Senatorial 'blue slip' has controversial history

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Less than four months after taking office as the first president, George Washington nominated a former Army colleague, Col. Benjamin Fishbourne, to head the customs office in Savannah, Ga.

Georgia's two senators, for reasons not made public, objected to the nomination, and the Senate rejected it on Aug. 5, 1789, two days after Washington had submitted it.

Washington protested in a letter to the "gentlemen of the Senate" but capitulated and submitted a new nomination.

Thus was born the tradition known as "senatorial courtesy," under which a single senator frequently has been able to exercise a one-man veto over the nomination of a person from his home state as a federal official or federal judge.

Although the tradition is at odds with current reform efforts and is observed far less today than in years past, it is still very much alive. This is particularly the case in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which passes on the nominations of all federal judges, including Supreme Court justices, and all U.S. attorneys and U.S. marshals.

Traditionally, the Judiciary Committee, on receipt of a nomination, has sent the two senators from the nominee's home state a one-page blue form, known as a "blue slip." It asks the senator to give "your opinion and information" about the nominee.

Over the years, a senator's refusal to return a blue slip has been sufficient to kill many judgeship nominations. A report by the staff of the Judiciary Committee, sent last month to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the new committee chairman, said of the blue-slip practice:

"In fact, no hearing has been scheduled on a nominee in the absence of a returned blue slip, thus institutionalizing senatorial courtesy within the committee as an automatic and mechanical one-member veto over nominees.... In no other instance does another committee have a comparable procedure."

The blue-slip system has taken on particular significance because of last year's Omnibus Judgeship Act, which created 152 federal judgeships, and because of President Carter's efforts to remove judicial selection from politics. All the nominations will be submitted to the Judiciary Committee for approval or rejection.

Kennedy, a critic of the blue-slip practice, conducted a hearing last month on the judicial selection system but found practically no support among other committee members for abolishing the blue slip.

Judiciary Committee Democrats gave Kenney no more than tacit support, and Republicans, led by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., objected vigorously to any change in the system. Many other members of the Senate, possibly a majority, also favor retention of their veto power.

However, Kennedy said that he would try to modify the practice. "In (See KENNEDY, Page 2A)

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The U.S. consulate in the northwestern city of Tabriz was set on fire today by unidentified "counter-revolutionary elements." Radio Tabriz reported in a broadcast monitored here

The Iranian National Oil Co. said striking oil workers were heeding Khomeini's call and returning to work in the southwestern oil fields. Informed sources said it would take two to three months to get production back to the 6 million barrels a day formerly produced.

Heavy fighting was reported in the Iran will "turn to the issue of viccern among the thousands of Jews Current course 'proper,' aide says

By JAMES GERSTENZANG

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within 24 hours last week, a U.S. ambassador was murdered, an embassy assaulted and the president of the United States publicly dressed down by his Mexican counterpart.

But, by Sunday, one of President Carter's closest advisers was saying the week had shown that the president was following the proper course in foreign policy

It was a course this aide called a "careful, thoughtful approach." It was also a course in which the president sought to move slowly while critics in Congress showed what has been dubbed a "macho strain." In the White House view, the administration has been "beaten about the ears" by members of Congress who think Carter has not been forceful enough in a series of foreign policy dilemmas, some predictable, one certainly unforeseen. "We've taken quite a political beating from those who thought some dramatic action should be taken," the official said in response to critics of Carter's handling of U.S. policy toward Iran and the kidnap and murder Wednesday of Adolph Dubs, the U.S. ambassador to Afghanistan. On Sunday, Carter was given some unsolicited Republican advice on the problems raised by the Chinese invasion of Vietnam and criticism on his general conduct of foreign policy.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York said on one television show that while "the United States should urge both sides to keep their powder dry and their shirts on," it "should make it clear to the Soviet Union that we cannot stand still for an attack on the People's Republic of China. .

The Senate's Republican leader, Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, said on another program that Carter is finding foreign policy an "awkward area" and that in much of the world "there is a growing feeling that the United States has no coherent foreign policy."

Baker, responding to a question about Dubs' death, said the United States "should make it abundantly clear...that American representatives abroad...are off limits to guerrillas, to bandits and to other govern-

That attack, combined with the almost simultaneous assault on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last week, raised anew questions about how firm the administration was prepared to stand while under attack.

Then, after Carter had said the decision to open diplomatic relations with China would help bring stability to the Pacific region, China invaded Vietnam along their shared border.

One senior aide, who asked not to be named, said the congressional calls for action stemming from the Afghan shooting and the Iranian unrest were "overly dramatic Responding to congressional critics said to be possessing a "macho strain," the White House official said: "The characteristic of this administration has been that of a careful, thoughtful approach, which has proven to be the proper approach despite outrage and screams to do something that, upon reflection, would be quite

Supporting the president's approach in Iran, the aide said, "Our policy of quietly avoiding some sort of irresponsible action just to appear dramatic is being proven the best approach.

The administration first supported Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, then the civilian government he installed, and now the new regime of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. Although it had given strong support to the ayatollah's enemies, it was able to win his help in the rescue of the embassy from the leftist guerrillas.

"The more that is known, the more prudent and wise our approach will appear to be," the aide said. "The United States is in a much better position to deal with a new government there in an attitude of mutual interests than anyone would have predicted a year ago."

In Mexico, after President Jose Lopez Portillo lectured Carter Wednesday, Carter told the Mexican in private that their governments could deal with each other more productively without such public criticism.

As a result, by the end of the week, White House aides were putting an upbeat note on the trip and said that, once again, the president's moderate course had been productive.

Rain is expected in the forecast period until Tuesday morning for most of the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain areas. Elsewhere, skies will be mostly fair. Cold weather is expected from Texas to the mid-Atlantic region. (AP Laserphoto Map)

Garden Lane Outreach Center serves Midland many ways

By LINDA HILL Staff Writer

It looks like a number of other small frame houses in the neighborhood, but the Garden Lane Outreach Center serves Midland in a variety of ways — from providing emergency food and clothing to conducting courses in typing or nutrition.

The building, located at 1411 Garden Lane, is owned by Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, which sits a block from the center. But the outreach center is an independent non-profit agency with its own board of directors and funded from private donations

Sister Carmen Duanno, executive director for Garden Lane, said the center was started in March to fill needs organizers felt weren't being met by existing agencies.

The center's purposes are to provide emergency services. work with young people and 'motivate people to better themselves

Sister Carmen said she works closely with other agencies, such as Casa de Amigos, to avoid duplication of services. And, she said, clothing distribution is the only service those two agencies have in common.

"We've been getting people from all over Midland, not just the Garden Lane area," she added.

During its first 10 months of operation approximately 150 persons received food and almost 100 got clothes from the center's emergency stockpiles, Sister Carmen said.

More than a dozen classes were offered during 1978, ranging from driver's education to arts and crafts. Some were conducted by Sister Carmen herself, and some were done in conjunction with other community agencies.

The largest attendance was for the driver education class for persons who were unable to read or write. Some 130 persons enrolled in the course, conducted in cooperation with Guadalupe Catholic Church and with the assistance of Oralia Cor-

More than 50 women and teenage girls attended a course Sister Carmen conducted on cancer prevention and detection.

Midland College conducted courses in plant care, nutrition and shopping economically.

Through Senior Services of Midland, the center provided help with income tax returns, a service which is being repeated this year.

Other programs being repeated this year are a bilingual remedial reading program for pre-schoolers and their parents and the typing, nutrition and shopping classes.

Also planned for the spring are classes in making handbraided rugs, coping with elderly parents in the home and canning and freezing techniques. A class in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation is scheduled for March, in cooperation with Midland College. And the center offers other community services, as needs and resources are found, said Sister Carmen. Before school started, a local hair stylist gave haircuts for $2 each to children. When funds allow, minor home repairs are added to the center's functions. One of the center's programs helps youth and the elderly at the same time, Sister Carmen said. A girl's youth group she organized helps senior citizens with house and lawn care during the summer months. The group also has a recreational program, she said.

Hosty was assigned to investigate Oswald before the assassination, because Oswald had a Russian-born wife, had traveled to the Soviet Union and had worked with a group sympathetic to the Castro government in Cuba. That investigation was later criticized by the Warren Commission investigating the assassination and Hosty was suspended for a month without pay by then-FBI director J. Edgar Hoover. He was then transferred to Kansas City, where he worked for the bureau until his retirement last month.

Afghanistan denied charge it 'mishandled' abduction

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Afghanistan today denied it mishandled the abduction of American advisers and a Soviet Embassy security official Ambassador Adolph Dubs, who was killed in a gunbattle between police and his kidnappers.

"I see no reason for any aspect for which we could be blamed," Vice Premier Hafizullah Amin said. The United States has accused Afghanistan of disregarding its request to avoid force and to negotiate for Dubs' release.

Amin, speaking at a news conference, said the ambassador had refused a police escort that was offered three months ago. Amin also said Dubs had been warned that he was being followed.

"We consider the (American) protest completely baseless because we took measures with a high spirit of humanity and (for the) purpose of saving the life of the ambassador," Amin said.

He said he hoped his government's expression of they will refuse to supgrief over Dubs' death will help ease the strain port President Carter for

Dubs, 58, was kidnapped last Wednesday by four gunmen while being driven to work. He was taken to a downtown hotel, where his abductors demanded the release of a political prisoner named Bahruddin Afhgan police stormed the hotel room during a 40-second gunbattle. Dubs, 58, was critically injured during the fighting and died after being taken to the embassy dispensary.

Amin denied that Soviet officials had advised Afghan police on how to handle the incident. Soviet officials also have denied the American allegation that Russians conferred with Afghan police during

Too down-to-earth

A decade hence, men may manufacture priceless alloys in the weightless environment of permanently orbiting space stations. By the late 1990s, huge space satellites may gather the sun's power and transnit it to earth in quantities and at a cost which could help solve our energy problem.

And by the early decades of the 21st century, human colonies in space may facilitate the further exploration of the universe.

Given existing technology, there is every reason to believe that these are practical possibilities. But if these goals are to be realized and, more to the point, if those feats are to be performed by Americans, Congress and the Carter administration must begin to plan now for a space program capable of yielding such benefits and others yet unimagined.

It was probably inevitable that this country's initial excitement over the space program would fade after the dramatic successes of the Apollo program with its epochal moon landings. But public indifference and an accompanying drift in space policy have continued too long.

In large part, this public malaise reflects a failure of leadership and vision in Washington. The Carter budgetary restraints have only lately arrived on the scene. Yet the budget of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has been declining for years. Measured in constant dollars, the Carter administration's proposed $4.7 billion NASA budget for fiscal year 1980 is less than half the amount spent on the space program in 1965.

Measured against the potential benefits to be derived from space and space-spawned technology, NASA's share of the federal budget is grossly inadequate.

But even in a year of relative austerity, NASA's budget crunch springs more from indecision over the future of the space program than from any fiscal considerations. In truth, the United States has no long-range space program worthy of the name.

The policy proposals outlined by the White House last October amount to little more than a holding pattern for NASA once the space shuttle project is operational. In a typical example of political doubletalk, the policy mandates maintenance of this country's existing lead in space technology while providing no budgetary or project commitments which would ensure waiting. The Soviet Union continues to appropriate massive sums for its space efforts even while it seeks to purchase from the West the technological innovations which would permit it to surpass the United States. Western European countries pool their resources in support of the budding European Space Agency.

And while the United States and its Western European allies obviously hope that the exploration and exploitation of space can be accomplished for peaceful purposes, it would be imprudent to ignore the military potential of the Soviet program.

For all these reasons, it is hoped that 1979 will be a year for profound debate and decision on the future course of this country's space policy.

The U.S. Senate already has former Apollo astronaut.

More modest is the 10-year plan outlined in policy legislation introduced by Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-III.

Merit is found in both propositions. More importantly, in these bills are seen the seeds for the most significant space policy debate since the 1960s. It comes not a moment too soon.

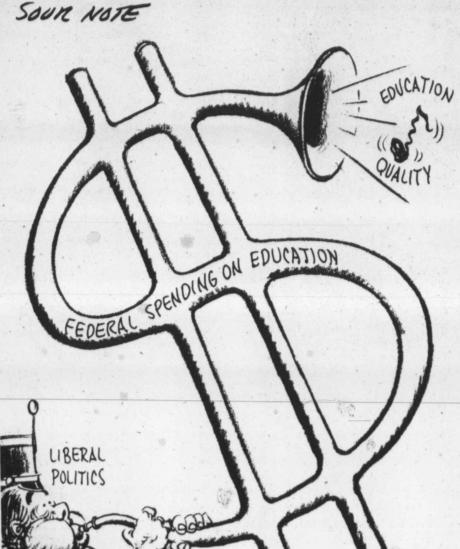

The Country Parson by Frank Clark

such superiority. The rest of the world is not before it two blueprints for a longrange space program. Sen. Harrison H. Schmitt, R-N.M., who addressed the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum's Hall of Fame dinner here Thursday night, has offered an ambitious and visionary agenda stretching into the 21st century. Schmitt is a

CHARLEY REESE Abernathy should realize that money isn't wealth

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, former president of the Southern Leadership Conference, wants President Carter to submit a plan to Congress that will create full employment.

