Offers FFA Scholarship

Frank M. Carter, well-known Hereford Breeder and civic leader of Pampa, Texas, has announced the establishment of a Top o' Texas Agriculture Scholarship to be awarded annually to an outstanding Future Farmer of Area 1, who is a senior in high school and who has participated in the Top o' Texas FFA Livestock Judging Contest. The scholarship award will be $300 to be used by the boy selected to further his education in the field of Agriculture at either Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas; or Texas A. & M. College, College Station, Texas.

This contest is held in Pampa, Texas in connection with the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeder's Show and Sale and the Junior Livestock Show and Sale, which is scheduled for February 16 and 17 of '53. The announcement of the scholarship winner will be made Monday, February 16, at a banquet honoring the FFA Livestock Judging teams.

Mr. Carter, who has served as President of the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeder's Association, has been a sponsor and furnished the awards for the Top o' Texas FFA Livestock Judging Contest since 1945, when this contest was first established. This is another example of Mr. Carter's continuing interest in the welfare of young men in the Texas Panhandle.

Each FFA Chapter in Area 1 will be entitled to submit one application to be selected by local school officials. A committee of three, selected by the management of the Top o' Texas FFA Livestock Judging Contest, will make the final selection.

Copies of rules and application blanks are being forwarded to each of the 87 FFA Chapters in Area 1, comprising 38 Texas Panhandle Counties.

Blocked Alleys Can Cause Disaster

Fire Chief B. W. McMeen of Dalhart sternly warned residents of that city last week that one or more business buildings are liable to burn up if they ever catch fire and the alleys are blocked as they often are.

He was checking through the business district the other day and reported finding nearly every alley blocked by double parked cars or trucks.

Moss backs originally were confederate draft dodgers who hid in swamps.

The total length of all U. S. coastlines and land boundaries is 17,936 miles.

Club Boys Take Tour Of Wheat Industries

Jerry Harland and Cecil Borth of Stratford were among the group of Texas and Oklahoma 4-H and FFA boys, all experts at producing wheat, who took a look at other parts of the wheat industry Friday and Saturday. The tour included facilities in research, marketing and processing. The wheat marketing tour is part of the awards program sponsored in the two states by the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Association.

The purpose of the production program and tour, according to Fred T. Dines, wheat marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is to give boys in 4-H and FFA work an appreciation for the necessity of producing only high quality wheat and a working knowledge of marketing and processing methods used in Texas and Oklahoma.

The Texas delegation in addition to Dines includes Neal Flathers, Perryton; Jerry Harland and Cecil Borth of Stratford, and Ochiltree County Agent Delbert Timmons. The three boys are 4-H club members. The FFA group included Darwin Fowler and Frankie Cossey both of Crosbyton, Frederick Keeter, Amarillo, and Herb Davis, vocational agricultural teacher, Amarillo. The Oklahoma delegation likewise includes three 4-H boys and a county agent and three FFA boys and one teacher. Ed Granstaff from Oklahoma's Extension Service accompanied the group.

Dines reports that each Texas boy produced wheat last year and made an exhibit from his crop at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. Later a sample from his wheat was submitted to a baking laboratory where the baking qualities were checked. All of these points were considered, says Dines, by those who made the final selection for the tour group.

First stop on the tour was at the Denton Agricultural Experiment Station where Dr. I. M. Atkins explained the research work on wheat improvement in the two states. Extension District Agent W. I. Glass and Area Supervisor L. I. Samuels spoke briefly to the group on the functions of the two agencies which they represent.

Arlington State College, the Fort Worth Cotton and Grain Exchange, Mrs. Baird's Bakery and WBAP-TV Station were visited.

Saturday morning found the group back at the Cotton and Grain Exchange where they studied grain inspection methods and at the Burrus Mills where tours of the elevator, flour mills and baking laboratory were made. After lunch the groups departed for home.

Dines and the sponsor of the wheat improvement program believe the information given the boys will give them a better picture of the entire wheat industry and especially the need for continually striving to improve yields and quality including that very important item of baking quality.

Clothing School Opens Friday Afternoon

A school on children's clothing will open at 2:00 P. M. Friday in the Home Demonstration Club room at the courthouse in Stratford and will continue for three days or longer. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, will be in charge of the school.

