FAA grounds DC-10s after cracks found on jet engine mounts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration today suspended the design certificate of the DC-10, indefinitely grounding all 138 of the jetliners flown by the nation's

The FAA acted after new cracks were found in the engine mounts of two of the jumbo jets that had been inspected and cleared earlier, an agency spokesman said.

The spokesman, Jerry Doolittle, said the grounding order came in the form of an emergency suspension of the DC-10's design certificate, an apparently unprecedented step involving a commercial jetliner.

Doolittle said the design certificate is required before a type of airplane is given an airworthiness certificate, a document that attests to the safety of

"It's too early to tell" exactly what the inspections will entail, said another FAA spokesman, Jerry Lavey. "We're going to have to satisfy ourselves that the aircraft now in operation conform with the original design we approved. We're going to look at everything."

Doolittle said that while the order covered the design of the entire plane, the engine mounting area was "the only area we're concerned with at the

Reporter-Telegram to close early

The Reporter-Telegram will be closed Thursday from 1 until 4 p.m. in respect for the memory of William M. "Bill" Woody, vice president and general manager, who died Tuesday.

The newspaper's metro and home editions will be combined and published earlier than usual in order that employees may attend funeral services. Offices will re-open at 4 p.m.

Lavey said it was not known how long the DC-10 fleet will be out of service.

Special inspections of the engine mounts of the DC-10 came after an American Airlines DC-10 lost an engine and crashed in Chicago May 25, killing 272 persons aboard the jet and three on the ground. It was the nation's worst air disaster.

The DC-10, a tri-engine, wide-body after receiving information Tuesday night that two American Airlines DC-10s, previously inspected under recent government directives, were found to have 2-inch cracks in their engine pylon mounting systems.

"We obviously haven't found the cause of these cracks," said Doolittle, who called the situation "disturb-transport built by McDonnell Douglas Corp., carries an estimated 33,000 of the nation's air travelers daily. Eight U.S. airlines operate the plane.

At least three of the eight airlines, United, Continental and Northwest Orient, said they were cancelling all DC-10 flights immediately. United and Northwest Orient said it hoped to substitute other aircraft for the grounded jets, but Continental said it had no spare equipment.

Overseas, Lufthansa German Airlines grounded all its DC-10s on orders of the West German government. In all, 33 foreign air carriers fly the DC-10, and they are not legally bound by the FAA grounding order.

Lavey said the DC-10s in the air when the certificate was suspended were permitted to continue on to their nearest destination.

The order was hand-carried to McDonnell Douglas' plant in Long Beach, Calif., Doolittle said. A McDonnell Douglas spokesman had no immediate reaction to the Doolittle said the agency acted initially issued — but later postponed the execution of - a temporary order to ground the DC-10s. In staying his order, he said he wanted to give the FAA a chance to try to show that the jets were safe.

Robinson's action was in response to a request from the Airline Passengers Association.

"I'm happy that the FAA, for whatever reason, has complied with the federal judge's order," James E. Dunne, president of the 50,000-member association, said of today's action by the agency. "I've only asked that there be a complete scientific study in depth ... Better to be inconvenienced and to know that you're not taking a risk of unknown proportions."

Doolittle said the new cracks re-ported Tuesday night were uncovered as the planes were nearing their 100hour inspections, which were called for in a recent directive.

"Way this is so disturbing is that these two aircraft had gone through (the inspection) process" and were thought free of problems, he said.

The judge's original grounding order had said the FAA is "restrained from permitting the continued operation of the McDonnell-Douglas DC-10" until the cause of the engine loss is determined and "sufficient corrective measures have been taken.'

Health agency to start over

Will reconsider application for cancer center

By SUSAN TOTH Staff Writer

The project review committee of the Permian Basin Health Systems Agency decided Tuesday night it had failed to follow its written procedures and recommended starting over in considering Midland Memorial Hospital's application for a certificate of need for a $1.7 million cancer treatment center.

Six of nine committee members were present Tuesday night for the reconsideration hearing requested by Odessa's Medical Center Hospital.

None of those present said he thought the deviation from procedure had affected the group's decision, but agreed the rehearing would remove any question about the validity of the final recommendation.

Medical Center opposes building of the level III cancer treatment center in Midland because that hospital claims such a center would duplicate facilities already available in Odes-

PROPONENTS CLAIM, however, that the Midland center would offer sophisticated treatments not now available in the Permian Basin area. A donation of $1.5 million from Midlander Helon Y. Allison would be used to build the Midland center.

The recommendation by the committee must now be reviewed by the agency's 32-member governing body.

If that group agrees with the committee, the certificate of need application will be back at its intitial point.

A certificate of need issued by the Texas Health Facilities Commission is necessary before a hospital can spend $100,000 or more on anything.

Comments from the local Health Systems Agency should have a significant effect on the consideration in Austin, according to Harley Reeves, director of the HSA, because the local group is the one which designed the five-year health plan for the region.

The local HSA, however, has only until June 29 - 60 days after the THFC received the application - to submit its comments.

In the three weeks remaining before the deadline, the 32-member governing body must meet to rule on the committee recommendation for a rehearing.

THE GOVERNING body can disapprove the recommendation and send the application to Austin with the favorable comments already written by the committee.

If the body approves the recommendation, the committee must hold another public hearing, meet and formulate written comments on the public hearing, then submit that written report at a second governing body

If the deadline is missed, the application goes without any comment from the group back to the THFC in outspoken criticism.

In the original hearing on the matter May 22, the public hearing, project review committee meeting and governing body meeting were held back-to-back. No written report from the committee to the governing body was submitted, and a 28-page staff report on the application required to be to the committee five days before the hearing was handed out just before it start-

Those deviations from the written procedures were the bases of one of Medical Center's objections to the original hearing.

They also contended Midland Memorial had implied a stronger agreement with M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston than actually existed.

MIDLAND MEMORIAL Hospital said there was "tentative approval" of the link with the Houston cancer center, but Joe Weber, attorney for Medical Center, said Tuesday night no agreement, however tentative, actually existed. Committee members discounted that argument.

Committee members spent most of Tuesday's two-hour meeting trying to decide how "material" the deviation from the standard procedure had

This is the first certificate of need application the group has reviewed, and it apparently followed its regular pattern for granting reviews instead of the more technical certificate of need procedures.

While none of the committee thought the deviations were significant enough to have changed the favorable recommendation, Weber argued that, since this was the first such procedure handled by the group, it should set a pattern for future re-

"Your rules are written so your time is not wasted," Weber said. "If you continue to meet back-to-back (with the governing body), you're wasting your time.'

COMMITTEE MEMBERS commented that most of the governing body had been present in the public hearing and was privy to all the information the committee had.

Midland Memorial attorney Fred Davis acknowledged procedural deviations had occurred, but noted the rules said the deviations must be 'material" before a rehearing must be held.

Whatever the outcome locally, the entire procedure from fact finding to public hearing will be repeated in Austin by the Texas Health Facilities Commission, so the sibling rivalry between the sister cities is not likely to end anytime soon.

Police making inspections of vehicles in Midland

By MIKE SLATON

Numerous Midland motorists have found themselves and their vehicles under the joint scrutiny of the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the Midland Police Department. For example, a vehicle registration check was made Monday at two main thoroughfares in the city. Approximately 80 tickets were issued by two police officiers at check points set up in the 2600 block of Wadley Avenue and in the 700 block of the Andrews Highway, according to police.

The largest number of tickets was issued for vehicles not having a front license plate, although many others were issued for lack of motor vehicle inspection stickers and invalid driver licenses, police said. Inspector Allan Neighbors of the highway department's Motor Vehicle Divison, said 27 notices were issued by his department for expired license

'No fine is involved with notices issued by the highway department," said Neighbors. He added, however, that failure to comply with such notices could result in a complaint being filed by the state of Texas with a fine being the ultimate possible result of such action. The Texas Highway Department is not a law enforcement agency, said Neighbors. Basically the department is engaged in a public information service, he said. "About once a month we check vehicle registration in Midland," the inspector explained. Expired vehicle registration (license plates) and out of state registration are the main focal points of the department's efforts, he said.

"If someone lives in the state more than 30 days, has established a home, is employed here, sets up utility agreements, such as gas or electric, or in some way establishes themselves as a resident of Texas. they must register their vehicle in Texas," Neighbors said.

When a person is found in violation of such regulations, said Neighbors, he is given a pamphlet explaining what he must do to be in compliance with the law.

Petition circulating to save the Hill house

By SUSAN TOTH

A group of Midlanders is seeking some 4,000 signatures on petitions opposing the Midland school district's condemnation suit against the Irene

The group, which calls itself People Resisting Iminent Domain Exploitation, has collected more than 1,100 signatures since the drive began Sunday afternoon, according to organizer Don McCarty. The school district plans to use the Hill property and other land between

Illinois and Tennessee avenues from the current Midland High School campus to F Street to build parking lots and athletic practice fields for MHS

A hearing to set a price the district must pay for the Hill property under the right of eminent domain is pending in the county court at law.

Organizers of PRIDE plan to present petitions with signatures of at least 4,000 registered voters to the County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon to gain the support of that group before approaching the school board Tuesday, McCarty said today.

The school district is proceeding with an eminent domain suit against the Hill estate, which includes a little less than four acres between Illinois and Ohio streets. The property includes the Hill house, built in 1902 by the Cowden family at Illinois Avenue and F Street.

The petition opposes the eminent domain action, which allows the district to buy the property for public use without regard to the owner's wish to

"We do not feel that this sort of destructive progress is beneficial to the Midland community. We would prefer to have the Hill house preserved, as it is a historical landmark of our city," the petition says.

Response to the petition drive has been very good, McCarty said. "Less than 1.5 percent of the people I've talked to are in favor of this

McCarty argued that the sale of the North Elementary School campus two years ago showed a lack of planning on the part of the school board, since he contends that property could be used for expansion of MHS.

The North campus, a square block across A Street from MHS, was sold to a Midland bank two years ago. Funds from the sale were used to construct a vocational building on the MHS campus. The North campus was considered but rejected as a site for the practice fields, according to Dr. James Mailey, superintendent of schools, because it would not have provided the necessary space for athletic fields comparable to those at Lee High School and because it would not have been connected to the MHS campus.

Thrust of the MHS expansion program is to bring the school's facilities up to the level of those at LHS, Mailey said.

The area where a 10-inch crack was discovered in the aft attachment point of a pulon that separated from the engine of the ill-fated DC-10 that crashed May 25, killing more than 270 persons, is located in this Associated Press drawing. In the latest development Tuesday, as investigations into the crash continued, a federal court judge granted a temporary restraining order grounding all DC-10s. He acted after hearing arguments from a consumer group. After requesting a delay until further arguments could be made in the Washington hearing, the FAA grounded the planes today in a surprise move. (AP

Disenchanted with officials, consumer group sought ruling

DALLAS (AP) — An airline passengers organization says it pushed for the grounding of all domestic and the traveling public." DC-10 jetliners only because aviation officials ignored earlier pleas to test the planes.

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. issued an order Tuesday grounding all DC-10s immediately. Later, however, he delayed implementation to allow the Federal Aviation Administration to make further arguments in a hearing today at Washington.

Robinson's rulings came on the request by the Airline Passengers Association at a hearing Tuesday in his Washington court.

Hal Salfen, a spokesman for the consumer airline passenger group, said Tuesday at the organization's headquarters in Dallas that the 50,000-member association got no response to telegrams it sent Langhorne Bond, the FAA chief, and James King, commissioner of the National Transportation Safety Board. The telegrams, he said, asked for tests on a plane similar to the one that crashed recently in Chicago killing 274 persons. After being ignored in that request, Salfen said, the organization decided to seek court action to force the groundings.

"They never bothered to answer us. We felt we had to pursue it," he said.

The telegrams, he said, "asked that scientific tests be made to check for metal fatigue and possible design problems.

Salfen said the telegrams sent Saturday to King and Bond asked only that a plane of similar design and age be tested, and "groundings would be a disservice to the air traveling public.

"We are not gleeful over the thing at all," he said. "We are sorry so many people will be inconvenienced. That was not our aim and not our desire at been based in Dallas since 1968

The passengers' group was rebuffed Sunday in an earlier attempt to have the DC-10s grounded The National Transportation Safety Board then announced Monday that improper maintenance procedures may have produced a crack that led to the Chicago crash May 25.

"(The ruling) did not take us by surprise," Salfen continued. "That's what we asked for. We felt in light of the added information supplied by the National Transportation Safety Board yesterday afternoon (Monday) that the judge did not have on Sunday, they would take another look at the intial deci-

Robinson directed Bond to bar continued operation of DC-10s "until such time as the cause for the loss of the left engine on American Airlines DC-10 Flight 191 is identified and sufficient corrective measures have been taken to prevent future occurrences of the type that led to the crash.'

Salfen said the association was formed 20 years ago as a consumer safety organization concentrating on the "convenience, comfort, economy and safety" of its members.

The association periodically surveys its members most of whom make between 35 and 40 air trips a year - which airline and planes they prefer.

Ironically, American Airlines has been named the favorite airline the past five years. The DC-10 ranked second behind the 747 for trips over three hours and second behind the 727 for trips under three Salfen said the association often helps smooth the way for members who encounter problems such as lost baggage and overbooked flights. The APA has

Grounding of DC-10s takes travelers, carriers by surprise

By The Associated Press

The sudden grounding today of the nation's 138 DC-10's by the Federal Aviation Administration caught air carriers by surprise, forcing airlines to cancel flights.

There was little immediate reaction from travelers, including many who were forced to waitas long as several hours for alternate flights.

For example, United Airlines canceled a 7 a.m. flight from New York to Chicago, and said passengers booked on the grounded DC-10 were placed on a 10:50 a.m. flight. 'We don't have any idea of what we're going to do," said Tom Wheeler, a spokesman for Oak-land-based World Airways. Wheeler said he didn't know if any World DC-10s were in the air when the order was issued, but said overnight flights had been scheduled from Newark, N.J., to Los Angeles and from Los Angeles to Newark.

"We're going to ground the planes — 15 of them. We'll eliminate all the schedules of the DC-10 until they can fly again," said Joe Daley, vice president of Conti-nental Airlines, in Los Angeles.

"There are normally 50 flights a day out of here. We do not have any extra equipment at this time to replace them... We have an order from

Airport's curfew debated

SAN DIEGO (AP) -Lindbergh Field, one of the few airports in the nation that forbids outgoing flights at night, will have a longer curfew in 90 days — if the Feder-al Aviation Administration approves.

The controversial midnight-to-6 a.m. curfew was extended an hour for the noisiest jets - in a 4-3 vote Tuesday by the Port Commissioners

The extension, a half hour earlier at night and a half hour later in the morning, would affect two American Airlines and one United Airlines flights. One American flight, the 11:45 p.m. non-stop to Dallas, may be discontinued, a spokesman said.

Earlier this week, the FAA expressed its offi-cial displeasure with the present curfew.

