DEPTHS OF DESPAIR

Gathering Gifts For Disabled Veterans

Each year the American Legion Auxiliary sponsors a Christmas Gift Shop for disabled veterans. The Stratford unit sends their gifts to the Amarillo Veterans Hospital, where the boys choose the gifts to send home to loved ones. This wonderful work is done for the veterans free of charge. Each and every one, not only Auxiliary members, who feel it is your duty to help make this a Merry Christmas for disabled veterans and their families, may take part by securing a gift.

The Auxiliary members are asked to bring their gifts to the Legion Hall Thursday, November 19, at 7:30 P. M. The gifts will be put on display in the window of the Southwestern Public Service Co. so that anyone can leave their gifts with them before December 1.

Millie Bennett Returning Home From Germany

Mildred Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bennett, was among the 73 International Farm Youth Exchange delegates arriving in New York Tuesday, aboard the Queen Elizabeth. Miss Bennett lived with four farm families while in Germany.

Miss Hilde Kniessel, German International Farm Youth Exchange student, who has been visiting in Sherman County, and Miss Bennett met and had breakfast together in New York Wednesday morning. After the meal they called Mrs. H. C. Bennett for a brief telephone conversation.

Miss Bennett expects to arrive home Saturday. Miss Kniessel will sail for Germany on the Queen Elizabeth Friday and will arrive home eight days later.

The American delegates represented 36 states and Alaska and have been living with farm families in 24 countries during the last five months.

Methodist Revival Closed Wednesday

Revival services at the First Methodist Church closed Wednesday evening. The pastor, T. Edgar Neal, did the preaching and Ed Glover of Benton, Illinois, led the singing. A feature of his work was his trumpet which he plays with skill and adds much to the musical program.

The men's breakfast each morning attracted large crowds of men. Two high marks of attendance were 96 and 101 men. C. C. Plunk and M. Dorch were in charge of the preparation of the meals, and J. W. Flores and Ernest Cummings purchased the food. The pastor brought a brief morning meditation at the close each day. Many from other churches attended these, as well as the evening preaching services. The pastor and officials feel that much good has been done and that the spiritual tone of the community has been lifted by the campaign.

The pastor has announced for his sermon subject Sunday morning, "After the Revival — Then What?"

Council Plans Wedding Gown Revue

The Sherman County Home Demonstration Council is making plans to stage a Wedding Gown Revue on December 3 at 7:30 P. M. in the school auditorium.

Home Demonstration club women and 4-H club girls throughout the county will model wedding gowns, wedding dresses and wedding suits. There will be some in the revue that are 100 years old, down to the present time.

The women are really having fun digging down and bringing out their wedding dresses that have been packed away since they said, "I do."

A very interesting program is being planned by the program committee of the Sherman County Home Demonstration Council. The school band will play. Since this is the 50th anniversary of Extension work in Texas this is a good way to celebrate it by attending the revue.

The program committee includes Mrs. Raymond Keener, Mrs. Tommie Wakefield, Mrs. Everett Riggs, Mrs. M. J. Carter, and Mrs. Bob Evans.

Mrs. Alfred Pronger, Mrs. Elsie Pickens and Mrs. William Hart compose the publicity committee.

Mrs. Roscoe Dyess, Mrs. Faye Stradley and Mrs. John Lavake are in charge of decorations.

Letters to Santa

Dear Santa:

I know I have not been very nice but I still want to tell you what I want for Christmas. A clarinet, vanity table, and a kitchen set is what I want. I will try to be a good girl.

Miss Bennett expects to arrive home Saturday. Miss Kniessel will sail for Germany on the Queen Elizabeth Friday and will arrive home eight days later.

The American delegates represented 36 states and Alaska and have been living with farm families in 24 countries during the last five months.

The IPYE program, begun in 1943, is a two-way exchange dedicated to the belief that understanding is the foundation of peace. This year 117 selected rural youths from the United States will live, work and share experiences in 41 countries throughout Europe, the Middle and Far East, Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Pacific. In return, rural youths from those countries come to the U. S. for a similar experience.

The program is sponsored by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is financed by contributions of 4-H Club members, civic clubs, farm organizations, business concerns, foundations and others interested in world understanding. No government money is used in the actual exchanges.

The returning delegates were honored with a breakfast by the Grocery Manufacturers of America at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York before going on to Washington, D. C., on Wednesday for a three day evaluation program. In Washington they will report on their experiences and visit the embassies of their host countries.

Upon returning to Texas, Miss Bennett will spend several months reporting her experiences to interested groups and showing pictures of life in the host countries.

