 1957. Many Colombians now admit that the U.S. educated general, a graduate of Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., lost at least one, and possibly a second, presidential election because the ruling Liberal-Conservative coalition chose not to count all the votes cast in his favor Something similar happened to Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez, the Venezuelan dictator who was deposed in 1958. He later polled enough votes to deserve election to the Venezuelan congress, but was blocked by a special law passed by the Democratic Action majority.

In Argentina, Gen. Juan Domingo Peron, overthrown in 1955, was all but elected president by popular acclaim in 1973. Much the same occurred with the popular election of Getulio Vargas in Brazil in 1951.

Curiously, though, the Carter administration seems to find it easier to accept leftist dictatorships than anti-Marxist regimes.

Communist Cuba is a case in point. Fidel Castro has been in power there for nearly 20 years now, without provoking any recent protest for lack of free elections, violations of human rights or any of the other reasons Washington uses to pressure other Latin American countries.

INSIDE REPORT:

President's biggest gamble based on mood of voters

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Shortly after crusty old George Meany, the hammer-tongued AFL-CIO president, called Jimmy Carter the "most conservative president" since Calvin Coolidge, a key presidential aide confided that Meany was "doing the president's work for him.'

The remark, made not at all in jest, was an insight into the thinking of White House insiders as President Carter tries to move the nation into fiscal austerity. Ahead lies the most fateful period of his presidency and perhaps the answer to whether the U.S. still retains its ability "to act as a nation rather than as a collection of special interests," as he said in his anti-inflation speech.

The presumption that Meany is "doing the president's work" shows that as of today there is very little hedging of bets inside the White House on the president's plan to cut federal spending and reduce the 1980 fiscal year deficit to $30 billion. Despite some ambiguities in the Nov. 7 voting on various referenda limiting state spending and taxing power, Carter's political aides are betting a bundle that the anti-big government, anti-tax crusade is no weekend fancy but an emotional, deeply-ingrained conviction that will sustain Carter's gh fiscal and anti-inflationary po-

Aside from mixed referenda results, the election pointed toward a rightward political swing that far exceeds the apparent numerical and ideological changes in Congress. Particularly hard for liberal Democratic operatives, for example, was not only the defeat of such liberal stalwarts as Iowa's Sen. Dick Clark and Colorado's Sen. Floyd Haskell. It was also that their conquerors — conservative Republicans Roger Jepsen and William Armstrong - were less than super candidates.

"To say that Dick Clark was beaten just because of the abortion question is to cover our eyes to what really is happening," one perceptive liberal Democrat told us. In short, Clark was thrown out on a whole range of issues on which he predictably and invaribly voted the liberal cause, often against the president.

Moreover, the defeat of Clark and other liberals is bound to have a spill-over effect on voting habits of other liberal Democrats in the Senate such as Iowa's other senator, John Culver. "We picked up two votes in Iowa, not just one," one Republican-oriented Washington lobbyist told up

Thus, although the apparent liberal-conservative balance between the new and old Senate seems not to be all that different on the surface, deep political currents have been set in motion that will give Carter important assets, tending to move liberals toward the center and centrists toward the right.

In the House, the new liberal-conservative balance is difficult to assess. But one leading strategist in the Democratic Study Group, a liberal pressure group in the House, figures that the results of the election - without any spillover effects - cost the liberals about a dozen votes on economic-ideological issues. In addition, Carter's "new conservative tone," according to another liberal activist in the House, "is having massive impact up here. It is shifting the center of gravity toward the right." That shift deprives Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the Democratic party's tireless liberal leader, of allies in the battles now shaping over Carter's fiscal austerity program. Quiet conver-sations that have taken place between White House operatives and Kennedy aides signal Carter's probably vain hope to neutralize Kennedy in the battle of the budget and blunt his drive — aided by Meany's AFL-CIO — for national health insurance.

For the first few months of the new 96th Congress, Carter will control most of the cards and hold the offen-sive, but his political dilemma will quickly sharpen: maintaining his spending and anti-inflation lines at the risk of losing one Democratic party constituency after another. He has lost the leaders of Big Labor; when unemployment starts creeping up again toward 7 percent he will risk losing the card-carrying rank-andfile. He was in trouble with the Congressional Black Caucus long before the election; an economic slowdown will hit blacks and other minorities

The liberal-intellectual bastions of academia have never loved Carter but they will not get pleasure out of hating him for exempting defense spending from his budget cuts.

Will these Democratic constituencies force Carter to reverse his course before 1980? Carter is betting that the retrenchment mood of the voters, as reflected in the Nov. 7 election, will sustain him. If he is wrong, it could cost him his presidency; if right, it could save the country.

methodology for slipping out of tight spots? The evidence suggests that the deceptions have been deliberate, the pattern detectable. Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin came away from Camp David grumbling privately that Carter had been deceitful. Economists charge that Carter juggled figures to make it appear he is doing no worse than his predecessor in combating inflation. Not that Jimmy Carter is more untruthful than past presidents, it's just that he has been more pious.

President Carter announced an anti-inflation program in October to halt rising prices, but officials expect it will take until mid-1979 before its effects can be seen.

In October, the cost of food purchased at grocery stores rose 0.9 percent after climbing 0.4 percent in September and not rising at all in July or August.

"The acceleration in October was primarily due to higher prices for meats, which rose 2.1 percent after declining in the preceding three months," the Labor Department said.

Traveling 7,000 miles across the United States may not seem like much of a challenge in this mobile age.

Unless it's on a 10-speed bicycle. You've got to be "optimistic" to make the trip, said Charles D. Le-Blanc of New Brunswick, Canada. He pedaled into the Tall City Sunday.

The 19-year-old said he started the trip with a friend, who "fell in love in St. Petersburg, Fla., and stayed there.

However, all "hazards" aside, the teen-ager seems to be having a good time. As for expenses, LeBlanc, who is a member of the Optimist Club, said his motel costs usually are paid by local Optimist Clubs. Ernie Webb of the Midland Optimist Club said members footed the bill for LeBlanc's overnight stay here Sunday before the young man set out for Odessa Monday. "He's a little bit cold today," said Webb. "He's gotta be partly optimistic to attempt such a trip in the first place."

Webb said although Optimist International Clubs have paid LeBlanc's motel bills across the nation, the young man usually has fended for himself when it came to food. Fast food restaurants, LeBlanc said, almost always agree to serve him some food and drink in exchange for a little "free publicity. As for the Optimist Club members, he said, "these guys are friends of youth. They are fantastic.

In New Orleans, La., LeBlanc made a speech before 500 "Cajuns," a group with which the French-Canadian feels an affinity.

"I found west Arkansas very beautiful."

In Memphis, Tenn., LeBlanc was greeted by Vester Presley, uncle of the late Elvis Presley. "He gave me a book, $10 and showed me Graceland Mansion where Elvis lived," said the traveler.

