Embassy attacked

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -Unidentified attackers blasted the U.S. Embassy in Beirut with two rocket-propelled grenades today, but no one was injured, authorities reported.

The attack came just a day after renewed threats by Palestinian guerrillas to attack "American interests" because the United States helped bring about the peace treaty between Israel and Egypt.

Embassy and police officials said two men fired the rockets from about 150 yards away then sped away in an automobile. One exploded before hitting the building, but the other smashed through a second-floor window and exploded inside an empty office, an embassy official said.

"We were very fortunate no one was in the room at the time," said the official, who asked not to be identified.

Power restored

BOSTON (AP) — Power was restored today to about 60,000 residents of Boston's fashionable Back Bay who lost electricty for eight hours after a chain reaction of manhole fires and explosions.

During the night, the entire neighborhood was blacked out from Kenmore Square to Charles Street, which borders downtown. Boston Edison Co. cut power at 10:50 p.m. Sunday and had it completely restored at 6.52 a m. today

Boston Edison said the trouble began about 1 p.m. Sunday when a manhole exploded at the corner of Dartmouth and Boylston streets. The fire destroyed four direct current cables dating from World War II

Warrant unneeded

MONTGOMERY, Ala (AP) It has been customary for the governor to issue a death warrant when a condemned prisoner is electrocuted in Alabama. But Gov. Fob James' office says he does not plan to do it.

Press secretary Jon Ham said today James has been told by his legal adviser there is nothing in the law which requires a certificate from the governor after a court has set the execution

The state Supreme Court has ordered John Louis Evans III of Beaumont, Texas, put to death in the electric chair at Holman Prison on Friday for the killing of a pawnshop owner in Mobile

Because that date has not been changed since it was fixed by the court. Ham said the legal adviser has told the governor no further warrant is necessary

Appeal denied

WASHINGTON*(AP) - The Supreme Court today refused to hear the appeal of a convicted murderer sentenced to die in Georgia's electric chair

The justices left Jerry Banks' conviction intact despite his arguments that state courts were wrong not to consider whether he had been denied effective legal help. Banks was twice convicted in the shotgun killings of Marvin King and Melanie Hartsfield. whose bodies were found in a wooded area of Henry County, Ga, in late 1974

Banks was first convicted and sentenced to death on Jan 31. 1975. A new trial was ordered by the Georgia Supreme Court, however, when a new defense witness was located. Banks was convicted again on Nov. 18,

Reactor's final cool-down set

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Nuclear Regulatory Commission official said today a dangerous gas bubble inside the disabled Three Mile Island nuclear reactor "is showing dramatic decreases in size." He also said the fuel temperature was dropping and releases of radiation were being con-

Harold Denton, chief of operations for the NRC, told reporters at a briefing in Middletown that the bubble shrinkage and temperature decline were "certainly reason for optimism."

"I think it's safer than yesterday," Denton said. "I didn't expect such a He said that if the bubble were entirely removed, "there is no major hydraulic obstacle to a shutdown." However, he added tht he did not want to say the bubble was entirely gone at this point.

His statement confirmed a report by an official of Metropolitan Edison, which runs the facility, that the danger of an explosion caused by the bubble had been substantially reduced over the past 24 hours.

Denton also said radioactive releases from the plant have been confined, based on monitoring in 37 locations in the area. It was not immediately clear if that meant no radioactivity was being released, as

There is no problems left. We're not emitting any and of the same, a Three Mile Island power plant spokesness said. The reactor is completely stable and ready for the tool cool-down from all things we know, we're not facing any melt down -- if we ever did," he said the company claimed. Denton said there were now just two fuel cells with temperatures of more than 400 degrees.

Denton also revealed that the NRC has ordered that operators at seven similarly designed nuclear power plants inform federal officials within 10 days on what steps are being taken to avoid the sort of crisis that has unfolded since Wednesday at Three Mile Island.

Before Denton's briefing, spokesman George Troffer of Metropolitan Edison told The Associated Press that as of 4 a.m., the bubble was measured at 210 cubic feet. He said that at 6 a.m. it was down to 190 cubic feet and at 9:45 a.m. it was 47 cubic feet. At one point Troffer told The AP the bubble was "gone," but he later acknowledged it still existed. Measurements were likely to continue to fluctuate, Troffer acknowledged, but he noted the marked difference from the levels of recent days. The average recently has been about 600 cubic feet, but it had gone as high as 1.800 cubic feet 'There are no problems left. We're not emitting any radioactive gases,'

Troffer said. Troffer issued his statement even though on Sunday, John Harrington, another utility spokesman, said the company was told by the White House 'that all releases would be given out by the NRC. Troffer said "the reactor is completely stable and ready for the final

"From all things we know, we're not facing any melt-down - if we ever did." said Troffer

Meanwhile, officials firmed up contingency plans for a precautionary evacuation of about a million residents. Schools remained closed and the governor extended his advisory that pre-school children and pregnant women and young children keep their distance. Civil Defense officials estimated that 50,000 persons have left

State government was open as usual, but the governor said there would be generous leaves granted for "absentees.

As a cold drizzle fell this morning, the atmosphere in downtown Harrisburg was one of quiet and anticipation

The dangerous bubble, made up of hydrogen and oxygen from chemical decomposition within the reactor core, was being bled slowly by letting the gas dissolve in the constantly circulating cooling water and then allowing it to escape from the water outside the reactor.

Scientists were concerned that oxygen would mix with the hydrogen in flammable proportions, inside the reactor dome. Also, there was a danger of increasing the hydrogen concentration in the outer containment building, prompting a possible explosion and the subsequent release of

If the bubble kept growing inside the reactor vessel, it could expose the uranium core — a remote chance that could trigger the worst possible catastrophe, a melt-down. In a melt-down, the core melts, burns through the reactor vessel and sinks into the ground, releasing much radioactivity. At its worst, a melt-down would contaminate thousands of square miles with radiation.

Trucking industry orders lockout in dispute with Teamsters union

WASHINGTON (AP) - Trucking executives are ordering an industrywide lockout in an escalating dispute with the Teamsters union over a contract that involves President Carter's anti-inflation guidelines.

Trucking Management Inc., the bargaining arm for more than 500 major trucking firms, ordered the shutdown Sunday after the union launched strikes against dozens of companies in the wake of a collapse of contract talks covering about 300,000 Teamsters. In a lockout, employers refuse to allow their employees to work

One more day remains for abelection of members of the Midland City Council, school boardand hospital district board of directors.

By noon today, 832 persons had cast ballots at the school administration office, 90 of them this morning, officials said.

Absentee balloting will continue from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday - the last day - in the administration building, 702 N.

administration would take.

Administration officials indicated afterwards they would not be able to assess the impact for several days, meaning they likely would wait before deciding whether to seek a back-

The shutdown is expected to affect a major portion of the nation's overthe-road freight business.

ALTHOUGH ESTIMATES of the impact on the economy vary substantially, industry executives have predicted that product shortages and manufacturing plant shutdowns would begin within a week and that a "serious economic crisis" could develop within two weeks.

Many trucking firms, anticipating a strike, made early shipments of orders before the Teamsters ordered a walkout at midnight Saturday.

Initial indications from the federal government were that serious economic disruptions would not develop for a few days.

"WE STRONGLY believe that the best way to resolve this dispute is through the collective bargaining process," Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said after the meeting

He said federal mediators will continue to work with the two sides "and we remain hopeful that a settlement will be negotiated soon

The union charged in a statement today that the industry ordered a lockout because it "is intent upon creating a crisis in order to pressure the administration into seeking a Taft-Hartley (back-to-work) injunc-

However, the union contended "a substantial segment" of the industry is not involved in the dispite and many carriers are refusing to join the lockout and are signing contracts with the Teamsters.

Chief federal mediator Wayne L.

Horvitz said the negotiators had come "awfully close" to reaching agreement before breaking off talks.

The two sides had no immediate plans to resume negotiations, but the union's 350-member bargaining committee has scheduled a meeting for Wednesday in Chicago

THE WHITE HOUSE, which has been watching the negotiations closely, declined comment. "We're not having any comment today (Sunday) on the Teamsters," spokeswoman Linda Peek said. The president has indicated previously he would not hesorder in the event of a shutdown.

The industry said it ordered the lockout "in defense against the strike," which it blamed on union demands for a contract exceeding the administration's 7 percent wage stan-

TMI said its final contract offer was the absolute maximum permitted" under the standard, which already had been relaxed somewhat to accommodate certain Teamster bargaining demands. Nearly two-thirds of the nation's

4,153 general freight haulers — companies that carry a variety of goods for a variety of destinations in one truck - are affected by the contract talks. In the 15 years that the Teamsters have negotiated national trucking contracts, there has been one prior strike, a three-day walkout in 1976.

UNION PRESIDENT Frank Fitzsimmons, ordering the walkouts late Saturday night, said "high-level government bureaucrats played no small role" in his decision.

The 70-year-old union boss blasted the administration for its enforcement of "voluntary guidelines" and said the Council on Wage and Price Stability and the Interstate Commerce Commission had "made free collective bargaining a mockery."

Clapton blues captivate audience

The clinical precision of guitarist Eric Clapton laid bare the heart and soul of rhythm and blues Sunday at the Chaparral Center.

