

Embassy official carries reminder of ambush

Richard A. Dwyer

By LEW WHEATON

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — The U.S. Embassy's second-in-command is back at his desk, his body still carrying the bullet fired at him by cultists who killed a U.S. congressman and four other persons in the prelude to the mass deaths at Jonestown.

"It hurts more now than it did when I was shot," Richard A. Dwyer said, sitting down gingerly in an office chair, as he told his story for the first time to The Associated Press late Thursday and early Friday.

The 45-year-old Dwyer, deputy chief of mission at the embassy, escorted a party headed by Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., to the Jonestown camp and was leading it out the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 18, when the group was attacked at an airstrip by members of Jonestown's Peoples Temple sect. A small-caliber bullet struck Dwyer near the base of his spine, lodging against his pelvis, and doctors have since decided to leave it there.

A short time after the attack more than 900 cultists died in a frenzy of suicide and murder at the camp.

The Ryan party, which included newsmen, had gone to Jonestown to investigate reports of abuse of sect members. On the way out, they were escorting several residents who wanted to leave the settlement.

Some of the party were already aboard the two planes that were to take them back to Georgetown when "all of a sudden somebody started shooting at us," recounted Dwyer, of Michigan City, Ind.

"The congressman ran by me and we both ran around the nose-wheel" of the De Havilland Otter, the larger plane. The gunfire came at first from a camp tractor-trailer that had driven up alongside the runway.

"Ryan was hit, but I saw him take shelter behind the nose-wheel. I was headed for the bush across the runway when I saw them firing at us from the truck parked on the other side and I knew I wouldn't make it.

"I hit the deck, and that must have been when they shot me. I don't remember feeling it hit. I lay on my back and played dead.

"I remember worrying that because I was wearing dark blue slacks the blood wasn't going to show up well enough. I was debating whether to smear some around on my shirt to make it look better.

"I was waiting there for the second shot and thinking about things my wife had told me to do that I hadn't got done. Then I heard a shotgun blast close up. There were two blasts. I flinched with each shot and wondered when he was going to get to me.

"There was silence. Then I heard the tractor start up and it left....

"I looked at the congressman. He was clearly dead. Part of his head was blown away. The same was true for (NBC correspondent Don) Harris."

Dwyer said he checked two other journalists and found they were dead, then removed the body of the fifth victim, a woman member of the Peoples Temple, from the Otter, where it was still belted into a seat.

Able-bodied survivors carried the wounded into the bush in case of another attack. Dwyer said he knew they must get the twin-engine Otter into the air before dark.

"The pilot was still in his seat. I walked over to talk with him and walked right into the propeller. It sliced the sleeve off my shirt. It was one of the dumbest things I've ever done in my life."

The Otter was damaged, apparently in the attack, and could not take off. Dwyer had the pilot send an emergency radio message, and later the smaller Cessna took off carrying both

Shell stations to limit hours

By The Associated Press

Many of Shell's 18,400 gasoline stations have decided to cut back operating hours in the wake of an announcement by the nation's largest gasoline marketer that it is short of fuel.

More than two dozen Shell dealers polled at random Friday said they were limiting their hours, and some are laying off employees because of the supply problem announced Thursday.

Other major companies say they have no plans to match Shell's move, but acknowledge they are having trouble keeping up with the high gasoline demand created by widespread mild fall weather that extended the summer driving season long past the traditional Labor Day fall-off. Repair shutdowns at two Shell refineries aggravated the problem.

Shell, with 8 percent of the nation's 200,000 service stations, is limiting dealers' gasoline supplies to about 75 percent of previous amounts.

"It will make quite a bit of difference," said Jim Minton, manager of a Shell station in Indianapolis. "I'll have to cut my hours by about half, close on Sundays and close no later than 8 p.m. It's going to be bad for me."

"I don't totally understand the reasons," said Wayne Weinschreider, owner of a Cleveland station. "But I understand that I will have to close my night shift. I was open 24 hours. I'll have to lay off a lot of employees."

According to Shell, the shortage

Midland motorists fear shortages

Customers at Midland's Shell gasoline stations will find mixed results from a cutback on gasoline deliveries started by the company Friday, according to station operators.

Midland's three Shell station operators' projections of the effect on their stations ranged from none to substantial.

But motorists fearing widespread shortages were out in force Friday filling up their tanks, anyway. One non-Shell service station operator said he was exhausted after an unusually busy afternoon of filling up cars of worried motorists.

Shell officials Friday began cutting back deliveries to stations to 75 percent of the gas they normally would be allocated. The officials cited a "dramatic increase in demand" for gas and shutdowns at two refineries for the decreased allotments.

Meanwhile, B.C. Bell of the Shell Refinery in Odessa said the shortage of gasoline reported by the company actually hasn't been felt in this area.

"It's other areas, and West Texas is caught up in it because of the regulation that if you allocate anywhere in the country, you must allocate everywhere you market," Bell said.

Bell said demand for gas usually decreases after Labor Day. But this year, he said, in part because of "unrealistically low (federally imposed) prices," demand actually has increased.

The refinery official said he hopes the company-imposed shortages will end by the end of December, though the rationing may continue into January.

Whatever the law of supply and demand says, customers won't notice any increase in price, Bell said. In fact, the price has even dropped a half-cent. Bell said that's because of the complicated formula which bases the maximum price the company can charge for gasoline partly on the amount of foreign crude oil a company uses.

Among Midland stations, one owner said he won't have any problem because he usually pumps less gas in a month than he will get even under the reduced allocations.

Another said he received a full load this week, and already had some in storage, so he won't have much problem unless the reduction continues into January. However, he said he will close all day Dec. 24 and 25.

The third operator, however, said his business will be hurt badly because his operation is completely self-serve now, but wasn't for the period on which the allocation is based.

To cope with the shortage, he plans to start closing on Sunday. In addition, he said, he will ration himself for each day, closing when that amount of gas is pumped.

Shining in the night, but for two different reasons, are lights initiating the start of the Christmas season and the end of football. Taken at the corner of G and Cuthbert streets, lights strung on tree branches at a residence on West Cuthbert Avenue are among the few early decorations that can be viewed at night in Midland. Lights in the background at Memorial Stadium signal the winding down of the hectic football season in which Slaton and Kermit battled for the AA regional football championship Friday. The stadium lights also add their brilliance to the start of the yuletide season. (Staff Photo by Mike Kardos)

Carter tackling peace deadlock

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and an emissary of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat explored prospects Friday for breaking the deadlock in the Mideast peace talks.

The White House session with Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil, who carried a message from Sadat, could be pivotal in the effort to complete a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel.

Talks between the two countries have been stalemated over whether the agreement should directly clear the way for Palestinian self-rule on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Egypt has insisted that the treaty do just that, with a specific, four-step timetable. Israel is willing only to restate a commitment given at the Camp David, Md., summit in September to negotiate Palestinian autonomy once the treaty is wrapped up.

The United States, having accepted the role of "full partner" in the negotiations, is trying to bridge these differences with compromise proposals.

Khalil, a 58-year-old American-educated engineer, began his discussions here Friday with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

In a meeting with reporters earlier, Carter said that "we will be persistent and tenacious" in seeking a Middle East peace treaty. At a news conference Thursday the president said he was "discouraged, disappointed" with the slow progress being made by Egyptian and Israeli negotiators.

The United States has proposed setting the end of 1979 as a target date for moving toward a civil authority to direct the affairs of the 1.1 million Palestinian Arabs who live on the West Bank and in Gaza.

The Vance formula also proposed that Egypt and Israel agree to language in the treaty's preamble affirming the commitment to hold a second round of negotiations over the Palestinians.

Reversing itself, Israel accepted the preamble provision. But it did not accept the target-date approach.

Egypt did not act on the American proposal.

Sheriff to continue investigation of alleged absentee irregularities

Although the grand jury explained as human error the switch in originally reported results in the Precinct 2 county commissioner race, investigation of the Nov. 7 election isn't over yet.

Now that he has access to public records concerning absentee voting, Sheriff Dallas Smith Friday said he plans to continue his investigation of alleged irregularities in absentee ballots mailed to certain elderly persons.

Those allegations do not relate especially to the Precinct 2 race, however, according to Smith.

In that Precinct 2 race, incumbent Charlie Welch won by 21 votes after a recount. Election night reports indicated Welch had lost that race, ironically by the same margin, to Republican challenger Sam Snoddy.

Snoddy is expected to announce next week plans to contest the results of that race.

Thursday, the grand jury reported it found human error to be the cause of the original reporting error in that race. According to the grand jury, straight-ticket ballots in other commissioner precincts were counted erroneously as votes in the Precinct 2 race, the only contested commissioner's post.

County Clerk Rosenelle Cherry, who requested the grand jury investigation, said Friday the extra ballots counted were recorded in such a way they did not show up on the separate tally sheet for Precinct 2, but rather were added into the totals for precincts 1, 3 and 4.

Before the grand jury investigation certain records that ordinarily would be public, including those Smith was seeking, were impounded by order from 142nd District Court Judge Perry D. Pickett.

Mrs. Cherry said the only reason the records, other than the ballots themselves, were impounded was that they happened to be in the same rooms with the ballots.

Now that the grand jury investigation is over, they are available in the county clerk's office for public inspection, Mrs. Cherry said.

The ballots themselves, however, are still closed to public view.

FBI 'sky spy' tells of tracking Cullen Davis

HOUSTON (AP) — An FBI "spy in the sky" told Friday of aerially tracking millionaire Cullen Davis on an erratic route to a fateful meeting and subsequent arrest in a bizarre murder conspiracy case.

"The vehicle appears to be cleaning itself," an FBI flight observer Larry Tongate said he radioed ground units that fateful August morning.

"And what does cleaning mean...?"

a prosecutor asked.

"It means someone is surveillance-conscious and is trying to find if someone is following them," replied Tongate, the final witness in the state's marathon murder-for-hire case against Davis.

However, prosecutors said at the close of Friday's session they will wait until Monday morning to formally rest the case. They said they wanted to "take a weekend to decide" about the possibility of putting on more testimony.

The defense, headed by Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, said it would be prepared to call its first witness Monday morning.

Tongate said he was one of three agents aboard the surveillance aircraft that monitored the Aug. 20 meeting between Davis and informant David McCrory, 40, the state's key witness.

The fixed-wing aircraft tracked Davis on a zig-zag route from his Fort Worth office to the rendezvous point Sunday morning and directed ground units to the subsequent arrest site.

MidTran gets state funding

AUSTIN — MidTran in Midland took another step forward to becoming a reality Friday when the availability of state funds for the project was certified here by the State Highways and Public Transportation Commission. The federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration, which will finance 80 percent of the project, now will be advised that state funding assistance for the $184,000 program is available. The public transportation project will include the purchase of seven new 15-passenger vans, 16 communications units, two wheelchair lifts and contingency funding. The vans will be used for a "demand-responsive transportation system" for the city of Midland, a system of transportation designed specifically to meet that city's needs. The local share of the project is $12,936, while the state will pick up the remaining $24,024.

Sadat won't appear in Norway with Begin to claim peace prize

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has decided not to pick up his Nobel Peace Prize in person with co-winner Menachem Begin in Norway Dec. 10, a top aide said Friday. Sadat's move appeared to rule out for the time being a new summit meeting with the Israeli prime minister. The aide, Sayed Marei, said the decision was not meant as a protest of the current deadlock in the Egyptian-Israeli peace talks. Sadat will not attend the Nobel ceremony because he is "busy following the developments" in the negotiations, Marei said. But another Egyptian official said privately that Israel's stance in the impasse over Palestinian self-rule forced Sadat to reverse his previous acceptance of the invitation to the Nobel ceremony in Oslo. "He just could not meet with Begin in these circumstances," the official said. "Begin is being very difficult." The snub, sure to anger the Israelis, immediately offended the Norwegians. "If President Sadat stays at home and Prime Minister Begin comes to Oslo to accept his share of the peace prize, it could only be considered both an embarrassment and a scandal," commented the newspaper Arbeiderbladet, which is close to Norway's ruling Labor Party. There was no immediate reaction from officials in Israel to Sadat's decision. Begin was quoted on the state radio as saying he believes two or three more weeks of negotiations would be needed to reach a peace agreement. But he did not indicate whether Israel had changed its take-it-or-leave-it attitude on the American draft peace treaty the Israelis have approved. The Norwegian Nobel Committee awarded the prize jointly to the Egyptian and Israeli leaders for their efforts toward establishing a Mideast peace, begun a year ago when Sadat journeyed to Jerusalem and first met with Begin. Begin has accepted the invitation to receive the award personally. Marei, a former Parliament speaker and a close confidant of Sadat's, said the president has designated him to accept the award in his name. The Egyptian president said last week the status of the Washington peace talks would influence his decision on whether to attend the Nobel ceremony. Marei said the decision is final. The peace talks have stalled over the question of how strongly an Egyptian-Israeli treaty should be linked to progress toward Palestinian autonomy in the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, now occupied by Israel. The Israelis refuse Egypt's demand for a firm timetable for Palestinian self-rule.

No conspiracy uncovered in King's assassination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House assassinations committee completed its public inquiry into the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Friday without exposing a clear conspiracy in the assassination of the civil rights leader. "The evidence tends to paint the outlines of a conspiracy," Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, the committee's chairman, said at the end of the final public hearing. But he added in an interview: "I'm not sure, given the passage of time, that we proved conclusively that there was a conspiracy." King was killed in Memphis, Tenn., on April 4, 1968. James Earl Ray pleaded guilty to the assassination a year later, but later recanted his confession and said he was framed. While not reaching any final conclusions about its two-year inquiry, the committee has said the evidence points to some involvement by Ray's brothers, Jerry and John. Investigators also explored the existence of an alleged $50,000 offer by two St. Louis businessmen for King's death in 1968. Investigators found a half dozen persons with direct links to the Ray brothers also had direct or indirect contacts with the two St. Louis men, who were, like the Ray brothers, active in the 1968 presidential campaign of George Wallace. Committee counsel G. Robert Blakey has said because a congressional committee cannot use grand jury investigative techniques or obtain authority to use wiretaps, and because 10 years have passed, there were inherent limitations on how far the investigation could go.

