NEWS IN BRIEF

Oil cargo spilled

HERAKLION, Crete (AP) — Prevailing winds blew oil from a grounded Greek-owned tanker onto pristine beaches of Crete on Friday, a spokesman for Greece's merchant marine said.

Spokesman Sotiris Voyatzis said he did not know how much of the cargo had been spilled from the 155,000-ton tanker Mesimaki Frontis, but added "efforts are now concentrated on pumping what is left into other tankers."

The ship was carrying 95,000 tons of crude oil from Libya to Romania.

Bartlett dies

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, a one-term Republican who retired from the Senate in January, is dead at 59 of lung cancer.

Bartlett, a former governor of Oklahoma who prided himself on being a tough political fighter, died in his sleep late Thursday night at his Tulsa home.

Gov. George Nigh said Bartlett's body would lie in state at the Oklahoma Capitol Sunday, and a memorial service would be conducted Sunday afternoon. The funeral will be Tuesday in Tulsa.

Strain still rare

ATLANTA (AP) — A new strain of penicillin-resistant gonorrhea remains relatively rare in the United States, but medical researchers warned on Friday that it could become the prevalent strain.

The researchers said they based their warning on the sharp increase of the venereal disease in nations where medical treatment is comparable to that in America.

Estate evaluated

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — The late Bing Crosby's estate is worth at least $6 million, and possibly much more, according to inheritance tax documents.

The documents filed Thursday show bank accounts, securities, stock investments and other assets worth more than $4.5 million. Previously filed papers show a $1 million ranch owned by Crosby in Shasta County.

Primary debated

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Democratic leaders meet Saturday to thrash out the question of a presidential primary in 1980.

Some want a presidential preference vote before the primary elections, which have been held in May and June. Some want the presidential vote at the same time they vote on state and local candidates. Some don't want the presidential primary at all.

State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberger said the 62-member committee, which represents each senatorial district of the state, would hear recommendations from the SDEC legislative subcommittee.

Abuse charged

HOUSTON (AP) — A former superintendent of home operated by the Harris County juvenile probation department was indicted Friday on 18 charges of sexual abuse and indecency involving six teen-age boys.

Unusually strong winds, hail damage reported

Extraordinarily strong March winds blew over a Midland house under construction and caused a flurry of reported tornado sightings, according to local authorities by citizens Friday afternoon.

Officials of the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport said late Friday there were no confirmed tornado sightings.

But unofficial sightings were reported in north Midland, northwest Odessa, and near the University Community School, 10 miles east of Midland.

In Ector County, high winds ripped the metal roof off a mobile home located on Bell Street at 2:28 p.m. Friday, about a half-mile south of town, said authorities.

The mobile homeowners' names were not reported, said Odessa police and Ector County Sheriff's deputies.

A "funnel cloud" was reported to have been sighted 15 miles southwest of Big Lake Friday afternoon, according to at least one source there.

Officials said peak gusts in the Midland area were recorded at 62 mph at 2:38 p.m. Friday.

Midland City Fire Department officials said they saw two tornados near Greenwood.

Midland City Sanitation Department officials said Friday they received reports of scattered damage from all over the Tall City. Reports ranged from those of hail and water destruction to torn down traffic signs and uprooted trees. The hail, said city officials, was marble sized.

In Monahans, west of Odessa, where a 1977 tornado substantially damaged a hospital, homes and businesses, only light rain fell Friday.

In Crane, a sprinkling of rain was reported, and Iran also experienced showers.

High winds hit Rankin, according to residents there.

Partly cloudy and cooler weather for today and Sunday is predicted by weather officials.

Tonight also will be cooler.

The high today and Sunday should be near 60 degrees. The low tonight is expected to be in the mid 30s.

The high Friday was 72 degrees. The overnight low was 32 degrees.

The record high for Friday is 81 degrees set in 1965. The record low for a March 3 in Midland is 15 degrees set in 1971.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thomason, contractors for the 62 home Lafayette Place subdivision on North A Street near Wadley Avenue, sit Friday afternoon on the contorted framework of what was to be their new two-story home. According to the Thomasons and several other persons on the scene at the time, a "funnel cloud" approached from the southwest about 1:30 p.m. Friday, touched down and lifted the bolted down structure from its foundation. No injuries were reported. (Staff Photo by Brian Hendershot)

Midland judges discuss 'qualification bill'

By LINDA HILL
Staff Writer

The general election ballot in Texas is so long it may look like a racing form, and even a Midland voter who thinks he's well informed may look with puzzlement at heretofore unfamiliar names.

Those names likely belong to candidates for judicial office, who, even when running in opposed races, generally spend little money campaigning and garner only minimal public interest.

In the Texas court system, every judge is elected by the citizenry. But how does a voter judge the people who want to render justice in the state?

Judges and political party officials in Midland are divided on their assessment of what ought to be done to yield a fair and qualified judiciary.

The Texas Judicial Council has endorsed a constitutional amendment which it believes would insure candidates "are at least minimally qualified" to sit on the state's appellate courts.

UNDER THE PROPOSED amendment, a candidate for such a post would have to either have had experience as a trial judge in Texas or get endorsements from members in good standing of the State Bar of Texas.

For the two highest courts, the Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals, the requirement would be four years trial judge experience or 100 signatures. Only half that experience or number of signatures would be required for courts of civil appeals.

Midland's district judges generally view the proposal favorably, although none expressed strong feelings on the subject. None believes trial court experience is a prerequisite for serving on an appeals court.

"The concept is a sound one," said 318th District Court Judge Barbara number of signatures required in the proposed amendment is "a little onerous."

PICKETT SAID IT SEEMS "a little asinine" for a scholarly attorney to have to get that many signatures, but "I wouldn't oppose the bill on that basis."

Vann Culp, judge of the 238th District Court, agreed that "some sort of screening method would be helpful."

Midland County Republican Chairman Bill Shaner said he thinks the proposal is "a step in the right direction. It's just not what I want."

Shaner called for taking all judgeships "especially at the district level up," out of politics.

"I think it's kind of stupid," said Shaner, and "awfully partisan" for district judges to run for office against opposition. He admitted Republicans seldom run for judgeships, but said "we have a lot of closet Republicans as lawyers."

The Republican chairman said he favors the so-called Missouri system, in which judges are appointed and then placed on the ballot, without opposition, for acceptance or rejection from voters.

BUT DEMOCRATIC COUNTY Chairman Darrell Smith said calling an election non-partisan doesn't make it so. The Texas Constitution is not set up for implementing a Missouri plan, he said.

Instead, Smith advocated a new constitution to be written by a convention of people elected for that purpose, rather than the Legislature in

Mideast burdened by U.S. policies, Saudi leader says

HOUSTON (AP) — The minister of state of Saudi Arabia said Friday the United States apparently "has no Middle East policy and has surrendered its role as a world leader for that of a spectator."

Dr. Fayed I. Badr, in an exclusive interview, said the present U.S. position "puts a lot of burden on the nations of the Middle East" to defend themselves, "using money for arms that could go for schools, hospitals, highways and other projects to help the people."

Badr said Saudi Arabia wants no military assistance from the United States, "because we believe protection comes from within, not with outside" and that is why his nation recently rejected a proposal for establishment of a U.S. base in his country.

During the luncheon interview, Badr said détente with the Soviet Union "is an intellectual trap, proved to be a myth and is only a dream." Badr, who also serves as chairman of the Saudi Ports Authority, said the Soviets "value power, and if they do not see power, they will take action against the United States and other nations as well."

The minister said he hoped Saudi Arabia would not become involved in the clash between South Yemen and North Yemen, "because it would be a disaster for the whole world. Saudi Arabia is too important to the whole world."

The Saudis have canceled all military leaves and ordered troops to report to their bases following the latest border war between North and South Yemen.

The United States and Saudi Arabia have close ties, Badr said, "because of our mutual values of freedom of the rights of individuals, of the private sector, not just because of commercial ties (oil purchases)."

Asked why Crown Prince Fahd had postponed a scheduled March visit to Washington, Badr said:

"The timing is very crucial and events in the area were not good timing. Also, I understand there were certain prerequisites for such a visit and these have not been met."

Badr said he did not know for certain what prerequisites were involved.

Badr also said neither the United States, nor the rest of the world, could count on Saudi Arabia to fill the void of oil left by Iran's cutback in production.

Badr said, "We have not stood idle while the oil shortages grow. We have aided the international community, but we cannot physically increase production without additional time. The world cannot expect of the help to come from the Saudis."

Badr was in Houston to accept an award as the international executive of the year, presented by B&E International, a newspaper published in Houston for worldwide distribution to executives.

The minister, who has a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Southern California, said Saudi Arabia will increase the price of oil only "to wake up the international community to the fact that source of energy may not be always available, never to increase our income. We have always been moderate on prices."

"And we believe the world should not waste this natural resource. We believe it should be used where most needed."

Outlook still 'bleak' in stalled peace talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, working with maps and documents, tried Friday to find a way out of the stalemate in Mideast peace talks, but there was no sign of a breakthrough.

U.S. officials, appearing glum, announced cancellation of an afternoon session. Carter and Begin planned to meet again tonight — after assessing the evidently bleak outlook.

"The situation is serious, even if you have good talks," said a source close to the negotiations. "Things are difficult, but while they are talking things can change." He declined to be identified.

In their 2 1/2 hour White House meeting, Begin spent more than an hour outlining Israel's position on key obstacles to a treaty with Egypt.

It was understood there was no softening of Begin's stance. There was speculation that the Israeli leader's position may have hardened.

Begin made no comment on the talks. He told reporters at the State Department after a luncheon with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance: "We're not making any political statements."

A White House statement, meanwhile, described Carter's meeting with Begin as "serious, wide ranging and useful" and said the talks were "conducted in an atmosphere of friendship and candor."

The statement said the two sides would confer separately during the afternoon and that Carter and Begin would not negotiate again until the Saturday evening session at the White House. The two leaders planned to dine together at Blair House, the presidential guest quarters across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, for the traditional Friday evening Sabbath dinner.

Carter shook hands with the prime minister as they parted on the sunlit South Lawn, waving goodbye as Begin's black limousine pulled away. They made no statements.

Begin carried an orange-covered folder. Another folder and a roll of maps were tucked under the arm of his military aide.

The Israeli leader had vowed on his arrival Thursday that he could not be pressed into signing "a sham document."

But after a two-hour meeting Thursday night with Carter, Begin told Israeli reporters in Hebrew that "there was not even one difficult moment."

It is understood that if the talks go well, both men would consider asking Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to join them for a new summit at Camp David.

For that to happen, though, either Israel would have to make concessions or Carter would have to back away from a package of U.S. proposals that diplomatic sources say supports key Egyptian demands.

The major unresolved issues include:

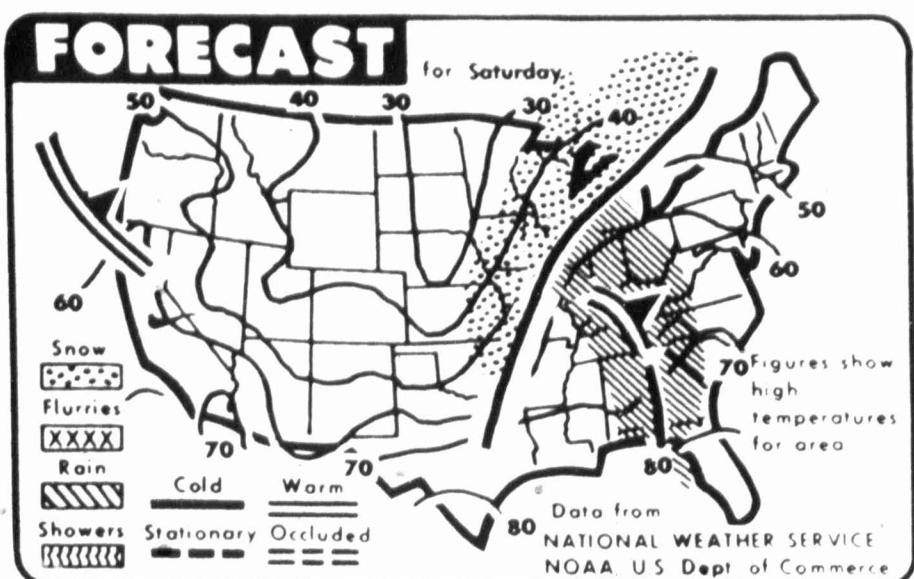

—Whether a timetable for establishing Palestinian autonomy in Israeli held territory be attached to the treaty.