LeBlanc became an official Optimist International Club member in St. Louis, Mo., when Dudley Williams, national president, performed the honors. "He just happened to be in town from San Diego, Calif.," said

"Later on, the only thing I saw in Kansas City, Mo., were the cows," joked the visitor. LeBlanc got caught in a snowstorm in Nebraska after cycling 100 miles.

The Supreme Court refused Monday to hear a United Airlines appeal challenging rulings by the New York Division of Human Rights and the state's courts barring all pregnant stewardesses from flight duty violates state law.

United lawyers had told the justices that "while purporting to cover New York," the rulings "in practical effect reach into many states and would pervade United's entire operation."

After the court's action, a United spokesman in suburban Chicago said, We're going to have to make a decision on whether to change our national policy.

Aerobics grows in popularity as people awake to fitness

By WANDA MOUTON R-T Lifestyle Editor

The exercise boom has hit Midland in the form of aerobics.

1979 could well become the year of the exerciser. More than at any time in history, Americans are jogging, dancing, rollerskating, attending exercise classes, playing racquet ball and tennis, and cycling in an all-out effort to achieve physical fitness. And local health instructor Karen Smith says that aerobics is one of the best ways to reach that goal.

"Aerobics is good because it aims at a scientific program of exercise geared for overall fitness and health rather than just concentrating on certain aspects of body-building," she

An instructor at the central YMCA, she added that the aerobics classes have mushroomed in popularity over the past year as more and more persons become interested in their physi-

The YMCA class features movement to music which Karen claims makes the exercising easier.

"Besides the fact that it's more fun, exercising to music teaches my students rhythm and coordination," she

All of the aerobics exercises have been scientifically measured for the amount of energy it costs the body to perform them, according to Karen.

'These amounts have been translated into points. A person accumulates more points for the more energetic exercises and fewer points for an exercise which requires less energy."

Probably the biggest advantage of aerobics, according to Karen, is that it increases the efficiency of the lungs and conditions them to process more air wih less effort. Therefore, the more oxygen delivered through a person's system, the better, she added.

"My students lose inches and not necessarily pounds," continued Karen, "because the exercises we perform changes fat weight to lean weight, often toughening up the body without actually losing weight." However, she lost 23 pounds after

"Loss of pounds and inches are the benefits you can see. The hidden benefits are toned-up muscles and blood vessel improvement," she added.

"Many of my students have found that aerobics can help to change their outlook on life," said the instructor. "They relax, develop a better selfimage and are more able to tolerate

The YMCA aerobics classes are currently for females only and ages of the students vary. "Aerobics is for all ages-every woman needs to be fit,'

She once had a student who was still attending class in her sixth month of pregnancy. "Her doctor said that it was fine as long as she was comfortable, so she stayed as long as she could," Karen said. She requires a physician's permit before allowing anyone with a health problem or who is aged to begin the class.

Students learn to take their pulse at rest and after exercising vigorously so that they can monitor their improvement.

And the exercise is vigorous. Many of the exercise steps resemble the disco dances so popular today. But one factor is common-the students work up a sweat.

"Two hours after we end our class, my students are still burning up calories," said Karen. "And it's good for

Violence stalks San Francisco

By LINDA DEUTSCH

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - In the chilly, beautiful city that has inspired song and poetry, grief hung like fog today amid a plague of bizarre violence that led residents to ask: "Why does it happen here?'

"I feel so sorry for this city," said a citizen shaken by the murder Monday of San Francisco Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk. "We've had the Zebra killers, the Zodiac, the SLA, the Peoples Temple and now this. I don't know how much more we can take.

The tearful throng of 25,000 to 40,000 residents who gathered in numbed shock outside City Hall Monday night tried to provide their own answer. Carrying candles and clinging to their neighbors like survivors of some natural catastrophe or a war, they sang, "We shall overcome."

Columnist Herb Caen, among the most influential men in town. summed up the feelings of his beloved city in today's San Francisco Chroni-

"Horror upon horror. Shock upon shock," Caen wrote. "... The vocabulary of grief and disbelief stretches only so far ... At the end of a week of incredible headlines, all of us were left stunned, exhausted, overwhelmed by the flood of bloody 'senseless' information.

.. It was all senseless. Like the hundreds dead in Guyana ... And yet there must be a thread connecting all this violence.

The thread that connected Moscone and Milk, Caen said, was one common to many of their constituents: "They loved San Francisco."

So did Jim Jones. And Charlie Man-

"This is every misfit's favorite city as well as the favorite city of a lot of straight, normal people," said San Francisco Examiner Editor and Publisher Reg Murphy.

"It's the most photogenic city in the country," Murphy added. "It's also the most accepting city. It contains some of the brightest minds in America ... But there's an odd mixture of the highly intellectual community and the crazy community."

The "crazy community" bloomed in the 1960s. Long-haired young people calling themselves "hippies" and "flower children" swarmed into San Francisco's tawdry Haight-Ashbury district.

They were turned off by the Vietnam War and "turned on" by the prophet of LSD, Timothy Leary.

The flower children were hallucinating on drugs. "We were riding on the wind," one of them would remember. Her name was Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme. Years later, she would try to kill a president.

She came to San Francisco with the ragged Charles Manson "family" in 1968. Manson, guru of a band of young misfits, had passed through Haight Ashbury earlier, staying long enough to learn the power of drugs and a word, "Love." He took his "hippies" to Los Angeles and ordered mass

In Haight Ashbury, teen-agers "freaked out" screaming in the agony of LSD "bad trips."

Some died after taking "street drugs" laced with strychnine. Some committed murder. Those who survived drifted to drug rehabilitation centers or moved away.

But the plague they had brought did not die. It festered and burst in the '70s, San Francisco's most violent decade since the days of the Barbary

In 1969 and 1970, a murderer calling himself "Zodiac" sent grisly coded messages to local newspapers. "Killing people is more fun than killing wild game," he wrote. Zodiac's missives have continued sporadically. He has not been caught. Police say he probably killed six persons. He boasts of slaying 37 victims.

In 1972, a midwestern preacher, the Rev. Jim Jones set up his Peoples Temple in San Francisco's poor Fillmore district.

In 1973, a wave of random street killings terrorized the city. The "Zebra killers," struck without warning, killing whites at night. Most victims were shot. One was raped, another beheaded.

In April 1974, it was over. Four young Black Muslims were arrested and charged with 14 murders, seven assaults, one rape and an attempted kidnapping. The Zebra murderers were convicted in 1976 after the longest trial in San Francisco history.

On Feb. 4, 1974, the daughter of one of San Francisco's first families -Patricia Hearst — was kidnapped. Her travels through the radical underground exposed a seething subculture of disaffected young revolutionaries known as The Symbionese Liberation Army.

Six of them died that spring in a flaming, suicidal shootout with Los Angeles police. The others - Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris - drifted back to the only American city where they could hide - San Francisco. They eluded police for 18 months before their capture Sept. 18,

That September was a month for violence. In nearby Sacramento, Lynette Fromme aimed a gun at President Gerald Ford and was arrested. In San Francisco, days after Miss Hearst's capture, a middle-aged radical, Sara Jane Moore, fired a gun at Ford in famous Union Square barely missing him.