Davis defense team ready to call first witness Monday

(Continued from Page 1A) and charged him in a bizarre scheme to kill a divorcee judge and others. A composite FBI sound and visual recording of the Davis-McCrory meeting captured the alleged $25,000 payoff for a "hit man" and was the high point of the state case. The trial began Oct. 30 and testimony started a week later. The crack defense team, promising some "surprises," was expected to launch its case Monday with a routine request for an instructed verdict of acquittal. And the judge was expected just as routinely to reject it. Haynes, meanwhile, spent much of Friday conducting a free-wheeling verbal assault on Texas Ranger John Hogg, one of a dozen or more state and federal officers involved in the case. The crafty Houston lawyer tore apart a written report Hogg submitted after the August arrest and used the memorandum to attack McCrory's sworn account of the episode. Hogg admitted the report was marred by hearsay, errors, omissions and oversights and implied at one point that he submitted it primarily to recover expenses for his assignment. The sandy-haired Ranger apolo-

Shell dealers plan to limit working hours

(Continued from Page 1A) could last through early January. "Demand for Shell gasoline has not only failed to taper off, but has actually increased to record levels," said Shell spokesman Norman Altstedter. Part of the cutback plan includes limiting the amount of unleaded gasoline a dealer can get to 38 percent of total supply. Many dealers say unleaded accounts for more than half of their sales. Unleaded demand has risen by more than 10 percent this year compared to 3 percent for all types of gasoline, the American Petroleum Institute reports. Tight supplies could continue in the spring and summer if demand stays high and refineries are unable to produce sufficient reserves for peak driving months. The petroleum institute says inventories are 13 percent behind last year. The shortage has caused slight increases in the price at the pump recently, but Shell suggested federal controls were holding prices so low that motorists were encouraged to drive.

Area raid by police yields guns

BIG SPRING, Texas (AP) — Police raided a trailer park on the west side of Big Spring early Friday and confiscated 13 guns they said were taken from a burglary in Colorado City, Texas. Four persons were arrested. Three of them were jailed in Howard County Jail on bonds totalling $100,000 each. Justice of the Peace Bobby West said formal charges will be filed Monday for felony possession of marijuana, felony possession of a controlled drug and felony theft. Officers found two pounds of marijuana and six grams of heroin in the 12:05 a.m. raid, West said. A small amount of some other substance also was found, he said. Authorities said the 11 rifles and two pistols they recovered are believed to have been taken in a burglary from a firearms repair shop in Colorado City, 38 miles east of Big Spring.

Warm weather to end

The sunny skies and warm temperatures that were expected to greet Midlanders when they awoke today should be enjoyed to the fullest, for they probably won't last long. A cold front should be moving into the area this afternoon, according to the weatherman. The best place to be around 3 p.m. today, he said, is inside with a roaring fire in the fireplace and a football game on television.

lowing the front, the weatherman said. High today should be in the low 60s with the mercury dropping to near 30 tonight. High Sunday should be in the low 50s. Southwesterly winds of 15 to 20 mph and gusty early today are expected to shift to northeasterly at 15 to 25 mph and gusty late today. Friday's high was a warm 70 degrees. This still did not match the record high for that date of 79 degrees set in 1950. The overnight low was 37 degrees, still warmer than the record low of 25 degrees set in 1976. No precipitation has been recorded this month.

gized repeatedly for the obvious inconsistencies and inaccuracies in the type-written account, but the gestures were lost on Haynes. "Don't apologize," he barked. "Just answer the questions." Haynes took Hogg step-by-step through his role in the case and then covered a number of contradictions in the sworn testimony of McCrory and others. "I believe he's been more valuable to us than the state," a defense lawyer quipped. However, it was Hogg who earlier gave jurors a new and surprising insight into McCrory that perhaps revealed a sensitivity not previously evident. Hogg testified that minutes after McCrory's August betrayal of Davis, a one-time drinking and pool-shooting companion, the former karate instructor was distraught and in tears. "He was visibly shaken, his cheeks wet with tears," Hogg said.

Ronald D. Kane OKMULGEE, OKLA. — Ronald D. Kane, 76, father of Mrs. Paul (Pat) Henderson of Midland, died Friday in an Okmulgee hospital. He was employed by the Phillips Petroleum Co. in Okmulgee, Okla., 41 years. Other survivors include his wife, two brothers and three grandsons.

Dwyer tells story of ambush

(Continued from Page 1A) pilots and one of the injured. Dwyer, meanwhile, spotted a Guyanese defense force lieutenant and three soldiers with automatic weapons near the end of the runway, close to a damaged plane they had been sent to repair. "I asked them the obvious question — 'Where the hell were you?'" Dwyer recalled. "The lieutenant said he couldn't tell what was happening. He said it looked like Americans shooting at Americans and it happened too quickly for him to do anything." After dark, Dwyer had the badly wounded placed in the soldiers' tent and shepherded the others to a nearby tavern. The diplomat and Bob Flick of NBC

then stood watch over the wounded all night, "holding their heads so they wouldn't choke on their own vomit or blood." Guyanese troops arrived Sunday morning and secured the airstrip. The survivors were ferried out by plane, Dwyer finally leaving Sunday afternoon. "I went home and burned my clothes. They were pretty much a mess. The embassy nurse came over and gave me a tetanus shot. I talked with the ambassador and went to bed. The next day I went over to the hospital and checked in." He was released last Saturday. Survivors of the airstrip attack were full of praise for Dwyer's performance. "He was fantastic, a very brave man," said one. "I didn't even know he was wounded until somebody told me later." Dwyer says he was just doing his job. "There were certain things that needed to be done," he said. "They were not difficult things. As the only representative of the American government there, it was my job." Dwyer had met Peoples Temple leader Jim Jones, who ordered the mass suicide-murder, only once before the fatal Saturday. "He seemed completely rational, though he told me that at times he felt like he was getting paranoid. I told him it was a good sign that he recognized that." That meeting was in May. At their final encounter Nov. 18, Jones "was noticeably different.

He walked haltingly, with assistance. He seemed to ramble and didn't speak as logically as he had before." A physician who treated Jones and other sources have said he was seriously ill. Was there some chain that bound the Peoples Temple together so tightly its members could poison themselves? "Yes. It was all Jim Jones," Dwyer said. "These people are not your average Americans. The whole thing wasn't normal, to go up into the jungles of Guyana in the first place wasn't normal... "But I do want to say there were a lot of people who wanted to be up there. A lot felt they were doing something and belonged to something, many perhaps for the first time."

Democrats lick political wounds

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Democrats licked their political wounds Friday and pledged that Republican Bill Clements would be a one-term governor.

"Let Bill Clements have his day because he is going to have an inauguration only one time," said Sandra Davis, member of the State Democratic Executive Committee. She moved that Democrats hold a "victory" reception on the day the legislature opens, Jan. 9, instead of competing with Clements' supporters at the Jan. 16 inauguration. Excess profits from the $25-per-couple Democratic affair will go into the state party treasury.

"This is still a Democratic state," said Travis County Commissioner Ann Richards. "Lots of Democrats want to celebrate the election of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Attorney General Mark White and the election of the majority of the officials of Texas."

Attorney General John Hill, who lost to Clements by about 16,000 votes, warned the state Democratic committee in its special session that Clements would try to exploit the governor's office for the benefit of the Republican Party.

Hill noted that Clements has said he was dedicated to the defeat of President Carter in 1980.

"This is a clear warning you can expect the governor's office to be used the next two years to fight the national Democratic ticket," Hill said. "That's why we need to fight harder and stick together closer over the next two years."

Later, at the urging of State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg, the committee approved the creation of a watchdog or "Monitoring" committee. "One of the things we want to watch for is to see where the millions of dollars come from to pay off Clements' campaign loans and how this relates to state business... He's in the drilling business and this committee needs to examine drilling permits closely and what his company is doing."

Hill told reporters that he has had many calls from Democrats and "there is a lot of sentiment in the party for me to continue" as party leader. "I'm willing to serve as the leader or as part of a leadership team, whichever is better for the party."

The committee passed without opposition a resolution saying the state committee would "assume full responsibility as the governing body of the Texas Democrat Party."

Goldberg told the committee he considered this a vote of confidence and an answer to speculation that Goldberg might resign.

"We won't have the governor's office on our side but we will have a lot of angry Democrats on our side," he said.

The committee also asked its rules committee to draw up enforcement procedures for a present policy that party officials must support party nominees or be removed. There were several reports of Democratic precinct and county chairmen defecting to Clements.

"This is for party officers only," Goldberg said. "We welcome back any Democratic voters no matter who they voted for in November."

Betty Sterzing named YMCA director of women's fitness

Betty Sterzing has been appointed director of the Women's Health Fitness Center in the Central YMCA. She assumed her new duties Friday, according to Y Director Joe Ellis. Ms. Sterzing replaces Barbara Reynolds who resigned recently.

Ms. Sterzing, formerly assistant director of the facility, will combine a background in dance and nursing to offer women in the group an individualized weight training program, a walk-jog program and cardiovascular program designed especially for women.

"The weights program will direct women in using weights to restructure muscle groups and eliminate figure problems," she said.

"We will, of course, continue exercise classes and fitness education," she added.

Ms. Sterzing is certified by the national YMCA as an advanced physical fitness specialist and is a member of the Orchesis National Dance Association.

She also is a member of the Theatre Midland dance company and has taught aerobic dance and Middle Eastern dance at the Central Y and at Midland College.

She attended Lindenwood College and Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and The University of Texas at Austin.

Her nursing experience was in St. David's Hospital and Breckenridge Hospital in Austin.

The Women's Health Fitness Center is a 300-member group open to females over high school age.

Lufkin's Charles Wilson isn't taking death threats lightly

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, isn't taking the latest death threat against him lightly, claiming it is a "classic tactic of communist terrorists."

"Just for the record, I want to say I am taking the threats seriously and intend to take proper precautions," Wilson said from his vacation spot in Mexico during a telephone interview arranged by a third party.

Wilson and Rep. John Murphy, D-New York, were threatened in a letter mailed to Washington columnist Jack Anderson. The letter was turned over to FBI agents who now are taking steps to protect the two Congressmen.

"One must keep one's sense of humor about these things and not take it more seriously than it really is. But just for the time being, I'm not putting out any news releases as to my whereabouts."

Wilson said he is convinced the terrorists "with guns and training directly from Cuba" are led by Fidel Castro.

"But I'm not going to be intimidated by Marxist terrorists in Central America from discharging my constitutional duty as I see it."

Wilson blames the state department, saying U.S. policy has encouraged Marxists in Central America just as it has encouraged Marxists in Africa.

"Personally, I don't think they will succeed in (forming) another Cuba in spite of our State Department. I believe Congressional opposition to the current U.S. policy is increasing rapidly," he said, predicting a policy change in the next six months.

He said it matters little if Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza stays in power, but added he does not understand State Department's resistance to Somoza's offer of a nationwide referendum. The Nicaraguan leader has proposed an election in three months between his party, the Liberals, and the Broad Opposition Front, the opposition party.

CBS canceling sitcom 'Rhoda'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —

"Rhoda," the situation comedy character who underwent a much-publicized marriage, separation and divorce, is going to experience a final change — retirement.

Because of faltering ratings, CBS is canceling the show at the end of the current season.

More than $2.4 billion in new state taxes spending proposed

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Legislative Budget Board completed its 1980-81 budget recommendations Friday, proposing over $2.4 billion in new spending of state taxes.

This would use nearly all the state's anticipated growth revenue and, if approved by the Legislature in 1979, leave almost nothing for the tax cuts proposed by Gov.-elect Bill Clements.

A board staff member said only about $80 million would be left over, while Clements wants $1 billion in tax cuts.

Lawmakers start with the board's recommendations when making their decisions on appropriations for state institutions, agencies and educational requirements.

Final figures will be issued after the board's staff assembles its work product and adds up the numbers.

Preliminary estimates indicate, however, the recommendation would amount to a total state budget of about $19 billion for two years, counting federal funds.

Bill Wells, assistant director of the board staff, said the budget is basically a stand-pat document, with increases reflecting mainly inflation and the impact of population growth on state programs.

"I think you can say we have not expanded into new areas," Wells said. "We have provided for the necessary growth of existing programs."

Last-minute decisions by the board concerning public education piled $1 billion onto decisions previously made and, evidently, sent messages both to Clements and the Texas State Teachers Association.

The board recommended:

- Holding local shares of Foundation School Program costs — the "Local Fund Assignment" — at current levels, which added $269 million to the bill.
- Teacher pay raises of 5.1 percent per year, the same as those recommended for state employees, which added $330 million.
- Appropriation of $450 million to cover the losses school districts will suffer from tax cuts mandated by the "Tax Relief Amendment." The money had been promised during the 1978 special legislative session.

Sen. A.M. Aikin, D-Paris, dean of the Senate, succeeded in adding $6 million for the University of Texas Cancer Center's item for "patient activities."

Aikin noticed that the board's staff had recommended less for the center than the center had requested — about $9 million over the two years coming up.

"I honestly believe there is enough money here. I don't know if they can spend it all," said budget examiner J.B. Pace.

"I kind of believe Dr. (R. Lee) Clark's judgment is better than yours. This (the cancer center) is the greatest thing we do, I think," Aikin said.

Clark is the outgoing president of the cancer center.

Aikin's motion brought the patient care budget to the full amount requested, $50 million for 1980 and $56 million for 1981.

Clements' legislative program includes teacher pay raises, taxpayers' rights

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov.-elect Bill Clements gave legislators the general outlines of a legislative program that includes a "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights" and teacher pay raises Friday.

He told a pre-legislative conference that lawmakers can expect him to provide one thing that critics have accused Gov. Dolph Briscoe of not providing: leadership.

And he promised the largely Democratic gathering that "communication, cooperation and coordination" would be the watchwords of his dealings with legislators and other state officeholders.

"What can you expect from me? You can expect leadership, because in my opinion, leadership is perhaps the most powerful power of the government. When you think I am not providing the necessary leadership, I hope you will come to me and tell me so," Clements said.