Ladies will decide at the first meeting when the other meetings will be held. This course will consist of studies in: "Clothes to Grow In," "Buying Ready Made Suits for Boys, sizes 3 to 6," "Buying Ready Made Dresses for Girls in sizes 3 to 6," and "When Mother Sews." The course is open to all women who are interested in children's clothes for the pre-school child. A special invitation is extended by Miss King to meet with the group at 2:00 P. M. in the club room at the courthouse Friday, November 14.

DDT Spray For Rugs

A simple spray treatment with a 5 per cent DDT solution will protect your rugs and carpets from damage by moths and carpet beetles.

Since wool rugs and carpets attract clothes moths and carpet beetles throughout the year, it is well to realize that these insects recognize no season in a well-heated home.

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says experiments with this treatment at the United States Department of Agriculture laboratory at Savannah, Georgia, have proved successful. Results, the agent says, show the 5 per cent DDT solution spray will protect rugs and carpets from damage by moths and carpet beetles for more than a year.

To protect your rugs, the agent says, apply a 5 per cent DDT oil spray uniformly over both top and bottom surfaces, sufficient to moisten the fibers. You can buy a common household spray under a variety of trade names, but check the label describing the ingredients for the 5 per cent DDT oil contents.

Miss King says a hand sprayer does a good job of applying the spray to the rugs and carpets. "Be sure to moisten them uniformly on the top and bottom to get longer lasting effects of the 5 per cent DDT oil spray," she adds.

472 Chest X-rays Taken Thursday

State Health Department X-ray Technician Ponce took 472 chest X-rays of Sherman County citizens while the equipment was in the American Legion Hall Thursday.

A few citizens arrived at the American Legion Hall shortly after 5:00 P. M. too late to meet with the State Health Department schedule. Mr. Ponce, who has put in 156 hours of overtime work since September, was ill during the time he visited Stratford.

Beta Sigma Phi members were pleased with the interest of the public although the number of people participating fell short of the record of 660 set in the county about two years ago.

Mrs. I. D. Wall served as chairman of the county unit during the drive. Mrs. Leonard Plunk and Mrs. E. R. Finch called every person listed in the telephone directory Thursday morning to remind them of the chest X-ray program.

Delbert Cummings used his sound truck in an attempt to remind those on the streets it was time for their annual chest X-ray.

Others cooperated in many ways to make possible the annual event which may at some time prevent serious illness of Sherman County citizens.

Wayland Choir To Sing Tuesday At Baptist Church

Wayland College's International Choir, composed of 40 voices, will sing at the First Baptist Church Tuesday, November 18, at 7:30 P. M.

Wayland College's colorful International Choir is not only an outstanding musical organization but a traveling museum with over $4,000 worth of authentic costumes and jewelry from 18 foreign countries and several American Indian tribes. In addition, for local color, it has a complete Texas cowboy outfit, including handmade leather chaps and 10-gallon hats.

Prof. Shelby Collier, conductor of the International Choir, oftentimes finds it difficult to move the choir on to the stage or from backstage after a concert because of the interest in the costumes shown by the audience, particularly after his remarks during the Roll Call of the Nations.

The original costumes of the Wayland choir were of the homemade variety designed to highlight the Mexican and Spanish members, the first foreign language songs Mr. Collier added to the repertoire. New to the group sings in eleven languages.

When a unit of the choir went to summer school sponsored by Wayland at the University of Guadalajara, the beautiful native dresses of the different states attracted their attention and they began to ask Mr. Collier for them for their Spanish numbers. In the Choir's new extensive wardrobe are seven different styles of fiesta dresses and headdresses from as many different states of Mexico, plus four different costumes from as many Indian tribes of Mexico. Handmade "wedding shirts" have also been bought for the boys of the choir.

When Mr. Collier stopped in Laredo for customs inspection on one of his many vacation trips to Mexico, he had a hard time explaining to the inspector his need for 30 changes of clothing. No doubt, by now, the inspectors are convinced that Mr. Collier is almost an adopted Mexican because he has spent 2 summers with the University of Guadalajara and four Christmas vacations in Mexico. The entire choir has made four visits across the border to sing and to absorb atmosphere for this section of their program.

PMA Lists ACP Practices For Sherman County

A total of nine soil and water conservation practices have been approved for assistance under the 1953 Agricultural Conservation program in Sherman County, R. C. Buckles, chairman of the County PMA Committee, advises.