Well, I'll concede that Abernathy's heart is in the right place, but unfortunately his head is not. His first mistake is to suppose that Carter or most of the other politicians in Washington give a hoot what happens to blacks (or whites or browns for that matter). We had all better wise up and quit being such pushovers for these politicians who commit first degree deception on us during the campaigns. All you have to do is look at a guy's past. Snakes shed their skins, but they never stop crawling on their bellies. Carter as governor of Georgia once endorsed a white boycott of schools to protest a busing order and referred to Lester Maddox, the arch segregationist, as a warm and fine human being. Only when he needed black votes did Carter kick Lester off the podium and plant a big kiss on Martin Luther King

Blacks who believed Carter's campaign promises needn't feel like a squad of Lone Rangers; a great many people fell for his line of heifer

But Abernathy has another problem. He needs to learn a little bit more about economics. Even if Congress tomorrow decreed that every human being in America would receive a weekly paycheck for life we wouldn't be any better off than we are now. Things like food, clothing, tools, buildings, cars, trains, factories and farms are wealth. If you keep this in mind, then you can understand why government can't solve Abernathy's problem. The government can create money, but true wealth can only be created by human labor applied to natural resources.

Charley Reese

If the government prints more paper money than the amount of true wealth in existence, then the value of the paper money goes down. That's called monetary inflation. The increase in prices, which most people think of as inflation, is actually a reflection of the decrease in the value of the currency.

The third problem Abernathy has is that his mind is stuck in the past. He is still associating liberalism with concern for the poor. Unfortunately for him, there has been an evolution in American politics. Most people in both parties who identify themselves as liberals have adopted a no-growth stance. That's why you hear Carter and

California Gov. Jerry Brown yacking about lowering expectations and tightening belts. Well, Brother Abernathy, you're no fool. Whose belt do you suppose is going to get tightened? Who gets hired last and fired first when the economy slows down? There is only one way to open up job opportunities for American blacks and that is to go all out for economic expansion What's funny is that the politicians who want to open up the economy are the people called conservatives, most of them Republicans with a smatter ing of Democrats. Somehow I can't see Abernathy wearing a Phil Crane button, but if what he really wants is opportunity for the poor to become non-poor, he's going to have to re-examine his bread to find the buttered

Most of today's liberals will put you. on the dole with printing press money that buys less and less and leads to Nowheresville. They'll even throw their arms around you in front of the television cameras and lay some nice words on you. But that's all.

Think on this: back in the 1940s and 1950s - before the civil rights revolution and, more importantly, before the big boosts in the minimum wage law, black teen-agers had the same or better employment record as white teen-agers. Now that we have the welfare state, black teen-agers are worse off.

It's time, Brother Abernathy, to force open the mouth of that gift horse and take a close, hard look.

Mark Russell says

The White House has chastised U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young for making yet another controversial statement. Who does he think he is,

Andrew Young hasn't yet learned the ropes. In order to speak freely, you first must enter the World Belly-Flop Contest.

Young should know by now that in order to avoid being chastised by the boss, he might try getting a brewery to come out with a beer called "Andy."

My advice to Mr. Young - sure you've embarrassed the President at times, but not enough. If you really want complete freedom, start making a fool of yourself. They respect that.

Come on, Mr. Young - don't let 'em reprimand you - let them think you know something about the Bank of Georgia deal, and I'll bet they'll even let you go on Hollywood Squares.

WASHINGTON - The Voice of America is supposed to provide accurate, unslanted news to listeners in countries where government censorship turns news reports into propaganda. But there is increasing censored for propaganda purposes situation that will ultimately destroy its effectiveness.

Six months ago we reported that the Voice had scissored out of a broadcast to the Soviet orbit a reference to the World War II massacre of thousands of Polish officers by Soviet troops. The official explanation was that the deletion was simply an error of editorial judgment, but our associate Howard Rosenberg has obtained written evidence that belies the of-

The Katyn Forest massacre in 1940 has been a source of embarrassment to the Soviet government for years. The Russians blamed the atrocity on the Germans, but most objective observers refused to buy this line. The evidence of Soviet guilt was overwhelming to any but a blind apologist for the Kremlin.

Mention of the Katyn Forest massacre is taboo behind the Iron Curtain. But last April at a writers' congress, Polish poet Andrezej Braun had the temerity to speak up about state censorship and mentioned the Katyn Forest cover-up as a case in point. A Voice of America reporter sent a story to Washington saying Braun "cited the murder of Polish officers by the Soviet Union at Katyn Forest in 1940.

The phrase was deleted from the final broadcast script. Our disclosure of this censorship led Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., to ask the Voice for an explanation

John p. Reinhardt, head of the International Communication Agency which runs the Voice, conceded that our column was "literally correct," but argued that our implication unfair. Elimination of words that would offend the Soviet government was not a matter of policy, he assured Dole. The editing was an error of judgment by a middle-echelon editor after policy-level officials had left for the day, Reinhardt said. But we have seen the original copy of the controversial dispatch from the VOA correspondent. It shoots Reinhardt's explanation down in flames.

Scrawled across the bottom of the riginal cable is a handwritten note initialed by Feliks Broniecki, deputy chief of the agency's Polish desk. It reads: "Mr. Holzapfel gave his OK and asked to change the sentence regarding Katyn.'

Holzapfel is chief of the VOA's European broadcast division; he is certainly not a middle-echelon editor. The messege is signed off at 4:45 p.m. This is not the first time the Voice of America has been silent on the Katyn Forest. In 1950, Jozef Czapski, a survivor of the massacre, was invited to make a VOA broadcast for Polish listeners. He later told a congressional conmittee that he watched in disbelief as all references to the atrocity were expunged from his script.

VOA Director Peter Strauss has taken a complacent view of the affair, calling it "an error in judgment by the news editor, hardly a federal case."

Strauss shrugged off a similar incident we reported recently, when the Voice spiked an interview with Mihajlo Mihajlov, a Serbo-Croatian author who had just arrived here after years in Marshal Tito's prisons. Mihajlov, sniffed Strauss, was no

Croatian cab driver in Chicago." Following our first Katyn Forest story, Sen. Dole . inserted a "sense of the Senate" resolution in the VOA appropriations bill, abjuring the Voice to be "accurate, objective and comprehensive."

And the senator has sent an urgent personal letter to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, asking him to "let me know if State Department pressure was applied in any way to influence the content of Voice of America broadcasts, and such practice constitutes official policy.

Footnote: Sources inside the VOA tell us the incidents we reported are just the tip of the iceberg; some top officials unabashedly use the Voice as a propaganda tool..

WATCH ON WASTE: Jimmy Carter is making amends for a broken campaign promise, and it's costing the taxpayers a bundle. In 1976, vice presidential candidate Walter Mondale promised Philadelphia voters that a Carter administration would keep the city's Frankford Arsenal open, assuring the facility's 1,200 jobs. The city's heavy Democratic vote carried Pennsylvania for Carter. But contrary to the election promise, the Frankford Arsenal was subsequently closed. This necessitated some quick fence mending if Carter hoped to carry Philadelphia by the same margin in Fortuitously, the Navy's aging carrier USS Saratoga was in need of major overhaul. Mondale told the city last spring that the $500 million contract would go to the Philadelphia shipyard "to alleviate the closing of the Frankford Arsenal.'

So Carter has patched things up wih a key constituency. Unfortunately for the American taxpayer, Navy and General Accounting Office surveys show that the Saratoga could have been refitted for $80 million less at the Newport News, Va., shipyard.

INSIDE REPORT:

GOP senators tell Carter the emperor has no clothes By ROWLAND EVANS

AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - It was first-term Republican senators fresh from taking their oath of office who, over breakfast at the White House last week, dared tell Jimmy Carter that the emperor has no clothes. President Carter had opened the session by informing the nine new senators (two other freshman Republicans were absent) that U.S. prestige was high and climbing all over the world, threatened only by possible Senate rejection of SALT. That view is shared almost nowhere outside the White House and the seventh floor of the State Department. What makes it so worrisome is that Carter truly believes the American eagle is as splendidly garbed as ever, both in fact and in the eyes of the world. Even in the post-imperial phase of the presidency, nobody - including Republican leaders — usually talks back to the nation's chief executive. But two of the freshman senators -Colorado's Bill Armstrong and Maine's William Cohen - violated protocol by saying what they and most of Washington think: the U.S. is in deepening trouble around the world; it is viewed as a paper tiger by most of its friends and adversaries

Although the president appeared startled by this unaccustomed candor, it would be naive to suppose the encounter changed Carter's world view. But it surely dented illusions that techniques used to ratify the Panama Canal treaty would work for the new strategic arms control treaty (SALT II). The breakfast exchange carried clear warning that the new pact cannot be sold with generalities and that the moderate Republicans cannot be taken for granted.

In his warmup to the new Republicans, Carter was long on rhetoric, short on specifics. He declared the U.S. is most highly regarded within the family of nations. "You would think we had never had it so good," said one senator later. The only menace to this utopia depicted by the president was possible Senate rejec-tion of the SALT II treaty, an agreement he said is urgently desired by our allies and the U.S. military.

In the ensuing question period, Armstrong refuted the president's rose-colored vision. The Colorado senator contended that the U.S. had declined so badly that it would lose a war at sea today and that NATO forces are badly outnumbered by the Warsaw Pact. That was not a surprising statement by Armstrong, considering his record in the House as a hard-nosed conservative. Less expected was an equally tough riposte from Cohen, considered a liberal in the House and a pariah in the Republican cloakroom for being a leader of impeachment proceedings against Richard M. Nixon. Vice President Walter F. Mondale had urged the freshmen Republicans that morning to broaden themselves by world travel. He had done just that, said Cohen, with visits to five Asian countries since the election. He found they regarded the U.S. as "a crippled giant," paralyzed into inaction and declining militarily. The Maine senator next pointed to Carter's claim in his State of the Union address that one Poseidon submarine "carries enough warheads to destroy every large and medium-sized city in the Soviet Union." While ballyhooed by administration officials as proof of Carter's tough-mindedness, his bellicose talk was in fact a replay of the old MAD (mutual assured destruction) theory favored by the arms control lobby.

Accordingly, Cohen challenged Carter about what he would do if a Soviet attack destroyed U.S. ground missiles. Would he push the button sending submarine-launched missiles against Moscow and Leningrad, knowing that would doom New York and Chicago? Although this question is frequently asked by SALT critics. the president seemed agitated — as though hearing it for the first time.

Carter responded that SALT II would reduce the possibility of this horrible dilemma being imposed on an American president by limiting Soviet missilery. No, Cohen corrected him. It would limit only deployment of missiles - not their production. The president accepted the correction, but he did not retreat from his

This was the Billy Cohen automatically listed on the White House headcount as "leaning" pro-SALT after his election. Surprising such colleagues as Bill Armstrong by asking and getting a seat on the Armed Services Committee, he has started to educate himself on SALT. His vote cannot be won by generalized appeals to save Carter's and the nation's Carter's fervent efforts for acceptance on blind faith that the emperor really does have his clothes on will never persuade enough senators to approve SALT. None of the nine Republican freshmen is quite so blind. What worries them is that the president may not open his own eyes.

Larry Layton pleads innocent to murder charges in Guyana

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) -Peoples Temple member Larry Layton pleaded innocent today to charges that he murdered Rep. Leo Ryan, D.-Calif., and four others last Nov. 18 in Guyana.

Layton's trial, scheduled to begin today, was postponed until Feb. 28.

The five deaths sparked the mass suicide-murders in which more than 900 Temple members died in their jungle settlement, including cult leader Jim Jones.

Layton, the only person charged in the five deaths, entered the plea of innocent in the Supreme Court of Guyana, where the case will be tried. His defense attorneys asked that the trial be postponed and the request was granted.

Layton, 32, of San Francisco, is charged in the murders of Ryan, NBC correspondent Don Harris, NBC camerman Bob Brown, San Francisco Examiner photographer Gregory Robinson and Peoples Temple defector Patricia Parks. He is also charged with attempted murder for allegedly trying to kill three persons on one of the Ryan party's two planes.

Ryan and the newsmen were investigating allegations of mistreatment of cult members. They were trying to leave Guyana, but were gunned down on a jungle airstrip near the Jonestown settlement as they prepared to fly out with defecting cult members.

