WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter and Menachem Begin, public ly ignoring the Israeli prime minister's tough arrival statement, are casting their efforts at reviving stalled Mideast peace talks in a hope ful light

After meeting alone for nearly two hours Thursday night, Carter and Begin spent nearly three hours to gether this morning. The session ranlonger than scheduled and delayed a State Department luncheon for Begin at which Secretary of State Cyrus R Vance was host

The two leaders also planned an afternoon session in crucial talks that could lead to a new Camp David summit, and agreed to a festive eveoung dinner with their wives at the start of the Jewish Sabbath

Two new beer ordinances on tap

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Hines of spring in the air often spark memories of favorite things to do on a warm day when a slight breeze blows and only a few fluffy clouds mar the otherwise clear sky

To many people, one of those things consists of going to a city park. stretching out under a shade tree with a can of beer in one hand and slowly becoming "one with the earth-

Beginning next Thursday, Mid landers still can stretch out under a tree and let their minds wander, but it will have to be without that container of brew

Two city ordinances passed Tues day by Midland City Council will be come effective on that date (March 8) One prohibits possession and con sumption of alcoholic beverages in parks, the other prohibits having alcohoite beverages in possession in vehicles on "public highways, roads, streets, alleys or sidewalks," except in the original unopened container

The second ordinance continues as follows Provided however, that this section shall not apply to any alcoholic beverage that is locked in the trunk of a motor vehicle in such a manner as to be inaccessible from the interior or to any person riding in such vehi-

"I HATE TO further enact ordi nances to take away freedoms of people," he said "And we're not doing this to cause friction with the people

"I realize that unless we have a hard-line enforcement from the police, judges and all the way through the legal system, it (the ordinances) won't be effective. I am wanting a hard line enforcement on these."

He said the city is not becoming a

Currently, surveillance of parks and enforcement of the rules are secondary for the officers, Kohout said "But for someone who lives across from parks, he sees no differences in the importance, especially when there is trouble," he said

During the summer months when park use is high, police officers often work overtime to provide extra security in park areas, Kohout said. But there is a limit as to how much over

"I realize, of course, the price tag that goes with this and that it would mean increasing the budget," Kohout said. "As a taxpayer, I'd hate to see the budget increased, too

He admitted that increasing sur veillance duty for those already on duty is "trying to get too much mileage out of a few men

Because these officers have many higher priorities, they have a tenden cy to take care of the immediate trouble and leave. "It's like a fire," Kohout said, using an analogy. "As soon as you get it out, you leave, but there are still some sparks that flare up later

Kohout will wait to see how these new ordinances -- and the old -- are enforced before he makes another request for a park patrol

Midland borrowing up, saving down

By GUY SULLIVAN Staff Writer

Midland consumers are borrowing more and saving less these days. Three Midland banking executives speculated Thursday that Tall City citizens may be borrowing more money because they are buying more products

The other side of the proverbial coin, however, is that fewer Mid landers are putting money into savings, said the bankers.

The situation is caused partly by what federal government officials call a national trend: inflation. And one local bank executive termed the situation a "debt society."

Federal officials have said that American consumers are saving only a small fraction of their incomes, while they keep borrowing to buy more merchandise.

The local bankers agreed the situation is about the same in Midland. "I wouldn't think that there would be very many people buying on bor rowed money," said Bill Milby, vice president of First National Bank in Midland. "I think the borrowers are still spending a lot of money. But here in Midland they are making a lot of money, too."

He said increased salaries and wages, "spendable income," make borrowing easier here. "I think borrowing is on the increase all the time.

Asked why, he replied, "I think inflation has a lot to do with it. I don't think consumer borrowing shows any signs of going down."

He admitted increased consumer borrowing has been a strong cause of inflation. But, he said, more people with additional spendable income is another reason for more borrowing.

"In the 1960s to early 1970s, people were really operating on less spend able income," said Milby "Now consumer borrowing is growing because there are more people who can afford to do it

Commercial Bank & Trust Company's Tom Stovell, senior vice president, agreed that people are borrowing more and saving less.

'People are anticipating that inflation is going to become worse in the future," he reasoned "I think people ought to save their money. You know, debt is not a desirable thing, compared to saving.

"For people to go into debt to buy things at this time --- thinking that to buy now is to beat inflation - is not smart thinking."

He said such actions help fuel inflation, rather than beat it. An example, said the banker, is people who buy what they do not need.

'That's bad for the economy and it's bad for the individuals who do it,' he said. "We live in a debt society. But Midland now has a nice cashflow, compared to the rest of the nation."

Still, Stovell indicated that in his opinion there is too much borrowing in Midland because of inflationary pressures.

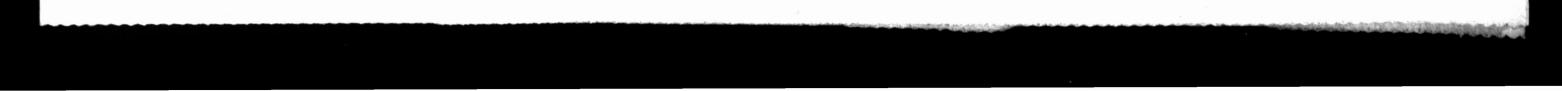

Dale Byrom, vice president of Midland National Bank, said people unable to make payments on new products they buy become a part of a situation which is "bad for the economy."

Yet, said Byrom, the Midland economy is "good" because "right now it shows no signs of slowing down. But if the Midland economy does slow down, some people who have over-bought, or over-extended themselves, will be caught short."

National figures on consumer debt are growing each year, he said. "I'm sure the debt of Midland citizens has increased in relation to their incomes.

"I'm also sure people who keep buying when their income cannot" catch up to what they're spending - these people will have trouble making their payments," Byrom said.

Jimmy Dean pork plant will reopen

PLAINVIEW --- Plans to reopen the Jimmy Dean pork plant here were announced Thursday by the entertainer-owner who said between 8,000 and 12,000 head of butcher hogs will be processed per week as soon as operations resume.

The plant, which closed in early 1978, will reopen sometime in June, Dean announced at a news conference at Plainview-Hale County Airport.

Although the plant had closed because it was losing approximately $27,000 per week, Dean pointed out that "with us spending almost $1 million for impovements, I can truly say that we are coming back to stay.

Dean, a native of Plainview, said the plant will employ between 110 and 120 people and will have an annual payroll of $1.3 million.

"We will be buying about $40 million worth of hogs each year," he said

Although the plant originally produced primarily sausage, Dean explained that under the new program fresh pork cuts, packaged similarly to boxed beef, will be the principal product

Everything the plant turns out is already sold and will be marketed nationally under the Cudahy Foods label

Among innovations at the plant, already one of the most modern of its kind in the nation, are patented skinning techniques. The pig skins are used for fine leather jackets and other clothing items. Virtually everything is processed and utilized in the way of by-products, except the hog bristles, Dean said the board authorized the hospital to order, could deliver the $126,061 package within 30 days.

In the meantime, patients needing radioisotope diagnosis are referred to hospitals such as Odessa's Medical Center for scanning, McGee said.

Board director L. Decker Dawson asked if similar units were at other area hospitals, such as in Andrews. "I just don't want (patients) to go to Odessa if they (scanners) are in Andrews," Dawson said. Board President Ed Magruder said similar scanners were also in Big Spring, San Angelo and Lubbock.

90 scans are made each month. Tevis Herd, president of the hospital's board of trustees, recommended purchase of the equipment. He said the trustees, who had viewed the reconditioned scanner as obsolescent, were planning for a replacement in the 1979-80 budget. This was before the scanner broke down, he said.

Dr. Michael Burleson, a physician on the board of directors, also cited need for the scanner.

"The alternative isn't very pleasant," Burleson said. Later, he said he was referring to catheterizing and surgerv

In choosing the Ohio-Nuclear scanning unit, the board of directors passed over the comparable units manufactured by G.D. Searle & Co. of Skokie, Ill., for $148,000 and by Picker X-ray Corp. for $149,000.

The meeting was the first emergency session since the hospital district became active on April 3, 1978. The district was created in September Attorney Mike Morgan, representing hospital attorney Ted Kerr, said state statutes provide for a public entity to bypass the normal bidding for major purchases in cases of "pub lic calamity," the necessity "to preserve or protect the public health" and "unforeseen damage." He said the latter two seemed to apply to the hospital's case.

presented the hospital's case for a replacement of the camera and complementing computer and formatter for recording the images on film. The electronic unit, which is a "thousand times more sensitive than what we take on X-rays," is used in diagnosis and patient care," McGee said McGee said the camera is "essential for nuclear medicine technology.

"Often scanning is the only indication of an abnormality," said McGee.

"Basically, it is an extremely useful tool that is used everywhere '

For example, the scanning tool is a 'very quick, easy and accurate way to determine if a person has injury to the spleen," McGee said. The unit is also used in detecting abnormalities in the brain, heart, liver and other organs and bones. The unit produces images on film.

McGee said representatives of the re-conditioned unit's manufacturer. Picker X-ray Corp. of Fort Worth, pronounced it terminal.

But for 10 years, "We have had extremely good luck with this instrument," McGee said. After the unit's breakdown, the images produced by the unit were "totally unintelligible," he said.

He said repairing and upgrading the already re-conditioned unit, which he characterized as "five generations behind the state of the art." would cost $40,000 and "would not be a prudent'' alternative.

He likened the older unit to a B-29 Superfortress airplane of the 1940s, as compared with today's supersonic aircraft.

Renting a replacement would cost $20,000 a month, said Wayne Ulrich, hospital administrator.

And without a scanning unit, We're out of business," McGee McGee said Ohio-Nuclear of Solon, dency to forget those ordinances which applied the year before. Kohout listed those which are least apparent to residents and which most often are forgotten: Sales of goods or merchandise and playing musical instruments without permission from the City Council is prohibited.

Golf lovers will have to go to Hogan Park if they want to practice their drives, because any such activity at other city parks is unlawful. Dunagan Park can be used for group practice or instruction under supervision approved by the parks director.

There can be no signs erected in city parks or attached to any greenery. This includes garage sale signs, bulletin boards or billboards.

While destruction of property is a fairly obvious violation, Kohout said, one ordinance they have trouble enforcing is the prohibition of vehicles in city parks or on school property. He said problems usually arise when parents wanting to watch their children participate in baseball or softball games park their cars in the dugout area.

