He's still a moonshiner

But now he touts alcohol in the gas tank

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Jerry Wilkerson used to fancy himself a pretty good moonshiner. Now a nondrinker, he's still touting the merits of home-brewed alcohol - to put in a car's gas tank. He's starting out on a campaign to urge Americans to build solar stills, at about $22 each, which he says can fill their tanks with alcohol for as little as 10 cents a gallon.

"I got tired of cussing the government and cussing the oil companies and blaming other people for my problems," said Wilkerson, 43, of Levan, Utah.

He says he developed his do-it-yourself plan as "a way of getting the nation out of the control of the oil-producing nations.'

He has been giving lectures on his ideas, and plans to begin a crosscountry lecture tour later this month, traveling in a pickup truck that runs primarily on alcohol.

Minor engine conversions allow the truck to run on alcohol or gas. It has two gas tanks. Wilkerson switches to regular fuel to start the engine, because alcohol doesn't create enough vapor pressure. Wilkerson doesn't sell the solar stills. He doesn't even own a patent on the model he carries around. He asks for voluntary contributions at his lectures, but says he doesn't get many. Wilkerson, a retired Navy man and "In the Navy, we brewed up a little applejack and raisin brandy," he said. "I've been living around homemade alcohol for a long time." Wilkerson, who dropped out of college engineering courses after three years, said he has written mayors across the country to line up his lec-

He admits he'll have to buy some gasoline along the way, but he's going to try to run mostly on alcohol.

He's publishing a book on how to make fuel in your backyard. It points out that a federal permit is required and that chemicals must be added so the alcohol can't be drunk.

Wilkerson claims hi solar still - a three-by-six-foot wooden box with a glass top — can produce five gallons of alcohol a day from fermented sugar beets or other vegetation with a high sugar content. The fermenting can be done in old oil drums.

Other materials used in the still include plastic pipe and dark burlap. The fermented liquid soaks the burlap and the dark material absorbs heat from the sun. Alcohol evaporates from the solution and then condenses on the glass and trails down to a container.

Wilkerson acknowledges the temp tation might be great to use the stills illegally. "The answer is self-poliche said. "You can bet that if I find anyone using one of these things for moonshining, I'd turn him in."

Syrian jets 'protect' Lebanese cease-fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Syrian air force jets patrolled the sky over Beirut today as a cease-fire arranged by the U.N. peacekeeping command silenced Israeli and Palestinian guns after four days of the heaviest fighting in southern Lebanon in more than a year, U.N. and Palestinian spokesmen said.

Four Soviet-built MiG-21 fighters streaked over the city shortly after midday. Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization said the Syrians were flying "protective patrol missions, guarding against new enemy air strikes.

It was the second consecutive day Syrian jets appeared in the sky over the Lebanese capital. Israeli jets buzzed PLO headquarters in Beirut and refugee camps on the outskirts of the city on Wednesday, sparking the first fly-over of Syrian fighters.

The Palestinian command said Israeli air, naval and artillery strikes killed 10 more Palestinians and Lebanese Wednesday, the fourth day of Israeli attacks against Palestinian positions

A PLO communique said Israeli jets pounded Tyre and refugee camps around it after Israeli gunboats shelled the city. Long-range artillery inside the Israeli frontier with Lebanon also hit Tyre and Nabatiyeh,

Local authorities said later Wednesday the Israeli gunboats returned and shelled the coastal city of Sidon, between Tyre and Beirut. No casualty figures

The Lebanese officials said more than 40,000 Lebanese fled north to escape the punishing four-day-old cycle of attacks and counterattacks, Israel's most intensive campaign in the area since it invaded southern Lebanon in March 1978 to avenge the killing of 35 Israelis in a guerrilla raid north of Tel Aviv. Many of the refugees sought sanctuary in mosques, churches, school buildings and Palestinian refugee camps in towns and villages along the Mediterranean coast. Refugees who arrived in Beirut Wednesday, spent the night in the buses and trucks that brought them to the capital.