During a preliminary hearing in December, no testimony implicated Layton in the actual killings, but under Guyanese law a person convicted of being an accomplice is guilty of that crime.

At the hearing, a statement was admitted in which Layton reportedly told police he accepted "full responsibility" for the airstrip killings.

In Guyana, the maximum sentence for murder is death by hanging, but no one in the former British colony has been executed since 1970.

Johnnie Mae Ellis was convicted by a jury Feb. 9, but elected to have her punishment set by 142nd District Court Judge Perry D. Pickett.

Connally wants get-tough policy toward Japan, Common Market

ARCHBOLD, Ohio (AP) - Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally has suggested that the U.S. adopt a gettough economic policy toward Japan and the European Common Market. Connally, who is seeking the 1980

Republican presidential nomination, told those attending a Lincoln Day dinner Saturday that imports of goods from those nations should be strictly limited until their restrictions on American agricultural products are

"We're going to have to penetrate that market," Connally said.

"It's not all that difficult. All we have to do is say to the premier of Japan, 'Look, friend, you've captured 35 percent of the automobile market on the West Coast ... but unless we see more beef and more American agricultural commodities on the plates in Japan, you better be prepared to eat out of your cars, because there's going to be more of them over

Connally, a wealthy Texas attorney and rancher, told the crowd in rural northwest Ohio that he does not endorse price supports for farmers equaling 100 percent of parity, which is what the American Agricultural Movement is lobbying for in Washing-

But he commended farmers who paraded their tractors to the nation's capital for their courage. He said his plan to open foreign markets to all American agricultural goods, not just those selected by foreign governments, would satisfy the needs of American agriculture. Connally also suggested the U.S.

should get tough toward Soviet aggression, which he said is threatening to grab control of 50 percent of the world's oil supply by controlling the entrances to the Red Sea and eventually the Mediterranean.

He said Russia's use of Cuban troops in South Yemen, Angola and Ethiopia should not be condoned, and added that he would stop pursuing an arms limitation agreement until those troops are withdrawn.

Greenville residents flee chemical fire

GREENVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A predawn fire raged out of control today at a chemical storage facility, forcing some 400 residents to flee their homes into the aftermath of one of the worst winter storms in recent years.

Explosions rocked the vicinity of the blaze that began at 4 a.m. at the Coastal Chemical Corp. facility on the outskirts of this eastern North Carolina city. Authorities feared the fire would create toxic fumes as it consumed the plant.

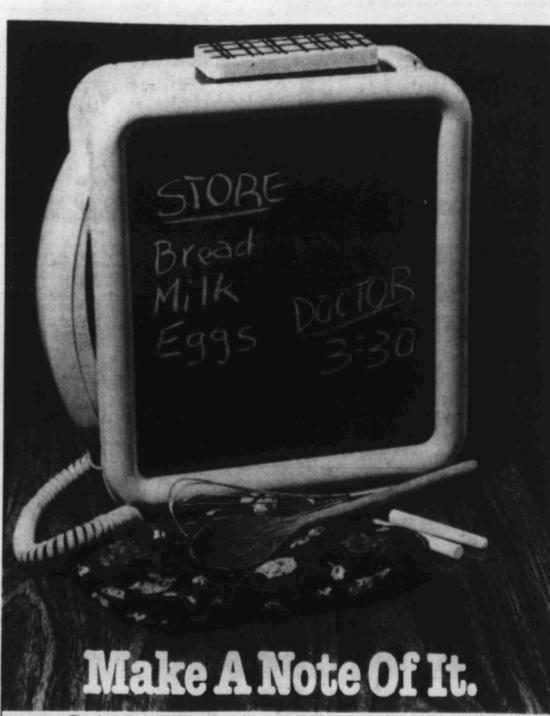

About 8 a.m., shifting wind spread the smoke that billowed 1,000 feet into the air toward Greenville, and authorities took steps to evacuate additional resi-

DEAR ABBY

She can't remember

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm sitting here with a terrible headache and an upset stomach because I can't remember where I put my money, and a payment is due today at the bank!

I'm only 35, but my memory is so bad I'm ashamed of myself. Four years ago I hid some jewelry before going out one night. I still haven't found it.

I order things and forget to pick them up. I forget to make phone calls. I forget where I park my car. But I remember petty things like an argument I had with my husband 10 years ago. So why can't I remember everyday things?

Writing notes to myself doesn't help. I forget where I put the notes. I've thought about going to the local mental health clinic, but I have a friend who works there and I'd just die if she found out how dumb I am.

Are there others like myself? What do they do about it?—FORGETFUL FRAN DEAR FRAN: There are MANY like yourself. The wise ones get professional help, which is what you should do. Call your mental health clinic for an appointment. Your friend who works there will respect you for recognizing a problem and seeking a solution. That's smart-not dumb. Make that call now-before you forget. And good luck. DEAR ABBY: I've been married 12 years and my biggest complaint is the same one I've had ever since I was a

My husband "surprises" me with unexpected dinner guests. He doesn't even call to give me a few minutes notice. He just walks in with a friend or two at mealtime, and says, "Don't go to any extra trouble, honey, they'll eat whatever we have." I could wring

Sometimes I have skimpy leftovers, only enough for our family.

Naturally, I'm stuck. I have to be a good scout, but I wish I knew how to cure him of his thoughtlessness. Any ideas?—HATES SURPRISES

DEAR HATES: If your husband has been "surprising" you with "unex-pected" company for 12 years, it's time you expected it. Stop being a "good scout" and start being a "Girl Scout." (Be prepared!)

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in one of my classes who is really neat, but she has one bad fault that turns me off. She uses dirty language. I'm no goody-goody, but she shocks me.

She's great looking and bright, too, but what a disappointment when she starts to talk!

When will girls learn? Guys sometimes use rough language among themselves, but no fellow likes to hear words like that coming out of a girl's mouth. How about a few words of wisdom on the subject from you, Abby?—TURNED OFF IN ALTOONA DEAR TURNED OFF: You've said

At Pat Walker's, Mable Bailey solved her 'thigh problem'

. . just as you can correct any figure problem YOU may have that keeps you from looking your best in revealing clothes.

An individualized program designed to meet your needs is basic to the success you will experience at Pat Walker's Figure Perfection International. Another key ingredient is Pat Walker's recognition of the importance of losing inches as well as pounds-and losing them in the right Attractive Mable Bailey, pictured here, has gone from size 10 to size 7 at Pat Walker's, and is grateful to the salon foramong other things-helping her break her own personal "weight barrier.

After years of exercise and dieting, I had never been able to go below 125 pounds. Now, thanks to Pat Walker's, I am finally losing those extra pounds and extra inches especially in my thighs, which I had always had a problem with.

I have more pep and energy, my circulation is so much better and my skin looks

Even with my busy schedule in my school of modeling and fashion merchandising, I still have time for my treatments on the passive exercise unit. There's no disrobing . . . and there is complete privacy.

As you can see, I am pretty sold on the treatments. Even when I reach my perfect figure, firmed and toned, I won't want to stop going because it makes me feel so good.

Start shaping up

You'll be amazed by the ease with which you reach your weight goal at Pat Walker's. And at our beautifully appointed salon, you can reduce in a dignified manner-and in a serene setting that has nothing in common with gyms or spas. You also have friendly assistance from a professional counselor, who conducts a confidential figure analysis and teaches you sensible eating habits that help you lose weight without stringent dieting. Best of all, you have the advantage of private treatments on the Symmetricon, passive exercise equipment exclusive to Pat Walker salons.

Reduce safely, effectively

Dressed in your regular street clothes, you can relax while the Symmetricon unit gently provides the exercise you need to trim off unwanted pounds and inches. As the unit firms and tones body tissue, it also improves circulation and helps correct posture.

You reduce safely, pleasantly in the Pat Walker program—a program that already has proved effective for hundreds of thousands of people throughout the world during the 26-year history of the salons.

Congressional sources, who asked not to be named, say the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is widely

Carter has indicated he would veto any legislation on Taiwan that jeopardizes the new ties with the mainland. Some unsuccessful efforts at compromise were made during the weeklong Senate recess that ends today. The committee meets Tuesday to begin work on a resolution to offset the potential for Chinese military or economic threats against Taiwan. ### At least 13 weather-related deaths reported

By The Associated Press

Winter blasted the East with both barrels today, sending a storm sweeping in from the frozen Midwest and another howling up the coast from the South, which was stunned by up to 17 inches of snow.

At least 13 weather-related deaths were reported in six states, including six persons who froze to death in what is on record in some places as the coldest winter of the century.

Seven of the deaths came in southern states ill-prepared for the storm that hit Sunday

Traffic accidents on hazardous roads killed two people in Lousiana, two in South Carolina and one each in Tennessee and Georgia.

Two people froze to death in Ohio. A man was found next to his car in a parking lot, and a woman was discovparently fell.

IN PENNSYLVANIA, four persons froze to death: a 52-year-old nursing home resident found on the grounds of a college campus; a 68-year-old Hazleton man found in a coal-shoveling vehicle; a 66-year-old Pottsville man found in his unheated home; and a New Jersey college student found encrusted in ice in a Scranton park.

Heavy snow was falling in New York City today, where 3-to-5 inches were predicted in the city's third snowstorm this month.

Trailways bus rolls, injuring 30 persons

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - A Continental Trailways bus swerved to avoid a station wagon and overturned on the highway between Dallas and Fort Worth Sunday, injuring 30 persons, none

Two of the victims were hospitalized, and the others were treated and released.

Bus driver Roy Birdwell said he swerved but the bus struck the auto anyway, went into a skid, and overturned in mud alongside Interstate 30.

Sarah M. Murphee, 69, of Houston, was hospitalized for observation, and Kathleen Weaver, 63, of Tyler, was listed in fair condition in Arlington Memorial Hospital.

The area was glazed with an ice storm Saturday, but most of the ice had melted by the time of the accident, and Birdwell said he would have rammed the station wagon even if the streets had been dry.

"I slammed on my brakes, but once those big things start turning around, you can't stop them," he said. "It turned over real fast when it hit the mud. I kept hanging onto the steering wheel.' Birdwell said he has been a driver for Continental Trailways for three years without an accident.

Snowmobiler stranded, survives

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (AP) — A Milwaukee man with a wooden leg was stranded for seven hours in the dark and sub-zero cold after a snowmobile expedition bogged down in slushy ice on Lake Michigan and his companions set off to hike four miles to shore.

"I thought I was going to die. That's all I thought about all night long," Richard Burbach said from his hospital room Sunday. "I didn't think they would make it to shore," he said. "But when I saw that (search) plane circling, I knew they had.'

Supper club staff wonders who ran away with Michelle

By JOHN PLATERO

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) - Maybe it was her silent beauty as she sat nightly at the bar, or perhaps the publicity that came from a newspaper story about her.

In any event, Michelle was kidnapped nine months ago, and no one knows why. There have been no clues, no ransom notes. In fact, the police never were notified.

But the missing Michelle has been replaced by a new Michelle, described by some as being than the original. Only regular customers at the Stagecoach Inn know that the first mannequin was stolen.

Atomic fuel cost can be lowered

By ROBERT C. TOTH The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - By zapping raw uranium ore with bolts of laser light, U.S. scientists have devised new ways to lower the cost of producing the enriched nuclear fuel that is used in atomic power plants.

The technique could turn much of the world's "nuclear garbage" into the world's biggest single source of uranium fuel. Three decades worth of uranium tailings, the thus-far unwanted waste from uranium separation plants, would instantly add 20 percent to the U.S. reservoir of urani-

There is a dark side to this potential success story, however. Laser-based separation threatens also to increase the spread of nuclear weapons.

A small, efficient operation to make an atomic bomb - an operation with a "budget of maybe $10 million, which the Mafia could afford," as one scientist put it - is one nightmarish possibility emerging from the "advanced isotope separation" techniques that have been developed in recent years.

Uranium ore contains only minute amounts of the U-235 istope needed for both atomic reactors and atomic bombs. It must be separated from the inert U-238, which makes up the great bulk of the mined uranium. The separation process is basically the same, whatever its later use. As a result, the laser technology that promises to make fuel available for peaceful purposes more easily and cheaply threatens also to make weapons-grade material available more easily and

BASICALLY THE lasers tune in to the vibration frequency of the desirable isotope, U-235, and make the U-235 behave in a way that allows it to be separated — because U-238 does not "see" or respond to a laser tuned to that frequency.

In one method, the laser causes the U-235 atoms to become charged positive ions. They then are attracted to a negative electromágnetic collector, while the unwanted U-238 atoms remain neutral and unaffected by the electromagnetic field.