Crisp, sure and practiced, Clapton showed a level of maturity matched by few musicians. His blues riffs, as unpretentious as the stage setting, held the audience in stilled attention.

No overpowering light show, no smoke and fire, no dancing girls -Clapton was on stage for business only; the business of making music. Though Clapton is a consummate rock and roll musician, he focused the greatest part of his finely honed talents on an exploration of the blues.

The concert audience, primed by the ageless blues of Muddy Waters, reacted with a quiet concentration punctuated by occasional outbursts of applause and cheers.

Clapton's experience in the music industry is long and varied.

A versatile guitarist, Clapton began playing at the tender age of 16 in clubs around London in 1951. He joined the Yardbirds in 1963 and in 1968 began playing with Creme.

He obviously has learned many things from the long years of practice and performance, the least of which is that an audience does not need the glamour and glitter of a million-dollar stage production to appreciate quali-

Mennonites' land to be auctioned off

SEMINOLE — The land the colony of Mennonites here had envisioned as a self-sufficient community spread over 6,400 acres of farm and ranch land will be auctioned off between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Gaines County Courthouse.

The corporate board the Old Colony Mennonite Church had set up two years ago to make installment payments on the land valued at $1.8 million defaulted on a $230,000 payment due Feb. 15.

Landowner-rancher Dennis Nix, who sold the old 10-section 70 Ranch spread to the colony, and Lamesa National Bank foreclosed on the note and demanded full payment of the $1.3 million still due

Members of the 125-family religious sect here had paid $575,000 toward the purchase, but fell short of cash when the payoff in crops and cattle did not meet their expectations.

Much of the premise in the land was in underground water, but the sect, as it turned out, did not have water rights over much of the land. Then, too, they were beset by a two-year drought.

Peter Bergen, a Mennonite leader who invested $70,000 in a section of that land, said he was distressed over the loss of the acreage.

'We worked long and hard for that land, but now there's just nothing we can do about it," he said.

Bergen was a tobacco farmer in Canada before he moved here a year ago. Unlike most of the Mennonites, he has permanent U.S. residency. Currently, he is farming leased land north of Seminole.

Most of the Mennonites have long since left the land, and the men have found jobs in or around Seminole.

At present, they are awaiting passage of a private bill to give them legal status in this country.

Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, sponsor of the special act, described the 653 Mennonites named in the bill as "peaceable, hard-working people." They are subject to deportation to Canada and Mexico unless they are granted visas or permanent residen-

At Tuesday's auction, Dennis Nix likely will try to regain his former land, although it will go to the highest bidder, said Lamesa attorney Ed Fulbright, who is representing Dennis.

Twister damages Arkansas home

By The Associated Press

Monte Sheppard first heard loud wind gusts and a whirling noise coming from outside his house in Texarkana, Ark.

As he was walking to the back of the house, away from the loud noise that shook its foundation, the front porch was ripped away.

"It was a suction to the house," Sheppard said as he surveyed the damage caused by a small tornado. A small camping trailer outside the house also was damaged.

Pro-nuclear forces feel support down

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Pro-nuclear forces in Austin fear a fallout of concern radiating from a crippled nuclear plant near Harrisburg, Pa., may melt down support at the polls for the largest nuclear project planned for Texas.

"Something like 36 percent of the voters were undecided. It is hard to sell the undecided when something like this is happening," said Betty Himmelblau, a city council member and proponent of the Austin voters will decide Saturday if they want to hold onto their 16 percent interest in the $2.07 billion South Texas Nuclear Project.

And that balloting could chart the future course of the nuclear power industry, buffeted by the storm of controversy brewing in Harrisburg.

Project proponents fear the crisis in Pennsylvania could not have come at a worse time.

"If they (anti-nuclear forces) had gone out there and put a wrench to that valve they would have picked that day to do it," said John Rogers, who is running the campaign for the Texas project.

"It would take a political genius to pull this one out. I've never been involved in a situation where we don't have any control, where the opposition has the lead story on CBS, NBC and ABC television...," he said.

Taxpayers are being asked to spend $215.85 million in addition to the $160 million already approved for the plant under construction at a site about 70 miles southwest of Houston.

There are four propositions on the Austin ballot. The first would give the city authority to borrow money to pay for cost overruns at the project. The second determines whether the city should sell its 16 percent interest.

Both plants were designed and built by the same firm, Babcock & Wilcox Co. of Lynchburg,

Deplorable refusal

If the schedule holds, and there is every reason to believe that it will, black and white Rhodesians will go to the polls April 20 to elect a majority rule government.

In an effort to demonstrate that these elections will be fair and free, the biracial executive council now running Rhodesia has invited official observers from the United States and Britain.

Inasmuch as Anglo-American policy toward Rhodesia is intended, so we are told, to promote majority rule via the democratic process, one might expect Washington and London to welcome the opportunity to observe these elections at first hand.

If the elections are a sham, they could be denounced effectively as such by the returning observers. If, on the other hand, the electoral process is an honest one and if it produces a government reflecting the will of a majority of Rhodesians, would not Washington and London welcome this and publicly acknowledge it as well?

One certainly would think so, but the tragic truth is Washington and London earnestly want to avoid acknowledging any such thing. This is almost unbelievable. And because there is every reason to believe that the April 20 balloting will be as fair as any conducted in Britain or the United States, the Carter administration and Britain's Labor party government plan to keep their observers at home.

British and American policymakers reject the legitimacy of the April 20 election, not because the voting won't be fair, but because it will produce a government opposed by the Marxist forces of exiled guerrilla leaders Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo. Thus the war will continue. And all the while, the White House cries out for peace - peace in the Middle East.

And for those who hadn't noticed, ending the war long ago superseded the dream of majority rule as the overriding objective of Anglo-American policy.

Thus do the United States and Britain maintain economic and political sanctions against Rhodesia despite the fact that white majority - the original justification for sanctions rapidly is coming to an end. Moreover, the public statements of Secretary-Cyrus R. Vance and Britain's Foreign Secretary,

David Owen, clearly suggest that sanctions will be maintained until the war ends in a negotiated settlement acceptable to Mugabe and Nkomo, who, remember, are ruthless guerrilla leaders.

There-might be some justification for this policy if there were real hope that Mugabe and Nkomo would agree to join with other Rhodesian leaders in submitting their political ambitions to the electoral will of the people.

Unfortunately and notwithstanding the State Department's coy evasions on the subject, there isn't any discernible evidence that Nkomo and Mugabe are anything other than would-be despots determined to seize power through the barrel of a gun. Washington and London can hope, or pretend, otherwise, but it won't change the facts.

In truth, the Rhodesians have no choice but to proceed with an orderly transition to majority rule within a parliamentary framework which will guarantee basic civil political rights for blacks as well as whites.

With or without official American and British observers, the April 20 elections will be a milestone on the road to the worthy objective.

How long the new government can resist pressure from the guerrillas and their Soviet and Cuban allies will depend in large part on whether American and British policy can be returned to its original goal of promoting majori-

If you trace the tentacles in Ireland. Argentina, Chile, France, West Germany, Italy, the U.S. and Israel back to their source you end up in the Soviet Union which either directly or indirectly has supplied the arms, training and ideology. West European terrorists receive help from Cuban secret police stationed in Paris; Palestinians continuously provide training to other nations at their bases in Lebanon, Libya, Syria, Iraq and South Yemen. Soviet weapons shipped to the PLO in the Middle East are trans-shipped to underground arsenals in Europe. Many of the more notorious terrorist operations have been executed by multinational teams of killers.

There has been a lot of talk in this. country about terrorism, but so far we have done very little to combat it. Libya is to terrorism what the North Pole is to Santa Claus, yet we have the spectacle of the President's brother fawning over Libyan thugs and making gross remarks about Jews. The terrorist often attaches himself to a cause in which others are sincerely involved, but he uses it only as a cover to mask his own goal. The murder of a 14-year-old clarinetist of Palestinian Arabs. If the PLO were really interested in establishing a Palestinian state they would be supporting Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. Sadat has done more with his theatrics and negotiations than it has with its 1,000 plus murders. Yet, the PLO is threatening Sadat with death. It is trying to sabotage the peace treaty and it is involving itself in the terrorist operations of other nations.

We should close the PLO offices in the U.S. and deport any PLO members or supporters who are not citizens. We don't need to harbor murderers or fund-raisers and propagandists for murderers. Those who are U.S. citizens should be made to register with the Justice Department and be subjected to surveillance and harrassment. This policy should be applied to all supporters of foriegnbased terrorist organizations. We have harrassed and spied on anti-Castro Cubans so you needn't get your ACLU dander up.

The present administration, however, has demonstrated it lacks the will and moral courage to confront terrorism. It has secretly encouraged the PLO by pledging to support an independent Palestinian state on the West Bank. It has encouraged and supported the Marxist terrorists trying to impose a dictatorship on Rhodesia and it has handed out visas like discount coupons to any visiting terrorists who want to have their rest and relaxation in the U.S.

I have a low opinion of the Carter administration and it is shared by millions of many races and nationalities who believe in humanity, justice and democratic government. The Americans who watch what Carter's administration does instead of listening to what it says will understand.

IT'S A REAL PROBLEM, I CAN'T MENSCH-BEAT 'EM AND I SURE DON'T WANT TO JOIN

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Carter's choice for GSA told

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Former naval officer Jimmy Carter has selected a no-nonsense, take-charge admiral to clean up a scandal-ridden federal agency. He may turn out to be every bit as controversial as Adm. Stansfield Turner at the CIA.