Several commissioners voiced concern that the extension, which goes into effect in 90 days, could result in revision by the FAA and possibl revocation of the entie curfew.

the FAA and we're going to have to follow it.

'We will try our best either to carry passen-gers on other kinds of airplanes or put them on other airlines," said David Frailey, a spokesman for American Airlines in New York.

"Some people will be inconvenienced. There's no question about it." Of 1,000 American departures a day throughout the country, 90 are DC-10s, he said. McDonnell Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) - Daniel Minchew admits he deliberately misled investigators about his handling of Sen. Herman E. Talmadge's money when the Justice Department began looking into the senator's finances last summer

The former Talmadge aide was cross-examined by Talmadge's lawyer, James Hamilton, who is seeking to demonstrate that Minchew has given varying accounts of his own role in the conversion scheme.

Minchew's credibility is a critical issue before the committee, which eventually must decide whether to recommend that the full Senate cen-

Chicago bank to lend $8 million to China

HONG KONG (AP) - The First National Bank of Chicago has agreed to lend $8 million to China for the purchase of cargo ships, a bank official announced here today.

Executive Vice President William McDonough said the loan is believed to be the first granted to China by a McDonough said the loan agreement was signed with the Fujian (Fukien) Investment Corporation in China's southern Fujian province. He said the note was guaranteed by the Bank of China.

Both McDonough and Robert Abboud, chairman of the bank, declined to give other details of the agreement during a news conference.

The bank held a board meeting in Peking last week.

He said that with China's modernization program, the bank hopes to conclude more loan agreements with China when "occasions arise.

Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, says Minchew is a "proven liar, thief, embez-

Minchew insists the conversion scheme was approved by the senator as a means of providing him with a ready source of cash.

When newspaper accounts of financial irregularities first surfaced last summer, Talmadge convened meetings to decide how to respond.

Minchew said he attended some of those meetings even though he had left Talmadge's staff in 1974 and last summer was a member of the International Trade Commission, a post he has since resigned.

Following one meeting on June 13, 1978, Minchew wrote a memo to the senator spelling out some details of the money conversion scheme from four years previously. Minchew testified that Talmadge's instructions were to keep the conversion plan a secret between them.

Instead, according to Minchew, Talmadge turned the memo over to the Justice Department, which sent a lawyer to question Talmadge's former assistant. Believing that the Justice Department obtained the memo from someone other than Talmadge, Minchew said he "purposely withheld information" from the government lawyer, and "was less than candid."

"I tried to buy time, to mislead him, so that I could get further clarification from my principal (Talmadge).

Minchew said his principal concern was that investigators be kept away from the fact that campaign contributions were passed through the secret account.

Later, Minchew said, he learned that Talmadge had precipitated the investigation.

Minchew has previously testified that Talmadge has an excellent memory for facts and figures. But Minchew said last summer, he felt it necessary to "refresh" the senator's neled through a secret Washington

Asked why, Minchew testified that Talmadge had a great many personal problems at—the time and he was unsure "what his (Talmadge's) abilities were in 1978.

Talmadge was treated for alcoholism earlier this year, after an incident in which he visibly stumbled down the aisle on the Senate floor in January. In all, Minchew says he handled $45,000 in Senate expense funds and campaign contributions in 1973 and 1974. Some $39,000 passed through the secret bank account.

On Tuesday, Minchew said he used $16,000 of the money himself, gave about $10,000 to Talmadge's late son Bobby, $500 to Betty Talmadge, the senator's former wife, $13,500 to Talmadge, and $5,000 was restored to legitimate use in Talmadge's 1974 re-election campaign. Asked about the money to Mrs. Talmadge, Minchew said he was informed at some point that she needed money. He was also asked how he decided how much to give her. "It was pulled out of the air," he said.

Judges guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) - In a rare action, a full nine-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals will meet a week from today to consider whether the Carter administration has the legal right to punish violators of his voluntary wage-price guidelines.
Usually only three appellate judges hear cases. A government attorney said Tuesday it was unusual for all nine to gather to hear a case this quickly.

The case is the government's appeal of a ruling last week that said Carter lacked constitutional authority to threaten denial of federal contracts to companies that violate the wageprice standards. A government attorney who asked

Candidate Bush calls for talks on U.S., world energy strategy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Republican presidential candidate George Bush called today for a national summit conference to develop an energy strategy as grand as the landing on Normandy beaches 35 years ago.

In remarks prepared for the World Affairs Council, Bush also said energy-consuming nations of the world should join together in their dealings with the oil-producing nations, and suggested a possible international summit conference between the major consuming and producing na-

"Today our economy is locked in a painful vise, pinned down on one side by our inability to produce more domestic energy and on the other by an international cartel whose desire for profits seems almost infinite," Bush said. "And worst of all, as the squeeze grows tighter, we are totally incapacitated by our own internal voices of distrust and defeatism.

"I believe the United States must devise an emergency energy program as broad in concept and as grand in scale as the landing on the beaches of Normandy 35 years ago," said Bush. 'As a first order of business, the president should convene a domestic summit conference that brings together leaders of government, of industry, of academe, of consumer interest, of farming and others." Bush said it would be better to expose our weaknesses and thrash out our differences in public than to go any longer without a national plan of attack on the energy crisis. Any effective energy program will mean higher costs at the gas pump, relaxed environmental standards to encourage the use of coal and a costly crash program to develop synthetic fuels, "But the price of indecision, of continual deadlock, will be much, much higher," Bush said. "The only way we're going to break this hammerlock and regain control of our own destiny is to stop dithering and start produc-Bush also said that when President

Carter meets in Tokyo this month with the heads of other industrialized democracies, he should make his highest priority development of a concerted plan for dealing with nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

"The consumer nations are capsizing in the same boat together," Bush said. "To rescue ourselves, it is imperative that we finaly begin rowing together

"If a concerted strategy can be hammered out in Tokyo, there may be considerable merit in an international summit conference drawing together the major consumer and producer nations," Bush said.

Flood waters cover portions of Wichita Falls, other towns places and at least three funnel clouds were spotted in widely separated locations about Texas. In Wichita Falls, a fire department deep in some of the houses along the Holliday, Plum and McGrath creeks, said Red Cross worker Pat Root. The rampaging waters washed out at least three bridges in Wichita County and inundated others, the sheriff's department said. Assistant City Manager Bob Haley said employees would survey the extent of the damage today. Residents living near the banks of the Wichita River were urged to move to higher ground Tuesday as the river approached flood stage.

Severe thunderstorms dumped torrents of water and twirling funnels snaked out of dark clouds at opposite ends of the state Tuesday.

Other Texas towns and cities reporting flooding from the hard-hitting thunderstorms included Fort Worth and Jacksboro in North Texas, Laredo in Southwest Texas and Colorado City in West Texas. Funnel clouds were sighted by the public in Corpus Christi near the Gulfway Shopping Center; near

Lubbock; and west of Sabine Pass in Southeast Texas. Rains of 3 inches or more were measured across the state, with many areas getting 6 to 8 inches. Hail also Flash flood watches and warnings were commonplace. Texas' major rivers filled quickly, causing minor to moderate lowland flooding.

The Texas Highway Department closed Texas 55 at the Nueces River in Uvalde County because of high water. Texas 127 was closed at the Frio and Sabinal Rivers in that county. Lake Stamford, north of Abilene in Haskell County, went over its spillway and rose rapidly Tuesday when more than 6 inches of rain fell. A flood warning was posted. Fort Worth, with 4 inches of rain in three hours, reported local street flooding before noon, as did San Antonio, 280 miles to the south.

Carter fighting controls of grain export prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's senior farm officials are standing with the private grain industry against advocates in Congress who want the government to control the export prices of U.S. wheat and other grains.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said today "there are no quick fixes" that would dasten long-term trade development.

"Even if we could by some hocus-

Bergland's remarks, issued by his office here, were prepared for a joint White House and National Governors Association seminar today in Seat-

On Tuesday, Congress heard similar views by one of Bergland's aides, Under Secretary Dale E. Hathaway. He said government control of export prices for U.S. grains wouldn't hurt Arab oil-producing nations but "would be cumbersome, expensive and generally not suited to U.S. agriculture or the U.S. economy."

Panels from the major commodity futures exchanges, 30 grain exporters and the National Association of Corn Growers backed Hathaway's opposition to a popular "food for crude" campaign.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rumors continue to circulate, none of them substantiated, that at least one of Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland's senior aides soon will leave his job.

USDA wants public input

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department wants to hear comments from the public on a proposal that would change the method of charging federal grain inspection fees from the basis of volume. the present method, to a basis of the amount of time consumed.

At present, for example, the department charges inspection fees of $2.50 per 1,000 bushels for grain in barges, bins and ships; $6.50 per truck or boxcar; and $13.50 per hopper car. Some parts of the grain industry that handle grain on a big-volume basis feel the rates for barges, bins and ships "are unfair to elevators which handle large volumes of grain per hour,' officials said. Comments will be accepted through July 30. Those can be sent to John W. Marshall, Director of Inspection Division, Room 0624-S, FCIS, USDA, Washington, D.C.

between grain prices and oil prices." The board would rebate profits to farmers after its costs were deducted and could barter U.S. grain for others' oil or other crucial re> sources. That agency doesn't use its authority to buy grain for foreign sales

> Hathaway said USDA opposes any bill to make it the sole marketing agent for any crops, replacing the competitive free-market system. "All centralized marketing systems tend to concentrate errors," he added.

Wheat sold for about $2 a bushel in 1970 when a barrel of OPEC oil sold for the same price. Wheat, which reached $5.52 in February 1974 when supplies were tighter, now sells for between $3 and $4 a bushel while the OPEC base price is between $16 and $18 a barrel. Wheat prices have risen by $1.07 a bushel since the administration began production controls and a reserves system two years ago, Hathaway said. Hathaway said the United States produces only 15 percent of the world's food and provides only 17 percent of the world's food exports.

Canada and Australia, the other top wheat exporters, use national grain export boards but the volume is much smaller, the marketing systems much simpler and their records less impressive than the private U.S. system, he added.

"The magnitude of the enterprise envisioned in (the bill) is beyond the ability of any single entity to manage effectively and efficiently," Hathaway said.

"You're right; we don't need an other Postal Service," commented Rep. Tom Hagedorn, R-Minn.

"We are the OPEC of grain! There are no other sources!" Weaver said, rejecting Hathaway's statements that artificially high wheat prices would just spur production elsewhere of that food grain and such substitutes as rice and potatoes Hathaway, who returned from Mo-

Russian grain-buying agency is now buying "a significant portion" of its purchases from U.S. farmer-owned cooperatives, "a markedly different pattern" from seven years of dealing with the five major firms. Weaver repeatedly criticized the five major grain traders for a "domi-

scow Saturday, disclosed that the nance" of U.S. exports that "has been disasterous for consumers and producers alike. Joseph Halow, executive director of the North American Export Grain Association, denied such dominance

"Even if it were true, to replace the current system with a board would be only to aggravate the situation, for it viously reduce the number of firms to one - and that one would be a government board which would have no liability for the sales and shipments it makes and would be subject to all sorts of political pressures," Halow said.

Hoppers in South Dakota consuming dry pastures

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) - Grasshoppers are putting the bite on the grass supply of western South Dakota cattlemen.

More than a million acres of grassland are heavily infested with grasshoppers, up to 100 hoppers per square yard in some southwestern and southcentral counties, authorities say, and eight adult grasshoppers per square yard can eat as much forage as a cow.

The problem is worse for ranchers because extremely dry conditions have limited the growth of grass, said Michael McNamara, emergency assistance planner for the state Agriculture Department. 'They're so short on grass, if they can't control the hoppers they won't be able to maintain their herds," he said.

Young grasshoppers, no more than half an inch long, have hearty appe-

Shuffling in USDA angers agency's career employees

WASHINGTON (AP) - Professional employees of the Agriculture Department are incensed by the administration's shuffling of various agencies and responsibilities that are related to historic federal and state extension functions.

A spirited letter-writing campaign has been started to inform state officials and others, including powerful members of Congress.

Traditionalists maintain that the cooperative efforts between USDA and state governments, particulally land-grant universities, have served farmers and consumers well by being a major influence on research and technological advances on the farm.

But the Carter administration has mounted what the traditionalists see as a threat to the structure by reorganizing agencies within the department so that, in their view, research and education have become obscured and diminished.

Letters have been sent to all state extension directors, state experiment station directors and others to outline the situation. A copy of the form letter was made available Monday by the Organization of Professional Employees of the Department of Agricul-

The 50-year-old organization, which serves as a lobbying and watchdog unit for professional employees, also plans a similar "but much stronger" letter to Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, a long-time USDA budget watcher, said Walter John, executive director of the employees group.

John recently testified on Capitol Hill against an administration general reorganization plan that would have stripped the Ferest Service from USDA and put it into a greatly expanded Interior Department.

The letter sent to state officials said the partnership of the department with them "is approaching a shambles in many of its traditional cooperative efforts" and that agencies such as the Cooperative State Research Service, the Extension Service and the Agricultural Research Service "no longer enjoy the stature and prestige" they had before.

A strange anomaly

tossed out in any discussion of energy problems is that there is erough energy locked up in America's coal deposits to last us for centuries.

But what are we doing about it? Operators of coal companies parading before a Senate committee last month reported that millions of tons of coal are being stockpiled for lack of a market. Miners are being laid off. The industry expects to produce 700 million tons of coal this year but could produce 100 million more if there were a market for it.

It has been a national goal for at least five years to reduce oil imports by making greater use of alternate energy sources, but we barely have moved from squareone in solving the problems of mining and using our most abundant alternative.

There are too many risks to public health and the environment to pursue a no-holds-barred policy of digging coal and burning it in power plants and industrial operations. But the coal operators

A ray of hope

Oge of the facts eventually are making an important point? Environmental laws often forbid the use of coal because of an air quality "standard," not because coal-burning would create an identifiable air quality problem.

This distinction could have a bearing on whether energy short states have enough electricity in the coming decade. The remotely. located coal-burning power plants now contemplated might create no public health problems, but they still would have trouble satisfying air quality standards which limit the discharge of pollutants into the air.

Eventually we can hope to see smoke-scrubbers efficient and economical enough to resolve that dilemma, and it is possible to tap the energy in coal without burning it at all. Methanol extracted from coal can be used as a clean-burning fuel for automobiles. Until these technologies are applied we are caught in a strange anomaly - a nation with a desperate need to curb its appetite for oil, and wondering what to do with a surplus of coal.

ART BUCHWALD Fast rise in slit skirts worries top economists

WASHINGTON — The bad news this week is that the slit skirt is rising at a rate twice as fast as that predicted by leading government econo-

I was sitting in Lafayette Park the other day with one of President Carter's economic advisors, watching women with slit skirts prance by, and he said, "The dressmakers and skirt manufacturers are violating the President's guidelines. He asked them to keep their slits within seven percent of the knee, but as you can see most of the slits are hovering up to the

"It's sickening," I said. "How could you people be so wrong on where the slit skirt was going?' "We didn't put the oil crisis into the computer." he said as he stared disconsolately at a very attractive lady who swished by.