Pastry Pointers

Can you make good pastry? According to Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, good pastry is tender, flaky and a golden-brown color around the edge. The center is slightly less brown. Good pastry has a rough and blistered rather than a smooth, firm surface. It should cut easily with a fork yet not crumble when served.

The agent says tenderness depends largely upon the kind of flour and amount of water and fat used. Excess fat increases tenderness to make a crumbly pastry and excess water gives a tough product. Much handling, overmixing, or too much flour when rolling toughens pastry.

Mrs. J. G. Rice Laid To Rest Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. G. Rice were conducted in the First Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon by Rev. M. E. Upchurch.

Mrs. Rice passed away Friday of last week in the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. M. Mallner, in Luckey, Ohio. She was 90 years of age.

Mrs. Rice had made her home in Stratford several years ago. Interment was made in the Stratford cemetery under the supervision of Wilson Funeral Directors.

THE Eisenhower administration received another blow in the battle with its biggest domestic problem — the farm-price pinch. The new blow was a report by the Agriculture Department that farm prices have skidded another 2 per cent. It drops the farmer to the lowest rung he has occupied on the economic ladder since 1941.

The situation is termed "grave" by GOP policy makers and especially those GOP candidates who must win their contests in 1954. All agree that something must be done or the Democratic party is going to sweep through the farm belt in the 1954 elections. The result could well be that the country would have a Democratic controlled congress.

The farm prices situation is this: During the past month cattle prices fell an average of 7 per cent a hundred pounds. They stood at 71 per cent of parity.

Prices paid out by farmers from mid-September to mid-October fell one-third of one per cent. But since the farmer's prices fell even more, the net result was that he was less well off.

Average farm prices stood at 91 per cent of parity on October 15, the lowest since May, 1941. That compared with 62 per cent of parity on September 15 and 99 per cent a year ago. The over-all farm-price picture on October 15 was about 11 1/2 per cent below a year ago, while farmers' costs were only about 3 per cent below the same time last year.

Meanwhile, the cattle industry is unhappy with the results of the caravan of cattlemen, representing 30 states, that recently visited Secretary of Agriculture Benson in Washington.

Benson let it be known that he considers such a group a "pressure" group and that he will resist all pressure, political or otherwise, against his announced policy. This policy is an adjustment of price-support programs to meet basic economic and peacetime needs in the best interests of all American farmers.

It is believed in Washington that this fight of the cattlemen for high rigid price-support for their industry is not over and may be carried to the next session of congress. It will be a "bad break" for the administration if the fight becomes a knock-down and drag-out affair.

President Eisenhower is very conscious of the situation. This is evidenced by his recent statement that the drop in live-cattle prices has reached the bottom and they will now start to climb. He vigorously defended his administration's new farm program and said it will protect the interests of all Americans, including consumers.

He rejected a suggestion that he call a special session of congress to deal with the general farm situation. He said it would not make sense because the administration will not have its program ready until January.

GREEKS TOUR U. S. . . . King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece, now on month tour of United States, were entertained by President Eisenhower at White House at start of trip.

District W. M. U. Meeting At Dumas

Mrs. H. B. Norris, Mrs. V. M. King, Mrs. P. C. Adkins, Mrs. W. D. Green and Mrs. John Lavake attended the District 10 W. M. U. meeting at Dumas Tuesday.

Mrs. L. J. Davis Is Fidelis Hostess

Mrs. L. J. Davis was hostess to the Fidelis Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church Friday. After the monthly business meeting, a delicious dessert course was served.

Dotson-Ellis Nuptial Vows Exchanged

The chapel of the First Christian Church was the setting Sunday at 2:30 o'clock for the wedding of Miss Billie Ann Dotson, daughter of Mrs. Shaw Dotson, of Texhoma, to Arthur Ellis, son of Mrs. W. D. Ellis. The double ring ceremony uniting the couple was read before a flower decorated altar by Rev. John Reaves, pastor.

The bride was lovely in a white wool dress and white hat. Miss Elaine Gallard, of Texhoma, niece of the bride, and Gene Dotson, brother of the bride, were the couple's only attendants.

Only members of the immediate families and close friends attended the informal ceremony. The couple left immediately for Lawton, Oklahoma, where they will live. Mr. Ellis is stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma with the army.

The bride graduated from the Texhoma High School, and has been employed at Gray's Variety Store at Texhoma for the past two years. The groom attended Dalhart and Stratford schools, and recently returned from Korea, where he served thirteen months.

Band Boosters Will Meet Tuesday

The Stratford Band Boosters Club will have their regular monthly meeting in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening, November 17, at 7:00 o'clock. The Intermediate Band will favor the group with a concert, after which they will go to the cafeteria where Mrs. James Cameron, Mrs. Virgil Plunk and Mrs. Audrey Gamble will serve refreshments.