NO ONE IS ALLOWED to enter a posted restricted area of a park or to enter the parks during hours they are not open to the public.

Warm weather brings more people outdoors to eat and this means more picnics. One ordinance prohibits groups of 100 persons or more from gathering in a park without authorization from the City Council and the Director of Parks and Recreation.

But that rule does not apply for gatherings in Hogan, Cole or Washington parks, Kohout noted. Midlanders also should take their vehicles to a car wash instead of a city park if they want to clean up their vehicles without getting a ticket in the process.

Kites and model airplanes are not allowed in those city parks which are traversed by high voltage lines.

Kohout also said Thursday that persons are prohibited from dumping trash and garbage anywhere in a park except in containers provided for that purpose.

It is unlawful for anyone to carry or discharge a firearm of any kind, including air guns, within or across from parks or playgrounds, Kohout said.

DOGS OR OTHER ANIMALS must be kept on a leash when in a city park, nor are they permitted in Cole Park. A dog show, or other type of animal show, is prohibited in city parks.

But shows or exhibitions can be held in Hogan Park or the undeveloped part of Dennis the Menace Park when scheduled and approved by the director of parks and recreation.

People may not wade, swim or boat within any park or playground in areas not designated by the director of parks.

Parks that are closed to the public between midnight and 6 a.m. are Alamo, Cole, Halff, Hidalgo, Hogan, Sparks, Ulmer and Washington. But if one of these is needed for a special event, Kohout said, they may be used by an organization after obtaining a special permit from the city.

Parks open from 6 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. are the County Park, Cowden, Crier. Dennis the Menace, Dunagan, Faşkin, Garrett-Brown, Grafa, Henderson, Hill, Lancaster (including the annex and adjacent leased property), Lloyd, Ida Jo Moore, Ratliff, Rusk, Sidwell, Taylor, Tolbert, Wadley-Barron, Elkin and Haley.

All glass containers of any kind are prohibited in any city park, playground, tennis court facility or abutting streets.

Weatherman's weekend forecast

for Permian Basin is damp, gloomy

Midlanders hoping for spring may be disappointed to find the weekend damp, cloudy and generally gloomy, the weatherman said. Forecast for Saturday is partly cloudy and cooler, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Low tonight is destined to dip to the upper 30s, with Saturday's high expected to be in the mid-60s.

Today's gusty winds should die down to a sedate 15 to 20 mph tonight, but the decrease may be accompanied by thundershowers. Weathermen place the probability of rain tonight at 30 percent.

Yesterday's high of 71 was not near the record temperature for the date of 85 degrees set in 1976. The overnight low of 57 was well above the record of 31 set in 1965.

No rain has dampened the airport gauge this month, leaving the annual accumulation at .42 inch.

Area towns were reporting cloudy and windy weather this morning, with an Andrews weather watcher noting "it smells like rain."

Parents seek better education for deaf children By SUSAN TOTH

Staff Writer

tonight and Saturday

"We've got a group of lost kids, and I don't think the city even knows they're here

'We just want to bring our kids back home and educate them here.' That was the primary concern Thursday night of some 25 parents of deaf children who gathered at Lamar Elementary School to discuss ways to improve the education provided for their children.

The parents assigned top priority to changing the structure of the regional deaf education program to allow Midland's students to stay in Midland for their secondary education and to be "mainstreamed" into fifth and sixth grade classes in Midland.

The regional program - centered in Odessa - allows students from age 3 through the sixth grade to attend classes in Midland, then moves all children to Odessa for junior and senior high school

The Midland primary classes are taught in Lamar Elementary school, where regular classes go only through the fourth grade.

All deaf students are "mainstreamed" into as many regular classes as possible, but fifth and sixth grade deaf students at the school are 'mainstreamed'' into fourth grade classes.

Two other priorities decided on by the parents were: to insist on a separate speech therapy room and to ask for more equipment for the students.

Speech therapy for students in the regional day school at Lamar has been conducted behind a partition in one of the regular classrooms this year because there is not enough room for both hearing and deaf students in the school's regular speech room.

With the new voice amplification system the speech therapist uses, the noise distracts students with partial hearing who are working with another group in the same classroom, the parents said.

Parents plan to inform directors of the regional program of their priorities and meet with them to find possible solutions.

Alternatives, they said, include going to the Midland school board and demanding teachers be hired here to serve their students.

"The federal law says my deaf child will ge the same edu-cation as my hearing child," Melvin Dunn, one of the parents, said. "I don't consider having to drive 50 miles round-trip to school equal education

"I say I want more choices. Right now my choices are to send my kid to Odessa or to send my kid to Austin (to the state residential school). I won't accept either of those without a fight," Dunn said.

Not all the parents at the meeting agreed a Midland-centered program was essential, however.

"We fought for years to get a county-wide program so kids in the outlying areas could go to school," Gay Hathaway noted. Her 16-year-old daughter attends the Austin State School for the Deaf, and Mrs. Hathaway feels it is the best education she can get.

'No deaf child will ever be head cheerleader here," she said. "Education is more than classrooms."

Others noted that more extracurricular programs might be offered in Odessa with larger numbers of deaf students in school

"But our kids can't stay after school for activities unless the parents can pick them up, because they have to be bused to Odessa,' another pointed out.

'No advice needed,' say state's senators

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-Texans need no advice from Northeastern states in setting its highway speed limits, the Senate said Thursday.

By voice vote the Senate approved and sent to the House a resolution asking Congress to abolish the national 55 mile-per-hour speed limit and let the states set their own.

"This is exactly the same resolution that Oklahoma and several other states have passed," said Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin.

"It is ridiculous for states with about three miles of straight away to tell Texas and other states with good highway systems what to do.'

Traeger's resolution, if approved by the House and Gov. Bill Clements, would be forwarded to the president and all members of the Texas delegation

"Since the national speed limit has increased shipping times and costs, the fuel-saving benefits have not been substantiated, the motorists have not been complying with such causing enforcement officers to be called from the more dangerous two-laned roads," the resolution said. "The Senate and House of the state of Texas join in support with U.S. Sen. S.I. Hayakawa in maintaining that the right to set such standards be left to the states and as such support the efforts of Senator Hayakawa in abolishing the national speed limit of 55 miles per hour." Following passage of the resolution, Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, made a special privilege speech saying federal plans for gasoline rationing discriminated against Texas and other states in the South and South-

Rotary discusses counseling center

The purpose, function and overall become who they really are as peroperation of the Midland-based West Texas Pastoral Counseling Center were described Thursday noon for members of the Downtown Rotary Club at their meeting in the Midland Hilton.

The speaker was the Rev. John-Winham, associate director of the center. The program was introduced by the Rev. Sam Hulsey.

In launching his address, Mr. Winham explained that pastoral therapy is designed to help a person, a couple or a family "truly disturb their history." Things haven't been going right for the individual or individuals involved, he said, and it is the therapist's job to try to help a person or persons to throw off the past, "to reintegrate - - to make whole - to sons."

Mr. Winhan then gave a general overview of the operation, relating "who we are and how we work." He described the task of the therapist and said that one of his aims is to show the person with whom he is working that God is working in every context of life.

The center, he said, is a non-profit organization funded primarily by the fees of individuals and through the support of numerous churches in the Midland-Odessa and Fort Stockton, Pecos and Monahans areas.

The center's staff provides narriage therapy, family therapy, individual therapy, and group therapy. The center and its services are open to the public.

"We are willing to help anyone seeking help," Mr. Winham said.

He said the center also conducts a number of seminars and workshops on subjects such as parenting, marriage preparation, communication skills, marriage enrichment, divorce, remarriage, future planning and grief and loneliness, arranged through churches or other organizations.

U.S.G.S. centennial

Today marks the 100th birthday anniversary of the U.S. Geological Survey, and congratulations and best wishes from a grateful nation are directed to the agency.

It was in 1879 that President Rutherford B. Hayes signed the law creating the agency.

The Survey is celebrating its centennial today and Saturday with an open house at its headquarters at Reston, Va. Director H. William Menard has termed the occasion "a time for rededication and recommitment to the goal of those who preceded us - the pursuit of earth science knowledge in the public interest."

It is interesting to note than in its first century the Survey has grown to a staff of 13,000 scientists, engineers, technicians and others. Its appropriation for fiscal 1979 totals $640 million. In 1879 it was $106,000.

The agency actually is mapmaker to the nation, producing topographic maps of the entire country. Millions of maps are available at the Survey's National Cartographic Information Center. It originally was charged with classifying the public lands and surveying for natural resources, but its assigned duties through the years have branched out in multiple directions.

The agency today engages in such matters as volcano and earthquake research, as an example, determining hazard areas and trying to learn how to predict and control tremors.

The nation's water resources also are cataloged by the Survey.

The agency also is involved in energy crisis matters. It determines areas of the continental shelf to be leased for oil and gas exploration and manages the Alaskan oil reserves.

Good luck is expressed to the U.S. Geological Survey as it heads into its second hundred years.

Madalyn loses one

In the realm of good news, it is noted that a federal court of appeals at New Orleans has rejected Atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair's suit seeking removal of the phrase, "In God We Trust," from U.S. coins and currency.

This is great, and just as it should be, but it is reported that Mrs. O'Hair will appeal to the United States Supreme Court. We fail to see how any U.S. court could do other than reject such a plea. But the atheist leader isn't one to quit.

CHARLEY REESE Columnist offers ideas for overcoming inflation

ORLANDO, Fla. - G. William Miller, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said recently inflation would be more damaging to the U.S. economy in the long run than a temporary increase in unemployment.

Say it fast and it sounds half reasonable, but it reflects an attitude that we must no longer tolerate in this country. The word, "economy," is a mental concept which means the sum total of millions of individual decisions made by all the human beings in this country

Miller, the chairman, is concerned with sums and numbers and computer printouts because Miller, the human being, is well-heeled. When he goes home at night to see his family, whether they have enough to eat or a place to sleep or clothes to wear is as far from his thoughts as the most distant star is from my typewriter.

Their material comfort and security are not even in question and I'm happy for them on that count.