"Isn't anything happening anywhere but San Francisco?" a newscaster asked.

In 1976, Patricia Hearst, Sara Moore and Squeaky Fromme went to prison. Radical groups such as The New World Liberation Front bombed buildings and issued communiques.

In 1977, the plague seemed to pass. City fathers remembered the town's old slogan, "Everybody's Favorite City." The city's large homosexual population savored political victory election of the first gay member of the city's Board of Supervisors Harvey Milk.

The following year, 1978, was one of promise. Record numbers of tourists jammed cable cars and hummed, "I Left My Heart in San Francisco. Then, on Nov. 18, another nightmare began.

Democratic Congressman Leo Ryan, investigating the Peoples Temple cult, had been shot and killed on an airstrip in remote Guyana. Three newsmen and a temple defector were slain with him.

Within hours, a horror story unfolded. Hundreds of San Franciscans. who had followed Jones to a promised paradise in Guyana, obeyed his command to commit mass suicide. In the deep jungle, troops found more than 900 bodies piled upon each other.

Jones had been appointed director of the Housing Authority by Moscone. Thus, when the 49-year-old mayor was gunned down in his office Monday morning, speculation stirred of Peoples Temple involvement. There was none, police said. It was much

As Moscone and Milk-lay in pools of blood inside the marble-and-gold City Hall, a disgruntled former supervisor, Dan White, was booked for investigation of murder. He had come to City Hall to seek reinstatement as a supervisor. Moscone had refused.

"I don't know how we're going to put this city back together again," said the citizen who called a late night radio talk show to mourn for San Francisco. Elsewhere, said Herb Caen, they call this "the kook capital." "We who have lived here a long time resist that description," he wrote. "What others call 'kooks,' we look upon as characters in a charade we smile at. We think we understand the show, having played our own roles for so many years.

"Maybe we are wrong."

More than 25,000 persons jammed the park and streets around San Francisco's City Hall Monday in a spontaneous demonstration of grief for slain Mayor George Moscone and

Homosexuals feel loss of 'their' official

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - There was no joy on Castro Street. Harvey Milk was dead.

Instead, on the street where homosexuals rallied joyously just three short weeks ago, thousands and thousands marched with candles held high, singing and crying in Monday's cold night air.

Their supervisor was dead. There were thoughts of slain Mayor George Moscone and even a few words, but all along Market Street where upwards of 40,000 marched and at the City Hall esplanade where the march ended, people paid tribute to Harvey Milk.

"How many times we've taken that walk down Market Street," Milk's friend Harry Britt told the crowd.

"And we've known whatever disaster had brought us together, that when we got here, Harvey would say something that made it all right. Always, always, always, always.

"Our mayor is dead and that is reason enough for us to mourn. But somehow Harvey was so-special personally to so many thousands of us that I hope that those who love Mayor Moscone in a special way will excuse our very special feelings for Har-

Milk was the first avowed homsexual elected to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and usually led rallies like this one

In January of this year, Milk himself had taken a similar walk, from his camera store on Castro Street to City Hall to take his oath of office as a supervisor. Leading several hundred supporters, he walked arm-in-arm with a young man he called "my lover, my partner in life.

Now, they walked virtually the same route to mourn him.

At City Hall were singer Joan Baez, acting Mayor Dianne Feinstein and Police Chief Charles Gain. And thousands of marchers. For as far as the eye could see, more than a mile, the line stretched and then filled the City Hall plaza like a city of flickering light.

"I come here tonight to ask you to carry on the legacy of Harvey Milk," said Mrs. Feinstein. "That this city is going to continue in the tradition of love and understanding."

The new mayor's eyes were redlined and brimming with tears as she spoke. Most of the audience looked the same.) "Why him? I would rather it would have been me.'

But for a few minutes Monday night, Harvey Milk was alive again for the thousands who mourned him. That was when a tape was played of his speech three weeks ago at a rally following the defeat of an initiative to ban homosexual teachers.

"Come out, come out," his voice rang out, urging gays to declare their sexual preference. "You will feel so much better when you do.

But hardly anyone felt better Monday night. Harvey Milk was dead.

Milk knew his lifestyle made him target

Milk knew his gay lifestyle could make him a target residents are homosexual. of violence and he prophetically recorded a tape to be played upon his death. "If it does (happen)," he said in the tape, "I think I've already achieved something. I think it's been worth it.

A transcript of the recording was released Monday, hours after he was shot and killed along with Mayor George Moscone in their City Hall offices. A former supervisor, Dan White, was booked for investigation of the slayings. "I know that when a person is assassinated after they have achieved victory, there are several tenthe streets, angry and frustrated, and the other is to office as "a day of great joy." have a big show and splash, a great service. Naturally, I want neither," the transcript read.

"I cannot prevent anybody from getting angry, or mad or frustrated. I can only hope they'll turn that anger and frustration and madness into something positive, so that hundreds will step forward, so that gay doctors come out, the gay lawyers, gay judges, gay bankers, gay architects.

Milk, 48, was the first openly gay supervisor in a houses in New York, Dallas and San Francisco.

His election last November was the pinnacle of his life, he said, and two weeks after the victory, he made the tape. Milk was a familiar figure on Castro Street, the heart of San Francisco's large homosexual community where he owned a camera store. His credo was gay pride and he constantly urged homosexuals "in the closet to come out," to stop concealing their sexual identity.

He often wore a T-shirt with a drawing of an open closet door and the words, "I'll Never Go Back." At a party on Castro Street the night he was dencies. One is to have some people go crazy in inaugurated as supervisor, Milk described his taking

Acting San Francisco mayor twice sought election to post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Supervisor Dianne Feinstein, who became acting mayor following the slaying of Mayor George Moscone, twice sought to become San Francisco's first elected female mayor.

After her election to the board in 1969, Ms. Feinstein became one of four women sitting on the city's 11member governing panel. She was subsequently re-elected to two more four-year terms.

Because Ms. Feinstein, 45, got more votes than any challenger in all three bids, her colleagues voted her president, a largely ceremonial office.

After her unsuccessful 1971 bid to unseat then-incumbent Mayor Joseph Alioto, she said, "I'd rather be working in my cramped, smelly little office than anywhere else in the

The tax man might even become a popular figure, as well as a definer if not defender of the public morals, if he could take his biggest bite, assessment wise, out of restaurant owners who device cutsie-pie names for their sanitary facilities.

The most outrageous I have encountered recently was an Italian trattoria in a Roman motif where one door was named "Homo" and the other "Virgo." Fortunately, I had gotten beyond Cicero in high school so there was no need to telephone Anita Bryant for a second opinion.

The trend, however, to put a trendy, tricky title on the toilet door continues unabated in public places and it should be taxed to the limit as a deterrent. There are times in all our lives when there just isn't time to decide whether one is a "Mikado" or a "Geisha," a "Wahine" or a "Kanaka." That way home-bound patients can get voice issue of the Journal of the American Medical Assn.