He said the pre-session conference co-sponsored by the Legislature and the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs was not the forum in which to present a full-blown legislative program.

"In general terms, though, there are several things that I want to accomplish, and as my campaign revealed to me, these are things that many Texans want accomplished," he said.

Clements listed these as major goals for the lawmaking session that begins Jan. 9:

- A $1 billion tax cut, following on the $1 billion in reductions to be generated by the "Tax Relief Amendment" and bills passed by the 1978 special session.
- The maximum amount of tax relief possible in the enabling legislation for the "Tax Relief Amendment."
- Abolition of the state property tax of 10 cents per $100 valuation.

— A "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights," consisting of constitutional amendments providing the right of initiative and referendum, banning income taxes, requiring a two-thirds vote in each house before the Legislature can pass new taxes, and the right of local elections to repeal tax increases.

— "Pay raises for teachers that take into account inflation and that award the better teachers with merit increases."

— Proficiency tests for teachers and students, coupled with "a return to an emphasis on the old-fashioned basics — reading, writing and arithmetic — as well as a renewed emphasis on discipline in the classrooms."

— Reduction of the bureaucracy by 25,000 state employees in the next four years, completely by attrition with no layoffs.

— Anti-crime legislation that would include "a hard look at the habitual offenders and at the revolving door bail bond system that we now enjoy."

High marks given to Midland educators at recent meeting

Midland educators got high marks from their fellow school people at a recent meeting in Houston.

"Learning about Cultural Diversity through Modules," a presentation given by Midland educators, received a 4.5 rating from a possible five at the National Council for the Social Studies meeting last week.

Crockett's Francine Weaver reviewed various lifestyles of different ethnic groups in Midland while Bertha Mae Starks, coordinator of law-focused education for the school district, acted as moderator and served on committees on national program planning, racism and social justice, and credentials.

Social studies teachers from all over the U.S. plus Canada, Mexico and other foreign countries attended the four-day meeting. Eleven Midland educators were present.

James Bradford, Lee High School social studies head, chaired the group and presented secondary school materials including handouts on infusing the black experience into the mainstream of American culture.

The Midlanders' presentation demonstrated contributions made by all peoples to our culture. Pearlle Johnson of Ben Milam Elementary School presented a module called, "Acculturation through Food," and served soul food to the 40 people attending their session.

Dr. Robert A. Carter, social studies coordinator for the Midland schools, discussed how race relations could improve if each group's contributions were taught in the school curriculum.

Wildlands of Alaska set aside by Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter more than doubled the size of the national park system Friday by invoking his executive authority to protect 56 million acres of Alaska wildlands.

Acting under the 1906 Antiquities Act, Carter designated 17 new national monuments, the most land ever set aside for conservation by a president. The lands comprise a rich and varied terrain, from lush rain forests to glaciers, from snow-capped mountain peaks to rolling tundra.

The lands are inhabited by a diverse assortment of wildlife, including grizzly bears, nomadic herds of caribou, wolves, dense nesting congregations of waterfowl, mountain sheep and marine mammals such as walrus and polar bears.

Carter said in a statement that because Congress failed to act in the last session, "much of the land to be protected by legislation would be unprotected and perhaps irrevocably lost if I did not act now." He said passage of the Alaska lands bill next year is the "highest environmental priority of my administration."

"President Carter has now replaced Teddy Roosevelt as the greatest conservation president of all time," said Charles Clusen, executive director of the Alaska Coalition, a private environmental group.

Carter's action is the latest in a long series of battles to preserve Alaska wildlands from development. Congress failed in its waning moments before adjournment in October to approve a bill which would have set aside nearly 100 million acres of Alaska for national parks, wild river corridors, national wildlife refuges and national forests.

Casinos create instant tycoons

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The financial fallout from casino gambling has produced a dozen or more "instant millionaires" in this resort.

"There's no great art to getting rich in Atlantic City," says Boardwalk merchant Reese Palley. "It's like owning 1,000 acres in Texas when oil was found."

Palley, a co-owner of the former site of the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel and other real estate properties here, is just one of many local businessmen who has hit it big by sheer luck or by shrewd business dealing since gambling was approved here two years ago.

Palley and local attorney Martin Blatt bought the old Boardwalk hotel for $6.18 million in November 1977. A short time later, they signed a long-term agreement with Bally Manufacturing Corp. of Chicago to lease the property for $750,000 to $1 million a year. Bally plans a $100 million casino hotel on the site.

"I never dreamed in my life I'd be in the middle of such a snowstorm of money," Palley said. "I had to take a chance, and so did almost everyone else. But so far, everyone who has taken a chance has had it pay off for them."

"I would call it more like bailing out than making money," said Tom Battles, who sold his motel, restaurant and marina last May to a New York casino investor for $1.9 million.

Battles and his partners were among the big financial losers in this resort's darkest days of the late '60s and early '70s.

"I would have sold my property for a half million and been happy to pay off my debts and walk away from it," Battles said.

"I don't see how anyone could have survived in the mess we were in. There was no convention business. Weekends were all we were getting — if it didn't rain," Battles said.

Charles Worthington, 50, now the Atlantic County executive, came here from Philadelphia about two years ago and bought some marshland near Absecon Inlet for a marina business.

Worthington held on to the land until "dumb luck" came his way — a Beverly Hills, Calif., development firm bought the land for $8.8 million last August as the site of a future casino hotel.

"It's just a case of someone who made a long-standing investment in Atlantic City and who just happened to be in a fortunate place at a fortunate time," he said.

In 1976, just before gambling was approved, a group of local businessmen bought the closed and bankrupt Ambassador Hotel on the Boardwalk for $900,000.

The group included local Cadillac dealer Michael A. Lubik, contractor Charles Price, attorney Elias Naame, local municipal judge Donald Kaplan, accountant Jacob Fleishman and strip-joint operator

Al Baker Jr. The businessmen held on to the property until last June, when local hotelman Marvin Ashner offered them $7 million for it.

Within a few months, Ashner sold the hotel to Ramada Inns Inc. for $20 million.

The list goes on. For example, Strand Motel owner Emanuel Solomon sold his business to Golden Nugget for $8.5 million.

Milton Neustadter and Maxwell "Sonny" Goldberg, principal owners of the Howard Johnson's Motor Hotel, last June signed a long-term lease with the owner of the Las Vegas casino Caesars Palace. The deal calls for a rental of $2.5 million each year for three years and $75,000 more each year thereafter.

Caesars also can buy the hotel in 1988 for $40 million and must give Neustadter and Goldberg a percentage of the profits.

Robert Hallmark shovels the first load of empty Billy beer cans onto a conveyor belt at the Reynolds aluminum recycling plant in Louisville, Ky. Reynolds bought 8.7 million of the cans from the defunct brewery which made Billy beer. (AP Laserphoto)

When Kathy Prays

When Kathy prays I can almost hear angel wings flutter. Her simple conversations with God are so full of trust and confidence, I feel as though I am standing at the doorstep of heaven.

After prayers, I tuck her into bed, turn out the light and go downstairs. And I find myself continuing the conversation she has started. My prayer is always the same... that as she grows, and her needs and wishes change, my little girl will continue to develop her understanding and love of God.

How grateful I am for my church. It has been a constant source of inspiration for my own religious growth. I know it will be ready to help me answer Kathy's questions. It is wonderful to know that I do not have to tackle the religious education of my daughter alone.

Attend your church. Let it help you as you guide your child's religious thinking.

Religious cult mixes reaching dangers of crossroads crisis

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Religious cults, those syncretistic mixes of Eastern and Western beliefs that have burgeoned in America under control of authoritarian figures, are seen by an expert as presently heading into the dangers of a crossroads kind of crisis. At that critical point in their evolution, says Robert Elwood of the University of Southern California, the history of such groups indicate they either become more open and functional in society, or else intensify their wary isolation, "look for scapegoats and strike out." That embittered reaction, with its horrid consequences, apparently was behind the collective suicides of the Peoples Temple colony in Guyana on orders of its ruling "Dad," the Rev. Jim Jones.

Elwood, a professor of religion and specialist on the spread of new, unconventional religions, typically insular and withdrawn from general society, says they involve two potentialities that are "real dangers." For one thing, he says that as followers become "more and more involved in the life of the group itself, cut off from the rest of humanity and the common moral sense, the values and even survival of the group become merged with the members' personalities, so that they might be stimulated to kill or be killed for its sake." "Their whole world becomes caught up in the life and system of the group," he added in an interview. The other danger, he said, is that the leader "absolutizes his authority more and more," a strong temptation when he is convinced of his own message and is "surrounded by people who consider him infallible and need to do so in order to sustain their own belief."

"He may come to require absolute obedience to himself, just as this happens to political dictators who reach a point that they cannot tolerate any rivals and must stamp out any deviation for the sake of their own egos." Elwood, 47, an Episcopalian whose book, "Religious and Spiritual Groups in Modern America" explores the world of cults and who has another volume on non-normative religions coming out next year, "Alternative Altars," said most new religions "go through a period of crisis" about 10 or 15 years after they're started. He noted that it's about time for that transitional period for many cults that began cropping up in America in the early 1960's.

Special service in Pecos Sunday

PECOS — A special service scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday at Friendship C.M.E. Church of Pecos has been postponed. The postponement was occasioned by the serious illness of the mother of the Rev. Bob Tieucl Jr., pastor of the church. Tieucl has gone to Prague, Okla., to be at his mother's bedside. The Sunday service was planned as an event to pinpoint efforts to clear the Pecos church of indebtedness. Midland physician Dr. Viola Coleman was to have been the honored guest and speaker at the service. The event will be held at a later date, it was announced.

ONLY 21 MORE DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS ARE YOU READY?

First Christian Church making seasonal plans

First Christian Church is making plans for traditional events Sunday to mark the beginning of the Advent season, leading up to Christmas. During the Sunday morning worship hour, beginning at 10:50, the Byron Holley Memorial Advent Wreath will be hung in the sanctuary to highlight the "hanging of the greens" ceremony. The memorial wreath was created by Midland woodcarver Perry Holley and given to First Christian Church by Holley and his wife in memory of their son. The "hanging of the greens" service will incorporate music, scripture, prayer and special readings. The event will be open to the public. Sunday night, the First Christian congregation will have its second annual "Festival of Lights," symbolizing the light that came into the world with Christ's birth. The presentation is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and will be open to the public. The service of light, sound and music will include special choreography created by Barbara Jackson and Betty Daugherty, sound and light provided by Rhea Womack and text created by Steve Spain. Narrators will be Fred Faulkner and Charles Dixon.

Pagan imperialism seeks 'irreligion' base in U.S.

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A new form of pagan imperialism is seeking to establish "irreligion" as the state religion in America, says Elder Neal A. Maxwell, an official of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He told students at Brigham Young University that "this new irreligious imperialism seeks to disallow certain people's opinions simply because those opinions grow out of religious convictions."

Under sway of the new imperialism, he said "resistance to abortion will be seen as primitive. Concern over the institution of the family will be viewed as 'untrendy' and unenlightened."

He said the new paganism uses the cultivated freedoms of Western civilization to shrink religious freedom while rejecting the value essence of the Judeo-Christian heritage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baptists in the Soviet Union have been granted permission to import 25,000 Bibles and 5,000 concordances in the Russian language, says the Baptist World Alliance.

The import permit, granted to Russia's All-Union Council of Evangelical Baptists, allows for the largest shipment of Russian Bibles into the Soviet Union since it was established.

Provision of the Bibles was being arranged by the alliance and the United Bible Societies, an umbrella group of more than 50 national Bible societies around the world.

Dr. Ole Van Lyn of London, regional secretary for Europe, said the last major consignment of Bibles to Russia was in 1947 when it allowed import of 10,000 copies.

Marriage and family to be meeting focus

EL PASO — Marriage and family life will be the focus for liturgists and other Roman Catholics from Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas when they gather for the Southwest Liturgical Conference Study Week in El Paso Jan. 24 through 27.

Preparation for marriage, the sacrament of marriage, the wedding ceremony, family life and prayer in the home will be subjects of various special presentations and discussions which are on the agenda of the study week, said the Rev. James Comisky, president of the Southwest Liturgical Conference.

Hosted by the Liturgical Commission of the El Paso Roman Catholic diocese, the special conference will be headquartered in El Paso's Plaza Hotel, with major activities to be held in the El Paso Civic Center. Additional information on the study week and registration procedures for it may be obtained from the Diocese of El Paso at P. O. Box 838, El Paso, 79945.

Traditional Christmas advent at church

"Christmas at First Methodist," a traditional Advent season event at First United Methodist Church, will be held Sunday evening. The event involves the entire congregation of First UMC, from youngest members to oldest ones. The Advent celebration will begin at 6 p.m. with a devotional and musical program in the sanctuary, focusing on what Christmas means to persons at different stages in life. Music will be presented by a church band under direction of Tom Dillon.

jo children, and adults will give money to a special love offering for Scarritt College, a Methodist-owned school. Following the service, the congregation will move to the church fellowship hall for visitation and refreshments. "Christmas at First Methodist" is open to all members of First UMC as well as to all other interested residents of the city and surrounding area.

Nancy E. Houston

Pastor resigns post

Dr. Bobby Stalcup, pastor of Midland's Christ Presbyterian Church for the last 3 1/2 years, has resigned the post, effective in mid-December. He will become senior minister of Parkway Presbyterian Church in Metairie, La. The Christ Presbyterian congregation will honor the departing pastor with a reception scheduled for 4 to 6 p.m. Dec. 10 at 2802 Maxwell St. Friends of Stalcup and his family in the city are invited to attend. A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Stalcup has served as president of the Midland Presbyterian Corporate Ministry and has been a member of the board of St. Andrews Presbyterian Mission and the Salvation Army. He has been chaplain for the local Civil Air Patrol unit.