What has the oil crisis got to do with slit skirts?'

"When people are nervous about gasoline they react by catering to the prurient interests of the opposite sex. Women are sublimating their fears about not getting enough fuel by showing a lot more of their legs than they ever showed before. They have developed a 'let's live for today' mentality, which eventually could lead to an overheating of the entire econ-

'I'm not sure I understand." He stared at another lady whose skirt was open from the navel to the knees. "If the trend continues we could see a serious downturn in productivity. Look at this park. If it wasn't for the slit skirt, three-quarters of these men would be eating lunch back at their offices and the women would have no valid reason to brazenly stroll down these walks. What we're witnessing is the downfall of the American work ethic. Every inch that a skirt goes up means one million lost man-hours of work.'

"I hadn't thought of it in those terms. Has the President given any consideration to jawboning?' 'The jawbone has nothing to do 'Well, what about legboning then?"

I suggested. "It may come to that, but our problem is that we have to have standby skirt controls to hold over their heads.

It's doubtful that we could get Congress to give them to us, because so many senators and congressmen have a vested interest in the slit

"There has to be a solution," I cried. "We can't go on like this, ogling everything that walks by. Would a recession help?"

"I don't think so. High unemployment doesn't necessarily mean the lowering of slits in skirts. If we put the brakes on now the slits could even go higher.'

"How much higher can they go?" I said in disgust.

"I wish I had the answer to that. You talk to ten dirty old economists and they all have different answers. What we have to hope for is that the open skirt boom will peak by summer, and then the cold weather will give us a rate of slit we can live with. "And if it doesn't?"

'Then we'll have double digit legs by the end of the year."

BIBLE VERSE

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. - Gal. 5:1.

WASHINGTON - Top-secret documents strongly indicate that Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger could have headed off the ruinous oil price rise in 1973-74. Their failure to do so encouraged the oil sheikdoms to levy a series of arrogant price increases that have inflicted severe economic damage upon the United

Americans are paying five times more for imported oil than they did six years ago. The oil cartel has fixed the price per barrel, economists tell us, at about $10 more than the price that would prevail in a competitive market.

This means Americans are being robbed every time they fill up their gas tanks, ride the bus, heat their homes or purchase anything that has to be transported. Petroleum is also the base for at least 300 products, ranging from secret files of the Central Intelligence Agency that the shah of Iran was behind the oil gouge. Not only was the shah one of the Big Three in the oil cartel but he was a pet ally of the United States.

Because Washington did not restrain the shah, the other oil-selling nations assumed that the United States condoned his drive for higher prices. The word spread that the Nixon administration secretly wanted high-priced oil to slow the wheels of rival industrial powers, such as West Germany and Japan, which were more dependent than the United States on oil imports. The shah happily helped to spread

this impression. From Saudi Arabia James Akins, the American ambassador during the oil negotiations. reported: "The Iranians had told (the Saudis) we were completely unconcerned about any price rise. The shah has also told this to numerous oilmen as proof that the U.S. is at least indifferent to an increase in oil prices.

Only the Saudis, fearful of the economic consequences, opposed the price gouge. As the dominant oll power, "Saudi Arabia can veto any increase because it can produce enough oil to flood the market, and it has a surplus of funds," the CIA noted. But the Saudis were unwilling to stand alone against the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

The Saudis appealed to Nixon and Kissinger to use their influence with the shah to stop the increases. If the United States did not intervene with the shah, Saudi oil minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani' sternly warned Washington, "It can only lead to Saudi Arabia giving up its present position on the crisis and joining its OPEC colleagues in their uncomprising stand."

In Washington, two financial pillars, Treasury Secretary William Simon and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns, were alarmed over the economic impact of the oil increases. They fought behind the scenes to break the OPEC price.

Simon flew to Riyadh where he got an agreement from the Saudis to sell their oil at public auction. This would have made it impossible for the cartel to rig prices higher than the competitive market would bear. He returned home triumphantly to present the deal to Nixon

Burns, meanwhile, formed a planning group to prepare economic countermeasures to end the oil rip-off. But both Simon and Burns, incredibly, were thwarted.

The shah, not satisfied with the press for still higher prices. In a secret message to Saudi Crown Prince Fahd, intercepted by U.S. intelligence, the shah argued that the increases were justified "because major importing countries have failed to make a sufficient effort to fight inflation, which affects the cost of OPEC country imports.'

When Iran's oil sales began to decline in 1975, the shah also started putting out the line "that foreign aid and econonic development efforts will have to be held down because of the decline in oil earnings in 1975."

But the CIA reported in a top-secret dispatch: "In fact, the Iranian balance of payments remains very strong. We believe that Tehran is using the drop in its oil revenues as an excuse to reject various requests for aid and to raise oil prices."

Both Simon and Burns, meanwhile, presented their case to Gerald Ford after he replaced Nixon in the White House. Simon drafted a confidential. six-page memo to the new president.

The memo charged that Iran "is the dominant force in OPEC for higher oil prices." The shah's "bogus economic arguments," Simon pleaded, "... should not go unchallenged."

He reported that "Saudi Arabia has repeatedly asked us to put pressure on the shah." The Saudi royal family had told him personally, Simon wrote, that "Saudi Arabia would press OPEC for lower prices" but that they "need the U.S. to help turn the shah around ... They wonder whether, in fact, we want lower oil prices since we. never even raise the subject with the Simon urged Ford "to take a tough private line with Iran, threatening overt U.S. counteractions if their stance is not altered." In fact, the new president called upon the shah to hold the line on oil prices and dispatched Kissinger to Tehran to deliver the message.

Thereafter the shah cooperated with the Saudis'to prevent any more drastic increases. This raises the nagging question: Why didn't Nixon and Kissinger bring the same pressure on the shah in time to stop the original disastrous price rise?

Mark Russell says

Those picky reporters at President Carter's last press conference gave him a hard time about his going away on two fishing trips. It was surprising that no one asked him why he returned.

His is a tricky situation. Ford couldn't walk and chew gum at the same time, and Carter can't go up in the polls without going to Camp David at the same time.

You have to have pity, on a Democratic President about whom the kindest words come from the Republican candidates.

The best day Carter had in the entire month of May was the day his best friend was indicted.

It's not only lonely at the top, but it's been weeks since he had a hug from Begin.

IT WOULD BE NICE IF NATIONS INSTEAD ABOLISHED WAR-OF THE OTHER WAY AROUND

NICK THIMMESCH

The little-noticed war over families and children

WASHINGTON — A large but under-reported war rages in the republic, and it is as important in the national scheme as energy, inflation or the latest Middle East wrinkle. The war, simply, is over families and children. The adversaries are traditionalists and a gang of secularminded materialists who think federal benevolence and militant "children's rights" are the answer to the crisis in American family life. Now the anti-traditionalists are well meaning. They are convinced that if only enough federal programs are funded — Eureka! — the age-old problems of families will be diminished to a manageable level.

They actually believe that the primary reason families come apart is that economic forces have conspired against them. Thus, children are abused by parents, run away, commit crimes, take drugs, become pregnant, get abortions, drop out of school - mostly because of the U.S. economic monster.

So outfits like the Carnegie Foundation or the National Academy of Sciences called for direct income redistribution, and a variety of other federally financed programs.

Now this can be bad economics and bad social policy as well. Small wonder that Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.) recently canceled hearings on the Child Care Act of 1979 (favored by anti-traditionalists), saying that Congress and the public feel "very negative" about such new federal propos-

The consequence of so many family welfare programs (331 in the federal government alone) is an enlargement of the pitiable welfare class - people who are told, in effect, you just can't make it, so we'll take care of you. Such dictum can be as bad as hero-

Now traditionalists feel for humanity just as keenly as the secularists do. Their ranks number political liberals as well as conservatives. But they feel that excessive federal meddling in families amounts to destroying the family in order to save it.

If families need help, they argue, do it through the "mediating structures" of neighborhood groups, churches and other voluntary organizations. Retain pluralism, retain family control.

Strong forces work against parental control these days. Some "children's rights" advocates go beyond the United Nations' acceptable list, and call for laws guaranteeing a child the right to: find a new home if his isn't happy for him; obtain free legal, medical or psychiatric care, without parental consent; remain in a runaway center; sue parents or schools for damages; exact a minimum wage from parents for do-

One such advocate, Patricia McGowan Wald, now waiting for confirmation as a U.S. circuit judge by the Senate Judiciary Committee, has argued that a "neutral decisionmaker" should decide the merits of a child's grievances against his parents. Ms. Wald also declared that she wouldn't be against dropping the voting age to 12 or 13. The thrust of anti-traditionalists is an attempt to pass the Ten Commandments all over again, though in the form of federal regulations with money attached. The sad experience with: those 331 federal programs; extreme stands on "children's rights"; and the situation by which a child can get a Planned Parenthood abortion without parental consent, but must have a written note from mother to get her ears pierced, have created a backlash against President Carter's White House Conference on Families and U.S. participation in the International Year of the Child. Indeed, Mr. Carter seems confused about American family life. On one hand, he talks fervently about the traditional family and laments the decline of moral standards and the scorning of marriage. On the other, he appoints policy makers who are anti-traditional and foster a secularism which deteriorates family life. There is no better voice on this issue than Dr. Robert Coles, a Harvard University psychiatrist, who passionately declares that the most pressing need for American children today is for parents to teach them values and ethics, and compassion for other people, rather than the tricky path to beat the system and make big-bucks. Dr. Coles commits the secular sin of invoking Judaic tradition and Christ's teaching to plead his case.

He scoffs at proposals for children to engage in contentious battles with parents over "rights." Moreover, he says, parents should quit trying to psychologically "understand" their children and begin showing them why they should contribute to the family's

While Dr. Coles believes that children of the poor need free medical attention, compensatory education and other special help, he still gives priority to the need for parents to take charge, to stress, by word and example, the difference between right and wrong, and the value in treating people with humanity.

Rich and poor parents alike must do this, and federal grants won't help.

The Mondales' tax return reveals their private lives

WASHINGTON (AP) - The federal income tax return of the taxpayer with Social Security number 472-22-8116 is not particularly extraordi-

It shows interest earnings of $306 on a savings account, a deduction of $90 for termite control at a rental property and a deduction of $63 for interest paid on charge accounts.

The document is noteworthy in only one respect: It provides a glimpse into the private lives of Vice President Walter Mondale and wife Joan. Among other things, it shows that the Mondales, like many other American families, sometimes finds themselves a little short of cash when it's time to pay the monthly bills.

The few big figures on page 2 say the vice president and his wife paid $25,817 in federal income taxes last year. It's the plethora of smaller numbers on the back pages that tells of life around the Mondale houshold

For instance, each year the vice president pays $90 to an exterminator for preventive termite control at an old wood frame house he lived in while a senator. He now rents it out while he lives in the official vice presidential residence a few blocks away.

The Mondale family savings accounts produced a modest $306 in 1978, up from $217 in 1977. This, according to Michael Berman, the vice president's counsel, stems from the vice president's and Mrs. Mondale's practice of placing in the accounts enough money to meet the private school tuition costs of their younger son and the college costs of their daughter and older son

"Joan puts money in the accounts each month for the kids' tuition," Berman said. Then, when the tuition bills are paid, the accounts are dramatically depleted.

On occasion, the Mondales delay paying charge account bills. So, they must pay interest on continuing balances. In 1978, this cost them $63, down from $197 the previous year.

Home mortgage rates expected to keep rising

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans thinking of buying a home probably can expect interest rates on home mortgages to continue climbing, bank regulators say.

The average effective interest rate on a mortgage for a new home rose to 10.48 percent from early April to early May, according to a Federal Home Loan Bank Board report released Tuesday. The rate was 10.36 percent in early April.

It was the 18th month in a row that the rate went up. Previously occupied homes were not spared the rate rises. The board's report showed that the average effective rate rose to 10.61 percent in early May for those homes, compared with 10.54 percent the previous month. The effective rate includes the mortgage interest and certain initial Robert H. McKinney, bank board chairman, attributed the increases primarily to the continuing demand for mortgage loans and to the record savings withdrawals from savings and loan institutions in April.

"Although deposit flows appear to have improved recently, further rate voted to raise by a quarter of a percentage point the interest that banks and thrift institutions can pay on passbook accounts Meanwhile, the House Ways and Means Committee was expected to take a final vote today on a measure that would restrict use of tax exempt bonds to help borrowers buy singlefamily homes

The panel Tuesday turned back efforts to kill the subsidized mortgage programs outright.

Instead, it approved national guidelines that would limit both the purchase price of homes that can be bought through the bond programs and the income of homebuyers who are given the low-interest loans.

The programs initially were set up by some states and local governments as a way for low-and middle-income Americans to get into the housing

But critics say some of the cut-rate mortgages are going to homebuyers who earn up to $40,000 a year and who are buying homes with price tags of as much as $150,000.

The administration backed a measure to strike down the programs altogether, saying they could cost the Treasury as much as $11 billion annually in lost tax revenues by 1984. That bill was strongly opposed by state and local officials and most committee members:

Nader leaves capital for battlegrounds in cities

By LEE MITGANG

To the surprise of many who have followed his career, consumer champion Ralph Nader has ventured from Washington this year to get directly involved in explosive city and state political disputes - with great success so far.

Earlier in the year, Nader, risking his prestige and political capital, decided to openly support the cause of Cleveland's controversial mayor. Dennis Kucinich. He could hardly have picked a more explosive local situation.

The city had already defaulted $15 million in notes last December. Banks that held those unpaid notes were insisting that the city sell its electric utility as one conditon for rescuing Cleveland from its financial woes.

Kucinich refused to sell the utility, arguing that "Muny Light" was the Cleveland consumer's best defense against rising electric bills. With Nader's help, he persuaded Cleveland voters to support a referendum to preserve the city's ownership in defiance of the city's banks and other. business creditors.

"It was a major consumer issue,"

Nader said in a recent interview. "He's the only mayor I know of that's standing up to the powerful cliques that run our cities.

Nader's presence and prestige on the scene helped turn a victory for Kucinich and was to help again in April in a dispute over rent control in Santa Monica, Calif.

Nader got involved in this second local dispute at the request of Santa Monica community activist Derek Shearer, who works for the group, Santa Monicans for Renters' Rights. The two had become friends several years earlier when Shearer was a reporter in Washington.

"Increasingly," said Shearer in a recent phone conversation, "Ralph understands that if you really want serious social change you have to engage in it at the local level."

The dispute in Santa Monica involved a local initiative to introduce rent control in the city, create an elective rent control board, and set up criteria to avoid arbitrary evictions. Like other California cities with high renter populations, Santa Monicans had been angered that the passage last year of Proposition 13 had provided a windfall to landlords, but no help at all to tenants.

What Ralph did was he came in the day before the vote on the initiative on April 10. We didn't have money to buy media time to counter the real estate interests. The only thing we had was Ralph," said

Contending that he was there to prevent "the strip-mining of Santa Monica," Nader was able to attract air time and local headlines for the pro-rent control forces. The rent control measure was adopted.