Members of the club are especially anxious that a good crowd attend to support the Intermediates in their first band concert.

An executive meeting of officers of the club will be held in the home of Mrs. Baskin Brown Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

J. W. Stevenson Taken By Death

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Brands returned home Friday night from Glasgow, Missouri, where they attended the funeral of her brother, J. W. Stevenson.

The 57-year old Glasgow publisher died suddenly with a heart attack after 23 years experience with the publication of the Glasgow Missourian. As a typical country newspaper publisher his life was tied up with his newspaper. He once said of his only daughter, "She was born on press day but after that lived a normal life and gave me no trouble." The week of his death he was honored nationally as the "Editor of the Week," a distinction few country newspaper men attain.

Mr. Stevenson and his family were guests in the V. W. Brands home in Stratford about two years ago.

$135,000 School Taxes Collected In October

Stratford Independent School District tax payers paid approximately 85 percent of their taxes in October. Hollis Harrington, tax collector, states that collections amount to approximately $135,000.00. The collections for October are about 3 percent higher than they were last year.

Stratford Elks And Claude In 6-6 Tie

Stratford Elks and Claude Mustangs played a 6-6 tie at Claude Friday night.

Cold, muddy weather discouraged attendance at the 1-B conference game and hindered both teams.

Only three passes were attempted during the game, but one of them from halfback Don Stone to Dan Gillis, right end, moved Stratford 39 yards downfield to within 1 foot of the goal. Fullback Bob Garoutte plunged over the line in the third quarter for Stratford's touchdown.

Claude fullback Bob Rutherford, went off-tackle for three yards to tally for the Mustangs mid-way in the fourth quarter. Because of field and weather conditions, both teams tried line plunges for extra points, but neither attempt was good.

Claude had seven first downs, while Stratford made five.

Mrs. Yates Is New Deputy Grand Matron

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Yates and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Riffe returned home Saturday from Ft. Worth where they attended a grand chapter held in the Will Rogers Coliseum. Mrs. Yates was appointed deputy grand matron of District 2 Section 2 State of Texas Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Mary Ella Schoverling of Houston was installed as Worthy Grand Matron and Fred DeWald of Dallas was installed as Worthy Grand Patron.

Frozen Turkey

To thaw frozen ready-to-cook turkey, use the refrigerator. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says you will save cooking time, one and one half times as much as otherwise necessary.

If you use the refrigerator, allow about two days for a large turkey.

THE SPEECH
By Will Lozier

A VERY HEATHCOTE, chairman of the committee, flopped down into one of my big chairs and said, "We're over the top. Everything is set for next Saturday afternoon and we want you to make the presentation."

"Not me," I said.

"You're the mayor, aren't you?" Avery demanded.

"That's exactly the point," I explained. "I've got business to take care of. Lots of business. You'd better get one of the other boys to make the presentation."

"Now wouldn't that be fine," Avery said sarcastically. "We've made up a big purse for Charley Bannerman, and the mayor of his own city says he hasn't got time to present it."

I felt like coming right out and telling Avery why I didn't like Charley Bannerman. When I was fourteen he had borrowed my baseball glove and never returned it. The years had passed and the loss of the glove wasn't too important any more. But there were other things. Like the time he took my girl to the senior prom after he was practically decided that she was going with me. And he hadn't bothered to apologize when I lent him my dress suit to get married in and he brought it back with a cigarette hole in the trousers.

No, I did not like Charley Bannerman, even though he was the star of the Gray Sox. They were giving him his "Day" next Saturday at the Stadium. So what? Other ball players had had their "Days" and had received everything from shaving mugs to twelve-cylinder automobiles.

I did not like any part of the set-up. I had been trying—unsuccessfully—to raise enough money to build an addition to the Hamilton City Hospital.

But Avery kept arguing, telling me I was the logical person to make the presentation, and pretty soon I gave in.

"All right," I said. "Tell me what you want me to say."

He handed me a certified check it was for a lot of money, more

MY WIFE thinks I'm getting too fat. Perhaps I am a little large compared to her 5 feet and 98 pounds. But after all, I'm 6 feet and 195 pounds of muscle, even if she does say most of the muscle is now around my middle.

As a result of her unreasonable attitude, I am on a diet. To attempt this torture was the only way to keep her silent.

The first two days were not so bad. I wasn't really hungry. But, man, that third day. I woke up about 1 a. m. and patted my stomach and it was so hollow it sounded like a bass drum.

I sneaked out of bed and into the kitchen without awaking her. I opened the refrigerator and stood there gazing in admiration at the remains of the roasted chicken we had had for dinner. (My part was one thin slice of the breast—so thin, in fact, could easily have read a newspaper through it.)