The approved practices are: subsoiling, rotary subsoiling, chiseling not on the contour, pit cultivation, cross-slope chiseling, etc.; control of bindweed, drilling wells, applying potash or phosphate, growing winter legumes, deferred grazing, and seeding pasture grasses.

According to the chairman, in the near future PMA community committees will be visiting farms in their communities, assisting farmers to determine the most needed conservation practices. Program assistance in the coming year will be centered on practices determined to be most needed.

State PMA Office Has Visitor From India

G. N. Raut, Cuttak, Orissa Province, India, visited the State PMA office in College Station on October 27 to gather information on the programs of the Production and Marketing Administration. Mr. Raut will receive his Doctor's degree in this country in January after which time he will return to his native country to become Assistant Director of Agriculture in charge of soil conservation.

Mr. Raut says they grow all the crops in India that are grown in Texas, as well as some native crops that we know nothing about. They have about 60 million acres under irrigation. India has about half as much tillable land as the United States and they have about twice as many people. There is only .8 of an acre of tillable land per capita in India.

The average size of a farm in India is about 3 or 3.5 acres. Farm families have no other source of income and must depend entirely on the output of this small acreage for their existence. The land is cultivated very carefully in order to make an extra stalk of rice or other grain grow, if possible. Some families have an oxen to pull the plow but most of the farm work is done with hand tools. Some times two and even three families will live in one small house. It is not uncommon to see 8 or 10 people living the year around off the output of 7 or 8 acres.

Most of the agricultural land is owned by the Government and the tenants are required to pay only small, reasonable rents but they must take care of the land and make it produce abundantly or they will be moved off the next season.