With the other technique, both kinds of uranium react with florine to make gas molecules consisting of one uranium and six florine atoms. Laser beams excite only those molecules containing U-235 and then knock off one of the florine atoms. The resulting U-235 molecule is a powder that is precipitated from the gas mixture.

An abrupt rise in the amount of uranium fuel available would reduce the attractiveness of breeder reactors, which make more fissionable material than they burn but also raise the risk of proliferation, a Department of Energy official said. President Carter has halted government efforts to demonstrate the commercial feasibility of breeder reactors, largely because of this risk.

But there is a similar risk with laser separation.

ASSUMING THAT a laser-separation apparatus can be built in a small unit, as promised, the subcommittee on international security and scientific affairs of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said recently, "The world will face increased risk of proliferation if the manufacture of these units is not effectively controlled.

"Such units would be ideal for clandestine production of highly enriched uranium (capable of making bombs) because they would be small and easily concealable," the report said.

There is considerable argument over how much proliferation risk laser systems would in fact present. But there is agreement that laser systems promise to be much cheaper

Company opens office in Midland

Houston Oil & Minerals Corp. has established an oil and gas division, headquartered in Midland, to actively explore the petroleum basins of the western United State.

The division also has an office in Denver, Colo., and plans to open one in Oklahoma City later this

According to Vince Loftis, general manager of the HO&M Western Division in Midland. "Our company has a reputation for being an aggressive explorer for oil and gas. In fact, for the past three years, we've been among the top 10 most active domestic explorers, measured by footage

"We've even outpaced several of the major oil companies. And we intend to extend that aggressiveness into West Texas, the Rockies, and other major oil and gas regions of the Western U.S." The new Midland office is at 114 N.

Big Spring, Suite 800.
In addition to its active program of domestic oil and gas exploration and production the company is also involved in foreign exploration for oil and gas, domestic and foreign minerals exploration, intrastate gas gathering operations, and product trad-

de l'in l'évalue course to build and also will use far less energy to operate than existing separation plants or those now being built.

What this means is that the federal government soon must face some difficult and far-reaching decisions on nuclear policy.

"Pressure is growing on the administration to decide soon whether to curtail the research" on laser separation, a government official said. "It may be judged too risky, in proliferation terms, to proceed, or maybe the projected demand for uranium fuel will be judged too low to justify the economic investment in new separation facilities

"AND IF AN advanced separation system is found necessary, we'll have to decide soon on which one to choose, how fast it should be pushed, how much secrecy to draw around it and so forth," the official added.

Government officials had hoped such decisions could be put off until at least the end of 1980. But Exxon Nuclear Co., an affiliate of the oil giant, is pushing for earlier consideration by bringing the issue to public debate.

The company, which has sought to break the government's nucler fuel monopoly in other ways as well, has applied for permission to begin building a $24 million test facility in August to prove the commercial feasibility of lasser processes. It claims to have pioneeded such processes since 1971 and to have invested $50 million in the venture so far. The necessary government construction license is not likely to be issued until the proliferation risk is assessed. So Exxon Nuclear in November asked a panel of independent scientists to assess the proliferation danger of its process and to make public its findings about Feb. 15.

"It's obviously an attempt to preempt the government's decision in the matter." one government official

THE COMPANY believes its system is "consistent with President Carter's non-proliferation policy," its general counsel, William England, said. Exxon has lobbled government and congressional policymakers intensively in recent months.

Laser and other new separation techniques appear to be an example of a technology that has progressed faster than scientists had expected and has thus caught policymakers unprepared.

England said that the Atomic Energy Commission in 1971 "concluded that laser separation was not technically or economically feasible." Exxon, in conjunction with AVCO

Everett Research Laboratory, proceeded with the research work any-As recently as last year, the Pentagon's Defense Science Board is believed to have examined the work but concluded that it was too far from application to evaluate its proliferation potential. LASER SEPARATIONE's being studied intensively in the Soviet Union, Israel and France also. In the United States, the Department of Energy supports laser reserch programs at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and at Livermore Laboratories.

Los Alamos, with a budget of $17 million a year, is working on the molecular separation process. Livermore, with $13 million, is working on the atomic separation process, which is similar to Exxon's.

A third advanced separation technique, being studied at TRW, Inc., with a $9 million annual budget from the Energy Department, consists of tuning radio frequency microwaves (rather than the light radiation) into a plasma of charged uranium ions. The microwaves affect only U-235 ions. These ions then move faster in a way that facilitates their separation from non-fissionable U-238.

The economic push for such separation processes lies in the fact that the present system, gaseous diffusion, is rather inefficient in culling the U-235 from raw uranium ore. So is the centrifuge technique used in new separation facilities now under construc-

Both diffusion and centrifuge plants extract only two-thirds of the U-235 present in unprocessed ore. While 0.7 percent U-235 goes in, 0.2 percent remains in the waste, or "tails," from both processes. The laser-based systems promised to reduce the amount of U-235 in the "tails" to 0.05 percent, thus extracting about 20 percent more of the valuable isotope. Moreover, the laser chemical separation technique being developed at Los Alamos for the last seven years could be built for one-fifth the cost of diffusion and centrifuge plants. The energy consumption would be half that of the centrifuge, according to the project's deputy director, Reed

The technique, he said in a recent interview, could also be adapted to existing diffusion plants to process the "tails" and return them, enriched, back to the 0.7 percent entering concentration, for reprocessing. This would cut the cost of U-235 from diffusion plants by 30 percent, Jensen said. The two laster systems and the radio fequency system are "all roughly competitive economically, on Dr. David Bodde of the Energy Department's research planning branch said. He foresees them becoming operatine in about 10 years.

Portillo expected to ask high, 'fair' gas price

By J. P. SMITH The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - When United States and Mexican government negotiators sit down in the next two months to reopen natural gas talks the administration quashed more than a year ago, both parties will face a different set of demands and a vista of new realities.

Newly oil-rich Mexico and its shrewd and politically nimble President Lopez Portillo will be pressing again for a high yet "fair" gas price, pegged to world oil prices - and a set of terms reminding Washington again of Mexico's own self-determination. President Portillo undoubtedly again will remind U.S. diplomats as he has in the weeks leading up to Carter's Mexico visit that energy, trade, and immigration issues are all "linked."

The U.S. delegation, a subcabinet cluster from State, Energy and the National Security Council, will be pressing to negotiate a "fair" price, one lower than Mexico had asked before. They will say that energy, trade and immigration issues - the grit of major obstacles between the two countries - are not linked. More important, however, there will be a new immediacy to complete a gas deal, a White House mandated effort to meld the discredited "Good Neighbor" policy with emerging realities of America's new "Good Customer" pol-

With no small measure of inevitability, a Mexican gas deal will be struck. President Lopez Portillo says, "The U.S. is our natural customer." And President Carter agreed during his 7 hours of private talks with the Mexican president this week.

What is critical about the shape of the talks take, is that their outcome could affect Mexico's willingness to produce and sell the United States not just gas, but some of its nearly 50 billion barrels of proven oil reserves.

FOR CARTER personally, successfully completed gas talks will deflect gathering political fire the administration has drawn from across the political spectrum - from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., to Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho - for not doing enough to bring Mexico's oil and gas to the United States.

The president's own political advisers are increasingly wary of the consequence of impressions lingering during the Iranian oil squeeze, of Schlesinger and Carter turning back Mexico on gas - and the promise of Mexican oil — on "technicalities."

In a somewhat cheering tone, administration officials now say that Carter's meeting with Lopez Portillo has cleared the air between the two countries. They also say that resumption of gas talks, which could begin in a month, is another positive sign of improving relations. Government level talks on gas issues, or on oil, are somewhat rare. Such arrangements are generally left in the hands of the oil companies. Last time, however, the talks came a cropper. IN AUGUST 1977 a six-company consortium headed by Tenneco

The operator reported a daily pumping potential of 24 barrels of 41-gravity oil, no water, through perforations from 7,492 to 7,676 feet. The pay was acidized with 6,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons.

Total depth is 8,060 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set on bottom. Hole is plugged back to 7,812 feet.

The well is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 36, block 21, University Lands survey.

Tech alumni will meet

Enhanced oil recovery research at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology will be discussed at the annual Tech alumni meeting at the Midland Hilton Friday.

The luncheon meeting is open to any alumni, friends and guests in the Midland-Odessa area. Reservations at $5 per person may be made with the Tech Alumni-Development Office in Socorro at 835-5525. Tickets will be available at the door.

agreed to buy 2 billion cubic feet of gas a day from Petroleous Mexicanos, the Mexican state oil company, at a price indexed to the price of heating oil that then would have made it roughly $2.60 per thousand cubic

By December 1977, Schlesinger held talks with Pemex, essentially rejecting the terms of the sale, arguing that if the United States agreed it would lead to ratcheting upwards the price the United States pays Canada about $2.16 per thousand cubic feet and that the price Mexico was asking was simply unfair, and too high to

The Mexican pricing formula, which would have affected about 4 percent of America's total gas consumption had the deal been approved, was also well in excess of what Carter and Schlesinger were then prepared to offer domestic producers in the national energy plan.

Beyond that, there were other factors. U.S. intelligence reports indicated that the Mexicans had no true economic choice other than selling to the United States, and that the hundreds of miles of 48-inch pipe that would carry gas from the Reforma fields to McAllen, Texas would pay for itself in less than 4 years.

One of Schlesinger's top aides, Leslie J. Goldman consulted with Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., who later introduced a measure in the Senate banning Export Import Bank credits for the gas line.

THE MEXICANS were infuriated. President Portillo said, "I was left hanging by my paint brush." Lesser Mexican officials villified Schlesinger

Since then Schlesinger, under often heavy pressure from Congress, has said that the United States might accept a price tied to residual oil, something in the range of $2.30 to $2.60 per thousand cubic feet or above, but less than the heating oil price, now equal to about $2.95 to $3.15 per thousand cubic feet.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen puts his intellect on the line later this week when he joins two other Democratic senators on a quiz show.

"The fiscal problems of the federal government, with its $532 billion projected 1980 budget, have not been caused by the $2 billion state revenuesharing program," said Vermont Gov. Richard Snelling.

"Rather, the problems are caused by the inability of congress ... to control hundreds of billions of dollars in narrow, categorical grant programs, each supported by special-interest groups and federal bureaucra-

Revenue sharing was also mentioned in a letter Rep. Jim Collins sent to President Carter. The Dallas Republican took strong exception with the administration's plan to give New York City between $20 million to $35 million in federal aid.

Collins claimed that "New York City gets $929.22 per resident per year in revenue-sharing dollars, that is the highest in the United States ... 17 times more dollars per capita than Dallas, Houston and San Antonio receive.

Where you borrow, interest figure also important factors

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Where you borrow and the way the interest is figured can sometimes be as important as what you borrow when it comes to figuring out how much interest you will pay.

Determining finance charges isn't easy. Even banks can make mistakes. The office of the comptroller of the currency recently announced that hundreds of banks made errors in calculating the annual percentage rate on loans and will have to give refunds to borrowers.

The Truth in Lending Law, enacted in 1969 and now under review, requires lenders to tell you two things: the finance charge and the annual percentage rate.

The finance charge is the total dollar amount you pay to use someone else's money. It includes interest and other fees, such as service charges or insurance premiums. Suppose, for example, you borrow $100. The interest is $7 and the basic service fee is $1. The finance charge is $8.

The annual percentage rate — sometimes called the APR — is the relative cost of credit on a yearly basis. Take that $100 with an $8 finance charge. If you borrow the money today, keep it for an entire year and then repay it, the APR is 8 percent.

Most loans, however, are paid off in installments. Suppose you repay the $108 in 12 monthly installments of $9 each. As time goes by, you get to use less and less of the $100. The average amount of money you owe during the course of the year is less than $100; the annual percentage rate, therefore, is higher than 8 percent.

If you use open-end or revolving credit like bank charge cards, you should learn whether the creditor calculates interest on the adjusted balance, the previous balance or the average daily balance. The amount of interest you pay can vary, even if the rate is the same.

Here's how it works:

Assume you have an outstanding balance of $400 on an account with a monthly interest charge of 11/2 percent. (That's the maximum allowed by law in most places.) You make a $300 payment on the 15th day of a 30-day billing period.

If the creditor uses the previous balance method, you will be charged interest on the entire $400. The onemonth interest charge will be $6.

If the creditor uses the adjusted balance method, you will be charged interest only on what is left after the payment - $100. The one-month interest charge will be $1.50.

If the creditor uses the average daily balance method, you will be charged on the average amount outstanding. Since you owed $400 for 15 days and $100 for 15 days, your average daily balance was $250. At 11/4 percent, that's a one-month interest

Last week, when the House Budget Hearing on water slated in Lubbock

LUBBOCK - Lubbock will be the site of a hearing conducted jointly by the White House and the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the future of High Plains water supplies.