Honestly, for all of three minutes I stood there fighting that devil called temptation. He won without raising a sweat. I reached for a drumstick.

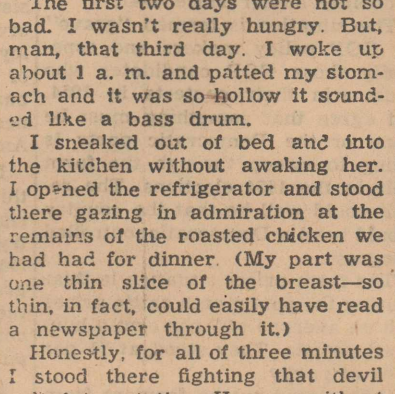

"Oh, no you don't," says the wife. "Come on, Rover, back to bed with you. You're on a diet, remember?"

"Yes, my love," I mumbled and shuffled off to the bedroom.

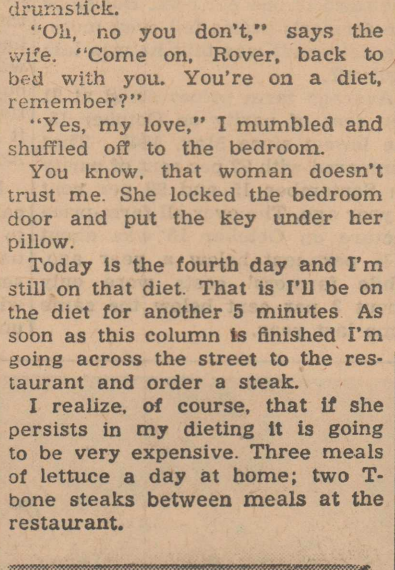

You know, that woman doesn't trust me. She locked the bedroom door and put the key under her pillow.

Today is the fourth day and I'm still on that diet. That is I'll be on the diet for another 5 minutes. As soon as this column is finished I'm going across the street to the restaurant and order a steak.

I realize, of course, that if she persists in my dieting it is going to be very expensive. Three meals of lettuce a day at home; two T-bone steaks between meals at the restaurant.

Each student made a calendar of the month of his birthday. We have been coloring and decorating our room for Thanksgiving.

Those making 100 in spelling this week were: Cleo Aduddell, Dale Barton, Orbie Sue Davis, Shela Ann Donelson, Claude Fedric, Jimmy Gore, Ray Harris, Linda Lou Huggins, James Johnson, Wanda Preston and John Steel.

Fifth Grade

Mrs. Elliott's Room

The Librarians have been busy getting some new traveling books on the shelves ready to check out to the various children. We have an addition to our happy class room family, Robert Lee Phelps, comes to us from California. He lives in the Conlen Community. He told us he has spent a short time in Alaska.

We have a model of the first continental railroad train on our wonder table for Geography. The owner of the specimen is Garry Dettle.

Sharon Mullican and Harry Oquin turned in a very good report for our class in arithmetic. It shows that every pupil is improving in accuracy, neatness, recognition of time, ability to share with others their information and speed according to their own rate of speed. Billy Steinberger and Linda Brewster are added to the last week's list of our outstanding pupils in this field.

We have had fun with our spelling words the past week. Words are made into a jumbled up puzzle for various groups to unscramble. The group is divided into smaller groups where in each pupil has a responsibility for accomplishment of the entire group.

Since last week was national cat week many expressions of kindness were heard in both work and play periods.

In health we are studying foods. We are becoming acquainted with many new words and as time progresses we hope to be able to take the responsibility of helping our mothers prepare well balanced meals. We are learning much about food calories and the importance of keeping a weight chart.

Sixth Grade

Mrs. Cameron's Room

In English we are studying how to write "Friendly Letters." Everyone is very busy this morning getting our very best penmanship for these letters.

We finished our Basic Reader Friday and we will start our new supplementary readers Monday.

The boys are very happy to start their swimming class at 10:00 o'clock today. The girls will start Tuesday. Every other day we will take a class in basketball.

We are fortunate to receive another new student, Pat Emerson, from Dumas. We hope Pat likes our school. At the present we have 41 students.

Doris Dortch has been absent two days because of illness.

Edward Oquin is back in school after having his tonsils removed.

Several of our students played in the band concert entertaining the teachers from Moore and Sherman Counties. We are hoping to play again for our band Booster Club, November 17, in the evening. Every one is invited to hear our band.

The Elks Are Tied By Claude

The Claude Mustangs came from behind in the fourth quarter to tie the Stratford Elks. The game was played on a muddy field with only a few fans attending.

In the first half both teams were unable to muster a scoring threat. The Elks probably demonstrated more fight and determination than at any other previous time this year.