But that's not true with most families. It's easy to say the words, "temporary increase in unemployment," but let's not forget what those words mean. They mean human beings with no paychecks coming in. Human beings humiliated by having to go on the dole and human beings harrassed by bill collectors and fathers embar-

Who does Miller think he's kidding? The Federal Reserve is a private central bank and it expands or shrinks the money supply to suit the bankers. They created the inflation along with the spineless politicians in the U.S. Congress and they and their foreign banker buddies are soaking up the $40 billion in annual interest on the federal debt

Of course inflation is a problem but I'm not buying that either-or proposition that the only way to cure it is to dump a million Americans out of their jobs. If there isn't a more creative thought than that in Washington, then it's time to sweep the joint clean and start over.

What these characters are doing is playing us for suckers. They create the inflation which steals money right out of our pockets and they blame us. They blame unions; they blame consumer spending. Well, they can flush that jazz because we know better.

The only people with a legal printing press who are printing dollars are government types; the only people who can create "money" with a bookkeeping entry are bankers.

One way to cure inflation is for the Congress to balance its budget and an even better step would be to abolish the Federal Reserve which J.P. Morgan and that crowd of sharpies saddled us with in 1913.

Let me clue you in. Inflation-recession cycles aren't all bad if you're in the right spot. Let's say the money supply is flowing out and the economy move could have sent them all

In bone-chilling, subzero temperature, the 35-year-old government map expert extricated the three Aussies from the cab of their vehicle, which was tilted over a 60-foot-deep crevasse. Painstakingly, he hauled them to safety. For his courageous exploit, Schneider is our first nominee to a modern-day Hall of Heroes. which we are establishing to honor those whose unselfish acts of valor might otherwise go unrecognized.

Schneider's challenge came on May 18, 1974. With three fellow scientists, he had set up a remote encampment on the South Pole icecap to conduct ice-drilling experiments. That day their bleak routine was disrupted by a barely audible bleep of distress on their radio.

The faint SOS came from a threeman Australian crew out of Casey Station base camp. Their "snow caterpillar" had skidded and toppled across a deep crevasse, wedging the men inside the vehicle. Without hesitation. Schneider and an Australian colleague raced to their own snow cat and set off to the rescue. A native of Wisconsin, Schneider is no stranger to snow. But the con-

On reaching the scene, Schneider ventured on foot to the trapped Australians. They were staring from their vehicle into the frozen pit beneath them, almost afraid to breathe. The ice-glazed surface concealed other treacherous crevasses, and Schneider had to find bridges of solid snow to reach the helpless men. "You get so you can tell from the sound whether it's safe or not," Schneider explained. "If there's a hollow crunch, you figure there's a crevasse." At a snail's pace, the slender American finally reached the disabled vehicle, canted at a 70degree angle over the ravine. He pulled himself to a rear door, pried it open with an ice axe and threw a rope to the occupants so he could haul them Schneider wasn't finished yet. The Aussies' caterpillar contained $50,000 worth of scientific equipment, so he and the others scaled down the sides of the crevasse to lash the tractor securely until heavy rescue equipment could arrive. Only then did Schneider take the three men he had rescued back to

Casey Station. Asked what they did to celebrate, the laconic Schneider told tarctica's winter. Varma assigned Schneider to lead a major trek inland toward the South Pole. The expedition was caught in a punishing blizzard 120 miles out and was snowbound for 12 days.

The stranded party lost radio contact with the base camp; it was restored only after Schneider devised a way to radio another station nearly 1,000 miles away. Varma gave Schneider high praise for maintaining the morale and well-being of his four companions "during this period of. extreme anxiety and isolation."

The determined Schneider persisted in his mission even after one of his main vehicles broke down and supplies ran low in 35-degree-belowzero weather. Only when directly ordered did he head back for safety.

When we prodded his memory on the August escapade, Schneider finally volunteered some information. "That was even scarier than the other," he told our associate Sam Fogg. "The wind was so great, we couldn't see more than six feet, and could move from one tent to another only by hanging onto guide ropes."

A friend of Schneider's told us that the modest government scientist does have an Achilles heel. As a surveyor in the Louisiana bayou country years ago, he had a really bad time. Our nominee for the Hall of Heroes is afraid of snakes.

Footnote: In this age of the cynical anti-hero, old-fashioned self-sacrifice is supposedly out of fashion. But we're convinced there are many Americans who risk their lives to help their fellow man. We're looking for stories of these unsung heroes. If you know of one, write to The Hall of Heroes, P.O. Box 2300, Washington, D.C. 20013.

BIBLE VERSE

"And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left. Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:" - Mat. 25:23,24.

Tough beans, Joe. The bank forecloses and now owns the motel. They get a judgment against Joe in case he's got any loose change lying around. They write off a bad debt. Well, praise God, the money supply is increased again and the economy heats up. The motel rises in value and the bank sells at a profit and goes in search of another customer.

I don't mean to sound cynical or un-American and I know there are bankers with hearts of gold, but it just does not seem to me a wise thing to put the power to increase or decrease the money supply into the hands of bankers, and that is what the Congress did when it passed the Federal Reserve Act.

It will be a hot day at the North Pole when the Congress gets enough nerve to jump the bankers, so in the meantime let's at least not let them con us into spending human beings like chips in a casino.

I can stand a 15 percent inflation a heck of a lot better than my neighbor can stand a 100 percent loss of his paycheck. I hope that we plain Americans have not become so selfcentered that we no longer care about each other.

If we have, then the ball game is over and the home team lost.

More troubles are revealed in Ronald Reagan country

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

INSIDE REPORT:

WASHINGTON - The unexpected decision by David Keene, a key political operative for Ronald Reagan since 1975, to join George Bush's presidential campaign has exposed troubles in Reagan's front-running candidacy that long had festered beneath the surface.

Keene is so highly esteemed in the national conservative movement that his defection in itself is significantly a gain for Bush and a loss for Reagan. But Beyond Keene's value, it reveals potentially poisonous disputes among the rivals for control of Reagan's campaign. With Reagan's national headquarters soon to open in Los Angeles, the campaign's power structure remains dangerously unresolved.

Reagan, still a magnificent political campaigner and still the overwhelming favorite in the conservative grass roots, is far ahead for the Republican nomination - but not much farther ahead than Sen. Edmund Muskie was for the 1972 Democratic nomination at a comparable time. Some Republican insiders have forecast that Reagan's downfall, like Muskie's, could evolve from internal power struggles.

At the focus of Reagan staff struggles is Washington lawyer John Sears, a fascinating, enigmatic Republican strategist who ran Reagan's 1976 campaign. While praised by the press as a miracle worker, Sears has been anathematized by grass roots conservatives as Reagan's undoing. These conservatives failed last year in intense efforts to replace Sears with longtime Reagan operative Lyn Nofziger (who has been put in charge of fund-raising).

Sears' rival now is not Nofziger but Reagan aide Michael Deaver. "In '76, Mike was new to presidential politics and deferred to Sears," one Reagan insider told us. "No more. Mike has his own ideas, and John won't have the free rein.

But who is in charge? Sears thinks he is in the same dominant position as in 1976. Deaver declines to say anybody is in charge, and there is talk of shared command. Although profound differences between Muskie-'72 and Reagan-'80 are obvious, there are overtones here of Muskie's disastrous troika of three rival campaign managers.

Covert stirrings became overt trouble with Dave Keene's defection. A former national chairman of the Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) and ex-aide to Spiro T. Agnew, Keene used impeccable conservative credentials as a Sears lieutenant in Reagan's successful drive for 1976 Southern delegates. Since then he has vigorously promoted Reagan's cause (sniping at a presidential rival, Rep. Philip Crane, within the American Conservative Union's national board).

gan's liaison on Capitol Hill, Keene wavered. He tentatively accepted the more attractive Bush job, then rejected it out of loyalty to Reagan, and finally accepted it.

An underlying cause was a last discussion between Keene and Sears. The oblique, imprecise language favored by politicians (and particularly Sears) boiled down to this: Keene asked Sears whether he could protect him from Deaver: Sears did not guarantee any such protection.

Perhaps unfairly Keene's defection has undercut Sears' status in the political community. Conservative friends of Keene see another case of Sears' alleged duplicity in casting aside his friend. A more rational assessment is that Keene would now hold a key Reagan post if Sears enjoyed the authority he did in 1976.

The theory of Sears' decline is lent credence by the arrival on the Reagan scene since 1976 of foreign policy consultant Richard Allen. Sears and Allen both worked on the Nixon 1968 campaign, and their relationship was not cordial. Brought to the Reagan operation by Peter Hannaford (Deaver's partner in the Los Angeles & public relations firm whose star client is Ronald Reagan), Allen accompanied Reagan to Europe last November and was at his side recently in Washington. It is well known to Republican insiders that Dick Allen would not be within a mile of Reagan if Sears include the Taiwan regime) whether this will endure as an issue any longer than the now-forgotten Panama Canal question.

Less important than who ultimately wins campaign control is that more time and energy have been consumed on internal power struggles than on the supreme challenge of electing. Reagan president. For testimony about the cost of such misplaced

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd is wrestling with a problem that has nothing to do with inflation, energy policy or foreign affairs.

The West Virginia Democrat has to decide what tunes to play on his fiddle when he appears Saturday night on a nationally televised edition of the Grand Ole Opry.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) - Toxic fumes from an industrial fire prompted the evacuation of hundreds of persons early today. The fire, which broke out Thursday night in a plastics factory warehouse and spread rapidly, was brought under control shortly after midnight. At one point, the fire had spread over a half-mile area.

Three persons were injured during the fire, but their identities and conditions were not available early today. Fumes from hydrochloric acid and phosgene gas spread through the area, forcing the evacuation of about 250 to 300 persons, said city Civil Defense director Melvin Ruhl: An emergency center was set up about eight blocks upwind from the fire, he

Siamese twin sacrificed so other may live

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Four tiny hands flailed in the air as surgeons separated Siamese twins in a courtordered operation, taking the life of one so her sister could have the heart they shared since birth.

The surviving infant, called "Baby A" or "Twin A" since she was delivered first by Caesarean section on Feb. 20, was listed in critical condition.

The six-hour operation - performed Thursday at St. Christopher's Hospital for Children - commanded the skills of eight doctors, six nurses and three heart pump technicians.

"Twin B was sacrificed in order to save another life," Dr. Laurence Somers, the chief surgeon, told reporters an hour after the operation. "Im quite optimistic. Twin A...is doing as well as can be expected."