An Associated Press correspondent and photographer caught in an artillery barrage at Tyre said Lebanese Christian militiamen, armed and trained by Israel, shelled the city from batteries in their newly proclaimed state of "Free Lebanon" on the Lebanese side of the border with Israel, some 15 miles away.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli military command said Wednesday's attacks came after Palestinian border positions lobbed rockets into northern Israel, injuring three Israelis and damaging some crops and power

The PLO said its forces fired the rockets in reprisal for earlier "naval, air and artillery attacks against

Consumer price increase triggers hike in benefits

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices increased another 1 percent in March, led by sharply higher prices for food, housing, clothing and gasoline, the government said today.

It said gasoline prices rose 3.8 percent, the largest monthly jump in nearly four years. Both housing and food costs were up by 1 percent.

The March increase in the Consumer Price Index, which followed a 1.2 percent rise in February, means that the nation's 35 million Social Security recipients will receive a 9.9 percent increase in benefits to offset the impact of inflation in the past year, officials said.

The average benefit will be increased by about $25, to $283 a month. Checks reflecting increases will go out beginning in July.

Although the increase in the Consumer Price Index was less than in February, it was still at a level that endangers the success of the Carter administration's anti-inflation pro-

Prices during the first three months of 1979 increased at an annual rate of 13 percent, the highest quarterly rise in 41/2 years and far above the administration's target for this year of 7.4

The increase for the 12-month period ending in March was 10.2 percent. One of President Carter's top inflation advisers, Barry Bosworth, told The Associated Press Wednesday that if inflation does not begin to cool soon, it is likely to get much worse as workers demand steadily higher wages to keep pace with steadily rising prices.

At a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Bedford, N.H., Wednesday night, Carter also warned of further price increases.

"Inflation is bad and it will be months at the very least before it gets substantially better," the president said. "Frankly, we will continue to see discouraging price figures coming out for some time to come.

In its report today, the Labor Department said workers' spendable earnings dropped another 0.1 percent$oin Marchbecauwe of rising inflation. That raised the total lost buying power of paychecks0)n! the last year to an even 2 percent.

The department gave this breakdown on priCe increases for various categories in March, compared with the previous month, followed by the total increase over the 12 months from March 1978:

- Food and beverages 1 percent, down from 1.6 percent in February and up 12.5 percent for the 12-month - Housing 1 percent, down from 1.3

in February and up 10.6 percent for Apparel and upkeep 1.5 percent,

- Transportation 1.2 percent, up from 1.1 percent in February and an increase of 10.1 percent for the year.

Medical care 0.6 percent, the

The Labor Department said the Consumer Price Index in March stood at 209.3, meaning that goods and services priced at $100 in 1967 had increased to $209.30 last month.

The department said a 2.7 percent increase in meat prices accounted for most of the rise in overall food costs. Beef and poultry prices increased sharply for the sixth consecutive

There also were increases in the price of eggs, pork, fresh fruits and dairy products. However, prices for fresh vegetables declined sharply, reflecting an increase in supplies of lettuce and tomatoes because of improved weather conditions, the de-

Monday to file for a homestead exemption on their school taxes, according to Virgil Jones, city tax assessor-collector.

About 18,000 to 20,000 homeowners are eligible for the $5,000 exemption on their taxes, Jones said Wednesday. To be eligible, the resident must live in the home they are claiming.

Persons who have not filed, should go to the tax office on the second floor of City Hall, he said. The resident must sign an affidavit claiming he is owner of the property described in the appropriate space, and that it was his residential homestead on Jan 1, 1979. He also must promise not to claim a residence homestead on any other property for this year.

Anyone giving false information on the affidavit will be subject to perjury laws of the state of Texas, Jones

Based on the current school tax rate of $1.20, the property owner will receive about a $45 cut in his school taxes. That figure could change, Jones noted, if the school district's Midland homeowners have until board of trustees decide to change the tax rate.

To obtain the $45 figure, Jones takes the $5,000 exemption, figures out the 75 percent assessed value, then multiplies that by $1.20. The exemption is part of the Tax Amendment Relief package passed by the voters in the November general election. Regulations on administering the exemption come from the School Tax Assessment Practice Multiplying the $45 figure by 20,000 homeowners, which is the estimated Senior Midlanders already are entitled to an exemption of $6,000 based on the assessed value of their home, according to Jones.