Christian Science lecturer slated for Thursday

Nancy E. Houston of Urbana, Ill., a Christian Science lecturer, will be the speaker at a special program scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday in the Midland First Church of Christ, Scientist, 1001 W. Tennessee St. It will be free to all residents of the city and area. The visitor's topic is to be "Is Anybody at Home?", in which she will discuss the healing effect of viewing one's home as more than just a physical structure. "Whether we live on wheels, or in the suburbs, whether we're in a nursing home, a college dorm, in the ghetto — like the snail in his shell, we take our concept of home with us wherever we go," she points out. The lecturer explains that "home is within us, not without. Home is an idea, not a physical dwelling. Home is where we find the Christ and are touched by its healing influence."

Before becoming a full-time Christian Science practitioner, Miss Houston was an assistant professor of physical education at the University of Illinois, where earlier she had received her master's degree. Originally from Troy, N.Y., she had studied at Emma Willard School, Sara Lawrence College and Russell Sage College.

Miss Houston is a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Champaign, Ill., where she has served as chairman of the executive board and as First Reader. She has been engaged in the public practice of Christian Science for many years and in 1972 was elected to the Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Companies comply with guidelines

The Washington Post — WASHINGTON — General Motors Corp. and American Telephone and Telegraph Co. have informed the Carter administration in writing that they will comply with the president's voluntary program to hold down prices. Both promises came in apparent response to a letter from Carter several weeks ago asking the nation's biggest companies for "explicit" assurances that they would comply with his price guidelines.

New Mormon leaders named

New leaders of the Midland Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints have been named, to serve the ward during the coming year.

Blaine Bushman has been called as Bishop of the Midland Mormon church. He will be assisted in his leadership by Doyle Snow and Kenneth H. Gray, who were appointed as First Counselor and Second Counselor respectively.

Bushman is a sales representative for Exxon Co., U.S.A. and has served the Midland Ward as First Counselor during the past 1 1/2 years. Snow is an area landman for Texas Oil and Gas Corp., and Gray is a landman with the same firm.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has no professional clergy. Lay members are chosen as regional and local officers and receive no monetary compensation for their services. The General Authorities of the LDS Church are headquartered in Salt Lake City, Utah, with Spencer W. Kimball as president, or head, of the church.

Church said to blunt message of Lord

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — "We often resemble a disordered mob of camp followers more than the army of the Lord." So comments the United Methodist Council of Bishops about the present state of the church. In their mid-quadrennial message to the church's 9.8 million members, the bishops said the church too often has blunted its message "by a comfortable accommodation to its own cultural setting while internal concerns have thwarted its engagement with the needs of humanity."

The bishops said church membership has declined and although there are "some signs that we have grown in depth of awareness and commitment," the church sometimes has "failed to be an agent of transformation and renewal" and has "sought to save its own life in an illusory quest for safety and security."

Texans raise $150,000 for world church service

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans raised $150,000 this year for CROP, the community hunger appeal of Church World Service, the organization's state headquarters said Thursday.

Church World Service is an arm of the National Council of Churches. Fifty major events were held in Texas as CROP increased its fund-raising 12 percent over 1977, the organization said.

Key events, CROP said, were hunger walks in Houston and San Marcos, work days in Dallas, Beaumont and Sherman, a "swimathon" in Boerne and a fast on the Texas Tech campus.

Episcopal bishop to make annual fall visitation

The Rt. Rev. Willis R. Henton of Lubbock, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas, Sunday will make his annual fall visitation to Midland's Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity.

At the 11 a.m. Sunday service at Holy Trinity, Bishop Henton will celebrate the Eucharist and preach. He also will confirm a group of candidates for membership in the Episcopal Church. The confirmands represent both Holy Trinity and St. Nicholas' Episcopal parishes here.

Following the service, Bishop Henton and the confirmands will be honored at a reception in the parish hall.

Being first in line at the dump vital to ragpickers

By TOM WELLS

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The old woman's gnarled hands clutched impatiently at a large bone and, after some fumbling, she managed to drop it into her burlap bag. It was another day for 230 unionized ragpickers at Bogota's biggest garbage dump.

The sun has not yet burned off the early morning fog at the mile-square dump each day when the several dozen men, women and children — along with flocks of aggressive buzzards — descend with equal vigor on the first garbage trucks to arrive.

Being first to sift the refuse is important. The slow ones, like the aged woman with the arthritic hands, earn as little as $7.50 a week. The young men make as much as $12 in the same period.

The daily scrambling at the dump is a testimony both to man's wastefulness and to the indignity and submission that is necessary sometimes to survive in a country where per capita income is only $650 a year.

The ragpickers formed their own union in 1961. Each of the 230 members pays the union the peso equivalent of 50 cents a week for the right to poke around in garbage to make a living. The union also charges undisclosed sums to private trash collectors who buy bones, bottles, cans and cardboard retrieved from the dump.

The ragpickers get about three cents a pound for bones, which are used for making glue. Recyclable cardboard brings about a penny a pound, aluminum cans about two cents a pound. Some bottles, such as cooking oil bottles which can be used again at factories, bring a little more than half a cent each.

The dump belongs to the Bogota Public Services Department, whose garbage collectors, through a written agreement with the department, have the right to operate the dump as a business enterprise. The city garbage collectors' union charges the ragpickers' union $1,000 a month for the right to work the dumps.

A 28-year-old man said he had been a unionized scavenger at the dump for three years, that he had looked for work for months before following the suggestion of a friend to work at the dump.

The dump has become a dumping spot for some of Bogota's most down-and-out people. The place appears to breed contempt for the government as easily as it breeds rats and flies.

"Do you think anyone out there with government cares if we starve or not?" asked the young man as he waved a hand nonchalantly toward Bogota's skyline of 50-story high steel-and-glass buildings and then toward the international airport of El Dorado about a mile away.

"They say there's no unemployment problem here," he said, and spat for emphasis. "Where do they do the counting? Chico Reservado?"

Chico reservado is where many of the city's rich, including drug-traffickers, live.

The government says the unemployment rate is 7.6 percent. Private economists, asking that they remain anonymous, say it is 10 percent or 20 percent, depending upon whether you include the underemployed such as the rag-pickers or the men who draw crowds in Bogota's small squares by walking on and rolling around in broken glass, stunts which leave their bodies bloodied and scarred.

Three women cooking a stew over an open fire amid the tons of fly-covered garbage were asked if they had children and what kind of lives they could afford for them?

"Mister, my neighborhood doesn't look much better than this dump," said one of the women, who said she was 30 but looked older. "I've got four children. Listen, Mister, they don't eat meat. They don't eat eggs. There isn't any milk for them. You go out and try to buy those kind of things when you've got only $8 a week.

"We eat bread, beans and a little rice," the woman said. "And it isn't easy watching your children cry for more food sometimes when there just isn't anymore to give. People in town say we poor people are lazy. Do you think I wouldn't work in a nice factory if I could? Do you think it wouldn't be easier than being out there in this filth with these flies and buzzards and these stinking pigs?"

"You try coming out here and working for a day and see how your back feels the next day. Then you tell me if we're lazy."

The speech resulted in grave nods of approval from the other two women and grumbling agreement from a small knot of men that had gathered for coffee that was brewing over the fire by then.

None of the ragpickers would give his name. They all said they were afraid someone with the government would prevent them from entering the garbage dump if their names appeared in newspapers.

"We don't want any trouble," said one. "We could be worse off."

Banker indicted for cocaine loan

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted a Fort Worth banker Friday in connection with a $45,000 loan that prosecutors say was used to "aid and abet" the distribution of cocaine.

George Thompson III, who resigned Wednesday as chairman of Riedle Bank on the city's affluent west side, was named in the indictment returned by the grand jury in Dallas.

The indictment alleges Thompson approved a $45,000 loan on March 9, 1977, to Michael E. Welch and that Thompson "knowingly aided and abetted" Michael E. Welch in knowingly and intentionally possessing with the intent to distribute and in distributing cocaine.

Tape Lending Library reader Vic Rogers, left, hands over to Midland Department of Public Safety Lt. Allen Langston, tape recordings of the state drivers' handbook. The tape library recorded and donated the tapes to the Midland DPS office, which will make the tapes available to anyone who needs them. The Tape Lending Library is a United Way Agency.

Question of police brutality avoided by Griffin Bell

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Griffin Bell sidestepped questions on police brutality toward Mexican-Americans Friday by saying excess force by law enforcement officers is a problem all over the country.

"This is a problem in many places in the country," he told reporters. "I don't want to single out Texas as being some lawless society. I don't think Texas is a lawless place."

"We're going through a learning process in many places on police...on treatment by police of citizens."

While Bell said he doesn't want to single out Texas, he sent his top assistant, Benjamin Civiletti, to discuss the problem with city and minority leaders in Dallas, Houston and Phoenix earlier this week.

Bell's comments became more philosophical as he paralleled the struggle for equality by Mexican-Americans in Texas to the civil rights movement of the 1960s.

"We're more aware of rights than we used to be and we're more aware of the fact that our society is a group-oriented society," he said. "For 15 years at least we've been trying to make all the groups equal before the law."

It was that law that angered many Mexican-Americans in Texas this summer when Bell and the Justice Department refused to re-open the case against former Dallas policeman Darrell Cain. Cain was sentenced to five years in prison for the July 1973 murder of 12-year-old Santos Rodriguez.

The boy had been picked up as a burglary suspect and was being interrogated in the back of Cain's car with a loaded gun at his head when the gun went off.

Bell said the civil rights division of his department, using "prosecutorial discretion" opted not to re-open the case, and he went along with that decision.

Temple radio operator broke rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning in 1977, the Federal Communications Commission repeatedly cited a Peoples Temple ham operator in San Francisco for such violations as transmitting secret messages to Guyana.

The operator, Benjamin Bowers, apologized and even tried to return his license, but members of the religious cult bombarded the FCC with hundreds of letters demanding an end to harassment.

"The Peoples Temple radio work is a great service to our nation," wrote Rita Thomas of San Francisco. "You can check for yourself. Please don't let the FCC be used in this manner."

J.F. Randall of San Francisco wrote that "agents of the conspiracy against Jim Jones and Peoples Temple are using FCC and IRS for their own ends" and added: "We are tired of doing so much good and getting harassed in return."

And Edna Bowman of San Francisco: "The government would do well to give support to this wonderful group of Americans overseas."

Dozens of letters had identical wording and many were on the same kind of stationery, but they were all written or printed by hand.

The last entry in the thick FCC correspondence file was a notification to Bowers on Nov. 9 that he had to pay a $50 fine.

Coincidentally, nine days later more than 900 members of the Rev. Jones' Peoples Temple lay dead near the radio shack in Guyana where transmissions from temple headquarters in San Francisco were received.

Bowers was warned on May 24 last year that he had violated amateur rules by failing to identify his station, WA6DTJ, at 10 minute intervals; by transmitting business traffic; by transmitting false, deceptive or unauthorized call letters; and by failing to identify himself.

Martin County Museum opens in Stanton today

STANTON — The $100,000 Martin County Historical Museum will be opened at 10 a.m. today in a ribbon-cutting ceremony, which will kick off "Martin County Historical Commission Day" here.

Events scheduled for the day include a luncheon, the re-opening of the red sandstone Old Jail Museum on the courthouse square and a dance.

Guest speaker at the 11:30 a.m. luncheon will be Hugh Boren Jr. of Snyder, a director of the Texas Historical Foundation.

The new museum depicts the eras of what is now Stanton and Martin County: the Indian period, coming of the Texas & Pacific Railroad, settlement of the townsite by an order of Catholic monks, and the early ranching and farming in the area.

June Reid is curator of the museum. Ruby Haggard is president of the Martin County Historical Commission, which operates the museum.

The museum was funded by local donations, by the Martin County Commissioners' Court contributing $36,000 to the cause and by a $20,000 grant from the Midland-based Mabee Foundation.

The museum will be open for tours next week from 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Old Jail Museum features artifacts relating to law enforcement.

Alcoholism seminar set in Big Spring

BIG SPRING — "The Alternative Approach and Its Use in Treating Adolescent Drug Misuse" is the theme for the day during the next alcoholism seminar slated at Big Spring State Hospital, said a spokesman.

The 36th seminar of this type will be held at the facility.

Registration for this alcoholism seminar will start at 8 a.m. Friday in the auditorium, said a spokesman.

A registration fee of $1 is asked for the general session opening at 9 a.m.

Besides the registration fee, an additional charge of $1 will be asked of those wishing to receive continuing education units from Howard College.

Dr. James Olson, chairman of psychology and drug consultant in Odessa, will lead the day-long seminars being held through the cooperation of Big Spring State Hospital in conjunction with Howard College.

Optimism about dollar sends market soaring

By MARK POTTS

NEW YORK (AP) — New optimism about the dollar and the economy sent the stock market soaring Friday in its strongest surge in a month.

Investors encouraged by favorable money supply figures and a strong performance by the dollar went on a buying spree, continuing the rally begun in the last hour of Thursday's session.

The money supply dropped $1.9 billion in the latest reporting week, indicating, according to analyst Newton D. Zinder at E.F. Hutton, that the Federal Reserve Board has "got the money supply under control, and that will mean not having to tighten interest rates further."

Federal Home Loan Board Chairman Robert H. McKinney made a similar prediction Friday, giving the rally more impetus. The Fed has been raising interest rates in recent weeks in an attempt to aid the struggling dollar.

Those moves are apparently working; the dollar gained 13 percent against the Swiss franc in November. The currency had a good day against foreign currencies Friday, particularly against the Japanese mark, rising past the 200-yen mark for the first time in four months.

Investors also seemed impressed with the vote of confidence given the economy by President Carter Thursday. "He seemed quite determined to fight inflation, even if it meant to him, as he said, being a one-term president," Zinder said.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials responded to avalanche of good news with a rise of 12.39 to 811.42, its best day since a record 35.34-point

Pressure blocs vie for budget dollars

By JAMES GERSTEN-ZANG

WASHINGTON (AP) — As budget time nears, a line will form outside the White House. Groups with one pet project or another will be bidding for a share of the federal dollar.

President Carter has said the budget will be tight, and the troubles facing the advocates of one relatively small program are a sample of what's to come.

The American Vocational Association says Joseph A. Califano Jr., secretary of health, education and welfare, wants to cut $180 million out of the $681 million currently budgeted for job training in agriculture, business, trade and the industrial arts.