The surgical team knew from the start that one girl would have to die if the other was to live.

After an anesthetic was administered, the team gingerly positioned the lone, six-chambered heart and a common liver in the chest and abdominal cavities of Twin A.

At 1:28 p.m., Dr. R.K. Balsara clamped off Twin B's primary heart artery.

"The baby was then taken out of the operating room, dead," Somers said. "It wasn't difficult to detect an emotional upheaval among the nurses when the life support systems were unhooked.

The special agent in charge of the FBI office in El Paso has warned local businessmen who may be involved on the fringes of narcotics traffic to come forward now if they expect any help.

'We have found in this area that some of our finer businessmen have been corrupted by some of the young ladies that they have access to around here," Special Agent O. Leon Dobbs said. "They've been placed in an extortiondemand situation. All of a sudden, they're in and they're forced to give financing and other things.

Dobbs called for such persons to come forth in a speech he gave Wednesday to an El Paso civic group.

"It was more or less a pitch to businessmen who had somehow got corrupted, either with women, money or other things, to assess their situation and let us know about it," he said.

Dobbs said the implication that cooperative witnesses would be dealt with sympathetically is correct.

Dobbs said cooperation from citizens corrupted by organized crime would be a shortcut for his agents. "I made the point that

Nazareth will feature new dimension for concert tonight

"Its all based on rock and roll," vocalist Dan McCaffetrty says about the music he and the rest of Nazareth will be playing tonight at 7:30 in the Chaparral Center. "We go for melody with a rock background."

There will be a few subtle changes in the music that has been Nazareth in the past said McCafferty. The addition of a second guitarist, Zal Cleminson, formerly with the Sensational Alex Harvey Band, adds a new dimension to the band, he contended. "We're not thinking in terms of lead and rhythm guitar," said Nazareth's producer and original guitarist, Manny Charlton. "We are just trying to do something different." 'We needed another point of view," said

Charlton," ... and I needed some spare time, a chance to play instead of trying to hold it all together.

The Scottish rock band has been together for more than ten years now. The music industry has changed a lot in those years, said McCafferty. "In the old days the bands had a lot more to say about the way things were done." The influence of bands like the Beatles gave credence to the ideas of band members, he said.

Now with the popularity of disco, it's the producers who have the control, said McCafferty. Thenature of disco lends itself to this sort of thing, he added. The musicians never have to get together to record a song because the individual parts of a song can be recorded seperately and put together later, said McCafferty.

"In our music we try to be as true as possible and just dub over what's absolutely necessary," Mc-Cafferty said

The band leader said he can understand the popularity of disco-its some place to go and meet people and dance. "What I can't understand is why people would buy it and take it home."

UL

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) - The year Greg went north for the winter well, to avoid bombastic rhetoric, it just didn't set right with everyone.

The club really hasn't been the same since Fred and Sue decided that Point Barrow, Alaska, would be ideal for their February vacation.

You see, Graham and Carla, who always have been the trend-setters around here, had just gotten back from this fabulously expensive resort on the Yucatan peninsula where everyone has his own private thatched cabana on a beach like talcum powder.

"It was five below when we left O'Hare and the snow was higher than my window air conditioners," said Graham over a round of Margaritas that included his personal instructions to the bartender on how to frost the lips of the glasses with salt. "I wanted to hug the first palm tree I saw getting off the plane."

GREG DECLINED the Margarita. He ordered a Russian vodka on the rocks and asked the bartender to keep a bottle encased in a block of ice, "Siberian style," so in the future he could drink it neat. Like the North Slope oil workers.

"The drifts were higher than the aircraft hangar when we landed," he said, "and it was still snowing. I guess the wind chill factor was somewhere near 50 below. You almost expected the breath from those sled dogs to spell out A-R-F, A-R-F.'

This information seemed to frost Graham, who was wearing his straw sombrero and the serape hand-woven by the local tribe in an ancient Mayan design.

"We brought back some fantastic pottery too," enthused Carla. "The old craftsmen are fast dying out but our guide knew a stall way back in the marketplace where this wizen old Indian woman...

"It's like scrimshaw," Sue cut her off sympathetically. "You know, carving on whale bones and walrus teeth. Not many left who still take the time to do it, but we got lucky. The missionary who flies in once a month to say Mass took us to this Eskimo village...

THE WAITER arrived with another round of Margaritas about then, and, of course, Greg's Russian vodkarocks

Showing us where his sunburn was still peeling on the back of his neck, Graham got the floor long enough to tell us how the Mexican government had used a computer to locate this resort, feeding into it data on weather, humidity, texture of the sand, insects, safe, unpolluted beaches, available fresh water, etc. "Statistics showed the place had 240 days of sunshine a year," he continued, "and we hardly saw a cloud the whole time we were there. The Caribbean was so emerald green and clear, you could snorkel that reef all the way to Honduras."

Emerald green did it. Greg saw his cue as clearly as if it were flashed on an idiot card in a TV talk show.

"Funny," he said, "emerald green exactly describes a glacier on a clear sub-zero morning. Of course we only got two hours of sunshine a day, but that didn't stop us from trotting around on snow shoes and snowmobiling under the northern lights, which also, come to think of it, have kind of a greenish tinge." Right here, he showed off his frostbite blotches.

That's pretty much the way it went the rest of the evening.

CARLA SHOWED us her black coral necklace with matching earrings and described the Brazilian string bikini she never would have the courage to wear at the club pool. Sue had on her shark's teeth pendant permarket with her genuine wolverine parka that the Arctic Institute had like that.

cochinita pibil, pork in a Yukatan hot sauce, and ceviche de caracol del Caribe, a sea snail marinated in temon, chile and olive oil. Gregg countered with whale steaks cooked over a seal oil stove, and bannock and pemmican for hors d'ouvres.

Carla had learned how to play the net from this "real groovy pro who looked like Poncho Gonzales." Sue scheduled in had gone ice fishing with an Indian guide and caught a 40-pound arctic Big Spring char.

Graham and Carla had explored the Mayan ruins at Chichen Itza and music of a real Mariachi band. Greg the heart of downtown Barrow" had found a way-out discotheque called the Malamute Saloon, where Moo-Moo Uckluk and His sled-dog Six 'could sure shake the ice cubes from your mukluks."

TEMPERS GREW a mite strained gems and precious when they compared the bargains to be had on Isla de Mujeros, which is a free port, with the duty free shop at Nome, but we thought the whole thing might.still be settled in a civilized fashion with color slide shows at 100 Roberts Exhibition paces.

Then it suddenly turned violent. The subject of condominiums came

Graham said for a small down payment and $34 a month, he and Carla had bought the use of a beach hacienda for one week out of every year for the rest of their lives on a beautiful isolated cove fringed with coconut

Right there, Graham crowned him with the piece of ice sculpture rising out of the bed of fresh shrimp on

Chemical plant explodes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - An explosion and fire caused extensive damage to a chemical plant early today, injuring 10 persons and causing the evacuation of a nearby power plant, authorities said.

The blast rocked a chemical production unit at the Chemagro plant about 7:30 a.m., knocking out metal ceiling and wall panels, and the fire raged for about 45 minutes before it was brought under control.

Prospective buyers should be told of hurricane threat

凸

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Northerners escaping to the South Texas coast should know before they buy a beach cottage that a hurricane might destroy it in the next three decades, a Senate committee has heard.

"As certain as we sit here, a hurricane's going to rip through there (South Padre Island)," Sen. A.R. 'Babe" Schwartz, D-Galveston, said Wednesday.

"Persons investing their life savings in property need to be protected against loss of that property, he told the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

"South Padre Island today is what Galveston sland was in 1900 except the construction is prettier." Schwartz said, referring to a hurricane that killed 6,000 people at the turn of the century in Galveston.

Schwartz is sponsoring a bill that would require. real estate agents to inform prospective buyers of propery hazards, including fault lines, eroding shorelines and channel washouts.

The next hurricane to hit the Texas coast will cost $1 billion in insurance losses, he said. Under the statewide wind storm insurance pool, future hurricane losses eventually will be paid by policyholders throughout the state, he added. "It'll mean a 25 percent statewide rate hike when a hurricane comes, plus the 25 percent hike along the coast," the senator said. Gerhardt Schulle Jr. of the Texas Association of

Two items to be studied by Board of Appeals

Two items will be reviewed when the Board of Appeals meets at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the basement of City Hall.

William T. Shaner of 301 N. Dallas St. is requesting a variance to use a certain type of building in a fire district for organizational headquarters. He also is asking for a variance from the electrical codes. Quanah Construction Co. of 200 N. PORTLAND, Ore. AP) - A law took effect n Oregon Thursday banning the sale of any beverage in containers with disposable metal

The law, passed in the 977 Legislature, is an outgrowth of the 1971 act opularly known as the 'Bottle Bill."

That law required deposits on all beer and soft drink cans and bottles whether the bottler wanted them back or not. It also banned the detachable metal tab opener, or "flip-top," which supporters said were a cause of litter on beaches and roads.

Giffert Alstrin elected president of Midland's Western State Bank

The election of Giffert Alstrin as the new president of Midland's Western State Bank, 1030 Andrews Highway, was announced today by the bank.

Alstrin's election to the presidency and the bank's board of directors came at the annual shareholders' and directors' meeting, according to John B. Billingsley Jr., chairman of the board.

A graduate of the School of Banking of the South, Alstrin follows a family tradition established by his greatgrandfather, Samuel F. Jones, who was one of the founders of Tulsa National Bank, now the First National Bank of Tulsa.

Alstrin has more than 14 years' experience in commercial banking. He formerly was president and chief executive officer of Liberty Bank at Houston, and before that served as a commercial loan officer at Capital National Bank of Houston.

While residing in Houston, Alstrin was a member of the City of Houston's aviation committee while construction was under way on the Houston Intercontinental Airport in the late 1960s.

He also served the Houston United Way as a regional commercial fund raiser and was president of the Inwood Forest Civic Association. He was a Boy Scout commissioner and a member of the Rotary Club and Robert Morris Associates, a banking executives group.