Gen. Magnifico, Prophet Elijah among presidential candidates

BOISE, Idaho (AP) - Idaho's presidential primary is heating up early with people like General Magnifico of California, the Prophet Elijah of New York and Americus Liberatos of Valentine, Neb.

They're flocking into the race to oppose Jimmy Carter. The secretary of state's office has a file an inch thick with names and addresses of people wanting a shot at the White House by way of the primary, still more than a year away. "I kind of started this file as a joke," said Elections Administrative Secretary Penny Ysursa, paging through letters and photographs from potential candidates. "Since 1976, I would say we get at least 30 of these a

She said many of those entering the primary, set for the third Tuesday of May 1980, also are listed in other primary states.

General Magnifico mailed a picture showing herself decked out in a black uniform with medals. She claims to be commanding general of the Marine Corps and deputy president of the United States, among other Some list their campaign platforms. The National Statesman Party, for example, is promoted by John Sprague of Boise. He wants to put the country on the gold standard and mint $20 coins emblazoned with likenesses of Gens. Douglas MacArthur and George Patton.

He's promoting Anita Bryant and Evel Knievel as running mates and would ban liquor, tobacco farming, Sunday sports and almost all Sunday television, save for several hours of Christian programming.

Sprague also wants to clean up the state of Nevada, which has been "aiding and abetting our Communist enemy by contributing to the delinquency of our nation.

The party's motto: "Return mom to the kitchen and the fireside, burn those credit cards now!' Then there's the platform proposed by Ira R. Waggoner, an independent from Champaign, Ill. He would ban all university sports, lower gasoline prices to 25 cents per gallon, graze cattle on icebergs and occupy Mexico with an army. Despite their efforts, there are only two ways candidates can get on the ballot. Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa may list them after consulting election officers of other states. Or a candidate may acquire signatures equaling 3 percent of the number of votes Idahoans cast in the last presidential election. That means candidates would need 10,322 signatures. We just send them the information about getting on the ballot and never hear from most of them again," Mrs. Ysursa said.

That didn't work with Tom Alioto of San Francisco. He claimed Idaho's election laws unconstitutionally deny him his right to candidacy. But he's invited the state to settle out of court.

Jury deliberates punishment of life or death for Cuevas

HOUSTON (AP) - A jury of six men and six women, after three hours of discussion Wednesday, were to resume deliberations today to decide if Ignacio Cuevas, accused of causing the death of a hostage during a prison uprising five years ago, should get life in jail or die by lethal injection.

The jury already has convicted Cuevas of capital murder and now it must decide the punishment, as so-ordered in Texas state courts.

It took four hours and 20 minutes for the jury to decide on the guilty verdict. It is expected to take far longer for the punishment decision.

In the final arguments, defense attorney Will Gray portrayed Cuevas as a stupid, unfortunate paw of Fred Gomex Carraso the 11-day prison siege, longest in U.S. penal history, and the escape that left two convicts and two hostages dead.

Gray said, "I don't know if it will be of any consequence that he (Cuevas) is stupid, and that he had an IQ of 70. But no matter what you do to Mr. Cuevas, you are not going to keep some other misguided, stupid man from committing violence." Walker County District Attorney Mard Ward, the chief presecutor, said, "Carrasco never could have carried out his escape attempt without help and there is his willing help," as he pointed to an Cuevas, expressionless behind his black hornedrimmed glasses.

Cuevs, Carrasco and Rudolpho Dominguez took over the education building in a prison unit called The Walls in the summer of 1974. They held it for 11 days and then attempted to escape behind a moveable shield of lawbooks, chalkboards and hostages. Carrasco and Dominquez were shot

Two of the 11 hostages, prison li-brarians Julia Standley and Elizabeth

Beseda, were shot to death. Cuevas is accused of causing the death of Mrs. Standley, although testimony and evidence has shown she died from bullets fired by the convict Dominguez. The short, stocky Cuevas was convicted of capital murder and sentenced to death in 1975.