—Whether the treaty should take priority over Egypt's military ties with other Arab countries.

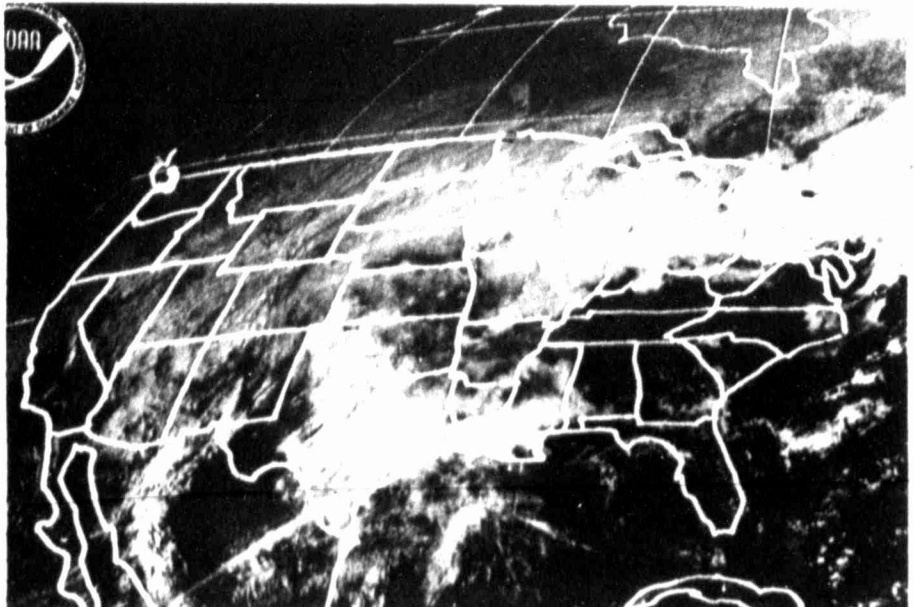

—Sadat's refusal to exchange ambassadors with Israel until all of the Sinai territory held by Israel is relinquished and steps are taken toward Palestinian autonomy.

WEATHER SUMMARY

'Screening measure' gains support of some local judges

"A $4.5 million special session."

"A constitutional revision is in order covering the entire judicial system in the state of Texas, as well as other departments — not simply a patchwork repair of an unsteady frame," Smith said.

"But I do understand the good intentions of this effort (the proposed amendment)," he added.

Looking at the basic question of how judges are chosen, Judge Pickett exclaimed he has "always kind of been in favor of the so-called Missouri plan," for appellate court judges.

At the district court level, Pickett contended, the people know or can know the candidates and ought to elect them.

BUT WHEN IT COMES to an appellate court, where the candidate may be from another part of the state, the voter cannot know how effective or qualified the individual would be, said Pickett.

Judge Culver, however, said she

Nazareth 'assaults' Midland

With a roar of steel strings and a driving beat, Nazareth assaulted the walls of the Chaparral Center at Midland College Friday night. The Scottish hard-rock band drew more than 3,000 persons to the new center and the audience was enthusiastic to say the least.

A review

Well before the band began playing, the center was filled with cheers and applause from the spirited crowd. Lighters were lit as the house lights went down and Nazareth, a five-man group, embarked on an exhibition of its own brand of rock and roll.

The drums of Darrell Sweet and the compelling base of Pete Agnew provided the rock beat, while guitarists Manny Charlton and Zal Cleminson introduced a piercing melody. Dan McCafferty provided the finishing touches with a voice only a diehard rock and roll aficionado could love.

Nazareth played songs from many of the nine albums it has released during the 10 years it has been together. "Telegram," "Razamanz" — from the album of the same name — and "May the Sun Shine In" were among the songs that thundered from the Nazareth's effective sound system.

The crowd that filled the Chaparral Center generally was a young one, averaging from 15 to 20 years in age. There were a few people around that were younger and a few that were conspicuous by virtue of being much older, but most seemed to enjoy the show.

The exception to that seemed to be some of the Midland policemen on duty at the center; more than one of them was seen with cotton in his ears.

Mennonites' hold on Texas land 'dismal,' board member reveals

As of Friday, only two families, represented by Bergen's brother, Ben Bergen Jr., and father, Ben Bergen Sr., were living on the land.

They will be moving off soon, said Peter Bergen, 31, a former Canadian tobacco farmer who moved to the Seminole region of West Texas about a year ago.

"He (Nix) is now demanding full payment," which amounts to more than $1.2 million, Bergen said.

So far, the Mennonites, who immigrated here from Canada and Mexico, have paid Nix $75,000 toward the purchase, Bergen said.

The payment, which amounts to $1,228,982.91, is due by the first of April, Bergen said.

"At that time, we have to make full payment," he said, to reclaim the land, Bergen said the land would be auctioned then. "That's the way they could do it," he said.

line on the $1.2 million to speculate on the returns before investing, he said.

However, Bergen said he hasn't heard from the Midlanders since the initial contact on Feb. 18.

"We have had some (other) offers, but we haven't heard anything since," he said.

Bergen, too, has left the former Mennonite land and is farming on rent land north of Seminole. His wife and family live just southwest of Seminole. They plan to stay the U.S., for Bergen, unlike most of the other Seminole-area Mennonites here, holds a U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service "green card," which signifies that he is a permanent U.S. resident.

Dennis Nix, the Lamesa rancher who two years ago sold the Mennonites 10 sections of ranchland, has posted a notice of foreclosure, Bergen said. The church failed to meet a $125,000 due note last month and apparently is forfeiting its hold on the land.

"I have very little hope," Bergen said.

Once, there were about 125 families living on and developing the land for crops, such as cotton, wheat and other grains, garden vegetables and for grazing land.

However, the two-year drought and the Mennonites' failure to secure underground water rights for most of the land contributed to poor yields and little returns on the investment. They hadn't the money to meet their obligations.

Three days after the Feb. 15 deadline on the $1.2 million to speculate on the returns before investing, he said.

Odessa man remains in jail

ODESSA — A 47-year-old man indicted by the Ector Grand Jury on two counts of credit card abuse was in County Jail here late Friday afternoon after 16th District Court Judge Ray McKim set bond of $30,000 in connection with the case.

Ector County Sheriff's Office deputies arrested Barrett Addington, 47, of Odessa at 11:20 a.m. Friday, said authorities.

The credit card was issued by Midland National Bank, deputies indicated. A total of more than $4,000 allegedly was spent illegally by way of the card, said officials.

Deputies said late Friday afternoon that Addington was taken to Medical Center Hospital here. He was treated for a sprained arm which, officers said, the Odessan told them he received two weeks ago. Deputies also said Addington was fitted with a cast for his arm.

Police, prison, military reserves to join in Uganda-Tanzania war

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Tanzanian invaders, Ugandan guerrillas and mutinous troops were reported striking from the east and south Friday, tightening a ring around Ugandan President Idi Amin as the Tanzania-Uganda war apparently entered a decisive stage.

In Kampala, the Ugandan capital, Amin announced he was throwing emergency reserves of police, prison officials and former servicemen into the fight. Independent observers said the fate of his turbulent eight-year rule could be decided within days.

Witnesses said anti-Amin forces appeared to have won control of the eastern Ugandan town of Tororo in an hours-long battle involving jet fighters and tanks. Control of Tororo, 75 miles east of Kampala, means attackers have cut the road and rail links from Kenya that carry almost all of Uganda's military and civilian supplies.

Uganda touched off the war with Tanzania four months ago by occupying 710 square miles of northwestern

Tanzania. The Tanzanians threw the Ugandans back across the border and continued pushing on into Uganda, reportedly with the help of a guerrilla force of Ugandan exiles.

Amin appealed to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim "to use your good offices to persuade (Tanzania) President Julius Nyerere to change his attitude and accept peace and good understanding" between the two countries.

Why Pennsylvania? They register all goods

Check the fine print on the next box of cookies or bag of potato chips you buy and you'll probably find the words "Registered with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture."

The product may not come from Pennsylvania; it may not even come from the United States. But the words, or an abbreviated version of them, will be there.

"Why Pennsylvania?"

A 1920s law requires anyone who sells a bakery product in Pennsylvania to register with and get a license from the state department of agriculture. And under the law, the term "bakery product" includes not only pies, cakes, cookies, bread, etc., but also such things as pasta, potato chips and pretzels.

The program is run by the state agriculture department's bureau of foods and chemistry. Joseph Brennan, executive director of the bureau, said Pennsylvania is the only state in the nation with such a comprehensive registration law. Neither Brennan nor anyone else knows exactly why. "Basically it's consumer protection," he said.

The program works like this: A manufacturer who wants to sell one or more of his or her products in Pennsylvania applies for a license. When Brennan's office gets the application, it checks with the appropriate agency in the manufacturer's home state — or country, if the request comes from outside the United States — and asks for the most recent inspection report on sanitation, health, etc.

In the letter, dated Wednesday and released at U.N. headquarters in New York on Friday, Amin said the Tanzanians have committed "all sorts of atrocities, killing many innocent people and destroying property."

Nyerere has denied he is trying to bring down the Ugandan leader, but has rejected efforts by the Organization of African Unity to arrange a cease-fire.

In Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, Foreign Minister Benjamin Mkapa said Nyerere would accept an OAU call for a cease-fire only if it condemned Uganda for the initial invasion in October and if Amin renounced all territorial claims against Tanzania and promised compensation for war damages.

The OAU assistant secretary general, Peter Onu, said here Friday that mediators sent to both capitals had "done everything possible to bring about a cease-fire," but had failed. He said Amin accepted the proposals but the mediation team sent to Dar es Salaam was unable to see Nyerere.

Hundreds of Ugandan civilians were fleeing the fighting by crossing into Kenya.

Firemen cancel vote on contract

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Firefighters canceled a vote on whether to accept a new contract or join a two-week-old police strike Friday. Union officials said they feared their meeting would be disrupted by violence.

"The only thing that stopped that meeting, after a lot of hesitation on our part, was the concern of safety of our members and the possibility of a riot in the middle of Tulane Avenue," said Clarence Perez, head of the 965-member New Orleans Fire Fighters Association.

He said the vote would be handled by mail. Voting started Thursday.

Unfortunately for South, East ruffs the third diamond and leads the queen of clubs. Down one.

The thinking declarer takes the ace of spades and ruffs a spade to lead the first trump from dummy. And since East cannot see his partner's hand he plays the jack of hearts.

WEST MUST WIN

Now South should play low, since West must win the trick if he has one or more of the two missing hearts.

West cannot gain by returning a club. If West leads a diamond, South wins safely since this is the first diamond trick. He then draws the last trump and runs the diamonds to discard a club.

East can defeat the contract by playing the king when hearts are first led, but cannot make this play without X-ray eyes.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In 1944 a Clarksville soldier mailed his mother a photograph of his Army buddies. After apparently falling off a postal truck or out of a mailbox and being gnawed by vermin until it was thrown out in the garbage, the package arrived — 34 years later.

But Mae Baggett never received her son's picture because she died before it reached home from Camp Edwards, Mass. The cylindrical package, found by a mailman on a roadside last December, wound up in the hands of Louise Lackey, Kenneth Baggett's sister, before being returned to Baggett himself.

The mystery of the photo's circuitous route didn't end once the package arrived in Clarksville.

Parts of the labels on the tube — frayed by the teeth of rats or mice — were missing and what was legible in fading ink was a puzzle to be untangled.

The address read: "ggett, Cl-----lle, Tenn., Route 31, Care Of Weems."

A mailman figured the correct road was Route 3, not Route 31 or Route 31, and he delivered the package to Mabel Allen, a sister of Cook Weems, in whose house the soldier's mother lived during World War II.

Mrs. Weems then called Mrs. Lackey, and the photo finally got to the sender's sister, who returned it to Baggett in Detroit.

Nixon honored by college

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — The Bates College student newspaper came out Friday with a front-page story and photograph on its first award for "international communications" — to Richard Nixon.

Robert Cohen, editor of The Bates Student, said he traveled from Maine to California this week and presented the award to Nixon at the former president's seaside compound at San Clemente.