Both teams came out for the second half with hard aggressive playing. Stratford was having trouble moving the ball when quarter back Jimmy Ingham called up a reverse pass which went for 53 yards from D. Stone to Benny Bidy to put the ball on the Claude 2 yard line where Bob Garoutte carried over on a straight buck.

The Elks then seemed to let down slightly and Claude was able to score off the left side of the Elks line. Newman and Bachman stopped the same play for the try for the extra point.

Late in the fourth quarter the Elks threatened again with a 70 yard dash by LHB Donald Stone only to have this spectacular play called back due to a rufe infraction on the part of James Crawford and Claude's defensive LHB.

Many of the Stratford people thought the Elks lost the ball game by penetration but this was not so. It went down in the books as a tie which leaves Stratford with a 4-3-1 record.

CROSS-CHECK

By Ray Trail

ABRAM Cotters never dreamed he'd run into such a snag as this when he pulled his car into the filling station and told the attendant to fill her up. Then, accustomed as he was to making his living by passing bad checks, he fumbled for his wallet and opened it in front of the red-headed boy.

"Gee, I guess I'll have to give you a check," he said. "Can you cash one for fifty dollars?"

"Well, sir," the boy said as he scratched his head, "we don't cash personal checks for strangers. Not unless you can get someone to vouch for you."

"Oh, it's a good check. Salary check, from Carlson's downtown." "Yes sir, I know the store all right, but—"

Cotters could see the small drug store on the corner opposite the filling station, its sign saying "WRIGHT'S PHARMACY", and his thoughts leaped fast. "I know Mr. Wright over there," he said.

"Oh, you do, sir?" the attendant brightened up. "Well, sir, that's better. I tell you what. Why don't you just go across to the store and tell Mr. Wright what the situation is, and have him wave to me if he knows you and if everything is all right."

"Sure," said Cotters as he looked at the phony check with the phony name. "By the way, what's your name?" he asked.

"Andrews, sir. Jack Andrews," he heard the boy say.

He walked into the drug store and saw a man of about sixty putting up stock behind the counter. "Hello," he said to the man, "are you Mr. Wright?"

"That's me," said the pharmacist. "What can I do for you?"

"Well, I just bought some gas from my friend Jack Andrews across the street, and I find that all I have with me is this check for fifty."

"Oh?" The pharmacist replied. "He said that if you'd just step to the door and wave at him, he'd wave back and let you know that everything is all right."

"Oh, all right," said Doc. "Jack's a fine boy. Known him since he was four."

The pharmacist stepped to the door and waved a hand across to the red-headed boy, and through the window Cotters watched the boy wave back with a big sweep. "Everything was all right. So Doc cashed the check and handed Cotters five ten-dollar bills.

"Thank you ever so much," he said. On his way back to the car, he pulled out another check just like the one he had passed on the pharmacist.

The attendant was smiling. "Sorry to cause you so much trouble, sir, but now that I know everything's okay . . ."

Cotters was careful to keep his back toward the drug store as he handed the boy the check. And a moment later the boy handed him $48.90.

"Thanks a lot," Cotters said. He climbed into the car and turned on the ignition. "What a sucker trick that was!" he grinned. He pushed hard on the starter, and the engine spluttered. He pushed again. Then his feet fidgeted with both the starter and the accelerator.

"You'll flood her that way, sir," he said. "Maybe I'd better check the carburetor." And in a jiffy he had the hood up.

"Should be okay now," he said. But when Cotters tried again, the engine spluttered worse.

"What's the matter with the thing?" he stormed. Be more careful."

"I will be from now on," answered the boy as he looked up to see the two policemen coming with Mr. Wright over to the car.

"That's the man," said the pharmacist. "Good thing Mrs. Leslie stopped in the store just now. She works down at Carlson's where this check was drawn, and she came by to pay her bill. When she pulled her pay envelop out of her bag to give me cash, I got suspicious right then. She told me Carlson's never pays by checks."

The only time a game is won by penetration is when two teams playing for the championship tie and the game may be won by penetration, first downs, or total yardage.

Well, here I am once again to fill in these mothers' minds where their children stand in the social world. We had a bit of excitement here last Friday at noon. No one seems to know what's going on so I can't fill you in there.

I noticed Beth Pemberton and Joyce Haney were really in the clouds Monday morning. I wonder if it had any thing to do with their week-end trip to Lubbock? I hear they went to see their boy friends, Douglas Christian Compassion for a Needy World.

Lesson for November 22: Matthew 9: 35-36; Mark 1: 32-34a; 1: 1-9.
Golden Text: 1 John 3: 17-18.