Rear Adm. Rowland G. Freeman III, the president's choice to replace Jay Solomon at the General Services Administration, was a Navy fighter pilot in World War II. He was shot down in the Pacific, but he doesn't intend to be shot down again - least of all by friendly fire from the United States Army.

Circumstances placed Freeman in position two years ago where he has to depend on Army approval to do his job as head of the Defense Systems Management College at Fort Belvoir, Va. Because the school is located on an Army base, the Pentagon's bureaucratic procedure dictates that Freeman's funds must be channeled through the Army.

Our sources indicate that this arrangement doesn't sit well at all with Freeman, a feisty, gruff-talking 57-year-old whose crusty demeanor and weatherbeaten features belie the mildness of his nickname, "Doc." He has made no secret of the fact that he'd prefer to deal directly with the secretary of defense, and his suspicion of the landlubbers who ride herd on him is apparently reciprocated by the Army.

Recently the Ft. Belvoir comptroller sent Freeman a letter informing him that the management college had overspent its travel budget by $288. Outraged at being called on the carpet over such a petty matter, Freeman fired off a far-fromcontrite letter to the Army's inspector general demanding that he decide, for once and for all, who controls the

On a more serious level, sources told our associate Peter Grant that Freeman has crossed swords with some members of the Policy Guidance Council, a group of highlevel Pentagon brass which acts as the college's board of directors. Insisting that his staff be expanded to handle the revamping of military procurement procedures, Freeman pleaded for more personnel and the council agreed at its fall meeting to

With his characteristic damn-thetorpedoes attitude, Freeman moved full-speed ahead and began hiring immediately, even though his appropriations had not been increased to cover the added staffing. The appointment of a military man to head the government's housekeeping agency and biggest civilian purchasing arm has already drawn criticism from congressmen who worry about the military's penchant for non-competitive bidding on government contracts. EGG EXPERT? Some of the most impressive witnesses before federal regulatory agencies are scientists. whose testimony gains added weight because of their supposed objectivity. But when one of these expert witnesses is perceived as being in bed with the industry his testimony favors, the industry winds up with egg on its face.

This appears to be the case with Dr. Fred Kummerow, a University of Illinois professor who volunteered to help the egg industry get its views across to the federal regulators. He has received sizable research grants from the American Egg Board and the Wallace Genetic Foundation. The foundation was established by the son of the late politico Henry Wallace. The Wallace family also had an interest in Hy-Line International, a producer of high-quality egg-laying chickens. The foundation shelled out almost $197,000 to Kummerow between 1973 and 1977.

In 1975, the Federal Trade Commission sued to keep the National Commission on Egg Nutrition - an industry association - from advertising that "there is absolutely no competent and reliable scientific evidence that eating eggs, even in quantity, increases the risk of heart Fred Kummerow was the only scientist to testify on behalf of the egg industry. Kummerow is among a small group of scientists who believe that eating eggs does not increase blood cholesterol, and that anyway, high cholesterol does not impair longevity. On a recent appearance before the FTC, he presented data from the American Heart Association which he said showed more elderly people alive in groups with high cholesterol than in those with low cholesterol.

The AHA protested to Kummerow that his references to their data were "inaccurate an inappropriate."

INSIDE REPORT:

The Jackson-Vanik debate: profound disagreement

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Profound disagreement over strategy toward the Soviet Union which exists within the Democratic party was exposed again March 8 when Rep. Charles Vanik of Ohio signaled his intention to disavow the most famous legislation that bears his name, the Jackson-Vanik amendment.

His signal took a curious form: an unsent draft of a letter to President Carter suggesting that he recommend full trade relations with the Soviet Union (as well as Communist China) because of higher Soviet emigration. In effect, Vanik was proposing that Jackson-Vanik become a dead letter.

The four-year-old Jackson-Vanik amendment requires assurances from Moscow that it will not impede emigration of Jews and other minority groups; otherwise it cannot enjoy normalized trade relations ("most favored nation" treatment) from the U.S. To that, the Soviets say absolutely nyet. So, Vanik now suggests that the president declare rising Soviet emigration figures constitute assurance enough.

It is as though Fred Hartley had urged a presidential edict overriding key provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor act. Consequently, there is suspicion that Vanik's letter to the president was inspired by the president's men, or at least the State Depart-

Vanik flatly denied to us any such administration role, and colleagues on the House foreign trade subcommittee, which he heads, believe it was his own idea. Nevertheless, it is most congenial to the administration's views and probably the president's own thoughts. And it is most uncongenial to Vanik's erstwhile legislative collaborator, Sen. Henry M. Jack-

Jackson is the reason Vanik's letter has not been and may never be dispatched to the White House. When Jackson got wind of Vanik's initiative, he raised the roof. Vanik told us he has delayed a final decision on the letter until he visits Moscow next month. But a meeting with Jackson on Wednesday might have dissuaded Vanik permanently.

Whether the Jackson-Vanik partnership is healed, the real argument is between Jackson and the president. Scoop Jackson wants to play hardball with the Kremlin, and Jimmy Carter does not. Vanik's March 8 draft letter to Carter relates a Feb. 28 conversation between the congressman and Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy Dobrynin. Vanik expressed pleasure over 31,000 Soviet exit visas granted last year, then came to the point: "In view of the improved climate, I asked him if his country would be willing to provide the assurances required (by Jackson-Vanik)...as a condition of MFN (most favored nation) extension. He was very quick to respond that this was not possible.'

According to Vanik's letter, he then suggested to Dobrynin that "it might be possible" for Carter to recommend most favored status for both China and Russia. "With respect to the Soviet Union, I suggested that" the president's recommendation "could be based on a finding that the positive trend of Soviet emigration indicates the process of human rights in the U.S.S.R. is proceeding at a much improved level." There went Jackson-Vanik.

"Ambassador Dobrynin reacted very warmly," Vanik's letter continued, promising "his government would react promptly and confidentially." Dobrynin agreed with Vanik's view that a Carter most favored nation request for both communist powers might be accepted by senators who favor it for China but not Russia (a category that includes Jackson). In conclusion, Vanik urged the president to move well before the 1980 campaign. A P.S. states that "all members of the subcommittee on trade have read this letter and a strong majority concur with my approach." Actually, before Vanik could poll the subcommittee, Jackson protested vehement-

Jackson feels that the increase in emigration was forced by Jackson-Vanik economic pressure, and now is no time to let up on the pressure. Soviet emigration is far from free, and Vanik's assertion of "much improved" human rights in Russia is a blatant overstatement. On March 12, a Ukrainian dissident historian monitoring Soviet compliance with the Helsinki human rights agreement committed suicide under police ha-

Whether or not Vanik was acting on his own, high administration officials are aware of and sympathetic to his initiative. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal felt out Jackson on Vanik's idea (and found him totally unreceptive). Candidate Carter in 1976 pledged support of Jackson-Vanik, which produced Jackson's badly needed help among Jewish voters. But the defection of Vanik could make easier the larger defection of Carter.

The words of Charley Vanik reflect the ideas of men at the State Department who want even-handed treatment for China and the Soviet Union. In contrast, Jackson would grant trade advantages, including credits, to China but withhold them from a Soviet Union now on the march worldwide. Thus the Jackson-Vanik squabble reflects a foreign policy debate of incalculable importance.

Cola Petroleum, Inc., of Midland No. 1-41 Harvey (formerly No. 1-41 Harry) has been completed in the Calvin (Dean) field of Upton County, 3.5 miles southeast of Midkiff.

On 24-hour potential test it pumped 150 barrels of 41-gravity oil and 50 barrels of water, through perforafinal depth of 8,000 feet, true vertical.

4,000 gallons of acidand 130,000 gallons of fracture solution. Location is 1.5 miles southwest of other Dean production and 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 41, block 37, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Venezuela ups oil price

deron Berti told a news conference Sunday Venezuela will charge $15.39 a

Because all of the wells will be directionally drilled, their actual length will be somewhat greater.

special precautions because all of the development wells will pass through geopressured zones at approximately 6,000 feet.

The geopressured zone will not only make the wells more costly to drill. but will demand exceptional caution by those involved in the drilling.

Even before the first well was spudded, steps were taken to guard against the possibility of a blowout. In addition to keeping well monitoring and blowout prevention equipment in top shape, the drilling crews will be alerted when they are nearing the geopressured zone, so they can take every possible precaution. "We're being as careful as we can on this program" Perrin notes. "For example, we're function testing our blowout preventers every time we make a trip down the hole, pressure testing them every week, and running further tests every time we do any maintenance on them." Primarily because of the need to use very heavy drilling mud for the A561 wells, development costs will be higher than for wells drilled in formations with more normal pressures. "It is because regulations will now permit us to get higher prices for new supplies of oil and gas from such a discovery,"Perrin explains, "that we can justify the expense of the development program." ..

With the exception of the geopressured zone, he doesn't expect the drilling program to encounter any unusual difficulties. "Of course, you always have the weather to contend he adds, "but unless fog and rough seas continue for an extended period, bad weather shouldn't delay the drilling." Although the actual drilling is being carried out by the Penrod Drilling co., Aminoil has a drilling department employee on hand 24 hours a day to physically supervise the work. Alternating seven-day shifts on A561 are drilling foremen Eugene Hazelwood and Wilmer LeBlanc.