Alstrin is the son of Mrs. Edwin-Alstrin of Midland and the late Edwin Alstrin. He grew up here and was graduated from Midland High School

He served four years in the Navy and was graduated from Sam Houston State University, where he was a charter member of Epsilon Mu chapter of Delta Sigma Phi, a national scholastic business fraternity

Since returning to Midland in 1976, Alstrin has been treasurer of Britton Management Corp., where he was responsible for financing oil lease activities, equipment purchases and drilling operations.

He also served as vice president, general manager and director of Britton Industries, Inc., where he was responsible for financing construction projects.

A real estate broker, he is a member of the Midland Board of Realtors and the Permian Basin Landman's Association. He recently was appointed by the Midland City Council to a place on the city's Planning and Zoning Commission.

Alstrin is married to the former Beverly Lokey of Houston. Avid scuba divers, the Alstrins have participated in their favorite sport in Florida, Mexico and Grand Cayman.

The couple attends the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity and has legacy membership in the Minuet Club of Midland.

Mrs. Alstrin, a member of the Midland Symphony Guild, serves as a CPR instructor for the American Heart Association.

Shelters offer "time and distance" as a way to break the cycle of family violence, Earle said.

"Not more laws, not more cops, not nicer husbands, not nicer wives. ... It simply says, this is a place you can come until things cool off," he said.

Mary Ann Johnston of the Houston Area Women's Center' Council for Abused Women said a shelter - the only one in Houston - opened last June and has been swamped by prospective-residents.

To date we have serviced 300 peo ple. It isn't near enough," she said.

The shelter, which can house 14 people at most, turned away 42 families last month, Ms. Johnston added.

Rep. Lance Lalor, D-Houston, said his experimental bill would allow the state Department of Human Resources to provide technical assistance for 12 shelters around the state. Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, is sponsoring the bill in the Senate.

State funds could not account for more than 50 percent of any shelter's budget, Lalor said.

"The premise of this bill is we don't want the state to run the shelters. We think shelters only work when there is active community involvement," he explained.

Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, said his bill would add $7.50 to each marriage license fee to help fund shelters.

From clams to reservoirs, Survey knows all

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Less than a month ago Paul Dresler, a government marine biologist, reported finding for the first time a concentration potentially troublesome Asian clams in the Potomac River.

The clam, called Corbicula manilensis, was found at concentrations of up to 62 per square foot and could clog water intakes and contaminate sand and gravel dredged for concrete, al-though no problems have been reported so far.

A few days after Dresler's finding was published, Alen Sinnott, a government hydrologist, reported discovery of a vast underground reservoir containing an estimated 140 trillion to 350 trillion gallons of good quality water - covering a 108,000 square mile region of Virginia, Maryland, the District of Columbia, West Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Massachusetts.

About half of the underground reservoir could serve as a reserve water supply during such emergency periods as regional droughts, Sinnott said.

THE TWO FINDINGS are unconnected except for one link: Both are products of the U.S. Geological Survey, an organization that describes itself as "the federal government's largest earth science research agen-CV

To put it simply, the Geological Survey is in the business of finding out everything there is to know about the earth - and more recently some of the planets. Its projects range from major research efforts with millions of dollars riding on the results to arcane scientific studies with little apparent practical significance.

Established on March 3, 1879, during the administration of President Rutherford B. Hayes, the U.S. Geological Survey will celebrate its 100th anniversary Saturday with a ceremony and open house at its headquarters in Reston, Va.

A Navy musician has written a special march for the occasion to be played in public for the first time by the U.S. Navy Band. President Carter and the Secretary of the Interior have been invited to attend, and a special postal cancellation will be used in honor of the Geological Survey's Centennial

"To make decisions for rational use of lands, to explore for and develop our resources wisely, to mitigate the effects of geological hazards - these and other related problems are formidable and sobering challenges to all Americans," said the Survey's director, H. William Menard, discussing his agency's centennial.

IN MARCH 1879, when Congress first appropriated funds for the Survey, the nation was emerging from the post Civil War era and the West was opening for settlement. Everyone needed maps, geological data, infor- lopers.' mation on the availability of water and on the suitability of a particular region for cattle ranching, homesteading, sheep farming or mining. Until then, such assignments had been handled - if at all - by state, agencies, the U.S. Army and a few ad hoc federal agencies. The Survey was the first federal agency to be charged with a comprehensive "classification of the public lands, and examination of the geological structure, mineral resources and products of the national domain" in that vast, and for the most part, uncharted region.

In the century since then, it has evolved into a major government agency with a budget of $640 million and more than 13,000 scientists, engineers and technicians and administrators. The Survey has its national center in Reston, regional centers in Denver and Menlo Park, Calif., and hundreds of subcenters throughout the United States and overseas.

Based on its data, decisions were and continue to be made on where to locate dams, mines, housing developments, highways and airports and where to drill for oil.

"There is hardly anything that has to do with the environment that we don't collect some basic data on,' said Frank Forrester, the Survey's publicity director. "It's up to us to come up with the very basic and fundamental information, but we try to stay out of the fights between the environmentalists and the deve-

FROM AN AGENCY that in its beginning concentrated on mapmaking, the Geological Survey has broadened its scope to include such activities as searching for strategic min-erals during the World Wars, pioneering in the use of aerial photography for mapmaking for the Tennessee Valley Authority in the 1930s, measuring the rate of flow in the nation's rivers and managing petroleum exploration in Alaska's National Petroleum Reserve.

Besides the Centennial Day activities Saturday in Reston, other events include lectures and symposiums in the Washington area and elsewhere, exhibits and publication of a four-volume history of the Survey.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My son gets a lot of colds every winter. Is there any way to prevent them? What is the best treatment? Are there any cures?-Concerned Mother

Dear Concerned mother: There is no known way to prevent all colds, but you may have fewer colds, if you:

1-Stay away from people with colds.

2-Don't use personal articles such your cold only after your body itself has overcome the cold viruses. Colds may sometimes hide the start of more serious sickness, so if your cough, hoarseness or other symptoms hang on, see your doctor without delay. The golden rule covers colds too.

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Cover your cough or sneeze (paper tissues are better than handkerchiefs). Stay home from work or school when you have a cold. Your friends in classroom or place of work will thank you for it.

The information I gave is good for your son as well as yourself.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Is it difficult for a woman to know that she has gonorrhea?-Cecile W.

Dear Cecile W .: Yes. Due to her physical structure, she may not have any troublesome signs, such as itching or burning in her vagina, and may not have any pus discharge such as appears in men. But, proper testing by her physician can tell if she has it.

Marquardt says testimony supports TESCO contentions

FORT WORTH - Texas Electric Service Co. President Bill Marquardt said Thursday he has heard no testimony in the current PUC hearing that would support any punitive action against TESCO or any other Texas Utilities Company.

'We've said from the start that all our efforts have been made in an effort to save our customers money and to provide them with adequate electric service. We've said that none of the transactions being reviewed here were intended to, or did, benefit stockholders.

"I think testimony so far in this hearing has supported this contention," Marquardt said.

The Public Utility Commission hearings into transactions among TU system subsidiaries were recessed Wednesday after seven days of testimony of officers of TU companies, the PUC staff and intervenors in the case.

The TU companies will offer rebuttal testimony when the hearing resumes at 9 a.m. Monday.

Marquardt said the issues in the hearing have boiled down to differences of opinion over legal technicalities and some accounting procedures.

"Before the start of this hearing, there seemed to be a great many allegations and a lot of innuendo about so-called improprieties on the part of our company.

"I believe all the testimony, including that by the PUC staff and by the intervenors, demonstrates that these allegations were unfounded," he said.

Marquardt said the overall impact of the staff and intervenor testimony has been to show that the TU system companies have acted in good faith to do what is best for their customers. He noted PUC General Counsel

John Bell's written brief in which Bell acknowledged that he has found no reason to believe that anyone connected with the TU system has willfully or knowingly violated any law or PUC order.

He also noted Bell's statement that all the TU companies "have made all of their books and records available for inspection and audit...and have been cooperative in facilitating the staff.

Marquardt said he could not specu-late on what the final ruling of the PUC will be

We can say that the PUC staff and the intervenors have made exhaustive investigations and, despite intense examination during this hearing, no evidence or testimony has been produced that challenges our honesty, our good faith or the fact that our management judgments have been beneficial to our customers," he said

IPAA gives price advice

The Midland Reporter-Telegram

FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1979

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter must soon decide whether to continue domestic crude oil price controls or to remove them and take the inflationary consequences.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America, rebuffed in an effort to meet with Carter, sent the president a letter urging removal of oil price controls and made it public in a news conference Thursday.

Carter aide Stuart Eizenstat, in an interview Wednesday, said Carter was considering the issue and would announce his decision "in the near future"

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger has stated that the removal of price controls from crude oil and gasoline would be unlikely as long as the interruption of Iran's oil production continues to create shortages and upward pressure on prices.

Schlesinger repeated that view this week, saying, "I think there may be a gradual movement away from those controls over the years ahead, but I would not expect to have any immediate action under the circumstances we face today in which there is a real shortage of supply.

The price of crude oil produced in the United States is now controlled by law, but continuation of that control is left up to the president's discretion starting June 1.

IEA countries agree to 5 percent reduction

PARIS (AP) — The United States and 19 other leading industrial nations have agreed to reduce oil consumption by 5 percent in order to offset the shortfall of Iranian oil, the International Energy Agency announced today.

The IEA's 20 members agreed unanimously on the need to take "firm, prompt and coordinated action.' Chairman Niels Ersboll of Denmark told a news conference after a twoday meeting.

Ersboll said the oil supply situation was sufficiently serious for prompt action, but that it had not reached the point at which the organization's mandatory emergency sharing plan would have to be implemented.

"It is vital for action to be taken now when there is still time and in order to prevent a deterioration of the situation," Ersboll said.

The IEA has left policy decisions on how to achieve the 5 percent reduction to individual members, he said, adding: "But we expect contributions from individual members to be similar.

In Tokyo, officials said before the action was announced that they believed Japan can meet the target with an energy conservation program it adopted last month. The program calls on government ministries and agencies to lower their room temperatures 2 degrees and to cut the use of cars by 20 percent.

The planned 5 percent reduction, two million barrels of oil per day, compares with an estimated 4 percent shortfall because of the Iranian cutoff, which has been compensated in part by increased production by other Persian Gulf states, and use of stockpiles in consumer nations.