Later in the year, says Shearer, Nader will lend his presence to a group in Massachusetts which has fought to shift the state's crushing property tax burden away from homeowners and toward corporations. Why has Nader decided to take the risk of involving himself in these highly charged city and state conflicts after more than a decade of consumer advocacy centered in Washington? Nader himself says he was trying to attract attention in Washington toward the consumer issues in Cleveland. "Our function largely was to get Congress interested in the situa-

Keeney told the subcommittees there are 39 "active cases" being handled by federal prosecutors. Based upon our experience to date, these matters can result in multi-defendant indictments involving individuals and companies," he said.

In the majority of cases, Keeney said, prosecutors are working toward felony prosecutions on charges of conspiracy to defraud, mail and wire

CAPITOL IDEAS Junketers find each other great

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

WASHINGTON (AP) - To hear the members of the House tell it, their trip to Prague, Czechoslovakia, for the spring meeting of the Interparliamentary Union was a rousing success.

"We had an able and hard-working delegation attending from our country and our delegation not only promoted much good will and understanding among other delegations, but had a very important influence on the work and the output of the conference," said Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla.

The twice-yearly conferences often are dismissed as junkets for travel-hungry members of Congress and so it seems only fair to take note of the one hour members of the House spent last week reporting on their five days in Prague in April.

The U.S. delegation included 10 members of the House and one senator. Their report to the House told how they discussed matters of mutual interest with legislators from 72 countries, including western democracies and also nations such as Bangladesh, Bulgaria, North Korea, Mongolia and Zaire. But, most of all, the U.S. legislators were impressed with each other.

"Let me at the outset pay special tribute to the overall leadership of my colleague from Illinois, Rep. Edward J. Derwinski," said Rep. L.H. Fountain, D-N.C.

Derwinski responded by noting: "As a very senior member of the House Committee on Foreign Relations, the gentleman from North Carolia brought great expertise to our U.S. delegation and is a very, very effective member of our group.'

Derwinski also found Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., "a very valuable member of our delegation" who "was able to handle the intricate subjects with great expertise.

The Illinois Republican congressman, who was chairman of the group, also found that Pepper brought "much-needed expertise" to the delega-

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., said Derwinski "was one of our very active and veteran members."

And McClory was moved to pay tribute to Der-winski "whose broad understanding of international affairs and whose articulate leadership on the issues affecting our relations with other countries, attractthe respect of delegates from both sides of the Iron

IN CASE YOU missed it, May 11, was the 121st anniversary of Minnesota's admission to the Union.

REP. PAUL N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., doesn't hesitate to admit that the issues facing Congress are too much for one person to handle.

He told reporters last week that things have become so complex that the best a congressman can hope to do is stay on top of about 20 of the 700 issues that come to a vote each year.

Most of the time he depends on his staff or on colleagues for advice on how to vote.

As an example, McCloskey cited the dozens of amendments voted on during House debate on the congressional budget resolution.

Two weeks after the vote, McCloskey said he still is 'asking my staff how I voted and a rational reason

Iran accuses Iraqis of aiding ousted Shah

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - A senior Iranian official directly accused the Iraqi government today of "flooding" Iran with weapons in collaboration with the ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

'Agents of the former shah, who are in Iraq and Kuwait, are giving money provided by the shah to brother Saddam Hossein (Iraq's vice president) for smuggling arms and flooding Iran with weapons," Rear Adm. Ahmad Madani, the governor general of oil-rich Khuzestan province, told the newspaper Ayandegan. The accusation came shortly after Iran protested to Iraq that four Iraqi jets bombed and strafed several Kurdish villages in northwest Iran close to the border with Iraq, killing six villagers.

Firing squad toll stands at 269

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Firing squads executed six more policemen and an army officer at dawn Wednesday for killing innocent people during the reign of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, Radio Tehran announced. The seven deaths raised the number executed since the overthrow of the shah in mid-February to 269. The broadcast said six police officers died in the town of Desfur, in Khuzestan province. It said the seventh man put to death was an officer at the Tehran Military College.

Yazdi raps Cutler's Zaire role

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Foreign Minister Ibrahim Yazdi says the Iranian government does not want Walter L. Cutler as U.S. ambassador because he was ambassador to Zaire.

"In view of the U.S. intervention in Africa and especially in Zaire, I realized relations between Tehran and Washington could not be improved through our acceptance of the appointment of the former U.S. ambassador to Zaire to represent his country here," Yazdi said in a speech Tuesday in Yazdi said another reason was that Cutler's appointment was accepted before he became foreign minister. His predecessor quit because of differences with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the Shiite Moslem leader of the revolution that ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in February.

PLO forces announce pullback

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - In an effort to avert Israeli raids in southern Lebanon, Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization and its Moslem allies said today they were pulling their forces back from southern cities and villages.

The PLO news agency announced that all PLO offices in the city of Tyre would be closed and guerrillas would "keep clear of southern villages so the enemy may have no excuse to take action against these villages." The authoritative Lebanese newspaper An Nahar said the guerrillas would move two to three miles away from all southern villages.

Pope 'surprises' Pole officials

Asked about the frequent political content in the pope's speeches, Staniszewski responded that he was 'rather surprised" - not by the fact the pontiff made such statements but by the extent of them.

Since his arrival in Warsaw last Saturday, the pope has spoken out for religious freedom, state respect for the "real needs of the church," and a normal atmosphere for the church to operate in.

Those comments have been interpreted as seeking acceptance of the Polish church's demands for an end to censorship, access to mass media and an end to discrimination against believers.

Pontiff's visit profits leftist group

CZESTOCHOWA, Poland (AP) — A leftist Catholic organization favored by Poland's Communist government and scorned by Polish bishops is reaping most of the profits from the rosaries and holy pictures that the faithful hold up to be blessed by Pope John Paul II.

A coal miner from nearby Silesia or a steel worker from the Boleslaw Bierut Mill across the river from Czestochowa gives half a day's pay — 165 zlotys, or about $4.95 - for the plastic-framed picture of the Black Madonna or works at least two hours to earn 80 zlotys for a rosary or a wooden crucifix to hold on high for the pope's blessing at the Monastery of Jasna Gora, the site of the national shrine.

"Everybody knows that the profits go to Pax, which formerly was a wing of Soviet intelligence," -said Brother Konstanty, a fine arts teacher from Warsaw who extracted 24 zlotys from his string-tied coin purse to buy a cardboard likeness of Pope John Paul from a vendor on Holy Mary Boulevard.

The vendor, who also carried a full line of religious medals, icons and both Vatican and Polish flags, wore a little green overseas-type cap with the word "Veritas" printed on the band.

Veritas is a branch of Pax, the so-called "progressive Catholic" movement that has a near-monopoly on the sale of religious articles in Poland and that many Catholic bishops suspect had its beginnings as a communist attempt by Moscow to infiltrate the Polish church.

"But like everything else in Poland, nothing is really simple," said a priest from Bydgoszcz buying badges of the pope who asked that his name not be

"Pax is enormously wealthy," he said, "but it does some good, too. It has come up with a fine edition of the Bible, available quite reasonably to most Poles because it can print many more books than the church, which is limited to four a year."

A dozen seminarians from the Lublin Catholic University, crowding around to buy burnt-wood rendition of the Black Madonna in slabs of knotty pine, were certain that Pax's access to enough news-print to publish 15 newspapers while the church's few publications are restricted in size and circulation is part of what the pope had in mind when he chastised the Communist government for restrictions on religion in a speech Tuesday. For blocks in every direction around the shrine of Our Lady of Czestochowa, rival vendors, most of them people from the countryside, set up card tables or spread open suitcases on the sidewalk to peddle home-strung rosaries, crudely framed pictures of the pope cut from magazines, old prayer books and holy pictures that could be held up for the pope's

Many of these pious trinkets were more garish and just as expensive as those sold by Pax and Veritas.

Pictures of the Black Madonna, like those held by these Polish women in national costume outside the Jasna Gora monastery.

But some were exquisite examples of local craftsmanship and folk art. A likeness of the pope embroidered on a linen shawl was well worth the 500 zlotys - $15 - asked for it although this represented half a week's pay to a shop clerk or a secretary. Church sources in Warsaw say that Pax came into existence after World War II when Polish Communist authorities banned Caritas, the worldwide Catholic relief organization with headquarters in Rome. and replaced it with a government-blessed organization of the same name. and other religious items are sold mainly by a Communist-blessed Catholic organization, Pax, in Poland. (AP Laserphoto)

Pax's aim is to woo progressive Catholics toward a Marxist philosophy. At one time its leader and guiding light was Boleslaw Piasecki, a flamboyant ex-fascist who after he got into selling religious articles drove the only Jaguar in Warsaw.

'Pax enjoys enormous privileges that the church does not have," said Brother Konstanty, "but we have learned to live with it while praying on the rosaries it manufactures, hoping that in the long run it will do more good than harm. It's another Catholic

Somoza sends aid to Leon

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - President Anastasio Somoza rushed reinforcements to his besieged garrison in Leon as heavy fighting continued along Nicaragua's southern border and a general strike crippled Managua.

Journalists who reached Leon, Nicaragua's second largest city 54 miles northwest of Managua, saw a heavilyarmed troop convoy moving toward the city late Tuesday and said it included a tank, two armored cars, a half-track and several truckloads of

The journalists said Sandinista guerrillas had barred entrance to and around Leon and that army planes were rocketing and strafing rebel positions. Leon residents reached by telephone said the garrison had one tank, and that it was being used in front of the garrison.

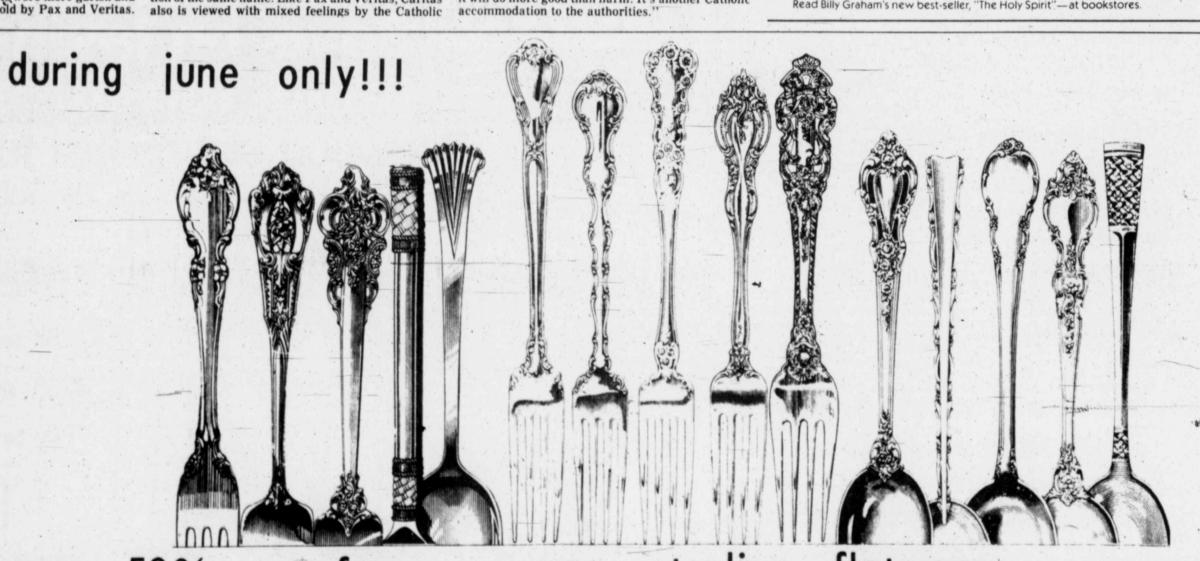

Leon residents also reported heavy firing in the city. They said the guerrillas had used public works department backhoes to dig deep trenches through major streets.

The national guard, Somoza's 10,000-man army and police force, said it had "begun an offensive to drive terrorists from two neighbor-hoods in Leon." It also said the guerrillas had "fired indiscriminately into the city with mortars; causing innocent victims and property damage."

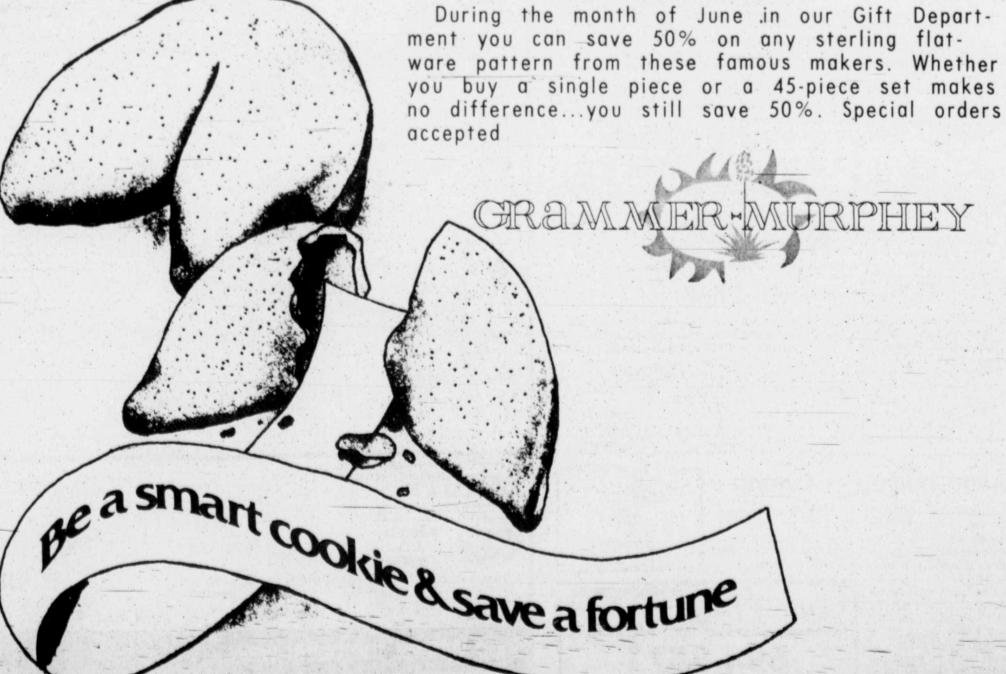

The guerrilla radio station, Radio Sandino, said the rebels had captured a Guatemalan colonel in Leon and accused him of aiding national guardsmen. The colonel was identified as Oscar Ruben Castaneda y Castaneda, the Guatemalan military attache in Managua. Guatemalan Embassy officials were unavailable for comment.

The broadcast also said the guerrillas were driving north from the southern border area. But the national guard said it had "neutralized" the guerillas' fire in the south and that the rebels wee "fleeing in disorder."

Somoza has accused Costa Rica of providing sanctuary and backing to the guerrillas, and told a Costa Rican TV interviewer in Managua Tuesday that he has evidence that Venezuela, Panama, Cuba and Costa Rica have given arms to the guerrillas.