Christians can but feel compassion for a needy world if they are true followers of their Lord and share in his spirit. For, throughout his ministry, Jesus showed compassion toward all the needy persons he met.

Many instances of his healings are recorded in the Gospels. Matthew tells us how Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in the synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of diseases. And when he saw a multitude, on one occasion, he was moved with compassion for them, because they were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd. And on a notable evening, when the sun did set, in old Capernaum, the whole city was gathered at his door, and he healed those that were sick.

It has been said that the world will make a beaten path to the door of a man who builds a mousetrap better than his fellows. When a man renders a greater service than that to his fellows, the world will find him out. In the course of time, Jesus could not be hid, though he retired for a period of rest to a sequestered spot on the northeastern shore of Galilee. The multitude found him there, and at the close of the day of preaching and of healing, Jesus fed five thousand men, beside women and children, as he multiplied five loaves and two fishes endlessly. The few loaves and fishes, given into the Master's hands, fed a multitude. It all depends upon what you do with a thing whether it has value or not. The gifts we truly make to Jesus will take on an infinite value and do much toward relieving the pains of a sorrowing world.

Dried Flowers Can Be Colored

Moisten dried flowers before dyeing them certain colors by placing in refrigerator or in a ventilated wooden box covered with wet burlap. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says you can dip flowers in a boiling hot water dye bath for a few seconds to color them.

Or, with small quantities of dyes in paper bags, shake the dampened heads of flowers inside until tints spread on the flowers. Flower pods, stems, cones and other dried products can be colored by spraying with an air brush sprayer or a small hand sprayer. Color solution must be very thin. Another method is to dip the dried flowers in a vessel of water covered with a thin film of color.

IN EVERY field there seems to be a monopoly . . . In baseball it's the New York Yankees and in television it's Arthur Godfrey . . . Godfrey's show is one of the most relaxing on the air . . . It can be fun, philosophical, serious and just plain corn—but it is seldom boring . . . There's no doubt of the fact that long after other shows are forgotten, "Arthur Godfrey Time" will still carry on unabated . . . King Arthur himself is certainly one of the most controversial figures on television . . . Whether he is right or wrong in some of his decisions is a toss-up for the public to make . . . but even when he is obviously wrong, his ratings remain high and that is what counts.

There are times when he appears to be a kindly, benevolent gent with a paternal feeling toward members of his cast . . . And then again you get the impression that he not only craves, but demands, their adulation . . . Their laughter at some of his oft-repeated jokes is contrived, but they know better than to do other than laugh . . . They are as robots, ready to bow to his every whim for when they get out of hand there is always the salt mines . . . The latest case in point is the firing of Julius LaRosa and Archie Bleyer.

KING ARTHUR'S COURT Julius was a nice, wholesome type of boy with a shy personality and just enough voice to get him by . . . He made several hit records and apparently got ambitious—which is only human . . . That was how Godfrey himself reached the top.

Strangely enough, Archie is one of Godfrey's best personal friends and has been with the redhead for seven years . . . He will still conduct the Monday night Talent Scout show but that is all . . . We don't know the reasoning behind the surprise move—it may or may not be warranted—but we feel it is a mistake this time . . . Julie was tailor-made for the show and his absence will leave a void that will be difficult for even Godfrey to fill.

Make Neat Darts

In sewing, darts are used on blouses and skirts to fit a flat fabric to a curved fabric. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says darts are usually stitched on the wrong side unless used for decoration.

To make a neat dart, first pin together the lines marking the dart. Stick a pin from one side of the marking through to the opposite side of the dart and bring the two marked lines together. Pin right on the stitching line so you can take the pins out as you stitch the dart.

Start stitching at either the wide or tapered end of the dart depending on which gives better results with the greatest ease. Stitch exactly on the marked line. Gradually taper the dart off to nothing to avoid puckering at the end. Fasten the threads securely at the tapered end to keep the dart from pulling out. Press vertical darts toward the center front or back. Press horizontal darts downward.

Mud stains are common, but offer little difficulty if you permit the mud to dry and then brush out with a stiff-bristled brush. Use a rug shampoo if any stain remains.

this off with a regular ink blotter.

Mop freshly spilled ink with a blotter, too, or a soft cloth which is highly absorbent. Sponge with lukewarm water to remove remaining traces, being careful not to spread the stain.

Chocolate stains on rugs and carpets should be sprinkled with borax. Moisten with cold water, and remove with a cloth and cold water. Brush up the borax when dry.

Coffee and tea stains can be washed with mild soap or detergent and water, if they don't have cream mixed in them. For stains with cream use cleaning fluid.