The hearing was announced Saturday by U.S. Rep. Kent Hance at the 12th annual convention of Water Inc. in Midland. Hance said the hearing will give local and state officials a chance to "present our side of the water He said the hearing is designed to gather information from High Plains officials to be used by the president in determining future water policy. Also speaking at the convention was state Commissioner of Agriculture Reagan V. Brown. At the convention, Amarillo attorney Jerome Johnson was re-elected president of Water Inc.

Hotel fire kills two, injures nine

CHICAGO (AP) - Fire raging through a rundown apartment hotel early today killed at least two persons and injured nine others, including two firemen, authorities said.

Witnesses said the rear half of the four-story building was engulfed in flames. Firefighting efforts were hampered by temperatures only a few degrees above zero.

Building residents who escaped said the hotel contained 20 apartments occupied primarily by welfare recipients, the elderly and infirm.

Committee took testimony on it, executives of the Chamber of Commerce recommended reducing the budget about $10 billion and using part of that amount for a general tax cut. Carter wants to spend $531.6 billion and collect $502.6 billion in revenue in fiscal 1980. This includes $122.7 billion in defense spending, meaning "real growth" of 3.1 percent after allowing for inflation.

The administration now estimates the fiscal 1979 deficit will be $37.4 billion compared with $48.8 billion in fiscal 1978.

Budget Amendment With more state legislatures seeking a federal balanced-budget amendment to the Constitution, even if it means calling a convention to draft one, Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, says hearings will be held on various proposals. Idaho's legislature completed action last week on a request that Congress either offer the states a balanced-budget amendment or call a constitutional convention to produce one for presentation to the states. Idaho joined legislatures of Arkansas, North Carolina, South Dakota and Utah in such amendment-seeking steps this year. If 34 states request it, a convention could be called to consider the issue - the first such session since the Constitution itself was drafted in 1787. Since 1975, the National Taxpayers Union counts 27 states as having taken similar action on proposals seeking the drafting of a balancedbudget amendment, although that includes Nevada where the legislature's 1977 measure was vetoed by the governor. Carter says he is working toward balancing the budget but "I think it would be extremely dangerous for a constitutional convention to be assembled for this purpose.

Carter adds it would be difficult to devise an amendment "prohibiting any deficit spending without adding provisos that would let us deal with unanticipated military or security needs and unanticipated needs when we have a depression for keeping our people at work or providing for large numbers of those who might be poor or hungry, or needing services.'

Anti-Inflation Carter's anti-inflation plan for wage insurance awaits action by the House Ways and Means Committee, where Democrats are expected to huddle soon on their next step.

Last week, Carter claimed his antiinflation program is working, his voluntary wage and price guidelines are "beginning to take hold," and now Congress "must do its part in enacting legislation that we have proposed, real wage insurance." The Business Council, a group of the nation's business leaders, forecast last week that there probably will be a mild recession this year and inflation

Details of budget, tax proposals being examined by Senate, House will be 7.5 percent, compared with 7.4 percent anticipated by Carter.

The House panel finished hearings this month on Carter's wage insurance program. Under the plan, the tax system would be used to make payments of up to $600 for each worker in a group cooperating with anti-inflation guidelines by taking a pay hike averaging 7 percent or less this year. Covered would be wages up to $20,000 and inflation between 7 percent and 10 percent. Hospital Costs

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y. chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee's health subcommittee, said last week the panel will give priority treatment to the president's plan for restricting hospital costs.

A Senate-passed bill died in the House last year, when Carter says hospital charges grew about 13 percent. This year, he says the lawmakers should pass such "long overdue legislation. Rather than seeking to apply controls immediately, it is expected his new plan would give hospitals time to curb rising costs voluntarily. The administration already urged them to abide by a 9.7 percent inflation guide-

Health Insurance

Although Carter's proposal for national health insurance is still being created, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. said last week it could be phased in starting in 1983 and take at least five years to be fully effective.

By adopting such a plan with strict control on costs, Califano estimated that the nation could save at least 10 percent on its projected $730 billion health bill in 1990. Arms Treaty

Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., saying he wants to 'see the fine print," told reporters last week he has no obligation to support Carter in a Senate struggle over whatever new strategic arms limitation pact results from talks with the Soviet Union.

Byrd indicated concern over whether the United States could keep track of Soviet compliance with the pact, saying "I want to see what is on the paper and whether it is verifiable." Carter said last week that the Soviets "have negotiated in good faith" on a China Policy

Carter suggested last week that he would veto any legislation from Congress if he views it as conflicting with his new diplomatic link to China. He

Five cars tangle up coming out of turn at the Daytona International Speedway Sunday in the 21st running of the Daytona 500. Although the cars were damaged, none of the drivers were seriously injured. (AP Laserphoto)

Drivers fight at Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) -"You look back at all the great crashes in history - Cale and Donnie, Cale and me, Cale and Richard Petty, Richard and David, Cale and David, Cale and Marcis, Cale and Buddy, Cale and McQuagg, Cale and Lee Roy

"It's always seemed to come down to a deal like this. Cale is always right. It don't matter whether he was running first or second. He's always in the right," Bobby Allison said critically of the hard-charging Yarborough after a race-ending fracas between the Allison brothers and Yarborough in Sunday's Daytona

Bobby Allison said he "just stopped to see what all the excitement was" after his brother Donnie and Yarborough crashed while running 1-2 of the $600,000 stock car classic. Instead, Bobby found himself fighting with the irate Yarborough while his brother tried in vain to join in tagteam style.

Meanwhile, Richard Petty was running to victory in the Daytona 500, an event that was almost incidental to what went on after his victory.

A series of Associated Press photos show Bobby choking Yarborough, while Donnie tried to nail the threetime national champion with a helmet. Yarborough is kicking Bobby in the abdomen. Yarborough said he was provoked into throwing the first OFFICIALS QUICKLY broke up the fight, but the principals hardly were through sparring. Yarborough went through most of the unabridged dictionary describing the Allison brothers. The brothers, in turn, felt Yarborough was forgetting established rules of the road.

"The car in the lead owns the race track," Yarborough said after a close victory last season when his blocking tactics were questioned.

"Now if that was true for Cale then, why ain't it true now?" Donnie asked. Allison "owned the race track" going down the backstretch on the last lap when Yarborough made the move almost everyone in the packed house of 120,000 knew was coming.

Allison also knew it. Yarborough tried to zoom past on the inside, using the slingshot effect in the draft.

Earlier, Yarborough had tried it successfully, but the last 55 miles, he was content to follow closely behind. He couldn't have imagined he was fooling Allison by waiting until the last lap when Allison wouldn't have a chance to slingshot back around before the checkered flag.

"I knew it was coming," Allison said. "Cale had made up his mind he would pass me low, and I had made up my mind he was gonna have to pass me high."

Television replays showed Allison moved over to protect the inside lane as Yarborough zoomed alongside - a textbook last lap manuever. Their cars did not touch. Yarborough could have backed off then and settled for kept the accelerator floored and veered back onto the track. His momentum carried him into the side of Allison's car, and he bounced back off

AT THAT point, Yarborough's goals seemed to change. He jerked the steering wheel to the right and his car rammed Allison's. Twice more he repeated the sequence. Both cars had heavy damage, but still were heading straight ahead. As they headed into a left turn (turn three), Yarborough was shown violently turning right, into Allison and holding his steering wheel right, as both cars plowed straight ahead into the wall outside the turn. When Allison's trapped car hit the wall. Yarborough tried to wrest his free, but by then it was too

"It's the worst thing I've ever seen in racing," Yarborough raged. "Bobby waited on us so he could block me off. It was evident. The films will show it. They double-teamed me. My wheels were over in the dirt and Donnie knocked me over on the dirt farther. He carried me into the grass. I started spinning and Donnie started

The TV replays didn't show that.

They appeared to back up the Alli-

"Naw, I didn't block him. I wasn't even close," Bobby said. Bobby was about 500 feet ahead of the wreck when it happened.

Yarborough's aggressive driving style - some say intimidating - has earned him enemies on the circuit over the years. The Allison brothers are not new to feuding on the track either. Yarborough sent Bobby to the worst crash of his career at Rockingham, N.C. in 1976.

EARLY IN the race, Bobby said, "I got some help" from Yarborough when he tapped his brother and sent all three cars spinning off the track. Yarborough had to make up three laps after that to get back with the leaders. Donnie had to get back one by never did catch up.

'Then about 40 laps to go, Cale came up and knocked me good in the rear end again. I don't know what that was for," Bobby recalled.

Nobody seems to know if this will lead to a new feud in the seldom mild-mannered sport. All the principals face off again next Sunday at Richmond, Va. Officials said they were studying the situation to see if any action needs to be taken "in the interest of sportsmanship."

Who's on first no joke to Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Who's on first is no joke to the San Francisco Giants. It's just a question without an answer at the moment.

Aging Willie McCovey was the first baseman last year until he got hurt and missed the final 29 games. But Mike Ivie, 15 years younger at age 26, had a great year pinch-hitting and figures he is ready to move up.

"I waited for my time last year because Willie had such a great season the year before and because I was new with the Giants," Ivie told the San Franciso Examiner in a copyright story. "But I showed what I could do and now I don't see any other way it can be. I know I'm the best

Manager Joe Altobelli said earlier this month he will have the two players battle it out for the starting spot at spring training, which begins next week in Casa Grande, Ariz.

But a number of players said they think that is unnecessary. "I'm sure 99 per cent of the people in the organization think that Ivie should play every day and that Willie should come off the bench," one unidentified player told the paper. "Willie should be told now so he'll be able

"Willie's having trouble walking," outspoken pitcher John Montefusco said. "If you're having trouble walking, how are you gonna play the game every day? His legs bothered him every day last year.' But McCovey, whose career spans 20 seasons and includes 505 home runs, disagreed. "I'd be the first person to go up to Joe Altobelli and say, 'I can't do it anymore," McCovey said. "But I don't feel no different than I did 10 years ago. McCovey carried the team in the early going before tailing off and getting hurt. He hit .228 with 12 homers and 64 runs batted in 108

Ivie, who slugged four pinch home runs, hit .305 with 11 homers and 55 RBI in only 318 at bats. Second baseman Bill Madlock said

Altobelli's spring training strategy could lead to dissension.

"I'm afraid we'll lose both of 'em," Madlock said. "McCovey will retire next year and Ivie will get so mad he didn't play enough that he'll play out his option next year."

Giants General Manager Spec Richardson tried unsuccessfully during the winter to get Rod Carew, who also plays first, from the Minnesota Twins. Those efforts upset both Ivie, who would have gone to the Twins in the deal, and McCovey.

"What bothered me mostly about the Carew talk is that you make a trade to strengthen your weaknesses," McCovey said. "But first base is not a position we're weak at.

Bi-district cage outing could be classic struggle

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

Hopefully, Midland High's long trek for state basketball playoff glory begins Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Abilene's Taylor County Coliseum against the Wichita Falls Coyotes, and the Class AAAA bi-district battle has all the makings of a classic struggle.

The winner of Tuesday's war would appear to have a slight edge going into this weekend's regional tournament since the site of the region meet will be held on the same coliseum floor. That was the big reason that both coaches wanted to play at this

The game may be heard locally on KBAT radio, 93 FM, beginning at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday.

MIDLAND HIGH'S District 5-4A champion Bulldogs head into the bidistrict matchup with a 26-8 record and a 16-game winning streak. Wichita Falls, the District 6-AAAA champs, own a 21-12 season mark, but will be heading into the fray with a threegame losing streak.

However, the losing streak for the Coyotes is not to be taken too seriously. They lost to Wichita Falls Rider in the last regular season game after they had already sewed up the district crown. The Coyotes were 8-2 in overall district play. And Rider was the last team to defeat Midland High, an overtime loss by the Bulldogs in the Wichita Falls Tournament.

WICHITA FALLS also lost two practice games while getting ready to play the Bulldogs. The Coyotes dropped a 59-56 decision to Bowie, Texas' No. 1 ranked Class AA school. Wichita Falls then dropped a 54-45 decision to Altus, Okla., the No. 1 ranked AAAA school in that state. However, the Coyotes committed 22 turnovers against Altus, a figure that is not befitting a championship

Midland High cage boss Don Humphrey is not taking the game good team, and I think a lot of people are taking them lightly. We are going to need a peak performance to beat them, but I think our kids are mentally ready for the challenge," Humphrey said this weekend

MIDLAND HIGH didn't schedule any practice games, and many wonder how the Bulldogs will react to a long seven-day layoff without a game under their belts.