Ersboll said the IEA had also informed the major international oil companies on the need for a fair distribution of available supplies to

price case DRILLING REPORT

BORDEN COUNTY JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - A sequestered jury faced a mountain of documents today as it pondered whether four Texas oilmen and a former Florida Power Corp. execu-King David. tive conspired to hike prices with an illegal daisy chain of sales. The jury of seven women and five men received the case late Thursday afternoon and recessed overnight after only a little more than one hour of deliberations. For two days the jurors had heard attorneys for the government and the defendants argue points in summation and refer to the voluminous documentary evidence entered during the four-weeks trial.

"This is not a blood and guts case." Assistant U.S. Attorney Chris Hoyer told the jury. "It's been dull - a lot of documents - dull to you, dull to me.

But he said "the evidence is all there" that the five men on trial conspired to pass oil shipments through a number of intermediate companies to raise prices and take money for themselves before selling it to oil-starved Florida Power Corp. of St. Petersburg in 1973-74.

Defense attorneys contended the government put the oilmen on trial only because they took advantage of the Arab embargo of the time to make profits in the American free enterprise way.

"Isn't that ironic - talking about the American economy, free market, competition ... When they were fixing prices," Hoyer said. He recalled the words of Angel

Perez, former president of Florida Power, who has pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy and testified for the government.

Perez testified that Houston oil broker Ray Granlund devised a scheme for kiting prices and taking kickbacks along with Perez and Richard Raymond, who was senior vice president of Florida Power of St. Petersburg. Granlund, 72, will go to trial later. He was severed from the other defendants because of ill health. Raymond, 63, is on trial along with Walter L. Ballard, 59; John L. Burns, 50; James R. Clark, 49, and Ronald Pruitt, 36, all of Houston.

They are accused of using a daisy chain of sales through intermediate companies to boost prices on oil shipments before delivery to Florida

Power. Raymond's attorney, Ronald K. Cacciatore, said the government claimed his client got $6,000 to $12,000 and didn't support even this small amount with evidence.

"The government has the audacity to tell you this man is going to sell his soul, everything he has worked for, for a lousy $6,000 or $10,000 or $12,000" Cacciatore said. "Where's the evidence that Ray Granlund went to the bank and go that money out?"

Hoyer countered by saying, "Who said that's all he got?" He said Raymond's bank records, which are in evidence, showed he deposited in excess of what his income was Defense attorney Ellis McCullough said it's unfair to put the defendants on trial for making large profits.

minitration said the Office of Management and together. Budget decided not to seek funds in 1980 because it wanted a complete reassessment of the program.

'We're contemplating a series of public hearings advisory committee to analyze and give direction," said Moeller, chief of the agency's junkyard and outdoor advertising branch. "The committee would include industry representatives, environmentalists, highway users, consumers and others."

HE SAID THE LACK of 1980 budget money doesn't mean the project will come to an immediate halt.

"We have about $65 million in the pipeline in some form or another, mostly funds that have been allocated to states for the removal of outdoor advertising signs and the screening of junkyards," he said. "Some states could operate for five years with money already alloted to them; others don't have much Moeller said that in 1978 states asked for $52 million for highway beautification, "but I had only $9.5 million to give out.

The concept started in 1958 as a voluntary program, with states receiving an incentive of one-half of one percent of their federal highway funds if they controlled advertising signs within 660 feet of interstate highways.

But only about half the states participated, and in 1965, prodded by Johnson and his wife and over the objection of the outdoor ad industry, Congress passed the Highway Beautification Act.

THE ACT EXTENDED billboard control to other primary federal highways and to junkyards and offered incentives for landscaping around highways. States not complying could lose 10 percent of federal highway money.

Signs along the designated highways were allowed only in areas zoned commercial or industrial and junkyards only in industrial areas.

The act also said "just compensation" must be paid to those whose signs were removed and those who screened junkyards. However, many local governments claimed authority in this area and did not offer compensation. A 1976 amendment to the act required local governments to make such payments which are provided by the federal government.

How is compensation determined?

"It's the same as evaluating real estate," Moeller said. "We appraise the structure, the site, the number of cars which pass by and the fair market value.

HE SAID PAYMENT could range from $50 for a small sign to several thousand for an elaborate electronic billboard, with the nationwide average about $2,000 for each.

So far only four states have had federal highway money withheld because of non-compliance, and three, New York, Alabama and Oklahoma, had the funds restored when they quickly came into compliance.

Malamud says he teaches "anyone from freshmen to seniors, all comers, all they have to do is register for the course" at Vermont's Bennington College.

Sometimes he teaches writing, other times it's literature, and the latter, he emphasizes, is most important because "I feel the necessity of letting young men and women who want to write know that they must read. You can't make a good writer out of someone who isn't a good reader:"

Seven die in crash of small airplane

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) - The pilot of a small commercial airplane radioed he was having trouble shortly before the craft plunged into a marsh near this Gulf coastal town, killing seven of the eight persons on board, authorities said.

The twin-engine Queenair Beechcraft was returning to the Gulfport Biloxi Regional Airport for an emergency landing Thursday when it nosed down into the marsh, said Gerrie Cook of the Federal Aviation Administration office in Atlanta.

The Universal Airways craft crashed off the end of the runway after starting on a flight to New Orleans, said Ms. Cook

"I just stood there in shock as it went down," said Lowell Wade, a pilot from Meridian who saw the crash.

Ms. Cook said, "Ap-proximately one minute after the plane departed and reached about 200 feet, the pilot advised the control tower he was having some kind of trouble and would have to come back in.

"The tower cleared him to return and land on runway 13:"

The pilot began banking to the right "but went into a marshy area about 1,500 yards off the departure end of runway 17,' she said. "The weather was no factor and we don't know the nature of the pilot's problem." Wade said, "Basically it was climbing out from the runway pulling the nose up and it banked to the right and went down. "I'd say it was about 200 feet up at the time."

A spokesman at Memorial Hospital in Gulfport said Oscar Rittenhouse of Milford, N.J., was listed in critical condition late Thursday with possible internal injuries and injuries to his arms and legs.

Rittenhouse is prosecuting attorney in Hunt-erdon County, N.J.

Five died in the crash, while two others died in the hospital emergency room, authorities said.

Raiders upset Aggies; Cougs nip Bears

·HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Tech's Geoff Huston didn't get any respect and Houston's Kenny Williams got plenty of it Thursday night but neither treatment stopped the outside jump_ shots of the deadly twosome in the Southwest Conference basketball tournament

Huston, left to roam freely while the Texas Aggies blanketed Tech sharpshooter Kent Williams, pumped in 24 points, including four in the final minute of an overtime, to lead the underdog Red Raiders to a 63-62 upset of the Aggies.

Williams, guarded like a blanket by the upset minded Baylor Bears, ignored the pressure and scored 24 points as the defending tournament champion Cougars nipped the Bears 83*82 in the second thriller of the night before a capacity Summit crowd of 15,449.

"In the second half I started looking more for the basket," said Huston, held to six first half points. "They were guarding Kent so much they seemed to disrespect me. I knew I had to score for us to win."

HOUSTON'S WILLIAMS, the SWC's No. 4 scorer with a 19.1 average, also had a poor first half with only six points but kept the Cougars in the game in the second half when he hit eight of 11 Houston baskets at one stretch

"I didn't do anything in the first half so I knew I had to come through in the second half," said Williams, 'Then I missed my first three shots in the second half and (Abe) Davis told me I had to make the next seven.'

Huston's second half shooting wizardry propelled the Red Raiders into tonight's semi-final game against SWC co-champion Arkansas, which defeated Tech twice in regular season games

The Cougars, defending champions in the tournament but heavy underdogs this year, advanced to the semifinals against co-champ Texas, an upset victim of the Cougars in last year's tournament finals

Tech, now 19-9 for the season and a fourth place finisher in the SWC, led only once in regulation play and tied the game for only the second time at 56-56 with 30 seconds to play on Huston's layup to force the overtime.

HUSTON HIT a jumper with :35 to go in the overtime and pumped in two free throws with : 12 to go to complete. the Red Raider comeback. Ralph Brewster scored 11 points and Kent Williams added 10 for the Raiders.

Vernon Smith was the only Aggie in double figures with 16 points. Baylor was threatening another upset in the second game until Williams started his phenomenal shooting display.

Williams came alive with 12:05 to play when he hit a side jumper with the Cougars trailing 60-56. He finished at 3:44 with a baseline jumper to put Houston ahead for good at 77-76.

Leonard Mitchell scored 13 points and was a big factor in the victory with 13 rebounds. Freshman Terry Teagle led the Bears with 23 points while Vinnie Johnson, the league's leading scorer, hit 16 and Pat Nunley added 15.

While giving Huston his due credit, Kent Williams said Tech Coach Gerald Myers' quick thinking was responsible for the victory.

"When they went into that four corners with five or six minutes to go, Coach Myers put us in a half-court trap," Williams said. "That caused a few turnovers. Basketball is a game of momentum and that's when we got

A&M COACH Shelby Metcalf, looking back on a 52-47 lead with 5:49 to play, said he'd go to the four corners again if he had the chance.

"We had the ball game won," Metcalf said. "If the game had ended 16 seconds earlier we'd be in the dressing room laughing and telling jokes."

The Cougars, playing their best basketball of the season, apparently realized it was time for a command performance after losing to the Bears twice during the regular season.

"At Waco, Vinnie penetrated to the baseline and took his shots," said guard Ken Ciolli. "Tonight as soon as they turned around they had a man in their face. So I think defense was the difference tonight.

Asked about Houston's inspired play in the past few games, Ciolli said "We hadn't played well all year but I guess some of the guys saw the light at the end of the tunnel--the end of the season and for some of us, there is no next year.'

Myers says he expects another close game against the Razorbacks. 21-4 going into the tournament.

'Our problem will be to contain (Sidney) Moncrief and (Steve) Schall," Myers said. "But I feel we'll be able to compete with them." Lewis said Houston's chances against Texas will depend on how the Cougars handle Longhorn guard John Moore.

"I know what will work on Texas," Lewis said. "Get Moore out of the game and on the bench listening to Abe's (Lemons) jokes. They are a different team when he's in there."