After almost four years on death row he was granted a new trial by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, which citied a judicial error as the

During the first hours of the punishment phase deliberations, the jury asked only for the records of Cuevas behavior in prison.

Sandbags have become the last barrier of defense for thousands of Minnesota and North Dakota residents struggling to contain the floodswollen Red River.

One million sandbags have been slapped into 16 miles of dikes in East Grand Forks, Minn., population 8,400, and its sister city, Grand Forks, N.D., population 54,000. The dikes, plugged daily by volunteers, stand about one foot above the murky floodwaters.

The Red had been expected to crest early this week, but the National Weather Service said Wednesday a record peak of 49.5 feet would not come until Saturday. The Red was at 49.02 feet late Wednesday.

The delayed crest means added pressure on the dikes, and on the people, said Jay Graba, a coordinator of the Grand Forks flood control center. "It just means we've got to tighten our belts and watch the dikes another three days," he said.

Sand was rushed Wednesday to 3,-000 marooned residents of The Point, a 11/2-mile-long strip of land at the confluence of the Red River and Red Lake River.

Food, medical supplies and other necessities also arrived by Coast Guard launch The Red and its tributaries formed lakes up to 15 miles wide north of East Grand Forks, engulfing scores of farm homes and isolating towns. In the South, the crest of Mississippi's flooded Pearl River was expected to start pushing into the Gulf of Mexico todai, and officials predicted the waters could claim a new victim - the Gulf Coast fishing industry. Shrimp and oysters were threatened by the gush of freshwater into the gulf, the officials said. Alabama state health officials ordered a halt to oyster harvesting along the coast Wednesday because floodwaters were believed to be carrying a high bacteria count to oysterhbeds. "It's going to hurt fishing and the oysters and it's going to ruin shrimping," said Robert Boudin, Civil Defense Director of Hancock County, Miss. "Oysters, for example, have to have a certain amount of fresh water and a certain amount of salt water they can't have too much of either or they'll die. "I'm afraid we aren't going to see any oysters around here for a long time," Boudin said.

The sponsor, Rep. Pete Patterson, D-Brookston, said creeping foreign ownership of agricultural land had become "a serious problem in our

Dr. Rushing speaks to Downtown Lions

Educator and college administrator Dr. Joe B Rushing was guest speaker Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Downtown Lions Rushing, a native West Texan, has since 1965 been president of the Tarrant County Junior College System. He was named "Educator of the Year" by the Press Club of Fort Worth in 1975. Rushing, at the outset, said his talk would be titled "Politics and People." He told Lions Club members of a trip he made in recent years to Taiwan in his capacity as a Rotary Club official. "It is easy for us to hear news of international events and international politics, but to forget that it is living, breathing people such as you and I who are greatly affected by international politics," he said. The educator told of the gains in education, health care and economics made by the people of the Taiwanese Chinese Republic in the past 20 to 30 years, and pointed out that the republic had received no U.S. aid, except military aid, in the last 15 years. Now, though, since mainland (or Communist)

The most likely date for re-entry is June 21, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wednesday. It said the earliest date should be June 15th and the latest July 2.

'Ada M. Phillips Day'

Today is "Ada M. Phillips Day" in the Tall City, as proclaimed officially by Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., and it would be difficult to find a person more deserving of such signal recognition than this Midland resident of more than half a century.

The occasion is sponsored by the Midland Altrusa Club as the highlight of its observance of the 62nd birthday anniversary of Altrusa International. A special program honoring Mrs. Phillips featured the club's luncheonmeeting held today noon in the Midland Hilton. It was complete with "Ada Phillips Day" cake, the reading of the mayor's proclamation; the tributes voiced by various club members, and brief verbal salutes given by her minister, neighbors and close friends.

Mrs. Phillips is a charter member of Midland Altrusa and served the chapter as president in 1953-54 after having chaired all of its committees. She also has been active at district and international levels.