Cohen, a 21-year-old senior, said he was granted an hour-long private meeting with Nixon.

Although Cohen said Nixon gave him a yellow legal pad to take notes on and the possibility of an interview had been left "up in the air," he said he decided not to ask the former president about the Watergate scandal that forced him from office in 1974.

Rather, they discussed

"various subjects, ranging from the weather to baseball," said Cohen.

"Our purpose was to honor him, not to interview him," he said. "This was really just a friendly conversation."

Most of the faculty and 1,400 students at the quiet liberal arts college were unaware of the award before it was announced in Friday's paper. The college administration took no part in the award.

Dean James W. Carignan said he first found out that Cohen had made the trip after the bespectacled student editor returned to campus Tuesday, the day after the presentation.

A college spokesman who serves on the newspaper's editorial board said he had asked Cohen whether the award was a campus prank. But Cohen insisted it was genuine, and later produced a snapshot showing him and Nixon.

The newspaper gave awards in four categories — international communications, national politics, journalism and campus activities.

The other awards will be announced later.

When it came time to pick the winner in the international category, Nixon's name "came up immediately."

"I realize that he violated the Constitution, which I suppose is inexcusable, but that one fact does not negate his other accomplishments," said Cohen.

Letter-writers support Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Imaginative letter-writers are objecting to a decision by scientists that it no longer is feasible to try to save the orbiting Skylab from a fiery death.

About 50 letters, and some telephone calls, have been received since the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that efforts to correct a decaying orbital path have failed and the space laboratory will plunge back toward Earth later this year.

Citizens have suggested remedies ranging from seeking help from the Soviet Union to use of a cowpuncher-type 1000 lb. device to stabilize the flight path.

A Sacramento, Calif., writer suggested an Agena rocket with a docking device be sent either to raise the orbit or to guide Skylab to a controlled ocean death.

"What has happened to the old NASA I grew up with?" the writer asked. The writer suggesting a 1000 lb. device also recommended a specially trained volunteer astronaut be launched in a modified Gemini or Mercury capsule, dock with Skylab, and fire it into a higher, safer orbit.

"The simple fact is there are no longer any backup vehicles in the NASA system," the Johnson Space Center answered.

"Also, the launch pad at the Kennedy Space Center has been redesigned for the shuttle program and could not, without major expenditures and modifications, launch an Apollo or Mercury type spacecraft."

One of several suggestions the Soviets might be able to help came from Michigan.

"They have had success with their Progress series of computer-controlled spacecraft to ferry supplies to Salyut in the past," the writer pointed out.

A Houston writer said a shuttle spacecraft could be used to attach a tow cable to Skylab and haul it to a safe orbit.

A New Jersey letter had quite a few exclamation points and question marks.

"It was the first time the space agency which performed miracles actually gave up," the letter read.

Brezhnev warns China to halt 'brazen attack'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev warned China on Friday to halt immediately its "brazen bandit attack" against Vietnam and pull out its invasion troops "to the last soldier."

The Soviets also officially warned the Chinese against expanding their Vietnamese invasion into Laos.

A statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass declared: "Military demonstrations on the borders of Laos and preparations for an intrusion into that country should be stopped. The Chinese aggressors should know that the more crimes they commit, the greater the retribution will be against them."

Brezhnev also said he hopes to meet with U.S. President Carter "in the near future" to sign a new strategic arms limitation treaty.

His comments marked the Kremlin's first mention of a desire for such a summit since the opening of U.S.-Chinese diplomatic relations and the recent Washington visit by Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping.

On SALT, Brezhnev said: "It appears that the work of more than six years is now close to completion." The new pact — which faces an uncertain future when it goes to the U.S. Senate for ratification — would limit to 2,250 the number of strategic nuclear missiles and bombers the United States and Soviet Union could deploy.

He said the Soviet Union had not gotten everything it wanted in the treaty, but the proposal was reasonable. He said that "the new agreement, when its drafting is completed, will probably be signed during my meeting with President Carter — hopefully in the near future."

Western analysts here said they found Brezhnev's remarks on the China-Vietnam conflict moderate. In substance, he did not go beyond a Kremlin statement the day after the fighting erupted Feb. 17.

However, Soviet journalist Victor Louis, who often reflects official Kremlin thinking, said in an article published by a West German newspaper that Moscow may be planning action.

"In my opinion there is hardly any doubt that the Soviet government will not just restrict itself to sharp words and threats if China does not end the war as quickly as possible. The Soviet Union has always been loyal to its allies," he wrote.

Gasoline regulations introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Energy Department announced new regulations Friday that could boost gasoline prices a dime a gallon, and government experts say the total price rise in the next two years may top 19 cents a gallon.

Based on current American Automobile Association price reports, that means average gasoline prices could range from 87 cents per gallon for regular to nearly 94 cents for premium within two years.

Officials could not say how soon prices would begin changing.

The new rule, which took effect Thursday, will permit the oil companies to pass along to consumers more of their production costs.

The rule is called a "tilt" regulation because it allows the refiners to tilt the impact of price increases. This will result in gasoline prices going up more than other petroleum products to compensate for the extra costs of producing unleaded gasoline.

The tilt rule could benefit users of other oil products, however, by helping resist increases in the prices of such items as home heating oil, which will no longer have to include some of the costs of gasoline production.

At the same time, the Energy Department said it is considering action to hold down the difference in price between leaded and unleaded gasolines.

Some officials had sought to decontrol oil prices last year, but inflation and the shortages caused by the Iranian cutoff have discouraged this.

The tilt regulation comes close to deregulation in its effect on gasoline prices, however.

A 1978 analysis estimated that if controls were continued, prices would rise 9 cents in two years. Under the tilt rule, they would go up 12.4 cents, and the increase would be 12.8 cents with decontrol.

Department officials were less clear on the two-year impact of the tilt rule Friday, however.

They said the tilt rule should raise prices by 4.9 cents this year. Increases next year because of the rule were not clear, but an official said the average increase should be 5 cents each of the next two years, although fluctuations during that time might not mean the price would be exactly 10 cents more at the end of that time.

Oil companies have complained of the high costs of producing unleaded gasoline, required in most new cars as an anti-pollution measure.

Price controls on gasoline and other products had prevented increases to cover the cost of converting refineries to unleaded production, the refiners complained.

"The tilt should provide the industry with the incentive that will encourage it to implement plans now on the drawing board for expanding gas manufacturing capability, especially for unleaded," said Gulf Oil Co.

And Carl Meyerdirk of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana said the change "is a recognition of the higher costs of production of gasoline. Unleaded gasoline costs more to produce, and regulations didn't eline prices could rise 10 cents a gallon by the end of the year, with even sharper increases for unleaded fuel.

Nations agree to cut oil use

PARIS (AP) — The largest non-Communist industrial nations agreed Friday to reduce oil consumption by 5 percent because of the cutoff of Iranian oil. The United States, the world's biggest oil consumer, will bear the brunt of the reduction by cutting consumption by one million barrels daily, a U.S. official said.

But the reduction can be achieved without rationing, according to an informed source in Washington.

The 20 members of the International Energy Agency, all the major non-Communist industrial nations except France, agreed unanimously Friday on the need to take "firm, prompt and coordinated action" to offset the shortfall of Iranian oil.

The IEA estimates that demands on the world market in 1979 will exceed supplies by about two million barrels per day, about 5 percent of the overall consumption of IEA countries.

The United States, which consumes oil at a rate of about 20 million barrels a day, agreed to the 5 percent cutback even though it actually lost only 2.5 percent of its oil supply when Iranian oil exports ended.

Richard N. Cooper, U.S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, said at a news conference the United States has not yet decided on specific measures to meet its obligations, but that the government would rely heavily on voluntary means.

"But we are prepared to take mandatory measures as well," he said, adding that President

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—The House Government Organization Committee, responsible for reviewing all sunset-related legislation, sent a bill by Midland Representative Tom Craddick on a wild goose chase this week.

Craddick's bill advances the Texas Department of Water Resources' 1985 review under the sunset act to 1981.

The review will be a detailed and intensive review of agency operations designed to reveal whether the agency is performing the job it was created to accomplish.

Craddick, one of the sponsors of a 1977 law merging three water-related agencies into the new Texas Department of Water Resources, told committee members the early sunset review is necessary to see if the merger is working.

The committee responded by referring the bill to a standing subcommittee on transportation, an obvious mistake which committee staff say will have to be corrected at the committee's next meeting.

Carter would make a statement on the subject soon.

He said the 5 percent objective could be achieved in some member countries by increasing domestic output of oil or by drawing on existing stockpiles. However, American officials said no marked increase in U.S. domestic production could be expected.

American energy officials said a reduction of 600,000 barrels daily can be achieved with relatively mild measures. These measures include enforcement of the 55 mph speed limit, car pooling and mass transit, reducing heating and air conditioning in buildings, encouraging greater use of natural gas, transferring electricity between regions and easing some environmental rules.

CONROE — Detectives said Friday a parole violator who was being sought by Odessa police in connection with another alleged crime has been charged with murder and is being held under $100,000 bond in Conroe, near Houston.

Robert Eugene Drummond, 25, was charged Thursday with the fatal shooting Feb. 21 of Keith Lowell Anderson, 24, whose body was found on a farm road near Conroe.

Investigators said both Drummond and Anderson had been sought by Odessa police investigating the Feb. 3 burglary of a home and assault of its occupants.

Drummond was arrested Friday in Houston after being flushed from his mobile home by tear gas. Harris County Sheriff's Detective Jim Waller said the arrest was made on a warrant charging parole violation from a robbery conviction.

Four Regional records sink at Mabee pool

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Sports Writer

The Region I Swimming and Diving meet kicked off Friday at the Mabee Memorial Swim Center, and if today's times are any indication of things to come in today's finals then the pool won't need a heater. It's hot enough with the times being posted.

Four regional records fell during the preliminary events, all in the girls' division, and three of them were by El Paso Coronado swimmers. Coronado is dominating the meet this far.

Although the boys didn't set any records, the team race is much closer as Amarillo High and Midland Lee appear headed for a showdown in today's 2 p.m. finals. Friday the top six finishers earned a berth to today's finals, and the top two finishers today will earn a berth in the state swim meet in Austin in two weeks. However, the team championship will be awarded on points through six places.

SARA GUIDO of Coronado was a hot item Friday as she broke her own record in the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:16.65, and she barely missed setting another of her marks later in the day. She may go for that one today.

Debbie Kaufman and Susan Marks, both of Coronado, also set region swim marks. Kaufman broke the 50-yard freestyle record with a 25.14 while Marks topped the 100-yard freestyle mark with a 54.35. Former Midland High athlete Brigitte Coon held the old 100-yard freestyle mark while Midland High's Mary Dowdle owned the old 50-yard freestyle mark.

THE ONLY other record came in the 100-yard butterfly when Amarillo High's Martha Gerken set a record with a 1:03.33, breaking another of Dowdle's regional marks.

The only finals staged Friday was in the girls' diving competition and that was a big sweep by Odessa Permian as Colleen Kiebler and Alissa Jenkins nabbed both state berths available in the event.

Coronado will have to quit today in order not to win the girls' competition, and Amarillo High appears to have a slight edge in the boys' run over the Rebels.

"I think the boys have a shot at it right now," Lee coach David Whyt-law said Friday. "but it could be tight. Our kids did very well today, however, and the times in this meet have been extremely fast. It is a good meet."

THE REBELS qualified six individuals and both relays for today, and again it was Carey Carrens and Robin Franke leading the way. Franke had the best time in the 200-yard freestyle with a 1:51.18 while Carrens had the best mark in the 100-yard breaststroke with a 1:03.27. Franke was also second fastest in the 100-yard freestyle while Carrens was the second best Friday in the 200-yard individual medley.

Lee's 400-yard freestyle relay team also posted the day's best time of 3:24.93 and placed second in the 200-yard medley relay. Mark Solari placed fifth for a finals berth in the 500-yard freestyle while Jon Franke got to the finals with a sixth place finish in the 100-yard freestyle.

Midland High also did quite well in the boys' competition, and could be in the running for a high finish.

"We did just about what we expect-

"We would like to have picked up a couple of extra people who finished just out of the money, but we are satisfied with the results."