It is about the work done by the Telephone Pioneers of America-telephone company employees who adapt communications technology to meet the needs of the handicapped. Some of the lastest innovations follow:

-Telephones that can be activated by voice, or by wheelchairs through floor switches; -Sports items that sound off for the blind, like beeping softballs, basketballs, and putting devices; -Electronic devices that allow people with speech difficulties to communicate by activating a lighted display board:

-Toys that blink and respond, stimulating deaf or retarded children to communicate.

Telephone Pioneers of America develops and also distributes these aids. It has a network of 500,000 volunteers around the country who work in their home on old or new devices. The volunteers also encourage sports involvement for the handicapped, especially the blind, who are generally left out of group sports. Aids such as the voice-activated telephone-nicknamed the "yell-a-phone"-are useful for paralyzed people. Here's how the phone works: It is programmed in advance with frequently called numbers, and the patient activates it with a specific sound signal, such as a two-second "yell." The pre-recorded numbers are then illuminated one by one on the phone, and a second voice signal makes the instrument stop at the desired number. Directory assistance and the operator can also be pre-recorded so that immobilized people can make any call they wish without further assistance.

Teaching aids for deaf children include toys that enable them to judge their own voice's pitch and loudness. One favorite is a squirrel that climbs up a string in proportion to the volume of the sound. Another is a clown who smiles in proportion to voice

WASHINGTON - At $60,000, a bulletproof Mercedes 450 SEL may seem a bit steep for the average executive.

Clements sees sunny fiscal outlook

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — While other governors speak of stormy economic climates in their states, Governor-elect Bill Clements says Texas' fiscal outlook is bathed in the sunshine of prosperity — despite the efforts of President Carter.

Clements took a break Monday from his formal debut as governorelect at the Republican Governors' Association conference and stepped into a room crowded with reporters anxious to question the first Republican Texans have elected governor in 104 years.

After noting that his state's economy is not threatened with "downturns or recessions" to the same degree as other states, Clements was asked if any of President Carter's fiscal policies will hurt the Lone Star State.

"I think we're bigger than Mr. Carter," he replied. "Higher interest rates are not looked upon in great favor in Texas and we are not enamored with his anti-inflation program...as a matter of fact, I don't think you can name me any program that Mr. Carter has put forward that Texans look upon with favor."

Clements said he and the state legislature's Democratic leaders — House Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby — have agreed on a battle plan attacking the energy bill Carter signed into law this year.

Clements, whose oil drilling supply business made him a multi-millionaire, said Texas' plan includes challenging the constitutionality of the new energy law "all the way to the Supreme Court," devising a state law allowing Texas to tax energy leaving the state and working with the Texas Railroad Commission to cut back oil and gas production.

But while Clements claimed to have cooperation from the Democratic-controlled state legislature in fighting Carter on energy matters, he did say he would take the legislature to court if they failed to pass legislation to allow Texas to have a 1980 presidential primary.

Asked who he would support in such a primary, Clements said he was "on the horns of four dilemmas and I'm not about to get in the middle of that kind of mess," referring to his personal friendship with both former Gov. John Connally and former CIA director George Bush, plus two "additional people" who actively helped his campaign — Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford.

Clements was equally noncommittal on plans he might have of running as a favorite son in such a primary.

"I have my work cut out for me...for the next 10 months just tending to my knitting in the state of Texas so I haven't even considered this question." Although Clements continued his verbal war on Carter, he did concede that it won't be easy to deny the president Texas' crucial electoral votes in 1980.

Hispanic leaders dispute advice

DALLAS (AP) — Some Mexican-American leaders say a high-ranking Justice Department official's advice about alleged police brutality is not satisfactory.

U.S. Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti told the representatives of Mexican-American organizations Monday they should look to state and local justice systems for help instead of relying on the Justice Department.

At the meeting, the leaders said they've tried taking their problems to local and state agencies, and it simply does not work.

Civiletti made Dallas his first stop on a three-day police brutality factfinding tour of Texas and Arizona.

Ruben Bonilla, state director of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said it is no longer expedient for politicians to come out in favor of prosecuting human rights violators.

He said even President Carter who campaigned for worldwide human rights — has stepped out of the arena when it comes to Hispanics.

"Carter's election campaign and emphasis on human rights has been followed by a very dismal and disgraceful period of 1978 during which 17 persons of Mexican extraction were killed while in custody," Bonilla said. "This was followed by a lack of response from the Justice Department and lack of investigation on the part of local U.S. attorneys, and this placed us in a regression."

Bonilla suggested more Hispanics should be appointed as judges and U.S. attorneys, and federal funds should be withheld from police departments that have patterns of police brutality.

partments that have patterns of police brutality.

He also said U.S. attorneys should have greater access to grand juries and a conference should be held where President Carter and U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell could meet with Hispanics.

Other Hispanic leaders who agreed

Monday with Bonilla's demands were Ruben Sandoval, LULAC legal counsel; Joe Bernal, director of the Dallas Action office and former state senator; and Joe Cano, president of American GI Forum.

Civiletti said, however, he thinks the Justice Department has made "substantial progress" in reviewing cases of alleged police brutality. While he refused to discuss specific cases, he said 24 percent of all cases involving Hispanics received by the Justice Department so far this year have been accepted for review compared with 6 percent five years ago.

"But we're not satisfied with that," Civiletti told the disgruntled group. "We intend and want to do better. But we want substantial sentences. Less is nonproductive, discredits the U.S. justice system and is unfair to all members of the community on both sides."

Museum requests additional funds

Officers of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum are appealing for new or increased giving to the museum between now and year's end, or in the first part of 1979.

The museum relies on donations, either outright or in the form of memberships, for approximatly 65 percent of its operating income.

Maurice R. Bullock and Russell J. Ramsland, who head the museum's two volunteer boards, said the museum will need some $96,000 more income in 1979 than in 1978, from new or larger memberships or more liberal year-end giving.

They said the forecast need arises in large part from inflated costs and in part from museum im-

As examples, they said, one mowing of the museum's grounds costs $225, and utilities cost an average of $68 each day the museum is open. To freshen and update some of its exhibits next year, the museum will need more than $20,000.

The officials said the museum's reputation for excellence is spreading. Recently, a group of Japanese tourists had heard of the musueum in Japan and made arrangements to visit.

Folders describing memberships will be mailed to anyone on request to the museum, 1500 Interstate 20 West, Midland.

Bullock and Ramsland said, however, memberships alone will not do the full job. Year-end giving last year fell short of their hopes, they said.

Museum memberships have increased each year in the past three, but in a recent 12-month period they paid only 28 percent of the operating cost.

RRC okays procedure

AUSTIN - The Texas Railroad Commission Monday approved a slightly modified rule on procedures for determination of well categories under the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978.