The association is protesting the cut.

Saying the department will respond at the association's convention this weekend in Dallas, HEW undersecretary Hale Champion refused to discuss the 1980 budget.

But another department source, asking anonymity, says Califano wants to trim the funding for vocational education by at least $100 million.

Carter won't accept the association's invitation to say what he thinks about a cut.

The group offered him space in the January issue of its magazine to outline his reasoning — one way or the other. But an associate White House press secretary, Patricia Bario, told Eugene Bottoms, executive director of the 55,000-member association, in a letter that "the demands upon the time of the president and his staff" make a response impossible.

She said Carter receives several hundred such requests a month.

Complaints about cuts in funding are likely to be echoed by other special interest groups as the president makes final decisions on what 1980 programs will get how much money. Carter has made it clear he's trying to cut the budget deficit.

That means some people aren't going to get as many federal dollars as they want. In some cases that could hold true regardless of what the president might have said about certain programs in the past.

The vocational educators say they have a letter from Carter written during his 1976 presidential campaign declaring he was committed as governor of Georgia to vocational education and saying flatly that "as president I plan to continue this commitment."

"With proper emphasis on vocational and career education, I believe we can once again make our education system the stepping stone to our nation's young people," the association quotes him as saying.

So it was with no small concern for its interests that the group noted a Califano letter to Congress on Oct. 2 saying, "Vocational education is one of the department's least effective programs, and federal funding should be held level or reduced."

That sounded like a shift in policy.

"Carter's refusal to express himself personally leaves us with Califano making the statement and making it sound like it's coming from Carter himself," says Patricia Goodman, a spokeswoman for the association. "We'd like a signal from the president which way he's going."

Bottoms views the $11 billion being spent by the government under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act as "remedial" money designed to find jobs for those who have left school without training.

He says he doesn't want an increase in overall funding, but rather a more equal split between "remedial" money, such as CETA's funding for public service jobs, and what he calls the "preventive," in-school training his association members provide.

Federal money for vocational education is matched 7-1 by state and local funds. It goes to 20 million secondary, post-secondary and adult education students.

"In 1971 the center was a gleam in my eye," Mangione said Thursday. "I felt something was wrong.... There seemed to be a separation between the Italian-American community and the University of Pennsylvania. Actually, it was none of my business because I was in the English department."

Mangione, the son of a pastry chef who "made the best cannoli in the world," said more than 75 percent of America's 5 million Italian immigrants between 1880 and 1920 were laborers with little formal education.

"The third and fourth generation of Italian Americans are a different breed, and a great many of them are going to college," he said. "They're interested in their background and don't have the defensive hang-ups their parents did about being Italian."

"What matters is that the Italian civilization has affected the western civilization to a great de-

There's no excuse for missing slam

"We missed a cold grand slam," South grumbled as his partner put the dummy down on the table. "Make six," North replied tersely.

South took the king of spades and led a club from dummy. "Oops," he muttered as East discarded a spade.

Declarer took the ace of clubs and led a diamond.

Ten minutes later South put 100 to the enemy's credit on the scorepad, carefully avoiding his partner's eyes.

In a pair tournament it's usually proper to go for broke, but in rubber bridge there's no excuse for failing to make 12 tricks.

SAFETY PLAY

South should take the ace of spades and lead a low club. This play guards declarer against the only dangerous break—five clubs in either opponent's hand.

If West has five clubs he can take his jack, but dummy's ten and South's high clubs clear the suit and give South the five club tricks that he needs.

If East has five clubs, West shows out. East captures dummy's ten with the jack, but South gets to dummy later to lead the low club for a finesse with the eight of clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart and the next player passes. You hold: S-J1098; H-Q102; D-4; C-K9763. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. You have 4 points in high cards and should count about 2 points for the singleton. The total is just enough for a response.

Pennsylvania U opening Italian Studies Center

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sal Auriemma poked his head between the hanging cheeses in his father's shop in the Italian market and boomed, "It's about time."

He had just heard that the University of Pennsylvania was establishing an Italian Studies Center — the first in the country, according to university officials.

"Everybody's been recognized but the Italians," said Auriemma. "After all, we discovered the country. We named it. It's the least they can do."

The center, which will focus on Italy's language, arts, history and politics, is directed by Jerre Mangione, a professor emeritus and author whose parents emigrated from Sicily.

The center plans to publish a magazine and sponsor lectures and films. The university has set a $1.5 million funding goal, and $465,000 has been raised, said Mangione.

"In 1971 the center was a gleam in my eye," Mangione said Thursday. "I felt something was wrong.... There seemed to be a separation between the Italian-American community and the University of Pennsylvania. Actually, it was none of my business because I was in the English department."

Mangione, the son of a pastry chef who "made the best cannoli in the world," said more than 75 percent of America's 5 million Italian immigrants between 1880 and 1920 were laborers with little formal education.

"The third and fourth generation of Italian Americans are a different breed, and a great many of them are going to college," he said. "They're interested in their background and don't have the defensive hang-ups their parents did about being Italian."

"What matters is that the Italian civilization has affected the western civilization to a great degree. Italian-Americans, though they are proud of their heritage, really don't know enough about it," he said.

"The most positive things Italian-Americans can do is to counteract the bad image that has been created by a great bit of false propaganda for years and years. Yes, the Mafia and the Cosa Nostra," he said.

Airline buys 32 new jets

COLOGNE, West Germany (AP) — The West German airline Lufthansa said Friday it has ordered a $400 million shipment of 32 Boeing 737 Series 200 passenger jets from the American manufacturers.

A Lufthansa spokesman said the 109-passenger, short-haul twin-jets from Seattle will be used mainly on European and domestic routes. He said five planes will be delivered in the second half of 1980 and the rest after 1982.

Lufthansa was the first European airline to fly the regular, 90-seat version of the 737.

Kermit wins as Slaton gamble fails

By STEVE O'BRIEN
R-T Sports Writer

Trailing 14-7 and forced into a desperate situation by an ever-expiring clock, Slaton's Tigers had to gamble with only 5:40 left in Friday night's Class AA regional championship game at Midland's Memorial Stadium.

The Kermit Yellow Jackets made them wish they could renege on that wager.

With time rapidly running out, Slaton had to take a chance on a fourth and eight situation from their own 45 yard line. But as quarterback Ricky Davis dropped back to pass, Kermit's Edwin McCasland exploded into the Slaton backfield to pin Davis for a one yard loss.

Kermit then took the ball and methodically marched toward the Slaton goal with stellar running back Alfred McGilbra capping the drive with a seven yard burst for his second touchdown of the night. Layne Nutt's kick gave Kermit an insurmountable 21-7 lead with only 1:35 left in the game. The Yellow Jackets made that score stand up the rest of the way.

THAT LAST touchdown not only iced away the win for Kermit, but also put a misleading final touch on a contest that was much closer than the score might indicate.

A look at the statistics reveals a tighter struggle. Slaton, District 5-AA champions, finished with 15 first downs to Kermit's 13. Kermit, the District 7-AA titleist, had a slight edge in total yards with 254 as compared to Slaton's 228.

After falling behind 14-0 in the first half, Slaton appeared to have found the touch as they moved into Kermit territory on their first three possessions of the second half.

BUT THE Yellow Jacket defense, which harassed Davis all night, dug in to stop two of those drives leaving Slaton on the short end of a 14-7 count.

Slaton's only touchdown of the night came the first time they got their hands on the ball in the second half. The Tigers, not exactly famous for their passing attack, turned to the airways to get that score. Davis, who had attempted only 42 passes all season prior to this game, connected with wide receiver Billy Daniel twice in the drive to set up the touchdown.

On third and 15 from the Kermit 45, Davis hooked up with Daniel for 18 yards and a first down at the Kermit 27. On the very next play Davis found Daniel curling through the middle of the Kermit defense for 26 yards, all the way down to the one. Fullback Mike White, who had a 20 yard run in the drive, covered the final yard and Jessie Titus' kick pulled Slaton—to within a touchdown at 14-7.

While Slaton's offense had problems putting the ball in the end zone from that point, the Tiger defense stopped Kermit cold on their first three possessions of the second half. Kermit managed only 26 yards in 10 plays on those three opportunities.

BUT WHEN McCasland dumped Davis on that big fourth down play, the dam finally burst. After taking over the ball, Kermit moved the 56 yards to paydirt in just nine plays.

Kermit took a 6-0 lead in the game when they took the opening kickoff and moved 77 yards in just five plays with Deon Bryant crashing into the end zone from two yards out. The big play in the drive was McGilbra's 48-yard scamper on the second play of the game. That run moved the ball from the Kermit 31 to the Slaton 21.

A pair of Kermit fumbles gave Slaton a pair of golden opportunities go by the boards after that first touchdown when the Kermit defense stiffened with their backs against the wall. Kermit had threatened to make the game a laughier when they drove down to the Slaton the second time they had the ball. But at that point, Bryant mishandled a Brent Barrs pitch and Slaton's Greg Johnson recovered at the 10.

Slaton then drove all the way to the Kermit 31 before Davis had to punt the ball away. Even though the drive didn't produce any points, Davis gave the crowd a lesson in running the option. He tore off runs of 12, seven and 33 yards in the drive.

JOHNSON THEN smothered a David Fulbright bobble at the Kermit 21, but three plays produced only three yards and Titus' 36-yard field goal attempt was off the mark.

Kermit quickly drove down to the

Longhorns kick Texas Ags, 22-7

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Russell Erxleben kicked two field goals and kept Texas A&M deep in its own territory with his booming punts, while linebacker Bruce Scholtz supplied a critical safety that carried the 14th-ranked Texas Longhorns to a 22-7 victory Friday night over the Southwest Conference rival Aggies.

One of Erxleben's field goals was a 59-yarder, and he boomed the ball almost the length of the field with his towering punts, including a 74-yarder with the wind, to keep the Aggies pinned down.

While Erxleben supplied the Longhorns with field position in the nationally televised game, third-string quarterback Mark McBath, starting the first time this year, provided just enough firepower.

McBath completed a 47-yard pass to set up one touchdown and ran 3 yards for another.

Sun Bowl-bound Texas, 8-3 for the year and 6-2 in SWC play, built a 10-0 halftime lead before the Aggies came alive on the passing of quarterback Mike Mosley.

Jam Jones bolted 20 yards and McBath sprinted untouched around right end on a keeper for the touchdown.

Then both teams locked into a tense trench warfare struggle without either the Longhorns or the Aggies getting a first down in the second quarter.

The Aggies got only three first downs in the first half, and their only brush with a potential score came when barefoot Tony Franklin missed a 46-yard field goal attempt.

Erxleben drilled a 59-yard field goal with the wind just before the halftime gun. The kick nicked the inside of the right goalpost to give the Longhorns a 10-0 lead at intermission.

THE AGGIES, who tried a psychological ploy by coming out with jerseys that had their names on them, showed plenty of good offense at times in the second half.

Midland soccer season concludes

The Midland Soccer Association's 1978 season comes to a close today and Sunday with championship games slated for both days at 1:30 p.m.

Second and third place teams will play today to determine who will play the first place teams on Sunday. Games are set for the Taylor, Trinity and Sidwell fields both days. The public is invited to attend.

Individual awards and trophies will be awarded Sunday at Sidwell Park at 3:30 p.m. following the championship contests.

The MSA's 1979 spring season will begin in March with player entries being accepted through Feb. 17. Registration information and forms may be picked up at the Midland Parks and Recreation Department.

THE PLAY that killed the Aggies came after Mosley had scrambled 9 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter to narrow the deficit to 10-7.

Tailback Curtis Dickey tried to reverse his field to outwit the Longhorn defenders only to be tackled by Scholtz in the Aggies end zone. Only 49 seconds later, after a 47-yard pass from McBath to Johnny Lam Jones, Johnny Ham Jones dashed 5 yards for a touchdown.

A&M will go to the Hall of Fame Bowl with a 7-4 record and 4-4 mark in league play.

Erxleben punted the ball eight times for 384 yards, an average of 48 yards per kick.

MC BATH starting for the first time in 18 games, whipped the Longhorns 71 yards in 10 plays the second time they had the ball. Freshman Johnny

Chaps beat Laredo; Odessa bombs Angelo

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
R-T Sports Writer

Midland's first annual Chaparral Classic was headed for the first classic bore at the Chaparral Center Friday night until Laredo Junior College decided to give the hosts a tough time before losing 83-76.

The first night of the tournament didn't produce a close game and after Odessa College ran over hapless and almost memberless Angelo State Junior Varsity by a murderous 100-55 count, there was little hope left for a thriller.

Laredo, however, had other plans and played a tight contest with the Green and Gold of Midland College. Neither team ever had more than a five point lead throughout most of the game until the Chaps were able to put a handle on it late in the game.

Cullen Mayfield and Kenneth Young scored 20 and 19 points respectively and both earned berths on the Classic All-Star unit. The Chaps were the only team to gain two All-Stars. It was Mayfield that fueled MC's win Friday over Laredo with his deadly outside aim and some nifty behind the back passing, which had the Eagles wondering where the ball was coming from. He also came up with some key steals in the contest. Young was his usual mean self on the boards, and hit some easy spin around layups.

Laredo busted MC's stout press several times and got some easy baskets from Richard Hastings, who had 22 points. Hugo Chaparro, an All-Star, hit for 25 points in another good game.

The Chaps also got 14 points from Luis Alvarado and 13 from Robert Tate, who was very consistent. Henry White added 10 markers.

Odessa College never skipped a beat after running to a quick 23-3 lead over Angelo State's JVs. The Rams brought only six players, and the game was a real farce before this one was over with. Three players fouled out for the Rams and another had to leave on an ankle injury and finished the game with two players on the court. Even when they had a full team playing, the Rams managed to hit only two field goals in the first half.

OC's Billy Ray Ennis, a former Midland Lee star, did his thing again with 26 points to lead all scorers on the night and earned a berth on the All-Star team. Angelo State's Bob

Odessa Permian buries hapless Heights, 38-12

BY BOB DILLON
R-T Sports Writer

ABILENE — Quarterback Vic Vines unlimbered his passing arm here Friday night to riddle Arlington Heights with three touchdown passes as Odessa Permian blitzed the Yellow Jackets, 38-12, before 11,500 fans in P.E. Shotwell.