CLAY SPEARS led the Bulldogs by qualifying in two races for today. He was second in the 200-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard butterfly. Tony Gunn also had a third place finish in the 100-yard breaststroke. Craig Carley was sixth in the 500-yard freestyle. The Bulldogs also got both relay teams to the finals with a fourth in the 200 medley relay and a fifth in the 400 freestyle.

Midland High and Midland Lee each got one individual to the finals today. Midland High's Loryanne Coon was fourth in the 200 individual medley while Lee's Emily Murrah was fifth in the 100 breaststroke. Midland High got a fifth and sixth in the two relays to make the finals while Lee was fourth in the 400 freestyle relay.

Arkansas, Texas post SWC wins

HOUSTON (AP) — Sophomore guard U.S. Reed scored a career-high 22 points and All-America Sidney Moncrief added 21 points and 13 rebounds Friday night as ninth-ranked Arkansas joined Texas in the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic championship final with a 93-77 victory over the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

The 14th-ranked Texas Longhorns whipped Houston 70-65 in the first game of the semifinal doubleheader before a sellout crowd of 15,449 in the Summit.

The championship game Saturday night will match the SWC regular season co-champions, Texas and Arkansas, who each went 13-3.

Reed spearheaded a 15-2 charge by Arkansas in the early moments of the game against Texas Tech.

THE WELL-DISCIPLINED Razorback offense built a 36-22 halftime lead.

Tech's Red Raiders, who finished the year 19-10, whittled the margin to eight points midway through the second half before Reed and Moncrief went on a tear.

Moncrief scored nine straight points, including a spectacular left-handed slam dunk that put the Razorbacks, 22-4, out of reach of the scrapping Red Raiders.

Senior guard Geoff Huston scored 20 points to lead Texas Tech.

Arkansas freshman Scott Hastings scored 12 points in the first half as Tech sagged on Moncrief, who had five assists before intermission. Hastings finished with 20 points, tying his career high.

Moncrief ended the game in spectacular style with a crashing layup and then stole the ball again for his second layup in a five-second span.

The deadly free throw shooting of John Moore and Ron Baxter helped Texas beat back a Houston second-half surge in the earlier semifinal game.

THE LONGHORNS made only six field goals in the second half, but Moore, who finished the night with 16 points, made six straight free throws.

Duke, Tar Heels gain ACC finals

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Senior guard Jim Spanarkel scored 18 points, including a field goal that snapped a 53-53 tie, to lead second-seeded and fifth-ranked Duke to a 62-59 victory over North Carolina State Friday.

Duke's victory set up a confrontation with North Carolina for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship Saturday night. Top-seeded and seventh-ranked North Carolina overwhelmed Maryland 102-79 in the other semifinal of the ACC tournament.

Spanarkel, Duke's second all-time leading scorer, suffered an eye injury on a driving layup that snapped the 53-53 deadlock. He was fouled in the process and backup Steve Gray added the charity shot.

Center Mike Gminski, the second-team All-America, and Bob Bender each scored 16 points for the Blue Devils, 22-6. N.C. State, which closed out its season with an 18-12 mark, was paced by Charles "Hawkeye" Whitney.

Baxter, who tore down nine rebounds and scored 19 points, connected on four of four charity tosses.

The Longhorns rolled to a 40-29 halftime lead as Moore ran wild against the Houston press, scoring 10 points, and Baxter chipped in with 11.

THE TEXAS matchup zone defense had Cougar gunner Ken Williams misfiring from long range. However, the "Juice", as Williams is nicknamed, sizzled in the second half, scoring 18 of his 25 points.

With Texas leading 54-44, Williams hit four straight buckets to bring the Cougars to within two points at 57-55.

That's when Moore started his perfect streak from the free throw line as the desperate Cougars fouled frequently after Texas went to a delay, ball control offense.

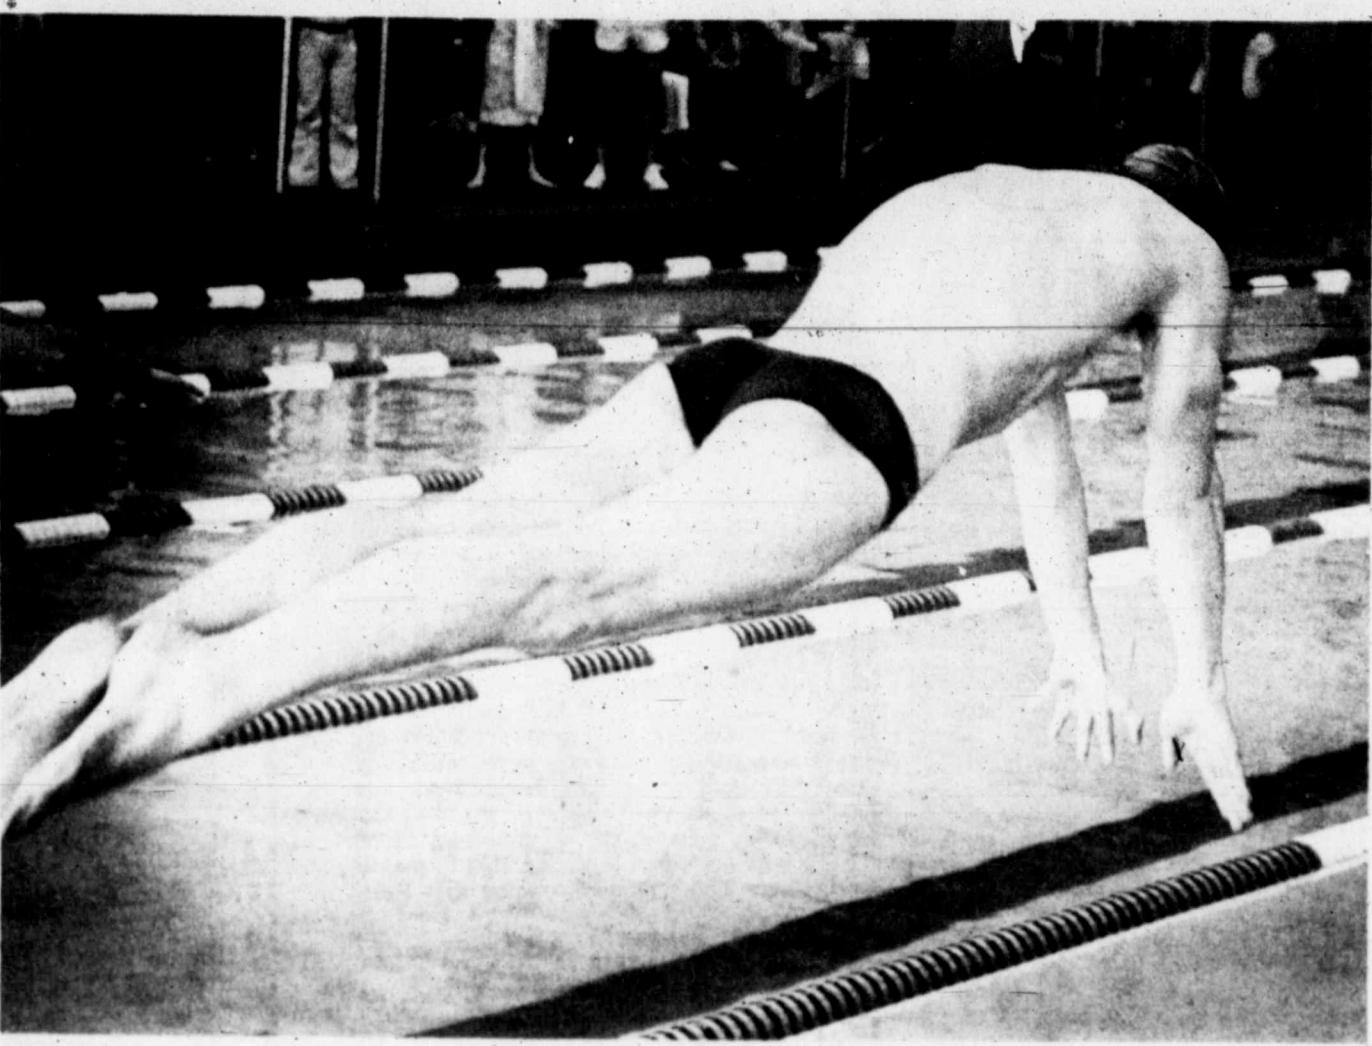

Big Leonard Mitchell and guard Ken Ciolli fouled out in the last three minutes to damage the Cougar hopes.

Houston, which finished the season 16-15, shot 60 percent from the field in the second half, yet couldn't catch the Longhorns, who are now 21-6.

Plainview's late spree expels Lee girls, 57-48

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

ABILENE — Gay Hemphill and Della Riggins were the difference Friday night.

Hemphill, a talented 5-8 sophomore, and Riggins, a 5-8 junior, sparked the Plainview Dogettes to an 18-point explosion in the fourth period, breaking open a tight game to eliminate the Midland Lee Rebels from the Class AAAA Region I Girls Basketball Tournament, 57-48.

The game played in the J. W. Hunt Center was a great one for three periods as Coach Shirley Stephenson's Rebels only trailed 39-38 going into the final period.

Hemphill had been saddled with four fouls early in the third period, but came in to score three important baskets after Lee had gone in front, 44-43, on a jumper by Leshia Watkins with 4:25 left in the game.

Watkins paces DePaul over Notre Dame, 76-72

CHICAGO (AP) — Curtis Watkins scored 21 points and Gary Garland added 17 Friday night as 15th-ranked DePaul raced to a 76-72 college basketball upset over second-ranked Notre Dame.

DePaul's 28th consecutive home victory, spanning two full seasons, left both teams with 22-4 records and one regular-season game remaining.

The quicker DePaul team took the lead for good at 21-20 on an 18-footer by Clyde Bradshaw with 6:34 left in the first half.

The Blue Demons led 34-23 at halftime after scoring 23 of the last 30 points of the first half.

The lead remained between nine and 11 points most of the second half and DePaul led 76-74 with less than a minute left in the game. Notre Dame scrapped for the final eight points.

Freshman Mark Aguirre added 15 points for DePaul and Bradshaw had 12. Orlando Woolridge led Notre Dame with 22. The Fighting Irish's leading scorer, Kelly Tripucka, was held to just eight points.

Lufkin, Dunbar win to reach AAAA finals

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Lufkin shattered Houston Madison's perfect record and Fort Worth Dunbar raced past Austin Lanier on Friday to vault into the Class-4A schoolboy basketball finals.

Lufkin and Dunbar meet for the championship today. Madison had won 39 games without a loss, but Lufkin took a 62-55 upset victory on the shooting of substitute Martines Grimes and Ronnie Blake.

Dunbar defeated Lanier, 76-69, although the Fort Worth team almost squandered a 17-point second quarter lead.

Webster, a 6-foot-4 senior, scored 26 points although he was usually surrounded by three defenders taller than him.

Darrell Browder led Dunbar with 19 points and teamed with Nealy to direct an almost flawless floor game for Dunbar. Anthony Ware scored 18 points for Dunbar.

Madison held a 48-45 lead over Lufkin before Grimes and Blake went on a 15-point scoring spree in the final quarter.

Madison's highly touted Greg Kite, a 6-11 senior who is considered a top college prospect, scored only five points but had 20 rebounds. Kite made only two of 12 field goal attempts and one of five free throws.

Cason claims 40 golf title

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Jim Cason of Harlingen rode a red-hot putter to a quick 6 and 4 championship victory Friday over defending champion Fred Rohde of San Antonio in the 27th annual Life Begins at 40 Golf Tournament.

The 51-year-old Cason sank a 10-foot putt for a birdie on the 14th hole which Rohde three-putted to wrap up the victory in less than two hours.

HEMPHILL, WHO ripped the cords for 24 points, hit two straight baskets for a 47-44 lead for the South Plains team, and Kim Laird's free throw made it 48-44 with 3:58 remaining.

Gale Wilson hit a bucket after driving the baseline to cut the Plainview lead to 48-46 with 2:58 left, but that was the closest that Lee was going to come.

The Dogettes then scored five unanswered points to make it 53-46 with 1:16 left and that was just about it for the Tall City team.

Dee Dee Poole hit a basket for Lee to make it 53-48, but three consecutive free throws by Cynthia Riggins made it 56-48 and Laird's charity toss made it the final margin.

LEE WAS down by as many as 12 points on two different occasions in the first half, but Stephenson's crew kept coming back.