"I go out to the platforms where we're working as often as necessary to take a look at the condition of the equipment we're using and to get on-th-spot feedback from the people who are involved in doing the work," Perrin says.

Perrin estimates that it will take Aminoil's drilling department approximately one and a half years to drill and another year to complete all the wells from A561. At that point, the platform will be turned over to the production department.

Until then, however, Perrin and his staff will keep a close watch over drilling activity on the platform. 'We'll stay on top of things as long as drilling continues," he notes. "In the meantime, we just can't be too care-

Confucius birthplace reopened

TOKYO (AP) - The birthplace of the Chinese philosopher Confucius was opened to foreigners Sunday after restoration of relics "seriously damaged" on orders of the radical "Gang of Four," China's Xinhua (Hsinhua) news agency reported.

The shrine at Qufu (Chufu), in Shandong (Shantung) Province, was restored, Xinhua said, under the policy of "clearly distinguishing between appraisal of historical figures and the preservation of historical relics."

But the agency made clear that Confucianism, which guided China for more than 2,000 years, still is in disfavor with the Communist regime.

Tanzanian planes bomb Uganda

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Tanzanian forces stepped up their war against President Idi Amin today with an air attack on Jinja, Uganda's second largest city, and renewed shelling of Kampala, his capital, after apparently pushing his Libyan de-fenders back, diplomatic sources re-

Residents of Jinja, 50 miles east of Kampala, said three fighters made a brief bombing run over the city but missed their apparent target, the local army garrison. Instead, their bombs fell near the Libyan Arab Uganda Bank, causing few injuries and doing little damage, the sources said.

The Tanzanian air force made its first attack of the five-month-old war on Sunday, cratering the main runway of the international airport at Entebbe. But Ugandan exiles in Nairobi expressed surprise at the raid on Jinja. Some of them suggested the attackers were Amin's Libyan allies threatening the Ugandan troops at Jinja, who the exiles said had refused to go into action against the invasion force of Tanzanian troops and Ugandan exiles.

Diplomats in Nairobi said the shelling of Kampala, the Ugandan capital, resumed early this morning and at least five artillery shells landed on the city. They said an oil storage tank was hit and a pall of black smoke rose from the industrial area on the eastern side of the city.

The Tanzanian guns shelled Kampala for three days last week. By the weekend diplomats there reported the Libyans had pushed the invaders back at least 12 miles from the city,

Former Houston policemen await jury's decision

HOUSTON (AP) - Three former Houston police officers anxiously awaited word of their fate today as jurors began the fifth full day of deliberations on charges the men deprived a Louisiana teen-ager, who was shot to death, of his civil rights.

Norva! Wayne Holloway, Paul D. Dillon and Danny H. Mays contend they shot 17-year-old Randal Alan Webster in self-defense after a highspeed chase. But prosecutors charge that Webster was trying to surrender when Mays struck the youth in the head, causing his pistol to fire. The prosecutors also allege the trio conspired to cover up the truth by planting a "throw-down" gun next to Webster's body and lying to the grand jury about the incident. The federal court jury, which has not beeen sequestered, already has pondered the case for 20 hours. It was to resume today at 9 a.m. Jury foreman J.T. Taylor said at the close of Friday's deliberations that the panel was making progress out of artillery range. But anti-Amin Ugandans said it was "only a matter of time" before a final assault was launched against the city.

Residents of Kampala reported by telephone that Libyan ground forces,

You are so right, Abby. I'm 29, and I still get pains in my stomach when I recall how one popular girl in my sixth grade class invited everybody but me and another girl to her Halloween party. Continued use of nitrite is requested

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration has asked Congress to let food processors continue using the preservative sodium nitrite for at least another year, despite a studyshowing the substance may cause cancer. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland told reporters that if Congress accepts their plan, they can begin getting nitrites out of the food supply next year and rid food of the additive entirely by May 1, 1982.

It could be removed from some foods sooner, they said. But acting too quickly could expose the public to new threats from food poisoning, they

In a letter dated Friday but prepared last month, Attorney General Griffin Bell told his fellow Cabinet officers that current law requires any additive found to cause cancer to be banned as soon as possible.

The secretaries asked Congress to waive that part of the law for nitrites until May 1, 1980, to allow time for industry to find other preservatives and perhaps make changes in the law to allow consideration of an additive's benefits.

"Nitrites pose a unique and difficult paradox in our quest for food safety," Califano said. "They are a chemical additive that protects the public health in one critical respect and yet threatens it in another.'

Sodium nitrate and its derivative, nitrite, are used in about 7 percent of the foods Americans eat, especially cured meats like bacon.

party because there would be dancing and I wouldn't have a very good time sitting and watching everyone else dance! - J. W. D., CHICAGO

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column certainly jogged some unhappy memories of my school days. When I was in the eighth grade, a girl in my room had a birthday party and invited everybody in the class but me and another girl. Her party was held on a Friday night and I skipped school that day because I was so humiliated I didn't think I could face my classmates without breaking down in tears. That was 53 years ago, but I remember it as though it was yesterday. — CELIA IN

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for siding with the teacher who wouldn't let a student pass out invitations to a party. I am a retired schoolteacher who frequently had to fight the same battle with some of my student's mothers. You would not believe how insensitive some people could be!

Some kids would have parties and exclude all the Jewish kids. . . or the black kids. . . or the Indian kids.

Small wonder some of those youngsters grew up to be bigots. They were carefully taught at home that anybody who was "different" was inferior. Thank heavens things are different now. TEACHER: S. D.

DEAR ABBY: When I was in fifth grade, we moved out of state and I had to change schools. Being very shy, I didn't make friends very easily at my new school, so when the most popular boy in the class had a party, he invited everyone except me and a very fat boy. I felt terribly hurt. One of the kids in our class liked the fat boy, and refused to attend the party unless he was invited, too. The fat boy in turn said HE wouldn't go unless "the new kid" (me) was invited. So as it turned out everyone in the class went and had a good time! -S. L. IN ILLINOIS

It's considered bad manners to risk "cutting up" other representatives with a potentially unpopular special interest vote unless you know you can

Rep. Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, will ask the House to approve a Senate-passed bill raising state "tuition equalization grants" to students at private colleges, most of them church-related.

Grants now are $600, and Nabers' bill would raise the maximum grant to half the amount it would cost the state each year to educate a student at a state

Nabers' hometown also is the home of Howard Payne College, a Baptist institution. Another supporter of higher tuition equalization grants is Gov. Bill Clements, a former trustee of Southern Methodist University.

In this case, the special interest lobby is Independent Colleges and Universities of Texas (ICUT), which won passage of the present tuition grant law in

The debt limit measure has been held up by disagreement over a proposed amendment to require a balanced federal budget.

A vote on the bill — this year's first major battle over deficit spending — was expected today when Republicans try to bring up a stringent balanced budget amendment.

The old debt limit of $798 billion expired Saturday, throwing the government into a fiscal crisis and raising the possibility that there might not be enough money to cover Social Security checks scheduled for delivery Tuesday to 35 million Americans.

Treasury Department officials have refused to say flatly that there won't be enough money in government accounts to back the Social Security checks. But a department statement said that without an increase in the debt limit, "the Treasury will be unable to meet its obligations on Tuesday." Department sources, who asked to remain anonymous, raised the possibility of the government being able to pay its most pressing bills by shifting available funds from accounts where they were not urgently needed to those where the need was

Democratic leaders were counting on the prospect of the government not being able to pay its bills to help pressure Republicans into passing the bill without the amendment.

The Democrats argue that adding the Republican amendment would further delay enactment of the bill and force the government to begin defaulting on its financial obligations as early as Tuesday.

The Republican-backed amendment would require three-fifths majorities in both houses of Congress to raise the debt limit to pay for unbalanced federal budgets starting with fiscal 1981, the budget year beginning Oct. 1, 1980.

The Democratic-supported amendment, approved by the Senate as a substitute for the Dole-Armstrong proposal, would require the congressional budget committees to offer balanced budgets for fiscal 1981 and fiscal 1982.

gearing up campaign

Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) - It's spring training for Jimmy Carter's re-election drive, and the president is turning into a weekend warrior on the campaign trail.

With the first primary election about 10 months away, he and Vice President Walter F. Mondale are in the midst of a number of political appearances.

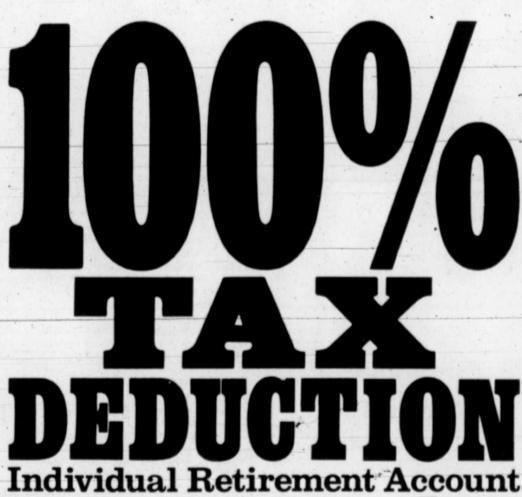

Carter spent last Saturday in Wisconsin, speaking at two fundraisers and two private receptions. He is planning a similar political trip to Richmond, Va., this Saturday.