Lee fems face Plainview today

By BOB DILLON Sports Writer

ABILENE - Coach Shirley Stephenson's Midland Lee girls are just two steps away from the Class AAAA state basketball tournament.

Standing in the way are the Plainview Bulldogs, who sport an impressive 28-2 record and along with the Rebels, join El Paso Burges and Richland in the Regional Tournament in the J.W.-Hunt Center on the McMurry College campus.

Lee and Plainview open the tourney at 6 p.m. today followed by the Richland-Burges contest at 8 p.m. The two winners will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday for the regional championship and a berth in the state tournament in Austin next weekend.

Burges' Mustangs bring a sparkling 32-2 record into the tournament while Richland's Rebels stand 28-8 on the year and is the only team of the four that drew a bye and didn't have to play a bi-district game.

Plainview took an easy 62-36 bi-district win over Amarillo High while Lee raced to a 50-38 triumph over R.L. Turner of Carrollton in its bi-district contest.

Plainview has been awfully tough this season, losing its opener to Class AAA Dumas, which is also in the playoffs. Then Coach Melynn Hunt's outfit unreeled 25 straight victories before losing to Lubbock Monterey, 45-37, in overtime.

Hunt is in her first season at Plainview after coming to the South Plains school from Lubbock Cooper.

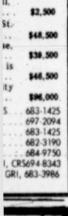

The Bulldogs' attack is led by sophomore sensation Gay Hemphill, a talented 5-foot-11 inch sharp-shooter who is averaging 22.3 points per game. Joining Hemphill in the starting lineup tonight for Plainview will be Kim Laird, 5-7 senior; Cynthia Riggins, a 5-9 junior; Della Riggins, a 5-5 junior and Ramona Hemphill, a 5-5 junior.

Stephenson will start her usual five which includes Deborah Kittle, 5-8 senior; Deborah Ledbetter, 5-8 senior; Dee Dee Poole, 5-6 senior; Leisha Watkins, 5-9 junior and Gale Wilson, a 5-9 sophomore. Patty Adams also sees lots of duty for the Rebels.

The game will be broadcast by Radio Station K-BAT FM-93 with Rick Casey mikeside at 5:45 p.m. today and if the Rebels gain the finals, will do the play-by-play at 1:45 p.m. Saturday.

"I've never seen anything like this before," said Curtis Charles, looking around the San Francisco Giants' spring training clubhouse as he took off his uniform.

No one else in the Giants' camp has ever seen anything like Charles' last stop in baseball. His team last year played only home games - at San Quentin.

We were in a Sacramento semipro league. I hit .654, but this is an awfully big transition. I never saw pitching like this, and the guys here aren't even throwing hard yet," Charles said after practice Thursday.

The 24-year-old second baseman, freed from a prison in January after serving 3½ years for manslaughter, chuckled over complaints about the spring training camp infields.

'There are a few rocks. At the 'Q' we had rocks, glass, knives and razor blades on the field. And I'm not kidding. One day last year, I tried to smooth the dirt with my foot and kicked a knife someone had stashed," he said

Grammer scored 24 points but trailed 6-7 teammate Lionniel Bluntson, who poured in 12 of 14 field goals and 6 of 7 free throws for 30 points.

Nix scored 20 for Whitehouse. Carlile fouled out with only eight points, 10 below his average, and one college scout said it was his worst game of the season.

SEMINOLE CAPTURED the other 2A semifinal game by sinking nine of 10 free throws in the final one minute 16 seconds to beat Boling, 49-42. Surprisingly, Seminole hit only 13 of 25 free throws for the game.

Mike Grass scored 12 for Seminole, including four straight free throws within 30 seconds, and Albert Villalva also had 12. James Greenwood was high for the game with 18 for Boling. In Class B, Krum extended its record to 44-0 with a 68-56 victory over

Snook's full-court defense forced Whitharral to make 28 errors, with Snook turning those mistakes into 21 points. Mike Junek, a burly junior who made all-tournament as a sophomore, scored 19 points for Snook and James Washington added 17. The two combined for 18 of Snook's

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) -Bjorn Borg, angered over disclosure of a death threat in the Swedish news media, says he won't play tennis in his home country any more this year.

Borg, scheduled to meet John McEnroe next Saturday in Goteborg, said he had decided to cancel the match or play it elsewhere in Europe. He also announced he would not represent Sweden in Davis Cup competition or play any other tournament in Sweden this year.

Borg, who has had numerous conflicts with the Swedish press, was upset after it was reported that several groups had received a letter, claiming to be sent by the Italian terrorist gang the Red Brigades, saying it had "sentenced him (Borg) to death.

Attached to the letter was a picture of Borg posing in an Israeli Army uniform, taken during his visit to Israel last fall and published in many newspapers here.

Among those receiving the letter were TT, the Swedish news agency; the Royal Tennis Club and Stockholm police.

"We don't know if the letter is a hoax or a serious threat, but we will investigate the matter," said police inspector Inge Reneborg. "Normally we regard all such threats as serious.

After disclosure of the threat, a police guard was assigned to Borg.

CLEARWATER, Fla. AP) - The Philadelphia Phillies aren't through wheeling and dealing for more baseball talent

After acquiring All-Star second baseman Manny Trillo in an eightmoney. player deal, the Phillies will return to the marketplace in about 10 Ozark is taking a long days, according to Paul Owens, the team's direcbattling for a pair of retor of player personnel. Owens won't admit it, but the Phillies are still looking for an established pitcher.

Right-hander Larry Christenson is recuperating from a broken right collar bone suffered in a fall from a bicycle. Christenson won't be ready at least until May. So where does Owens turn in his quest for a pitcher to go with starters Steve Carlton, Dick Ruthven and Randy Lerch?

The New York Mets, who have said they may unload a pitcher for a hitter in about 10 days, are a distinct possibili-

The Mets, it was learned, would trade righthander Pat Zachry, 10-6, to the Phillies for either first baseman Richie Hebner or outfielder Bake McBride.

Zachry posted his 1978 record in little more than half a season. On July 24, he fractured his left foot by kicking the dugout step in disgust upon being removed from a game. That finished him for the season.

Zachry, who came to the Mets from Cincinnati in the Tom Seaver deal, had a 3.33 ERA.

Owens admits his scouts liked the 26-yearold Zachry. He'd give the Philadelphia staff balance - two righthanders, Zachry and Ruthven, and two lefthanders, Carlton and Lerch.

Kentucky, Duke survive scares

By The Associated Press

Kentucky and Duke, who fought it out for college basketball's national championship a year ago, had their hands full turning back challengers in their own conference tournaments.

Kentucky, which beat Duke 94-88 for the NCAA title a year ago, hit 68.3 percent of its shots from the field but needed a free throw by freshman Dwight Anderson with eight seconds remaining to edge Alabama 101-100 Thursday night in the second round of the Southeastern Conference tour-

Meanwhile, top-ranked Indiana State raised its record to 28-0 by beating Southern Illinois 79-72 in the semifinals of the Missouri Valley Conference tourney. All-American Larry Bird led the Sycamores with 25 points.

In non-tournament games involving ranked teams, No. 3 UCLA defeated California 77-68, No. 4 Michigan State whipped Minnesota 76-63, No. 10 Marquette overpowered Air Force 61-43, No. 11 Iowa was upset by Michigan 61-53, No. 17 Qhio State bowed to Wisconsin 76-73 and No. 19 Purdue beat Indiana 55-48

TRUMAN CLYTOR, making his first-start in seven games, hit nine shots in a row in the second half to help Kentucky beat Alabama and move into a semifinal matchup against eighth-ranked Louisiana State, the Southeastern Conference's regular season champion.

'I just had the feeling he was going to have a good game," said Kentucky Coach Joe B. Hall. "I needed to give him a shot of adrenalin so I gave him the start. He didn't know until about three minutes before the game."

In another first-round Southeastern Conference game, Auburn got lastminute layups from Bobby Cattage and Eric Stringer to outlast Georgia 95-91 in four overtimes.

Duke blew a 14-point halftime lead but recovered to win on the foul shots by Spanarkel, who led all scorers with 20 points.

Johnson had 21 as Michigan State beat Minnesota af Minneapolis.

The Spartans can do no worse than tie for the league championship and will go to the NCAAs in any case because they have defeated Iowa and Ohio State twice this season.

Michigan, led by Mike McGee's 21 points, bolted to a 20-4 lead and never trailed in beating Iowa at Iowa City. McGee had a basket and two free throws in the final 30 seconds to clinch the victory.

CLAUDE GREGORY scored 23 points and Wes Matthews added 21 to lead Wisconsin over Ohio State.

Joe Barry Carroll scored 21 points and grabbed 12 rebounds and Brian Walker sank three clutch free throws to enable Purdue to remain one game behind Michigan State. Iowa and Ohio State also are one game back.

Allison dismisses renewed warfare

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) -"This oughta sell some tickets," commented Bobby Allison after he and his brother Donnie beat out Cale Yarborough for the front row starting. positions for Sunday's $155,000 Carolina 500 Grand National stock car race.

"Well, it is kinda interesting, ironic anyway," Allison said, referring to the much-publicized battle the trio had two weeks ago in the Daytona 500, which netted them all disciplinary action

But the 41-year-old Allison dismissed the possibility of renewed warfare.

"It should be forgotten," he said of the postrace fight at Daytona between himself and Yarborough, and the last lap crash of his brother and Yarborough while dueling for the lead. "It is as far as I'm concerned. It should be for all of us. We need to leave Daytona at Daytona.

"If we didn't it would be a sorry state of affairs. Eventually that kind of happening would have a very deadening effect on the enthusiasm and excitement in the sport."

All three were fined $6,000 for fighting - $5,000 of which will be returned over the next five races, assuming there is no more trouble. Donnie Allison was placed on six month's probation for allegedly running Yarborough off the track. The Allisons have appealed.

Bobby Allison, who noted his fine was deducted from his Daytona winnings, said, "I've run side by side with another car for a full lap at Darlington and never had a problem. When you can ride side by side and make it there, you oughta be able to run side by side and stay out of trouble any place on the circuit."

Based on the closeness of Thursday's qualifying at North Carolina Motor Speedway - the day's 15 qualifiers were separated by less than half a second - Allison predicted plenty of close competition Sunday.