Birth defects down despite chemicals

By BRENDA MOONEY Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Declines in the rate of some major birth defects may indicate that fears of widespread deformities caused by chemicals and radiation are "much ado about nothing," says a national Center for Disease Control researcher.

A new CDC study shows that the incidence of two of the most common birth defects - open head and open spine - declined measurably from 1970-71 to 1976-77, officials say.

Rates of anencephaly, or open head, declined 5.4 percent, and spina bifida, or open spine, dropped 6.7

Victims of anencephaly are born without all or part of the brain, while victims of spina bifida are born with an exposed spine.

Dr. Godfrey Oakley, chief of the CDC's birth defects branch, said in an interview that while the figures do not dispel fears of defects caused by chemicals and low-level radiation, they do show that the fears of mass deformities are generally ground-

Senate energy plan awaits House action plan giving President Carter new powers to deal with fuel shortages including authority to ban home gas hoarding and to require states to meet fuel-saving targets - is awaiting House action.

The plan, viewed by many backers as a substitute for the president's rejected proposals for gasoline rationing and energy conservation, was approved by a 77-13 Senate vote Tuesday night.

Action is expected next in the House Commerce Committee, where a group of Democrats led by Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., are vowing to replace the Senate bill with their own

Their proposal includes a sticker pian under which motorists might be required to leave their cars at home one day a week to save fuel

A proposal by Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., for a similar but stricter driveless-day plan was rejected 79-10 by the Senate.

Under the overall plan passed by the Senate, the president could set national fuel-saving targets during serious energy shortages. States failing to meet these targets with their own plans would be subject to mandatory conservation orders issued and enforced by the president.

The bill sets no guidelines on what type orders Carter might issue, although backers said they could range from limits on gas sales to banning parking on city streets to encourage mass transit.

The Senate rejected a suggestion that Congress be given veto power over plans the president issues despite arguments from critics like Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo., that the president could easily abuse the potentially sweeping new authority the legislation would give him.

But Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., one of the sponsors of the bill, argued that given Congress' past inability to reach agreement on key energy issues, it was probably better to let the president have this power alone.

However, senators made two exceptions: Under no circumstances could the president order gasoline stations closed on weekends nor could he impose curtailments on gasohol, a dent a new power that wouldn't have to wait for a declaration of a serious energy shortage - the authority to ban home gasoline storage tanks and other forms of fuel hoarding.

Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., said he proposed the measure - approved unanimously by the Senate to stop people from putting tanks in their yards to hoard gasoline.

This practice is likely "to escalate in the coming months if it is not checked," said Huddleston.

Huddleston indicated his attention was drawn by news accounts describing how former Navy Secretary William Middendorf had sunk a 4,000gallon gasoline storage tank in the front yard of his Virginia home as a hedge against gas shortages.

Some opponents of the bill claim the complexity of the process - requiring steps by both the president and the states - would virtually assure that the plan couldn't be used to ease gasoline shortages this summer.

Hazen's writ denied Austin Bureau

AUSTIN-The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today denied a writ that would have dismissed an indictment against a Midland County man charged with aggravated assault.

The court ruled against Gary Robertson Hazen who had asked for a writ of mandamus to dismiss the indictment pending against him in 142nd District Court in Midland.

Hazen claimed the charge pending against him should be dismissed because the state failed to comply with the Texas Speedy Trial Act. That act states the state must announce ready for trial within 120 days of the start of legal action against the defendant.

The court denied the writ, stating Hazen had failed to prove the writ is his only remedy at law and that a defendant may not appeal a pretrial

In a concurring opinion, Justice Sam Houston Clinton also said the state had announced ready for trial within the 120-day limit.

Hicks to address Rotarians

John M. Hicks, an astroscience teacher, planetarium director and astronomy instructor, is to speak on "Midland's package" in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Space Shuttle flight about three years hence at the Thursday noon meeting of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club in the Midland Hilton, according to Rotarian John Thomas.

Hicks will talk about a Midland-designed experiment to occupy five cubic feet on the Space Shuttle in NASA's "Get Away Special" educa-

He said the experiment could be biological, electronic or mechanical and will be designed and built by

Midland science students. "Now, every experiment doesn't turn out to be worthwhile," Hicks said, but the students will be making an attempt to come up with a significant experiment.

The space reserved for "Midland's package" will be "leftover" room not devoted to NASA's scientific research, he said.

Hicks said El Paso and Clear Lake school systems also have space reserved on the flight.

Hicks teaches astroscience and gymnastics at Midland and Lee High schools is planetarium director for the Midland Independent School District and the Museum of the Southwest, is a part-time instructor in astronomy for Midland College and is coordinator of the school system's "Get Away Special" NASA program.

Real life drama slated for TV

His story is not much different from ones found on any police blotter, anywhere, anytime. But this one will be on prime time television Friday and those who stick with it will experience the criminal justice system at the street level - in a way most lawabiding citizens never see it.

The fictional Kojak and Kaz may seem thin soup beside the real-life. drama of Jack Jones in a documentary, "The Shooting of Big Man: Anatomy of a Criminal Case.

The program will be shown on ABC at 9 p.m. EDT.

The program eavesdrops on defense lawyers talking with their client in jail, on the victim hooked to his life support system in the hospital, on the prosecutor plotting his strategy and on the judge preparing for trial.

For this program, cameras were allowed everywhere and provide a rare glimpse into the courtroom. Real lawyers make real arguments. Real witnesses testify. A real defendant undergoes real cross-examination. Network publicity calls it "television's first examination of an entire criminal case. Jones, a resident of the decaying Terrace View Hotel in Seattle, shoots Raymond Collins, nicknamed Big Man. The viewer meets Jones in jail and sees Big Man at a hospital, where he is paralyzed and near death.

"He come over to me, tried to intimidate me with his hand in his pocket and I told him to get on away from me and leave me alone," Jones tells his lawyers from the public defender's office. "He kept coming and I pulled the gun... I fired at him. I was trying to scare him at that time...but he kept messing with me when he kept on coming after me so I shot him.'

Jones was drunk when he was ar-rested. In his statement to police, he admits shooting another man the day before. The victim, Big Man, is depicted as a bully and rapist.

Jones was charged with assault with intent to murder.

There are moments in a criminal case seldom revealed to the public. An investigator advising defense lawyers they had "better put the victim on trial;" a prosecutor saying "I want a conviction...I want society as a whole to get the message that, you know, you just don't shoot people"

There are jail-cell rehearsals of testimony and Jones saying "that's what I'm trying to get around to learning...how to express it."

Eric Saltzman, a trial attorney and producer with Evidence Films of Harvard University and Charles Nesson, associate dean of Harvard Law School, supervised the taping. They turned over more than 100 hours of tape to the ABC documentary unit for editing.

Although Jones never becomes any sort of sympathetic figure — or his victim, the object of pity — the verdict may come as a surprise to some viewers. But as Nesson says in an interview with ABC Supreme Court correspondent Tim O'Brien:

"Most important about this program is that viewers not leave it with the idea that they sometimes leave television dramas with, and that's that the defendant is either clearly guilty or clearly innnocent. "That's not real life. In real life

things are much more complicated and the trial system is built to deal

Ukrainian woman ends sit-in at U.S. embassy

MOSCOW (AP) - A Ukrainian woman who has been trying to emigrate from the Soviet Union for five years ended a two-day sit-in at the U.S. Embassy today, an embassy spokesman said

A consular officer escorted Mariya S. Okopnaya, 45, to the street and there were no problems with Soviet guards outside, the spokesman said. The woman was expected to board a train for Lvov, her hometown, where she resides with her engineer husband, Mikhail, and two daughters.

Mrs. Okopnaya entered the embassy unescorted Monday to call attention to her case and refused to leave, the spokesman said. When she refused to leave, she was permitted to stay in the embassy consular section,

The woman had told reporters she applied to leave the country in 1974 on the basis of an invitation from an aunt who had lived in the United States, married a Jew and moved to Israel.

Mrs. Okoppaya, who is not Jewish, said she quit her job as an engineer to pursue emigration visas for her family fulltime, and has been trying to prevent her daughters from marrying for fear it would make emigration more difficult.

She said she has uncles in New York and Detroit and was invited to the United States, but she said she has not shown authorities that letter of invitation for fear it would cause further delay. She said she believes Israel is the only place she might be allowed to

The embassy spokesman said the names of Mr. and Mrs. Okopnaya and their two daughters, Galina, 23, and Oksana, 19, were on a list of divided families U.S. Ambassador Malcolm Toon presented to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Feb-

WASHINGTON (AP) - There may be fuel in them there fields, but the revenuers don't look upon gasohol as an unmixed blessing. They're worried that all the tiger may not wind up in the tank.

To make gasohol, you've got to make alcohol, which runs head-on into the government's strict rules on distilling the stuff.

It seems that alcohol good enough to burn can easily be alcohol good enough to drink,

The government does not look with favor upon homemade alcohol, and with good reason. There's a lot of money involved. The tax on 100-proof alcohol for drinking purposes is now $10.50 a gallon, and there's concern in Washington that grain alcohol distilled for fuel could be diverted into illegal whiskey.

One Midwestern farmer who wanted to build a still to produce alcohol to and fuel his tractors claimed the government treated him more like a moonshiner than a pioneer in a new technology

There has been a lot of talk in Congress and elsewhere about the production of alcohol to be blended with gasoline as a way to ease oil supply problems. Gasohol already is on the market in some areas. Legislation has been proposed to promote its

Gasohol promises new

Capitol Hill headaches

But Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., says the process has been slowed in part by the very government that is trying to find ways out of the energy problem. 'The federal government has been more of an obstacle to alcohol production than a stimulant," he said. "The maze of bureaucratic red tape that currently surrounds alcohol production has done more to hamper the establishment of new stills than to facilitate the movement.

Bayh said that is particularly true of efforts by farmers and farm belt communities to build stills that could provide fuel for the local market.

The trouble is that alcohol has been produced for beverages or for industrial use but not, until lately, for fuel. As a result, government regulations don't take that into account.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Firearms and Tobacco tried to help solve the problem and issued a pamphlet for would-be gasohol producers, explaining procedures for getting a permit for alcohol production.

But Bayh said it was too complicated to be much help.

So he has proposed legislation to simplify the process and ease the restrictions on small producers. Bayh said the bureau and the Treasury helped draft the measure which would, among other things, spare small producers of alcohol for fuel from the current requirement that they post a bond to guarantee taxes on any of the product that winds up in bottles for drinking.

They'd just have to guarantee that it wasn't going to be used that way.

The new rules would require that gasohol producers denature the alcohol by adding substances that will make it unfit for drinking. They would also have to keep detailed records on production and use, and guard against diversion of the alcohol.

Presumably, the new rules would spare people like Lance Crombie of Webster, Minn., from problems with the revenue agents.

Crombie built an inexpensive solar still to produce alcohol for fuel, although he said the sheriff advised him not to. It turned out the sheriff knew what he was talking about.

According to Crombie, he had no sooner gone into production than two federal men showed up and confiscated the still.

He finally applied for a federal permit, and says it came through six months later.

Proposition 13 hasn't lived up to promises of its supporters...yet

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Proposition 13, the tax cut measure that set off a nationwide tax revolt, hasn't lived up to the promises of supporters or to the warnings of foes - at least not yet.

Californians approved the $7 billion property tax cut a year ago Wednesday, but it still is a largely unknown quantity, its impact blunted by massive state

That doesn't mean that some government workers haven't lost jobs and some government programs haven't been cut. The state's school system has been wounded but remains afloat. There have been no significant cuts in police and fire services. Recreation programs were cut sharply, and in many cases

Still, the aid financed by a state budget surplus has reduced the full impact of Proposition 13. And although shrinking, the surplus is still big enough to soften 13's impact for another year. What happens after that depends on the health of California's economy, efforts to reform government financing and pending new voter initiatives.

"The fallout from 13 is going to be long-term fallout," says Ralph Flynn, executive director of the California Teachers Association. "It's not going to be an instant whop over the head.'

Cuts so far have often hit those least able to care for themselves: the poor, the elderly, and the young.

But many Proposition 13 supporters see it as only a first step to cut waste in government, and they are pushing new proposals aimed at restricting taxes and government spending.

Those measures include separate initiatives by Proposition 13 co-authors Howard Jarvis and Paul Gann.

Gann's proposal, which has qualified for the ballot later this year or in 1980, limits government spending on a formula based on price increases and population growth. Jarvis' pending initiative would cut the state income tax in half, a $3 billion annual tax cut.

Although Proposition 13 didn't force an overall cut in spending by local governments in 1978-79, it kept spending increases below inflation and average increases for recent years.

It also produced a significant reduction in the state and local government workforce.

1978. Most were absorbed in California's growing private job market.

There were 1.42 million state and local government workers in April, the last month for which figures are available. That compares to 1.52 million in May About 16,800 of those 100,000 positions were eliminated through layoffs of secretaries, maintenance workers and others. The rest were due to resignations and retirements.

In human terms, those statistics represent people such as Gloria Davis, who spent eight years teaching in San Francisco schools and was described by school board member Myra Kopft as "one of the best we have ... a very

FBI releases more sketches

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The FBI has released a total of five composite sketches of men being sought for questioning in the May 29 sniper slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Federal officials issued three composites Tuesday of men who witnesses told investigators were near Wood's townhouse either the morning the judge was assassinated or a undetermined number of days

"They're not suspects as such, but we want to find out who they are and what they were doing there," said Special Agent Manuel Marquez.

The FBI had released two composites last Friday of men who witnesses said were in the "immediate vicinity" of the Chateau Dijon Townhomes about the time Wood was cut down by a single bullet to the spine as he left for work.

Marquez said Tuesday that those two men had not been identified despite an intense investigation, rewards totalng $125,000 and numeros tips phoned in to a secial 24-hour telephone.

The 63-year-old Wood, who had earned the nick-name "Maximum John" because of his stiff sentences in drug cases died from a single .243bullet, which splintered on his spine and sent deadly fragments into vital organs. Such a bullet is usually fired from a-high-powered "varmint rifle" used in South Texas to hunt javelinas, coyotes and deer.

The slaying was the second time in seven months a Western District of Texas official involved in West Texas drug cases had been fired upon. Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr escaped serious injury Nov. 21 when his car was riddled by bullets. No one has been arrested in that case.

FBI officials refuse to say whether they believe there is a connection between the two assaults. Both Kerr and U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd have said they believe Wood's slaying is connected to their massive West Texas drug crackdown.

Veterans visit beaches for D-Day reminiscences

OMAHA BEACH, France (AP) -American and other veterans of World War II gathered on the beaches of Normandy today for memorial ceremonies and quiet reminiscences of D-Day, the moment 35 years ago today when they and 150,000 other Allied troops stormed ashore under enemy fire to begin the invasion of Nazi-occupied Europe

A 31-acre memorial at Pointe du Hoc, site of a fierce battle fought by the U.S. 2nd Ranger Battalion on June 6, 1944, was turned over to the United States by the French government on Twenty of those Rangers were on hand for the ceremony, on the western flank of Omaha Beach, along with Gen. Omar Bradley, who commanded the American D-Day invasion forces in Normandy.