"We had our chances, but didn't come through when we needed to," said a disappointed Stephenson afterwards. "Hemphill is a great one for them, but I felt when Deborah Ledbetter and Dee Dee got into foul trouble, it was going to be hard to win."

Stephenson called the Plainview team aggressive. "We needed to be a little more physical too, but then they do have an excellent team."

Lee found itself in a hole in the first period after falling behind 12-5 as Hemphill hit five of five shots to give Plainview a good start.

Lee out scored Plainview 17-16 to trail 28-22 at halftime. Ten of Plainview's points came at the free throw line as Lee began to foul.

It was nip and tuck in the third period, and with Lee holding onto a 38-37 lead on a fast break basket by Deborah Kittle, Riggins hit a shot at the buzzer for a 39-38 lead heading into the final period of play. Kittle's basket moments earlier had given Lee its first lead of the game with 56 seconds left in the third period.

Lee's season comes to an end as the Rebels wind up with a 29-8 record while Plainview takes a 29-2 record into the championship game today against the winner of the Fort Worth Richland-El Paso Burges game played late Friday night.

Bulldogs' Simmons defies cold to win discus

PECOS — Cold, gusty winds plagued the opening of the West of the Pecos Relays here Friday, but Midland High's David Simmons beat the elements.

Simmons won the discus with a toss of 186-11, more than 20 feet better than his previous best. Midland Lee's Jeff McCowan was fourth with a toss of 167-6.

McCowan won the shot put with a heave of 57-2½, but cold weather kept this event from breaking any records like the Simmons toss in the discus. Lee's Herb Pearce was third with a toss of 53-8 while Rodney Taylor was fourth with a 53-4½. Midland High's James Lary placed fifth with a toss of 49-4. Tall City shot putters won the top five places as Simmons won second in that event too with a 54-8.

Lee's Forrest Allen placed sixth in the high jump with a leap of 6-0.

El Paso Coronado took the first day lead with 49 points while Midland Lee had 25 and Midland High 20 through four events. The long jump was also held Friday, but no results were available.

Running preliminaries were held Friday also, but the meet was held up for 45 minutes as meet officials couldn't keep the hurdles from blowing over.

Today's three division finals begin at 1:40 p.m.

Kentucky upsets LSU

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Backcourt stars Kyle Macy and Truman Clayton combined for 49 points Friday night and led defending national champion Kentucky to an 80-68 victory over eighth-ranked Louisiana State in the Southeastern Conference tournament.

The Wildcats will face Tennessee in Saturday night's championship game to determine the SEC's representative in the NCAA playoffs. Tennessee downed weary Auburn 75-61 in an earlier semifinal game.

Kentucky registered its upset of the SEC champions without freshman sensation Dwight Anderson, who fell in the first 30 seconds of the game and broke his left wrist.

However, Macy, a two-time all-conference performer, put the Wildcats ahead to stay at 15-14 after only seven minutes had elapsed.

The Wildcats stretched that lead to 43-30 at halftime and settled the issue in the first five minutes of the second half. Clayton and Macy hit two baskets each in an 8-0 run.

Bean stretches lead to two

Andy Bean first 69

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Andy Bean, who once threatened to run away from the field, gave back a couple of shots on what he called "mental lapses" but still managed to stretch his lead to two strokes Friday in the second round of the $250,000 Bay Hill Golf Classic.

"I think I lost my concentration a little bit," Bean said after posting a 2-under-par 69. "That happens sometimes. We were playing in a twosome, so we had to wait on every shot and I may have gotten a little impatient. Just a couple of mental lapses."

THE 6-FOOT-4, 210-pound Bean, who has threatened consistently this year, paused for a moment, then added: "But it won't happen again."

Despite a couple of bogeys late in the round — his first of the tournament — Bean put together a 36-hole total of 133, nine shots under par on Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill Club course. The 7,102-yard layout took a beating in Thursday's opening round, but snapped back at the touring pros Friday. Tougher pin placements and some breezes sent scores considerably higher.

Bean once held a five-stroke lead, but finished two in front of Ed Sneed, who had a chance to win the Los Angeles

Open last week, salvaged a 68 with a scrambling par on the final hole and had a 135 total. "I struggled for my score," he said. "I played pretty well over the front side, but on the back I was fighting for everything I could get."

John Schroeder, Joe Hager, Bill Rogers and Jerry Pate were another shot back at 136. Hager had a 5-under-par '66, Rogers shot a 69 and Schroeder and Pate had 68s.

Bob Byman, with a 70, and Phil Hancock, with a 69, were at 137.

"Jack Nicklaus, the game's most feared competitor, carded a solid 70 and moved into contention at 138.

"I PLAYED very well today," said Nicklaus, who is making only his second appearance of the season. "I'm very pleased. Four under par after two rounds is not that bad. My position, with 39 holes to go, is good."

Palmer shot a 74 and, at 144, made the cut for the last two rounds for the first time this year. He was tied with Lee Trevino, who had a 72. Tom Watson was at 140 after a 68.

Bean got it two under par on the front side, then reeled off consecutive birdies on 10 and 15-foot putts on the 10th and 11th holes.

Lopez shakes blues to tie for LPGA lead

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Nancy Lopez shook her sore-arm blues Friday and shot a six-birdie, 5-under-par 67 to tie Donna Horton White and rookie Lori Garbacz for the lead in a $100,000 LPGA tournament.

Lopez, returning to the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour after taking a break to rest an arm troubled by tendinitis, got off to a scorching start.

She opened the day with birdies on three of her first five holes on the troublesome back nine of the 6,106-yard Bent Tree course, then birdied the first three holes of her second nine.

"I haven't had any problems yet," she said, explaining that the arm had given her no pain.

ONE YEAR ago Lopez won this tournament to launch a five-tournament winning streak and become the sensation of the LPGA tour.

Garbacz and Lopez had finished Thursday's first round tied for ninth at 71. White held the first-round lead at 66, and matched par with a 72 on Friday.

Garbacz, a former University of Florida golfer who qualified for the LPGA tour in early February, scored five birdies on the tough back nine with deft approach shots — her longest birdie putt was a 12-footer on the 155-yard par-3 fifth hole.

For White and Lopez, the situation is reminiscent of last year at the Bent Tree when the two were tied going into the final round. But then White shot a 76 to finish fifth.

Lopez said she's gained some fitness this year. "I'm getting better at hitting half shots," she said. "I couldn't hit those last year."

WHITE PLAYED steadily Friday but couldn't match her 25-putt performance of the previous day. She needed 30 putts in the second round.

"I still feel good about my putting," she said. "Thirty putts isn't that bad. I just missed a couple that I should have made. Today from tee to green I played just as well. I hit my driver a lot better. I just missed the birdie chances I made yesterday."

Gonzales, Boyd named 2 top Moto-X riders

Jesse Gonzales of Odessa and Charlie Boyd of Midland were named as the top two riders in the state during a recent awards banquet of the Bicycle Moto-X of Texas, Inc.

Gonzales, 15, finished 30 points ahead of Boyd, 8, in the final point totals of the top 20 National Bicycle Association riders in the state.

Others in the top 10 and in order were Scott Mabry, 14, Odessa; Eddie Livingston, 11, Midland; Martin Kinnard, 14, Iraan; Michael Bohannon, 8, Odessa; Melvin Ball, 15, Odessa; Jode Jackson, 15, Odessa; Richard Padilla, 16, Odessa; and Daniel Spray, Odessa.

Butch Wells, 13, of Midland was awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy for 1978. The Pedal Papa award went to Benard Murphy of Odessa while Paula Kinnard of Iraan received the Moto-Mamma award as the top parents. Special plaques were given to Karen Cowen, David Hamn and Danny Meador of Midland and Mike and Linda Bohannon of Odessa for support of the Bicycle Motocross program.

Foster eyes rich pact

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati outfielder George Foster is prepared to sign a multi-million dollar contract that will make him one of the top half-dozen paid players in baseball.

The announcement probably will be made this weekend. While negotiators are traditionally disinclined to reveal figures and terms, it is believed the hard-hitting Alabama native will receive $750,000 a year for five years.

"It's just a matter of agreeing on some components — there are a lot of components," said Tom Reich, Pittsburgh lawyer who is handling Foster's affairs. It was Reich who hammered out the $4.5 million, 5-year contract for Pittsburgh's Dave Parker which, with attendance and other clauses, could permit him to receive more than $1 million in 1982.

"We had hoped to announce Foster's signing before spring training started," said Dick Wagner, the president of the Reds. "I feel sure that the deal will be completed over the weekend, before Monday."

REICH SAID Foster was eager to remain in Cincinnati and he added:

"It is my feeling never to take an important man away from an organization if possible. George loves Cincinnati. It is a wonderful baseball and sports city. A trip through the stadium is like going to a football game."

Foster, 30, is one of the premier hitters in the game today. He has hit more home runs and batted in more runs the past three years than any other player in the major leagues. He has hit 92 homers the past two seasons.

He was the Most Valuable Player in the National League in 1977 with a gaudy .329 batting average, 124 runs, 149 RBIs and 52 home runs.

Foster will become the fifth player to sign a multi-million contract since last season. Besides Parker's pact, which at $900,000 a year makes him the highest paid in the game, Jim Rice signed for seven years with Boston for $5.4 million and Pete Rose for four years with Philadelphia for $3.2 million. Rod Carew received a $4 million contract from the California Angels.

REICH AND Wagner held a two-hour meeting Thursday night and continued talks at the Reds' training quarters Friday.

After their discussions broke up, both emerged from the room beaming with pleasure. It was obvious that there were no handicaps hindering an agreement.

Reich also must negotiate with Wagner on the contracts of two other Cincinnati players — Joe Morgan and Ken Griffey. Both of them, as well as Foster, are in the final years of their contracts but Griffey has a unique situation. He will fall one day short of the six-year limit for major leaguers seeking free agent status.

Reich, who handles some of the top athletes in the country in various sports, said it is his policy to negotiate contracts fitting the needs of the particular athlete.

"Some of them prefer quick money up front," he said, "while others prefer long time contracts and security." He declined to specify what Foster's preferences were.

Spec makes last offer to North

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — San Francisco Giants General Manager Spec Richardson said Friday he had made a final offer to free-agent outfielder Billy North, but North has not responded yet.

Richardson also said he would invoke the renewal clauses in the contracts of four unsigned players — pitchers Bob Knepper and Greg Minton; outfielder Jack Clark and infielder Tom Heintzelman — on Monday.

The clause, if invoked by a club by March 10, binds the player to the team for another year even if he has not signed a new contract.

Brett vows he'll be ready

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — All-Star third baseman George Brett underwent successful surgery on his right thumb Friday and the Kansas City Royals said he would be ready to play again in three weeks.

Brett injured the thumb last season and agreed to surgery earlier this week after experiencing continued difficulty in batting.

Brewers Caldwell loosens up

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — Mike Caldwell, a 22-game winner who has been troubled by a bit of arm stiffness lately, pitched batting practice Friday as the Milwaukee Brewers held their first full spring training workout.

"It felt good," said Caldwell. "For the first time throwing to hitters, I can't complain."

Caldwell is scheduled to pitch next Thursday when the Brewers open their exhibition season against the San Francisco Giants.

Sparky shows up at LA camp

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — His face was familiar, but he wasn't wearing a uniform as Sparky Anderson visited the training camp of his former enemy, the Los Angeles Dodgers, Friday in his role as a television commentator and forecast another battle between his former club, the Reds, and the Dodgers for the National League West title this year.

"Cincinnati will be rough even without Pete Rose," said Anderson. "They've got Johnny Bench and Joe Morgan healthy again and, though they lost Rose, the Dodgers had big losses, too."

"Morgan makes things happen for Cincinnati," Anderson continued. "He was a big loss to us last year. He stole 15 bases by May 15 but had only 19 for the season. And Bench missed 54 games, don't forget."

Chalk sent to LA for treatment

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Shortstop Dave Chalk of the California Angels was sent to Los Angeles on Friday to continue rehabilitation treatments on his left knee.

Chalk tore ligaments and cartilage in the next-to-last game of the 1978 season and underwent extensive surgery two days later.