But her activities are not and have not been limited solely to Altrusa. She has done so many things for so many persons here and elsewhere through the years that it would be impossible to list them all. Most of her good deeds. particularly in helping underpriviliged youths and others, have been done quietly and without fanfare.

She received another noteworthy honor a number of years ago when the Midland Exchange Club recognized her for her good deeds and inscribed her name in its "Book of Golden Deeds."

A native West Texan, Mrs. Phillips was born on a ranch near Anson. She attended Simmons College, Abilene; Judson College, Marion, Ala., and George Washington University. Washington, D.C. She married the late H.N. Phillips in 1923, and they resided at Raton, N.M. for a time before moving to Midland in 1928. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips owned and operated an electrical business here for many years.

Since her retirement from active business, Mrs. Phillips has devoted practically all of her time to Altrusa and to doing historical research and writing for the Midland County Historical Society, Midland County Historical Commission and the Permian Historical Society. She presently is engaged in gathering information and assisting in writing the history of Midland County. She also aided in compiling information and writing the history of the First Baptist Church of Midland, of which she is a member and former Sunday School teacher.

It is said that Mrs. Phillips knows more about Midland County and its pioneer residents than any other one person, because of her extensive historical research. Due to her untiring efforts, most of the unmarked graves in Fairview Cemetery have been identified and proper markers erected.

Her interest, enthusiasm and determination also have been shared with the Midland County Public Library, and she was instrumental in the organization of Friends of the Library.

Yes, the honoree of this special day has been unusually busy, and remains busy, in the building of a better Midland for today and tomorrow, while at the same time recording the history of the Midland and Midlanders of years gone by.

It all boils down to the fact that Ada Phillips cares about people and is anxious to serve them and their particular needs wherever and whenever possible.

Mayor Angelo summed it up very well in his proclamation:

"Her (Mrs. Phillips) character and leadership, her foresight and wisdom have been an inspiration to those with whom she has been associated, having made herself available to friends and organizations, showing sincere interest and concern for each."

Ada Phillips is a "Top Midlander" today and every day.

Economic warfare against world

WASHINGTON - In a real sense, the petroleum potentates are waging economic warfare against the world. By manipulating oil production and prices, the exporting countries have inflicted severe economic damage upon the importing countries. But it's not merely a question of dollars; the impact must also be measured in human misery. The casualties are the faceless men, women and children who endure the gnawing pains of hunger while they pray for help and hope for death. For oil has become as essential to human survival as food and water. More than 500 million people are dangling desperately on the edge of starvation. Each oil price-rise drives up the cost of living and pushes more people off the edge. The rest sit and wait, with distended stomachs, shriveled limbs and running sores. The oil ministers secretly agreed last month to curtail production, keep supplies scarce and permit premium pricing. This means the oil sheikdoms can ignore the announced 9 percent price increase and charge whatever the market will bear. The United States imports most of its Middle East oil from Saudi Arabia. which can pump 10 million barrels a day. The Saudis agreed to cut back production to 8.5 million barrels. The United States also buys 45 percent of Libya's oil. The Libyans, whose wells have a daily capacity of 5 million barrels, will hold down production to around 2 million barrels.

Most of the oil sheikdoms are planning similar restrictions. This will create a contrived oil shortage and cause a scramble for the scarce supplies.

He responded by comparing U.S. farms with Arabian oil wells. "Many people in the world are hungry," he said, "and they have great need for your wheat, barley, food.

He is quite correct that both food and energy are urgently needed by the world's deprived people. But unlike the oil cartel, the United States has not rigged grain prices. During the past decade, the world population has increased 20 percent but food production has gone up only 2 and a half percent. Yet the United States has not taken economic advantage of the tightening food supply.

In 1973, a bushel of wheat and a barrel of oil cost about the same around $3. The oil potentates have arbitrarily raised the price of crude to $15 per barrel, and higher. In contrast, the price of wheat today is about $3.