"We've had a lot of kids sick. We had five players miss Wednesday's practice, but I think everyone is going to be ready to go Tuesday. We had a very good workout Friday and we did a lot of running. I think the layoff will help us overall since we had so many kids sick," Humphrey theorized.

Midland High played Midland Lee last Tuesday in the last regular season game without the services of starter Walter Bryson. Also Michael Feldt and David Green missed that contest. Sophomores Herbert Johnson and Tim Spirling then joined the other three on the sick list and missed Wednesday's practice. All of them were back for Thursday's workout when the Pack worked against the zone defense that they are expected to face against the Coyotes.

"WE ARE satisfied going into the game Tuesday. We think our kids can make adjustments when they are needed. We would love for them (Wichita Falls) to switch to a man-toman defense against us, but we probably will see the zone, and we've worked on that too," Humphrey

Saturday, the Pack worked on their own defensive game, and Humphrey has scheduled another hard workout

Humphrey also plans to start the same five-man lineup that has helped to produce the 16-game winning streak. Charles Johnson, one of four seniors in the starting lineup with a 12-point average, has been a big gun for the Bulldogs this year. He has that dunking flare and is tough on the offensive boards. Herbert Johnson, Charles' sophomore brother, gives Midland good height and rebounding potential. Herbert owns a 10-point per BRYSON AND Roy Lee Jefferson will man the guard slots with nine and eight point averages respectively while Milton Sanders is a forward with a six-point per game mark. Spirling also sees a lot of action off the bench with a six-point average.

"None of our kids have the big point averages," Humphrey says, "but our bench has been so good this year, that none of them have had to play many games all the way. I think it is a balanced attack and we haven't had to lean on any one player all year. I think that is what has been fun about this season."

Wichita Falls coach Steve Middleton owns a three-pronged scoring attack with 6-foot-7 junior Ricky Cobb leading the way with 15 points per game at the center slot. Forwards Dick Woodruff, a 6-4 senior, and Mike Nixon, a 6-0 senior, both own 14-point averages.

COYOTES' GUARD Donnie Williams, a 5-10 senior with a nine point average, is a good playmaker and leader. Two other possible starters are Wes McKenzie, a 6-0 senior, and Lance Spragins, a 6-2 senior, both with five point averages.

"We think Midland High is one of the best teams in the state," Middleton said over the weekend. "They have talent at every position, and they did just about what they wanted to in their district this year. To beat them, you just have to find a way to keep them from getting the ball inside all night, and not many people have been able to seal them out underneath. They have a team that can scare you to death. "Our people have played well at times this year, and I think we are going to need a supreme effort Tuesday to win. But, then again, I think you are going to have to have that kind of effort every time out from now on. I don't think there are too many shabby teams left," Middleton as-

Humphrey also commented on Wichita Falls' three-game losing streak. "They lost to three very good teams. One of them (Rider) beat us in overtime, and they played Bowle a very close game. I heard about all the turnovers against Altus, but Altus is to Oklahoma what Hobbs is to New Mexico. They still lost by only nine points to Altus even with all those turnovers. They stayed in the ball game," Humphrey said.

So, it may all come down to mental power Tuesday night. That and the one who scores the most points when the buzzer sounds. But that is what basketball is all about--isn't it?

OC has proven a tough nut for Midland to crack this season. The Wranglers beat Midland 99-78 in the finals of the OC tournament back in November and then did it again in conference play in January 90-84.

THERE IS one important difference between those two games and tonight's game. This will be the first time MC has played OC at the Center, where the Chaps have lost only one game all season.

Midland is coming off wins over Howard College and Frank Phillips last week, successes that enabled the Chaparrals to take over sole possession of fourth place. Odessa also had two big wins last week, a real stunner at Roswell, N.M., when the Wranglers employed a four-corner offense to beat second place New Mexico Military Institute and then won again Thursday over Howard College, 68-

The Wranglers are led by former Midland Lee High star Billy Ray Ennis. ### Cross-handed putter claims Tucson Open title

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Bruce Lietzke, the leader all the way in gorgeous desert sunshine, protected his frontrunning position with a twounder-par 68 and scored a two-stroke victory Sunday in the Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open.

The PGA Tour's most successful cross-handed putter claimed the fourth title of his career - and his second in Tucson — with a 265 total, 15 strokes below the listed par on the 6,708-yard Randolph Municipal course that played relatively easily for golf's touring pros. With the title, Lietzke collected $45,000 from the total purse of $250,000.

LIETZKE SCORED his first Tour victory with an 80-foot birdie putt in a sudden-death playoff at Tucson National in 1977. That longer, tougher course, now undergoing renovation, again will be the site of this tournament next year.

The long-hitting Lietzke, 27 and in his fifth year of Tour activity, took the lead this time with an opening round 63. He never was headed, never tied. He started the final round in perfect playing conditions - no wind, temperatures in the 80s - with a two-shot advantage and simply stayed in front of the frustrated pack chasing him.

THE KEY to his effort was an eagle-three on the 508-yard third hole, the only par-five on the little public course. He followed with a string of 15 consecutive pars that was good enough to blunt the charge of any challengers. It was the first wire-towire triumph on the Tour since Tom Watson won this tournament a year

Watson tied for second this time the second time this season the 1977-78 Player of the Year has been a runnerup. He finished at 267.

"A miserable round of golf," Watson said of his 68. "I was able to score only through some lucky breaks. Like on No.7. I chipped in for birdie from 120 feet.

"I had a chance to win the tournament but I just didn't play well enough to do it. Looking back, I missed birdie putts on 14 and 17 - five feet and eight feet. I make those two for 15 under and a playoff. But I just played a very poor round of golf.'

HE SHARED the No. 2 spot with Buddy Gardner and rookie Jim Thorpe, a one-time running back at Morgan State. It was a career-high finish for both. Gardner, who had won only $5,200 in his career, shot a 65 and the powerful Thorpe fired a 68.

At 268 were Curtis Strange, Howard Twitty, Victor Regalado and Marty Fleckman, who had his best tournament in many years. Twitty closed up with a 65, Strange shot 66, Regalado 67 and Fleckman 69. Lee Trevino was next at 68-269.

Perhaps the happiest man in the tournament, however, was veteran Frank Beard. He shot a 67 and tied for 21st at 273.

The position won him $2,600. It was enough - at last - to push him over the $1 million mark in career earnings, a figure he had been chasing for more than three years. Beard, the 19th man to reach $1 million, now has $1,001,844.

Duke Blue Devils finally explode

By The Associated Press

It's been an enigmatic season for

Last year's NCAA finalists began the year first in the hearts of their countrymen, but certainly didn't look like the nation's No. 1 college basketball team while bouncing up and

Coach Bill Foster has been scratching his head while his team has just been scratching, and everyone else has been waiting for the big, bad Blue Devils to explode

Well, it finally happened Sunday — and the explosion blew out Louis-

"This was probably our best game for 40 minutes this year, as far as running, gunning and passing is concerned," Foster said after his fifthranked team bombed the No. 9 Cardinals 88-72. "We had the efforts and we got the results - it all came together and everyone just had a great day. What can I say?"

Louisville, which last week clinched the Metro Conference title, suffered a 60-53 upset to Memphis State Saturday before Sunday's humiliation in the nationally televised game at snow-shrouded Charlotte, N.C.

"It was tough to be sharp playing your third game in four days on the road," said Louisville Coach Denny Crum. "We were tired."

NOT THAT Crum was entirely excusing his team.

"Give Duke all the credit," he said 'We decided to keep the ball from (Mike) Gminski, hoping that they would miss their outside shots, but they didn't. It seemed as though everything they put up went in, and everything we put up went out."

Meanwhile, two teams clinched ties for their conference championships Saturday, as sixth-ranked Louisiana Southeastern Conference and No.12 Texas defeated Texas Tech 63-56 in overtime in the Southwest.

Elsewhere, second-ranked UCLA routed Arizona 110-86; No.3 Notre Dame jolted West Virginia 70-54; No.4 North Carolina stopped Virginia 66-57; No.7 Syracuse trimmed St. John's 79-72; No.8 Michigan State downed Michigan 80-57, and No.10 Marquette beat Loyola of Chicago 75-63.

Also, No. 11 Arkansas defeated Houston 78-58; No.13 Purdue routed Minnesota 80-56; No.14 Iowa defeated Illinois 67-53; No.16 Georgetown, D.C. beat Boston College 84-81; No.17 Ohio State crushed Northwestern 88-73; No.18 Detroit beat Colgate 86-66; No.19 Vanderbilt lost to Georgia 63-60, and No.20 Alabama beat Auburn 80-

NO. 1 Indiana State and 15th-ranked Temple were idle.

Gene Banks led Duke with 23 points and Gminski added 22. Louisville was stymied from the beginning by Duke's zone defense and the Cardinals trailed by 19 points at halftime.

"I am sure that Louisville was tired with three games in four days," said Foster. "We had three games in five days. The extra day was good for us, but we are a bit tired, too.'

Rodney Lee had 15 points and seven rebounds, pacing Memphis State's upset of Louisville. The loss was the first in the Metro Conference for the Cardinals, who had won their first eight league games.

'We had plenty of opportunities, but we didn't capitalize," said Crum, whose team was plagued by turnovers and poor free-throw shooting down the stretch.

DeWayne Scales scored 24 points as LSU defeated Mississippi and zeroed in on its first SEC championship in 25 years. Ron Baxter stuffed a shot and hit six straight free throws in overtime. spearheading Texas' victory over Texas Tech.

DAVID GREENWOOD scored a season-high 31 points, leading UCLA over Arizona. The victory, the Bruins' 20th in 23 games, avenged an earlier loss to the Wildcats on Arizona's home

"They are a great ballclub," noted Arizona Coach Fred Snowden. "At this stage, UCLA is better than they were last year and they are peaking at the right time.'

Greenwood agreed. "I feel we peaked too soon last year. When the playoffs came we just ran out of gas. Now we are starting to jell at the right time."

Bill Hanzlik's 14 points led a balanced Notre Dame attack as the Fighting Irish beat West Virginia. Tracy Jackson added 12 points and Rich Branning 11 for the Irish, who won for the 18th time in 21 games.

The Mountaineers were backed by an enthusiastic crowd of 15,118, the largest ever to see a basketball game in West Virginia. After any Notre Dame error, the fans pelted the floor with green and white colored marshmallows and waved white "super Al Wood scored 22 points as North Carolina beat Virginia. The Tar Heels went to their famed four corner offense earlier than usual — with nearly 12 minutes left in the game.

"We went to the four corners because we were away from home against Virginia and were looking to get them in foul trouble," explained

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. Louis Orr had 20 points and 14 rebounds as Syracuse defeated St. John's: Earvin Johnson's 21 points led Michigan State over Michigan; Sam Worthen's 20 points paced Marquette over Loyola of Chicago; Sidney Moncreif had 29 as Arkansas beat Houston; Purdue beat Minnesota behind Joe Barry Carroll's 29 points.

Ronnie Lester's 19 led Iowa over Illinois: Eric Floyd scored 21 as Georgetown beat Boston College; Ohio State beat Northwestern behind Kelvin Ransey's 25 points; Terry Duerod scored 33, pacing Detroit over Colgate; Walter Daniels had 26 points as Georgia beat Vanderbilt, and Alabama topped Auburn as Reggie King and Eddie Phillips teamed for 46 points and 28 rebounds

Fla. (AP Laserphoto) State beat Mississippi 67-62 in the Alcott wins sudden-death match

MIAMI (AP) - "It's one of the best putts I've ever hit under pressure,' said Amy Alcott after sinking a 25foot eagle to win a sudden-death playoff over Sandra Post in the Ladies Professional Golf Association's $100,-000 tournament at the Country Club

"It looked like the playoff could go on forever because Sandra is such a tough competitor," Alcott said Sunday after capturing the opening tournament of the 1979 LPGA season.

The end came on the 18th hole, the third extra one. Ironically, Post also eagled that hole to tie Alcott with a 73 for the day and a 72-hole, threeunder-par 285 total for regulation play. The two players were the only ones to break par.

Post's reaction to Alcott's winning

"It was a screeeeeeching good putt," she said. "It was a little fast, but it went in." And it was worth $15,000 to Alcott in first prize money. Post collected $9,800 for second

The sudden-death began on the 16th hole, a par 4 which both parred. They also parred the 17th in three strokes. Alcott's eagle three won it on the

Tied for third were Jan Stephenson and Pat Bradley at 288. Bradley had a 68 Sunday, tying her

On Alcott's final hole in regulation play she missed a 15-footer that would have given her a birdie, but she went to the clubhouse with what appeared to be a safe two-stroke lead.

When asked if she could dominate the LPGA tour this year, Alcott said, "I feel I have the game to do it. I've got the confidence, too.'