Rusty dazzles 'em with his cooking

By HUBERT MIZELL

St. Petersburg, (Fla.), Times
At a time in the baseball springtime that he should be taking cuts in a batting cage, Rusty Staub was taking cuts on onions and carrots. Pitching paprika, creating platters of Shrimp a la Catalonge, Chicken Chasseur and sweet Italian sausage.

While other employees of the Detroit Tigers were at their sweaty work Thursday in Lakeland, Fla., Staub was holding out at St. Petersburg Beach amid fumes of garlic and bay leaves.

Meet "The Slugging Gourmet." Staub is a cook. I mean a great cook, not just some backyard bozo with an apron and a bottle of Adolph's Meat Tenderizer. Baseball has been his business for 18 years. But, unless he and the Tigers soon agree on his baseball future, Rusty says culinary connections will become his meal ticket.

STAUB HELD two 90-minute cooking seminars Thursday, showcasing his pot n' skillets skills before audiences of 75 persons that jammed a kitchen-equipped meeting room at a Florida Power building. There was a handsome fee for the 6-foot-2, 220-pound athlete, paid by the Envoy Point condo people.

"Fresh parsley is so much better than bottled," he told his audience, using a line rather incongruous with the language of baseball. "You just sprinkle the shrimp with group-up Ritz crackers.... I believe in using a little wine in most anything I cook... cut the prosciutto into thin strips."

In his morning session, Staub addressed 59 women and 16 men. Mostly, they were there for the cooking knowledge and not because this was a major baseball name who has performed his batting wares in Houston, Montreal, New York, and since 1976 in Detroit.

Staub is a bachelor. "Marriage is an institution for which I have great respect but for which I don't feel I can dedicate the appropriate time right now," he said. During his cooking show, though, one elderly woman whispered to another, "He's going to make some girl a great husband. He can do all the cooking."

STAUB SHOWED up carrying a small, blue bag with "Tigers" written across its sides. Inside were not gloves or baseballs. Rusty was toting several containers of spices. On this day, gourmet was his game. In the lobby of the building was a Winn-Dixie grocery cart. Rusty's groceries for the demonstration had been wheeled across 75th Avenue.

Stars of the kitchen can strike out, too. Testimony to that was the Band-Aid on the middle finger of Staub's left hand. He cut it Thursday while chopping Sell peppers prior to his clinics. But, Rusty went ahead and played with pain.

Clearly, baseball was on the back burner. "Due to things happening to me outside baseball, I have asked the Tigers to extend my contract," said Staub. "I'm signed through the 1980 season. I would like it extended through 1982."

STAUB HAS lavish offers to expand restaurant holdings in New York and to produce two new establishments in Houston. "I can easily make more money being a restaurateur than from being a designated hitter," he said. "But I have great years left in me, and I want to keep playing baseball and my preference is to do it in Detroit."

He went to a briefcase and extracted a two-page letter. "Here, look at this," he said. "I wrote this to Jim Campbell (general manager of the Tigers). I read it over seven times to be sure how I was putting my request. It was perhaps the nicest letter I've ever written."

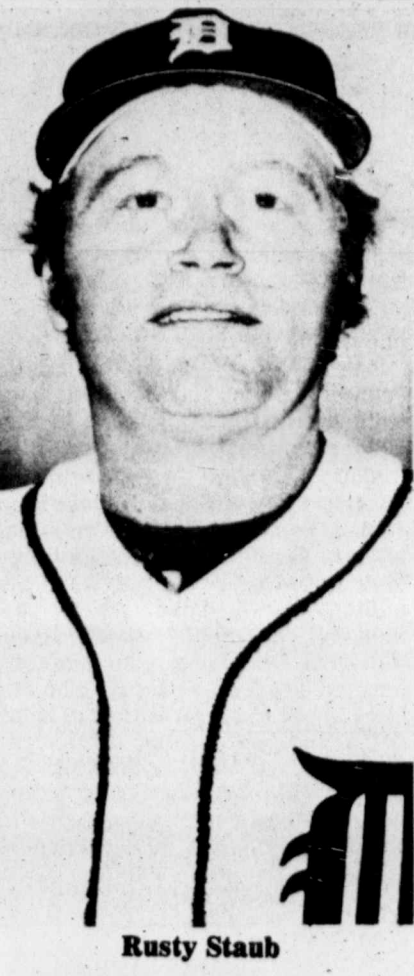

Indeed, the words were spiced with courtesy. Staub mentioned to his GM that "I've never had one of those agents," and have "always preferred to deal face to face." Then, near the end, Staub has a suggestion. He said that if Detroit refused a contract extension, a trade could be made during the period of Feb. 15 through March 15.

"Jim Campbell is an old war-horse," Staub said. "He's standing fast, saying he doesn't do such things with contracts. That's not correct since he did it with me in 1977 and also did it with Mark Fidrych. But, to be honest, I think Mr. Campbell will hold his hard line."

"Something that surprises me is Mr. Campbell's claim that I've backed him against a wall, that I've issued an ultimatum. I don't see it that way. I have just stated, the nicest way I know how, what my personal decisions have to be."

ON APRIL 1, Staub turns 35. Unless there's a baseball deal by then, he plans action that should in no way be considered an April Fool's joke. He seems to mean it. Although Staub does not see his appeal to Campbell as an ultimatum, there certainly does seem to be something of a forced fork in the road.

Last summer, Staub hit .273 batter in Detroit with 24 homers. His 121 runs batted in ranked second in the American League to Jim Rice of Boston. It was one of his more prime years with a baseball bat. Staub willingly became the Tigers' designated hitter but believes it hurt his career. "I was hitting .300 with 69 RBIs at mid-season 1978 but failed to make the All-Star team," he said. "I'm sure it was because I was a DH and not a full time player."

Tournament overhaul makes life complicated

By TERRY SHEPARD
The Los Angeles Times

Once upon a time, the NCAA basketball tournament, like life, was simple.

There were 32 teams for the first round, a perfect number for a set of tournament brackets. And teams knew where they stood. The winner of the Pacific 8 title knew it would get the slot reserved by name for the Pacific 8 champion, complete with the date and site of its first-round game.

That was only a year ago, but like life, the NCAA tournament has gotten a lot more complicated in just a year. With this year's tournament only two weeks away, no one, not even a potential conference champion, knows where, when or against whom it will open the tourney.

The reason is a major overhaul in the setup of the tournament. Things are now very much in the hands of the NCAA's nine-man tournament selection committee, which decides almost everything except the automatic invitations to 23mconference winners.

THE CHANGES for this year's NCAA tournament include:

—Expansion from 32 to 40 teams.

—Seeding of the 10 teams in each regional competition. To get the number of teams back to a workable 32, the four lowest-seeded in each regional play a first-round elimination game.

—Freedom for the committee to move teams to make the regionals all of equal strength. Before, conference champions had to stay in their geographic region. Now they may be moved if necessary to balance things out.

—Barring of a one-conference title game. Before, two teams from the same conference had to be placed in opposite halves of the brackets, leading to the Indiana vs. Michigan title game of 1976. Having decided that is undesirable, the NCAA now says teams from the same conference must be placed in the same or adjacent regions so they meet no later than the semifinals.

The tournament selection committee last year had the power to invite at-large teams — independents, non-automatic conference titlists and conference runners-up — and, with some restrictions, to place them in open spots in the brackets. This year, it has those powers plus the right to make whatever matchups it wants with the new rules.

That is why Friday, Saturday and Sunday have been set aside for the committee to meet in Kansas City. It must select the 17 at-large teams to invite, it must assign them and the 23 automatic conference qualifiers to regionals for balance and, finally, it must seed each team within its regional to decide the matchups.

THE NINE men on the NCAA tournament selection committee represent various sections of the country and include three conference commissioners and six athletic directors.

The commissioners are: Wayne Duke, Big 10, committee chairman; Larry Albus, Metro Conference, and Vic Bubas, Sun Belt Conference and former North Carolina State basketball coach.

The athletic directors are: Ladell Andersen, Utah State; Willis Casey, North Carolina State; Dave Gavitt, Providence; Andy Geiger, Stanford; Ken Karr, San Diego State, and Russ Potts, SMU.

It is, committee chairman and Big 10 commissioner Wayne Duke readily agreed, a big job.

"It's very complex and will be very difficult," he said. "While changes in the tournament procedure provide us with more flexibility, they add more burdens to the committee and are likely to heap on more criticism. But we're willing to accept that."

In fact, they already have. Coaches left out on the selections usually cry "Foul." But Maryland's Lefty Driesell has gotten the jump this year by calling for a boycott of the tournament because only two teams from any conference can be invited. He thinks the never-humble Atlantic Coast Conference deserves more.

"With 40 teams out of about 250 playing in Division I," Duke said in reply, "you're still talking about a select group and not everyone will be happy. But the improvements we made this year make it probably the fairest it has ever been."

THE ENLARGEMENT makes it fairer, Duke said, because more spots are needed for champions of new conferences, second teams from old conferences and deserving independents.

The seeding makes it fairer by helping the best teams advance, he said.

"We needed seeding to provide for a more balanced bracket," Duke said. "We had some situations where top-ranked teams met in the first game. UCLA playing Kansas in the first round last year, for example."

Freedom to move teams to other regionals, he said, makes it fairer by spreading the best teams around.

"Traditionally, the Mideast is one of the strongest regionals," Duke said. "It has a number of strong independents you don't have out here in the West: Marquette, Notre Dame, DePaul."

The problem of sticking too close to geography in a strong region such as that showed up in 1976. Indiana was ranked No. 1 in the polls, Marquette No. 2. But instead of meeting in the championship game, they met; 7 is especially handy for conferences that decide their title in a postseason tournament. A weak team can win the tournament, throwing a regional out of whack.

"Last year Missouri, a team that had a below-500 record but had won the Big 8 tournament, had to be placed in the Midwest Regional," Duke said. "Then we had to overload the West Regional by sending Kansas, the regular-season champion, and North Carolina, in the same situation in the ACC, out there."

IF THE situation arose this year the committee would have two choices. Kansas could have stayed in the Midwest and Missouri gone to the West. Or both could have stayed in the Midwest.

Though the Pac-10 has no tournament, a decision about what to do with its second entrant could arise this year.

Though it has the freedom to do otherwise, Duke said his committee probably will keep the Pac-10 champion in the West. Assuming that UCLA wins the title, it probably would be seeded No. 1 in the West Regional and, after a first-round bye, open with a second-round game in Pauley Pavilion.

Then assume USC finished second in the conference. Duke said the committee does not have to take the second-place team. If it takes another conference team at all. Like independents, the selection would depend upon record, schedule strength and where games were played.

But Duke said the conference runner-up would be in the best position. And the Pac-10 as a strong conference has a good chance for a second team.

Best of U.S. faces Russians

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The United States sends its premier track and field athletes against those of the Soviet Union Saturday night, but U.S. Coach Stan Wright moaned over the loss of NCAA and AAU champion mile Steve Scott.

Scott, who ran the second-fastest indoor meet ever of 3 minutes 54.1 seconds last month at San Diego, then won the AAU title last week at Madison Square Garden in 4:01.4, decided to bypass the competition here.

"This will indeed hurt us because the Russians are strong in the distance events," Wright said.

The mile run, one of the three glamor events in Saturday's meet, will still have Steve Lacy of Wisconsin, however. Lacy ran a 3:54.7 in the San Diego meet as both he and Scott chased Eamonn Coghlan of Ireland to an indoor world record of 3:52.6.

THE TWO other events expected to draw the chief interest of the Tarrant County Convention Center crowd are the 60-yard dash and pole vault.

Dan Ripley and Earl Bell have both cleared 18 feet in the pole vault. And in the 60-yard dash, the United States will have the two best at the distance in Steve Riddick and Houston McTear.

Benn Fields won the national AAU high jump championship last week, upsetting Franklin Jacobs, who had won eight straight. Fields; Jacobs and James Frazier all jumped 7-4 1/2 last week, with Fields winning on fewer misses and Jacobs finishing second.

But Jacobs said he would not compete here, and Frazier also scratched, resulting in the addition of James McDaniel, who jumped 7-2 1/2 last week.

THE TOP two finishers in each event at the AAU championships — both in the men's and women's division — qualified to compete against the Russian team.

"The Russians are loaded in the high jump, triple jump and 35-pound weight throw," Wright said. Teen-ager Vladimir Yashchenko, world record holder in the high jump, and Gennadi Belkov went 7-5 in the European championships last week in Vienna. Both are on hand to represent Russia here.