As part of the day's ceremonies, 86-year-old Bradley, in a wheelchair and dressed in uniform, reviewed an honor guard at the American cemetery at Utah Beach.

After landing on D-Day, the 225man Ranger battalion had to scale the 100-foot cliffs at Pointe du Hoc with orders to silence six long-range German guns that were supposed to be able to cover two beaches from their vantage point. The Rangers had 30 minutes to do the job. They scaled the cliffs with ropes, rope ladders and London firebrigade ladders. It took them two days to gain full control of the cliff, but found the guns had not been in-

Allied ships fired 600 shells on Pointe du Hoc to soften it up before the Rangers went in. Raymond Triboulet, president of the French Comite du Debarquement, in Tuesday's ceremonies praised the heroism of the Rangers, commanded by Lt. Col. James E. Rudder.

Earlier in the day, ceremonies were held at the Liberation Monument in Bayeux and the vast American cemetery of Normandy, where 9,386 Americans, 307 unidentified, are

Labor mediators essential to age discrimination plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - In a novel approach to civil rights enforcement, the government will use federal labor mediators to handle all complaints of in rederally financed programs. The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service will try to resolve the disputes in 60 days under the terms of the new government-wide regulations issued Tuesday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

If mediation fails, the complaint would follow a traditional route with an agency inquiry that could lead to a hearing before an administrative law judge and a possible cutoff of federal

The regulations implement the Age Discrimination Act that Congress passed in 1975 generally banning discrimination against people of all ages in any program run with federal

There are some exceptions, however, such as programs that provide special discounts to the elderly or children for travel, or tax breaks for the elderly.

Schools will still be able to limit programs like Head Start to children age 3 to 5, but medical schools and other graduate programs will not be able to set an arbitrary admissions policy that rejects any applicant over a certain age, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. said in announcing the regulations.

Likewise, the rules state that an HEW-sponsored adult education program could not bar from admission people under age 35.

In both the medical school and adult education cases, the age distinction is not necessary to the normal operation of the program, HEW contends.

The law allows age distinctions that are necessary for normal operations

European officials are concerned that the $5-per-barrel subsidy will boost the already fast-rising price of oil on the spot

U.S. officials said Tuesday that the subsidy will continue until October. Visiting French foreign and industry ministers asked administration officials to halt the Andre Giraud, French industry mlnister and chairman of the European Economic Community's council of energy, told reporters the subsidy was "unilateral, inefficient and counterproductive." He expressed concern that continued oil price increases could cause a "tremendous world economic crisis, very likely a recession." He accompanied French Foreign Minister Jean Francois-Poncet, who is also president of the European Council of Minis-

Competition for oil on some Western European spot markets has pushed prices past $30 a barrel, more than twice the base levels charged by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries

Administration officials say the subsidy program is intended to provide importers with sufficient incentive to move home heating oil into this country.

Unleaded gas supply to be more plentiful

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans who drive late-model cars may find it a little easier to get the unleaded gasoline their autos require after the administration acted to increase production of the fuel

Under the actions, refiners will be allowed to add two-cents a gallon to the base price of any increased production of unleaded gas, which is required by cars equipped with mandatory anti-pollution devices.

The increase is expected to cost motorists an extra one-fifth of a cent per gallon at the pump The actions also call for suspending until Oct. 1 a ban on the octane-boosting MMT additive used in producing unleaded gasoline and in delaying for a year stricter limits on the amount of lead in gasoline.

The EPA had planned on implementing, on Oct. 1, standards limiting the overall average of lead per gallon to .5 gram. But it now will continue to permit the current standard of .8

gram per gallon. Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger and Douglas Costle, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, announced the plans at the White House Monday. The officials said the plans could result in refiners shifting as much as 740,000 barrels per day from leaded to unleaded production.

The aim is to help increase the share of unleaded output from the present 40 percent of total gasoline production to more than 45 percent, they said.

Later, Schlesinger told a conference here that the government may have to subsidize development of synthetic oil and gas to speed up their use before energy shortages threaten the In a speech to the International Association of Energy Economists, Schlesinger said the reduction of Iranian oil production has dashed earlier hopes of shifting from reliance on oil

> Industries that might need subsidization are those making synthetic crude oil and synthetic gas from coal, and drilling for "geopressurized" gas found deep inside the earth at high

to other fuels in seven or eight

Meanwhile, French Foreign Minister Jean Francois-Poncet told President Carter that European nations were concerned about U.S. plans to subsidize refiners importing heating

"This decision tends to divert toward the United States a larger share of the oil sold on the world market,' he said in a statement on his meeting with Carter. Administration officials argue the United States is trying to curtail the loss of some of its traditional sources of supply that have been attracted to European countries willing to pay higher prices on the spot market. The $5 a barrel subsidy is financed from a private pool of oil companies.

In related developments: -The Interior Department said it will again issue coal leases on federal lands. No coal leases have been granted since 1971. The coal leases will be offered in 1981 and 1982, said Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus. Land will be leased in Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado and Montana.

Under the program, 1.5 billion tons . of federal coal will be leased. Andrus said that was "enough to meet energy production goals, through 1987 while carefully protecting the environ-

Tenneco hits Canyon oil

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) -Tenneco Inc. says it has struck high quality oil in the same area of the Baltimore Canyon where it found natural gas last month.

The oil strike, some 80 miles off Atlantic City, was the first since eight major companies began drilling in August after bidding for leases from the federal government.

The Houston-based oil firm cau tioned, however, that more drilling and testing are necessary before the significance of the find can be deter mined

The oil company said the petroleum was found in a "very thin zone" 8,322 feet below the ocean floor. An initial test revealed the well would produce 630 barrels a day of very light, high

OPEC says oil price should be $20 barrell DRILLING REPORT

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) - OPEC's top official says the price of oil should be $20 a barrel, nearly $5.50 higher than the current price, to offset losses caused by the decline of the U.S. dollar.

He also charged the multinational oil companies, not OPEC, with causing the recent sharp rise in the cost of Rene Ortiz of Ecuador, secretary-general of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, said the cartel will decide on raising the price from $14.54 a barrel when OPEC oil ministers meet in Geneva later this In an interview on Dutch television Tuesday night Ortiz said, "The most recent increases only moderately raised the oil price. But we still have not compensated for our losses. We are still way under the real price we should charge and that would be at least $20 per barrel." A general rule of thumb is that a 5 percent rise in OPEC prices equals about a penny-per-gallon increase in the United States at the gas pump and on home heating bills. An OPEC boost of $5.50 would be more than 30 per-Ortiz said a first step in setting a "more realistic oil price" will be made at the upcoming OPEC conference, when "The OPEC ministers will take into account all recent developments, such as the strong price rise on the spot market, the question of what sort of a policy the industrial countries are following at present and why the oil producing countries are no longer capable of controlling de-

At our last conference in Geneva, on March 26, we warned the multinationals that they should supply the industrial and developing countries with oil at the official OPEC price and not charge any increase. Hogs stun UT in College World Series

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Arkansas has gained the upper hand in the 33rd College World Series, thanks to the hitting and fielding exploits of a parttime farmer who had to chop wood to keep warm this winter.

Marc Brumble, who manages a 100-acre farm outside Fayetteville in addition to going to class and playing baseball, sparkled at the plate and in the field Tuesday night as the Razorbacks whipped Texas 9-4.
The victory leaves Arkansas the only undefeated team in the series and assures the Razorbacks of a berth in the championship game. Texas, the nation's No.1-rated team, will be eliminated if it loses one more game.

"Everyone was talking about a low-scoring game," Brumble said, "but I couldn't see us not hitting and I know Texas is a good hitting club."

Brumble certainly contributed to the hitting, smacking a three-run double to highlight a seven-run third inning and belting a solo homer in the

HE ALSO made four outstanding catches in left field, including a diving grab that took an extra base hit away from Terry Salazar.

Brumble became a farmer when he and his wife, Cayla, agreed to manage an acreage owned by a Fayetteville resident. They live on the farm rent free, but Brumble has found the life of a farmer-student-athlete to be a busy one

"During the winter, we had no heat, just a wood stove," he said. "I had to chop wood every day. I'd go to class, feed the livestock twice a day and go to practice.

was always a dream of mine to have a farm some day.

Cayla is expecting the couple's first child later this month, however, and Brumble says that will force them to return to city life.

"It was tough the past year. There was a lot of responsibility with all the feeding and stuff," Brumble said. "I don't want to have to do that with a child, so I'm going to get her (Cayla) a duplex."

Freshman Kevin McReynolds joined Brumble as the hitting hero, starting the third inning rally with a 400-foot home run over the center field wall and capping it with a two-run double. McReynolds is batting .700 in Arkansas' three series games.

IT WAS a sweet victory for seventh-rated Arkansas, 49-13, which was runner-up to Texas in the South-

Longhorns four times in five games earlier this season.

Both teams play again tonight, with Arkansas meeting third-rated Fullerton State, 57-14, and Texas, 55-7, going against No.8 Pepperdine, 52-17. The Texas-Pepperdine loser goes home and Fullerton will be eliminated if it

Brumble leads Razorbacks into driver's seat

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Marc Brumble sets the pace for the University of Arkansas baseball team and the others follow, says Razorback coach Norm DeBriyn.

So it was Tuesday, when Brumble, a senior, hit a three-run double and a solo home run to lead Arkansas to a 9-4 victory over No. 1-rated Texas in the 33rd College World Series.

Arkansas is the only undefeated team in the double-elimination series and is assured of a berth in the championship game. The Hogs face third-rated Fullerton State (57-14) tonight in the second game of a doubleheader. Texas (55-7) plays No. 8 Pepperdine (52-17) in the opener, with the loser of that game eliminated from the series.

"Marc Brumble has been a leader all year," DeBriyn said. "He's had a tremendous tournament so far. I guess you could call this our biggest win ever.

Seventh-rated Arkansas (49-13) was runnerup to Texas in the Southwest Conference and lost to the Longhorns four times in five games earlier this

Brumble hit a bases-loaded couble to highlight a seven-run third inning and slugged a solo home run, his sixth of the year, over the left field wall in the seventh. Kevin McReynolds hit a solo homer and two-run double in the big third inning

Brumble, who homered in Arkansas' 5-4 victory over Pepperdine in the first round, also made four outstanding catches in left field, including a diving grab that robbed Terry Salazar of an extra-base hit in the se-

"The Pepperdine game was a great thrill, but this was the greatest ever," Brumble said. "We've been a Cinderella team all year and now we're proving some things to a lot of people. I wish it could go on forever.'

Sophomore Jeff Huddleston, 1-2, who was sidelined for seven weeks this year with a broken jaw, pitched 4 2/3 innings of shutout relief to earn the victory. Keith Creel, 10-2, was the victim of Arkansas' third-inning uprising and suffered the loss.

McReynolds began the third by smashing a 400-foot home run over the center field fence and capped the rally with a two-run double to left. Ed Wallace drew a bases-loaded walk to force in a run and Brumble followed with his double off the left field wall.

Texas took a 2-0 lead in the top of the third. Kevin Shannon brought home one run with a squeeze bunt that he beat out for a hit and Keith Walker scored Shannon with a single. Mark Chelette hit a two-run double for the Longhorns in the fourth.

Brumble was already thinking about Fullerton State after the Texas game. "We've got (pitcher) Steve Krueger to go against Fullerton now and we're going after a national championship."

Drillers topple El Paso

By The Associated Press A 4-for-4 performance by Tulsa's

Ron Carney carried the Drillers to a 12-7 victory Tuesday night over El Paso in the Texas League. In the only other league action, Amarillo and Arkansas split a doubleheader. Arkansas' Travelers took the first game, 7-0, but the Gold Sox came back for a 3-0 decision in the second game of the twinbill.

Rain postponed Midland's game at Jackson and Shreveport's game at San Antonio.

Carney hit a two-run homer in the second inning to get Tulsa off to an early lead. But Rick Oliver of El Paso hit a solo homer, his first round-tripper of the season, in the fourth to tie the game at 6-6.

Rick Lisi of Tulsa hit solo home runs in the seventh and ninth as the Drillers took a 12-6 edge which El Paso could not overcome. John Butcher, 4-4, got the win over Mike Heaton,

Arkansas erupted for 13 hits in its victory. The Travelers scored seven runs in two innings. Tito Landrum led off the first with a double, and singles by Joe DeSa, Gene Roof, Fred Tisdale and Ty Waller brought in three runs, and Tisdale scored Arkansas' fourth run of the inning on a throwing Landrum doubled again to open the second and scored on Neil Fiala's single. Fiala was tagged out, but DeSa and Roof singled, and Waller followed with a double.

Rangers grab Gleaton in Free Agent Draft

By The Associated Press The Texas Rangers reached out to grab unbeaten Texas Longhorn pitching ace Jerry Don Gleaton, and the Houston Astros selected, among others, a player who set a collegiate home run record this season. In all, 14 Texans were chosen Tuesday in the major leagues' annual summer free agent draft. Five are high schoolers, and the other nine are Southwest Conference players.

One player was chosen from the University of Arkansas and University of Oklahoma teams also.

'I was a little surprised to go in the first round," said Gleaton, the 17th player chosen through the six rounds of Tuesday's draft.

Gleaton was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles after his senior year at Brownwood High School, but chose to go to college instead.

"I knew there were supposed to be a lot of excellent high school players in California this year, so I thought they might be looking harder at the young pitchers in the opening round. It feels great," Gleaton said at Omaha, Neb. where Texas is in the College World

The first Texan chosen in the draft was Baylor righthander Jon Perlman of Carthage, also one of the SWC's top pitchers, whom the Chicago Cubs tabbed in the first round. Perlman was the 12th player selected in the Other Texans going in the first round were Richard Leucken, a Spring Woods pitcher, the 18th pick, by the San Francisco Giants; Rickey Seilheimer, Brenham catcher, the 19th pick, by the Chicago White Sox: and Daniel Lamar, Houston Bellaire catcher, the 20th pick, by the Cincinnati Reds.

The Astros had the sixth pick in the first round and took John Mizerock, a high school catcher from Puxsutaw-

Their fifth-round pick was Marc Strucher, who led the nation in home runs this season at Georgia Southern College. The 6-1, 185-pound junior first baseman hit 27 homers, breaking the collegiate record of Bob Horner, the Atlanta Braves' rookie of the year in

In the next five rounds, after taking Gleaton, the Rangers selected Donald Scott, a switch-hitting catcher from Tampa, Fla., Catholic; Nick Lee Capra, a second baseman from the University of Oklahoma; Larry Reynolds, a shortstop from Stanford; Mark Gammage, a righthanded pitcher from Detroit Osborn High School; and Shelton McMath, a Texas A&M outfielder from San Antonio.