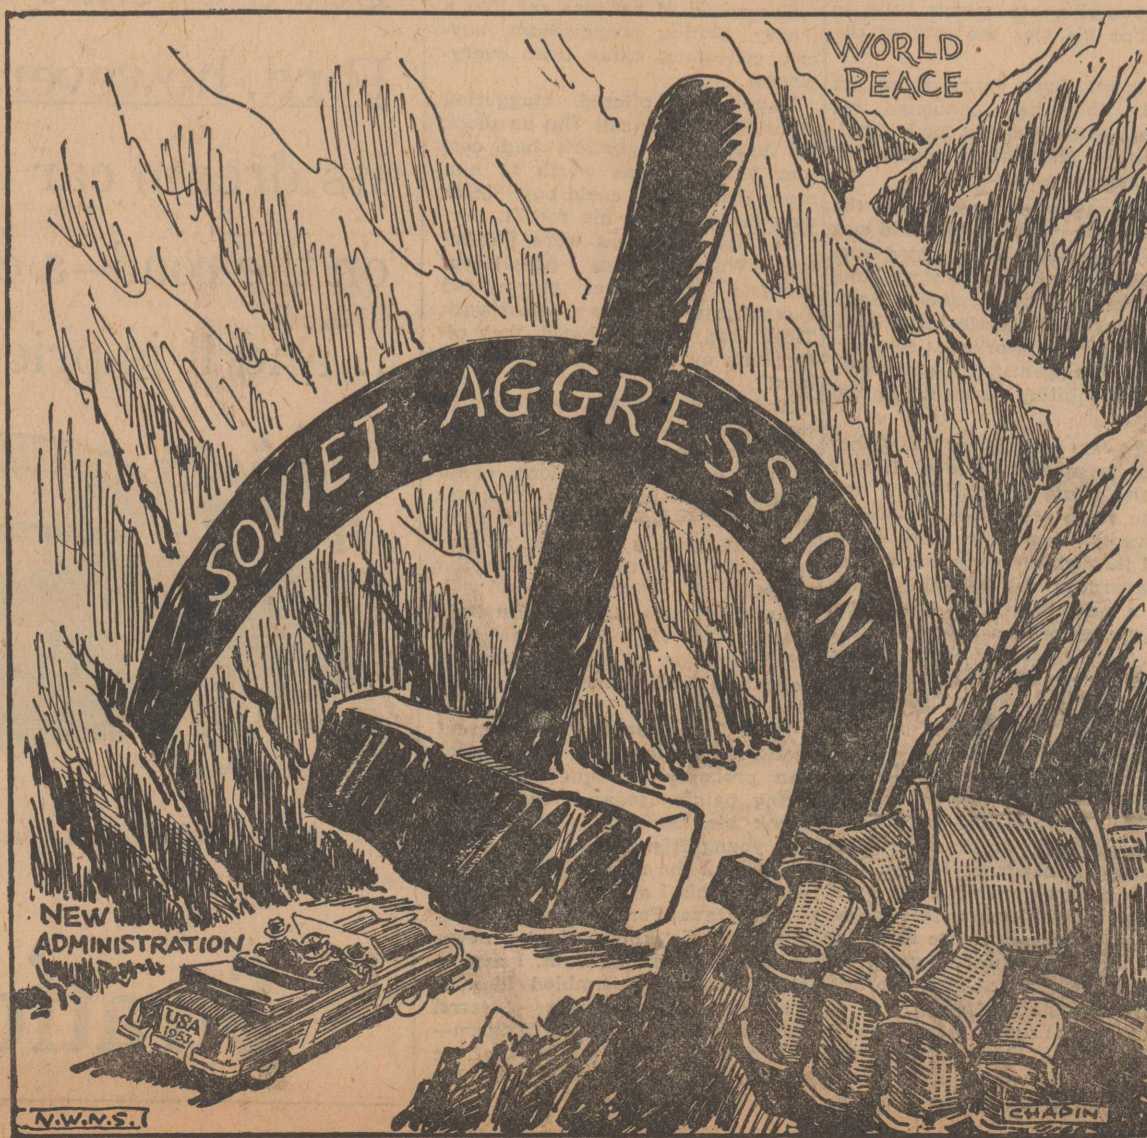

New Arrivals

Mrs. Collins is the former Marjorie Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Grimes. Mrs. Grimes is in Floydada with her grandson and his parents.

Faith In Himself

By SPENCE DILL

DAVE FENDER developed artistic inclinations at an early age. Friends and relatives predicted big things for Dave. All urged him to develop his talent, to attend higher schools of art than Ridgeview, his home town, could offer. Dave didn't need their urging; their compliments meant little to him. For his was the soul of the artist.

He spent three years at an art school. Then he abandoned his teachers and struck out for himself, because he felt that he'd gone beyond them.

His only teachers now were the works of the masters. His field was portrait painting. He haunted museums and homes where were hung the works of Titian, Reubens, Rembrandt and others. He hired himself a loft and worked tirelessly, happily. He spent five years working and exhibiting his work. He sold but little.

More years passed, but less rather than a greater number of Dave's portraits found buyers. There was now no fame at all. He was living in poverty. Gradually there penetrated through the deep absorption, the eagerness, the devotion to his work a question: Why wasn't his work recognized as great? It was great. He knew it. What better judge than himself? Who were such men as Jud Armstrong, Philip Hodgson, Heywood Baker, acknowledged critics of art but themselves possessed of no artistic ability, to pronounce it inferior?

Before, he had paid no heed to the opinions of these men; now, gradually, it occurred to him that their decisions were what the world accepted as final and authoritative. And so Dave set out to show the world that critics were wrong, but the world laughed at him, the critics were smugly amused.

And then abruptly Dave Fender achieved fame in a different and surprising manner. One day while roaming through a house in the section of the city he came across a painting. Dusting it off, his heart began to pound. Two hours later, a half dozen friends had congregated in his studio and were staring in delighted wonder at a portrait that was undoubtedly an original work of Titian.

The world of art was set into a frenzy. Critics, connoisseurs, buyers, collectors, came from everywhere.

Dave was offered staggering sums for the portrait. But he shook his head. The portrait had cost him $1.50. It was worth to him more than money could buy. Titian was his favorite; his model.

But the collectors were persistent. When Critics Armstrong, Hodgson and Baker pronounced Dave's possession the greatest work Titian had ever produced, they offered its owner a half million dollars!

And then, with the whole world waiting for Dave's answer, marveling at and admiring the work of the great artist, along came Mario Bacchelli, Italy's foremost art critic, yes, the world's foremost art critic, a lover and authority on the work of Tiziano Vecellio (Titian).

Bacchelli came to Dave Fender's studio. He viewed the portrait, while crowds of news reporters, collectors and American critics waited eagerly.