Fuller's earth may also be used on grease and oil stains to help blot the excess. Remove this with a whisk broom.

ideas from other editors

From The Barnesboro Star, Barnesboro, Pennsylvania: One aspect of prayer that gets scant attention from the teachers of religion may be summed up as "the serious risks to which prayer exposes us," states Frank Halliday Ferris in the November Reader's Digest. Dr. Ferris is Pastor Emeritus of the Fairmount Presbyterian Church, Cleveland Heights, Ohio. His article is condensed from his book, "Standing Up to Life."

In prayer we risk, first, seeing ourselves as we are. "In our dealings with God we must come clean," Dr. Ferris writes. "All our subterfuges, the flimsy excuses we contrive to hide our inner poverty from ourselves, must come down. We face the truth about ourselves when we ask God to take us as we are and make us as we ought to be. This is the prerequisite to moral progress—but it is hard on our pride."

The second risk is the danger of becoming more like Christ in a world which worships the deity success. Conceding that "there is nothing reprehensible about success," Dr. Ferris points out that there are times in the life of every man when he must choose between doing the advantageous thing or the right thing. Christ was faced by this choice at the outset of His career. His temptation was to use His unique personal power to win worldly success. A prayer for moral betterment is "no kidglove undertaking," the author insists. "One has to take hold of it with the rough hand of a man who is in earnest, who is undeterred by the prospect of blood, sweat and tears, for only so is moral victory won."

From The Herington Advertiser-Times, Herington, Kansas: A good many people probably still believe that typical retail merchants operate on the "all the traffic will bear" philosophy and are always trying to jack up prices.

That simply isn't true—not because merchants are any more charitable than the rest of us, but because success in merchandising demands a very different attitude. An official of a national retailing association recently put the case this way: "As the purchasing agents for the consumer the objective of America's retailers is the satisfaction and comfort of the nation's retail customers through the greatest possible distribution of the country's productive capacity. The successful accomplishment of that objective depends on our ability to offer value for every dollar spent in our stores. When values are lowered, sales fall, production drops, purchasing power is retarded and often brought to a complete halt."

Senior News

(By Shirley Finch)

The Seniors had a very profitable carnival last week-end. We estimated a total of about $1,300 profit. We are very thankful for the number of people who turned out this year in spite of the drouth season.

The class has voted on leaving our money with Mr. Standefer at the end of the year to buy lights for the football field. Mr. Standefer said yesterday that the average cost of lighting a football field was about $3,000. So we will contribute our small amount for an opening fund of the lights.

The "stamp of newness"—and another new Santa Fe freight car is ready to roll 21 miles of new freight cars added by Santa Fe last year!

Remember when you used to count freight cars as a kid?

How would you like to count and stencil the "stamp of newness" on 21 miles of them?

That's what Santa Fe did last year—added 21 miles of new cars to its great fleet of modern freight cars.

And so it goes—year after year after year—until today there are 84,898 freight cars serving shippers on the Santa Fe.

With this building new program, Santa Fe is meeting the ever-growing need for moving vast tons of wheat, livestock, perishable foods, minerals and merchandise to the markets of America.

And many of these cars are new and special types to serve shippers in new and better ways—like the "MTC 3150" mechanical refrigerator car that works like your home freezer.

It costs Santa Fe millions of dollars—earned dollars—to acquire this great fleet and maintain its own "steel highway."

But it doesn't add a penny to the taxes you pay.