Besides Mizerock and Strucher, the Astros tabbed Telmanch Gainey, an infielder from Sheriw, S.C.; Clifton Wherry, a shortstop from California-Riverside; Larry Ray, an outfielder from Kentucky Wesleyan College; and William Doran, an infielder from Miami of Ohio

Kyle Money, a 6-2, 200-pound quarterback who signed a letter of intent with Baylor after a competit : recruiting battle, was drafted by the Philadelphia Phillies in the second

Ronald Shepard, a Kilgore High School outfielder, went to Toronto in the second round.

The Blue Jays also drafted two University of Texas players - second baseman Andre Robertson of Orange in the fourth round and pitcher William Walker of Arlington in the fifth Others drafted in the fifth round were Arkansas catcher Ronn Reynolds by the Oakland A's, Texas A&M pitcher Mark Thurmond of Houston by the San Diego Padres, Rice pitcher Allan Ramirez of Victoria by the Orioles and Baylor pitcher Ramon Beene of Dallas by the Milwaukee Brewers.

Another member of Texas' SWC championship team was drafted in the sixth round by the New York Mets. He is Ronald Gardenhire, an infielder for the Longhorns from Okmulgee, Okla Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson called Gleaton "a good prospect. He's further along than (Tony) Brizzolara (a 1977 UT graduate now in the Atlanta Braves starting rotation), and he's certainly had a lot more success." Gleaton was 11-0 for Texas this season in leading the Longhorns to a 55-7 record to date. He had a 1.44 earned run average and has allowed 49 hits and 44 walks and struck out 101 in 87 13 innings.

But this was Gleaton's first full season at UT as a pitcher. He was used primarily as a designated hitter. first baseman and outfielder the past two years, making only nine mound appearances. He hit .375 this season in 40 at-bats.

"I haven't talked with anyone from the Rangers yet, but I expect to shortly," Gleaton said Tuesday in Mike Marshall saved the game for Paul Hartzell, then saved the night for the media.

"I don't know why everybody is around me," Marshall protested to reporters after he had made his 30th appearance and posted his 12th save of the season. "Paul Hartzell did the pitching tonight.

Then, when reporters became impatient as they waited for Hartzell to finish icing his arm in the off-limits trainer's room, Marshall carried the container of ice to the locker room, giving newsmen a shot at the winning left-hander.

Hartzell, 3-3, allowed only three singles and retired 13 consecutive batters before being lifted in the ninth following a one-out pinch double by Pat Kelly and a single by Eddie Murray as the Minnesota Twins beat the Baltimore Orioles 3-1.

In other AL games Tuesday, Boston defeated Texas 9-3, Kansas City downed the New York Yankees 3-1, Milwaukee stopped the Chicago White Sox 5-3, California edged Toronto 3-2, Cleveland bombed Oakland 12-3 and Detroit downed Seattle 3-1.

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Nancy Lopez is shopping this week - for a second successive Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship and a new house

She worked on both Tuesday.

After testing the Nicklaus Golf Center for 18 holes, the LPGA's biggest name toured the Cincinnati area looking for a house.

Her husband, Tim Melton, has accepted a position with Cincinnati television station WCPO-

"I'm pretty excited. Tim is moving up in the market. We want to get into a home and raise a family," she said.

Lopez comes to Cincinnati on the same recordshattering timetable she was following as a sensational rookie in 1978: three straight tour victories and No. 1 money-

Tate signs

KIRKLAND, Wash. (AP) - Running back Ezra Tate, who played at Mississippi College, has signed contracts with the Seattle Seahawks of the National Football League through the 1983 season, the club announced Tuesday.

Tate was the Seahawks' ninth-round draft choice and becomes the second Seattle draft pick to sign, joining Michael Jackson of the University of Washington. A 5-foot-10, 195 pounder, Tate was a first-team, All-Gulf South Conference selection as a junior and senior at Mississippi Col-

Carlton one-hits Houston Astros

By The Associated Press

Steve Carlton isn't having a Cy Young Award-winning year so far, but he usually looks like a Cy Young winner to the Houston Astros.

Like Tuesday night, when the twotime winner of baseball's most prestigious pitching award led the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-0 victory with a one-hit beauty. That masterful performance improved Carlton's lifetime record to 23-9 over the Astros, and gave the faltering Phillies a shot in the arm. They had lost eight of their previous nine games. "He didn't have his best velocity, but h was placing it where he wanted it," said Philadelphia catcher Tim McCarver. "That's the difference in winning. Rookie Jeff Leonard got the only hit off Carlton — a line drive single to left-center in the seventh inning. "It was a curve ball that started off about knee high and went down," said

Leonard, "but I went after it." While Carlton pulled his record over the .500 mark at 7-6, the Phillies brought their offense back to life with a 17-hit attack that included Mike Schmidt's 17th home run of the season. In their previous nine games, the Phillies had scored but 13 runs. In other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the San Francisco Giants 5-4: the Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets 6-1: the Atlanta Braves stopped the Montreal Expos 4-1 and the San Diego Padres routed the Chicago Cubs 11-3.

Carlton gave up four walks and struck out four in pitching the fourth one-hitter of his career. The Phillies scored all the runs they needed with five in the fourth inning on eight hits, including McCarver's two-run double. Schmidt added a sixth run with his towering homer in the fifth inning.

Pirates 3, Dodgers 1

Dave Parker hit a two-run homer in the first inning, triggering Pittsburgh over Los Angeles behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Bert Blyleven and Kent Tekulve. Parker's homer, his 11th of the season, came off loser Don Sutton and followed a one-out single by Tim Foli.

Blyleven yielded a leadoff home run in the second to Gary Thomasson, his sixth of the season, and left the game in the eighth in favor of Tekulve after issuing consecutive walks to Dusty Baker and Thomasson. 'Without a doubt, it helps to get ahead of Sutton that quickly," said Parker. "Usually when the game kind of drags on 2-1 or 1-0 in their favor, Sutton just gets tougher and tougher. The man is a great competitor.

Cardinals 5, Giants 4

Jerry Mumphrey drove in the tying runs in the seventh inning, then tripled in the ninth and raced home on a passed ball to give streaking St. Louis a tight victory over San Francisco.

Mumphrey opened the Cardinal ninth with his triple off reliever Randy Moffitt, and after intentional walks to Keith Hernandez and Ted Simmons, dashed home when Giant catcher Mike Sadek let a Moffitt pitch get passed him.

Reliever Mark Littell pitched out of a ninth-inning jam to claim the Cardinals' sixth straight victory

Reds 6, Mets 1

Dave Concepcion hit a three-run homer and Dan Driessen hit a solo shot to power Cincinnati over New York. Winner Fred Norman had a five-hitter through eight innings before getting relief help from Pedro .

Norman retired the first 11 Mets he faced and was in trouble only once, when New York scored in the fifth inning on a double by Steve Henderson and a single by Doug Flynn. Alex Trevino got a landmark single for the Mets in the fifth inning. It was the first successful pinch-hit by New York in its last 27 attempts.

Braves 4, Expos 1

Bob Horner broke a scoreless tie with a three-run homer in the sixth inning, leading Atlanta past Montreal. Jerry Royster was on base with a single and Gary Matthews with a walk when Horner connected against Montreal starter Scott Sanderson, sending a drive over the left-field fence for his sixth homer.

Right-hander Rick Matula was the winner, yielding five hits in seven innings. Matula was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh when his back tightened.

"Their pitchers made some bad pitches to me tonight," said Horner. About his homer: "I thought it was going to hook foul. I'm glad I got the hit when I did. It's always good to get the go-ahead runs.

Dave Winfield slugged a double and a triple and Gene Tenace and Dan Briggs smashed home runs to pace San Diego over Chicago behind Eric Rasmussen's six-hitter. Loser Dennis Lamp was racked for seven runs, three of them in 22-3 innings.

"It felt good to get out to that lead." said Rassmussen, who claims to be a hard-luck pitcher. "Having a sevenrun lead felt wonderful. I knew if I could keep the ball down and away from the hitters there would be no problem keeping the lead.

"I think I pitched a pretty steady game. I didn't try to overpower anybody. With the lead, I just wanted to throw strikes and not get sloppy.

Irwin due to win in Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — If recent history is a guide, Hale Irwin is due to win the $250,000 Atlanta Golf Classic this

He's taken the last two Atlanta events that were played in odd-numbered years and would like nothing better than to continue the string in the tournament that starts Thursday on the leg-straining hills of the Atlanta Country Club course.

'It's certainly time to win again,' Irwin said before a practice round over the 6,883-yard course that ranks as the hilliest the touring pros encounter all season.

"The last year and a half has been frustrating. But I supposed, in all honesty, you would have to say it's pleasantly frustrating," said Irwin.

A's been frustrating in that Irwin has failed to win in this country since 1977. He did win the Australian PGA last season but is the first to admit "it's not quite the same thing as winning here.'

The pleasant part of the frustration involves his money winnings. Whle he hasn't won, he could hardly be described as being in a slump. Last year he won more than $191,000, a record for a man who didn't win a tournament, and this year has collected almost $80,000 - again without win-

He's been close, however. Last year he was fourth or better in eight events. This year he's recorded three third-place finishes.

"Of course the money is important," he said. "After all, this is the way we make our living. But after you reach a certain level, winning is the most important thing.

Texas Rangers grab Gleaton

Joe Klein, director of player procurement for the Rangers, said: "We think Gleaton has a chance to come quickly. Not this year, but soon. We're going to help him with his breaking pitches and his change, but basically we see him as someone with enough arm to throw it by a hitter, but one with enough finesse to get by on nights when he doesn't have it.

'We think he has a chance to be a ster on a first-division team, and he's a lefthander, and that's why we drafted him," Klein added.

Strucher, after setting his vigorous home run pace, said he is happy the Astros drafted him, but he was surprised no one grabbed him before the

"I expected to go higher," said Strucher, who led Georgia Southern into the NCAA Atlantic Regional at Miami two weeks ago, where the school finished third. He batted .356 and drove in 85 runs.

"I don't understand it. They (the scouts) know I want to play pro ball. For some reason they like high school kids," he said.

Strucher said he hadn't talked with the Astros, and was surprised to note that they listed him as a catcher-first baseman. He's never caught. Stucher added, though, that he's willing to learn.

Some 226 players were selected iff the six rounds of the regular draft and seven rounds of the secondary draft. The secondary phase is for players previously drafted but not signed.

In the secondary draft, University of Texas pitcher Terry Wright of Paris, Texas, was selected by Toronto in the first round

The Astros picked outfielder Lemmie Miller, Santa Barbara Community College, Calif., and the Rangers tabbed pitcher Michael Sanford, De-Kalb So. Junior College, Childersburg, Ala.

The Phillies picked Michael-Withrow, a Blinn Junior College pitcher from Austin, in the second round, while the Rangers chose outfielder Joseph McCarthy, Seminole Junior College, Scranton, Pa.

In the fifth round, the Cleveland Indians chose Texas Aggie outfielder James Glenn of Navasota, and in the sixth round the Chicago Cubs picked Pedro Bazan of Pharr, now enrolled at Central College J.C.

NEW YORK (AP) -National Football League club owners were expected to outlaw forms of the "chop block" today in an effort-to retalent in recent years.

The owners opened tacklers from using their dict a little going away present Tuesday, selecting spear" an opponent, and free agent draft. banning players from opponent

The prohibition against the use of helmets as battering rams carries a 15-yard penalty for violators, and was aimed at reducing rib and back injuries. The purpose of outlawing certain forms of the chop block would be to cut the number of leg and knee injuries. "The chop block is an innovation of recent years where you get that low chop to the legs or knees ... a lot of it is coached," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle. He said the owners had debated legislation against it Tuesday, but because some amend ments were made, decided to put off a vote until today "They seem more concerned with the outside block rather than what happens on the interior line," Rozelle said in response to questions about the likely extent of the rule change. "It's a matter of how far they want to go." Rozelle indicated that some club owners were reluctant to put further restrictions on what offensive linemen can do because "you open the gate to more injuries to the quarterback, the most valuable player on the club." He said it was likely that a target of a ban on the chop block would be those offensive backs who zero in on pass rushers coming from the out-

"They wait for the defensive end to come in, and then, when the offensive tackle is trying to hold him (the end) off, that back comes in and cuts him from the side. Rozelle explained. "He doesn't have to come in from the side. Even a small back, if the defensive end is being engaged by another offensive player, can come in and hit him head-on."

Rozelle said the proposed ban on certain forms of chop blocking and the ban on the use of helmets as weapons "were part of a continuing study to alter rules that will help reduce injuries."

Archer, Moody have rough time

By The Associated Press

A couple of seasoned old pros turned sour and squandered their chances to participate in this year's United States Open Golf Tournament - one who won the event ten years ago, and one who shot a ten Tuesday on a single hole.

George Archer, a veteran touring professional, competing at La Cumbre Country Club in Santa Barbara, Calif., withdrew after carding an embarrassing 10 on the first hole of his second round.

Meanwhile, Orville Moody, the 1969 Open winner, also failed to qualify in the 36-hole Atlanta sectional, as did such familiar names on the tour as Marty Fleckman, Don Bies, and Rod Curl.

A total of 41 players won U.S. Open berths Tuesday to round out the overall field of 153 (including 43 golfers exempt from qualifying) which will compete from June 14-17 at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Tim Simpson of Atlanta and Bobby Walzel of Missouri City, Texas, led the Atlanta play with identical scores on two different layouts.

Simpson and Walzel each shot 70 on the 6,800-yard Horseshoe Bend Country Club course and 67 on the 7,000-yard Dunwoody Country Club, course for 7under-par 137 totals

Amateur Joe Rassett of Turlock, Calif., led a group of six qualifiers at La Cumbre with a 36-ole score i 136, 6-under-par, including rounds of 67 and 69. Ron Streck of Tulsa, Okla., fired a 36-hole, 137 to win one of two spots in the sectional qualifying at Memphis, Tenn.

Streck, who covered the par 70, 6,590-yard Memphis Country Club course with a 69-68, was joined by Frank Gusmus Jr. of Memphis with a 71-70-141. In another qualifying regional, Ken Leber of Annandale, Va., who plays out of Army-Navy Country Club, was the medalist in a field of 30 at Rockville,

Md., with his 71-68-139 for 36 holes. Larry Rentz of the University of Florida, who shot 72-71-143 over the par 70, 6,382-yard Manor Country Club course, earned a spot by firing a birdie on the second hole of sudden death to edge John Buczek of Dana Quigley of Barrington, R.I., and Mike Burke, Jr. of Allenhurst, N.J., shared the medalist honors at The Stanwich Club in Greenwich, Conn.

Quigley and Burke each shot 36-hole scores of 2-over-par 146 to pace the field of 60 pros and 12 amateurs vying for nine spots there. Burke combined a morning 77 with "my best competitive round ever," a 69, in the afternoon. Quigley, who lost his tour card for not making

Leach was the 13th player chosen. Howe was No.16 and Perry No.25 as Coach Benedict's team dominated the early selections

Leach, of course, also is a highly-rated quarterback and must decide between foottball and baseball. He was picked by the Denver Broncos in the fifth round of last month's National Football League draft, the 132nd player selected in that lottery. One player who already has made up his mind about the football-baseball dilemma is Al "Choo

6-foot-4, 210-pound youngster, who graduates from high school today.