Longhorns near cage title

By The Associated Press

The Texas Longhorns can make the pre-season forecasters look good Tuesday night in the wrapup of the Southwest Conference regular season basketball championship.

Coach Abe Lemons' crew was the runaway choice to take the title because the Longhorns returned four starters from their National Invitational Tournament (NIT) championship team. However, the Longhorns got away to a stumbling start before regaining their 1978 magic.

Lemons pushed the right buttons and now Texas is 13-2 and just one game away from undisputed possession of a hard-earned title.

Texas travels to Dallas Tuesday night to meet Southern Methodist and a victory would keep Arkansas away from any chance at a title tie. Arkansas is 12-3 and must take the perilous trip to Lubbock to meet the Red Raiders the same evening. Both Texas and Arkansas have earned byes to the semi-finals of the SWC post-season tournament at The Summit in Houston. The Texas Aggies who are 10-5, can gain the third spot and a bye to the quarterfinals with a victory over Rice

Tuesday night in College Station. Texas had to share the championship with Arkansas last year but. wants the whole thing now. "I'm tired of sharing it (the SWC

Evert wins big rivalry net match

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The tennis rivalry between Chris Evert and Martina Navratilova is becoming one of those sports classics that include the Yankees and Dodgers, Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, Ohio State and Michigan, and Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell.

Evert won the latest round Sunday night when she bested Navratilova in the $150,000 Los Angeles women's tournament 6-3, 6-4. It was Evert's second straight win on the women's tour this year; she won last week's championship in Seattle in a tournament Navratilova didn't

NBA attendance finally improves

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

Attendance at National Basketball Association games has improved to the point where the league has wiped out it's early-season drop and is now drawing 85 spectators more per game than last year's average, according to latest figures.

Although 12 of the 22 NBA teams still are in Buffalo last season. showing attendance deof the 1978-79 regular season, the league is now averaging 10,704 spectators per game compared to an average of 10,619 last season.

Part of the increase is due to new arenas this season in Seattle and Detroit, an enlarged building in San Antonio and the off-season franchise shift from Buffalo to San Diego. All four of those teams are enjoying hefty boosts at the turnstile as compared to last year.

Bonds, Indians to hold meeting

SAN CARLOS, Calif. (AP) - A meeting later this week is expected to decide whether or not reluctant outfielder Bobby Bonds will play for the Cleveland Indians this season or Indians President Gabe Paul is scheduled to meet Thursday in Phoenix, Ariz., with Bonds' agent, Rod Wright of Palm Springs, Calif., in a further attempt to work out a settlement to the outfielder's demand that he be traded to a West Coast team or be given further contractual incentives.

Bonds, 32, reportedly has four years left on a five-year pact he signed in 1978 with the Texas Rangers. The Rangers traded the slugger and his reported $440,000-a-year salary to the Indians following the season, but Bonds has threatened to sit out 1979 or play one season for the Indians and then use his right to demand a

"Either I sit out or I won't be in Cleveland after the '79 season.' Bonds said in an interview at his home in San Carlos, Calif., about 30 miles south of San Francisco.

Bonds said he would like to play for, in order, the California Angels, San Diego Padres, San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers or Oakland

Barring a trade to any of those California teams, he said he'd accept a deal with the Seattle Mariners. "I could hit 50 home runs by accident in the Seattle ballpark," Bonds said. The factors that keep Bonds' heart right here in California are his idyllic split-level, three-bedroom mountaintop home where he and his family have lived for nine years and his aging parents in nearby Riverside.

"We never have to worry where the kids are," the father of three boys explained. "They can't go far unless we drive them.

"Everything I want is here," he added while gazing at the 21-foot inboard-outboard fishing boat parked on a trailer in his driveway. "I can have my boat in the bay in 10 minutes and I can have it in the ocean in 20

As for his parents, Bonds said: "They're both pretty close to 70. Dad's been pretty sick. He had a couple of bad heart attacks and a stroke. Mom has bone deterioration.

Bonds and Wright spent two days in Cleveland in January negotiating with Paul and Indians General Manager Phil Seghi. The talks broke off with no decision reached and both sides still talking.

Oklahoma St. Pistons rip San Antonio

By The Associated Press

Who needs Bob Lanier? Coach Dick Vitale says the Detroit Pistons do, but you'd never know it from their last three outings

Lanier, Detroit's 6-foot-11 center, has missed the last four games but the Pistons have won three in a row, including Sunday's 124-104 rout of the National Basketball Association's Central Division-leading San Antonio

The fifth-place Pistons aren't picking on weak sisters, either. Their other two victories came against Denver and Houston, a couple of second-

Serrano scores boxing victory

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) - World Boxing Association junior lightweight champion Samuel Serrano scored a 15-round unanimous decision over Dominican challenger Julio (Diablito) Valdez Sunday, and had no kind thoughts for his rival.

Valdez hits better with his head than with his fists and he specializes in dirty boxing," said Serrano. The champion suffered a badly cut forehead which he blamed on Valdez's butting.

Serrano had taken the lead in the opening round, flooring Valdez for an eight-count with a right hook to the jaw. It was the only knockdown of the bout and the first time in his career the 25-year-old Valdez had

Following the fight, Valdez was hustled out of the ring by uniformed police amid jeering fans. The disturbances broke out after a scuffle in which Dominican Sports Minister Jesus de la Rosa was roughed up by police as he tried to enter the ring after the final bell.

Dominican officials at ringside filed a formal complaint with WBA President Fernando Maury Galindez, alleging that referee Larry Rozadilla had opnely favored Serrano during the last four rounds. Valdez acknowledged his defeat but protested about the hostile atmosphere he said he encountered

"It's impossible to fight in Puerto Rico," he said and complained that his father was manhandled by police when he tried to climb into the ring at the end

Hawaii's island of Molokai torn between tourism, financial woes

By MICHAEL SEILER The Los Angeles Times

KAUNAKAKAI, Hawaii - This is the way all Hawaii used to be small, sleepy, populited mostly by native Hawaiians. But now, for better or for worse, comes tourism.

Just in the nick of time, say some residents, to pull the island of Molokai out of financial depression caused by the loss of one of its two major pineapple plantations.

But, others argue, Molokai's salvation may turn out to be its eventual undoing. If the growth of the tourist industry isn't tightly controlled, the end result may be a concrete-andsteel jungle of hotels, condominiums, fast-food restaurants and rent-a-car agencies, they say.

And that would ruin Molokai, the opponents of tourism say, just as surely and swiftly as it ruined Oahu's Waikiki and Maui's Kihei.

THE LOW-KEY DEBATE goes on here, causing a certain unhappiness on a tight, little island where, normally, life is uncomplicated and people

But, then, these have been bothersome times for the people of Molo-

Though Del Monte remains, Dole has closed its pineapple plantation, throwing several hundred out of

An attempt to replace the declining plantation economy with small farmers has made only limited progress because native Hawaiians simply aren't much interested in farming.

AND THOUGH ALL the tourist books call Molokai "the Friendly Island," the opening of the first big tourist hotel on Molokai's western tip and the boost it has given local employment hasn't created all the goodwill that some might have hoped for.

A tourist was raped while backpacking. There were several teen-age boys involved and it was a shocking, unspeakable thing on an island of 5,000 population, where everyone knows one another and where crime rarely reaches beyond the level of a Saturday night drunk or a stolen chicken or pig.

An isolated event, to be sure, but it happened at a time when Molokai was experiencing its first hints of touristindustry backlash.

There was a peaceful demonstra-tion by several dozen Hawaiians in a parking lot at the new Sheraton-Molokai protesting development. They carried signs saying, "Warning, Locals Only" and "No Tourist Allowed."

THE SIGNS reappeared later, tacked to living room walls, front doors and tree trunks. They were generally out-of-the-way and few tourists saw them but the thought lingered on.

The island's troubled economy, the rape, the antitourism movement there's a pattern here that bothers

Take Aka Hodkins, manager of the Molokai Ranch, which owns close to two-thirds of the island's usable land. "My folks grew up here and I grew up here and I was never taught racism," said Hodkins, who is Caucasian. "I can't believe...any Hawaiian grew up hating another person because he's black, yellow, white or whatever. But any kind of ethnic movement tends to stimulate a racist Molokai is experiencing an ethnic movement of sorts in the form of a small group of people called Hui Alaloa, whose leader, Walter Ritte Jr., organized the Sherton protest.

RITTE, A FORMER student of mortuary science and a full-time activist, is not a racist. No one here not Hodkins, not anyone - calls him

The worst thing they're saying about him is he is confused, but charming and bright, they quickly add, as is his wife, a former Miss

As for Ritte himself, he won't own up to being confused - just search-

"I really love this island," he said. 'I'm searching for the values of my ancestors. I don't look to Los Angeles for my values or as an example of the kind of place I want my island to

"I admit I have a one-track mind. My search for my identity as a Hawaiian and for Hawaiian culture is paramount. The economics of Molokai come second. I know we can live off the land and the ocean like our forefathers. Whether the pineapple industry lives or dies doesn't bother

"OUR POLITICIANS have said to us that it's tourist development or unemployment. But they said that about Waikiki and Kihei, too, and you

The answer, Ritte said, is some sort of control on growth, limiting the number of hotels and condominiums that can be built on Molokai.

Ritte detests the hotel, not a high rise as is often the case with major Hawaiian hotels but a low-slung collection of cabana-like buildings perched oceanside, 24 miles across the water from Honolulu's Waikiki. "They've built a golf course there where I used to hunt," Ritte said. 'They've destroyed the essence of what brings people to Molokai in the first place and by doing so, have made it harder and harder for people here to practice the aloha spirit."

ALMOST BY DEFINITION, Hodkins, the ranch manager, should be the mirror-opposite of Ritte. It was his company, after all, that sold 6,700 acres of land to a New Orleans-based real estate firm that in turn leased part of it to Sheraton for the hotel.

But he isn't... Like Ritte, Hodkins is a native of Molokai, a man who loves the island and wouldn't want to raise his children anywhere else.

ALSO, LIKE RITTE, he worries about the land, the hunting and fish-

"The quality of life I've been accustomed to has deteriorated some," Hodkins said. "But, I've been fortunate in the past - I've had access to lots of acres. But, until recently, Molokai Ranch was pretty much closed to the general public for hunting, fishing, hiking.

"Since it's been opened up, I've seen the fishing along the coast and the hunting here deteriorate because more people have access."

Hodkins argues that the quality of life for everyone - not just the island's elite - has improved in the past two or three years. There is, he says, better housing, better medical services and a more stable economy as Molokai makes the difficult transition from a plantation system.

"We used to have a paternal society here," he said. "The ranch leased land to the pineapple plantations, who, in turn, leased land to the worker tenants. The plantation supplied housing, elelctricity, water, the paycheck; basically, a man's whole life was wrapped up in the plantation.

"BUT THAT'S CHANGING. Now a man here is beginning to own his own house, work outside the plantation and pay his own bills."

Hodkins and others suspect that this radical change of life-style could not have happened as smoothly if it were not for Molokai's slowly growing tourist industry.

"The Sheraton definitely took up the employment slack," he said. The island has actually prospered instead of dying after Dole moved out. People who moved to Oahu or Maui came back to Molokai.'

There's a definite feeling on the island that because Molokai is the last major island of the Hawaiian chain to experience the tourist influx, there's a good chance that growth can be kept under control

A REPRESENTATIVE spokesman for that point of view is Louis Hao, an official of Maui County, of which Molokai is a part. He mirrors the slowgrowth policy of both the county and state administrations. The policy is designed to encourage tourism without killing what is left of Hawaii's natural beauty and also to keep the state's total population under

'Molokai is one of the last frontiers of Hawaii," Hao said. "We've seen Waikiki, Lahaina, Kihei and Kona and we're not going to let that sort of strip development happen. We're only going to build hotels and condominiums as they're needed by restricting zoning and building permits."

One key to successful, but limited tourist growth, Hao said, is separating tourism from day-to-day life on the island. The big Sheraton is on the west coast, more than 20 miles away from the residential areas of Kaunakakai and points east.

"We didn't want to build the hotel in somebody's backyard, with chickens and pigs running around," he said with a smile.

HAO AND OTHERS say it's important to understand what Molokai is like right now, because, they argue, it won't be that much different in the

The relatively isolated Sheraton is the only major tourist hotel on the island. Other than its golf course and tennis courts, there isn't that much to entertain visitors. There is a daylong mule ride through the island's interior and the old leper colony on Molokai's north coast attracts tourists in limited num-Molokai Ranch, under pressure the island and just a couple of condominiums:

Hao said there are plans now for one more condominium development of 70 units but no other hotels to immediately compete with the Shera-

"We have an obligation to the people of Molokai to protect the island and to foster employment," he said. "But we also have an obligation to the investors (in the Sheraton) to make sure they're successful. They came to our rescue when we needed it (after Dole left). By keeping everybody else out, we make it easier for them to get their investment back."