Not only the underdeveloped countries but the oil nations are dependent upon U.S. grain. In 1978, the United States shipped close to 5.3 million tons of wheat and flour to the oil-producing nations. This constituted over 66 percent of the wheat consumption in the Middle East oil

Monahans death self-induced, JP determines

MONAHANS - The death of a man in the Monahans city jail early Saturday resulted from strangulation by self-induced hanging Peace Justice L.A. Wester ruled Wednesday

Norman Douglas Moore, 26, of Monahans was discovered hanging from his belt connected to the bars of his cell door shortly after midnight, police reported.

Police Chief Joe Drea said the patrolman who discovered Moore immediatly cut the body down and began to use resuscitation procedures while calling for assistance.

Wester pronounced the man dead at 12: 20 a.m., after efforts to revive him

Wester said there were no marks or bruises on the body, and the cause of death was listed as strangulation.

Monahans police department has had a policy for some months regarding the removal of prisoner's belts, Drea said, terming Moore's case an oversight.

Moore was booked in city jail at 10 p.m. Friday on misdemeanor charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was the only prisoner in the jail, according to Drea.

At the same time, representatives of citrus and vegetable growers and the Texas Farm Bureau lodged protests against the bill. Speaking before the House Agriculture and Live-workers and farm owners. "The bill would establish the mechanism for workers and farmers to get together and work out a just and fair contract," Garcia said.

The bill is aimed at large agri-businesses and would exclude the small family farm, he added. Alfredo de Avila, a representative of the Texas Farm Workers Union, said, "We will no longer was a finalist in persuaaccept the myth that agriculture is small business," he added. ### Student loan guarantee passed by Texas House

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The House passed, 88-34, Wednesday a bill establishing a state guarantee program for college student loans.

The bill next goes to the Senate. It would establish a Texas Guaranteed Student Loan Corporation, run by a board that would include financiers, educators and one student. The corporation would guarantee repayment of loans to college students from banks and other private lenders. The federal government would provide administrative money and, for the first five years, repay the corporation for any losses it sustains from defaults on loans. After five years, the federal backing would continue as long as the default rate did not exceed 5

Backers of the bill believe it would increase money available for student loans by bringing in banks that did not want to participate in the present federally administered program.

'Crown Matrimonial," a drama by British playwright Royce Ryton, opens a week from Friday as MCT's third major production of its 1979 season. And MCT's newest organization, the Theatre Midland Dancers, is deep in rehearsals for its two special dance evenings coming up May 8 and 9. Tickets for the gala events are available at the box office, free to MCT members, $2 to non-members.

The council Califano addressed, an umbrella group for private and public organizations opposed to smoking, is the same one he spoke to in Washington Jan. 11, 1978 when he kicked off his battle against cigarettes as "Public Health Enemy No. 1.'

A 1,100-page surgeon general's report on smoking released last Jan. 11 said 6 million youths age 13 to 19 were regular smokers, and 100,000 children under 13 also smoked regularly.

Surgeon General Julius Richmond told reporters in San Diego earlier this month he expected "encouraging" news on teen-age smoking and said it reflects "the new attitudes in this country, especially among young people, toward good health. I have always thought that it would take some time to turn young people away from worrying about Vietnam and Watergate and toward worrying about their own health. I think that has finally happened.'

The Agriculture Department has reported that the number of cigarettes consumed per person annually in the United States has fallen from 4,345 in 1963 to 3,965 in 1978. Last year's rate was the lowest in 20

HEW says smoking plays a large role in the deaths of 225,000 Americans each year from heart disease, 80,000 deaths from lung cancer, 22,000 from other cancers and 19,000 from chronic pulmonary disease. Although the trend on smoking cigarettes is down, other surveys have found that smoking marijuana is on the rise among teen-agers.

NRC panel caught between safety, blackouts

officials that closing the plants could lead to black- and welfare of America.'

Senior staff members of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission strongly recommended Wednesday that the plants, all of which have reactors similar to the crippled Three Mile Island unit, be closed immedi-

The five NRC commissioners postponed a final decision until today after several said they wanted more time to digest the information.