"This," he said, "is a great work. A superior work. A work that can probably be equaled by no living painter today. But—" He shook his head sadly, "I regret, my young friend, that it is not a product of the master Tiziano Vecellio. Of this I am sure."

And Dave Fender smiled thinly and nodded. "You're right. I never said it was Titian's work. I merely stated that it resembled him. It was our American critics—Messrs. Armstrong, Baker and Hodgson—who pronounced it the work of the master. No, it isn't Titian's. It's mine."

Eula Faye Lowe and Opal Lowe, junior and senior respectively. Two students from Kerrick are also attending West Texas State this fall. Enrolled as a freshman is Charles Milton Boren and Billy Boren, junior.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Here are two of the many problems confronting the new Administration.

One problem has been presented almost as a kick in the face to Americans who have been in Canada the past few months. American money is now discounted when exchanged for Canadian money.

American dollars, always worth about $1.10 in Canadian money, are now worth about 90 cents. Americans who protest receive this answer.

"If you Americans keep on giving everything away, by next year you'll get even less for your dollars up here."

But prosperous Canada with vast resources is a major beneficiary of U. S. aid programs.

For one thing, U. S. Officials have permitted the Canadian newspaper monopoly to continually boost prices without taking any remedial measures. Canada also receives a large share of business from purchases in Canada to give away.

For example, on just one day approximately $3 million worth in metal, tractor and farm equipment, was bought in Canada by U. S. taxpayers to give to French African colonies.

So it is little wonder that Canadian money is worth more than U. S. money. Around Washington they say, "We love our allies so much, we are killing ourselves with kindness."

Another problem is the Office of Price Stabilization, still spending millions building mountains out of molehills to justify continuance of fat salaries.

Probably Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin will have some words on the subject when Congress convenes. In his state, OPS is now interfering with the operation of golf clubs.

Directors of the Brown's Lake Golf Association near Burlington, Wisconsin, voted to raise weekend green fees to $2.50.

But in Milwaukee, the regional OPS gaulter has a great capacity for trivia. The golf association received an edict to reduce daily green fees to $1.14; weekend fees to $1.64.

Either through legislation, or the facts of competitive economic conditions, OPS finds itself with little to enforce. So OPS moves in on golf clubs.

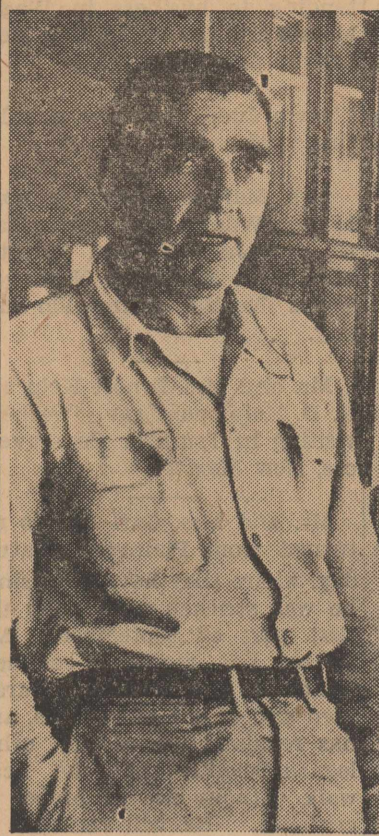

It sounds like pure comedy, even though expensive comedy to U. S. taxpayers, except analysis shows the danger of OPS.

Interference with a golf club operation equals or exceeds the control of private activities that the Hitler mob practiced.

If permitted to continue on its present trend, OPS can and will exercise so much power that the recent election by which the people delegated authority will become a hollow mockery.

It may be argued that as long as the nation pours out billions to aid incompetent nations, it is only proper that a few millions be spent to give domestic aid to the nation's incompetent in the form of lush jobs in an organization such as OPS.

However, to let these incompetents also tear down the traditional form of American liberty is too high a price. Congressmen, backed by organized independent business are sure to make OPS a major issue early in 1953.

Rain and snow falling during the early hours Sunday morning brought .22 of an inch of moisture to the Stratford area. It was the first moisture recorded in Stratford since the 23rd of September when .16 of an inch of rain fell. On September 12 a shower of .07 of an inch fell.

Some producers believe that their wheat is dying from lack of moisture. Others who had fields favored with more subsoil moisture believe that it would be possible to raise a crop if moisture fell within the near future.