The victory in the Class AAAA regional football playoff game moves Mojo into the quarterfinals against either Plainview or El Paso Andress next weekend.

Permian exploded for 21 points in a three-minute span midway through the final period to break open a 17-12 game. The Panthers took a 17-0 lead at halftime.

Permian started off just like they did last week in their bi-district win over Lewisville, unable to move the football. The Black Cats were held on their first possession but Dee Witt recovered a fumble for the Panthers at the Jacket 44. Permian was unable to move as both teams fought to a holdoff in the first period with no score.

THE PANTHERS finally got on the scoreboard with Vines hitting Gregg Lambert with a 31-yard pass to the Heights' 16. Three plays later Lambert bulldozed from the one and Robert Orrosco booted the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 5:56 left in the first half.

Bryan Lambert recovered a Jacket fumble on the next possession at the Heights' 23 and this time Permian had to settle for a field goal with Orrosco splitting the uprights from 25 yards out to make it 10-0 with 2:28 left in the half.

Mike Moore, Panther defensive end who played an outstanding game, led the Mojo defense on the next possession and the Panthers scored one more time before the half when Vines hit split end David Loper on a stop-and-go pattern from 28 yards out with 22 seconds left in the half, making it 17-0.

Kelly Howard picked off a Jacket pass on the last play of the first half as Mojo took the comfortable 17-0 lead to the dressing room.

second half for the Jackets, Arlington Heights went 42 yards in four plays with Kevin Batie scampering 18 yards on a quick pitch for the score. Terry Williams' extra point attempt sailed wide and low to the left making it 17-6 with 6:07 left in the third quarter.

Arlington Heights drove 64 yards in 10 plays at the onset of the final quarter to score and make a game of it. Fullback Curtis Ferguson, who rushed for 112 yards on 23 carries, set up the touchdown with a 21 yard run to the Permian eight. After a two yard loss, quarterback Kelvin Smith went back to pass and was trapped but managed to escape and run 10 yards for the touchdown. The passing attempt for the two-point conversion failed however, making it 17-12 in favor of Permian with 10:46 left in the game.

THEN CAME the Mojo explosion. The Panthers marched 72 yards in 13 plays which ate up nearly five minutes of the clock. Vines hit Loper again from eight yards out and Orrosco's boot made it 24-12 with 5:43 left in the game.

Arlington Heights put the ball in play following the touchdown and Permian Ricky Reynolds picked off a pass, at the Jacket 44.

Vines dialed Loper's number again on a perfect 44-yard strike into the end zone. Orrosco's PAT made it 31-12 with 5:25 left.

Bryan Lambert put the icing on the cake for the Panthers when he intercepted another pass and skipped 24 yards for the score with 3:38 left in the game.

Vines connected on nine of 14 passes for 166 yards and three touchdowns, giving him 21 touchdown passes for the year and breaking the former Permian record of 20 set by Steve Looney in 1973. With 21 touchdown passes on the season, the 176-pound senior now has 31 TD passes in two seasons.

Loper, who was not even expected to play because of a dislocated finger, had three receptions, all for touchdowns, for 87 yards.

Permian's defense, as usual, was tough when they had to be, even though it gave up more yardage than in any other of its previous 11 games.

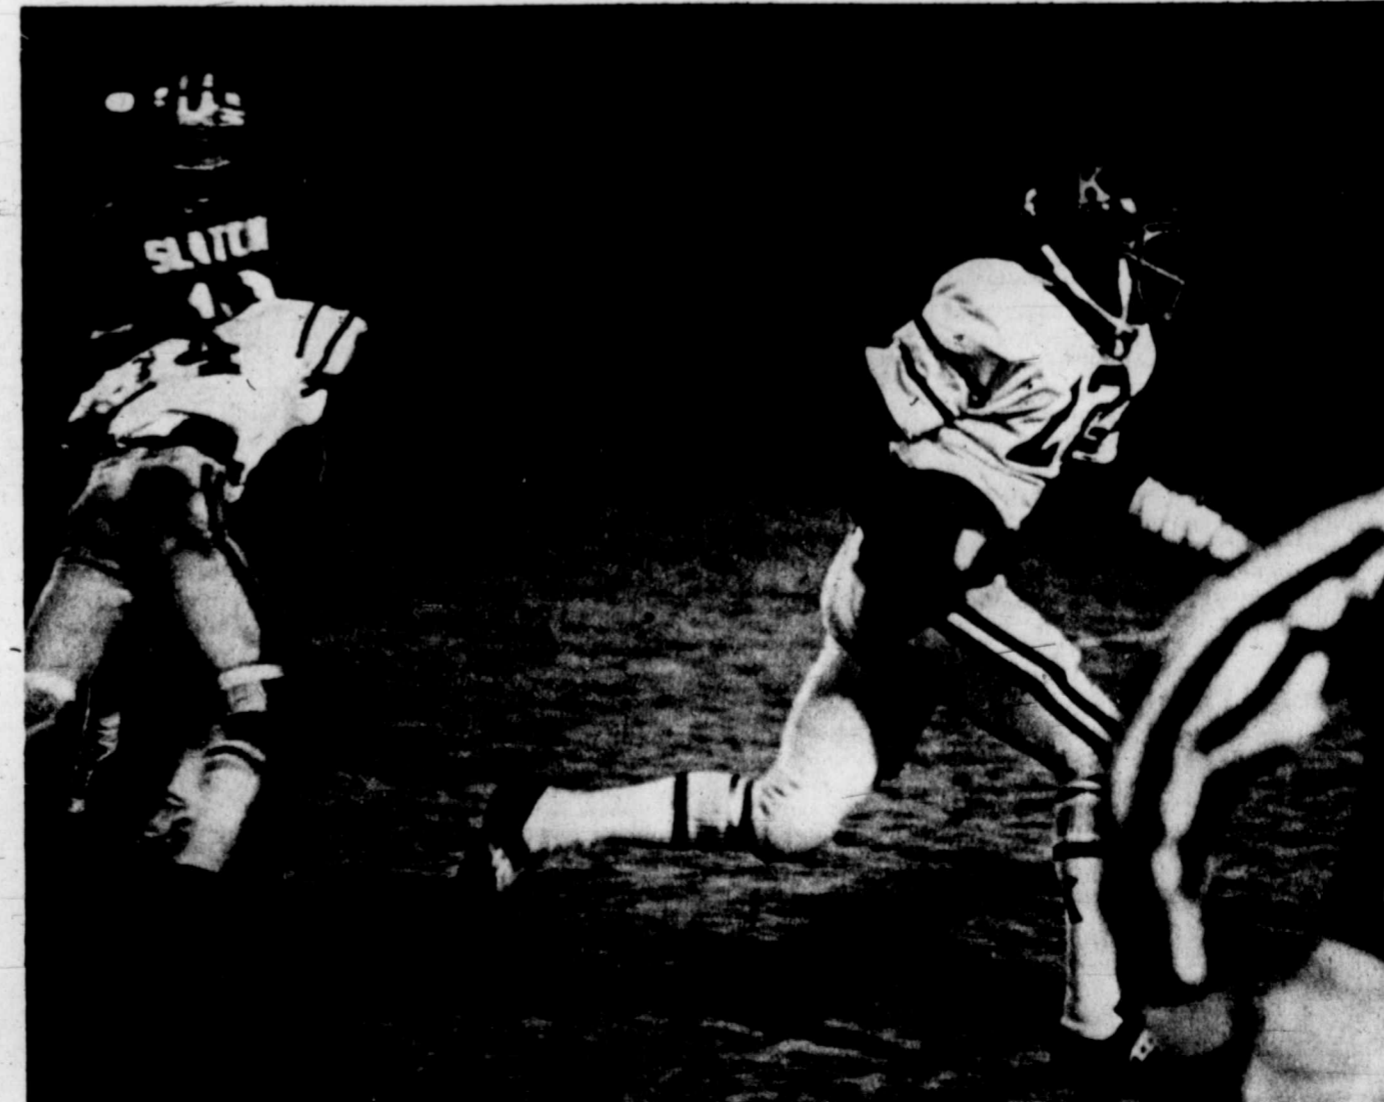

Permian takes a 12-0 record into the quarterfinal round while Arlington Heights' season ends abruptly with an 11-1 record.

Holtz praises Reeves as All-SWC of future

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ron Reeves of Texas Tech gets Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz's vote as the All-Southwest Conference quarterback of the future.

"He's destined for all-conference," Holtz said of Reeves. "He has a great arm. He's very accurate and he's a very physical runner."

"He's like a blacksmith playing quarterback ... a tough raw-boned type. He's a big timer ... the type that can save the franchise."

Reeves is a freshman, but Holtz says he plays more like a junior. Reeves will bring his act to Fayetteville on Saturday when Arkansas takes on the red-hot Raiders.

HOLTZ SAYS Reeves is stronger than Houston's Danny Davis, but has many of Davis' qualities.

He also says that Reeves' arm is as strong as that of Southern Methodist University's Mike Ford and that he has the scrambling ability of Texas A&M's Mike Mosley.

"He's like a big fullback on the option," Holtz said. "He'll tuck it up in there and drag you for four yards."

One thing that Reeves has that none of the others possess is a 240-pound running back. The name is James Hadnot and he's a freshman who has gained 1,300 yards since being converted from tight end.

TECH COACH Rex Dockery says Reeves, who is from Lubbock, is mature and a winner.

"He's been in pressure situations as a pitcher and as a quarterback," Dockery said. "He has a knack for winning."

Reeves was thrust into action in Tech's second game of the season with the Raiders trailing Arizona. Tech's first quarterback was hurt and Dockery said the No. 2 quarterback was limited in his ability to throw.

Tech rallied to beat Arizona 41-26. "Once we stuck him in there, we couldn't get him out of there," Dockery said.

HOLTZ SAYS Tech, a 22-21 upset winner over Houston last week, is playing the best football in the Southwest Conference at the moment.

"They are a physical football team," he said. "They're nasty, not dirty. They will try to intimidate you."

Arkansas, No. 8 in the country, has won four straight and has dominated each of those opponents for long periods of time.

Last week, for instance, SMU got off to a 14-0 lead over Arkansas.

THE RAZORBACKS managed only 16 yards in the first quarter but netted 445 yards in the final three periods and won going away 27-14.

Both Arkansas and Tech are 5-2 in the SWC and the winner would tie Houston for the league championship should the Cougars be upset by Rice. Arkansas, bound for the Dec. 25 Fiesta Bowl against UCLA, is a 13-point favorite. A sellout crowd of more than 43,000 is expected for the 1 p.m. kickoff.

Ali expected to make retirement announcement

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali, the only fighter ever to hold the heavyweight title three times, is expected to announce his retirement from boxing next Thursday, according to New York Daily News sports columnist Dick Young.

Young, in Saturday's editions of the newspaper, quoted Ali as saying from Mississippi that "I want nothing to do with boxing anymore. I am going on to a new life. My lawyers are working on 25 deals and endorsements. That is why I want to announce my retirement in a few days. Let the young guys have it (the title)."

Ali is expected to be in New York next Thursday for a press conference called by promoter Butch Lewis.

"That will be the last boxing press conference I will be at and you probably are the last writer I will have an interview with about boxing," the 36-year-old Ali told Young by telephone.

The sometimes unpredictable Ali has "retired" a number of times, only to climb back into the ring.

But after winning the World Boxing Association championship Sept. 15 in a bruising 15-round decision from Leon Spinks — the inexperienced youngster who had wrestled the crown from him seven months earlier — Ali strongly indicated he would never fight again.

"I will be the first black man to retire with the championship," said Ali. "I won't have to suffer any more."

Reds' sportscaster questions desire of Cincinnati players

Former Cincinnati Reds pitcher Joe Nuxhall, now a radio broadcaster team, said that some of the Reds didn't seem to appreciate their World Series rings of 1975 and 1976 and "Maybe some of them should check themselves to answer if they did their best." ... He also expressed shock at the dismissal of Sparky Anderson as the Reds' manager. "He was a tremendous ambassador for the Reds and baseball, always talking up the club and the game."

The Metropolitan Sports Facilities Commission, after 18 months of deliberations, has decided to build a 65,000-seat, $51.2 million domed stadium in downtown Minneapolis which would house professional football, baseball and soccer teams. Construction would begin next April and the stadium would be finished in April 1981, if the pro teams sign leases by mid-January and the National Football League and American (baseball) League agree to keep franchises in Minnesota for 30 years.

Seattle Pacific defeated Southern Connecticut State, 1-0 sudden death in triple overtime, while Alabama A&M blanked Eastern Illinois 5-0 Friday to set up a rematch of last year's NCAA Division II Soccer championship at Miami.

Mark Moseley, Washington's leading scorer, says he'll be ready for Miami's Dolphins Sunday despite a sore kicking leg, which he described as a pinched sciatic nerve in his back, causing the leg to go numb. However, Ted Fritsch, normally the center on field goals, and punter Mike Bragg worked on kicking Friday.

The California Angels announced Friday that they have withdrawn from negotiations with free agent pitcher Jim Barr because he wanted to wait until baseball's winter meetings before signing a contract. Red Patterson, assistant to Angels Board Chairman Gene Autry, said the club had offered a contract in the million-dollar range to the former San Francisco Giants right-hander. Barr was 8-11 and had a 3.53 earned run average with the Giants last season.

Football Coach John Cooper received a three-year extension to his contract and a "substantial" pay boost Friday from the University of Tulsa. The Hurricane posted a 9-2 record after going 3-8 in 1977.