Chambers said that being the nation's No.1 choice was something he'd always dreamed about. "I didn't think it would happen," he said. "But thought if I worked hard and was determined, I might go early. Then, when Seattle's scout came around, and I knew they had the No.1 pick, I figured I could be No.1 in the nation." When the Mariners decided on Chambers, the New York Mets, picking second, selected right-handed pitcher Tim Leary from UCLA. Then Toronto picked catcher Jay Schroeder of Pacific Palisades, Calif., another quarterback, who signed a letter of intent for UCLA.

Atlanta, which came up with the National League's rookie of thed year when they picked Bob Horner No.1 in last June's draft, had the fourth pick in the regular phase this time and chose outfielderfirst baseman Brad Komminsk from Shawnee High School in Lima, Ohio.

Among the players chosen were first baseman Joe Lansford, brother of California's Carney Lansford, by San Diego; infielder Todd Demeter, son of exmajor leaguer Don Demeter, by the New York Yankees; catcher Marc Sullivan, son of Boston Red Sox executive vice president Haywood Sullivan, by Boston; pitcher Jeff Stottlemyre, brother of exmajor leaguer Mel Stottlemyre, by Seattle; pitcher Terry Sutcliffe, brother of Los Angeles pitcher Rick Sutcliffe, by Los Angeles; and catcher Dave Landrith, son of ex-major leaguer Hobie Landrith, by

Rules need changes

By The Associated Press

There's nothing wrong with national championship auto racing that a simple and complete adherence to the rules won't cure. The Indianapolis 500 mile race was a pretty good show. It's too bad it wasn't an honest one from the standpoint of everybody following the rules as they were writ-

This really isn't all that difficult. Each year, the U.S. Auto Club puts out a book which has printed on its cover the words "Official Competition Rules United States Auto Club." It is written in plain English, and anyone who has some technical orientation and a basic mastery of the English language can understand

So, what happens during the month of May at the Indianapolis Speed-

There is so much fancy footwork in an attempt to get around the rules that it took the collective effort of the American judicial system to even stage the race this year. This is nonsense. It-also is unnecessary. All this backing and filing over the use of more than 50 inches of enough money last season but requalified at the PGA mercury manifold pressure for the Cosworths and 60 inches for the Offys is very clearly covered in the rules. On page 111 of the rule book are the words "Note: Any race car that exceeds the allowable maximum manifold pressure at any time during a sanctioned event may be disqualified from the event by the stewards and any attempt to defeat the valve will subject the chief mechanic of the car involved to a fine of $1,000. The important words are a-n-y and w-i-l-l. We have been told that competitors were informed verbally prior to the race that after the first pit stop it was OK to manually adjust the air bleed control valve to increase the amount of turbocharger pressure, providing it was returned to the prescribed setting at the last stop. That is nonsense. You might as well forget about the rules in the

No.1 turn during flood Choo" Chambers. Chambers is a slugging outfielder stage and throw it in. It makes a complete travesty of the USAC engine equivalency formula, which, if everybody including the officials would do what they are supposed to do, isn't

> This never was more evident than looking at the dynamometer log sheets which George Bignotti and Sonny ning tests on a Cosworth with the legal 50 inches of boost, then turning on the boost control valve. inches, the corrected pressures are concerned, brake horsepower was all the cloak and dagger 559, and at 9.500 rpm 579. routine which was pre-By turning on the boost dominant at the Speedcontrol to where 61 way.

inches were obtained, the power jumped to 665 at nine grand, an increase of 106 horsepow-

By comparison, an Offy puts out about 550 horsepower on 60 inches of boost at 9,000, and a stock block Chevy is rated about 600 at around 7,500 rpm.

You cannot get all three engines dialed in right on the equal sign because of other factors involved, but they are within striking distance provided there is someone reading the rules as they are writ-

If USAC is going to adopt a blind man's bluff policy relative to boost control, it might as well take the 355 and 209 turbocharged stock block and maybe the Offy not bother

It is an absolute certainty that USAC realizes it is not dealing with kids, and you can know the rules by heart, but it won't mean a thing if you don't catch the fellows doing their fancy footwork. Bignotti says there are about four main ways to beat the wastegate which controls the amount of pressure in the intake manifold. You can close down the wastegate exhaust pipe, neck down the collector pipe which feeds into the wastegate pipe, put an air bleed jet inside the air line fitting which delivers the controlling air that acts on the wastegate's dia phragm, or drill a minute hole in the air line itself that goes to the wastegate. All these moves have the same basic effect. They alter the controlling air flow which in turn controls the setting of the wastegate pressure relief valve. And it increases the boost over the prescribed

50 or 60 inches. The very nature of the 500 requires a lot of technical assistance. The people enlisted for the job generally are highly qualified technicians in their field. But to look at a race car once a year is not enough to keep honest somebody who lives with the thing. There is a basic an swer to curing all these antics of trying to beat the valve. You build an intake pressure relief valve which is big enough to let out the intake manifold pressure no matter how much boost is cranked into the system. With a valve like this, a mechanic can screw in 100 inches of boost, but who cares. The criteria for the size of the hole already is in existence. There are formulas for determining the amount of air which Meyer compiled in run- can be flowed through a given orifice. It's something they teach the kids in high school physics classes, and it would end. At 9,000 rpm at 50 at least as far as boost Conteh's poor showing against Brown was his second unimpressive outing in a row. Seven weeks ago, he managed only a draw against veteran American Jesse Burnett after having been floored twice.

Portions of Texas tax relief program now in effect, governor says the tax relief program that was overwhelmingly approved by voters last November have gone into effect, the governor's office said Monday.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1979

Gov. Bill Clements' office said he signed into law the bill that puts into effect the Tax Relief Amendment last Thursday without any ceremony or special announcement. The action was the climax of a process that began last summer when Gov. Dolph Briscoe called a special

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Parts of session to cut property taxes shortly after California voters approved Proposition 13. The constitutional amendment passed by that special session, and later approved by voters, authorized the 1979 Legislature to enact the so-called tax relief bill (HB1060).

The compromise bill worked out by a 10-member conference committee was finally approved by the Senate and House the last night of the 140-day regular session on May 28.

Immediate provisions of the bill includes one that each residence homestead will be exempt from $5,000 in school district taxes. Since the act is retroactive to Jan. 1979 the exemptions will be on the 1979 tax notices that most taxpayers receive in October. In addition, those over 65 and those disabled will be eligible for another $10,000 exemption in school taxes on their homesteads. After qualifying for the elderly exemption, school taxes on a home would be frozen for the person's lifetime.

Also effective immediately is the exemption from property taxes, state, county and school, of all nonbusiness cars owned by a family. However, if a city council or school board acts by this Dec. 31 it can re-instate the unpopular car taxes, Intangible property, such as stocks, bonds and bank accounts, would be exempt from local taxation, except for those now taxed.

A new system of setting valuations on farm, ranch and timber land exclusively on its ability to produce cash crops would become effective this year also, unless local agencies vote before this July 15 to postpone the start of the new evaluation methods until the 1980 tax year. Another portion of the bill would limit increases in state spending to the rate of the growth of Texas' economy, based on personal income. This portion would not be effective until May 1981, unless the Legislature met earlier and voted on a state spending

Another part of the bill provides school districts with $220 million in direct dollar-for-dollar reimbursement for revenue they would lose in giving the homestead and real estate exemptions. Another $200 million contained in the separate school finances bill also would serve as reimbursement although it will be distributed through regular state aid chan-

Home computers being mentioned as substitutes for bureaucrats

By KEVIN McKEAN

NEW YORK (AP) - After only four years on the market, business is booming, for the personal computer and supporters have predicted a bright future at the opening of their annual convention here.

It's the third year that the Personal Computing Festival has been held in conjunction with the National Computer Conference, the World Series of computer showcases. Seventy-thousand people are expected to troop past exhibits by the industrial giants like IBM during the four-day annual event.

But an estimated 15,000 of them will also trek down the street to the personal computer festival - being held in a separate hotel — to see the latest in artificial intelligence for the

A nuclear hit in New York would leave a crater 20 stories deep, kill 1 million people and generate 1,000mph winds, he told worshipers at the First Baptist Church.

'We have to be meek, or there will be no one left to inherit the earth." said Coffin, now senior minister at the Riverside Church in New York.

Carter also attended a memorial service Sunday for the late civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph.

In brief remarks at the service, the president praised Randolph as "a man of constant idealism ... hard work and sweat. He said Randolph "contributed to the making of a new nation . .. which has observed progress."

But, he added, "inequality and hatred, deprivation and hunger, racism, still exists" in the United States.

Randolph, who founded the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, died last month at the age of 90.

On Saturday, the president flew to Indianapolis, Ind., to attend a Democratic fund-raiser.

He hit hard at Republicans, saying they "talk about the dignity of work, but Democrats create jobs so people can work. Republicans talk about cutting deficits. Democrats cut

Carter also jabbed at Democrats in Congress, some of whom have opposed his energy policy. He urged passage of a tax on excessive oil profits and support for the decontrol of crude oil prices, saying, 'Maybe it's not perfect. I don't claim it's perfect." But he said such actions must be taken.

'We're not elected to hide or withdraw from the fight," he said.

In a related development, Carter described Americans' skepticism of an energy shortage as "an inability or unwillingness to deal with an unpleasant subject.

The problem is with us on a permanent basis." Carter said in an interview aired Sunday on an NBC-TV report on the energy shortage.

WASHINGTON (AP) - You shine at something, so teach it. That's the motto of free universities, casual colleges that flourish in 40 states for people interested in everything from magic to computers to making spare time count.

some 200 in the nation under the generic term of free university. About one-half are affiliated with standard colleges, one-third with other groups. The remainder are independent often non-profit corporations.

More than 300,000 students and teachers participate in cities including Seattle, Houston, Denver and Oldsburg, Kan. All have the hallmarks of informali-

Colleges with names like People-to-People and The Class Factory teach subjects like Gardening for Beginners, Backpacking, Start Your Own

Maintenance, The Vegetarian Idea, Attitude Awareness, Homebuying and Basic Guitar.

"We want to make lifetime learning more than the traditional macrame and car repair," said Bill Draves of the Free University Network, an association of schools in Manhattan,

But B&W officials told a news conference here Tuesday - the first since the March 28 accident - that there will be changes in the reactor, its controls and the training of its operators as a result of the worst accident in U.S. nuclear history.

Some of the changes were suggested by the company while others were ordered by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, the officials said. But B&W President George Zipf said he was confident the firm was not liable for damages either to Metropolitan Edison, the utility that ran the plant, or to plant neighbors, some of whom have filed suit.

B&W officials acknowledged that a key valve failed in the accident. But they laid blame for the subsequent releases of radiation on "inappropriate operator action.'

"That's not too surprising," said William Kuhns, board chairman of the parent company of Metropolitan Edison, after hearing the B&W statements summarized.

"It's all our fault, isn't it? That makes it a very easy accident to explain for people on both sides of the nuclear issue," Kuhns said in a phone interview

B&W told its side of the story in an elaborate news conference at the company's nuclear engineering headquarters at the foot of Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains

John MacMillan, vice president of nuclear power generation, said the main cause of the radiation releases was that operators failed to realize for more than two hours that a valve was stuck open, spilling radioactive cooling water into the reactor build-

MacMillan said this kind of valve was prone to failure and had failed at least once before on another B&W plant. He said that operators should have realized it was open and shut a backup valve.

But Kuhns said the operators' training did not prepare them for the ambiguous and conflicting readings of control room instruments.

He noted that the operators were trained by B&W under contract to Metropolitan Edison. "I guess I can't fault them (B&W) for picking out and leaning on the areas of operator failure. But I think you have to ask the second question, (which is) why did they make mistakes, if you want to eall them mistakes?" Kuhns said.

John Kemeny, head of the presidential commission investigating Three Mile Island, said last week that he believed a major accident could have been averted with better control room instruments.

MacMillan said B&W was exploring changes in the instruments and has revamped its training program, One change, he said, will see operators trained in multiple failures of equipment or human error, and not just in isolated failures of one kind or an-

Gas bomb shipment postponed

DENVER (AP)"- The Army has postponed indefinitely the shipment of nearly 900 nerve gas bombs to a Utah depot and is reportedly reviewing whether it needs to keep the weapons at all.

During recent testing, six of the 896 bombs were found to have leaks. The bombs are encased in air-tight shipping containers and the Army has said the leaks pose no health hazard.

The Army announced Tuesday it had put off shipping the so-called Weteye bombs from Rocky Mountain Arsenal to the Tooele Army Depot in Utah's western desert so "the situation. can be reassessed."

It said a team of technical experts would check the leaks recently discovered to determine if they are similar to three leaks found last year. The Army had planned to start moving the bombs Monday.

Sen. Gary Hart and Rep. Patricia Schroeder, both Colorado Democrats, said they were told the Army re-evaluation will include the question of whether the bombs are even worth keeping.

"The Army has agreed to reassess not only the structural integrity of the bombs, but their usefulness for our national security as well," Hart said at a news confer-

"The Army is finally conceding that its basic and debatable premise for moving the bombs that they are needed for national security - may be wrong."

Hart and Mrs. Schroeder said they were told the Army will ask the Defense Department to make a formal reaffirmation of the national security need for retaining the Weteyes. The Army refused comment.

After the leaks were discovered last year, the Army conducted extensive metallurgical and chemical tests that showed all three leaks were from corrosion in the same spot on each bomb - a weld on a filler plug at the back of the bombs.

A non-leaking bomb chosen randomly for comparison tests showed that corrosion was beginning in the same weld. Under terms of a 1977 environmental impact statement, the Army must move the bombs within 30 days of testing them for leaks. The Army had intended to move the bombs to Utah a year ago, but scrapped the plans when the leaks were found.

Settlement reached with GM

DETROIT (AP) General Motors Corp. has agreed to pay a $90, 000 settlement to the government in a pollution test case and the government, in turn, has agreed to drop a criminal investigation against the automaker, spokesmen

The U.S. Justice De partment and GM reached an out-of-court settlement Tuesday in a case involving allegations that the nation's largest automaker cheated on auto emission tests, U.S. Attorney James K. Robinson of detroit said.

"It was determined that criminal prosecution was not appropriate," Robinson said in a written statement.

Under the settlement, the Environmental Protection Agency and GM agreed to drop the accusations each had made about the other.

Solar energy drive needed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - The nation needs specific national goals if it is to stimulate solarenergy development, according to a University of Michigan professor.

'The goals probably should be in the form of the quantities of solar energy that would be produced at various dates," says Professor John A. Clark of the university's mechanical-engineering department.

The basic question, Clark says, is how to stimulate the development of new, improved and more cost-effective solar-energy conversion

One way he suggests is with a closer government-industry partnership, perhaps a consortium of private industry, government agencies and user groups