Tools For Fire Prevention

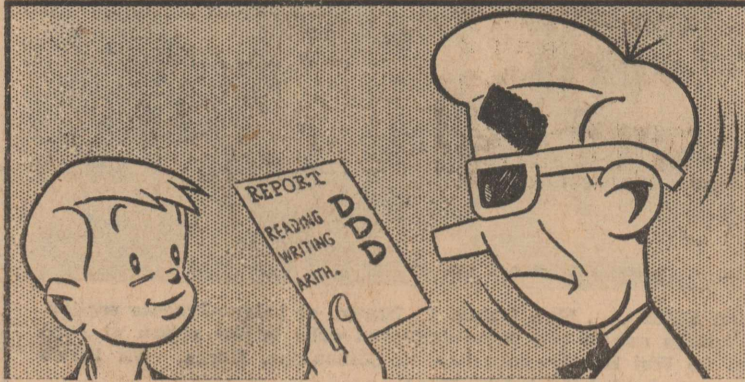

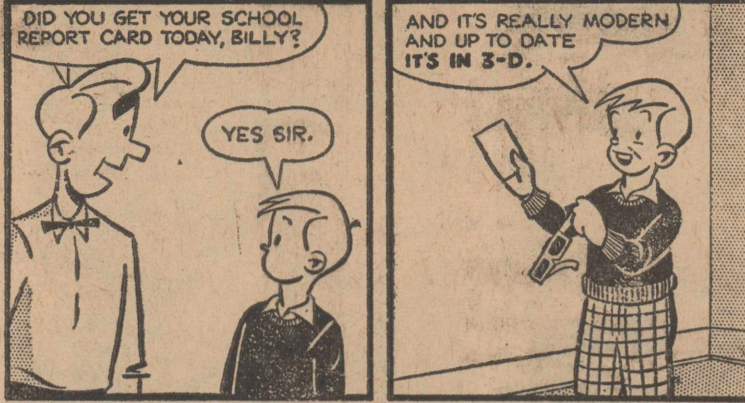

If a fire starts in your house, call the fire department immediately, but don't wait until they arrive to do something about it advises Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent. All the equipment you need is what you already have around your house. A garden hose, an adapter to fit any water faucet in your house, buckets for water and sand, and a good ladder.

This an' That

The Philadelphia Phillies gave Bill Nicholson, one of baseball's best liked players, his unconditional release, closing a career that started in 1926. The 39-year-old outfielder said simply, "I ran out of gas as a player" . . . The NCAA put its stamp of approval on eight post-season football games—Cotton Bowl, Dallas; Gater Bowl, Jacksonville, Fla.; Orange Bowl, Miami; Refrigerator Bowl, Evansville, Ind.; Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.; Sugar Bowl, New Orleans; Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex., and Tangerine Bowl, Orlando, Florida . . . Tom Fool, the seventh leading money winner, retires from the racing world with $570,165 in earnings. He did not race as a three-year-old . . . Charlie Dressen has a precedent in baseball—he is the first man in history ever to actually resign as manager of a major league championship club when he refused to sign a one-year contract. He found the security he was looking for when he signed a three-year contract as general manager and field manager of the Oakland A's of the Pacific Coast League.

BEST GOLFER . . . Ben Hogan, winner of Masters, U. S. and British Open championships, was named 1953's "professional golfer of the year" for fourth time in the six years award has been made. Hogan got plurality of 748 votes over Lew Worsham.

Mrs. Bill French Entertains Beta Sigma Phi

Mrs. Bill French entertained members of the Beta Sigma Phi with a covered dish supper in her home Thursday evening of last week.

Guests included Mrs. Earl Riffe, social sponsor, Mrs. Dean Hiel, Mrs. Gene Summers, Mrs. Bill Garrison, Mrs. Walter Vincent, Mrs. Harold Gray, Mrs. N. W. Hudson, Mrs. W. D. Eller, Mrs. Duard Lamb, Mrs. W. D. Brannan, Mrs. H. F. McIntosh, Mrs. George Jeffercoat, Mrs. R. M. Buckles, and Mrs. Huston Pearson.

Mrs. Huston Pearson, Mrs. Gene Summers and Mrs. Duard Lamb were elected as members of the City Chapter Council.

Mrs. Huston Pearson was elected to assist Mrs. Charles Wisdom, publicity chairman.

Mrs. H. F. McIntosh gave an interesting program on literature.

Members composed a poem, with instructions not to read the lines written by other members. The poem follows:

Beta Sigma Phi
 Here's to our Sorority
 Our colors black and gold
 But we're joined together for dinner
 We will eat all we can hold.

We're all members of Beta Sigma Phi

We strive to keep our friendships high

The fall rains have started to fall

This means more money for all

So here is to the rain
 May it continue to fall
 Though we hope in the mud
 our cars won't stall

The meal was good and
 We ate too much
 We should not ever do such Why worry, why care too much,
 There's always Tums,
 A helicopter might settle your tummy.

So now we're full and lax and lazy.
 During the meeting things are hazy.
 Never mind you'll be okay
 Don't eat so much another day.
 I really ate too much, no hay!

Dodge Offers New Royal V-8 for 1954

Highlight of the 1954 Dodge line is the new super deluxe series known as the Royal V-8. A completely new interior styling is keyed to harmonize with 11 different body colors and 14 two-tone combinations. The Royal V-8 series is keynoted by Jacquard upholstery fabric, previously used only for rich tapes and expensive furniture. On the exterior, a new spear-like chrome moulding accents the low, sweeping lines and lends a smooth, modern look. There also is a new grille design and treatment of headlights, taillights and wheel covers. The 1954 Dodge line also introduces such engineering advancements as PowerFlite, a new fully-automatic transmission; the economy-and-endurance tested Red Ram V-8 engine stepped up to 150 h.p. and 7.5 to 1 compression ratio; and a new type full-time power steering unit. The Coronet Six and Meadowbrook Six have been stepped up to 110 h.p. and 7.25 to 1 compression ratio.