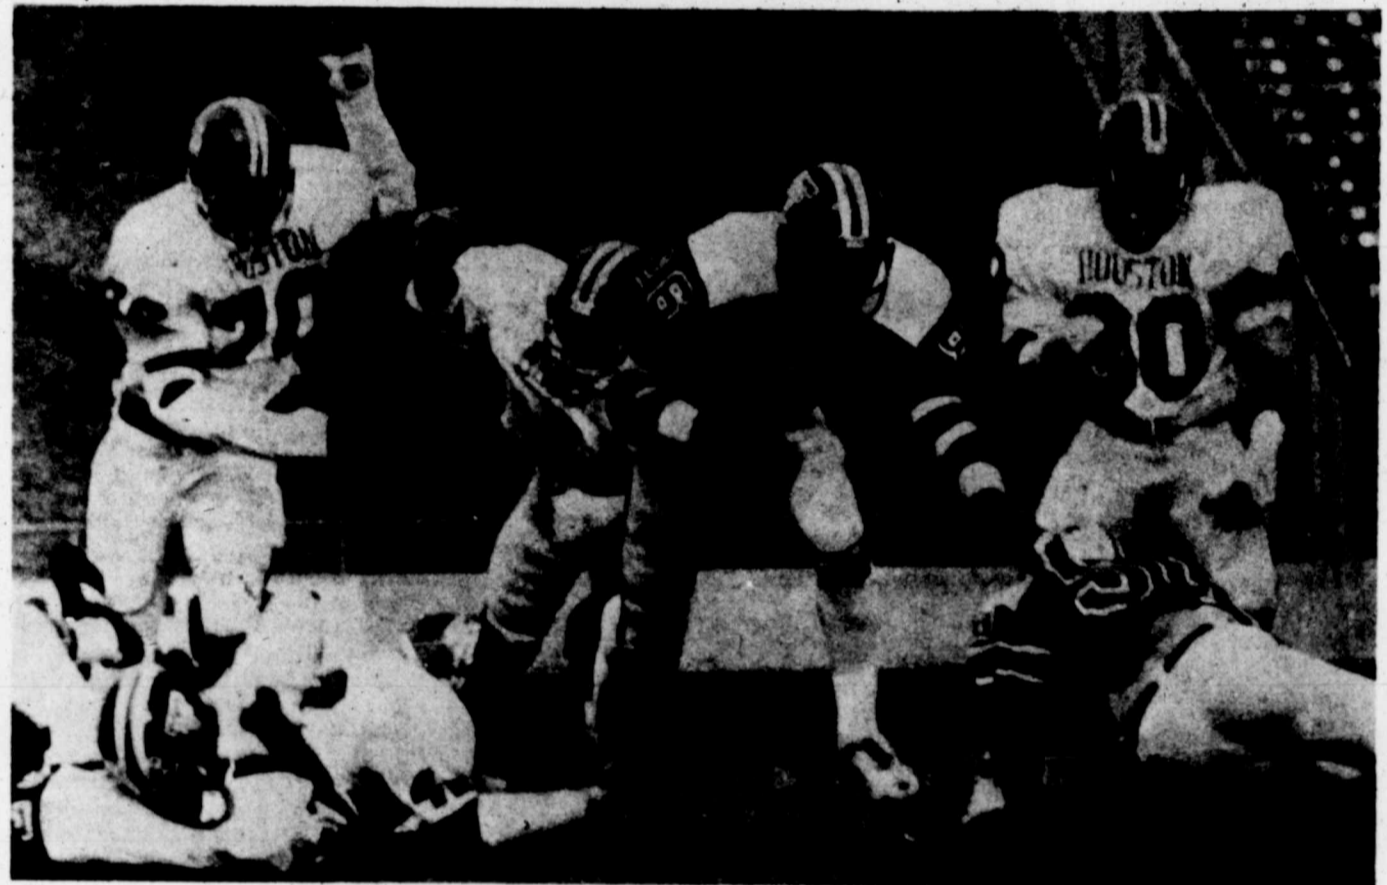

The Cincinnati Reds named Bill Fischer, longtime minor league coach of the Kansas City Royals, as pitching coach Friday, replacing Larry Shepard. Fischer, 48, becomes the first coach named to the staff of new Manager John McNamara. Fischer spent nine years in the major leagues, primarily as a reliever. In 1962, he set a major league record by pitching 84 1/3 innings without allowing a walk. A group headed by Burlington Northern Inc. Vice President Taul Watanabe is offering to buy the Seattle Mariners, a 1977 American League expansion team. "We are in the second stage of negotiations. That means we are talking price, always a problem, of course," said Watanabe, who lives in Bellevue, Wash., and is a member of the University of Washington Board of Regents.

Ted Turner, owner of the Atlanta Braves, said his chances of signing free agent star Pete Rose are "very slim." Even though the Braves are still in the running to sign Rose, Turner predicted the veteran infielder would sign with a pennant contender.

Rose said teams still in the running for his services were Kansas City, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Atlanta, of which it is believed the Braves and Turner have made the top money offer.

Wake Forest golfer Gary Hallberg birdied the final four holes Friday and stretched his lead to six strokes going into the final 18 holes of the Sun Bowl College All-Star Golf Tournament at El Paso. Hallberg shot a four-under 67 to go with his opening round 67 for a two-round 131 to lead Arizona State's Dan Croonquist by two strokes with Mike Gove, Weber State, at 138 and Bob Clampett, BYU, fourth with 140.

Only lowly Rice blocks UH path

HOUSTON (AP) — Eleventh ranked Houston will be playing for the Southwest Conference championship and the host role in the Cotton Bowl but Rice's Ray Alborn will have his own priorities Saturday night when the two teams meet in the regular season finale in the Astrodome.

"We're playing this game for Rice University and nobody else," Alborn said. "I'd like to be able to walk out on the field and shake his (UH Coach Bill Yeoman's) hand after we'd kicked their tails for once. If I didn't feel that way they should fire me and get somebody in here who does feel that way."

RICE'S performance will be of great interest to surprising Texas Tech, which still could gain the Cotton Bowl if it beats Arkansas Saturday afternoon and the Owls upset Houston.

Texas Tech spiced Saturday's final regular season games by beating the Cougars 22-21 last Saturday, forcing Houston to tie or beat Rice to advance to the Cotton Bowl for the second time in three years.

The Cougars are heavy favorites but Yeoman says nothing will be taken for granted.

"They give scholarships and pay their coaches just like everybody else," Yeoman said. "If you saw film of their game with Baylor, you know they can play football. If we're not ready to play again this week we'll be in trouble but I think we will be ready."

RICE HAS a 2-8 record including a 24-10 upset of Baylor two weeks ago. A victory would give the Owls a tie with Baylor and Southern Methodist for sixth place in the SWC standings and give them three SWC wins for the first time since 1973.

In addition to wrapping up the SWC title, starting Cougar running backs Emmett King and Randy Love could become the first double 1,000 yard rushers on the same team in SWC history. King goes into the game with 948 yards and Love has 929.

Rice receivers David Houser and Doug Cunningham could move up on the SWC career receiving list.

HOUSER, WHO has 36 catches this year, needs six receptions to pass SMU's Jerry LeVias as the No. 2 receiver in SWC history and 13 catches would make him the all-time leader with 163 receptions. TCU's Mike Renfro, now a rookie with the Houston Oilers, holds the record of 162.

Spurs' Moe levels bitter verbal blast at officials

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio Spurs Coach Doug Moe has leveled a bitter verbal blast at National Basketball Association referee Darell Garretson, saying Garretson was "looking to get us" in the Spurs' overtime loss to Philadelphia here Wednesday night.

"I thought overall it was a well-officiated game, but Garretson was trying to show us who was boss," Moe charged Thursday. "Something needs to be done when a ref's ego causes him to show his authority."

GARRETSON called three technical fouls on the Spurs in the 120-114 loss, one for a zone defense, one on Moe and another on forward Mark Olberding.

The 76ers missed free throws on the first two, but converted a crucial one with 9:37 remaining in the final period on Olberding's technical.

Moe didn't argue with the technical on himself, but disagreed with the other two. He was especially incensed about Garretson's claim that Olberding had made an obscene gesture after the forward had hit an 18-foot jump shot.

Ernie Holmes, once of the Steel Curtain

Wittenberg shooting for 3rd NCAA title

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Wittenberg, ranked No. 4 in the final NCAA Division III football poll, seeks its third national championship Saturday when the Tigers collide with Ohio Athletic Conference rival Baldwin-Wallace in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

It will be the second meeting this year between the 10-0-1 teams, who battled to a 17-17 draw three weeks ago when Wittenberg scored with only 16 seconds remaining and went for a game-tying extra point rather than gamble on a two-point conversion for victory.

Portly Ernie Holmes signs with Pats in time for Dallas

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots have gained 15 pounds and a defensive lineman with a flair for the dramatic as they prepare for Sunday's National Football League showdown in Dallas against the Cowboys.

Ernie Holmes, once part of the Pittsburgh Steelers Super Bowl championship defense — "the Steel Curtain" — was signed as a free agent this week, replacing Greg Boyd, who was placed on the injured reserve list.

Austin, Evert put Americans in Federation Cup semifinals

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The United States, paced by Tracy Austin and Chris Evert, defeated France 2-0 Friday and advanced into the semifinals of the Federation Cup tennis tournament.

Austin took 70 minutes to down Frederique Thibault 6-4, 6-3 while Evert, getting better with every match, routed Brigitte Simon 6-0, 6-1 to give the Americans an unbeatable 2-0 lead against France in their best-of-three quarter-final match.

France lost the gamble of holding back veterans Gail Lovera and Francoise Durr for the doubles, hoping that one of the two youngsters, Thibault or Simon, could upset either Austin or Evert and force the match into the deciding doubles.

The United States will meet Britain in the semifinals.

Veterans Virginia Wade and Sue Barker clinched the marathon six-hour quarter-final victory for Britain by defeating Czechoslovakia's Renata Tomanova and Hana Mandlikova 8-6, 7-5.

Boyd, troubled all season by an ankle injury, weighed out at 275 pounds. Holmes, cut by Tampa Bay last August, weighed in at 290.

THE NEWCOMER conceded he's about 15 pounds over his playing weight, in part because he hasn't played football since the exhibition season.

Holmes knows how to get his share of publicity, however.

As a Steeler, Holmes shaved his hair into the shape of an arrow to call attention to himself. He figured Joe Greene, L.C. Greenwood and Dwight White were getting more than their share of the limelight.

At other times, he was arrested and acquitted on drug charges in Texas and was arrested for firing a gun on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Holmes lost his job in Pittsburgh to Steve Furness and was traded last May, just before the NFL draft, to Tampa Bay for 11th and 12th round picks. He had trouble with his weight while trying to make the Bucs' squad.

"WE HOPE Ernie can give depth to our defensive line," said Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks.

"I still got my wheels," said Holmes. "If I got my wheels I can go out there and deal."

As for his past troubles with the law, Holmes said, "That's all swept under the rug. That's in the past."

Tech owns 4th longest streak

It may all end today, at least, that's what the experts predict, but when Texas Tech beat Houston last week, it stretched the Red Raiders' winning streak to six straight, which is the fourth longest in the nation.
The Raiders' chances in the Ozarks today probably will hinge on running back James Hadnot's ability to keep his 100-yard-a-game streak going. Last week, he did it for the sixth straight time, gaining 111 yards in the 22-21 derailling of the Houston Cotton Bowl Express, momentary as it may be, and that shot him into fourth place in the all-time single-season rushing standings with 1,300 yards.
Kong has no hope of catching Earl Campbell, who chewed up 1,744 yards on his way to the Heisman Trophy last year, but a good day and the Jasper junior who pass both Bob Smith, Texas A&M, 1950 vantage, and Texas Roosevelt Leaks (1973). Leaks, in second, has 1,415 yards and Smith at 1302 should be caught by Hadnot on his first carry today.

ALTHOUGH ONLY 36,691 showed up for the Thanksgiving weekend game at Jones Stadium last week, Tech still totaled 226,431 fans for the year, a record average of 45,286, not bad at all for a team that was expected to experience a dismal rebuilding year...

In addition Hadnot's bid as the individual rushing title, two other Raiders have shots at SWC titles. Maury Buford, averaging 44.2 yards per punt, had a slim edge over Texas' Russell Erlieben at 44.1 going into the final weekend and Bill "Blade" Adams, Tech's deadly field goal kicker could become the first Raider to lead the SWC in scoring since Donny Anderson did it with 102 points.
Coach Bill Yeoman's Houston Cougars don't play Rice until tonight while Tech and Arkansas meet this afternoon. To guard against a letdown by his team, in case Tech loses, Yeoman says, "I'm going to steal all their radios." It really wouldn't matter since an Arkansas vic-

Midland advances Heels, Devils to finals

CRANE—Midland High's girls basketball team bagged into the finals of the Crane Invitational Basketball Tournament by defeating host Crane, 36-19, Friday as Margaret Christian led the Midland lassies with 10 points.
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sophomore forward Gene Banks hit a basket with six seconds left Friday night to give top-ranked Duke a 65-63 victory over No. 6 North Carolina State in the opening round of the Big Four Basketball Tournament.
In the other opening round contest, sophomores Al Wood fired in 21 points to lead 14th-ranked North Carolina to an 83-55 victory over Wake Forest and set up a meeting between the Tar Heels and Blue Devils Saturday for the tournament championship.
Duke and N.C. State were tied 63-63 for almost six minutes as both teams used slowdown offenses before the Blue Devils worked the ball under to Banks in the closing seconds for the winning shot. A desperation shot by the Wolfpack's Clyde Austin from almost half court fell short at the buzzer.

Kermit defeats Slaton

Slaton 28 following the missed field goal and at that point McGilbra hauled in a screen pass from Barrs and then weaved his way the entire distance to score with only 5:10 left in the half. Kermit called on McGilbra to make up for the missed extra point after the first touchdown and McGilbra responded by hurdling Slaton's Billy Jack Haire at the goal for two points and a 14-0 lead.
McGilbra topped all rushers with 85 yards on 16 carries while Fulbright picked up 60 more on 10 totes.
Davis, who burned Colorado City by rushing for 172 yards and four touchdowns last week, found Kermit's defense a little bit tougher but still finished with 72 yards on 10 carries.
Kermit improved its season mark to 9-1-2 with the win while Slaton finished the year at 8-4.