Chairman Mack Wallace and Commissioners Jon Newton and John H. Poerner acted on the procedural proposal during the weekly conferences for decisions on regulatory matters. It was approved on an emergency basis for a period of 120 days.

Copies of the new rule and application forms for well determination action are now available to interested parties, upon request, at the commission headquarters in Austin.

Also, they are expected to be available today at Oil and Gas Division district office in Midland, Pampa, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, San Antonio, Houston, Corpus Christi, Kilgore, Abilene and San Angelo. The materials also will be available Wednesday at a seminar on the gas policy act being held under the auspices of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Oeners Association at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport. The session, starting at 10 a. m., will be held in the Marina Hotel

The well determination rule was made effective Monday, subject to revisions which may be necessary in the event of changes in rules and procedures promulgated by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. FERC will administer the pricing provisions of the federal gas policy act.

Price ceilings under ghe gas policy act become effective Dec.

The commission's emergency rule is "designed to implement and clarify applicable Federal Energy Regulatory Commission regulations as they apply to Texas with the minimum possible imposition of regulatory burden," states the preamble.

Classification of wells by Texas and other producing states is provided for under the federal gas policy act. However, a state's determination is subject to review by the FERC.

gasoline they can buy continues to be pegged to their deliveries of conventional leaded fuel.

Earlier charges from New Jersey and Connecticut station operators that the company was requiring them to purchase leaded gasoline to get unleaded gas, now in short supply, were contained in a Nov. 17 letter the congressmen sent FTC Chairman Michael Pertschuk

In their letter, Reps. John E. Moss, D-Calif.; Andrew Maguire, D-N.J., and Toby Moffett, D-Conn., said they believed such restraints on the distribution of gasoline, if true, would violate antitrust law.

Moss is chairman of the House

Commerce subcommittee on oversight and investigations. The others are members of the panel. Shortages of unleaded fuel in many parts of the nation have led to wide spread price hikes. The price increases — a couple of cents at many stations — stem from unusually high demand, a result of good driving weather most of the fall tion travel this summer. Shell spokesman Norman Alstedter denied the charge and said that, while the company had heard there was an FTC investigation, it has received no formal notification.

and a great deal of automobile vaca-

A subcommittee source, declining to be identified, said the panel believes Shell discontinued the practice after the letter. "I think the situation is taking care of itself," he said.

Alstedter said Shell has issued instructions to its distribution offices because of the current supply situation." He said the instructions are that when a truck delivers gasoline to a station, the dealer can buy a load of unleaded gasoline without taking the usual amount of leaded gasoline. But several Shell dealers in the Northeast said Monday they still are on an allotment system requiring them to buy a certain amount of leaded high-test and regular gasoline to get unleaded.

"They give me a quota," said Dick Marinello of Dick's Shell Station in Hackensack, N.J. "I have to buy high-test and regular and if I don't take that, I don't get my allotment of unleaded. If I can't take a whole load of the leaded, they won't give me the Bob Grant, manager of Grant's Shell Station in Braintree, Mass., said he must order 6,000 gallons of leaded high-test and regular to get 2,500 gallons of unleaded gasoline.

"This has been going on for four weeks, and they say it may last through December," said Grant, who is limiting his customers to $5 of unleaded gas at each purchase. "It's a hardship on us.' Shell said three weeks ago it was cutting back on supplies of unleaded gasoline to dealers in the Northeast until the supply situation improved. Alstedter said then that stations were being given gasoline "on an equitable

Officials to look at rules

PHOENIX, ARIZ.-Officials from 30 states will examine the impact of the new Natural Gas Policy Act during the Interstate Oil Compact Commission's annual meeting Dec.3-6 in

The complicated Act, which takes effect Dec. 1, is expected to produce a flood of more than 15,000 gas well applications filed with state agencies. While Congress imposed responsibility for processing the applicatins with the state regulatory agencies, no additional funding has been provided by either the Congress or the states. Under the plan, each of the wells will require a certificate to qualify for various gas prices ranging from $1.65 to $2.25 per thousand cubic feet.

The role of the state regulatory agencies in implementing the Act will be discussed by Don S. Smith, Vice-Chairman of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) during a Dec. 4 session. A panel discussion will follow his remarks.

Cuba supplying aid, weapons?

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cuba is believed to be supplying financial aid and weapons, including 50caliber machine guns, to leftist guerrilla forces in Nicaragua, according to a secret intelligence docu-

The information in a report obtained by The Associated Press was based on what were described as "generally reliable" intelligence sources in Panama, which apparently has been acting as a conduit for the Cuban supplies.

The document also confirms previous reports that Venezuela and Panama itself are helping supply the guerrillas.

U.S. officials evaluating the information emphasized that reports of Cuban involvement in guerrilla attempts to overthrow President Anastasio Somoza cannot be fully confirmed. In any event, they said any Cuban support of the guerrillas has been "limit-

Nonetheless, the disclosure seems likely to reinforce fears among some congressional conservatives that the Sandinista guerrillas are trying to convert Nicaragua into "another Cuba."

Other informants who asked to remain anonymous said if the report is accurate it could have considerable significance for the entire Western Hemi-

They noted that the report suggests a retreat from Cuba's decision earlier this decade to end its backing for revolutionary movements in Latin America and concentrate on Africa instead.

"In effect, the Cubans are telling revolutionary forces throughout Latin America that, 'If your movement reaches a critical stage, you can count on us for support," said one informant. Gen. Fernando Vecino Alegret, a veteran of Cuba's involvement in Angola and now Cuban Minister for Higher Education, has denied that Cuba is supporting the Sandinistas. He said during a visit here last week that the Sandinistas have enough backing in Nicaragua to achieve victory on their own. Nonetheless, Cuba's hostility toward Somoza dates back to the early 1960's when Somoza allowed Nicaragua to be used as a staging area for Cuban exile attacks on Cuba. The intelligence document was based, in part, on information supplied by a former Panamanian official, who gave the following account: "According to Moises Torrijos, brother of (Panamanian) National Guard Commander Omar Torrijos, and Abraham Saied, director of Panamanian Social Security, the Cuban government is providing material and financial support to the Sandinista National Liberation Front. Saied said specifically that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro... was sending arms and ammunition to the FSLN (the Sandinistas). Additional information in the document, based on a report from an unidentified current Panamanian government official, said the Panamanian National Guard, during the second week of November, drew up an "accounting of (Cuban) arms which apparently had already been or were to be provided to the Sandinstas. "The accounting listed arms under the heading of three countries: Panama, Venezuela and country 'C.' 'C' was generally assumed, but not known by those who worked on the accounting, to stand for Cuba. Among the arms listed under country 'C' were 'several' 50 caliber machine guns.' The United States has been leading a three-nation mediation effort in Nicaragua, attempting to achieve a peaceful settlement between Somoza and a coalition of business, political and civilian opposition

The mediation effort began after the National Guard and the Sandinistas engaged in a two-week civil war last Septmeber that claimed an estimated 1500 lives. Somoza and the opposition leaders remain far apart, and officials here are fearful warfare may resume at any time The United States has cut off military and economic aid to Nicaragua but some National Guard supplies have been replenished by Israel.