Gourmet Dish

The Harpodon lives in the ocean, in bays and estuaries, in shallow areas and at moderate depths. When freshly caught, it is described as handsomely and brilliantly phosphorescent all over. As the Bombay duck, bummalo or bommelo fish of cookbooks and Eastern menus, it makes a pungent dish. Some gourmets speak unflatteringly of its odor.

Sunday's Sermon

Rev. Robert H. Harper
Supreme Loyalty to God
Lesson: Exodus 2: 1-6; Luke 14: 25-27; 16: 13-15

Golden Text: Exodus 20: 3-4
THE WHOLE of the lesson shows that God demands first place in a man's life and that he will have that place or none. For he cannot dwell in a divided heart. Law for men is based upon the will of God. It is the expression of his will for men. That there could be ten thousand standards of morality among men, a law by and for every man, is inconceivable. There can be only one law for men. And that is the will of the Almighty God.

Let us consider how the unity of God is declared in the first of the Ten Commandments, and is supported by the second. The great command, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," does not recognize other gods; the command means that God is the only Being to be worshipped throughout the universe. And the Almighty God is not to be represented by the likeness of anything in the universe and set up as a thing to be worshipped.

But every day the commandment to serve God alone is violated—sometimes by the images which some professing Christians set up, and sometimes by some ancient practice, some pious custom, that becomes more important than God himself. As to the individual, he in effect bows down to idols when he allows anything whatsoever to become dearer to him than God.

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 10:1-11:1. DEVOTIONAL READING: John 15: 8-20.

Immortal Twelve

Lesson for November 16, 1952

IF the twelve Apostles wanted to join your church, would you let them in? Peter Marshall thought not. Books of sermons are often dull reading, but Dr. Marshall's book called Mr. Jones, Meet the Master is as fascinating a book as you are likely to find anywhere. One of his famous sermons goes over an imagined application of the twelve Apostles for membership in a typical American church. One by one each man is rejected—all but Judas! As a man of money the church wants his services.

Dr. Foreman

Unpromising Material

Not to steal Peter Marshall's sermon, nor to spoil your appetite for it in case you do read it, but just to explore the possibilities, let's imagine yourself passing on the application of these men for church membership. "There is Simon Peter . . . Well! He is a fisherman and a sailor, and you know what sailor's language is, sometimes. A man noted for talking before he thinks. Not among our best people (they would say in Capernaum); lives down by the docks somewhere, smells of fish. No education, very limited background. Better wait. Maybe he could find a little chapel down nearer his work he'd be happier there. And then there's James and his brother John. Hot-tempered and ambitious, in fact so conceited they're hard to live with. They would certainly want to be at the top—if thrones are passed out they will want one apiece in the front row. If they are crossed they are likely to call down fire from heaven—not that they'll get it, but that's the kind of young men they are. No, they will be too hot to handle. Let them go join some sect that will give their emotions a chance. We'll be too slow and too cold for them.

Nobodies

Then there is Thomas, for instance. Just the opposite of Peter. A cold, gloomy man. Takes the dark view of everything. What you want in the church is men of faith, and this is a man who is sure to be called the Doubter. Skepticism is contagious, we have enough doubters now without electing another one. Let's leave him out. Then there is Philip, a stupid man if ever you saw one. You can say a thing to him over and over and he still won't get it. And Bartholomew and Thaddeus or Lebbaeus or whatever his name is, and another James and another Simon—their names are common and so are their. Just who are they, the whole lot of them? Nobodies, that's all you can say. Can you name one that has made a name for himself outside his native village—or in it, for that matter? What have they got to contribute? Haven't we got enough dead wood in the church as it is without adding some more people who will be nothing but names? Seems to me the pastor must have been scraping the bottom of the barrel—these men certainly didn't come from the top.

Jesus Made Difference

Even worse than all that could have been said of some of the Twelve. There was one very doubtful character among them, the man Matthew the Publican. Publicans were tax-collectors for the Roman government. No one respected them; Jesus himself used the name Publican as meaning the lowest class of men. Who knew how sincere Matthew was when he joined the Twelve? There was also Judas, immortal for another reason; who was and who remained a devil. Jesus called two of these men devils at different times; Judas stayed one, but Peter changed. That lets us in to the secret of why Jesus chose these particular men. It was not for what they were at the time, not for anything they had accomplished, but for what he could do with them, that Jesus chose these men. He selected them for a particular reason: that they should go out and tell other men about him. To be ready to do this, they were to spend some time in close contact with him. When these men went out to speak for Jesus and the Kingdom of God they knew what they were talking about . . . and they were different men. All but Judas, who missed his life's great chance. For these other men had let Christ have his way with them. That is what the Church is and ought to be: the community of men and women who are being transformed, by Christ, for service in his name.