"Cale ran away from everybody in this race last fall, but we feel we've caught up with him a little. And the rest of competition is much tougher too - much tougher," Allison said, shaking his head.

"It should be a close race."

Allison commented that, to his best recollection, this is the first time since 1971 that he and his brother have qualified 1-2 in a Grand National stock car race.

Their speeds were only .033 of a second apart; Bobby at 136.780 mph and Donnie at 136.612 mph. Yarborough was another .038 of a second slower at 136.418 mph

The speeds overall Thursday were more than one second off Yarborough's track record of 142.067 mph. All the drivers blamed a coat of asphalt sealant applied last fall for making the track much slicker.

Later qualifiers blamed their relatively poor showings on light rain that was reported in the last 15 minutes or so of the session.

Dave Watson, who earned 15th starting position, spun into the second turn guardrail and caused minor damage on the second lap of his qualifying run in the day's only mishap.

"We didn't show much at the end. said Duke Coach Bill Foster. "We didn't show the poise we have. Thank goodness for Jimmy Spanarkel at the end."

In other ACC first-round action, Kendal Pinder's 20 points helped North Carolina State hold off Virginia 82-78 and Albert King's 20 points led Maryland past Clemson, 75-67.

INDIANA STATE trailed 32-23 in the first half but closed the gap to two by halftime, then took control in the final 20 minutes.

"They just took us out of our offense in the second half," said Illinois State Joe Gottfried. "And everything has got to be perfect to beat Indiana State.

Next in line for the unbeaten Sycamores is New Mexico State, which beat Wichita State 85-81 in the other Missouri Valley Conference semifinal behind 26 points and 19 rebounds by Robert Gunn.

Michigan State now has sole possession of the Big Ten lead following losses by Iowa and Ohio State.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Southern Methodist University, continuing its 22-year dominance of Southwest Conference swimming, jumped to a 268-218 point advantage Thursday night over second-place Texas in the conference swimming and diving championships

Although Texas won three of five events, SMU's overall depth kept the Mustangs in first place.

Kelly Rives of Texas set a SWC record in the 200-yard medley relay with a 1: 50.23, breaking the old mark

UCLA recorded the 1,000th victory in the school's history, beating California for the 40th consecutive time. Brad Holland led the Bruins with 25 points and David Greenwood had 22. Sam Worthen scored 18 points and Bernard Toone 17 while Marquette limited Air Force to just seven points in the first 14 minutes of the second half in beating the Cadets.

Rutgers outscored West Virginia 21-6 from the foul line and beat the Mountaineers 55-52, while Sammie Ellis scored 24 points to help Pitt knock off top-seeded Villanova 77-64 in the Eastern Eight semifinals.

In first-round games of the Metro Conference tourney, junior forward Murray Brown scored a tournamentrecord 34 points to lead Florida State to a 101-92 victory over Tulane; Les Hanson tallied 23 points to help Virginia Tech beat Cincinnati 80-74, and Rodney Lee had 17 points and 15 rebounds to lead Memphis State over St. Louis 62-58.

The conference meet continues Friday and Saturday at the Texas Swimming Center in Austin.

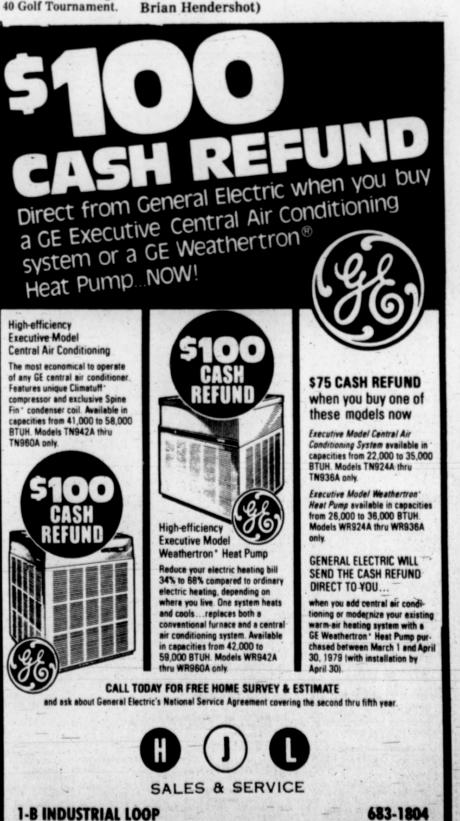

San Francisco Giants covet Mets catcher John Stearns. The Phillies would trade Hebner or McBride for Stearns and then send Stearns to the Giants for pttcher Ed Halicki, who had a 9-10 record and a 2.85 ERA last year.

Administration backs up girls WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter Administration has singled out athletics in its proposed regulations to require equal opportunity for women in colleges and universities, the National Collegiate Athletic Association says

The NCAA said Thursday it could cost its member schools more than $250 million a year to comply with the proposed federal regulations, expected to go into effect in the fall.

On the other hand, the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women, the NCAA's female counterpart, said clarifications should be made in the proposed regulations "to avoid destructive confusion, delay and conflicting interpretations."

For example, the AIAW said the draft policies provide "no time frame for accommodating developing athletic interests and abilities.

"The most obvious danger of this omission is that institutions could, consistent with the policy, expand opportunities for women at a snail's (pace)

The NCAA, with its 726 member schools, and the AIAW - which has a membership of 906 - made their statements in response to proposed regulations by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for compliance with federal law banning sex discrimination in the nation's schools.

Although Title IX, a part of the Education Act of 1972, covers all aspects of education, intercollegiate sports has received the most publicity because the NCAA has sought-unsuccessfully to have revenue-producing sports such as football and basketball exempted.

HEW's Office of Civil Rights published its proposed guidelines for compliance last Dec. 11 and has set a deadline of today for comments from interested parties.

In its 49-page document plus exhibits, the NCAA said, among other things, "For reasons that are not adequately explained, athletics and particularly intercollegiate athletics - have been singled out for enforcement priority.'

For example, the NCAA said, colleges and universities are not required to equalize participation in academic programs, such as engineering and nursing, and extracurricular activities other than sports, such as dance and marching bands, "in which there have been substantial differences historically in male-female participation rates.

"It is no more reasonable or equitable to apply such requirements to athletics," said the NCAA.

Using what he said is detailed budgetary data from 12 schools, NCAA President William J. Flynn said

Lemons resolution defeated

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Even the sponsor didn't like the resolution offered in the state House of Representatives.

On Thursday, the lawmakers unanimously, but good-naturedly, defeated a resolution commending University of Texas basketball Coach Abe Lemons for his demonstration of good wll toward the state of Arkansas.

The resolution was sponsored by state Rep. Jim Montgomery of Mountain Pine, but when he spoke for the projections indicate the total cost of compliance with "an unqualified equal per capita expenditure standard for the 726 NCAA member institutions alone would approximate $60 million per year at current levels of participation, and more than a quarter-billion dollars per year at equalized male-female participation levels.

The proposed regulations, said the NCAA, "are inequitable, unworkable, costly and, in important respects, unlawful.'

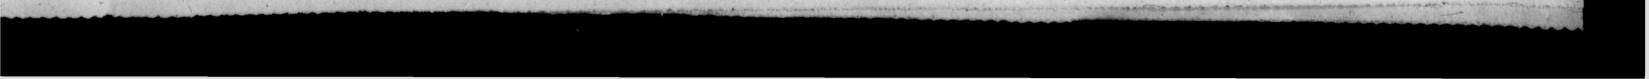

resolution, he urged colleagues to give the measure a "bad vote. It seems that Lemons and Arkansas

Coach Eddie Sutton were involved in a fracas earlier this season in a basketball game between the Razorbacks and Longhorns at Austin. And, on several occaisions, Lemons has criticized Fayetteville, Ark. - home of the university - for its airport and often harsh winter weather. The House obliged Montgomery and cast 93 votes against the measure.

And you'll never guess why.

No one was exactly sure where he was when he picked up the telephone and embarrassed the Pirates, who had planned to turn the arrival of baseball's richest player ($900,000 a year) into an event comparable to the debut of Pete Rose ($800,000 a year) for the Philadelphia Phillies the day before.

Amos Otis, a high-priced outfielder with Kansas City, was supposed to be in Fort Myers, Fla., with the rest of the Royals. Instead, the team said he was in a car somewhere, en route from his home in Virginia.

Velez, who makes considerably less than Parker or Otis to patrol the outfield for Toronto, had a more novel excuse. He wasn't in Dunedin, Fla., working out with the Blue Jays, he said, because he was home in Ponce, Puerto Rico - working on his income

In Mesa, Ariz., Ted Sizemore of the Chicago Cubs offered his opinion that his his new teammates won't miss Manny Trillo, the pivotal player in the Cubs' trade with the Phillies. "I'll do better than Trillo," said

Sizemore, who hit .219 last year while Trillo was batting .261. He also said the deal was a steal for the Cubs because they got two starters catcher Barry Foote and outfielder Jerry Martin — in exchange for Trillo, the only projected starter to go from Chicago to Philadelphia.

In today's other quarter-finals, No. 3 Vitas Gerulaitis was to play unseeded Victor Amaya. Gerulaitis downed illtempered Peter Fleming, his doubles partner here, 7-5, 6-4. Amaya, the 6-foot-7 giant who has developed a reputation as a giant killer, came from 3-5 down in the second set

Austin, Navratilova set for net collision course

DALLAS (AP) - Wispy 16-year-old Tracy Austin has her reasons for wanting to be the No. 1 woman tennis player around.

Miss Austin, who will be in the quarterfinals round of eight today in the $200,000 tennis tournament being played here this week, doesn't relish being in a "heavy" and target of the crow's displeasure.

"Everyone used to be for me," said the pony-tailed blonde, "when I started out. Now that I've played awhile I'm not always the crowd favorite. It takes time to adjust to not being everyone's darling." Miss Austin, who lost in the finals here in the Virginia Slims last year to Evonne Goolagong, is in the same bracket as top-seeded Martina Navratilova and they could meet Saturday with the winner getting a shot at the $35,000 first prize. "Guess you have to meet Martina somewhere down the line in any tournament we play," Miss Austin said.

Miss Austin gained her quarters berth by defeating stocky Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia 6-2, 6-1 Thursday night. "I played really well and we had some great battles before it was over."

Miss Austin is matched against Renata Tomanova of Prague Friday.