Utility executives and officials from Babcock & Wilcox, the engineering firm which built the reactors, said a shutdown is not needed and warned that such a move would cause serious power shortages and sporatic blackouts during the peak summer

The shutdown order would involve nuclear plants in South Carolina, Florida, Ohio, Arkansas, Pennsylvania and California. Only the three Oconee reactors in South Carolina and the Rancho Seeco unit in California are now operating; the others, including a sister unit to the Three Mile Island reactor that ran into trouble, are temporarily shut down already for refueling or safety checks.

In their recommendation, the NRC staff said there were design problems with the Babcock & Wilcox reactors - particularly in the cooling system and the integrated control system - which have a potential of resulting in an accident similar to the one at Three Mile Island near Harrisburg, Pa., on

"We conclude that we do not now have reasonable assurance that these B&W plants can continue to operate without undue risk. We believe that these plants should be shut down now," the staff said.

Harold Denton, the NRC's director of reactor regulation, said the staff had hoped the utilities would have provided alternative solutions short of a shutdown but that they failed to do so.

Utility executives said they would attempt to purchase electricity elsewhere but such purchases would lead to higher customer costs.

PUC slashes rates for Pennsylvania customers

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) - The state Public Utility Commission has temporarily slashed $25 million from the rates charged by Pennsylvania Electric Co., part-owner of the crippled Three Mile Island nuclear plant.

The lower rates, which took effect Wednesday and will last for six months, were prompted by the March 28 accident that crippled a reactor at the plant.

The utility, which serves 490,000 customers in 31 counties, won a $56.2 million rate increase last January. The revenues were sought largely to cover its share of building and operating the reac-

The PUC order setting temporary rates noted that the utility's operations have "changed substantially" since the rate increase was approved.

The reactor "is now inoperable, and will not be useable for an indefinite period. It is no longer used and useful in the public service," the PUC said.

Metropolitan Edison of Reading, which owns half of the plant, has already been barred from collecting a $49 million rate increase granted six days before the accident.

Final rates for both companies will be set after the PUC completes its investigation into who should pay for the accident and the $800,000 a day it costs to buy replacement power.

increases to new high

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of people getting government food stamps, increasing at a budget-breaking pace since Jan. 1, grew an addition-al 6.3 percent in February to a three-year high of 18.6 million persons.

At that pace, enrollment in the program soon will exceed the peak of 19.3 million persons in April and

However, the Agriculture Department, which reported the latest figures Wednesday, said advance information for March "suggests a significant slowdown" in the program's growth rate.

Leslie Wilder of the department's Food and Nutrition Service said the estimate of 18.6 million persons getting food stamp benefits in February was the largest enrollment since March 1976 when 19.2 million were covered.

BUSINESS MIRROR Less housework time spent means somebody's money

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - John Robinson has done his work, having measured to tiny percentages how Americans spend the 1,440 minutes in their day eating, working, sleeping, reading, doing the laun-

But, having finished one phase of his project, he has scheduled the work day for others, such as certain market researchers, sociologists, and economists who must determine the significance of his findings.

Chief of these findings is that women today spend much less time on family chores, and it can't be explained by the fact that most women hold jobs outside the home, or that they are single or child-

In 1965, the professor found from interviews and an examination of diaries maintained by more than 1,500 persons, employed women gave 26 hours a week to family care. In 1975, the hours so devoted fell to Full-time homemakers, it was found, spent more than 50 hours a week on family care, which includes among other chores, housework, child care and shopping. But in 1975 the hours had fallen to 44.

True, men have taken up some of the slack, but reluctantly. For married men the commitment edged up one hour, from nine in 1965 to 10 a decade later. But that still leaves a gap to be explained.

Nothing like it has happened in nearly half a century, said Robinson, who teaches at Cleveland

State University. "Through the 1960s, there was no evidence of a decline. It was even on the increase,' he said. To some people, the mystery might provoke no more comment than "It's about time." But others cannot dismiss the evidence so lightly.

Robinson comments that "what people do with their time is of ultimate concern to every society." Whether time is used wisely or unwisely, he observes, "bears heavily on the quality of societal

The statement is true, of course, whether one speaks of politics or religion or foreign travel. But Ben Franklin, of practical bent, pointed to an area of very great interest. Time is money, he said.