Mondale will visit New Jersey Thursday for a plitical dinner and Friday and Saturday will be doing Democratic party work in North Dakota, Minnesota and Alabama

Mondale has not been relieved of typical vice presidential charges, although by all accounts he holds a special position in the administration as the result of a unique relationship he and Carter say they have established.

He spent more than an hour Friday at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., for the inauguration of the school's. new president.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Will medication help a hyperactive child do better in school? As a school teacher, I would like to know more about the problem .- Ms. E.S.

Dear Ms. S.: Medication alone is seldom sufficient in the treatment of hyperactivity. Because the hyperkinetic child generally has a short attention span and is easily distracted, changes within the school and home environment also are needed. Given specialized academic support, the hyperactive child can succeed in school. Consistent limits should be imposed, and special academic tasks and instruction can be devised to help the youngster compensate for perceptual-motor and behavioral disorders.

Hyperkinetic children sometimes have minimal neurological impairment, accompanied by learning disabilities, but this does not imply retardation; many have superior intelligence. It is estimated that from two to five percent of American children are in some degree hyperactive, and the incidence is 10 times higher for boys than for girls.

Furnace eyed as art center

By GARRY MITCHELL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Scrape the rust off an abandoned ironworks furnace, toss in $18 million, and America could have its own Pompidou Center in Construction of the Pompidou Cultural Center in Paris caused a stir in architectural and cultural circles because of its daring design. And now, city officials in Birmingham want to convert the aging Sloss Furnace, a symbol of the city's steel heritage, into a similar attraction. In the Sloss Furnace's present state, rust is winning a race with time. David McMullin, a 47-year-old former Wall Street executive, was hired by the city to turn the rusty smokestacks and plant buildings into a unique tourist attraction.

McMullin's plans include a museum of science and industry, as well as a museum of culture, all built at an estimated cost of $18 million. Voters approved a $3 million bond sale in 1977 to develop Sloss.

"Just as the tourist goes to Disneyland for entertainment and fantasy, he or she will visit Birmmingham's Sloss Furnace in order to be entertained and to gain in awareness of reality," says McMullin wants corporations and foreign governments to offer industrial exhibits. He's seeking government and private money to pay the price of An iron and steel exhibit now on display at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry has been

The iron furnace, built in 1882, was closed in

In production, the furnace was an attraction of its own with orange streams of molten ore visible to motorists driving along the avenue that parallels the facility. Whether cafes, museums and other attractions will do the same is the question.

'We need a study by experts to determine what all is possible and at what costs," says McMullin.

After touring the facility, urban planner Richard Weinstein of New York remarked, "I thought it was one of the most impressive objects I've ever seen, if you can call something like that an object. It reminded me of a great ruin outside an Italian city.

The project has been endorsed by the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects. "If it is worth saving as a symbol of the city's industrial heritage," says Gray Plosser, a spokesman for the group, "it is worth the effort to make it a viable landmark rather than a rusting hulk."

SANANDAJ, Iran — it is springtine in Kurdistan, a time of cherry blossoms and rushing rivers and, this year, a time of unrest for the tough, independent, hospitable people who live in these remote mountains.

Iran's 3 milion Kurds, an ethnic minority living at the western edge of the country, are demanding more autonomy from the revolutionary government in Tehran after half a century of repression by the ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his father, the Reza Shah.

THE PROUD KURDS - who wear a distinctive national dress of baggy pants, brocaded sashes, vests over their gunbelts and swirled turbans participated in the revolution led by the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and expect to reap some benefits from it.

'We fought for the revolution," Dr. Khosrav Khosravi said, "and we don't want to see an anti-Kurdish dictatorship in Tehran replaced by a religious one.

"We are asking for cultural and administrative self-determination: the right to see Kurds appointed to government positions, to teach our language in our schools and to wear our national dress

'We have no wish to be an independent state - we want to be part of Iran but have our own nationhood respected.'

The Kurds backed up their demand for more local autonomy with a violent attack on the Iranian army garrison here in this capital of Iranian Kurdistan. For the moment an uneasy cease-fire has been arranged and there have been promises of some autonomy made by the central gov-

BUT THE OUTBREAK of shooting underlines a troublesome problem for Khomeini's new revolutionary regime and his prime minister, Medhi Bazargan: Granting autonomy to the Kurds might lead other minorities to demand regional and ethnic autonomy, Such a movement in this land of 35 million people - a large percentage of whom belong to non-Persian stock - could spur a "Balkanization" of Iran, government ministers fear. Among the other minorities:

-The Baluchis of southeastern Iran, who have close ties to tribesmen in Afghanistan and Pakistan. -The Turkomen of the northeast, with ties across the Soviet border.

-THE TURKISH-SPEAKING inhabitants of Azerbaijan in the northwest, who comprise almost 20 percent of the Iranian population, some authoritative sources say. They have always been prosperous, however, playing a strong role in Iranian affairs and have little reason for dissat-

-The second largest Turkish group, the seminomadic Qashqai, numbering about 500,000 and living near the southern city of Shiraz,, they constitute the best organized tribal confederation in Iran.

-The people of Khuzistan, an Arab ethnic group (Persians are not Arabs), living in the oil-producing area of Iran near the Persian Gulf. The sense of separatism is not so strong among the Arab minority.

THE NEW GOVERNMENT does not have the sure control of the military means to suppress Kurdish separatism - as the shah and his father

"It is a very serious problem of the central government," one experienced diplomat commented. "Without an effective army, the government is incapable of enforcing its will. And now it is not even clear exactly what its will is."

The Kurds resent the army's presence. Just as they have effectively taken over administration of their towns, the Kurds have also set up roadblocks to cut off military supplies and reinforcements to the army garrison here.

The Kurds, however, do not lack arms; every Kurdish man seems to have at least one firearm, be it an Iranian army automatic rifle, a Soviet-made Kalishnikov, an Israeli Uzi submachine gun, an American M-1 rifle or a vintage German Bruno

"Unless there is democracy for the Kurds, the shooting will start again.

A few doors away, a college-educated housewife named Parvaneh Ghorischi, 30, ignored the sounds of sporadic gunfire outside her window and offered a visitor a tasty meal of kebab, rice and the delicious paperthin bread of Kurdistan, shaped like a giant pizza.

She broke out a bottle of Johnny Walker scotch and poured a glass. She smiled and said

"SALEMI MATI - to your health. You know, we could get 25 lashes under the new regime for drinking whisky. But we Kurds don't like to be told by a government or by mullahs what or what not to drink.'

An estimated 12 million Kurds have historically inhabited the mountainous region that includes part of Iran, Iraq, Turkey, the Soviet Union and Tanned by the sun, hardened by the elements, the Kurds are tenacious foes, hostile to government yet hospitable to visitors Many tribal Kurds live primitively and are mostly illiterate. But those with the opportunity for education have become leading doctors, lawyers and teachers. THE EDUCATED KURDS have given an intellectual impetus to the drive for Kurdish autonomy, and some Kurdish politicians have been moving toward support of a fully independent Kurdistan state. But because the Kurdish region falls within the boundaries of several strong nations, the move has always In 1946, with the assistance of Soviet troops who remained in Iran after the end of World War II, the short-lived Independent Republic of Kurdistan was established, with its capital in Mohabad. The republic collapsed when the Soviet troops were finally forced to withdraw.

In Iraq, for four decades the Kurdish fight for independence was led by Mustafa Barzani, a veteran guerrilla

BY THE EARLY 1970s Barzani's forces were able to hold off the entire Iraqi army - and the Kurds laid claim to Iraq's valuable Kirkuk oil field, which lay within their domain.

During his battles Barzani was assisted by the Shah of Iran, who was involved in a bitter border dispute with Iraq himself and found it politically expedient to help Barzani. The old general also received some support from Israel and from the CIA, diplomatic sources say. But in 1975 the shah settled his differences with Iraq and, as part of the settlement, agreed to stop supporting Barzani. He also barred Barani's fighting units from using Iran as a military sanctuary.

As a result, the Iraqis drove into Kurdistan and chased Barzani and his followers across the mountainous border into Iran, effectively ending Kurdish resistance in Iraq.

With reported CIA aid, Barzani fled Iran and went into exile in the United States where he died a month ago.

To some Kurds Barzani was a hero of the independence movement. To those in Iran, he is anathema.

IRANIAN KURDS in the main believe Barzani sold out their own efforts toward autonomy in order to keep the shah's support for his struggle against Iraqi forces.

In Iranian Kurdistan, rival groups range from conservative organizations loosely allied with Khomeini, to moderates who want to negotiate with the government of Prime Minister Barzagan to left-wing militant Kurds who want to press the attack immediately against the army

Perhaps the best known Kurdish leader in Iran is the Ayatollah Ezzeddin Hosseini, a religious leader, based in the city of Mahadaz.

"We want autonomy that is self-government but still as part of Iran," Ezzedin said. "We would like the federal system with Kurdistan having its own local government, similar to the canton system in Switzerland or the states in the United

"WE WANT OUR schools, language, police, newspapers, and radio and TV broadcasts.

Many Kurds, too, being Sunni Moslems, resent that religous Shia Moslem leaders have been appointed to positions of power in Kurdistan. Khomeini's Shia sect is a majority in Iran, although a minority in the rest of the Moslem world.