THE WOMEN'S competition will feature school-girl Candy Young of Beaver Falls, Pa., who equaled the world and American records last week with a 7.5-second clocking in the 60-yard hurdles. She was named the outstanding woman in the AAU championships.

In addition to the top athletes who won't be on hand — high hurdles winner Renaldo Nehemiah and three-miler Marty Liquori also scratched — the slow arrival of those who will participate caused Wright additional fret.

Less than a dozen U.S. athletes worked out Thursday afternoon at the designated practice facility.

"This is typical of our people," Wright said. "They are individualists. Who knows, some may arrive an hour before the meet. It takes away the concept."

Longhorns return 34 T-men

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Longhorns kicked off spring football practice Friday with 34 of the 38 lettermen expected back next fall.

Akers added that an off-season conditioning program helped keep the Longhorns in excellent shape.

Boxing has horrible fascination for thugs, felons

Distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Boxing, as a sport, is about as corruptible as the Spanish court circa 1400. There's no way to get near it without getting tainted.

The underworld always loved it. It was easier to fix than a World Series, it kept you in touch with the raffraff as well as high society, and it was the perfect place to invest your run-running profits.

You could turn a clumsy circus strong man from Italy into a champion with the aid of a few sub-machine guns and a bevy of hit men from Jersey.

The theme of the poor-but-honest youngster from the slums who turned from the concert violin to pugilism until ordered by the Mob to throw the title fight became standard Hollywood fare, and kept Sheldon Leonard in silk shirts and made John Garfield a star.

It has always had a horrible fascination for boys from the right side of the tracks, too. Guys with degrees from Yale and homes out on Long Island yearned to be the Great Gatsby of the fight business. The image of the boy promoter became a familiar one around boxing, particularly with the advent of television.

IN A GAME filled with felons, in and out of the ring, you had these wide-eyed young products of Harvard Law or the Wharton School of Finance trying to run boxing as if it were something listed on the Big Board.

The next thing they knew they were getting their pictures in the paper along with mug shots of guys like "Tough Tony" Salerno, guys with nicknames like "Killer." Their appointment books were filled with guys who talked in a laryngitic rasp out of the sides of their mouths, and had lumps under their shoulders and would put a horse in your bed if you turned them down.

Boxing is never going to be conducted along the lines of U.S. Steel or American Cyanamid. It has been and always will be the refuge of drifters, grifters, guys who have done 1 to 10 for shooting their wives, and just got out of prison in time to kill again. It's not a sport, it's a rabble. Its coat of arms should be double crosses on a field of greenback green.

Into this knaves' den on a white steed rode Bob Arum, demon lawyer out of Harvard, whose mother wanted him to have a Park Avenue practice, a boat in Islip and live-in help. But Bob wanted to be Tex Rickard, a Gold Rush dude, a card dealer out of the Yukon, a South American cattle baron, and a guy who would bet a fortune on the color of the next car coming down the street, a guy whose education stopped well short of Harvard Law — fact, well short of the third grade.

AS IF BOXING were not bad enough, it is run by a hierarchy of embattled warlords as jealous of their territory as Geronimo and as determined to protect it. In their Solomon-like wisdom, these sultans of swat did cut the baby in half. Boxing is a house divided against itself, and is run by macho types, who seem to have the outlook on life of guys who fight bulls for a living.

Last Saturday Bob Arum, boy promoter, showed up in Las Vegas with a million-dollar show and the network, ABC, to produce it.

Mike Rossman is the first legitimate boxing champion whose mother was Jewish since Bennie Leonard or Max Baer. His opponent was Victor Galindez, a slow-footed brawler from Argentina. Rossman disposed of him the last time they met in 13 rounds, and a full house was on hand at Caesars Palace to see the rerun.

The two jurisdictions in boxing are the World Boxing Council and the World Boxing Association. Frick and Frack. There's no more form on them than on a field of selling platters at Latonia. They are as unpredictable as a border bus.

FROM HIS vantage point in Caracas, Venezuela, the president of the World Boxing Association, Mandre Galindez, decided what the Rossman-Galindez title fight needed was "neutral officiating." Accordingly, he recommended, in order, a judge from Puerto Rico, one from Panama, and one from Venezuela.

The Nevada Athletic Commission countered with a slate of officials who were not just neutral; none of them could even speak Spanish.

Now, old-time fight promoters never got any closer to Harvard than Scollay Square in fact, never attended any institution that didn't have bars on the windows, but, when they put together a show, it went on. I mean, "Carmen" was announced, "Carmen" will be sung. Sometimes they put on a fight with guys who were blind in one eye — or both. But if they got a wire from some comic-opera character in South America, they treated it like any other crank letter. I mean, boxing commissions were not to be treated any more seriously than the rest of the Marx Bros. Unfortunately, Victor Galindez played it straight. Instead of waiting for his laugh, Victor stalked off.

THIS LEFT ABC with an hour and a half to fill with bird calls and Carrie Jacobs Bond organ solos instead of potential retinal detachments.

Now, pulling the plug on a couple of pups fighting the main event in Holyoke is one thing. But emptying the pool on Howard Cosell, Roone Arledge, and ABC is like putting graffiti on the Vatican walls.

Bob Arum took center ring to howl and point fingers and blame everybody from Caracas to Searchlight, Nev.

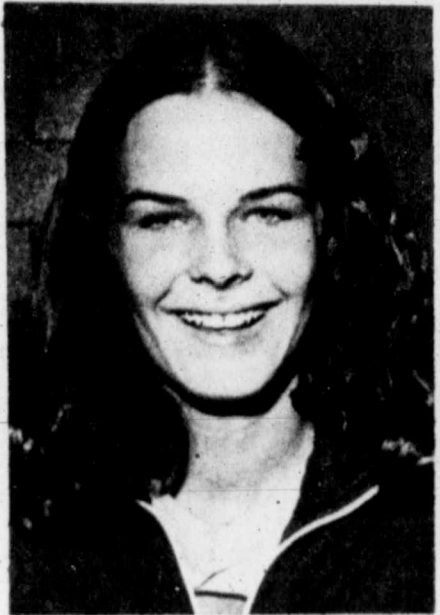

But Mike Rossman, whose mother probably didn't raise him to be known as "The Jewish Bomber" either, put the right bitter note on it all: "This," he said, "is the fault of some cigar-smoking, whiskey-drinking old guys who sit behind desks and have no concern for the athletes."

Shucks, anybody who ever saw any of the old James Wong Howe fight movies in the 30s could have told him that. Clifford Odets spelled it all out for everybody in "Golden Boy."

The only question that remains is, is it too late for Bob Arum to get out of this lowlife business and onto the Supreme Court? I mean, for this you need Harvard Law? You think Judge Brandeis would waste his time fooling around putting on fist fights in Nevada? Anyway, who wants to go around saying, "My son the matchmaker?"

That's like "My son, the cut man."

MC Mermen ready for nationals

Months of pre-dawn and later afternoon workouts culminate next week when the Midland College swim teams venture to Michigan in search of national championships and individual honors.

Both men's and women's swimming championships are slated at Grand Rapids, Mich., Thursday through Saturday.

Junior College. The meet will be held in a large new sports complex dedicated to former President Gerald Ford.

During the last week, MC Coach John Jordan had his swimmers qualifying to meet minimum standards established by the National Junior College Athletic Association to compete in the events.

"Since we have only sophomore letter winners on either team, we're going to be young and inexperienced so far as the NJCAA championships are concerned," Jordan said. "But our swimmers have all gone through the tense age-group and high school competition, so the pressure shouldn't be much of a factor."

WHAT WILL both the Chaparral swimmers is a lack of depth, a deficiency that could cost them a national championship. Last year's Midland College team had much the same trouble. They did well in most events, but had difficulty piling up extra points. The 1978 MC men's team took third place and the women's squad was fourth. Both men's and women's teams took runner-up honors in 1976 and 1977.

Monte Allwein, freshman from Amarillo Palo Duro, led all qualifiers as he met minimum times in nine events. In high school, he was team captain and swimmer-of-the-year. He qualified in 50, 100, 200, and 500 yard freestyle, 100 butterfly, 100 and 200 breaststroke and 200 and 400 individual medley. He will compete in the 100 and 200 frees and 200 IM.

Jim Buzbee, Olathe, Kan., freshman, qualified in four events and will enter the 200 freestyle, backstroke and IM events. Jim was all-state in the 100 back and 400 free relay in high school.

Ken Clisso, another Olathe, Kan., freshman who was all-state team captain and outstanding senior swimmer in high school, will enter the 200 free. Wayne Deloney, Houston Clear Lake freshman, who brings high school All-America, all-state credentials to MC, will enter the 100 and 200 back. Wayne lettered four years, was second team in all-state in water polo and National Honor Society.

ANDREWS SOPHOMORE Dennis Doherty will enter the one and three meter diving, but hasn't competed since reaching the Texas AAA finals in high school.

Bob Franz, freshman from Midland Lee, qualified for the 50 and 100 freestyles and the 100 breaststroke. Franz was all-state, all-district in high school, a state champion in the 50 free and regional finalist in the 50 and 100 free.

George Tunnell is a sophomore from Midland High, qualifying for the one and three meter diving, but like Doherty, hasn't competed since high school days.

Pat Turner qualified to enter the 200, 500 and 1650 freestyle events and the freshman was regional 500 free champion at Dallas Highland Park.

Mark Zapatka qualified in five events and will enter the 100 and 200 backstrokes and 200 IM. At Albuquerque, N.M., High, he was a backstroke state finalist.

Kelly Dowdle will enter the 100 and 200 butterfly and 200 IM after qualifying in four events. The freshman from Midland High was all-state, all region in high school as well as a regional and state finalist in the butterfly.

Debbie Erdy made qualifying in six events and is listed to compete in the 100 and 200 breaststroke and 200 IM. Hailing from Monte Vista High in Davnville, Calif., Debbie was East Bay All-Star and Contra Costa County Athlete-of-the-month last year in high school.

CAROLYN HENDERSON, freshman from El Paso Bel Air, qualified in seven events and will swim in the 50 free and 100 and 200 backstroke. She was named outstanding swimmer in the Ysleta school district, president of the Girls Athletic Association, president of the French National Honor Society and member of the NHS.

Linda Miller is the only letter winner on either team. The sophomore from Odessa Permian qualified in seven events and will compete in the 100 and 200 back and 200 IM. She was named NJCAA All-America for a third in the 100 back last year. In high school, Linda was team captain, all-district three years, all-regiona and state qualifier.

Cindy Francis made qualifying times in seven events and will bid in the 200, 500 and 1650 free. She lettered four years at Albuquerque, N.M., Sandia High, was team captain and senior athlete of the year.

The NJCAA men's and women's meets will be run alternately. The only competition Wednesday is the prelims and semifinals in one-meter diving. On Thursday prelims and finals will be held in the 500 free, 200 IM, 50 free, 400 medley relay and finals in one-meter diving. The 100 free relay and three-meter diving finals are scheduled for Saturday.

Cold weather tough on revenue reports

BY REX WORRELL
Hogan Park Golf Pro

Most regular readers have probably noticed we have not given a monthly report on the amount of play and revenue at Hogan Park Golf Course. You're right, there haven't been many reports because they were all bad due to the tough winter weather. But looking at a February's records, things are definitely on the upswing again.

We'll give you a player and revenue report for the month of February as compared to last February and this fiscal year to date as compared to the same period last year.

Feb. 1978—Players green fee 1,497; annual fee 127; Lee High 228; Midland High 228; Midland College 124 for a total of 3,350. Feb. 1978—Green fee players 1,838; annual fee 1,302; Lee High 231; Midland High 195; Midland College 86 for a total of 3,652.

SOME HIGHLIGHTS of the month would be the acquisition of a whole bunch of Pecan trees of which 250 are scattered around the present 18-hole course in clusters. We would hope that as you play the course you will help us out by dropping away from these newly planted trees so that no harm will come to them as you swing smoothly at the ball...

Clubhouse update...The roofers have completed shingling the roof, electrical conduit has been installed, sheet metal air conditioning ducts are in, windows and doors are in order, dry wall and brick installation will be the next step and Walt Thibreau is confident that all his subcontractors will be on time and finish early. Good luck, Walt...