For those who seek to make money from what appears to be a fundamental change of attitude, the first question being asked is: How can I profitably fill up that time? What product, program, book will The challenge is ubiquitous. It involves all the media, the leisure product manufacturers, the fast food restaurateurs, travel promoters. It concerns greengrocers, dressmakers, husbands, children.

How can industry capitalize on it? What does it mean? How did it happen?

Robinson's main job was to record precisely how time was used: in meal cleanup, ironing, gardening, marketing, animal care, waiting in line, dressing the kids. Asked why it happened he offers only ques-Better education? More efficiency? Relaxation of standards? Wash and wear clothing? Kitchen and other household appliances? Pre-cooked meals? Fast food restaurants? More help from the children?

What brought it about, however, may not be as important economically as what might be done about it. A microwave oven manufacturer might feel like taking a bow, but his payoff comes from duplicating

Community refuses 'free' fed money

By THOMAS J. RIZZO

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) - When Uncle Sam paid a visit to this tranquil community a few months ago, he received a rude welcome and a quick goodbye from residents fed up with his spending habits.

The purpose of the federal government's visit was routine. The city was being offered an urban aid grant by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. All the city had to do was make final application

"I thought this was the most fantastic grant the city ever had, because it did so much for the city," said Mayor Claude Schlosser.

But a citizen's rebellion against federal spending drove the City Council to do the unexpected: it nixed the $2.25 million grant.

This wasn't the only rebellion against federal spending. On April 17, voters in Manchester, Conn., overwhelmingly approved a referendum to halt receipt of $1 million in HUD community development funding. In Mount Vernon, a city of some 15,000 residents 35 miles northeast of Columbus, Mayor Schlosser ap-seeking federal funds to improve "blighted" areas. The money would have gone for sewer installation, street paving, home modernization, and development of a community center. The city was not required to meet the federal commitment with local "matching" funds. This sort of "free money" is generally happily received by U.S. cities. When Washington extends its hand in financial friendship, it doesn't expect anyone to take a bite. However, in today's atmosphere of fiscal austeri-ty, city officials can take nothing for granted.

"I am a believer in local control," said George

Edick, a former school board president who headed a citizens group opposed to federal spending. "If you accept these grants, pretty soon the camel's got his head in the tent and you're under more restrictive controls "I also believe we have to stop our deceit and hypocrisy where, on one hand, we complain about federal, state and local spending and, on the other hand, we stand with our hands out. "The programs are extreme and needless and expensive. I don't think politicans believe what Proposition 13 was saying. Politicians aren't listen-

When more than 100 people joined Edick at a City Council meeting, the local lawmakers suddenly discovered flaws in the grant. The major argument centered on the "strings" attached.

"The grant was horribly discriminatory," says Warren Anderson, council finance chairman. "The target area where the money was supposed to be spent is equally as rundown as other sections of the city. How can you tell a man that doesn't live within the designated area that work is going to be done on someone else's home with his tax money?'

Schlosser retorts: "The only people that would benefit from this grant would be ones who couldn't do for themselves. My attitude is that if I can help the fellow who needs it, more power to him."

States seek fuel help

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Energy officials from 14 Midwestern states say they are facing a shortage of diesel fuel for agricultural purposes and have asked the federal government for help.

William J. Watt, chairman of the Midwestern Governors' Conference Energy Task Force, said Wednesday the shortage farmers face is more serious than during the 1974 Arab oil embargo.

Watt presented the views of the 14 Midwestern states in a letter to U.S. Energy Secretary James Schlesinger Watt, energy adviser to Gov. Otis R. Bowen, said the shortages are most serious in Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota and Iowa.

Minnesota will have exhausted by the end of the week the supply of diesel set aside for agriculture, and shortages for priority users in Kansas and Nebraska already arz in the 20 percent range, Watt said.

Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, South Dakota and Missouri can meet agricultural needs for diesel fuel at least through the end of the month, Watt said.

"We are concerned the situation could, in the coming weeks, reach dimensions serious enough to interfere with scheduled plantings and the June wheat harvest," Watt said in the