Panel dropping conspiracy hints

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Assassinations Committee is dropping broad hints that it has uncovered evidence of a "Ray family conspiracy" to murder Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a decade ago.

It also is exploring the adequacy of the investigation that led the FBI and Justice Department to identify James Earl Ray as King's sole assas-

The committee summoned former Attorney General Ramsey Clark to testify today on the Justice Department's role in the King probe.

Staff lawyers contend the investigation was hampered by a strained and hostile relationship between Clark and the late FBI director J. Edgar Hoover and that, as a result, the Justice Department played no role in the probe. Meanwhile, the committee chairman, Rep. Louis

Stokes, D-Ohio, raised the possibility that the FBI created the atmosphere in which King was killed by waging an "illegal and unconstitutional" campaign to discredit him with scurilous propaganda. Stokes said Monday the committee will have to decide whether the FBI bears a share of the responsibility for King's death in reaching its conclusions about the case.

Chief Counsel G. Robert Blakey raised some hypothetical questions of his own Monday, hinting to former FBI executive Cartha DeLoach that the committee has found what the FBI could not uncover 10 years ago: evidence that King was the victim of a In a prepared statement, Blakey indicated that the

Chaps open WJCC against NMJC tonight

With a 5-3 record in non-conference play, Midland College opens its Western Junior College Conference scheduled at 8 p.m. today against New Mexico Junior College at the Chaparral Center.

Coach Jerry Stone's Chaparrals managed just one win in three starts in the Scottsdale, Arizona, Sun Classic last week after reaching the finals of the Odessa College Tournament the week before.

The Chaps and Thunderbirds have faced three common foes in pre-league play. MC whipped Wayland JV 103-77, a team the Thunderbirds just squeaked by by two points. NMJC lost to Odessa College, 115-83, in the second round of the OC meet and Midland lost to the Wranglers, 99-78, in the finals. NMJC beat St. Phillips of San Antonio, 100-78, while MC won 88-76 over the same team.

WESTERN TEXAS College once again is the favorite to win the 10team WJCC with OC, Amarillo and Midland expected to provide the NMJC probably falls in the darkhorse threat category. The T-birds from Hobbs, N.M., are led by 6-10 Rod Camp, sophomore from Washington, D.C., and Rod Williams, 6-5 hometown product, who can play forward or is strong enough to go to the post.

Camp is averaging 16.5 points per game while Ronnie Black, a 6-1 sophomore from Lovington, N.M., has a 14.0 average. Also scoring in doubles figures are Williams with 10 and 6-1 Vic Singleton, Hobbs, with

MC HAS gotten good point production out of several players with the most consistent double-figure producers 6-5 Kenneth Young, a freshman from Houston Wheatley; Tim Shelby, a 6-4 freshman from Dallas South Oak Cliff; Henry White, a sophomore from Chicago; 6-5 Chuck McGill, another South Oak Cliff alumnus; Robert Tate, 6-2 freshman

However, sophomore Luis Alvarado, 6-7 postman from El Paso, has the season's single game high, 25 points in the 88-74 win over Scottsdale Community College last week.

The Chaps have no one to match the size of Camp, but hope to offset it with quickness. However, that's a problem MC is confronted with in virtually every game. It will be a busy week for the Chaps, who host their own Chaparral Classic Thursday and Friday.

In Thursday's games, Odessa College plays Laredo JC at 7 p.m. and MC meets Angelo State JV at 9 p.m. while on Friday OC plays Angelo State at 7 p.m. and MC faces Laredo JC at 9 p.m.

Steelers whip 49ers, 24-7

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Terry Bradshaw and Lynn Swann are the National Football League's No. 1 passing combination, and the load carried by the Pittsburgh Steelers' defense seems considerably lighter

"I think we're all starting to play better," said linebacker Jack Ham, who intercepted two passes in Monday night's 24-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

NOT ONLY on offense had the Steelers been struggling, scoring one touchdown in each of their previous two games. Bradshaw was intercepted four times and Swann caught no

"We passed well and ran the ball, too, which is what we have to do,' said Swann after catching two touchdown passes and totaling 134 yards on eight receptions against the 49ers.

THE VICTORY was over a team that went down fighting, 31-28, a week earlier to the Los Angeles Rams, who held the Steelers to just 59 yards rushing two weeks ago.

"The Steelers are a great football team," said Fred O'Connor, 0-4 since becoming San Francisco's head coach. "We have three teams coming up (New Orleans, Tampa Bay and Detroit) that we can compete against.'

If the 49ers, 1-12 after eight straight defeats, lose their final three games, they'll set an NFL record for losses in

"I got my confidence back tonight," said Bradshaw, who took the NFL lead in touchdown passes with his-22nd, an 11-yard toss to John Stallworth in the fourth period.

A REQUEST was made that the game be postponed because of the City Hall assassinations earlier Monday of San Francisco Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk, but the NFL decided the nationally televised would go on as sche-

Pittsburgh made its record 11-2, best in the NFL, and has a two-game lead over the Houston Oilers in the American Football Conference Central Division. The Steelers play in Houston on Sunday and can clinch the title with a victory.

"We'd better be ready for Houston; they'll be ready for us," said Bradshaw. "But right now, I'm enjoying "The first touchdown pass was Terry's all the way. He threw a perfect pass," said Swann, who made an over-the-head catch of the throw deep into the end zone.

Swann eluded two defenders on the next touchdown play, and Bradshaw said: "He's just a great competitor. He improvised on that one.'

Bob Jury, one of the defensive backs faked out by Swann on the second touchdown, said, "He does everything so smoothly, and he's got great speed, too.'

took two weeks." Texas played so poorly that Akers — for the first time this season - declined Monday to name an outstanding offensive or defensive player.

Sims wins Heisman

NEW YORK (AP) -Junior halfback Billy Sims, the nation's leading rusher who smashed the Oklahoma and Big Eight Conference singleseason ground-gaining records, won the Heisman Trophy Tuesday as the nation'sfoutstanding college football player.

In voting so close that a recount was ordered this morning, Sims won out over Penn State quarterback Chuck Fusina, Michigan quarterback Rick Leach and Southern California running back Charles

Sims, a 205-pound speedster from Hooks, Texas, received 151 firstplace votes, 152 secondplace votes and 70 thirdplace ballots for a total of 827 points on a 3-2-1 vote

Fusina received 163 first-place votes, 12 more than Sims, but only 89 second-place votes and 83 first-place ballots for 750 points.

Then came a large drop to Leach, whose totals were 89-58-52 for 435 points. White's total was 37-74-98 for 354

Heisman candidates include two junior backs

NEW YORK (AP) - Two junior running backs and two senior quarterbacks loomed today as the top contenders for the 44th annual Heisman Trophy.

The voting deadline was 9 a.m., EST, today, with announcement of the Heisman winner scheduled for around 12:30 p.m. A spokesman for the Downtown Athletic Club said more than 250 ballots were received Monday.