Golf course (new nine holes) construction is continuing on schedule and last Tuesday's site meeting report will be given in next week's Tee Time column...

Clements to lead trip to Russia

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said Friday he will lead a Texas "People to People" delegation to Russia this year but won't go to China on a trade mission before 1981.

Clements, who discussed a trade mission Feb. 19 with Han Hsu, a Chinese diplomat, laid to rest in emphatic terms speculation he would go to China this year.

"I am not going to China in 1979. I may very well consider it in 1981.... I don't want to go in 1980 because I have other plans. I am sure Mr. Carter would like me to go to China in the fall of 1980," Clements said.

He referred to his role in campaigning for the Republican presidential ticket in the 1980 elections.

"My decision is I am going to Russia," he said at his weekly news conference.

THE GOVERNOR SAID the People to People organization sponsored by the Eisenhower Foundation asked him in January to lead a Texas delegation to Russia. He said the trip probably would take place this fall.

He said the thrust of the Russian trip was agricultural. He jokingly said he anticipated questions about conflict of interests and told reporters, "I want you to understand I own some mother cows" — 450 of them.

Clements said he hoped a Texas trade delegation would go to China this year as envisioned by the Texas Industrial Commission and Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown.

HE PARRIED QUESTIONS about possible conflict of interests in an application by SEDCO, the oil drilling firm he founded, and Hunt Oil Co. of Dallas, for Chinese drilling rights.

Clements has placed his SEDCO interests in a blind trust. His son, Gill, heads the company.

Clements said that while discussions between SEDCO and Hunt began in November he wasn't part of them.

"I have told you I am isolated from SEDCO and its operations and I meant it," Clements said.

He said he and Han Hsu didn't even talk about oil during their meeting at his Dallas home in February — "All we discussed was Texas grapefruit."

HE PREDICTED the SEDCO-Hunt combine would not win the Chinese oil concession because it was competing with such giants as Gulf, Texaco, Standard Oil of California and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

ON OTHER MATTERS, Clements said: — Texas "ought possibly — please underline possibly — consider" accepting a disposal site for nuclear wastes generated in this state, primarily those from nuclear power plants.

"As we in Texas are advocating all-out production of energy...we can't on the one hand say we should build more nuclear plants and on the other hand dose our minds to the possibility that we ought to consider — underline consider — a small nuclear waste facility in this state," Clements said.

He added he still believes the most logical answer would be a national site on federal land in New Mexico — "There already are areas out there contaminated by the first (atomic) bomb back in World War II."

— He has not decided what sort of presidential primary bill he will support. The main choice is between holding the presidential voting on the same day as the regular party elections or on a separate day earlier in the year.

— He also remains undecided whether to support legislation eliminating the 10 percent ceiling on home mortgage interest rates.

— School administrators don't like his proposal to use about $1 billion in state revenue to reduce and stabilize local school taxes, with a limit to the growth of school district income.

"They don't want to do anything that would tend to dilute their unilateral authority to sit down and decide what the taxes ought to be," he added.

— Federal gasoline rationing proposals that would limit how far one could drive is "a classic example of Department of Energy discrimination, almost by intent, if you will, against Texas," where distances are greater and commuter facilities less common than in eastern states.

— Governors from all four states bordering Mexico — Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas — will meet in June in Arizona to discuss mutual problems. He said governors of Mexico's border states will be invited "and in my judgment will be present."

Clements said he would seek the views of a broad spectrum of Texans, including academic experts and Mexican-American politicians who have criticized his stand in favor of a bracero-like program of using Mexican labor.

He said the governors would submit their findings to the State Department "for proper discussion" with Mexico's foreign ministry.

Walk Away...

God must have known we'd have frustrations. That's why He gave us the capacity to walk away from them... even on crutches.

Often in walking away from our frustrations we find ourselves. We discover spiritual depths we never knew we had. Finding oneself is part of the deeper quest — finding God.

We are not alone. Life is the Creator's gift. To fulfill its potentials we need His help — especially when our own hopes dissolve in disappointment.

Bring your frustrations to church. Learn how to walk away from them with courage and faith.

That man stands mighty straight who has learned to believe in himself... and in God.

Transworld broadcaster spreading word of God

By EDGAR MILLER

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A young broadcaster is off to Guam this spring to realize an ambition nearly a decade old, conceived at the end of a four-year bout with drugs.

Ed Flanagan, 28, a newscaster for WOOD in Chattanooga, is going to work for Transworld Radio, an inter-denominational organization that broadcasts fundamentalist religious messages throughout the world.

after he kicked the drug habit. Transworld, with headquarters in Chatham, N.J., was founded 25 years ago with a station in Tangiers, which was moved to Monte Carlo in 1960. It now operates stations in Bonaire in the Netherlands Antilles, Swaziland, Cyprus, Guam and Sri Lanka.

"The total purpose is to broadcast the word of God to people throughout the world who otherwise would not have an opportunity to hear it," says Roger Groff, a Transworld official in New Jersey.

Groff says Transworld's beams cover 80 percent of the globe, with a combined total of 5 million watts on AM and shortwave.

Transworld's AM broadcasts are on a specified frequency (800 kilohertz in Bonaire, with a range into Florida), with shortwave frequencies variable depending on atmospheric conditions.

Groff says Transworld's budget is about $10 million a year, with all of the money raised through contributions from churches and church members throughout the world.

Most of Transworld's employees are natives of the countries in which the stations are located, he says, and broadcasts are in 75 languages.

Church music workshop to be held at St. Luke's

An area workshop on church music and worship will be held Sunday in St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave.

The event is presented by the Big Spring District of the United Methodist Church, and the congregation and pastoral staff of St. Luke's UMC.

Leaders of the workshop will include Dr. Roger Deschner, professor of church music at Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University; Douglas DeJarnett, choral assistant to Lloyd Pfusch at Perkins School of Theology and assistant director of graduate music studies at SMU; and John Erickson, organist at Highland Park United Methodist Church in Dallas.

Area pastors, choir directors, organists, choir members and all other interested persons in this area have an invitation to attend the special event. Additional information on the workshop is obtainable from St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 694-2571.

The workshop will begin at 2 p.m. and continue through the afternoon and evening. The event will culminate in a "Great Night of Singing," featuring a massed choir. The music service will be open to the public without charge.

According to Dr. O. A. McBrayer, pastor of St. Luke's UMC, the registration fee of $4 for the workshop will include a meal Sunday evening in the church fellowship hall. The church nursery will be open during the workshop to care for infants and small children.

Holy Trinity sets programs

Again this year, the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity will have a series of special Lenten programs.

The "soup suppers" and lectures will be held in the parish hall each Wednesday during Lent, beginning Wednesday and continuing through April 4.

The suppers will begin at 6:30 p.m., with program scheduled to begin at 7, followed by a question-and-answer period between 8 and 8:30.

Theme of this year's series is "Journey to Maturity."

At the first program Wednesday, the Rev. Sam B. Hulse, rector of the parish, will lecture on "Journey Toward Death."

Additional program topics and speakers are: March 14, "Journey Outward" by Dr. Phillip Turner, professor at the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest, Austin; March 21, "Journey With the Family," by Dr. Leslie Bond, psychologist at Austin State Hospital; March 28, "Journey Inward," by the Rev. William Nix, rector of St. Stephen's Church, Lubbock; April 4, "Journey to Our Past," with speaker to be announced.

The weekly events will be open to all interested persons in the city and surrounding area.

The Blackwood Brothers, internationally-known gospel music ensemble, will present a concert at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium of Odessa's Permian High School. The Blackwoods recently were voted No. 1 male gospel group by the Gospel Music Association. The Sunday program is sponsored by Quad K Radio and admission will be free.

More than $5 million raised to help hungry

ELKHART, Ind. — Hunger walks, rural canvasses and 30-hour group fasts in more than 1,500 communities throughout the U.S. during 1978 brought in more than $5 million to help the world's hungry during 1979, according to spokesmen at CROP headquarters here.

CROP, the community hunger appeal of Church World Service, reported that gifts for the hungry rose by almost $250,000 in a year when giving to numerous philanthropic causes was reported to be down. Contributions to the CWS clothing appeal, administered by CROP, were valued at $4,057,542.

CROP organizes fund raising and educational events on a community-wide ecumenical basis, and offers participants the opportunity to designate their gifts to the hunger relief or development agencies of their choice. As of Dec. 31, 1978, a total of $842,013 had been shared with other agencies, including the Catholic Relief Services, the Mennonite Central Committee, Lutheran World Relief, the World Relief Commission of the National Association of Evangelicals, and CARE.

More than $220,000 from CROP projects was utilized in U.S. communities to support meals-on-wheels, community food pantries and similar local programs assisting the elderly, the handicapped and other disadvantaged persons.

Because of an exceptionally high frequency of major disasters in 1978, there was an increase in large shipments of food commodities in Church World Service.

Survivors of floods in Costa Rica and drought in northern Ghana, as well as refugees from civil strife in Lebanon, Nicaragua and Jamaica, were among those whose needs "stretched the capabilities of CWS to the limit," said Paul McCleary, executive director of Church World Service.

Norman B. Holmes

Norman Holmes will speak here

Norman B. Holmes, a Christian Science lecturer from Chicago, will speak on "Finding God's Direction" at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave.

Holmes' appearance in the city is under sponsorship of the Midland First Church of Christ, Scientist. The program will be open to the public at no charge.

The visitor is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. A graduate of Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., he left the banking business during World War II to join the U.S. Navy, and he served almost 13 years as a Navy chaplain. He has been a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science for many years. He formerly served as manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Holmes believes that Christianity provides not just a comforting touch in time of personal trouble, but offers healing as well.

He says that the deep need in a crisis is to realize more clearly "the nature of God and man," and adds that this is a matter of spiritual awakening, a prayerful effort that "leads to increased capacities, greater happiness and health — it leads us to accept God's understanding."

Holmes' program here Tuesday night will be approximately an hour in length.

Protest continues

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Protestant churches are continuing their protests against compulsory high school military training in communist East Germany, the Lutheran World Federation reports.

It says a government spokesman assured churchmen that youths not participating would not be discriminated against, but the church authorities have rejected that statement as meaningless since the education ministry can grade those not participating as "failed" without excuse.

Doug Rohre to deliver lessons at Church of Christ meetings

Doug Rohre, new pulpit minister at the North A and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ, will deliver the lessons at a series of gospel meetings scheduled at the church next week. Clinton Davis will be song leader for the events.

The gospel series will begin Sunday and continue through March 8. The North A and Tennessee Streets congregation is inviting all residents of the city and surrounding area to attend the meetings.

The gospel emphasis will be initiated at Sunday morning Bible classes. Morning worship will begin at 10:30. At 2:30 p.m. Sunday, there will be an area-wide singing and music service. Special guests at the event will be an ensemble of young people, known as "The Sunny Days," from Lubbock Christian College.

The Sunday evening service will begin at 6 p.m. Special weeknight services are scheduled to begin at 7:30 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Rohre, the new minister for the North A and Tennessee Streets congregation, moved here recently from Waco. He announced that persons needing transportation to the gospel services next week may telephone the church office, 682-8653, to make arrangements.

Rev. J.P. Jones succeeds Davis as pastor of Dellwood Baptist

Rev. J.P. Jones

The Rev. J.P. Jones is new pastor of Dellwood Baptist Church at Midkiff and West Ohio Ave. He succeeds Dr. Chapmond Davis who moved to Fort Worth several months ago.

Jones and his wife moved here from Lamesa where he had been engaged in business for the last three years. They have established residence at 3108 W. Ohio Ave.

Jones has been in the ministry for more than 35 years and has pastored a number of churches in the state during that time. He spent three years in a pastorate in Arkansas, his only pastorate outside Texas. He is a graduate of Jacksonville Baptist College at Jacksonville, Texas, and has held various offices and positions, ranging from local to national, within his denomination.

During the last 14 years, Jones has made five trips to the Middle East, conducting a number of special Bible Lands tours. As a consequence of his extensive travels, he has written a number of treatises on the Bible and Biblical history, and often lectures and presents film slide shows on Bible geography, designed to implement lay people's study and understanding of the Bible and the current mid-East conflicts.

Jones and his wife, Cleo, are the parents of a daughter who lives in Bryan and a son who resides in Little Rock. The couple has five grandchildren.