What happened to Jovanka? Tito's subjects don't know

By MICHAEL DOBBS Special to The Washington Post

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia - A few months ago, an unsigned letter appeared in Yugoslavia's leading newspaper, Politika, asking plaintively what really articles, books and films. For 25 years, his marriage became of "Jovanka Orleanka." Those are the Serbian words for Joan of Arc, but they were instantly interpreted by delighted readers as refer- as a shining example of conjugal bliss. Suddenly in ring to President Tito's disgraced third wife, Jovan-

Nearly two years after she was last seen at a ject. public function, the mystery of what happened to the raven-haired Jovanka - and whether anybody else has replaced her at Tito's side - still fascinated Yugoslavs. The subject is out of bounds for the semiofficial press — which is what made the letter in Politika so intriguing - but remains a topic for task. Old pictures of Tito occasionally contain tellvirtually endless conversation in Yugoslavia's thriving restaurants and coffee bars.

al dispatches on Jovanka to his home capital, compared keeping up with the latest rumors about Tito's private life to tracking down unidentified flying objects. "As soon as you think you are on to some thing solid, dozens more sightings of alleged girlfriends are reported around the country," he said.

An unofficial tally of women whose names have been popularly linked with the 86-year-old Yugoslav leader since Jovanka's fall from grace includes an airline hostess, a journalist, a masseuse and, most persistently of all, a glamorous, if slightly dumpy, 35-year-old opera singer named Gertruda Minutic. Some foreign newspapers have even described Minutic, who has a teen-age daughter from a previous marriage, as Marshal Tito's fourth wife following a secret wedding ceremony.

The issue has generated considerable embarrassment for Yugoslav officials already sensitive about anything to do with Tito. At press conferences, the hands of some highly placed officials have been observed to tremble at the mere mention of Jovan-

Carner wins five-way LPGA playoff title

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) - In an era when age 30 is considered past prime for athletes, JoAnne Carner, a few days shy of 40, is a rarity.

"I've never felt younger," said Carner after surviving a five-way playoff Sunday to capture the $150,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at Mesa Verde Country

The $22,500 first prize propelled her into the LPGA money lead past Nancy Lopez, who saw a 2-stroke lead disappear over the last six holes.

LOPEZ, GUNNING for her third 1979 victory, faltered at the end by bogeying four of the final eight holes for a round of 75, her worst of the tournament.

That left her tied with Carner, Jan Stephenson, Chako Higuchi and Donna Young at 286 at the end of regulation play in the 72-hole event.

'The golf course beat everybody," said Carner, who fired a closing round of even-par 71, then defeated Higuchi on the second overtime hole after the other three had bogeyed the first

"I never dreamed I'd be sitting here," she said afterward, clutching a bouquet of roses as she met with reporters. It was her second tour victory of 1979 — upping her earnings to $61,300 — and 23rd title since turning

AFTER TRAILING by four strokes much of the week, her 2-foot par putt ended the nationally televised drama. Higuchi, needing a 6-foot putt for par, slid the ball past the hole for a day, while Higuchi and Young had closing 73s. All collected $9,675.

Jo Ann Washam, who stunned the gallery with her second hole-in-one of the tournament, had a 73 to tie Midland's Judy Rankin for sixth at 288. Lopez saw her chance for victory in regulation evaporate when her long birdie putt lipped the cup at No. 18. "I felt like crying after that putt. I don't know how it stayed out," said Lopez, who won nine tournaments last year as a rookie and set an LPGA

record of nearly $190,000 in earnings

AFTER STARTING the day 2 over par and staying in front with 10 consecutive pars, she lost her putting touch and ran into the string of Carner, first to finish among the leaders, watched as the challengers struggled. "I knew there were many critical putts to be made," she said.

Higuchi stayed alive on the first playoff hole with a 10-foot putt for par. That came after she almost chipped in a birdie on No. 18, leaving the ball six inches from the cup. "I was praying for it to go in," she

Washam, who aced the par-3, 168yard seventh hole, had moved to within a stroke of the lead before bogeying two of the last three holes to finish two back. After the playoff, Carner, who turns 40 Wednesday, called it another match play victory. "I usually like my chances in a

He did, indeed. It was Watson's 12th American triumph - plus two British Open titles and his first of the season.

"The way he was playing, and with that huge lead, it didn't figure that he'd shoot a high enough number that even a 66 would catch him," Sneed

He shot the 66, 5 under par in the sun and wind of the final round, and took second at 275 — a score good enough to win most of the previous Heritage tournaments.

But even that 66 didn't put him in contention. It was a walk in the park, a stroll through the woods for Wat-

"It isn't easy to play with a big lead," said Watson, who opened the final round with an 8-shot lead. He admitted, however, "no one put any pressure on me. The only pressure I felt I put on myself." It was four shots back of Sneed to Tom Kite and Mike Morley, tied for third at 279 — nine shots off the pace. Morley shot a 70, Kite 71. Bill Rogers, with a 71, and Ray Floyd, with a 70, were next at 280.

Lanny Wadkins, who beat Watson last week in the Tournament Players Championship and was in second place through the first three rounds here, faded to a 75 and was well back

Defending champion Hubert Green shot 75-284. Lee Trevino was 75-286 and Arnold Palmer, who won the first Heritage in 1969, had his best tournament of the season with 75-289.

Former Midlander rips Chicago Cubs

Sports Editor

MESA, Ariz. — There may have been a message somewhere among those five hits from Joe Wallis to the Chicago Cubs, although he wouldn't admit that much.

Last summer the one-time Midland Cubs favorite was shuffled off to the rag-tag Oakland A's with a good riddance label. It seems Tarzan, a nickname he acquired from his high leap of diving those cliffs into destered quarries and from motel roofs into swimming pools, gained a reputation as a hard to handle free spirit, and his fate-may have been decided last spring when he wandered off the field during a game in Scottsdale and drew a brief suspension period.

The trades opened more like a sentence, although Joe doesn't object to playing with the A's. He says "The fan support is discouraging, but they just don't turn out like they did when with the Cubs and its not always easy to get up for a game." Wallis, a former Southern Illinois University star, did not say whether he meant Chicago or Midland crowds, but from his tone, either would have applied.

Sunday, Wallis supplied five hits, as the A's scored a come-from-behind 9-8 vitory over Chicago. In one way or another, Wallis had a hand in all of the A's scoring. He singled to open the game and was on base when another former Texas Leaguer, Mitchell Page, powered his first homer of the spring over the right field fence. In the third, Wallis singled to lead fice fly. Then in the fourth, his two-out double, if you will pardon the expression, chased home two runs. It was Joe's least impressive hit of the day, a routine pop-up that fell between three tip-toeing fielders down the left field

Nevertheless, the A's were down 7-5 when the Cubs brought in relief ace Bruce Sutter to start the seventh. Glen Burke greeted Sutter with a double and Wallis singled, but it only set the stage for two split-fingered fast ball strikeouts and a harmless inning-ending grounder to second.

The eighth was something else again as the A's cut Sutter for six hits, four runs, including Wallis' fifth hit, a run-scoring single.

While Wallis preformed ably enough on the field, he hasn't been on the field that much this spring. "I have had foot problems all spring, but I finally got fitted for arch inserts like distance runners use, and it really feels good, "Wallis advised.

So a day that started out as a .310 spring training, the kind any player would accept without blushing, wound up Sunday night as a .411 average which should propel Joe into the forefront of the A's outfield candidates. Only Burke, with a .429 has a higher

Calvin Beal pitched five innings of shutout ball for Midland and may be a good bet to stick with the Texas League club, even though no one drafted him after he graduated from Southern University in 1977. "I got a tryout last year and was signed for Geneva where I was 4-4, " he explained. From Baton Rouge, La., Beal's catcher in college was Danny Goodwin, last year's Texas League batting champion, now with Minnesota. They say you can't replace Rod Carew, but Willie Mays Aikens didn't do a bad job Sunday.

Aikens subbed for Carew after the seven-time batting champion was ejected, and hit a two-run homer to help the California Angels beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4 in exhibition baseball at Anaheim. Carew was thumbed out of the

Lucas pours in 14 points in final four minutes

By The Associated Press

Professional pride is nice, but Maurice Lucas had a more tangible explanation for his 14-point burst in the final 4:02 that gave the streaking Portland Trail Blazers a 109-107 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks Sun-

"I wanted the ball, I wanted it badly," explained the veteran forward. "I want to get into the playoffs because I want the extra in-

Lucas' spurt helped the Blazers to their eighth victory in the last nine games and kept them 2½ games ahead of San Diego in the race for the last playoff spot in the National Bas-ketball Association's Western Confer-

Lucas finished with 30 points for the Blazers. His short bank shot with 27 seconds left gave them a 108-107 lead and his free throw with 11 seconds to play produced the final margin.

Lucas scored most of his points down the stretch by moving into the low post against Milwaukee rookie George Johnson, who was playing despite five personal fouls.

'My opponent has got to be very careful of me because I know what I'm going to do and he can't afford to foul to stop me," said the rugged, 6-foot-9 Lucas. "My teammates just got me the ball where I wanted and he couldn't stop me.

"This is a team game," added Lucas. "Whoever is open during the game gets the ball. But when it's a tight game down the stretch, whoever has the hot hand is supposed to get the ball. Today that was me."