The leading candidates were believed to be running backs Billy Sims of Oklahoma and Charles White of Southern California and quarterbacks Chuck Fusina of Penn State and Rick Leach of Michigan.

There are some 1,050 Heisman voters and the country is divided into six sections - Mid-Atlantic, Northeast. Midwest, South, Southwest and which the Downtown A.C. awards annually to "the outstanding college football player in the United States,' the DAC also presents six additional awards, inaugurated last year, to the top offensive back, offensive end, offensive lineman, defensive back, linebacker and defensive lineman as voted by the Heisman electors.

As opposed to recent years, which such stars as Earl Campbell, Tony Dorsett and Archie Griffin were obvious winners, this year's Heisman race appeared to be going down to the wire. A club spokesman said Monday that the voting was extremely close among several unidentified candi-

The club spokesman said that according to the accounting firm of Harris, Kerr, Forster & Co., which tabulates the ballots, the voting was so close that it wouldn't be decided until this morning.

Except for two-way ends Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Leon Hart of Notre Dame in 1949 and Nebraska flanker Johnny Rodgers in 1972, every Heisman Trophy has been won by a quarterback or a running back.

Sims, who has completed his regular season, is the nation's leading rusher and scorer with 1,762 yards and 20 touchdowns in 11 games. White gained a career-high 205 yards against Notre Dame on Saturday and has 1,608 yards in 11 games with one regular-season contest remaining against Hawaii next weekend.

Leach, a four-year starter, has quarterbacked Michigan to a national record 38 victories in that stretch and has accounted for 81 touchdowns by rushing or passing, another mark. Fusina led Penn State to an 11-0 regular-season record and a No. ranking in The Associated Press poll by completing 137 of 242 passes.

Ram star will not play tilts

LOS ANGELES (AP) Los Angeles line backer Isiah Robertson, a veteran of six Pro Bowl games but now a Rams' reserve, has been suspended without pay for two weeks, the National Football League team announced.

Robertson was suspended Monday for 'conduct detrimental to the football team," according to Coach Ray Malavasi, who said the right-side linebacker would not practice for the next two weeks and would miss games against the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Bengals.

The coach would not reveal the reason for his action, and Robertson was not available for comment.

The former All-Pro defenseman lost his starting job midway through this season to secondyear linebacker Bob Brudzinski, the Rams' top draft choice out of Ohio State in 1977.

Robertson had walked out of former Coach George Allen's training camp last July "to get his head together," and later walked out for a day after Malavasi had taken over, returning both times.

After losing his job to Brudzinski, Robertson had voiced his displeasure, saying, "I will not play behind Bob Brud-

The 29-year-old Robertson had said, "I don't think I have to prove anything. How many guys have been All-Pro as many times as I? Listen, there are people trying to analyze the Rams' linebacking situation who just don't have the expertise to do it.

"They should come to me. I'm the professor. I'm the best. I'm the Bible. I'm a registered quarter horse.

Robertson did not play at all in the Rams' 30-19 loss to the Brotwns in Cleveland last Sunday.

Coach Abe Lemons looked at his Texas team before Monday night's home game against Northern Montana and didn't like what he saw.

'We looked like zombies in the dressing room and I wasn't sure what . was going to happen," said Lemons. But we came out and played hard, which is what I wanted to see.'

It was all too much for the visitors, who got stampeded by the 13thranked Longhorns 148-71. Senior guard Jim Krivacs scored 43 points as Texas recorded the most points ever by a Southwest Conference team, breaking the mark of 139 points set by Baylor against Trinity in 1965.

"The score doesn't make a lot of difference," maintained Lemons. "It was the way we kept playing hard, which was good to see.

IN OTHER GAMES involving Top 20 teams, No. 1 Duke struggled past Southern Methodist 86-80, No. 7 Michigan StateGwhipped Central Michigar 71-54 and No. 11 Louisiana State easily beat New Orleans 64-42.

Texas obliterated the school scoring record, which had been 117 against Arkansas in 1972. And it wasn't all that far away from the NCAA singlegame scoring record set by Nevada-Las Vegas in a 164-111 victory over Hawaii-Hilo in 1976, or the NCAA's 91-point margin of victory record set by Louisiana State in a 124-33 victory over Southwestern, Tenn., in 1952. Tyrone Branyan had 15 points and 13 rebounds for Texas while guard John Moore had 13 points and 19 assists. Krivacs had 10 assists.

Texas, which had been ranked sixth in The Associated Press' preseason poll, fell to 13th this week after losing its season opener to Long Beach State 71-66 Saturday night.

"If you had seen us play the other night, you would have wondered how we could have ever won a game at all," said Lemons. "But we kind of got after them tonight and I was glad

Duke didn't play particularly well but still won, which pleased Coach Bill Foster. "It comes out a win and we have things that we have to work on," he said. "It was a good game for us like that."

Guard Jim Spanarkel led Duke with 21 points, center Mike Gminski scored 20 and forward Gene Banks had 18. The Blue Devils trailed 39-36 at the half, took the lead early in the second half and turned back repeated threats by Southern Methodist in the late

Jones resigns post at ACU

Jones, whose two-year record as Abilene Christian University's football coach was the best ever, has resigned to become part owner of a new Abilene sporting goods store.

Jones, 35, said Monday the resignation is effective on Thursday.

He led the Wildcats to a two-year record of 18-4-1.

In 1977, his first year at ACU, his team won the NAIA Division I national championship with an 11-1-1 record. This year's team was 7-3 and finished second in the rugged Lone Star Conference.

"This is an excellent business op-Duke this year. They get loose balls, slap it away and block shots."

SEVENTH-RANKED Michigan State opened its season with an easy victory over Central Michigan as Gregory Kelser scored 30 points, many coming after quick passes from playmaker Earvin Johnson, who had 14 points and 11 assists.

The game was close until Michigan State put on a 17-4 spurt late in the first half. The Spartans led 34-22 at the half and were never in trouble after intermission.

"We got off to a slow start but I have to give the credit there to Central Michigan," said Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote. "We were glad to get a few points ahead. We got a couple fast breaks with Earvin passing off the ball and we were able to take charge a little bit. But at no time did we play like we wanted to.'

LOUISIANA STATE got 21 points and 10 rebounds from forward Durand Macklin in routing New Orleans. LSU Coach Dale Brown used 15 players and just about every offensive pattern and defensive set during the lopsided game, in which LSU scored the first nine points and never

Elsewhere, Kelvin Ransey scored a career-high 31 points on 15-for-21 shooting and Herb Williams added 27 as Ohio State beat Miami of Ohio 85-69, Indiana State held Purdue to three field goals in the final eight minutes and beat the Boilermakers 63-53 behind All-American Larry

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Duke's Blue Devils, a convincing 25point winner over Western Kentucky, remained atop The Associated Press' college basketball poll after the first major weekend of action.