SPEED-KILLER NO. 1

Out of 35,000 lives lost in traffic accidents in 1950, 26,700 were sacrificed on the altar of carelessness. Speed—excessive, killing speed—accounted for nearly half that number. Speed, claiming 13,300 dead and 475,000 injured victims in a single year, is the nation's Killer No. 1.

While all traffic deaths declined from 1946 through 1949, even then fatalities on the open road kept creeping up. In 1950 a deadly spurt of speed accidents claimed 3,200 more victims in rural areas than it had the year before. Last year speed deaths again mounted.

Why do drivers race so heedlessly to destruction on the highway? Hardly to save time. Scorching at 70 is an invitation to disaster. Over any distance, 50 m.p.h. takes only a few minutes longer and offers a better chance of a safe arrival.

When you start out with your family or friends, discount speed before you take off. Give yourself and others in your car an extra margin of safety by leaving earlier and holding your speed within bounds. It's your responsibility to them and to others on the road.

Remember—more than one out of every three fatal accidents is due to speed.

STRATFORD GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

First Grade

Mrs. Russell's Room
The children in Mrs. Russell's room are busy these days working on a Thanksgiving project. This week we are making Indians and teepees. We hope to learn something of the history of the early part of our country.

We surely thank Judy's mother, Mrs. Steinberger, for the beautiful flower decoration for the room. It is made of small cottonwood limbs and tiny pink paraffin flowers. We are certainly enjoying it as it makes such a colorful spot in our room.

Mrs. Gardner's Room
The children in Mrs. Gardner's room presented a part of a little play, "School Days," for their mothers recently. Mrs. Gardner wrote the play for First Grade children as it is about their work as shown in the following lines: "Numbers are lots of fun. We learn that one and one are two. Two and two are four. And much much more."

Second Grade
Mrs. Peterson's Room
As the days pass, three is always some new challenge for the eager minds of these little second graders. On the way to school it was observed that flags were flying in the down town area. Some one noticed that Tuesday was a red letter day on the school calendar and asked why. Dwight Brooks, raising his hand, exclaimed, "It's a national holiday." "A National holiday?" suggested the teacher. And the significance of the day was discussed briefly along with the reading of what the World Book Encyclopedia has to say about Armistice Day.

The daily work goes on about as usual, with some pupils showing fairly rapid growth in the basic skills; some progressing at a slower rate, but progressing. And all are looking forward to the next report card date which is not very far away, and to the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Barker's Room
A good many of our group are having colds. So far, there haven't been many absent. Peggy Taylor is in Amarillo having an operation on her eyes. We wish her the best of luck and we will be happy to have her back in school.

Third Grade

At the present, we have thirty-nine boys and girls in the Third grade. Again, we thank all who saw to it that our Third grade was represented at the carnival.

The clowns led by a Fourth grade boy were our Third grade boys. We think they did an excellent job in representing clowns.

Fourth Grade

Miss Riley's Room
Those making 100 in Spelling this week are: Donna Blazer, Lynda Brewster, Robbie Burkhart, Gary Dettle, Barbara Lavake, Gary Mathews, Sharon Mullican, Shirley Sanders, Madelene Reising, John Sears, Elaine Spurlock, Billy Steinberger, Dennis Walker and Kay Webb.

The Fourth Grade has started a new reader this week. "Wings for Words" is the title of the new Reader.

We are happy to have Elaine Spurlock and Shirley Sanders back in class this week. They have been ill with colds.

Jonna Knight left Tuesday evening for Memphis, Tennessee. She will visit her grandmother for two weeks.

Miss Cox' Room

We finished our Readers last week and are now reading in a new book. Our new book has some very interesting stories.

We have been making Thanksgiving posters to help decorate our room for the Thanksgiving holidays.

The Fourth grade enjoyed the Junior play last Friday afternoon.