And Johnson couldn't cool him off. "You could say that I walked away with a little bit of an education," said the rookie from St. John's. "Maurice took advantage of my lack of experience. He understands what the refs are going to call and what he can get away with. He knocked me down a couple of times, but the refs are never going to give a rookie the benefit of that kind of call."

"Somebody's got to shoot it," Daw-kins said of his winning play. "If I make it I'm the hero, if I miss it I get boos. But I don't care, I'll always try it. The foul shot I made was the biggest one of my life.'

San Antonio erased an 18-point third-quarter deficit and won on James Silas' 20-foot jumper over Chris Ford with four seconds remaining. George Gervin led the Spurs with 34 points and Silas scored 25.

Flying Paster flies; Terlingua is fifth

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) - Flying Paster returned to his spot as the top 3-year-old in the West by winning the Santa Anita Derby, and his owner said the colt will be at Churchill Downs for the Kentucky Derby.

Jockey Donald Pierce said, "You know, a lot of people have been saying that this colt hasn't beaten much in his races, but I'll tell you, he beat some real runners in this Santa Anita

Butch Walts aces way to net title

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - Relaxing after winning the sixth annual Dayton Pro Tennis Classic, Butch Walts made a masterful understatement. "I serve aces," he said.

In defeating 37-year-old Marty Riessen in just 52 minutes Sunday for the title and the $15,000 first prize, Walts served 21 aces in two sets for the 6-3, 6-4 victory. He had served 13 aces in winning his semifinal match Saturday.

He won both the first and last points against Riessen with aces. At one stage in the second set he served six in the final turn. Terlingua had dropped back from the inside and I still had a handful of horse left. He ran with the winner at the top of the stretch, but just couldn't stay with him."

Flying Paster has now won nine of his 13 career races, with three seconds and a third — that two weeks ago in the San Felipe. He collected $124,-900 Sunday, boosting his total to $550,-

He and many of the others in the Santa Anita race will go in the Hollywood Derby on April 14, and some will probably go back to Kentucky.

Flying Paster's trainer, Gordon Campbell, said, "Spectacular Bid is a good colt, but what they say about him doesn't worry me. That last race, there wasn't much in against him."

Named the California Horse of the Year in 1978, Flying Paster is owned by retired newspaper executive Bernard J. Ridder.

Beau's Eagle finished a head in front of Switch Partners, with Shamgo another head behind. Terlingua, owned by L. R. French and Barry Beal, finished fifth after battling Beau's Eagle for the lead until the far

The 3-5 favorite of the crowd 44,902, Flying Paster returned $3.20, $2.80 and $2.40. Beau's Eagle, champion of the California Derby at Golden Gate Fields, returned $7.60 and $4.40, while Switch Partners paid $3.80.

Lynn Stone, president of Churchill Downs, home of the Kentucky Derby, was on hand to present the winning award to Flying Paster.

Six Santa Anita Derby winners in the past have won the Kentucky Derby. Affirmed did it in 1978 and became the first local Derby winner to capture the Triple Crown. Flying Paster will follow much the same schedule that Affirmed did a year ago, but he will definitely be the underdog to Spectacular Bid in the classics for 3-year-olds.

After winning the most prestigious tournaments in the past years and a WCT leg at Richmond this year, Borg was ousted by McEnroe in the New Orleans semifinal and by Alexander in the Milan quarter-finals. Borg was the top seed in Milan and the defending champion.

Sources close to Borg's party said he was disturbed by reported threats on his life made by self-styled terrorists, which forced Milan organizers to give him an escort of bodyguards.

His play in Milan was less sparkling than at other times, and his winning drive appeared somewhat curbed.

"His powerful play is tiring for the opponents, but also for him. It's no surprise he is somewhat worn out," an Italian tennis expert noted. McEnroe was understanding, "You cannot always play at your best. He has been at peak levels for years," the American said. McEnroe considers both Borg and Connors still at higher levels than he, but said Gerulaitis: "He already plays at Connors' level."

And Peter Fleming, who teamed with McEnroe to win in the doubles, echoed: "He is already the best."

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bill Rodgers, considered the king of the road, wants to prove a point or two to the runners who confine themselves to a track. "A lot of track runners have overinflated opinions of what they can do and look down on road runners," said Rodgers. "I want to rectify that, if I can." The 31-year-old Rodgers made his comments Sunday after setting an unofficial American record of 48 minutes flat in the 10-mile Cherry Blossom race around the Tidal Basin in the nation's capital.

Before Rodgers can take to the track this spring, however, he has urgent business in Boston in two weeks - he'll be on hand to defend his championship of the Boston Marathon, a race he won in 1978 with a 2: 10: 13. "The field will be a lot

Evert avenges recent defeats

*CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — The situation was ideal for Chris Evert to avenge a pair of recent losses, regain some confidence and present herself with a wedding present. It all worked perfectly.

Evert, who says she's at her best when she only has to get up for a match or two, completed a triumphant weekend Sunday by rallying for a 3-6, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Dianne Fromholtz in the championship match of a women's $200,000 tennis event at Rancho La Costa.

"When everything's on the line, I always seem to produce my best tennis," said the 24-year-old Evert, who is playing her final competitive match prior to her April 17 marriage to British tennis pro John

"I have played five of these four-player matches, and I've never lost one. I can usually get up for two matches; I can't always get up for six matches.' Evert earned her berth in Sunday's championship match by beating Track Austin 6-1, 7-5 Saturay.

Fromholtz followed with a 7-5, 6-1 triumph over favored Martina Navratilova. Evert had lost to Austin and Fromholtz in the preliminary rounds of the recent winter tour championship in New York, prompting many to believe that her upcoming wedding was affecting her game. Evert, who will retain her surname after the marriage, disproved that theory. But the $100,000 first prize she collected Sunday didn't come easy. Fromholtz, who earned $50,000 for finishing second, looked like a winner when she captured the first set easily, took three of the second set's first four games, and scored the first two points of the fifth

But Evert abruptly turned the match around at that stage, coming back to hold service for the first of nine consecutive winning games.

Fromholtz finally won a game, but that only made it 4-1 in the second set. It was just a temporary delay, as Evert easily held service and then broke at love to complete the two-hour match.

At one point, Fromholtz had held service in six straight games, allowing a total of only six points, but Evert broke in five of the final six games served by the 22-year-old Australian.

"I didn't push her at all early; I was just going through the motions," Evert said. "Early in the second set, I got a little annoyed. I thought I was gutless. I hit the ball a lot harder after that.

'You just can't trade groundstrokes with Dianne and expect to win," Evert said. "I changed some things, used the lob effectively, and that was the difference in the match.

"Everyone thinks I'm so unemotional out there. I was going crazy on a few points. From the middle of the second set through the third set, my concentration was much better. When I concentrate, I'm hard to beat." The left-handed Fromholtz, who was devasting in the first set and early in the second, admitted she "I thought she was going to get tired, too," said

Fromholtz. "I knew something was going to happen. wondered if I could keep it up ... and it turned

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market posted a broad loss today, weighed down by energy worries. The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 8.84 at 853.34. Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted some relief over the improved news today from the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant near Harrisburg, Pa., where an accident occurred last week. General Public Utilities, parent company of the utility that operates the Pennsylvania plant, asked today that the trading halt it requested for its stock on Friday be continued. Among other issues with links to the nuclear-energy industry, J. Ray

McDermott was down % at 18¼; Westinghouse lost % to 18¼; Kerr-McGee fell 23/4 to 481/4, and General Electric dropped ¾ to 47¼. Coal stocks, meanwhile, were strong for the second straight session.

Eastern Gas & Fuel rose ¾ to 20 and Pittston 1/4 to 22 3/4. The NYSE's composite index dropped .51 to 56.62, and the American Stock Exchange market value index lost 1.75 to 177.95.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 13.80 million shares at noontime.

Judge delays Chagra hearing

U.S. District Judge John H. Wood this morning delayed until this afternoon a hearing on pre-trial motions in the case of Jimmy Chagra, charged with conspiracy to import and possess marijuana and cocaine.

Chagra's attorneys are seeking to have Wood disqualify himself from the case and are asking for a change of venue from Midland for the trial. Another 28 defense motions also were scheduled for hearing today.

Also Monday, Wood officially re-scinded a $500 fine imposed against Odessan Rita Duke, held by the judge to be in contempt of court in Febru-

Mrs. Duke, who is not a licensed attorney, had attempted to represent a defendant in an income tax trial, and Wood issued a restraining order forbidding her to do so.

Wood subsequently ruled Mrs. Duke was in violation of the order, sending her to jail for two days and fining her $500. He ordered her released without paying the fine when she was still in jail after the two-day sentence.

At today's hearing, Mrs. Duke, who brought numerous law books with her, was prepared to argue several motions she had filed challenging the contempt citation

But Wood remitted the fine and excused her, telling Mrs. Duke she could appeal the ruling to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Search continues

MONTAGUE, Texas (AP) - Authorities were expected to continue their grisly search today for a body to match the partially decomposed head of a woman.

Monatague County Sheriff W.F. Conway said that a man collecting aluminum cans discovered the gruesome remains in plain sight among the debris at a roadside garbage dump near this North Texas city. Conway said the man is not a suspect in the case. Authorities searched a five-mile area near the dump over the weekend but were unable to find the body.