Despite Hao's protestations, it's sometimes difficult for an outsider to see just how Molokai will withstand the boom economy of tourist and condominiums so evident just across the channel on Maui.

THERE, NEW HOUSES and condominiums continue to pop up. The condominium units on Maui appreciate at a fantastic rate and usually change hands at least once or twice while still under construction.

For instance, one Maui condominium unit originally sold for $47,000 in 1975. The two-bedroom, two-bath unit recently was resold for $500,000.

The Sheraton may be just the first of five major resort hotels to go up along Molokai's one fine strip of beach. Plans for the four others are

"Nobody is going to come in and start developing until this hotel and this tourist destination are estab lished," said Carl Kono, the Sheraton

AND THE SHERATON, he pointed out, isn't established yet. Occupancy rates have been running 60 percent to 70 percent during the week and as high as 90 percent or 95 percent on winter weekends.

The goal, he said, is to get into the 80s and 90s every day.

"We're still getting the question, What's a Molokai?" said Joyce W. Curry, assistant public relations director for Sheraton in the Pacific. 'But six or seven years ago everybody was hearing about Maui and Kaui for the first time. That's where Molokai is now."

Which, of course, is precisely what bothers people like Ritte.

"This is a dot in the ocean we're talking about," he said one recent early morning while bathing his child in an outdoor bathtub next to his

Rising home costs, mortgage interest rates mind-boggling

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)- The nation's Realtors estimates the selling price of a typical new home in 1979 will reach $64,000, a figure once considered so enormous as to produce gasps of awe from the populace.

Millions of television viewers would watch almost breathless as the contestant sought to answer the question that would reward him or her with that sum. Tensely they waited, week after week.

Now, the way housing prices have been rising - at least 10 percent a year - they won't have to wait much longer than that. Sometime next fall or early winter, if predictions hold, that figure will be reached.

Yes, and exceeded, if total costs rather than purchase price are considered. While you may think the $64,000 house is a phenomenon, what do you make of the $152,381 house?

Extraordinary? No, ordinary. That larger figure is the actual outlay for a $64,000 house that is financed with an 80 percent mortgage at 10 percent for 25 years. Like television's $64,000 question of 25 years ago, it's mind-boggling. Still, more than a million households a year eagerly buy new houses, and many consider the purchases the buys of their lives. To hear them express their happiness, simply ask.

They've reheased the story. The primary advantage, they tell you, is that a house is shelter as well as investment. "Try getting that from a stock or bond?" they say pointedly, perhaps correctly assuming you lost your shirt on stocks. They are likely then to point out that houses appreciate at a rate faster than prices in general, and they are correct. Or, to express more conservatively, they certainly have been correct in the past.

Inflation last year was either 7.4 percent, if you use the consumer price ndex, or 9 percent if you live by the gross national product deflator. That makes a big difference in the "true" mortgage rate.

The homebuyer is likely to tell you that in hawking his or her future he or mal. Mind-boggling.

she is not paying 10 percent a year but only 1 percent to 2.6 percent, or the difference between 10 percent and the inflation rate.

Moreover, they point out, all that interest is a deductable for federal income tax purposes. In fact, some observe, after they receive their tax deductions they end up paying almost no interest at all.

But, you argue, the price of almost everything else is going up too. Conceding this, the homeowner then reminds you again that houses have been increasing in market value at an even greater rate.

Assume that housing inflation is just 1 percent greater than general inflation, a smart one might point out. That 1 percent, extended over 35 years, means that my $64,000 house will be worth $90,662." And they remind you, that's a "real" price. That is, the dollars used to measure the 1979 house are the very same ones used to measure the 2004 market value. The increase is actual. No illusion about it. Inflation, some homeowners have even been heard to say, is a wonderful thing. And in a sense it has been good to many of them. It has helped transfer wealth to them. They have inflated more than non-homeowners. But maybe, some more cautious neighbors have retorted, the entire housing picture is out of whack. Amazing, they say, how we have adjusted to believing that 10 percent inflation can be "normal." "What's normal?" is one typical rejoinder, a response that provokes the response "What isn't normal?" And so you say to the buyer of the typical $64,000 home that $1,798,556 isn't normal. No way.

He or she looks puzzled, and so you explain that if inflation persisted at 10 percent for 35 years, a longevity you should expect from a $64,000 home, the property would then be worth $1,798,556.

Inflation, he responds, doth make millionaires of us all. Yes, you then observe, and paupers too. Considering that beef by then would be selling for $100 or more a pound. Very abnor-

Carter foreign policies becoming campaign issue

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. says it's time to make the Democratic administration's foreign policy a legitimate subject for partisan political debate.

Times have changed, said Baker, in urging Republicans to abandon altogether a generation-old belief that 'politics stops at the water's edge."

Not that the belief was absolute. Politics moved well beyond the water's edge in debates as long ago as the 1950s over China and Korea. Nevertheless, the Tennessee senator's advice has attracted attention because he is a Republican presidential

Even before Baker's call for partisan debate, members of Congress both Republicans and Democrats - showed little reluctance to criticize President Carter's foreign policy. Republicans, after all, Baker among them, gave Carter the votes he needed to go ahead with plans to sell jet fighters to Egypt and Saudi Arabia. A majority of Senate Democrats voted against their president's pro-

Democratic Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, the new chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is one of the most prominent critics of Carter's Middle East policy.

Carter enjoyed a brief respite from congressional criticism of his foreign policy during the euphoria that followed the Camp David summit. He emerged from the Maryland mountains as the man who had brought two old enemies together and persuaded them to work together for peace in the Middle East.

But the promised peace treaty eludes the principals.

In the other accident, Leslie G. McLaughlin, 27, of 3315 Windsor St. was listed in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit at Midland Memorial today with a broken clavicle and head injuries received in an accident which occurred about 8:42 a.m. Saturday.

The mishap took place one-half mile west of Midland on U.S. Highway 80. According to the DPS spokesman, McLaughlin was driving a car westward when it and a pickup being driven by James Whitlock, 42, an oil operator from Amarillo, were in colli-

Whitlock and a passenger in his vehicle, Susan Robinson, 23, of Arlington, were treated and released at Midland Memorial, according to hospital personnel.

Bill proposes severance levy on uranium output

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Rep. Tom Martin, D-George West, has introduced a bill that would place a severance tax on uranium, a mineral produced in parts of his district.

Martin's bill would impose a sliding tax, with the rate increasing as the value increases.

Uranium contracted at $40 to $50 a pound, today's pricing level, would be taxed at $1.57 a pound, plus 8 percent of its value over $40. A fourth of the revenue would be allocated to the Available School Fund, with the rest going into general revenue for appropriation by the Legislature.

Martin said Texas is the only major uranium-producing state that does not already have a severance tax.

"No uranium is presently being consumed within the state of Texas. Our resources are primarily being depleted for out-of-state use and the people of Texas should receive com-

This guess suffered from only one flaw: it didn't work. West took the ace of clubs and resumed the spades. When the clubs broke badly South had only two tricks in each suit.

How could South guess that only the diamonds would break normally?
PLAY FOR BOTH South should play for both suits. He wins the first spade in his own hand and takes the king and ace of diamonds,

When both opponents follow suit South can safely give up a diamond and returns to dummy with a spade to win five diamonds, two hearts and two spades. If an opponent discards on the king or ace of diamonds, South abandons the diamonds in order to lead clubs. He makes the contract if that suit breaks normally. DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-J10984; H-Q5; D-107; C-A1092. What do you say? ANSWER: Bid four spades. This shutout bid promises a singleton or void as well as strong trump support. In this hand your fifth trump makes up for the poor distribution.

Nether world draws easy rider

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

MEXICO CITY (AP) — As one who commuted to high school by subway, the old "F" train to Brooklyn, I have always been hooked on that subterranean mode of transportation.

Abroad, I can no more resist going down the steps of the Underground or the Metro or whatever it is called locally than other tourists can turn away from a palace a museum or a flea market.

The rumble of a subway train is a siren song calling on the frantic globe trotter to slow down enough to see how the rest of the world lives and suffers, fights for a seat, fends off pickpockets, tries to snooze behind a newspaper.

In Tokyo, to satisfy this craving to be transported about with the masses in the Stygian darkness, I was duly wedged aboard by the official pushers - actually trained kung-fu artists - who use feet and hands to pack passengers aboard the Japanese sub-surface railways.

WHILE OTHERS in Moscow dallied in the Gum department store or inspected the embalming miracles on display in the tombs of Red Square, I marched with the proletariat through the marble hallways and beneath the ornate chandeliers of the Soviet subway system.

In Rome my burrowing instinct was so strong I took the new Metropolitan to see the catacombs, just as in Paris I had ridden the Metro to go on a tour of the sewers, which shows how deep one can plunge into a hobby

It was the same in Boston, Buenos Aires, Brussels and Berlin: the cars careening beneath the streets were catnip to this space-age spelunker, which any

These are roads in name only

By JOHN BRONSON

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Every year about this time, Pennsylvania motorists go through more bumps and grinds than Gypsy Rose Lee as they negotiate pitted highways that in some places are roads in name only. Potholes are opening faster than repair crews can patch them, and with more winter weather and the spring thaw in store, the worst is still ahead. "It's a shame," muttered Francis Ward, proprietor of a service station along a rutted stretch of Pittsburgh's Ardmore Boulevard. "I'm making money on it, but it's still a shame.' Outside Ward's station, about 20 ruined tires are five-hour period we fixed 16 flats," Ward said.

His is a motorist's horror story, but it's not the worst. Consider these: -A monster chuckhole on a railroad crossing in downtown Erie trapped a car last month. The owner went for help and came back to find the car smashed -Following a recent heavy rain, a pothole about a foot deep and a yard wide appeared on Philadelphia's Schuylkill Expressway. It caused so many problems that an enterprising tow truck driver parked nearby and took orders. -A section of Interstate 70 in Westmoreland County has crumbled so badly that an estimated 150 tractor-trailers staged a slowdown near Belle Vernon last week to protest the highway's condition. -In Erie County, about 12 miles of the westbound lanes of I-90 have so deteriorated that the speed limit had to be reduced to 40 mph.

-Allegheny County Port Authority Transit is re-porting slower running times for buses and says several drivers have put in claims for workmen's compensation, after wrenching arms or shoulders when hitting potholes.

The word from the concierge at my hotel that Mexico City had a subway, and a new one, shook me like a tumbler of warm tequila and probably registered 9 on the emotional Richter scale.

THE NEAREST station, Revolucion, was almost at the door and the noonday rush hour was about to begin. In Mexico, because the admirable siesta custom, they have four rush hours a day.

Mexico's Metro was built by the French, which is why the gate system is similar to the Paris Metro and the cars have that chic feminine look.

"Does anyone ever try to sneak under?" I asked the rather rugged-looking lady cop on duty at the row of chrome turnstiles, which like the London Underground's were activated by inserting the ticket.

'Frequenta," she answered, but her sly smile dared me to try it just to see what would happen. There is little crime and no graffiti marring the Mexican subways because all suspects hauled off by the tough transport police, most of whom are women, must spend at least two hours in confinrment before appearing before a judge, which gives time for reflection on the wisdom of their anti-social ways. Stations begin closing just after midnight and re-open at 4 a.m., which also cuts down on crime.

ANOTHER TRAIN whirred in. The cars, which are washed twice a day, were spotless but jammed even worse than the Jamaica express out of 50th Street They say the only way to get a seat on the Mexico City subway is to insert two cloves of garlic beneath the tongue and lean over a seated passenger with the question: "Hey, Jorge how do get to Hidalgo,

The stations reflected the Mexican flare for color and original design in public architecture. Some had marble halls, glittering mosaics, Indian sculptures, decorative hieroglyphics, underground malls with shops and restaurants. Zocolo, the cathedral square station, had large handsome photographs on the walls of nearby tourist sites. The Pino-Suarez station exhibits a genuine pre-Columbian pyramid unearthed by the bulldozers during the Metro excavations. All of the stations featured piped in music; many had minature gardens and large stone vases of growing flowers. New Yorkers could discover a more modern relic: a weighing machine that worked.

TWO MORE LINES are being built but the system already carries a million more passengers a day than it was designed to haul. Because women complained of being manhandled by the macho commuters during rush hours, the system engineers set aside

The Mexican subway is new enough for people to ride it just for a pleasure trip, especially the elevated portions, the way passengers at the turn of the century used to take the old Canarsie line to Coney Island for a day's outing. And it is young enough for miracles beyond the scope of the computer. I actually saw a schoolboy get up and give his seat to a