Greenwood in finals

CRANE—Greenwood won both boys and girls games here Friday as the second day of the three-day Crane Invitational Basketball Tournament came to a close. Greenwood's undefeated Class B boys defeated AA Coahoma, 57-47, for the second time this year while the Rangerettes defeated Coahoma's girls by a 61-46 margin. In other boys' action, Stanton ran past Forsan, 56-53; Crane ripped Klondike, 73-65; and Alpine slugged Van Horn, 69-48.
In girls' play, Midland defeated host Crane, 36-19, while Stanton edged past Van Horn, 49-46. Little Class B Klondike murdered AAAA Big Spring, 71-26.
In today's final round action, Greenwood will face Stanton at 9 p.m. in the boys' finals while Midland High will test Greenwood at 7:30 p.m. in the girls' finals. Alpine and Crane will meet in the boys' consolation match while Klondike and Stanton will square off in the girls' consolation match.

College season winds down with 2 bowls hanging

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

College football's regular season, which began more than three months ago, finally winds down Saturday... and none too soon for the three undecided bowl games.

As an omen of things to come, Penn State defeated Temple 10-7 way back on Sept. 1 and the Nittany Lions, who completed an 11-0 regular season last week, lead the roost as the nation's only unbeaten team.

But while top-rated Penn State sits back waiting to learn who its Sugar Bowl opponent will be, two of the serious challengers for the national championship will be in action.

Second-ranked Alabama, which began the season as No. 1, meets Auburn in the traditional windup at Birmingham while third-ranked Southern California has a night contest against Hawaii on the beach at Waikiki — or at least in beautiful Aloha Stadium.

THE SUGAR Bowl will be keeping a close watch on Alabama-Auburn, as well as the meeting in Athens, Ga., between No. 11 Georgia and Georgia Tech.

An Alabama victory will send the Crimson Tide to New Orleans against Penn State and a matchup of the nation's 1-2 teams. But an Auburn upset or a tie will put Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to represent the Southeastern Conference. Whichever loses out on the Sugar will meet Stanford in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The Southwest Conference's host team in the Cotton Bowl also is up in the air, but ninth-ranked Houston can nail it down by beating or tying lowly Rice Saturday night. By that time, though, the Cougars may be sitting pretty — since Texas Tech, the only other SWC team with a Cotton-pickin' chance, must defeat eighth-ranked Arkansas in an afternoon contest to stay alive.

Only 14 major games are on the weekend schedule. The rest of the slate finds Holy Cross at Boston College, Miami, Fla. at Florida in the finale for ousted Florida Coach Doug Dickey, Wyoming at Louisiana State for a night game, Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia, Utah at San Diego State under the lights, Long Beach State at San Jose State, Tennessee at Vanderbilt and Brigham Young vs. Nevada

Las Vegas in, of all places, Yokohama, Japan.

THE ALABAMA-AUBURN clash has produced the tightest ticket situation in Birmingham's history, with a pair reportedly going for as high as $200. There is no scalping law in Alabama.

Bama's Bear Bryant calls 6-3-1 Auburn "definitely the toughest conference team we've faced this year. They are a very explosive team. And if they have James Brooks back, we will be facing a double barrel instead of a single barrel."

Brooks has been out since the season's fourth game with a foot injury but is still the Tigers' second leading rusher with 542 yards. Auburn's No. 1 tailback, Joe Cribbs, is No. 2 in the SEC with an average of 120.8 yards a game.

The Georgia-Georgia Tech game pairs two of the country's leading runners. Tech's Eddie Lee Ivey, who set a national single-game record by gaining 356 yards against Air Force, is No. 4 with 1,402 yards while Georgia's Willie McClendon, No. 1 in the SEC, is 10th nationally with 1,239 despite being slowed by injuries in his last two outings.

"I don't view this as a personal duel between Willie and me," says Ivey. "I won't be tackling him and I don't think he'll be tackling me."

Georgia quarterback Jeff Byburn insists the Bulldogs will have their minds on Tech and not in Birmingham, where their Sugar-Bluebonnet fate will be decided.

"We can't do anything about what happens there," says Byburn, "but we've got a little say in who wins this game. I'd rather beat Tech than for Auburn to beat Alabama, and I think most of the players feel that way, too."

HOUSTON COACH Bill Yeoman promises his Cougars, who stumbled against Texas Tech last week, will be ready for Rice despite the Owls' lowly 2-8 record.

"They give scholarships and pay their coaches just like everybody else," he says. "If you saw film of their game with Baylor (Rice won 24-10) you know they can play football. If we're not ready to play again this week we'll be in trouble, but I think we will be ready."

A hole-in-one without witnesses?

BY REX WORRELL
Hogan Park Golf Pro

How would you feel if you scored a hole-in-one and didn't have any witnesses?

That very thing happened to Jim Hubbard this week. Jim aced the 165-yard No. 13 hole at Hogan Park and the only ones to witness the feat were Roger Hurt, Clarence Sloan and Jimmie Thorne. Having those three as witnesses is about as close to not having any witnesses as you can come. Ha! Congratulations, Jim.

The work on the new golf shop and snack area is progressing on or ahead of schedule. The forms are in place for the foundation and most of the plumbing and excavations of footings, etc., are completed and the slab will probably be poured this week.

The work on the golf course, or nine hole addition, is moving along too, with root-plowing and clearing of the area about 60 percent complete. The cutting and filling of the designated areas will be the next step and should begin within the next two weeks.

THIS WEEK'S progress report...

Monday—Clubhouse: Plumber began work on waterline to clubhouse and plumbing inside. Clubhouse foundation: Placements of steel beams started. Golf course: Root plowing continued and old water well near No. 1 green removed...

Tuesday—Clubhouse Plumbing and beam work continued. Golf course: Root plowing continued. The slabs and remains of old barn removed and cleaned up from new No. 1 fairway...

Wednesday—Clubhouse: Plumbing and beam work continued. Golf course: Wally Gunderson of Gunderson Inc., and Dennis Griffiths of Kirby Player were on location and went over progress with Rex Worrell and Curt Inman. Estimate of work completed was turned in on Item No. 1A, clearing 30 per cent complete...

Thursday—Clubhouse: Backhoe began digging ditch for gas line to clubhouse. Water line hooked up and water available to clubhouse. Golf course: Root plowing and clearing of debris continued...

Friday—Clubhouse: Ditch for gas line finished and gas line installation begun. Golf course: Root plowing and clearing of debris continued.

THE HOGAN Park Women's Golf Association held a Turkey shoot Thursday with Char Richter the nine-hole division winner with a low net of 31. Second went to Betty Reimers with a 34 and third went to Frances Stahl with a 35 while fourth went to Evelyn Guidry on a 38. In the 18-hole division Pat Walter won in a playoff with a fine net score of 71. Second went to Bernice Cox with a 71, third to Alvina Hill, 71, fourth to Gloria Delenback at 73 and fifth to Wilma Cox on a 73.

The ladies will hold their monthly Trophy Day event this Thursday with trophies...

Parlov's plane hit by lightning

MARSALA, Italy (AP) — Mate Parlov of Yugoslavia, the World Boxing Council light heavyweight champion, said Friday he interpreted the lightning that struck his plane enroute to Sicily as a good luck symbol for his title fight today against Marvin Johnson of Indianapolis.

Parlov's plane was struck shortly before its arrival here Wednesday, but it landed safely.

"If the bad tempers of the skies have failed to floor me, how can Johnson hope to do it with his punches," the 30-year-old champion said of today's fight in this Sicilian town.

The fight will be televised live in the United States by CBS beginning at 3 p.m. CST.

PARLOV SCOFFED at reports that he was not in peak condition because of his difficulties in making the 175-pound weight limit.

"It is true I was overweight until recently, but I lose weight as fast as I put it on. I only need a few weeks of hard training, and I have done things properly this time."

The champion said he still was ashamed for his poor showing against John Conteh of Britain last June 17 before the home folks in Belgrade.

"I retained the title but I don't intend to repeat that poor performance," he said. "I have trained hard and only with southpaws to get ready for Johnson. I have seen him in action and he is an excellent boxer, a solid puncher."

"I won't underrate him and I'll be careful. But I am confident I'll be the winner. I have two ambitions now: to see one light heavyweight champion and then make a crack at the heavyweight crown."

MIKE ROSSMAN of Turnersville, N.J., the World Boxing Association champion, was Johnson's target, too, should the American win today's fight. Rossman meets Aldo Traversaro of Italy in a title defense Tuesday at Philadelphia.

Boxing experts considered Parlov's repeated desire to fight as a heavyweight as an indication of his weight problems. They said that at age 30 it was more and more difficult for him to lose weight and preserve his energies and efficiency against younger opponents.

The Yugoslav was favored against the left-handed Johnson because of his experience and his longer reach. The champion is three inches taller than the challenger.

Johnson continued to impress local boxing experts with his strong training sessions and tough road work.

"I AM not concerned that others feel Parlov is the heavy favorite," Johnson said. "That will just put greater pressure on him. I am not nervous because of my debut in a world title fight."

"I have trained hard. I know Parlov is a good boxer, a man of experience, but I'll beat him. I don't like big mouth boxers who say they'll kill their opponents, so I won't predict when and how. But I know I'll win."

Roland Dakin of Britain was named referee for the bout in the $500-seat Marsala Sports Arena. Judges were Fernando Perotti of Spain and Marcello Bertini of Italy.

ASU's Aldridge, SHSU's Lowry head LSC team

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Jerry Aldridge of Angelo State, the leading ground-gainer, and Sam Houston State split end Clay Lowry headline the 1978 All-Lone Star conference football team. Aldridge, a 6-2, 210-pound senior, led the Rams to their first LSC crown and finished as the top ground-gainer in the conference with 1,474 yards. He rushed for more than 100 yards in all 11 regular season games and set a LSC record of 14 consecutive 100-yard plus efforts dating back to 1977.

Lowry, a 5-11, 167-pound junior, hauled in 45 passes for a LSC-record 1,203 yards for the Sam Houston State University Bearkats, who enjoyed their first winning season in eight years. Aldridge was the unanimous choice for the J. W. "Dough" Rollins Award as Back of the Year, and Lowry nosed out linebacker Kelvin Smith of Angelo State for the J. V. "Siki" Sikes Award as Lineman of the Year.

Tight end Kirby Jones, 6-2, 215-pound, a senior from Abilene Christian, joined Aldridge and Lowry on the first offensive team as a unanimous pick. Jones is a repeater from 1977.

Texas A&I offensive tackle Billy John, a 6-4, 245-pound, senior, made the elite squad for the second time.

Both champion Angelo State and Abilene Christian placed four players on the first offensive unit.

Stanton lands 9 all-5-A berths

Despite a runner-up finish to unbeaten Seagraves in the District 5-A football race, the Stanton Buffaloes came away the big winners in voting for that district's 1978 all-star team.

The Buffaloes, who finished the season with a 6-3-1 mark, filled nine of the spots on the 22-man all-district squad. Seagraves placed five players on the team while Plains, which tied Stanton for second place in the league race, had four players on the team.

Heading the list for Stanton were a pair of repeaters from last year's all-district team. Quarterback Tommy Morrow and tailback Todd Smith were named to the squad for the second consecutive year.

Morrow completed 51 of 115 passes in 1978 for 552 yards and four touchdowns. Smith finished the season with 705 yards rushing on 143 carries. The 175-pound senior also scored 13 touchdowns.

Joining Morrow and Smith in the all-star backfield are Seagraves' Keith Ellard and O'Donnell's Tony Acosta. Ellard is a 5-6, 145-pound senior while Acosta, 5-11, 196 pounds, is one of nine juniors tabbed for all-league honors.

Other Stanton players named to the offensive squad were end Paul Sparks, a 6-0, 165-pound junior; guard Keith Hull, a 5-11, 175-pound junior; and center Miles Tollison, a 6-0, 205-pound senior.

Tollison and Hull were honored for both their offensive and defensive play on this year's team. Tollison also earned all-district accolades for his play at defensive tackle and one of the all-star linebacking spots was reserved for Hull.

Joining Hull and Tollison on the defensive squad were Stanton teammates Mitch Elmore and Bobby Mims. Elmore, a 6-2, 170-pound senior, made the team as a defensive end and Mims, a 5-10, 145-pound junior, is a member of the all-star secondary.

Hinkle, Bradley fire 7 birds for Mixed lead

LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Lon Hinkle and Pat Bradley fired seven birdies for a 7-under-par-65 to take a 4-stroke lead after the second round Friday in the $300,000 Mixed Teams Golf Championships.

They jumped from a second-place two-way opening round tie to card 66-65—131 over the two days and overtake first-round leaders Sharon Miller and Gibby Gilbert who dropped to third place, 5 strokes behind.

"We had a little chat early in the week," said Hinkle. "Pat is No. 2 on the LPGA tour. And I think that's fantastic. I'm No. 16 on the men's. If we come out of this with a nice check, then fine. If not, we've both had super years anyway."

Despite the soggy ground conditions from overnight thunderstorms and early morning drizzle, Hinkle made birdies of 3, 1, and 15, 10, 3, and 8 feet as they wound up 13-under-par over the 7,015-yard course at Bardmoor Country Club.

Defending champions Jerry Pate and Hollis Stacy shot a 66 to move up the ladder and finish in a four-way tie for second place with 9-under-par. At the end of Thursday's opening round they were in an 11-way tie for fifth place with a 69.

DAVE Eichelberger and Alexandra Reinhardt retained their second-place standing with a 66-69-135. The other twosomes challenging the leaders were Mike Hill and Vivian Brownlee with 69-66 and Dave Hill and Roberta Speer with a 70-65.

Brownlee aced the third hole, blasting the ball 181 yards with a three iron for her first hole-in-one as a pro. Joyce Kazmierski matched the feat on the five cup, using a six iron for 148 yards.

"We started out playing well today and putting poorly," said Pate. "We missed a lot of early putts. Hollis hit all the tough shots close. But both days we didn't start making any putts till the last nine."

Stacy said it isn't impossible to catch up when they're trailing by 4 strokes with two days to go in the event. "I like coming from behind."

TIED FOR THIRD at 136 were Wally Armstrong-Beth Stone with 69-67, Miller Barber-Sandra Palmer with 69-67 and the Gilbert-Miller team with 65-71.