Midland man charged

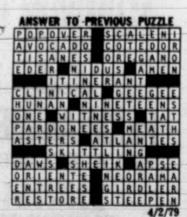

Midland police arrested a man Friday in relation to an alleged burglary on March 17, authorities said.

Patrick Lamar Andrews Jr., 22, was charged Saturday with the burglary of a home in the 1000 block of West Golf Course Road in which $300 cash reportedly was taken, police

Peace Justice Robert Pine set bond at $20,000. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a second man police believe was involved in the incident.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Upcoming downtown tough to figure out

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - In its effects, it is as real an economic factor as rising prices or falling productivity or an oil shortage.

It pervades our consciousness, affecting consumer buying and government policy.

But we really know so very little about it. It is ever present, which can be proved by the consequences. But it belongs to the future, too. We are constantly referring to it as something to come.

How do we deal with the phenomenon that bedevils us every day of the week known as the "upcoming downturn" in the economy. Is it just a fear, a forecast, a cliche? Whether it is any of these, it remains powerful.

For well over a year it has been upcoming, but it has not come. And now we suspect the reason for the delay is that it has forced changes in present economic patterns that keep pushing it off into the future. People have been buying up a storm, using-credit when they run out of cash. Why not, they ask, when prices will be higher tomorrow? And besides, they add, when the recession comes we can't think of buying.

The impact on government policy is even more pronounced, leading to restraint by the Federal Reserve and voluntary price-wage guidelines, increasingly sounding like lasoos, by the White. House. Business has also reacted to the upcoming downturn. The Federation of Independent Business found a growing number of members expecting sales to fall, earnings to be cut and general business conditions to rode. The longer the upcoming downturn is delayed, proclaim the forecasters, the worse the downturn is likely to be. But some of them too have been affected. They wonder: Will there be a firm, had been outspoken about a downturn. Now it suggests the economy might merely ricochet, never dipping or rising enough to be classified as either recession or boom.

Some economists have remained unperturbed. Albert Cox, president of Merrill Lynch Economics, this month raised odds of a "deeper and later recession by yearend" to 35 percent from 30. He lowered odds on "sharply lower growth but no downturn" to 20 percent from 15.

But a few bank economists have been observed planting hedges in their forecasts. Off the record, one this week confessed he has abandoned his roll as forecaster and now considered himself a spectator.

Economist, government official, consumer, businessman - the forecast of an upcoming recession has affected them all. Some of the resulting actions have lessened the prospect; others have promoted it.

Whatever their various responses however, they have implemented them in an effort to deal with something that nobody can prove will come, and which in fact has already been delayed a full year.

Based on a cursory examination of past economic cycles, any forecast of an upcoming recession is likely to come true if held firmly and long enough. Expansion and contraction is the regular economic life cycle.

When an expansion lasts as long as this one, a full four years, you find some reassured that it can't be long now before the recession ups and comes, and others wondering if they've miscalculated.

It's going on right now, but that's not the important issue. What really means something is not whether the expectations are or are not fulfilled, but merely that they were made.

The very expectation is the reality - as real, as measurable and probably as important as many other economic events, past, present and fu-

Gossamer Albatross to fly on manpower

By LEE AUSTIN The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - On a calm, virtually windless day this summer a a large cocoon dangling from a long gossamer-like wing, will take off from England and head for France and a $200,000 prize.

Inside the transparent plastic cocoon will be a young man seated on a bicycle frame, pedaling like mad to keep the propeller behind him spinning fast enough to keep the craft out of the English Channel.

Along the way, he may have to dodge some of the 400 to 500 ships which ply the channel every day. The craft will be flying at an altitude of only 20 to 30 feet.

NAMED THE GOSSAMER Albatross, the pedal-powered plane is being readied at a Terminal Island site by its designer and builder, Dr. Paul MacCready, Pasadena, Calif., aero-dynamicist, and his team for a crack at a 100,000 pound prize (nearly $200,000 in U.S. curency). It was put up by British industrialist Henry Kremer for the first aircraft to fly across the English Channel solely by Human power.

The monoplane has a 95-foot wingspan. It is covered with a superstrength plastic called Mylar, which is paper thin. Spars of the 5 1-2foot-wide wing and other structural components are made of carbo filament, which is lighter yet 10 times stronger than aluminum.

The overall weight is only 55

A PUSHER TYPE, the single-blade propeller is mounted behind the cockpit, which is enclosed with Mylar to reduce wind drag. Protruding in front is a 25-foot-long "canard" or stabilizer which is used along with warping of the wing tips to turn and go up and down.

The wing and "canard" actions are controlled with piano wires by the pilot, who coordinates the movements with levers. He pedals to turn the propeller via a series of chains and sprockets.

The plane rolls on a takeoff run of about five feet on two small tandem-mounted wheels from a child's tov. MacCready and his crew are highly optimistic.

"WE'RE CONFIDENT we will make it. I know the machine will accomplish the task," said Bryan Allen, the 26-year-old pilot and power supply for the plane.

MacCready, a national and international sailplane soaring champion, and his team members have earned their wings in manpower flight. In August 1977 MacCready's first plane the Gossamer Condor, made aviation history and won a $90,000 prize from Kremer by being the first human-powered craft to fly the prescribed 1.4 mile figure-eight course over land at an airport near Shafter, Calif.

The flight of the sister plane to the Albatross took 7 1-2 minutes. Its highest altitude was slightly over 10

MacCREADY, WHO dreamed up the design while driving his family on a cross-country vacation trip "with boring stretches" the previous year, beat about 50 groups of contstants from around the world to the 18-yearold prize.

Now MacCready, a 1952 graduate of the California Institute of Technology and president of Aerovironment Inc. in Pasadena, faces a greater and ore dangerous challenge.

The distance across the channel is 22 miles. MacCready figures the flight will take 2 1-2 hours if no obstacles such as ships get in the way.

Since some ships' superstructures rise 100 to 200 feet or more above the water, they may pose a problem for the Albatross. It must keep below the 160-foot altitude limit set by Kremer and the Royal Aeronautical Society for safety reasons.

THEY BELIEVE that if the plane crashes from that altitude the pilot is less likely to get hurt, said Sterling Stoll, project manager for the flight.

The Albatross' flight planes call for "on the deck" flying at 20 to 30 feet above the water because the plane's wing is more efficient close to the surface, said Stoll. "A big problem will be the super-tanker in the channel," Stoll said. "Bryan may win up flying 50 miles instead of 22." MacCready also is concerned about ships and coastline protrusions because they are likely to disturb the air ANY WIND ABOVE 5 m.p.h. will mean grounding the plane, Stoll At the planned air speed of 10

m.p.h., he figures he will be pedaling 60 to 70 revolutions a minute. And that, he said, means "a lot of pumping" during the 2 1-2-hour flight. A slender, 6-foot, 139-pound bicycle racer and hang glider buff from Bakersfield, Calif., Allen is keeping in shape for the flight. He bicycles 40 miles a day and in inclement weather he conditions himself on a stationary With the big day only a few months away, activity at the Terminal Island hangar is increasing for the team of four or five full-time workers, who are augmented periodically by a dozen volunteers.

THEIR MAIN GOAL now is to perfect the plane's maneuverability and to reduce its weight even further. Already 15 pounds lighter than the Condor, the workers hope to cut the weight another five pounds. Short test flights are made whenever the weather permits. The plane cracked up when a control cable snapped. It almost crashed again later when it suddenly swerved toward the ground.

'There's a tremendous amount of debugging needed," said MacCready as he watched the plane dive. "We'll probably break it up a few times."

A duplicate plane will be built as a backup, said Stoll, in case something happens in England.

WASHINGTON (AP) Judge John J. Sirica says if Richard M. Nixon had been convicted of Watergate crimes in his courtroom, Sirica would have sentenced the former president to prison.

The 75-year-old Sirica. a senior judge on the U.S. District Court here, said Sunday that Nixon should have faced a trial and courtroom cross-examination.

Sirica presided over many of the formal Watergate trials and other related court proceedings in the mid-1970s.

He has written a book about Watergate, which is to be published this month.

Interviewed on CBS-TV's "60 Minutes," the judge said Nixon resigned from office because he faced impeachment or indictment, not because "politicians got Twenty-five or 50 years from now, the public may feel that "the politicians ran the president out" of the White House, Sirica said.

'That is not the case.' he said. "He resigned, No. 1, because he was going to be impeached, and he knew it, or he was going to be indict-

Had Nixon been convicted in his courtroom, the judge said, "I would have sent him to jail but I don't know what sentence I would have imposed

On the White House tapes, Sirica said he regretted not permitting the tapes to be broadcast because I think if the public ever hears those tapes, if the time ever comes when thy're released and played so everybody can hear them, they won't have any doubt in their mind whatsoever about his participation in this mat-

Meanwhile, Newsweek magazine says former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski accuses Nixon of causing the 181/2-minute gap in a The magazine reported Sunday that Jaworski rejects the assertion of Nixon's secretary, Rose Mary Woods, that she accidentally erased part of the tape. In his soon-to-be published memoir, the former special prosecutor maintains that only Nixon had access to the tape and the recorder when an erasure could have been made, "And only he knew what was on the tape and what portion might be incriminating."