Those making 100 in Spelling for the week are: Norveta Bammes, Ginger Brooks, Sharon Oquin, Jerry Johnson, Natacha Morris, Harry Oquin, Joanne Roper, Susan Sloan, Kay Spurlock and Billy Stone.

Fifth Grade

Mrs. Flowers' Room
Those making perfect papers in Spelling last week were: Carolee Baskin, Hal Bennett, Bill Casey, Charles Clements, Linda Sue Coffman, Molly Ann Davis, Sharon Gamble, Mary Gay Judd, Dixie Lee Knight, Dwane Lavake, Edward O'Quin, Rex Palmer, and Jessie Jean Riggs.

We are making a Thanksgiving scene on a table in our room. It will have lob cabins, pilgrims, turkeys, and other things pertaining to this holiday.

Our class enjoyed the Junior Class play that we saw Friday afternoon. Also the singing between the first and second acts of the play.

The librarian for this week is J. D. Plunk.

Our bulletin board has a great many pictures about railroads and the work that they do. We have been studying about railroads both in Reading and Geography classes. Of special interest to us is the fact that the last spike driven in the first big railroad was a spike of gold. The class thought it would be fun to vote. We had a little election in our room Monday and Eisenhower won.

A special study was made of Washington D. C., the presidents and the buildings. We had many interesting reports on "The White House, The Capitol Building, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, Statuary Hall, and the design of the city.

Also given in the reports were the lives of Franklin D. Roosevelt, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Betsy Ross, (who designed our flag).

Mrs. Elliott's Room

In Geography the past week we have been visiting the western part of the United States. La Ruth Kendrick made an interesting talk on Salt Lake City, Utah, the most important city of the Great Basin. She shared some interesting pictures and personal experiences with the class during her talk.

Our games committee chairman and class treasurer Gay Plunk, has ordered 100 new games for us to use on cold or rainy days during the winter months. We are very proud of Gay in this capacity. Because of her alertness we were able to secure this offer for only $1.00.

In word mastery we are learning to make newly met words our own words. Our work consists of recognition of a word and words within a given word; pronunciation, a syllabication check, a mental picture and mental spelling of the word; word meanings and correctly using the word in at least one of its various shades of meanings. We hope by the end of the school term, to have at least 2,700 words in our speaking vocabulary with an equal percentage of increase in our reading and writing vocabularies.

Our room is taking on the Thanksgiving festive appearance. Each pupil will contribute some creative idea to the arrangement.

Sixth Grade

Miss Crockett's Room
We want to thank Gayle Collins for the nice collection of pertified articles he has on display in our room.

In reading we have just finished the unit on the "Stone Age." Today we are beginning a study of the "Golden Age."

We enjoyed the play last Friday afternoon. We think the Junior Class did a wonderful job in presenting the play.

Linda Riffe, Russell Brooks, Sue Ellen Flores and Mary Sue Taylor are taking up oil painting in art.

We were sorry to have Robert Ragsdale out of school yesterday. His uncle was killed in a car accident in Oregon.

Seventh Grade

Miss Patterson's Room
Grace Brooks was a visitor in Amarillo Monday.

Paul Aduddell is absent from school. A calf kicked him Sunday and caused a catch in his back.

Billy Cummings is absent due to illness.

Stratford Grade School boys went to Hartley Thursday to play basketball. They beat Hartley 25 to 3. Those making the trip were Willy Price, Richard McMinn, Melvin Mitts, Gary Steinberger, Henry Harrison, Cagle Kendrick, Hoy Harrison, Mike Neal, Bob Donelson, and Carroll Wisdom.

Eighth Grade

Mrs. Turner's Room
The boys grade school basketball team went to Hartley last Thursday night and beat them 25 to 3. The Junior High girls beat the Hartley Junior High girls 16 to 9.

We were sorry to have Rex out half of the day yesterday.

A Place To Read

"Does your family have a place to read? Either as individuals or a family group? Miss Lucile King, Home Demonstration Agent, says a place to read is important to good reading habits and every member of the family should be included in the planning of this place.

The agent says children should have chairs that aren't too large nor too small, near natural light and with a good reading light. Mother and father should have a comfortable

Keep books and magazines where they are convenient to pick up and read when there is time, but have a place to store books and magazines when all the family has finished reading them.

major operation Monday. He was reported to be getting along as well as could be expected Tuesday.