The Blue Devils, rated No.1 in the pre-season poll, garnered 42 of 51 firstplace votes and 1,016 points in voting by a nationwide committee of sports writers and broadcasters, and held a wide margin over runner-up UCLA.

The Bruins, who posted victories over Boise State and DePaul last weekend, received six first-place votes and 225 points to remain second.

Notre Dame, which did not play last weekend, received one first-place vote and 829 points to hold third place.

Numerous teams seek grid title

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent From the cracker and cotton country of the Deep South, up through Western Pennsylvania, weaving through the oil wells of Oklahoma, into the bustling auto capital of Michigan and out to sunny California, people by the thousands are running around in broad daylight with their index fingers pointing toward the

WHAT'S HAPPENED? Has the country suddenly gone berserk? Are they a bunch of zany Chicken Littles warning that the sky is falling? Are the Martians pouring in from outer space? Is Orson Welles panicking the country with another of his electronic fantasies? Relax. Nothing like that. It's almost showdown time for one of the country's most sacred holiday rituals selection of the college football team rated the best of the season. It's an occasion that inflames passions, pricks regional pride, stirs loyalties and triggers bitter contro-"We're No.1!" "We're No.1!"

"We're No.l!" It's a cry resounding throughout the East, proud of unbeaten Penn State, and echoing around the campuses of such gridiron giants as Alabama, Southern California, Oklahoma and

Unfortunately, there is no fixed formula for arriving at an authentic, unchallenged champion as in the case of the National Football's League's Super Bowl, baseball's World Series and other sports competitions, including those under the aegis of the NCAA

THE REASON: The post-season football bowls, dating back 76 years to the 1902 Rose Bowl, have become so strongly entrenched and so lucrative that not even the powerful NCAA dares tinker with them.

Until the NCAA sets up a post-season playoff formula, long advocated by coaches, there probably never will be a truly undisputed college champion. Picked by polls, the result never is completely satisfying. Passed-over teams and their supporters - such as Alabama last year when Notre Dame received the nod - inevitably yell "foul."

Buckle your seat belts. It's certain to happen again as the pawns fall into place for this year's bowl extravaganza. Penn State, rated No.1 on the only perfect record (11-0) extant among the major teams, probably will play 9-1 Alabama in the Sugar Bowl in a game that to all intents and purposes should settle the issue - provided Alabama beats Auburn Saturday, no lead-pipe cinch. But violent protests would be certain to erupt from the winner of the Rose Bowl game between Southern California (10-1) and Michigan (10-1). Southern Cal beat Alabama convincingly 24-14 earlier in the year. Michigan boasts the second best defense and the fourth highest scoring offense in the country - impressive creden-

What about Oklahoma, the nation's most devastating ground machine with an average of 427.5 yards rushing and 40 points average per game? Should the speedy Sooners, in the Orange Bowl, avenge their only loss against Nebraska, the country's total offense champion (501.5 yards a game), how are you going to convince supporters that Oklahoma shouldn't

EVEN OVERLOOKED Clemson (10-l), uniquely ranked in the Top Five in both fewest points allowed (10.5) and points scored (31.9) per game, could raise a legitimate howl if it should beat Ohio State in the Gator

Why not a compromise plan utilizing the established bowls as elimination sites and designating the title game annually for one of the four oldest bowls - Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange — on a rotation basis?

Like this, hypothetically this year: Dec.9 (Quarter-finals) - Cotton: Oklahoma (10-1) vs. Clemson (10-1); Gator: Penn State (11-0) vs. Nebraska (9-2); Astro-Bluebonnet: Houston (8-2) vs. Alabama (9-1-0) or Georgia (8-1-1); Fiesta: Southern Cal (10-1) vs. Michigan (10-1).

Dec. 16: (Semifinals), Survivors in Orange, Sugar Bowls.

Jan. 1 (Championship), Rose Bowl (deference to age).

The eight finalists could be chosen on their records. It's not arguable that such a plan would extend the season too long. Bowl games now stretch from Dec. 20 to Jan. 13. Other bowls such as Hall of Fame, Holiday, Sun, Liberty, Tangerine and Peach could be fed into the system alternately or could carry on independently. Just give us an undisputed cham-

Oklahoma State into more trouble with NCAA

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A Big Eight Conference investigative report on the Oklahoma State football program says there are indications of the possibility of serious violations of conference and NCAA rules, an Oklahoma City newspaper said today.

In a front-page story for its final editions, The Daily Oklahoman said it has viewed a 19-page Big Eight report mailed to Oklahoma State officials 10

The report, according to The Oklahoman, says funds provided by the North Central Oklahoma Businessmen's Association Inc. were channeled through at least two different persons to assist football players.

The paper quoted the report as saying at least a dozen potential or eventual Cowboy football players told investigators they were offered andor accepted financial aid, either in direct payment or in the form of free use of automobiles, free rent, free airline tickets for themselves or their girlfriends or parents, subsidies for their families such as homes, jobs, direct cash payments and other inducements.

The story, by Lynda Fillmore, also said that Oklahoma State President Dr. Lawrence Boger and faculty representative Ray Chapel discussed rumors about an alleged recruiting slush fund with Big Eight Commissioner Charles Neinas on April 5.

"This investigation was complicated by a number of factors, but the allegations which surfaced indicate the possibility of serious violations of conference and individual rules," the paper quoted the report as saying. 'Unfortunately, the two individuals who were in the best position to be of assistance declined to talk with both the Big Eight Conference and the

Steelers whip San Francisco

Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said: "As far as I'm concerned, we had a defensive shutout. We gave them a gift." A messed-up handoff from Bradshaw to Rocky Bleier resulted in a fumble, which rookie defensive lineman Willie McCray recovered at Pittsburgh's 5-yard line. Hofer scored on a fourth-down play. Despite allowing that touchdown, the Steelers now have given up the fewest points, 162, in the NFL. "You don't think about the stats. but it's nice to be No. 1," said Ham. The Steelers had 212 yards rushing even though Franco Harris, who had 61 and raised his season total to 907, sat out the second half with a pinched nerve in a shoulder.

"He could have played," said Noll. In other words, he will be playing at

Stock market mixed stock market continued its recent meandering course today, with stock prices mixed in light trading. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues slipped 43 to 813.41 at noon. But gainers led losers 7-4 on the New York Stock Exchange. Analysts pointed to a lack of solid news to explain the market's sluggishness. What news there was was not very favorable, albeit expected: The Labor Department said consumer prices rose 0.8 percent in October, matching the September increase but below August's

0.6 percent rise. Traders appeared to be awaiting Wedneday's scheduled announcement of October's figures on the U.S. trade balance, which are expected by analysts to be along the lines of September's $1.7 billion increase Sony led the active list unchanged at 734. A 125,000share block crossed at that price.

The NYSE's composite average of all its listed stocks gained .04 to 53.60 in the first two hours of trading. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .06 to 148.78.

Volume on the Big Board was a slow 8.37 million shares at noon, compared to 9.59 million shares at the same time Monday.
